SURVIVES Parachute Failed To Open

STERLING, Ill. (AP) — "I was wondering, if I wake up, I know I'm alive; if I don't, I know I'm dead," says a skydiver who survived after his parachute failed to open fully in a jump from 7,200 feet.

CAN'T BELIEVE IT
"I still can't believe it," Jeff Wetzell of Rock Falls, Ill., said Monday.

Wetzell suffered two broken ankles and a broken vertebra when he landed in a wet, newly plowed field — which helped to cushion the impact.

Wetzell and two fellow members of the Rock River Valley Sky Diving Club were attempting to build a star — by joining hands — and free fall for 30 seconds when trouble intervened Sunday.

"There were only two of us that got together — myself and Larry Lyons," the 26-year-old construction laborer said. "At 4,000 feet, I looked down, saw we were off our spot, and I shook loose to start tracking over."

NOTHING HAPPENED
"At about 2,500 feet, I pulled the ripcord and nothing came out. I waited and still nothing happened."

Wetzell, a veteran of more than 150 jumps, said he then tried to free his main parachute so he could open the safety chute without entangling it.

"There was a malfunction and I couldn't release it," he said. "I said, 'Good God.' I was wondering how much time do I have, what could I do? Everything was fouled up, I couldn't get loose. I just waited and prayed that something would work out."

"It did. I got a partial chute."

Washington Post Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post was published today despite a strike over wages by about 900 of its reporters, photographers, editors and commercial employees.

Today's 76-page edition was normal-sized but came out about an hour later than usual Monday night.

In New York, editorial employees of the United Press International who have been on strike for more than three weeks voted to reject a new contract proposal. However, the Wire Service Guild afterward recommended acceptance, saying "the 57.8 per cent rejection vote is not sufficient at the bargaining table to win greater improvements in the contract."

Revenue Sharing Money Arrives
A new vote was to be taken today. Disruption of The Post's regular operation was lessened because of an agreement by the striking Washington-Baltimore Newspaper Guild not to set up a picket line or to interfere in any way with members of other unions. The strategy was intended to impose economic sanctions on The Post while protecting craft-union members from the possible introduction of automated equipment while they honored picket lines, the guild said.

School Hours Will Change Next Week

School kids in Big Spring will get up thirty minutes earlier again starting next Tuesday morning.

The school board voted to get the school time back to 8:30 a.m. and to dismiss students at 3:30 p.m., starting after the Easter holidays and continuing until school is out in May.

This action was taken unanimously at the board meeting Monday.

Testifies Ex-Union 'Boss' Ordered Murder Of Rival

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — Former United Mine Workers President W.A. "Tony" Boyle, identified in court as the man who personally ordered the slaying of union rival Joseph "Jock" Yablonski, was to take the witness stand today in his defense.

FIRST WITNESS
Charles F. Moses, chief defense counsel, said Boyle would be his first witness after Judge Francis J. Catania of Common Pleas Court rejected motions by Moses for dismissal. Moses contended that the prosecution had failed to prove its case against Boyle. Catania also turned down several motions by Moses for a mistrial. Moses claimed that the defense was restricted from a full and searching cross-examination of all witnesses.

"We feel there is sufficient evidence produced by the Commonwealth for the jury to decide whether the defendant is guilty or innocent," Catania said.

The prosecution rested Monday night after its chief witness, a confessed participant in the murder of Yablonski, his wife and daughter, rose from the witness chair and pointed his finger at the scowling defendant.

WHO GAVE ORDER
William Turnblazer, 52, a Middlesboro, Ky., lawyer who was president of the UMW's District 19, said he was present June 23, 1969 when the order was given to kill Yablonski. Yablonski was then challenging Boyle for the presidency of the 200,000-member union.

"Who gave the order?" asked Special Prosecutor Richard A. Sprague.

"Mr. Boyle," Turnblazer replied.

Turnblazer said the incident occurred in a hallway in the UMW building in Washington, D.C., and that Albert Pass, then secretary-treasurer of District 19, also was present.

"What did the defendant say?" asked Sprague.

"He said we're in a fight. We've got to kill Yablonski, or take care of him," Turnblazer replied. "Mr. Pass then said if no one else will kill him, District 19 would."

HE SAID FINE
Sprague asked, "What did Mr. Boyle say?"

"As I recall, he said fine," Turnblazer responded.

Pass was convicted last June of murder.

Testimony from 56 prosecution witnesses alleged that the killers were hired by men contacted by Pass and paid $20,000 in union funds siphoned from the District 19 treasury and authorized by Boyle. Turnblazer's testimony was the first direct link to the 72-year-old Boyle.

Turnblazer admitted under cross-examination he had lied to FBI agents, to U.S. Labor Department investigators, to grand juries, and at one trial before he confessed his part in the plot last August.

In September, he pleaded guilty to federal charges of violating the civil rights of the Yablonskis. He faces life imprisonment.

Waiting For Reply From White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee is waiting for a promised reply from the White House to its request for tapes of 42 presidential conversations.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., has scheduled a committee meeting for Wednesday or Thursday to deal with the question of a subpoena if today's reply is unsatisfactory.

In a letter released by Rodino Monday, James D. St. Clair, President Nixon's chief impeachment lawyer, said that despite progress in recent weeks the dispute has not been resolved.

NOT PREPARED
He indicated the White House is not prepared to surrender all 42 presidential conversations the committee wants and requested Feb. 25.

The committee last week set a deadline of today for a yes or no answer from the White House as to whether it will give up the tapes.

There is a possibility that partial compliance by the White House will be sufficient to head off the confrontation a subpoena would produce.

Committee Counsel John Doar disclosed last week that the committee is willing to accept initially only those tapes St. Clair says are relevant to the impeachment inquiry. But the committee would retain the right to demand all the tapes if originally requested.

UNDER PRESSURE
Rodino is also being put under pressure by some Republican members to permit a vote this week on the procedures the committee will follow in handling the evidence gathered by the impeachment staff.

Rodino and Doar would like to keep the procedure flexible until the documentary evidence has been presented, but Republicans are demanding that the right of St. Clair to be present during the presentation be settled now.

GOP Hopeful To Be Here

Jim Granberry, Republican candidate for governor of the state of Texas, will visit Big Spring briefly Wednesday afternoon. He will be available for interviews during a press conference in the First Federal Savings and Loan Community Room at 5 p.m.

Granberry is a former mayor of Lubbock. He served on the Lubbock city council from 1966 until 1972. When he won the mayoralty race against four opponents in 1970, he became the youngest mayor ever elected in Lubbock.

An orthodontist by profession, he was born in Tyler and is now 41 years of age.

He first announced for the governor's race June 21, 1973 and is projecting the idea that a fresh new energy is needed to lead the people, to listen to them, to learn from them "and, above all, to serve them."

He and his wife, Edwina, are the parents of five children.

Coincidentally, Granberry was mayor of Lubbock during that city's devastating tornado in 1970.

Gunman Escapes Tackles Of Trio

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — An elusive gunman escaped tackles by three bystanders twice as he ran from a bank he had robbed Monday, but was apprehended a short time later by a Henrico County policeman.

Stuart Bruce Vivencio, 27, of Belton, Tex., was charged with robbing the Richmond National Bank after he was stopped by Patrolman W. L. Jackson near a wooded area close to the bank.

Police reconstructed events this way: Shortly after 5 p.m. a man entered a McDonald's restaurant across from the bank and ordered a drink.

WANTS CASH
He sat at a booth next to one occupied by two young men, took several sips from his cup, and then walked across the street to the bank.

One of the pair later recalled jokingly asking the other, "I wonder if he's going to rob the bank?"

The man entered the bank and passed a note to a teller advising, "This is a stickup. Give me all the money from your cash drawer. I don't want any of the ones."

The teller put the money on the counter and the man placed it in a metal lunch box he was carrying.

GOT IT ALL
As the robber walked out the front door of the bank, the teller yelled, "He got all my money."

A male customer from the bank started after the robber and was joined by the two men from the restaurant.

He was tackled once by the trio but escaped. They grabbed him a second time and threw him to the ground, but again he got up running, this time tossing aside his lunch box and jacket.

He was arrested a few moments later by Jackson.

Police recovered $3,800 that was in the lunch box and a .25 caliber pistol from the pocket in the jacket.

Vivencio was held in the Henrico County jail in lieu of $50,000 bond.

Houston Mass Murders Preliminary Recessed

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A judge recessed a preliminary hearing in the Houston mass murders today after defense lawyers tried to change the place of the trial and sought to have the case thrown out of court.

The defendant is Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, charged with six of the 27 slayings. His first trial will be on accusations he killed Charles Cobble, 17, a neighbor.

COMPLAINED
The pretrial hearing was recessed until April 22. The trial will begin July 8 unless Judge Preston Dial grants one or more of today's defense motions.

The first motion complained that news coverage of the slayings was too good in San Antonio to allow a fair trial. The same claim got the trial transferred here from Houston. The judge accepted documents on the news coverage issue and then recessed the case because prosecutors said they were not prepared to reply.

The second motion seeks to have the indictment dismissed because of what the lawyers called misconduct by Don Lambright, a Harris County (Houston) assistant district attorney.

Gray asked that Judge Dial throw out any evidence gathered by Lambright if he does not dismiss the indictment.

Warm Winds

Warm winds. Southerly to southwesterly 15 to 25 m.p.h. and gusty this afternoon. Decreasing to night. High today and Wednesday in the 80s. Low tonight near 50.

WATCHING HIS FATHER AT WORK — Burke Doar, 10, background, yawns as he watches his father, John Doar, majority counsel for the House Judiciary Committee, right, talk with Albert Jenner, minority counsel, Monday during a committee hearing in Washington. Doar reported to the committee that the impeachment inquiry's staff is going over last week's findings on President Nixon's taxes to determine if they involve fraud.

Bids For Seal Coating 176 Blocks To Be Taken

By MARJ CARPENTER

Plans to advertise for bids for seal coating on 176 blocks of city streets and first reading of an ordinance controlling the parking of trucks and trailers in residential areas highlighted the city council meeting here this morning.

The seal coating will be Phase II of a street paving program under revenue sharing funds. The ordinance prohibiting parking of trucks and trailers on city streets in residential areas will have one more reading before becoming final. Trucks will only be allowed to stop for loading and unloading.

In other action, the city awarded the bid for the city depository to First National Bank for two years, recommended as the best bid by Robert Massengale, city secretary.

REELECT

The council reelected Eddie Acri as mayor pro tem. They adjusted the tax roll where errors had been made. They approved city memberships for the Texas Institute of Traffic Engineers and Municipal Personnel Affairs. Harold Hall reminded city administrators that "We need to cut down on long trips."

They awarded a city vehicle bid for a police car to the low bidder, Jack Lewis, with three voting for and Acri voting no. Acri claimed that Don Crawford did not receive a letter notifying him of the bid. Bob Butler said that one had been mailed to the Crawford Agency and that a public legal notice had also been run in the newspaper.

"If we have to depend on them seeing it in the paper, we'll never get any bids," Acri stated. Butler again told the council that he had been very careful in mailing out letters to the dealers.

The council voted to reject all bids for property near the golf course and rebid it in smaller tracts. A report was heard on the taxis. The council was told that the cabs are en route on trucks.

The election was officially canvassed and Mayor Wade Choate, Councilmen Acri and Harold Hall were sworn into office.

The council approved the traffic committee minutes and also resolutions to the Texas

Cyclist Suffers Multiple Breaks

James Otis Williams, 15, of 1504 Vines is in Medical Center Hospital in fair condition suffering from multiple fractures after the motorcycle he was riding was in a collision at 11:35 p.m. Monday.

The accident occurred at the intersection of 11th and South Goliad. Shirley Sue Duncan, 6 Indian Ridge, was driver of the car involved in the collision.

Tommy Calvin Hubbard, is hospitalized at Cowper Hospital suffering from severe abrasions and possible other injuries, following a two vehicle collision early Monday afternoon.

Charles Ray Lewis, 507 Edwards, was driver of the other vehicle and was taken to Malone-Hogan clinic by private car. The accident occurred at the intersection of W. 7th and Douglas.

Highway Department concerning changes at both Goliad and FM 700 and at FM 700 and US 87.

The council approved permission to bid for bridges in the Comanche Trails Park under an improvement program within the park.

BACKED RULING

The council backed a Supreme Court ruling and changed their personnel policy to include pregnancy under sick leave.

Bills were approved and City Manager Harry Nagel gave a report. He reported on the status of the problem on sewage infiltration which must be bettered by June, according to the Water Quality board.

He told the council that Bill Brown, Roy Crimand and himself are discussing the use of liner and that a manhole will be cut to check the line for possible use of the liner. They plan a trip to East Texas to view similar projects in similar soil.

He briefed the council on the fact that the city's two caterpillars are broken down and that they are using the front end loader at the landfill.

He also said that the state health department is checking to see if the new landfill area has not already been approved.

He briefed the council on the effect of minimum wage on the city and also requested permission for Capt. Sherrill Farmer of the police department to attend the FBI Academy in Washington from June 24 to until Sept. 12 while he is attending the school.

Present for the meeting were Mayor Choate, Mrs. Polly Mays, Hall and Acri.

RUTH'S RECORD FADES INTO HISTORY

Aaron Hits THE Home Run

(AP WIREPHOTO)

RECORD-BREAKER — It was Henry Aaron at bat in the fourth inning of the Atlanta Braves — Los Angeles Dodgers game in Atlanta Stadium Monday night, and The Hammer made sports history with this swing. It was a home run, his 715th career homer, which allowed Aaron to surpass Babe Ruth's near-legendary record, Joe Ferguson, Dodger catcher, and umpire David Davidson watch the blast.

ATLANTA (AP) — Henry Aaron, refusing to yield to the pressure that had to be gnawing at him, erased baseball's unreachable standard Monday night when he smashed the 715th home run of his career.

"I feel I can relax," said the 40-year-old Atlanta Braves slugger after leaving behind the ghost of the great Babe Ruth with his two-run, fourth-inning blast off left-hander Al Downing of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I feel my teammates can relax and I think I can have a great season," he said. The icy-nerved veteran of 20 major league campaigns became the game's all-time home run king the same way he had ended his chase of the legendary Ruth with his record-tying 714th homer on opening day—by hitting out the first pitch he swung at in the game.

The historic shot triggered 11 minutes of bedlam in Atlanta Stadium as a standing room only crowd of 53,775 cheered the soft-spoken Alabama native who claimed baseball's most cherished record.

A call of congratulations came from President Nixon while the famous No. 44 was still in the game. Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who ordered the Braves to play Aaron in Cincinnati Sunday

May 25, 1935. He died of cancer in New York in 1948.

The Babe's widow, Clare, had not watched her husband's record tumble even though the game was televised nationally. But she heard about it almost immediately and dispatched a telegram of congratulations to Aaron at the stadium.

The historic home run left the jam-packed stadium just in left field. It came after Darrell Evans had reached first on an error.

Aaron rounded the bases in his normal manner, although two young spectators charged out of the stands and ran beside him between second and third base. He said he never saw them.

When Aaron reached the plate, his teammates had poured out of the dugout and sprinted in from the left field bullpen to offer their congratulations. They drank champagne toasts to the new home king in the dressing room after the game.

Aaron broke away from his mates and rushed to a special box adjacent to the Atlanta dugout, where his family watched the dramatic event.

He embraced his wife, Billye, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Aaron of Mobile, Ala.

"I never knew she could hug so tight," Aaron said of his mother. Herbert Aaron, a retired shipyard worker, had thrown out the ceremonial first ball almost an hour earlier. He jumped out of the box to join his famous son on the field during the 11-minute interruption.

A massive fireworks display was ignited amid cannonlike explosions in the rain-chilled air.

Then came the only boos of the celebration.

Monte Irvin, an aide to Kuhn, said into a field microphone, "The Commissioner's office..." He got no further.

Aaron smiled. The fans were irked over the commissioner's order that Aaron had to play in Sunday's series finale at Cincinnati.

Team officials and Aaron took the position that Cincinnati fans had seen the record-tying 714th off right-hander Jack Billingham last Thursday and that the slugger's hometown fans deserved No. 715.

The commissioner was at tending a dinner in Cleveland when he expressed pride at Aaron's accomplishment, but no doubts about his decision.

Irvin presented from Kuhn to Aaron a $3,000 diamond-studded wristwatch with 715 imprinted on it in gold.

Aaron was asked if he thought he now might be considered the greatest baseball player who ever lived.

"I think I may be one of the best," he said. "But Joe DiMaggio was one of the greatest, and so were Willie Mays and Jackie Robinson. But I don't think Henry Aaron is fourth. He may be second or third. I would be in there some place."

Lost in the excitement of the home run mark was another surpassed Babe Ruth record—extra bases on long hits. Ruth stood at 2929 bases. Aaron now has 2921.

The Hammer also set a National League record in the second inning when he was walked on five pitches.

The run was the 2063rd of his career, moving him one ahead of Willie Mays and trailing only American Leaguers Ty Cobb (2244) and Ruth (2174) on the all-time list.

Asked if he had any major goals remaining, Aaron said, "I would like to break Stan Musial's record and become the all-time National League leader in hits."

Aaron currently stands in fourth place with 3511. Musial had 3630 during a sparkling career with the St. Louis Cardinals. Cobb's all-time mark of 4191 is out of reach, but Aaron soon will move into third place all-time ahead of Tris Speaker, who had 3515.

It was, indeed, a day to remember for millions of baseball fans and the new Sultan of Swat—Henry Aaron.

Aaron Family Views Differ

ATLANTA (AP) — Pappa Aaron said, "You couldn't have done it without me."

Mamma Aaron squeezed him until he almost choked. Wife Billye was ecstatic and all the brothers and sisters couldn't stop jumping.

But the Aaron family was still divided over the controversy that preceded Hank Aaron's 715th home run Monday night which shattered the career record of the great Babe Ruth.

"I think Dad really enjoyed all that fuss," Aaron said at the news conference afterward. Herbert Aaron, retired shipyard worker from Mobile, Ala., is a small, wispy man with glasses and tremendous pride.

Speaking of Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's directive that the Atlanta club play Aaron in the opening series in Cincinnati or face severe consequences, Hank's father said: "The man has to do what he thinks he is supposed to do. I worked in a shipyard for 29 years and never made a fuss about anything. I think one of the reasons Henry has done so well is that he has kept his mouth shut."

Hank's mother, a rotund woman in a purple flowered dress, was not so forgiving.

"I don't like the way they treated my boy and I want it in big letters so Mr. Commissioner will know," she said.

Aaron's three sisters and oldest brother, Herbert Jr., said that they felt that the controversy over where and when Aaron should play had taken some of the lustre away from Hank's record-shattering feat.

"But it's all over now, and thank goodness we can forget about it," Herbert Jr. said.

"They all sat in a special section adjacent to the Braves' dugout and beamed as Atlanta paid tribute to its favorite baseball son with a resplendent pregame ceremony and booming cannon shots which followed the fourth-inning home run.

Area Girls Get All-Star Berths

Four area girls have been named to the Texas High School Girls Coaches Association 1974 North All-Star Basketball team.

Theresa Beal of Coahoma and Melissa Taylor of Borden County were selected forwards on the honor group, while Gayle Singleton of Klondike was among the eight guards chosen. Kayla Gaskins of Sands was named as an alternate guard.

Bingham's Two Opening Night Wins Top Racing

Billy Bingham, the 1972 champion, wasted little time in getting back on top Saturday as he captured two victories in opening night action at Big Spring Raceway Park.

Bingham, driving for Travis Mauldin in the Wagon Wheel Special, topped the A Class Fast Heat for modified cars and also won the A Feature Race to head the action. Mike Roman, the 1973 champion, won the Trophy Dash for super-modified autos and Jim Lefler took the A Class Slow Heat.

Hank Becomes The King, But Feels No Different

ATLANTA (AP) — "It was just like any other home run," Hank Aaron said after becoming the greatest home run hitter in the history of baseball.

"I don't feel any different now," the 40-year-old Atlanta Braves outfielder said Monday night after his 400-foot blast in the fourth inning shattered the cherished career record of the great Babe Ruth.

"It may be different when I wake up tomorrow morning and realize what happened," added the son of an Alabama shipyard worker.

It was home run No. 715 for Aaron, climaxing a chase that has covered 21 years. It brought booming cannon shots and flying balloons before 53,775 fans in Atlanta Stadium.

The feat brought a telephone call from the White House.

"The President phoned and congratulated me," Aaron told reporters afterward. "He invited me to the White House, but he didn't set a specific time." Aaron is a reserved, soft-spoken product of the Deep South. He faced racial problems early in his career but refused to harbor any bitterness.

"Times were that way then," he said of segregated hotels and all-black boarding houses. "Baseball has been good to me, and I've been lucky."

Asked at a post-game news conference if he thought he now might be considered the greatest player who ever lived, Aaron balked at such a boast.

"I think I may be one of the best," he said. "But Joe DiMaggio was one of the greatest, and so were Willie Mays and Jackie Robinson. But I don't think Henry Aaron is fourth. He may be second or third."

Aaron's record homer came off Al Downing of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who like Aaron wore number "44" on his back.

"It was a fast ball, high and inside," Aaron said. "It hung a little." Atlanta won the game 7-4.

Before the game, Aaron was honored in a lavish ceremony that featured bands, cannon blasts, balloons and fanfare. Pearl Bailey sang the National Anthem.

"Ain't seen nothing like this since the burning of Atlanta," said Miss Bailey. "All we need now is to see General Sherman and the Union troops come storming in from left field."

Gilmore, Colonels Wrap Up Series With Carolina

By The Associated Press

It was easy to describe Artis Gilmore's performance in the American Basketball Association playoffs between Kentucky and Carolina.

"He completely crushed us," said Carolina Coach Larry Brown after the Colonel center had posted the coup de grace by scoring 33 points in Kentucky's 128-119 Monday night victory over Carolina.

The victory moved the Colonels into the ABA semifinals against the New York Nets, who finished their playoff series with Virginia in five games by winning 108-96.

The Utah Stars finished their playoff series with San Diego, defeating the Q's 110-99 for a four-game to two edge.

There was no National Basketball Association action scheduled.

Gilmore, who finished the four-game sweep with 119 points, was dominating off the backboards.

Gilmore finished the game with 20 rebounds and the 7-foot-2 pivot man, who hit 14 of his 20 shots from the field, also blocked three shots.

The Colonels, trailing most of the first half, surged ahead just before intermission and roared to a 20-point lead midway through the fourth quarter.

Mac Calvin led Carolina with 31 points while Ted McClain added 23.

"We played tough, really tough," said Colonels Coach Babe McCarthy. "The Cougars were hungry but when they get behind they tend to press a bit

Evangelist Given ABA Playoff Spot

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Sinners at the sixth game of the San Antonio-Indiana best-of-seven American Basketball Association playoffs Wednesday have a special treat in store—the halftime entertainment is an evangelist.

New Orleans evangelist Bob Harrington will preach at half-time to solve a time conflict at the San Antonio Convention Center Arena, which he rented last year for Wednesday.

The Spurs progressed during the basketball season to a Western Division semifinal playoff berth against Indiana with the sixth game scheduled for the Spurs home court, which is the convention center arena.

San Antonio won two of the five games played so far, setting up the conflict.

City officials, Harrington's crusade coordinating committee and Spurs management decided Harrington would be given halftime to preach with his program to continue after the game.

Teenage Baseball Meeting Tonight

Teenage Baseball League managers, coaches and directors will meet tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the school bus yard on FM 700 East to make final plans prior to tryouts April 18-20.

Tryouts will be from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, and from 1:30 p.m. on Saturday April 20. Boys 13-16 are eligible for the teen league. All boys new to the leagues, the sophomore and Hi-Junior loops, must attend at least two tryouts.

Stanley Cup Play, NHL's 'New Season,' Opens Today

By The Associated Press

Seventy-eight games go out the window tonight when the National Hockey League begins the annual chase for the oldest trophy in North America—the Stanley Cup.

"Forget what's gone before," said Scotty Bowman, coach of the defending champion Montreal Canadiens. "This is a brand new season."

Bowman's Canadiens will face the New York Rangers beginning Wednesday night. Two other series also start Wednesday with Toronto at Boston and Los Angeles at Chicago. Atlanta and Philadelphia get a jump on the others, opening their series tonight in a nationally televised game.

In World Hockey Association playoff action Monday night, the Houston Aeros defeated the Winnipeg Jets 5-2. New England plays Chicago and Cleveland meets Toronto tonight.

What's gone before in the NHL has been a crazy, mixed-up season for many of the

Nixon Should Pay Nearly $30,000 By Monday Night

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, already beset by back taxes of $467,000, faces an estimated income tax for 1973 of more than $100,000. To avoid interest charges, he should pay nearly $30,000 by Monday night, according to the estimate.

PERSONAL DATA

An estimate of the President's 1973 tax return was prepared by The Associated Press and a professional tax adviser. It was based on re-evaluations of his past four returns completed last week by the Internal Revenue Service and a congressional committee staff, plus personal financial data previously released by Nixon.

The estimate shows:
—Income of $303,723, most of it from his $250,000 presidential salary and expense allowance, the rest principally from interest and profits on a real estate deal.
—Deductions of $77,938, nearly half of it for interest payments and almost one-third from property taxes for his homes in Key Biscayne, Fla., and San Clemente, Calif.
—Tax due of $109,310. The White House said in December that $5,662 is taken from his salary and expense checks each month, meaning he already has paid $67,940 toward his taxes through withholding. He also left $1,000 from last year's refund.

The resultant balance due would be $40,370.
Nixon's Los Angeles tax preparer, Arthur Blech, said last weekend the President has requested an extension of time to file his 1973 return because of the complexity of last week's IRS decision that Nixon owes $432,787 in back taxes plus interest. The President has agreed to pay it.

But even with an extension the taxpayer must pay 90 percent of his eventual tax bill by April 15 if he is to avoid an interest charge. For Nixon, that would mean $29,439 by April 15. The IRS and a report from the staff of the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation disallowed a number of deductions Nixon had taken during his first four years as president.

Most costly of these were his charitable contribution deductions for pre-presidential papers he said he donated to the government before a law ending the tax break for such donations took effect.

Local Jews Attend Seder Ritual In Odessa Temple

Big Spring Jews took part Sunday evening in the Seder — the Passover supper — conducted at Temple Beth El in Odessa by Rabbi Josef Zeitin.

It was the repetition of the ancient ceremony symbolizing the Exodus from Egyptian bondage which was most significant of all the events in the life of ancient Hebrews.

"Passover affirms that liberty is the right of every human being as a child of God," said Rabbi Zeitin. "To accept servitude to an earthly being, be he dictator or tyrant, is to deny the rule of God, creator of the universe and Father of all mankind. Passover marks the first time that a people challenged the institution of slavery and dared to defy their mortal master — to serve a greater Master."

The passover is called Seder, which is the equivalent of the English word "order" — the order with regard to arrangement of the ceremony as stated in a festival book.

"Hagadah." In this, the events leading up to the Exodus from Egypt are recalled. The liturgy begins, before the Seder meal, with a prayer which everyone, regardless of denomination, could recite:

"This is the bread of affliction . . . whoever is hungry, let him come and eat; whoever is in need, let him come . . ."

Rabben Gamaliel, the great scholar of the first century and mentor of Paul, declared there were three main Passover elements — the shank bone in remembrance of the Passover offering; the unleavened bread (Matzah); and the bitter herbs.

It was the passover meal that Jesus and His disciples, as faithful Jews, had come to Jerusalem to observe, breaking the Matzah and sipping the wine at the Seder meal.

The Seder ceremony is concluded with Hallelujah Psalms, hymns of Thanksgiving for the High Holy Day.

TWO THOUSAND YEARS OLD — These four coins will be on exhibit at the First Presbyterian Church parlor Wednesday through Friday along with an exhibit of communion tokens. These four coins, accredited by the Smithsonian institute, were struck around the time of the birth of Christ. W. E. Wozencraft of Big Spring calls this portion of the exhibit "Coins Jesus-Knew."

Holy Week Coin Exhibit To Open Wednesday

A special Holy Week coin exhibit will be open to the public at the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday through Friday in the church parlor with W. E. Wozencraft in charge.

The coins that he will exhibit will include his collection of "Coins Jesus Knew" as well as a collection of Communion tokens brought together from the four corners of the earth by "Oliver Keith Rumbel of Mission."

Wozencraft's coins that Jesus knew include two coins identical to those in the 30 pieces of silver, one widow's mite and one tribute penny.

More than 3,000 words of printed material will be on hand as evidence that Jesus might have known the four types of coins or even touched them.

One coin was struck at Antioch, the birthplace of St. Luke in 43 B. C. It was in circulation in Palestine during the lifetime of Jesus.

Another coin, bearing the head of Melchior, a Phoenician god, was struck in 38-37 B.C.

COMMUNION TOKENS
The exhibit will introduce the viewer to both the history of the Communion Token and the high regard with which our forefathers held the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, according to an article from the Austin Theological Seminary.

The Tokens were given as admittance to the Lord's Table. The Token was most generally used in Scotland. The Sacrament was administered there twice annually. The faithful would travel for miles to commune.

John Watson relates an incident, which, though humorous, sets forth the earnestness of the Elders and minister if not the communicants. Quoting from the Session records in 1727:

"The session met to distribute tokens, but finding that a horse race was to come off, before Communion Sabbath, forbade any member to attend, and decided to hold over the tokens till after the race."

In the Roman Catholic Church, the token was given the name Mereaux. As early as the Fifteenth century, they were given to priests when they performed a service in a church and were exchanged for money payment.

A complete history of the tokens as well as pictures of Jesus and pictures of Judas will be on display this week.

Indicted Mayor Resigns Office

HEARNE, Tex. (AP) — Mayor or Jake Abrams, one of several city officials indicted in connection with a $12,000 check made out to a non-existent engineering firm, resigned Monday.

He cited poor health as his reason for leaving office.

The mayor's wife told newsmen calling after a late night city council meeting that Abrams already was asleep and could not talk on the telephone.

City Manager E. C. Suggs, who said he left the city council meeting early, informed a reporter he had heard Abrams resigned but was unable to confirm it.

Suggs made no reference to later reports he had been fired by the city council.

City clerk Mae Beth Bishop revealed in March that she wrote the check at Abrams' direction.

She said Abrams told her the money went to Rep. W. R. Poage's campaign chest. Poage denied receiving the money and Abrams later apologized to the congressman.

Poage had requested a federal investigation of the allegation. After the indictments were returned against Abrams and three city councilmen, Mrs. Bishop was fired.

Cyclist Dies

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Robert Morton, 24, was killed Monday evening when his motorcycle and a car collided in Arlington. His companion Tana Tomokins, 23, was taken to hospital in poor condition.

HAVE YOU WRITTEN A BOOK?

A publisher's editorial representative will be in Midland in May. He will be interviewing local authors in a quest for finished manuscripts suitable for book publication by Carlton Press, Inc., well-known New York publishing firm. All subjects will be considered including fiction and non-fiction, poetry, drama, religion, philosophy, etc.

If you have completed a book-length manuscript (or nearly so) on any subject, and would like a professional appraisal (without cost or obligation), please write immediately describing your work and stating which part of the day (a.m. or p.m.) you would prefer for an appointment and kindly mention your phone number. You will promptly receive a confirmation for a definite time and place.

Authors with completed manuscripts unable to appear may send them directly to the representative (address below) for a free reading and evaluation. He will also be glad to hear from those whose literary works are still in progress. Please address:

$500,000 Grant To SMU

DALLAS (AP) — A $500,000 grant from the Sid W. Richardson Foundation of Fort Worth for an instructional and recreational building at Southern Methodist University has been announced.

Chancellor Willis M. Tate said, "This is significant support for a long-needed facility and it comes at a crucial time as decisions are being made about its size, design, and location. The new structure will replace the old Women's Gymnasium which was built 49 years ago with a new and larger educational facility that will house our expanding physical education and recreation programs."

How important is the price of your glasses or contact lenses?

Price is important, but not as important as clear, comfortable vision brought about by accuracy of prescription, lens quality and proper fit. Frame quality and style are important, too. You want a frame that is comfortable, proper for your individual prescription, looks nice on your face, is well made and maintains the proper adjustment.

TSO is most concerned with how well and how comfortably you see. Because different people have different requirements for their prescription lenses and frames, the amount of workmanship required and the type of materials used will vary. Thus, to be exactly correct for the individual, they may vary in price, like a prescription for drugs. Maybe you think you may pay less for eyewear somewhere else; but will you get the quality your eyes need for clear vision and comfort?

At TSO you get both—finest quality materials and the lowest price consistent with quality. Why take any risk when it comes to your eyes? Stop in soon and see.

Body Guard Of Candidate Shot, Wreath Delivered

BENAVIDES, Tex. (AP) — Oscar Carrillo says that the wounding of a man who has been his body guard, the delivery of a funeral wreath and the firing of shotguns near his home will not make him withdraw from the state senate race.

"They are not going to scare me off. These things have made me mad and I am going to run (for office) even harder now," Carrillo told a reporter for the Corpus Christi Caller.

Carrillo, a former state representative, is running against incumbent state Sen. John Traeger of Seguin. Carrillo announced earlier this month he was breaking with longtime political ally and Duval County political boss George B. Parr.

MISERY
Deputy Constable Celso Oliveira was wounded Friday night outside his Benavides home when an assailant shot him in the side after saying "Okay, you son of a bitch, I going to put you out of your misery."

The assailant was in the Duval county jail today, but had not been charged.

Both Carrillo and Olivera said they did not believe the shooting involved politics.

Carrillo said Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, a sister of Duval County Judge Archer Parr, delivered the funeral wreath of five yellow crysanthemums tied with a black ribbon to the Carrillo home Saturday during a school board election.

The card on the wreath said, "Deepest sympathies. My thoughts are with you, condolences and sympathy, Archer Parr."

Carrillo also said several shots were fired near his home Saturday night at a time when Carrillo and friends were celebrating the victory of a candidate Carrillo backed in the Freer-Benavides School Board election.

MACHINEGUN?
"They sounded like they came from an automatic weapon or a machinegun," Carrillo said. He said he could not find any bullet holes in his home.

Carrillo said today Texas Ranger George Powell of Kingsville found some bullet fragments in a truck that had been parked outside the Carrillo home Saturday night.

Residents of Benavides were going to the polls again today to elect a mayor and a city council member. Carrillo is supporting incumbent Mayor Octavio Saenz and Mrs. Pat Gonzalez for the city council.

They are opposed by Armando Garza and Ruben Chapa.

SHOWDOWN
Carrillo said both Garza and Chapa reported that they received $250 from South Texas rancher Clinton Manges of Freer. He said Mrs. Atlee Parr, a sister-in-law of George B. Parr, held a barbecue for the two candidates.

"This election is a showdown and we're going to win it," Carrillo said.

At the time he announced he was splitting with Parr, Carrillo said Manges, Parr and Oscar Wyatt, owner of Coastal States Gas Producing Co., had formed an "octopus party" and plan to take over all of South Texas politically and economically.

Restructure Railroad Retirement

WASHINGTON — Negotiators for the major railroads and rail unions agreed on a legislative proposal to restructure the financially ailing Railroad Retirement System.

The bargainers didn't disclose terms of the agreement, which was reached after several days of intense bargaining. Precise language and details are still being worked out, and the parties don't plan to make the agreement public until rail union presidents have voted on it.

Currently, railroad workers draw retirement benefits under a system that is federally guaranteed, but wholly separate from the Social Security System. The Railroad Retirement System is heading towards bankruptcy, however, because shrinking employment in the industry has produced a situation in which more money is being paid out in benefits than is being drawn in from worker and employer contributions.

Sources say the new proposal conforms with the unions' earlier plan for a "two tier" system under which workers would receive pensions financed from two sources—one from Social Security, and the other an employer-paid negotiated pension.

'Sonny And Cher' Show Canceled

NEW YORK (AP) — "Sonny and Cher," one of CBS-TV's top rated programs is canceled and will not be on the network in the new fall season.

Announcing the cancellation here was Fred Silverman, CBS' programming chief. He declined to say if the recent breakup of the couple's 9½ year marriage had any influence on the CBS decision.

Industry observers have said the couple's marital rift threatened the future of the show.

Sonny Bono, 39, and Cher, 27, were married in October 1964 and split up last February, when Bono filed for a legal separation from his wife in a Santa Monica, Calif., court.

Pickle Doubts Enough Votes In House To Impeach Nixon

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — U.S. Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, D-Tex., said Monday he doubted there were enough votes in the House at this moment to impeach President Nixon. Most are reserving judgment until the House Judiciary Committee makes its report, he said.

Pickle's refusal to take a position on impeachment has been a major issue of his Democratic Primary opponent, State Rep. Larry Bales of Austin.

DID NOT SOLICIT
"I do not think there are today—this very minute and this very hour—enough members in the House of Representatives to vote a bill of impeachment and send the matter for trial in the Senate. This is because only about 30 members of the House are willing to commit themselves before the judiciary committee makes its report," Pickle told a news conference.

warrant Nixon's impeachment. Pickle said, "I have not been shown any evidence other than what I have seen on radio, television and the newspapers."

"I would vote for a bill of impeachment on the basis of strong and compelling evidence from the House Judiciary Committee that there is clear and probable cause that an impeachable offense has been committed by the President. . . . At impeachable offense is basically what each member thinks that it is," Pickle said.

IT'S PERSONAL
He was asked if he thought income tax evasion was an impeachable offense.

"The (joint congressional) committee simply made a statement of fact the President owed a certain amount of taxes. It did not say there was any element of fraud," Pickle said. This, he added, "is something else the judiciary committee will have to assess."

Pickle three times refused to give his personal view on whether Nixon should resign as suggested by Sen. James Buckley, Con-R-N.Y.

"If he resigned it would bring some relief in some areas but in others we might not be better off," he said. Pickle said "the better course for us would be the impeachment process."

Search For Truth?

Higher education formerly implied a disciplined inquiry into the knowledge of the ages, a recharging of the brain with facts and conjectures — but most of all, an insatiable appetite for more — which would set the possessor on a satisfying and productive life.

As reported in Human Behavior magazine, that concept seemingly has changed. On one campus, at any rate, the concept of academic freedom has to do with whether the student has to study or is free to goof off, if that is his choice.

When 616 students at Iowa State University were asked to write a one-sentence definition of academic freedom, the answers were varied.

But only 12 said it meant the pursuit of truth. The rest all thought it had something to do with their rights on campus. That is not much of a testament to campus intellectualism. What it implies is that the discipline of learning is at low ebb, having given way to a non-discipline more interested in the ego than the intellectual opportunities.

Picking On Space Program

Little men with oh-so-big social consciences and their friends with the oh-so-itchy slide rules are having at the space program again. "Why is the nation spending all this money anyway?" they ask.

Some men in and out of government are becoming disturbed with the program because it hadn't made too many plans for what it would like to accomplish after having landed men on the moon. Some critics seem to be disappointed because manned landings on Mars aren't imminent. Their impatience, considering the odds, is colossal.

The world enjoyed almost 500 exciting, demanding and profitable years after the discovery of the Western Hemisphere. The discovery of the moon ought to be good for more than a year or two's pause anyway.

The space program may seem to be making haste slowly, but its achievements in periods when it does not make the headlines are great.

Saving Time, Money

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

How much will it cost to ease your itchy feet this year? Is there any way to stretch the travel dollar? Can you cut corners without cutting out the vacation?

LET'S FACE it — what you're going to pay for accommodations, meals and car expenses is outrageous — but it's necessary expenditure if you need the retreat. Who can begrudge travel that leaves your billfold flat — but your spirit full!

If the costs seem beyond your means, there are several ways to manage vacation money that may enable you to pull it off without missing much.

Experts say the simplest way to cut costs is to increase the daily run, thereby reducing the number of overnight stops and meals. Cut overnight expenses by shopping for clean, comfortable but older motels, or the new budget motels that do away with the frills. Visit less glamorous playgrounds rather than resort communities at the height of the season. If you want to cut costs to the bone, (and are the hardy type) save still further by camping. Tent camping is the ultimate saving, but recreational vehicles can be bought or rented.

A popular way to save on food is to make the midday meal a picnic affair, getting the fixings at a supermarket and eating at roadside parks. (This is a good idea in any case when children need to romp and let off steam.) Avoid big midday meals that might induce drowsiness.

Some people economize on the morning meal by buying before going to bed, fresh fruit and sweet rolls for breakfast. A portable coil enables you to heat water for instant coffee if this is not provided by the motel. This way you have money for a few memorable meals or gourmet dinners along the way.

OFF-SEASON prices are usually less, when fewer folks are touring, and you can expect better service then, too.

Hit the highway at the crack of dawn and you'll beat the clock. You can cover a lot of miles before regular risers get stirring. Stop for a second cup of coffee while the commuters are driving to work. Similarly, stop for your evening meal while the local motorists are returning from their day's work, and you'll avoid traffic jams.

Concentrate on seeing attractions that give you the most for the money, and visit as many free things as you can, saving admission fees for things that are really special. Don't pass up the free beauty of scenery along the way or you'll be cheating yourself.

Don't take toll roads unless time is the prime consideration. If you plan to go by plane, train or bus, write to the company for information on reduced rates or "package" deals. Having all the details worked out in advance is well worth the few cents you spend on postage or a phone call.

There's a big, wide world out there. Don't miss it. It will probably be here next year — but you may not.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

My wife is always after me to go to special church services, Holy Week particularly. I maintain that I can commune with God always and everywhere, and don't need to be in the sanctuary. I told her I'd ask your opinion.

L.R.

It is significant that in Christ's ministry on earth, He regularly visited the synagogue, which was the local church of His day. He went not only on the Sabbath, but the special occasions as well.

Of course, one can worship everywhere! That's the delight of spiritual life, in that it can be practiced and nurtured in the workshop, the laundry room, the forest or a public bus. But let's also recognize something — and that is, we are psychologically constructed that given the influence of a special occasion or emphasis, we are touched more easily and deeply.

Holy Week, for example, brings the message of Christ's love closer than any other time of the year. We are conditioned then to "think spiritual." To ignore this is to miss something important God has for us.

Read the 73rd Psalm! Note how the writer only understood life after he took his problems to the sanctuary.

You do the same — you won't regret it. Sure, Holy Week services can be trite and repetitious, but never when you attend expecting a meeting with the Great Lover of your soul.

Alternate Procedure

William F. Buckley Jr.

I have not seen it anywhere discussed whether, if the founding fathers had met today to consider the process by which a President should be removed, they would simply reiterate the provisions of Article II Section 4. Since I believe it utterly unlikely that they would, it follows that the solemn invocations of the impeachment article are an exercise in ancestor worship of a very nearly superstitious sort. And that these invocations are being used by Americans — by some liberals and by some conservatives — for reasons primarily political and psychological.

THE CONSTITUTION is a grand instrument. But most of that which makes it so has been tested and retested, modified, interpreted, developed. The impeachment clause is a provision which has been exercised on a president only once, over a hundred years ago. It sits there like a bizarre chemical weapon prescribed by the military handbook for use in a concatenation of special circumstances, however, are now shaping up. But the detonation of the prescribed weapon, unused for so many years, developed in a different age, correctly appals.

SURELY IF the impeachment clause had been invoked frequently, say ever 30 to 40 years since the birth of the republic, several understandings would be now have been reached as to its applicability. For instance, the question would have arisen, and would finally have been disposed of, whether a President could be impeached for committing other than indictable crimes.

But even more important the question would have been faced how to protect the country against the consequences of a chief executive rendered either impotent or desperate. I cannot believe, for instance, that if impeachment had been a regular experience of the United States, those who bring up the 25th Amendment prescribing for the indisposition of the President would have failed to specify that President impeached must stand aside from his office, deferring to the Vice President until the Senate had reached a verdict.

SOMETHING THAT simple, that reasonable, would relieve the country of a terrible anxiety which, under the specified scenario, looms. To the question: why did not the Philadelphia Convention anticipate this — one can only answer that it is not reasonable that Madison, Hamilton and Jay should have had science-fiction imagination into the nature of mid-twentieth century international life. It is not reasonable to suppose that they would imagine that a President effectively out of action for as much as five or six months would imperil the executive function.

IN THE period between the impeachment and exonerations of Andrew Johnson, nothing happened that would make its way into the front page of a modern newspaper. By contrast, in an age of electronic communication and of decisions required at electronic speed, the notion of four months of normally responsive government under a President handcuffed to the prisoner's dock, is at best an unseemly arrangement, at worst a perilous arrangement. Already a congressman of some prestige, Mr. Les Aspin (D., Wisconsin) has proposed a constitutionally doubtful bill that would remove from the President, during the period of impeachment, the right to sign a treaty.

THERE ARE liberals who want impeachment because they want the satisfaction of a public trial followed by a public execution. I remember the lead wire tapper dispatch from UPT on that tense night when the world was waiting to hear the news that the victor's justice finally had been done in Nuremberg. "Flash. Hermann Goering Cheated Death Tonight By Committing Suicide." Subsequent and embarrassed modifications came in over the wire straightening out that sentence, but not before it had gone out worldwide.

It is so with the gentlemen I speak of. They desire the removal of President Nixon, yes; but they desire that it be done in full constitutional regalia. They like the idea of "proving" their case. They don't want Nixon to "cheat them" out of the consummation of their dream.

THIS IS why the arguments abound for resignation, in the event of impeachment; or, failing that, for abdicating himself from office, as is possible under the 25th Amendment, for the duration of the ordeal.

Fast Food Firms Attract

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — It is unlikely that a survey ever will be needed to determine that surveys retain their popularity. Scores of them are under way at any given time in the business community. Some executives wouldn't dare make a move without consulting the latest survey data. Others commission them and then ignore the results.

One survey result that investors will find interesting, if not profitable, is that the nation's bank trust managers, one of the largest of that group called institutional investors, are changing their strategy somewhat.

Over the past year or more, these fund managers exhibited a tendency to concentrate on a highly selective list of stocks that included some of the best known and most glamorous names in American industry.

As a result, the favored stocks were able to command relatively high prices while the vast majority of stocks fell to some of the lowest price-earnings ratios seen in decades. While some of the glamor stocks sold at more than 20 times earnings, for example, shares of the major automotive companies dipped into the single numbers.

A survey of fund managers of major banks in New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Boston, Houston, Dallas and other cities now suggests the favorite list will be broadened in 1974.

The bankers, it is claimed by the Institute of Investor Opinion, expect the capital goods industry to perform better than any other industry group. Basic industry and natural resource stocks are expected to be favorites.

Fast food companies and financial services are also expected to attract more than usual interest.

A study by the Bureau of National Affairs, a nongovernmental organization, indicates that median negotiated wage increases in 1973 were larger than in 1972 by about 3.6 cents an hour.

The 1973 wage gain for all industries combined, with the exception of construction, was 24.8 cents an hour compared to 21.2 cents in 1972. But in comparable money—that is with inflation excluded—the figures turn out to be almost the same.

A survey by the Midwest Research Institute suggests that American business executives aren't very optimistic about making money on trade with the People's Republic of China or the Soviet Union.

The survey was conducted with the cooperation of 183 medium and large corporations. Only 4 per cent felt China offered much opportunity for business growth in 1974, and 59 per cent could see no business at all in the future.

The same corporate respondents were a bit more optimistic about trade with the Soviet Union. Nine per cent said the Soviets offered an opportunity for business growth in 1974, and 53 per cent were optimistic about doing business sometime in the future.

A fourth survey is probably more familiar to most Americans because it concerns them and their economic mood. The University of Michigan's latest survey shows consumers are more pessimistic than any time in its 25-year history.

Many people feel the economy is in the midst of a recession or was at the time the survey was conducted in February. Moreover, the survey indicates, many Americans have lost faith in their government.

Connected With Age

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am in my 70's and enjoy very good health except for one ailment diagnosed by a gynecologist as atrophic vaginitis. What can be done about this? — Mrs. M.T.

This is a thinning of the lining of the vagina, and not uncommon at your age.

When your glands are producing adequate female hormones, the vaginal membrane has a soft, pink, slightly moist appearance.

When estrogen (female hormone) production becomes too low, the membrane changes, becomes thinner and shiny, and the cells lose their normal structure. This is atrophic, or senile, vaginitis.

The condition is controlled by the use of estrogen either as a vaginal cream or suppository. This should be done daily until the membrane resumes more normal appearance. A Pap smear every six to 12 months is advisable.

Dear Sir: My husband has cirrhosis of the liver, diagnosed by biopsy over a year ago. A day doesn't go by that he doesn't have several drinks (vodka) — not to the stupid stage, but there is a personality change if I cross him.

Knowing he has this disease leaves me with a feeling of doom and is wrecking my nerves. Doctors I have spoken to give me no advice. They shake their heads and say "too bad." Can you give me any thoughts on this to ease my worry? — B.J.F.

No, I can't, because alcohol is sheer poison to a patient with cirrhosis, and your husband undoubtedly has been told so, plainly. There isn't any way the doctors can make him quit drinking; he has to do it himself.

The only solace I can offer is very slim: perhaps he will get sick enough so he realizes that he must stop drinking, and perhaps with luck this will come about before his liver has passed the point of no return.

There just isn't any point in trying to gloss over the disaster that is bound to come, sooner or later, if he keeps on with alcohol.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level that best suits your individual needs. For a copy, write to him, care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Burberry Saves

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — I went into Burberry's house the other night and, much to my surprise, I found every light in his house on.

"BURBERRY, have you taken leave of your senses?" I said. "Don't you know there is an energy crisis?" Burberry plugged in the toaster, the coffeemaker and the iron. "I know it," he replied, "and I'm trying to do something about it."

"By turning on all the lights and using all these electric gadgets?"

"That's right," he said, turning up the thermostat to 80. "You see, the electric companies say they can't make any money if we conserve electricity. The only way we can bring prices down is if electric usage goes up."

"YOU'RE PUTTING me on."

"I'm not putting you on," he said, plugging in his wife's hair dryer. "A few months ago the President and George C. Scott went on the air, separately of course, and said we had to conserve energy if we were going to be able to maintain our great way of life. So the American people saved between 10 and 20 per cent during the winter. Everyone thought if they conserved they would at least save money on their electricity bills."

"Well, it turned out just the opposite. The electric companies all asked for rate increases because people weren't using enough of their product."

"BUT THAT doesn't make sense," I said.

"What does make sense about the energy crisis?" Burberry said. "My family froze their bottoms out this winter as a patriotic gesture, and now we find the electric companies want to put a surcharge on them. I cut down on smoking last year, and the cigarette companies didn't send me a letter saying because I cut down on smoking they would have to charge me more a pack. We gave up unpriced steaks. My butcher didn't send me a bill for not eating steaks. Why should the electric companies send me a letter saying because I didn't use enough electricity I'm going to have to pay more for it?"

"I GUESS if they don't sell enough electricity to their customers they lose money on it."

"Okay, so that means if I use more electricity, they'll make money and then be able to charge me less. Hey, Honey, did you put the stove and oven on?"

Hardliner Is Out

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — With conservative opposition and Watergate-induced drift at the White House killing Pentagon plans for a hard-line disarmament policymaker to check Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, the post will now go, ironically, to a moderate-liberal Republican without rigid views on arms control.

PRESIDENT NIXON, bowing to pressure, will not nominate hard-line Democrat Paul Nitze as Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs (ISA). Instead, he is all but certain to name Robert F. Ellsworth, now a Wall Street investment banker following a distinguished hitch as U.S. ambassador to NATO.

Democrat Nitze, a top Pentagon official throughout the Kennedy-Johnson years and an expert on arms control, was the branchchild of Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger. Nitze was conceived of by Schlesinger as a valuable hard-line ally to cool Kissinger's ardor for quick SALT II agreement with Moscow.

BUT NOBODY bothered to prepare Sen. Barry Goldwater, reflecting the drift at the White House. Goldwater exploded, telling the White House he could not abide one of Robert S.

McNamara's old lieutenants back at the Pentagon. In fact, Goldwater made clear, he could not in good conscience continue to fight impeachment of a President who named Paul Nitze to a key post.

The right-wing publication Human Events soon joined the chase with a full-page denunciation of Nitze as an "uncertain trumpet." Schlesinger was informed Nitze could not be nominated.

HIS SECOND choice, Ellsworth, will not excite cheers on the Republican right but will not be actively opposed either. As a Kansas Congressman, Ellsworth was a founding member of the liberal Wednesday Group in the House and actively opposed Goldwater's 1964 nomination for President. But Ellsworth, no flaming liberal, was an early supporter of Mr. Nixon for President in the mid-1960s.

ELLSWORTH was eased out as Nixon campaign manager in 1967. As a White House aide in 1969, he collided headon with top Nixon aides H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman and was sent off to NATO, where his performance impressed European diplomats. He generally espoused hard-line foreign policy views in Brussels, but he does not yet have a well-defined stand on SALT.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"Now you are sad, but I will see you again and your hearts will be filled with gladness, the kind of gladness that no one can take away from you." (John 16:22)

PRAYER: Dear Father, You do not promise to spare us the rain and storms of life; yet You do give us a rainbow — a promise of Your love, endless, unfailing. Even in the rain, help us to feel the refreshing of spirit which comes with the tears. Renew in us the joy we feel because we know and love You. Amen.

Chances Are IRS Will Not Audit Your Income Taxes

BOSTON (AP) — There's less than a 2 per cent chance that the Internal Revenue Service will audit your income taxes this year, but if the taxman does come, you'll probably end up paying more money.

A computer weeds out the returns that look fishy. And it does it so efficiently that the IRS says its agents find something wrong in the government's favor in 71 per cent of the returns they check.

"Our principal source for deciding who we will audit this year is our computer," said John E. Foristall, head of the IRS office in Boston.

It's a matter of playing the electronic odds. A giant computer in Martinsburg, W.Va., and six regional computers check every tax return filed in this country in a search for anything peculiar, such as big business expenses or large charitable contributions.

Then it gives each return a score. The higher the number, the better the chances of being audited.

Foristall said in 1973 the IRS checked 1.4 million of the 50.4 million personal tax returns filed. He said the government claimed extra taxes were owed it in one million cases and agents found 58,000 persons in that group had paid too much tax.

Having large deductions will earn a high computer number for your tax return. But it will also get one if it includes complicated forms or shows a large income.

"The more complicated the return is, the more likelihood there is for a mistake," said Foristall. "We also look at the income. If somebody is in six figures, we'll take a pretty good look at that."

Just because the giant IRS computer might find something different about your return does not necessarily mean there will be an audit.

WEATHERMEN HOPE New Twister Warning System To Save Lives

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Weathermen running America's tornado warning system hope some planned improvements will help save more lives in future disasters.

For example, a new high-speed electronic system "that seeks to take full advantage of computers, modern display technology and modern communications technology" is being developed, says a top federal weather agency official.

HAPPEN FAST

The weathermen hope to begin deploying this in about 18 months to offices around the country so the whole system can react faster and more effectively to quickly developing weather situations such as tornadoes.

"It will be much more efficient than our present system and will enable a much quicker response" especially in cases such as the one last week when many tornadoes erupted at virtually the same time, an official said.

If such a modernized approach had been available last week, "it could have lengthened warning times five to 30 minutes — and in tornadoes, that could be important," another official said.

"Most natural disasters that kill people happen fast — you can't consume that time by in-

CARPUL Eases Energy Crunch

HOUSTON (AP) — The University of Houston is hoping to ease the energy crunch by computerized carpooling for students on campus.

Dubbed, CARPUL, the program lists students by telephone number prefix and mail zip codes. It arranges lists of students in the same area according to arrival and departure times on campus, using the time of the student's first and last class of the day.

The project began in a university business class and later obtained approval from the Students' Association. A similar project for UH faculty members is now being studied.

Spring Concert Successful At Immaculate Heart Church

A crowd that packed the auditorium viewed the spring concert at Immaculate Heart of Mary Sunday. The fourth, fifth and sixth grade students performed. They will now present the program for local nursing homes.

The program included songs from the Rodgers and Hammerstein musicals, "Oklahoma" and "The King and I." Selections from "Oliver" included "Consider Yourself," "Who Will Buy?" and "I'll Do Anything." The latter featured singing by six fifth graders including Denise Brinkman, Sherri Key, Theresa Klene, Joe Mata, Jose Ramirez, and Scott Simpson.

Piano solos were performed by Michele Ortiz, Mark Phillips and Brenda Salazar. Anesha Rogers sang Burt Bacharach's "The Windows of the World."

Brian Brinkman, Clay Dewey and Scott Miller sang "Talk to the Animals" and "Nancy Huarde." Lori Miller, Michele Ortiz and Mary Sneed sang "Tomorrow Belongs to Me" from "Cabaret."

A group of dancers from the fifth grade performed "Day to Day" from Godspell and the fourth and sixth grade groups danced to "Raindrops Keep Falling on My Head."

The song, "Happiness" from "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" was accompanied by a slide presentation.

The second half of the show consisted of a play based on the Broadway musical, "Fiddler on the Roof." Michael Franco and Mary Sneed served as narrators.

Joe Dromsky played Tevye; Melinda Lopez, Golde; Michelle Coleman, Yente; Barry McCormick, Motel; Billy Kline, Perchik; Lisa Caldwell, Tzeitel; Annie Mullen, Hodel; Lynette Dromsky, Chava. Vocal selections included "Tradition," "Matchmaker," "Sabbath Prayer" and "If I Were a Rich Man."

The show concluded with two songs by Leslie Bricusse from "Goodbye Mr. Chips." These were "Schooldays" and "Fill the World With Love."

The following students participated in the production include Delia Billalba, Nora Billalba, Brian and Denise Brinkman, Lisa Caldwell, Michelle Coleman, JoAnn Deanda, Danny Demman, Clay Dewey, Joe Dromsky, Lynette Dromsky, Yvonne Elizondo, Gilbert Franco, Michael Franco, Ricky Gambole. Also, Maria Garcia, Betsy Hayden, Nancy Huarde, Karroll and Sherri Key, Billy Klene, Theresa Klene, Melinda Lopez, Joe Mata, Barry McCormick, Lori and Scott Miller, Rodney Moralez, Annie Mullen, Michele Ortiz, Robert Pekowski, John Pfeiffer, Mark Phillips, Sandy Puga, Francisco Ramirez, Jose Ramirez, Sonia Rodriguez, Anesha Rogers, Brenda Salazar, Scott Simpson, Mary Sneed, Suzane Subia, Bobby Svenson, and Timothy Woodson.

Opening lead: King of ♣

Declarer paid attention to the auction, drew the necessary conclusions and found a winning line that is not easy to spot.

South had a difficult hand to bid, but he acquitted himself well. North's response of one no trump to the takeout double showed values, so South's first duty was to describe a strong hand, and not merely a balancing double, by cue-bidding diamonds at his second turn. After both black suits were bid, North raised to four spades.

Had the defense been unimaginitive, declarer would have had an easy ride. He would concede two hearts and a diamond, and ruff a heart in dummy. However, West led the king of diamonds and shifted to a trump, and declarer realized that he would not have time to ruff a heart. He would have to surrender the trump twice, and by playing the leads each time they gained the lead, the defenders would remove dummy's trumps before declarer could ruff a heart. It seemed that declarer would have to rely on East holding the ace of hearts, but that was an improbability in view of West's opening bid.

Declarer found a neat way out of this impasse. He drew three rounds of trumps, and then cashed the ace, king and queen of clubs, ending in dummy. Now, he led the queen of diamonds, and when East followed with a low diamond, declarer discarded a heart from his hand.

West won the trick with the ace of diamonds, but did not relish the prospect of being on lead. He was down to nothing but red cards, and he had no way to avoid presenting declarer with a trick. If he led a heart, declarer would score his king of hearts. If he led a diamond, declarer would ruff out East's jack, enter dummy with the jack of clubs and discard a heart on the ten of diamonds. Either way, declarer would lose only two diamonds and a heart.

Sunrise Service Will Be Held Indoors This Year

The "Easter Sunrise Spectacular" will be held in the Municipal Auditorium 7:30 a.m. Sunday instead of at the amphitheatre.

Director Dan McClinton said this decision was made to "protect our singers and instrumentalists from the cold and wind so they can perform in their own churches later that morning."

The hour-long performance will feature a 50-voice choir, accompanists on piano and organ, a brass ensemble from the high school and KBYG's Fred Davis narrating. The Howard County Ministerial Alliance and the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce are jointly sponsoring the event.

"It will be a service featuring enlightenment through the media of music and the spoken word. Bill Bgadye, the high school's band director, has sent me his best musicians (four trombonists and three trumpets). The choir includes singers from churches of all types in Big Spring. The choir will sing "No Greater Love," a cantata written by John W. Peterson," McClinton added.

McClinton is pleased with the cooperation he has received from the many citizens involved in the production. But he also expected more from local churches.

"We wanted to get together a 100-voice choir. But I appreciate the work of everyone involved. We're trying to have it as close to sunrise as we can. If the people respond to it, we'll have it again next year. It will be a real spiritual moment in recognition of Christ's resurrection. It's not too early in the morning, and we hope for a good turnout," he added.

The Spectacular's accompanists include Mary Sue McAllen on the organ and Mrs. Myla McClinton on the piano. Soloists will be Mona Lue Tonn, Ron Mason and Bruce Broughton. Municipal Auditorium's sound engineer, Johnny Shortes, will handle the technical end.

MRS. LARRY JAMES ADKINS

Couple United In Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Larry James Adkins will reside at Coronado Hills Apartments following their return from a wedding trip to Colorado and New Mexico. The couple was married at 3 p.m., Sunday in Trinity Baptist Church with the Rev. Claude Craven officiating.

The bride is the former Lila Gail Williams. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Williams, 902 E. 15th, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Adkins, Lomax.

The bride, who is a graduate of Big Spring High School, Howard College and West Texas State University, will receive a master's degree this summer at WTSU. She is an English and business teacher at Rannels Junior High School. Adkins farms and ranches near Lomax. He graduated from Stanton High School and WTSU. He is a Vietnam veteran, having served as a lieutenant in the Army.

Instrumental music was by Miss Janice Majors, fustist and pianist, and Mrs. Pat Grigg, organist. The vocalists were Miss Melanie Hayworth, Miss Lydia Hayworth and Mrs. Ruth Perry, the latter of Lubbock.

The bride was attired in a gown of Chantilly lace over white crepe; empire bodice accented with seed pearls and styled with square neckline and petal point sleeves. The A-line skirt swept into a circular train adorned with lace appliques. Her veil of illusion was held by a lace capulet adorned with seed pearls, and she carried a cascade of Talisman roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Mike Perry, Lubbock, was matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Miss Gayla Williams and Miss Lana Williams. Keri Stockwell served as the flower girl. They were identically attired in floor-length, yellow crepe dresses styled with long, puffed sleeves and accented with ruffles. A yellow crepe band trimmed their white crocheted garden hats, and they carried baskets of yellow daisies.

Robert Adkins, Lomax, attended his brother as best man, and groomsmen were another brother, David Adkins, Lomax, and Freddie Newman, Lomax. The ushers were Jack Madison, Lubbock and Gary Shaffer, Midland.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church, where refreshments were served by Mrs. Gene Jones, Dallas; Mrs. Gary Bacon, Fort Worth; Mrs. Elmer Johnson and Mrs. Mark Landrum, both of Amarillo; and Miss Mollie Adkins and Miss Dee Dee Adkins, sisters of the bridegroom. Guests were registered by Mrs. Gary Shaffer of Midland. Fifteen couples were in the house party.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Hayworth, Mike Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Stallings, all of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hayworth, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Schraer, Miles; and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stallings, Brownfield.

Crystal and silver were used on a bride's table which was covered with white net and centered by candelabra with yellow candles and yellow and orange candle rings. The bridegroom's table featured a circular orange cloth, silver and china. The centerpiece was a wooden candelabrum with orange candles and matching rings.

The bridegroom's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner at La Posada Saturday evening with 36 persons attending.

'Intimate' Apparel Is Appearing In Public

Spring '74 intimate apparel is for the liberated woman.

She wears what she wants... she can be as seductive as she likes... expresses herself in lingerie and loungewear that's romantic, elegant or sexy.

She takes her choice this season in long gowns with the romantic innocence of the country-peasant look... or entertains at home in sleek, sensuous things that capture the glamour of the '30's and '40's revisited. She can even go out partying in the sensational new sleepwear that's meant to be seen in... long, clinging gowns with the newest high-fashion touches, many of them created by leading ready-to-wear designers.

Today's freedom starts with daywear — what goes on underneath the new clothes. And since this is the year of the super-soft body-conscious dress, women will welcome the new lingerie made of a new anti-cling crepeset nylon yarn because it assures smooth lines all the time. These are some of the major trends:

The country-peasant look sets a romantic mood. It can be in a print, featuring fresh-looking daisies scattered on a field of blue... in a gown of dreamy innocence, trimmed with eyelet... or in a supple, floating gown that falls softly from a scoop neck edged with ruffles.

For pure allure, there are short, sexy gowns in soft, sexy crepeset... little side-slit togas with plunging necklines, or abbreviated slip styles with fitted bodices that hug the bosom. Many are in the new softer powder tones of the season, in delicate pinks or apricots. Pale yellows, minty greens or aquas are also important.

The hostess pajama takes on new glamour at a time when more people than ever are entertaining at home. Sleek and sensuous, many of the new pajama sets bare the midriff or swoop dramatically low at back. There are '40's touches in peplum details or in ruffled, off-the-shoulder Carmen Miranda tops.

Nightgowns that go out at night offer a whole new era of slinky dressing for the uninhabited woman. With the right accessories, these long fluid nightgowns step out after dark. There are dramatic new slip-gowns... some edged with lace... others with uncluttered long lean lines... some with matching cardigan jackets or long floating cover-ups. Deep, cut-out necklines or low-dipping backs give them drama coming or going. They're loaded with glamour, but — and here's the good news — they're at lingerie prices.

Gift Shower Honor For Bride-Elect

A pre-nuptial gift shower was held Thursday in the home of Mrs. Bill Hanson, 517 Scott, honoring Mrs. Linda Lou Spencer, bride-elect of Jack R. Cathey Jr. The couple will be married April 20.

Receiving guests with the honoree was her mother, Mrs. Loyd Lile, and her fiance's mother, Mrs. Jack Cathey Sr. The three were presented corsages of dried flowers in various colors. Mrs. Spencer was attired in a multi-colored patchwork pinafore featuring the colors of her corsage.

The refreshment table was covered by a white cloth with multi-colored border, and the centerpiece was an arrangement of dried flowers in various colors. Other accents were tin ware of yellow porcelain, sauce pans, collanders and salt and pepper shakers.

Assisting at the refreshment table were Mrs. Dwight Hood and Mrs. David Hanson.

The wedding will be held in the home of the bridegroom's parents.

A LOVELIER YOU

Spring Makeup To Freshen Your Face

Spring makeup, like spring flowers, has come to a peak of fresh, high color. But as faces turn to the sun, our attention turns to the complexion. It must achieve the same vibrant qualities as makeup, or wilt takes over.

The newest way to pick up the complexion is by mask. The newest masks follow:

Ice Mint Mask — It's a cool gel that helps bring a healthy glow and fresh vitality to the face. The action works to stimulate surface circulation, although the mask is practically invisible soon after application. It takes only three to five minutes to use and rinse off with water.

Moisturizing Mask — To combat the polluted environment, a peel-off mask refines, moisturizes and tones the skin. Application is a two-step affair. The first step is laced with special moisturizers such as wheat germ oil. The second step is a peel-off pack containing deep-cleansing resins. By applying a pack over a moisturizer, the skin is freed of blackheads and clogged pores; as a finish the skin appears resilient, baby-fine and glowing.

Lemon Peel-Off Mask —

An even film of gel, left 15 minutes to dry, reveals a refined, tightened, radiant face after the peel-off operation takes place.

Current Life Styles Viewed By ABWA

Mrs. Jack Alexander of the Big Spring High School faculty was guest speaker recently for the Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association.

Mrs. Alexander, who teaches a course in home and family living, said she has six classes, composed of both boys and girls. She said the course concerns guidelines for contemporary lifestyles.

In citing influences on family living, she mentioned different life styles, types of housing, schools, churches and children's peers.

Presenting guidelines for responsible parents, she said they should be sure of their values and know what they want for their children.

"Children need loving discipline to establish guidelines," said Mrs. Alexander. "The influence of a church will have a great effect on the children."

In conclusion, she noted that mobility of families in recent years has cut family ties, and statistics show that the average family makes one move in three years. Distance has caused families to drift apart.

The vocational speaker was Mrs. Doris Chrane of the D&M Garden Center.

Mrs. George Nixon presided during the business session as plans were made for chapter members to operate a concession at a local flea market April 20-21. Proceeds will go to the scholarship fund.

Mrs. Geraldine Dietz, an employee of the local tax office, was elected Woman of the Year and will be in competition for further honors.

The next meeting will be a dinner May 7, place to be announced.

Gardeners Hear Talks On Bulbs

"Much Ado About Flowers," a talk by Mrs. D. O. Gray, was presented at this month's meeting of the Big Spring Garden Club in the home of Mrs. Garner McAdams. Mrs. John Knox was cohostess.

Arrangements which Mrs. Gray used to illustrate her talk were called "Spring Tranquility," "Contrasts," and "West Texas Charm." Spring flowers were featured with different types of containers and accents to create different moods.

The second part of the program was given by Mrs. John Hogan whose topic was summer blooming bulbs. She listed popular varieties and described the requirements for planting, cultivating, watering and displaying the flowers.

The next meeting will be May 1 when a May Day Luncheon will be held with members of the social committee as hostesses.

Officials, Citizens Celebrate Opening Of Seniors' Center

A crowd of over 200 persons visited the Howard County Senior Citizens' Center during a Friday afternoon open house.

Festivities began at 2 p.m. with a welcome from Miss Bessie Love, chairman of Howard County Council on Aging, and continued with a double ribbon-cutting performed by Judge A. G. Mitchell representing the County and Mayor Pro-Tem Eddie Aciri representing the City. Ambassadors from the Chamber of Commerce were also on hand for the event.

Throughout the afternoon, toe-tapping music was provided by a group from Gail, known as the Gail Goof-Offs.

Those attending listened to the music, visited with old friends, looked over the new center and viewed the quilt set up last week by Mrs. H. L. Shirley and worked on already by a number of ladies. By mid-afternoon, a half-dozen tables of domino players had gotten down to serious business.

"We were extremely pleased with the cooperation of the city and county officials, the Chamber of Commerce, the musical group and the number of people who came out to enjoy the program," said Miss Love.

The center is being financially supported by both the city and county. It is housed in the Adult Education Building on the college campus, located on Adams Drive, one block east of Birdwell. It is open from 1-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Quitting is being done by both experts and beginners on Monday afternoons and various other times during the week. Special activities such as dominoes and "42" occur, especially on Wednesdays. The sponsoring group this Wednesday will be the XYZ Club of Wesley Methodist Church.

Hobbies are spotlighted on Thursday. This week Virgil Clark will be in charge of a lapidary program. The next potluck luncheon is April 17, and on April 18, M. B. McFall will be in charge of a program on organic gardening.

Love Lost

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 44 years old and pregnant, but that's not my problem. I have had 27 children. I was married the first time when I was 14. I had three by my first husband and 24 by this one and it seems that the more children I have, the less interest my husband has in me.

I wrote to you a year ago and you told me to get my husband to go to the priest with me. I knew he'd never go, and I was right. He hasn't set foot inside a Catholic church except for our children's christenings and weddings.

The priest told me to pray to God that my husband would see the light and fall in love with me again but I know that is never going to happen.

He's a good man in many ways. He has never raised his hand against me. He has worked steady and doesn't owe anybody a dime, but he is not nearly as loving as he used to be. And I miss that.

Can you help me? Could it be because he was born and raised in Mexico and I was born and raised in Texas?

TEXARKANA

DEAR TEXARKANA: Maybe. Most Mexican-born men have the old world Spanish attitude about women - they should be seen and not heard, should always have a baby in their arms, and another on the way, stay home and never complain.

DEAR ABBY: I am being held prisoner against my will in the Oklahoma State Penitentiary in McAlester, Okla. Please send hacksaw blades, files, jeweler's string and instructions on how to saw through 1/4 inch steel bars, making the least possible noise. I'm serious.

NUMBER 87226

DEAR NUMBER 87226: Sorry, but if I help you get OUT, I'll end up IN!

DEAR ABBY: A widow wrote you about not receiving any wedding anniversary cards after her husband had died.

I lost my husband before our 24th anniversary and would like to tell you what happened on my silver anniversary. I received red roses from my three children (all college age) plus they had reservations for the four of us at one of our better restaurants. This was a total surprise to me.

From our best man and maid-of-honor, I received lovely notes saying their thoughts were with me on that day.

Sure, it revived memories - but what pleasant and lovely ones!

I do not believe anniversary cards should be sent after one's mate dies, but please don't say the anniversaries cease. You may not count them aloud, but you can't turn off the memory of the happiest day of your life.

"ALONE BUT NOT LONELY"

Vets Group Welcomes Dignitaries

Veterans of World War I, Barracks 1474, and the auxiliary met Saturday at the Kentwood Center, where H. M. Haygood, commander, introduced the Rev. Eira Phillips who gave the invocation.

Rev. Phillips then praised the veterans and explained that the Kentwood Center will be available to any group which wishes to meet there.

Mrs. Allen Hull presided for the auxiliary meeting. Guests introduced from Lubbock were Sid Lowery, district commander, and Mrs. Mary Forrest, district auxiliary commander. Other guests were Fritz Mogford, barracks commander from Colorado City; and R. L. Price, department service officer, and Mrs. Price of Lamesa.

The group was invited to the district convention April 27 in Hodges Community Center, Lubbock, with registration to begin at 9 a.m., followed by a luncheon at noon. Mrs. Lucille Jacobs of Big Spring will conduct the memorial services at the meeting.

Dinner was served to approximately 85 members and guests. Tables were accented with Easter lilies, and the registration table featured a cross and Bible.

The next meeting will be at noon, May 4, at Kentwood Center.

BPO Does Will Vote On Bylaws

The BPO Does will vote on new bylaws April 16 according to plans made at a recent meeting in the Elks Hall. Mrs. A. D. Jenkins read the proposed changes at that time.

Mrs. Marvin Hayworth presided, assisted by Mrs. James Vines, first counselor; Mrs. M. K. Carson, junior counselor; Mrs. L. D. Jenkins, guard; and Mrs. K. Williams, conductress-chaplain.

It was reported that Mrs. Vines, M. K. Mason and Andy Arcand are continuing work on the dining room, with paint donated by the Elks. Mrs. Hayworth said the cookbook project is progressing and a report on a fund-raising project was given by Mrs. Williams.
