RITUAL SATURDAY Work On New Clinic Nears

Groundbreaking ceremonies Saturday 2 p.m. will mark the beginning of construction of another major medical facility in Big Spring.

It will be the new Malone and Hogan Clinic Building.

The brief ceremonies will take place at the site just east of the new multi-million dollar general hospital being constructed by the Hospital Corporation of America. This is a 150-bed unit with an ancillary core designed to service up to 300 beds.

Kasch Bros. of Big Spring will be the contractor for the new clinic, which will take the place of the one at Ninth and Main. HCA has acquired this property with the proviso that the clinic may occupy it until the new facility is completed.

Clinic and other officials will be recognized at the groundbreaking rites, and there will be brief words from the founders, Dr. P. W. Malone and Dr. J. E. Hogan, including a word of explanation about what is planned in the new plant to be erected adjacent to the hospital.

The building has been under planning for months and basic materials are now on hand or in sight.

Reviewing the . . . Big Spring Week . . . with Joe Pickle

Both the City of Big Spring and Howard County found nice little Easter Eggs last week. The federal revenue sharing checks arrived, bringing $94,117 to the city and $69,795 to the county.

One of the signs of Spring is that school hours have been changed, effective when youngsters return to classes Tuesday morning. The 8:30 a.m. start and 3:30 p.m. turnout reflect the longer days. Another sign is that the hackberry, as well as mesquite, and now the wild chinaberry say it's spring. Also the calendar, for it's almost unheard of to have killing frost after mid-April.

Dr. Charles Warrens was named the president of the Howard College school board last week, becoming the first former student of the college to serve in this position. Harold Davis, once a faculty member, also is on the board. The Big

Oil Profits For '73 Said 'Superficial'

NEW YORK (AP) — A bank report on oil company profits worldwide for 1973 shows an increase of nearly 71 per cent for a representative group of 30 firms.

However, the Chase Manhattan report warned that "an analysis that is limited solely to the change for a single year is not only foolish and grossly misleading but can also be dishonest." The report said the 70.9 per cent average increase of the 30 petroleum companies appears excessive "when considered superficially."

According to the Chase Manhattan analysis, 85 per cent of the increase occurred outside the United States and was due more than anything else to the devaluation of the dollar.

An increased demand for petroleum — 3.2 million barrels a day more than in 1972 — accounted for much of the remaining profit, the report said.

In the next 15 years, the economists predicted, the industry's capital requirements will top $500 billion and 75 per cent of that amount will have to come from profits and capital recovery.

Israeli warplanes went into action Saturday on the Syrian side of the Golan truce line for the first time since the October war. They took to the skies only hours after Israeli ground forces raided six Lebanese villages in retaliation for the Qiryat Shmonah massacre.

Syria said its ground-to-air missiles knocked down three Israeli planes, but an Israeli spokesman said: "No planes were hit that we know of."

"All in all, today was the biggest day of activity with Syria since the war," a knowledgeable military source in Tel Aviv said.

SYRIANS STRAFED

The Tel Aviv command said its planes bombed Syrian positions that were providing cover for a Syrian force that crossed the cease-fire line. It said the planes strafed Syrian invaders on the Mt. Hermon range.

The Israeli commandos blew up at least 20 houses and took about 10 captives before returning to Israel from Lebanon, the Israeli command said.

A woman and her daughter were found dead in the rubble of one of the houses in the village of Muhabeib. To call attention to the deaths, the villagers refused to bury the bodies, defying the Moslem code, which requires burial of the dead within 24 hours.

Lebanon requested a meeting of the United Nations Security Council to discuss Israel's retaliatory raid. A U.N. spokesman said the meeting probably would be held Monday.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said he "deeply deplores" the raids, which he said "may adversely affect the efforts under way to reach a just and lasting settlement in the Middle East."

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said the Israeli raiders were careful not to harm Lebanese civilians and any deaths were unintentional.

Dayan said the incursion into the villages, all within two miles of the border, was a "political action" to warn the Lebanese government to curb Arab guerrillas and prevent terrorist actions such as the killing of 18 Israelis in the border town of Qiryat Shmonah on Thursday.

Michigan Vote Tuesday Due To Be Close

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's 8th District elects its new congressman Tuesday in a nationally-watched special election likely to have at least a psychological impact on President Nixon's future.

Though many voters in the district insist Nixon's visit last Wednesday won't influence their choice, the outcome is certain to be cited as evidence either of support for, or opposition to, the President battling to avoid impeachment by the House.

Interviews with a number of district voters indicate that any antagonism toward Nixon is not affecting the congressional race.

NIXON AIR ISSUE

Democrat Bob Traxler, ahead in both parties' polls before the presidential visit, has echoed the Democratic victors in three of four previous special congressional elections by making Nixon and his administration's record his major issue.

Republican James M. Sparling, however, has repeatedly discounted the Nixon impact, saying he counts on his background as a reporter here and aide to former Rep. James Harvey plus a strong GOP organization in a district Republicans have held for 40 years.

However, the 45-year-old GOP nominee was sufficiently concerned about the threat of an anti-Nixon backlash to put out a letter the day after the President's visit telling voters "you should not vent your disappointments and frustrations" at the polls Tuesday. Also on Thursday, Sparling said he approved the House Judiciary Committee's decision to subpoena presidential documents. He has said that he would vote for impeachment if the evidence warranted.

The voting Tuesday is expected to be close.

PESSIMISTIC

After Republicans lost the Grand Rapids district formerly represented by Vice President Gerald R. Ford in February, they were very pessimistic about their chances against the 42-year-old Traxler, who has been campaigning here for months.

There was considerable internal division in GOP ranks when the Republican candidate invited Nixon to come, with top Republicans such as Sen. Robert P. Griffin saying publicly they were unsure a presidential visit would be helpful.

After Nixon was here last week, however, Griffin said: "I think this is going to be a plus." And Michigan GOP Chairman William McLaughlin, who had blamed Watergate for the Grand Rapids setback, predicted the Nixon visit would turn the tide for Sparling.

If that happens, Republicans in Washington believe, GOP House members shaken by the previous special election defeats might be less likely to vote for the President's impeachment in the belief Nixon is more popular than the national polls indicate.

Volunteers Fight
Fire In Mitchell

COLORADO CITY — A range fire was blazing on the T. L. McKenney ranch 12 miles east of Coahoma Saturday afternoon.

The Colorado City Fire Department received a call about the fire at 4:30 p.m. and sent three trucks to the scene.

Lorraine Westbrook and Coahoma volunteers joined the fire fight. And Mitchell County dispatched water trucks.

U. S. May Destroy Transit System

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal agency has directed engineers to provide estimates on the cost of destroying a $65 million experimental transportation system at the University of West Virginia in case school officials persist in their refusal to take over the system, a government spokesman said today.

Dr. Samy Elias, the professor who conceived the computer-run system of shuttle cars, said in Morgantown, W.Va., that he doesn't believe the government will tear up the 2.2 miles of concrete roadway connecting the school's sprawling campus at Morgantown.

ACTION A "MUST"

But William Swinford, information officer for the Transportation Department's Urban Mass Transportation Administration, said the government is required to "restore the site to its previous state" if the university refuses to run the system when the government decides the experimental stage is over.

"The only way to do that is to destroy it," Swinford said. So far, the university has argued that the "people mover," because of unexpected problems, is not ready for normal operation.

But the government, which has already spent $57 million on the project since the first grant went to the university in 1970, has approved what it currently intends to be the last contract for experimentation and has ordered the contractor, Boeing Co., to study ways to destroy the system, Swinford said.

The latest contract would bring to $64 million the cost of a system that was originally expected to cost $13.4 million, be 3.2 miles long and consist of 90 cars. Only five test cars are running so far.

"I don't think they will destroy it," the Egyptian-born Elias said. "It's working, and the public wouldn't stand for it. How would it look for the government to spend $7 million to destroy something that has already cost $57 million?"

The New York Times reported today that engineers are due here shortly to calculate the cost of dynamiting an existing 2.2 miles of special elevated concrete roadway.

The project, although dedicated by former Transportation Secretary John Volpe and Tricia Nixon just before the 1972 elections, is still in Phase I of development. That phase, not scheduled for completion for another year, includes only three stations.

UMTA-FINANCED
The planned 3.2-mile system originally was designed for 21 driver-less passenger capsules operated by computers. It was financed by the federal Urban Mass Transportation Administration — UMTA.

According to the Times story, government officials are weary of cost overruns on the project and want to turn the system over to WVU. However, the university will not accept the project in its present form, contending it is not completed.

The system as requested by the university in 1970 could have been constructed for about $14 million, much less than the $57 million already spent, Elias said. The Times said the projected final price is in excess of $115 million.

"The day they — UMTA — took it away from us, the cost started to soar. All we could do was advise," Elias said.

According to the Times, the university mass transit system became an effort to provide jobs for aerospace workers idled when Congress killed the supersonic transport.

THUGS STEAL $19,500 FROM MOM ON WELFARE

DALLAS (AP) — A jobless welfare mother told police that robbers took her $165 welfare money, $61 in food stamps and $19,500 in her purse, officers reported.

Mrs. Peggy Joann Flowers, 25, said she was getting out of her 1973 sports sedan Friday at a shopping center when a man aimed a pistol at her and said, "Hold it right there or I'll shoot. Give me your purse. We don't want to cause a lot of action."

Mrs. Flowers, who has four children, said $17,500 was mailed to her April 4 in payment of a life insurance policy held by her late husband, Clint Flowers.

The balance of the cash, she said, was what was left from $8,000 received from the sale of land in Arkansas.

Some Gas Shortages West Of Rockies May Develop

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vacationing motorists may run into some spot shortages of gasoline this summer, mainly west of the Rockies, but these should not be serious, the Federal Energy Office says.

"The definition of a spot shortage will be a gasoline line," said John Weber, assistant administrator for operations and compliance. But if lines develop, they will be short, and nothing like those of January and February, he said.

The energy office sees none of the kinds of spot shortages that plagued some areas last summer. Colorado, which ran into serious shortages, should not have any problems, Weber said.

Although the energy office has said that enough gasoline to take vacations this summer will be available for motorists if conservation is practiced, Americans will have to be more careful in planning their trips, Weber said. This will mean calling ahead to check on the availability of gasoline, to see when service stations will be open, and to check on possible limitations on purchases, Weber said.

He suggested that motorists may want to check with the American Automobile Association or with Holiday Inns, which are running checks on gasoline availability.

"By and large, if people are reasonable, we shouldn't have this problem anywhere," Weber said.

He said California may experience some spot shortages this summer because crude oil is less available in the area west of the Rockies, which depends on its own refinery output and has no pipelines running from the mid-Continent.

Weber said he figures that the most anyone would have to wait in line this summer would be 20 minutes.

Gun Flashed, Pair Insist

A surprised man surprised Medrow Segura and Irene Veiga, in a field behind the Golden Nugget Grocery, 508 W. 3rd St., Saturday afternoon.

Segura said he and his girl friend sat down in the shade before continuing their walk to the store.

A young black man with an "AWOL bag" sleeping at the base of the tree ran out into the sunshine, Segura said.

"What's wrong with you man?" Segura recalled saying. "Let me get my head," the sleeper replied.

The black man pulled a .45 automatic pistol, and Segura said, pointed it at them.

"Shoot me if you want to," Segura said. "Don't shoot her." The black man, who was wearing a hat, ran toward the railroad tracks downtown and the couple rushed to the Nugget where they called police.

Behind-The-Scenes Fight Shaping Up

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — It's not an exciting governor's race but it's the only governor's race around. That is the resigned attitude that most seem to be taking over the Democratic and Republican primary campaigns to choose candidates for Texas' next governor—the first to serve a four instead of a two-year term. In fact, the most political excitement may occur after the polls close, at the Democratic precinct conventions. Gov. Dolph Briscoe and his backers, sometimes aided by supporters of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., are in a toe-to-toe struggle with Texas liberal Democrats headed by National Committeewoman Billie Carr of Houston and backers of Alabama Gov. George Wallace for control of the conventions. The May 4 fight will be a preliminary bout for the main event at the Democratic state convention Sept. 17.

Briscoe is making the big push at the precincts because he does not want to find himself in the 1972 position when he tried to placate three almost equally divided Democratic factions at the state and national conventions.

But the precinct convention campaign is mostly behind the scenes while Briscoe and Frances Farenthold settle the primary battle for the Democratic nomination. Many voters don't know there are two other Democratic candidates in the race—Steve Alexander of Waco and Bill Posey of Houston. The Republican primary has settled down to a quiet race between Jim Granberry of Lubbock and Odell McBrayer of Fort Worth, after Henry Farrow of Houston withdrew. The GOP hope is that Farenthold will win, giving Texas Republicans the conservative banner in a conservative-liberal race in November.

The most interest shown in the Briscoe-Farenthold race was last Feb. 5, the day she announced and also filed a campaign suit against Briscoe. There was immediate speculation of another free-swinging, no-holds-barred campaign like the 1972 campaign.

But the excitement level has gone downhill since then. Mrs. Farenthold, so far, has run a low key campaign. It is caused to some extent by the energy crisis and by difficulty in getting campaign funds. Also, she says, she already has the name identification she tired so hard to get two years ago. Now, she is methodically attacking Briscoe's record, often in a legalistic, philosophical manner.

Briscoe would prefer not to stir up anything. He is proud of his record the last two years, as he says over and over, and would like to stand on it without much ado about campaign politics. Many of his speeches are still labeled non-political. Occasionally he has come out and said this is a "campaign speech" and answered some of Farenthold's numerous questions. It's just not like some of the Democratic governor's races that Texas has seen.

Sissy Farenthold Due Here Tuesday

Frances (Sissy) Farenthold no longer having to belabor the question, "are you serious," brings her campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor here Tuesday.

She will be at the Lounge in the Student Union Building at Howard College at 4 p.m. Tuesday as part of her whirlwind swing through this part of West Texas. Now that the constitutional convention (legislature) is recessed, part of the capitol press corps is due to be accompanying her, said Mary Dudley, Howard County campaign coordinator. Mrs. Farenthold will make a brief address soon after she arrives, then answer questions and then be available for visits until 5:30 p.m. when she has to leave for Midland.

HAVE A CHOICE
Sissy Farenthold has been storming the state contending that Texans "do have a choice," and attacking the thesis that Gov. Dolph Briscoe has been ignoring her. "Why not?", she quipped. "He's ignored everyone else in Texas. She has fired salvos on what she considers some of the major issues: The average landowner carried an unfair share of the property tax in Texas; major oil companies are clipping Texans through higher fuel costs brought on in part through elimination of competition; some industries are escaping a fair share of the tax burden; Texas needs a utilities commission; some school districts raising tax rates while there is a $350 million surplus in the state treasury; rural Texas are victimized by unregulated telephone rates.

WOMAN ATTORNEY
Ms. Farenthold, daughter of a well-to-do attorney, was reared in Corpus Christi, graduated from Hockaday and Vassar. She said she first began to sense discrimination when she was a lone woman in the University of Texas law school. This sharpened perception to what she felt was discrimination against minorities. "I don't know about all injustices, but I don't like what I do see," she said. Mrs. Farenthold now resides in Houston, and her husband and three children support her as they can find time. In 1972 she forced Briscoe a former House member and Uvalde rancher into a runoff with a surprising show of strength.

THE WEEK

Spring Independent School District re-elected Roy Watkins as president of that board, and at the city Eddie Acri was re-elected mayor pro tem.

Another sign of the times was the stepped-up parade of political aspirants. Jim Granberry brought his campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination here, and Sissy Farenthold, seeking the same role from the Democratic fold, comes here Tuesday. Bob Bullock stumped here for state comptroller. Mrs. Charles Finnell worked for her husband (and he will be here Monday) for state senator as did Ray Farabee for the same post. Glenn Toombs and Mike Ezell got in licks for state legislator.

An accident once considered not too unusual, but now almost unheard of, took the life of Edward B. Hughes, 53, foreman of the Wulfjen Ranch a week ago this morning. He stepped into the loop of a rope on the ground but also attached to his saddle horn, and his horse spooked and took off.

Death certainly took no holiday on the local front, claiming several well-known personalities. Included was Bob Bradbury, owner-operator of two radio stations. Bob, active in civic affairs, came up the hard way, never asking quarter no matter how difficult the times, yet remained cheerfully confident.

Sand Springs men captured the open places on the board of Howard County Water Improvement and Control Board No. 1, which supplies water to both Coahoma and Sand Springs. Named in the election mandated by the district court were Theo Earnest, Owen Johnston, Oscar Cagle, Marshall Day and M. A. Lilly.

Special music abounds in churches at this season, but there will be a special program Tuesday evening you ought not to miss. The Howard College choir, Kenneth Sprinkle, director, supported by Mrs. Mary Skalky at the organ, the Permian Basin Chamber Music Society, and timpanists of the Big Spring High School band will be presented at First United Methodist Church. The main program will be the five parts of Franz Schubert's "Mass in G." It's free to the public.

City council members are gearing for the summer season. Last week they authorized bids for 176 blocks designated for seal coat paving.

Coming up this weekend, for those who like the excitement of rodeo competition, is the Little Britches rodeo with three age divisions to 13 years. The Youth Horsemen are sponsoring this event in its first time out in this area.

THEFTS

A year-old German shepherd dog worth $400 was stolen at 2907 Cactus Drive Saturday morning, police said. David Palencia, same address, is the owner. A neighbor saw women in a car take the dog.

Friday night, two plate glass windows valued at $216 altogether were broken and two stuffed dogs stolen from Toyland, 1206 Gregg St.

Jose Banks, 1106 NW 7th St., Saturday reported two 10-foot, heavy chains, two oil field valves, two auto manifolds and 10 feet of two-inch pipe was stolen from his yard.

Dora Juarez, 16, 1003 NW 2nd St., told police she left her purse in Gibson Discount center Friday night. When she returned minutes later, $40 was missing.

A .410 shotgun was stolen in the burglary of 409 N. Bell St., police were told Friday. A beer pitcher and two glasses were taken from Wagon Wheel No. 1 Friday night, police said. Police located the suspects and the glassware was returned.

Scott Lankford of the Jet Drive-In Theatre told police speakers were stolen Friday night.

spelled "stalagmite" in the 34th round. The youngster, son of a Big Spring physician, thus won an expenses-paid trip to the National finals, which takes place at the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, D.C., June 3-8.

From the tenth through the 21st round, only three contestants were left in the bee. Diane Brian of Lubbock, last year's winner, went out in the 22nd round when she missed on "paraphernalia."

At Washington, young Margolis will be competing for more than $5,000 in prizes. He won a specially-engraved loving cup in the Lubbock event.

A 30-volume set of Encyclopedia Britannica went to the runnerup while the third place finisher received a 12-inch portable black and white television set.

Prizes went to the final eight contestants. Other winners include: Fourth — Pricilla Brown, Gaines County, Encyclopedia Britannica World Atlas; fifth — Dana Lynn Schuster, Yoakum County, Encyclopedia Britannica Yearbook of Science and the Future; sixth — Linda Evins, Lamb County, American Heritage Dictionary of English Language; seventh — Laura Beth Warren, Lea County, N.M., Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary; eighth — Shannon Koger, Dawson County, World Almanac Book of Facts.

Glenn's sister, Maridene, won the Regional bee in 1971 and made it through 13 rounds at Washington before being eliminated.

Hotel Here Has New Manager

C. D. Walker, formerly owner and operator of a motel-restaurant in Brownwood, has started work as manager of the 150-unit Settles Hotel and affiliated restaurant.

He replaces William A. Cooper, who plans to move to Colorado. A native of Burnet County, Walker attended school in Lamesa, Lubbock, Levelland and Brownfield and grew up in the restaurant business.

He is the former owner and operator of restaurants in San Antonio and Lubbock. Walker and his wife, Winona, have one son and three grandchildren. At the Settles, Walker will be working for Great Plains Hotel Co. Inc., Chicago.

Ex-Film Star Works Now As Housekeeper, Cook

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Betty Hutton, movie star and singer in the 1940s and 1950s, has been working as housekeeper and cook for St. Anthony's rectory at Portsmouth, the Providence Visitor says.

The weekly newspaper of the Roman Catholic diocese said in a copyright story that Miss Hutton has been working there for the last eight weeks after converting to Catholicism.

"I was broken down and out, without a dime to my name," the Visitor quoted Miss Hutton as saying. "I left Hollywood and landed in New England where I quite accidentally met Father Peter Maguire, pastor of St. Anthony's, who was kind enough to take me in.

"My marriages had not been happy, my children didn't bring me happiness, nothing has brought me true happiness until I discovered Catholicism." The Visitor also quoted Miss Hutton as saying, "I've had the money; I've had the fame, but I was miserable. Up until 10 years ago, I was making as much as $150,000 dollars a week. I was raking in the dough hand over fist. Money was no problem, but love was a problem.

"Nobody loved me unless I bought them, and so I bought everybody," Miss Hutton was quoted as saying. "It wasn't until I came here and experienced the concern of the priests and the simplicity and devotion of the parishioners that I discovered true love really does exist."

Miss Hutton's films credits include "Annie Get Your Gun," "The Greatest Show on Earth," and "Happy Go Lucky."

Miss Hutton, 52, was married and divorced four times and had three daughters.

Bilingual Teacher Plan OKed By State Board

AUSTIN — A new bilingual teacher certification plan designed to help Texas public schools meet the dual language needs of nearly a quarter million Spanish-speaking students was approved recently by the Board of Education.

The plan defines the requirements for teachers who will be needed to implement the bilingual education law passed by the 63rd Texas Legislature.

Under the new law, the bilingual teaching program must be implemented in the first grade in any school with at least 20 children who enter knowing little or no English beginning in September, 1974. Each district with the non-English speaking children must expand the program through the third grade by 1976-77. This, of course, includes many of the Big Spring elementary schools.

Nearly 30,000 children entered the first grade this year speaking only Spanish, the language of their homes and playgrounds, according to Dr. Severo Gomez, Texas Education Agency assistant commissioner for international and bilingual education.

Currently, 27,000 Mexican American five-year-olds are enrolled in public school kindergarten where they are being introduced to English by teachers who speak both languages.

DO NOT UNDERSTAND More than 240,000 Spanish-speaking students enrolled in Texas public schools do not understand enough English to make their grades, according to a district-by-district survey just completed by the Texas Education Agency.

"These students, who range from kindergarten through high school, include about one third of the 700,000 Mexican Americans in our schools," Gomez points out.

Bilingual certification is expected to have an immediate effect on some 8,900 Mexican American teachers in elementary and secondary schools who may add the new endorsement to their current certificates this year.

"However, we believe the new plan will have an even greater impact on English-speaking teachers, particularly in the elementary grades," Gomez says.

"There simply aren't enough qualified Spanish-speaking teachers ready to walk into the classrooms and begin working with these children."

The shortage of teachers who speak both languages will be met, at least in part, by an intensive language training program now being developed by the Texas Education Agency for English-speaking teachers.

786 TO ENROLL Some 786 first grade teachers are expected to enroll in the six-week Spanish language institutes to be set up in different sections of the state this summer. Supt. Sam Anderson indicated that there will probably be some from Big Spring.

Cost of the 1974 summer institutes, including stipends to be paid the teacher-students, is expected to total $625,000.

Although Spanish-speaking children dominate the bilingual scene in Texas, the statewide survey reported 51 different languages mixing and maybe melting with English.

Rate Boost Is Labeled 'Planned Inflation'

LUBBOCK — The new minimum wage bill signed into law April 8 by President Richard Nixon can only be called "planned inflation" according to PCG President Don Marble, South Plains, "as is any forced wage increase which is unrelated to increased productivity."

The law, enacted over PCG objections, increases minimum wages for various groups of workers from 19 per cent to 38 per cent beginning May 1 of this year.

Farm labor, Marble points out, will register the biggest increases going from $1.30 an hour to $1.60 on May 1, to $2.10 in 1975 and to $2.00 in 1976, $2.20 in 1977 and to $2.30 in 1978. Farm workers covered, as under previous law, include those employed on farms using 500 or more man days in any calendar quarter of previous year.

A "man day" is defined in the law as any day on which an employe performs as much as one hour of agricultural labor.

The minimum for all non-agricultural workers covered by minimum wage laws prior to 1966 will jump from $1.60 an hour to $1.90 beginning May 1, to $2.10 in 1975 and to $2.30 in 1976.

Cotton ginners, whose workers were first covered by the minimum wage law of 1966, will be hit by both an increased minimum and a reduced overtime exemption. The minimum wage for gin workers on May 1 follows the non-farm schedule. Last year gins were exempt during a 14-week period from overtime provisions, but this will be eliminated progressively.

Gospel Singers Meet Saturday

The 42nd Annual Texas State Gospel Singing Convention will convene on Saturday at 2:00 p.m. in the Stephenville City Park Auditorium.

Attendance at this convention has ranged as high as 1,500.

There is no admission charged for the event and it is open to all persons, said Robert G. Cook, Stephenville Chamber manager and churchman.

Leveled By Earthquake, Agadir Building Anew

AGADIR, Morocco (AP) — Grass covers the rubble and no one will ever know how many dead lie buried in the ruins of the ancient Kasbah of Agadir, destroyed 14 years ago in one of the great killer earthquakes of the century.

Foreign tourists, often unaware they are standing on a vast graveyard, look out from the hill to Kasbah over the sprawling modern city that has risen from the ruins. Agadir, almost totally destroyed on Leap Year Day, Feb. 29, 1960, is on the way to becoming one of Africa's biggest vacation spots, a Moroccan version of Miami Beach.

NEW HOTELS

Gleaming white hotels have sprung up along the sandy beach stretching 25 miles in both directions. Foreign investors are jostling for space to build more and more tourist accommodations. Elegant stores and modernistic public buildings have grown from the heart of the stricken city.

A concrete monument beside the brand-new city hall proclaims that Agadir was rebuilt "by the will of Allah." But nowhere is there a memorial to the victims of the earthquake. They were originally estimated at 12,000 but are now known to exceed 20,000 dead, plus 2,000 injured. More than half the population died in a few seconds. Others came to a slow, agonizing end far beyond the reach of help.

The Kasbah fortified city is one of the few areas not rebuilt. It was the epicenter of the quake. The ancient stone buildings collapsed on the 2,000 inhabitants and hardly anyone survived. Very few bodies were recovered. Only the 18th-century battlements, built by the Dutch to protect their route to the Cape, are still standing.

"The Kasbah is a taboo subject in Agadir," said a shopkeeper who was among the rare survivors. "No one talks about it. Nearly everyone has a friend or a relative buried up there. Only the tourists go there, for the view, and most of them don't even know there ever was an earthquake."

GARY RED (L), TEACHER Earl Capps watches

Deaf Musician Is Whiz At Winning Ratings

MOORE, Okla. (AP) — Gary Red is 14 and has been deaf all his life. He plays first chair alto saxophone in the honor band at West Junior High School here, and the past two years won superior ratings for solo performances at district musical festivals.

Gary "got interested in playing a band instrument two summers ago when his younger sister started taking French horn lessons," said his mother, Mrs. Richard Red.

Mrs. Red said she and her husband asked the band teachers if Gary had a chance to play a musical instrument. "They agreed to take Gary as a student," Mrs. Red said. "They tested him out on several instruments and decided that he was best suited for the saxophone."

Earl Capps, Gary's band director and music teacher, said Gary received no special consideration because of his deafness, except that someone has to tune his saxophone for him since he can't hear it.

"He is able, though, to play in the band along with the rest of the students because he has such good eye contact with the director. He also has very good rhythm."

Capps said Gary can relate to the music he plays by feeling the different vibrations the sounds make in the bones of his head. "And he is good," Capps said.

Firestone Loses Suit

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A district court jury found Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. negligent in construction of a faulty truck tire which caused an accident and awarded the plaintiffs $70,120.78.

The jury awarded $16,166.78 to the truck's owner, King Van and Storage Co., and $53,954 to the driver, Secundino R. Rubio.

The decision was the first under a Jan. 22 landmark decision by the Oklahoma Supreme Court which held a manufacturer is responsible for injuries caused by faulty merchandise.

The ruling stated a person bringing suit must prove the product caused the injury, the product was faulty when it left the manufacturer's possession and the defect made the article unreasonably dangerous.

Mr., Miss Western Week Are Crowned At College

Some beard growing, cow chip throwing, bicycling, pie eating and tug of wars were all part at Howard College Friday, last day of Western Week.

Neal Tindol and Nancy Graves were named Mr. and Miss Western Week at the dance Thursday night.

Runners-up for Western Week recognition were Mike Randle and Rene Slape.

Attending the scene of the announcement were around 100 students dancing to the music of the Bestrons.

In competition with 30 others, Friday Tom Bledsoe threw cow manure the farthest, 169 feet 7 inches.

No one entered the sloppy throw event.

The girl's dorm team won female tug of war, and the Boozers triumphed in the male tug of war division.

Boozers team members included Abel Abundez, Bill Lewis, Richard Borraza, Tom Mullins, Coy McCann, Bonnie Wright, Bob Coleman, Kevin Miller and Glen Everett.

Bruce Vaughn was tops in the bicycle barrel race. Randy Cheatham prevailed in the pie-eating speed test. And Ray Ward was first in the sack race.

With the "most attractive" beard was Scott Welch. John Rihard had the ugliest, and Larry Pierce the longest.

Evelyn Anderson and Teresa

Shepherd were consolation winners.

"They couldn't grow a beard," organizer James Owens commented. "We just gave them a rose."

The Ag Club, with the assistance of the radio club, sponsored Western Week.

Several South Vietnamese pilot students from Webb Air Force Base attended as special guests.

Hull Initiated Into Fraternity

Richard E. (Dickie) Hull, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hull of 2311 Allendale, Big Spring, has been initiated into the Epsilon Chapter of Pi Sigma Eta, National fraternity for mortuary students, at Dallas.

In order to be accepted for membership into the fraternity, a candidate must attain an average of 90 or better in his grades and must be of high moral character and possess outstanding leadership ability.

Objective of the fraternity is to promote fellowship and individual and collective effort toward a better understanding in the fields of embalming and plastic surgery.

Dickie's class at the Dallas Institute of Mortuary Science will graduate Aug. 16, his parents have been informed.

Bodies Of 11 Recovered

HILO, HAWAII (AP) — The bodies of 11 persons killed when a twin-engine plane crashed into a mountainside near here have been recovered.

The plane was reported missing Thursday night. The wreckage was sighted early Friday and the bodies recovered from a rugged slope of the dormant Mauna Loa volcano, about 30 miles from here.

Dense fog late Friday prevented helicopters from returning the bodies.

Ten of the dead were mainland visitors, whose names were not released pending positive identification, authorities said.

The other victim was identified as Vincent E. Morine of Honolulu, the 24-year-old pilot of the twin-engine Beechcraft. Wreckage from the crash was strewn over a quarter-mile area, a Federal Aviation Administration spokesman said.

The crash was the worst air disaster in Hawaii since 27 persons were killed in a crash at Honolulu Airport in 1962.

Weather Modifiers Need Clouds To Seed, Test

Wanted: A collection of storm clouds for weather modifiers to work on and scientists to evaluate.

Both Atmospherics, Inc., which has operated a cloud seeding project for the Colorado River Municipal Water District for the past two years, and Meteorological Research Institute, hired by the Texas Water Development Board to evaluate the seeding, are ready to swing into action at 12 midnight today (Sunday).

The TWDB has issued a permit for the modification program which will continue to Oct. 15.

Atmospherics has its seeding airplane and its pilot, Jim Powers, and its meteorologist, Curt Smith, at the Howard County Airport. Larry Boardman and Ed Huber are operating the sophisticated radar equipment at Snyder for MRI. John Kane is the project meteorologist for TWDB.

R. A. Schooling, who is coordinating the program for the CRMWD, said that a system of 36 recording gages, in triangular clusters of three scattered over 12 locations in the watershed target areas, plus a network of 81 conventional gauges, has been set up. Winford Martin, Roscoe, will maintain and read the gauges, relaying the data to MRI. He also will take recording rain patterns by exposing a special sheet of paper to rain for specified times. Exposed to light, this paper gives a permanent record of the pattern and size of rain drops.

During course of the project, MRI will send its planes into seeded clouds for samples. Atmospherics, under contract with CRMWD, will make similar in-cloud samplings at intervals.

MRI will direct the randomized seeding of the clouds, but Powers will not know when he is firing real or dummy flares of silver iodide. However, at least 75 per cent of the promising cloud patterns will be seeded.

Latimer Appears Before Committee

AUSTIN — Truett Latimer, executive director of the Texas Historical Commission (formerly the Texas State Historical Survey Committee) appeared before a subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee today in Washington, D. C., to speak in favor of a $20 million allocation for the National Historic Preservation Act for 1975.

Cong. George Mahon of Lubbock, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, introduced Latimer to the subcommittee.

In his statement, Latimer pointed out that the capacity of the states to secure private funds to match federal grants-in-aid for specific restoration and related projects has mushroomed in recent years.

Saxbe To Continue Press Parleys

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe says his regular meetings with reporters are "essential and, no matter what anybody tells me, I'm going to keep seeing them."

He spoke at a dinner for business and civic leaders Friday.

"If you believe government should be responsive to the people, not simply to the bureaucracy, press conferences are one very effective way to underscore that belief," he said.

The Ageless, Endless Quest

"If a man die, shall he live again?" Job asked, and in so doing phrased the quest which has troubled man from his beginnings.

If it comes down to putting a yardstick on it, taking a piece of it for chemical or physical analysis, to define something you can hold in your hand and sense and see, then the matter of life beyond what we know as death cannot be established.

Yet, this innate searching and yearning since the beginnings of human life, this ubiquitous questioning in every clime, every culture or civilization, in every age is one of the most indicative arguments supporting the hope or belief. What is there about man, and from whence has man come, that he persists in probing for a meaning for life, and its extension, future life? And what is there in his nature that goes beyond even this to plumb the depths of the ultimate extension, eternal life.

Can it be a part of that divine spark which is imperishable, which is indestructible, and which cries out for return from whence it came?

Hoping for this, some cleave to doctrines which hold that this life is but a period for bidding for our place hereafter, a time of buying up or earning rights to enter in and continue on, a season for accumulating brownie points which entitle one to a better situation.

Perhaps there is some support for facets of this thesis, but isn't it more likely that here we can avail ourselves now of a foretaste of what the future and eternity hold by our interactions with our Creator and with our fellow man? Is it not true that those who succeed most in this victorious, positive type of living are those who seem to possess the greatest assurance for whatever the endless tomorrows hold?

It is not so much what they seem to have within as it who is within them that gives them the poise and peace of perfect confidence? Is it not an unchaining, a rebirth, a resurrection, if you please, of this godly human spirit which we need most today?

Vital Date Ahead

Within three weeks, we come to one of the most important dates in the year — May 4, the primary elections.

Until now — as generally is the case barring some issue or incident generates supernatural heat — that has not been too much outward manifestation of the public's awareness of the approaching vote.

Well, it's time to begin becoming aware. It's time to begin listening to what the candidates say, what their friends and other acquaintances say, and what the records say.

Running for office is a great adventure in uncertainty for those who make the races. But the greatest uncertainty of all is how well the public will respond to its responsibility to have a voice in the nominating process. Today, it is more important than ever to have your say at the ballot box, and more important that you inform yourself on issues, where they exist, and on candidates. Plan now to take part; begin talking it to your neighbors and friends. Let's all work toward maximum participation.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I know the resurrection of Christ is a cardinal point of Christian doctrine. What can you tell me, however, to prove it on a logical basis?

E.S.
The disappearance of Christ from the tomb affords only two alternatives. His body must have been taken out by human hands or by supernatural power.

If human hands, they must have been those of friends or foes. If friends, the question arises whether they could have done so in the face of the stone, seal and guard. If foes, the question arises whether they would seriously have considered it. Why would his enemies do the very thing that would be most likely to spread the resurrection report?

As long as we're talking "logically," how is it possible to account for the failure of the Jews to disprove the resurrection? Not more than seven weeks afterward, Peter preached about the resurrection. What would have been easier than for the Jews to have produced the dead body, and silenced Peter forever? One of the scholars has said, "The silence of the Jews is as significant as the speech of the Christian."

Further telling proof is the transformation brought upon the disciples by the resurrection. Hopes crushed Friday were revitalized

McNEELY THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

"AWRIGHT, YOU GUYS... PLAY... BALL...?"

Sunday. The existence of the primitive church and the witness of St. Paul all furnish further proof. But let me warn you, no end of persuasive arguments produces the miracle of the new life. That's an act of your will, which goes beyond logic, and unleashes resurrection power in your heart.

Prime Rate Back At Record 10 Pct.

NEW YORK AP — Commercial banks; prime lending rate has regained its record 10 percent level of last fall after a decline earlier this year and it appears headed higher yet.

The rate's turnaround is contrary to banks' own predictions earlier this year and its subsequent climb may or may not touch off government pressures to restrain it.

But as always, the movement of the much-discussed rate means little if anything in any direct way to the everyday consumer, except as a signal of possible things to come.

The prime rate is the interest banks charge on short-term loans to their best and biggest corporate customers. It's supposed to be a rate to watch, a signal of how other bank loans might go sooner or later — eventually even smaller consumer loans.

IT TAKES A TREND

But it takes a long time for the change in the rate on a short-term loan to a giant corporation to carry over to a long-term $5,000 auto loan. It also takes a trend, and predictions on the prime rate recently have been less than perfect.

The rate climbed to its record 10 per cent last fall in the face of government challenges and restraints, then began its decline. By early March this year, some banks had trimmed it to 8½ per cent.

Bankers at the time generally said the decline signaled to continuing drop in interest rates, as the Arab oil embargo slowed the economy and borrowing and the Federal Reserve Board loosened credit controls to encourage bank lending.

Instead, business increased its borrowing. Many firms were trying to boost their inventories before the end of price controls April 30. As with any commodity, higher demand means higher prices. In borrowing money, it means higher interest rates.

FED TIGHTENS CREDIT

And in mid-February, the Federal Reserve apparently decided to tighten its credit reins. The Federal Reserve, the nation's central banking system, does its work largely by controlling the country's money supply. It can, for instance, sell massive amounts of government securities and draw massive amounts of money out of circulation. Less money means higher rates for available funds — and theoretically, a curbing of loan demand because of the higher prices.

Under current conditions — and if the prime rate continues to rise — consumers worrying about effects might well try to figure out the future move of the Federal Reserve.

The Week's Business

- Had dropped to 8½ from previous peak of last autumn
- Rate has little immediate effect but signals coming events
- Business rushes to build up inventory while under controls
- FED also decides to tighten credit policies, shrinks money supply
- Some see this as recession threat, but inflation an alternate

Abortion Issue

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — It is not all Nixon-Watergate in this election year. Churning half submerged are issues that have a high emotional voltage, and at the top of the list is abortion.

WHILE IT GOT little national attention, abortion may have had as much to do with the outcome in the Cincinnati election when Thomas A. Luken, a Democrat, defeated Willis A. Thadison Jr., Republican, for a seat that had been safely in the Republican column for 40 years, as the President's plight and the Watergate horrors.

The Greater Cincinnati Right to Life Committee put it squarely up to both candidates as that fiercely fought contest came down to the wire.

If elected to Congress will you vote for the Hogan-Buckley right to life amendment?

LUKEN, a Roman Catholic, answered yes. Thadison replied that while he was against abortion he was opposed to the amendment. In response to "potent religious pressures," as Thadison put it, this would enforce my views on others. It would be "another step toward a police state in America."

From then on abortion was a hot issue. Thadison brought Sen. James Buckley into the district to campaign for him. But Buckley's stand was considered by many Catholics and by others in the religious opposition to be equivocal or at least not as strong as those against any form of legal abortion.

LUKEN WON by 4,100 votes getting 52 per cent of the total cast. He had pledged to vote for a discharge petition to take the anti-abortion amendment out of committee so that it could come to the floor of the House of Representatives. That is the goal of the Right to Life lobbies throughout the country. In this way they hope to put every member of the House on record.

THIS BITTER controversy will be replayed in November since Thadison intends to run against Luken in the fall. It promises to come up in many congressional districts particularly where there is a large Catholic vote.

In Michigan, where President Nixon has sharpened a contest for another vacant seat long held by the GOP, abortion will not be an issue. That is because both candidates, James A. Sparling, the Republican, and the Democrat, Bob Traxler, have both declared in favor of the amendment to the Constitution that would prohibit lawful abortion.

THIS IS against the background of a fierce contest that brought abortion into the consciousness of Michigan voters throughout the state. A state constitutional amendment outlawing legal abortion was put on the ballot in the November election of 1972. At the start the polls showed that more than 50 per cent of the voters opposed the amendment.

But then the Right to Life organization began an intensive campaign. For three weeks they flooded the media with highly emotional propaganda. Full-page ads equated abortion with murder.

The vote in November was 56 per cent for the amendment. It was a triumph for the forces, preponderantly Roman Catholic, that had swung the electorate against abortion in a remarkable short time.

Vital Vagus Nerve

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 69 and my doctor tells me my occasional heart palpitations are caused by the vagus nerve. What is this and how does it cause palpitations? Since I switched from coffee (and I only drank one cup a day) to tea, my heart seems to behave better. — R.L.K.

Dear Doctor: Please write something about the vagus nerve and how it sometimes causes palpitations. — B. D.

The vagus is a highly specialized nerve originating in the mid-brain and extending down to the lungs, heart and intestinal tract.

It has a variety of functions, among them control of heart beat, flow of intestinal secretions, and muscle tone of stomach and intestine. In other words, it deals with organs over which we have little or no voluntary control. (Severing a branch of the vagus nerve sometimes is done to reduce the motility (motion or activity) of stomach and duodenum for patients with ulcers that are aggravated by two constant activity.)

At any rate, stimulation of the vagus nerve slows the heart rate (but can do the opposite for some other organs). And slowing the heart rate may, under some circumstances, result in heart palpitation.

Next step: what can stimulate the vagus nerve? A variety of things, including even deep breathing. And vomiting. In a healthy person drugs and factors such as tobacco, coffee, tea, alcohol and various other medications can do so. Likewise certain drugs can block the control of the vagus nerve over the heart, permitting a rapid heart beat. It's a rather complicated situation, isn't it?

Since caffeine (in coffee, tea or cola drinks) can affect the vagus, it is a fairly common element in casual attacks of palpitations. Some folks are more sensitive to this than others, so it's entirely possible for as little as a single cup of coffee to have such an effect on some individuals. For others, even a lot of coffee won't do it. It's one more instance of no two people being alike.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could there be varicose veins in the arms, too? I know about legs.

I have pain in my left arm that goes up to the armpit and chest. Is it dangerous? — F. M. K.

Veins in the arm (and hand) can become fairly large and dilated but are not "varicose" in the sense of varicose veins in the legs in which the blood becomes relatively stagnant and the valves in the veins are damaged. Thus I suspect the pain in your arm is due to something else.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any danger in handling pictures or books that have been in a home where someone had meningitis and carried these around with her? — Mrs. W.

No danger, since the germs do not survive in a dry condition. I presume the patient is well now and hence not a source of more germs.

Shingles can be a painful disease! To receive a copy of Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Facts About Shingles," write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 15 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

IT'S CALLED: THE TATE FAMILY
Dr. Robert B. Pierce, pastor of the Skyscraper Chicago Temple, asked Dr. Crane if he had ever heard of the famous Tate family which belongs to every church. When Dr. Crane said

"No," Dr. Pierce said: There is old man Dick Tate, who wants to run everything in the church.

"There's Uncle Rowe Tate who tries to change everything. 'Sister Agi Tate stirs up trouble wherever possible.

"Her brother, Iri Tate, helps her. 'Whenever new projects are suggested, brother Hesi Tate and Sister Vege Tate pour cold water on the proposals.

WASHINGTON — A White House spokesman said last week that President Nixon's decision to pay almost a half-million dollars in back taxes has "almost totally wiped out" Mr. Nixon financially.

If this is true, the President may have to make some dramatic changes in his lifestyle. These are the kind of stories we may be reading about Mr. Nixon in the next three years.

WASHINGTON — President Nixon gave a state dinner last night for Queen Elizabeth II at a McDonald's hamburger stand in Chevy Chase, Md. The President explained to the queen and Prince Philip that the White House was being redecorated and McDonald's was the only place he could rent on such short notice.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by Henry Mancini, Burt Bacharach, Peggy Lee, Glen Campbell and Johnny Cash records on a jukebox which was loaned to the President for the evening.

Mrs. Nixon said she was looking forward to the dinner the British ambassador was giving the royal family on the following evening at the British Embassy, as she was still hungry.

SANCLEMENTE, Calif. — President Nixon arrived here today on a Greyhound bus from Washington for the weekend. The trip took five days, and the President looked a little tired as he got off at the bus station in Laguna Beach. A press spokesman angrily denied that Mr. Nixon tried to get his daughters, Tricia and Julie, on the bus for half-fare.

The spokesman said: "The President had been advised by his lawyers that if he traveled by bus he was entitled to a family plan discount. Mr. Nixon said if he was wrong he would pay Tricia and Julie's full fare."

Paralyzing Rut

William F. Buckley Jr.

Mr. Nixon is in a hell of a mess, and never mind for a minute the question what share of the responsibility he deserves for it. It has now come to the point of apparently serious discussion whether he can take his dogs on Air Force One to California without reimbursing the United States Government.

AS HAS been pointed out, when this kind of thing was tried on Franklin Delano Roosevelt, he turned it around with withering skill and almost got the best of Westbrook Pegler. I say almost, because where FDR was concerned, the charge was that special trips were authorized exclusively for the sake of Fala. It has not been alleged that Air Force One was specially dispatched for the sake of picking up King Timahoe. Merely that the setter rode in the airplane. I do not believe Cotton Mather would have found anything immoral in this, but Nixon's critics, having tuned up, find it easier to bay through the night than to use restraint in anything involving Nixon.

There is a congressman on the Judiciary committee, a "hardliner" is how the morning's paper identifies him. He is angry at which he considers the contumacious conduct of President Nixon. What is it this time? Well, Nixon wants until April 22 to hand over the tapes requested by the committee. Nixon's lawyer says, mind you, that he is making no commitment to hand over all those tapes at that time. The commitment, rather, is to hand over those tapes which Nixon feels relate directly to the Watergate controversy.

IF NIXON was prepared to hand over the tapes without any qualification, obviously there would be no point in waiting until April 22. He could as well hand them over this morning. What the Congressman is saying, in other words, is that the White House has no right to pass independent judgement over whether these tapes refer in any way to Watergate. The attitude of presumptive distrust is very nearly poisonous.

Nixon goes to France, to attend the memorial services of Georges Pompidou. And while he is there, he occupies himself with meetings with the heads of state assembled there. He spends time with everyone possibly excluding the 11-year-old son of King Hussein. Everyone agrees that our relations with Europe are in disrepair. Everyone agrees that it is a matter of the highest priority that we should do something about it. But all of a sudden a critical community which is not known for the accent it puts on showing reverence for the remains of Georges Pompidou, may he rest in peace, finds it profane that Nixon should take the opportunity to talk about the problems of the living.

I CANNOT imagine that this criticism would have been leveled at Dwight Eisenhower, or John Kennedy, or even Lyndon Johnson. The tone, on the contrary, would have been altogether approving: President at Pompidou Rites-Seekers European Accord. And lots of approving editorials.

Take the Russian trip. Everyone is ready to criticize it. I am ready to criticize it, but so help me I was just as ready before Watergate, because it is my conviction that we have been morally fleeced by the Communist world during Nixon's reign. But the people who were elated at Nixon's discovery of the joys of life under Chairman Mao, and who congratulated Nixon most heartily for his conclusion of the SALT accords wherein we agreed like little gentlemen to military inferiority, are now putting Nixon in a position where he literally can't win.

A Devotion For Today . . .

Jesus said, "I am the resurrection and I am life." (John 11:25)
PRAYER: O God, we thank You for Your living Son, Strengthen our assurance that because He lives we can live also — live a fuller life here and share in the life to come. In His name we pray.

13-Week Nursing Course Opens At College May 6

One more nursing program will be added to the Howard College at Big Spring Allied Health Department May 6-Aug. 2. A 13-week course to train nursing assistants will be offered for the community, according to Dr. Thomas Salter, college president. "This is another phase of our effort to expand training services for the nine local hospitals and rest homes," says Dr. Larry Key, dean of occupational education. The college has had a vocational nurses program since 1958, and earlier this month trustees gave the green light for application for an associate degree for registered nurses. The first class is slated to begin fall, 1975, says Dr. Key. Instructor for the course will be Mrs. Ina Hamlin, R.N., who has worked in nursing service and supervision a number of years. "The nurses assistant program will include 400 hours of classroom instruction and clinical supervision," says Theron Lee, director of Continuing Education and program coordinator. The Assistant's course is one of five Allied Health courses that could eventually be housed in the proposed multi-purpose Community Center. Fee for the program will be $30, and students can remit at a rate of $10 each month. Interested persons may telephone 267-6311 Ext. 77 to make an appointment for entrance to the class.

Aggie Muster Set Saturday

Former students of Texas A & M University living in the Big Spring area, will gather Saturday for the traditional annual Aggie Muster. The muster, which honors Aggies who died during the previous year, will be held at La Posado. The affair begins at 7 p.m., followed by dinner at 8 p.m. Wives and dates are invited, said Paschal Odom, chairman of the muster. He urged that Aggies call him at 267-6341 or 262-4632, not later than Thursday evening. The Aggie Muster dates back to 1903 and has been held continuously since. More than 350 musters are slated this year. During wars, the Aggies have mustered in foxholes on the battle field, aboard ships, in airplanes and in medical hospitals. During World War II, the Aggies mustered on Corregidor shortly before the Japanese captured the island. This year Musters are scheduled at most major military bases in the world, including those in Southeast Asia. The ceremony is the same at every location. The Aggies pay their respects to those who are absent. When the names of the honored dead are called from the Muster Roll, a friend of the deceased answers, "Here."

'Trail Of Cash' Wins Journalism Award

CHICAGO (AP) — Reporters who dug out details of a "trail of cash" that financed national political campaigns and who detailed the background of former Vice President Spiro Agnew's resignation were among those named winners today of Sigma Delta Chi awards for distinguished service in journalism.

James R. Polk of the Washington Star-News was named winner in the general reporting category for stories that "penetrated official secrecy, bureaucratic reluctance and the silence of principals to tell the public that a trail of cash possibly led to the national political campaigns" of 1972.

The professional journalistic society named a five-man team of reporters for the New York Times in the Washington correspondence category.

Their report detailed how Agnew agreed to resign if he was guaranteed no imprisonment after pleading no contest to a charge of income tax evasion and agreeing to allow the government to publish evidence that he had extorted bribes for 10 years. The report was by James M. Naughton, John M. Crewdson, Ben A. Franklin, Christopher Lydon and Agis Salpukas.

This year's annual selections were made from 1,222 entries submitted by the newspapers, wire services, magazines and broadcast stations. Judging was performed by 19 panels of journalists, educators and public officials.

November Elections Rough Ones, Veteran Judge Says

By DAVID CARREN

L. R. Mundt has been an election judge in Big Spring since 1936 when there was only one voting box in Precinct three for 2500 potential voters.

"The old courthouse was still standing. In one election, we were up until 5 a.m. counting votes, and there were just three of us on our feet by then," Mundt said Friday.

Now the veteran election hand is serving 950 potential voters at box 8 in Precinct 1. Basically, voting and voters haven't changed too much for Mundt since Precinct three was headquartered in the old court house.

TRANSLATOR NEEDED

"It's always routine. We try to help the voters. Some don't know how to mark the ballots, read or write. We also try to have a translator on hand at the bigger elections to help Spanish speaking Mexican-Americans know who they're voting for or mark their ballots. We have to make sure everyone tears off and signs the ballot tabs to vote correctly," Mundt said.

Mundt's staff rarely has to stay up until early morning to count ballots now. They empty the boxes and tabulate the ballots during the election. Even so, they occasionally work until 11 p.m.

"November elections are the rough ones, though sometimes the first primary (like this May 4) are difficult. A lot of votes stack up at the last minute. But the run-off elections are easy," he added.

Mundt also sees voter education and election publicity as important functions. Voters often produce mis-marked or messy ballots or vote for two people in the same column or race. Though Mundt and his staff do their best to understand what the voter is getting at, they occasionally (though rarely) still have to kick out an indecipherable ballot.

HAVE TROUBLE

"Some people who don't vote more than once every four years have trouble understanding what's going on. We have to explain everything to them. To be a conscientious voter makes it easier for everybody, especially the voter. Good media coverage and public announcements can help an election by providing the public with awareness they need to vote," he said.

Machines and other developments since 1936 in the voting, picture do not awe Mundt.

"Machines might make it faster. But many people (voters) who don't understand how they work would slow down the election anyway. The voting record has also dropped in count. People seemed to have more interest in elections when they had to pay for the privilege with the poll tax," he added.

But Mundt or his staff don't canvass the community or solicit for votes — despite low voting attendance.

"That's illegal. Occasionally people try to 'help' friends with their votes, and that's against the law. We stop that," he said.

Still, Mundt wishes more voters took advantage of their privileges. Alta Lee, Nelderwood election judge for Box 15, phrased it.

"If they don't vote, they don't have anything to fuss about."

BACK TO MINES Job Scarcity Alters Plans

WHITE PINE, Mich. (AP) — Gene Boggetto graduated from Northern Michigan University in June 1972 and looked forward to finding a teaching job in his native Upper Peninsula.

Last July, he gave up the search in despair and became the third generation of his family to "go underground" as a miner at the only mine left in this once ore-rich country.

Boggetto's plight is symbolic of the malaise faced by every young man and woman growing up in the incredible beautiful western end of the U.P., where deserted shafts stand as a haunting reminder of the area's sagging economy.

"Oh, there are jobs for people who want to work," Boggetto insisted recently. "But what are they? They're working in the plywood plant or logging or going underground."

Boggetto, 22, still dreams of finding a teaching job and so does his wife, Pat. But they have a 19-month-old baby now and they admit it will become increasingly difficult to leave the copper mine as the weeks turn into months. His job pays about $4.25 an hour to start.

"It pays good. That's the rub," Pat said. "It pays so much better than a surface job. You get used to the money and you buy so much stuff on time. Then you can't afford to leave the mine any more."

The giant mine carved out of a wilderness 20 years ago by Copper Range Co. employs nearly 3,000 men, making it easily the area's largest employer. But even the old-timers cling stubbornly to the hope that other things will open up.

As a result, few live here in this modern company town. Most prefer instead to ride as much as 200 miles a day round-trip in dismal buses from Calumet, Houghton, Bessemer and Ironwood.

Gene and Pat have a modern three-bedroom apartment in Bessemer, about 50 miles from White Pine. They pay $95 a month rent, a rate city dwellers would consider a bargain.

But, since Bessemer is on Central time and White Pine is on Eastern, he has to get up at 4 a.m. in order to make the long bus ride through the woods and report for work on the 7 a.m. shift.

His father, Charlie, 49, makes the same trip. Charlie is a division foreman and has been in the mines for 30 years. He complains of the new breed of worker, too just as a line foreman on a Detroit auto assembly line might.

"The wives of the older men who've been down just don't

Old Wells Could Be Revitalized

LUBBOCK — Old oil wells may be an important new source of oil and gas and plans are being developed for further exploration of old wells to recover overlooked and bypassed oil.

A. H. Youmans, manager of research for Dresser Atlas Petroleum Services Division, Dresser Industries, Inc., Houston, will discuss exploration for new oil in old wells during the 21st annual Southwestern Petroleum Short Course April 18-19 at Texas Tech University.

Exploration logs, electronic interpretations of various characteristics of possible oil bearing formations, including the Neutron Lifetime Log and the Carbon-Oxygen Log, can be used to explore for additional oil and gas in old wells, according to Youmans. Using new logging techniques and improving them further could bring the industry to the point that all types of oil bearing rocks could be identified and their oil content assayed.

$5 Million Catholic Suit Jurisdiction

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State courts—not the Roman Catholic Church—have jurisdiction to settle a dispute over a $5 million trust fund established by retired Bishop Louis Reicher, a judge has ruled.

To give church authorities power over the fund's trustees would make Thomas Jefferson "turn in his grave," said District Court Judge Hernan Jones.

Jones set a June 10 trial date for the suit filed by Bishop Vincent Harris of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Austin, who is Bishop Reicher's successor.

The suit asks the court to enforce an ecclesiastical decree, handed down in Rome, that the Reicher Trust is the property of the church.

The trustees, four laymen, say the fund is private property and should be administered in accordance with Bishop Reicher's wishes.

The Sacred Congregations for Bishops and for the Clergy issued a declaration in Rome Dec. 19 that the dispute was between two Catholic bishops and four Catholic trustees and should be resolved by church officials.

George W. Brown Jr. of Beaumont, Bishop Harris' lawyer, said Jones should merely enforce that decree and turn the trust over to the Diocese of Austin.

But Jones disagreed. "God has to be a little restrained, as does Caesar. In this instance, we have to let Caesar make the decision of who owned the property when it was conveyed to the trustees," he said.

"To say a third party (the trustees) has to be ruled by the laws of the Roman Catholic Church would make Mr. Jefferson turn in his grave," Jones added.

The suit alleges that Bishop Reicher, who retired in 1971, placed in the trust stocks, real estate and bank accounts. Since the trust was established, other properties belonging to the diocese were received or acquired by it, the suit contends.

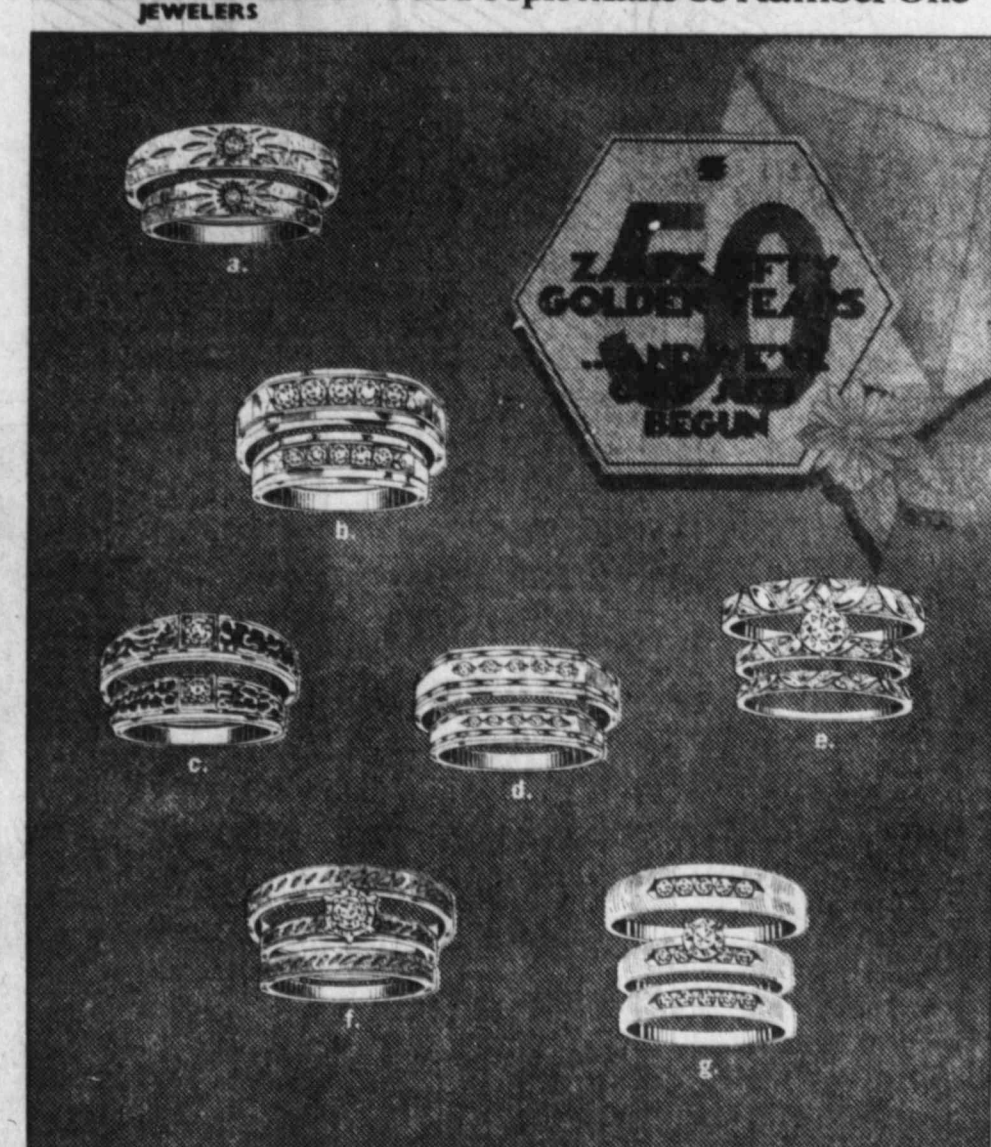

Bishop Reicher's lawyer, Donald Thomas of Austin, said Reicher saved about $3,000 before entering the priesthood more than 50 years ago. That amount was the basis for several years' successful investments, Thomas said, and along with gifts given to him for specific uses in the church in Texas had accumulated to a trust fund of about $5 million.

The trust was established in 1964 and underwrote a geriatric center and cancer treatment and research center here.

Thomas said the suit's demands "come down to the question of whether he (Bishop Reicher) became a slave of the church when he took his vows."

'Horn Runners Fail To Place

AUSTIN — Big Spring Steer regional track qualifiers, competing with the top high school runners in the state, failed to score in the Texas Relays Saturday in Austin's Memorial Stadium.

Ricky McCormick came closest for the Longhorns, breaking his own school record in the mile run with a 4:23.7 clocking despite a slight case of pneumonia that almost kept him home.

McCormick, who qualified with a 4:31.0 on Friday, finished just out of the points as 4:16.0 was the top time. The junior runner had set the school mark of 4:26.4 four weeks ago. The loss was his first in eight races this year.

The Steer mile-relay unit also bettered its previous top effort, but failed to gain a spot in the finals. The foursome of Don Walters, Bobby Mayo, Don Beene and Doug Smith legged a 3:21.6, two seconds better than they ran in the San Angelo Relays two weeks earlier, and stood 10th among the 48 teams entered. The eight top times went to the finals.

Smith and Walters also failed to qualify in the 440-yard dash on Friday, running 50.4 and 50.9, respectively.

The five Steers will be in action this weekend in the regional meet at Lubbock. Preliminaries are set for Friday and finals will be Saturday.

Houston Tumbles To Dodgers, 6-3

HOUSTON (AP) — Dave Lopes and Bill Buckner each drove in two runs in a five-run fourth-inning rally that lifted the Los Angeles Dodgers past the Houston Astros 6-3 Saturday night.

Dodger starter Don Sutton, after a shaky start, settled down to register his third consecutive victory of the season.

Los Angeles knocked out Houston starter Don Wilson with five runs on five hits in the fourth after he had held them to that point.

Bowling Group To Meet With Area League Today

Three representatives of the Texas Classic Bowling Association will be at Big Spring Bowl-A-Rama today at 9 a.m. to invite members of the West Texas traveling league to join their organization.

The Basin Bowling Association is scheduled to have bowlers from San Angelo, Odessa, Midland, Snyder and other area cities in action today, and the TCBA reps will present their playoff program prior to the action.

Executive Director Ken Taylor said 44 teams are now in the TCBA, and that number is expected to grow to 96 by next year. Others in town were executive secretary Jacques

The Nets, with Erving operating on Kentucky for 13 points in the decisive third quarter, outscored the Colonels 38-24 for a commanding 90-75 bulge.

Kentucky never got closer than 11 points in the fourth period.

Paultz, a bulky 6-foot-11, 240-pounder not especially known for his defense, put a clamp on the 7-2 Gilmore, limiting the Colonels' giant to 13 points—only three in the second half.

Gilmore had averaged nearly 30 points per game in Kentucky's opening-round four-game playoff sweep over Carolina.

Meanwhile, Paultz was one of six Nets in double figures, contributing 16 points. Rookie Larry Kenon hit for 20. Another rookie, John Williamson, added 17. Mike Gale had 12 and Wendell Ladner 10.

Dan Issel paced the Colonels with 22 points, one more than Louie Dampier. Walt Simon, an ex-Nets, came off the Kentucky bench in the final period and connected for 12 points, but it was too late.

Meanwhile, Paultz was one of six Nets in double figures, contributing 16 points. Rookie Larry Kenon hit for 20. Another rookie, John Williamson, added 17. Mike Gale had 12 and Wendell Ladner 10.

Aeros Smother Winnipeg, 10-1

HOUSTON (AP)—Houston center Larry Lund scored four goals, two each in the first and third periods to lead the Aeros to a 10-1 blitz of the Winnipeg Jets Saturday night and take a 3-0 lead in their World Hockey Association Western Division playoff.

Former North Dakota State ace Mike Slack shattered the four-minute barrier for the first time in the history of the track festival with a sparkling 3:59.7.

Just minutes later, Baylor and Texas Southern flashed to a photo finish in the final running event of the day, the mile relay. Both were timed in a record 3:06.64.

The judges, after some delay, ruled Baylor the winner. Texas Southern launched a protest and 30 minutes after the race, the rules committee declared the two teams co-winners. The unusual ruling elevated Texas Southern to the lofty position of owning two relay victories outright and a share of a third.

Texas Southern was competing for the first time in the university division.

The drama captured on camera showed Ron Jenkins of Texas Southern and Tim Son of Baylor slashing through the tape at the same moment.

That shot away the 3:07.0 record set by Texas in 1988.

Slack's record-breaking run in the mile erased the 4:00.5 mark set in 1955 by former Kansas great Wes Santee. Slack was clocked in 56.4 seconds in the final quarter.

Dean Owens of Southern California broke the university-college high jump record with a leap of 7-2 but Dwight Stones, the world record holder was less than spectacular.

Stones, the Pacific Coast Club ace who set the world mark of 7-6½, could do no better than 7-1 in the open competition.

Owens' leap wiped out the record of 7-1 set by Ken Lundmark of Brigham Young in 1970.

A total of nine running records, none national, tumbled during the mammoth two-day extravaganza that concluded on a crystal clear afternoon punctuated by mild gusts of wind and the cheers of some 11,000 fans.

Kansas State staved off fierce bids from South Carolina, Texas and Oklahoma State to add the two-mile relay title to an earlier landslide triumph in the four-mile relay.

The heralded duel between world shot put record holders Al Feuerbach and George Woods never materialized but Feuerbach did exceed his own record here with a put of 70 feet 1½ inches.

Hawks Rank 3rd In Nation

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — Howard College ranks third in team offense among National Junior College Athletic Association basketball teams in 1973-74, according to the NJCAA's final statistics release Saturday.

The Hawks, averaging 101.2 points a game, finished behind Jamestown CC, New York (104.0) and PCC, Conn. (101.4). Hill College, which defeated HC in the Region V finals, finished fifth with a 97.3 average and San Jacinto was sixth at 96.5.

The only Hawk to gain individual mention was Thomas Bledsoe, whose 62.2 per cent shooting from the field was 15th in field goal accuracy.

Charles Ford of Lansing CC, Mich., was the scoring leader with a 29-point average, and Herbie Wright of Shelby State averaged 22.9 rebounds a game to head that category. Carl Jones of Malcolm X CC, Ill., topped the field goal list by hitting 76.2 per cent of his shots.

Rangers Rack Oakland, Blue

OAKLAND (AP) — The Texas Rangers pounded Oakland's Vida Blue for seven runs, three on a homer by Jeff Burroughs, and coasted to a 10-3 victory over the A's Saturday.

Blue lasted just 11-3 innings of the A's home opener. He allowed six hits and walked two.

Gene Tenace hit two solo homers off the Rangers' Jim Bibby, but the first came in the bottom of the second inning with Texas leading 3-1. The A's Reggie Jackson drove in his 10th run of the season with a sacrifice fly in the first inning.

Fregosi's second-inning single was a smash grounder that got through third baseman Sal Bando. The throw to the plate hit base runner Johnson in the back and got past catcher Ray Fosse, with Burroughs scoring from first on Bando's throwing error.

Nine of Jackson's RBIs have been against Texas this season, including seven in one game last Sunday.

BAYLOR-TEXAS SOUTHERN CLASH Relays Gets 4-Minute Mile

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The 47th Texas Relays recorded its first sub-four minute mile Saturday and wound up in confusion over a disputed mile relay duel between Baylor and Texas Southern.

Former North Dakota State ace Mike Slack shattered the four-minute barrier for the first time in the history of the track festival with a sparkling 3:59.7.

Just minutes later, Baylor and Texas Southern flashed to a photo finish in the final running event of the day, the mile relay. Both were timed in a record 3:06.64.

TCU Sweeps By Arkansas

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Home runs by Tommy Crain and Tom Riordan carried Texas Christian University to a sweep of a Southwest Conference doubleheader with Arkansas Saturday 6-5 and 6-3.

Riordan slammed a three-run homer in the sixth inning of the opener as the Frogs scored all their runs that inning. The winning run came on a single by sophomore center Gene Burton. Crain bashed his 13th homer of the year, a three-run blast, in the first inning of the second game to bring his RBI total for the year to 60. Riordan added a two-run homer, his second of the day, in the sixth inning.

Arkansas had moved ahead 4-0 in the first game on the strength of homers by Mike Kirkland, John Jenkins and Bruce Mitchell.

Steve Hill won the first game for the Frogs. He is now 5-0. He struck out nine and walked four. The loser was Dennis Pugh, 4-3.

Perry Senn was credited with the second game victory to make his record 2-0. The loser was Richard Miller, 3-4.

TCU is now 28-12 for the season and 11-7 in conference play. Arkansas is 17-18 for the year and 6-12 in the conference.

SMU Tops Bears For 2nd Loop Win

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Run-scoring doubles by John Sagehorn and Don Jarma broke a 4-4 tie in the top of the seventh inning Saturday and led SMU to their second Southwest Conference victory in 18 games, 6-5 over Baylor. But the Bears won the second game 6-3.

In the opener, the Mustangs' Tino Zaragoza, who won the game in relief, allowed the Bears' three runs in the last five innings. After Sagehorn and Jarma gave him a 6-4 lead, Zaragoza held on in the bottom half of the inning to win.

Ron Riddlehuber homered for SMU in the first game, while Rick Clopton, who had a key triple in the second game, had a circuit clout for the Bears.

The Mustangs announced they were playing the second game under protest. They claimed two Baylor players advanced illegally on a fly ball in the Bears' three-run third inning.

TECH-A&M POSTPONED

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP)—A Southwest Conference baseball doubleheader between Texas A&M and Texas Tech was cancelled Saturday due to high winds and dust in the Lubbock area.

Tech Coach Kal Segrist said the twinbill will be played beginning at 1 p.m. today.

Stockton Holds Masters Edge

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Player's dynamic, driving finish fell just one stroke short and scrambler Dave Stockton, buoyed by some early dramatics, managed to retain the lead Saturday after the third round of the Masters Golf Tournament.

Player birdied five holes in a row in his challenge over the back nine, put together a brilliant, six-under-par 66 and moved to within a single stroke of the lead.

He may have had that but for a tragedy while he was lining up the potential tying putt on the final hole.

A spectator collapsed and died of a heart attack.

"It was a very bad feeling," Player said. "He fell on the ground and was breathing very badly and people were screaming for an ambulance."

"I didn't know whether to putt or wait or what to do." He missed the putt and finished at 208, eight under par and one behind Stockton.

Stockton, the second-round leader, pitched it for an eagle three on the second hole, once held a four-stroke lead, and finished with a 70 and sole control of the top spot at 207.

Jim Colbert, who led the first round, birdied three of four holes at one stretch over the back nine and, with a 69, tied Nicklaus, seeking a record fifth Masters title, played the first eight holes three under, and the last 10 three over.

His 72 dropped him five strokes off the pace at 212.

Hubert Green, the lanky young man who has won twice this season and was just one stroke away from the lead here when play started on the hot, muggy, sometimes windy day, blew to a 74 and 212.

Peter Osterhuis, the gangling Englishman who challenged for this title a year ago, was one of the early starters and managed a 68 and a 215 total, one under par.

He was tied with Johnny Miller, a four-time winner this season on the American tour, and rookie Ben Crenshaw. Miller had a 69 and Crenshaw a 70.

Arnold Palmer, followed by a vast gallery that slipped and slid over the rain-slickened hills of this famed layout, had a 70 and 217.

The 7,020-yard course was dampened by sporadic showers that fell from early morning through the afternoon. Temperatures in the 80s made it a steam bath for the thousands of fans, most of whom showed up with rain gear and brightly colored umbrellas.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

All hail the World Football League, known hereafter as the Wuffal (WFL). The Wuffal right now can be described as a few rich men with a few good football players. A couple of years from now it might be described as a few men that used to be rich and some angry football players trying to collect money from them that they don't have. It'll be interesting.

It's a confusing situation, but the way things are going now it all seems very different from the way the American Football League got its start about 13 or 14 years ago. Unless I was too young at the time or don't remember exactly right, there wasn't the raiding of the established league like there is now. What, you ask, does that mean?

Beats me. Apparently, either the players in the NFL in those days didn't believe the AFL would ever get off the ground and didn't want to go down with a sinking ship, or they weren't seriously approached by the new, rich owners. Or maybe both. It might have been neither.

But one fact remains, probably one the few left. The AFL did make it, and has now pulled even with — or passed — the established league, with which it has since merged. In the old days, the owners went hard after the promising college players, and it paid off. Note Joe Namath. Come to think of it, the Wuffal would be doing good to get Namath into the act again, even though he might be close to the end. But that's another point.

There's certainly an impressive aura about the Wuffal right now. I mean, with the likes of Larry Conka, Paul Warfield, Jim Kick, Calvin Hill, Craig Morton and the other few gems they have, nobody will be laughing at them out loud — at least not for a while.

But think ahead a bit. How well can Conka do if he has to run behind a line of seven semi-pros? And then, who on the other side will be able to stop him? Who, in the name of Knute Rockne, will Kenny Stabler throw to? And what will Morton do when he has to hand the ball off? The immediate thought is that the league will develop some tremendous punters.

It's hard to get around the fact that every game in the Wuffal will look like the King of England hanging around with the guys from the Bowery. It'll be like a wine cellar with one fine bottle of French stock, left over from some little chateau bombed out during the war, and 16 rows of Ripple. It's the difference between a tuxedo and Levis, or Beethoven and Ray Stevens. Hard cash and credit, "Son of Flubber" and "The Exorcist." Night and day.

Whether or not the Wuffal makes it, I think, depends on how much money its owners have. Actually, there's probably enough talent around for 10 more teams, if the new league can just round it up in time. The NFL made a switch from 12 teams to 26 in a matter of 10 years and no one seemed to notice a dramatic drop-off in talent, if there was one.

And many times, the difference between playing on the taxi squad and being the star of the team is just a matter of being in the right place at the right time.

The real question is whether or not the public will support 10 more teams — and a whole new league. I have my doubts. People think back to when they knew every player on every team, plus facts and figures. But those days are gone. Now, even the computers have their troubles.

I'll bet no one ever thought the day would come when there was too much sports...

Little League Openers Set

Big Spring Little League Baseball kicks off this week, with the traditional American League opener getting a five-game schedule under way Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

The defending American League champion Colts battle the Jets in the first game, while the Cubs and Pirates tangle in the Texas League opener and the Yankees and Rebels meet in the National League opener, both on Saturday. The Pirates and Cabots meet Friday and the Stars and Hawks go Saturday in other AL action.

The International League doesn't swing into action until next Monday, with the Talons and Comets scheduled to play.

In addition to the Colts, the Tigers in the TL, the Yankees in the National loop and the Comets in the International League will be defending their crowns. The Tigers won the district title last year and took consolation honors in the state tourney.

Games will be at 7:30 p.m. in all leagues until school is out, and then they will begin at 8 p.m. Each league will have a minor league and minor games will precede the major action at 5:30 p.m. The American and National leagues will also have pee wee leagues.

Jack Barber is the District Little League Commissioner, and league presidents are Lt. Andy Wilson of the IL, Raul Hernandez of the TL, Darrell Pitman of the NL and Shirley Beauchamp of the AL.

WALKER, LOVE PACE WIN OVER PISTONS

Bulls Eye Date With Milwaukee

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bulls, nearly blowing a 19 point lead, rode the combined 50-point shooting of Bob Love and Chet Walker to outlast the Detroit Pistons 96-94 in the decisive seventh game of their National Basketball Association Western Conference semifinal playoff game Saturday.

The Bulls, playing without their star, injured guard Jerry Sloan, won the opening round playoff series 4-3 to move into the Western final round playoffs against the Milwaukee Bucks Tuesday night at Milwaukee.

Walker pumped in 26 points and Love 24 as the Bulls surged to a 19-point edge at 64-45 early in the third period and then had to stand off a Detroit fourth quarter spurt led by Bob Lanier.

Lanier's pair of free throws tied the score at 92-92 with 2:04 left. But Walker's long shot and a pair of free throws by Norm Van Lier moved the Bulls ahead 96-92 with 1:27 left.

Lanier, who had a cold first half, wound up with 23 points before he committed the foul on Van Lier which sent him to the bench.

It was the first time in seven playoff tries, that the Bulls survived the opening round of NBA playoff competition. And they did it with sparkplug Sloan sitting on the bench in street clothes from a serious foot injury suffered at Detroit Thursday night.

Paced by Cliff Ray's stuff shots, the Bulls took command in the first quarter, pushing to a 10-point lead at 25-15. Then Chicago went ahead by 14 points three times in the second quarter and led at the half 52-41.

Ray, who out-dueled Lanier most of the way, contributed 15 points and along with reserve guard Bob Weiss helped overcome the Bulls' loss of Sloan, who was given a standing ovation by the Chicago Stadium crowd of 13,133 as he took his place on the Bulls bench.

With Lanier failing to hit his stride until the final quarter, the Detroit lead was carried by guard Stu Lantz, who chipped in 25 points and hit on 11 of 12 free throws.

The Pistons' last bid came on Dave Bing's basket with 21 seconds left, to shave Chicago's edge to 96-94. Bing ended with 16 points after scoring only four in the first half.

With three seconds left, the Pistons took possession and called a time out. Van Lier intercepted for the Bulls, icing the win.

Celts Wrap Up Series; Buffalo Coach Protests

By The Associated Press

Time just ran out on Buffalo Coach Jack Ramsay's 4-year-old child. Or did it?

Ramsay, acting the part of a disappointed parent, fussed and fumed, then filed an official protest Friday after the Braves were apparently eliminated from the National Basketball Association playoffs by Boston 106-104.

The Celtics, who are scheduled to move on to the Eastern Conference finals against New York Sunday, won the game when Jo Jo White connected on two free throws, standing by himself on the court and no time left on the clock.

"You don't end a playoff series on a foul like that," Ramsay said after the game and before he'd seen the video tapes. Then, after Ramsay's spokesman said a telegram was sent to NBA headquarters protesting the game.

"There was a gap of about two seconds after the alleged foul when time was allowed to run out," Ramsay said. "I believe the game should be restarted with two seconds remaining."

New York clinched its berth in the Eastern Conference finals by beating the Capital Bullets 91-88 in a series that had gone down to its seventh game.

Indiana also clinched a West Division final berth in the American Basketball Association Friday by beating the San Antonio Spurs 86-79.

Knicks 91, Bullets 88

Earl Monroe had a season-high 30 points and sparked a third-period surge that kept the Knicks out of trouble in their contest with arch-rival Capital, which moved to within four at 81-77 with four minutes left.

Capital's Elvin Hayes, who played only 37 minutes and took himself out of the game at one point in exhaustion, scored just 12 points.

Pacers' Rally Sinks SA Spurs

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Roger Brown, the consummate playoff player, and the rest of his veteran Indiana Pacers teammates were right where they expected to be Saturday—smack in the middle of the American Basketball Association title picture.

You might tuck an again on the end of that last sentence since the Pacers have won three of the past four ABA titles, including the last two.

Friday night, they used all their playoff wiles to come back from a 15-point, third-period deficit to beat the young San Antonio Spurs 86-79.

The decisive game of the rough and tumble Indiana-San Antonio series was an odd one, with Indiana leading only 14-12 after one period, trailing 42-29 at the half and then winning by holding the Spurs to a record-tying playoff low and committing only one turnover in the entire second half.

Indiana's 29 points in the first two periods established a new ABA playoff mark for ineptitude in one half, breaking the previous mark of 33 set in 1971 by Memphis against Indiana.

Dallas SOC Tops Squad

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas South Oak Cliff was the runner-up team in Texas Class 4A basketball in 1974, but the North Texas school placed two players on the division's all-state team and one on the second squad to dominate individual honors.

Charles McMillan, a 6-3 senior who averaged 24 points per game, and Larry Harris, a 6-1 senior who hit at a 16-point clip, earned spots on the Texas Sports Writers Association first team, while 6-6 senior Ken Williams of SOC was on the second team.

Karl Godine, a 6-2 junior who averaged 19.5 points per game, was the only player from state champion Houston Kashmere to win a place on the first three teams.

Tealer. He averaged 24.6 points per game.

Runnerup Crosby was the only team to place two players on the first two teams. Charlie Bass, a 6-4 senior, won an inside spot on the first team, and Elyard Davis, a 6-1 senior, was named to an outside post on the second team.

Crappie Tops Spence List; Black Bass On Increase

Crappie catches continued to dominate fishing reports from Lake E. V. Spence, but an increasing number of black bass were appearing on strings.

The Lubbock Bass Club had its tournament at the lake with Milt Audry winning with total weight of 8 lb. 11 oz. on four fish.

Wildcat Fish-A-Rama — Jack and Nina Brewer, Odessa, five black bass to 5 1/2 lb.; Bob Bryant, Abilene, five blacks to 6 1/2 lb.

WHOPPERS — Billy Ray Johnson, left, and Ricky Cluck pulled in this string of 3 1/2-pound black bass earlier this week at Moss Creek Lake. The two 13-year-olds, using lures, did their work in two and a half hours.

VIEW FROM PLAINS The Time Has Come To Fish

By J. D. PEER Texas Parks & Wildlife Dept.

Have you looked into your fishing partner's tackle box lately? If he fishes only part of the many lakes located in Texas, he will have such an assortment of lures and baits that it would take an hour just to discuss them.

In one corner of the tackle box, there are shiny spinners, spoons and salmon hooks used for Rainbow trout at Rita Blanca near Dalhart.

Abilene JVs Pop Steers

A seven-run uprising in the fifth inning wasn't enough Friday and the Big Spring Steer Junior Varsity baseball team lost a 12-8 verdict to the Abilene High JVs.

Abilene Clips Steers In 2nd Half Opener

By JACK COWAN

It must have felt a lot like being stranded alone on an island somewhere in the South Pacific.

The Big Spring Steers, for a while playing some of their best baseball of the year, left 15 men on base Friday and dropped a 9-4 decision to Abilene's Eagles at Steer Park. It was the Dist. 5-AAAA second-half opener for both teams, and lifted Abilene's season mark to 11-9 while the Steers fell to 4-16.

The Steers took the early lead in the game and stood tied at 2-2 after four innings, but the Eagles got seven of their nine hits off losing pitcher Earl Reynolds in the final three frames, including a three-run homer by Monte Harris.

Abilene Steers

Abilene used four hurlers in notching the victory, and all faced trouble at one time or another as the Steers put men in scoring position several times but had trouble pushing them across.

noted at least one improvement in the Steer attack, however as the Eagles stole just one base. Catcher Dick Battle threw out three runners trying to steal second base.

The Steers got a run in the first as Rodriguez and Barry Canning drew walks and John Morellon singled to load the bases, setting up Battle's sacrifice fly to right field.

Abilene came back in the fourth, using a couple of errors and an RBI squeeze bunt by Billy Stover. Artie Henson, Abilene's winning pitcher, singled to lead off the fifth inning and Allen Mayhall drew a walk to set up Harris' shot over the center field wall. The count went to 6-2 as Ronnie Maynard scored on two Steer errors.

Brad Mann doubled in the Eagles' half of the sixth inning, and came home on Larry Tatum's single. The final two Eagle runs came in the seventh, as Harris singled and scored on an error and Stover singled in Maynard.

The Longhorns had cut the buge to 7-4 in the sixth, Canning, Reynolds and Morellon loaded the bases again, and Battle sent a sacrifice fly to center field to plate Canning. Reynolds scored on a fielder's choice by Albert Alvarez which forced Morellon at second base.

TWO GADGETS WORTH HAVING

A sonar depth finder and electronic thermometer are must items if you're a dyed-in-the-wool angler.

The sonar in particular is one of the best things ever developed for sport fishermen. This gadget sends a beam to the lake or river bottom and the return signal indicates the depth. But that's not all.

When a fish swims through the beam, a light flashes on the finder indicating where the fish is and at what depth. If a school passes through the signal, a number of lighted twitches appear.

A depth finder also helps you determine the size and depth of underwater structures and submerged terrain features such as brush, rock piles, and slopes.

In using sonar keep in mind that the single flash of bait-fish going through the beam may be a tip off to large game fish lurking nearby. So don't pull up and leave. Keep trying in the area and you may get a few big ones.

So much for the sonar. As for electronic thermometers, commercial fishermen have used them for years to locate fish. Although their equipment is too bulky or expensive for sport fishermen, the same principle has been applied in inexpensive temperature readers now available to sportsmen.

With an electronic fishing thermometer you quickly can make a series of readings at depths up to 100 feet. You lower the sensor element (thermistor) on a cord and instantly read the temperature on a dial held in your hand. As the element moves vertically through the water, changes in water temperature are indicated on the dial. Unlike a mercury thermometer, there is no waiting for a reading.

The electronic thermometer lets you find the preferred temperature of whatever fish you're after. In this way you fish only in the best waters.

Water temperature, of course, is extremely important in your search for a particular type of fish. Fish are cold-blooded so their body temperature closely matches that of the surrounding water. Most fish also are sensitive to temperature changes as slight as three degrees and usually prefer to stay in a fairly narrow temperature band.

Water temperature directly affects a fish's digestive rate and metabolism. The lower the water temperature the lower its digestive rate. As the water warms up, a fish's digestive rate and metabolism increases and causes it to feed more often. When the water becomes too hot or too cold fish tend to become inactive and feed listlessly, if at all.

However, if you find them in their maximum comfort zone they're usually ready for action.

There are sea sonal periods, of course, when fish will inhabit and feed in unusually cold or warm water. Ice fishermen, for example, will get good catches, but the fish are sometimes sluggish. Also in the early spring fish often will feed widely even though the water is pretty cold. However, it's probably because of a warming trend in the water rather than the actual temperature at that depth.

In sum, give some thought to a sonar fish finder and temperature reader. They are very useful pieces of equipment that will add to your fun, an catches.

Dear Virgil,

I heard someone refer to a "Christmas tree" rig in connection with trolling. What is it and what is it used for?

George Moore Senca, N. Y.

Dear George,

The "Christmas tree" is an elaborate gang of spinners used for taking lake trout and landlocked salmon. A popular rig consists of five Bear Valley and three willowleaf spinners on a 48-inch wire leader. It creates an illusion of a school of baitfish and attracts fish by the vibrations and action.

Volkswagen has thrown away the book again.
The result is Dasher, an amazing
new car that's going to take them years to imitate.
Dasher is both economical (about 25 miles per gallon) and powerful (0-50 in 8.5 seconds). It holds five comfortably. It has front-wheel drive that gives you more control and traction than any conventional car you've ever driven. It's equipped with Skid-breaker, which prevents most skidding under adverse conditions. It's designed for low maintenance and easy repair. And it's covered by the VW Owner's Security Blanket.
The new Volkswagen Dasher.
Throw away your old ideas about what to expect from a car.

Fellowships Go To Ten
Ten West Texas teachers including one from Big Spring, have been awarded fellowships to the 17th Annual Petroleum Institute at the University of Houston June 3 through 21. The petroleum industry in Texas has sponsored the Petroleum Institute for Educators at the University of Houston for the past 16 years. Directed by the Oil Information Committee of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, the Institute continues to win the approval of industry leaders and educators in each passing year and is an effective instrument in bringing about an increased understanding of mutual interest in the progress of the American economy.

Nineteen business organizations from this area contributed toward the expense-fellowships for the following teachers:
Mr. Derald Dean Head, Rankin; Mrs. Elizabeth Jenkins and Mr. Roy N. Burk, Snyder; Miss Shirley A. Thomas, Big Spring; Mr. George W. Smith and Mrs. Leila Sigmon, Midland; Mr. A. Nelson Schott, Mr. John C. Turner, Mrs. Margery Taylor, and Mrs. Gail Kittenbrick, Odessa.

Allison Will Return Home

MIDLAND (AP) — Jim Allison Jr., former Midland newspaper executive and a former deputy chairman of the Republican National Committee, will rejoin the executive staff of the Midland Reporter-Telegram July 1, it was announced Friday.

He had served as executive vice president of the Reporter-Telegram from 1955 until 1964 when he left to pursue a career as an advertising and public relations consultant in Washington. His father, James N. Allison Sr., is publisher of the Midland newspaper.

Nightery Brawl Fatal To One

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (AP) — Ronnie Falls, 24, of Brownwood was killed Friday night in what police said was a fight at a night spot.

Before leaving Midland in 1964, the younger Allison was president of both the Chamber of Commerce and the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce. He was selected as one of Texas five outstanding young men of 1961 by the Jaycees.

He served also as a director of both the Texas Daily Newspaper Association and the Texas Press Association and was president of the West Texas Press Association.

Pay Hikes Won By Texans Turn Out To Be Illusory

AUSTIN (AP) — "The name of the current recession is inflation," the Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

"It has become impossible to conceal from consumers any longer that their seeming dollar-prosperity is being purchased at the cost of much lower-value dollars.

WORSE OFF
"Indeed, the value of the dollar has dropped so precipitously in the past year that the average American family is clearly worse off than a year ago."

"One major New York bank has been advertising that 'being rich costs more than it used to.' So does being poor," says Robert Ryan, editor of the Texas Business Review.

Business activity in Texas climbed 5 per cent in February, Ryan says, and volume of Texas business is up 10 per cent for the January-February period over the same two months in 1973.

DRAMATIC PROOF
The dollar volume in Texas banks for the same period is up 33 per cent, "dramatic proof how ineffectual the dollar is becoming.

"From 1973 to 1974, weekly earnings of the average manufacturing worker rose 11 per cent, almost the same increase as that in consumer prices; but to achieve these earnings, the manufacturing employe worked 4 per cent longer hours.

"In other words, the buying power of Texas factory workers per hour actually declined," he says.

Ryan compared clothing prices in Houston and Dallas with those in the entire nation. Men's and boys' clothing prices in Dallas have risen 35 per cent faster than the national increase since 1967. Women's and girls' clothing prices have risen 12 per cent faster than national prices.

Clothing prices also have climbed faster in Houston than for the entire nation, with women's and girls' apparel up a tremendous 72 per cent above the national increase.

"Bread" has come to mean "money" in the American street language, but the equation is a misleading one, for bread is now worth a good deal more than money," Ryan says.

FOOD PRICES
During the year ending February 1974, food prices rose 19.6 per cent in Dallas and 22.2 per cent (also the national figure) in Houston.

Lubbock led the state during the past year in increased business activity with 45 per cent; Corpus Christi registered 27 per cent; Beaumont 22 per cent; Dallas 17 per cent; Abilene and Austin 16 per cent; and Laredo 14 per cent.

MISHAPS

509 Dallas St.: Jess Blair, 508 Dallas, and Mary Catherine Allen, 805 Dallas, at 12:50 p.m. Saturday.

Wasson Road and Dixon Street: Cathy Ann Moring, 3705 Dixon, and Donna Jean Bedwell, Forsan, at 1:06 p.m. Friday.

Farm Road 700 and Goliad Street: Ruby Saylor Whipkey, 711 Dallas St., and Patricia Ann

Rehmann, Colorado City, at 2:12 p.m. Friday.

Man Hospitalized Following Wreck

Steven M. Holloway, 21, 511 Donley St., was in satisfactory condition Saturday afternoon following a motorcycle accident.

Holloway was in the Webb Air Force Base hospital.

The motorcycle he was riding hit a curb in the 1000 block of Gregg Street at 12:27 a.m. Saturday, police said.

The Easter Parade

THE TRADITIONAL "Children's Easter Parade" will highlight the annual buffet luncheon today at Big Spring Country Club as children of members and guests are seen in their spring finery. Among the pretty girls will be Diana Johnson, 8, and Misty Johnson, 11, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Guilford L. Jones.

EASTER GREETINGS are for giving to friends. Tiffany Patterson, 2½, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Patterson, shyly offers a card to her cousin, Todd Patterson, 2½, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Patterson.

DANNY VALDES

THESE LIVELY GIRLS won't sit still very long and, when the hunt begins, they'll go their separate ways. They are Kirsten Wilkins, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Wilkins; Amy Burgess, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Burgess; and Deanna LaFond, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Auriel LaFond.

TWO BASKETS are better than one, so these fellows decide to make it a partnership play. Brian Carleton, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Carleton, shares his hunting skill with Kevin Dean, 3½, son of Mrs. Mary Dean and grandson of Dr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Peters.

HANDSOME IN a patterned jacket, Brandon Iden, 9, poses at far left with his sister, Lisa, 7, who wears a dainty pinafore. The youngsters are children of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Iden.

THREE'S NOT a crowd when it's time to be sociable. At left, Charles Butler, 5, and King Butler, 6, serve as escorts for Laurel McDowell, 5, at today's Easter egg hunt at Big Spring Country Club. Parents of the children are Dr. and Mrs. Henry Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Lorin McDowell III.

Beta Sigma Phi To Have Pledge Ritual

Beta Sigma Phi sorority will hold a city-wide pledge ritual Tuesday, beginning at 7 p.m., in First Federal Community Room. Mrs. Clay LaRochelle, president of the BSP City Council will preside, assisted by members of the executive board.

The ritual theme will be "Love, Love, Love." Pledges to Alpha Kappa Omicron chapter are Mrs. Albert Carlile, Mrs. Dan Myers, Mrs. Ronald Tucker, Mrs. Frank Clark, Mrs. Donnie Payne, Mrs. David Magruder and Mrs. Terry Sims.

Pledging Beta Omicron chapter will be Mrs. Gary Norsen, Mrs. Charolette Willson, Mrs. Concepcion Rodriguez and Mrs. Dennis Vandervan.

Mrs. Gordon Schmaus is the Alpha Beta Omicron chapter pledge, and the two pledges for Mu Zeta chapter are Mrs. Jay Klampfer and Mrs. Connie Teetz.

Refreshments will be served from a table covered with a lace cloth and appointed with silver and crystal. The sorority flower will be represented by a centerpiece of yellow roses.

Executive board members serving as hostesses will be Mrs. Chuck Ogle, treasurer; Mrs. Jesse Currie, vice president; Mrs. Bill Schraeder, recording secretary; and Mrs. John Phillips, corresponding secretary.

ENGAGED — The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Vicki Beth Burchett to Ronald Wayne Broadrick is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Burchett. The future bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Broadway Broadrick, 1510 Dayton. The wedding has been scheduled June 22.

FUTURE BRIDE — Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Patton, 1006 E. 14th, announce the engagement of their daughter, Pamela Threasa, to A. C. Neighbors, son of Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Neighbors, 2701 Carol. The wedding will be an event of June 8 in Trinity Baptist Church, the rites performed by the Rev. Randy Cotton.

Forum To Meet

The Woman's Forum will meet April 19 at 1:30 p.m. at Creative Arts and Supply in Highland Center, later reconvening at the home of Mrs. Escol Compton, 1901 Choctow.

FOR YOUR PLEASURE Drama, Music, Folk Festival Promise Entertaining Variety

A variety of things will happen this week on the Howard College campus. "Spring Frolic" week will run from April 15-21. A Reader's Theatre will perform 9:45 a.m., Monday in the student lounge. Harlan Thornton, pianist, and Diana Williams, vocalist, will perform Wednesday, and the "Choraliers" Friday at 9:45 p.m., also in the student lounge.

Then 8 p.m. Thursday through Sunday, the drama department will perform "Lion In Winter" in the Howard College Auditorium. Friday is "Career Day" for high school students. The Howard College Choir will also appear as part of a musical program 8 p.m., Tuesday in First United Methodist Church.

Midland's Museum of the Southwest has set today as the last for signing up in the Robert Marshall Watercolor Workshop. Call 683-2882 for information. The workshop will run April 22-26. The museum also has several interesting exhibitions going on now.

Scholarship auditions for Western Texas Colleges fall term will be held April 20 in the college fine arts building in Snyder. Applicant should prepare a 10-minute program in piano, voice, applied instruments, stage band or choir. Write Dr. Robert Blocker at the college or call AC 915-573-8511 for information.

The Lubbock Symphony Orchestra will perform "Pops Nite" April 23 in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. Famed musician, Carmen Dragon, will conduct, and Texas Tech's William Hartwell will also appear. Tickets cost $2, $3, $4, $5 and $6 and are available at the Lubbock Symphony Office, 1721 Broadway. Call 762-4707 for information.

Also in Lubbock, Linda Kaye Henning, who played Betty Jo in "Petticoat Junction," will play the chamber-maid role in "A Shot in the Dark" the Hayloft Dinner Theatre's upcoming production. Write Box 1886 in Lubbock for information.

Waco will celebrate its 14th annual Brazos River Festival and Pilgrimage and the fourth annual Waco Cotton Palace Pageant April 26-28 beginning 8 p.m., April 26 in Waco Hall.

The Waco Creative Art Center will sponsor special exhibits during the festival and many special events are scheduled. Write Nancy Perry, Box 3222, Waco, 76707, for information.

Summer painting drawing workshops will be held in Ruidoso, N.M. June 3-Aug. 16. Six artist-teachers will participate. Oil, watercolor and many other aspects of art will be dealt with. Call 1-800-545-7822, the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, for information.

Some good movies are coming to town. "Serpico," "Cinderella Liberty" and "Blazing Saddles" are examples. Keep an eye on the movie listings in the Herald if you are interested.

Governor and Mrs. Dolph Briscoe, will be at Odessa's Presidential Museum and Ector County Library April 19 for a special presentation. That evening, a West Texas Chamber of Commerce banquet will be held there.

More than 100 singers and musicians will appear at the 1974 Kerrville Folk Festival at Quiet Valley Ranch near Kerrville May 23-27. Write promoter Rod Kennedy, Box 5309, Austin, 78763 for information or tickets. Fifty-four writer-performers will perform for the first time in amateur concerts along with professional shows by stars like Kenneth Threadgill, Townes Van Zandt, Robert Shaw and Big Bill Moss.

Terry Patterson, Big Spring artist and teacher, has been listed in the 1974 "Who's Who in the Arts." The listing traces her training at Texas Tech and Howard Payne, plus special studies, membership in numerous art associations including Texas Fine Arts and numerous citations and first place winnings in various exhibits, numbering more than 200 over the years. Mrs. Patterson began her painting career in 1948 when, after a long illness, her physician suggested this as therapy. She instructed privately and for a decade taught art for Howard College courses.

More recently, she accepted commissions from Franklin Mint Company to do coin designs for Texas subjects contributing to American Heritage. She has also done a portrait of President Lyndon Johnson, a design on the Johnson library and others. She has been listed in Who's Who in American Art since 1962, plus other publications including Who's Who in American Women, Texas Women of Distinction, plus some international directories. In private life, she is Mrs. Richard Patterson, 407 Edwards.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

My 10-week old son has certainly taught me a lot and I would like to share my experiences.

First of all, I've found that an inexpensive bookcase tucked in a corner of the kitchen, makes a dandy storage place for bottles, sterilizer, bottle brush and a host of other necessary items. I cover each shelf with a clean tea towel.

I also save small mayonnaise jars They fit into most standard sterilizers and are excellent for storing extra nipples, spoons, and unused formula. Because of room size and furniture arrangement, it seems our wee one was always facing the closet door when up on my shoulder after a feeding.

We taped some of his more colorful baby cards and some magazine pictures to the door of the closet. He is quite content to look at them until the long-awaited burp comes.

A TV tray next to the trusty rocking chair comes in handy for the bottle, feeding dish and burp towel.

Mrs. Nikki Dickerhoff

DEAR HELOISE:

If you want to chop a hard-boiled egg, put it in the slicer. Slice all the way through.

Then pick up carefully so that the slices stay together. Now reslice the egg in the opposite direction by placing it crosswise in the slicer.

Terry Clore

DEAR HELOISE:

Your column is the "housewife's bible" and your influence is felt worldwide. Thanks from all of us.

Now, how about using a little of that influence, and suggest to clothing manufacturers that they put on their washing instruction label, a permanent size, color, number and manufacturer's name.

Surely would save Mom and sales personnel a lot of time. It would then be possible to jot down the info, walk into a store and ask for whatever item you're trying to replace.

A Fan

DEAR HELOISE:

Is your party hose waist too snug for a comfy fit.

Dampen the upper portion and stretch it over the back of your kitchen chair and let dry. You'll have a comfy fit.

Works on lightweight girdles too.

Mrs. E. Grzelak

DEAR HELOISE:

I use a pizza cutter to cut pancakes into bite-sized squares for my three children.

I butter, cut and then pour on the syrup. It's really a great time saver.

Mrs. R.

DEAR HELOISE:

Do you own one of those aluminum collapsible drinking cups that has seen better days?

I took off the bottom of the cup, which holds the parts of the cup together, and now I have three biscuit or cookie cutters in graduated sizes.

Mrs. Josie J.

This column is written for you... the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of the Big Spring Herald. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

MRS. TRUETT THOMAS

MRS. TED PEACOCK

'Gold Star' Mothers Accept State Post

Mrs. Truett Thomas and Mrs. Ted Peacock have returned from Corpus Christi where both women were named to state offices during the 21st annual state convention of American Gold Star Mothers Inc.

Mrs. Thomas was elected state president, and Mrs. Peacock accepted the post of state corresponding secretary. The women were accompanied on the trip by their husbands.

As a prelude to the convention, a memorial service and reception was held Monday. Mayor Jason Luby officially opened the convention Tuesday by extending the welcome, and business sessions followed.

Dr. David Bruce, son of the past president of the organization, was host during a bus tour of Padre Island for delegates and their husbands. Approximately 100 attended.

As state president, Mrs. Thomas will represent Texas at the national convention June 30 in San Francisco, Calif. The 1975 state convention will be in Big Spring.

During the Corpus Christi conference, members were asked to write state and government officials to inform them of their opinions on granting amnesty to men who did not believe in fighting in the Vietnam conflict.

The Gold Star Mothers organization was founded during WWII by mothers of sons or daughters killed during the war. There are 20 local members. According to Mrs. Thomas, any mother who has had a son killed in line of duty in any war is eligible for membership.

TO MARRY — Mr. and Mrs. Ronald D. Medley, 2805 Goliad, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Janice Elizabeth, to John Robert Riherd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Riherd, 1604 Kentucky Way. The wedding is slated May 24 in First United Methodist Church. The Rev. Leo K. Gee, Amarillo, will officiate.

New Slate Announced By Xi Mu

Mrs. Gerald Wooten was elected president of Xi Mu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Monroe Casey, 2315 Mishler.

Serving with her this fall will be Mrs. James Lewis, vice president; Mrs. Eldon Marsh, recording secretary; Mrs. Oscar Johnson, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Clifford Hale, treasurer.

Votes were taken on the Girl of the Year; the winner to be announced at the Founder's Banquet April 25. Reservations are to be made for the event by April 18.

Mrs. Horace Rankin, Silver Heels, will host a Las Vegas Party in her home at 8:30 p.m., April 20. All women who are eligible to enter an exemplar chapter are invited to attend.

The chapter is continuing its fund raising project of selling spices. Persons wishing to order any of several types are asked to call Mrs. Lamar Green, chairman, 267-5167.

The next regular meeting will be May 13 in the home of Mrs. Harry McMillan.

BETROTHED — Billy Ray Brooks, Rt. 2, and Mrs. Troy Ogden, 2513 Cindy, announce the engagement of their daughter, Belinda Markay, to Maxey Ray Brashears, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brashears, 2602 Larry. The nuptial rites will be held June 14 in First Presbyterian Church.

Wedding Ceremony Performed In Chapel

Miss Elizabeth Ann Posey became the bride of Sgt. Donnie C. Taylor of Webb Air Force Base at 7:30 p.m., Friday in a ceremony performed by Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Jimmie D. Baggett in the base chapel.

Van Johnson, organist, performed nuptial selections as the wedding party stood before an altar centered by an arch adorned with blue carnations and white wedding bells. Palm trees, white mums and candelabra completed the setting.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard E. Posey, Sterling City Route, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donnie C. Taylor Sr. of Waco.

ATTENDANTS
Attending the bride as maid of honor was the bridegroom's sister, Miss Patricia Ann Taylor of Waco, and the bridesmaids were Miss Debra Ann Martin and Miss Shawn Moncus, the latter of Coahoma. They were identically attired in floor-length dresses styled with long sleeves and ruffles at the neckline and hem. Miss Taylor wore a pink gown, Miss Martin, green, and Miss Moncus, orange. Each carried a single, long-stemmed carnation to match her dress.

The bride was attired in a floor-length, white lace gown adorned with small flowers and accented with a chapel-length train which swept from the center back. A lace headpiece held her waist-length veil of illusion, which was adorned with seed pearls.

MRS. DONNIE C. TAYLOR JR.

S. Sgt. Ronald R. Spalding, Webb AFB, served as best man, and ushers were Airman I. C. Anthony O. Hutto, Webb AFB; and Thomas Ed Posey, brother of the bride.

Out-of-town guests for the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Horn, Mrs. D.

C. Taylor, Miss Carroll Ann Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Barak and Mrs. Narnie Taylor, all of Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Loudmay, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Becknell and Mrs. Mary Rose Baker, all of San Angelo; Mrs. Rosie Nutt and Mr. and Mrs. David Nutt, all of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Tivis, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Tivis, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Tivis, and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Tivis, all of Portales, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Baker, Lawton, Okla.; and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Dale Strickland, Charleston, S. C.

RECEPTION

The reception was held in the clubhouse on base with refreshments being served by Mr. and Mrs. Gerardo S. Saucedo.

After a wedding trip to Waco, the couple will reside in Big Spring until November. Upon his separation from service, Sgt. and Mrs. Taylor will move to Waco. He graduated from La Vega High School, Waco, and attended McLennan Community College before joining the Air Force in 1971. At present, Sgt. Taylor is manager of the Jet Drive-In Theater and, in the fall, he plans to return to the Waco Police Department.

Mrs. Taylor graduated from Big Spring High School and is presently employed as cashier for the Jet Drive-In Theater.

Homemaking Tip

Wonderful topping for apple pie: chill an 8-ounce container of heavy cream mixed with 1/4 cup packed light brown sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla for an hour; beat until stiff.

When you're cooking on top of the range, make sure that pot handles do not extend over the edge of the range because when they're placed this way it's easy to knock the pans off.

Dispose of cracked or chipped dishes and glasses because bacteria can hide in cracks and chips no matter how carefully the dishes and glasses are washed.

BRIDE-ELECT — Mrs. La Vona Stevens, 1806 Benton, announces the engagement of her daughter, Kathy Jo, to John Alfred McDiffitt Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. ## YMCA Facilities Are Detailed To Altrusa

The organizational structure and facilities of the YMCA were discussed by Mrs. Odell Womack, president, when she was guest speaker for the Altrusa Club's luncheon Thursday.

Mrs. Womack said any child or adult may participate in the YMCA regardless of creed, color or financial circumstances. Numerous activities are aimed toward every age group, with operations guided by a 30-member board of directors. Its program is aimed toward fitness of mind, body and spirit. The funding is provided by active memberships, sustaining membership, gifts and the United Way.

New to the plant is a health club featuring a therapeutic room, exercise area, swimming pool, massage room, sauna, etc. This facility was started with donations from Dr. Floyd Mays, the late G. R. Robinson and the Dora Roberts Foundation. This year's budget is $83,000.

Mrs. Willard Hendricks presided for the Altrusa business session, and donations were made to the Founder's Fund, which is used for educational purposes. Members were reminded of the Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Council luncheon April 18.

The next Altrusa Club luncheon will be April 25 at Coker's Restaurant.

La Posada Is Scene Of Dinner

A dinner meeting was held Thursday evening at La Posada during which new officers were elected for the Past Matrons Club, Laura B. Hart Chapter, Order of Eastern Star.

To be installed at the May meeting are Mrs. Richard Mitchell, president; Mrs. Chuck Boland, vice president; Mrs. J. E. Fells, secretary; and Mrs. Lloyd Duncan, treasurer.

Mrs. M. C. Lawrence and Mrs. E. A. Fiveash were hostesses for the dinner, and Mrs. Marvin Wilson presided during the election. The nominating committee report was given by Mrs. Lawrence.

It was announced that Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell will host a dinner in their home, 1505 Stadium, at 7 p.m., April 20, with club members having their husbands as guests. Mrs. Boland and Mrs. Steen will be hostesses for the May meeting.

MAY RITES — Mr. and Mrs. Juan P. Palacios, 3914 Hamilton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Eva, to Gary Holley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Omar Cashion, Gail Rt., Big Spring. The couple will be married May 18 in the home of the future bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Holley, Jonesboro Rd.

Local Woman Will Preside At Lubbock

The Stokes-Parker District, Texas Association of Women's Clubs, will hold its 24th annual convention Friday through Sunday at the Red Raider Inn, Lubbock, with Mrs. Essie L. Person of Big Spring, district president, as the presiding officer.

Club women from nine West Texas cities will gather to focus on the theme, "Black Women: Being Concerned and Getting Involved." The three-day event will feature program speakers, business sessions, an award banquet and a "debutante presentation." The latter event includes a talent and financial competition for girls from each city. Representing Big Spring will be Beverly Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Anderson, 710 Ohio, and Debra Barksdale, daughter of M. Sgt. and Mrs. Eddie C. Barksdale, 202-A Hunter Drive. Miss Anderson will be sponsored by the Ada Belle Dement Club, and Miss Barksdale's sponsor is the Ever Ready Civic and Art Club. The combined clubs form the City Federation Club, headed by Mrs. Mary L. Ivery.

Mrs. Oliver Reed is president of the Ada Belle Dement Club, and Mrs. Burel Perkins heads the Ever Ready Civic and Art Club. The two women, as well as several other club members, will accompany Mrs. Person to the convention.

Local women holding other district offices are Mrs. Leroy Perry, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mrs. W. L. Graham, treasurer; Mrs. Ivery, executive board secretary; Miss Rosette Brown, art chairman; Miss Shirely A. Thomas, program chairman; and Mrs. Bobbie Williams, scholarship chairman. Mrs. N. W. Stokes of San Angelo is president emeritus of the district.

Kitchen Hints

Never leave a knife with a sharp blade in a pan of sudsy water in the sink where the blade can't be seen. Such a practice has led to many a cut!

Mix an equal amount of cornmeal and flour, adding salt, pepper and paprika to taste; dip whole small fish in the mixture and pan-fry.

A LOVELIER YOU

Gold Chains Glitter In Fashion Spotlight

The shine on fashion is gold — fine chains of 14 karat gold or gold plate. The look is delicate, ultra feminine, closely following designing trends.

Even when a chain slows to form a pattern, links of leaves or blossoms, the effect is gentled, like the greening of springtime. As a finale for a pale crepe dress or a float of printed sheer, chains with a golden glitter cannot fail.

Another idea, and a close second to gold, is the bead chain of cut crystal, Venetian glass or cultured pearls. This kind of chain is cued to middling lengths with the slender look of throughbred jewelry. To see for yourself try a bead chain with a suit blouse or a city-dark shirt-dress.

Narrow silver and pewter necklace for wear with casuals should not be missed. The low-keyed patina of those metals has a special affinity for side-line dressing. From a silvery chain a pendant may be hung. Choose one that reflects your own taste. It might be avant garde, like a free-form work of art, or a realistic clutch of flowers. There are earbobs, bracelets, and pins to blend or match the shimmer of a chain. And to cap your own shimmer!

Children Born To Lepers Are Adopted

NEW YORK (AP) — "I've read up on leprosy and it seems to be a similar type of disease to tuberculosis. One of our children had TB to start with but with the medication, everything's all right," says Peter Elliott, a Huntington Station, N.Y., auto salesman.

Elliott and his wife are one of four sets of American parents who will adopt eight children born to patients in the leper colonies of South Korea.

The unprecedented adoption program, called Operation Outreach, flies in the face of the prejudice concerning leprosy which is deep rooted in Southeast Asia.

Fear of the disease, however, is based in the false belief that it is highly contagious. In fact, leprosy is ranked as the least contagious of the communicable diseases.

The Elliotts already have three adopted Korean children. Both 50 years old and natives of London, the Elliotts were asked whether they anticipated prejudice against the children in American society.

"Oh, I should certainly hope we are a lot more enlightened," said Elliott. "All our neighbors wished us good luck when they heard."

Of the world's 20 million leprosy patients, only about 2,000 live in the United States and none of these cases were contracted here, according to authorities. The disease attacks the skin and nerves, producing red lesions, and, in its extreme stages, deformities.

Party Pooper

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Here are the facts: A lady was invited to a dinner party. While being greeted by her hostess, she saw a guest whom she had good reason to dislike intensely. She turned around and left immediately.

We (her friends) are divided in our opinions. Some of us think she should have stayed and ignored the guest she disliked. Others say she was justified in leaving.

What would you have done if you had been in that situation?

DEAR ABBY: DIVIDED: Off-hand, out of consideration for my hostess I'd probably have stayed and avoided the guest I disliked. But what I would have done cannot be used as a fair criterion. For that I would have to have walked for at least two miles in that lady's moccasins.

DEAR ABBY: Please help settle a dispute between my husband and me. We've been married a year, and until last week everything was fine and dandy. Last Saturday night we were invited to a party at some friend's house. I bought myself a new dress for the occasion. It had a plunging neckline, and as I am sort of bosomy, it was a little revealing.

I thought it looked good. However when I put it on, my husband refused to take me to the party unless I changed to something more conservative. Well, I refused, so we ended up staying home.

I think my husband is wrong in dictating what I should wear. I am young and pretty and enjoy admiring looks from other men. Is this so wrong, Abby? I could understand my husband's objections if I were too fat or old to wear a dress like that.

He said he wanted to protect me from unwanted advances, and secondly, he wanted me all to himself; he doesn't want other men to see that much of me. What do you think of this?

MAD AT MY HUSBAND

DEAR MAD: Some husbands do not object if their wives wear revealing clothes, in which case, fine. But since your husband does — don't!

DEAR ABBY: We are members of a small junior college baseball team who are going through the same problem thousands of high schools and colleges are going through each year. The coach insists upon our getting our hair cut off at the ears and at the top of our collar. This is his first year as a baseball coach, and he expects us to sacrifice our hair for baseball, although this college offers no scholarships, and the team agrees that they would give 100 per cent at all times. We can't see how the length of our hair can make a difference in how we play.

In order for our college to play baseball we must have at least 15 guys out, and when a coach makes such stiff demands, it causes some guys to quit. This in turn hurts the school's chances for a winning team. What's your opinion, Abby?

TALL CORN STATE
DEAR CORN: I don't want to throw you a curve, but I'm with you 50 per cent. An athlete's hair should be short enough in front so it doesn't get into his eyes, but what goes on in the back should be his decision.

Oasis Garden Club Wins State Award

Breakfast Food

Hearty and nutritious breakfast food: oatmeal pancakes (made from scratch) with sliced ripe bananas added to the batter. Serve with butter or margarine and maple syrup.

The Oasis Garden Club won a first place award at the district garden club meeting in Amarillo on the therapy project in which they work with students in the individualized program at Moss School.

The announcement was made by Mrs. Albert Hohertz who reported on the convention at Wednesday's meeting in the home of Mrs. C. A. Aagesen, 508 Highland. Mrs. J. D. Leonard is chairman of the garden therapy sessions.

During the program, Mrs. O'Barr Smith displayed and discussed an all-green arrangement in an Indian vase on a red base. It featured sotol, bamba and ivy. Mrs. C. V. Wash showed two spring arrangements which were created with bulbs, calladium irises and jonquils.

The club welcomed Mrs. Bill Conger as a new member.

The next meeting will be an informal horticulture and flower arranging show May 8 in the home of Mrs. M. C. Stulting, 705 W. 17th.

TELLS PLANS — Miss Teresa Lea Cooper will be married to Thomas Lynn Welch July 5 according to an announcement by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil L. Cooper, Rt. 1, Box 262. Welch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Welch Jr., 910 Gregg. The Rev. Larry D. Holmes will perform the ceremony in the Church of the Nazarene.

Rook Session

The Rook Club will hold its next regular meeting at 2:30 p.m., Friday in the home of Mrs. Isla Davis, 103 E. 17th.

Thousands Of Decorated Eggs Hunted By Moppets

By MARJ CARPENTER
 Elementary school children, church classes, cub packs, brownie scouts, and entire Sunday School departments have hunted Easter eggs. Prizes ranged from large chocolate rabbits to fuzzy bunnies to sugar coated eggs with a picture scene inside.

Probably over 200,000 eggs, including dyed hen eggs and many variety of candy eggs have been hidden, found, clutched, counted, crushed and eaten by Big Spring youngsters.

Elementary school children, church classes, cub packs, brownie scouts, and entire Sunday School departments have hunted Easter eggs. Prizes ranged from large chocolate rabbits to fuzzy bunnies to sugar coated eggs with a picture scene inside.

Elementary school children, church classes, cub packs, brownie scouts, and entire Sunday School departments have hunted Easter eggs. Prizes ranged from large chocolate rabbits to fuzzy bunnies to sugar coated eggs with a picture scene inside.

to give her boy's class, "I better find hollow eggs this year." There was also a shortage of jelly beans although there were all kinds of larger candy eggs.

Hen eggs were 20 cents cheaper per dozen this year than last Easter and ranged from 70 to 80 cents for Grade A eggs. Egg shells aren't what they used to be and the "Easter bunny" that is boiling the eggs must anticipate that part of them will crack wide open and need to be removed.

Every available plot of green grass served as a good hiding and hunting location. This included city parks, and church yards as well as the yards of many individuals.

HOP ON DOWN

Hopping down the bunny trail is big business for many, and fun for the youngsters — especially the youngsters who are adept at finding eggs. For the boy or girl who finds them difficult to locate, the prize for the least eggs is slight compensation and for the child who finds the next to the least eggs, there is simply a shortage of eggs and a bleak feeling.

However, colorful plastic and wicker baskets, artificial grass in shades of purple, pink and yellow and occasionally even green, are still top sellers.

Following as a close second are bunnies. Big plaid bunnies, Little pastel bunnies, Boy Bunnies, Girl bunnies, Cuddly bunnies and skinny bunnies.

For a few years, the trade was brisk in live bunnies and dyed chicks, although parents soon lose their enthusiasm for such items.

Anyway, it's Easter and in the average home in the city the children have now found their eggs, mashed their baskets, loved their bunnies and washed their sticky fingers and get dressed up in new spring clothes for Sunday School.

Activity Up At New Port

Dallas-Fort Worth Airport — Figures made available today, show that activity is continuing to grow as the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport rounds out its first 90 days of operation.

For the period from January 13 (commencement of operations) through April 5, the airport had handled a total of 70,998 operations. Of that number, air carriers generated 61,178 movements. Commuter airlines and air taxis accounted for 5,901, general aviation for 3,829 and military had 90.

March operations totaled 26,666 as compared to 23,699 in February and 16,217 during the partial month of operation in January.

For the period from January

13 through March 31, a total figure was up from 473,688 in February. Through March 31st, 15,648.5 tons of air cargo had been moved through the airport, and 7,157.1 tons of mail.

Herzog Novel Documents Invasion Of Super Bees

THE SWARM. By Arthur Herzog. Simon & Schuster. 256 Pages. $6.95.

Some insects are almost universally detested. Consider the cockroach. Others are regarded with more favor by humans. The bee, for example. Busy little fellow, brightly buzzing here and there, rarely resting, in his quest for honey.

"Forget it. The next time a reader of 'The Swarm' hears the buzz of a bee he'll probably start a frantic search for a swatter or run for the nearest shelter. For the bees in this gripping novel aren't your ordinary busy little fellow. They are big, they are mean and they don't like people. And when they move from Africa to South America and then to the United States and mate with the local bees, they get bigger, meaner and more violently antihuman.

Most of the books using the insect versus man theme are pretty much potboilers, relying on the reader to accept without question the author's thesis that, say, ants as big as the Empire State Building suddenly and mysteriously have come into existence.

Not Arthur Herzog. He builds a solid, highly readable structure in which the origin of the super bees is carefully documented throughout. His descriptions of how the nation's scientists go about fighting back are perfectly plausible. This is a most readable novel, even though the ending may be regarded as sort of a copout.

Try not to read it while listening to "The Flight of the Bumblebee."

STORIES COPS ONLY TELL EACH OTHER. By Gene Radano. Stein & Day. 202 Pages. $6.95.

The flood of books by or about policemen has slowed considerably in recent months but a few still continue to arrive in the bookstores and one of the better among these is "Stories Cops Only Tell Each Other."

Written by Gene Radano, a New York City policeman for 20 years, the book consists of the tables cops tell each other when they are "cooping." A cop, according to Radano, "is a place where cops go to relax and swap stories while they are on duty." It can be the back of a store, a basement or a car, just as long as it's a place where a cop can "hide when he is tired or bored."

The stories swapped by the cops in this volume span the scale of emotions. As one cop points out as he talks about his career, "You get to see... things in this job. Ugly, sickening, frightening, beautiful, sad things. You're there at the beginning, the end and in between."

Most of the stories Radano retells are interesting, some more so than others, but none are boring. And a few are especially telling for the insights they give into just what goes into the makeup of a cop, how he ended up in that highly visible blue uniform that moves about in a world that most civilians know little, if anything, about.

Says one officer: "I love this job. Being a cop is like sitting in the front row of life." There are others who disagree with him often vehemently. Hearing the stories told by both sides makes this an interesting book.

THE KAPPILLAN OF MALTA. By Nicholas Monsarrat. Morrow. 502 Pages. $9.95.

This new novel by the author of "The Cruel Sea" and "The Tribe That Lost Its Head" operates on three levels. It is a portrait of a humble priest who cares for homeless refugees during the World War II bombardment of Malta. It includes legendary stories of six events in Malta's history. On another level, it is a tourist's view of the island today.

The "kappillan" is a priest, Father Salvaore, youngest son of a noble family who is devoting his life to the poor. When his church is bombed to pieces, he and his parishioners take shelter in ancient catacombs where they are protected from the bombing, and life goes on.

There Father Salvatore, or Dun Salv, to the refugees, begins a series of stories from Malta's dramatic history. His historical knowledge and unusual abilities inspire the listeners to withstand the terrors of wartime. Invasions, a visit by St. Paul, occupation by the Turks and the defeat of Napoleon's troops all are woven into the fabric of life in the catacombs, offering the refugees hope for survival in wartime danger.

Characters in the novel are as vividly drawn as the stocky priest. There is Dun Salv's first sacristan, Rafel, a gentle giant, and Nero Cassar, a dwarf of infinite optimism.

Monsarrat is a master storyteller. He evokes pictures of ancient knights and modern airmen with equal skill, drawing us into that awesome era of hope, fear and wartime privation made bearable by the work of the kappillan of the catacombs.

WW II, Vietnam Both Had Vets Who Were Embittered

NEW YORK (AP) — James Jones, wounded in the bitter fighting for Guadalcanal in World War II, leaned back in his chair and admitted he was an amateur at writing about Vietnam.

His plaid jacket and brown tie are worlds away from the Army private's uniform he wore in World War II, the war he chronicled in "From Here to Eternity," and "The Thin Red Line."

"I didn't know anything about Vietnam when I went there, which may have been the one thing to my advantage. I had a fresh eye," the novelist added.

Jones traveled to Vietnam to write about the close-down of U.S. involvement for the New York Times magazine. The eventual result was "Viet Journal," a non-fiction diary of the trip.

TALKS LIMITED

"I don't think there was much difference between soldiers in World War II and Vietnam. You must remember I didn't get to talk to a draftee army in Vietnam, only officers and professionals."

"But there were a lot of bitter vets, bitter people, in World War II. It was just as spiritually distressing as Vietnam. At that time there was more discrimination, favoritism, nepotism and more partiality than there is now in the military. A lot of people's sons stayed home and got fat on the profits of war," Jones said.

That'll be part of Jones' next work of fiction, "Whistle," as yet unfinished.

"I've been working at it off and on for five or six years. I see it as part of a trilogy with the other World War II books. It follows that bitter soldier out of combat and back home."

The novelist resents any inference that World War II soldiers were a happier, more charming, sweeter breed of all-American boys than the Vietnam army.

"There was a lot of animosity toward officers then," he recalled. "The so-called fraggings in Vietnam were nothing new. A lot of officers got shot in the back 'accidentally' in World War II."

CHANGED MIND

Watching the American involvement in Vietnam end was Jones adds, "probably the last adventure I'll ever have. When I had runs and fever three days before I left Saigon, I didn't think so. But I think so now."

ALL NEW

"I worked three months on four articles I was commissioned to write. They printed one. So I kept on working. The first 55 pages of the book was all new stuff, written in Greece during my vacation. The rest I wrote in little more than a month, incorporating the four articles. I worked like a son of a bitch seven days a week."

"When I finished I was so keyed up I couldn't rest. So the impetus carried me right on into 'Whistle' I had something to say about Vietnam — maybe it's not stated anywhere, but the book says something. I feel it's there and it's no point of view but my own."

Admittedly cynical about both sides of the Vietnam conflict, Jones set out to observe spots where fighting continued despite the cease-fire, to see cities where the fighting was finished and reconstruction underway and to talk to people. He helicoptered into Dak-Pek, a ranger camp in the central highlands, and writes dramatically of the fear of flying behind enemy lines.

"Viet Journal" is not Jones at his best, but the writing is objective, no-nonsense reportage. He has been accused of defending American involvement in Vietnam, but would prefer to emerge as an honest observer of the conflict and its aftermath.

"I was interested that so many American officers said the same thing — that they want to come back in five years and see what Vietnam is like. This comment was always unsolicited. It was evidently something they were thinking about. These Americans were professional, involved in a certain amount of blood and emotion and sweat."

Jones says it will be an advantage in finishing the new novel, this trip to the war zone. "I never thought about it at the time but it refreshed a lot of visual images about war, kind of a feeling of being in wartime — all that returned to me in Vietnam."

Lighting another long, black Havana cigar, Jones talked about the future. After living in Paris for 16 years, he, his wife Gloria and their two children will move this fall to Key Biscayne, where he will work with young at Florida International University.

I've done a lot of that over the years, not officially. People turn up her and there and you help them, always in a one-on-one situation. You can't teach a class of people how to write. But I won't have many students — 12 or 15 — and I'll be able to give each one a certain amount of time," he said.

"After you pass 50 you begin to get a sense of time running out on you a little," said the novelist.

"There are four to six novels I want to write if I can. I'm not going to run out of things to write about."

Cycle Gangs Troublesome

TOKYO (AP) — They tear through the crowded streets of Tokyo at 60 miles an hour, taunting motorists with jeers and police with mock salutes. Sometimes they tangle with rival groups and violence erupts.

They are what the Japanese call the "Kaminari-Zoku," the bike riders who get their kicks from speed and danger.

Still far from a Japanese version of the old Hell's Angels in the United States, the 210 motorcycle gangs of Tokyo have nevertheless become one of the police department's headaches.

Last year, they committed more than 10,000 moving violations during their night runs. Patrol cars keep a watchful eye over them, radioing in their whereabouts. With the police, the cyclists are careful.
