FORD: ONE PARTY CONTROL IS NOT GOOD FOR AMERICA

Nixon's Man Loses House Seat

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Democrat Bob Traxler has ended the Republicans' 42-year hold on Michigan's 8th Congressional District with a victory that Vice President Gerald R. Ford called a bad omen for the nation.

"One party control is not good for America," Ford said after Traxler took slightly more than 51 per cent of the vote Tuesday in special election that pitted him against Republican James Sparling Jr.

DICTATORSHIP

"And the trend in congressional elections now is for the Democrats to end up with an overwhelming majority in the House. This will mean a legislative dictatorship."

Ford said the election would have no bearing on how Congress treats the President in regard to the impeachment inquiry now being conducted by the House Judiciary Committee.

Sparling said he did not blame his defeat on Nixon, who made a personal appearance in the district last week.

FIRST SINCE 1932

But Traxler, who campaigned as much against the President as against his GOP opponent, disagreed, and added that Nixon is the problem of Republicans, not Democrats.

His victory gave the 8th District seat to Democrats for the first time since 1932.

It marked the fourth time in five special elections this year that normally GOP areas have fallen to the Democrats.

But it was the first time Nixon took an active role in trying to stem the tide.

With all of the 296 precincts in the district unaccounted for in unofficial returns, Traxler had 59,918 votes, Sparling 56,575.

The results gave Traxler 51.4 per cent of the vote.

Traxler said after his victory that voters knew that perhaps a new moral force was needed in the White House.

IMPORTANT MESSAGE

"And while we didn't dwell on Watergate, there are a lot of people who felt it very important that a message and communication be sent that decency, honesty and integrity are absolutely essential in the White House."

In his comments, in a statement given to newsmen at Palm Springs, Calif., Ford said he had talked with Sparling and he informed me that Watergate was not the principal factor in his defeat. The unions simply did a better job than the Republican organization in getting out the vote."

Sparling said he would decide later whether to challenge Traxler in November, when the seat opens up again in a regular election.

He insisted Nixon was not invited to Michigan to campaign for him, but rather to "get out of the White House where he is now isolated and face the people."

THUMBS UP — Democratic attorney J. Robert Traxler, 42, gives the victory sign as supporters crowd around him at Village Hall in Bay City after victory over Jess M. Sparling, Jr. in Tuesday's special election for the Eighth Congressional District seat.

Southwest Airlines Granted Injunction

DALLAS (AP)—A federal judge today granted an injunction sought by Southwest Airlines to halt enforcement of a Dallas City Council ordinance that would have banned all scheduled commercial flights at Love Field.

U.S. District Court Judge William Taylor called the ordinance, approved Monday by the council, "open defiance" of his earlier court ruling that permitted Southwest to operate from Love Field.

"Apparently, no, obviously, the confidence of the court was entirely misplaced—that confidence this court had in the city officials of Dallas to abide by the rulings of this court. I don't think this kind of conduct can be tolerated. This is a nation of law," Taylor said.

The judge then issued a temporary restraining order prohibiting the city from banning Southwest Airlines from Love Field.

Taylor said the council's action Monday "obviously threatens the continued existence of Southwest."

Fort Worth councilmen passed an ordinance imposing a Meacham Field ban a few hours before the Dallas council enacted its Love Field ordinance.

Southwest, an intrastate airline, refused to leave Love Field after the opening of the big regional airport and continued to schedule commercial flights through the Dallas facility.

COMMUTER FLIGHTS

The airline won a legal decision to retain its commuter flights as long as the city continued to operate Love Field.

Broadcaster McGee Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank McGee, a television newsman of the National Broadcasting Co. and a regular on the network's "Today" program, died today. He was 52.

McGee died of pneumonia at Harkness Pavilion of the Columbia Presbyterian Hospital. He had been ill and on for several months, the network said.

McGee's last appearance on the "Today" program was last Thursday.

Born in Monroe, La., he began his broadcast career in 1950 at WKY-TV in Oklahoma City. Five years later, he became news director of WSFA-TV in Montgomery, Ala. He joined NBC in 1957.

Among his honors as a news broadcaster were a Peabody Award in 1966 and an Emmy for Special events coverage in 1968.

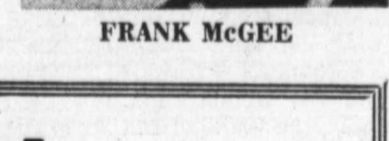

HARD LABOR

Officials at Army headquarters said they believe Calley spent only one night in the Ft. Benning, Ga., stockade after his sentencing by a court-martial to life in prison at hard labor on March 31, 1971.

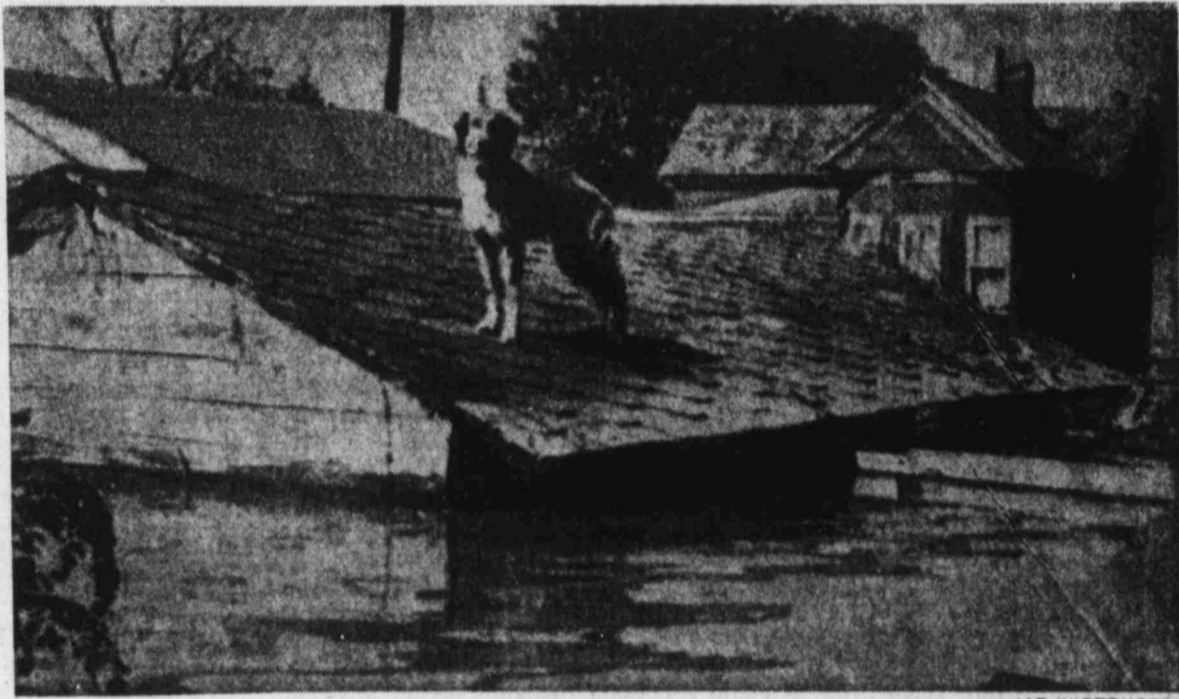

Nixon ordered Calley released from the stockade April 1, 1971, and said he should be confined to his quarters pending review of his case.

The 30-year-old Army lieutenant lived in those bachelor quarters under minimum security until a federal judge ordered him released on $1,000 bond last Feb. 27.

Calley's life term was reduced to 20 years by Lt. Gen. Albert O. Connor, then commander of the Third Army, Aug. 20, 1971.

PATIENT PUP — This stranded dog will have to wait for flood waters to go down before he can get off his roof-top perch at Hattiesburg, Miss. Officials decided to stop rescuing stranded animals after several persons were bitten. They pointed out however that waters will recede fast enough before any harm could come to the animals.

12th Zebra Slaying

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A young man was gunned down in the street Tuesday night in what police said appeared to be the 18th random attack on whites by one or more black assailants.

The latest victim in the so-called "zebra" shootings was Nelson T. Shields IV, 33, who was fatally wounded by a gunman who shot him in the back at point-blank range.

"It looks like another Zebra case," said Police Inspector Gus Coreris, referring to the police code name for the case.

A total of 12 persons have been killed and six wounded since last November. In each case, the victims were white and the assailant was black.

Other similarities to previous shootings were the weapon used, a .32-caliber pistol, and the apparent lack of motivation.

Shields, the son of Du Pont Co., executive in Wilmington, Del., was shot three times outside a home in a quiet residential street where he had come with a friend to pick up a rug.

The shooting in the Ingleside District was several miles from the Western Addition area where most of the previous shootings took place.

A neighbor who heard the shots told police she saw a black man running up the street.

Kidnap Foiled In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A 10-year-old girl on her way to school foiled a kidnap attempt by outwitting her would-be abductor. She escaped unharmed with the aid of a neighbor.

Police told this story:

Patricia Marshall and a friend were waiting for a school bus Tuesday on a corner near her home on Lake Vista, a New Orleans subdivision. A man stopped his car, pushed Patricia in on the passenger's side and slammed the door.

Patricia yelled at her friend to run. Then, pretending she couldn't open the car door, she began banging on the car window. The kidnaper, apparently convinced his victim was secure, started around to the driver's door.

Then Patricia opened her door. The kidnaper ran back around and tried to close it. Patricia blocked the door with her foot as they struggled. A neighbor, Harvey Schwartzberg, passed by on his way to work and stopped to help.

The kidnaper gave up trying to force the door closed and sped away after Patricia, with Schwartzberg's aid, escaped from the car.

Police are searching for a young man, about 20, with long hair and a moustache. Schwartzberg was unable to get the license number of the car.

It was "a real break the man Schwartzberg stopped," a policeman said. "That's the kind of involvement we need."

Simon Selected For Treasury Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon named federal energy chief William E. Simon to be Treasury secretary today and pledged to play an expanded personal role in directing the government's economic policy.

Nixon promoted Simon's chief assistant, John C. Sawhill, to federal energy administrator.

In announcing Simon's nomination, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren also announced that the President "intends to play an increasingly expanded role," in coordinating the administration's economic policy.

Lt. Calley Could Come Up For Parole Within Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say Secretary of the Army Howard Callaway went far beyond the recommendation of a clemency board in halving Lt. William Calley's prison sentence to 10 years for the My Lai massacre.

Callaway's decision meant Calley could come up for parole within the year.

The Army said it could not make public the recommendation of the Army-Air Force Clemency and Parole Board. But sources said the board proposed only a slight reduction in Calley's 20-year sentence.

ILLEGAL ORDER

Callaway said he remitted 10 years of Calley's prison sentence because of "mitigating circumstances indicating that Lt. Calley may have sincerely believed that he was acting in accordance with the orders he had received and that he was not aware of his responsibility to refuse such an illegal order."

At the same time, the Army secretary said Tuesday "there is no reasonable doubt in my mind that he perpetrated the acts for which he stands convicted."

The case is now before President Nixon, who has said he will review it personally and make the final decision. Army lawyers said Nixon could affirm the present sentence or cut it further but could not increase it.

Calley's civilian lawyer Kenneth M. Henson, said in Columbus, Ga., that the Army secretary's ruling was disappointing.

"We're still hopeful that the President of the United States exonerates Lt. Calley," Henson said.

Officials at Army headquarters said they believe Calley spent only one night in the Ft. Benning, Ga., stockade after his sentencing by a court-martial to life in prison at hard labor on March 31, 1971.

Nixon ordered Calley released from the stockade April 1, 1971, and said he should be confined to his quarters pending review of his case.

The 30-year-old Army lieutenant lived in those bachelor quarters under minimum security until a federal judge ordered him released on $1,000 bond last Feb. 27.

The World At - A - Glance

CHICAGO (AP) — Vietnam combat veterans have no more adjustment problems than servicemen who never served in Vietnam, according to a study by a Harvard psychiatrist. The findings contrast sharply reports of other psychiatrists who said there is widespread maladjustment among these veterans, the report said. The report comes from Dr. Jonathan F. Borus of Massachusetts General Hospital and Harvard Medical School. It was based on a study of troops at an undisclosed East Coast Army post.

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Two days of hard fighting in the Central Highlands have taken the lives of more than 500 North Vietnamese and 82 South Vietnamese, South Vietnamese military sources reported today. They said thousands of North Vietnamese battled government forces for five hours on Monday after a six-hour battle on Monday. Both actions took place between the Plei Me base camp and Pleiku. They said the battle Tuesday was the biggest in South Vietnam since the ceasefire 14½ months ago.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweeping new prosecution demand for President Nixon's Watergate tapes goes far beyond the material subpoenaed by the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment investigation. There was no immediate comment from the White House on how it will respond to the bid by Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski for court permission to issue a subpoena for 63 conversations. Jaworski said he needs the tapes and supporting documents to prepare for the Watergate cover-up trial of H. R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, John N. Mitchell and four others.

TOKYO (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz today blamed the steep rise in American food prices in January and February on housewives and politicians who demanded price ceilings.

Atty. Gen. Saxbe Convinced Heiress 'Common Criminal'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe said today he is convinced that Patricia Hearst "was not a reluctant participant" in a San Francisco bank robbery and that he considers her a common criminal.

Saxbe told reporters at his weekly news conference that he was expressing his personal views about the 20-year-old newspaper heiress reported kidnapped by the Symbionese Liberation Army more than two months ago.

READY TO USE IT

In San Francisco today, Saxbe's view was bolstered by bank guard Edward Shea, who said Miss Hearst "was full of curse words" and appeared ready to fire a saved-off carbine if necessary during the robbery.

Shea, 66, who was disarmed during the holdup, said Miss Hearst "absolutely was a participant" in the bank heist Monday in which two passers-by were shot.

"She wasn't scared, I'll tell you that," he said. "She looked as though she knew what she was doing. She had a gun and looked ready to use it. She had plenty of command in her voice. She was full of curse words. She let it be known that she meant business."

PART OF IT

Saxbe said he believes the FBI would be justified in breaking into a dwelling to capture Miss Hearst and SLA members.

"The entire group we're talking about are common criminals," Saxbe said. Asked if he was including Miss Hearst in that description, he replied, "Miss Hearst is part of it."

Earlier, Miss Hearst's fiance said he believes the SLA convinced the bank holdup — in which she carried a carbine — to make people think she had joined the terrorist group.

Steven Weed, 26, told reporters Tuesday that Monday's bank heist, in which two persons were wounded and $10,690 was stolen, was designed "to get people to believe she is converted without having to let her go."

'Candy' Just Wasn't That Kind Of Person

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — A friend says Camilla "Candy" Hall, wanted in connection with a San Francisco bank holdup, was a very happy person "always good for a laugh."

The friend, a former co-worker of Miss Hall who declined the use of her name, also says she can't understand how Miss Hall could become involved with a terrorist group such as the Symbionese Liberation Army.

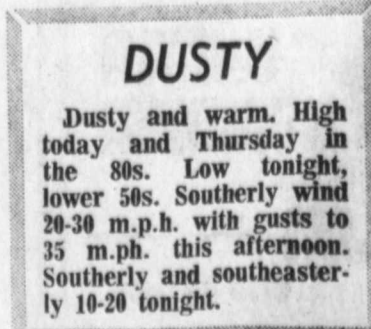

AFRAID OF GUNS

Miss Hall, who was reared in Minneapolis is being sought on bank robbery charges in the Monday bank holdup by nine persons who identified themselves as members of the SLA.

Among the nine was newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst, whom the SLA kidnaped on Feb. 4. Two passers-by were wounded by the bandits.

Miss Hall's Minneapolis friend said she didn't want her identity revealed because "those guns really scare me."

She pictured Miss Hall during an interview on Tuesday as a

Miss Hall, 29, "She was deeply involved with the campus protest movement during the 1960s. She believed in fighting for her convictions."

Miss Hall graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1967 with a degree in humanities.

Her friend said Miss Hall kept her professional life separate from her personal life — "We would do things together, but I don't know who her Minneapolis friends were. She spent time working on an underground newspaper, but it wasn't really radical, just liberal."

Miss Hall's father, Dr. George Hall, is a longtime Lutheran minister, missionary and teacher now serving a church in Lincolnwood, Ill. Her mother, two brothers and a sister are dead.

The former coworker said Miss Hall left Minneapolis for Los Angeles in February 1970, planning to live for a while with a friend and do some writing.

TALKING TO BIG SPRING — Frances (Sissy) Farenthold came down hard on Gov. Dolph Briscoe's programs when she spoke to a group of Howard County supporters here Tuesday afternoon. The Howard College video tape player is recording her presentation.

Sissy Renews Assault On Governor's Appointments

Frances (Sissy) Farenthold fired a second volley from her West Texas tour cannon here Tuesday afternoon when she announced mournfully that Gov. Dolph Briscoe has refused, for the second time in two years, to meet her in open debate.

"I have just been in touch with my office in Austin and have learned that the debate I had hoped for in about 10 days at the LBJ library in Austin is not to come about. I had looked forward to it and thought it would be beneficial to our process. It would be one step toward taking us away from all of the clutter."

BACKERS APPOINTED

Mrs. Farenthold then moved quickly into her full speech, restressing the claim she had made the previous day in her swing through West Texas when she issued a list of 183 persons whose contributions, or those of their spouses, totaled $247,942 to Briscoe's 1972 campaign and claimed that each person was appointed by the governor to a state board or commission.

MORE MINORITIES

She also accused the governor of failing to appoint enough blacks, Mexican-Americans or women to the state posts. When asked later, if she became governor, if she would appoint any Anglo men to any posts

DEATHS

Clyde Cantrell

Clyde Cantrell, 75, died at 6:50 a.m., today in a local hospital.

Services will be at 2 p.m., Thursday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel, with the Rev. Elra Phillips and the Rev. J. B. Sharp officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Mr. Cantrell was born Jan. 2, 1899, in Marietta, Okla. He moved to Howard County from Oklahoma in 1901 and attended Big Spring public schools. He served in the Army during World War I from June 6, 1917, to Aug. 21, 1919. He was a corporal in Co. A, 2nd Supply Train.

Following WW I, he resided in Florida and served in the U.S. Navy from July 13, 1942, until Jan. 29, 1945, as an aviation mechanic first class.

He married Olive Jean Parks Dec. 16, 1945, in Miami, Fla. They came to Big Spring in 1946. He was employed at Webb AFB as an auto mechanic until retiring April 15, 1963. He was a member of the Center Point Methodist Church.

Survivors include his wife, of the home; a daughter, Mrs. Catherine Jean Perry, Lubbock; a brother, Glenn Cantrell, Big Spring; a sister, Mrs. Melvin Choate, Big Spring; several nieces and nephews.

Palbearers will be Raymond Phillips, Carroll Choate, Parnell Garrett, Ed Lawson, Ben Nix, Marshall Sprull.

Drafters Lift Limit On Size Of Bank Holding Companies

AUSTIN (AP) — The General Provisions Committee has reversed itself on limiting the size of bank holding companies in a proposed constitution.

The committee also gave final approval to measures that would preserve public beaches and guarantee the right to privacy.

MORE BANKS

Under a proposal approved last month, holding companies would have been prohibited from acquiring more banks if they already had 8 per cent of the deposits in the entire state.

The limitation was removed Tuesday, 10-5, on a motion by Rep. Joe Sage, R-San Antonio, but not before Rep. John Wilson, D-La Grange, entered a spirited dissent.

"The bank holding companies are an obvious statute of Liberty play on the branch banking prohibition," Wilson said in urging constitutional regulation of the conglomerates.

Sage's amendment would leave it up to the legislature to regulate holding companies. Wilson said he doubted the legislature would do any more than the committee had done.

The growth of holding companies has been a dangerous phenomenon over the past three years, Wilson said. The banking industry is one of privilege, granted by the state, and it is protected from ruinous competition, he said.

CALL OUT TROOPS

Sage admitted there is some doubt about the legality of holding companies under present law.

Wilson said he no longer agrees with those who say Texas' 1876 constitution is outdated because it authorizes the governor to call out troops to suppress Indian uprisings. He cited the Indian uprising at Wounded Knee.

Cops Double Back In Investigation

On Sunday night, somebody stole $250 worth of parts out of a Volkswagen on the parking lot at the local dealer's. Police are investigating the theft.

On Monday night, either a new thief or the same thief stole two door panels at the same location. This is also under investigation.

Tom Yeats Named Prexy Of Forsan ISD Board

FORSAN — Tom Yeats was elected president of the Forsan school district board Tuesday night.

He succeeds Oliver (Bud) Nichols Jr., as president.

Secretary is William R. Banks Jr., vice president is Hamlin Elrod.

The school board also canvassed the school board election of April 6 and declared Elbert L. Strickland and Bill G. Mims the winners of three year terms.

All current teacher contracts were renewed for 1974-75. Superintendent H. D. Smith said.

Because of mobile homes and new conventional housing being located south of Big Spring, the Forsan board anticipates an

Briscoe Disputes Claim He Rewarded Donors With Jobs

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, running for a second term, jumped back into the Texas political scene Monday with both feet, denying he rewarded contributors with appointments and commissions.

His Democratic opponent, Frances Farenthold, said Briscoe appointed 183 persons or their spouses to state posts after they donated nearly $248,000 to his campaigns. She was on a West Texas tour.

Asked if there were any relationship between his appointments and campaign contributions, Briscoe said, "Absolutely not!"

TOP QUALITY

"I am very proud of those I have appointed," he said, "men and women of top quality."

Briscoe, during a busy Tuesday, said he will not comment at once about the possible reappointment of Frank Erwin Jr., the Austin bachelor, as a regent at the University of Texas.

"The governor told reporters he wants to wait awhile before giving his reactions in detail to the article on the executive branch that has been tentatively approved by the state's Constitutional Convention."

The Uvalde rancher-banker also said he agreed with a limit of two four-year terms on governors and approved of the governor's submission to the legislature of a plan to reorganize state agencies.

HORSE RACING

The governor refused to take a stand on the pari-mutuel betting-horse racing issue with the statement: "I am not going to involve the office of the governor in that issue."

Monday, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby endorsed pari-mutuel betting and horse racing while Mrs. Farenthold came out against the race horse gambling.

WEATHER FORECAST — Warm weather is forecast today for most of the nation. Showers are expected in the central and northern Rockies, southern Texas and southern Florida.

Real Estate People Think Old Home Repair Feasible

Jack Watkins, President of the Big Spring Rental Property Owner's Association, advocated the refurbishing of old, empty houses as he discussed Big Spring's housing shortage in a meeting called by the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday at the request of the association.

"There's a shortage of housing for personnel (from Webb Air Force Base), potential workers and such. If we're going to grow, we'll have to provide housing. It's a city problem. Every place in the country, there's a housing shortage, especially in three and four bedroom housing. As the base expands and our industrial complex grows, it'll become more acute. This new Malone-Hogan Hospital will bring in a lot of new people," Watkins said.

LARGE NUMBER

Watkins sees the 400-600 untenanted houses about the central and west part of town as a potential boon.

"We have to go back and reclaim these sound shells. We're blessed with an older town in the central area. Not overnight, but over a year or two, they could be turned to advantage," he added.

Col. Whitcomb Jones said the base had a need for housing, a need which would grow during the replacement of present base dormitories.

"We have a housing need, and we'll be glad to help. About 55 men are looking for two bedroom units now," he said.

"They're (the old houses) are eyesores. We can renovate them, make good houses of them and beautify the town," said Robert J. Cook.

"If we can renovate those houses, maybe we can avoid Washington coming down here to solve our (housing) problems for us. We should do it ourselves," said realtor Jeff Brown.

MORE ECONOMICAL

Watkins added new housing is expensive ($20 - $30 per square foot) and while the present shortage is not critical, renovated houses would prevent it from getting worse.

"With limited funds $6-$8 per square foot, we can make those houses usable and attractive. They can be priced where potential workers, etc, can afford to pay the payments — often less than their present rent," he said.

Plan To Sue Nine Steel Firms For Giant Refunds

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Texas attorney general's office plans to file an antitrust suit against nine major steel companies which could mean millions of dollars in construction refunds to the Dallas-Fort Worth regional airport, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported today. The newspaper gave these details: The suit will be filed Thursday in federal court at Houston and will charge violations of the Clayton and Sherman Antitrust acts. Asst. Atty. Gen. Joe Longley said in Austin Tuesday. He is assigned to the job of consumer protection. FIX PRICES It maintains the firms conspired to fix prices on "re-bar materials" or steel rods used to reinforce concrete structures, including roads, bridges, buildings and other structures. Such rods were used to build most of the giant airport.

The suit closely follows similar litigation already brought against the defendants in federal court by the government, including criminal charges on file in Houston. Those named in the suit are United States Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., Border Steel Rolling Mills, Inc., Ceco Corp., Laclede Steel Co., Schindler Brothers Steel, Structural Metals, Inc., Texas Steel Co. and Armo Steel Corp. It alleges state building contractors "are the ultimate victims affected by the conspiracies of defendants to fix prices, monopolize the market, restrain trade, reduce competition and . . . other violations of antitrust laws. . . ." "Said combination and conspiracy to monopolize consisted of a continuing agreement, understanding and concert of action among defendants, or some of them, and their co-conspirators to exclude or limit the competition of independent fabricators of re-bar materials in the state of Texas and contiguous areas," the suit states. Claiming the damages resulting from the alleged antitrust violations amount to "several million dollars," the suit leaves the figure to be set by the court. At one point, however, it claims the sum will be "at least tens of millions of dollars."

$20 MILLION During 1971, it claims, the Texas Highway Department used approximately 86,000 tons (88 per cent of all such steel the department used). The companies' steel re-bar sales of 175,000 tons that year, the suit states, amounted to more than $20 million. The alleged practices have been going on since mid-1969, according to the suit. During that period, Fort Worth city officials claimed Tuesday, much of the airport re-bar materials were bought. No one, however, can say now exactly how much it all cost. "We bought a potfull of steel out there," said City Atty. S. G. Johndroe, who may be asked for assistance in the suit because of the airport matter. NOT ABILENE Longley said every city in the state was notified about the pending action a month ago and asked if it would participate in the suit. He said San Angelo and Abilene were the

Says Special Nixon Lawyer Frustrated

DALLAS (AP) — Presidential counsel Fred Buzhardt's control over all tapes and documents involved in President Nixon's confrontation with the House Judiciary Committee is causing frustration among the legal staff of special defense counsel James St. Clair, a former St. Clair aide says. Cecil Emerson Jr., a 39-year-old lawyer who left St. Clair's staff two weeks ago to return to private practice here, said Tuesday that at the crux of Nixon's defense is who is in charge of it.

IN CHARGE "My observation is that Buzhardt is still in charge of some aspects—tapes and documents that the Judiciary Committee wants." "The political situation overrides the practical situation," Emerson said, referring to the battle between Nixon and the Judiciary Committee over certain tapes and documents. "Buzhardt is a political man while St. Clair is a professional of high integrity, but he is not political. He is putting his reputation on the line," Emerson added.

Asked about Emerson's statements, White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said, "Buzhardt is a professional man who represents White House staffs questioned by the Senate Watergate Committee, refused to say how much control Buzhardt exercises over the actual defense proceedings. "What I am saying is that Buzhardt has custody and control of the tapes and White House documents in the Watergate matter," Emerson said. He declined to say whether St. Clair had access to all documents and tapes in Buzhardt's custody. Emerson described Buzhardt as a Nixon loyalist, a GOP worker with little trial experience who was involved in the Watergate controversy charge in January.

CONSIDER SOURCE Commenting on Emerson's remarks, Ziegler said, "You just have to consider the source." A member of St. Clair's Watergate staff in Washington said he did not want to comment on Emerson's remarks. Emerson, a former assistant U.S. attorney before he went to Washington, said he represented the White House in the FBI investigation of the erasure of 18½ minutes of a tape requested by the Judiciary Committee. He declined to comment on the investigation itself. HIS OPINION The Dallas-born lawyer said in his opinion, from evidence he saw while working under St. Clair, President Nixon was not aware of the wrongdoings or the Watergate coverup. "I would say he was unaware of the things going on around him. People around him were doing him a disservice. Hiring them was negligence, but not a crime," Emerson said.

Peavy Speaker At Fair Barn

There will be a pecan and fruit budding and grafting clinic at the Howard County Fair Barn, at 8:00 p.m. Thursday. All persons who are interested are invited to attend. Instructor for the clinic will be Dr. Bill Peavy, Area Horticulturist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Fort Stockton. Also, to be presented will be a short program on drip irrigation in small gardens. The program will consist of instruction and budding and grafting by the participants.

Housing Agent Is Indicted

DALLAS AP — A federal grand jury here has handed down a indictment against a former government official, a real estate dealer and three Dallas insurance salesmen. A 35-count indictment charged William C. Barnard, a real estate man, with accepting kickbacks and filing false income tax returns.

The indictment against Barnard claims he was taking kickbacks from contractors to whom he had awarded contracts to repair homes repossessed by HUD. The indictment also claims he underreported his income in 1970 and 1971.

Teen-age Trials Open Thursday

Tryouts in Teen-Age baseball get under way in the Johnny Stone Memorial sports complex Thursday and will continue through Friday and Saturday. Hours for Thursday and Friday are 5 to 7 p.m., for Saturday 1 to 3 p.m.

Thirteen-year-olds new to the Sophomore League have a special invitation, as do those boys who haven't been active in baseball on any level before. Fifteen-year-olds, of course, will play in the Hi-Junior League.

Boys who played in the Teen-Age leagues last year but who have not yet signed to play Tennis Classic.

again need to be registered, too.

Present plans call for the leagues to begin regular play around May 22.

Luckless Steers Defeated, 7-6

By JACK COWAN
Luck ran out on the Big Spring Steers in the last inning Tuesday at Steer Park, and the charging Midland Bulldogs rallied for a 7-6 Dist. 5-AAA triumph.

The Bulldogs, down by three runs going into the last inning, cut the gap to 6-5 and then, with the bases loaded, used a pair of run-scoring squeeze bunts for the victory. It kept the 'Dogs at the top of the second half chase with a 2-0 mark and also avenged an earlier upsetting 5-0 loss to the Steers, who slipped to 0-2 and 4-17. Midland is 9-10 on the year.

It was a disappointing defeat for Coach Larry Horton's Steers, who have won just once at home this year and appeared to be in control until John Morelion's two base throwing error gave the 'Dogs a pair of runs in the seventh.

Jeff Cole has been the top Midland hurler this year, but he lasted just one-third inning as the fired-up Longhorns jumped on him for four runs in the first inning with run-scoring doubles by Earl Reynolds and Albert Alvarez leading the way. Terrill Littlejohn came in with just one man out and went the rest of the way for the victory, his third in four tries.

EFFECTIVE
Billy Don Whittington was effective for the Steers for three innings, allowing just two hits, but the visitors got to him for nine hits in the final four frames. Whittington is 0-3. Reynolds had been scheduled to start, but with regular catcher Dick Battle out because of a leg injury Reynolds played behind the plate and limited the 'Dogs to one stolen base.

Brandon Battles went four-for-four to spark the Midlanders at the plate, while Littlejohn had a pair of hits. For the Steers, John Morelion had a solo home run and Barry Canning stroked two safeties, including a double.

Reynolds doubled home Sammy Rodriguez for the Steers' first run, and then Canning came home on a wild pitch by Cole. Morelion walked and as he stole second Reynolds came home, and with one out Alvarez doubled in Morelion.

BAD HOP
Terry Copeland had a bad hop single to lead off the fourth inning, and later scored after Alvarez mishandled Karl Brosig's single to left field. Brosig cut the bulge to 4-2 when he came home on Cole's double.

Morelion slammed a two-out homer over the left field wall in the bottom of the fourth, but Midland pulled back to within two in the fifth. The 'Horns considered themselves lucky at that, however, since Midland loaded the bases with no outs, and could only manage a run on a ground out single by Littlejohn.

Big Spring got the edge back to 6-3 as Rodriguez took advantage of a pair of Midland errors to cross the plate.

In the seventh, Battles and Copeland started things off with singles and when Littlejohn beat out a scratch hit, third baseman Morelion threw the ball over Ray Don Bix's head at first, allowing Battles and Copeland to score.

After Alan Buonasera struck out, Brosig's squeeze bunt scored Littlejohn from third as Whittington erred on his throw to the plate.

Helm and Cole walked to load the bases again, and then Clelan Pearce worked the sacrifice bunt again against reliever John Thomas Smith, who also blew the throw to the plate.

Westside Center Choir Awaits Spring Concert

Thirty youngsters who love to sing will present the third annual Spring concert of the Westside Center choir next week.

The program is set for Tuesday 8 p.m. in the Howard College auditorium, and it is free to the public.

"It's the kind of program the entire family can enjoy," said Mrs. Joseph Dawes, director. "We think most people will be delightfully surprised to find that this isn't just a bunch of kids vocalizing but a fine little choir that makes pleasing music."

The children in the choir are ages 9-13 (fourth through sixth grades) who take time out each Thursday afternoon to practice. Sometimes the number rises substantially, but 30 is more nearly the regular number.

Indicative of the self-discipline of these youngsters is the percentage of veterans. One girl has been in since the choir started four years ago; 10 have been in for three years; 10 others for two years.

The first portion of the concert will be folk songs around the world, and then in the second portion the program will center on songs from "Sesame Street." Soloists will be Johnny Abreo, Debra Abreo, Rachael Barragan and Russell Kinman. In the final number, there will be a touch of choreography under direction of Mrs. Carlisle Robison. Accompanists are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parham.

If you plan a crossruff as a means of making tricks, there is one essential precaution you must take—you must cash all your side-suit winners before embarking on the crossruff. If you don't, one of your opponents may discard losers in a side suit while you are ruffing, and later ruff one of your winners.

Despite East's entry into the auction, North-South bid smoothly to their best spot. South needed no more than a show of interest from his partner to jump to four spades.

From West's point of view, it was obvious from the auction and his holding in clubs that North was likely to be short in that suit so, instead of leading his singleton heart, he started a trump in an attempt to limit dummy's ruffing power. Dummy's eight won the first trick, and declarer set about scoring his trumps separately. He led a club to the ace and ruffed a club. The ace of diamonds was cashed and declarer returned to his hand with a diamond ruff. Unfortunately, West also held a singleton diamond, and while he could not overruff he took utmost advantage of the opportunity afforded him by discarding his singleton heart. Now there was no way for declarer to score a tenth trick, for West would be able to ruff the ace of hearts.

A little foresight would have insured the contract. After the eight of spades won the first trick, declarer was left with nothing but high trumps in his hand and dummy. Each of the six trumps could be scored separately by ruffing and with one trick in already, that would bring declarer's total to seven. Add to this the three aces in the side units, and the total is up to ten. Before doing anything else, declarer should have cashed all three aces. Now he can go ahead and ruff clubs in dummy and diamonds in his hand without a care in the world, and the contract is secure.

TNA Looks At Union Possibility

The use of collective bargaining by nurses was one of the main topics discussed during the 1974 state convention of the Texas Nurses Association, according to a report by Ms. Betty Condray at a recent meeting of District 24 in the home of Ms. Rosemary Mathews, 2405 Cindy. Ms. Moyle Butler, who also attended the convention, presided at the local meeting.

The delegates quoted Ms. Dorothy Pettigrew, TNA president, as saying, "The TNA intends to use collective bargaining in its broadest sense to establish nursing's ability to influence standards of services in health care facilities." Ms. Pettigrew expressed concern over a memo issued by O. Ray Hurst, Texas Hospital Association president, to hospital administrators, prior to the convention, urging them to consider carefully the advantages or disadvantages of allowing their nurses to attend the state convention because of the union issue.

Ms. Pettigrew said that TNA desires not only to improve nurses' wage and fringe benefits, but to give nurses a voice in policy making. One of the convention speakers, Dr. Loretta Ford, said the quality of nursing was a far greater concern than the nursing shortage.

Workshop For Troop Camping

A workshop on troop camping is being offered today through Friday to Girl Scout leaders at First United Methodist Church. The session will orient leaders to outdoor health and safety standards, good outdoor manners, badge work available and the exploration into specific skills that go into a good camping experience.

The workshop is being held throughout the Council in different locations. It will bring together all leaders April 25 at Camp Boothe Oaks in Sweetwater to develop a fun day in the outdoors using the skills and knowledge gained from the local training sessions. Any adult interested in the workshop may call the Girl Scout office, 263-1364.

Gifts For Guy

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: For years I have contributed to office collections for coworkers on the occasion of their engagements, marriages, anniversaries, births, deaths in the family, new homes, etc.

My wife and I separated a year ago, and I've been rooming with another man since then. Now I'm getting my own apartment, and I need all the things a couple needs to set up housekeeping — sheets, towels, dishes, appliances, etc. (My wife took everything when we split up.) Since I can't afford to buy all these things at once, I have proposed a "divorce" shower at work. It might even be appropriate for the gifts to be used items, since it's a second start for me.

The general reaction in the office was favorable, but some were on the fence. We agreed to abide by your advice as to whether this idea was too outrageous or actually a sensible way to help me out with a problem.

POTLESS DEAR POTLESS: The idea makes a lot of sense to me. But you shouldn't "propose" the shower yourself, anymore than a bride should "propose" her own shower. (P.S. Yours is not actually a "divorce shower," it's a miscellaneous shower for a man who's setting up housekeeping and doesn't have a pot.)

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating Henry for six months. He says he does not have a telephone at home. I do not have the night or day jobs where he works. He says they allow only emergency calls, so he does all the calling.

One day I asked him where he lived and he said: "I can't give you the address because I'm moving right now." When I asked him where to send his Christmas card, he said: "Just hand it to me."

I have never been introduced to any of his friends, and he says he doesn't have any family. Once I came right out and asked him if he was married, and he said no. He is always telling me I ask too many questions. I have a feeling he is not being honest with me. There are things I would like to know about him because I am falling in love with him. Way do you think he's so secretive?

IN THE DARK DEAR IN: It's just a wild guess, but I'd say he's either married or living with someone. Unless he's willing to let you know where he lives and where he works, you'd be wise to forget him and look for a man who's not afraid to answer a few simple questions.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Luncheon Held In Porter Home

Mrs. Skeets Porter hosted a ranch-style luncheon Tuesday in her home for the Big Spring-Howard County Retired Teachers Association. Cohostesses were Mrs. Claire Conger and Mrs. Rozelle Dehoney. Business was conducted by Mrs. Fay Newman, president. Mrs. Frances Stockton was introduced as a new member, and Skeets Porter was a guest. The next meeting will be May 21 in the Downtown Tea Room.

The next meeting will be April 28 at First Federal Community Room with Mrs. Harwood Keith as hostess.

International Affairs Viewed By Forum

A two-part program, focusing on the prisoner of war returnees and international affairs, was given for the Modern Woman's Forum at a Friday luncheon meeting at Coker's.

Mrs. Fred Whitaker, speaking on international affairs, said "Uncle Sam is a good Samaritan." She then detailed U.S.-Foreign loan and aid figures from July 1, 1917 to June 30, 1970. This included the WWI loans, WWII Lend Lease aid and post war aid, amounting to many billions of dollars. Mrs. Whitaker then discussed outstanding indebtedness of foreign countries to the United States as of June 1, 1971. Numerous countries still owe the United States for contingency funds, supporting assistance, development loans, technical and agricultural aid and flood and typhoon aid.

"We have helped Japan since World War II until we have made it a formidable international competitor," she concluded.

The second speaker, Mrs. T. G. Adams, viewed the POW returnees.

"It has been said that only a free man can appreciate his freedom because people in slavery don't know what freedom is," she said, "but that's not quite true. 'The man who

Doctor develops Home Treatment to

in 15 minutes

Look! See them come off on your cleansing tissue — and without squeezing or digging!

See Blackheads "Wipe Off"

After a Single Queen Helene Skin and Beauty Treatment

INA LEE, Beauty Consultant

A leading New York dermatologist has developed a simple medicated home treatment that rinses away blackheads and whiteheads in a matter of minutes.

I saw it demonstrated recently on five women and two teenage boys. The results were almost breathtaking. Blackheads really rinsed away. In fact, many could be seen on the cleansing tissues that finished each treatment.

But this wasn't all! In the case of two older women, I saw enlarged pores reduced, and rough, muddy complexion made clearer, clearer and smoother looking. In the case of teen-agers, I saw acne pimples improve after one application... After seeing these results, I can well understand why so many beauticians are now acclaiming this doctor's treatment as one of the most important beauty discoveries.

Floats Dirt Off Face
The treatment starts with a thorough skin cleansing. A special laboratory-developed whipped cleansing cream is used that takes off not only surface dirt, but also softens and loosens pore-caked grime with its emollient action. It liquefies as soon as it is applied and literally floats the dirt right off your face.

After this is tissue off, a delightful mint-scented cream is applied. Within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent called Argilla dries and turns this specially medicated cream into a plastic-like masque. As it firms and hardens, its suction action draws on waste matter in the pores... In 8 or 10 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with luke-warm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see blackheads and other pore "filler" actually come off on your tissue. And your skin feels clean — really clean — and refreshed and smooth, like velvet!

Pore Sponging & Closing
The third step in the treatment is an exhilarating application of a unique anti-septic astringent — a facial "mint julep" that sponges and tightens emptied pores and leaves a protective invisible film that helps guard your skin against dirt, dirt and bacteria for hours and hours.

Nothing Else Like It
Even after a single treatment, women who have been troubled by blackheads for years see a marked improvement. Many find it hard to believe their eyes. Some blackheads and whiteheads just rinse away. Others are softened and made ready to be drawn out by future treatments. Enlarged pores appear to be smaller. The skin looks smoother and firmer — feels fresher and more alive!

In short, after a single treatment taking only 15 minutes, you can expect to see results that normally you would not dare hope for even after many weeks... but don't expect everything at once. Damage done by years of neglect can't be undone in a day. Yet with 3 or 4 treatments a week, you may confidently look forward to startling complexion improvements within 30 days. Then one treatment a week — or every second week — will probably be all your skin will need to keep it clear, lovely and healthy looking.

The medically developed products used in this treatment are manufactured and quality-controlled by QUEEN HELENE. They are Queen Helene Whipped Cleansing Cream, Queen Helene Medicated Masque and Queen Helene Penetrating Astringent. The three items are sold as complete skin and beauty kit for 5.00. Quite a bargain when you think of what it will do for a person's good looks — and self esteem!

Hired By Taxpayers

In his news letter, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen notes that "When George Washington took office, he insisted that 'Mr.' was a sufficient title for any American, including the President of the United States."

And from this springboard, he launched a thesis that it is time to re-examine the role of the President in our system. His conclusion boils down to the proposition that the President is someone who happens to be serving as head of the executive branch at a given time, and that we are expected to respect (although not always agree with) his concept and conduct of office.

He goes on to point out that since the early days of our history (when Jefferson had to walk to his own inaugural and then was obliged to sit at the cold end of the dinner table because other seats were taken), the presidency has gradually become more remote, more exalted, more powerful, and as this senator adds, "more distrusted and feared, both at home and abroad."

Not so many months ago, Fortune magazine had a piece entitled "The Imperial Presidency," in which was detailed the astronomical costs, the expanding regality, the progressive authoritarianism, and the splendid isolation or insulation of the President.

Certainly, every American wants the President to be maintained in comfortable and dignified surroundings, but it was never intended that he be immersed in a sea of functionaries whose reason for existence is to shield the president, not just from idiots who would do him physical harm, but more from those who would keep him from unpleasant distractions and humbling truths. Sarah McClendon, veteran news correspondent noted for her penetrating and sometimes grating questions, put it well the other evening. Noting the individuals once quite human and accessible when in Congress suddenly become remote and almost regal when they assume the role of President, she observed: "That doesn't make them gods; they still work for the taxpayers."

A Fine Achievement

Hats off to Gleen Margolis, who won the regional Spelling Bee at Lubbock Saturday. We think it is just as proper to be steamed up over this achievement, maybe more so, than some feat on the gridiron, basketball court or track. Glenn is every bit as much a perfectionist, and he will make a splendid representative in the national finals in Washington D.C. this summer. In winning at Lubbock, he not only duplicated that regional title won by his sister, Maridene, but he also ran the number of regional victories by Big Spring spellers to three. That makes us proud and it ought to say to any youngster here, "you can do it too."

All Stirred Up

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The most ominous aspect of the historic events that sent a congressional subpoena to the White House last week was the surprise genuinely felt by President Nixon and his lieutenants over Republican outrage within the House Judiciary Committee.

WHAT MAKES it ominous is that Nixon lawyer James St. Clair's insulating letter was dispatched to the committee despite warnings from the most important Republicans on Capitol Hill — a clear signal which the White House failed to understand. All evidence indicates the White House was not trying to provoke a subpoena and certainly wanted no open break with its Republican allies. Thus, nearing the climax of his presidential crisis, Mr. Nixon is lethally miscalculating the mood of congressional Republicans.

THE NIXON-ST. CLAIR strategy, aimed at denying the Judiciary Committee key evidence it demands while retaining Republican support, collapsed disastrously because of that miscalculation. Not only did nearly all Republican committee members vote for the subpoena but serious new doubts were planted with congressional Republicans serving as the President's jurors.

IN THAT SENSE, Mr. Nixon is paying dearly for keeping key White House tape recordings from Congress. House members suspect more than ever that he has much to hide. "I really haven't gotten into the details of Watergate," says one senior Republican Congressman, never publicly critical of Mr. Nixon, "but the President is whittling away at the presumption of his innocence."

THE WHITE HOUSE desire to prevent such conclusions is obvious from activities of newly arrived presidential counselor Dean Burch, now Mr. Nixon's chief Watergate emissary to the Republicans, on April 9 — the deadline set by the House Judiciary Committee for a White House reply to its demands for evidence. Burch worked hard that day to secure Mr. Nixon's Republican flank in advance of his refusal to supply all the evidence requested.

EARLY THAT afternoon, Burch telephoned Rep. John Rhodes of Arizona, House minority leader; in Phoenix and read him a draft of St. Clair's letter. Rhodes had no time for a long discussion but thought he made this clear: the letter as written would cause trouble. So, Rhodes suggested, why not propose that St. Clair and John Doar, the committee's impeachment counsel, determine jointly the relevance of material requested by Doar?

But a few hours later when Burch went to Capitol Hill to meet Senate Republican leaders (at his request), he carried with him essentially the same draft letter he had read to Rhodes. Certainly it did not incorporate Rhodes's conciliatory suggestion.

NOT SURPRISINGLY, the Senate Republican leaders liked it not at all, and Burch hurried back downtown to the White House to report their complaints. A new draft was then read over the telephone to the Senate leaders. General verdict: better but not good enough. So staunch a Nixonite as Sen. John Tower of Texas felt the White House had ignored "our input." Nevertheless, that second draft was the one sent the committee anyway. Stunned at the outcome the White House was furious, not at itself, but Congress. Now the President congressional support is less than ever.

"I think I've found brother Bull."

What About Prices?

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Where the economy goes from here is becoming the subject of plain guesswork among some otherwise fearless forecasters of short-term trends whose brainpower is relied upon heavily in financial circles.

Many seem to agree that it might be an eventful summer in terms of prices and interest rates and wages and shortages, but conviction seems absent on whether things are going up or coming down.

Several analysts have sagely observed that while interest rates have been rising the trend has been down. That suggests to suggest that recent increases have been mere jiggles in a downward slanting line.

and everyone better realize it. But others, some admittedly of the school that perennially believes "things can't get any worse," feel that the peak of inflation has been reached. Food prices have climbed 60 per cent in a decade.

You can take your pick of opinions about what is likely to happen when wage-price controls expire April 30, with forecasts seeming to be equally divided between a moderation and an increase in the inflation rate.

Unable to find a consensus regarding prices, or on their prospects for wage parity, consumers are taking matters into their own hands and are planting their own vegetable gardens.

The Timetable

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — The uproar over whether President Nixon will or will not respond to the subpoenas calling for taped conversations on Watergate is a ripple compared to the tumult still to come. The naive belief in the White House is that the limits of the impeachment inquiry can be drawn around Watergate. The President and his chief counsel, James St. Clair, are due for a rude awakening.

ALREADY IN preparation within the House Judiciary committee are requests for documents and tapes covering the ITT affair, the milk fund, the President's taxes, campaign financing and other aspects of his troubled presidency. If these requests are not honored, subpoenas will undoubtedly follow.

This accords with Chairman Peter Rodino's conviction that the "whole man" must be considered in the proceeding before his committee. It cannot be simply the Watergate break-in and the cover-up. The scope of the other charges is in many respects far greater than what Administration propagandists sought at the outset to downgrade as a "caper."

ALTHOUGH CONGRESS is in recess Rodino and the committee staff are working hard through this week to try to move the inquiry ahead as rapidly as possible. Yet for all their efforts the timetable stretches into the summer. The calendar looks at the moment like this:

As announced, the presentation of evidence is to begin on May 7. This will take at least six weeks. Then some time after mid-June the knotty attempt to write a committee report with recommendations will begin. As committee insiders see it, this can be done in two weeks, although that is probably optimistic.

THAT COMES UP to the July 4 recess which, like the Easter recess, would in the normal course of events be for 10 days. But already consideration is being given to an appeal to the leadership of the House to call off or foreshorten that vacation. The objective is to get an impeachment resolution before the House so that debate can begin without the interruption of the July 4 interval.

That debate will take at least two weeks and probably longer. That puts an impeachment resolution — many consider it not a likelihood but a certainty — before the Senate on or about August 1.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS have said it would take two weeks to prepare for the trial by the Senate which probably cuts it thin. So the trial goes on in September and October when under normal circumstances the congressional campaign would be at its height.

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When a person's blood sugar is normal, does he or she have to continue with insulin?

Is it ever possible for him ever to quit taking insulin? My diabetes started in later years, and I have been doing very well. My insulin intake is only 20 units of U-40 Lente. — Mrs. G. P.

Let's start by pointing out that too much blood sugar was what proved that you had diabetes in the first place. Having the level normal now is because you are taking the insulin and, obviously, eating in such a way that you do not get and do not produce more sugar than the insulin can enable you to use up. (Good for you!)

food intake, your sugar level would start to rise, and that is exactly what has to be avoided.

It is possible in some cases, although not the usual practice, for a person to stop insulin and substitute one of the oral diabetes pills which reduce sugar level. This is not successfully done in any great number of cases. Just some.

In any event, ordinarily the oral medications are tried first to see if they will suffice unless, in the physician's judgment the case demands insulin from the outset.

But in any event, why upset the apple cart when you are doing so well the way things are? The ultimate aim in treating diabetes, in keeping it under control, is to keep the blood sugar level normal and avoid complications.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: A friend seems to have some peculiar ideas about "the pill," that it makes women sterile, that it makes them unsexed, that it may cause deformed babies, and that it is generally bad for a person. Is this true? I have been on the pill for over a year and was not told of any serious side effects — P.C.

The Key Question

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

"Economic Optimization and Simulation Techniques for Management of Regional Water Resource Systems" is the title of Report 179 of the Texas Water Development Board.

I THINK this means that TWDB has come up with a computer program to tell us how to realize the most in agricultural yields for dollars invested in irrigation systems. At any rate, it could be a significant device for computing more accurately the possibilities for importing water into West Texas.

The U.S. Bureau of Reclamation and Corps of Engineers took a look at this region's portion of the Texas Water Plan and concluded that the scheme of series of stair-stepped canals to bring water from the Mississippi wasn't economically feasible, even assuming ability to tap that supply. That was, realistically, a punch in the solar plexus.

HOWEVER, things have changed dramatically since the report was made. Prices of and demands for agricultural products have jumped dramatically. It's not likely they will come down anytime soon. This may change the picture, and so, the TWDB's report might come in handy. It lays out the techniques for simulating several years of farming operations under all possible conditions of water availability, plus amounts of soil moisture at different times, types and maturity of crops, times and amounts of rainfall, farming trends, produce prices, etc.

THE NEXT step becomes one of deciding the engineering aspects of an irrigation or importation program so that the system will be large enough to deliver the right amounts of water to users at the lowest cost. If the system is built to meet all needs in the driest years, the construction costs will soar out of reason, and in wetter years water will be unneeded or waste, the TWDB points out.

WHAT THIS report doesn't do is to answer two other sticky facets of the over-all problem, namely where to find extra or surplus water, and 2) how to gain title to it. Then the TWDB's techniques might help tell us what kind of a system to build and what it would cost and what it would be expected to return in benefits, now only from sale of agricultural products, but from municipal and industrial development. It might even take into account the alternatives to having a decreasing water supply in a developing area that doesn't have enough to start with.

THESE ARE some things which the Governor's Water Task Force may illuminate in general terms, although the specifics will be much longer in coming.

However, I have the feeling that the sooner we get to the point of West Texas, "Please sit down, brace yourself; this is what's going to cost you," the better position we will be in to make a sensible decision. There's a lot of difference between dreaming about a fine car or home than in paying for either, but sometimes they are, in the long run, the best investment.

Green Thumb Craze

Robert E. Ford

Been hearing wails of anguish lately from several quarters.

THESE SHRILL complaints come mainly from city folk who are finding that the cost of farming is going up.

Seems that all of a sudden they've acquired a passionate desire to plant little things in the ground.

They have an urge to watch seed burst into plants. Then they hope to fight off the bugs, water and feed the sprouts and finally harvest a vegetable or two.

What they are irate about is that they can't run down to the store and buy a package of garden seed for a nickel like they did in grandpa's day.

Price of seed has gone out of sight, they scream.

Drove to Nicholson's-Hardie's Seed Store in an affluent part of town and barely found a place to park among the Cadillacs which women were stuffing with all sorts of garden stuff.

THE MANAGER, W. G. Dasch, said, yes, garden seed have gone up. They're two or three times what they were a year ago and sometimes you can't find just what you want.

"Right now we need yellow squash — we never sold out before — and white squash, too," Dasch said bean seed are in short supply, particularly Pinto.

"I don't know where they're going," he said happily. "Perhaps people feel like they have to be self supporting like in World War II. But they're not as alarmed."

SOURCES ACROSS the state say the surge of vegetable growing has become a mania.

"More and more home gardeners are doing their thing out in their back yards or just wherever they can find space," says Sam Cotner of College Station, vegetable specialist of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Cotner is especially pleased about what he calls the mini-garden.

This means that there is a great run on tin cans and lard buckets and things like that in which to plant seed.

Cotner says any vegetable which will do well in a garden will grow like mad in cans on a window sill, patio, balcony or doorstep.

Gene Graves, Tarrant County extension agent, says, "I get at least 25 calls a day from people wanting to know how to get rid of Bermuda grass in order to plant vegetables."

How do you get rid of Bermuda? Graves says the only way is to dig it out spig by spig.

UEL STOCKARD, district extension agent stationed at Renner, says he believes there is more vegetable planting this year than in the victory gardens of World War II.

"Why in my housing addition, Stockard said, "they are planting onions and radishes in flower beds. Then there are the mini-gardens."

There is no way to pinpoint the increase in plantings this year, Stockard said, "but I would guess it is 10 times over last year."

Stockard said he was visiting his father and picked up a package of radish seed marked 39 cents. "Why it didn't have more than 50 seeds in it," he said.

Stockard says that for each $1 invested in gardening a family will get a return of $2 to $3 in vegetables. Cotner says a family can save $200 to $300 a year.

HE SAYS two or three tomato vines will produce all the tomatoes most families need.

Percy Henderson, who works for Nicholson's-Hardie's, said he has seven okra plants and already has enough for his own use and for some of the neighbors.

"Still money isn't the whole reason. People want to grow things," said Stockard, "and being able to turn on a faucet in time of drought make it happier, too."

Evidently, that has happened to you. Secondly, if your request for forgiveness was accompanied by a step of faith in Christ, that prayer was heard and immediately answered. Forgiveness, you see, is only one side of the coin of conversion. We speak of salvation's formula as both repentance and faith.

Thirdly, any changes for the better in your life are definitely the work of the Lord. Oh, I know the devil can imitate God sometimes, and Scripture says he is occasionally an angel of light. (2 Corinthians 11:14) But whatever is of lasting good is of God.

It seems to me you're on the way. God bless you.
