BIGGEST GAMBLE OF HIS PRESIDENCY

Nixon's Six Words Roll The Dice

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I want it out. Get going." With those six words, Richard M. Nixon relayed to his aides his decision to publicly release edited transcripts of dozens of his private Watergate conversations.

See Story, Page 3-A

He was rolling the dice in one of the biggest gambles of his presidency and he was launching what could become one of the biggest public relations campaigns in American political history. Unlike most gamblers, Nixon may have to wait months to learn whether he won or lost.

But his order, recalled Tuesday by an aide, set in motion an almost frantic effort to, as Nixon would later tell the nation, "provide all the additional evidence needed to get Watergate behind us."

According to sources inside and outside the White House, Nixon's six words:

—Caused dozens of government employees from presidential aides to journeyman printers to work non-stop for almost two days on the mechanics of producing for public consumption the 1,308 pages of edited transcripts:

—Sent two middle-level White House aides hurrying through the capital's deserted streets after midnight to a soot-stained red-brick government building carrying the then-secret transcripts;

BACK TO DUTY

—Brought a long-time Nixon associate, Herb Klein, back to temporary duty at the White House as an unofficial media consultant;

—Prompted the President's men to devise a carefully choreographed set of moves designed to emphasize the massive nature of Nixon's disclosure.

Nixon aides say he decided during the weekend to respond to a House Judiciary Committee subpoena by supplying to the panel's impeachment inquiry, and then making public, edited transcripts of some of his Watergate conversations.

That resulted in his Monday night address to the nation, the Tuesday morning delivery of the transcripts to Capitol Hill and the subsequent release of a blue-bound book almost as thick as the Manhattan telephone book.

DEADLINE

At 2:45 a.m. Monday, type-written copies of the transcripts were handed to a pair of White House aides with orders to deliver them to the Government Printing Office's main plant—the printing office's deadline if it was to reproduce the transcripts for distribution to the news media Tuesday afternoon.

Herb Klein, who left as White House communications director last year for a job as a television executive, was given a temporary office and spent hours offering suggestions to presidential aides and telephoning friends in the media across the country.

Other presidential aides decided upon props for Nixon's television appearance—twin stacks of notebooks containing the transcripts, which were displayed at the President's side as he spoke.

IMPRESSIVE

The television audience saw an impressive bulk of 50 three-ring binders emblazoned with the presidential seal, each with an average of about 25 type-written transcript pages.

But when the material was prepared for distribution to the news media, it was a single 8-by-10-inch book, 2½ inches thick.

Each of the 38 members of the Judiciary Committee received a brown manila folder, about four inches thick. These contained copies of the edited transcripts—and were delivered in a way intended to emphasize again the volume.

JAIL SUSPECT Quadruple Murder Uncovered

DALLAS (AP) — A crippled ex-convict was charged today with two counts of murder after police found the nude body of a blonde Dallas vice queen and three other persons, two of them Ft. Hood soldiers, floating in Lake Ray Hubbard.

$200,000 BOND

David Kern, 29, was held under $200,000 bond. Dead are Betty Louise Cannon, 37; her son, James B. Cannon, 20; James J. Walker, 21; and Michele Renee Walker, 19.

The bodies, all pumped with .38-caliber slugs, were spotted at various parts of the lake Tuesday evening.

Walker and Cannon were stationed at Ft. Hood, near Killeen, and were in Dallas on weekend passes.

Cannon was assigned to Co. A, 1st Battalion, 13th Armored Brigade while Walker was assigned to the 15th A. G. Replacement Co. at Ft. Hood.

SHAPELY WOMAN

Walker's body was found first, floating near an Interstate 30 bridge spanning a part of the lake.

Mrs. Cannon's body, clad only in a braziere, was found next. Police Lt. Charles Burnley said the shapely woman "was well known to everybody in vice and intelligence."

Police said the slayings followed an argument that erupted during a pill party at the apartment Mrs. Cannon shared with Kern.

SOUNDED FAR FETCHED

Dallas police related these events: Detectives Tom Sewell and Robert Belzung were tipped Monday night by a relative of Mrs. Cannon that the four persons had been shot to death at a Northeast Dallas apartment Friday night.

Sewell and Belzung said the report sounded far-fetched but they investigated and found substance to the report.

The officers went to the apartment Tuesday morning and arrested a man after finding blood trails in the apartment.

At mid-afternoon Tuesday a fisherman at Lake Ray Hubbard found Walker's body drifting in the lake. About an hour later, Mrs. Cannon's body was spotted caught on a submerged tree limb. Dragging operations began and Mrs. Cannon's son was located in the lake.

Interpreter In Perjury Trial Fired

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A woman interpreter in the perjury trial of Duval County Judge Archer Parr was fired today and a federal judge erased the testimony of a key prosecution witness.

U.S. District Court Judge D.W. Suttle dismissed the interpreter when it was learned her Spanish-English translation of the testimony of D.C. Chapa Tuesday was incorrect. Tuesday's testimony was ordered stricken from the record to permit a clean start.

Chapa, an 87-year-old rancher, testified again today but his testimony about Parr's receipt of water district fees varied little from his earlier statements.

Parr, 48, is accused by the government of lying about $121,500 in payments made to him by the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District between 1968 and 1970. He has described the payments as legal fees but Chapa, who was president of the water district board, said he did not know anything about such payments to Parr. He said, however, that others on the board could have had knowledge of such payments.

He testified about water district checks he had signed and responded to questions by defense lawyer James Gillespie about Parr's reputation.

In other testimony Tuesday:

Gillespie pressed Chapa about his direct testimony at not being aware of any legal services for the district by Parr after its organization.

WISE DECISION — Heavy rains sometimes create roaring rivers in Big Spring streets. Here Mrs. Sylvia Clanton weighs the hazards in trying to ford one of the streams, then turns around and comes back to the safety of the curb. She later took another route. Nobody was complaining about the inconvenience, especially Sylvia.

Zebra Killings Case Solved?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Six black men were arrested today in the Zebra street shootings in which 12 whites have been murdered and six others wounded in random attacks over a six-month period, police said.

Chief of Inspectors Charles Barca identified the men as J.C. Sion, 29; Larry Green, 22; Dwight Stallings, Thomas Manney, Manuel Moore and Edgar Burton, all of San Francisco.

He said Simon and Green were arrested first, in a 5 a.m. raid at an apartment. They were booked on charges of murder, conspiracy to commit murder and charges of assault with a deadly weapon, Barca said.

He gave no details on the other arrests, all made here, but said the other four men would be booked on conspiracy to commit murder.

Police said a kidnapping charge also was involved but did not explain.

Police did not indicate whether they anticipated further arrests in the case.

A police officer who said he was on one of the arrest squads said: "We broke down the door because they refused to open it. He was wide awake. He never had any chance to offer resistance."

The officer declined to give his name or say which of the six arrests he took part in.

Stanton Prisoners In Midland Jail

STANTON — Sheriff Dan Saunders reports that before the year is out, he may transfer as many as 400 prisoners to jail in Midland.

That is the average number of prisoners jailed in Martin County during a year and presently, all of them are being taken to Midland while the county jail is being torn down and rebuilt.

The jail is a wing of the courthouse that is being torn down with a new one to be constructed at the same location.

Keel Resigns Court Post For Move To Fort Worth

John C. Keel, a native of Big Spring who eight years ago became the youngest federal court reporter in the nation, has resigned that position in El Paso, effective May 31. When Keel first took the job, he was 20 years of age.

He is the son of Mrs. Charlene Keel of 800 Main St., Big Spring. Keel was appointed as U.S. District Court reporter for the Western District of Texas the day after Federal Judge Ernest Guinn was sworn in by Federal Judge W. D. Suttle to the El Paso federal bench in July, 1966.

Since then, Keel has recorded thousands of court proceedings. In June, Keel will take a belated honeymoon with his recent wife, the former Miss Nancy Abraham. He said he and his wife would tour through the Caribbean and take a short tour of Europe before settling in Fort Worth.

John then will join his father in Fort Worth and resume his court reporting career. John's father is Charles L. Keel, federal court reporter in the U.S. District Court of the Northern District of Texas.

During young Keel's eight years as federal court reporter in El Paso, Judge Guinn's court has gained the distinction of being the "bustiest and toughest" federal court in the country.

Young Keel said Judge Guinn had been like a father to him, adding "I will always carry with me his fatherly advice."

'Little Red Box' Puzzle

WASHINGTON (AP) — During his Sept. 15, 1972, conversation with aides H. R. Haldeman and John W. Dean III, President Nixon inquired about a mysterious "little red box."

"Have they found the box yet?" the President asked, according to his Watergate tapes transcripts.

Dean: "The Acting FBI Director L. Patrick Gray has never had access to the box. He is now going to pursue the box."

Haldeman: "The latest public story was that she handed it over to Edward Bennett Williams."

Dean: "That is right."

Haldeman: "The Bureau ought to go into Edward Bennett Williams and start questioning him and have him tied up for a couple of days."

Nixon: "Yeah, I hope they do. The Bureau better get over pretty quick and get that little red box. We want it cleared up. We want to get to the bottom of it. If anybody is guilty over here we want to know."

Haldeman: "It will probably be in the news."

SHOWERS

Showers ending today with a 30 per cent chance still. Sunny Thursday. High today, near 70. Low tonight, near 50. High Thursday, mid 80s. Westerly winds 5-15 m.p.h. through tonight.

JOHN C. KEEL

SIDEWALK MIRROR — When showers occur, little boys and girls are bound to pop out of houses to experience the thrill of playing in the rain. Little boys can be found wading in gutters. Little girls like the ones pictured here sometimes don rain coats and bring along umbrellas. Their images are reflected on the sidewalk in front of them.

DEATHS

Land Survey Authority Here Is Dead At 83

Ralph Welcome Baker, 83, who rode with Black Jack Pershing after Pancho Villa nearly 60 years ago and who interrupted a career to serve in two World Wars, died at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday of a heart attack. He died at the family home, 710 Lancaster, which had been his residence for 48 years.

RALPH W. BAKER

Mr. Baker was one of the most outstanding authorities on West Texas land surveys, and he had been unopposed for the office of Howard County surveyor for 34 years.

He is survived by his wife, the former Reba Orenbaum, to whom he was married June 10, 1924.

Services will be held 2 p.m. Thursday at the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with his pastor at First Presbyterian Church, the Rev. R. Earl Price, officiating, assisted by Dr. R. C. Lloyd, pastor emeritus. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Son of a Virginia couple, he was born April 28, 1891 in Clint (El Paso County), attended grade school there and then El Paso High two years and Ysleta High where he graduated in 1910. From 1912-14 he attended El Paso School of Mines (later Texas Mines and now University of Texas El Paso).

He joined the New Mexico National Guard in 1915, and on March 3, 1916, he was only six miles away when Pancho Villa, the legendary Mexican bandit-revolutionary, slipped across the border and raised Columbus, N.M. Gen. John J. Pershing pursued Villa into Mexico, and Ralph Baker was in the historic task force.

He hardly had been mustered out as a sergeant than he was called back with eruption of World War I in 1917 and was graduated from the first officers' training class at Leon Springs as a lieutenant in the 315th Engineers. In service in France and Germany, he was wounded and received both the Purple Heart and the Silver Star for gallantry and courage almost to the time of his death he could out-work and out-walk men half his age.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel for Clayton H. Bates, 66, who died at a local hospital at 11:05 a.m. Tuesday.

Burial will be in the I.O.O.F. section of Mt. Olive Cemetery with the Rev. Jim Wilkerson, pastor of Crestview Baptist Church, officiating.

Born Sept. 11, 1907 in Big Spring, he lived here most of his life, attending school here. He has farmed northeast of Big Spring and during the 30s homesteaded an Arkansas farm with his brother, Alvin. He served in the Air Force during WW II, returning to Big Spring to farm the home place, retiring in 1965. He was a member of the Crestview Baptist Church.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. Pearl Hague, Big Spring; Mrs. Beatrice Mittel, Odessa; and Mrs. Ida Evans, Costa Mesa, Calif. A number of nieces and nephews survive and nephews will serve as pallbearers.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Thursday at Trinity Baptist Church for E. A. Nance, 72, who died in a local hospital at 6:18 p.m. Tuesday.

The Rev. Claude Cravens, pastor of Trinity Baptist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park with Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home in charge.

Voter Registration Up, Is It Good Barometer?

If all Democratic absentee ballots mailed out are returned, the total absentee vote count in this primary will total 387, a preliminary count by the county clerk's office indicates.

Tuesday at 5 p.m. was the last time absentee votes could be cast in the county clerk's office in either the Democratic or Republican Primary. Mailed-out ballots will be counted if they are received before 1 p.m. Saturday, election day.

REGISTRATION UP
In 1970, the last year

Democratic nominations for local offices were contested in the primary, there were 13,174 registered voters in Howard County, Mrs. Zirah L. Bednar, county tax collector, said.

Now, the tax office counts 15,684 registered voters. Newly enfranchised 18-20-year-old voters and the permanency of voter registration now may explain the increase.

ABSENTEE HISTORY
Absentee vote totals this year will not be much higher than they were in 1970 or 1972 Democratic Primaries.

Voting absentee in the 1970 Democratic Primary were 349. This figure and election day voting totaled 5,899.

The last Democratic Primary was held in 1972. Although no local office nominations were contested, it was a Presidential election year. About the same number voted absentee for Democrats, 352 of 5,626 ballots cast altogether in the primary.

GOP STATS
Most local offices have been contested with the Democratic ticket in past years.

This year, two county judge candidates, Jerry Worthy and Glenn Stallings are opposing each other in the only contested local race for the Republican nomination.

Mrs. Margaret Ray, chief deputy county clerk, said eight Republicans voted absentee in the office this year. Mailed ballots yet to be returned could raise the total 13 in the absentee box.

In 1972, a stack of 23 absentee Republican was included with 284 ballots in the GOP Primary here. Looking at 1970, Mrs. Ray found .223 total Republican Primary votes, including 13 absentee ballots.

Here Saturday WWI Vets Meet

The Veterans of World War I, local Barracks 1474, and their Ladies Auxiliary will hold their regular monthly meeting Saturday at their new barracks location on 2805 Lynn in the former Kentwood Methodist Church building.

Special reports will be given on last Saturday's district convention in Lubbock at which the new district officers were named. All members of the barracks and auxiliary are requested to attend. A covered dish dinner will be served at noon, and the auxiliary's new officers will be elected.

Pre-Schoolers Enroll Friday

Friday is kindergarten enrollment day for public schools here, and a child must be five years old on or before Sept. 1, 1974 to be eligible.

Birth certificates and immunization records are also needed for children enrolling for first grade (children six years old by Sept. 1, 1974 who didn't attend any public preschool program), and kindergarten. Students enrolled in Head Start will be automatically re-enrolled in the program if they join kindergarten. Registration cards will be mailed to these children's parents.

Corbin Retiring Scout Position

After 29 years of service as a career man with the Boy Scouts of America, Carl C. Corbin is retiring from his position of program director and assistant scout executive of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America. A retirement recognition banquet is scheduled for him on Thursday, 7 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, 800 W. Texas in Midland. Reservations for the banquet may be made through the Scout Service Center, 111 North D, Midland, phone 563-2276.

A native of Zalma, M. Corbin was a school teacher and coach there before entering Professional Scouting in 1945. He came to the Permian Basin in 1957.

Logan Promoted At Klondike

KLONDIKE — James Logan, principal at Klondike High School, was recently named superintendent of that school district effective Aug. 31 when Lynn Alford retires.

Logan received his bachelor's and master's from North Texas State and has done graduate work at the University of Texas. He was a coach and math instructor at Uvalde and Ingleside, athletic director at Granger and assistant principal and principal in Vernon prior to moving to Klondike.

Alford served 39 years in the field of education, starting as a coach and principal at Plains and moving to the old Union School in Dawson County in 1938. In 1954, he joined the staff at Klondike.

DEATHS

Geoffrey Holman

Graveside services for Geoffrey Holman, 66, of Fort Stockton, were held at 10 a.m. Tuesday in Colorado City Cemetery under the direction of Kiker-Seale Funeral Home.

Holman died 12:30 a.m. Monday in the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital.

He was born Nov. 15, 1907 in Athens. He had lived in Fort Stockton for three years. He was a World War II veteran and married Joyce Campbell in San Angelo on Dec. 11, 1963.

SIX DIE, SIX INJURED Commuter Airliner 'Drops Like A Brick'

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A twin engine commercial airliner which crashed on takeoff here Tuesday killing six and injuring six, "dropped like a brick," one witness said.

Five died instantly. One passenger died about seven hours afterwards in John Sealy Hospital of extensive burns, a hospital spokesman said.

"It was up 400 feet and all of a sudden it just dropped like a brick," said Tom Tompkins, a witness who saw the crash and subsequent fire at Scholes Field here.

NO NOSE DOWN
"It looked like he just lost his power. It didn't even nose down. It just dropped," Tompkins said of the Metro Airlines commuter flight with 12 persons aboard.

The pilot, Charles Sweeney, 32, of Houston, was listed in critical condition early today with head injuries. The other passengers were listed in satisfactory condition.

The passenger who died of his burns was James E. Franklin, 47, of Paul's Valley, Okla.

Others killed in the crash were co-pilot Philip Hillman, 23, who lived in Houston but originally was from Houma, La., and passengers Charles Bonniwell, a Corpus Christi, Tex., lawyer and former city council member; N.A. Curlee of Grand Prairie, Tex.; Mrs. John Leddy Jones of Dallas and Tommy Charles Vinson of Fort Worth.

Enrollment Slips Slightly Here

School enrollment slipped a notch last week with the end of school only about four weeks away. Elementary totals of 3,390 are off only two, secondary enrollment was down by seven, making 1,765, and the hospital-homebound program down three to 161, a total of 6,362.

Candidate Holds Coffee At 2:00

Man Hospitalized Following Wreck

Homer Myrtle Haygood, Rt. 2, is hospitalized in the Veterans Administration Hospital with injuries sustained in a two vehicle wreck Tuesday at 4:19 p.m. on the north service road across from the Ramada Inn near IS 20.

Haygood is reported to be in satisfactory condition, suffering from sprains and abrasions.

The vehicle driven by Haygood was in a collision with a vehicle driven by Horace Elmer Tubbs, Garden City Route. It was raining at the time that the accident occurred.

Control Of Brush To Be Discussed

GAIL — Landowners interested in a brush control spraying demonstration are invited to a field day near here Monday.

A new chemical, Tordon 225, will be evaluated starting at 10 a.m. on the Frank Beaver Ranch, according to Mike P. Campbell, Lubbock, representative for Dow Chemical, makers of the chemical and sponsor of the tour. Any interested person is invited.

Entrance to the ranch is on the west side of FM 1054 (Vealmoor Road) approximately 7.3 miles south of its intersection with U.S. Highway 180 at a point 19 miles east of Lamesa and 13 miles west of Gail.

After an inspection to compare brush sprayed with Tordon in 1972 and with 2, 4, 5-T project a free barbecue lunch will be served at the ranch. Campbell said the spray was applied to control native mesquite, prickly pear and certain other species.

NIXON LOOKING TO PEOPLE FOR WATERGATE VINDICATION

Investigators To Decide Their Next Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is looking to the American people for vindication in Watergate, while House impeachment investigators meet tonight to decide their next move in the quest for White House evidence.

A majority of the House Judiciary Committee evidently was dissatisfied with the edited White House transcripts the President delivered Tuesday in lieu of tapes of 42 presidential conversations the committee had subpoenaed.

STOP SHORT

The panel's Democratic majority planned to stop short of a demand for enforcement of the subpoena in favor of seeking bipartisan support for a statement declaring Nixon had failed to comply with it.

It was clear from the time Nixon disclosed his transcript plan Monday night that the support he sought was beyond the Capitol; that his goal was to persuade the American public that he had no advance knowledge of the Watergate break-in or the cover-up and that he was providing investigators with the full story of his role.

But, even as the transcripts were delivered to the committee, the President's lawyers were making plans to go to court Thursday to seek to request of special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

NEED TAPES

Jaworski is seeking tapes and documents relating to 64 presidential conversations he says are needed as evidence for prosecution and defense in the forthcoming Watergate cover-up trial.

In addition, the Judiciary Committee has requested, by letter, still other tapes covering the Watergate cover-up, the ITT antitrust settlement and Nixon campaign contributions from the dairy industry. For all the 1,308 blue-bound pages of presidential transcripts, uncertainties remained about what the President knew, and when, and what he intended to be done. It was, as Nixon's lawyers and the President himself had said, a document marked by ambiguities.

FRUSTRATED

The words that were spoken created a picture of a President feeling increasingly embattled and frustrated by a scandal, the disclosure of which he considered inevitable but which he hoped to control.

And they showed Nixon considering many alternatives, including the payment of hush money to the original Watergate conspirators.

The transcripts covered conversations between Sept. 15, 1972, and April 27, 1973.

But the critical meetings were these: —Sept. 15, 1972, the day indictments were returned in the Watergate break-in case. Nixon met with White House counsel John W. Dean III, later to become the President's chief accuser before the Senate Watergate committee.

TRACE LEAKS

—March 17, 1973, the day the President learned that members of the White House plumbers unit set up to trace leaks of classified information, had engineered the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist.

—March 21, 1973, the day the President said Dean first told him about the Watergate cover-up. Numerous alternatives including meeting demands for hush money were considered by the President, Dean and White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman.

—April 14, 1973, the day of a rambling discussion of Watergate by the President, Haldeman and Ehrlichman during which they talked about the need to fire Dean and to convince former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to appear before the prosecutor and a grand jury.

TWO KNEW

So far as is known only Nixon and Haldeman, among those quoted in the transcripts, knew that the conversations were being tape recorded.

The President offered to let the two senior members of the Judiciary Committee, chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., and Rep. Edward Hutchinson, R-Mich., listen to the tapes to verify that the transcripts contained all relevant Watergate material.

But the President gave the committee no role in saying which matters were of primary concern to it. However, after party caucuses Tuesday, committee members appeared determined to avoid a partisan split over what many considered a futile effort to force the President to comply with the subpoena.

Instead, the Democrats, who hold a 21-17 majority, appeared ready to propose a statement that Nixon had failed to comply with the subpoena, which might be put forth in the future as part of a bill of impeachment.

SENSATIONAL STORIES

In his speech Monday night, the President had said the transcripts would "provide grist for many sensational stories in the press. Parts will seem contradictory with one another, and parts will be in conflict with some of the testimony given in the Senate Watergate committee hearings."

He also noted that parts "will embarrass me and those whom I talked with."

The transcripts proved him accurate in all those predictions.

There were frequent parenthetical notes that portions were "unintelligible" or "inaudible" and many places were marked "expletive deleted."

On occasion, the President's anger and contempt flashes out from the transcripts. At other times, he displays compassion and loyalty toward beleaguered staff members and such former close friends as John Mitchell.

Here, from the vast volume, are some of the areas covered:

DEAN CONFLICTS

Dean told the Watergate committee that on Sept. 15, Nixon congratulated him on doing a good job, "and the President was pleased that the case had stopped with (G. Gordon) Liddy."

The transcript shows Nixon telling Dean, "The way you have handled all this seems to me has been very skillful, putting your fingers in the leaks that have sprung here and sprung there."

Nixon's lawyers said the congratulations were offered "in the context not of a criminal plot to obstruct justice as Dean alleges," but rather "in the context of the politics of the matter, such as civil suits, counter-suits, Democratic efforts to exploit Watergate as a political issue and the like."

Nixon said it was on March 21, 1973, that Dean first told him of the cover-up, including the payments of hush money. Dean testified that after two meetings with the President on that date "... it was quite clear that the cover-up as far as the White House was concerned was going to continue."

According to the transcript, Dean told the President early in the conversation, "I have the impression that you don't know everything I know and it makes it very difficult for you to make judgments..."

LOOK LIKE DOPES

Later, after Haldeman had joined the meeting, this exchange took place: Nixon: "... Let's say, frankly, on the assumption that, if we continue to cut our losses, we are not going to win. But in the end we are going to be bled to death. And in the end, it's all going to come out anyway. Then you get the worst of both worlds. We are going to lose and people are going to..."

Haldeman: "And look like dopes."

Nixon: "And in effect, look like a cover-up. So that we can't do..."

When it was suggested that some lower-level aides might be hurt by the Watergate investigation, Nixon said, "We don't want to harm the people either, that is my concern. We can't harm these young people (in-harm these young people (in-audible)). They were doing things for the best interests of their country — that is all."

HUSH MONEY

This proved one of the most ambiguous areas in the transcripts despite the contention of the President's lawyers that it clearly stands out that "the President rejected the payment of $120,000 or any other sum to E. Howard Hunt or other Watergate defendants."

Dean and Nixon discussed Hunt's demands for money March 21. And as the President has contended he told Dean it would require not only money, which could be raised, but an offer of executive clemency.

Dean: "That's right. It may further involve you in a way you should not be involved in this."

Nixon: "No — It is wrong that's for sure."

But later, Nixon referred to his belief that Hunt "might blow the whistle and his price is pretty high, but at least we can buy the time on that..."

Still later, Dean, referring to the seven Watergate defendants, said, "They're going to stonewall it, as it now stands. Excepting Hunt. That's why his threat..."

OPPORTUNITY

Haldeman: "It's Hunt opportunity."

Nixon: "That's why for your immediate things you have no choice but to come up with the $120,000, or whatever it is, right?"

Dean: "That's right."

Nixon: "Would you agree that that's the prime thing that you damn well better get that done?"

Dean: "Obviously he ought to be given some signal anyway."

Nixon: "(Expletive deleted), get it. In a way that—who is going to talk to him? Colson? He is the one who is supposed to know him?"

A month later, on April 17, Nixon, Haldeman and Ehrlichman tried to recall the details of the hush money discussion.

Nixon: "But you remember the conversation?"

Haldeman: "Yes sir."

Nixon: "I didn't tell him to go get the money, did I?"

Haldeman: "No."

Nixon: "You didn't either, did you?"

Haldeman: "Absolutely not."

MITCHELL'S INVOLVEMENT

A close friend and adviser to the President throughout his first administration, Mitchell had early been linked to Watergate. On April 14, 1973, Nixon, Haldeman and Ehrlichman discussed the scandal.

Rain Chief Topic Of Discussion

"We have enjoyed meeting people all over this part of the state during our campaign," Glenn Tombs, candidate for state legislator, subject to Saturday's Democratic Primary, told a group of reporters here this morning.

A coffee at Howard College honored the Borden County candidate and his wife in the hallway at the student union building. A large group of students and college faculty attended as well as citizens from Big Spring.

Tombs indicated that "Everybody is so happy over the rain this morning that we hate to even discuss politics." He said that he and his wife and family would be at home in Borden County Saturday night awaiting the results of the campaign.

Local ICT Program Oldest In State

The Industrial Cooperative Training program at Big Spring High School is the oldest continuous ICT program in the state of Texas, according to Morris Dewberry, local instructor.

It is a program designed to teach students to apply their learning in practical fields while still attending school. They are junior and senior students and they attend regular classes one-half the day and then obtain practical training the other half of the day.

Local students and their training areas include Tam Bolding, Big Spring hardware; Donald Brewer, Miller's Radio and TV; Craig Caudill, Stagg Auto Supply; Dennis Churchwell, Big Spring Tile Co.; Rodney Ferrell, Lee's Rental Center.

Others are Mark Fort, Big Spring Aero Repair; Karen Fuller, Sandra Gelason, Eva Palacios, Diane Franklin, all at Medical Center Hospital; Randy Klaus, Johnson Sheet Metal; Carol Lanspery, Jr. Moralez.

Roy Lee Powell Given Probation

Roy Lee Powell, also known as Al Richards, pleaded guilty in 118th District Court this morning to receiving and concealing stolen property on Oct. 2, 1973.

Powell, 49, 3801 West U.S. 80, was given five years of probation. He was arrested for the same type of offense Monday night.

Irene Olivias, Lithia Parras, Cynthia Torres and Ruth Vigil, all at the VA Hospital.

Others are Jan Sevey, Big Spring State Hospital; Steve Shugrue, Frank Hagen TV; Kim Trawick, Hughes Optical; Gary Willingham, S & S Wheel Alignment and Carl David Wood, Big Spring Beam Co.

This year they had five qualify for student-selected jobs and three in technical information to attend the state meeting. They also were active in the VICA Club of which Donald Brewer is president this year.

At their banquet this week, special guests included the students and their teacher along with the vocational director, John Bagnall and vocational counselor, Harvey Rothell.

The program is designed to extend the benefits of trade and industrial education to communities of Texas. Since it is not practicable for some school systems to establish extensive vocational education, this program came into being.

In this manner, students may train as nurses aides, dental assistants, mechanics, television repairmen and others. Dewberry expressed appreciation to the local employees who help train these students.

Pre-Kindergarten Day Is Scheduled

COAHOMA — Parents were alerted today that pre-kindergarten day will be observed at the Primary School here Friday 9 a.m.-12 noon.

Parents are urged to bring the birth and immunization records of their children.

The following Friday, May 10, the session for pre-school first graders will be held here from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

RODINO ENTERS CAUCUS ROOM — Rep. Peter Rodino, D-N.J., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, enters the committee's caucus room Tuesday on Capitol Hill. Later, Rodino expressed disappointment at the edited materials supplied to his committee by the White House.

May 1 Not As It Used To Be

Today is May Day, but nobody has even heard of a Maypole around Big Spring today.

In fact, nobody seemed to be preparing May baskets for friends either. The April showers, which were so long in coming that they barely made it into April, stopped over into May and nobody was picking flowers.

Everybody appeared to be rejoicing over the rain. The old days of the communists showing their strength on May Day were being more or less ignored across the world.

Loyalty Day, which the Veterans of Foreign Wars had proclaimed a few years back to offset the communist May Day, also seemed to be ignored.

In fact, to the average citizen, May Day appeared to be just another first of the month with bills to follow behind.

Midland Broker To Speak Here

Larry Lynn of the Hayden-Stone brokerage firm in Midland will be the chief speaker at the Thursday night meeting of the Howard County Agricultural Club, scheduled to start at 8 p.m., in the Howard County Fair Barn.

Lynn will discuss how to hedge on commodities.

All members of the club are being urged to be in attendance.

VOTING BOX MOVED: HELP IS NEEDED

Lee Porter, Howard County Democratic chairman, sounded an SOS today for helpers for Box 18 in Saturday's primary.

The box, previously scheduled to ballot at the John Gary home, has been moved to the former Kentwood Methodist Church location.

He appealed for anyone in that box who can help hold the primary to call him at his home (267-8801). It is imperative that he have some calls, he said, else the box may be without anyone to conduct the voting. In the precinct are territories east of the Kentwood Church, east to near Cosden, and south to include much of the Driver Road and part of the Silver Heels area.

Fine Work Due On Thoroughfare

The Texas Highway Department and contractor, Stafford Construction, Inc. on construction of US 180, from Gaines County Lane to Lamesa, has announced that they will start the final phase of construction on or about May 1. The work will consist of a three course surface treatment and a seal coat on the shoulders. All work being completed by June 1.

Motorists passing through the area should drive slow and avoid passing in order to prevent breakage of windshields said the notice. The traffic will be routed through the construction work and adequate barricades and warning signals will be prominently displayed.

Earnings Of MP Gain Sharply

ST. LOUIS — Mr. D. B. Jenks, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, announced that the Company's consolidated net income for the first quarter of 1974 on a generally accepted accounting basis increased to $10,955,141 from $6,835,593 in the first quarter of 1973. Fully diluted per share earnings were $4.40 for the first three months of 1974 compared to $2.57 for the comparable 1973 period. Per share earnings for the first quarter of 1973 are on a pro forma basis which assumes that the recapitalization of the company effected on Jan. 21, 1974 had been accomplished Jan. 1, 1973. Operating revenues of $211,650,082 increased by $35,902,449 over the $175,747,633 reported in the 1973 quarter. This reflects a continued sound economy in the area served by the Missouri Pacific as well as increases in chemical, coal, grain and fuel oil traffic. Piggyback loadings increased 34 per cent and container business was up 99 per cent for the first quarter.

'TACTICS WAS MURDER' U.S. Marine Corps Now 'Builds' Fems

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Two Women Marines took their places recently in a previously all-male bastion, the West Coast Recruit Depot's NCO School. As a consequence, the Marine Corps may have to change the recruiting slogan it has used for years: "The Marine Corps Builds Men." The Corps has turned its attention to developing leadership skills in Women Marine non-commissioned officers (NCOs).

WOMEN'S LIB
Training women is not new to the Marines but like other military services over the years a "separate but equal" attitude has developed about women's training. Caught in the rip-tide effect of Women's Lib, the Corps is revising its attitude about women's training. The NCO school, proving ground for noncommissioned officers, stresses training in such varied military subjects as leadership, techniques of military instruction, tactics, mapping, first aid and physical training.

OUT OF SHELL
The first two NCOs to go through the school, Sgt. Barbara Metoyer and Cpl. Karla Reese, found that pioneering in the 20th century is as challenging as it ever was. Undaunted by minor adversities, they marched through the course, much to the surprise of their classmates.

"Tactics was murder," says Sgt. Metoyer, echoed by Cpl. Reese. "I couldn't even read a street map." She is proud of being able to take a field radio apart, put it back together and use it, but "I'm not for Women's Lib," she said. Sgt. Metoyer, 29, got her first glimpse of Marine life at Quantico, Va., where she was born into a military family. Cpl. Reese, 19, is from San Diego, the daughter of a Marine and a former Woman Marine. An education counselor at Depot Education-Transition, Sgt. Metoyer has been in the Corps for three years and recently reenlisted for six more. Cpl. Reese, an administration clerk, has spent nearly two years in the Marine corps. Both are quick to say they've been treated like people. A speech class in which students are required to talk for 15 minutes on a given subject helped "bring us out of that shell," says Sgt. Metoyer. She says working with 28 male students was no problem. The women were not permitted to participate in field maneuvers but were not chagrined. "A rattler was found," Sgt. Metoyer said, "and I'm just glad I wasn't there this time."

Hargis To Take Show To Odessa

"Billy James Hargis and His All-American Kids," seen weekly on national television, will present their two and one-half hour live show on Thursday, May 9 at the Globe of the Great Southwest, 2308 Shakespeare Road in Odessa. The performance will begin at 7:30 p.m. and is under the sponsorship of local supporters of American Christian College. Over the past five years, Billy James Hargis and His "All-American Kids" have performed in live concert to capacity audiences in over 300 auditoriums in major cities throughout the United States. The cast includes 30 young musicians and technicians, whose average age is 20 years. Using the latest lighting effects and sound techniques, the three-act program, is entitled "An Evening of Patriotism and Praise."

Even the best of players can have a blind spot. When this hand was played in the trials to select the North American team for the world championship a few years ago, all but one declarer failed to count their tricks, and ended up down one in a contract that should have been made.

West's overall presented South with something of a rebid problem. He had a good hand with considerable strength in his opponent's suit, but he had a singleton in his partner's suit. Therefore, he contented himself with a rebid of two no trump, which showed additional values, the slightly misdescribing the shape of his hand, and North raised to game.

Dummy's eight of spades won the first trick, and most declarers used the opportunity of finding themselves in dummy to take the diamond finesse. West won and shifted to the jack of clubs, and because of the unfriendly diamond distribution there was no way for the declarer to come to nine tricks.

The only declarer to make his contract was former world champion George Rapee. He realized that he needed only four diamond tricks for his contract, and that, therefore, he could afford the safety play of first laying down the ace of diamonds. When the king dropped, it was a simple matter to continue the suit and set up a long card to make his game.

Note that, had the king failed to drop, Rapee would have made his contract even if East held four diamonds to the king. After cashing the ace of diamonds, Rapee intended to cross back to dummy twice with hearts to lead diamonds toward his queen-jack. That would guarantee four diamond tricks against all 3-2 splits and any 4-1 distribution where East held the length.

Pioneer Gas Has Net Income Dip

AMARILLO—Pioneer Natural Gas Company has announced that the consolidated net income for the first quarter for 1974 was $3,779,042. This amounts to 51 cents per share compared with 55 cents per share for the first quarter of 1973. Mild weather affected the earnings picture, said K. B. (Tex) Watson, president, and cost of producing gas increased. Pioneer also announced that Pioneer Production Corporation's fourth well in the Jennings Townsite Field in Jefferson Davis Parish, La., has logged two formations that appear to be productive.

Here's Your Chance; Put In Good Word For Youth

"It ain't necessarily so" that the kids in white hats never get the spotlight, but a lot of people who think it is so never bother to put in a good word for the good kids.

Well, here's your chance. The Herald is seeking your nominations for outstanding high school seniors in Big Spring, Forsan, Coahoma and Ackerly.

You may know just the young man or woman who will qualify as winner of the annual Zale's Herald Youth Achievement Award.

Running this week in the Herald are forms which you may fill in and return to the Herald. If you need more room than is provided, attach an extra sheet, but do send as much information as you can obtain — and send it as soon as possible.

Deadline for entries is May 7, and it is important that you act promptly.

Remember, recognition of deserving young people depends upon your taking the time to place their names in nomination. And remember, too, that this covers separate awards for Big Spring, Coahoma, Ackerly and Forsan.

AFA Chapter Slates Meet

The local chapter of the Air Force Association will hold a business meeting at the Officers Club at Webb AFB at 5:30 p.m., Thursday, at which time a new slate of officers will be named.

This is the only public notice of the meeting, since letters were not forwarded to members. This will also be the final meeting before the AFA State Convention, scheduled to be held in Wichita Falls May 10-11.

Several local members plan to attend the state conclave.

They include Jerry Worthy, current president; A. J. Statser, regional vice president, and Col. Robert Liotta, wing commander at Webb AFB.

Highway Needs Haven't Lessened

DALLAS (AP) — Texans face a transportation crisis if they have been led to believe the energy shortage has ended the need for new highways, a state highway engineer said here.

Marcus Yancey told the Dallas Chamber of Commerce Central Highway Committee that although receipts from gasoline and diesel taxes are lower than projected, they still have increased overall.

This indicates that traffic on Texas highways has increased, despite the energy shortage, Yancey said.

He said that before 1990, Texas' population will increase by 3 million, which means the state needs to spend $2.2 billion on new highways.

TV Fans Write Letters To Exec

NEW YORK (AP) — It's rare for a major company to invite viewer comments on a show it sponsors. It's even rarer for the company's board chairman to go on TV to help out with the corporate invitations.

But in the case of E.M. deWint and his firm, the Eaton Corp., it's resulted in what the company says is more than 10,000 viewer letters on just two hour-long programs.

"WE THE WOMEN" The shows were the opening salvos in CBS' "The American Parade," a 13-part series of historical programs the network will air through 1976 to help celebrate the American bicentennial.

The first show, "We, the Women," narrated by Mary Tyler Moore, aired March 17. The second, "Power and the Presidency," narrated by George C. Scott, was broadcast last Wednesday.

At the end of each, deWint appeared on camera, made a brief speech about the show and asked viewers to share their thoughts about the show with the series' sponsor, Eaton Corp.

Then an off-camera announcer gave the address of the

'SLOW MOTION SHORTY'

Nation's Hoboes Are Retiring

By TIMOTHY HARPER
Associated Press Writer

Tourist Union No. 63, which counted 2 million bedraggled Americans among its unofficial membership 40 years ago, is down to a handful of scraggly tried old wanderers.

The last members of the union, also known as the National Association of Hoboes, are one by one coming off the road to settle in missions, nursing homes and cut rate hotels catering to the Social Security set.

MOOCHING DRINKS
Two of the more traveled hoboes, Gene "Slow Motion Shorty" Parker and Tim "Connecticut Slim" Moyland, recently retired to live on small pensions, Parker in Oregon, Ill., and Moyland in Parkersburg, W. Va.

"Too old and too tired," said Shorty.

Most of the retired old tramps look with disdain on two better known, still active hoboes, Richard "Pennsylvania Kid" Wilson and John "Hardrock Kid" Misen, for their media schenanigans.

"Those guys just go around mooching drinks off reporters and TV guys," said "Steamtrain Maury" Graham, who bemoans the fact that his only occasional train rides these days are usually at the behest of publicity-seeking railroad companies.

FREE SOUP HOUSES
"Aw, that guy Steamtrain drives his own car whenever he goes out on the road anymore," said Hardrock.

Steamtrain, a Toledo, Ohio, cement mason for 30 years, before hitting the road in 1968, reluctantly admitted the accusation when he was crowned 1974 King of the Hoboes at the annual union convention in Britt, Iowa, last summer.

But the hoboes have never taken themselves too seriously, beginning back in the 1890s when 63 hoboes gathered at a Midwestern hobo jungle formed the union and set forth guidelines of honesty and chivalry still espoused by the oldtimers.

But they also agreed that if one of them was ever elected to Congress, he would work for free soup houses at all railroad depots and for larger nickel beers.

The hoboes have been media darlings ever since the first National Hobo Convention in Britt in 1900, when top feature writers from major newspapers across the country outnumbered the hoboes in attendance.

SAD THING
The annual Britt renewal of that first convention, when each hobo delegate checked in at the convention "hinderquarters," is about the only opportunity for the remaining tramps who hit the road during the Depression to sit around a jungle campfire, share a bottle of wine and a rusty barrel of Mulligan stew and swap stories.

They talk about hobo heroes of yesterday such as Scoop-shovel Scotty, hobo philosopher Roger Payne, hobo author Hairbreadth Harry, Highway Johnny, Hobo Ben Benson and the most famous female hobo, Boxcar Myrtle.

They often have loud, long arguments about which is the last authentic hobo.

"I know I am," Hardrock, Pennsylvania, Steamtrain, Shorty or others like Scissors Sam Long or James "Bigtown" Gorman will snort. "The rest of you guys are just tramps and wobblers."

The sad thing is, one of these days the one who says it will be right.

More Players Are Sought

More applications for participants in the Tennathon, a March of Dimes benefit affair, are needed prior to registration deadline Thursday 5 p.m.

Those who can take part are urged to gather one or more sponsors who will contribute at the rate of 10 cents or more per game played by the participant. Information may be had at the Big Spring Tennis Center, or by calling Mrs. W. A. Mann (3-2995).

Another major event to benefit MOD is coming up Saturday morning when the annual Walkathon will be staged. Registration for it will begin at 8 a.m. at Highland Center, and individuals again are asked to obtain sponsors for their walk around the five mile course. Walkers may have more than one sponsor; in fact, it is urged that they do.

There will be a prize for the youngest, the oldest, the fastest walkers, the one with most sponsors and for raising the most money. The course is west on FM 700 from Highland Center to U.S. 80, thence east to FM 700 intersection and back on FM 700 to the starting point.

Prospective walkers are asked to call Ann Lane, MOD executive at 7-2462. Among sponsors of special prizes are Stanley Hardware, Zale's, Prager's, TG&Y (College Park), Blum's and Gibbs and Weeks.

Love Field Plan Okayed

DALLAS (AP) — The City Council approved a developer's proposal to turn the nearly vacant Love Field terminal building into a family entertainment center.

The two-year lease with developer Wesley Goyer calls for the city to pay $700,000 for renovation of the terminal. Goyer will pay a yearly rental of $149,000 plus a share of parking revenues.

Goyer's plans, to be implemented by Love Dallas, Inc., include an ice skating rink, a multiscreen theatre, a roller skating rink and a dance area. Goyer, one of the first developers of Six Flags Over Texas, claimed the Love Field family center could attract a half million people a year.

Council vote to accept the proposal was 7-4.

Sweden Resumes U.S. Relations

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Sweden and the United States will exchange ambassadors this month, thawing a period of frosty diplomatic relations that began when Premier Olof Palme severely criticized the American bombing of North Vietnam.

Count Wilhelm Wachtmeister, newly appointed Swedish ambassador to the United States, will be installed May 6, a Foreign Ministry spokesman announced here. The position has been vacant since February 1973.

The U.S. Embassy announced that Robert Strausz-Hupe, the new American ambassador to Sweden, would arrive in Stockholm during the last week of May. His predecessor, Jerome Holland, left in August 1972 to take up a post at the New York Stock Exchange.

Charged With Murdering Young Fems In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Police will bring an escaped federal prisoner from Beaumont to Houston today to answer charges filed in the killings of two women last week.

District Court Judge Fred Hoey of Houston signed a warrant Tuesday night allowing officers to take John Stiles Griffin, 28, out of federal custody in Beaumont and bring him to Houston.

Officers said police in Anaheim, Calif., also want to talk to Griffin about a death there.

Griffin was arrested Sunday night in Port Arthur and charged Tuesday here with the deaths of Ellen Johnsrud and Meredith Kalousek, both 22, at Mrs. Johnsrud's apartment last Friday.

ESCAPED

Federal officials said Griffith escaped last week from a minimum security federal community treatment center in Los Angeles. He was serving a five-year sentence for taking a stolen car across a state line, they said.

Investigators said Mrs. Johnsrud, formerly of Midland, has been stabbed 29 times and her throat cut. Mrs. Kalousek's mouth had been taped and her hands bound and she was clad only in a pullover slip.

Police in Anaheim said a bit of leather strap found around the neck of one of the dead women appeared to be from a strap used by a motel maid in that city for her pass key.

Identification belonging to a California customs agent by that name had been reported stolen, police said.

MAID STRIPPED
Griffin was transferred to the county jail in Beaumont Monday. Since he is a federal escapee, Houston police were told they would have to get a federal writ to get custody of him.

The 17-year-old chambermaid was stripped, bound and stabbed to death and her neck slashed. The pass key was found near her body but the strap was gone.

Griffin checked into a Houston hotel Friday using the identification of a Santa Barbara, Calif., businessman whose wallet was stolen in a burglary last week at a San Diego hotel, police said.

The key to the hotel room was found at the Houston death scene, they said. The clothing worn by the killer of the two girls was bloodsoaked and left behind at the apartment, they said, and the killer apparently dressed in some of Johnsrud's clothing.

That clothing was found in a car in Galveston Sunday, stolen after a man broke into a Galveston motel, tied up three women and two men, and took their car.

Lt. Mark Gray of the Port Arthur police said Griffin was arrested after police received reports of a man carrying a weapon at a theatre.

Election Finance Question

Vermont Royster, former editor and now occasional contributor to the Wall Street Journal, has looked at the question of federal financing of elections and found it wanting. He has raised a thoughtful question that cannot be ignored: Should Americans be taxed to support a candidate whose philosophy and program are repugnant?

In developing his argument, Royster summoned up a quotation from Thomas Jefferson: "To compel a man to furnish contributions of money for the propagation of opinions which he disbelieves and abhors is sinful and tyrannical." This was directed at the time to religious opinions—a principle later established in the U.S. Constitution prohibiting the establishment of religion—but it can be applied as well to public financing of elections.

A number of bills have been introduced in Congress for public financing of political campaigns. The idea has been making the rounds for a number of years, but was given impetus by the Watergate affair and the corruption of the electoral process by big money. In general the proposed laws would limit financing to those parties whose candidates got at least 5 per cent of the popular vote in the previous election. This would prevent George C. Wallace, for instance, from participating in the fund—to the anger of his supporters and the relief of opponents.

It may be possible to mitigate the effects of a law which bound citizens to finance the campaigns of those they mistrusted or abhorred. But the idea of federal financing of federal elections is one that is difficult to gainsay.

Just a few years ago, primary elections in Texas were considered party matters and were financed by filing fees. But courts have ruled against excessive filing fees on the grounds that they arbitrarily limit access to the ballot. Therefore the state of Texas has had to take over the financing of primary elections. Taxpayers will foot the bill for elections held by Democrats, Republicans and Raza Unida candidates. The prospect may not bring goose bumps to those who agree with only one, or perhaps none, of the parties involved.

Funds For Fighting Crime

Texas' effort to reduce crime has received the commendation of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration based in Washington, D.C.

LEAA has commended the governor's Criminal Justice Division staff for its plan to attack specific crime and reduce its incidence.

The 1974 Criminal Justice Plan for Texas represents the first time that Texas has developed a plan setting firm goals for the reduction of specific crimes and defining strategies and objectives for achievement of these goals, LEAA officials claim. They note that $29,161,000 has been awarded to the state for distribution on approved criminal justice grants.

With this nation experiencing a continued rise in crime, any effort to reduce the incidence and impact of crime should be afforded local and statewide support. Hopefully LEAA's commendation is not premature since there has been no reported appreciable drop in Texas' crime rate. However, if indications are that the state has finally developed a master plan for crime reduction, further implementation of new law enforcement techniques and programs promise to make Texas a safer state in which to live.

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

Della K. is the way most friends knew her; hundreds of children called her Miz Agneil. No matter how you said it, she emerged as a most remarkable individual. Widowed eight years after her marriage and left with three small children to raise, she never whimpered nor missed a beat.

SHE HAD COME from good stock—her father, Samuel B. Russell, was a well-educated Virginian, and Presbyterian lay leader until he met a stronger-willed Baptist, Cornelia Johnston, whose father, the Rev. Jonathan Johnston, had been chairman of the Baylor University board at old independence and had bought and named the Baptist Standard. They got married at Galveston while attending a Baptist Convention, so you can imagine what sort of a Baptist Della Kay turned out to be.

MRS. RUSSELL put her daughters through Baylor before coming here, and Della K. followed in 1901 after completing her senior year. She thought this was the end of the world, but within a fortnight she was in the middle of everything. Her brother-in-law, George Sparenberg, offered her a job, but it involved occasional Sunday work, an anathema to her. So she took a position as bookkeeper with Patty, Matthews and Wolcott general merchandise store, resigning to get married to P. W. Agneil in 1903, also resigning herself to forgetting a dream of teaching.

WHEN THEY built their house, she insisted that it be paid for at the time, a wise decision, for in 1911, he died of injuries. Somehow she kept things going, and George Sparenberg came by every evening to make sure there were groceries on hand. M. H. Brasher, superintendent, persuaded her to set up private instruction for over-flow first grade enrollment. Her day started at 5:30 a.m., and with the family fed, she coached high school Latin students until time for her kiddies to arrive. She taught until noon. In 1916, Mattie Wombledorff, legendary first grade leader, suddenly was called home, and Supt. M. H. Brasher got Della K. to take the afternoon section. But that wasn't all. In the evenings she tutored railroad men who were taking correspondence courses. After the family was bedded, she studied, planned the next day and sewed.

IN 1919 she became a full-time first grade teacher, and memory of this gangling lady, marking time to the Victrola "Washington Post" March at Central Ward fingers in many memories. She laughingly said she wore out the building, teaching in one room 13 years. When she retired at West Ward in May 1944, her classes had a record of 100 per cent representation at all PTA meetings. Well they might have, for she helped found the Mothers Club, then the Home and Study Club and finally the PTA here in 1925. Naturally she was a life member. Despite her load, she found a way to study four or five summers and tour five states to study latest instructional methods.

SHE HAD been a 1905 Hyperion founder, was in the old Velleloma women's club, and loved gardening. She was an avid safety booster, leading this activity in PTA for years. She also served on the district teachers executive committee, never missed a state teachers convention.

During the depression, her meager salary was paid in warrants, and she was trying to help her youngest, Alvin, through Baylor. "Mama," he wrote despairingly many times, "I'm coming home." Back went a letter: "Hang on a little longer." When it appeared hopeless she read her Bible and seemed to hear a voice: "See Hart Phillips" (a rancher who had oil on his land). Alas, he had gone to California, but his secretary said: "I want you to read this letter." Mr. Phillips had written for her to help teachers by buying their warrants.

WHEREVER SHE went—and most of the time she went on foot—she took copious notes on meetings and sermons. She was as proud of her church as she was her ancestry which she traced back to a signer of the Magna Charta, a participant in the Revolutionary war and in Civil War. She had the bearing of an aristocrat, the soul of a commoner, and her personal friends ranged from little children to the President. But all she really wanted to be was a "teacher—a good teacher." She was that, all right, and her classroom was just the beginning of it.

Ford Feels Oats

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON—The nature and strength of Vice President Ford's party leadership were solidified in San Jose, Calif., April 20 when he ignored intense pressure and embraced embattled liberal Rep. Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey of California without sustaining the slightest damage.

WHILE STOPPING short of endorsing Maverick McCloskey's uphill battle for renomination in the June 4 primary, Ford left no doubt he is Pete McCloskey's pal. That infuriated the California Republican hard core who seem near an old dream: driving McCloskey from Congress. Nevertheless, the incident ended with McCloskey's prestige enhanced and Ford as strong as ever.

This reaffirms that Jerry Ford's ascendancy in the Republican party today is such that he can offend the sacrosanct hard core with impunity. More important, his embrace of McCloskey reveals a Republicanism totally at odds with President Nixon's. Whereas the McCloskeys on the extreme Republican left lead Mr. Nixon's voluminous hate list, Ford truly wants to keep them in a broad-based party.

ACTUALLY, McCloskey's mercurial attacks on fellow-Republicans often are hard to take even for moderates. When Ford was proposing impeachment of Justice William Douglas, he felt McCloskey's sting. Nevertheless, in seeking good relations with all sorts of Republicans, Ford as House minority leader became McCloskey's friend.

Thus, last fall McCloskey was one of only four Republican Congressmen (the other three were conservatives) whom Ford requested to testify at Senate confirmation hearings for Vice President McCloskey responded with a ringing endorsement.

IT SOON became McCloskey who needed help. Obnoxious to hard-core Republicans ever since a win over Shirley Temple sent him to Congress in 1968, McCloskey became anathema with his aborted 1972 presidential race against Mr. Nixon. He now faces his toughest congressional challenge from multi-millionaire conservative Republican Gordon Knapp.

So, late last month, McCloskey took out full-page newspaper advertisements with this headline: "Republicans Like Gerald Ford Are Proud of Pete McCloskey."

OUTRAGED CONSERVATIVES mailed the ad to Ford and confidently asked him to repudiate both it and McCloskey. What they got was quite the opposite. "The wording in the advertisement was accurate," Ford wrote in reply. "... I am proud of my personal relationship with Pete McCloskey. He is a good friend of mine."

Encouraged, McCloskey asked to introduce Ford to the Republican state convention in San Jose April 20, but was turned down flat by Republican state chairman Gordon Luce. "If that happened," Luce told a friend, "I could never show my face around the party."

UNDAUNTED, McCloskey next invited Ford to appear that same day at "a discussion of the future of the Republican party" to be held at the Hyatt House hotel down the street from the convention. Ford accepted, then caught all sorts of flack but never flinched. Ford told the resulting crowd the "wide spectrum" of Republicanism has room for McCloskey and Russellos. None dared confront the Vice President, although Luce fired rockets back to Washington.

"But, with a friend like you squarely behind me, Jerry... I know we can tough it out..."

'Slow Pay' Accounts

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP)—As consumers find themselves caught in the pincers of rising prices and shrinking buying power, credit officers are growing a bit apprehensive about the quality of their loans.

Similar conditions in the past, almost always have caused the number of "slow pay" accounts to rise automatically, and almost nobody expects this year to be an exception. Evidence of deterioration already is clear.

What makes this year's situation potentially critical is the likelihood that inflation will continue unabated or at a high level for many months more, possibly accompanied by a deteriorating economy.

The worst situation seems to exist in mobile home loans, where delinquencies for the January-February period rose sharply to 4.34 per cent, and repossessions averaged 7.21 per cent.

The American Bankers Association, which made the report, considers a loan delinquent when a payment is more than 30 days overdue. However, some merchants and lenders also report deterioration of non-delinquent accounts.

William Ford, ABA chief economist, said the delinquency ratio for all installment loans rose to a record high of 2.69 per cent, breaking the previous high of 2.53 per cent set in the final two months of 1973.

The situation in the home mortgage area is less clear. While the Mortgage Bankers Association reported delinquencies for the final quarter of 1973 at a 20-year high, savings and loan associations found little or no increase.

The mortgage bankers said 4.7 per cent of its loans were in a month or more past due in the final three months of the year, topping the previous high of 4.65 per cent in the comparable period of 1972.

The U.S. League of Savings Associations reported, however, that "The recent runaway inflation appears to have had no appreciable effect on the regularity with which the American family pays its mortgage payments."

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

I have been an admirer of you for years. I got to know God through your TV Crusades. I read your daily column also, but I must be honest with you. I didn't go along with the advice you gave on February 17, 1974. The problem concerned a 20 year old daughter who had moved in with a married man. Tell her to leave this fellow, because they have more than themselves to consider. M.J.H.

After rereading that particular column, I agree with you. I was trying, however, to suggest attitudes for the frustrated parents—like love, fortitude and optimism. I assumed from their original letter that they had, of course, already voiced their disapproval.

Nevertheless, I am glad for the occasion to underscore the folly of these so-called "love relationships" which violate the marriage laws of God.

The press keeps reporting that "open marriage"—that is, living together in anything other than a monogamous partnership between one man and one woman, is viewed more and more favorably. That may be, but it is deplorable, because it destroys the foundation of the home, which is the basic component of any successful society.

These are days when people with Biblical scruples need to speak up. Thanks for the encouragement to do so.

Sports For Epileptic Boy

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son, 13, has grand mal epilepsy, but with medication his seizures are very well controlled. He has not had one now for at least a year and a half.

He is a very active boy and I would like to know what kind of sports are safe for such a child? A friend told me that this can be outgrown. Is this possible?—Mrs. L. F. L.

In a case as well controlled as your son's, almost any sport is allowable, but I suggest he start with the less violent ones—tennis, golf, baseball, swimming. But as to swimming, he should NEVER swim alone, and a swimming coach or buddy should be aware that he is epileptic, no matter how remote the chance of a seizure.

It is risky to predict that epilepsy can be outgrown. While that is not impossible in some cases, it seldom happens that way and continued medication is the only course I recommend.

Here's an added thought, however. Periods of low blood sugar have been associated with seizures, so a protein snack (to ward off any possible drop in blood sugar) before physical activity makes sense. Muscular activity, you see, can lower the blood sugar. Protein, which is converted slowly into blood sugar, provides a slow, steady release of sugar as a guard against a sudden drop.

Participation in sports, however, is desirable when seizures are well controlled. It is, indeed, part of the psychological help that epilepsy patients should have, to promote the sense of being normal. For too long in the past epileptics have not been treated as normally as they should.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Concerning babies born with red faces, this may reassure Miss P. G. S. My only daughter was born with a very dark red skin but she turned out to be the most beautiful, blonde, blue-eyed, fair-skinned girl imaginable.—Mrs. G. N.

Maybe that will persuade her aunts to stop bugging her about what a red baby she was.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for the booklet, "Ear Noises—Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 15 cents in coin, and a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope.

Tourism Goes On

Robert E. Ford

Al Trent at Kerrville was talking the other day about summer visitors and how he doesn't believe the gasoline problems will stop them.

Indications are that the tourist business will be as good or better than ever, Trent says.

And a survey across Texas shows the same outlook, whether you're talking about summer cottages on the beach or in the cool Hill Country around Kerrville.

Or a major gateway for vacations in Mexico.

Or one-day attractions such as Six Flags over Texas Amusement park and the LBJ complex at Stonewall.

If you don't think the tourist business is important to you, remember that people visiting Texas last year spent $1.5 billion and some of that must have trickled down to almost everyone.

ALMOST ALL observers say they expect visitors to come from lesser distances this year, but the outlook is clouded by recent facts from the Texas Highway Department. It reports that the greatest number of tourists—12 per cent—in the three winter months just past came from California. Next highest was seven per cent from Oklahoma and five per cent from Louisiana.

Trent pointed to deer hunting last year around Kerrville, where the late Lyndon B. Johnson said there are more deer than people. This was in the fall during the worst of the fuel squeeze.

"There was no decrease shown in hunters last year," Trent said, "and we don't anticipate anything less this year."

He added, too, that "it appears we have more conventions coming in this summer than last." And to get to Kerrville, you almost have to drive the family car.

HAROLD WOODS, LBJ State Park superintendent, says 36,836 persons visited there in February.

A year ago, shortly after Johnson's death, the February figure was 86,000—there was a sharp upturn in visitors each month after he succumbed. A better comparison would be February 1972 when there were 18,000. The park is No. 2 in drawing power for visitors to Texas.

Linda Doty of Six Flags over Texas, the state's No. 1 tourist attraction with 2,267,000 admissions last year, also said visitors might come from shorter distances. "But we are not worrying about the effect of gasoline shortages this year," she said.

Park workers check gasoline stations and will tell anyone who asks where fuel is available.

LAREDO is one of the big funnels from the United States to Mexico. Jim Parrish of the Laredo Times has just returned from 18 days in the Mexican interior and says there are no gas problems there.

Pemex, the government oil monopoly, gives top priority to tourists.

Parrish says it appears more persons now are combining a trip to Laredo with a visit to the interior of Mexico.

"We've been getting fewer visitors who just run down to the border on the spur of the moment or for a weekend trip," he said.

Figures at the Laredo international bridge show the number of persons crossing in the last three months is up about 12 per cent over the same period last year.

Persons crossing one way south in 1972 totaled 9.9 million, and this went up to 10.3 million in 1973.

CORPUS CHRISTI and vicinity is another area where visitors stay for considerable periods. Some are escaping frigid northern winters and their numbers were down about 15 per cent during the season just passed.

But a busy summer is expected, and the tourist organizations are promoting Corpus Christi vacations strongly within 200 miles and in Mexico. Sufficient gas can be found.

South Padre Island is a summer as well as winter vacation spot. Betty Precin, Chamber of Commerce manager, said several motels are booked up from mid-June through Labor Day.

People are still pretty shaken about the gas situation particularly in the cities.

But somehow they are going to find those extra gallons to get away from their worries such as the gasoline shortage.

A Devotion For Today..

"Now abide faith, hope, love, these three; but the greatest of these is love." (1 Corinthians 13:13)

PRAYER: Lord, please give me the presence of mind and courage to use the right keys to open doors of opportunity and challenge this day. In Jesus' name. Amen.

DAR Accepts Local Chapter

Mrs. F. H. Pannill, state regent for Daughters of the American Revolution, has notified Mrs. George W. Dawson that the local group has been accepted as a chapter by the National Society of DAR. The acceptance was announced at the national meeting in Washington, D.C., and Mrs. Dawson was named organizing regent for the next year.

MRS. GEORGE DAWSON

During a coffee at the Dawson home, Mrs. Dawson announced that the local organization has been designated the Captain Elisha Mach Chapter, named for one of her ancestors. Captain Mach was born July 16, 1745 in Lynne, Conn. and was married to Deidema Rathburne before 1769. The couple were the parents of nine children.

Mrs. Dawson is also a direct descendant of George Washington's mother's sister, on the Ball line.

Officers of the new chapter are Mrs. William A. Riley, vice regent; Mrs. Garland Early, chaplain; Mrs. David Duke, treasurer; Mrs. Jack Lipscomb, recording secretary; Mrs. J. A. Crutcher, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Damron, registrar; Mrs. C. G. Barnett, historian; Mrs. Archie Atkins, librarian; Mrs. Stanley Reid, national defense chairman; and Miss Helen Ewing, telephone chairman.

Regular meetings will be held the first Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m., with the next meeting being Monday in the Texas Electric Reddy Room. At that time, activities will be planned for the coming year.

'First Families' And Religion Discussed

"Home Life of America's First Families," was the title of a program held Friday for the Modern Woman's Forum in the First Federal Community Room. Mrs. Harwood Keith was hostess.

The program was led by Mrs. H. M. Rowe who described the home life of the Washingtons, Adamsses, Madisons and the Teddy Roosevelts. Mrs. Rowe said Mrs. Julia Tyler was in the White House less than a year but her parties were credited by President Tyler as a great help in bringing Texas into the Union; Sarah Polk forbade dancing, wine drinking and card playing in the White House while Lucy Hayes was known as 'Lemonade Lucy' because she would not permit liquor in the White House and President Hayes called her the "Golden Rule Incarnate".

The program was supplemented by the topic, "Aspects of Religion," presented by Mrs. Bert Affleck who explained that religion to one person may mean man's relationship to the being or beings that control or influence his life while, to another, it may mean man's attempt to cope with the hostile world by appealing the deity or deities of his own making. In general, what a person judges to be the essence of religion is heavily slanted toward his own problems, interests and background.

Hinduism, Buddhism and Confucianism are classified as Eastern religions and have these basic beliefs in common: they are oriented toward nature, and their Divine Power or Powers are conceived of as impersonal.

Christianity, Judaism and the Mohammed religions are classified as Western religions, and their basic beliefs are oriented toward history. Here the main emphasis is on time; world and man created and not eternal; truth comes through particular persons and there is strong interest in clearly defined doctrine. Also individual will is exalted. Taking into consideration all types of religions, it may be concluded that "Religion is man's reliance upon a pivotal value in which he finds his essential wholeness as an individual and as a man-in-community; for him all other values are subordinated to this central value."

Miss Harland performed as a high school music diploma candidate. The students performing Thursday will be Annabeth Deats, Rinda Lee, Suzann Craig, Larry Wheat and Cassandra Green.

Students of Mrs. S. T. Cheatham who were to perform today are Sharon Stephens, Irene Little, Brian Jones, Kevin Crenwelge, Denise Crenwelge, Sandy Booth, Jeri Dawn Booth, Craig McMahon, Vickie Halbash, Debi Eyre, Laura Lynn, Warren, Beverly Anderson and Sandra Dickenson.

Mrs. Chesley McDonald's pupils who will play Thursday are Laura Bartosh, Patricia Roby, Garry Tibbs, Kelly Schmenk, Julianne Raines, Dana Workman, Melinda Priddy, Valerie Wilson, Gail Mathews, Stacy Wilson, Michael Bartosh, Tanya Hollis, Carol Adams and Laurie Boadle.

Installation Plans Made By Council

Plans were made for installation of newly-elected officers of Big Spring Council of Garden Clubs at a meeting held in the home of Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales.

Installation has been set for 3:30 p.m., May 22 at Coker's Restaurant.

Those to be installed are Mrs. Paul Guy, Planter's Club, president; Mrs. J. C. Pickle, Big Spring Club, vice president; Mrs. Melba Wilkes, Rosebud How to Grow Club, secretary; Mrs. A. C. Moore, Texas Star African Violet Club, treasurer; Mrs. L. B. Edwards, Texas Bouquet African Violet Club, parliamentarian.

Five clubs were represented at the meeting and brought annual reports.

Mrs. Clinkscales, co-chairman for "Clean-up and Beautify Big Spring," a council project, reported on the work done at the Community (Halfway) House. Trees that have been donated by organizations and individuals in the city have been planted and various plants have been set out.

A report was also made on the April 27 clean-up day with Dr. Paul Koshi directing Boy Scouts who assisted in the work.

Couple Married In Raymondville Rites

Mr. and Mrs. Charles King Johnson are residing at 335 W. Kimball, Raymondville, following a wedding trip to Monterrey, Mexico. The couple was married April 13 in the Eighth and Harrison Church of Christ in Harlingen, with Johnny Thompson, minister, officiating.

The bride is the former Carol Ann McChristian of Raymondville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie F. McChristian, Sterling City Rt., Big Spring. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Johnson, Raymondville.

The bridegroom, who served a four-year tour of duty with the U.S. Air Force, is attending Pan American University at Edinburg, majoring in police science. Mrs. Johnson, who attended Howard County Junior College, graduated from Abilene Christian College with a BS degree in education. She is teaching remedial reading in the Raymondville Independent School System.

The altar setting for the ceremony was enhanced with arrangements of white gladioli, spider mums and stock, and music was by a vocal group from San Benito. Soloists were Mr. and Mrs. John Brockman, Houston.

The bride was attired in an ivory gown of silk organza and Alencon lace, with pinaflore yoke edged with crystal pleating. The pleating was repeated on lace cuffs of the bishop sleeves and on the trim of the court-length train. A bandeau of lace rosettes held her elbow-length veil.

Her bouquet was a cascade of orchids and gladioli florets.

Miss Sandra McChristian of Big Spring, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and the other attendants were Miss Stephanie Merback, San Antonio, bridesmaid; and Mrs. James Pickard, New Braunfels, bridesmatron. They were identically attired in floor-length gowns of lime green crepe trimmed with green lace. Each carried a nosegay of white pompons with leather leaf greenery.

The bridegroom's brother, Tom M. Johnson, Port Mansfield, was best man, and groomsmen were Dane Beasley, Crockett; and Gus Cannon, Harlingen. The ushers were Russ Webster and Kent Medland, both of Raymondville.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church where refreshments were served from a table appointed with silver appointments and candelabra arranged with orchids and gladioli florets. Those serving were Miss Evelyn Dell, Miss Beverly Unian, Mrs. Carlos Llanes, Mrs. Dane Beasley and Miss Gaye Waters.

Out-of-town guests attending were Mrs. Lois Redman grandmother of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Johnson and Brook Johnson, uncle of the bridegroom.

House Divided

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My brother left his wife and five children and got a divorce. My close friend subsequently divorced her husband. It soon came out that my brother and my friend had been seeing each other for a few years before their divorces. They are presently living together and plan to be married soon. I hope they will find the happiness together they lacked in their former marriages, but there is a problem.

I have always been very close to my brother's wife and I adore the children. My brother says that his ex-wife is no longer a part of the family, and that if I want to see his children, I should do so when he has them for visitation. Brother says that if his ex-wife is invited to any family gatherings, he and his wife-to-be will not come.

I don't want to have to choose whom to invite to my home for a family affair, but I am told that since my brother is closer to me than his ex-wife, he should not have to stay away. During the holidays, I invited everyone and left the decision up to those who wanted to come, but there was side-choosing and ill feelings, so I cancelled the party. My own children are being denied associating with their cousins, and remaining neutral is not easy. Please help.

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Your brother divorced his wife, you didn't, so don't let him dictate whom you shall have in your home. Ask everyone you want, and if Brother doesn't want to come, let him stay away.

DEAR ABBY: Several of us have a question to which we have been unable to find an answer.

When a married man is invited to be the guest speaker for a women's club (business or social), what about his wife?

The affair is usually held in the evening at a motel or hotel beginning with a dinner. What is the speaker's wife supposed to do? Sit home and eat alone while her husband is being fussed over by a bunch of women?

I feel that if a club can't afford two meals, they should get their speakers from the membership.

Also, what if the meeting is out of town over a weekend? Don't you think the speaker's wife should be invited too? Please set us straight on this.

A CLUB DIVIDED
DEAR CLUB: It is customary when inviting a speaker to let him know that his wife is welcome, too. If this courtesy is omitted and the speaker wants his wife to be included, he should say so. Weekends? Absolutely — if the budget permits.

DEAR ABBY: To the lady who was 30 and recently divorced and wanted to know where to go to meet men. Here's what I did at age 36 and newly divorced:

I called around to all the churches (all denominations) and got religious and social gatherings the churches sponsored for singles in my age group. Then I made a list and took turns visiting all the churches. It took a lot of courage to go to so many strange groups alone, but it paid off because at the Unitarian church I met just the man for me. We have been happily married for 15 years.

HAPPY IN HOUSTON
DEAR HAPPY: Some people go to church to pray. Others go to pray they meet someone. To each his own. For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Bride-Elect Is Honored

Miss Carol Perry, future bride of Lt. David Murchison of McGuire AFB, N.J., was the honoree at a pre-nuptial gift shower held Saturday in the home of Mrs. Norman English, 1904 Goliad.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Lynn Dale, Mrs. Clifford McFarland and Mrs. Kenneth Stephens.

Attired in a blue and yellow pantsuit, Miss Perry received guests with her mother, Mrs. Hervey Perry. They were presented corsages made of miniature wedding bells tied with pink and burgandy ribbons.

The refreshment table, covered with a white lace cloth, was appointed with crystal and silver. The centerpiece featured a replica of a bride.

The couple plans to be married June 15 in the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ.

Guests Entertained By Residents Of Forsan

FORSAN (SC) — Recent guests of the A. J. McCall's were Mrs. McCall's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Jones of Stanton.

Couple's Bridge Game Winners

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Fish were first place winners in the Couples Duplicate Games at Big Spring Country Tuesday evening. Other winners were Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Jones, second; Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, third; Lt. Col. and Mrs. Roy Dayton, fourth; Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Gray, fifth. Players do not have to be members of the club and all are welcome to join in the Tuesday night games.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Anderson left Saturday for Kingsland to visit their daughter and family, the Dan Hayhursts.

Robert Wash, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wash, a student in West Texas State College, San Marcos, was home at the weekend to visit his parents.

Weekend guests of the L. S. Camps were their granddaughter and family, the Tony Suttles; their daughter, Mrs. Boyd Brawley; and a grandson, Donald Goch, all of Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Overton left Tuesday morning for Woodward, Okla., to purchase some show lambs. They were accompanied by their county agent and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver West of Garden City.

School Club Has Art Center Tour

The Big Spring High School Bible Club has returned from the Fort Worth-Dallas area where they toured the Biblical Art Center to view the painting,

"Miracle of Pentecost."

Prayer was led by Bobby Green. Later, the group went to Six Flags. The church vans were driven by two teachers, John Stiles and Ralph Matteson, and other teachers and parents assisted with the trip.

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League were to return to court today in a battle to keep their players from negotiating with the new World Football League.

The Cowboys agreed on Tuesday to drop individual restraining orders against players Craig Morton and Calvin Hill, who have signed contracts with the 1975 season with WFL teams.

State District Court Judge Charles Long was to reconvene the hearing at 10 a.m.

Tuesday, Cowboy lawyer Marshall Simmons asked Long to recess the hearing, saying he was tired. Long denied the request.

Simmons had been shuttling between Dallas and Houston, where the WFL had obtained a court-injunction against the Cowboys in federal court.

PRESSING DEFENSE - Milwaukee's Ocar Robertson (1) pulls up short as he is pressed by Boston Celtics Don Chaney (12) and John Havlicek (17) Tuesday during National Basketball Association playoff action in Milwaukee. The Celtics used a pressing defense most of the game, but the Bucks tied the championship series at one game each by winning Tuesday, 105-96.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL

Aaron's 720th No Big Deal

By The Associated Press
 Vic Raschi and Lynn McGlothen are from two different baseball eras, but Hank Aaron bridged their generation gap Tuesday night.

Babe Ruth was a seemingly unreachable 713 homers away on April 23, 1954, when Aaron started his homer brigade in St. Louis, belting No. 1 off Raschi.

Twenty years, 719 home runs and 1,399 extra base hits later, St. Louis was the site of another Aaron home run, this one served up by McGlothen.

"Why should I worry about his 720th," said McGlothen, who helped pitch the Cardinals to a 7-2 victory over the Braves. "He'd hit 719 of them before."

Elsewhere in the National League, the Houston Astros downed the Chicago Cubs 4-2. The San Diego Padres shattered the Montreal Expos 2-1; the

Agitate May Shock Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Trainer Jimmy Jimenez says, "I don't know if Agitate has run his best race yet."

And that could be bad news for a host of other trainers and owners who hope to win Saturday's 100th Kentucky Derby.

The Pennsylvania-bred colt who has campaigned in California is one of few 3-year-olds in the United States this year to go under 1:49 for 1 1/2 miles.

Agitate won the Bradbury Stakes by six lengths in 1:48 2/5, won the California Derby in 1:48 4/5 and also broke 1:49 when he finished third, less than a length out of first, in the Santa Anita Derby behind Destroyer, a Derby hopeful, and Aloha Mood, not in the Derby.

To make the Kentucky Derby his sixth victory in seven starts, Agitate, who did not race as a 2-year-old, will have to beat about 21 other 3-year-olds.

Entries for the 1 1/4 mile Derby at Churchill Downs will be made Thursday. A 22-horse field would equal the record set in 1928, when Reigh Count won, and would mean a gross purse of $319,000, with $267,500 to the winner.

Post time is 4:30 p.m. CDT. CBS will televise from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Agitate's toughest competition could come from the Woody Stephens-trained entry of Seth Hancock's Judger and John M. Olin's Cannonade and the Sigmund Sommer-owned pair of Rube The Great and Accipiter.

Judger, winner of the Florida Derby and Blue Grass Stakes, will be ridden by Laffit Pincay Jr., who rode Agitate in all of his races except the California Derby. Pincay is committed to ride Judger, so the great Bill Shoemaker will ride Agitate.

Cannonade, winner of the Stepping Stone Purse, will be ridden by Angel Cordero Jr., while Miguel A. Rivera will be aboard Rube The Great, first in divisions of the Gotham and Wood Memorial, and Angel Wood will ride Accipiter.

Other probables, and their riders, included Lexico, Gustavo Avila; Set N' Go, Bill Davidia; J.R.'s Pet, Darrell McHargue; Destroyer, Ismael Valenzuela; Sir Tristram, Bill Hartack; Pat McGregor, Tommy Barrow.

Warner Leads Late Milwaukee Explosion

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Boston Celtics' pressure defense was all but impregnable for almost 32 minutes Tuesday night, but when a crack finally appeared Cornell Warner was ready.

Warner drove the lane for a pair of dunk shots, adding a free throw after the first one, in the last 34 seconds of overtime. His second basket gave the Milwaukee Bucks a 103-96 lead en route to a 105-96 victory, squaring their National Basketball Association championship series at 1-1.

The Celtics battled from a 16-point deficit early in the third quarter to tie at 90-90 on two free throws by John Havlicek with 58 seconds left in regulation, the final points until the five minute extra period.

The Celtics had two more chances to win on regulation and thus take a 2-0 lead in the best of seven series back to Boston. However, Milwaukee's 7-foot-2 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar blocked a shot by Dave Cowens with 10 seconds left, and a jump shot by Havlicek rolled off the rim as regulation time expired.

The next two games will be in Boston, starting with game three Friday night.

The Bucks, leading 98-96, Paul Silas, drove the lane and called time with 39 seconds left in overtime. Oscar Robertson passed inbound to Warner near midcourt when play resumed. Warner wheeled past Paul Silas, drove the lane and made the game's biggest basket. Cowens, who scored 17 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, fouled out on the play and Warner converted the free throw.

"It was the biggest dunk of the year. Baby, what a play," Bucks' Coach Larry Costello shouted.

"It was a beautiful move, a move a player should react to instinctively," Costello said.

"He's supposed to forget the play we called when that happens and take the basket. He had the basket."

The 6-foot-9 Warner, who scored only 11 points but contributed 13 rebounds—eight more than in the Bucks' 98-83 defeat Sunday—said he knew he could beat Silas as soon as he took Robertson's pass.

"I was supposed to give it back to Oscar, but he was covered," Warner said. "I saw the layup and just decided to take it."

Coach Tom Heinsohn said he was proud of his Celtics. "We didn't play our best game and it still took an overtime to beat us," Heinsohn said. "In two games, we won one big and lost the second in an overtime."

Other point-winners for Garden City were Sheila Halfmann, who took fifth in the 100-yard dash in 11.8 and fifth in the 220 in 27.5, and Chandler, who was third in the 60 with a 7.4 clocking.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Stephen F. Austin got caught with its hand in the proverbial cookie jar, or at least passing out goodies from it, last week and the Lone Star Conference put the Lumberjacks on probation for a couple of years. Ex-HCJC all-star Archie Myers was the man in question, and a special investigating group found that SFA was something less than on the up-and-up with its recruiting methods in Archie's case.

Archie benefited with a car and some cash, plus a few other luxuries, and the LSC got Stephen F. for paying his way to the NAIA playoffs while he was still a student at Howard College. It's all true. But it's also a drop in the bucket even in the LSC.

I won't be dumb enough to say that what SFA did was OK, but it's a sure bet that if investigating firms had the time to snoop around the other league schools, almost every one would come out with some kind of blot. SFA's mistake the past several years has been winning too often and by too much, and now the rest of the folks want to dance on the Lumberjacks' heads for a while.

Myers can't be hurt by the decision in any way. Since he's finished out his eligibility they can't do anything to him, but if this had been uncovered a year ago Archie would have been forced to sit out this season — something that might have ruined his career.

His plans now, since he wasn't drafted by the ABA, are to play in the European league with ex-teammates at SFA Pete Harris and Robert Gords, probably in Spain.

Big Spring baseball coach Larry Horton feels it was only just that the Steers, ridiculed in most 5-AAAA circles, sweep their two-game series with Abilene Cooper. It seems that the Abilene Reporter-News had been more than just a little uncomplimentary at times in describing the Steers, providing the Steers with incentive and Horton with bulletin board material.

Speaking of the Reporter-News, sports writer Art Lawler wrote his own "obituary" Sunday. Lawler turned 30, and in his "Scramblin'" column admitted that it's going to be tough living with gray hair and white underwear. I've considered Lawler a good old friend for a few years now, but I never really knew how old.

Dist. 5-AAAA champion San Angelo looks like it might be in a good spot to win the state track championship this weekend in Austin. The Bobcats take five individuals and a relay team to the meet, and appear to rate the favorites nod along with Fort Worth Dunbar, San Antonio Highlands and Galveston Ball.

The Bobcats probably would have been an outright favorite, but an accident during the district mile relay scratched the speedy Angeloans in that event.

There's already been one upset in the thing. Dallas Roosevelt mini-speeider Alvin Crenshaw, who had the fastest time in the nation last year in the 880-yard dash, didn't qualify in the event this year as he finished third in a windstorm. Crenshaw will run on Roosevelt's mile relay team, however, which will be favored.

NEW YORK RALLIES, 89-85 Kenon Sparks Nets' Win

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Kenon finished as the only other New York player in the New York Nets bench for about eight agonizing minutes and points. He also was the game's leading rebounder with 20, including nine off the offensive boards, more than the rest of the New York team.

The game was a first for the Nets since April 20 when they completed a four-game sweep over the Kentucky Colonels in the East Division final series. Except for Fraving, who fired in 19 of 29 including 13 in a row, and Kenon, who hit nine of 15, the Nets shooting was abysmal.

Utah's was too. The Stars' only consistent marksman was Jimmy Jones, who hit his last eight shots and nine of 11 overall and finished with 25 points. Erving, the league's most valuable player and the ABA's scoring champion for the second year in a row, was devastating in the first three periods, scoring 12, 14, and 15 points respectively.

His final total of 47 points were three short of the Nets playoff record and only six shy of the league mark of 53. He shares the ABA record with Roger Brown of Indiana, but he accompanied the feat while with Virginia in 1972.

Steers Drop 5-1 Decision To OHS

ODESSA — The Odessa High Bronchos came up with nine hits and Don Hudnall turned in a three-hit effort to lift the OHS lads to a 5-1 victory over the Big Spring Steers Tuesday.

The Steers, who had a 1-0 lead at one time, fell to 1-5 in Dist. 5-AAAA second half action and on the year the Longhorns stand 5-20. The disappointing season ends for the Steers at home Saturday when they battle San Angelo in a 2 p.m. affair.

Odessa, which now stands 2-4 and 11-12, got clutch efforts from Mike Fambro, who drove in two Broncho runs in a third inning outburst, and Mike Sterling and Derrill Eubanks, who had two hits apiece.

Losing pitcher Earl Reynolds managed Big Spring's only extra base hit, a double, and John Thomas Smith and Sammy Rodriguez each managed singles in the defeat.

Reynolds, who fell to 3-7 on the year, gave up eight hits and all five runs in the five innings he worked. He struck out six and walked three. Dick Battle, just returning from an ankle injury, and Pat Carroll offered relief help in the sixth inning. Hudnall, now 4-4 on the season, was in control most of the time. He struck out eight and didn't walk a batter, and only three Steers were left on base.

Cooper nudged Midland 5-5 in a rainy affair in Abilene to lift its record to 5-1 and Abilene heading into the action, had its tilt with Midland Lee raised out. The Lee-AHS match was reset for this afternoon, and the Eagles must win to keep pace with CHS, the team it closes out this season against on Saturday.

Elsewhere in Dist. 5-AAAA Tuesday, Odessa Permian blanked San Angelo 3-0 and Odessa slugged Big Spring 5-1. Lee, 3-2, could stay in the race with a victory over the Eagles today while Midland's loss to Cooper knocked the Bulldogs out of the running at 3-3. Permian is also at 3-3, while Odessa and San Angelo hold 2-4 marks and Big Spring is 1-5.

MSA Sets Last Chance

The Miss Softball America League of Big Spring will hold its final sign-up session Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Howard College Student Union Building, Hohertz.

Through two registration sessions, 335 girls have registered for the leagues' 26 teams. Girls between eight and 18 years of age are eligible to compete in one of the four leagues, senior, major, minor and mini-minor.

Girls unable to attend the last sign-up may call player goals, carrying the Nets to a representative Gordon Myrick at 263-6854. Hohertz also said performance down the stretch, that managers and coaches are a rarity for a rookie in such a critical game, virtually overshadowed the brilliant 47-point bing of his teammate, Julius Erving.

Funds Available

MIDLAND — Funds will be made available for 100-units of housing for elderly persons, Mayor Ernest Angelo Jr. has been informed. The project may be undertaken through HUD out of funds set up previously for a rehabilitation of abandoned FHA units as low-income housing. This particular project ran into protests and was abandoned.

Deputies Indicted

HOUSTON (AP) — Two Harris County sheriff's deputies have been indicted by a county grand jury on charges of murder in the shooting death of a youth.

Named in indictment returned here were Charles Edward Gendrett and George Martin Wilson.

State District Court Judge Frank Price placed bond for the officers at $20,000 in the death of Guadalupe Lopez, 19.

Gendrett and Wilson have said they fired at Lopez, who was nude, after he slashed at following a car chase and later a foot chase after Lopez' car stopped with a flat tire.

The same grand jury had no-billed the two officers last February.

"There was no new evidence presented (from the last consideration)," said grand jury foreman Sue Eisenbrook. "It was just the feeling of the grand jury to reconsider the case."

Sheriff Jack Heard said the two officers were relieved of duty Monday and he would determine whether they will be fired when the warrants officially arrive.

Dr. Fallon Authors Book On Extending Prime Time

A few years ago Dr. Berlie Fallon, graduate director for the college of education at Texas Tech University, was visiting a friend from Big Spring.

"What are you going to do when you retire," he asked. "I haven't the slightest idea," said the friend.

That set him to thinking. How many people arrive at the prime of life only to retire with no idea of what to do? Several years of research later, Dr. Fallon, who grew up in Big Spring and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Claude Fallon, put together a book, "How to Extend Your Prime Beyond Your Time."

Before the book appears sometime later this year, however, a new spin-off for Dr. Fallon will appear. It is a condensation of the book on tape, designed by and to be distributed by Success Motivation Institute, 5000 Lakewood Drive, Waco, 76710.

Initial response to the tape has been such that plans are to be made for translation into Japanese and Portuguese (for the Brazilian market). The author's thesis is that everyone has a spark of creativity, which can be consciously developed, and thus open the doors to avocations, new fields of interests, and possibly new careers at retirement.

He outlines several basic rules to help individuals keep growing and make life continually exciting. One is to make good use of leisure time. Another is to set goals and then achieve them; to develop strong self-faith. He encourages this by exploration, experimentation and self-evaluation. He calls for the development of the "sixth sense" (Imagination) and the "seventh sense" (creativity).

The tape contains a section on self-understanding, and finally one on living creatively.

Throughout are interspersed check lists which will help individuals pinpoint strengths and weaknesses, goals and how to attain them. He stresses that every person can develop and expand his or her creative talents, and for good measure Dr. Fallon establishes nine categories of creative endeavor from arts and crafts to recreation to travel.

Dr. Fallon confesses that he may someday take a dose of his own medicine. Already, he is outlining plans for seminars to give to various groups of encourage planning years ahead for retirement and stretch the prime of life beyond their time. He may even hold seminars for oldsters on how they still can do something about doing something.

Tenure Awards Are Passed Out

For civil service tenure totaling 200 years, nine civilians were honored at an awards presentation ceremony last weekend in the wing conference room. Heading the list of longevity awards were Hugo G. Campbell, LGM, and Vernon R. Hinsley, DE, both of whom have completed 30 years of service.

Receiving 20 year awards — which included emblems and certificates — were Jack W. Swearingen, DE; Charles D. Biddison, SV; Donald S. Brooks, LGM; Lowell D. Shortes, LGM; Joseph C. Thames, LGS; Marvin Burcham, LGS; and Anita M. Stone, LGS.

Seven civilian who have completed 10 years of service each also received service emblems and certificates in division ceremonies. They include Gienna F. Cornwell, AC; Jack H. Murdock, AC; Muriel S. Denton, SV; John W. Stephenson, DE; Jimmy O. Leal Jr., LGM; Gloria P. McCombs, LGS; and Mary E. Thompson, LGS.

When was the last time you stood up and applauded a movie?

When were you so impressed and involved that you spontaneously cheered? In theaters across the country, audiences are standing up applauding and cheering "Walking Tall." It is a deeply moving, contemporary film. "Walking Tall" is based on the true story of a young man who wouldn't surrender to the system... and the girl who always stood by him.

Says Smallpox Will Be Eradicated Next Year

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The head of the World Health Organization predicted Tuesday that smallpox, mankind's most-dread killer disease, will be eradicated next year.

MIRACLE — Director General Halldan Mahler thus confirmed optimistic progress reports from a worldwide campaign launched in 1967 against the disease that killed more people in the past 3,000 years than all wars, according to health historians.

Health workers and a simple needle that costs less than a penny are credited with achieving what Dr. Mahler called the "first miracle of public health."

Though conceding "certain tasks have still to be accomplished" in several countries, including Bangladesh, Pakistan and Ethiopia, he said he is confident that 1975 will see the "last new case of smallpox in the world."

Mahler also said his confidence was not shaken by epidemics in India, Pakistan and Bangladesh. The world total of new cases soared from 65,000 in 1972 to 130,000 in 1973. When the campaign started seven years ago, the total had been 2½ million.

HIGHEST IN ASIA — The campaign against smallpox is only one of dozens of drives sponsored by the World Health Organization against communicable diseases, including malaria and polio.

When the smallpox campaign started, the disease was considered endemic in about 30 countries. Smallpox mortality was highest in Asia, up to about 30 per cent; and it was out of control on the Indian subcontinent and in Indonesia.

The biggest breakthrough came in 1968 with the introduction of the bifurcated needle, which is dipped into the vaccine and used to prick the skin about 15 times. Trained vaccinators can process up to 1,500 persons a day.

The needle has been used on hundreds of million people and has been described by health experts as "infallible even if badly misused."

The health organization's latest weekly report, issued last Friday, listed 2,123 cases in India and Bangladesh. The death total for India was not given. For Bangladesh it was 79.

One of the last great European epidemics in the 19th century claimed 41,000 dead in Britain alone.

Hospital Petition Due Circulation

ODESSA — Petitions will be circulated soon asking the Ector County Commissioners Court to call a bond election for hospital improvements.

R. F. Juedeman, chairman of the advisory committee for hospital improvements, said attorneys had indicated 4,100 signatures will be required for the election. No firm figure has been put in the size of a bond issue, but estimates were that it will require $18 to $20 million to put Medical Center Hospital into the condition and size recommended.
