Photos Show CIA Airline Transported Viet Prisoners

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Air America, the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency airline, was used to transport North Vietnamese troops captured by South Vietnamese forces in a battle this week, U.S. Ambassador Graham A. Martin admitted today.

Martin denied that this was a violation of the Vietnam cease-fire agreement, which says in Article 4: "The United States will not continue its military involvement or intervene in the internal affairs of South Vietnam."

ADMISSION

Martin made his admission after Associated Press photographs taken in the Mekong Delta showed uniformed South Vietnamese troops loading handcuffed Vietnamese aboard a plane marked Air America.

The ambassador said he authorized the transport of a wounded North Vietnamese at the request of the South Vietnamese government for "humanitarian reasons." He said he didn't know six other prisoners would be added to the flight.

The photographs show that one of the prisoners was wounded in the leg, but he was walking toward the plane to board it after being put on exhibit with the other prisoners before the people of the nearby town of Moc Hoa.

The North Vietnamese were flown from Moc Hoa, 45 miles west of Saigon, to Can Tho, farther south.

HUMANITARIAN

Air America came to Indochina as the air transport arm of the CIA's secret war in Laos. Martin explained that while it is now under contract to the four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision which is supposed to monitor the Vietnam cease-fire, it also is under contract to the U.S. Embassy for purely American business, mostly courier trips around South Vietnam.

NIX WAGE-PRICE CONTROLS Senate Decides Uncle Sam Needs Watchdog Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has decided the government needs a special watchdog agency over inflation, but has buried an attempt to restore authority for new wage and price controls.

Acting less than 24 hours after the administration's old controls program expired, the Senate voted 44 to 41 in favor of an amendment giving the administration authority to monitor wages and prices for another year.

MORE POWER

The amendment also gives the administration powers to enforce anti-inflation commitments made by several hundred major corporations before the controls program expired.

But the Senate rejected 56 to 32 a last-ditch attempt to renew authority for stand-by wage and price controls for another year. Some liberal Democrats joined Republicans to defeat the proposal.

The amendment granting new economy-monitoring authority was tacked on to an unrelated bill to implement the International Economy Policy Act. Although Republicans succeeded in putting off a final vote until next Wednesday, prospects for final passage were considered good.

The bill would next go to the House, where chances of success are regarded as less certain.

FIGHT INFLATION

One of the chief backers of the amendment, Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, argued it would be foolish not to keep a mechanism for combating inflation in view of the country's continuing high inflation rate.

The administration said earlier in the day that the Cost of Living Council would do its best to enforce anti-inflation commitments made by businesses in 17 industries, even without new authority, until June 30.

The White House said it might have a statement on the nation's economy today. A statement had been scheduled Wednesday, but was postponed, apparently to await the outcome of the Senate vote, a spokesman indicated.

A partial text of the statement, which was obtained Wednesday, said the administration's Committee on Interest Dividends was being abolished.

Precinct Conventions Will Follow Election Saturday

By JOHN EDWARDS
Intra-party politics won't be over when the Republican and Democratic polls close at 7 p.m. Saturday.
At 7:15 p.m., both parties will have precinct conventions convening at the voting places. Statewide, three factions will be vying in Democratic precinct conventions, conservatives supporting Gov. Dolph Briscoe, liberals and backers of Alabama Gov. George Wallace, according to the Associated Press.
Here in Howard County, Lee Porter, Democratic County chairman, said he had no way of knowing what would happen until it happened at precinct conventions and the county convention.
Porter saw "no way of sifting that out" ahead of time which factions would be represented.
Both liberals and Wallace supporters have voiced concern that the Briscoe supporters have already laid the groundwork to control many of Saturday's precinct conventions, AP reports.
BRISCOE'S COMMITTEE
They are concerned about the well-financed Governor's Convention Committee headed by Gordon R. Wynne Jr., of Wills Point.
The committee has no official connection with the state organization but was formed to assure a large turnout of Briscoe supporters at the precinct conventions.
Delegates from Democratic precinct conventions will gather for the county convention May 11 at 8 p.m. in the county courtroom. The county convention will select delegates to represent Howard County at the state convention.
GOP MEETS
AP said Republican precinct conventions Saturday are expected to be "low key affairs."
G. Ben Bancroft, chairman of the Republican Party here, said he did not know what the news service meant.

Bancroft anticipated precinct and county convention delegates would pass resolutions commending certain party officials and possibly resolutions, in connection with the three referendum issues on the Republican ballot, pari-mutuel betting, income tax and the proposed "right-to-work" measure.
VOTING BOXES
Voting precincts have been combined into four voting places for the Republican Primary.
Look on your voter registration certificate for the voting box number in the upper left hand corner for the voting box number.
If you receive a letter from the county tax office notifying you that your voting precinct has been altered, be sure to refer to this letter.

Precinct chairman in both parties are asked to report the results of precinct conventions to the Big Spring Herald Saturday night.
Camporee Is This Weekend
A large turnout of Scouts is expected for the Spring camporee of the Lone Star district this weekend at Moss Creek Lake.
Camp grounds will be on the south side of the lake, and troops may begin moving in after school Friday. No special activities are scheduled for that evening so that troops may establish and tidy their camps. Each troop is urged to bring as much of its wood supply as possible.
All day Saturday there will be contests in Scout skills and other events, together with recreational periods. Parents are invited to attend the campfire program Saturday evening at 8 o'clock when each troop will present a stunt or skit.
Some units may break camp afterward, but most plan to remain until after the 9 a.m. church services Sunday.

Camporee Is This Weekend
Some Precinct Lines Changed
Several voting precinct lines have been changed this year, and voters in the boxes which were changed were sent notices from the tax collector-assessor's office.
Not only were lines between No. 3 and No. 16 changed in Big Spring, but so were several other boxes in different parts of the county.
Zirah Bednar, assessor-collector, urged all voters notified to go to the voting box specified in the letter from their office. This will save them time and trouble, she said.

The Big Spring Central Labor Council urges all eligible voters to exercise their right to vote on May 4, 1974.

It has been brought to my attention that some voters are in doubt as to their qualifications and eligibility to vote in the upcoming primary election that will be held Saturday, May 4, 1974.

This is understandable because of previous methods of qualifying to vote such as paying your poll tax or registering each year. Now if you were qualified to vote in 1972 you are eligible to vote on May 4th. Currently, each time you vote you renew your right to vote for another three (3) years.

If you have lost or misplaced your registration certificate, you are still eligible to vote. The clerks at the polling places will assist you if you have lost your registration certificate.

If you are in doubt as to where you vote, call the County Clerk's office and give them your resident address. They will advise you of the location of your voting box.

Immediately after the polls close at 7:00 P.M. there will be a precinct convention at each polling place. I urge each voter to attend this convention as this is the meeting that delegates to the County Convention are elected along with other business that concerns your political party.

Please vote and attend the Precinct Convention. Help Democracy work on election day.

West Texans Stage Fight Over Pirate Radio Ship

DALLAS (AP) — A West Texas promoter of a pirate radio ship operating of the coast of England says he was "kicked out" of the venture in late 1966 and another West Texan "violently took over."

Don Pierson of Eastland testified for seven hours Tuesday in a trial involving an alleged debt of $348,180 for transmitting equipment aboard the ship.

Continental Electronics Manufacturing Co. of Dallas (CEMCO) brought the civil suit into District Court in an effort to link more than 20 businessmen and doctors from Texas to the operation and prove it was a joint venture.

NO LEGAL ACTION The equipment, purchased in February 1966, was for use aboard a ship named Olga Patricia, which broadcast programs and commercials from the English Channel into England. The English government had banned commercial broadcast, but the ship was in international waters and no legal action was taken.

Pierson testified he went with four men to buy the equipment. He said the four—Sam Plummer, Joe Barnard, Tony Westmoreland and Kim Polk—signed the conditional sales agreement.

The promoter said he wrote CEMCO a $50,000 check out of the World Wide Investments checking account.

CEMCO attorneys are attempting to link the doctors and businessmen to the operations of World Wide Investments and claim each loaned money to the company to buy the equipment.

Pierson said after the ship and equipment were purchased, his job entailed internal business operations.

William Vick, he testified, ran the floating station and sold commercial time.

Pierson said the station encountered equipment difficulties and slumping commercial sales and that he was ousted from his management responsibilities at a meeting in Abilene, Tex., on Oct. 7, 1966. Pierson said Jim Langford of Wichita Falls took over the meeting and "it was very stormy."

Pierson told the court the venture started with $750,000, which included cash and equipment.

Cemco, through a federal court order, was able to get the broadcast equipment back in 1970 and resold it for $64,000.

Banking Interests Donate To Patman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wright Patman, chairman of the House Banking and Currency committee, has reported raising more than $100,000 for his re-election campaign, the largest single segment of which has come from savings and loan and banking interests, according to the citizens lobby Common Cause.

Reports filed by the Texas Democrat and a fund raising committee with the clerk of the House covering campaign finances through April 12 show Patman had raised $105,205 and spent $81,350 in his campaign.

A compilation by Common Cause shows that $33,945 of Patman's campaign receipts came from savings, loan, mortgage and other banking interests.

Patman, who is also chairman of the Joint Economic Committee, faces two challengers in Saturday's Texas primary, including Fred Hudson Jr., whom he beat for the nomination two years ago. He spent only $26,423 in the 1972 primary and won 57.5 per cent of the vote. He was unopposed in the 1972 general election.

Individuals and organizations identified with savings and loan institutions have contributed $14,870 to Patman this year, the reports show.

Individuals whose occupations were listed as involving savings and loans gave $4,045 between February and April through a Bethesda, Md., committee called "Friends of Wright Patman." This includes $3,185 from 65 individuals associated with savings and loans in New York State.

The largest single items in the reports were a $10,000 loan from the National Bank of Washington and a $10,000 contribution from Texarkana, Tex., attorney Connor W. Patman.

Hudson, himself a savings and loan official, reported raising $18,401 for his campaign, and Glen Jones, the third candidate in the Democratic primary, reported $23,109. The only Republican candidate, James W. Farris, said he has raised $5,550.

Gloomy View Of Energy Crisis Voiced By Man

"If Congress, the Federal Power Commission, the steel industry, major oil companies and the Arabs continue on current paths, I predict that our energy problems will surely get worse, not better," said John R. Dorr, Permian Basin Petroleum Association president in opening the 12th Annual luncheon and business session in Midland Thursday.

"Punitive taxes being planned by Congress (including elimination of depletion, price rollbacks and excess profits taxes); the planned and growing shortage of tubular steel; the FPC demands for disclosure of heretofore private information; the lack of major company support in either pricing, taxes or steel and the Arabs deliberate holding down crude oil production to hold up prices, can only lead to forcing the domestic, independent operator out of business," he added.

"When those who have found 30 per cent of all domestic oil and gas reserves are forced out of business," Dorr continued, "there will just naturally be less reserves, smaller fuel supplies, longer lines at the gasoline pump and skyrocketing prices ($3 per gallon isn't impossible). Had the Arabs held off their embargo until 1976 the $5 per gallon would be guaranteed."

"The independent producer pays 37 per cent on his gross income in royalties, severance tax; ad valorem tax, on bonus rentals and maintenance. Every PBPA paid income tax, and 93 per cent reported paying more in 1973 than in 1972," he added.

CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR OF TEXAS

Favors Legalized Prostitution

By JIM BRIGANCE
Associated Press Writer

Steve Alexander says his first encounter with a prostitute came when he was 21.

Now, 27 years later, the Waco businessman has turned that memory into a major campaign platform in his race for the Texas governor's office.

"We're not strange. We like LaGrange," is one of his favored slogans.

LaGrange refers to the Central Texas town where the state's oldest brothel was closed down last year by no less a luminary than the governor himself.

'CHICKEN RANCH'

Alexander, campaigning in the May 4 Democratic primary against Gov. Dolph Briscoe, laments closing of the so-called "Chicken Ranch" bistro. He rates his chances of winning good, better and best.

"Anything that goes back that far is almost as sacred as the Alamo," Alexander said of the historic pleasure parlor.

Legalized prostitution, which Alexander favors, is a highly charged issue but, according to the candidate, "I've run into a great deal of enthusiastic support."

Alexander has coupled his prostitution stand with another hot potato: marijuana. "We're spending billions of dollars in this country refining the minds of our young people. But those involved in marijuana are mostly the young. What are we going to do? Load up our jails and prisons with all this talent?"

COLLEGE GRADUATE
Alexander is not a young, long-haired, whoopee singer, dope fiend, he says. "I'm 48 years old, I graduated from the

STEVE ALEXANDER
Waco Businessman

University of Texas. I have a personal interest in whether young girls or wives become prostitutes. I'll say this: the age of consent in Texas until 1908 was 10 years old. We've raised it since then. Adults have a right to make up their own minds about what they want to do.

"By legalizing prostitution, regulating it through medical supervision, zoning and what have you on a local option basis we will take the criminal element out of it. On top of that, it will remove much of the sexual frustration of society which causes much of our violence.

"I've had some people—not at church—tell me that I am a bachelor and therefore have no sexual frustration. I sat around drinking coleslaw with some of the girls then picked out one I liked. She was a fine specimen of womanhood and, what's more, she had been a school teacher. I asked her why she quit teaching school and she said she had decided to get paid for what she had been giving away," Alexander explained.

SEXUAL FRUSTRATION
A member of the Christian Science congregation at Waco, Alexander says he has had no problems with fellow church members.

"I've had some people—not at church—tell me that I am a bachelor and therefore have no sexual frustration. I sat around drinking coleslaw with some of the girls then picked out one I liked. She was a fine specimen of womanhood and, what's more, she had been a school teacher. I asked her why she quit teaching school and she said she had decided to get paid for what she had been giving away," Alexander explained.

"I would like to see America become a little less violent. We have a marvelous country here. I would like to see us enjoy it more...let our hair grow a little."

LEGALIZE POT

On legalization of marijuana, Alexander says softening of laws in Texas has helped the situation. "I don't think we need to turn it loose like a wild horse. It needs to be regulated but not to the point where we are jailing many of our youngsters for something no worse than alcohol," he said.

Alexander says he has received crank letters and comments from people over his position on prostitution. "But remember this," he says. "Our Master rebuked kings and rulers but he never reproached a prostitute. One he forgave and another he acquitted. George Washington slept everywhere. We've certainly become puritanical since then."

Prospects Dim For Low Rates

The prospect of again hitting a 7 per cent mortgage interest rate are dim, according to Big Spring Board of Realtors and the Texas Association of Realtors.

Speaking for the local group, Jeff Brown, who is a director in the Texas Association, said that currently rates are holding fairly steady at the 8 1/2-9 per cent level, but in the fall another upward push may be felt. Predictions are that an 8 per cent rate may be a new accepted norm.

Of course, a major economic upheaval could drive the market down.

Money costs are influencing use of rehabilitation loans, he noted. Building costs, with price ceiling off, are due to go up, one company having predicted a 12 per cent hike. Thus, most new homes are pushing the $30,000-$40,000 mark, and not everyone can afford that much house. Big Spring Property Owners Association members have been pushing for reclamation and restoration loans on older houses which sell from $5,000 to $15,000 and can be economically rehabilitated.

Parade Permits Denied Groups

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The city has denied a parade permit to two groups which wanted to march for President Nixon's impeachment when Nixon arrives here to open Expo '74 Saturday.

City Manager F. Sylvan Fuller said here that 30 days' notice is required to stage parades and that was why he denied a permit to Mrs. Georgia Lackman, who said she represented the Spokane chapters of the Washington Democratic Council and the American Civil Liberties Union.

American Names New Publisher

ODESSA — New publisher of the Odessa American is Lyle DeBolt, son of V. L. DeBolt, who died last week.

The younger DeBolt, a graduate of Odessa High School in 1951, has been serving as general manager of the Kinston, N.C., Daily Free Press, like the American a member of Freedom Newspapers Inc.

A graduate of North Texas State University, the younger DeBolt entered the U.S. Air Force and took his flight training at Webb AFB in Big Spring. He left the Air Force in 1957 to join the First National Bank in Odessa. He was a vice president of the bank in July of 1971 when he resigned to enter a management training program with Freedom Newspapers at the Valley Morning Star in Harlingen, Tex.

Pieces In Kissinger's Jigsaw Fall Together

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

The pieces in Secretary of State Kissinger's jigsaw seem to fall together now, and chances for some sort of Middle East settlement are brightening a bit.

The Syrian and Jordanian pieces have been difficult to fit into the picture, but something apparently has been stirring lately.

PULL OUT

First, Jordan's King Hussein says he's willing to accept a Palestinian state carved from his Israeli-occupied former land on the Jordan River's west bank, even without a plebiscite, if that is the "unanimous will" of Arab countries and if Israel withdraws.

To the north, Syrians and Israelis both have been dragging their feet. But Israel can — and some well-placed sources suggest she eventually will — pull out of Kuneitra, the ruined Golan Heights city. That would be enough to save Syrian pride and permit a disengagement process on that front to get started. It must, or there can be no hope of any settlement at all.

BEFORE LONG

One reason for suspecting something is up is that the Russians began to sound more tractable a short time ago. One Moscow broadcast to the Arabs, for example, included a striking line without qualification, that spoke flatly of "the forthcoming settlement of the Syrian-Israeli disengagement," as if there were no question about it ultimately.

Before long there will be another Soviet-American summit in Moscow. Unless something happens in the Middle East deadlock, it will open under a heavy cloud. The Russians are eager for summit results. They also want to make up for loss of influence in Egypt by producing some sort of Soviet showcase in Syria. Neither is possible without some break in the impasse.

IT TAKES A FAT CAT TO SEE HOW THEY RUN
Ask yourself one question.
Who really makes money from legalized racetrack gambling?
Not the state. The truth is that mobsters follow the horses and the cost of police protection against organized crime is always more than the insignificant increase in tax revenue.
Not the good people of Texas who may face new taxes to pay for a brand new bureaucracy to try to control gambling and fight the underworld.
Not you and me. That's for sure.
The truth is that only a few fat cats... and organized crime can make a dime from legalized racetrack gambling.
Let's vote AGAINST Saturday.

Northrop's Top Executive Fined

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Northrop Corp., a major government contractor, and two of its senior officials pleaded guilty in U.S. District Court Wednesday to making illegal contributions to President Nixon's re-election campaign. The corporation and Thomas V. Jones, its board chairman and chief executive officer, were fined $5,000 each. James Allen, Northrop's vice president, was fined $1,000. The fines were assessed by U.S. District Judge George L. Hart Jr., under a law barring political contributions where the contributor is a major government contractor.

Good Turnout Anticipated

GARDEN CITY — There will be four polling places in Glasscock County's Democratic primary Saturday, according to Mrs. Virginia Hartley, county chairman. Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Mrs. Hartley is anticipating a good turnout from the county's 540 registered voters. Helping will be two races for commissioners, both without incumbents seeking re-election. In Precinct 2, J. E. Wooten and G. R. Pearce are opponents, while in Precinct 4 the contestants are Ted W. Laughlin, Curtis Palmer and Henry Hillger. The voting boxes and places will be: Precinct 1, St. Lawrence Community Center; Precinct 2, County Courthouse; Precinct 3, Community Center; Precinct 4, School cafeteria, the latter three all in Garden City.

Hart said the 1940 law has never before been invoked and indicated that was a reason for not imposing jail sentences, which could have totaled as much as five years for Jones and one year for Allen. "If there ever comes before me a case on or after this date of this nature somebody most certainly will go to jail," Hart told them. The indictment charged that from between March 16, 1972 to last March 4 the California based — aerospace firm contributed about $150,000 to the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President and its California branch. The money was provided by advancing Northrop corporate funds to a European consultant associated with the firm who in turn made the contributions, the indictment said.

HOUSTON (AP) — Arson investigators charged Mary Flores, 22, an exotic dancer, Tuesday in connection with a three-alarm blaze at the Club Lamour Feb. 16. The woman, formerly employed as a stripper at the club, is being sought by officers, they said.

SS Tax Regressive, Limit On Earnings Is Questioned

By OMAR BURLESON
WASHINGTON, D.C. — Now that the Social Security withholding rate has risen to 5.85 per cent of earnings, providing a maximum tax bite of $631.80 this year, it is dawning that "reforms" are not all they were thought to be when enacted. Despite these reforms, the Social Security system discriminates against some of the very people it was designed to help by penalizing them for every cent they earn above $2,100 a year. Any way figured, it amounts to an equivalent tax of about 50 per cent. More than half of employed taxpayers are out more on Social Security than they pay in income tax. The federal government collects more from Social Security taxes than it does from corporate taxes, and the prospects are that it will continue to rise.

A closer look is taken between the ages of 65 and 72 were given a "raise" in the amount of money they could earn without losing benefits. Until 1973, anyone entitled to Social Security retirement pay could receive additional income from earnings up to $1,680 without any reduction in their checks. The new legislation raises this allowable to $2,100. If earned income exceeds that figure, benefits are reduced by $1 for every $2 earned, but, once a person reaches the age of 72, this limitation no longer applies. Neither does it apply to anyone receiving income such as dividends, interest, or pensions. In this case, he receives 100 per cent of his benefits.

Working people between the ages of 65 and 72 bear a penalty which is not placed on those who do not work, or on those who receive income from sources other than by work. Pending legislation may reduce the upper age limit to 70 and increase the allowable earnings to $3,000, but the burden still remains heavy on older people who have jobs. HAVE TO WORK Even the 50 per cent tax rate often does not deter older people from looking for jobs. One out of every five older people is defined as poor. Clearly, it is often not only desirable but urgent for senior citizens to increase their incomes. There is no substantial indication that the labor market would be materially affected if the entire ceiling on income earned by Social Security recipients was removed.

Whereas the income tax is called "progressive," Social Security taxes are "regressive." A worker who earns $13,200 pays a higher percentage than levels of income above this amount. For instance, those with a $32,000 per year income pay less than 2 per cent. MORE THAN DOUBLED The special security tax rate has more than doubled since 1967. More and more younger people are asking these questions: is the prospect of being supported in their retirement years sufficient reward for participation in the Social Security program? Does the combined burden and promise of security discourage the thrifty habit of saving for one's old age? The President has recently appointed a blue ribbon committee to study the implications of the Social Security structure. In the meantime, the Congress itself continuously studies this program, but more often Congress votes more expensive provisions which will eventually make Social Security a welfare program instead of an insurance plan as originally intended. NOT SO GENEROUS One of the changes in regulations could be interpreted as an act of generosity unless

Saturday-Important Day

It is tremendously important that as many voters as possible turn out for the party primaries here Saturday.

This is the first step in naming nominees for the general election, hence choices are important. Going to the polls is the least that any self-respecting voter can do to express appreciation to people who are willing to offer for public service.

The choice of candidates is that entirely of the individual voting.

While we recognize and respect this right, we do feel that, as for us, Dolph Briscoe will be the best choice for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination. His opponents have sought to convey the impression of a passive record, and in this they have enjoyed the luxury of being an "out" attacking to get "in." This is easy, for it involves mainly promises, but for one in office, pledges are tempered by the record. And often a record is quite as important for what it has avoided as for what it has done.

Gov. Briscoe has achieved a solid record for stability on both counts, with quiet modesty and without creating bitter diversiveness, a welcome contribution to Texas politics.

In the Republican primary, doubtless Jim

Granberry of Lubbock will be favored in this area because of his area familiarity.

For comptroller of public accounts, either Bob Bulloch or Hugh Edburg is qualified as Democratic nominee, but Bulloch offers a fresh approach and a break in continuity of passing the word down through channels that has so long existed.

The New Episode

President Nixon has made a bold bid for public support in resolving his Watergate and impeachment. Responding on his own terms to a subpoena for tapes kept on White House conversations, he has dispatched to the House Judiciary committee transcripts of what he said were the relevant references to the Watergate affair.

He made it plain that his thesis was that this was an offer that should satisfy any reasonable person. His schedule, coupled with the staging of his dramatic television address, makes it plain also that he intends to go public with this, appearing whenever and wherever possible to reiterate it. There is a good chance that he may gain a degree of public support for this position, but there is no cinch that he will change the position of the Judiciary Committee that it subpoenaed tapes, not unilaterally selected transcripts.

At this point, it appears that the committee will avoid a legal showdown on the issue. Realistically, little has changed to promote that hope of a quick resolution of the Watergate situation or efforts for a bill of impeachment (and this would be only a possible charge, not an establishment of fact which would come only through a two-thirds Senate verdict). About the most that can be hoped is that this latest move might provide a crack for additional accommodations on both sides, and thus minimize the ordeal of a head-knocking finale. It would have had a far better chance had it occurred months ago.

Publicity Shy?

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Thought there for a while a couple of weeks ago that I was going to have to dig out George Dolan's old plaque and present it to the local chamber.

THERE WAS A routine committee meeting of the chamber and a group of rental property association owners to discuss a possible housing shortage and other problems.

The Herald sent a reporter to the meeting where he was told that it was a closed meeting. Since the property owners association had requested a representative of the press at the meeting, we thought surely there must be some type of confusion, so the reporter went back and sat in on the meeting.

It reminded me of the post-Estes days in Pecos when the majority of the town had decided it hated all publications and reporters. For years we had sent a reporter to the monthly chamber board luncheons.

The day a board luncheon was scheduled, Jack Tinsley of the Fort Worth Star Telegram came to town to do an article to help restore Pecos's plunging image. I suggested he go with me to the chamber board luncheon where he could meet all kinds of citizens who would be in favor of such an article. ONLY WE NEVER got into the meeting. We were stopped at the door by an extremely nervous chamber manager who muttered while he looked at the floor, "We don't want any press at our meetings any more. You can't come in and neither can the radio station."

Tinsley called back to Fort Worth to report the remarkable incident. "Don't they know that chambers live and breathe on publicity?" he queried.

THE NEXT DAY, Dolan in his front page "This Is West Texas" column, said that a group of West Texas reporters were taking up donations to get a plaque for the Pecos Chamber because they were the first one in history to ban the press at a meeting. Dolan continued, "The reason we are going to give them an award is because reporters don't like to attend chamber meetings anyway."

I sure thought for a while there we were going to have to dig out that old award and present it again. I'm glad that it was all a simple misunderstanding. We're all plugging for the same place - Big Spring that is.

The Verdict

William F. Buckley Jr.

Concerning the exonerations of John Mitchell and Maurice Stans, a few observations:

1) THE ANONYMOUS White House spokesman who complained that Mitchell and Stans had in effect been held up as guilty in the public mind is correct. In those pocket collections carried about by the Nixon-haters, those close to Mr. Nixon who have pleaded guilty are generally elided with those who have simply been indicted. The point is made, once again, that an indictment is not a conviction. A point especially to stress given the forthcoming action of the House of Representatives. If 10 out of every hundred Americans believe that an indictment is tantamount to a conviction, fifty out of a hundred believe that impeachment is the equivalent of conviction.

2) MY OWN feeling is that the charges against Mitchell and Stans were just this side of incredible, and - judging only from the newspaper accounts - I had myself concluded that they were not guilty. However, it remains technically possible that they were guilty, and that the jury responded to a number of factors extrinsic of the question of their guilt or innocence. Such things are not unheard of. Everyone concedes that sometimes innocent people are found guilty. By the same token, sometimes guilty people are found innocent. It is correct that they should be treated as though they were innocent.

3) MOST DIRECTLY, there is the question of John Dean's credibility. The reports - again anonymous - from the White House are nothing less than jubilant on the point. Not only were Mitchell and Stans found innocent, they were saying in effect, but Dean has been found guilty. This is a rigorous exercise in logic. The propositions would build as follows:

If Dean was truthful, Mitchell and Stans are guilty.

Mitchell and Stans are not guilty.

Therefore, Dean was untruthful.

But this is too easy, of course. One of the jurors was interrogated by a reporter. "We started talking about the credibility of the witnesses and why they were talking now," the young juror said. "We had a reasonable doubt because of these witnesses because we didn't feel the evidence was substantiated."

THE REPORTER pursued the point: Did they in effect find that Dean was not a credible witness?

"I'd rather not say."

It is obvious even from these words that the jury, a majority of whom began by voting Mitchell and Stans guilty on several counts, changed their minds after examining themselves most strictly on the issue of reasonable doubt. They exonerated Mitchell and Stans because there was, in the jury's mind, reasonable doubt concerning their guilt; and reasonable doubt about the weight of the evidence of a confessed perjurer. If the identical jury should have turned next to the question of whether Dean had committed a perjury in his Watergate accusations, it would not have been in the least inconsistent for the jury to have found Dean not guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

"Beastly bind, wot?"

Bad News For Food Shoppers

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) - Accustomed to bad news, food shoppers are likely to be elated over the news that farm prices continued to fall during the month ended April 15.

But now the bad news: More of your food dollars in recent weeks is going to pay the cost of bringing that food from farm to market. The Food Institute, which represents all segments of the industry, reports:

"Out of each dollar consumers have been spending for food in recent months, more and more is going for the cost of assembling, processing, transporting and distributing food produced on farms."

The increase in marketing costs became noticeable last October and has continued since then. Agriculture Department figures show the spread between farm value and retail cost rose 5.2 per cent from February to March.

In January, The Food Institute notes, consumers paid $1.43 a pound for certain choice beef, of which 96.9 cents went to the farmer, leaving 46.1 cents for marketing costs.

In March, when similar beef was priced at $1.42 a pound, only 86 cents went to the farmer and 56.2 cents was absorbed by marketing costs.

In this same period wide spreads also were noted for oils, seeds, bakery and cereal products and fresh vegetables, but spreads for poultry and eggs decreased.

If the trend continues there is some question of whether the latest 6 per cent decrease in farm prices will arrive in consumer outlets - or, so far as the good buyer is concerned, disappear into middleman bookkeeping.

Only three major industrialized nations can boast that food costs their citizens less than 20 per cent of after-tax income. The United States, Australia and Denmark all report percentages near or just under that figure.

By contrast, some countries report percentages above 30 per cent. Sweden, Spain and Italy aren't far below it. But that doesn't mean that individual bargains are similarly distributed.

Based on Agriculture Department figures compiled last September, a sirloin steak cost $4.04 in Denmark but only 69 cents in Argentina. In the United States the comparable price was $2.29.

Underwater Photography

WASHINGTON (AP) - Underwater photography got its start when in 1892 when Frenchman Louis Boutan photographed a Mediterranean spider crab. Unlike today's hand-held cameras, Boutan's camera was in a copper and iron box weighing several hundred pounds, buoyed by an empty wine cask, the National Geographic says.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

I have been told that there is mention in the Bible of cleansing the face with oatmeal. Is this true?

L.B.: I can find no reference to such a thing. It is true, however, that the products of agriculture were highly regarded among the Hebrews. An interesting reference in Isaiah 28:26 suggests God Himself as the founder of husbandry.

The Bible mentions such crops as barley (Deuteronomy 3:8), corn (Genesis 27:27), flax (Exodus 9:31), Millet (Ezekiel 4:9), spelt (rye) (Exodus 9:32) and wheat (Matthew 3:12).

Do I detect some idea that this cleansing you suggest might have some magical properties for clearing the complexion? Then you should know that the ceremonial cleansings called for by the Law had special meaning. They were interpretive of something spiritual - a sort of purification of the need for purity of heart in order to be accepted by God. Its principal agencies were water alone, or combined with a sin offering and burnt offering.

Blood, the vehicle and emblem of life, plays the major part in cleansing - in which atonement for sin is involved. That's why the writer in 1 John 1:7 says, "the blood of Jesus His Son cleanse us from all sin."

Jesus was always reminding people of the greater importance of the inner life. Read His comment in Luke 11:39 and 40.

A Devotion For Today

"Jesus said to him, 'He who has bathed needs only to wash his feet.'" John 13:10

PRAYER: Dear Lord, we thank You for the eternal salvation You have given us; restore and strengthen our daily fellowship with You. In Christ's name. Amen.

Extrasensory Ears

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON - It was reported in the press that certain car dealers have been bugging their automobile showrooms so that they can hear what people are saying when they're out of earshot of the salesman. This, of course, makes it easier for the salesman to know what the prospective buyers are thinking, and therefore he can make a better pitch sales.

LET'S GO into one of these showrooms. The couple has been looking at the cars on the floor alone for about 20 minutes. The salesman comes out of the back office and says:

"Well, Fanny, how do you like our new Mark II Panda?"

The woman looks startled. "How did you know my name was Fanny?"

THE SALESMAN gulps. "Your husband McKinley told me." The husband says, "I never told you her name was Fanny. And how did you know my first name was McKinley?"

The salesman says, "Well, honestly, I didn't know, but I took a wild guess. You look like a Fanny and a McKinley. Now let's talk about the car. You're in the market for a hardtop in maroon with brown leather seats."

FANNY AND McKinley look at each other in astonishment. "We are looking for that color," Fanny says. "You must be a mind reader."

"After you've been in this business as long as I have, you get to know that certain people like certain colors. Now we do have a four-door Panda in maroon with bucket seats. I'm sorry it doesn't come with a stick shift, McKinley, but you know Fanny doesn't like a stick shift, and I think you should bow to her wishes."

"I know Fanny doesn't like a stick shift and she knows she doesn't like a stick shift, but how the hell do you know she doesn't like a stick shift?"

THE SALESMAN laughs nervously. "By the way she's carrying her handbag."

"Let's get out of here," Fanny says to McKinley.

"Wait," the salesman says. "I want to be very honest with you. You two don't think you can afford a Panda, what with the orthodontist's bill for Nicky's teeth, and your daughter Frieda going off to Oberlin next fall, and Fanny's mother having to have that operation. Well, let me tell you. With a trade-in on your 1979 Ford Mustang, the Panda will still cost you less than $5,000."

McKINLEY ASKS the salesman, "Has someone told you about us?"

"Of course not. You're perfect strangers. This is the first time I've seen you. Show me a Fanny and a McKinley who don't have a son named Nicky and a daughter named Frieda going to Oberlin in the fall!"

McKinley asks, "Can I talk to my wife alone?"

"Of course," the salesman replies and retires to the back office.

Diabetes And Pregnancy

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: How dangerous is it for a diabetic to have a baby I am 31 and learned about six months ago that I have diabetes. It is controlled now but I am about 50 pounds overweight. - Mrs. A.B.

It is not exactly dangerous - these days - for such a mother, but it may be for the baby. Premature delivery and stillbirth occur more frequently in women with diabetes than in others.

With meticulous control of the diabetes, many, many women have had successful pregnancies. Proper diet control means, of course, you must stick to the rules, but with insulin or the diabetes medications we now have, it can be done. You should shed that excess 50 pounds promptly, as it will help you control your diabetes, and that is particularly important if you are or plan to be pregnant.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send your booklet on sinus trouble for which I enclose 25 cents and a long stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I am a hay fever sufferer but I also have this miserable post-nasal drip and sometimes in the morning this large clot of catarrh in my throat makes me sick. I notice there is a slight ping appearance, and I wondered if there could be bleeding. - Mrs. H. W.

With your allergic condition (hay fever) you undoubtedly have nasal congestion with boggy membranes or polyp formation, which could account for the nasal drip. There could also be changes in the nasopharynx (back of the nose) that could cause oozing of blood.

Although hay fever is a seasonal matter, you could have other allergies causing the trouble - one allergy is often a sign that there may be others. As for the hay fever, there is still time to start desensitization treatment to protect you next time the hay fever season rolls around, but I would think it advisable to have tests for other possible allergies.

NOTHING WRONG WITH IT? Living Together On Campus

BOSTON (AP) — Almost every night a student named Jeff sniffs on them and on a residence adviser who agrees to look the other way.

LIVE IN HER DORM
A 21-year-old athlete and his roommate, a sophomore girlfriend in Ken University of Louisville in Kentucky have lived in her dorm since last summer. They have pushed her friends not to deal and that seems to sum up the general attitude. The couples, however, requested anonymity, citing possible sanctions or embarrassment for themselves.

Interviews with scores of students and administrators at more than a dozen colleges and universities across the country indicate that although living together is rarely discussed in the college catalogue, it's become a popular way of life for some on campus.

"GOING STEADY"
It isn't as widespread as the "going steady" craze of the 1950s and early '60s, but almost all students interviewed could name at least two or three couples living together on campus. They saw nothing wrong with it.

The trend raised many eyebrows among parents, alumni and school officials when it appeared in the mid-60s and there was public outcry about campuses becoming dens of vice and sex. But most of that has disappeared.

"Most couples living together in the Harvard dorm have a very serious relationship," said a graduate student assigned as resident adviser to one dormitory, or "house" as it's called at Harvard. "It's a very acceptable thing."

"It's ordinary," said a Harvard housing official. "I don't know how the university could intrude. You couldn't possibly do a thing like bed checks."

When today's seniors were freshmen, living together — regularly spending the night on campus with someone of the opposite sex — was taboo at most schools, including Harvard. If caught, they could have been expelled. These days, it's not so risky.

None of the couples living together on campus had been assigned to the same room by the college. In fact, most use both rooms for the sake of appearance, mail, more storage space — and privacy when they want it.

NOT NOW
"He only sleeps here when my roommate is away," said a chubby freshman at Indiana University. "But we eat together, study together and think about getting married some time, but not right away."

Her boyfriend reached over and took her hand. "As far as personal relations are concerned," he said, "you can learn a lot about each other this way. You can cope with problems better and understand each other better. It was a long time after we began spending most of our time together that we thought about sex, four or five months. Our relationship isn't just to sleep together."

College administrators, with an eye on possible public relations problems with the state community, parents and alumni, said schools try to offer students a choice of living arrangements, ranging from one-sex corridors where someone of the opposite sex dare not tread, to dormitories allowing complete freedom.

CO-ED HOUSING
"For a whole set of reasons, you're dealing with a very diverse group of students in terms of levels of maturity, past experience, personal needs and hometown environment," said Thomas C. Schreck, dean of students at Indiana where students can choose dorms with closed, limited or open visitation policies. "If you try to force them all into a set mold, you're not addressing yourself to the differences people possess."

LOST VIRGINITY
A study of 482 member institutions of the Association of College and University Housing Officers shows that 70 per cent of the nation's colleges offer some type of co-ed housing to students. Only 15 per cent of the schools offer men and women rooms on the same floor or in the same suite. The study was produced by David A. DeCoster, an assistant dean of students in charge of residence life at Indiana. He said there is no evidence that co-ed housing or visitation has increased sexual activity among students. "Literature shows that attitudes have changed dramatically in a liberal direction," said DeCoster, who is recognized by many college and university officials as an expert on campus housing. "They are more accepting of peer behavior. But there is no documentation that there are differences in their own behavior. And there is a false interpretation that liberal attitudes mean liberal behavior."

Don, a 22-year-old senior at Tufts College in Medford, Mass., agreed.

"This idea that everyone has lost his virginity at the age of 10 isn't true," he said. "A lot of people here haven't had intercourse by the time they're seniors. Everybody puts on a big show."

"But for those who do choose to start a relationship, it isn't scandalous. It isn't talked about. It's accepted." Don said he had lived with a girl in his dormitory for several months, but they had broken up.

"It's hard when everyone knew you were together, then everyone knows you've split," he said.

When the Government Printing Office bookstore opened its doors at 8 a.m., two dozen government employees, lawyers, businessmen, journalists and tourists were lined up, eager to buy a piece of history hot off the press.

PAY $12.25
Customers paid $12.25 for each of the blue-bound, three pound copies. Some bought as many as 25 volumes for gifts, office libraries, collector's items and bedside reading.

The supply had been expected to last all day, but more volumes are being printed, according to GPO spokesmen. They hope 5,000 copies will be available in GPO bookstores in 19 cities by next week.

It is hardly the flashy title that attracts customers.

One cartoonist suggested the book be called, "Everything you need to know about Nixon, but not what you asked for."

The White House, however, has already decided on something less sexy: "Submission of Recorded Presidential Conversations to the Committee on the Judiciary of the House of Representatives by President Richard Nixon."

Anyone hoping to be titillated by presidential profanity will be disappointed by this historic glimpse into the Oval Office.

The 1,308 pages of Nixon's conversations with his aides are studded with unfinished sentences, marked "expletive deleted," "inaudible," "unintelligible."

Even before the volumes hit the book stands, they were hot items in this gossipy, political town. Comedian Mark Russell obtained a volume and used it in his nightly routine at the Shoreham Americana Hotel.

Wellington H. Lewis, assistant public printer at the Government Printing Office, said the White House ordered 2,000 volumes last Friday. They were delivered Monday morning. By Wednesday, the public got its opportunity.

Most of the customers — young, old, black, white, Democrat and Republican — said they thought the historic presidential volume would give them some insight into what Nixon knew about the Watergate scandal.

Nixon's Tip To Top Aides: Use Vicious Libel Lawyer

WASHINGTON (AP) — As part of his Watergate strategy in mid-April 1973, President Nixon suggested to his two top aides that they "use the most vicious libel lawyer there is" and "sue right down the line." It is not clear just who Nixon thought should be sued, since a transcript of an April 17, 1973, conversation says only: "I'd sue every (expletive deleted) (unintelligible)." "There have been stories over this period of time," Nixon continued in his advice to aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman. "That will make—that also helps with public opinion." "The important thing is the story's big and I think you ought to go out and sue people for libel," he said. Haldeman then discussed the possibility of suing Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., for remarks in television and newspaper interviews about Haldeman's relationship to the Nixon reelection campaign. "Good. Sue him," said Nixon. To Ehrlichman the President said: "John, this libel thing. You may as well get at the libel thing and have yourself a little fun."

"Might make expenses," observed Ehrlichman. Spotted elsewhere in the 1,308-page document of Nixon transcripts are other references to the news media and the White House view. "You know where the Watergate story is in the Washington Post today?" asked Haldeman one day. "Page 19."

"I know, I know," replied Nixon. "And it'll be page 19 five months from now if we handle it right." Discussing leaks to news media at another meeting, Nixon observed: "I don't want the Washington Post to break this case." During a conversation with Haldeman and Ehrlichman on April 17, 1973, after making a public statement that new information on Watergate had come to his attention, Nixon quoted news media questions and gave his own answer: "No, I shouldn't pick on the press," he said, "but why did the President act so late on this case? Why didn't he act earlier on this matter? He had the charges floating around. The answer is that they are charges that were just floating. I mean, I think really, that's true, newspaper charges and so forth.

Casual Shoppe Planning Grand Opening Friday

Though the Casual Shoppe moved into its new headquarters on 1004 Locust a half block from 11th place about two weeks ago, its owners, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hamby, plan a grand opening Friday and Saturday. "We're giving away nice door prizes like pant suits and dresses — four on Friday and five on Saturday. Anybody can come by and register either of those days. We'll also have refreshments like coffee and cokes. We'd like for everybody to see our pretty new facilities. We're very proud of them," said Mrs. Hamby. Mrs. Hamby said the Shoppe moved to escape space and location problems. "We needed more space. I think it's a better location with more parking and four times the space. We've already added a complete junior department and more lines to the misses department," she said.

Ford Shuts Down Plants

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Ford Motor Co. reported that first-quarter profits dropped 66 per cent from last year, the company's worst January-March performance since 1967. Ford was the third of the Big Three automakers to report sharply lower profits for the first three months of 1974. Chrysler Corp. announced Monday that the first-quarter profits were down 98 per cent from last year and General Motors said last Friday that first-quarter profits dropped 85 per cent.

Ford said first-quarter profits for 1973 were $123.6 million, down from a record $361 million during the same period last year. Per share earnings dropped from $3.59 to $1.31, the company said.

Later in the day, Ford announced it had shut down six of its auto assembly plants Tuesday and would close eight more by Thursday because of strikes against two of its parts suppliers. Ford said the strike would idle an estimated 37,000 workers, cause a production loss of up to 10,000 cars a day and leave it with only two North American auto assembly plants in operation.

Market analysts expected Ford to do better than GM during the quarter because of its greater penetration in the small-car field.

Cowboys 'Safe' From WFL Raids

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys have obtained indefinite protection from World Football League raiding from a Texas judge who decreed suits in the case is set. There "What's in it for me?" feelings among athletes.

State District Court Judge Charles Long Wednesday issued a temporary injunction against the WFL after the Cowboys, a National Football League club, filed suit to prevent further player losses.

Three Dallas players—Craig Morton, Calvin Hill and Mike Montgomery — have signed WFL contracts.

The injunction, which WFL attorneys indicated would be appealed, is effective until a trial date on "substantive issues" in the case is set. There is no immediate indication how long that protection period for the Cowboys would last.

The injunction prevents the WFL from attempting to recruit any Cowboy players and also prohibits Cowboys players from doing recruiting among teammates for the WFL.

Prior to issuing the injunction, Judge Long said, "It is to be regretted that physical ability ... has become a matter of barter, the kind of purchase and sale in the marketplace today. But reality must be faced."

He said it was "disturbing that our sense of values and morals" has deteriorated because of a single "What's in it for me?" feeling."

Two days of hearings and some complicated legal broken field running preceded Long's ruling.

The Cowboys had originally obtained a restraining order against WFL recruiting from District Court Judge Ted Akin. But a federal judge in Houston, upon request of the WFL, in effect restrained the restraining order.

Palmer May Be Surprise

DALLAS (AP) — Arnold Palmer, his short game is hurting although he putted well Wednesday in the pro-am, sink-money list, wasn't rated much of a threat in today's opening round of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic, but he had this word for his Army: "I still have the desire."

Palmer also appeared to have the ability to win Wednesday as he shot an impressive 69, three-under-par, in his pro-am round.

However defending champion Lenny Wadkins, peppery Lee Trevino, Bruce Crampton and Master's runnerup Dave Stockton were the favorites in the $150,000 tournament at the Preston Trail Golf Club.

"I feel better than I have in a long time and I still enjoy playing," said the 44-year-old Palmer, who last won a tournament in 1973 at the Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Palmer said "I guess I have played less this year than I have in 20 years. I haven't played well. But I'm working hard and I'm staying in good shape."

It's the same old story with

That meant a hearing before Long on the Cowboy action was blocked by the federal court order. But on Tuesday U.S. District Court Judge Woodrow Seals lifted the counter-restraining order, clearing the way for the hearing before Long on a permanent injunction.

Testimony in the hearing before Long ranged from ho-hum to lively.

On Wednesday, discussion centered on whether defections by Morton and Hill have hurt Cowboy morale worse than the subpoenas issued on 31 Cowboy players.

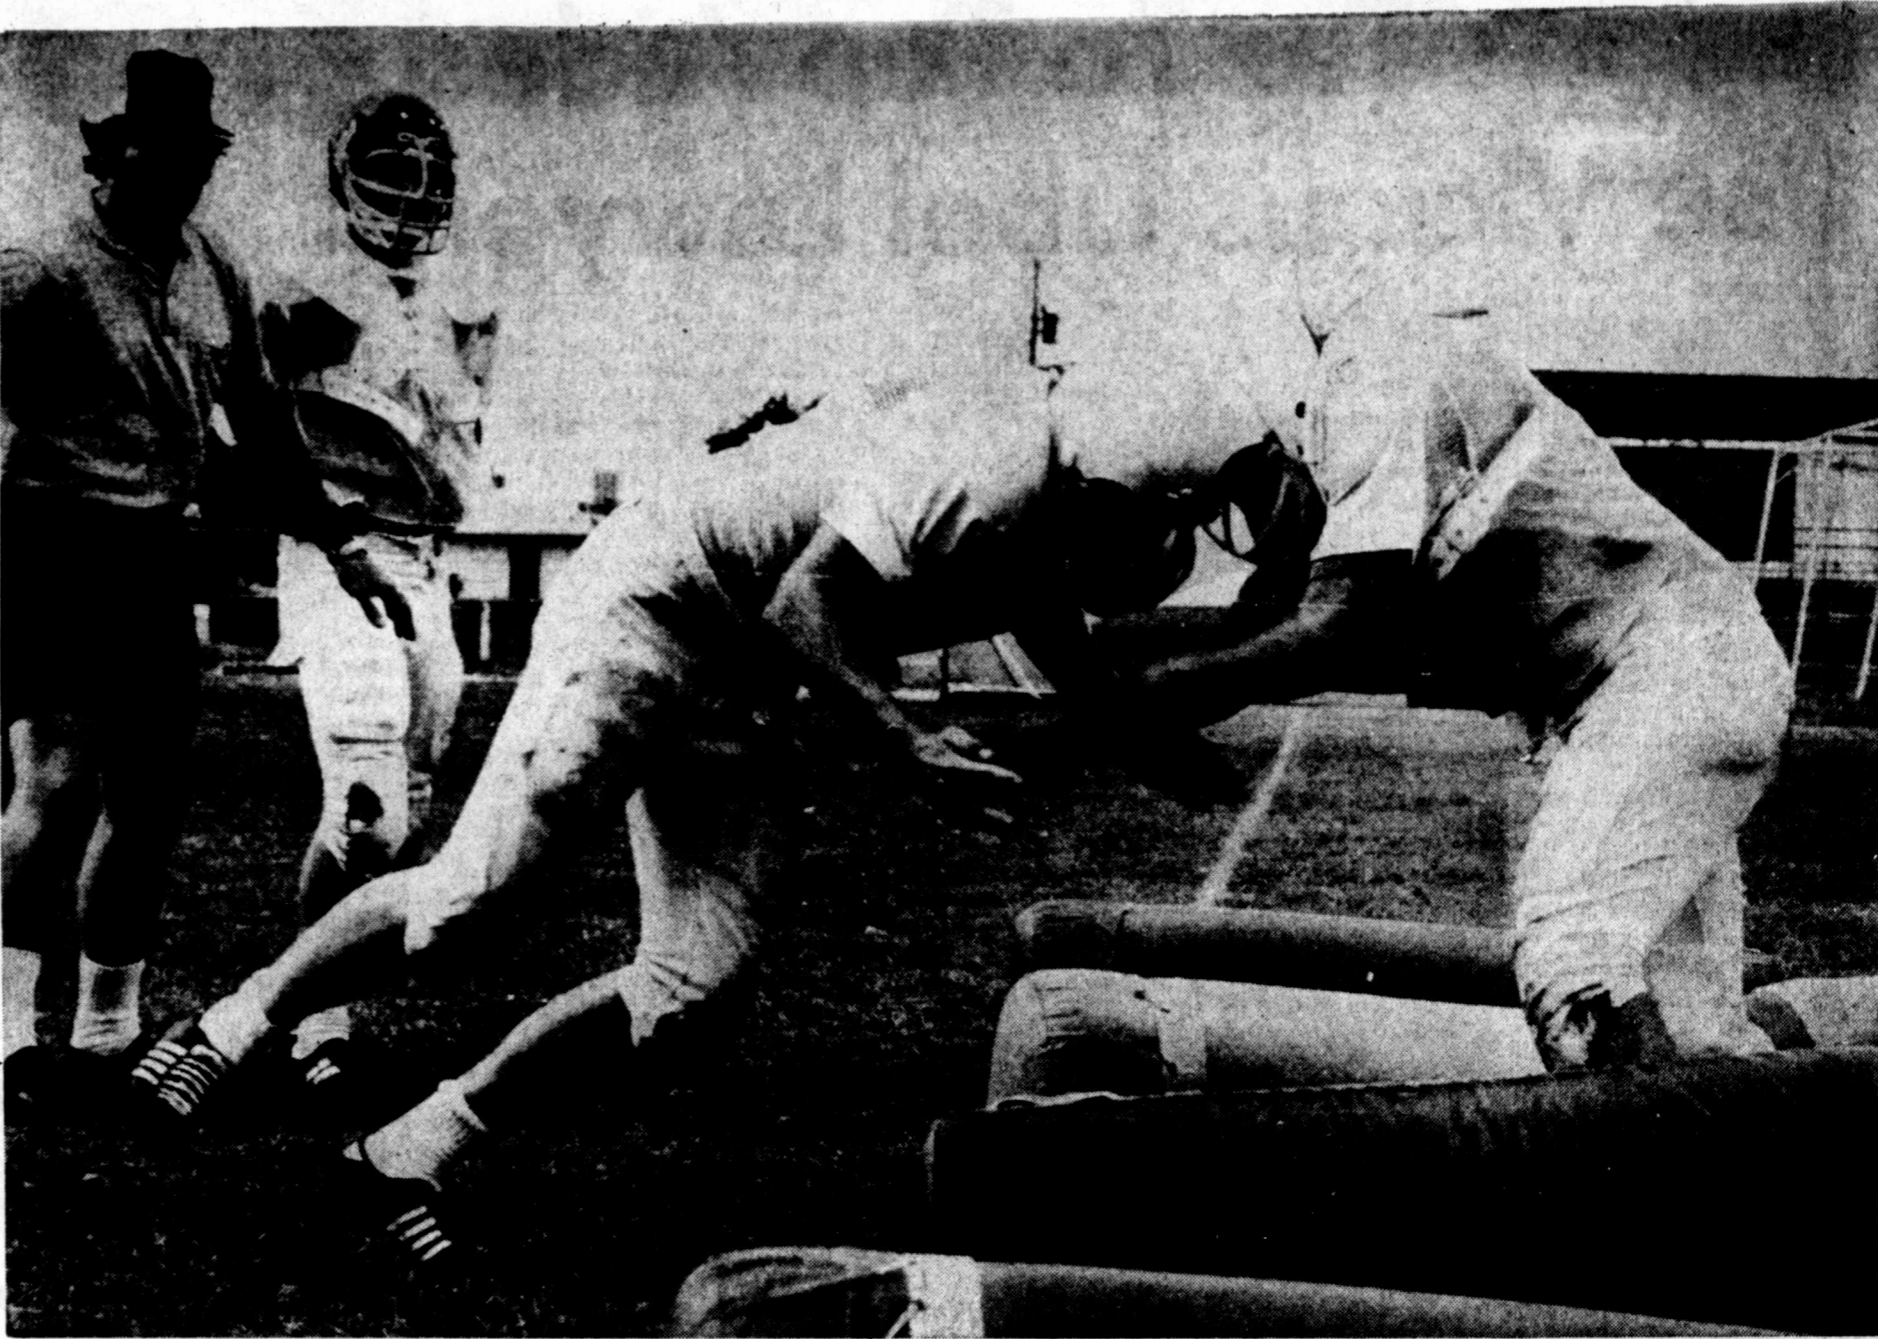

"The law suit ... 31 subpoenas issued to players. Anytime you get 31 players upset, it's a factor," said running back Hill.

Morton, a quarterback who signed with Houston of the WFL, said "the subpoenas have affected a few players. They said they were upset by that."

But Cowboy head coach Tom Landry saw things quite differently. Asked if the injunctions hurt Cowboy morale, Landry said: "Not at all. That is a temporary problem."

"Once the players understand what we are trying to do we will have no problems with this, in my opinion."

Landry said the morale problem came from losing players to the WFL.

HEAD-KNOCKING SESSION — Assistant coach Ron Freeman (left) watches the action this week as two of his Big Spring Steer defenders meet head-on during spring training sessions. The Steers have been out three days, and so far things have been going well, according to coach Bob Burris. Workouts will end May 17 with the Black and Gold spring game.

RUBE WAS PART OF 'PACKAGE' Unwanted Horse Enters Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Trainer Frank "Pancho" Martin, whose Sham finished second to Secretariat last year, will try to win Saturday's 100th Kentucky Derby with Rube The Great, a colt he didn't want.

"We bought Accipiter. We didn't want this horse," said Martin, who has turned out to be a triple stakes winner this year.

"It was a package deal."

In order for Sigmund Sommer, who owned Sham, to buy Accipiter, also scheduled to start in the Derby, by the estate of James Cox Brady, he also had to buy Rube The Great and a filly named Tourquette.

Rube The Great and Accipiter were entered Wednesday for the 1 1/4-mile Derby at Churchill Downs, as were Jay Frazier, Cannonade and Hudson County.

About 18 more 3-year-olds were expected to be entered today by the time the entry box closed at 3:30 a.m. CDT. Post time Saturday is 4:30 p.m.

The early favorite for the race was the Woody Stephens-trained entry of Seth Hancock's Judger, winner of the Florida Derby and Blue Grass, and John M. Olin's Cannonade, winner of the Stepping Stone last Saturday.

Rube The Great, who once was trained by Stephens, won only one of eight starts as a 2-year-old. This year he won two of seven races, including the Santa Catalina in California. But it was not until he got to New York that he emerged as a serious Derby contender.

The bay son of Bold Lad-Ready Room won a division of the Gotham at Aqueduct and then two weeks later won a division of the 1 1/4-mile Wood Memorial.

Steers Now Run-Oriented

When the Big Spring Steer football team makes a change, it goes all the way.

The Steers, a notorious passing team in 1973, has changed to a ground-oriented attack in spring drills this week and Coach Bob Burris says the switch is for real. "We've been working a whole lot on our running game," the coach said. "As a matter of fact, in three days we've only thrown two passes in scrimmage."

That's quite a contrast from the Longhorns who put the ball in the air more than 300 times last season.

"Everything's going pretty good, I guess," Burris commented. "We're mostly working on basic fundamentals, nothing fancy. The running game is coming along okay and we're pleased with the overall effort of the team."

"It looks like we're going to have more depth than last year at all positions, offensively and defensively."

Burris also said he was happy with the senior leadership in the line, particularly with Joe Matthews, Casey Lovelace, Stan Partee, Ray McCutchen, Kyle Neighbors and James Coffey all key holdovers.

Danny Ferrell and Andre Herrington have been working at the tailback spot in the new formation, with Lonell Banks and Darrell Brown running at fullback. Mark Moore and John Russ have been operating at quarterback.

Burris said that this week's rain hasn't hurt workouts much, other than forcing Tuesday's drill to be cut short. Workouts will continue at 3 p.m. daily at the practice field across from Blankenship Field near the high school.

Rockets Unload For 15-1 Victory

Fifteen hits did most of the effort, while Mark Harris had a triple, two doubles, and a single. Ray Rhymes had two doubles and a single and Mark Knight stroked two doubles.

Winning pitcher Randy Gregar, now 24, also got into the act with four doubles, Davidson and Jimmy Shortes also shined on defense in the rout.

For the Devils, Mike Madry managed a home run and Stanley Nichols added a double. Harold James Danford took the loss as the Devils slipped to 0-3.

In an AL minor league affair Wednesday, the ELKS bombed the Sports 27-8 on just eight hits. Mike Willett was the winning pitcher in the opener, and Tony Shortes took the loss.

Lee Thumps Abilene, 6-0

MIDLAND — Midland second half baseball race into a tighter jam Wednesday with a 6-0 triumph over Abilene High.

Jay Frazier tossed a three-hitter in the make-up game as the Rebs pulled even with Abilene at 5-1, both one game behind Abilene Cooper. Bobby Lawson was the Eagles' losing pitcher.

Lee, now 17-8 on the year, could tie for the second half title by beating Midland Saturday if Abilene were to knock off Cooper. It will be the final regular district game for both teams.

Calvio Places In Region Run

Erlinda Calvio of Sands placed sixth in the Region I-880-yard dash last weekend in Levelland, clocking a 2:48.0.

Calvio also was in the 100-yard dash, but failed to place as she legged a 12.7. Another Sands runner, Ann Nichols, put the shot 30-6 1/2 but also failed to score.

Stars Will Shift Govan To Center

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — It's becoming a risky business to play center for the American Basketball Association's Utah Stars.

But Utah's 6-foot-10 Gerald Govan, a transplanted forward, hopes to give it another try Saturday night against the New York Nets in game No. 2 of the best-of-seven ABA championship series.

Subbing for injured Star pivotman Zelmo Beaty, Govan sprained an ankle and bruised his left knee Tuesday night in a collision during the 89-85 Nets victory at the Nassau Coliseum.

Forward Julius Erving, un hurt after bumping into Govan at the start of the fourth quarter, poured in 47 points for New York while most of his teammates had scoring difficulty. "The ankle and knee are still swollen but the X rays showed no real damage," said Govan Wednesday after undergoing a medical examination. "I think I'll be ready for the next game."

Beaty remained in Salt Lake City, meanwhile, suffering from a groin injury. The 6-9 veteran was also sidelined because of a 105 degree temperature during Utah's exhausting seven-game battle with the Indiana Pacers for the ABA West Division title.

"Our offense doesn't seem to be quite as cohesive without Zelmo in there," said Govan about the Stars' loss to the Nets. Beaty was hoping to play during game No. 3.

Sands Schedules Elementary Meet

ACKERLY — Sands Elementary School will hold a track meet May 9, with five events on tap for the youngsters. Competition will begin at 10 a.m.

Children will compete for ribbons in the 50-yard dash, the 75-yard dash and 100-yard dash, as well as the long jump and a distance run. There will be separate competition for each grade, including kindergarten, and youngsters four and five years of age not in kindergarten will be eligible.

KATE TO MISS PLAYOFF Flyers Won't Be Blessed

NEW YORK (AP) — Philadelphia Spectrum is a remarkable 34-3-1.

Lou Scheinfeld, president of the Spectrum, is the man responsible for deciding when Miss Smith will sing. "We use her for tough games or must games," a club spokesman said.

When the Flyers and Rangers went into Game Five of this semifinals showdown Tuesday night, Philadelphia had lost two straight games and the best-of-seven series was tied 2-2. The game certainly filled Scheinfeld's criteria for Miss Smith.

So, the order was given and on cue, Miss Smith sang, marking her 1974 playoff debut. It was just about brought down the house. The fans roared at Miss Smith's voice, knowing their team's record when she sings. It was very much like the season's opening game, when the Flyers produced Miss Smith in person at center ice to sing her specialty. Standing at the other end of the ice was Toronto goalie Doug Favell, traded by the Flyers to the Maple Leafs during the summer. He knew the exact meaning of her appearance.

"As soon as she came out," said Favell later, "I knew we were in trouble."

The Rangers weren't in trouble in Game Five of this series until the second period. They held the early lead, but eventually, the Flyers came back, perhaps not because of Kate Smith, but certainly not in spite of her.

Rick MacLeish scored two goals and Tom Bladon and Simon Noleit one each for a 4-1 victory over the Rangers.

Heinsohn Promises Celts Will Capture NBA Prize

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics, satisfied but not entirely happy with a split in Milwaukee, figure they have momentum as well as home court advantage over the Milwaukee Bucks in their showdown for the National Basketball Association championship.

"We are going to win the series," Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn said. "Our team has momentum, and we will win in Boston."

The Celtics bombed the Bucks 98-83 in the series opener in Milwaukee Sunday, but then dropped a 105-96 overtime decision in the second game Tuesday night. Now the series moves to Boston Garden for games Friday night and Sunday.

"We went to Milwaukee and won one ball game out of two, and came very close to winning the second one," Heinsohn said. "I'm very pleased with our team. We didn't play our best Tuesday and it still took overtime to beat us."

The Celtics, who rely upon the fast break and a hard-nosed defense, are hoping for better shooting than in the second game. They were only 19 for 48 from the floor in the first half and finished 43 for 99 as the Bucks equalled the series 1-1.

Boston captain John Havlicek, a true super star in leading the Celtics into the finals and in the first game against Milwaukee, had a letdown, hitting on just seven of 21 field goal attempts and winding up with just 18 points.

The Celtics figure to give Ka-reem Abdul-Jabbar his time while trying to stop other Milwaukee shooters.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Anything and everything I can think of, plus a little more

Okay guys, let's give Henry a rest for a while, huh? I mean, I thought the deal was that Aaron was supposed to get all this heat up until the time he hit his 714th and 715th home runs, and after that things would settle down. But it hasn't worked that way.

Folks have come up with all those screwy records — number of trips to the restroom during games, consecutive times out of the dugout with falling down, etc. — and there doesn't seem to be any end to them. Hank may end up getting more records than home runs . . .

Speaking of Aaron, a writer for The Sporting News recently did an interesting study and came to the conclusion that the new home run record will probably last into the next century before someone comes along and brushes it aside.

The scribe, Leonard Koppett, bases his idea on three assumptions — (1) The baseball schedule will remain 160-165 games; (2) A player will remain fully active up to the age of 40; and (3) A player will average 500 at bats a season.

Based on that information, Koppett says that only Harmon Killebrew and Frank Robinson will reach 600, and none has a shot at 700.

For instance, Houston's Cesar Cedeño would have to average 38 home runs a year for 17 years to reach 700, and that isn't likely. Johnny Bench and Reggie Jackson, two who are said to have a shot at it, would have to average 38 and 40, respectively, for the rest of their careers. So far Bench has averaged 26 and Jackson 27.

Koppett figures there isn't anyone active today who could break the record, so the earliest it could be done, assuming the guy would need 20 years, would be 1995. This time the record might really be safe . . .

It's fairly astounding, seeing Texas at the top of the American League West and Houston second in the NL West. Actually, that's not right, I guess. It's VERY astounding. That's better.

Texas, the worst team in the world a year ago, now has the second best record in the majors. All I can say is . . . Far Out . . .

Too bad the Midland Cubs can't say that. The Cubs are last in the Texas League West, and last week gave up an amazing 36 runs to El Paso in two games. The pitching staff's ERA looks like a basketball score . . .

Former Big Spring Steer all-district linebacker Randy Morgan has joined the Round Rock grid staff of former Steer aide Bill Bryant. Morgan, who graduated from Sul Ross, has finished his student teaching at Midland. He'll be tutoring the linebackers at Round Rock, a Class AA school.

It's been kind of lonely the last couple of weeks for Donald Walters, the Steer quarterback who'll be going to the state meet this weekend. Aside from a couple of teammates who come out and run with him just for grins, he's working by himself since he's the only state-bound Steer.

That's no fun for anybody, running all by yourself with something as scary as a state meet ahead, but it can be particularly hard on a sophomore. Still, he's looking forward to the excitement of his first state competition. Typically, this will be Walters' last race for Big Spring. His father is in the Air Force, and the family will be moving after this year . . .

Martin Remains Optimistic Despite 11-3 Loss To Brewers

MILWAUKEE (AP) — It takes more than an eight-run defeat to deter Billy Martin, fiery manager of the surprising Texas Rangers, from preaching his gospel of optimism. Dave May slammed a three-run homer and John Briggs and Pedro Garcia contributed two-run blasts Wednesday night as the Milwaukee Brewers, behind Jim Slaton's steady pitching, hammered the Rangers 11-3.

Martin, who took over as Texas manager late last season, insisted the Rangers and Brewers could meet in the division playoffs. "It could happen. I hope it happens. It would be lovely," he said. "You guys (the Brewers) have a real good chance."

Martin claimed Wednesday night that remark had been misinterpreted. The quote was extensively publicized, to the delight of the Brewers' promotion department, which resurrected it on each Texas visit to Milwaukee. The rewards at the gate were considerable.

Ranchers' Wives Speak Out On Woes Besetting Beef Industry

By JO BRIGHT

"CowBelles are women who have one common denominator — their affiliation with the beef industry. Some call it a shirttail affiliation but, to all of us, it's a very important affiliation to our common product — beef."

The speaker was Mrs. Janet Middleton, wife of Harry Middleton, a local rancher. Last year, she was one of the organizers of the Tejas CowBelles, an area chapter of the national CowBelles organization. Membership is made up of women from several counties, and their homes are in such places as Stanton, Snyder, Gail, Luther, Vincent and Forsan as well as Big Spring.

"The CowBelles work toward promoting beef, educating the public and serving in any way they can to make Americans aware of our great product," continued Mrs. Middleton. "It has been proven by several surveys that where CowBelles have done a good job of educating the public, beef sales were up considerably, and, after all, that's what we're interested in — selling beef."

The Tejas CowBelles was organized in September, 1973, and now has 25 members. The group has worked to promote beef sales by furnishing beef promotion literature in local supermarkets, area homemaking departments, Big Spring Chamber of Commerce and a newcomer greeting service. Work has begun on displays to be used at county fairs in this area.

The chapter has come up with a novel way to promote beef for Father's Day. A beef roast the same weight as the first baby born Father's Day will be awarded to the lucky parents.

According to Mrs. Middleton, in the United States,

STRAIGHT TALK comes naturally to Texans, and these ranchers' wives speak plainly about the beef industry with which they are affiliated. Members of the Tejas Chapter of CowBelles, they are tired of ranchers being blamed for what some people feel are high beef prices. Seated are Mrs. Rich Anderson, Borden County; and Mrs.

it takes an average factory wage earner 24 minutes to earn the price of a pound of sirloin steak, while in Russia, the time required to buy the same thing is 94 minutes; in Japan, 112 minutes; and in France, 88 minutes. An American National Cattlemen's Association survey shows U.S. retail beef prices down 24.5 per cent in the last two months. The average price of five cuts in 19 cities April 11 was 15 per cent less than on Feb. 11.

"The American beef producer has been the victim of government price controls, the trucker's strike, high feed prices, and those in this West Texas area have been in the midst of a drought," said Mrs. Middleton. "How long do the housewives, who are so eager to boycott beef or the television comedians with their slick jokes about the price of beef think the producer can keep putting this choice beef that they have grown accustomed to on their tables when the cattle feeder is now losing from $30 to $110 per head when they come out of the feed lot?"

The beef industry is important to the economy of Howard and surrounding counties, and many area ranchers feel they have taken the blame for high prices in stores when, in reality, there are a number of "middle men" who take their cut somewhere between the corral and meat counter.

Here's how CowBelles view the situation:

Mrs. Mary Gressett: "Supermarkets complained of the high cost of beef when ranchers were getting a fairly good price. Beef prices are down for the rancher; why not in the supermarket?"

"News media gives the wrong impression of high cost of beef. What about the high cost of automobiles,

Pertinent Facts About Beef

1. Today the United States is the world's largest beef producer.
2. In about one hour, the packing plant follows forty-five processing operations from stunning the animal to wrapping the carcass in heavy muslin for chilling.
3. It is the retailer who selects the kinds of cuts to satisfy the consumer.

campers, wages the ranchers' upkeep? There are things higher than beef that people seem to afford.

"It's bad enough to have to put up with dry weather, rising expenses, ups and downs of supply and demand, high land cost and interest; but now we have to put up with a bunch of nuts who think the coyote is becoming extinct. Ranchers have controlled the coyote by means of poison, coyote drives, airplanes for many years, but he is not extinct! Ranchers are not interested in eradicating the coyote, only controlling! If eradicated, rabbits would become a problem, but when coyotes out-populate the rabbits, they turn to livestock. Why would they chase a rabbit when they can get a baby lamb or calf which is helpless unless protected by its mother?"

Mrs. Billy Huddleston: "The United States Department of Agriculture meat grading system is outdated. For a carcass to grade choice, it must be overfed. This fat is a waste of valuable feeds. The fat is either trimmed by the supermarkets or the consuming housewife and is wasted. Cattle fed to a lower grade would eliminate this wasteful practice. Housewives have believed for years that if it didn't carry the choice grade, it wasn't as desirable. In many cases, a lower grade is as desirable and much cheaper."

Mrs. James Coates:

"Over $700 million have been lost by beef producers in the past six months, leaving many individuals bankrupt and forcing the closing of feed lots, beef processing plants and causing many persons thus related to the beef industry to be without jobs. This is partly caused by last year's beef boycott, trucking strike, rising feed costs and the general economic inflation with which we are still faced.

"Producers are losing as much as $200 per head on fat beef. The meat market price is reflecting only a part of these tremendous losses. It is felt there will be a great beef shortage in the latter part of this year."

Mrs. Linda Beam: "Due to the beef industry's increasing production efficiency, beef prices have increased only 16 per cent between 1951 and today. During this same period, the cost of living index rose 38 per cent. In 1951, one hour's labor bought 1.7 pounds of beef but, today, one hour's labor purchases 3.3 pounds of tender, juicy beef.

"Seven ounces of cooked beef provides the average adult's total daily protein need but less than 20 per cent of the recommended calories. Beef is one of the best natural sources of iron. Beef contains all the essential animal acids necessary to build and maintain and repair body tissues and strengthen the defense mechanism against infection and disease, and it is one of the most completely digestible and utilized foods.

Mrs. Rich Anderson:

"While beef — retail — rose 25 per cent from last fall to January and February, 1974, producers' price fell 20 cents or more per pound.

"Everyone is crying and trying to put the blame on someone else when, actually, government interference is the culprit. Had the market been left alone last spring, supply would have met demand, and there would have been a general leveling off.

"Before the boycott the American housewife was buying more beef than ever before... the supply was average; the demand greater, thus, the rise in cost. Feeders saw this and made plans to increase supply... nothing will help but the age-old theory of supply and demand leveling off."

DO YOU HAVE THE RIGHT OCCASIONAL FURNITURE PIECES?

Here's an idea that can give a wonderful decorating touch to your rooms, and also give you added convenience.

Why not consider using an occasional furniture piece, such as perhaps a separate pull up chair. This separate chair can provide you with something distinctive and something that will serve as an "accent" to the rest of your room. Such a chair can make a beautiful difference in your room decoratively, to say nothing of giving you another seating piece that can always come in handy.

Incidentally, you don't have to restrict yourself to just one occasional chair in your living room. You might consider a pair, perhaps twin chairs, or two entirely different chairs to add even more variety.

And there is other accent furniture that can help you in addition to chairs. You might think about such things as a different chest (instead of a table) placed beside a chair. Or add a console, love seat or chair or cabinet or any one of a number of special pieces to punctuate your room.

This occasional furniture — although it may be small in the overall picture — can play a big role in picking up a color scheme or in helping make your room more outstanding. We invite you to come in and browse around here.

Auditions Continuing At Howard College

The National Piano Playing Auditions are continuing this week at Howard College where a large number of local students are being judged on their performances.

To be heard Saturday are Shelley Sallings, Wendy Weisen, Tracy Morton, Malinda Robertson and Denise Heinze, all of Miles. Miss Heinze, a student teacher, is also a high school diploma candidate. Ten students of Mrs. Mildred Mitchell of Garden City played for the auditions Tuesday and Wednesday. They are Staci Wilkerson, Andrea Frerich, Lani Kay Frerich, Jana Calverly, Lance Johnson, Phyllis Johnson, John Griffin, Deborah Miller, Sheri Foster and Russell Jones.

A LOVELIER YOU When It Rains, You Will Want To Shine

Some coats are made for downpours. of rubberized cotton or black poplin. One such coat wraps and covers the boot-top at mid-calf. Another raincoat idea is a short, full button-up jacket. This slithers over pants.

Shapes are relaxed with wider sleeves, blousons, yokes and full skirts. The reversible coat, the cape and the poncho seem particularly newsy. Of course the balmacaan, trench and shirtcoat hold their own.

Mrs. D. Patterson Is President

Mrs. Dan Patterson was installed as president of the 1946 Hyperion Club Wednesday when members gathered for the final meeting of the year at Big Spring Country Club.

Other officers installed by Mrs. Jerry Grimes for the 1974-75 club year were Mrs. Tommy Ross, vice president; Mrs. Mel Porter, recording secretary; Mrs. Thomas Fetters, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ron McNeil, treasurer; and Mrs. Rip Patterson, parliamentarian.

Following luncheon and the brief business session the group played bridge. The outgoing president, Mrs. Rip Patterson, was presented a gift of appreciation.

Housewarming Held Sunday

A housewarming party was held for Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Proctor from 2 to 5 p.m., Sunday in their new home on the Gail Route.

Six couples who hosted the event were Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Puckett, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Buchanan and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wegner.

The Proctors' son, Larry Proctor, Odessa, attended, and other out-of-town guests were Mrs. Faye Sledge and Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Herring, all of Lubbock. The Proctors' daughter, Mrs. Everett Newton, and family of Tacoma, Wash., were unable to be present.

Silver appointments were used on a refreshment table covered with a green lace cloth. Antiqued fruit was featured in the centerpiece.

Poplin and canvas are continuing traditional. A shining finish — like cire — is newer. Pastels and neutrals come on strong. But black holds the record for chic.

Neither do bedraggled scarves. Neckware should be cleansed and pressed. Hats ask for a brushing and sometimes a change of band.

Really, the spic-and-span appearance keys the all-weather coat.

Dislikes P.E.

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You have got to help me before I do something really dumb. I am a 12-year-old boy and this is my first year in junior high and I have to take physical education whether I like it or not and I just hate it. I am no good at sports, and I am scared to death to play football or basketball and even baseball. I've tried and my coordination is lousy.

Is there any way I can get out of taking P.E.? I am a good student but I am what people call a "sissy." I have been thinking that maybe if I accidentally cut off my finger or poked a hole in my ear I could get out of taking P.E. (I wear glasses, but that won't get me off.)

Please help me, Abby, but don't use my right name or school. Thank you.

HATES P.E.
DEAR HATES: Honesty is the best policy. Have a frank talk with your favorite teacher or a counselor at school, and come right out with the truth. It's nothing to be ashamed of. But sometimes the easiest way to get around something is to go right through it. So if you have to take P.E., remember, it's no disgrace to fall if you do your best. At least you'll have tried.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about this new streaking craze?

SAN DIEGO SUE
DEAR SUE: I think it's overbearing.

DEAR ABBY: My husband used to refer to me as "the old lady" when speaking to his friends. I disliked that very much and told him so, but it didn't penetrate.

One day one of his friends asked my husband if he wanted to go fishing, and I heard him say: "I'll have to ask the old lady." I said "I don't think your mother would care if you went, darling!"

He hasn't called me "the old lady" since.

OKIE
DEAR OKIE: Maybe his mother wouldn't care to be called "old" either. In my book, a person isn't old until he thinks he is.

DEAR ABBY: This has been on my chest for two years, and now I am going to get it off.

My husband has always liked those great big bath towels so I keep them on hand for him.

Well, my husband had to go back to his hometown for a funeral, so I packed two of his favorite bath towels because I've often heard him say that nothing does the job for him like they do. I suppose I should mention that my husband stayed at his mother's.

When he came home he said: "I have a message for you from my mother. She said to tell you that you had better not send another towel to her house."

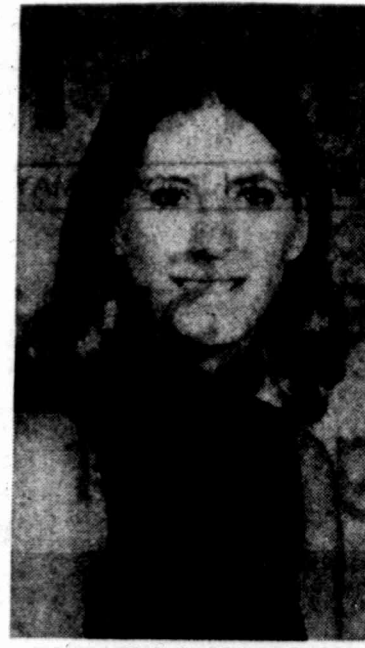

MEANT WELL
DEAR MEANT: Don't let it bother you. The next time your husband goes to visit his mother, let him do his own packing. And if he packs his favorite towels, his mother can blame him — not you.

TO GET PROMOTED, THEY KILL AT RANDOM

'Death Angels' Responsible For 'Zebra' Murders

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — To win recognition and get promoted, they must kill. They dress neatly and purport to live according to a puritanical code of moral conduct. But they educate their young in what they call "martial arts," teaching them the "techniques of killing or incapacitating."

KILL WHITES
Mayor Joseph L. Alioto described the group Wednesday and said it calls itself "Death Angels." He said it is a nationwide organization "dedicated to the murder and mutilation of whites and dissident blacks."

Alioto says the group is responsible for the so-called "Zebra" slayings of 12 whites and the wounding of six others here since last November. All were shot down by young blacks in apparent unprovoked street attacks.

Alioto, who handed out a list of 73 victims, said, "Nearly 80 California murderous assaults have been characterized by unprovoked attacks involving random shootings of whites in the streets or mutilation with heavy-bladed weapons committed by neatly dressed young black men."

NAMES, DATES
The list, which dates to September 1970, gives the name of the victim, date and county in which the assaults took place. Alioto did not say who he obtained the list.

"Decapitation or other forms of mayhem bring special credit from the organization for the killers."
Law enforcement officials, including the San Francisco police and State Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, said they were unaware of a statewide pattern of murder.

EVIDENCE
"We have no indication that any of the murders in San Francisco are connected with those others around the state," Younger told newsmen in Sacramento. "We have no evidence of a statewide conspiracy."

The mayor spoke after more than 100 heavily-armed officers in bullet-proof vests struck before dawn Wednesday, arresting seven black men in a three-hour period.

"The police have pierced the veil of a vicious ring of murderers called Death Angels. We have the principals involved in the Zebra slayings," said Alioto. Among those arrested was Tom Manney, 31, a former outstanding football halfback at San Francisco State University and-search procedures two weeks ago to try to find the major break in the case, Alioto said. Instead, it was an informer who may have been enticed by the $30,000 reward put up by organizations and the hundreds of blacks that led to

"I have to assume he was influenced by the reward," said Alioto. He would give no clues as to the identity of the informer. Nor would police release anything except the names and ages of those arrested. Those arrested along with Manney today were identified as J.C. Simon, 29; Larry Green, 22; Dwight Stallings, 28; Man-

NUMEROUS INSURANCE FIRMS REFUSE TO SELL BUSINESS MEN REQUIRED BOND State Sales Tax Guarantee Program Hits Roadblock

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — "Many, many" insurance companies are refusing to sell bonds to guarantee the state's sales tax collections, an official says. The crisis brought in a closed door meeting between State Insurance Board officials and representatives of Atty. Gen. John Hill to seek a solution Wednesday. A 1973 law, recommended by a Senate investigating committee, required new businesses and those with sales tax delinquencies to purchase bonds or post security in cash, guaranteeing they will remit their sales tax collections to the state. If a businessman can't get a bond or post security in cash, he can't get a sales tax permit—a necessity for stores, bars, restaurants and gasoline stations. Between 200 and 300 insurance companies sell surety of the comptroller's sales tax division.

"I would say we have had at least 300 or 400 people call and tell us they have tried everywhere to get a bond and couldn't get one," Russ added. "Many, many of these surety companies will not write these bonds," said Fred Russ, head of the comptroller's sales tax division.

As a result, he said, some entrepreneurs have been unable to start their businesses and others have done so illegally, subjecting themselves to lawsuits filed by Hill.

HARD TO ASK
Russ said many small businessmen don't have the money to post security in cash, and "it's pretty hard to ask a man to come up with $5,000." The amount of bond is set on a case by case basis, and depends on a business' anticipated sales tax collections.

The Surety Association of America recommended the $20 per $1,000 premium, but Russ and insurance board chairman Joe Christie say the companies are complaining the rate is too low.

Hugh Lacy, head of the board's bond division, said that "overall the rate is fair," and some insurance companies won't write a sales tax bond for certain businesses "at any rate."

"Some small business people, their bond may not be more than $100 to $150. They could put up the cash, but they say they don't have that much to put up. An insurance company would be foolish to write a bond for a person like that," Lacy said.

He explained that the insurers assume a businessman with such small resources might be the one who would be tempted to picket his sales tax collections and bring on a claim against his insurance company.

Lacy said the solution under consideration would be the use of an out-of-state company, at higher rates, to guarantee the sales tax payments of high-risk businesses.

"Such a company would not be bound by the standard rate. Lacy said a business that could not get a bond any other way might pay as much as $50 to $150 per $1,000 of coverage. The out-of-state coverage would be provided through the Alliance Insurance Agency of Dallas, he said.

PERSONAL INTEREST
Christie has a personal interest in the problems because he headed the legislative committee that recommended the bonding program.

"We didn't foresee this facility problem. I am still certain, however, that the bonding program is necessary," he said.

He said delinquent sales tax accounts have dropped from 27,000 to 2,700 because of the bond requirement. Russ said $5 million in delinquent sales taxes were collected between Sept. 1 and Jan. 1, the date the bond requirement took effect.

MEANING OF REMARKS OPEN TO QUESTION Nixon-Dean Conflict. WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Dean III's accounts of nearly two dozen conversations with President Nixon about Watergate are confirmed in some respects but contradicted in others by White House transcripts of the talks.

Minimum Wage In Effect. WASHINGTON (AP) — A new minimum wage law is in effect today, although it may be a few weeks before more money starts showing up in the pay of the 4.2 million workers who would be affected immediately. Labor Department officials said the delay is because they are behind schedule in sending out the papers explaining the changes to employers.

Vote Turnout Estimated. DALLAS (AP) — The head of the Texas Election Bureau, Robert Johnson, estimates that less than half the state's 5.3 million registered voters will go to the polls in Saturday's primary elections. Johnson predicted the vote could be 2.3 to 2.4 million, based on the 1972 primary vote and considering the increase in voter registration since 1972.

directly to the President on all Watergate matters. Dean said he told Nixon he was not sure the matter could be contained indefinitely. There was no transcript submitted of this meeting. Feb. 28

He said Nixon "reassured me not to worry, that I had no legal problems." The passage in the transcript at all resembling Dean's account is fleeting and at the end of the meeting, Nixon observed that the Watergate committee would like to get somebody at the White House such as Haldeman, Colson or Ehrlichman.

Dean said after another discussion on the Gray hearings, "we got into a discussion of Watergate matters specifically." "I told the President about the fact that there were money demands being made by the seven convicted defendants, and that the sentencing of these individuals was not far off."

Dean said Nixon expressed annoyance that Colson had mentioned executive clemency to the President. He said Nixon also asked how previous payments to Watergate defendants had been handled. This conversation does not appear in the March 13 tape, and Dean has since indicated he now believes it took place March 21.

On March 13, however, Dean told Nixon in response to a question that Gordon Strachan, an aide to Haldeman, knew about Watergate.

Ohio Man New MH-MR Commissioner In State

AUSTIN — Kenneth D. Gaver, M.D., director of the Ohio Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, has been selected as the new commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

The 49-year-old psychiatrist succeeds commissioner David Wade, M.D., who retires Aug. 31.

"We are extremely pleased that Dr. Gaver has accepted the position," said board chairman Edwin R. VanZandt of Beaumont. "Dr. Gaver will bring to Texas a vast experience in public administration and knowledge in the care and treatment of the mentally ill and the mentally retarded. His resourcefulness and leadership will enable the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation to continue and expand the many programs of service initiated and developed by Dr. Wade."

Dr. Gaver has had experience in expanding the role of the community mental health and mental retardation centers.

Dr. Wade, who will remain with the department as a consultant, said "The Board could not have selected a more knowledgeable or better qualified person to head our department. I look forward to working with Dr. Gaver."

Dr. Gaver said that his discussions with board members and the TDMHMR staff "indicate the greatest effort in the future must be the expansion of services to the community."

"Such services must be provided as close to the community, the family and home as is possible. They must be comprehensive in nature and they must be coordinated with the services provided in the state's hospitals and schools."

"At the same time," he added, "we must aim for excellence in the state's institutions." A native of Santa Barbara, Calif., Dr. Gaver, received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of California at Berkeley and his doctor of medicine degree from the University of Tennessee College of Medicine.

Dr. Gaver served his internship at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Oakland, Calif., and received his training in psychiatry at the U.S. Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Md.; the U.S. Naval Hospital, San Diego, Calif.; the Oregon State Hospital, Salem, Ore.; and the Indiana University Medical Center, Indianapolis, Ind. He was certified in psychiatry by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology in 1957. In 1959 he entered private practice. In 1965, he returned to state administrative service with the Oregon Mental Health Division and a year later was named administrator.

West went out of his way to present declarer with an extra trick on today's hand. However, it was a trick that declarer did not need, and it eventually returned to the defenders in the form of the setting trick.

Once North showed a strong hand by reversing the bidding, South began to think of slam. He showed the quality of his suit with a jump rebid, and when North volunteered secondary support, South jumped to six spades to end the auction.

West elected to attack dummy's second suit—hearts. The lead of the eight was won by dummy's queen, and declarer made the good play of crossing to his hand with the diamond queen to lead a low spade towards the jack. This was a safety play to protect against West holding four trumps to the queen, as was indeed the case.

With his hopes for two trump tricks apparently dashed, West paused to re-view the situation. Declarer was almost certainly marked with a six-card spade suit and the ace of clubs on the bidding. That would give him five spade tricks, three hearts, three diamonds and the ace of clubs — twelve tricks in all. The only chance to defeat the hand lay in scoring two trump tricks, and to accomplish that West had to lock declarer out of his hand.

Once that conclusion had been reached, the execution was not too difficult to find. West went up with the queen of spades and shifted to the king of clubs!

West's brilliant defense was the death-knell of declarer's slam. Forced to win the ace of clubs, declarer could lead a spade to the jack, but he had no way of getting back to his hand to draw West's trumps without letting West ruff a red suit. It would avail declarer naught to lead a trump honor from his hand instead of crossing to the jack, for that would automatically present West with a second trump trick.

2,000 Join Car Pool Program

HOUSTON (AP) — About 2,000 persons have joined the computerized City of Houston downtown car pool program since it started in mid-March, coordinator Sam Acheson said Tuesday.

The program opened with 1,600 participants. If all 2,000 persons participate in seven-member car pools, Acheson said, the city's downtown traffic load of about 250,000 vehicles daily will be reduced by 1,715 cars.
