Release Four Suspects In 'Zebra' Slayings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Four of seven men arrested in connection with a wave of "Zebra" murders here have been freed for lack of evidence, police say.

Police Sgt. William Kearny identified those freed Thursday night as Thomas Manney, 31, a star football player at San Francisco State University in the early 1960s; Clarence Jamerson, 37; Dwight Stallings, 28; and Edgar Burton, 22.

They had been booked for investigation of conspiracy to commit murder.

Kearny said the four were released because it became evident "during the course of the investigation that no further procedures against them are feasible at this time."

He said Chief of Inspectors Charles Barca planned a news conference on the matter today.

But formal murder and other charges had been filed against the three other men still in custody—Larry C. Green, 22; J.C. Simon, 29; and Manuel Moore, 29, police said. They are to appear Monday before a county grand jury.

The new developments were disclosed as Mayor Joseph L. Alioto was en route to Washington, D.C., to consult with U.S. Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe on his theory that an organization called "Death Angels" was linked to some 80 killings in California.

ALL WHITE.

Alioto says those 80 killings include 12 murders in a six-month period here in a case San Francisco police have code-named "Zebra" after a communications channel. Six other persons were wounded.

All of the "Zebra" victims were white. They were shot down in apparent unprovoked attacks by young blacks, police say.

Green was charged in connection with a case not listed by police as part of the "Zebra" file, the Oct. 2 kidnaping and decapitation of Mrs. Quita Hague, 28. Also charged in that case was Jesse Lee Cooks, now serving a life sentence for murder.

Green and Cooks are charged with conspiracy to commit murder, kidnapping, armed robbery and assault with a deadly weapon, Chief Asst. District Atty. Walter Gubbini said.

Police say Mrs. Hague was beheaded with a machete-like weapon and her husband, Richard, 30, savagely beaten and slashed in the attack. They were forced into a white van as they walked near their Telegraph Hill home, police said.

Did Plumbers Pull Burglary In Las Vegas?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's tape transcripts indicate that the White House Plumbers did pull a Las Vegas burglary, contrary to testimony given to the Senate Watergate committee.

Watergate conspirator E. Howard Hunt told the committee last Sept. 24 that he and another member of the secret White House intelligence-gathering unit that became known as the Plumbers planned to burglarize the office of Las Vegas Publisher Hank Greenspun.

But, Hunt said, the burglary never came off.

In the White House tape transcripts, presidential adviser John D. Ehrlichman said it did.

Purpose of the burglary, according to Hunt's testimony, was to get some information on Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine which reputedly would cripple Muskie's fledgling presidential campaign.

The planning took place, Hunt indicated, between December 1971 and March 1972.

Hunt said the plan was formulated with the help of representatives of millionaire Howard Hughes who also wanted some material reported to be in Greenspun's safe.

He testified that the Hughes people promised to give the Plumbers such support services as hotel rooms and automobiles.

The plan never worked, Hunt said because the Hughes people refused to give the would-be burglars an escape airplane.

In addition, Hunt said, "the Muskie candidacy was rapidly losing impetus and no one was particularly interested in the information that Mr. Greenspun might have possessed if, in fact, he ever did, concerning Mr. Muskie."

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ranking Democrat and Republican on the Senate Watergate Committee said the sworn testimony of John W. Dean III, despite White House claims that he is a liar, Chairman Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and Vice Chairman Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., commented in separate statements. Baker also told a Philadelphia news conference the committee's final report may be delayed beyond the May 25 target date because the transcripts have opened "new lines of inquiry."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee gave President Nixon's lawyer a major role in its impeachment inquiry by permitting him to question and propose witnesses and raise objections. Under rules adopted unanimously by the panel, there also is provision for televising of the impeachment hearings if the committee decides to conduct them in public.

DETROIT (AP) — During his eight months in the dope racket, Vincent Mazzara was known to his drug friends as a fast wheeler-dealer who spent thousands of dollars on heroin and cocaine. That image was shattered when federal and local authorities broke a dope ring and confiscated an estimated $6 million in drugs on information supplied by Mazzara — a Detroit police officer. "It's hard to think that it's over," Mazzara, 24, said of an undercover life during which he was threatened with death several times.

SAFFORD, Ariz. (AP) — A World War II vintage "Bamboo Bomber" airplane crashed upside down into a mountaintop forest and went undetected for about 30 years, military officials say. The skeletal remains of a human, apparently pulled from the aircraft by wild animals sometime late in the war, were found when two hikers spotted the wreckage this week. The twin-engine airplane crashed near the top of Mt. Graham, a peak 10,700 feet above the southern Arizona desert. An Army graves registration team from Ft. Hood, Tex., was scheduled to go to the scene today. Officials said the plane was a UC78, an Army trainer airplane which got its nickname because of its fabric and wood construction. It was used during World War II to train bomber pilots.

OUT OF JAIL. — Four men, Edgar Burton, 22 (left), Thomas Manney, 31 (left-center), Clarence Jamerson, 37, and Dwight Stallings, 28, were released Thursday night when Sgt. William Kearny said it became evident "during the course of the investigation that no further procedures against them are feasible at this time." Three other suspects remain in police custody at this time.

EXPOSURE TO RADIO-ACTIVE MATTER

Charge Of Castrating Teen Son Hits Engineer

HOUSTON (AP) — A petroleum engineer was in county jail today charged with castrating his 13-year-old son by exposing him to radio-active material.

A five-count indictment returned by a Harris County grand jury Thursday charged Kerry Anrus Crocker, 43, with castration and assault to murder, maim and disfigure his son, Kirk.

Crocker, who denied the charges, was taken to jail in lieu of $50,000 bond.

The indictment was served on Crocker at the end of a child support hearing Thursday at which Crocker's former wife is asking for increased payments to meet the boy's doctor bills.

Kirk, who got out of a wheelchair and used a crutch to make his way to the witness stand, testified for 90 minutes at the Thursday hearing in Juvenile Judge Robert Lowry's courtroom.

STRANGE ITEMS

The boy testified that beginning in mid 1972 his father had placed some strange, metal, cylindrical-shaped pellets near the boy's body while he slept at Crocker's townhouse during visitation periods.

The pellets, he said, were found in such places as his pillow, under the sofa where he slept and in head phones connected to a television he was watching. He said he always tried to get away from the pellets when he found them.

Barbara Smith, 42, the boy's mother, had testified earlier in the hearing that large sores appeared on the boy's ankle, right thumb and inner thighs. The sores would break open and seem to eat away at the skin and muscle tissue.

SKIN GRAFTS

She said medical attention from specialists had resulted in high costs for skin grafts, injections and physical therapy.

John Bible, an attorney, said the boy's testicles have deteriorated. He also said the boy needs a crutch or a wheelchair to get around and can walk by himself only 10 or 15 minutes at a time.

Crocker denied at the hearing that he deliberately exposed his son to the material, identified as Cesium.

CHARGED WITH MAIMING SON BY RADIATION — Kerry Anrus Crocker, 43, right, outside a courtroom Thursday after being served with a five-count indictment returned by a Harris County grand jury that accuses him with castration and assault to murder, maim and disfigure his son, Kirk, 13. AS PRIMARY ELECTION LOOMS Mysterious Campaign Gift Leaves Candidate Puzzled

By JOHN EDWARDS

"I can't give it back, and I can't hide it," Ikie Rupard, a candidate for county commissioner of precinct two, said.

"What can you do with it?" Rupard asked.

Someone left $40 in cash by the door of his grocery store in Sand Springs, Rupard said.

By law, candidates must reveal who contributed to his campaign, Rupard said.

"A man can always use $40 in his campaign, unless he's a man of means," Rupard said. But the mysterious donation left him between a "rock and a hard place."

NOT ASKING

Rupard, who is running for public office for the first time, said he "made no effort" to determine who left the money and does not plan to hire a "Pinkerton" detective to find out.

"I just took it for granted it was from my neighborhood," Rupard said.

Three men from the same neighborhood are running for the same position. Bill Bennett, the incumbent, is seeking reelection. The other neighborhood opponent is Doyle Fowler.

Big Spring is represented in the race by Bill Chrane, Wasson Road, and the lone Republican seeking the post, Paul Schaffer, 611 Highland Drive.

Deadline for the second of the campaign financial statements was Wednesday. Only candidates opposed within their party must file the documents.

TOP SPENDER

All the candidates opposed within their party for county and precinct office nominations complied with the filing requirement.

Mrs. Margaret Ray, chief deputy county clerk, again led with the largest amount of donations and highest amount spent between March 25 and April 24.

Contents of the reports follow:

COUNTY JUDGE

A. G. Mitchell (D-Inc.) No contributions added to the $250 Ray Ebling gave before, and was reported in the first campaign financial statement. A total of $476.20 spent.

Bill Tune (D). Pauline Campbell, 2511 Fisher St., contributed $50, but no contributions were received during the first reporting period. No additional spending, leaving this total at $342.51.

Glenn A. Stallings (R). No contributions. With no new expenses, total spending remained at $342.43. (See CAMPAIGN, P. 2-A, Col. 1)

Hopefuls End Campaign

Charles Fennell, candidate for state senator and eight-year state House veteran, returned to Howard County Thursday on his eighth campaign visit.

Fennell attended an American Businessmen's Club (ABC) luncheon today. He is accompanied by his wife, Merrill, and his campaign manager, and brother, Leslie Fennell and is a native of Holiday in Archer County.

"I am finding that the people of our district are demanding their next Senator be a man of experience. We opened our campaign for State Senator at Howard College on December 12, so I thought it would be appropriate to spend the final hours of the campaign with my friends here in Howard County. I am confident of victory now and in November," Fennell said Thursday.

Ray Farabee, of Wichita Falls, Fennell's opponent in the Democratic primary, will also wind up his campaign here with a 2:30 p.m., coffee today at the First Federal Savings and Loan building.

Coincidentally, Farabee also opened his campaign in Big Spring.

Voter apathy could be worrying both candidates. The size of the vote could dictate the winner, who must face a Republican, Mary Kirshoff, in the November general election.

RAIN?

Slight 20 per cent chance of rain election day. High today and Saturday near 80. Low tonight near 50. Wind shifting from the north to northeast today, clocking 12-22 m.p.h. through tonight.

Police Discover: 'It's Drunk Out'

Many nights and wee hours of the morning find the police rounding up a number of drunks in public places. But Thursday morning between 9 a.m. and noon, there were an unusually large number of drunks abroad.

The first call came in around 9 a.m. to report a drunk in the 500 block on 3rd. Police talked to a man at the scene but said he was sober and only having car trouble. Ten minutes later they went back on a second call and arrested a drunk, then at 2nd and Nolan.

At 10:19 a.m. they arrested another inebriate at 105 E. 2nd and at 10:50 arrested a third drunk in the 500 block on 3rd where the first call came from. Less than seven minutes later at 508 W. 3rd, the owner of the Golden Nugget called to say somebody was getting hurt in the field behind the place of business.

Police went to the block for the third time and took one man to the hospital and arrested another, charged with drunk and investigation of aggravated assault. While they were still booking that suspect, the hospital called to report that the man brought in was more drunk than hurt and they returned to arrest that suspect.

It was drunk out and it wasn't even noon yet.

Narc Agents Win Shootouts

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Two persons were shot to death and another was critically wounded Thursday in shootouts with narcotics agents here and in Arlington in two unrelated cases.

Carl D. Mays, 29, of Waxahachie, was felled in a hail of gunfire from seven officers while pulling out of a driveway in a west side residential area.

Police said Mays had opened fire with a .357 magnum, putting shots through two police cars. A 33-year-old man with Mays was critically wounded.

Police said the seven narcotics officers had been in the area to serve two arrest warrants when they noticed Mays and a companion trying to pull out of a driveway. Then the shooting broke out.

Four other persons were jailed for investigation of drug charges.

In Arlington, Wayne Allen Nolley, 22, was shot to death after he fired a pistol at an undercover agent trying to set up a drug transfer, according to police.

The incident occurred at an Arlington shopping center. Jack Salter, Dallas director of the Drug Enforcement Administration, issued a statement saying Nolley was killed while resisting arrest.

Salter said Nolley was trying to abduct an undercover agent who was carrying $107,000 for the drug purchase.

Police said several pounds of marijuana were recovered from the Fort Worth arrests, but that no drugs were taken in the Arlington incident.

TRAFFIC DELAYED — A tractor-trailer truck loaded with 24,000 pounds of boxed lunch meat overturned on Interstate 30 in North Little Rock Thursday, blocking two lanes of traffic. Commuters were backed up for two miles to the north and at least a mile to the south.

Inking New Steel Pact

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — The nation's 10 largest steel producers and the United Steelworkers union began formal signing today of a new three-year contract. It is the first pact negotiated under a historic no-strike bargaining agreement. Inland Steel Co. was the first company to sign the pact with the others to follow in a three-hour ceremony. "I think we can speak for most of the companies and say that we are happy with this settlement," said William Ryan, Inland's assistant general manager of industrial relations. The contract was approved informally in Washington April 12 and it provides hefty wage and benefit increases for 350,000 workers in the steel industry. The settlement eventually will be extended to cover 500,000 employees. Under the agreement with the nation's 10 largest steel producers, workers received a 6.3 per cent hourly wage hike of 28 cents Wednesday. Their paychecks will go up again by 16 cents an hour on Aug. 1, 1975, and again on Aug. 1, 1976.

Light Turnout Of Voters Is Predicted Saturday

Political observers here predict a light turnout for the Democratic and Republican Primaries Saturday. "I don't anticipate more than about 40 per cent" of the 15,684 registered voters, County Commissioner Simon (C) Terrazas said. "Seems like the races are not as hot as they are at some times," the commissioner of precinct one said. Terrazas does not face reelection this time, and he felt most of the interest in his precinct would center around the justice of the peace race. Gus Ochotorena Jr., who was appointed by Commissioners Court to complete the unexpired term of the late Jess Slaughter, is running against Blaz Bailon, who runs a cafe. Not much over 6,000, Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, predicted the county-wide turnout will be. "I think it's going to be light," Mrs. Petty said. "I would hope there would be at least six or seven thousand," Mrs. Zarah L. Bednar, county tax collector, said. Lee Porter, chairman of the Democratic Party in Howard County, foresaw a low number voting in the Democratic Primary. G. Ben Bancroft, Republican chairman here, said both Republican and Democratic Primaries probably would draw comparatively few voters. "Honesty and capability" will be the matters voters consider in the wake of the "Watergate affair and Sharpstown thing a few years ago," Bancroft said. Both Democratic and Republican polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Precinct conventions in both parties are slated to start at 7:15 p.m. Precinct chairmen are asked to report the results of precinct conventions to the Big Spring Herald. GOP POLLS These are the Republican voting places: AIRPORT ELEMENTARY SCHOOL: Voters in county commissioner's precinct 1. Is There Tobacco Fiend On Loose?

There may be a real nicotine fiend among the populace. A burglar broke into Super Save at 212 N. Gregg during the night Thursday and stole from 75-80 cartons of cigarettes. With no special brand preference, the culprit took ten cartons of Salems, ten cartons of Marlboro and ten cartons of Winston as well as 35-40 assorted cartons. On the same night, somebody broke into the filling station at 310 E. 4th across the street from the police station and took money from the cigarette machine and three belted tires valued at $111.

No Plans To Shut Down Any Station

City of Big Spring administrators are currently undergoing a complete study of the fire department due to several upcoming problems in the future, according to City Manager Harry Hagel. There are no plans at this time to close any of the fire stations although a rumor to this effect moved through the city this week. The city is studying possibilities of moving additional firemen to the Central Fire Station to operate a new big truck ordered by the city. However, delivery of the truck is not anticipated for over a year. The city also faces problems in wage and hour regulations concerning firemen and their duties and are making a detailed study on this matter.

Precinct Meetings May Not Start Until 7:30

All precincts were "go" for the Democratic primary Saturday, Lee Porter, county chairman, said here Friday morning. The last voting box problem was solved when E. O. McNeese volunteered to serve as election judge for Precinct 18 at the former Kentwood Methodist Church. There were indications that precinct conventions might not actually get under way until 7:30 p.m., but public notices have the official convening time as 7:15 p.m., the same as observed over the state according to the party instruction book. What sort of turnout the primaries will draw was problematical, but the presence of the horse race referendum on the ballot may bring out a larger vote than anticipated. While forces urging legalization of parimutuel racetrack betting have concentrated mostly on the television tube, local forces in opposition have been making contacts and have mailed thousands of letters urging that the proposal be rejected. There are locally contested races — county judge, district

Maryland Court Disbars Former Vice President

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Calling Spiro T. Agnew morally obtuse, the Maryland Court of Appeals has prohibited the former vice president from practicing law.

NO CONTEST
"It is difficult to feel compassion for an attorney who is so morally obtuse that he consciously cheats for his own pecuniary gain that government he has sworn to serve, completely disregards the words of the oath he uttered when first admitted to the bar and absolutely fails to perceive his professional duty to act honestly in all matters," the court said.

The state's highest court disbarred Agnew on Thursday because he pleaded no contest last October to a charge he evaded about $13,500 in federal taxes when he was governor of Maryland in 1967.

Agnew was not a member of the federal bar, and his disbarment in Maryland prevents his practicing law elsewhere. The ruling affirmed a recommendation in January by a three-judge circuit court panel which heard the case brought against Agnew by the Maryland Bar Association.

Agnew, who was unavailable for comment, cannot appeal the decision but could petition the court for reinstatement as a lawyer at any time, officials of the court of appeals said.

In a unanimous 13-page opinion from the seven judges, the court said it considered tax evasion a crime involving moral turpitude, fraud and deceit and as such required disbarment under state law, court rulings and the ethical rules of the American Bar Association.

The judges said they found no mitigating circumstances to grant requests by Agnew and his lawyer, Leon H.A. Pierson, that the former public official merely be suspended from practicing law, his profession before entering politics full time in 1962.

The judges said failure to disbar Agnew would be a travesty of their responsibility to uphold the integrity of the legal profession and prevent individual lawyers from hurting its image. Court in Baltimore, had asked Agnew, who was fined $10,000 the circuit court panel last December to leave him with the means to earn a living.

Dock Workers Back On Jobs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dock workers went back to their jobs at West Coast ports Thursday while the longshoremen's union demand for a cost-of-living pay increase is negotiated with shippers.

"Everything's back to normal," said a dispatcher in the union hiring hall here.

Agreement to end a one-day work stoppage of 12,000 members of the International Longshoremen's and Warehouse-men's Union was reached Wednesday night after 5½ hours of talks between the union and the Pacific Maritime Association.

"There shall be a return to work as of May 2, and the parties will immediately discuss the union's proposal for a cost-of-living adjustment," the union and the employers' group said in a joint announcement.

Further talks were scheduled today on the ILWU proposal, which was not spelled out. But a union spokesman said the demand was for an amount exceeding the 30 cents the federal Pay Board trimmed from a 72-cent increase negotiated to end a 134-day strike in February 1972.

EIGHT YEARS OF AGING — Two photographs of Waggoner Carr show how much he has aged in only eight years. At right, shown at a news conference in 1966 when he announced he would run against Sen. John Tower and at left, photographed just last week in his Austin office. Carr was found innocent on April 8 of federal charges after a 3-year ordeal of living with accusations of wrongdoing.

Face Winsces In Pain As He Recalls Ordeal

By ROBERT HEARD Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Waggoner Carr has changed. This is not the same Waggoner Carr who announced at a 1966 news conference he would oppose Sen. John Tower and then smoothly answered questions with unctuous confidence and an air of quiet power and great authority.

FUZZY NOW
This is a Waggoner Carr whose sharp edges are fuzzy now. The words are still polished, but the voice is tired. The occasional smile does not reach the eyes. He rubs his forehead. He pulls at his eyebrow.

America's system of justice broke down in his case until it got to the juries, says the man who as attorney general was the state's top law enforcement officer for four years.

CONSPIRACY
A Dallas jury acquitted him in March 1973 on 12 counts of fraud growing out of the Sharpstown scandal. On April 3, another Dallas jury said he was innocent of charges of fraud and conspiracy in the sale of securities.

POOR THIRD
Barnes never was connected with Sharpstown. But he was burdened with it as were all state incumbents when he ran for governor in 1972. The glamor boy of Texas politics was stunned by the voters who placed him a poor third behind Dolph Briscoe and Frances Farenthold.

ENEMIES
"Wilson was quoted as saying he and I were open enemies and had been for years, and that the SEC was going to indict me, and he was offering advice as to how my indictment should read in order for it to be of political benefit to the President in the 1972 election."

RUSH JOB
The Fort Worth office of the SEC was ordered by a telephone caller from Washington whom Carr has not been able to identify to file a civil suit against Carr and 27 other individuals and firms on Jan. 18, 1971, the same day the Democrats held a victory dinner in Austin, and the day before the inauguration of Gov. Preston Smith for a second term.

IN TROUBLE
They told Mitchell, according to Zimmerman's testimony at Carr's trial, that Tower was in trouble because, with John Connally in the Cabinet, Texas had an avenue to Nixon that bypassed Tower. Connally then was a Democrat.

IN RUINS
A decade later, his world is in ruins and he must begin rebuilding at age 55, a time when many successful men begin to slow down and enjoy what they have worked so hard to build.

IN TROUBLE
They told Mitchell, according to Zimmerman's testimony at Carr's trial, that Tower was in trouble because, with John Connally in the Cabinet, Texas had an avenue to Nixon that bypassed Tower. Connally then was a Democrat.

IN TROUBLE
They told Mitchell, according to Zimmerman's testimony at Carr's trial, that Tower was in trouble because, with John Connally in the Cabinet, Texas had an avenue to Nixon that bypassed Tower. Connally then was a Democrat.

The men around Nixon did not single out Carr and Texas. They did similar things in California, Illinois, Louisiana, Washington and Arkansas.

(Carr says he is writing a book—four-fifths finished—on the untold story linking his case with similar GOP maneuvers elsewhere. Since he won his own case acting as his own lawyer, he has been asked to represent defendants in those other states.)

Tower and his campaign finance chairman, Julian Zimmerman, in December 1970 went to see Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, who headed the Committee to Re-elect the President (CREEP).

Since Tower looked upon Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes as his most likely opponent, and since Barnes was Connally's protegee, it was a dangerous situation, and Nixon should be told about it.

"He (Zimmerman) testified that Mitchell stated that Tower should not concern himself with Mr. Barnes because there was an investigation going on in Texas that would remove Barnes from the political picture in Texas," Carr said.

This was the Securities and Exchange Commission investigation of the Sharpstown matter. The SEC has its own lawyers, and there was no reason, except a political one, for Mitchell to have known about the investigation.

In John Dean's file recovered from the basement of the White House after Dean left, there is a memo about a telephone conversation between Will Wilson and Patrick Gray.

Wilson, head of the Justice Department's criminal division at the time of the memo, defeated Carr for state attorney general in 1960. Gray later was nominated to head the FBI but was not confirmed because he participated in destruction of some FBI files on Watergate.

"Now this memo was dated approximately a year before I was indicted, in the early fall of 1971. I was indicted on July 10, '72," Carr said.

Again, there was no reason why Wilson should know about the investigation as far as his office functions were concerned, Carr notes.

It was such a rush job that many sentences in the pleading own problem. You don't see anybody. Everything you've worked for financially is lost. Every headline is wrong."

"And the pressure increases. They tell you, 'If you'll plead guilty to something, just something, then we'll not bother you anymore.'"

Now it is over. He has lost his only client, himself, and is available for others. "I am confident I can do it, and I am confident I can do it fairly soon," he says of rebuilding.

Besides rebuilding his practice and besides the book, he has a couple of other major projects. One is to pursue his $100 million lawsuit against Houston promoter Frank Sharp, the central figure in the Sharpstown scandal. The other is to research the possibility of suing the government for malicious prosecution.

CRUCIFY
He doubts that Sharp has a dollar left that isn't spoken for but a suit is important in the continuing fight to clear Carr's name.

Carr served as county attorney for Lubbock County in the late 1940s. He was elected five times to the Texas House of Representatives, serving two terms as speaker.

He lost to Wilson in the attorney general's race in 1960, but swamped five other candidates in 1962 and set a new vote-getting record in 1964.

Should he ever get back into politics, he knows one thing—"I'll be a lot more sensitive" to people caught in confrontations with government.

Income Charges
DALLAS (AP) — The U.S. Attorney's Office said prominent Dallas lawyer Eldon R. Vaughn has been accused in a federal information with failure to report income in 1971 of $157,544.54.

Vaughn is general counsel for University Computing Co. Vaughn, 53, has been associated with several partnerships and joint ventures in financial management, oil and gas acquisitions, real estate and security transactions.

Austin Leads Construction

AUSTIN (AP) — Building permits issued during March show that Austin far outdistanced Texas' other large cities in construction dollars spent per capita.

Austin spent $249.94 per capita, followed by El Paso $170.22, Houston $134.39, Fort Worth $117.38, San Antonio $98.95 and Dallas $84.62, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research said.

Robert Lockwood of the bureau also noted that construction activity in March "was notable for a 2.7 per cent increase in the seasonally adjusted index of residential construction."

This figure is based on building permits issued in incorporated cities, and a 2.7 per cent increase in one month is equivalent to an annual rise of almost 40 per cent, Lockwood said.

Police Raid Suspected SLA Hideout, Nab Items

HILLSBOROUGH, Calif. (AP) — Police and the FBI have seized clothing and other items at a hideout that was apparently used recently by the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army, the San Francisco Chronicle says.

The newspaper said today SLA sl-gangs were found on the walls of the apartment. One of them was signed Tania, the name Patricia Hearst said she adopted when she announced she was joining the group.

IGNORED
The SLA has claimed responsibility for abducting Miss Hearst, the 20-year-old daughter of newspaper executive Randolph A. Hearst, from her apartment in Berkeley on Feb. 4. A $4 million offer by the Hearst Corp. for Miss Hearst's return, ignored for a month, expires tonight.

The SLA has been silent on the offer made by Miss Hearst's father.

More than $2 million in freedom was handed out in February and March and Miss Hearst's kidnapers had demanded an additional $4 million.

Miss Hearst has said in taped messages that she does not want to return home and has "elected to stay and 'fight' as 'Comrade Tania' in the ranks of the Symbionese Liberation Army, which claims it kidnaped her Feb. 4.

Authorities say the SLA is a heavily armed, multiracial group of about 25 young men and women.

Hearst, chairman of the Hearst Corp. and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, has expressed a belief she was brainwashed by her kidnapers

Teamsters Win Checkoff Fight

DALLAS (AP) — The Teamsters Union has made an inroad into the Surtran transit system of the city of Dallas by gaining permission for a voluntary dues checkoff for Surtran employees.

Surtran provides bus and taxi service from the Dallas-Fort Worth regional airport.

The Dallas Transit Authority said it was forced to allow the checkoff system because of city guidelines that require it for any union that can prove it has at least 50 city employees as members.

Teamsters officials informed the DTS board the union now has more than 50 Surtran workers as members.

and had "mind control" used on her when she made statements reviling her family and fiance and when she participated in a $10,600 robbery of a San Francisco bank April 15.

She is sought on a federal warrant as a material witness in the holdup. Three other white women and a black man in the gang, all identified by the FBI as SLA members, are charged with bank robbery.

A federal grand jury investigating the robbery called three witnesses Thursday—all admitted acquaintances of one or more alleged SLA members. All three made statements denying any connection with the SLA or information about its operations and refused to answer questions, despite a promise of immunity.

The three were instructed to be back in court in San Francisco for the next session of the grand jury Thursday.

Christmas Party Set By Boneheads

DALLAS (AP) — A spokesman for the Dallas Bonehead Club announced Thursday that everything is set for its Christmas party Friday.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Friday, May 3, 1974 5-A

The boneheads hold their Yule party in the summer so that it will not interfere with their 4th of July party which annually is held in December. Feature of this year's affair will be Egyptian belly dancers.

The spokesman was unable to say exactly how belly dancers relate to Christmas. The club was founded by Dallas businessmen in 1919 who wanted a club that served no useful purpose.

Campaigning is almost over. The decision soon will be in the hands of Howard County voters.

Tomorrow, you and I will have the opportunity to use one of the greatest privileges we possess — the right to vote, in secret, for the candidate of our choice.

Speaking for myself, my wife and two daughters, it has been a pleasure to have met so many of you in our door-to-door campaign, by telephone, especially those who came by our home to visit. Our apologies go to you whom we missed. Time would not permit a second visit, but we hope the card and messages we left in your doors will be worthy of your consideration May 4.

I urge each of you to call or take someone with you to the polls Saturday to vote for the person you believe can and will best fulfill the duties of the office he or she seeks.

Miracle Of First Order?

COMMERCE, Tex. (AP) — A former aide of President Lyndon B. Johnson said it "would have been a miracle of the first order" for a Watergate bugging incident to have occurred without the late president's prior knowledge.

Tom Johnson, now executive editor of the Dallas Times Herald and a longtime aide of LBJ in and out of office, said the late former president maintained to close a check on daily White House activities to be uninformed.

"We all had to hustle each day just to know as much as he did about staff activities," Johnson told a Law Day audience at East Texas State University.

He said President Nixon's address to the nation Monday night was a major effort to avoid impeachment.

Johnson described 1974 as "a year of turbulence" and added, "We must be careful not to let this buffeting shove us to make unwise decisions and draw wrong conclusions."

Seniors At Three Area Schools To Take Trips

The smaller the school, the farther the seniors get to go on a senior trip and the longer they get to stay. It's a fact of life that larger high schools have had to give up senior trips because they have become a physical impossibility.

Big Spring High has a junior-senior prom Saturday, May 11, but no senior trip.

Coahoma High School goes on May 10 to Six Flags, Garden City seniors go to Arlington, Fort Worth and Six Flags from May 14-19.

Forsan goes to the Dallas and Six Flags area from May 7-May 12. And Sands High School (Ackerly) goes to Mayo Dude Ranch in Bandera and on to Galveston, leaving today.

Graduation and baccalaureate times vary greatly. Big Spring holds its baccalaureate in Memorial Stadium, Sunday, May 19, at 7:30 p.m., with graduation at the same time and location on Tuesday, May 21.

Get In Final Licks In Last Full Day Of Campaigning

By The Associated Press
Candidates entered their last full day of campaigning today in attempts to draw voters out of their public apathy and into polling booths in party primaries Saturday.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, up for re-election, told the voters in San Antonio and Dallas Saturday that Texas Democrats must not be turned off by current politics.

"It is not enough for Texans to express their concern, they must translate that concern into votes if our Democratic system is to purge itself of abuses," he said.

MONEY HASSLE
Another gubernatorial candidate, Frances Farenthold said told crowds in Arlington, a comparison of her campaign finances shows she has gotten more public support than Briscoe.

"He has put in around $1.5 million or more of his own money in three races to buy the governor's seat," she said, referring to Briscoe's unsuccessful 1968 campaign and his 1972 election and his bid for re-election.

"Now he's back to buy the first four-year term in the history of the state," she said.

Mrs. Farenthold said it's been a struggle for her to raise campaign funds this year "but with it all... I've actually raised more money from Texans than he has."

"TAKE HEART"
Mrs. Farenthold urged her supporters to "take heart" and show up in large numbers at the polls.

A spokesman for the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs said in Austin that a letter sent out endorsing Farenthold was a view of one member and not the entire federation and that the federation would endorse no one. Briscoe is to campaign today in Del Rio, Beeville, Bay City, Yoakum, Seguin, Kerrville and San Antonio.

Mrs. Farenthold is due today in Houston and Baytown.

Republican gubernatorial candidate Jim Granberry is spending today in Amarillo. He told his audiences in San Antonio Thursday that he had completed more than 10 months of extensive campaigning.

EXPECTING WIN
"I expect to win and I'm looking forward to building a full fledged campaign for the general election," Granberry said.

Odell McBrayer, of Fort Worth, opposing Granberry spent Thursday campaigning in Dallas and Arlington.

The two other Democratic gubernatorial hopefuls, Steve Alexander of Waco and Bill Posey of Houston, never established statewide campaign offices or announced campaign schedules.

State Agriculture Commissioner John White, chairman of the Texas Affirmative Action Committee predicted Thursday that 250,000 Texans will attend precinct conventions Saturday.

The committee works to turn out the voters at the precinct meetings.

"Despite gloomy forecasts in some quarters of a low voter turnout Saturday, I am confident that the Democratic precinct conventions will attract their largest attendance since the mid-1950 contest between the forces of Lyndon Johnson and Allan Shivers," White said.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram on Thursday endorsed Briscoe for governor, White for agriculture commissioner, Bob Bullock for comptroller, Mack Wallace for railroad commissioner and Jesse James for state treasurer.

Pressmen Strike Two Dallas Papers

DALLAS (AP) — Both major Dallas newspapers struggled to put out editions today because printing pressmen walked out Thursday when contract negotiations broke down.

Spokesmen for the Times Herald, an afternoon daily, and the Morning News, the morning newspaper, said they would continue to operate.

The effect of the strike could not immediately be gauged. Early editions of the Morning News were somewhat behind schedule.

HIRE GUARDS
Pickets were stationed outside both newspaper buildings in the downtown area and extra security guards were hired by the papers and posted inside the buildings. No incidents of violence were reported.

The pressmen, members of the International Printing and Graphics Communications, Local 22, authorized a strike in voting Sunday but did not walk out until Thursday afternoon, when the final edition of the Times Herald had been put out.

The walkout strike followed an 11-hour negotiating session by management, union representatives and a federal mediator.

Negotiations on a new contract had been in progress nine months. No new sessions have been set.

The major issue in the dispute was said to be "manning," a means by which pressmen control the number of persons hired each day to run the presses.

WASTEFUL BURDEN
"The newspapers wanted the authority to designate the number of pressmen to be hired each day and the right to use them where management thought best," said a Times Herald statement.

The statement said the supervision "was requested in an effort to control spiraling production costs."

The News statement was similar, saying that manning "has become an onerous, wasteful burden," and adding that "The News has resolved to end this practice."

A union statement charged the two papers with intending to "unilaterally abolish the basic working conditions that have existed in their pressrooms since 1913."

The statement said the strike was caused by the newspaper management and that it was "an unfair labor practice stoppage and appropriate charges will be filed by the union with the National Labor Relations Board."

PARR'S TURN Defense At Bat In Perjury Trial

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Now it is Archer Parr's turn in his federal perjury trial. The government rested late Thursday and Parr's presentation to begin Friday, with indications that the indicted Duval County Judge at some point would take the stand in his own defense.

CLAIMS HE LIED
Parr, 49, will be answering government claims that he lied to a grand jury in characterizing $121,500 in payments from the Duval County water district to him as fees for legal services he rendered.

The thrust of the government's case is the similar testimony of three witnesses, all affiliated with the water district which services much of Parr's South Texas county.

Parr's attorney, James Gillespie, argued to U.S. District Court Judge D. W. Suttle after the government rested that the witnesses did not provide enough proof against Parr for the trial to continue.

Former water district board members D. C. Chapa and Herberto Garza and district office manager Leo Sepulveda testified they did not know of any legal services Parr performed for the $121,500.

DIDN'T THEY?
However, they admitted under cross-examination Parr could have dealt with a board member who is now deceased, Jose "Pepe" Tovar. They all admitted knowing little about the administration of the district.

"In truth and in fact, these men (Chapa and Garza) were figureheads and Jose Tovar ran the district. They depended on Tovar, didn't they?" Gillespie asked Sepulveda.

"Yes sir," Sepulveda answers in a barely audible voice.

Tovar was secretary of the board. The only other board member besides Garza and Chapa during the late 1960s was Julio Benavides, who is also dead. The indictment against Parr deals with 1968 to 1970.

In his government testimony, Chapa did refute directly an isolated statement attributed to Parr in the fifth count of the six-count indictment. Chapa said he never received any legal advice as a board member from Parr, although the indictment quotes Parr as saying he gave advice to all the board members.

"I believe we have supported our burden" of proof, said Asst. U.S. Atty. John Clark to Suttle in reply to Gillespie motion for acquittal.

Four Hours Of Racial Disturbance

BRISTOW, Okla. (AP) — This Northeast Oklahoma town of about 5,000 people was reported quiet early today after four hours of a racial disturbance that included an exchange of gunshots between whites and blacks, authorities reported.

Police said no one was injured. At least six persons were jailed. Bristow is about 30 miles southwest of Tulsa.

Police and sheriff's officers ordered night spots closed to prevent crowds from forming and citizens were ordered off the streets. No curfew was instituted, however.

Bristow Police Chief Fred Hall refused to discuss the situation except to say all was under control about 11 p.m. and he had requested assistance from surrounding communities. Other officers said as many as 50 men responded to Bristow's request for assistance.

Initial reports indicated there had been gun play and knife fights among a small group of blacks and whites, but later some police spokesmen denied those reports.

U.S. Jobless Rate Dips To 5 Per Cent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate edged down from 5.1 per cent to 5 per cent of the work force in April, the government said today.

It was the second consecutive month that the unemployment rate had dropped.

TOO EARLY
Labor Department analysts considered the two-month decline significant but said it was too early to determine whether it was the beginning of a trend.

Unemployment jumped from a 3 1/2-year low of 4.6 per cent in October to 5.2 per cent in January, reflecting the downturn in the economy and the spreading effects of the fuel shortage.

It remained 5.2 per cent in February before dipping to 5.1 per cent in March.

Despite the recent decline, the Nixon administration has said it expects some increases in the unemployment rate later this year, particularly during the summer as more teenagers enter the work force.

OIL EMBARGO
According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, about 4.5 million Americans were without jobs in April. That was about 200,000 fewer than in January and February but still 430,000 higher than in October at the start of the oil embargo.

Total employment stood at 85.8 million last month, about the same as in March.

After rising rapidly during the previous two years, employment has shown very little growth since October, reflecting the lack of growth of jobs in the blue collar and service occupations, the government said.

There also has been little growth in the civilian labor force which was seasonally adjusted 90.3 million persons in April, about the same as in March. The labor force includes both employed and unemployed persons.

JOB LOSSES
The government said the recall of auto workers laid off during the Arab oil embargo helped manufacturing employment to rebound in April. The transportation equipment industry added 60,000 workers in its payrolls last month following three months of heavy job losses.

But in construction, there was a drop of 70,000 jobs. The unemployment rate for adult men jumped sharply in April from 3 per cent to 3.6 per cent, while the rate for adult women remained at 4.9 per cent, about the level of the past four months.

led the king of clubs and continued with the ace, which Kehela ruffed. It seemed that the contract hinged on the location of the ace of spades, but West's vulnerable overall made him a favorite to hold that card. Unless the ace was singleton or doubleton, which would permit declarer to establish his king by leading low spades twice from his hand, there was considerable danger of losing three spade tricks as well as a club. However, Kehela unearthed a better line that guaranteed the contract provided West held at least one diamond honor.

After drawing the outstanding trumps, he ruffed dummy's remaining club. He crossed back to dummy with a trump and led a diamond. East played low and, despite the fact that the diamond was singleton in dummy, declarer did not play the ace — he finessed the ten!

This highly unusual play had strange repercussions. West won the king of diamonds but was caught in a rare endplay. If he returned a diamond, it would be into declarer's ace-jack, allowing him to discard two spades from dummy; a spade return would limit the defenders to one trick in the suit, for one of dummy's spades would go on the ace of diamonds, while a club would give declarer a ruff-and-sluff.

The 1974 World Team Championship will be played in Venice, Italy, during the last two weeks of May. The Aces, world champions in 1970 and 1971, and strengthened by Canadians Eric Murray and Sammy Kehela, generally regarded as one of the world's great pairs, will be trying to avenge last year's defeat at the hands of the Italians.

Kehela first attracted attention in British bridge circles some 20 years ago as a mere stripling. Since then he has developed into one of the game's great card players, as this deal illustrates. Against four hearts, West led the king of clubs and continued with the ace, which Kehela ruffed. It seemed that the contract hinged on the location of the ace of spades, but West's vulnerable overall made him a favorite to hold that card. Saturday: A Must Date

At this moment when there seems to be a great disenchantment with our political processes, it is imperative that we answer with action rather than with cynicism.

The crux of any worthy political system is the quality of people who operate it, and the selection of these people begins with the primaries.

The cynic will say that it really doesn't matter whom we have, the results will be the same. So why bother with voting at all?

But we doubt there are many pure cynics. Most people are more reasonable and sensible than that. What we do have, however, is something infinitely worse, the person who is too lazy or indifferent to vote and then adopts a hypocritical mask of cynicism to excuse his apathy.

We have contended that good citizens will make every effort to vote in every election unless providentially hindered, and we made no apology for the implication that those who won't be bothered are less than good citizens.

Democracy depends upon enlightened participation of the electorate, of its citizenry, if you please. If you really care about your government at

Splitting The AEC

Legislation to split the Atomic Energy Commission into two separate agencies is advancing in the Senate; a similar bill has been approved by the House. Differences in the two bills should be quickly adjusted, and the measure made law, for the sake of both speedy development of nuclear power and adequate safeguards of nuclear plants.

The AEC has carried water on both shoulders since its inception. On one hand it is charged with stimulating development of the nation's nuclear power potential. On the other, it is responsible for regulating the very industry it is charged with encouraging to expand.

That divided responsibility makes life difficult for the AEC; it also continues to spawn legitimate questions about how well the agency fulfills its regulating and safety functions. To remove those doubts and problems, the two-agency approach is needed.

The House-passed bill sets up an Energy

Research and Development Agency, to explore technology and spur the nation toward self-sufficiency in energy within a decade — which means greater development of nuclear power. The bill also sets up a Nuclear Safety and Licensing Commission, whose sole function would be regulation of the nuclear power industry and maintaining rules for its safety operation.

The Senate bill is now in subcommittee; additions to the House measure would more tightly control nuclear materials to prevent any from falling into the hands of terrorists or others, and would add a safety research office. These are desirable. But the basic need is for division of the AEC, so that the industry encouragement and safety regulation functions are not entwined. Such a split could not only more efficiently promote research and development, but give greater assurance to the public that safety standards are adequate and imposed.

Election Recalled

Around The Rim

John Edwards

As candidates for County Commissioners Court sweated out the last week before the Democratic Primary, they may have recalled the Democratic Primaries of 1970.

In addition to incumbents seeking re-election tomorrow, many of the defeated appear on this year's ballot.

Then County Judge Lee Porter declined to run for re-election, but he is still in politics this year as Democratic county chairman here.

THE VOID left by Porter drew five candidates and resulted in a run-off between Harvey Hooser and A. G. Mitchell. Mitchell got 1,763 votes in this first primary of 1970; Hooser five more than Mitchell.

Omar Jones received 1,159 votes; D. A. (Dave) Brazel, 864; and Lewis Heflin, 188. And in the June 6th run-off, Mitchell, a former city police chief and deputy sheriff, defeated the local lawyer Hooser, 2,406 to 1,739.

Hooser is the only candidate for Democratic county chairman this time.

This year, incumbent Judge Mitchell faces Bill Tune, who was the incumbent county commissioner from precinct four years ago. Tune ran for a second term but was defeated (with 349 votes) by Jack Buchanan, and Bob Wheeler. Wheeler drew 496 first primary votes. Buchanan had 477, Jeff Grant took 184 votes.

Buchanan claimed 655 ballots to Wheeler's 554 in the second primary. Merle Stroup has challenged Buchanan's bid for re-election. Whoever wins will run in the November general election without Republican opposition.

In commissioners precinct two, the incumbent, Ray Nichols, did not run again. So a third new face was to be named to County Commissioners Court.

Raymond Hamby (655 votes in the first primary) and Bill Bennett (483 — the first time around) went before the electorate again, pushing out Howard A. Sherrill, with 306 votes, L. Ed Edwards, with 311, and Joe T. Swinney, with 226.

BENNETT WON over Hamby 787 to 597.

Now, Bennett is running against four other men — Bill Chrane, Doyle Fowler, Ralph E. Rowe and Ikie Ruppard.

The 1970 run-off was just the start of the campaign trail for Bennett, though. He beat Garner McAdams, the unopposed GOP nominee, in the coming general election, 1,801 to 813.

This year, Paul Schaffer will be the winner's opponent in the fall.

Democratic nominee for county judge will run against either Republican Glenn Stallings or Jerry Worthy in the fall this time.

The Dean Testimony

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The acquittal by the Mitchell-Stans jury, while lifting flagging spirits at the embattled White House, fell far short of what the Nixon camp hoped it will accomplish: the destruction of John W. Dean III as star prosecution witness.

IN BOTH congressional impeachment proceedings and the Watergate cover-up trials, Dean has assets he lacked in the New York trial of ex-cabinet members John Mitchell and Maurice Stans. Whereas Dean's association with the Vesco case was tangential and his testimony uncorroborated, his involvement in the Watergate conspiracy is intimate and his accusations at least partially supported by tape recordings and other witnesses. What's more, the message from the Manhattan trial to special prosecutor Leon Jaworski is clear: Dean must be presented to future juries with far more care.

IN SHORT, White House reports of Dean's death as a reliable witness are greatly exaggerated. Indeed, the fact that John Dean lives promises intensified assaults on him based on the Mitchell-Stans acquittal. Vice President Ford's immediate assertion that the verdict "severely eroded" Dean's credibility sets the tone for the rising assault.

The Mitchell-Stans case was not viewed in legal circles here as a conclusive test of Dean's credibility. The U.S. attorney's office in New York brought the Mitchell-Stans indictment a year ago despite pleas for caution from Washington counterparts, then conducting the Watergate investigation. Elliot Richardson, as attorney general, was always leery about the case.

LACKING DOCUMENTARY evidence, the prosecution relied on witnesses — Bradford Cook, ousted chairman of the securities and exchange Commission, and discredited New Jersey politician Harry Sears — who proved to be disasters on the stand. Dean, playing only a minor role in the Vesco affair, could not compensate for inadequate key government witnesses.

Nevertheless, the Mitchell-Stans defense lawyers did undercut Dean's credibility with the jury. By describing him as a confessed felon, who was now talking solely to buy a lighter sentence, the Mitchell-Stans lawyers established the model defense for accused Watergate conspirators.

DEAN'S FRIENDS believe the New York prosecution inadequately prepared the jury for his testimony and hope Jaworski will take note. Such preparation would present Dean as a man who could have weathered the storm had he denied everything and joined fellow Nixon lieutenants in non-cooperation but instead invited a prison term to break the conspiracy. Dean's decision to go secretly to the U.S. prosecutor came two weeks before he first feared the White House had marked him as the Watergate scapegoat.

BUT SUCH A gloating of Dean must be restricted to the courtroom, thanks to gag rules imposed by federal Judges John Sirica and Gerhard Gesell. On Feb. 15, Gesell tongue-lashed Jaworski for his televised defense of Dean's credibility and ordered him off TV talk shows.

"You are hereby exorcised! You hear? Exorcised!"

No Fun For Liberals

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — You would think these would be great times for liberals, but I've discovered many of them are in a deep depression.

PARTRIDGE was as glum as I've ever seen him the other day.

"These are lousy times for all of us," he said as he munched on a watercrisps salad.

"How can you say that Partridge? You should be in rejoicing with Watergate and the fact that Nixon is in trouble."

"It's no fun being against Nixon any more. Everyone's against Nixon. Who the hell wants to be in the mainstream of American politics. Who wants to march to somebody else's drum?"

"I DON'T understand." "The first four years it was great to be against Nixon. You could scream and shout about what the man was doing to the country, and everyone thought you were some kind of nut. People would argue with you or ignore you."

"BUT AT LEAST you knew that you were in the minority, and you had a warm feeling because you were sure all of them were wrong and you were right."

"I remember going to parties and people insulting me because I called Nixon a crook. I attended anti-Vietnam rallies, and the FBI took my picture. I circulated petitions against Atty. Gen. Mitchell, and I wrote letters to editors against Carswell being appointed to the Supreme Court. I had an identity of my own. Then Watergate took place and as time went on all the people I used to argue with started to come over to my side.

"WHATEVER I accused Nixon of brought cheers from the crowd, admitting I'd been right all along. When I discovered Nixon had no defenders something within me died."

"I see what you mean." "I said, 'I GUESS the final blow came when Sen. James Buckley asked for the President to resign. Can you imagine how it feels for a dyed-in-the-wool liberal to be on the same side as a Buckley?'"

"It doesn't leave you any place to go."

"WE LIBERALS," Partridge said, "can only thrive when we're in opposition to somebody, in a hopeless cause. We're not any good when the whole damn country is echoing everything we say."

"I have an idea that might resolve your problem," I told him "As long as the majority of the country is against Nixon, why don't you defend him?"

"You can't be serious," he said.

"Why not? It would put you back in the minority again, this time you would be on Nixon's side, and they would be against him. It would be a great way to get back at Buckley."

"I'll do it," he said excitedly. "Talk about being involved in a hopeless cause!"

Inflation Persists

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — High interest rates and a dispirited stock market are having multiple effects on American business, few of them totally desirable.

The spirit of entrepreneurship is, for the time being, stifled. Beginning and small companies cannot hope to raise money in the lifeless new-issues market, where five years ago speculators begged for a share of any new stock.

Who will buy the stock of an untested outfit when the likes of Chrysler, Ford and General Motors find it difficult to market their shares? Some large companies complain, in fact, of a capital shortage.

Small business also finds it self frustrated in the credit markets, where loans cost considerably more than the prime rate, which is now up to 10 1/2 per cent. Charges of 15 per cent are more common for small business.

Corporate mergers, which proliferate when the market is active, are at a very low ebb. A company with a price-earnings multiple of five isn't inclined to use its stock to buy another company.

If, as was fairly common a few years ago, its multiple was 35 — meaning investors were willing to pay 35 times earnings for a share — a company could obtain a real bargain by using those shares to buy a smaller concern.

But the average per ratio of all stocks in the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was 9.7 at the close of last week. A year ago the ratio was 13.7 times earnings, and just a few years ago around 18.

Moreover, those cash-rich companies that were so attractive to merger-minded conglomerates in 1968 are far less common today. Few well-run concerns are inclined to borrow money at high rates when they can use their own.

Cash flows are being pinched, just as they are in households, none more dramatically than at Consolidated Edison, the big New York utility that omitted a quarterly dividend for the first time in 89 years.

Riding The Kung Fu Trend

HONG KONG (AP) — The silver Rolls-Royce glides down the hill from elegant Repulse Bay and skims across the quiet Sunday morning highway to deliver the Orient's richest movie magnate to work.

RUN RUN Shaw, once an unknown theater operator in Singapore, now acknowledged king of the Kung Fu epic, will put in a full day as he does every day in the rambling countryside studio which seems a remembrance of Hollywood past.

Here at Shaw Bos. Ltd. are the stables of 110 contract players that would please Louis B. Mayer. Here are 43 acres of make-believe Chinese street scenes with cardboard pagodas and temples that Universal Studios would covet.

And here is Run Run Shaw, the slender austere 60-year-old movie czar who works his people 70 hours a week, treasures his image as father figure to his stars and is as dominating a legend in his time as Mayer, Goldwyn and Zanuck were years ago.

"WHEN ONE likes to work he does not feel tired," Shaw said as he settled in behind his desk. "I work every day... Work is the best way to prolong life."

It has also been Shaw's best plan for riding the Kung Fu trend while it is hot.

In the past year Shaw turned out a staggering total of 40 pictures, the majority of them Kung Fu or "action" films aimed at the export market. He is now working out deals to coproduce films with studios in the United States and other countries. He recently coproduced two films with Hammer studios of Britain, "The Legend of The Seven Golden Vampires" and "Shatter."

"The Chinese movie never was so popular as since I started in Hong Kong," said Shaw, telling in Chinese-accented English the story of his success.

BORN IN Shanghai, Run Run and his brother Runme Shaw showed early interest in films and left for Singapore in 1927 to get into movie distribution. The brothers bought one theater and began expanding. By 1950 they owned 120 theaters throughout the Orient and were moving into other parts of the world. Today they own 141 theaters, including ones in Honolulu, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Anxious to produce his own films, Run Run moved to Hong Kong in 1959, leaving Runme to take care of the business in Singapore.

"In those days the Chinese movie was not much quality wise," Shaw remembers, "and I felt if we could make movies like the movies made in countries all over the world we could do just as well... I proved the point that if the quality of the movies is good, people will want to see them."

"I STARTED everything from scratch. I brought technicians from Europe and Japan, and I started a school to train actors... The conditions were the same as the old days in Hollywood."

But there is at least one difference: there are no unions. Shaw can work his people as long as they were willing to stay on the set.

He built "dormitories" at the studio where actors could live during shooting. The dormitories have since been expanded to include four apartment houses where some performers and technicians live permanently. Shaw provides the accommodations rent free.

He dubbed the studio "Movietown" and began a hectic production schedule. The first Shaw film was a musical, "Eternal Love." It is still Run Run's favorite.

THE STUDIO turned out several musicals, then switched to films involving swordplay and finally latched onto Kung Fu.

"The cinema audiences like the action pictures," said Shaw. "They have seen so many Westerns and other type of action pictures. Kung Fu was a new kind of action picture. The people always like something new."

Chinese audiences loved it. As one observer of the Hong Kong film industry notes, "In this part of the world it's the visual that really matters, not so much the story line." The popularity in other countries was a surprise.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

I am a 27 year old wife and mother. I would like to know if a person has to go to church to believe in God. I told my husband why I didn't go, but he does not understand. Jesus didn't have a church to pray in, so why should I? If they held church outdoors, I might go.

Isn't it a wonderful thing that God gave us a written record of his plan for man's salvation? Without the Bible, many issues would resolve themselves into mere intellectual debate — your opinion versus mine. Have you forgotten that the synagogue existed in Jesus' day, and He repeatedly attended its services? It was a place not only for prayer but for instruction in the law. Now in regard to the church, its critical importance is no suppression. Scripture is forthright in declaring its place in the world and in the private life of the Christian.

Nobody can discount the central role of the church after reading what Christ said about His founding it (Matthew 16:18); and what Paul said of its relationship to Jesus Himself (Ephesians 5:23).

Of course you can worship outdoors, but it's just more practical to be in a building. Most of the people who discredit the facilities or the organizational structure of the church, do so because if excuses their lack of commitment to Christ. When you fall in love with Jesus, the color of the wall or the hardness of the pew become unimportant. Surprise your husband this Sunday! Go to church with the family, and for the sole purpose of having a meeting with God.

A Devotion For Today..

"Have no anxiety about anything." (Philippians 4:6)

PRAYER: Teach us to rest secure in the hollow of Your hand, O Lord. Help us to trust in Your invisible power, which works unseen but with great power and grace. Amen.

See Your Skin Specialist

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a boy, 16, and have a rash similar to "jock itch" except the skin has darkened to a light brown. Occasionally there are pimply-like sores. They itch, too.

The itch is unbelievable and will not go away. I have used talc, medicated powders, creams ointments, alcohol and peroxide and nothing even dents the problem. Perspiration is a yellowish color.

I have had this for a year but I just couldn't go to a doctor. Please try to diagnose this and advise some kind of medication — C. W.

I can sympathize but it would be utterly pointless for me to try to diagnose a condition I haven't even seen. As skin has less as you try these bits or miss remedies which, after a year, haven't helped.

I urge you to see a dermatologist — a skin specialist. You don't tell me why you "just couldn't go to a doctor," but I presume it is shyness on your part. Once you've been examined, you'll realize that there's nothing to it. The doctor does it every day.

With most skin problems, it is virtually impossible to tell what type of problem it is until the doctor has seen it — and there can be drawbacks from waiting too long and trying too many home remedies.

Not that people don't keep trying to do it themselves. Any dermatologist can reel off experiences with cases in which the patient has first tried all sort of things himself, and sometimes the remedies merely irritate and aggravate the doctor has a hard time figuring out what the original trouble was. So take a tip from me, and go to a doctor now.

As to possibilities that fit the general situation that you describe, there are many. One is allergy to a supporter, if you wear one. Funguses or yeast infections can cause such trouble, too. Or possibly even a detergent used to launder your shorts.

Hemorrhoids can be cured! If troubled with fissures, fistulas, itching, and other rectal problems, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald requesting a copy of his booklet, "The Real Cure For Hemorrhoids," enclosing a long self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Are Diamonds Really Girl's Best Friend?

"Everyone has heard the adage, 'diamonds are a girl's best friend,' and even if they aren't, more women have diamonds than any other gem," said Mrs. David Magruder, as she presented a program for Alpha Kappa Omicron, Beta Sigma Phi.

"This is probably because of traditional use of the diamond ring to announce the intention of marriage," continued the speaker. Also, diamonds can be good investments. A one-carat, flawless diamond wholesales for up to $6,000. By comparison, a one-carat diamond with obvious flaws and dingy hue might be worth as little as $200. The diamonds that most people buy — a carat that is neither perfect or obviously flawed — average $1,000.

Explaining that most jewelers are salesmen, not diamond experts, Mrs. Magruder noted that Marvin Zale of Zale's Jewelers says the average retail jeweler can't tell the value of a diamond within 30 per cent.

The value of a diamond is determined by the four "c's" (cut, carat weight, color and clarity).

The cut refers to the shape of a diamond and the arrangement of its facets. The ideal brilliant cut, calculated by a physicist in 1919, allows for the best passage of light. To keep more weight, many jewelers do not cut all the way down to the ideal cut.

The carat weight is another way of determining value. This weight is measured by the carat which is divided into points. One carat equals 100 points. Clarity has to do with imperfections. The five basic grades are (1) flawless, (2) VV or very, very slightly imperfect, (3) VS or very slightly imperfect, (4) SI or slightly imperfect, and (5) I or imperfect. Only the latter rating can be determined by the naked eye. The microscopic imperfections that differentiate between good and perfect stones have little effect on the looks. "Henry Platt, president of Tiffany's, estimates that 85 per cent of the diamonds sold as flawless really aren't," said Mrs. McGruder.

In conclusion, the speaker said the low cost of simulated diamonds "tempts one to buy a huge one but, modesty is the best policy if you want people to believe its real." She quoted the board chairman of Tiffany's: "If you see a stenographer wearing a 10-carat diamond, you have to decide she's wearing a phony or is leading an immoral life."

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Clay LaRochelle, 600 W. 16th, with Mrs. Allen Carlile and hostess, Mrs. Carlile and Mrs. Terry Sims were the chapter members who served refreshments at the VA Hospital April 27. The chapter voted for "Children's Behavioral Studies" as the state project which will be determined at the Austin convention June 21-23.

Sad Story

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Can you or anyone in your vast reading audience provide a solution to a problem which saddens me? Because of the frightening increase of crime, in order to protect myself, must I now refuse to lend a helping hand to a brother or sister in apparent need of help. If I am driving along the road and see a car stalled by the roadside, and a woman tries to flag me down, must I ignore her plight and keep going because I fear it might be a trap to rob me? Or if a stranger, apparently hysterical, rings my doorbell and asks to use my phone to call the police and ambulance to report an accident, must I say: "Sorry, no," because he might be trying to set me up for a holdup or kidnapping?

I have always felt that I was my brother's keeper. Not anymore. I and millions of others await your reply.

TAKING NO CHANCES
DEAR TAKING: If someone tries to flag you down on the road, keep going. But stop at the first telephone and report it to the police or highway patrol. Under no circumstances should you open your door to a strange man, woman or child. Don't ignore them. Offer to make a call and summon help.

DEAR ABBY: My father wants to get a motorcycle. My mother and I (his only daughter) think he wants the fun of being a teen-ager again, but he claims a motorcycle is the answer to the gas shortage. I am more afraid of his getting hurt than anything else. He's 47 and has to drive 40 miles on the freeway every day to get to work and back. My brothers are on his side, and my mom and I are against it.

This is causing a lot of arguments in our house. How do you feel about a man Dad's age buying a motorcycle when he's never ridden one before in his life?

CONCERNED
DEAR CONCERNED: Same as you, but your father is an adult and must be aware of the dangers as well as the advantages. You've spoken your mind, now be quiet. And for heaven's sake, if he should get into an accident, resist the urge to say: "I told you so."

DEAR ABBY: How can I open up my son's eyes to something before it's too late? Sonny is 28, and he's marrying Sally, a 26-year-old widow with a child. Sally was married at 20, and had a baby at 21, and her husband was killed in an accident when she was 22.

Because Sally was orphaned young, she never knew her mother, so she became very close to her mother-in-law. After Sally's husband was killed, she and the baby moved in with the in-laws and they've lived there ever since.

I have told my son that since it isn't proper for a widow to have a gala wedding, he should insist on a small quiet ceremony with none of Sally's in-laws present, but he said whatever Sally wanted was all right with him. Well, Sally is having all her first husband's family, and I'm afraid with all the memories of their dead son they will turn the wedding into a funeral.

I don't want to be a meddling mother-in-law, but I want my son to realize that unless Sally breaks those strong ties with her past, their marriage doesn't stand a chance. So how should I do it?

TOUCHY SUBJECT
DEAR TOUCHY: If you don't want to be a meddling mother-in-law, the advice from here is — don't meddle.

MRS. MARY HEFLEY

Among the guests attending were the honoree's daughter, Mrs. L. Newman, and her daughter, Susan, both of Houston.

Mrs. Bobbie Williams reminded the group that Big Spring City Federation is to be responsible for serving refreshments on opening day of the Abilene meeting.

Following the business session, the hostess served a salad supper.

RADIO OFFERING 32-Hour Session On Transcripts

NEW YORK (AP) — Two controversial broadcast news specials are coming up this weekend on the controversial edited transcripts of President Nixon's taped conversations with key Watergate figures. One of the shows, on NBC-TV late Saturday night, will run 90 minutes, the longest by far of network news specials on mid-transcripts. CBS aired an hour news special Wednesday night, while ABC's version Thursday night ran 30 minutes.

But the NBC undertaking is a small bite of air time compared with a marathon 32-hour session on the transcripts that the Washington-based National Public Radio system is offering.

16-HOUR CHUNKS
NPR, which serves 164 public radio stations, says virtually all 1,308 pages of the transcript President Nixon submitted the House Judiciary Committee will be read aloud on the air.

Before concerned listeners start recommending throat specialists, it should be known that readers at six participating NPR stations will take turns at the oral history.

The 32 hours won't be consecutive, either. NPR says it's being served up in 16-hour chunks Saturday and Sunday, with periodic updates on what transcript portion is being read, as well as reports on new developments in the transcript controversy. NPR says the "reader" stations are WUHY, Philadelphia; WOJ-FM, Ames, Iowa; WUOM-FM, Ann Arbor, Mich.; KBIF-FM, Columbia, Mo.; WGBH-FM, Boston; and WBFO-FM, Buffalo, N.Y.

NPR's read-a-thon commences at 8 a.m. EDT Saturday and continues until midnight, with the same schedule for Sunday, NPR says.

DIAL LIKE CRAZY
An NPR spokeswoman says it isn't known yet how many of the system's 164 stations will carry the readings, so the only way listeners might find out is to call their area's public station or just flip those AM and FM dials like crazy Saturday morning.

NBC-TV's transcript session, anchored by John Chancellor, is set to begin at 11:30 p.m. EDT Saturday. The show features an unusual touch for a network news program.

NBC says six "professional readers" who aren't actors will be on hand the first 45 minutes or so to recite key excerpts of the transcript.

Each reader will be assigned the words spoken by the principals in the transcript — President Nixon, John Dean, H. R. Haldeman and so forth — but it won't be a dramatic reading. NBC says they're ordered to avoid that sort of thing. It says they'll read in a "nonexpressive manner so as not to convey a particular meaning where the meaning is ambiguous."

A network correspondent will precede the reading of each portion by setting the scene and outlining circumstances. The remainder of the program mainly will consist of summaries, analyses and interviews with congressional leaders, NBC says.

Age Farabee, 41, Democrat, businessman and attorney in Wichita Falls. Finnell, 30, Democrat, State Representative and attorney in Wichita Falls.

HONESTY IN GOVERNMENT Farabee stands for full disclosure of political contributions and for control of lobby influence.

Finnell, March 29, 1971, voted repeatedly against any investigation of Sharpstown Bank scandal and stock fraud scandals. February 7, 1973, voted to kill ethics commission and cripple lobby control bill.

TAXATION AND GOVERNMENT SPENDING Farabee opposes government deficit spending as inflationary. He strongly opposes a State Income Tax.

Finnell voted to increase taxes by a huge amount in 1971. September 15, 1973, he got a telephone in his car at taxpayer's expense. January 31, 1974, state audit shows Rep. Finnell with a telephone expense of $3,936 for the year, the second highest of 150 state representatives.

AGRICULTURAL AND ENERGY SHORTAGES Farabee supports priority allocations for agriculture and workers.

On September 7, 1973, Finnell was appointed Chairman of a subcommittee to investigate agricultural shortages. This committee held only one meeting for 45 minutes. It has never reported.

EFFECTIVE REPRESENTATION

Because of his work in the Attorney General's office and Secretary of State's office, and his experience in business and civic affairs, concerned citizens throughout the 30th District have urged Ray Farabee to see that the interests and priorities of West Texas are effectively represented and respected in Austin. He has never before sought public office, but has accepted this challenge.

Although a State Representative for 8 years, Finnell has never been selected as Chairman of a major committee nor authored major legislation becoming law.

The respected magazine TEXAS MONTHLY, in its July 1973 issue, ran a feature story entitled "The Ten Best And, Sigh, The Ten Worst Legislators." The article listed Representative Charles Finnell as one of the "Ten worst legislators in Austin" (p.39), with the following comment: "Nicknamed 'ZERO' by his colleagues, a reference to their estimate of his intelligence . . . spends more time preening himself than reading bills, seems to have no guiding principle except self admiration. His omnipresent comb is one of the most widely discussed artifacts of the session. Remarkable for his lack of candor."

Connally Says Era Of Cheap Food To End

HOUSTON (AP) — The American era of cheap food is coming to an end, former U.S. treasury secretary John Connally said Wednesday.

Connally, a Republican presidential possibility, said food has become the chief weapon in America's balance of payment fight. He spoke at the closing session of the Cooperative Food Distributors of America convention.

The twin forces of rising food and fuel prices have triggered the inflation being felt all over the world, Connally said.

"Food is the most important economic weapon this country has to fight with and that's what the American consumer is doing today, competing for food with the rest of the world," Connally said.

"Clearly, more and more of the people of the world are pulling themselves up to the American dinner table. Last year alone, the United States exported $18.1 billion in food-stuffs while we imported $9 billion."

Connally said until recently the American family was spending only 15.6 per cent of its disposable income on food, compared with more than 20 per cent 20 years ago.

WHAT DO YOU DO WITH 19 'HOT' MASTERPIECES? World's Greatest Art Robbery

LONDON (AP) — What do you do with 19 masterpieces worth about $20.4 million, that you stole in the world's greatest art robbery?

One thing is for sure — you can't sell them for anything like their market value. At least not openly.

Right now, those 19 paintings are possibly the hottest chunk of stolen property in the world. Art dealers and police around the globe have been alerted to watch out for them.

Two Carnival Workers Jailed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two carnival workers were booked here for investigation of murder in an El Paso, Tex., slaying, police said.

The two men are James William Dowdy, 40, of Sun Valley, Nev., and Larry Wayne Skidmore, 30, of Citronelle, Ala. They were arrested at a motel in the Wilshire district after the manager thought they looked suspicious.

Detectives said the two were wanted in the murder of Quinton Wilburn, 64, El Paso, whose body was found Tuesday at the bottom of a cliff in the El Paso area.

Authorities said Downey worked as a dime coin toss attendant and Skidmore drove a carnival truck. They were awaiting unset extradition proceedings for return to Texas, police said.

politics it has assumed a more sinister aspect.

NEW MOTIVES

Hugh Leggatt, a respected London art dealer and international art historian, said: "There are new motives behind these art thefts. In the old days, thefts were often insurance frauds. Now there are sociopolitical reasons and some form of blackmail is likely."

There has been speculation the gang that raided Beit's County Wicklow mansion at Blessington, near Dublin, may be linked with the Irish Republican Army, an underground guerrilla movement fighting to unite the British-ruled province of Northern Ireland with the Irish republic to the south.

The gang of five, led by a French-speaking brunette, screamed revolutionary slogans, such as "capitalist pigs" at Beit, and accused him of exploiting the working class.

This, the experts believe, indicated the raiders were probably motivated by something more than just personal gain.

ART TREASURE

In the last three or four years, according to police estimates, art treasures worth $3 billion have been stolen.

Most law enforcement agencies agree the thieves these days are far more organized internationally and more knowledgeable about art than ever before.

And they are convinced that a lot of major works that vanish after they are stolen are sold to wealthy collectors who in the words of one dealer "lust" after paintings their riches can never buy legitimately.

However, some detectives suspect, no thief would be able to dispose of 19 famous masterpieces, even to shady collectors. This reasoning tends to back up the theory the Irish robbery was politically motivated.

Slaughter 30 Herons

PORT EDWARDS, Wis. (AP) — The Department of Natural Resources and police were continuing an investigation into the shotgun slaughter of 30 great blue herons.

The herons, protected by state and federal law, were shot Saturday as they nested in a rookery on the Wisconsin River, said the department's game warden, Ronald Kubisiak. "The rookery looked like a slaughterhouse," he said.

Lunar Scientist New U.S. Citizen

HOUSTON (AP) — Dr. Peter Robin Brett, an internationally-known lunar scientist who had a major role in studies of rocks from the moon, has become a U.S. citizen.

Brett, a 39, a native of Australia, was one of 151 persons who took the citizenship oath at Houston naturalization ceremonies Wednesday.

Brett headed a team of scientists at the Johnson Space Center that studied the geology of moon rocks. He was instrumental in developing new theories on the formation and history of the moon.

Earnings Of AMC Dip

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors has reported a 58 per cent decline in profits for the first quarter of 1974, compared with earnings for the first three months of 1973.

AMC announced its first quarter profits were $6.9 million, or 25 cents a share, compared with $16.5 million, or 61 cents a share, for the comparable period a year ago.

Total sales for the three-month period this year were $498 million, compared with $476 for January-March 1973.

American Motors said. The drop in profits reported by AMC followed the pattern established earlier by the auto industry's Big Three, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, but AMC's decrease was less severe than suffered by the other auto makers.

Chrysler reported profits off 98 per cent for the first quarter, GM 85 per cent and Ford 66 per cent.

Blancas Rolls In Nelson Play

DALLAS (AP) — Despite the rigors and pressures of the professional golf circuit, the game can be fun, says stocky, scrambling Homero Blancas.

"Yeah, it's fun out there when you can get it in close and make all those putts," he says.

"Once I get under par I have a tendency to keep on making birdies. I like to make a lot of birdies and then just go."

Such was the case Thursday as the free-wheeling tour veteran rode a hot putting streak and a pair of eagles to a six-under-par 65 and the first round lead of the $150,000 Byron Nelson Golf Classic.

Blancas, whose protruding midriff reflects the good life, recorded a 33-32-65 on the 6,957-yard windswept and water-logged Preston Trail course in the chase for the top prize of $30,000.

That was good for a two shot lead over an internationally flavored quartet that included Australians Bruce Crompton and Bruce Devlin, New Zealand's Bob Charles and unsung American Bob Payne.

A stroke back at 68 was John Mahaffey, Raymond Floyd, Jim Simons and Rick Rhoads, the latter an unknown Californian who burned the back nine with a sizzling 31.

Lee Trevino, bidding for his first Texas victory, stylish Ben Crenshaw and veterans Bobby Nichols, Billy Casper and Chi Chi Rodriguez headed a group at 69.

A record 30 players in the field of 150 broke par and 17 others equaled it, a fact attributed largely to the soft, true greens.

CONCENTRATION — Homero Blancas watches his tee shot on the 17th hole in Thursday's first round of the Byron Nelson Golf Classic in Dallas. He finished with a six-under 65 to lead the first round.

And few found them more responsive than Blancas, who banged in nine one-putt efforts while collecting a pair of birdies to complement his two eagles.

"The first, a 35-footer at the 590-yard third hole, triggered the sparkling assault that included eagle putts of only two and 10 feet, both on the back nine.

Asked if he'd ever had two eagles in one competitive tour round, he replied "I can't recall," then concluded that it must be a first.

A five-time tour winner, the former University of Houston sharpshooter said he does not consider the leader's role an uncomfortable one.

Record Purse Awaits Winner Of Kentucky Derby Saturday

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A mixture of 3-year-olds, including graduates of small track racing and major stakes winners such as Judge, was set to battle for glory and gold Saturday in the 100th Kentucky Derby.

The added prestige of this century Derby, the general was in finding a rider. He still didn't have one for the year-olds and a record purse drew the most contenders ever for the famed 1 1/4-mile race at Churchill Downs.

If all 23 start, which would break the record of 22 in 1928 when Reigh Count won, the purse will be $326,500, with $274,000 to the winner. The big pot—the old record was $198,800 last year when Secretariat won—was due to a record 290 nominations at $100 each and increases from $2,500 to $4,000 to enter and from $1,500 to $3,500 to start.

The Woody Stephens-trained entry of Seth Hanock's Judge and John M. Olin's Cannonade was made the early 8-5 favorite Thursday while the Sigmond Sommer pair of Rube The Great and Accipiter was second at 9-2.

"He's gonna be taken back anyway," Stephens said after the stretch-running Judge drew the No. 22 post position. The Blue Grass Stakes and Florida Derby winner will be ridden by Laffit Pincay Jr.

"The other horse can get a position fast," said Stephens of Stepping Stone winner Cannonade, who will start under Angel Cordero from the No. 2 post. In the No. 1 spot is Meehan Stable's Agitate, winner of five of six starts including the California Derby. Agitate is the third choice, at 5-1, and will be ridden by Bill Shoemaker.

"As long as I don't lose my jockey on the break, it doesn't matter what my position is," said Frank "Pancho" Martin, who trains Rube The Great and Accipiter. He was referring to Miguel A. Rivera, who fell off Accipiter shortly after the start of the Stepping Stone.

When the field goes to the post at 4:30 p.m., CDT, Saturday, Rivera will be on Rube The Great, winner of divisions of the Gotham and Wood Memorial, in the No. 12 slot. Angel Santiago will start Accipiter from the No. 4 post.

Other trainers seemed to be more interested in the weather than the post positions. It rained Thursday, but no rain was forecast for Derby Day.

Monte Sims said Kenneth Opstein's Destroyer, upset winner of the Santa Anita Derby, would not go on a muddy track.

"Everything is fine and it will even be better if it keeps raining," said Preston King, American Raymond Guest, has raced only four times and his only start in this country came when he finished out of the money in the seven-furlong Stepping Stone. He will be ridden by Bill Hartack, who will be trying for a record sixth Derby win. Hartack currently is tied with the retired Eddie Arcaro.

Two others entered have done most of their racing in Venezuela. They are Set N' Go and Lexico, who will be ridden by Gustavo Avila who rode Canonero II to victory in the 1971 Derby. He is owned by Vincenta Baptista, whose husband owned Canonero.

Set N' Go finished second against older horses at 1 1/4 miles in Venezuela, and Lexico won by seven lengths at 1 3/8 miles, also in Venezuela. None of the other Derby contenders have raced farther than 1 1/8 miles.

Others entered included Con-sigliore, sixth in the Blue Grass; Bo'd Clarion, 15th in the Arkansas Derby; Crimson Ruler, a veteran of Jefferson and Evangeline Downs; Bay Shore winner Hudson County; Gold And Myrrh, third in the Blue Grass; Pat McGroder; Flip Sal, J.R.'s Pet, Little Current, Ga Hai and Buck's Bid.

Flip Sal won a division of the Wood; J.R.'s Pet has won four of five starts including the Arkansas Derby; Little Current was first in the Everglades; Ga Hai won the Derby trial, and Buck's Bid was third in the Florida Derby.

With partly cloudy skies and cool weather predicted, more than 130,000 people are expected at Churchill Downs. Some predictions run as high as 150,000.

Among the onlookers will be Princess Margaret of Great Britain and her husband, Lord Snowdon. They will present an antique silver gilt bowl to the winner.

MOTOCROSS RACES SET

The Hi-Noon Optimist Club Motocross Races will be held Sunday at 1 p.m., with riders from across West Texas and New Mexico due in for the action.

As a special attraction, the Big Spring Jaycettes will have a power puff motocross race.

Surprising Tigers Nip KC For Fifth Straight Victory

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Detroit Manager Ralph Houk is loaded with late spring optimism.

The reason is obvious: The Tigers completed a sweep of a three-game series with the Kansas City Royals with Thursday night's 9-7 victory—their fifth consecutive triumph.

Houk, aware that most baseball experts wrote the Tigers off before the season even started, said after the triumph: "I see no reason why we can't do it. We've got a pretty good club. We've got good young pitchers, a good defense. We can score runs. We don't have much speed but we've got the hitting to get the runs in, and that's what counts in baseball."

Detroit's victory in the only game played in the major leagues Thursday night left the Tigers only 1 1/2 games behind the American League East Division-leading New York Yankees.

Cincinnati's game at Pittsburgh and Atlanta's game at St. Louis in the National League were rained out. All other clubs had open dates.

"I don't know why most people thought we'd be so bad," said Houk. "You know, we've added nine players who weren't here last year. There's not a better left side of the infield in the league... we've got the hitting."

"We're most improved in young pitching like Lerrin LaGrow and Bill Slayback. If our pitching holds up and I think it will, I see no reason why we can't go all the way."

Houk looked up and smiled as if he suddenly remembered something.

"It got a little shaky there at the end tonight, didn't it? Joe Coleman was going so good and then he got wild."

LITTLE LEAGUE Starfighters Nab First IL Victory

The Starfighters picked up their first win in the Little League Season Thursday, running to a 10-3 International triumph over the Comets.

In other LL play here Thursday, the Rangers remained unbeaten in the National loop with a 4-3 decision over the Rebels and the Jets trimmed the Cabots 7-4 in an American bout.

Noe Gonzales was the Starfighters' winning pitcher, stopping the Comets on five hits as the team evened its mark at 1-1. Steve Stallings stroked a pair of hits in the victory, including a triple.

Cain was the losing pitcher for the Comets, now 1-2.

The Rangers pushed across the winning run in the fifth inning to knock off the Rebels and push their record to 3-0. Raymond Dominguez was the winner, his first decision of the year, and Mike Douglas rapped his second home run of the year to spark the win.

Douglas, who had two hits along with Russell Bledsoe, pitched the last two innings for the Rangers and stopped the Rebels without a hit. Losing pitcher Weldon Nichols led the Rebels at the plate with two hits, and Byron Harris smacked a double. The Rebels are 1-2.

The Jets jumped on losing pitcher Richard Moncus for 14 hits in racing to their third triumph in five starts. Bruce Carroll had three hits and Kevin Bartley and Brent Pearce two apiece for the winners. Ronnie Salmon, 2-0, was the winning pitcher.

Moncus and Bob Bradock each slammed a pair of hits for the Cabots.

In an American Minor League game Thursday, the Pals dumped the Sports 10-6 behind the efforts of Stuart Douglas, who was the winning pitcher and also had two hits, including a double. Wesley Beauchamp was the loser, while Tony Shortes had two hits in the defeat. The Pals are 1-0 and the Sports 0-2.

'Stop Dr.' Is Stars' Cry

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — The Utah Stars, burned by Julius Erving's fireworks, hunted today for a way to defuse the New York Nets in the American Basketball Association championship series.

The Stars, usually known for their scoring outbursts, were groping for a defensive strategy to hinder New York's Dr. J Saturday night in game No. 2 of the best-of-seven series.

A 47-point scoring display by Erving, the ABA's Most Valuable Player, led the Nets to the 89-85 victory Tuesday night while shooting difficulties plagued most of the other players in the game.

"I'm looking forward to another shot at the Doctor but he's kind of a hard person to guard," said Utah rookie Bruce Seals Thursday after Coach Joe Mullaney staged a team practice.

Seals, a 6-foot-9 newcomer from Xavier, La., had little support while defending Erving. But veteran Willie Wise helped limit Dr. J to six points in the last quarter.

"I thought I played him pretty tough," said Seals about the battle. "But he can go up high with that soft shot."

The Nets, despite Erving's acrobatics, sank only 39 of 84 shots from the field for a 46 percent team average.

Cameron Resigns At Angelo State

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Jim Hess, assistant football coach at Angelo State University for the past two years, was named head football coach of the Rams Thursday.

He replaces James Cameron who resigned to enter private business.

Hess was first assistant and defensive coordinator.

Hess is from Farmersville, Tex. He is a graduate of Southeastern State College in Durant, Okla., where he played football. He holds a master's degree in education from North Texas State University.

Plante Resigns As Quebec Boss

Jacques Plante has resigned as general manager and coach of the Quebec Nordiques of the World Hockey Association, according to the newspaper Le Soleil.

Plante made the decision after a meeting with one of the principal shareholders of the WHA team, the newspaper said Thursday.

Celts Planning Nothing New

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Tom Heinsohn hasn't any new game plan for Game No. 3 when his Boston Celtics meet Milwaukee in the National Basketball Association final playoffs tonight, and figures that the Bucks won't have one, either.

"In the first two games the teams developed their own styles," Heinsohn said Thursday as the Celtics worked out on their basic patterns and fast breaks.

"There won't be a whole lot new by either team," Heinsohn said. "From now on it will be execution."

Boston employed its defensive pressure and the fast break last Sunday for a 98-83 walk-away victory over the Bucks in the first of the best-of-seven series.

In Tuesday's second game, the Bucks let Oscar Robertson bring the ball up court and kept Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Cornell Warner on the offensive board, robbing the Celtics of their usual number of rebounds and the fast break. The strategy worked for a 105-96 overtime victory.

But Heinsohn, Jo Jo White and Don Chaney aren't worried.

"I think we're ready for that now," Heinsohn said. "If they want to let Oscar bring the ball up, let them. But they've made all the adjustments I think they can make. Now we'll just go out and play ball and see what happens."

White figures that Celtics' defensive pressure will wear the Bucks down, especially the Big O.

"He was tired after the last game," White said. "Really tired. Their whole team was tired, and we almost won. We were tired, too, but that's our game. We're used to playing that way."

Chaney, who put most of the pressure on Robertson in the second game, said, "When it comes to dribbling the ball up and passing the ball, he's as good as ever. He hasn't lost that much. But he doesn't have the endurance he had several years ago."

Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello isn't worried, either.

"When Robertson's got the ball, the chances are very slim that he'll lose it," Costello said after arriving here Thursday night.

"He's still the best ballhandler there is."

Rangers Rip Flyers, 4-1; Deciding Contest Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — Crank up Kate Smith. There's going to be a hockey game in the Philadelphia Spectrum Sunday.

The New York Rangers saw to that with a 4-1 victory over the Flyers in the sixth game of their National Hockey League semifinal playoff Thursday night. That forced a seventh and deciding game in Philadelphia Sunday, and you can bet that the Flyers will play their lucky song—Miss Smith's rendition of God Bless America—before the game.

With Miss Smith singing, the Flyers have lost only three of 38 games at home. In this series, neither team has lost at home, but Flyers' Coach Fred Shero isn't sure that playing in the Spectrum will help his team Sunday.

"I don't think playing at home in the seventh game is that much advantage," he said. "I would rather be on neutral ice. If you make a mistake or two, you may get booted at home and the guys could get light."

Steers Host San Angelo In '74 Finale

Only the traditional season-ending struggle with the San Angelo Bobcats remains for the Big Spring Steer baseball team, and Saturday's 2 p.m. bout at Steer park will mark the end of a long, frustrating campaign for the Longhorns.

It's meaningless as far as the standings go, as San Angelo carries a 7-14 season mark and a 2-4 Dist. 5-AAAA second half reading into the affair and the Steers worst-in-a-long-time 5-20 and 1-5 records.

The real battles will be going on in Midland and Abilene, where the second half title will be decided. Cooper, 6-0, needs only to beat Abilene High (5-1) to nab the second half honors, while Midland Lee (5-1), could get in on the honors by beating Midland High should Cooper slip.

In the only other 5-AAAA game Saturday, Odessa High and first half champion Odessa Permian collide.

Steer coach Larry Horton will have a relatively new face on the mound as sophomore right-hander Pat Carroll is due to make only his second start of the year.

Carroll was impressive enough in his last outing, even though he only threw two pitches. He got the Steers out of a last inning bases-loaded jam during a 5-1 loss to Odessa.

Another soph, Kent Newsom, will be behind the plate in Horton's youthful lineup, with the third tenth grader, Ray Don Box, at first base. Sammy Rodriguez will play second, John Thomas Smith shortstop, John Morelton third base, Albert Alvarez left field, Barry Canning center and Lawrence Byrd right field.

Smith, Rodriguez and Morelton are the only seniors in the starting lineup. Earl Reynolds, Bruce Abbe and Wayne Dickens will also be making their last showings for the Steers.

Canning, hitting near 450 in district play, is among the top batters in 5-AAAA. He broke out of a long slump just prior to loop play and has been the key bat in the Steer plate effort, along with Reynolds, Morelton, Smith and Rodriguez.

San Angelo will probably send Keith Ellwanger to the mound, the lefthander who stopped the Steers on three hits during a 5-1 Bobcat victory in their first meeting.

Walton To Sign With Portland

PORTLAND (AP) — Bill Walton, UCLA's basketball superstar with an inclination toward gardening, will sign to play with the Portland Trail Blazers of the National Basketball Association, says the red-haired All-American's lawyer.

It is estimated Walton will receive at least $2 million in the multiyear agreement.

"He wants to buy acreage in a secluded area and raise vegetables," said Sam Gilbert, Walton's business adviser.

Walton will travel to Portland Saturday after signing a contract to play for the Trail Blazers, Herman Sarkowsky, president of the team, said Thursday.

The 6-foot-11, 220-pound center has kept his intentions a mystery since finishing his college career and indicated at one time he might not even play professional basketball if it meant he had to move from the West Coast.

The San Diego Conquistadors hold the American Basketball Association rights to Walton but were unsuccessful in trying to woo him to play for the ABA in his hometown.

Two groups hoping to establish ABA franchises in Los Angeles also wanted Walton, who in three seasons at UCLA became the most accurate shooter in National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball history, making 65 per cent of his shots.

The ABA offers may have exceeded Portland's in terms of cash, but Gilbert said variables other than economics influenced Walton's decision. The Encino, Calif., businessman was reached by phone in California.

Portland picked Walton as its first draft choice after a coin flip with Philadelphia, which shared last-place with the Trail Blazers in the final NBA standings.

Gilbert said Walton would notify the losers personally in the bidding for his services.

"I told him I would notify everyone, but he said 'No, it's my responsibility to call them up. They were nice enough to make offers.'"

"The man has made a choice and I have to abide by it," said Conquistadors General Manager Alex Groza. "He'd have been good for the league."

He said any offer to Walton would have come from San Diego owner Leonard Bloom, who was unavailable for comment.

ENTRY DEADLINE TODAY FOR MUNY PARTNERSHIP

Deadline for entering the annual Big Spring Municipal Partnership Golf Tournament is 7 p.m. tonight, course and tourney director Charles Brantley said.

Entry fee is $30 per team, and golfers will be competing for a $320 first place prize in both the scratch and handicap flights. In all, golf merchandise will be awarded the top seven finishers in each flight.

Duncan Boyer and Paul Sturzenberger of Abilene won last year's scratch event, but the two will have different partners this time. Defending champions in the handicap flight are Tommy Wilkerson of Fort Worth and Hugh Reynolds of Midland.

Tea time for both 18 hole rounds Saturday and Sunday is 9 a.m.

CRIME

is what organized gambling is all about

"What we really need are stronger state laws to help us combat organized crime... not legalized gambling which could bring more of the wrong element into Texas."

Carol S. Vance
District Attorney
Harris County

From
The Austin American-Statesman
Monday p.m. edition, April 29, 1974
"News in Brief" (page 1)

New York Bookies Raided

AP — NEW YORK — Police say they have broken up a $189 million-a-year gambling ring with the arrest of 31 persons in coordinated raids on "wire rooms" throughout the city.

"This was one of the largest gambling raids in recent years," a police spokesman said Sunday after teams of rackets agents raided 21 locations.

Authorities said the operation took bets on horse races and other sports events and grossed more than $518,000 daily.

When just 31 New York bookies can net $189 million in one year, why should we invite their mob-connected cohorts to Texas in return for a few bucks in tax revenue?

"To make gambling legal just because people gamble and the state might get some money out of it is just like saying that people are going to use heroin, so let's get some revenue out of legalizing heroin. You don't solve a problem by making it legal. You just make the problem bigger."

Michael P. Metcalf
District Attorney
Waco, Texas

"We all know it. Organized crime could live off its gambling profits if it didn't have anything else. How can you tell people it's all right to bet on horses at the track, and then turn around and tell them we have to drive the bookies out of business because they support the syndicate. You can't. You end up supporting the syndicate, too."

Tom Hanna
District Attorney
Beaumont, Texas

spending so much tax money trying to drive out of business."

Robert O. Smith
District Attorney
Austin, Texas

"If the state is going to protect a system of legal gambling, how in the world are we going to get juries to convict the illegal gambling operators? Law enforcement already has enough problems without adding this kind of an additional burden."

Michael P. Metcalf
District Attorney
Dumas, Texas

"Frankly I can't see how people could expect us to arrest and convict illegal bookmakers if they are given a shield of respectability to hide behind. One of the toughest jobs we have is getting hard evidence against bookies."

Neal Birmingham
Criminal District Attorney
Linden, Texas

"It's just inevitable. Racketeers follow the horses because of the millions in cash that racetracks create. You can't keep them away no matter how many laws you've got. And, I just don't want them around here."

Carrol M. Lynn
Chief of Police
Houston, Texas

"I can't do my job with the people and equipment I've got now. If they give me one more thing to do, it'll get to be a life or death matter. If we approve legal pari-mutuel betting, we'd be sliding backwards, attracting people we can do without, giving up on our commitment to keep Jefferson County clean."

Willie Bauer
Chief of Police
Beaumont, Texas

"Sometimes I just can't understand people. On one hand, they tell us to get organized crime out of the state. On the other, they talk about legalizing gambling which is organized crime's biggest source of income. How can we ever hope to control organized crime if we put state government into the business of encouraging people to gamble?"

George Dowlen
District Attorney
Canyon/Amarillo, Texas

"It is ridiculous to say that legalized pari-mutuel betting will bring illegal gambling under control. We know it doesn't work that way. People will bet $3 to $5 with a bookie for every $1 bet at a track. The bookies end up with a lot more money than the state."

Joe Carroll
District Attorney
Bell County

A statement to
The Houston Chronicle,
April 24, 1974

"I am not speaking for the Department of Public Safety, because it is an entity of the state government, but personally I cannot support legalization of pari-mutuel betting in our state.

"I personally feel that such legalization would cause more problems for our people than it would solve. I believe that legalization of one type of gambling would not discourage other illegal gambling. I simply feel it would increase our crime problem."

Col. Wilson E. Speir
Director
Department of Public Safety
Austin, Texas

"You can put all the laws you want on the books to regulate racetracks, and you're still not going to do a thing to control bookmaking. You're just going to give people one more excuse to hand their money over to the same bookmaker we're

Walters, Stanton Duo Eye State Meet This Weekend

AUSTIN — Big Spring's Donald Walters and Stanton Steer coach Glenn Petty. "It's a stiff field, but he's been improving."

Walters, only a sophomore, isn't expecting any miracles, but then he never thought he'd do as well as he already has, either. "I really didn't think I could break 50 seconds this year," the young Steer said this week. "But I feel pretty good now. I think I can run my best."

Walters has improved steadily this year, hitting a season best 49.5 two weeks ago in winning the Region I-AAAA quarter. His was the fifth best qualifying time, with two runners under 49 seconds, Lloyd Lewis of Houston Worthing (48.5) and Randy Baker of Houston Westbury (48.8).

Others in the field will be Lane MaNamara of Lubbock Monterey, Eric Brown of Lufkin, Bo Taylor of Dallas Carter, Calvin Saberry of San Antonio Highlands and Eddie Hodge of Lamar Consolidated.

Standefer, the Dist. 7-AA champion in the 220 and 100, qualified in 22.0 and last week ran a 21.9 in the qualifiers meet at Lubbock. His qualifying time is among the best, but Keith Baker of Waller will probably be the favorite.

Hernandez was one of four runners to qualify under two minutes, running a 1:59.3. But he ran a 1:57.0 last year as a junior and could be a challenge to favorites Jessie Kibbles of Bung and Benny Collins of Cisco.

20 Defending Champs Try To Repeat At State

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State meet jitters should not be a problem for many of the schoolboy track stars at Memorial Stadium today and Saturday—they've been here before.

Twenty defending champions are entered in the meet, including three who will be seeking their third straight state title.

They are miler Ricky Marquez of Sanderson, pole vaulter Donny Prosper of Garrett and Kenneth Thomas of Wortham in the 440-yard dash.

Hurdler Bill Blessing of Dallas Hillcrest and sprinter Greg Edmond of Galveston Ball will be running for state records in four events Saturday in Class 4A competition.

Blessing has run the 330 hurdles in 35.9, a state and national record, and the 120 hurdles in a wind-aided 13.4, one-tenth of a second under the state and national record. Blessing won the 330 hurdles last year.

Edmond, the 100-yard dash winner in 9.4 last year, has lowered that to 9.2 this year and also had the best regional time in the 220—20.9.

Leon Farmer of Killeen, the defending 4A discus thrower, has heaved the discus 195 feet 2 inches this year, the third best in history by a Texas schoolboy. The record is 197-3/4.

Defending 3A 440 champion Mark Collins of Burleson has run the 440 in 47.0, which ties the state record.

Gospel Disc Jockey Due Locally At Evangel Temple Special Meet

By MARJ CARPENTER
Former Dallas Teen-Challenge Director Dale Franks will conduct special services May 8-12 at Evangel Temple Assembly of God, 2205 Goliad, Big Spring, at 7 p.m. nightly. Services begin Wednesday, May 8, with a special musical program by the Rev. Franks.

Music has always been an integral part of Evangelist Franks' ministry. He has traveled throughout the United States in concerts and services, making stage, radio and television appearances. His album, "Had It Not Been," has been recently released by Ascending Sounds Records.

As master of ceremonies of the program, "Inspirational Night Songs," broadcast each evening on a Houston radio station, Franks hosted many personalities well known to the Gospel music field. He is currently co-host of the syndicated radio program, "The Sounds of the Gospel."

"Old as well as young will be moved by Evangelist Franks' presentation of the Gospel in preaching," commented Pastor Calvin, Evangel Temple pastor. "It is our hope that many Big Spring youth will give these services," he said. The public is warmly welcomed to attend these special services.

of their church which was destroyed by fire last January. An inspiring lesson was taught by the teacher, Miss Shirley Thomas. She admonished the ladies to be witnesses for Christ, and to exemplify courage, patience and love in a world that is so filled with hatred. Further comments on the lesson were given by the chairman, Mrs. Lillian Reed, and Mrs. Christine Green.

Explo 74 To Draw 300,000

ARROWHEAD SPRING, Calif. — An estimated 300,000 Koreans are expected to participate in EXPLOR 74, an international training congress on evangelism scheduled for Aug. 14-18, 1974, in Seoul, Korea. According to Dr. Bill Bright, founder and president of Campus Crusade for Christ International and who also conceived of EXPLOR 72, the intensive Christian-training congress "will help open wide the doors of Asia for the message of Jesus Christ."

THE BAKER CHAPEL YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEPARTMENT under the direction of Mrs. Viola Merritt, will journey to Lubbock Saturday to participate in the Talent Unlimited contest being held on the conference level. It will be held at the Bethel A.M.E. Church, beginning at 10 a.m.

SPiritual perception can help an individual find a fulfilling life-style, a Christian Science lecturer told an audience here.

Trinity Lutherans Progress

Miss Patricia Tuttle C.S. of San Francisco described spiritual vision in terms of "The ability and willingness to perceive that an answer does exist no matter how insurmountable the problem appears to be."

Three new families will be received into fellowship of Trinity Lutheran Church Sunday morning preceding the celebration of the Sacrament of Holy Communion, Pastor Lester M. Utz, STM, M. Ed. presiding.

People chuckle when they see a baby who seems to have the weight of the world on his shoulders. What can he possibly be thinking about that makes him seem so pensive?

His thoughts probably aren't very serious, for babies often strike delightful and comical poses that enliven the family photo album.

But babies grow up and become adults, with real problems and difficult decisions to make.

Don't forget, as your baby matures, to emphasize those things that will enable him to cope with his future. Don't forget love, discipline, understanding—and especially, don't forget the Church!

Work Ends Argentine Violence

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Argentine workers returned to their jobs Thursday after minor May Day violence and a confrontation between President Juan D. Peron and jeering leftists.

Some 70,000 Peronists turned out to hear their 78-year-old leader address his badly divided forces. About 100 persons were reported injured in street fights and 25 were arrested.

Peron first opened the 1974 congress with a State of the Union message in which he appealed for unity among the people and said terrorism was under control.

Five hours later he made a fiery speech from the balcony of the presidential palace as his rightist supporters shouted “Peron! Peron! Peron!” and ultraleftists jeered and shouted against “sorrillas” in Peron’s government.

“Some (of you) are more dangerous than those who are outside the (Peronist) movement,” said Peron, pointing to the leftists. “Despite the stupid ones who shout, for 20 years the labor unions have maintained themselves intact.”

“BEST AMERICAN MOVIE OF THE YEAR”

SATURDAY & SUNDAY MATINEE 2:00 P.M.

ANNA IN JAPAN ‘The Women Are So Feminine’

TOKYO (AP) — “Oh, what a lovely Japanese geisha,” said the blue-haired American tourist, snapping her camera at the girl in the bright kimono. The girl, Philadelphia-born Lyric soprano Anna Moffo, beamed.

For Anna, on her first visit to Japan since shooting to stardom in an Italian television production of “Madame Butterfly” this was the ultimate compliment.

In Japan, she says, she has confirmed and deepened her interpretation of Cio Cio San, the lovely tragic heroine of Puccini’s opera, and now she yearns to sing the role here some day.

“The women are so feminine,” she said. “Being here has helped me understand them more than ever. They still walk in that charming pigeon-toed way. No, they slide rather than walk, they glide across the floor.”

Her fame preceded her here, thanks to the sales of her recordings. When she sang “One Fine Day” from “Madame Butterfly” during a concert tour the audience reaction was described as ecstatic.

She further delighted the Japanese by singing, flawlessly, a popular and difficult folk song, “Karatachi No Hana,” or “Flower of the Nettle.”

Long a prima donna of the Metropolitan in New York and in the San Francisco, Chicago, La Scala, Milan, and Vienna operas, she made her debut in Japan at the Osaka International Festival.

Kent State Defense Fund

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The National Guard Association of Texas announced the establishment of a defense fund Thursday for eight members of the Ohio National Guard indicted in the shootings at Kent State in 1970.

“The guardsmen at Kent State were under official orders to restore order in extremely violent and tense student riots,” said Maj. Rufus Martin of Houston, president of the Texas guard. “They are entitled to financial assistance that will assure them the best possible legal aid.”

Martin said money would be collected throughout May.

Four persons were killed and several others were wounded in the shootings. The Ohio guardsmen were indicted by a federal grand jury.

Several units of the Texas guard already have collected a total of $75, Martin said.
