Arrest Teen In Mutilation Deaths Of Young Brothers

HOUSTON (AP) — Sheriff Jack Heard said today a 15-year-old boy has been arrested in the mutilation slayings of two young Houston brothers. "The same person is under confinement in both cases. He lives in the vicinity of the Elliott family but he is not related to them," Heard said. Heard said he could not lawfully divulge details of the investigation except to say, "The subject was in our office last night when the arrest was made." Heard held a news conference after Harris County deputies found the body of Kenneth Elliott, 11, in woods in the eastern part of the county. Kenneth's brother, Ronald, 12, was found murdered last November in the same general area. Heard said the youth in custody will be examined by sociologists and psychologists and a juvenile court referee will be asked to certify the youth as an adult. Asst. Dist. Atty. Don Lambright said such certification will take several weeks. Heard would not say if the youth had made a statement or if any weapons had been recovered. He said he was restrained from discussing the investigation because of provisions of the new Texas Family Code dealing with juveniles. Young Kenneth had been missing since Tuesday. DEEP CUT The boy had been decapitated. A long, deep cut ran from the boy's neck to his pelvic area. There also were slashes on his back and buttocks. Kenneth's brother, Ronald, 12, was found in the same area last Nov. 20, after a four-day search. His stomach had been slashed open and he had been castrated. The parents of the two boys, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Elliott, were placed under sedation at a local hospital. Their surviving sons are Jimmy, 24; David, 20; Michael, 16; Walter, 17; and Steve. Steve Elliott is the estranged husband of Deborah Cobble, the former wife of Charles Cobble, 17, one of the victims in the Houston mass murders case last August. "I TOLD HIM NO" Both of the dead Elliott boys were special education pupils at a nearby elementary school. Walter Elliott said Kenneth came home from school Tuesday and talked about going to a convenience store two blocks away. "I told him no," Walter said. "We've been careful since Ronnie died. But he got up again and walked toward the kitchen. I guess he went out the door. We didn't see him again until now." "Somebody lured him into there," David Elliott said. "Kenneth wouldn't ever go into woods like that alone—somebody got him in there and killed my brother." Steve Elliott said the assailant had "just cut him up and butchered him like an animal. I just don't feel like it's happening. You just know it has to be the same dude that killed Ronnie (last November)." WAVE OF FEAR News of the murder sent a wave of fear through the area similar to that which struck the Heights area of Houston, where many of the Houston mass murder victims lived. "I've always been afraid of what could happen to the young ones — but we are really scared right now," said Mrs. William Sterner, 41, mother of eight children.

Getting Look At Celebrated Briefcase Full Of Evidence

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee opened its historic hearing of evidence on the possible impeachment of President Nixon today and almost immediately voted to receive the complex and controversial data in closed session.

WASHINGTON (A) — The House Judiciary Committee is getting its first look at the celebrated briefcase full of grand jury evidence relating to President Nixon's role in the Watergate cover-up. The material, forwarded to the committee for its impeachment inquiry by Judge John J. Sirica of U.S. District Court, has been examined by the chairman, ranking Republican member and chief staff lawyers, but has not been available to committee members until today.

TALK, TALK, TALK Now, after months of being kept in the dark about it and other evidence gathered by the impeachment staff, the committee will start considering the case for and against Nixon's impeachment.

on's impeachment. The opening of the crucial phase of the inquiry will be marked by a round of speeches in public session, after which the committee will go into executive session to consider evidence bearing on the Watergate break-in and cover-up. Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said Wednesday the closed sessions probably would continue through next week, after which a decision will be

11th Place Construction May Get Priority Here

Federal assistance may become possible in a projected city street program, city councilmen learned this morning in a called meeting held with representatives from the Texas Highway Department.

Bob Lindley, Riley Walker and Joe Smoot represented the highway department and told the council of the 1973 Federal Highway Act. "We know very little about this program, but we do know that priorities for the program must come in soon because we have a May 27 deadline for applying for the funds," Lindley told the council.

TO MOVE TRAFFIC He told the group "As far as we know the main regulation is that projects will be 'to move traffic.'" Lindley pointed out that there would be some $60 million allocated to Texas and this will be distributed among the districts.

"There will be five cities, including Big Spring, eligible for this program within our district," Lindley added. He requested a priority list or an updating of the old TOPICS priority list. City Manager Harry Nagel pointed out that due to hospital construction here, the three phases of constructing 11th Place will probably be the top three priorities. The council further discussed priorities after the department representatives left and considered reconstruction of Scurry as fourth on the list.

FINAL APPROVAL The council will give final approval to the priority list at their meeting Tuesday and forward it to the highway department.

Lindley was also asked if the city and highway department could work together on a project if federal funds were not sufficient to cover the project. Lindley told the group that "I believe this would be possible." In other action, the council decided not to set a minimum bid on the land near the Country Club Road which the city is putting up for bids. They agreed, however, that they would again turn back bids if they considered them too low.

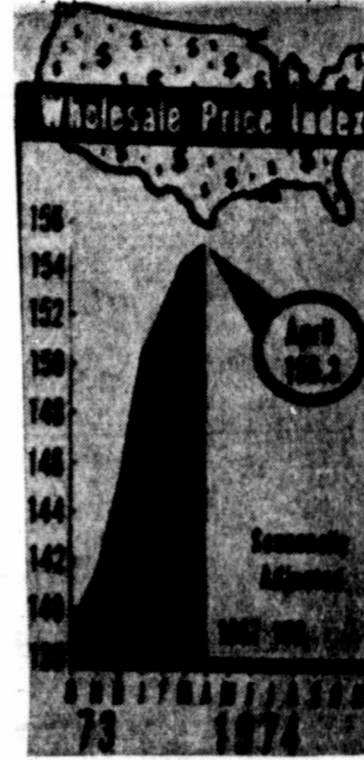

Mayor Wade Choate presided and council members present included Harold Hall, Charles Tompkins and Mrs. Polly Mays. Eddie Acri was not present.

Special guests were Ralph McLaughlin, chamber president; Clyde McMahon Jr., vice president and Joe Pickle, president of the Highway 87 Association. Following the council meeting, the highway department officials conferred with Mrs. Susan Thomas, city traffic engineer and made a tour of the FM 700-Goliad intersection and the highway between Highland South and Coronado Plaza to study possible changes.

made on opening them. Another decision facing the committee is what to do about Nixon's refusal to give it any more Watergate material. The committee has subpoenaed tapes of 42 presidential conversations dealing with Watergate and has a request pending for 76 more.

GAPS SHOW At a Democratic caucus Wednesday there was unanimous support for issuing a new subpoena, but divided opinion on when it should be issued and what it should cover.

The most likely course to be followed was suggested by the senior Republican, Rep. Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, at a news conference with Rodino.

RISE SLOWED — Chart shows rise to 155.3 in April in Wholesale Price Index, the government reported in Washington today. This means it cost $155.30 to buy the same volume of wholesale goods that $100 purchased in 1967.

RESIGNATION? Reassessment Of Nixon's Position

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John B. Anderson, a member of the House Republican leadership, said today it would be best for the country if President Nixon resigned and predicted Nixon will be impeached if he does not step down voluntarily.

ADAMANT OPPOSITION The Illinois Republican, chairman of the House Republican Conference, said he and other House and Senate Republican leaders have considered going to Nixon and asking him to resign. But, Anderson said, they have decided to wait until after a House vote for impeachment since Nixon has continued to express adamant opposition to resigning.

Earlier, House Republican Leader John Rhodes of Arizona said Nixon "ought to consider resignation as a possible option" if it becomes apparent that erosion of public confidence prevents him from effectively discharging his duties. "I do not feel that we have yet reached that point," Rhodes added.

NIXON MISSED CHANCES Anderson told newsmen he thinks the Watergate transcripts released by President Nixon last week have been devastating and that Nixon cannot survive the resulting negative view in the country of his White House leadership.

Again and again, Anderson said, Nixon missed chances to take the initiative to end the Watergate affair.

Anderson said that instead of appealing directly to Nixon to resign, he would ask the House Judiciary Committee to accelerate its impeachment proceedings.

Anderson was at a two-hour meeting with other Republican leaders this morning at the White House but he said there was no mention at that meeting of Watergate or of requests by some Republicans that Nixon resign.

3rd And Birdwell 'Most Dangerous'

The intersection of 3rd and Birdwell was the most dangerous place to be driving in 1973 in Big Spring. There were 24 accidents at that intersection, a compiled study by Mrs. Susan Thomas, traffic coordinator for the city, shows.

There are no lights at that intersection. Many of the wrecks involved out of town vehicles which had probably just come off IS 20.

Just a block away from that intersection the fourth highest location of private property wrecks is at Wagon Wheel 1. Tops on the list of private property wrecks is Highland Shopping Center with 21 followed by College Shopping Center with 17, Coronado Plaza with 13, then Wagon Wheel, and then Sonic with eight.

Out in the traffic, the intersection with the second worst record is at Goliad and FM 700 with 19 accidents. Other crashing intersections include 4th and Gregg with 15, 3rd and Gregg, 11, FM 700 and Wason, 11 and 3rd and Scurry, 8.

In a breakdown of causes of wrecks, following too close and speeding ran neck and neck but violations at stop signs topped them all. Violations at traffic lights ran a poor fourth.

The detailed study gives the city access to information on causes of wrecks, locations and types of citations. "It will be valuable in determining what to do next in trying to improve traffic conditions in Big Spring," Mrs. Thomas stated.

JUST TOO MUCH TO SEE — A person needs more than two eyes and one neck when he or she goes to a circus. King Brothers Circus stopped here for two performances Wednesday and adults and children alike flocked to the big top. In the photo at left, a baby in her mother's lap gave up the fight but everyone else was fascinated by the sights

MARKETS

COTTON FUTURES

NEW YORK (AP) — Cotton futures No. 1 were higher as much as $1.00 before early dealings today. Some of Wednesday's late demand was a carry-over, brokers said.

Some of the buying attracted after recent declines was thought to be by export interests, markets sources said.

The average price for middling 1-1/2-inch spot cotton was $1.08 cents a pound Wednesday for the 11 leading markets.

Middling prices were 35 cents, $1.10 a date higher than the previous close, July 29, $1.05, Oct. 33, 90, and Dec. 22.

Strikers Cripple India's Railways

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's lifeline railway service was crippled for the second day today by a strike posing an increasing political danger to Prime Minister Indra Gandhi.

In a rare moment of unity, opposition parties to the left and right of Mrs. Gandhi's ruling Congress Party joined forces to decry government tactics against the railwaymen.

Even the pro-Soviet Communists, generally in tacit alliance with Mrs. Gandhi, broke ranks and called on her to soften her tough line toward the strikers.

A motion of no confidence in the government's anti-strike policy was introduced in Parliament. The motion had no chance of approval since Mrs. Gandhi controls two thirds of the 521 seats. But it was certain

Exterior walls are mostly in place and the impregnation of the white marble aggregate will take place soon (as in panel at left). ## State Shouldn't Decide Tax Code, Says Toombs

Any new tax code for Texas should not result in valuations fixed at state levels, according to Glenn Toombs, Borden County judge, who spoke to the Downtown Lions Club Wednesday. He has been serving on a tax reform advisory committee.

"Some want to take away our status of local evaluations," he said. "I don't want to have to go to Austin to seek action on my valuations."

Toombs conceded that there should be some sort of land classification which would tend to provide uniformity of values for like property over the state.

"Within a section, some land may be hilly and rocky, may have creeks or canyons, or may be good farming land, and classification might help arrive at a fair value," he said.

He called for tighter budgeting, noting Texas now has a $300 million budget surplus, and adding that "either this money ought to be put where it is needed, or else it should be given back in the form of lower taxes."

He also decried loss of

Profane Expletive Necessary Means Of Letting Off Steam?

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Dr. Reinhold Aman takes a different view of the Watergate transcripts than the pastors and politicians who have criticized President Nixon for the salty language used in the White House.

"I just eat it up," said Aman, a professor of medieval German literature and an expert on swearing who can give "em hell, damn and thousands of other expletives in 50 languages."

Aman, who teaches at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, sees swearing as a necessary means of letting off steam in almost every language.

"I don't advocate swearing," he said. "I don't encourage my children or students or friends to swear. I personally swear because there are so many things that bug me. That's why everyone swears, and almost everyone does."

Far from being shocked at the language in the White House transcripts, Aman finds it lacking in the very words he's interested in.

LIKE LOTTERY

"Most of the time they are omitted, although you can sometimes predict what should be there," he said. "I've been sort of trying to fill in what it can be."

"I wish I could get all the expletives. That would be like winning at a lottery or something."

Aman, 38, has plenty of experience in dealing with noneducated expletives. He has published several scholarly works on profanity patterns throughout the world and compiled dictionaries of cursewords to help explain the background and meaning of curses.

"Swearing is a means of letting off steam, to keep from getting ulcers and from keeping frustrations bottled up inside," said Aman.

CUSSING EXPERT

"It should be used properly," he cautioned, adding that most people don't appreciate the finer points of cursing.

He said the unsophisticated curser aims insults at a foe's physical characteristics rather than gauging his cultural and educational background before using the verbal rapier.

Only a low-brow swearer relies on ethnic slurs, he said.

Nixon Has Only Two Roads Open, Chicago Tribune Says

CHICAGO (AP) — President Nixon has only two roads open: Resignation and impeachment, the Chicago Tribune said in its Thursday editions.

And since he has rejected resignation, the Tribune said, "We urge the House to act quickly on a bill of impeachment."

The newspaper has supported the President strongly in the past. But it said that since he made the transcripts public, "There can no longer be a charge that he was railroaded out of office by vengeful Democrats or a hostile press ... filling in the gaps in the transcripts can only make the case against the President stronger."

The editorial added, "We saw the public man in his first administration and we were impressed. Now in about 300,000 words we have seen the private man and we are appalled."

He is humorless to the point of being inhumane. He is devious. He is vacillating. He is profane. He is willing to be led. He displays dimming gaps in knowledge ... His loyalty is minimal."

The President's greatest concern, the Tribune said, "is to create a record that will save him and his administration."

Exxon's Prices Advanced Here

Exxon USA upped its gas and distillate oil products Monday across the country, and the results are visible in Big Spring.

Retail prices on gas went up 3.2 cents and three cents on distillate products. One station's gas is now 50.4 cents for regular and 54.4 for extra, another's is 51.9 and 54.9. A station employee said the cost price alone on kerosene, (as an example of distillate products) is 38 cents.

Exxon insists the increases are necessary due to higher imported and raw material costs.

Oil Drilling Is Accelerated

Explorations have stimulated oil drilling in the nation and Texas, the weekly report compiled by Hughes Tool Co., for the International Association of Drilling Contractors, shows.

At the end of last week there were 1,404 holes being drilled in the United States, an increase of 39.38 per cent over the comparable date a year ago. The Texas figure showed 487 rigs turning, an increase of 38.74. The West Texas figure was 176 rigs, up 13 per cent, but the division of reporting territory since last year makes this not an accurate comparison.

Trudeau's Regime Falls In Canada

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada's political parties began preparing today for a general election in July after the toppling of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau's Liberal government.

Inflation was certain to be the major campaign issue.

By a 137-123 vote, the House of Commons adopted a motion of no confidence in Trudeau's minority government. The 54-year-old prime minister said he would call on Gov.-Gen. Jules Léger today to ask him to dissolve the lower house and call an election.

Election day is expected to be July 8. Meanwhile, Trudeau and the Liberal cabinet continue in office as a caretaker government.

UNFORTUNATE

Trudeau said in a telecast after his defeat that he welcomed the electoral fight but considered the interruption of parliament while the country faced inflationary problems "unfortunate and unnecessary."

Trudeau was brought down by the New Democratic Party, Canada's third largest political faction, whose support had kept him in office since the Liberal majority in Commons was reduced to a minority by the 1972 election.

After siding with the government on 19 previous no-confidence motions, the 31 New Democrats joined the 106 Conservatives, to bring down the government with a motion condemning the budget submitted on Monday. With one Liberal absent, Trudeau mustered 108 votes from his party and 15 from the Social Credit Party.

The decisive vote came on a New Democratic amendment to a Conservative motion of no confidence charging that the budget failed to provide effective remedies for the 10 per cent inflation Canada now suffers.

TAX TROUBLES

The New Democratic amendment charged that the budget failed to provide help for pen-

Aged Lawyer Determined 'Kind of Cuss'

FAIRFIELD, Tex. (AP) — What would it take to discourage a 96-year-old lawyer who held his first elected office in 1915 from ever running again for public office?

George Fryer, a bachelor and county attorney from 1960 to 1968, said, "I guess getting beat the way I did during last week's primary election is enough to discourage anybody—even me."

"I'm a determined kind of a cuss. I still want to hold office but maybe next time I'll try to get appointed."

Determination is one thing Fryer has had plenty of in his life. Born on a farm near here, he graduated from the University of Texas law school in 1909 and did graduate work at Harvard.

Fryer served two terms as county judge from 1915 until 1918. He practiced law in Texas until the late 1920s when he moved to Alaska. He practiced in Alaska until moving to Prescott, Ariz. in the 1930s.

He returned to Fairfield in 1951.

Fryer said he knew since he was a little boy that he wanted to be a lawyer. His success today and his longevity, he says, are connected to his practice and his campaigns for public office.

Fryer, who lost his last bid for county judge Saturday by less than a 1,000 votes out of 2,800 cast in the primary, said, "Now I'm going to keep healthy by traveling. Right now I'm planning a return trip to Ireland to see some ladies I met over there in 1970."

Orders Company To Stop Using Word 'Engineering'

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court ordered a company Wednesday to stop using the word "Engineering" in its name because it does not do engineering work.

The Supreme Court also rejected a $225,000 damage suit by the family of a Navarro high school football coach who was electrocuted as he helped five other men raise a goalpost that was being welded at the school industrial shop.

The State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers sued in Wichita County to enjoin Wichita Engineering Co., which was chartered in 1937, from using that name. Except for the word "engineering," it has nothing to do with such work and employs no engineers, according to court records.

Wichita Engineering protested that the state board was overstepping its authority in forcing the company to change its name, and that the applicable part of the Texas Engineering Practices Act was unconstitutional.

The trial court disagreed in granting summary judgment for the board, and the Fort Worth Court of Civil Appeals and the Supreme Court affirmed that judgment.

"The use by a company or corporation of the word engineering in its name constitutes a representation or holding out to the public that the company or corporation is legally qualified to engage in the practice of engineering," the appeals court said.

In the coach's case, the family of Ruel Erwin sought damages from the Guadalupe Valley Electric Co-op after Erwin and another man died and four others were burned Aug. 11, 1971 as the goalposts they were walking into position touched a transmission wire.

Erwin's family alleged the wire was too low.

But the San Antonio appeals court said the law required the wire to be at least 20 feet above the ground and it was 21.95 feet above ground. It also noted that the trial court had found Erwin guilty of contributory negligence.

The Supreme Court upheld the lower court rulings without writing an opinion of its own.

Price Hike In Food, Gas Will Hit Summer Traveler

By CRAIG AMMERMAN
Associated Press Writer

Americans planning a vacation trip this summer should be prepared to pay more, start planning sooner and keep a careful eye on the gas gauge.

A nationwide Associated Press survey shows that families are not being scared away from planning summer vacations by high gasoline prices and the memory of winter shortages. But tourism officials say the summer vacationer plans to travel a shorter distance to find his spot in the sun and to stay put longer once he gets there.

20 PER CENT MORE

The sharp increases in the price of food and energy will hit the summer traveler hard.

Some vacation areas report food and beverage prices up 20 per cent over last year, and federal officials foresee an average nationwide price for gasoline of 60 cents a gallon this summer, up from the current average of 54 cents for regular and 58 cents for premium. Some tourist areas predict it could go as high as 70 cents. Motel and hotel prices are also up in most tourist areas, but not significantly.

The overall effect means you'll pay up to 20 per cent more for the same vacation you took last year.

Many tourist areas suffered between a 20 and 40 per cent decline in business during the winter. But by April most reported business nearly normal again, and some expect a record summer.

ADS INCREASE

The AP survey showed that traveling on Sundays could mean risking running out of gasoline this summer. There will be fewer gasoline stations open on Sundays for two reasons: (1) many stations do not need that day to sell their monthly allocation, and (2) some owners have gotten used to having Sundays off and aren't anxious to work. The American Automobile Association said Tuesday a survey showed 39 per cent of the nation's service stations open Sundays.

The AP survey also shows that most tourist areas have increased their advertising budgets and concentrated their messages much closer to home. Cape Cod resorts, for example, are advertising in a 300-mile radius instead of a normal 700 miles.

BOOKINGS

Major tourist areas such as Cape Cod, the Poconos, the Smoky Mountains, Southern California and the lake areas of Michigan and Wisconsin are running ahead of or even with 1973 in advance bookings. These areas said some persons who stayed only three or four days in the past are now making reservations for two weeks.

The economical traveler can cut costs. The AP survey found that in some areas the smaller motels and hotels had been hardest hit by the energy crisis and are less likely to be booked for the summer.

SPECIAL DEALS

And special deals are available in most areas to tourists seeking them. Some of these offer extra nights in motels free of charge if tourists stay a certain length of time. Others include free rooms for children under 12 and free tickets to local points of interest. Tourists seeking these deals should check with chambers of commerce, travel agents and tourist bureaus.

The major concern is the availability of gasoline. Most officials say they're cautiously optimistic there will be enough

However, there is at least a possibility there won't.

The Federal Energy Office says the outlook for summer is that gasoline supplies will be 4 to 6 per cent below potential demand—the amount used in normal times. A recent AP survey showed that citizens are returning to their normal driving habits. If that continues the chances of spot gasoline shortages this summer are strong.

The energy office suggests that travelers seeking information on gasoline check with the American Automobile Association or phone ahead to their destination before leaving.

Some tourist areas—the Berkshires in western Massachusetts and Finger Lakes in New York are two—are setting up hotlines to dispense gasoline information. The Berkshires Hills Conference is offering to buy dinner on Monday nights for any service station owner who stays open on Sundays.

IT'S GOING TO COST

"It's going to cost money," said John Geary, director of the group. "But hell, that's better than being out of business."

Nearly every state is pushing itself—"See Kentucky First" is repeated the country over. Pre-registration at the 16 resort state parks in Kentucky is up 15 per cent this year. Officials expect the percentage of their business from state residents to increase from 42 to 55 per cent.

One attempt to capitalize on an expected decline in the number of Americans going to Europe is being made in Chicago by Sun Lane Agencies. It is promoting a series of week-long cruises on the Great Lakes to and from Montreal. The cruises, which begin from Montreal May 11, are more than 40 per cent booked through October.

Foreign Aid Hard To Sell

As Americans continue to dole out more money for gasoline, food and other purchases, they should also be reminded that they'll be sending more money abroad in the form of foreign aid.

And those $5.18 billion in foreign aid expenditures, as proposed by President Nixon, reflect the tenor of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's "pay for what you want" diplomacy.

When Kissinger negotiated a way for the United States to get its troops out of Vietnam, it later was noted that the Nixon administration had agreed to help Hanoi rebuild its war-torn areas. That received an absolutely cold shoulder from Congress.

With the United States playing a central role in possible settlement of the Mideast fighting, the Kissinger tactic has again come out of the bushes. Now that Egypt has stopped fighting, the United States is clearing out the Suez canal, and the President is asking for more foreign aid for the Arab nations than it does for Israel.

Some observers note that this tactic is a U.S. ploy designed to increase Washington's influence within the Arab nations both for oil availability purposes and to combat the Soviet Union influence in that area. No doubt it is.

But can Washington justify to the American people why they should pay more foreign aid when the financial situation in the United States is so precarious at this time? How can increased aid to Arab nations be justified when other oil-producing nations are reaping higher profits off the United States consumer.

These are serious questions which should be answered before Congress gives its okay to increased foreign aid expenditures. As wealthy as this nation is, it obviously cannot afford to indefinitely support the Kissinger method of purchasing peace, as well as supporting the remainder of the world, with an already thin pocketbook.

Oil On Troubled Waters

Veterans groups throughout the country may quiet down, now that they have the promise of Donald E. Johnson, administrator of veterans affairs, to resign.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars charged that he was subservient to the Office of Management and Budget which was interested more in cutting costs than in the quality of service given veterans, citing reduced benefits to injured veterans.

Recently, Dr. Marc Musser, in charge of medical affairs for the Veterans Administration, resigned, claiming that his effectiveness was being undermined by Johnson.

Members of Congress are sensitive to the needs of veterans, not just because it is right, but because there are an estimated 29 million of them. Early this year the House of Representatives voted unanimously to increase veterans' educational benefits from $220 to $250 a month for a single veteran with no dependents. The Senate seeks an even higher benefit.

Rep. Olin Teague of the House Veterans Affairs Committee was incensed at the appointment of 13 men to high positions in the veterans Administration. The 13 were formerly with the Committee to Re-Elect the President. He characterized them as "incompetent, unqualified and inexperienced." Both their departure and Johnson should clear the air and help ease the problems of veterans.

Emotional Issues

Around The Rim

Marj Carpenter

Trying to legislate morals is about as intriguing as trying to safeguard the freedom of the press.

Regardless of which way you feel, watching wet-dry elections in West Texas communities or statewide issues such as the pari-mutuel betting gets fairly emotional.

WE ARE NOT among those that believes that St. Peter is going to keep a chart of our voting record at Heaven's gate, but we can usually see both sides of the issue.

But what is fascinating is that legislating morals sometimes is like trying to hold the wind in your hand. Those who want to gamble, drink or "whatever" usually find a way around the issue.

What made us compare it to guarding the freedom of the press was a feeling of futility sometimes when somebody decides to hide something from the press.

Even though protected by open meeting laws and open record laws, we still have to laugh every now and then when we meet face to face somebody who wants to evade an issue.

For instance, we had a distinct feeling while reading over the public activity sheet one day last week that somebody was trying to keep something from somebody.

It read kind of like this: "3 a.m. guy asked officer to meet him outside the 7-11 on 11th Place to discuss a problem he is having. Officer was sent to the scene where he discussed the problem with the guy and advised him as to the steps he could take."

Not a whole lot you can do with that one. I recall one that read "Woman called for deputy at her house on Jonesboro Road to explain situation."

THEN YOU CAN'T glean a whole lot out of an item that reads, "Items reported stolen at residence in southern part of city."

But then meeting agendas can be just as elusive. Gay Hill residents had a legitimate complaint last fall when the closing of their school was listed on the school board agenda as "Discussion of distribution of pupils." The board thought so themselves and so they waited until after another meeting so that those who objected could appear.

A wealth of sins are sometimes hidden under miscellaneous items or items listed as "any other business that might come up."

Let's face it. A lot of freedom of the press has to come through cooperation; which is usually very, very good with Big Spring law agencies and public meeting groups. No amount of legislation could keep it where any item could be disguised and hidden from the press.

BACK TO THE morals issue. I really think, they are much the same. Anybody wanting to violate a morals law will find a way, or a precinct line or state line to cross. Look at the fiasco called prohibition. Organized crime followed closer on the prohibition days than the legal drinking days. In fact organized crime often seizes the strongest hold in an area where there is a negative approach — for instance, bootleggers in a dry area or bookies in a non-gambling area.

I'm sure somebody will disagree violently with this issue. But then I've already been called dumb because I didn't want all of Big Bend Park declared a wilderness area. I noticed the next week that both of our U.S. Senators were apparently as dumb as I was, because they didn't want it declared a wilderness area either.

THE THING THAT makes morals issues so "hot a subject" is the linking of the issue with religious issues. I worked for one dry town newspaper where the liquor store owner "just over the line" bought full page ads showing people walking hand in hand up the pathway to church saying "Let's keep our community dry." It's dry and he is very prosperous. I hope the church offerings fared as well.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

Please tell me—should I leave my body to science? I understand they cremate what is left. B.J. The Bible is not explicit on the disposition of the body after death. Certainly it implies that the human body should not be desecrated; but it neither fosters nor forbids cremation.

Obviously, medical science has something to say about its use of bodies for research purposes. Because of a certain illness or a particular accident, one may be more desirable than another.

I think if a physician or medical scientist has suggested this to you, it would be a very commendable thing to provide for in your will.

Perhaps it is a matter of stewardship. If Paul suggests using your body as a sort of sacrifice while yet alive, (Romans 12:1) than perhaps the same principle would commend further use after death as well.

The believer in Christ need not fear, however, that any disposition of the body will hinder resurrection. The same omnipotent God, who created from nothing, can certainly reassemble scattered particles into the new heavenly body promised every Christian. (I Corinthians 15.)

Big, Big Business

John Cunniff

Destroy Tapes

William F. Buckley Jr.

It was back when Harry Truman was resisting Congressional committees in 1949. A Justice Department official named Herman Wolkington drafted memoranda under the general title "Demands of Congressional Committees for Executive Papers." These became, within a few years later President Eisenhower was resisting the demands of Sen. McCarthy's investigating committee, the authoritative source for all arguments exempting the executive from certain kinds of cooperation with the legislature, and the term "executive privilege" was born. The trouble is the legal memoranda were, on the whole, historical floundering, as Prof. Raoul Berger points out in his book, "Executive Privilege."

THE GUNS ARE trained now, and every time Mr. Nixon opens his mouth to say something about the sacred presidential precedents he is observing, he is quickly and, sad to say, most conclusively, shot down. It turns out not that every President since Washington has taken the position that his papers are immune to inspection by Congressional committees looking into possible grounds for impeachment — but exactly the opposite from that. Every president before whom the subject has arisen has laid claim to certain kinds of confidentiality except when the question of impeachment has arisen. Prof. Berger challenges even some of the accepted doctrines of confidentiality. But he treats with great scorn the notion that any form of confidentiality extends to matters relating to impeachment.

IT SEEMS TO me that left out of public consideration is the special characteristic of the evidence we are here mostly talking about. It is only in the last generation that technology gave us the tape recorder. Whether, if a tape recorder had existed in the 19th century, the presidents then would have gone to the narcissistic excesses of recording every expletive uttered in the privacy of their quarters for the titillation of future historians, one simply cannot guess. But it is not too much to say, with some confidence, that men as keen-minded as say Jefferson and Madison, would have drawn a distinction between their obligation to furnish all documentary evidence necessary to deliberate the question of impeachment and such evidence as we now have before us: the stultified musings of a president, in association with his closest associates, is seen shuffling the cards over and over again trying to deal out an orderly deck. Permit me the thought that it was monstrous to ask that Mr. Nixon's tapes be made public. And that it was monstrous to ask that Mr. Nixon's tapes be made public. And the private man is not worth it.

SUCH IS the general exaltation, I am waiting to hear it said now by an inflamed presidential prosecutor that henceforth it should be required that presidents tape all their conversations — so that future committees on impeachment can satisfy themselves should be the question arise, that presidential consideration of this or another problem was conducted according to standards deemed seemly by Congress.

Now that we have the technology for recording presidential conversations why has it not occurred to anyone to suggest that Mr. Nixon take a lie detector test? Presumably Prof. Berger, consulting the 17th century, will find nothing there in the history of the formalization of legislative power that would argue against establishing scientifically whether an executive is lying. They talk about the "best evidence" rule: is there better evidence than the subjective intention of the President? If we are willing to tape his conversations, why not his mind?

NEW YORK (AP) — Earlier this year the National Small Business Association presented congressmen with its view that small and medium-size businesses must be permitted a bigger share in the American economy.

The big three of big business, the big government and big labor, the association's spokesmen asserted, ruled the land, formulating a national economic policy that:

- discourages, handicaps, squeezes, and often destroys small business. Their actions are counterproductive, incestuous, and self-serving in nature. As a result, only the "scraps on the table" are left for everyone else.
- The injustice is clear, they claimed, in the areas of taxes, access to market and money raising — "would any fair-minded person say that equality of treatment is given to the would-be entrepreneur versus the economic power of an ITT although both want to enter the same field?"

But the impact of the small-business report to Congress really lies in pointing out the defacto situation. Here are some excerpts:

- In 270 of 413 manufacturing industries — that is, in 65 per cent of the industries for which figures are available — the eight largest companies account for 40 per cent or more of the value of shipments from their industry.
- In 1960, small and medium manufacturers had 50 per cent of the assets and 41 per cent of profits. By 1972 these corporations had only 30 per cent of assets, and 28 per cent of profits.
- Citing Census Bureau figures, the association listed the percentage of shipments accounted for by the eight largest concerns in selected industries, based again on 1967 or 1970 figures.
- Here are a few: Cereal preparations, 97 per cent, chocolate and cocoa products, 90; chewing gum, 97; cigarettes, 100; woven carpets and rugs; 90; tire cord and fabric, 97; carbon black, 100; flag glass, 98; primary aluminum, 100; typewriters 99.

"By what accident or plan did we come to the point where a handful of giant companies can determine what foods will come to our tables and what that food will contain, and what it will cost?" the association asked.

And that's the question—not whether small business provides more variety, competitiveness and innovation, or whether big business produces sameness, administered markets and the status quo.

Is the country drifting into an era of superbigness, evading a decision and dealing with the event after the fact rather than attempting to influence its course?

Rather than drifting, is it being taken along a prescribed course by existing businesses that seek their own preservation rather than the overall good of the country?

Better To Find The Cause

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son has hives to an extreme degree. For some months he has been taking Benadryl and finds it relieves him for about three hours and then the hives come back.

Would taking the medicine that often hurt him? What type of doctor do you suggest who could help find the reason rather than just give him temporary relief? — Mrs. M.A.B.

The Benadryl — an antihistamine — is well known as giving relief from allergy problems, which is what hives is. The outstanding drawback to frequent and repeated use is that it will make him drowsy. You don't mention his age, but if he's a schoolboy, the drowsiness is going to bother him. If he's old enough to drive, then he certainly shouldn't do so with that medication.

You are quite right in wanting to find the cause rather than temporary relief. Whether the hives come from something he eats, or breathes, or touches, the heart of the problem is to find out exactly what thing — or things — causes the reaction.

And the doctor to investigate that vital question is an allergist.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Could you explain to me what color trouble is and what are the symptoms? — T.M.

Not in any brief discussion because there are all sorts of "color trouble," ranging from mucus colitis to diverticulosis to irritable colon. So I'd suggest you see for my booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints," which discusses the various types of trouble. Send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you discuss "keloiding." For many years I have wondered exactly what it is and why it occurs in some people and not others. Should people who keloid have their ears pierced? If not, why not? — M.G.

Not that I haven't discussed this before — but a keloid is an overgrowth of scar tissue after a wound or incision. The scar gets thicker and hence more prominent.

Why this occurs to some and not others is not known, but keloids are more common in folks with dark skin — by which I do not mean black, although black people do indeed have more keloids than those with light skins.

I've warned keloid-formers to avoid ear piercing because a thickened scar can be more noticeable and in many instances can close the aperture after it has been made.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it necessary that healthy people should have vitamin B-12 injections once a week or as frequently as once a month? I believe it to be more a form of habit than necessity. — Mrs. W.D.

I'll pass that question unless I have some solid evidence that the person is, indeed, "healthy." I have in mind such possibilities as a patient with pernicious anemia who may appear to be healthy, kept so by B-12, but who would die without periodic B-12.

Beneficent Fire

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The key word that keeps popping up in the transcripts of the presidential tapes is "scenario." The President and his aides kept coming up with a scenario for every setback in the Watergate case.

THE ONE scenario they never constructed, and the most vital one in my opinion, is what they should have done when Alexander Butterfield disclosed the President had taped everyone who came into the Oval Office. If I had been the President's trusted adviser, this is how I would have handled it. I'll be B and the President will be P.

B: Mr. President, Butterfield just blew the whistle on the tapes.

P: (Oh fudge) deleted

B: I THINK we better game plan this right away.

P: (Gee willikers! deleted) What do you suggest we do?

B: They're going to demand those tapes. You can bet your sweet (inaudible) on that. We have the following options. (A) we turn them over, (B) we refuse to turn them over or (C) we have a fire in the White House basement.

P: Tell me about "C."

B: YES, SIR. It's late at night and you're up in the bedroom and Mrs. Nixon says she smells smoke. You tell her Kissinger is probably burning some old cables.

P: (Golly gumdrops! deleted) Suppose the butler comes in and says he smells smoke also?

B: You tell him to mind his own

(expletive deleted) business and go back to bed.

P: Hmmm. You know there are a heckava deleted) lot of tapes in the basement. What happens when the fire department is called? They could put out the fire right away and save the tapes.

B: YOU STONEWALL them in the Rose Garden and tell them how proud you are of the fire fighters of America and how much it means to you to have them come to the White House at that hour in the morning.

P: So while I'm reading a speech to the fire department the fire in the basement is going full blast?

B: RIGHT. Now for safety, what we ought to do is have you present each fireman with a scroll expressing the gratitude of every man, woman and child in this nation for the wonderful work they are doing.

P: (Yippee dee doo da! deleted) I could go on television the next day and say how distraught I am that these tapes, which would have proved my innocence, once and for all, have gone up in smoke and have been lost to history. But I can promise to turn over all my notes of those conversations.

Of course, there is one more thing. How did the fire start in the first place?

B: John Dean was sneaking a smoke in the basement instead of doing what you asked him to do. And he threw his cigarette butt on the tapes.

P: (Laughter) I like it.

Kung Fu Film Star Cult

HONG KONG (AP) — A cult venerates Kung Fu film star Bruce Lee in death.

Fan letters pour in to the studio where he worked. Release of his films in many countries sets off new waves of reaction. Foreigners arrive on pilgrimages seeking an autographed photo of the American-born Lee.

Now, nine months after he died at 33, many still consider his death a mystery.

Found unconscious by a friend, he died while being taken to a hospital. A coroner's inquest ruled he was a victim of "hypersensitivity to certain drugs." But circumstances surrounding the death were riddled with questions.

MENTION LEE'S name in this city where he died and you are likely to be answered in hushed whispers.

Everyone, it seems, has a theory — usually grounded in superstition — about the "true" cause of the star's death.

"In Hong Kong," says one resident, "you have to worry about superstitions all the time. If a house is built with the door facing in an unlucky direction, people won't move in."

A widely circulated story says Lee died because of "bad fung chi" — bad luck — brought on when he moved to a house built on the wrong side of one of Hong Kong's nine mountains, referred to as the "Nine Dragons."

THOSE WHO TELL the story say Lee was warned his house was "on the wrong side of the Dragon." He took a precaution of installing a giant mirror on the roof to ward off evil spirits. If a spirit came down toward the house it would see itself and be scared away.

A Devotion For Today..

"Peter opened his mouth and said: 'Truly I perceive that God shows no partiality, but in every nation any one who fears him and does what is right is acceptable to him.'"

PRAYER: O God, help us to accept all Your children as brothers and sisters. In Jesus' spirit. Amen.

Kissinger Asks Monarch's Support For Key Agreement

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew to Saudi Arabia today to talk to King Faisal about American technical aid for the desert kingdom and to seek the monarch's support for progress of his negotiations with Syria and Israel. The secretary is counting on both Faisal and Sadat, as well as Algerian President Houari Boumediene, to influence the Syrians to settle for only a partial Israeli withdrawal from the Golan Heights. Meanwhile, both Americans and Israelis reported some progress in Kissinger's talks with the Syrians and Israelis. It was the first time Israeli sources reported progress in the negotiations to separate the warring forces on the Golan Heights. But he added that the American people should know that the Saudis are a religious Moslem people who "will not be swayed." After seeing Faisal, Kissinger was flying to Cairo to brief President Anwar Sadat on the

Kidnap-Marijuana Caper Puts Eight Behind Bars

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Eight persons are under criminal charges today in connection with the abduction Wednesday of a man who the kidnapers said was the father of a man who stole marijuana from them.

SLAPPING AROUND
Albert Arguijo Sr., 59, was rescued by police as his son, Albert Arguijo Jr., 22, met the abductors on the promise of a payoff. The victim was unharmed although he had been "slapped around some," police said.

Charged in the court of Peace Justice Mike Westergren were Maria Anna Rodriguez, 19; Luis Salinas Govea, 50; Faustino Urias Jr., 29; and Robert Lugo Ramirez, 27, all of Corpus Christi; Francisco Salazar Rangel, 32; Robert Jimenez Sr., 48, and Leo Bardo Gonzalez, 39.

all of McAllen; and Luis Trujillo DeLuna, 25, of Mission, a Mexican national. The charges were for aggravated kidnaping, Westergren said. Bond was set at $100,000 each except for Miss Rodriguez and Urias, whose bond was $50,000 each.

DEMANDED $54,000
The district attorney's office said Ramirez already is on probation for possession of cocaine and papers would be filed to revoke that probation.

Corpus Christi officers told this story, in part quoting Arguijo Jr.:

The younger Arguijo said he received a phone call at 10 p.m. Monday saying his father had been kidnaped and demanding $54,000. Otherwise, they said, they would kill the elder Arguijo or take him to Mexico. Arguijo Jr. said the callers told him that he had stolen their 800 pounds of marijuana and they wanted $54,000 for it. The son is free on bond on charges of transporting marijuana, officers said.

Police, Texas Rangers, FBI agents and state troopers arranged a trap whereby the son would meet the abductors on a street at 5 p.m. Tuesday. He met them but told the men the money was in another car on a parking lot in another part of town.

ARRANGED TRAP
The men refused to be lured into the trap and when Arguijo admitted he possessed only $13,000, he was taken to a house and shown his father.

The younger Arguijo received another call Wednesday instructing him to meet the abductors on a city street at 7 a.m.

Officers flooded the area and a helicopter hovered overhead. Three kidnapers arrived and were arrested at that time, and the others were arrested later.

'Meet The Black Press' Series To Start Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — A week by a different Mutual need to bring black — and Network, who said the routine though such shows as "Meet the Press" have long been major news attractions for Sunday audiences, few of the issues discussed on these shows have directly concerned black life in the United States.

But two radio networks serving a predominantly black audience say they hope to remedy this shortcoming this month and the next when each starts a half-hour Sunday news show.

NEWS SHOW

One network, the New York-based National Black Network, says it's starting its new "Meet the Black Press" series this Sunday with a panel interview of Rep. Charles B. Rangel, D-N.Y., a black member of the House Judiciary Committee.

The Washington-based Mutual Black Network, part of the Mutual Broadcasting System, says its Sunday news show, "The Mutual Black Forum," will start in June at a date that hasn't yet been decided.

Both new shows will be taped in advance, network officials say.

Mutual's show will be moderated by MBN newscaster Glen Ford, who'll be helped out each by a different Mutual newsman and occasionally by a third reporter from outside the network, Mutual said.

The National Black Network's Sunday show will be moderated by newsman Ed Shannon, with two newsmen from outside the network Ralph Featherstone, general manager of the Mutual Black Network, and Edgene Jackson.

A similar reply came from the network's general manager, Ralph Featherstone, who said the routine form an audience.

The two black networks are relatively new in broadcasting. Featherstone said his company began operating two years ago this month and now has 92 affiliates. Jackson said his network started operations in July a year ago and now has 65 affiliates.

Threesome Split By Mickey Finn

CLOVIS, N.M. (AP) — Gomer Pyle and Perry Mason are going to have to get along without Mickey Finn.

Television and comic strip fans will note that Perry Mason and Gomer Pyle are doing fine on television reruns, and that Mickey Finn was a comic strip sheriff.

But in Clovis, Mickey Finn was a policeman, until last week. Now, he's working as the village marshal in Texico, which straddles the New Mexico-Texas border.

However, Finn's former co-workers on the Clovis police force—Sgt. Gomer Pyle and Patrolman Perry Mason—say they'll stay on in Clovis.

$91.4 Million For Summer Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is making available $91.4 million to help communities arrange summer jobs for 700,000 economically disadvantaged youths.

"We want to get this money out to prime sponsors right away so they can set up jobs for young people who'll soon be ready for work because of early school closings," Secretary of Labor Peter J. Brennan said.

The money is part of $300 million earmarked by the administration for the job program, designed to subsidize jobs for teen-agers over a nine-week period this summer.

Elevator Death In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — James A. Elliott, 43, was killed after he became trapped in an elevator and dropped to a concrete floor while being rescued.

Fellow workers said Elliott had been loading freight on the second floor of a warehouse when he somehow caught his arm in an elevator door as it moved upward.

When the elevator was stopped to get Elliott out, he instead swung free and plummeted two stories down, landing head first on a concrete floor.

Ford Truck

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Co. has raised price of 1974-model cars and trucks to an average $163, becoming the most expensive auto maker in the world. The increase was the result of a 10% hike in the cost of living. Council Director Dunlop blasted the increase as "unwarranted" and said the firm's voluntary price increases last December to boost sales.

Ford Ups Prices On Cars, Trucks An Average Of $163

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has raised prices on its 1974-model cars and trucks an average $163, becoming the second auto maker this month to draw the ire of the federal Cost of Living Council.

COST INCREASES
Council Director John T. Dunlop blasted Wednesday's increase as "unwarranted" and charged it was a violation of the firm's voluntary agreement last December to limit price boosts.

But Ford insisted the hike was needed because of "unprecedented cost increases." "The company's price increase is totally cost-justified and is consistent with commitments made last December to the Cost of Living Council," said Ford Vice President John B. Naughton.

When the council lifted controls on the auto industry in December, Ford, General Motors and American Motors joined the voluntary commitment, boosted prices an average $122 on May 1, also drawing criticism from Dunlop. The increase brought its total increase since September to $416 a vehicle.

AT THIS TIME

American Motors, which has increased prices $234 since September, said Wednesday it had "no intention of raising prices at this time."

Ford's latest price boost, its fourth since September, included $113 (24 per cent) on the base sticker price and $50 (11 per cent) for optional equipment made standard. Excluding the change for options, Ford has increased prices an average $44 a vehicle since the end of the 1973 model run.

Expect Final Arguments In Trial Of Duval Judge

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A federal court jury today receives the government's case against Duval County Judge Archer Parr, the second member of a South Texas political machine to be prosecuted this year.

Testimony in Parr's perjury trial concluded Wednesday. The trial began a week and a half ago.

U.S. District Court Judge D.W. Suttle scheduled final arguments for this morning, meaning the jury would receive the court charge and begin its deliberations thereafter.

LEGAL SERVICE
The jury must decide if the government proved Parr, 48, lied in testimony given to a grand jury in 1972 and 1973 about $121,500 in payments he received in the late 1960s from the Duval County Conservation and Reclamation District.

Two former district board members and the district office manager testified for the government that they could not recall any legal services Parr performed for the district since its formation in the mid-1960s.

In trial testimony and in the grand jury testimony which precipitated his six-count indictment, Parr claimed the money was for legal services. He testified in his trial that he served the district as a private attorney and not in his capacity as county judge.

His defense centers around contentions that he arranged with the district secretary, Jose Tovar, for the legal fees. Tovar, the government emphasized in questioning, is dead.

U.S. Atty. William Sessions, cross-examining Parr on Wednesday, asked about personal benefits Parr's uncle, George Parr, received from district coffers and Archer Parr said he knew "only what I read in the newspapers."

TAX EVASION
George Parr, 73, leader of the Duval County machine, is appealing a conviction and five-year prison term given him in Corpus Christi on federal income tax evasion charges. Archer Parr's grand jury testimony which led to his indictment was during an investigation of George Parr.

Defense attorney James Gillespie objected to Sessions' questions on Wednesday, saying, "This is Archer Parr on trial, not George Parr." However, Suttle permitted questions about George Parr.

The government also tried to undercut two of Archer Parr's character witnesses, who are fellow prominent Democrats with the defendant.

Frank Erwin, University of Texas regent, and Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White both denied to prosecutors they were appearing on Parr's behalf because of past political debts.

Watergate played a small role in the final day's testimony.

Asst. U.S. Atty. John Clark got Erwin to concede he was prominent in Texas Democratic circles and then asked whether Erwin advocated truthfulness in public figures.

BUGGING
"I think we found out recently it applies to all parties," said Erwin.

Gillespie jumped to the attorneys lecturn and asked if Erwin would advocate one political party bugging another and if he would advocate the highest public official in the nation evading income taxes. Erwin said he would not.

Outside the courtroom, Parr has changed the Justice Department's prosecution of the Parr machine is a Republican-inspired vendetta.

Speaker Race In The Bag?

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two House members claim the recent elections gave each of them enough votes to take command of the 1975 speaker's race, and another representative said he gained strength.

Rep. Fred Head, D-Athens, said he has more than 80 "firm votes" pledged to him by his colleagues. It only takes 76 votes to assure victory.

Rep. Bill Clayton, D-Springlake, said the election Saturday boosted his commitments by 12, and this "clearly established" him as the "leading candidate for speaker."

Another speaker candidate, Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said he has 39 or 40 first pledges and another 15 who rate him as their second choice.

"I think it is between me and Head," Parker said.

Feline Survives 16-Story Fall

HONOLULU (AP) — A six-month-old cat named Misto fell 16 stories recently — and only broke a record.

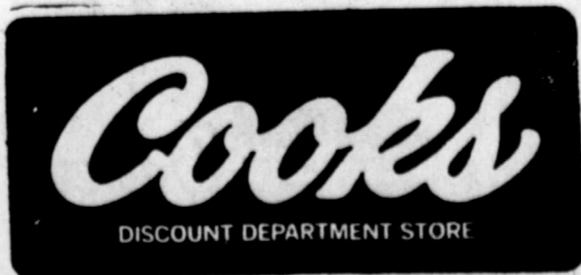

Misto fell from the 19th story balcony of his owner's apartment to a third-floor balcony April 19. He landed in a small tree which broke his fall, then fell onto a planter.

According to the Guinness Book of World Records, the official record for distance fallen by a cat which survived is 120 feet. That record was set by an English feline called Pussycat, which fell from the balcony of his owner's 11th story apartment on March 7, 1963.

Misto's fall outdid Pussycat's record by at least 25 feet. And all he suffered was a few bruises and torn skin on his jaw.

Mrs. Fred Rpucke, Misto's owner, said this week that her cat "is back to his old self."

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

Now that Texas voters have decided that horse racing isn't for this state, after all, I guess I can write about it without fear of having a cross burned in my yard or getting mugged on the way to the bathroom. Not that I have any hard opinions I want to put on you - I'm probably one of the few in the state who didn't really care one way or the other - but it might be interesting to look at the campaigns waged, for and against.

Actually, I can really disagree with both sides of the issue. Despite claims that horse racing is the nation's No. 1 sport, surpassing pro football, basketball and baseball combined, I don't see it that way. If the betting windows were closed down, the horse races wouldn't outdraw junior high golf tournaments, and that makes me think that betting - not racing - is the No. 1 sport.

On the other hand, I seriously doubt that pari-mutuel racing would hasten the moral decay of the state. Gambling is something that is natural to almost everyone, or whether he's a Baptist who likes to play the stock market, or a judge who bets a dime a hole on a golf match.

But then, I said I wasn't going to bore - or anger - you with my own ideas. . .

Despite all the pro and con racing information being freely distributed the past several weeks, the number of facts presented were astonishingly few. Both sides were guilty of bending the figures to suit their own cause, and persons not really familiar with the issue - which was a good portion of the voters - went to the polls slightly fuzzy on the thing, if not totally confused.

That sort of tainted the only real fact - that the horse racing referendum took its worst licking ever in voting last week, which was an advisory for the legislators. It was semi-surprising that Howard County shot down the proposal by more than 1,000 votes.

One thing working against the horse racing industry is its sordid past, which long ago thrived on duping its customers. Horse proponents claim that was before pari-mutuel wagering, however, which operates entirely different. The words pari-mutuel are French for "among ourselves," and that's what it's based on. Racetrack magnates no longer manipulate the odds.

Folks against the bill, mainly organized Baptists, claim that the "sport" still isn't free of those evils. It can corrode the morals of even the purest public officials and it has unraveled the lives of the "little people." They contended en masse that it's a seductive evil that shouldn't be blessed by the state.

Pari-mutuel people point out the obvious revenue benefits. In Texas, it's been estimated that pari-mutuel horse racing would add from $21,000,000 to $33,000,000 to the state treasury each year.

The "antis" contend that's hardly substantial, considering the state's budget is over $4 billion. Along the same line, they claim that business will suffer with the establishment of tracks. That reasoning is based on the idea that people who can't afford it will try to make killings at the track, but will lose, more than likely.

Texas once had pari-mutuel wagering, but Gov. James Allred successfully had a law allowing for it repealed in 1937. "Repeal of the race track gambling law will remove the temptation, the opportunity and, to some extent, the inclination to gamble," Allred told legislators. "Texas doesn't need gambling revenues. Everyone ultimately realizes that the honest man can't beat the gambler."

And he read a news item about a man who killed himself with poison. A suicide note in the dead man's pocket said "The race horses caused this. The wages of sin are death. The greatest thing the legislature can do is repeal the gambling laws. May God have mercy on my soul, and watch over and protect my family." All of which was very dramatic, but effective. Allred received a standing ovation and the law was repealed.

The racing issue probably isn't dead, since there have been several attempts at getting it reinstated. However, last week's blow was probably near fatal. While bangtails frolic for sport in other states, in Texas they'll only do it for the "dough."

Rader Saves His Best For Last; Astros Roll

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Manager Preston Gomez won't complain about third baseman Doug Rader getting only one hit in six at-bats Wednesday night.

Rader saved his fireworks for the bottom of the 12th inning when he blasted a three-run home run to vault the Astros to an 8-6 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Houston took a 5-0 lead with four runs in the first and one in the second but had to come from behind to win it when the Pirates tied it in the seventh and went ahead 6-5 in the 12th.

Rader, who also drove in a run Tuesday night when the Astros' Tom Griffin pitched a one-hit, 2-1 victory over Pittsburgh, said in one sense it was the biggest homer of his career.

"Bigger home runs for me?" he asked in response to a question. "Yeah, probably, but not for a ball club like this one. This is a contending team, not one 15 games behind - or one that will be 15 games behind. In those terms, I've never hit a bigger homer than this one."

Bob Watson's two-run double and a two-run homer by catcher Cliff Johnson gave Houston four runs in the first. Off the Browns' Tom Home made it 4-0 in the second.

Pittsburgh rallied with four runs in the fourth on a single by Rickie Zisk, double by Manny Sanguillen and sacrifice flies by Frank Traveras and Richie Hebner.

Al Oliver tied it in the seventh with his second straight triple of the game.

Dave Parker clubbed a 400-foot home run over the centerfield fence in the 12th to give the Pirates a 6-5 lead.

Then came Rader's blast.

Girls' State Meet Set This Weekend

AUSTIN - Preliminaries are set for Friday and finals will be run Saturday in the Girls State Track Meet this weekend in Austin's Memorial Stadium and runners from Big Spring and Garden City will be on hand for the competition.

Big Spring, in its first year of a girls' track program, qualified its 880-yard relay team of Debra Warren, Michelle Couvillion, Carolyn Earl and Helen McAlister for the event. The foursome legged a season best 1:50.4 two weeks ago in finishing second during the Region 1-AA meet in Abilene.

Sharon Green coaches the Steerettes, who finished second in their district meet three weeks ago.

Garden City will have two relay teams and one individual spot in the Class B action. Linda Chandler, Dana Halfmann, Jan Hirt and Cindy Halfmann won the Region 1-B 440-yard relay in 51.9 and the same four came back later to finish second in the 880-yard relay with a 1:51.5 clocking.

Cindy Halfmann also will run in the 60-yard dash, after running a 7.3 for second place in the regional action at Levelland.

San Antonio Thumps Cubs

San Antonio took a one-game lead in the West with a 6-2 triumph over Midland, Arkansas maintained its 2 1/2 game East Division lead with a 3-2 decision over Alexandria and Victoria slammed Shreveport 8-0 in other T.L. games.

Amarillo scored its seven runs on a triple, five walks and Minster's homer in the first inning and Rob Dressler won his first game in four decisions for the Giants, although he allowed 11 El Paso hits. Only two of those were in the last four innings, however.

Will Aaron and Gary Ratliff both had three hits and a total of four RBIs for San Antonio in its victory over Midland, which gave the Brewers a single-game margin over Midland and El Paso and a two-game bulge on Amarillo. Ron Salyer won his fourth game against no losses for San Antonio.

Victoria stopped a six-game losing streak at home with its easy defeat of Shreveport. Nardi Contreras and Rick Baldwin combined for a six-hit shutout for Victoria, while Brock Pemberton's three RBIs and Randy Trapp's three hits led the Toros assault.

Arkansas continued to get clutch hitting as shortstop Danny Loomer brought the Travelers from a 2-2 tie to victory with a two-out single in the ninth inning against Alexandria. Joe Lindsey had two hits, two runs scored and an RBI for Arkansas.

Brett Bounces Back As Royals Top Texas

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) - It you expect from Ferguson Jenkins. It was in the power zone all the way. It was a very bad pitch for him to make," said Mayberry, whose fifth homer ended the Ranger ace's personal five-game winning streak.

Just before Mayberry went up to bat, manager Jack McKeon offered a little advice. "John had been trying to pull Jenkins' sliders and curves down the line. I told him just to aim for the 370 sign (in right) and that is where the ball went."

It landed only four or five rows up in the seats, but it was enough to make starter Al Fitzmorris record 3-1. Doug Bird preserved the win with two innings of hitless relief.

Despite the loss, the Rangers hung on to first place in the West by a half-game over California.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox blanked the New York Yankees 4-0; the Oakland Athletics whipped the Baltimore Orioles 7-3; the Cleveland Indians downed the California Angels 3-2 in 11 innings; and the Chicago-Detroit and Minnesota-Milwaukee games were rained out.

In other Little League action Wednesday, the T-Birds ran past the Comets 4-1 in International competition and the Lions outslugged the Devils 18-11 in the National League.

Edward Kyser was the winning pitcher, giving up just four hits, and Reynolds and Greg Franklin each smacked a double and a single in the winning cause. Blane Rossion also had a pair of hits.

For the Stars, Darrell Martin had a pair of hits, including a double. Jimmy Ferguson was the losing pitcher.

Chip Kooser tossed a one-hitter as the T-Birds lifted their IL standing to 3-1. Mel Schresbury's home run sparked the T-Birds' effort at the plate while James Graham and Wayne Hilliard contributed singles. Graham and Ron Hoggard also turned in good defensive showings.

David Coffey suffered the loss for the Comets, now 1-3, while Jim Kennedy had his team's only hit, a single.

Ronnie Burleson had three hits, including a double, and was credited with the mound victory as the Lions jumped to 2-1 in the NL. Clint Elliott also had a double and two singles and a triple and two singles for the winners, while John Piffier also had three safeties in the team's 19-hit barrage.

Lloyd Long, Mikel Brauer, Terry Spears and Phil Worsham sparked the Devils' 10-hit effort. Harold Danford took the loss for the Devils.

Gold Team Wins In Steers' Game-Type Scrimmage Bout

The Gold team belted the Whites five touchdowns on Wednesday in the first game-type scrimmage session of the spring for the Big Spring Steers.

Playing before a good-sized crowd at the Webb AFB soccer field, the Golds, primarily made up of first team players, were sparked by Danny Ferrell's two touchdowns runs as the Steers' newly-unveiled ground game began to click.

"The kids looked pretty good," said Steer coach Bob Burris. "I was glad to see the defense finally beginning to come around. The offense was ahead the first week, but the defense is beginning to catch up and the boys are playing better techniques."

Burris singled out the efforts of Matthews and James Coffey on the Gold squad and Buford Howell on the White team. "I was real pleased with their play," he said. "That seemed to be our strong point in the scrimmage."

The coach also praised offensive and defensive end Casey Lovelace, as well as the running of Ferrell and the blocking of fullback Lonell Banks.

The first gold score came on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Mark Moore to Lovelace, and later Andre Harrington scampered over from six yards out for another gold tally. Jesse Doss, who will be a sophomore next year, hit over from six yards out and Ferrell's touchdowns came on runs of four and 65 yards, the last on an option play.

The lone white score was a 30-yard pass from John Russ to John Birdwell.

Burris said the Steers would just "polish up" today and Friday during regular 3 p.m. workouts, and on Saturday there would be another game-type scrimmage set for 10 a.m. at Blankenship Field.

"We need to work on our passing game now - the throwing, protection and routes. All three phases need some work."

Quarry Rallies For Knockout

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Joe Frazier's mouth was open. Madison Square Garden boxing promoter Teddy Brenner's mouth was open. Charlie Quarry's mouth was open.

They and several thousand others were staring at Jerry Quarry, sitting in the middle of the ring as a result of a left hook thrown by Joe Alexander.

Quarry got up Wednesday night in the fight at the Nassau Coliseum, but for a moment that left hook severely shook Quarry's fighting future.

Asked what he was thinking about after he was knocked down, the No. 1 heavyweight contender replied, "I knew I was on my butt, that's what I knew. He hit me with the sweetest left hook you'll ever be hit with."

But Quarry got up and knocked Alexander out in the second round to keep intact his June 17 fight with former champion Frazier at Madison Square Garden.

Frazier and Brenner, president of Garden Boxing Inc., were on hand for what almost turned into a horror show for both. Frazier is guaranteed $400,000 to fight Quarry, who is to get $225,000, and the Garden figures to pick up a very nice piece of change from the closed-circuit telecast of the fight.

"It's a good thing you have a big Irish behind," Charlie Quarry, a stunning blond, shouted at her husband in the dressing room.

Quarry quickly recovered from the knockdown and knocked Alexander down twice in the second round. The second knockdown left the Sumter, S.C., fighter sprawled in his corner and he was unable to beat the count.

China May Compete In Olympic Games

LONDON (AP)—The Peoples Republic of China is moving closer week by week to participation in the Olympic Games.

By the end of next week the Chinese could be fully fledged members of five international federations governing Olympic sports.

They have been edging towards this target for the last six months. It would officially entitle them to form a National Olympic Committee, the first positive step towards sending athletes to the Games.

The Chinese drive towards the Olympics could reach a vital turning point at the annual meeting of the International Fencing Federation at Monte Carlo May 16-17. China has applied for affiliation.

Thus, a vote taken in this playground of the capitalist rich could decide the future of the Communist country's 800 million people in international sport.

Until a few days ago the Chinese were affiliated with three Olympic sports federations—skating, ice hockey and rowing. In France last weekend the Chinese gained a fourth Olympic affiliation—with the International Weightlifting Federation.

But it was another important battle at the same time.

"We are the first federation to expel Taiwan (Nationalist China) to make way for China," said Oscar State, weightlifting federation secretary, on his return to London.

The Chinese reportedly want to include athletes from Taiwan in their international teams. State is among a growing group of world sports officials encouraging this.

Until now, officials from Peking always have refused to be on the same bodies as Taiwan, which has its own National Olympic Committee, recognized by the international Olympic Committee.

The Chinese, with five sports affiliations behind them, have time to form their own NOC and establish contact with the IOC before the annual meeting of the IOC in Vienna next October.

The way then could be clear for China to send athletes to the Montreal Olympics in 1976, possibly competing only in the sports with which they are affiliated and thus avoiding a direct confrontation with athletes from Taiwan.

peak condition Friday. Bucks' guard Jon McGlocklin aggravated his week-old calf injury and did not practice Wednesday.

"I don't know about Jon," Costello said. "If he can't play, we'll have to use Davis more or get Ron Williams back there."

Although visiting teams have won three of the five games in the series, the Celtics are determined to end it on their home court Friday.

Utah Remains Alive In ABA

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — "We lucked out in the third game and made too many mistakes in the fourth," declared New York Nets' rookie Coach Kevin Loughery who now must rally his forces.

Injured Ron Boone proved the decisive factor Wednesday night in the Salt Palace as Utah's Stars escaped oblivion with a fourth-quarter rally and a 97-89 victory over the Nets in their American Basketball Association championship series.

Although New York leads the best-of-seven series, Loughery has problems.

On Monday night here, a last-second three-point shot by Brian Taylor knotted the count at the end of regulation play and the Nets went on to win 103-100 in overtime.

Boone suffered an unusual injury in the second game of the championship playoffs. His left hook caught Taylor in the teeth and severed a tendon in Boone's left hand.

He plays with the fingers taped and bandaged and on Monday scored only two points.

"I had a little less padding on my hand and the shots were just falling for me," the five-year pro veteran from Idaho State said. "We gained a lot of confidence."

The Stars also have an improved Zelmo Beatty and the 6-foot-9 pivotman kept Utah in the game with 14 points in the third quarter as New York outscored the home club 34-24 and took a 76-74 lead. He had 18 for the night.

In the final period, the New Yorkers scored only 13 points and ace Julius Erving had none although finishing as the Nets' leading scorer at 18.

"We were not nearly aggressive enough," Loughery said. "We'll have to pick up hustle for Friday. We are just fortunate to have the 3-1 lead."

No team in major professional basketball ever has lost three straight in a best-of-seven playoff start and rallied to win four in a row.

Beatty, who suffered a gland infection, missed the first two games in New York, but he's now back in action and appears to be gaining full strength.

"We expected him to start hitting sooner or later," said Loughery, "and sure enough, he did. We tried to double up on defending against him, but he hit a bunch in a row there in the third quarter."

Miss Barry, who has won three straight Southern titles, defeated Peggy Brass, Orlando, Fla. by the same score.

Mrs. Rathmell will meet Carol Templin, Sunrise, Fla. in today's quarter-finals match.

Laver Frustrated By WCT Defeats

DALLAS (AP) — The World Championship of Tennis finals is becoming the same graveyard for Australia's Rod Laver that the U.S. Open became for golfing great Sam Snead.

Asked about the parallel in futility after he was ousted from the WCT finals Wednesday night for the fourth consecutive year, the drained millionaire replied "It does seem I'm destined not to win it."

The 35-year-old red-haired Laver who has won the grand slam twice and is considered one of the greatest ever to play the game added "I'll still have plenty of chances. After all the tournament is only four years old. I have a lot of my best tennis behind me, but I still have some ahead of me, too."

Laver, one of the favorites entering the quarterfinals, was soundly thrashed 6-7, 6-4, 6-4, 7-5 by defending champion Stan Smith.

In the other quarterfinal before a record crowd of 8,877 in Moody Coliseum, No. 1 seed John Newcombe of Australia defeated Tom Okker of the Netherlands 6-3, 6-3, 6-2 in straight sets highlighted by 17 Newcombe aces.

"I just don't seem to have much success in certain cities and Dallas is one of them," said Laver who has lost in the finals here twice to fellow countryman Ken Rosewall. Smith defeated Laver in the semi-finals last year.

Laver struggled with his serve from the outset. He came into the match primed for "some of the best tennis of my life."

"I was so anxious I rushed most of my shots," Laver said. Smith, who has played poorly since claiming the $50,000 first prize in Dallas last year, said "Rodney inspires me. I played better than I have all year."

There was some brief beefing over an electronic line calling device installed to help linesmen. A crucial serve in the fifth game of the fourth set by Laver appeared on target but the light came on indicating a fault which eventually cost the left-hander the game.

"I thought the serve was in," Laver said.

Smith agreed, saying "I thought the serve was in by at least two inches. That's when I started questioning the 100 percent accuracy of the machine."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New National Football League punt return rules increase the chance of injury, says Dr. Robert Kerlan, noted orthopedic surgeon.

Kerlan is medical director of the National Athletic Health Institute, associate clinical professor or orthopedic surgery at the University of Southern California, and orthopedic consultant for several professional teams, including the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL.

"If the punting team players going down to make the tackle can't leave the line of scrimmage until the ball is in the air, then the receiving team can send in just enough people to make sure the fellow punts," Kerlan said. "They can arrange the rest of their people in a 'picket line,' almost, so that they get tremendous blocking angles on the team coming down to do the tackling."

"The fact that they're going to get more time to produce

Punt Returns May Increase Injuries

blockers will undoubtedly mean more injuries in a situation that already has a high injury rate."

He said he doubts increased safety in other areas, such as the rule against the crackback block, will offset increased injuries due to the punt rule.

"There are going to be a lot more punts because they've made the field goal so much more difficult to try or make," he said. "As a doctor, I hope that teams will be kicking out of bounds most of the time."

Outlawing the crack back block increases safety for the linebacker or corner man at the end of the defensive line, Kerlan said.

"Also an improvement is the rule that prevents blocking below the waist at the line of scrimmage, or within three yards of it. This will tend to keep the wide receiver from getting dropped at the line of scrimmage," he said.

Key Match-Up At Forward In NBA Showdown Friday

BOSTON (AP) — The forwards hold the key for Milwaukee success in its win-or-lose National Basketball Association showdown here Friday night.

The Bucks, 96-87 losers to the Boston Celtics in Milwaukee Tuesday, trail 3-2 in the best-of-seven NBA championship series. The Celtics would clinch the title by winning Friday, but a Bucks' victory would send the series back to Milwaukee for a seventh game Sunday.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, the Bucks' 7-foot-2 center, poured in a series-high 37 points Tuesday, but forwards Bob Dandridge and Cornell Warner added only 10 and two, respectively.

"That's where we have the big, big advantage in the matchups," Costello said. "Not Jo-Jo (White) on (Mickey) Davis. Not the other matchups. Right there, in the middle."

The Bucks' practice Wednesday emphasized passing to Abdul-Jabbar and getting the forwards more involved in the offense.

Costello said it is too late to radically change tactics, either on offense or defense.

"What we have to do is hope for good performances from key people," he said. "There is no doubt in my mind that if we run the stuff we talk about, we can win."

They can stop that stuff if we get movement and execute," he said. "It's that basic. It's amazing we've done as well as we have, not getting the things done that we should have."

"We've got to get a lot from Dandridge because he's more involved than others," he said. "We've never pressed like this before. It's phenomenal," Celtics' center Dave Cowens said. "Most of the time during the regular season we played a bother press. But this is a different ball game now."

Boston mainstays Don Chaney and Don Nelson suffered a pulled muscle and torn toenail, respectively, Tuesday, but both are expected to be at or near HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Aeros and Chicago Cougars have been cross-checked more often by "Peter Pan" this season than they have by their World Hockey Association opponents.

"We've taken to rooting for Captain Hook," Aeros President Jim Smith joked, discussing the scheduling problem created in both cities by the road production of the fantasy play.

The Aeros had problems arranging dates here for their WHA World Cup championship series with the Cougars because the play was staged in Sam Houston Coliseum where the Aeros play home games.

Peter and his gang, including Tinker Bell and the hungry crocodile, didn't vacate Chicago's Amphitheatre in time to install new ice so the championship series will begin Sunday in a 2,700-seat arena 20 miles from Chicago.

PHILLY: 'YOU GOTTA BELIEVE' Flyers, Bruins Tangle Tonight

BOSTON (AP) — The Philadelphia Flyers have adopted a "You Gotta Believe" battle cry in hopes of squaring things against the Boston Bruins tonight in the second game of the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup final series.

The Flyers have not won in Boston since their NHL expansion club posted a 4-2 victory in its first appearance at the Garden Nov. 12, 1967, and Coach Fred Shero admittedly was concerned.

"We have to keep drilling it into our heads that we can beat them," Shero added. "We have to believe it. We're as good as Boston. We just have to convince ourselves."

Since bowing to the Flyers in Boston seven years ago, the Bruins have posted a 17-0-2 record against Philadelphia at the Garden. In Philadelphia, Boston's seven-year record is 13-3-4, with one of the Flyers' victories snapping a 28-game winless straggle on March 30.

With 55 seconds left in the third period and the game apparently headed for overtime, the Flyers pressed the attack. Suddenly, Boston goalie Gilles Gilbert went down. The loose puck slid behind him, along the goal mouth. Orr managed to smother it.

The Bruins came back and got the winning goal on Orr's slap shot of a rolling puck from 35 feet out. The screen shot bounced crazily and Philadelphia goalie Bernie Parent was unable to handle it with just 22 seconds to play.

The Bruins started strong in the series opener, taking a 2-0 lead on a first-period power play goal by Cashman and a score by Gregg Sheppard just 53 seconds later.

PHILADELPHIA is a darn good team," Boston superstar Bobby Orr said. "They played a heck of a game Tuesday, and we know they're good. Bums don't get this far in the playoffs."

After tonight, the teams will head for Philadelphia, with Game No. 3 scheduled for Sunday and No. 4 for next Tuesday night.

Course Can Win Discount In Vehicle Insurance

Successful completion of the eight-hour Defensive Driving Course here will make you eligible for a three-year 10 percent discount in car liability and collision insurance, instructor Harold Wilder said.

Designed for experienced drivers, the course consists entirely of classroom work, no driving. Lectures, films and various types of visual aids are used, Wilder said.

The Big Spring Association of Insurance Agents supports and endorses the course taught at Howard College. In 1973, there were 225 who were graduated from the course in Big Spring, Wilder said.

A class is being formed now at Howard College. And June 3 has been set tentatively as the starting date for the night course.

Persons interested in enrolling should contact Theron Lee at Howard College.

You cannot afford to relax at the bridge table, not even when you appear to have been dealt the most uninteresting collection of cards. In the 1973 World Championship, East allowed his concentration to waver, and he rued the consequences.

No slam is particularly good, but the club slam is slightly superior to a slam in spades since the losers are not in the trump suit. There are some wasted values in both the North and South hands — North can do without the club jack and South does not need the heart queen. If either of these cards was the jack of spades, the slam would be an excellent undertaking.

West led the king of diamonds, and declarer set about giving himself the best chance possible. He won the ace of diamonds and drew trumps in two rounds. The ace, king and queen of hearts were cashed, declarer discarding a spade from dummy, and the fourth heart was ruffed. A diamond ruff completed the stripping of the red suits from both declarer's hand and dummy.

Now, declarer led a spade to the king, and East carelessly followed suit with the nine. School was out. Declarer led a low spade from dummy, and when East played the jack, he played low. West could not afford to overtake with the ace for that would set up declarer's queen. However, allowing East to hold the lead with the jack of spades was no better, for East had nothing but diamonds left and, on the forced diamond return, declarer was able to discard his queen of spades while ruffing the diamond in dummy.

Had East been more alert, he could have beaten the slam by dropping his jack of spades under the king. West would then remain with the ace-ten of spades over declarer's queen, and the defenders would collect two spade tricks for a one-trick set.

Public Political Finance Has Serious Drawbacks

By OMAR BURLESON, M.C.

17th District, Texas
WASHINGTON, D.C. — On April 11, the U.S. Senate passed a campaign "reform" bill, which provides for the financing of candidates for federal office from the federal treasury.

Few people would argue that the present system can not be improved. The nub of the matter, however, is how to improve the political process without injuring the fundamental principle of political liberty. This involves the right of a citizen to support the political ideas he believes in and, conversely, not to have to support political ideas with which he disagrees.

Vermont Royster, the writer, notes that this principle has a Constitutional background going back to Thomas Jefferson. "To compel a man to furnish contributions of money for the propagation of opinions which he disbelieves and abhors," wrote Jefferson, "is sinful and tyrannical." In this connection, Jefferson was speaking of religious opinions which in 1786 were often closely entwined with political opinions. Among many people at that time was a strong sentiment for the support of religion out of the public treasury.

Thomas Jefferson was always on the side of freedom of thought. It was his contention that it was not enough that a man should be free to hold what opinions he wished — free to accept them, free to support them with his money or other effort. He believed that a citizen must also be free of being forced to support by his taxes those opinions in which he did not believe. This rule was later incorporated into our Federal Constitution and today it is a principle so fully accepted that we can hardly imagine that it was once in controversy.

Since that time, it has been solidly accepted with regard to religious opinion. Now, strangely enough, the same controversy arises again with regard to political opinions.

In the wake of Watergate and under the revelation of illegal contributions to candidates, and other scandals, there is strong resentment among all shades of political philosophy — Conservatives, Liberals, Republicans, Democrats — to grope for ways to improve the system. Hence, the pressure to "do something" caused the Senate to pass its bill on April 11 for the taxation of all citizens for the support of political parties and political candidates.

This idea raises some troubling questions. From the practical aspects, no matter what formula is used for allocating funds out of the Treasury, some political candidates will be favored and some penalized. Incumbent office holders would be favored and someone would have to decide what candidate is a "serious" contender to be entitled to receiving this sort of handout.

The dilemma is no less as between the two major political parties. The formula in proposed legislation is based on what the parties polled in the last election and, since we know public sentiment can change drastically between elections, no set rule could meet circumstances in any given election year.

Campaigns are too long and too expensive; election time could be reduced; requirements for full disclosure of the source of all campaign contributions; restrictions on the amount any one person could contribute to any one candidate; and laws against what has come to be known as "dirty tricks."

But, if political liberty means anything at all, it surely means both the right of a citizen to support what political opinions he pleases and not to be forced into supporting those he detests. If we forget that in our rush to correct every seeming abuse, we risk the worse abuse of all — the tyranny of the public purse over the political candidate or party.

Fresh Asparagus, Eggs Are Delicious For Main Dishes

Green candles of fresh asparagus are everywhere in our markets, and a welcome sight they are to the shopper.

They light up the nutrition picture whenever they are served, the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association points out, because a cup of cooked asparagus provides three-fourths of the daily recommended allowance of vitamin "C"; one third of the vitamin "A"; and about one tenth of the iron for an adult.

Fresh green stalks of asparagus are delectable served with melted butter, a sure sign of spring. Did you ever have a French main dish called Asparagus-Ham Crepes? As you know, crepes are French pancakes that are almost paper-thin. They are served with a filling to make fascinating main dishes. This is a menu item that costs plenty in a fancy restaurant but you can make it at home with the recipe that follows at only modest cost for the ingredients.

Strangely enough, asparagus belongs to the lily family. It has rhizomes or underground stems typical of the lily group of plants. Asparagus has been grown in American gardens since the earliest settlements were established. The tender, delicate spears with the full tips are part of our vegetable heritage.

EGG ON ASPARAGUS. When you've made Asparagus-Ham Crepes, you haven't heard the last of the egg and asparagus partnership. The two do delicious service together in an Asparagus Quiche, the main dish cheese pie that has become so fashionable at today's parties. Thinly-sliced fresh asparagus is delightful in the traditional custard and Swiss cheese filling. Try Asparagus Quiche for great gourmet doings at your home.

The Italians make much of a scrambled egg and fresh asparagus omelet with a nippy cheese sauce.

To be sure you are buying asparagus of the best quality, look for stalks that are fresh and firm with closed compact tips. Only the green portion is tender, so select stalks with largest amount of green.

OMELET
1 cup 1/2-inch fresh asparagus pieces
6 eggs
2 tbsps. water
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. butter or margarine

To prepare asparagus, break or cut off tough ends and cut stalks into 1/2-inch pieces. Place asparagus in medium saucepan and add 1 inch water. Cover and bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer for 5 to 8 minutes, or until tender, but not soft. Drain and set aside. In a medium bowl beat eggs with water and salt just until well mixed. Add cooked asparagus. Heat butter in medium (10-inch) skillet until bubbly but not brown. Add egg mixture and cook over low heat until edges begin to set. Gently lift edges of omelet to allow uncooked mixture to run under and cook. Using a long wide spatula fold omelet in half and slide onto a serving platter. Serve with Cheese Sauce.

Makes: 3 or 4 servings.

CHEESE SAUCE
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
3 tbsps. flour
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese
1/4 tsp. Tabasco pepper sauce

In medium saucepan melt butter and blend in flour. Gradually stir in milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Add cheese and Tabasco and stir over low heat until cheese melts.

Potato Breeding Is New Science

Potatoes are now bred with the same care that is devoted to developing fine race horses, according to the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. Most commercial potatoes today are produced from "purebred" stock, grown scientifically on special farms, the result of careful cross-breeding. This has resulted in a smoother-skinned potato with better flavor, texture and productivity.

FRESH ASPARAGUS-HAM CREPES
Served with Cheese Sauce

1 1/2 cups milk
1 egg
1/4 tsp. salt
Combine all ingredients in bowl and beat until smooth. Heat a 6-inch skillet or crepe pan until very hot. Brush quickly with butter or oil and add approximately 2 tablespoons of the batter to the pan. Quickly tip and turn the pan so that the batter covers the bottom. Cook until slightly browned, turn and cook the other side. Remove and repeat with remaining batter, stacking crepes between waxed paper or paper towels as they are completed. Makes: 8 crepes.

Curried Egg Sauce:
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1/4 cup finely chopped fresh onion
1/4 tsp. curry powder
2 tbsps. flour
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups milk
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1/4 tsp. Tabasco pepper sauce
4 hard-cooked eggs, cut in quarters

Melt butter in medium saucepan; add onion and curry powder and cook until onion is tender. Blend in flour and salt. Gradually stir in milk; add Worcestershire sauce and Tabasco. Cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens and comes to a boil. Add eggs; heat. Keep sauce warm.

To assemble crepes:
2 lbs. fresh asparagus (about 32 stalks)
8 thin slices boiled ham
Wash asparagus; break off each stalk as far down as it snaps easily. Cook, covered, in 1 inch boiling water in a large skillet until tender, 5 to 8 minutes. Place a slice of ham on each crepe. Drain asparagus, and while still warm place 3 or 4 spears on each crepe. Roll and place seam side down on a platter, or 2 to each of 4 individual plates. Spoon Curried Egg Sauce over crepes and serve immediately.

Makes: 4 servings of 2 crepes each.
QUICHE
Pastry for single-crust 9-inch pie
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese, divided
2 cups thinly sliced fresh asparagus

1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
1/4 cup sliced scallions
3 eggs
2-3 cup chicken broth
1/2 cup heavy cream
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. Tabasco pepper sauce
Line 9-inch pie plate or quiche dish with pastry. Chill. Lightly prick bottom and corners of pastry with fork. Bake in 450 degrees F. oven for 5 minutes. Remove from oven and sprinkle with 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese. Layer half the asparagus over the Parmesan cheese. Continue with layers of half Swiss cheese and scallions; repeat with remaining asparagus, Swiss cheese and scallions. Beat eggs; add chicken broth, cream, salt, and Tabasco; mix well. Pour over asparagus mixture in pastry shell. Sprinkle with remaining 2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese. Bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees F. Reduce heat to 325 degrees F. and bake 20 to 25 minutes longer or until knife inserted in center of pie comes out clean. Let stand 5 to 10 minutes before cutting to serve.

Makes: 6 main-dish servings; 12 appetizer servings.

Squash Is Versatile

The terms "summer" and "winter" squash actually have very little meaning. Squashes are conveniently grouped into (1) soft-skinned, immature and small; (2) hard-shelled, mature and small; and (3) hard-shelled, mature and large. Soft-skinned squashes are in the market all year, with the large hard-shelled varieties such as Hubbard available in the fall and winter.

Hard-shell squashes are a good source of vitamin A and iron. A half cup of baked Butternut squash provides about 128 per cent of the daily recommended allowance of vitamin A, according to the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association. Squashes also provide useful amounts of vitamin C and other vitamins and minerals, as well as bulk in the diet. A 3 1/2 ounce edible portion of baked winter squash in general contains 63 calories. Squash is very low in sodium.

Hard-shelled squashes may be pared, cut in pieces, and then baked, steamed or boiled. Use little cooking water to avoid taking flavor and nutrients from the vegetable. The smaller hard-type such as Acorn and Butternut are delicious cut in half, seeded, dotted with butter or margarine and brown sugar, then baked and served in the shell. Or the cooked pulp may be removed and mashed. It is also used for pies, and may be served in casseroles, souffles, pancakes and custards.

Brussels Sprout Snooty Cabbage

Aristocrat of cabbages is the pert Brussels sprout. These doll-sized cabbages are best cooked rapidly in a minimum of boiling, salted water in a covered pot about 8 to 10 minutes. Good quality Brussels sprouts are hard or firm, compact, fresh, of bright appearance with a good green color. Avoid puffy sprouts and those with wilted or yellow leaves. As might be guessed, Brussels sprouts were so named because they were first grown on a large scale around Brussels in Belgium. By 1793, they were in markets on an international scale so they have been with us quite a while. Brussels sprouts are highly nutritious, especially in vitamin "C".

Mushrooms Were Pharaoh's Food

The pharaohs of Egypt monopolized mushrooms for their own use, deeming them too delicate to be eaten by ordinary people. They also thought the mushroom grew magically, which they deduced from the way it made a sudden overnight appearance.

Jam Made With Strawberries Satisfies Everyone's Taste

Homemade strawberry jam! What delicious fragrance, what tangy delicacy of flavor, what royal richness of color.

There are such good supplies of fresh strawberries in your market now that it is an excellent time to make a batch or two of homemade strawberry jam.

This an exceptionally good recipe for a beginner, and it is so delectable, it is an experience bound to be repeated while the excellent supplies of fresh strawberries last.

ANCIENT FRUIT

Strawberries are an ancient fruit. They were eaten wild, centuries before anyone thought of cultivating them. Early in the 14th century, over a thousand strawberry plants were grown in the Royal Gardens at the Louvre under Charles V. Closer to us is the information that Roger Williams in 1643 said the native strawberry was "the wonder of all the fruits growing naturally in these parts." He wrote enthusiastically: "In some parts where the Indians have planted, I have many times seen as many as would fill a good ship, within a few miles compass."

Get your own bright harvest of strawberries from the supermarket to enjoy with a sprinkle of sugar and a pour of cream, or in an old-fashioned biscuit shortcake, or atop the morning cereal, or as a luscious ice cream sundae sauce, rosy and fragrant.

To judge high quality in fresh strawberries, study their general appearance.

They should have a fresh, clean, bright look, a full, solid red color, and be free from moisture and mold. The cap should be attached to the berry. Wash and hull just before serving.

It's special because it's from Borden. Borden knows that growing up is a hard job. It takes lots of energy and lots of help. And Borden Milk provides some of that help. It's a rich whole milk left pretty much the way Nature made it except for the addition of Vitamin D. And your growing people will love the taste... it's something good to grow on.

If it's Borden, it's got to be good.

Forsan Band Wins Top Honor Again

FORSAN — The Forsan High School Band, under the direction of Mike Neel, has won its second consecutive Sweepstakes Award.

County bands were the only two to win "first" in their division. Others competing were Grand Falls, Lorraine, and Buena Vista. The big Sweepstakes trophy began its journey here Nov. 17 when the band won first division in marching at a meet in Odessa. The two firsts last week made it three and the Sweepstakes.

Sight reading consists of playing a completely unfamiliar piece of music directly from music provided by the judges. Concert consists of playing a pre-prepared series of musical numbers as flawlessly as possible. In this contest, the band must play near perfection to rate a "one."

All 82 members of the band, including grades seven through 12, attended the Odessa competition.

"Mr. Neel and the entire band are to be commended for their accomplishments and good recognition they have brought home to Forsan. The entire community has benefited from their accomplishments," said Supt. H. D. Smith.

Campaign Finance Statements Due

Brandt Resigned To Keep His Private Life Private

BONN, Germany (AP) — Ex-Chancellor Willy Brandt says he quit because he feared the political scandal caused by the presence of an East German spy on his personal staff would involve his private life.

The former chancellor denied, however, that he resigned because the confessed spy, Guenter Guillaume, blackmailed him by threatening to disclose details of Brandt's private life unless Guillaume was handed over to East Germany.

West German newspapers claimed that Brandt was confronted by such a blackmail threat. The right-wing magazine Quick charged that the government intelligence agency paid hush money in 1969 to a woman who allegedly had an affair with Brandt after World War II, and that Guillaume could have used this to blackmail the chancellor.

Brandt in a television appearance Wednesday night made no direct reply to Quick's allegations. But he declared:

"Whatever may yet be written about it, it is and remains grotesque to hold a German federal chancellor to be open to blackmail. In any case, I am not."

Brandt said he resigned "to prevent my political and personal integrity from being destroyed." He said he had "cause to believe" that his personal life would be "dragged into speculation" over the spy controversy.

Guillaume served almost two years as Brandt's personal aide for political and party affairs. A former East German, he came West in 1956, worked his way up in Brandt's Social Democratic party, and went to work for the federal chancellery in 1970.

Brandt said he resigned to assume "political and personal responsibility for negligence in the spy affair." He was negligent, he said, in letting "secret papers go through the hands of the agent during my vacation in Norway last year."

It was the first time Brandt had admitted the charge by members of the Christian Democratic opposition that Guillaume had been privy to sensitive information. The admission cast doubt on earlier statements that Guillaume had been identified as a spy 10 months before he was arrested April 24 and was kept on Brandt's staff to allow government agents to complete their investigation.

Watergate Panel Links Mitchell To Break-In

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Watergate committee is considering a staff report that concludes evidence exists to support the view that former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell approved the plan that led to the Watergate break-in.

That and other conclusions plus a list of legislative recommendations are included in a 170-page draft prepared under the direction of Samuel Dash, the committee's chief counsel.

Sources close to the committee said there is considerable disagreement among the seven Watergate senators and the panel's staff over the form and content of the report.

DRAFT REPORT

The draft report, due in final form May 28, reaches these major conclusions:

"The committee finds that the weight of evidence tends to establish that Mitchell did approve the Liddy intelligence plan with a quarter million dollar budget in Key Biscayne on March 30, 1972." Convicted Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy is alleged to have used large sums of money from the Committee for the Re-election of the President to finance the break-in and wiretapping at Democratic National Committee headquarters in the Watergate complex.

"The weight of evidence can only support the conclusion that ... payments (by high White House officials) were made for the purpose of keeping the Watergate defendants silent as to the involvement of other persons in the Watergate break-in or other activities embarrassing to the White House."

Regular Dividend Is Being Paid

AMARILLO — The directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Company at their meeting Tuesday announced a regular quarterly dividend to Pioneer stockholders and updated the activities of Pioneer's subsidiary, Pioneer Production Corporation, in the Jennings Townsite Field in Louisiana.

A regular quarterly dividend of 2 1/2 cents per share will be payable on June 6 to stockholders of record on May 16, 1974.

It was announced that Pioneer Production Corporation has contracted to sell gas from the Jennings Townsite Field in Jefferson Davis Parish, La., for the first year for $1.20 per million BTU (British Thermal Units). This brings the price to approximately $1.30 per Mcf (thousand cubic feet). The contract contains a fixed escalation of 10 cents per million BTU at the end of the first year and the price will be renegotiated at the end of the second year of a three-year contract.

"The committee finds no legal justification for the Ellsberg break-in on any national security grounds. The committee finds it difficult to accept John D. Ehrlichman's claim that the Ellsberg break-in was not carried out with his express knowledge and authorization."

INNOCENT PLEA

Ehrlichman, formerly the White House domestic adviser, has pleaded innocent to a charge of complicity in the break-in at the office of the psychiatrist treating Pentagon Papers figure Daniel Ellsberg.

The draft report also makes several major legislative recommendations, including the creation of a permanent, independent, court-appointed and Senate-confirmed public attorney to probe future charges of corruption in government.

In other Watergate-related developments:

—U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell indicated he believes that if foreign affairs were involved President Nixon may have had the authority to order the investigation that resulted in the Ellsberg break-in.

—The White House acknowledged there may be gaps in some of the Watergate tapes as transcribed and edited for the Judiciary Committee, but said "all the words which could be heard are reflected in the transcripts."

One Girl Gets Fine Backing

Interest has been high this year in the Zales-Herald youth award nominations with one girl receiving some 13 different nominations from her community.

The finalists from four schools Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and Sands, will be honored along with their parents at the awards banquet Wednesday at 6:15 p.m. at the Big Spring Country Club.

Jethro Pugh, all-pro NFL tackle for the Dallas Cowboys will be the speaker.

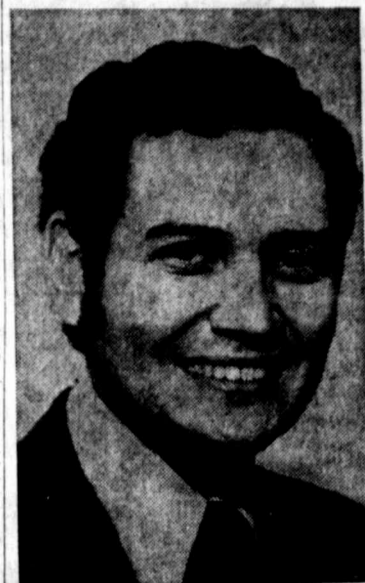

Some 20 different students have been nominated for Big Spring High School alone with the total number of nominations sent in being close to 50.

Juvenile Owns Up To Theft

A thirteen-year-old boy admitted breaking into Airport Elementary to the police juvenile department Wednesday.

Two cassettes were returned to the school according to Jim McCain, head of the newly formed juvenile division.

The youth said that he was alone in the break-ins, McCain added.

PERFECT RECORD — Billy J. Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cook, Garden City, has earned his doctor of optometry degree from the University of Houston, and in doing so maintained a perfect 4.0 grade point average during his college career. ## Obscenity Decision

DALLAS (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge William Taylor says Dallas authorities cannot make further multiple seizures of questionable film until a court has ruled they are obscene.

After ordering a temporary injunction Tuesday, Taylor set a June 7 hearing on whether to issue a permanent injunction against such procedures.

Two Dallas theaters are challenging the multiple seizures on grounds any prior restraint violates their constitutional rights of due process.

Theater lawyer Tim Finnical argued that repeated seizures by the police before any obscenity proceedings amounted to censorship by police.

Asst. City Atty. Joe Werner, who said he would appeal the temporary injunction to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, contended the court injunction would make it impossible for Dallas police to enforce state obscenity statutes.

Bad Movie Like Frightful 'Birthmark On Your Face'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Most motion picture directors are a little screwy. I know that filers are, and I have been both, so draw your own conclusions."

The writer is William A. Wellman, whose 75 movies included "Wings," "Public Enemy," "Call of the Wild," "A Star Is Born," "Nothing Sacred," "Beau Geste," "The Ox-Bow Incident," "Story of G.I. Joe" (his favorite), "Battle-ground" and "The High and the Mighty."

Also such bombs as "Lady of Burlesque," "The Next Voice You Hear," "Westward the Women" and "Lafayette Escadrille" (his last, in 1958).

He writes: "A bad picture is like a frightful birthmark on your face — it never leaves you, first run, second run, reruns, TV prime time, late time, lousy time; it's always there for people to stare at unbelievably or turn away from or worse still turn off, or should that be better still?"

"It's your eternal badge of embarrassment."

During his 38 years as a director, Wild Bill Wellman earned his name, laughing, bawling and bulling his way through 75 movies, five marriages, countless feuds and many friendships.

Now 78 and as feisty as ever despite a long battle with arthritis, the director is enjoying a belated spotlight.

'BILLY JACK'

Wednesday night marked the start of a 39-film Wellman festival at the Royal Theater in West Los Angeles, organized by the director's actor-son, William Jr., and sponsored by Tom Laughlin ("Billy Jack"), who was hired by Wellman for "Lafayette Escadrille."

Hawthorne is publishing Wellman's memoirs, "A Short Time for Insanity," a remarkable confessional that ranks among the best books about Hollywood.

It is not easily read. In parts it is as circuitous as "Finnegan's Wake." This is because Wellman chose to write it during a drug-laden recuperation from serious illness, and his fantasies mix with past reality. But Wellman is a superbly irreverent storyteller, as anyone can tell from a list of his screen credits.

Wellman is toughest on himself, but he saves some barbs for fellow workers during his studio years. He relates a long binge by Spencer Tracy, whom he describes as "freaky — the bottle never made him high, it always made him miserably low."

Louis B. Mayer, the autocrat of MGM studios, reminded Wellman of a praying mantis, which "feeds upon other insects and claps its prey in forelimbs as if in prayer."

Wellman's fifth marriage, to Busby Berkeley dancer Dorothy Coonan, in 1933 took. They have seven children and 12 grandchildren. In recent years Wellman has spent his time enjoying his family, enduring constant pain (he broke his back in a World War I plane crash), drinking only beer ("I was not what you'd call a good drinker"), and writing.

Roby Burglary Is Cleared Up

Delegates Give Lawmakers Greater Power, Flexibility

Juanita Ortega, who told Big Spring Police some household items were stolen from a residence at 403 1/2 Trades Ave., has been arrested in Roby for theft of some of the items she found missing here.

Cuy Talbot, special investigator for the district attorney, said the Fisher County Sheriff's Office notified him of the arrest this week.

Also arrested for the burglary of the Ray Rivers home in Roby was Juan Peneda.

The investigator and sheriff's office entered the Big Spring residence with a search warrant Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena Jr. issued. No one was home at the time.

And the woman reported the goods stolen the next day, Talbot said the search of the house here provided leads to several other West Texas burglaries.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A legislative article that gives lawmakers greater power and flexibility and presents voters the option of four-year terms for House members has been approved by the Constitutional convention.

The legislator-delegates recessed Wednesday until Monday afternoon after approving 117-26 the article setting out the duties, powers and limits of the legislative branch.

Also approved was the one-paragraph non-controversial article dividing state government into executive, legislative and judicial branches.

Before approving the legislative article, the convention decided to let the people vote separately on whether House members' terms should be doubled to four years.

MORE MONEY

Earlier in the day, they reversed a decision made April 4 and placed a legislative salary commission in the body of the new constitution. Voters will have the separate option of simply putting an $8,750 salary for lawmakers in the constitution. Previously, the convention had placed the fixed salary in the constitution while offering the voters the separate alternative of a pay commission.

The article is subject to revision on third reading later in the convention, but any changes required a two-thirds vote.

In its present form, the legislative article makes certain major changes from the existing constitution:

—Instead of the present 140-day legislative sessions every two years, there would be a 140-day session in odd-numbered years and a 90-day session even-numbered years.

—Lawmakers could call themselves into special sessions by a petition of two-thirds the members of each chamber. This is a prerogative reserved for the governor.

—The House would be divided into single-member districts, eliminating the last vestiges of at-large countywide representation.

LOCAL LAWS

—Local laws no longer could get through the legislature under the guise of general bills limited to areas within certain population brackets. Notice of such a bill would have to be published in the area affected. The city or county must be named in the bill.

—All legislative sessions must be open, including the traditionally closed Senate meetings to discuss the governor's appointees before voting to confirm them.

DA Will Be Suspended

HILLSBORO, Tex. (AP) — Hill County Dist. Atty. Frank B. McGregor will be reprimanded by the State Bar of Texas and suspended from practicing law for 15 days after the two sides reached agreement during McGregor's disbarment trial.

The formal reprimand is for failing to set up proper book-keeping for worthless check collection or to supervise employees adequately, and administration of such collections, District Court Judge James Clawson of Belton said following the settlement.

The move came after two weeks of trial in a civil suit brought by the State Bar of Texas.

The state had rested Monday after calling seven witnesses. The defense was to start its case Tuesday.

McGregor's statement said in part that he had "accepted a settlement which eliminates all questions of dishonesty, bad faith, lack of integrity and everything else except my failure to maintain adequate records and supervision of the collection of hot checks."

The suspension is to run from June 16-30 but McGregor said in a statement he would be on vacation at that time so it would not interfere with his duties as district attorney.

The civil suit to remove McGregor from office was brought in February 1971 and McGregor resigned from office the following May. However, he won reelection in 1972.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS Parents Of Mary Jo To Support Kennedy

SWIFTWATER, Pa. (AP) — The parents of Mary Jo Kopechne, who drowned when Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car went off a bridge five years ago, say they will support the Massachusetts Democrat for President.

"We like the senator just as we liked his brothers, Robert and the President," said Gwen Kopechne, 56. "He stands for what I think is right. He's a lot better than what we've got now."

She and her husband, Joseph, 61, both said they thought Kennedy's political strength is his appeal to youth. Kennedy, who has said he will decide next year about seeking the Presidency, has acknowledged the 1969 incident involving Miss Kopechne probably would be an issue if he runs.

Calls Are Due To Pick Up

It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas at the phone company.

Southwestern Bell operators haven't braced for so many long distance calls since last Dec. 25.

"This Sunday being Mother's Day, we're expecting around 3,050 calls to be placed over the long distance network from the Big Spring area," said Harry Sawyer, manager.

Sawyer said 22 operators will be on duty Sunday to assist as needed.

"The best way to assure that your calls go through," he noted, "is to dial direct anytime Sunday before 5 p.m. Rates are lowest then, and customers will avoid the massive calling crunch that we expect will occur between 5 p.m. and 9 p.m."

This year Southwestern Bell expects 1,145,000 long distance calls to be placed on Mother's Day statewide, compared to 1,067,000 calls made in Texas last Christmas Day.

Ruth Ann Box Named Prexy

Mrs. Ruth Ann Box, a teacher at Cedar Crest Elementary School, has been elected president of the Big Spring TSTA local unit for 1974-75. The local TSTA has a membership of more than 400 teachers and administrators and is a part of the 155,000 member state association of TSTA.

TSTA for many years has worked in partnership with local school boards and the Texas legislature to provide the best education possible for the youth of Texas, according to local TSTA officials. Outgoing president, J. B. Cushing, stated "much has been accomplished but the challenge of the future is great."

Small wonder America's No.1 selling compacts come from Plymouth.

Plymouth Duster

Duster—stickler-priced less than VW Super Beetle, Toyota Corona, Datsun 610, Mazda RX-3, and Mustang II.

It's true! Plymouth Duster carries a lower sticker price than all of those other economy cars. But Duster offers a lot more. Read on! You'll see.

In recent USAC tests, Duster's Slant 6 got better gas mileage on the open road than the Nova and Maverick 6. And in city driving, even got slightly better mileage than the 4-cylinder Mustang II.

The tests were sanctioned and results certified by the U.S. Auto Club. All of which proves that Duster's an economy car superstar.

Duster seats 5, not 4.

Those other small cars only seat 4 people. But our Duster carries 5.

A trunk larger than Pinto and Vega combined.

Duster not only gives you room inside. It gives you room out back, too. Over 19 cubic feet of trunk space... comparable to many larger cars.

Electronic ignition standard. Virtually eliminates costly ignition tune-ups.

Easy small-car parking and handling.

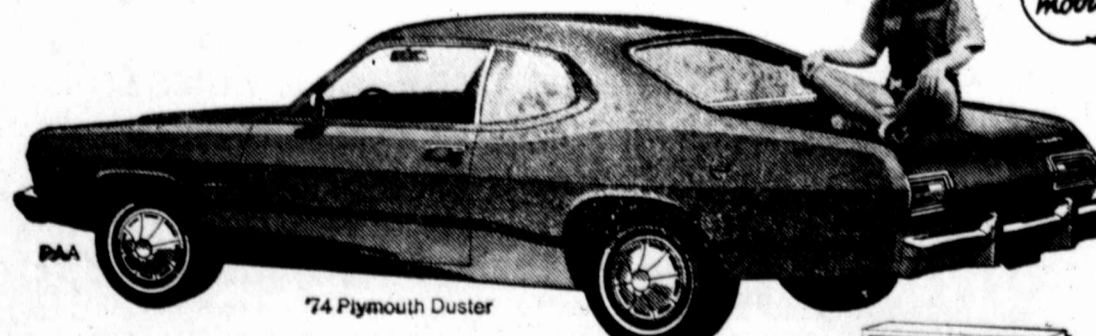

Duster doesn't forget that it's a compact, offering small-car maneuverability. It's big inside, but small outside.

In '73 Plymouth took over the lead in compact car sales—and still is No. 1.

With so much going for them, small wonder that America's No. 1 selling compacts come from Plymouth... and that's the way we mean to keep it. Come in and let us show you what we mean.

No wonder so many people are moving to Duster

See us for eight great small car buys.
