RETALIATION FOR MAALOT SCHOOLHOUSE MASSACRE

Israeli Jets Bomb Refugee Camps

MAALOT, Israel (AP) - Israeli jets bombed, rocketed and strafed seven refugee camps and guerrilla bases in southern Lebanon today, less than 24 hours after the Maalot schoolhouse massacre, the Lebanese Defense Ministry said. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

The latest Middle East violence raised fears that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's efforts to achieve a disengagement of Syrian and Israeli forces on the Golan Heights front would be set back FORCED TO FLEE The Lebanese said a total of 36 Israeli jets took part in the raids and "were forced to flee by our antiaircraft fire." The Israeli command reported that its jets hit guerrilla positions near Sidon and Beirut, but that it was "purely a military operation" and refugee camps were not deliberately hit. Northern Israel was on the alert after security forces dis-covered another band of Arab guerrillas slipped across the Lebanese border during the night. Radio Israel said. All schools were closed to prevent any repetition of the massacre at Maalot on Wednesday, in which 20 Israeli schoolchildren have continued publication. Richard D. Blum, vice president of the News, said the union's offer was not acceptable because it would have permitted the pressmen to keep in effect indefinitely a controversial "press manning" provision.

Charles Turner, president of the Dallas Printing Pressmen's Union No. 21, said the proposal was submitted as representatives for both sides met with a federal mediator.

"We offered to end our strike, which started May 2, and to return to work under the contract which expired Aug. 15, 1973," Turner said, "We told officials of the newspapers that we would work under the old contract while we negotiated a new contract."

Turner asserted that management, in rejecting the offer, sought "total surrender" by the union.

Blum said the expired contract empowered the union to determine the number of pressmen assigned to each press, a practice which the two newspapers have labelled antiquated and wasteful.

"They would have negotiated indefinitely on a new contract while working on and on under them the manning authority we want to eliminate," Blum said.

'UNCLE MILTIE'

Hooked On Show Biz

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The dedication of Milton Berle's autobiography reads: "To the funny men . . . who were, who are, who will be . . . heroes who faced the world naked, but for the weapon

Berle has finished a 21/2-year task of summing up his life, and he asserts that readers will discover the naked Berle, without the cover-up of his brash, breezy comedics.

"They won't be calling me 'Uncle Miltie' any more," said the comedian. "I tell the story with no holds barred, and I use the kind of language I normally use - not for shock treatment; that's just the way I speak.

"IT'S THE STORY of the kind of crazy life-style that comedians have to lead, appearing naked before every audience. There is also a strong silver-cord story about my mother and myself. "My mother — God bless her — was mother. father, wife, sweetheart, everything to me. But there's no hint of incest; this is no 'Oedipus Berle was carrying galley proofs of "My Autobiography," which he wrote with magazine editor Haskell Frankel, It will be published by Delacorte on Oct. 28. He displayed a few pages and it is indeed strong stuff.

Unlike other show biz confessionals, this one is no conquest of alcoholism - "I never drank in my life, never liked the taste." Nor was Berle ever on dope — "I was hooked on show business." Although he said the book will not be X-rated, he amitted that it will depict his romantic career, beginning with his loss of virginity at 12.

HE WILL ALSO tell about his brushes with the Mafia, which owned many of the night clubs in which he appeared. In 1931 his throat was slashed by a hoodlum.

"Why is it that the things you remember most vividly in your life are the bad things?" he mused. Among them was the time in 1945 when he was trying out a doomed show, "Spring in Brazil," in Pittsburgh, and he was overcome by the need to see his wife, Joyce Matthews, and their newly adopted daughter.

"The show was death, Joyce and Vickie couldn't come to see me, and they scheduled a rehearsal for Thanksgiving day," Berle recalled. "I became hysterical and made a dive for the hotel window. "MY MANAGER tackled me before I could take

"He calmed me down and said I'd feel better if I had a meal. He started ordering turkey on Berle recorded 510 hours of tape for the book and admitted that the experience was the equivalent to being psychoanalyzed, which he never has been. He uncovered feelings of guilt from his youth, when he was the breadwinner in his

ROPE RHYME COLLECTOR - Dr. Francelia Butler, a University of Connecticut English professor, has collected over 2,000 jump rope rhymes from around the world. Police, Firemen Bargaining OK'd

BEAUMONT, Tex., (AP) -Beaumont voters by a 2-to-1 majority approved Tuesday a newly-authorized referendum to allow collective bargaining for police and firemen.

Local option referendums on the issue were authorized by the 1973 legislative session. The measure also prohibits strikes or lockouts and provides for binding arbitration.

Voters also awarded Mayor Ken Ritter a third term, giving him 63 per cent of the vote in a contest with councilman George Dishman Jr.

How about a quick baseball quiz on this mediocre Thursday afternoon to find out how much you know, or care, about

QUESTIONS — (1) Who was the only player to lead both the American and National Leagues in hitting? (2) What major leaguer played his rookie season under the assumed name of Sullivan, then returned for a 25-year career which ended with a .333 batting average? (3) What was Cy Young's (ugh) real name?

(4) What old-time hitter with a musical background once had five extra base hits in one game? (5) Where was Hall of Fame pitcher Rogers Hornsby born? (6) What first baseman became very unpopular with pitchers during the 1800s? (7) Who has to be No. 1 in the "it serves him right"

(8) Who was traded in 1918 from St. Louis to the New York Yankees for four players, including pitcher Urban Shocker? (9) What well known player did St. Louis deal to New York 1924? (10) What player has the distinction of being bought and sold eight times during his not-so-stable career?

ANSWERS — (1) Edward James Delahanty, for Philadelphia (.408) and Washington (.376); (2) Edward Trowbridge "Cocky" Collins, who twice stole six bases in a game and led the league in stolen bases 13 seasons apart; (3) Denton True Young, no kidding.

(4) George F. "Piano Legs" Gore, who also stole seven bases in a single game June 25, 1881; (5) Winters, Tex;. (6) Charles "Old Roman" Comiskey, who revolutionized the style of play at first base by playing off the sack and making the pitcher come take the throws to the bag; (7) Pitcher Sandy Koufax, the strikeout king, who set a record by striking out 12 consecutive times at bat himself.

(8) Edward S. Plank, who never reported . . .; (9) Urban Shocker, who else? (10) Aloysius Harry "Bucketfoot" Simmons, who had a career batting average of .334 during his 24 years of major league upheaval.

All the above gems comes from "Daguerreotypes of Great Stars of Baseball," which isn't exactly a best seller but certainly can pass away an afternoon. It's especially interesting to look back into the records of the guys who played in the 1800s and around the turn of the century.

They have these terrific nicknames - Grasshopper Jim, Silent Mike, Orator Jim, Count, Little Napoleon, Hippo, etc. - and they did things like pitch two games a day or hit four triples in a single game. Lots of them played for teams like the New York Gothams, the Philadelphia Olympics, Louisville and J. D. Shibe.

A little later, say around the 1920s, they became more sophisticated with their nicknames. Guys began to get names like Chinski, Rip, Rajah and Dixie. You sort of notice that no one has nicknames like that anymore, and it makes you wonder if folks aren't as colorful now.

Anyway, you realize looking through the book that to have your nickname remembered is something special, because only the hot rods are recalled. How long will it the decisions. McCloskey Resigns As Blazer Boss

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) -With UCLA's Bill Walton signed and the future looking brighter, Jack McCloskey abruptly re-signed Wednesday as head coach of the Portland Trail Blazers, citing irreconcilable differences with the National Basketball Association club.

McCloskey, who had coached the Blazers for two years, said the differences were with management and not with any of the Portland players.

But the Eugene Register Guard, quoting a highly re-liable source, said Wednesday it had "learned that it was a dispute with Sidney Wicks" that ultimately led to McCloskey's stepping down.

"I don't want to dignify it by even replying to such a stupid thing," fired back Harry Glickman, the Blazers' executive vice president.

The newspaper said McCloskey had talked of trading Wicks, "... who had been quoted recently as saying the team no longer was in need of discipline as a reason for winning because it would have Walton," the 6-foot-11 All-America center.

DALLAS' JETHRO PUGH Speaks At Zale's Award Fete

Dallas' Pugh Missed Out On 'Advantages'

By MARJ CARPENTER

"Football has been good to me, so I guess all football is good, Jethro Pugh, all-pro tackle for the Dallas Cowboys said prior to his speech at the Zales-Herald Youth Awards banquet Wednesday night.

"However, I cannot really speak out strongly for pee-wee football, junior high football and the like because I didn't even play until I was a senior in high school and then only four games. "We didn't have football in Winston, North Carolina until the early 1960s. But my first coach knew talent so he got me a chance to go on to college and try out for a scholarship. They sure didn't just give it to me, I had to work for it," Pugh recalled.

The 6-6 pro was asked if he was already that tall in high school and if so, did he play basketball? "I was this tall, but I didn't play. We didn't have that either. We didn't have a gym or any of the weight-lifting equipment everybody thinks is necessary for sports. We just played a little basketball out-

Pugh said the thing he dislikes most about pro football is that "we play too many games. We play six pre-season games, 14 regular games and three postjust seem to be playing the year round. It's tough on us physically and probably shortens all of our life spans a few years," he added.

"The thing I like most about being a pro is that young people will listen to me. I like working with young people and if you're a pro football player, they sometimes will listen to what you say.

"As for the Cowboys, I think we'll have a real good year," he added. "Everybody's coming back and we have a lot of young players who will get better. It ought to be a good 'un.'

To Invest In America

NEW YORK (AP) - Fiftyseven foreign firms announced plans during the first quarter to invest more than $340 million in 59 manufacturing facilities in the United States, an independent study reported today.

That represents an increase from the last nine months when foreign plans for direct ownership of U.S. manufacturing plants averaged 40 announcements per quarter, the study

Japanese firms planned 14 new investments in U.S. plants, West Germany nine, and Canada and the United Kingdom eight apiece. Most of the investmets will be in chemical, machinery, electrical equip-ment and textile plants, the re-

Although it is a certainty that solid, juicy grapefruit are in good supply at your market, it is not certain how grapefruit first came to this country.

One story is that Don Phillipe, a Spanish nobleman, who settled in Florida around 1825, planted a small grove of grapefruit, through where he obtained the seeds for his planting is not known. The grapefruit tree is very handsome with deep green, shiny leaves, and the fruit grows in golden clusters among the dark branches.

We have a good crop of rather unusual but delectable grapefruit dishes to match the fine supplies of fruit in the market. You have undoubtedly tasted fresh lemon chiffon pie but have you ever had fresh grapefruit chiffon pie? Picture the gossamer-light mixture with the sudden zing of iartly-sweet grapefruit flavor Grapefruit rind is grated and added, too, for that contrast that the taste buds so enjoy.

FOR FLAVOR Selecting your own livelytasting grapefruit at this season is a sure way to serve your family different and delightful dishes. In Fresh Grapefruit Salad, the sections are served with a marinated dressing of fresh grapefruit juice, salad oil and nippy seasonings. Crisp lettuce and sliced radishes add crunch. It's a great salad to serve with meat,

fish or poultry. Chicken takes on a new personality when it is browned in a skillet and cooked in fresh grapefruit juice with savory seasonings such as scallions and mushrooms, then sauced with fresh grapefruit sections just before serving. So good!.

Now for nutrition, a very important aspect of apefruit. This large delicious fruit is one of our richest natural sources of "C" needed daily vitamin by the body

It is quite easy to select excellent quality grapefruit, for the fruit is firm and springy to the touch. Fruits heavy for their size are usually thin-skinned and contain more juice than those that have a coarse skin or are pulfy or spongy. Scars or scratches on the grapefruit peel rarely affect the eating quality

Enjoy the fresh grapefruit at your market now in all your own favorite ways and in these novel recipes: CHICKEN

Eat Artichokes With The Fingers

"A thistle-like, herbaceous perennial with strong, prickly, deeply-cut leaves and large terminal heads of blue or white flowers." It's the artichoke! This vegetable is harvested before the flower heads bloom. "Fronds d'artichauts" were Catherine de Medici's favorite dish, and gourmets have shared her preference for artichokes ever since. It is permissible to eat this vetable with the fingers, plucking off each petal and dipping it in a savory sauce such as hollandaise, Bechamel, or melted butter with a dash of fresh lemon juice. The most desirable artichokes are compact, plump, heavy in relation to size. somewhat globular, with large, fleshy, tightly clinging green leaf scales. Green color helps show

Scottish Named Potatoes 'Spud'

How did potatoes get to be called "Spuds?" It is believed that this derives from the Scottish word "spud," the name of a kind of spade or digging fork commonly used in cultivating and harvesting potatoes in that country.

When you come right down to it, potatoes are important in most main meals. They fill you up, give you a feeling of fine satisfaction, and they go with almost any food in the menu. They also offer good nutrition on a day-in, dayout basis. Because of their high mineral and vitamin content, and the large amounts consumed, potatoes are one of our most important protective foods.

As far back as medieval times, the robust people of the Russian Baltic provinces considered it a delicacy to eat raw, red beef seasoned and chopped fine. Sailors from the seaport of Hamburg, Germany, became fond of this dish and eventually introduced it at home.

Beef tartar steak was brought to the United States by German immigrants and has gained popularity among Americans attempting to get away from the tastelessness of "cooked out" foods. If you've never tried beef tartar, you'll be pleasantly surprised by its delicious taste and simple heartiness.

Beef Tartar combines raw, freshly ground beef,

Good 'Cle Tater' Is Menu Standby

Some of our happiest food memories go back to the potatoes were served at the family table. How long since you have had a fluffy, white baked potato, steaming in its freshlyopened shell? There is a delicious homey fragrance and taste to a baked potato unexcelled by any dish. Then there are old-fashioned Scalloped Potatoes baked slowly in milk, and mountains of mashed potatoes, snow-fluffy, their craters filled with rich gravy from the roast. Whichever ways you like them best, the potato is a menu standby that wears seasonings with a touch of cold rose wine for extra flavor and fluffiness. It is served topped with a raw egg yolk and thinly sliced pumpernickel bread triangles and a glass of cold rose wine on the side.

To provide a nice touch to your meal, a chilled, marinated vegetable salad, with a creamy wine dressing, adds color and texture to your menu. Canned mixed vegetables are used for this Cookless Vegetable Salad Deluxe.

After a few experiments with "cookless" meals, you will find that they not only save fuel, but your energy, as well. So, this spring and summer, be "resourcefuel" and eliminate the hot kitchen routine. You may even smile when your electric bill

President's Problem Worsens

As the contents of the Nixon transcripts soak in, it is becoming increasingly apparent that the President miscalculated in his strategy of releasing them to the public.

The House Impeachment Committee had requested the tapes of presidential conversations not the transcripts.

President Nixon released not the tapes to the committee, but edited transcripts of selected tapes, and it was his decision to release them to the public at the same time.

His purpose was to go over the heads of the committee and gamble on a favorable public response that would in turn have an effect on the House of Representatives as it approached the momentous question of whether to vote a bill of impeachment.

There have been some sympathetic responses from some members of Congress and some Washington columnists. But the larger reaction has been one of disappointment and even dismay from many sources in and out of Congress.

Nixon's staunchest supporters in the press and there have been some strong ones - have deserted him.

William Randolph Hearst, editor of the Hearst newspapers, and as ardent supporter as Nixon has had in or out of journalism, condemned him

He wrote that the tape conversations "add up to as damning a document as it is possible to imagine . . .," then accused the President of the "sleaziest kind of conniving to preserve appearance

... and unconcerned with ethics." The Chicago Tribune, a staunch Nixon supporter, called for his departure. More devastating, however, was the blistering characterization of the conversations by Sen. Hugh Scott, Pennsylvania, GOP Senate leader, who had been defending the President and working for a solution of the Watergate affair. When supporters of this calibre are cutting loose, it is possible to conclude that the tapes with their self flagellation have thus far produced a reaction opposite that calculated by the President. Thus, his problem is worse than ever, and now it seems more probable that there will be a bill of impeachment voted by the committee and possibly sustained by the House, subjecting the issue to a futile trial in the Senate. It looks like another of those long, hot summers.

Gaullism Is A Casualty

Whoever wins the French presidential runoff election, it's already clear that Gaullism, or at least the party which bears that name, is done for as the dominant force in French politics.

The Gaullist candidate finished a poor third in the recent balloting. Thus the party founded by Charles de Gaulle is reduced to balance-of-power status, an outsider looking for favor.

Gaullism thus barely outlived the towering leader who was its founder. Many of the ideas of Gaullism, particularly the go-it-alone foreign policy of recent years, linger on. But they are subject to revision and review — and the process of change will be largely outside the Gaullist power to France may be headed back toward the political chaos which preceded the rise of Charles de Gaulle - the period when myriad tiny political parties boasted a few supporters each, and no stable government was possible. But that seems doubtful. Instead, France seems launched on the road toward a system perhaps on the British mold, with the left and right of about equal strength. And French relations with the United States seem destined to improve.

Your reaction is very normal. God has created you with a desire to be well and happy, and when this is violated for some reason, it's very human to grumble and resist.

The thing a Christian can do. however, is to bring this frustration to Christ. In a miraculous way trough faith, He exchanges joy for mourning, and beauty for ashes. That's what Isaiah promises in chapter 61.

Verse three goes on to say that God can also provide "praise instead of heaviness." He may not immediately change conditions, but He helps us to get the right attitude. Several come to mind.

First, the assurance that "in all things," God still is at work for our good. Secondly, the possibility of learning lessons from our temptations and trials. Thirdly, we can praise Him for the help which he gives every believer.

Fourthly, as Peter suggested (1 Peter 4:16), if the unpleasantness derives from our witness for Christ, we can rejoice over our worthiness to serve Him.

Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce writes, "From the beginning, I have seen all efforts to pressure a President, who claims to be innocent, into involuntary retirement as a violation of the basic premise of the common law (innocent until legally proven guity) and an usurpation of the Congress' right, and manifest duty. to indict, try, and either convict or acquit an allegedly criminal or

For underlying the cry for resignation now is the fear of both those who believe him guilty, that for partisan reasons, the Senate will not administer impartial justice to him. They doubt the honor, intregrity, and patriotism of the Senate. They doubt that our representative form of government will work to the good of the country in this hour of crisis."

MRS. LUCE'S point, in some ways, unsafe to suppose that this is so for different reasons. The Post cares greatly that at some future season historians will not say that Nixon was are put together and presented to Congress, they will say that there isn't enough there to impeach and of noncommunication between the White House and Republican leaders in Congress, an important ingredient in the Watergate tragedy, was raised high last week against an eleventhhour effort to confront President Nixon with reality. REP. JOHN ANDERSON of Illinois. chairman of the House Republican conference, wanted to discuss the brutal facts of life at Thursday's White House meeting between Republican leaders and Mr. Nixon. Anderson's proposal: inform the President that his denial of additional tapes to the special prosecutor and the House Judiciary Committee had no Republican backing and could only end in his destruction.

But no other Republican leader backed Anderson even though most agreed with his sentiments. They took the position that the President alone should set the agenda for White House meetings - a view held particularly strongly by Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania. Having "fired the gun that started the Republican stampede against the President" (in the words of one bitter White House aide), Scott wanted no embarrassing personal encounter with Mr. Nixon.

THE RESULT was a surrealistic morning in the Oval Office. Nobody mentioned the nation's great political crisis. Although Mr. Nixon was said in private to have raged at Scott for his lethal criticism of the White House transcripts, the two men sat side-byside politely through a dreary economic briefing.

Anderson feels Watergate might well have been avoided had Mr. Nixon taken Republican leaders into his confidence. But for their part, the leaders' reluctance to confront the President underlines that communication is a two-way street.

WHILE SECRETARY of State Henry Kissinger strives for an Arab-Israeli settlement, a move is gathering force in the Senate to make American aid to Egypt dependent on Cairo's opening the Suez Canal to all nations equally — meaning Israel.

If such an amendment actually denied future U.S. aid to Egypt unless Cairo pledged to permit Israeli flagships to transverse the canal, Egypt would never agree. That could sour the Washington-Cairo romance. Even talk of such an amendment chills the State Department.

ACTUALLY, ISRAEL has privately told the U.S. it will accept Egyptian agreement to permit Israeli cargoes (but not Israeli flagships) through the canal. Egyptisn president Anwar Sadat has given private assurances of that.

But if the strongly pro-Israel Congress attached an amendment demanding free passage for Israeli flagships, the powerful pro-Israeli lobby here would scarcely oppose it.

VINDICTIVE POLITICS of the White House surfaced again in a gratuitous, grossly inaccurate attack by ex-White House personnel chief Harry Flemming on a young Republican candidate for Congress who committed the cardinal sin of not being blindly loyal to the President.

John Robinson West quit in disgust in mid-1969 after several months as a minor White House aide. Returning to Pennsylvania, West began preparing a Republican political career. Two weeks ago, West at age 27 was frontrunner (leading the regular organization candidate) in the Republican primary election for a congressional Philadelphia's Republican suburbs.

when Flemming attacked him as a "walking disaster . . . who was all out for glory and self-aggrandizement" in Washington, out where Flemming said he had "ar unpaid position" and did nothing at the White House. Actually West was on the GOP payroll.

But West's position was undermined

Black Music Gamble

NEW YORK (AP) - Political jousting is rumored to be the sole occupation of Washington, D.C. It therefore is surprising to learn there is another facet of life in the nation's

Said facet is a limited move by Post-Newsweek Stations, Inc., a Washington Post subsidiary, into the costly business of producing TV shows for syndication or possible network

THE COMPANY, which owns TV stations in Washington, Hartford, Conn., and Miami and Jacksonville, Fla., currently is cooking up:

-Three hour-long black music specials.

-A 13-part historical series, each segment an hour, called "The American Documents." The topics range from the history of presidential inaugurations to American propaganda during World War I.

-Eight specials involving various plays performed by England's Young Vic troupe, an offshoot of the National Theater Company. It'll tape shows for Post-Newsweek Stations, Inc., this year and next.

The man overseeing all this is Ray Hubbard, the company's vice president for programming and executive producer for all the shows.

HUBBARD SAID, "The American Documents" series already is being offered in syndication and the black music specials will be offered soon.

He said it isn't known yet how the Young Vic series will be sold: "We're talking to possible syndicators and also to companies that might buy one or more of the plays and place them themselves, either on a spot basis or on one of the networks." Hubbard, who declined to say how much the Young Vic series cost other than to note "It's the most expensive single project we've ever done.' He was asked why it took that step, considering the cost and risks.

"It's because we feel that one of the tings we have to do to keep our stations operating as well as possible is to supply productions you can't buy anywhere else," he said.

"AND THE things we're doing are not the sort of things that normally get into syndication."

The company's production efforts, he says, have the effect of slaying two birds with one stone. It both helps his stations' programming and offers the prospect of recouping the production cost or even turning a profit by selling the shows to other stations.

If you do re-read this chapter, you might want to call up Senator Teddy and ask him how many Senators he thinks there are who would be willing to sacrifice their political lives in the service of Impartial Justice, and for the good of the country. He would certainly have to say 'all.' But I think there would be no fewer there than there would be columnists or editors who would sacrifice their careers, if their publishers were to tell them that they had to give up their way of life: beating on Nixon and calling for Burglaries Financed By Growers?

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) Growers financed 15 burglaries in the late 1960s aimed at finding proof of "communist or radical influence" in the United Farm Workers of America, a self-admitted burglar has told the Fresno Bee.

However, the stolen material uncovered no evidence that communists directed efforts of the UFW and its president, Ce-sar Chavez, to organize farm labor, the unnamed informant

The man described to the FBI the burglaries which in volved "political material" such as letters, contribution Bee reported Wednesday.

"The original purpose was to get as much information as possible to show the communist or radical influence on the union to discredit Chavez," the Bee quoted the informant. "We also wanted to know the operations of the union and to use the information to discredit him in the eyes of the Catholic

"In the early days, the grow-ers contributed money for anything to fight .Chavez. They wanted to use the material to persuade other growers from not signing with the union."

The Justice Department may decide this week what action to take, the Bee was told by William Gardner, deputy chief of the criminal division of the department's civil rights section.

The ex-burglar told the Bee he is willing to implicate growers who financed the burglaries if he receives immunity from prosecution. The man said his first contact was with a Salinas area grower, followed by contacts with several San Joaquin Valley growers in 1966.

The informant originally tried to sell back to the UFW some documents stolen from its Delano offices, including "lots of Nesar's files," a union official told The Associated Press. That offer reportedly was spurned and the FBI was asked to in-

Chuck Wagon Party Nears

The sourdough is getting started and folks are pulling into camp for the first annual Chuck Wagon party of the Heritage Museum next Thur-

This colorful event, members and their guests, will be at 7 p.m. in the Dora Roberts Community Center, (Cosden Club). Reservations are coming in, but the museum needs in the next day or two to know how many to expect. Several are still sending in their memberships, too.

On tap will be old-time entertainment by Tom Castle and his string band, a sparkling square dance exhibition led by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Speegle, a sprinkling of historical slides, and lots of fun like horse shoe and washer pitching, sitting on bales of hay, and sittin' and whittlin'.

George Zachariah is general chairman and his committees, even to whose prepareing the sourdough bisquits, say the old chuck wagon is going to be

How To Judge

Dear Abby Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have this theory, and I would like your opinion. If you want to know a person's true character, find out how he feels about animals.

People who like animals and make a big fuss over them have a very kind and affectionate nature and are likely to make good mates and parents.

But a person who dislikes animals (especially dogs and cats) and either ignores or mistreats them, is sure to be unkind, inconsiderate and unaffectionate and will probably make a very poor mate or parent.

What do you think? ANIMAL LOVER

DEAR LOVER: Generalizations are dangerous. There are people who relate much better to animals than they do to humans, so they naturally make a big fuss over animals — but it doesn't necessarily follow that they will make better mates or parents. We've all known animal lovers who lavish an excessive amount of affection on pets, but who are cruel to people. The best index to a person's character is (a) how he treates people who can't do him any good, and (b) how he treats people who can't fight back.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years and have the reputation of being a very good cook.

Whenever we have company and someone compliments me on my cooking, my husband says: "She's great in the kitchen, but she's not so hot in the bedroom." It always gets a laugh. My husband thinks he is being funny. I don't. How should I respond next time he says this?

GREAT IN THE KITCHEN DEAR GREAT: Ask your husband if he'd be happier if you slept in the kitchen and cooked in the bedroom.

DEAR ABBY: I will have to go back a long way to fill you in on what kind of person I am, and my wife

HOW TO MAKE THE MAN OF THE HOUSE HAPPY

Whether you want to decorate a whole room or just one comfortable spot for a man, here are some tips.

If you have the space and can take an entire room and turn it into a man's den, you might want to consider darker colors that offer a relaxing background and quiet enjoyment. Many men like earth tones from terra cotta to beige and

As for furniture most men like leathers, vinyl with a leather look, heavily grained woods and weighty-looking furniture. Beside the desk or table in a den, you might include an easy chair, a unit that gives you shelves, a cabinet where he can display a hobby and a sofa where he can take a nap.

If you don't have room to give him a whole den, you can still provide him with something special like a reclining chair in the living room — a great big, soft recliner that he can stretch out on. If not a recliner, how about a big high back lounge chair with generous seat width and footstool?

And remember, whether vou're shopping for furniture for the man of the house, or the woman, or both, we can show you furniture and decorating ideas that will please both you and your budget.

a preacher's daughter. I was the town "bad boy." I was late to my own wedding as I was rolling dice in the back room behind the barber shop and forgot the time. The wedding got a late start, and we missed the train for our honeymoon. We raised four good kids, though. The boys both got through college and are doing well, and the girls married fine men. We have ten nice grandchildren. I'm retired now, so I'm spending more time playing cards with the boys at the club. The problem my wife is threatening to divorce me over is my not getting home on time. I get tied up talking to somebody, or shooting pool, or playing cards, and I don't know where the times goes. I get home late, and the wife is ready to skin me.

She never had to work outside the house a day in her life, and we've always had a joint checking account. I never looked at another woman, and I drink like a gentleman. But she says if I am late once more it's the end of our marriage. Is this fair?

B&PW Is Invited To Seminole

Local Business and Professional Women's Club members have been invited to a district legislative banquet May 23 in Seminole, where the guest speaker will be Mrs. Barbara Culver, Midland County judge and "Woman of the Year" for District 8, B&PW. Mrs. Culver will discuss current legislation in relation to working women.

The Tuesday meeting was held in Pioneer Gas Flame Room, with Miss Helen Willard, president, serving as hostess. Other members of her committee were Mrs. Bert Affleck, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Delphia Gordon and Mrs. Charles Summers. Four delegates were elected to attend the state B&PW convention June 21-23 in San Antonio. They are Mrs. Affleck, incoming president; Mrs. Summers,

Mrs. James F. Vineyard and Mrs. Phillip Palmer. A former member, Mrs. Lina Flewellen, was a guest. The installation of new officers will take place May 28 at 7 p.m. in Coker's Restaurant.

Fish Fry Tonight To Draw Area Rebekahs, IOOF

Rebekahs and Odd Fellows from Big Spring, Stanton, Snyder, Lamesa and San Angelo will attend a fish fry Friday at 6 p.m. in the local IOOF Hall.

The announcement was made at this week's meeting of Rebekah Lodge 284, with Mrs. Robert Wilson presiding.

Mrs. Lonnie Griffith's birthday was celebrated, and refreshments were served by Mrs. C. C. Cunningham, Mrs. Beulah Morrison, Mrs. W. N. Wood, Mrs. Gaston Gregory, Mrs. Melvin Newton and Mrs.

K.J. Nielsen. It was reported that Mrs. Ivan Collins, district deputy president, and five other local Rebekahs were in Stanton Monday evening to meet with Stanton Rebekah Lodge 287.

Hanging them over a line strains fibers, causing them break, warns Mrs. Doris Myers, home nanagement specialist, Texas Agricu'tural Exmanagement tension Service, Texas A&M University Systme.

Gift Affairs Are Honor For Bride

The home of Mrs. J. C. Kelly, 1705 Harvard, was the setting Tuesday evening for a bridal shower honoring Miss Brenda Conway, brideelect of Rickey Mims of

The honoree wore a long, blue plaid dress to receive guests with her mother, Mrs. Byron Conway, and her fiance's mother, Mrs. Loyd Mims, Stanton, Each received a corsage of white pompon mums and babies'breath. The bride's grandmothers, Mrs. E. S. conway and Mrs. A. F. Bearden, also received corsages.

The refreshment table was laid with white embroidered organdy and the centerpiece was a candelabrum entwined with greenery and babies'-breath. Also featured on the table were cakes in the form of dolls representing the bride and her attendants. Appointments were crystal and silver.

Hostesses were Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. J. M. Griffith, Mrs. E. R. Garretson, Mrs. J. R. Parchman, Mrs. J. W. Shaw, Mrs. J. L. Farris, Mrs. G. R. Eisler, Mrs. Neil Willoughby and Mrs. Bernard Young.

Guests were registered by Miss Lisa Kelly and Miss Nancy Conway, sister of the Miss Conway was honored Saturday morning with a brunch in the home of Mrs. James W. Shaw, 2709 Rebecca. Cohostess was Mrs. Maurice Griffith.

Corsages of kitchen gadgets were presented to the honoree, her mother, and her grandmother, Mrs. Bearden. The tables, covered with white cloths, were centered with arrangements of kitchen gadgets.

Miss Conway and Mims will be maried June 7 in Lane Church of Christ.

The records of the period show that American soldiers suffered greatly, as did their horses. Victoria outmaneuvered them at every turn, ambushed them, sometimes beat them face to face in direct confrontations.

But Victorio finally discovered what the Confederacy found out: No matter how brilliant and dedicated is one combatant, a larger, dull, slogging army can win by sheer superiority of numbers, material and persistence, eventually wearing down the resist-

Loss of life was heavy on both sides. And Victorio just fi nally ran out of warriors.

And it wasn't the U.S. forces that finally defeated him, although their constant pressure and attrition allowed the Mexicans to strike the final blow. This took place at a place called Treso Castillos about 150 miles almost directly south of El Paso. The Mexican Army trapped the Mimbres and almost wiped out the band. About 17 escaped. Some braves were away from

Reputed 'Hit Man' In Two Slayings Killed By Cops

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) - A reputed "hit man" shot to death in a cafe struggle with olice here Tuesday was a suspect in two sensational slayings in Texas, one in Houston and one in Dallas.

Bobby Wayne Vandiver, 36, was killed when two officers tried to arrest him at Charlotte's grill in Longview.

Vandiver was wanted by Houston authorities to stand trial for the 1972 murder of Dr. John Hill, a prominent Houston plastic surgeon. Vandiver had been at large after forfeiting a $15,000 bond when he failed to show up April 15 for the Hill

Dallas authorities said Vandiver also had been a suspect, although never charged, in the slaying of

Charles Darrell Bryant there last March 12. Bryant had been no-billed by a grand jury 10 years ago from an incident in which four firemen died while fighting a blaze
