

Found Shot To Death Near Clinic

Patrick O'Neil, 66, was found shot to death outside Malone Hogan clinic around 1:53 a.m. Saturday.

O'Neil was a patient in Medical Center Hospital and his wife was asleep in the room, staying with him at the hospital. He apparently slipped out, got a .38 caliber pistol out of his van parked out front and killed himself. Justice of the Peace Walter Grice ruled death by self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Funeral rites are to be at 10:00 a.m. Monday at Branon Funeral Home in Lamesa. The Rev. Cecil Foster, Northside Baptist Church will officiate. Burial will be in Lamesa Memorial Park. O'Neil had been a Lamesa resident for around 60 years and was a retired barber. Some six weeks ago, he underwent surgery at the hospital here. He and his wife were staying at Lake Leon and when he became ill, returned to the hospital here Tuesday.

Survivors include his wife; one son, Patrick Gene O'Neil Houston; one brother, B. O'Neil of California and one sister, Mrs. May Rhodes, Borger. Two grandchildren also survive.

Wild Winds Unroof Homes

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes danced all across Texas' northern half Saturday night, the outgrowth of violent thunderstorms which flooded homes, smashed trees and rooftops at numerous widespread points.

Seventy-mile an hour winds raked San Angelo, unroofing homes, felling trees and causing widespread flooding. Golf-ball size hail shattered windows and dented cars, injuring some motorists as they tried to move their stalled autos.

Wind and hail damage at San Angelo was reported as extensive along with flooded homes and businesses.

Kirk To Hear Vote Suit

District Judge Weldon Kirk of Sweetwater, 32nd District Court, will hear the civic suit filed by Fern Cox contesting the outcome of the district clerk's race.

The suit will be heard starting at 10 a.m., Friday in 118th District Court here.

An official canvass of the vote showed that challenger Peggy Crittenden beat Cox, the incumbent, by a solitary vote in the First Democratic election May 4. However, a deputy in the county clerk's office later found a ballot favoring Cox in checking the voting boxes, a development that, in effect, tied the race.

Kirk was appointed to preside at the trial after the 118th District Court judge, Ralph W. Caton, disqualified himself and appealed to administrative judge C. V. Milburn of the 7th Judicial Administrative District, Odessa, to appoint someone else to hear the case.

Disclosure of the errant ballot came too late for the County Democratic Committee to put Cox and Mrs. Crittenden on the ballot for the June 1 Second Democratic Primary election.

Some Demo Voting Boxes Combined

Because the ballot for the June 1 Second Democratic Primary election will be so abbreviated, common polling places in all commissioner precincts in Howard County have been announced by Lee Porter, County Democratic chairman. Porter made the announcement Saturday after conferring with the Texas Secretary of State.

In commissioner precinct one, all registered voters in boxes One, Eight, 12, 13 and 17 will vote at the North Side Fire Station.

Because there is a runoff between incumbent Bill Bennett and Ike Rupard for the office of county commissioner in precinct two, there will be boxes at Coahoma, Forsan and Sand Springs while all city voters in boxes Two, 15 and 18 will vote at Washington Place School.

In commissioner precinct three, the 18th and Main Street Fire Station will be a polling place for registered voters in boxes Three, 16 and 19.

In commissioner precinct four, registered voters in boxes Four, Six, Seven, 11, 20 and 22 will cast their ballots at the Fourth and Nolan Streets Fire Station.

Voting hours will be from 7 a.m., until 7 p.m.

Reviewing the ... Big Spring Week ... with Joe Pickle

After a quarter of a century, it's a good bet the Colorado River Municipal Water District is a permanent institution in these parts. Directors think so too, for they have given the signal to proceed with plans for a new headquarters building here. Indications are it will be valued around a quarter of a million dollars. Every year gets bigger for the district, and if the district realizes this dream a year hence, it will be none too soon for the growing agency which supplies cities and industries in mid-west Texas.

This time the fates evened things out. After relentless high winds Sunday that all but swept the baccalaureate away at Memorial Stadium, the commencement turned out absolutely perfect. And between valedictorian, Van Johnson, salutatorian, Randy Schrencongost and ranking Khenda Harlan, there was only a half a point for their four years. How close can you get?

Well, you can get closer than that, all right. Ask Peggy Crittenden and Fern Cox who finished a vote apart (2,420-2,419) for the Democratic nomination for district clerk. A recount gave each six more votes, so nothing changed. Last week an uncounted absentee vote, apparently for Cox, was discovered and this could tie it up. A court case, filed by Cox, on May 31 will throw some light on this.

President Discusses Economic Problems

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP)

— President Nixon reported encouraging progress Saturday in easing the nation's economic medicine—a prudent federal budget, tight money and no tax cut—to complete the economic recovery.

In a national radio address from his bayside home, Nixon also announced that his former law school professor, Kenneth Rush, will become his Cabinet-level coordinator of domestic and international economic policies. Rush now is No. 2 man at the State Department.

SPECIAL REPORT

The President said he would send Congress next week a special report on the state of the economy and would hold a series of meetings with labor and business representatives.

The Florida White House said the report would go to Capitol Hill on Tuesday and would deal with a review of the inflation situation and measures necessary to deal with it.

A ranking Nixon adviser said, however, that no changes will be proposed in the administration's economic game plan.

In his 18-minute radio address, Nixon told the nation: "We are beginning to emerge from a very difficult period in the history of our economy. We are not completely through this difficulty, but all the economic indicators prove that we are making encouraging progress."

"The weeks ahead will still require restraint and sacrifice. But the ultimate goal of prosperity in peacetime is one which is worthy of sacrifice. It is attainable."

require restraint and sacrifice. But the ultimate goal of prosperity in peacetime is one which is worthy of sacrifice. It is attainable."

HARSH MEDICINE

The President said, "The requirements for full economic recovery may sound like harsh medicine—budgetary restraint, no tax cut, tight money—but there is no alternative."

He singled out suggestions for a general tax cut as "possibly the gravest danger to the economy today."

"However popular that may be, nothing could be more irresponsible than to cut taxes in the present inflationary situation," he said, repeating his opposition to Democratic proposals for a cut.

Rush, his new economic coordinator, will hold the rank as counselor to the President and "will serve as the President's chief economic adviser," the White House said.

Rush will preside at the daily morning meeting of such Nixon economic advisers as Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, Director Roy Ash of the Office of Management and Budget and Chairman Herbert Stein of the Council of Economic Advisers.

RADIO ADDRESS

For the past 15 months, Rush has been deputy secretary of state and previously had been deputy secretary of defense and ambassador to West Germany. He is a former president of Union Carbide and in 1936 was one of Nixon's professors at the Duke University Law School.

Nixon, who flew here Friday afternoon to spend a second successive weekend in the Florida sunshine, plans another nationwide radio address on Memorial Day.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon would visit the Middle East "at some point in the near future," but added that a specific date had not been set. Nixon continued to cable instructions to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who is wrapping up another round of shuttle diplomacy in the Middle East, Ziegler said.

Two Brothers-In-Law Die In Head-On Cycle Wreck

Two brothers-in-law, Larry Ray Robinson, 26, and Albert Lee Grant, 29, died almost instantly when their motorcycles crashed head-on an estimated three miles east of Big Spring on the South Service road of IS 20 at 9:57 p.m. Friday.

Texas Highway Patrolman Don Bates, who with fellow officer Bill Jennings, worked the wreck, first thought that one of the cyclists had been struck by a hit-and-run driver.

One of the bodies was in the middle of the road, the other in a barrow ditch next to the thoroughfare.

The two were discovered by a resident living nearby, who notified officers.

'DIRT BIKES'

Robinson and Grant were astride "dirt bikes" almost identical in make — motorcycles designed for use only off streets and highways. Officer Bates said the cycles did not have lights and neither rider wore a helmet.

The two suffered almost identical injuries. Each had a broken right arm and right leg.

Robinson also had a broken neck. The addresses of the victims were on Route 1, Big Spring.

DESIGNED FOR RACING

Dirt bikes are stripped down versions designed for racing.

Double funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Burial will be in Coahoma cemetery.

Grant's survivors include his wife, Carolyn; two daughters, Natalie and Christi; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Grant, Big Spring; five brothers, James R. Grant, Tucson, Jimmy Grant, Cary Grant and Keith Grant, all of Big Spring, Robert C. Grant, San Antonio and one sister, Mrs. Pam Getton, Big Spring.

Robinson was engaged to marry Miss Rose Rhea of Big Spring. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Robinson, Big Spring; two sisters, Mrs. Carolyn Grant, Big Spring and Mrs. Betty Davelle, Bridgefield, Conn. and one brother, Robert Robinson, Big Spring.

A late evening shower with light hail fell in Big Spring Saturday with around 4 of an inch of rain and hail measuring around one-eighth of an inch.

The shower lasted from 6-7:30 p.m. in Big Spring with weather reports at the police station indicating that the city would remain under a severe weather alert until 10 p.m.

Rain was expected in the Sterling City and San Angelo area moving toward Sweetwater with rain also coming from the other direction in Scurry County toward Mitchell County.

The opening of the teen-age baseball league was postponed according to Al Valdes, president of the league. The opening ceremonies will be Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Told He Was Just Too Old

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Charles Fogarty, 78, applied for entry to a nursing school five years ago, but was rejected because he was too old. Saturday, he started another new career—as a Roman Catholic priest.

Only Two Offices Are Up For Grabs

Tuesday is the last day for absentee voting for the run-off elections in the Democratic primary, scheduled for Next Saturday.

There are two run-off elections in Howard County. Voters choose between Glenn Toombs and Michael Ezell for the post of Democratic nominee for state representative and between Bill Bennett, incumbent, and Ike Rupard for the position of county commissioner, Precinct two.

MANY PARENTS LOOKING THE OTHER WAY

Alcoholic Teens Replacing Pill Poppers In U. S.

EDITOR'S NOTE - Young people are turning from amphetamines and heroin to another kind of drug - alcohol. Their parents find it more socially acceptable than hard drugs, but teen-age alcoholism is increasing. Schools and hospitals are trying to deal with the problem.

BY CARIK DEEGAB Associated Press Writer

Mia, a pretty, red-haired teen-ager with enormous emerald-colored eyes, recalls the days when she put liquor in a baby bottle so that she could sip it during school.

"I took it to school with me in the morning. And I drank on the way to school and kept it in a baby bottle so I could sip it all day long," Mia recalls.

STARTED AT 11

Now a 19-year-old "recovered" alcoholic, Mia started drinking when she was 11 years old. She is involved in the Alcoholics Anonymous program.

Her case is not an isolated one. A spokesman for the National Clearinghouse for Alcohol Information, a federal agency, estimates that 450,000 people under 20 years of age are alcoholics or problem drinkers. The most recent government statistics on drinking were gathered in 1971, but they did not break down drinking habits by age groups. Another Federal national survey is to be made this summer.

The National Clearinghouse, Alcoholics Anonymous and other organizations dealing with alcoholism agree that about 95 million Americans over the age of 15 drink with some regularity. Of these, an estimated nine million are alcoholics or problem drinkers - compared with five million 10 years ago.

Use of alcohol is apparently surpassing the use of other drugs among teenagers.

WHAT'S IT LIKE?

What's it like for a youngster to have a drinking problem? Mia describes her life:

"I got in with a crowd that was smoking pot and hash. And taking pills and drinking very heavily. In my 12th grade year I quit school, I couldn't cope any more. I couldn't walk into the classroom anymore.

"Some days I did manage to get in. Classes were 80 minutes and within 20 minutes I would be passed out on the floor. And no one ever said anything to me. The teacher never said anything, you know. They didn't bother me.

"As far as blackouts go, they were terrible. I left the house about 10 a.m. with a bottle of vodka in my hand and that's the last thing I remember. I wandered back to the house around 5 or 6 p.m. with scratches and bruises and dirt. And I was all wet, I was a mess.

COULDN'T CONTROL IT

"I had reached a point by this time in my senior year that it was compulsive. I couldn't control it any more. If I saw a bottle in front of me, I drank it purely because it was there. No other reason.

"Many mornings I'd wake up and I'd reach into the refrigerator for something to drink, a mixed drink that I had left over the night, and some mornings I'd stand there holding it, saying who dy I need it? Why do I want it so badly?

"And I couldn't come up with any answers. So I continued to drink. A compulsion. I drank to get drunk."

Mia lived with her father and stepmother from the age of 11 to 18, then went to live her mother and soon after joined Alcoholics Anonymous. She hid her drinking from her father and stepmother as long as possible. She said she drank because her stepmother "Put me down and told me I was a nothing."

DRINKING HARDER

Teen-agers have always consumed alcohol, but the numbers of those who do appear to be increasing.

A recent survey of 589 high school students in Washtenaw County, Mich., showed that 76 per cent of those consumed alcohol, compared with 66 per cent in 1970.

The Michigan survey found that teen-agers are not only drinking more, they're drinking harder. In 1972, 20 per cent said they most frequently downed five or more drinks in one sitting. In 1970, only 12 per cent reported drinking heavily.

Last November, a University of Arizona survey classified 61,200 state residents under 24 as heavy, problem drinkers. Based on census figures, the study would indicate that among persons 13 to 24 years of age in Arizona, one in five is an alcoholic.

GETTING INTO TROUBLE

"There are more young people who are getting into trouble with alcohol," he said. "From November, 1972, to the present, we've treated about 155 people at my last count under the age of 25.

"So it's in volumes of young people coming in for treatment now.

"What we're seeing now is people are starting to drink earlier. Junior high, even into elementary schools, they're drinking."

In 1973, the National Council on Alcoholism found that the youngest alcoholics coming to the group's attention had dropped in age from 14 to 12.

Why alcohol? Herzlin offers this explanation:

"Because that's the socially acceptable drug of our society, really, the socially accepted drug of the world. And young people follow the footsteps of their elders.

"Because the other drugs have pretty much run their course. In New York, we have a very strict drug law. But we're seeing the same thing happening in all parts of our country: the deterioration of the use of heroin and many of the amphetamine drugs.

"GETTING OFF HARD DRUGS" "But we also see people getting off hard drugs and becoming almost instant alcoholics."

Young people are being encouraged to join Alcoholics Anonymous, oldest and largest organization for helping alcoholics. There are 650,000 members worldwide and, although an A.A.

spokesman declines to estimate how many of these are teen-agers, she does say "there are lots of teen-agers coming in. More and more young people."

Mia reports that she was one of the first young people in A.A. in her area. She began attending when she came to New York to live with her mother. Now there are about 20, and they've formed a young people's group, she added.

DIFFERENT KIND OF DRUG

"Alcohol and drugs are the same thing. Alcohol is just a different kind of drug and you use it for the same reason. To get high. To escape. Whatever reasons you have.

"But alcohol brings it much quicker. This is what I found. I quit drugs after two years and went into the booze very, very heavily because I felt I could get drunk much quicker and you know, stay drunk longer."

Nationally, there are an estimated 7,500 alcohol treatment centers for all age groups. Columbus Hospital in New York City recently expanded its alcohol treatment center to offer help to teen-agers with drinking problems.

Dr. June Christmas, mental health and retardation commissioner, has estimated that 66,000 youngsters in New York are problem drinkers.

THE WEEK

Around 80,000 acres have been seeded to cotton, but that doesn't mean that many will survive. What with the high, blistering winds of the past week, some of that will never come up. About half of it that does will need help in the next week or so, and certainly by mid-June.

History is repeating. Owen Gee who once was an engineer at the Cabot's Dixon plant here years ago, later was reassigned here as manager. Now E. W. McCrea, who was here and more recently at the Pampa headquarters, is coming back to be manager, while Gee goes to Pampa to manage the plant there.

The Commissioners Court named Roy Crim county surveyor, succeeding the late Ralph Baker for the remainder of this year. Crim then would step aside, providing Andy Fierro has qualified, and opening the way for Baker's aide to succeed to the post.

Speaking of politics, the County Commissioner's Precinct 2 runoff between Bill Bennett and Ike Rupard is picking up steam (and most of the county's second primary turnout will come from this sector), and the 63rd legislative contest between Glenn Toombs, Gail, and Mike Ezzel, Snyder, promises to liven up. A. G. Mitchell, who was edged in his race for the county judge Democratic nomination, announced he would be a write-in candidate in November.

Andrew W. Para has been elected as an honorary member of the Texas Medical Association, which means he is only one of 43 physicians who hold that honor currently. Now retired, the former VA staffer qualified with more than 40 years general practice.

Big Spring has been chosen as one of half a dozen sites for conferences on latest drug and treatment programs for mental patients in hospitals and aid after they leave. Family physicians, nurses, nursing home administrators and staff, and outpatient workers are urged to take part.

Evel Knievel, the nationally-famed motorcycle daredevil, chose our town to file a successful injunction suit to keep area promoters from using film clips of some of his daring exploits.

Memorial Day Proclamation

KEY BISCAIYNE, Fla. (AP) - President Nixon called on Americans to observe Memorial Day Monday "as a day of prayer for permanent peace."

In a proclamation Saturday, he ordered the flag flown at half-staff on all U.S. buildings, installations and naval vessels, and urged display of the flag at half-staff from U.S. homes as well.

Nixon also planned to make a nationwide radio speech on Memorial Day from the Florida White House, where he is spending the holiday weekend.

NTSU Regents Increase Several Student Fees

DENTON, Tex. (AP) - North Texas State University regents increased several fees during a meeting Friday.

Authorized was an added $21 per long semester for board; an increase of $1 to $13 in student union fees; and a rise of $1 to $5.50 per semester credit hour for the building fee.

Dr. Marceau C. Myers of Capital University, Columbus, Ohio, will become dean of the North Texas School of Music Sept. 1 following approval of the appointment by the regents.

In other administrative personnel changes, the board approved the appointment of Dr. Chardean Newell of the political science faculty as associate vice president for academic affairs and the new assignment of Dr. Rollin A. Slinger, vice president of student affairs, as full professor of educational psychology in the College of Arts and Sciences. Dr. Slinger, who asked to return to fulltime teaching, also was given a one-semester leave.

The regents also approved a reorganization of the College of Education.

The reorganized college will include a new office of student services to be directed by Dr. Gary Anderson, assistant dean for external affairs.

The College of Education now will be comprised of the Department of Education; Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation; the School of Home Economics; and the new office of student services. The former department of Industrial Arts will be moved into the Department of Education's division of occupational, adult, vocational and industrial education.

Voodoo Goes Commercial

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) -

Brazilian voodoo shops are bringing the country's folk religion up to date by selling mass-produced merchandise that leans heavily to plastics and hard-sell packaging. They're offering traditional chants on long-playing records. Ritual potions now come in no deposit-no return plastic bottles. The ritual of the products are patented.

Sao Paulo, a booming industrial metropolis with the latest in freeways and skyscrapers, is sprinkled generously with stores that cater to the followers of Macumba, Candomble and Umbanda. Those are centuries-old voodoo faiths that combine Roman Catholicism with African lore brought to South America by slaves.

One of Sao Paulo's newest voodoo shops, the Caboclo Guaraciaba Umbanda House, is six blocks away from the 43-floor Italia Building, the city's tallest structure.

Marcos Antonio Garcia, 15, plays rock music records while he minds the store for his mother and aunt, the owners. But Garcia doesn't hesitate to put on a voodoo record for a potential customer.

Beer Busts The 'In' Thing To Do Locally

By MARJ CARPENTER

"Beer busts are definitely starting to replace the pot parties as the 'in' thing to do among young people," according to a local law official.

"Several times lately when we have been called to bust up a pot party, we have arrived to discover a beer bust," the lawman added. "This happened out near a county cotton gin last week."

GET PRETTY WILD

Then he added, "And believe you me, you can tell the difference, although either one can get pretty wild."

Shelby Parnell, who has years of experience working with alcoholics at Big Spring State Hospital, said, "There is a definite trend throughout the nation of young people turning against drugs and leaning on alcohol."

"We have a slight drop in the number of young people brought in with drug problems, but youth accounts for only three per cent of our alcoholic patients."

BECOME ALARMED

"However," he continued, "problems with alcohol sometimes take years to develop so that a trend toward alcoholism might begin when a person is young and not show danger symptoms until much later."

Parnell added, "Also, alcohol is acceptable among much of our population. After all, 70 per cent of our populace drinks to one degree or another. Persons do not become alarmed when they discover youths drinking. It is an accepted custom and they don't become alarmed and rush them to a treatment facility."

Ed Mitchell, director of the city's detoxification unit, said "Since we have been open, we have treated around 20 21-year-olds but none younger than that. However, we realize that alcoholism is a growing problem among youth."

BEER IN BOX

Mitchell added, "One article recently pointed out that there are 450,000 children under 15 in the United States who have an alcoholic problem. We have a lot of films and material that we are making plans to show in the schools. We are also available for conferring with young people with a drinking problem."

Stories in the report handed alcoholic experts may seem far fetched, but a youth who used to carry a beer in his lunch box to kindergarten in a town very close to Big Spring is now having an alcoholic problem. He carried the beer in his lunch box simply because it was the only beverage available at his home.

"Beer sales to youths between 13 and 21 are about a third of our total beer sales," said the manager at one of the local drive-in grocery. "Of course, this wasn't caused by change in the law. They used to send somebody else in to buy it. However, it does seem as though all young people are buying more beer lately."

A package store employee said that sales of "hard stuff" to youths is also up in his store. "We don't know whether they are drinking more or simply buy more now that it's legal," he added.

"Keg parties are becoming more popular among young people here," a beer distributor stated. "Kids are getting where they act about like the kids back in the 40s and 50s," he added.

One local educator who works with teenagers summed it up this way: "We've all worried about the drugs because of permanent brain damage and this type of thing. If they turn alcohol, we'll find it more difficult to criticize things that our own generation did and does. Our generation has learned that alcohol also brings problems. But of the two - I'd choose alcohol."

Decision In Houston Puts 1,470 Criminal Counts In Clouded Area

HOUSTON (AP) - A decision by a Houston district judge has put 1,479 criminal charges in legal limbo.

The decision, Harris County Dist. Atty. Carol Vance says, points up the necessity for giving the state the right to appeal legal points to higher courts. That point is currently under intense debate by Texas legislators acting as a constitutional convention in Austin.

The decision by District Court Judge Andrew Jefferson, the only black district judge in Texas, threw out the indictments of five persons charged with assaulting a police officer. Judge Jefferson, who also served in the 37-member committee which wrote the draft constitution delegates are now considering, said the grand jury had no Mexican-American members and was not representative of the community.

Three of the five persons whose indictments were voided are Mexican-Americans. They are accused of assaulting an officer during a pro-Arab demonstration here last year at a Jewish fund raising rally for Israel during the Yom Kippur war.

The decision was the first of its type by a Texas district judge, Dist. Atty. Vance said, although similar rulings by federal courts have been made in other areas.

ONE OF FEW It was praised by some defense lawyers and by the eight-member black caucus in the Texas House. Thursday, Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, a member of the caucus, said he will introduce legislation next session to prohibit discrimination against racial minorities when picking state grand juries.

Jefferson declines to comment about his decision.

Will Gray, a Houston lawyer with a large criminal practice, said of Judge Jefferson's decision, "He's one of the few who has guts enough to rule and follow the U.S. Constitution."

Gray said he will cite Judge Jefferson's ruling for his client, Elmer Wayne Henley, 18, accused in the Houston mass murders. The same grand jury which indicted the five persons also indicted Henley.

TRIAL DATE But Gray said he doesn't expect any other judges to follow the ruling.

Vance agrees on that point. He resisted efforts from a member of his staff to re-indict Henley to rule out an appeal possibility if Henley is convicted in San Antonio where he goes on trial July 1.

Vance says the decision by Jefferson flies in the face of both the facts and recent Texas court decisions.

"We did a study of the past five years and 39 of the last 500 grand jurors had Mexican-American surnames. There were probably more with traditional Anglo names. But at least 8 per cent of the grand jurors were Mexican-Americans, compared to 13 per cent in the county population. You're not going to hit it on the nose."

Grand jurors in Texas are handpicked by commissioners. The commissioners are named by district court judges.

LATIN ISSUE "You don't just get out and pick a grand jury to get all these population things perfectly even," Vance said. "What you try to do is not discriminate."

Vance said a March 6 decision by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals which refused to overturn a burglary conviction of a Mexican-American in Hidalgo County backs up his judgment. The defendant said the grand jury which indicted him had only 39 per cent Mexican-Americans, despite a 79.2 per cent Mexican-American population in the county.

The court, the highest criminal appeals body in Texas, wrote, "The (U.S.) Supreme Court has made it clear that the Constitution does not require proportional representation of races on jury panels. It is required only that selection be without discrimination as to race."

Judge Jefferson's decision, Vance said, again points to the need to let the state appeal on points of law.

ONLY STATE "Texas is the only state in the union which doesn't allow such appeals," Vance said. "I don't want to appeal to retry anybody if they've been found innocent. I just want to make sure the same law applies statewide."

Legislators debating a new constitution voted last week to allow such appeals, then in a series of flip-flops, voted the provision down, reconsidered it, then voted it down again. The whole matter is now pending as part of the judicial section of the proposed constitution.

Vance said about a third of the 1,479 indictments returned by the disputed grand jury have already been disposed of.

"You can bet that some of the prisoners at Huntsville are working their pencils overtime to use this decision to get free," Vance said.

The district attorney said one solution to the grand jury problems might be to pick members at random from a voter list, as trial jurors are.

"We would not get better grand jurors, but at least this kind of question would not arise."

But if that occurs, he said, he would like to see the member of grand jurors set at 23 instead of the present 12. "If you draw at random, you might get a few people who just don't believe in some kind of law, like the driving while intoxicated statute, and it could cause problems," Vance said.

However the district attorney said he would like to abolish grand juries for most routine cases.

"Everybody who has really studied the matter agrees," he said. "Grand juries are better used for investigations and cases where you're not sure of the facts."

Instead, he said, district attorneys should be allowed to file criminal information charges—a process used in many states and in Texas for misdemeanor ones—then give the defendants examining trials to weed out the bad cases.

COUNTY JUDGES KNOW HOW TO USE 'HELP' AT CON-CON

Anatomy Of Defeat Hints 'Special Interests'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Most of Texas' county judges are not lawyers, and some didn't even finish high school, but they turned out to be plenty smart enough to defeat the judiciary article in the proposed constitution.

most county judges. Why do the judges oppose the article? Simply put, it makes it easier for the legislature to strip them of their power to try cases. And the judges correctly discount arguments by some supporters of the article that it leaves the judges as it found them.

government article was written, it was proposed to call them county manager or county executive. They resisted this, and the title of judge was retained. For another, even though they have few contested trials and even though many are not trained for the job, they want to be up on that bench when those few cases are tried. A matter of prestige.

How is it that rural county judges can exert so much pressure? They may be small frogs in the statewide lake, but their croak is loud in their immediate area. A legislator who fails to listen to them guarantees himself lots of trouble at re-election time. This is a good argument against allowing the legislature to sit as a constitutional convention. Louisiana may have had a better idea when it elected all delegates, permitting legislators to run if they wanted to.

'COMPROMISE' Forty of the 132 delegates to that convention were legislators. Gov. Edwin Edwards last week told the Texas delegates that many Louisiana legislators later regretted running because the pressures were greater than they imagined. Texas made each legislator a delegate whether he wanted to be one or not. That ensured built-in opposition from those few who are opposed to writing a new constitution. That's especially important in Texas because, unlike Louisiana, a two-thirds majority is needed for final approval of the document before it may be presented to the voters. After rejecting the judiciary article by a vote of 81-74, the Texas delegates were offered a "compromise" that narrowed the right of state appeal in criminal cases but made no substantive change on county judges.

It was hoped enough liberals and blacks would switch their votes to push it across. But the compromise was presented in an unamendable form—take it or leave it. Many delegates resented these "bulldozer tactics." The compromise of the proposal was postponed until 2 p.m. Tuesday. It will take a majority vote to bring it up at that time.

Job Security For Printers Key To Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — Job security for printers, wage increases tied to the cost of living and freedom for publishers to introduce automation are among key planks in a tentative 11-year newspaper contract. "The publishers and the union each got 100 per cent," mediator Theodore Kheel said Friday in outlining the pact for printers at the morning New York Times and Daily News.

The 1,800 affected members of the AFL-CIO New York Typographical Union No. 6 will hold a ratification vote within the next few weeks. But immediate praise for the settlement came from both sides. Union president Bertram Powers, who led a 19-day printers' slowdown that cost the News about $2 million and forced it to resort to automation May 7, called the contract a landmark. And Walter K. Graham, vice president of the News and chairman of the publishers' negotiating committee, called the contract "mutually satisfactory."

Band Officers, Twirlers Unfurled At Annual Event

An Oriental fantasy high-lighted the annual band banquet with twirlers and officers announced for the coming year and a number of humorous awards presented.

Sonya Worthan and Donna Nagel are the twirlers next year, according to an announcement by Terri Sledge with John Miller announcing that the drum major is yet to be named.

New officers include Robert Bradbury, president; Stan Vick, vice president; Karyl Thames, and Cindy Coleman, secretaries; Maridene Margolis and Gala Teague, treasurers and Sammy Hammon, band captain.

The ceilings were lined with lighted lanterns, fish and oriental features. Guests entered through a woods and over a sloped bridge with real water running underneath.

The tables were centered with pagodas and each place held an oriental mat and napkin, chopsticks, a cup with a fortune cookie and a miniature richashay. Candles were oriental figurines.

The menu included Japanese snacks, chicken chow mein, ham fried rice, sweet and sour pork ice cream, cookies and tea. Special thanks went to Mrs. Fritz Baker, James Jodoi and Mrs. Jimmy Conley as well as the lower classmen who put on the event. The banquet was followed by a dance, picture show and pancake breakfast.

The band presented Bill Bradley and Gene Currie, directors, with a small safe to lock up valuables on trips. Student leaders were named for the coming year including uniform lieutenants, Mikl Reed, Becky Blalack, Jon Elrod and Adrain Ayala. Costumes and accessories will be handled by Karen Fortson and Nita Hodges with Jay Huskey as bus lieutenant. The bus captains include Huskey, Donny Green, Keith McGuire, Janet Ivory, and David Wrinkle.

Ouster Of DA Order Upheld

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — An appeals court upheld Friday the removal from office of former Wichita County Dist. Atty. Jimmie Phagan.

Associate Judge Harris Brewster of the 2nd Court of Appeals wrote in the opinion that a previous disbarment by a Wichita County district court was a suspension of Phagan's license to practice law.

A district attorney must be a licensed lawyer. Thus he could not hold the job.

Phagan was disbarred after the jury found he misappropriated property of a client.

Phagan refused to resign as district attorney but was ousted by court order.

Traffic Deaths Dip 27 Per Cent

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Traffic deaths are down 27 per cent this year in Texas, the Department of Public Safety reported Saturday.

So far this year there have been 913 persons killed in traffic accidents on Texas highways and streets, compared to the toll of 1,259 for the same period last year.

There have been 795 accidents this year in which deaths occurred, compared to 1,042 last year, a decrease of 24 per cent.

Gave Athletes Examination Answer Sheet?

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A spokesman for the U.S. Naval Academy refused to comment on reports an instructor supplied students with an examination answer sheet.

The Baltimore News American reported Friday that a sympathetic instructor supplied two athletes with an answer sheet to an exam in a required navigation course.

"We're not going to come out piecemeal on this," the spokesman said. "We're going to wait until the investigation is completed and get the whole thing out."

The News American said a baseball player and a basketball player originally obtained the answers and reportedly ran off copies to give to other sophomores taking the final test.

Academy officials confirmed Thursday that the test, taken by some 900 midshipmen, had been "compromised" and would be readministered Tuesday.

Plan Special Facility For Mentally Retarded

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation has begun plans for a special facility that will care for about 100 mentally retarded youths now confined in Texas Youth Council institutions.

Robert Parsley, Houston, was named on Friday chairman of a three-member committee to work out details of an inter-agency contract in which the MHMR department would operate the special program for young, mentally retarded delinquents.

Other members of the committee are Dr. Margaret Cigarroa, Laredo, and Edwin VanZandt, Beaumont, who is chairman of the MHMR board.

In other action at the regular MHMR board meeting, Harry G. Heyman was named new director of the Amarillo State Center for Human Development. He succeeds Bobby C. White, who resigned to become executive director of the Texarkana MHMR regional center.

A three-member policy committee was named to draw up guidelines for future construction of MHMR facilities.

Board member Dr. Olin B. Gober, Temple, is chairman of the construction policy group along with O.P. Leonard Jr., Fort Worth and Lynn Darden of Wichita Falls.

The appointment was made at the regular board meeting after department administrators requested guidelines in developing construction needs of state hospitals, state schools and other facilities for 1976 and 1977.

The appointment also followed a statement issued Thursday by 10 members of the House Committee on Human Resources that they would not approve the agency's 1976-77 budget if two-thirds of the money goes to improve present institutions.

"When this funding is used to construct facilities that are obsolete and fail to meet minimum standards before the plans are even completed, Texas will never have alternative care and treatment available to those citizens who desperately need it and deserve it," the House members said in a letter.

New Thunderstorms Pop Up In Panhandle, North Texas

By The Associated Press
 What once appeared a pleasant weather outlook for the long Memorial weekend began to break up into thunderstorms particularly in the northern section of the state Saturday. The bad weather followed severe weather Friday night and the state and into Oklahoma where it caused heavy rains, hail and tornados. Behind the old front, new thunderstorms began to pop up in the Panhandle and across North Texas about noon. These came from a nearly stationary front from Southern Oklahoma into West Texas south of Childress and Wink. Around noon, the Weather Service issued a watch advisory for severe thunderstorms mostly in southern Oklahoma but including the Texas counties of Childress, Cottle, Kind, Stovall, Archer, Baylor, Clay, Cooke, Fannin, Foard, Grayson, Hardeman, Haskell, Knox, Montague, Throckmor-

Investigating Arson, Gun Death In Cee-City

COLORADO CITY — Local police are investigating the possibility of arson in the fire Friday, May 17, that destroyed the home of Colorado City Police Officer Pat Fuller. Fuller was on duty at the time of the fire and his wife was away from home, bicycling with friends.

wedding gifts. The sheriff's office in Snyder was also awaiting a justice of the peace ruling on the death of Les Fuller, father of Pat Fuller. The older Fuller was found shot to death at his home at the edge of Scurry County Monday night, May 20. He was the owner of the big truck stop complex in Colorado City.

Feminist Leader Reveals $50 Million Settlement

HOUSTON (AP) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co. here Saturday. In an opening speech to the seventh annual conference of the National Organization for Women, the group's president, Wilma Scott Heide, told them of alleged discrimination toward minorities and women, facing a second $50 million settlement, a feminist leader said.

known to many as "Ma Bell" but which Ms. Heide calls "Pa Bell," agreed in January of 1973 to a consent decree to pay some 15,000 minority and women employees $15 million, much of it in back pay, as restitution for alleged discrimination in hiring and promotion.

Bell, the nation's largest private employer, also said it had agreed to new promotion and wage policies that will add $23 million a year to its workers' paychecks.

Threaten Power Blackout If British Units Called

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Protestant militants said Saturday they would impose an immediate power blackout if British soldiers were called in to break their crippling 11-day-old general strike.

The Ulster Workers Council, Britain's administrator for Northern Ireland, Merlyn Rees, returned to Ulster earlier in the day carrying British plans to break the strike. British Prime Minister Harold Wilson, who has refused to negotiate with the strikers, scheduled a national television address on the crisis in the evening. There were reports the British were prepared to use troops to restore essential services, such as distributing gas and oil. It was feared such a move could trigger more violence from the strikers who have enforced the shutdown with barricades, intimidation and attacks on police.

IMPEACHMENT INQUIRY IS MOMENTOUS Not Allowed To Watch Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — The impeachment inquiry on Capitol Hill is historic and momentous. But it's like being invited to a Hollywood premiere and not being allowed to watch the show.

The action takes place behind closed, paneled doors on the first floor of the Sam Rayburn House office building on the southwest side of the Capitol. Anyone who doesn't belong inside is told so by an armed policeman at the door.

WHO'S WHO?

Those who insist on a glimpse of history-in-the-making must stand for hours in the marble corridor, waiting for the entrances and exits of the 38 members of the House Judiciary Committee. If you're only there once, it's hard to figure out who's who.

The chairman, Peter W. Rodino D-N.J., a short, impeccably tailored man with wavy, gray-white hair, is easy to spot. Almost everywhere he goes, at least a dozen reporters and photographers surround him.

President Nixon's lawyer, James D. St. Clair, is another crowd-pleaser. Each time he emerges from a secret meeting, reporters pounce on him, peppering him with questions as he walks quickly down the corridor.

HURRY UP

When John M. Doar, the tall, lean chief counsel for the committee, came out, he, too, was followed by questioning reporters.

Doar was silent and kept walking. He reached the end of the corridor and knocked briskly on the door. No one answered. The chief counsel began to laugh. "Hurry up and get me away from these people," he pleaded.

So it goes.

'TREE HOUSE'

The committee has held six sessions in what Rodino calls the "tree house," it has two platforms to hold television cameras.

It remains to be seen whether the impeachment inquiry, however historic and momentous, will hold the public's interest.

President Assuming Firm Stand

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — President Nixon was described Saturday as assuming a firm stand "to defend his office against excessive encroachment."

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon was facing "very difficult decisions" but views it as "his unique responsibility to the office of the presidency and the Constitution" to resist the mounting pressures.

Among the problems facing Nixon is determining how to respond to a request filed Friday by the Watergate special prosecutor that the Supreme Court decide how far Nixon can go in using claims of executive privilege to withhold materials from Watergate investigators.

Nixon also is under orders from U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell to say in writing that he understands White House refusal to turn over subpoenaed materials is likely to lead to dismissal of charges against two former top presidential aides.

But on another front, Ziegler said Nixon will direct his lawyers to consult with counsel for the House Judiciary Committee in an effort to make available "under appropriate safeguards" information the committee's impeachment probe is seeking on Nixon's tax returns and audits.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe had ruled earlier Saturday that the Internal Revenue Code prevents the Internal Revenue Service from supplying the information directly to the Judiciary Committee. But Saxbe did say the material might be obtained after passage of a special House authorizing resolution or indirectly through any of three standing committees authorized to obtain such information.

Doar's recitation of all information available on the Watergate break in and cover-up.

St. Clair, a short, stocky, gray-haired man, has permission to attend. When Doar finishes, St. Clair may respond on the President's behalf.

Rodino has said the committee meetings may be made public within the next two weeks.

The committee room is small and will hold only about 100 reporters and photographers of some 1,000 who have requested to be admitted, so the television networks have built their own accommodations.

They have set up a small, air-conditioned stage on a scaffolding outside the windows of the committee room. Known as the "tree house," it has two thousands of friends, admirers and fellow musicians lined up to view the body of jazz great Duke Ellington as he lay in state Saturday. He was wearing the nation's Medal of Freedom.

Ellington, who died of cancer and pneumonia Friday at the age of 75, lay in an open coffin surrounded by dozens of floral displays as mourners filed by at a rate of 1,000 an hour.

The famed band leader and composer received the Medal of Freedom, the nation's highest civilian award, in 1970 from President Nixon, who in another tribute Friday called the "Duke" the nation's foremost composer.

Among the mourners Saturday were two members of Ellington's first band in 1923 — singer Maria Lucas, 67, and Frisco Bowman 71, a New Orleans-born drummer and guitar player who called Ellington "in the first class of jazz musicians."

The Rev. John G. Gensel, minister to the jazz community, will deliver the meditation at Ellington's funeral Monday.

Apartment Filled With Stolen Loot

TOKYO (AP) — Police arrested a 25-year-old bartender for a minor theft and found his 10-foot-square apartment crammed with about 3,000 items of burgled booty — including four television sets, 15 cameras, 40 suits and 100 fountain pens. He said his "greatest thrill was to admire and enjoy my loot" and he couldn't bear to part with any of it.

CRY HAVOC — Villagers of Phum Cham, a suburb of Phnom Penh, cry in anguish following a night attack by insurgents which left 10 civilians dead, 23 wounded and 12 houses burned. The attack late Friday night was one of two in close proximity to the Cambodian capital.

WE URGE YOU To Go Vote Saturday, June 1st

(If You Can't Vote Then, Vote Absentee Now)

Open Letter To Our Friends

1. We feel the only way we can have good government is to have two acceptable candidates running in November in the General Election.
2. Glenn (High Taxes) Toombs has been our County Judge for almost 4 years. During that time, he has raised our taxes every time he got the chance during his entire term in office.
3. A group of Borden County citizens averted a law suit between Borden County and the oil operators operating within the County by agreeing to reevaluate all property within the County except oil and gas properties. This amounted to about 50 per cent increase. We further agreed to stop increasing the oil companies taxes, which Judge Toombs instrumented each year he had been in office.
4. Glenn (High Tax) Toombs is running on a platform which not only affects the landowners and homeowners, but also apartment dwellers and everyone who owns any property at all.
5. Glenn Toombs wants to come into your home and have a disinterested appraiser appraise your dishes, your furniture, your car, etc. . . . and then tax them on the full market value.
6. Accountants have estimated that this would quadruple the taxes throughout the 63rd Legislative District, whether you own any real property or not.
7. Glenn Toombs did not carry one precinct in Borden County, including the precinct where he was raised and of course, was solidly defeated throughout the County.
8. Glenn (High Tax) Toombs did not carry Scurry or Howard Counties where he ran not on his own merits but on the good reputation of his parents.
9. We feel that a man who cannot carry his home County and his home precinct, among the people who know him best, does not warrant the vote or support of the other people throughout the district.
10. Regardless of the pretty words of Glenn (High Tax) Toombs, the above facts are actually what he believes.
11. We urge you all to get out and vote on Saturday, June 1st, so that you may select between two good candidates in the November general election.

Easy To Lose Lbs. Fast With New Vitamin 'E' Diet

HOLLYWOOD (Special) — New scientific discoveries have produced a Vitamin E diet that quickly works wonders on overweight people, and reportedly is gaining great popularity across the country with glowing reports of easy weight loss "while still eating almost as much as you want."

Those who follow the simple Vitamin E diet report an average loss of at least a pound a day and even more without exercise or starvation. Nutritionists' files are bulging with happy testimonials from formerly overweight people who are now trim and slim again. Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, chicken, fish, sauces, gravies, bacon and eggs and still lose weight.

Cheatable (candy-like) vitamin E tablets, as used in the diet plan, contain a new scientific combination of ingredients that quickly curbs and controls the appetite, while also giving the wondrous benefits of Vitamin E which is so essential to good health.

The use of the new Vitamin E Diet tablets and foods prescribed in the plan will, through natural action, act to help your body use up excess fat. According to recent clinical test, a person who is deficient in Vitamin E or Protein "will double the speed of fat utilization" with the use of Vitamin E.

E-DIET AVAILABLE

To get a copy of this highly successful diet and E Tablets, send $5.00 for 10 day supply (or $7.00 for 20 day supply or $10.00 for 30 day supply) to: Vita-E Diet, Dept. V1, 11526 Burbank Blvd., North Hollywood, Cal. 91601 (Unconditional money-back guarantee if not satisfied). —Adv.

Nixon's Attitude Creates Big Differences With Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's hardened attitude toward the House impeachment inquiry appears to have created the first serious public differences between the President and Vice President Gerald R. Ford.

Ford is making it clear that he disapproves of what he calls Nixon's "stonewall attitude" and that he fears it may be the catalyst that brings about the President's impeachment.

MODERATION
At the same time he indicates his oft-stated pleas for compromise and moderation are falling on deaf ears, and that he sees no sign the President plans to reverse his course.

For weeks now, Ford has been issuing periodic public warnings that Nixon's plight would be deepened by a refusal to cooperate as fully as possible with the House Judiciary Committee.

A veteran of 25 years in the House, Ford knows the sensitivities of congressmen and realizes that a refusal to cooperate will raise the institutional backs of even House members eager to support the President.

This is, in fact, what is increasingly happening within the Judiciary Committee, as shown by its lopsided votes in favor of subpoenaing evidence Nixon refuses to give.

NEW SHOWDOWN
On Wednesday, Nixon set off a new showdown by informing the panel he would give it no further Watergate material.

That night in Wilmington, Del., Ford took some questions from his audience at a Republican rally. A man asked if he would use his good offices to bring about compliance with subpoenas and other demands for evidence so that the Republicans could put Watergate behind them.

Ford gave his usual response about the large amount of material Nixon had already provided, then added that, after it is digested, "if they want any more that's relevant to the issues, to the impeachable offenses in the Constitution, I hope the President will give it to them, the sooner the better."

QUICKER THE BETTER
Ford expressed confidence in Nixon's innocence but added, "Let's get it all out there and the quicker the better."

Late Thursday morning, Nixon summoned Ford to one of their periodic chats. When he arrived at Andrews Air Force Base that afternoon to fly to New York for a speech, the vice president was barraged with questions about the session but brushed aside questions about whether the Watergate situation was even discussed.

He later passed the word that he was annoyed at the way he had been hit by questions without warning. Upon arrival in New York, he looked unusually somber and aides said he was a little uptight because the meeting with Nixon had thrown his schedule off.

Later Thursday night, however, Ford gave more of a clue as to what might have been bothering him. In an interview with ABC's Bill Zimmerman, he indicated the White House had again rejected his advice and said, "It seems to me that a stonewall attitude isn't necessarily the wisest policy."

When he was asked if he had any reason to believe that there might still be a compromise, he replied, "at this point, I don't think I'm in a position to give you any authoritative answer. I can only say that in my judgment, that would be a better procedure."

with the Washington Star News, procedure."

LOYALTY
In another interview Friday with the Washington Star-News, Ford said President Nixon "didn't give me any reason to believe that he would" change his position on supplying additional material to the committee.

Since he was named for the vice presidency Oct. 12, Ford has shown steadfast loyalty to Nixon, mixed with some criticism of White House tactics and a clear indication there were quite a few things he would have done differently.

Now, with the background of his knowledge of the House of Representatives, he is trying to tell the White House what will happen if Nixon persists in his course, knowing that failure to get the message across could put him into the presidency.

CALF IS NOT BOY'S BEST FRIEND — One-year-old Gregory Lampart of Port Washington, Wis., raises some objections as a young calf attempts to make friends Friday at the Milwaukee County Children's Zoo.

FRAMING A SUMMER SCENE — The Comanche Park swimming pool provides an in-season backdrop for two pretty mermaids, Jenny Seitz (left) and Vickie Steele. PROBE OF BREAK-IN, COVER-UP NEARLY COMPLETED

Watergate Birthday 'Goodies'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marking its first anniversary, the Watergate special prosecution force announced Saturday that its investigation of the break-in and cover-up is nearly completed and that its probe of campaign dirty tricks is in its final stage.

Spokesmen for the prosecutors said the greatest number of criminal investigations still pending involve campaign contributions, including those from dairy-farmer cooperatives.

PLUMBERS UNIT — Other investigations also are proceeding in the ITT case and in matters stemming from the probe of the White House plumbers unit, including alleged misuse of executive power, alleged illegal wiretapping and alleged misuse of the FBI, the Internal Revenue Service and other government agencies, the spokesmen said.

In a 10-page report, the spokesmen gave a box score of the year's activities: —56 men and 13 corporations have been charged by the special prosecutors with some federal crime. Of these, 22 men and 9 corporations have been convicted, two men have had indictments dismissed, and the remainder either have yet to plead to the charges or are awaiting trial. Those who have pleaded guilty include former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, former White House aide John W. Dean III, Jeb Stuart Magruder, Frederick C. LaRue, Egil Krogh, Jr. and Herbert L. Porter and the President's former lawyer and fundraiser Herbert W. Kalmbach.

COURT BATTLE — Legal papers have been filed in court on 54 separate occasions, including an historic court battle over the first subpoena demanding presidential tape recordings and documents from President Nixon.

—One briefcase full of evidence pertaining to the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment investigation of President Nixon was forwarded by a Watergate grand jury through U.S. Dist. Judge John J. Sirica to the committee.

The anniversary report made no mention of Nixon's firing last year of the original Watergate prosecutor, Archibald Cox, or of the recent troubles of his successor, Leon Jaworski.

The report, issued by public relations spokesmen James S. Doyle and John Barker, said a task force of seven lawyers assigned to the Watergate break-in itself is currently preparing for the September trial of seven persons, including former Nixon aide H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman, Charles W. Colson and John N. Mitchell.

TASK FORCE — "The investigative work of this task force is nearly completed and future work will be concentrated mostly on preparation for trials," the report said.

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — Virgil Tullios of Possum Walk, Tex., won the third annual Southern Hushpuppy Olympics here Saturday.

Tullios was the defending champion and maintained his title. Second place went to Parker Folse of Dallas. Out of a possible 150 points, Tullios got 150. Folse got 147.

Tullios' recipe included cornmeal, green onions and, in Tullios' words, "holding your mouth right."

In a special cookoff for radio stations, KEEL in Shreveport, La., was the winner. KXOL in Fort Worth and KILT in Houston tied for second.

Hushpuppies are a delicacy made mainly of cornmeal and fried. They got their name, according to legend, when hunters cooked their evening meal. Their dogs would howl for their food, too, and the hunters would toss them some of the corn concoction and admonish them, "Hush, puppy!"

Millions of Americans took to the highways Saturday for the first warm weather holiday weekend of the year and officials predicted that more people would make it home alive because of the 55 m.p.h. speed limit.

The National Safety Council estimated that between 450 and 550 persons would die in traffic accidents during the three-day Memorial Day weekend. The prediction was 100 below last year's pre-Memorial Day estimate, also for a three-day period.

"This is in part due to lower speeds and we also expect less miles to be driven," said Ron Kuykendall, a spokesman for the council. He said the council estimated that Americans drove 12.6 billion miles during the 1973 Memorial Day holiday and will drive 12 billion miles this year—a decrease of almost 5 per cent. The final death toll for the 1973 holiday was 486.

At 2 p.m. EDT Saturday, the traffic death toll stood at 64. The 55 m.p.h. speed limit was imposed on a nationwide basis earlier this year in a move to conserve fuel during the height of the energy crisis. It has provided a bonus in the form of fewer traffic accidents and officials said thousands of lives could ultimately be saved.

A larger task force of 10 lawyers assigned to campaign contributions already has accounted for charges against 16 individuals and 13 corporations. "It is the task force with the largest number of criminal investigations still pending," the report added.

A dirty-tricks task force has nearly wound up its work with the sentencing on May 15 of former presidential aide Dwight Chapin. One of the two lawyers on the task force now spends most of his time working with the ITT group. "Some instances of 'dirty tricks' remain under investigation for purposes of a final report by the special prosecutor," the report said.

CRIMINAL FRAUD — A probe of the ITT affair, involving the International Telephone & Telegraph Co. and its links to the Nixon administration, is still under way, the report said.

It also said that one major investigation and several minor ones, none of them specified, were being carried out directly by Deputy Special Prosecutor Henry S. Ruth.

Although the prosecutors have not publicly acknowledged it, they are known to be probing the possibility of criminal fraud in the preparation of President Nixon's income tax returns during his first term.

Oilmen Will Have To Deal With Two 'Flower Gardens'

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Oilmen will have to deal with hidden military ordnance and two "flower gardens" if they win leases offered here this week for drilling tracts off the Texas coast.

Past drilling success in that corner of the Gulf of Mexico has been less than encouraging. But the new federal push to increase offshore development leads to the less attractive areas.

PRETTY SORRY — Some 403 lease have been issued since 1954 for offshore Texas. Only 137 are still active — 96 of them are less than a year old.

"That wouldn't make me want to rush out," said John Rankin of New Orleans, the Bureau of Dated Management official who will conduct the bidding this Wednesday.

"The history of Texas is pretty sorry. We had a sale of Texas in '68 and everybody thought they had the key to it. About 41 tracts survived but it sure wasn't much."

Most of the leases which never produced or soon dried up sat within 100 miles of the coast. The 245 tracts of seabottom offered this time are beyond that—between 100 and 300 miles offshore. They are scattered among the leases granted a year ago in the most recent Texas sale.

OPTIMISTIC — Successes there make some oilmen optimistic about their chances of finding oil or natural gas in the 1.35 million acres of land offered in this seventh offshore Texas sale.

"Industry is learning a devil of a lot," Rankin said. "They make technical breakthroughs that make it look more attractive to them."

Drillers will have to skirt around the two points where a coral reef peaks about 65 feet below the surface.

Rankin's staff has studied the reef tips, known as the "East and West Flower Gardens," for a year. Tough restrictions on drilling have been designed to protect the reef and the marine life in harbors.

NO MISTAKE — "We've buoyed those so there can be no mistake about their location," Rankin said. "A supertanker coming in there could just gut itself."

Another 101 tracts fall in past or present target areas of the Matagorda Island Air Force Range. The Interior Department warns that hazardous military ordnance may be hidden beneath.

Water depths reach 650 feet under 24 tracts. Several are over the edge of the continental slope and reach a depth of more than 1,300 feet. Current deepest well is 373 feet.

How the oil companies value the area won't be known until their secret bids are opened Wednesday morning. Last June, they bid a total of $1.598 billion for 104 tracts in the same area. The money goes directly into the U.S. Treasury.

One-fifth of the amount must accompany the bid, with the balance due when the lease is formally approved. If oil or gas is eventually found, one-sixth of the revenue is due the government.

Fire Kills Three Kids

HOUSTON (AP) — Three small children were trapped in a house fire early Saturday while their mother was on duty at Texas Children's Hospital and their father was out buying cigarettes.

Dead are Dierda D. Nelson, 10, her sister, Dariell E. Nelson, 9, and a brother, Brian C. Nelson, 4.

Willie Lee Nelson, father of the children, said he left home to buy more cigarettes and when he returned the house was ablaze.

Arson investigator J.D. Caldwell said a lit cigarette fell from an ashtray on a sofa in the den of the home and apparently started the blaze.

Nelson's wife, Patricia, 27, was hospitalized for shock.

THE CHILDRESS CHIEF? Tourist Train Project Costs Top $5 Million

AUSTIN (AP) — The money is as good as in the bank, but the hunt goes on for steam locomotives to run up and down a proposed 24-mile tourist train route in East Texas.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission approved, 5-1, Friday a new, higher budget for the train, which will haul passengers between Rusk and Palestine.

Parks director Paul Schlimper was asked if he thought he could save on the budgeted money for the railroad, and he said possibly on equipment.

Schlimper noted that Abilene had donated a steam engine for the project, and the department was shopping for four more, but they are becoming increasingly difficult to obtain.

"Brownwood loved theirs so much they wouldn't give it to us," he said, and an aide added that he had talked to Childress about its locomotive, "but they didn't want to discuss it."

"How about if we call it the Childress Chief?" joked a commissioner. Another suggested the name of the "Palestinian Guerrilla."

The commission staff approved the revised budget—including a $651,000 increase—at a May 17 public hearing attended by 58 persons from the Rusk-Palentine area.

ROCKS IN HEAD? — Commissioner Pearce Johnson of Austin cast the lone dissenting vote Friday. "Everybody thought I had rocks in my head when I said this (project) would cost $5 million," said Johnson, "and I note it is $5,094,000."

Schlimper said the additional funds are needed to build larger terminals at Rusk and Palestine and to pay the increasing costs of railroad ties and other equipment.

He said the staff expects 100,000 persons a year to be riding the train within 3-5 years of its grand opening in the bicentennial year of 1976. Facilities

Rape Of Fems Intellectually Original Sin?

HOUSTON (AP) — Women have been raped of a proper place in humanity by tradition, she struck at those who oppose abortion, including pickets outside the Albert Thomas Convention Hall here protesting the new court rulings allowing abortion on demand.

Utterly obscene "Every child may have a right to life—if that is wanted by her and his parents, especially the mother whose body is inhabited and from whom the human embryo draws substance... Compulsory pregnancy is utterly obscene..." Mrs. Heide declared.

CHEERS She was an opening speaker as NOW opened its seventh national conference which continues through Tuesday.

Theme of the feminist conference is "You Can't Stop NOW," and Ms. Heide told about 3,000 delegates, "This is the place, this is the time: We are the people to vanguard the end of the 'femininity' game crippled by the 'masculinity' game and create the 'humanity' game."

1,970 Phone Calls Costly

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — Lula Mae Harris was fined $500 and placed on one year's probation after she pleaded guilty to making 1,970 harassing telephone calls to the same man and charging them to other people.

U.S. Magistrate Michael Wahler also suspended a six-month jail term. She was accused of placing the calls between August 1973 and February 1974 to Sgt. Gilbert N. Wilson at Randolph Air Force Base, Tex., whom she identified in court as the father of one of her children.

Jailhouse Stores May Be In Violation Of Tax Law

Next time you go to jail you may have to pack your toothbrush. And don't forget to bring your brand of cigarettes.

A survey of Texas sheriff's departments reveals that most of the county jails do not have commissaries and those that do most likely are breaking the law by not paying taxes to the state.

Inmates in those jails that do not have commissaries must rely on their jailers for errands to the store. That often depends on the mood of the jailer.

Take, for instance, the jail in Hidalgo County in South Texas' Lower Rio Grande Valley where a jailer said that there is a cigarette machine in the jail, but that if inmates want something they better have some relatives outside who can bring it to them.

TOO MUCH TROUBLE "Up to about a year ago," Deputy Sheriff Pat Ramsey said, "a jailer would take orders from the prisoners for things like tooth paste, snack items, etc., and then go to the store and buy them... but that got to be too much trouble."

Those departments with commissaries are now finding out that the state requires a sales tax permit for any individual or organization that engages in the sale of taxable items. They are confronted with a possible fine, back taxes and, conceivably, a misdemeanor charge.

"I didn't know that," said a spokesman for the El Paso County Sheriff's Office.

The county runs a commissary, which assistant Chief Deputy Ben Clements described as almost a non-profit store that provides needed times for the inmates.

"Whatever money we get goes into the auditor's office and the county funds," Clements said. "I did not know we had to have a permit."

Clements said the sheriff's office is planning to expand the commissary to include soft drinks and other items. He said the plans now will have to include getting a sales permit from the Comptroller's Office.

The sales tax permit requirement came to light this week in Austin when a television station disclosed that the Travis County commissary was not paying state sales tax, an obligation specified in a 1963 Texas attorney general's decision.

Sheriff Raymond Frank told the Sales Tax Division of the Comptroller's Office that he most woman audience—NOW does have men members—when she struck at those who oppose abortion, including pickets outside the Albert Thomas Convention Hall here protesting the new court rulings allowing abortion on demand.

Another speaker, Phyllis Lyon of San Francisco, complained that while NOW has passed resolutions in support of lesbians to choose their own life style, "Living up to those lofty ideals" is not universal in the organization.

LESBIANS In some NOW chapters, she said, lesbians "are deliberately denied participation in the speakers bureau or at a news conference, presumably because they just might talk about lesbian concerns—concerns to which NOW is supposed to be committed."

Mrs. Heide told the delegates that she is joining in an action to withhold some income taxes from the government on the grounds of taxation without representation, and asked others to join her.

At a news conference later, she declined to go into details about the action, saying she was only supporting tax withholding as a principle and the plan is not developed.

Asked on what basis she would withhold taxes, Ms. Heide said, "Obviously we're not represented numerically in government."

CORONER INDICATES 'CINQUE' WOUND — The Los Angeles County Coroner, Dr. Thomas Noguchi, indicates where he found the fatal bullet wound on the body of Donald DeFreeze, who died in last week's massive shootout between Symbionese Liberation Army members and Los Angeles police. He said it was "consistent with a self-inflicted wound."

Tell Of Beer Party Shortly Before Six Terrorists Die

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Neighbors tell of drinking beer and visiting with Symbionese Liberation Army members until shortly before the six terrorists died during a shootout with authorities.

The people on 54th Street watched the four white women load guns and ammunition just before the gun battle May 17.

They saw a black man, later identified as the "Cinque" of the Patricia Hearst kidnap communique, sitting on the porch of the little yellow bungalow.

They saw a man, later identified as William Wolfe, sitting in a top bunk bed, twirling a pistol cowboy-style.

They heard a tall white woman say: "We've got to be alert—got to be on guard."

And they heard the whispered plans to leave that night—plans that were never fulfilled, for the six terrorists who had vowed to die for their revolution died in the flaming ruins of the little yellow house.

The bungalow on 54th Street was known to neighbors as a party house. People dropped in all the time.

MINNIE'S HOUSE The SLA terrorists were lodged there after offering Christine Johnson $100 to spend the night in the house she shared with Minnie Lewis and Minnie's five children.

The children left for school the morning of May 17 unaware of the fugitives hiding in the rear bedroom. But by afternoon, neighborhood children were dashing down the street with the news "those SLA" people had turned up on their block.

"We saw him sitting on the porch but we didn't know he was that SLA guy," Florence Lishey said Friday, referring to Donald DeFreeze, the SLA leader "Cinque."

ALL DAY PARTY "They were partying all day over there," she said, "but that wasn't unusual 'cause they party in that place everyday." Brenda Daniels, 17, said she

Kissinger Goes Into Final Round Of Talks

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger headed into the final round of his peace talks Saturday, and a senior American official said the secretary of state would be home by Monday night whether or not he achieved a Syrian-Israeli troop disengagement.

In Key Biscayne, Fla., a White House spokesman said President Nixon will visit the Middle East "at some point in the near future," but there was no immediate indication if the trip was connected with Kissinger's mission.

BRIEFING RULES Kissinger and Syrian President Hafez Assad were meeting for the 11th time on the secretary's current peace mission. Kissinger planned to return to Israel later, and will meet again with Assad Sunday only if it is necessary to complete drafting details, the official said.

In any event Kissinger will return to Washington by Monday night, said the official, unnamed under the briefing rules. By then he will have been away from his desk for 30 days trying to end the fighting on the Golan Heights and to separate the Syrian and Israeli armies.

The official said Kissinger had not yet formally presented a U.S. proposal to the two sides regarding a thinning out of their forces on the Golan Heights.

Strange Crash Leaves Two Dead

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — Shirley C. Goodenow, 27, of Dallas and Frankie Lee Reinhart, 21, of Mesquite near Dallas died instantly Saturday in a strange head-on collision with the trailer of a tractor-trailer truck.

Authorities said the connecting bars between the tractor and the trailer broke. The trailer rolled free and into the path of the car carrying the victims.

The accident was at a detour on U.S. 90 seven miles east of this city on the Texas-Mexican border. It occurred at 10:33 a.m.

Norman Duane Iverson, 40, of Sherman, the truck driver, was not injured.

Cellist Leaving Native Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Cellist Mstislav Rostropovich, who spoke in defense of exiled author Alexander Solzhenitsyn, is leaving Russia for an extended stay in England.

Rostropovich said Friday he would leave Sunday for a two-year visit to London. He expects his wife and two daughters to join him later.

Rostropovich, 46, found himself in disfavor with Soviet authorities after his defense of Solzhenitsyn. His concert appearances and foreign tours were restricted.

'Taking A Cure' Best Way To Tune Out, Tone Up?

OBERSTAUFEN, Germany (AP) — It was still dark when the hefty woman known as "the packer" pushed into his room without knocking.

TAKE IT OFF

She ordered him to strip, and while he meekly obeyed, she spread a cold, wet sheet over his bed.

"All right," she said in her no-nonsense voice, "you can lie down again."

As he hit the clammy sheet, he came fully awake. His teeth chattered. Within minutes, the packer had finished her reverse-Houdini routine and the man lay wrapped like an overweight mummy in a leaky tomb.

"It's now six. I'll be back at eight. Do you think you can hold out that long?" she waited for his weak nod before slipping back out into the corridor and groping for the door next door.

Soon, all through the hotel, other guests lay similarly packed and helpless with sweat beginning to pour into their eyes. Day after day, this scene is repeated in pensions and hotels in the Alpine resort of Oberstaufen.

ECONOMIC MIRACLE

The packer strikes before dawn. Her willing victims, mostly from West Germany's affluent middle class, literally stew in their own juice. All this is part of Schrothkur, a century-old cure or natural course of treatment now practiced with the blessing of the West German medical profession.

The Schrothkur's postwar popularity has risen apace with West Germany's "economic miracle," whose side effects have included hypertension and overweight. The cure is designed to shed excess pounds, reduce the fat and cholesterol content of the blood and alleviate a host of chronic ailments from gout to impotence.

An American newsman who checked into Oberstaufen at 200 pounds shed 13 pounds during a two-week cure of sweating, dieting and drinking wine liberally one day and abstaining the next. His triglyceride blood-fat count dropped from 249 to 121 in that time.

"Taking a cure" has become the rage of continental Europe, where health insurance and socialism have put the former watering spots of kings at the disposal of Everyman — Herr Schmidt, the corner butcher, as well as Leonid Brezhnev, chief of the Kremlin.

They are sipping the mineral-laced waters at Vichy and Karlovy Vary, getting sprayed with sea water at St. Malo, being buried up to their necks in Ischia's hot sands, sniffing the vaporous air of a Hungarian cave at Josvafo, bathing at Bad Ems and living a monastic life for a week or two at Uscio.

Some physicians may still dispute the effectiveness of this or that cure, but the avid practitioners of pill-less courses of treatment swear by Hippocrates that spas and other cure resorts offer the best way to tune out, tone up and rid the body of toxic effects of the modern world.

"It was wonderful and effective," said a Frenchman whose allergies were washed away by mud baths and mineral water.

"The water, air and surroundings were so pure that I felt reborn."

A Rome office worker who made a habit of going to a spa each year for his rheumatism moaned: "I wasn't able to go this year, and now I feel pains all over. It's not something you can do just one time and then be cured. You must go every year."

LIVER AILMENT

A more skeptical voice was raised by a Rome physician. "I think it's 75 per cent psychological and 25 per cent heating system," he scoffed.

To the north in Germany, the medical profession formally recognizes natural cures as an extension of clinical treatment.

Dr. Heinz-Peter Brauer, general secretary of West Germany's equivalent of the American Medical Association, conceded that physicians would never send a patient on a natural cure for treatment of a serious illness. But they do prescribe cures during recuperation. Patients who are overweight, hypertensive or who have chronic stomach and liver ailments also are sent on cures.

SPA CURES

"Any physical therapy — be it baths, be it massages, be it mud packs — is perfectly suited for influencing such diseases as rheumatism, gout and others," Brauer said.

Health insurance plans in western and eastern Europe pick up part or all of the costs of spa cures.

More than a quarter of the five million spa visitors last year had their bills paid through insurance plans. French plans paid part of the tab for 315,976 of the 412,265 persons who took the waters in 1972.

Sports Items Will Be Spotlighted

Sporting events seem to be the main items on the city agenda at the regular council meeting Tuesday morning.

A discussion on possible relocation of the National Little League Park will be followed by a request for matching funds for the city track program. They will then discuss improvements at the Big Spring Municipal Golf Course. They will also award a bid for hike and like trail bridges.

The council will also discuss procedures to advertise for bids for mineral lease of 85,905 acres in part of Sec. 35, Block 31, T-1-S, T&P RR.

They also will hear traffic commission minutes, a claim for damage by Joe Diaz.

Ain't Nothing But A Hambone

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — An all-day search precipitated by the report of a severed human foot in the back of a car turned up a hambone, police said Thursday.

Two teenagers hitchhiking from Vidor to Beaumont in southeast Texas spotted what they thought was a severed foot on the floorboard of a small yellow car driven by a man who stopped for them.

The 16-year-old girl reported the severed foot to police when she and her companion reached Beaumont.

Twelve hours later officers located the car and discovered a large, pale, jaggedly cut hambone.

Cotton Futures

NEW YORK (AP) — Unfavorable weather reports from producing areas sent cotton futures into their fourth week of decline this past week.

On Friday, No. 2 cotton futures on the New York Exchange were down 100 to 290 points after losses of 170 to 577 points the week before.

During the week, contracts for March 1975 through Dec. 1975 deliveries set new lows for the year.

Weekly trading volume amounted to 786,200 bales compared with 795,000 bales the week before. The daily average was 157,000 bales against 159,000 bales in the previous week.

MOSCOW (AP) — Ballet dancer Valery Panov's struggle to immigrate to Israel appears to be temporarily sidetracked. Panov says his wife is pregnant.

"I cannot leave her, least of all now," Panov said Friday.

The dancer had been given permission to immigrate, but his wife, Galina, was denied a visa.

Panov also said Friday he has been stripped of his title, "Honored Artist of the Soviet Union."

State's Farm Crops In Good Showing

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The state's farm crops are generally showing up well. Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says.

Major trouble spots are in the Panhandle and North Central Texas, where drought continues to hamper dryland wheat, pastures and ranges, he said.

Cotton, corn and sorghum planting started in northern areas, while these crops are blooming in many southern counties.

HOT WINDS

Peanut planting is gaining momentum, Hutchison said, and first hay cuttings are bountiful.

District agricultural agents gave these reports:

Panhandle: Hot, dry winds continue to wither dryland wheat and even put stress on the irrigated crop. Cotton planting is starting. Early alfalfa cuttings show skimpy yields due to drought and bugs. Ranges are dry. Range cattle are being fed.

South Plains: Cotton planting is moving rapidly. Counties north of Lubbock are 75-80 per cent done. Hot, dry winds are hindering planting. Irrigated wheat fields show good yield prospects. Livestock are in fair condition.

Rolling plains: Soil moisture is adequate in about half the counties. Wheat harvesting has started in most counties with yields 5 to 30 bushels per acre. Early cotton and sorghum stands look good for both crops. Livestock are generally in good condition.

OATS RIPENING

North Central: Soil moisture is short to adequate. Oats are ripening fast, barley is almost 90 per cent planted. Peanut planting is just starting. Livestock are in fair to good condition.

Northeast: Soil moisture is adequate. Wheat and oats are being grazed out. First hay cuttings are under way. Pecans are being sprayed for casebearers. Pastures and ranges are average.

Far West: Recent rains have boosted ranges. Livestock are in fair to good shape but some feeding continues. Alfalfa harvesting is under way. Good cotton stands are up.

West Central: Soil moisture is short to adequate. The cotton situation is good. Gillespie County peaches have developed well and are selling readily. The pecan crop is expected to be the best in several years. Pastures and ranges are growing.

Central: Poor soil moisture and high winds have caused light yields in early grain harvests. Cotton planting is about complete. Thrips and boll weevils are already moving in. About 10 per cent of the peanut crop is planted. Pastures are a little below average.

HAY CUTTINGS
East: Soil moisture is adequate. First hay cuttings are under way. Early peaches are being harvested. Pastures and ranges are average and above. Livestock are in good shape.

Southeast and Upper Gulf Coast: Hay harvesting has started but the baling wire shortage is still a problem. Weevils and weeds are bothering the cotton crop. Most of the rice is planted in the lowlands. Peaches and pecans are suffering insect damage. Pastures and ranges are average.

South Central: Soil moisture is adequate to surplus. Cotton, corn and sorghum are all planted and showing well. Vegetable farmers are busy harvesting squash, field peas, collard greens, cucumbers and cabbage. Hay is growing abundantly, but there is little cutting. Pastures are providing ample forage.

CARROTS MOVING
South: Most ranges offer good grazing. Livestock are in fair condition but more screw worm cases have been confirmed. About 50 per cent of the Rio Grande Valley cotton crop is blooming. Cabbage and carrot supplies are light. Start county farmers are picking peppers, cantaloupes and honeydew melons. Kleberg County has finished its squash harvest.

Southwest: Soil moisture is short. Atascosa County's flax harvest is 90 per cent complete with average yields of 12 bushels per acre. Early planted peanuts are up to promising stands. Onions, cabbage, potatoes and carrots are moving to market. Ranges and pastures are greening a bit.

Reduced Death Toll Sought

AUSTIN — Last year in Texas alone there were 43 traffic deaths over the three-day Memorial Day holiday. A Texas Safety Association spokesman today urged that Texans buckle their safety belts and observe speed limits for Memorial Day weekend driving.

Citing projections made by the National Safety Council, the TSA official explained that safety belt use could save nearly 25 per cent of the 450 to 550 lives expected to be lost nationwide this weekend. He also pointed out that Texas traffic deaths this year, under the 55 mph speed limit, have fallen about 29 per cent compared to last year. But, he cautioned, some drivers are beginning to "inch up" on the speed limit.

Among courses scheduled for the second half will be early childhood education, teaching of reading, elementary reading, arithmetic in grades, graduate research, vocational guidance, general science in elementary level, Ed. 7306c (practicum), personality theories, procedures for exceptional children, curriculum development for elementary and secondary schools, advanced seminar in theories of administration, public relations and safety.

Why Not Let Rose Mary Take Guess?

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Milton Shapp in the role of songwriter — not governor — will appear on the television program "What's My Line" to try to stump the panelists, his office says.

Shapp will be identified as Pennsylvania's governor and then the panelists will try to guess his avocation — songwriting.

Shapp wrote "The Ballad of Rose Mary," a spoof of Watergate, which has been recorded.

Parks Doing Big Business

ARLINGTON—Texas' tourist season goes into full swing as its number one attraction, Six Flags, and the world's largest inland marine life park, Seven Seas, begin daily operation for 1974 on Saturday, May 25.

Six Flags will maintain the daily schedule through Labor Day, operating from 10:00 a.m. until 10:00 p.m. The theme park will return to a weekend schedule during the fall.

Bob Freeman, Six Flags' general manager, said attendance has been running well ahead of advance projections with more than 380,000 visitors during the spring months.

Seven Seas, which is operating for the first season under the management of Six Flags, Inc., has drawn more than 26,000 visitors since its May 3 opening. This figure is more than double that for the same period last year.

The sea park will be open daily from 10:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. through August 25. With the exception of Labor Day, Seven Seas will be open on weekends only during the fall months.

Money Is Big In 3 Rodeos

DENVER, Colo. — Pro rodeo cowboys face a lot of hard competition and travel this week, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

The three richest rodeos of the week include the Forum Indoor rodeo in Ingleswood, the Elks Helderado rodeo in Las Vegas, Nev., and the Shasta County Sheriff's Posse rodeo in Redding, Calif. Prize money is expected to top $70,000 at the three.

The season's biggest winner, still, is Tom Ferguson, 23-year-old collegiate rodeo champion from Miami, Okla. Ferguson has won $24,757 in calf roping, steer wrestling and team roping this year, his second full season in the pro arm of the sport.

ACC To Greet New Students

ABILENE — Abilene Christian College has scheduled four orientation sessions for freshmen enrolling for the 1974-75 school year, according to Clint Howeth, ACC director of admissions and placement.

The sessions will be conducted May 29-31, July 10-12, August 7-9 and August 28-30.

The orientation sessions are designed to help freshmen and other new students to adjust to college life and plan their college careers. Activities include receptions, tours, small discussions groups, freshman tests, question-and-answer sessions and advice on courses, scheduling classes and selection of a major field of study.

"This has been a good year for us," said Howeth, referring to the current pace of advance student applications for admission, "we are 11 percent ahead of last year's pace 1974-75 fall enrollment and 15 percent ahead of last year's pace for 1974-75 fall enrollment and 15 percent ahead of last year's pace for 1974-75 fall enrollment and 15 percent ahead of last year's pace for 1974-75 fall enrollment."

For further information on freshman orientation, interested persons should contact Howeth at ACC Station, Box 7988, Abilene, Texas 79601. He may also be contacted by (915) 677-1911 ext. 488.

Four Killed Near Austin

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Four persons died early Saturday in a head-on collision at an intersection about three miles east of Austin.

The victims were Odell Thomas, 40; Myrtle McDowell, 40; and Manuel Perkins, 20, all of Elgin; and Danny Simpson, 23, of Austin.

Injured were Charles Nunn of Elgin and Louis Jackson, residence unavailable.

The Simpson youth was alone in one car.

Buyer, Seller Of Sex Guilty?

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The Louisiana Senate has decided that a man is just as guilty as a woman if he pays for her sexual favors.

By a 32-5 vote, the Senate approved a bill to make the state prostitution law apply to both the buyer and the seller.

The measure now goes to the House for action.

Claims Four Hired Gunmen To Murder Rights Leader

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — An attorney for James Earl Ray claims to have been told that four prominent Americans hired two gunmen to kill civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

DEATH OF KING
Robert L. Livingston said Friday he was told about such an assassination plot by an intermediary for the two alleged gunmen. He quoted the intermediary as saying one of the gunmen was the actual triggerman in the April 4, 1968, death of King in Memphis.

Livingston is one of several lawyers for Ray, who is serving a 99-year prison sentence and in January was granted a hearing by the U.S. 6th Court of Appeals on a petition to withdraw his guilty plea in King's assassination. The case is before the U.S. Supreme Court on appeal by the state.

ALLEGATIONS
Both Shelby County Dist. Atty. Hugh Stanton and Asst. State Atty. Gen. Henry Haile said they were skeptical about Livingston's story. Haile added, "If there is something to it, and we have to take that possibility seriously, then Livingston could really have something."

ROBERT LIVINGSTON

Washington lawyer James Lesar, who also represents Ray, said he was totally unaware of the allegations. Bernard Fensterwald, another Ray lawyer who Livingston said was at a Detroit meeting with the intermediary, declined comment.

According to Livingston, the intermediary told him the gunmen want immunity to testify about four wealthy, socially prominent Americans, black and white, who paid to have King killed.

Livingston said he did not know the identities of the four persons but said he was told they "hated King with a passion and said they were having it done for the good of the country."

'If You Liked The Book, You'll Love The Movie'

BOSTON (AP) — "If you liked the book, you'll love the movie."

So say two Boston men who are preparing a videotaped dramatization of the edited White House transcripts of Watergate conversations.

Webster Lithgow and Thomas McCann of The Transcripts Film Co. say they will offer the 40-hour dramatization, using professional actors to portray the roles of the President and his aides, to the television networks or for syndication to independent TV stations.

Expletives deleted in the printed version of the transcripts will be represented by "bleeps" in the spoken conversation, and inaudible or unintelligible references will be read with appropriate sounds, Lithgow said.

"Great pains are being taken to represent the events with objectivity and fairness," he added.

CBS Will Carry Shore's Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Dinah Shore is switching television networks and will host a new 90-minute daytime show for CBS-owned stations.

CBS said Friday that Miss Shore's new program would be a talk-variety format and will start appearing on the five CBS-owned stations next fall, probably in October.

Miss Shore was the Emmy Award-winning hostess of NBC's recently-cancelled "Dinah's Place" television program.

A network official said "several major syndicators" want to distribute the daily show to other TV stations.

The five television stations CBS owns and operates are located in Los Angeles, St. Louis, Mo., Philadelphia, Chicago and New York.

Dr. Finch Wedded To Social Worker

EL DORADO SPRINGS, Mo. (AP) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch has married a psychiatric social worker whom friends say he met while he was serving a prison term for the murder of his wife.

A friend, the Rev. William Krudwig, said Friday that Finch, 56, married Elizabeth Kehoe, 50, in a private ceremony at his home here on Thursday. Bob Jackson, director of the Crawford County Mental Health Center, which employs the bride, said the couple met while she was doing social work at a California prison.

Finch gained widespread attention when he and Carole Tregoff, an attractive receptionist at his West Covina, Calif., hospital, were sentenced to life prison terms in 1961 for the slaying of Finch's wife in 1959, four months after she had filed for divorce. The two were later paroled. Finch moved here and Miss Tregoff changed her name and reportedly is living in Southern California.

CUSTOM MADE-TO-MEASURE DRAPERIES

That's right, order your custom made to measure draperies now and you'll save like never before. All labor of making your exquisite draperies is FREE! Same huge selection of fabrics, same superior custom-quality workmanship, same guaranteed fit and satisfaction... only the price has been lowered to protect your pocketbook. Come in shop now and save. This OFFER available thru JUNE 1st ONLY.

How to measure

For accurate results always use a metal tape to take measurements. First, decide just where the rod is to be placed. Remember, you should extend the rod past the window frame for more light, best ventilation and more pleasing appearance. After you have decided on location of the rod, measure from one end of the rod across to the other. This is your bracket-to-bracket measurement. Now add 3 more inches for the right side return, another 3 inches for the left side return, and 6 inches more for the center overlap. This figure will be your finished measurement. Be sure your finished measurement includes all these measurements: the bracket-to-bracket measurement plus the two side returns and the center overlap.

Rods should be at least 4 inches above the window so that hooks and pleating can not be seen from the outside. A similar 4 inch allowance at the bottom will keep the bottom hem out of sight. Apron length draperies: Measure from top of rod to desired length, add 1 inch for finished length. Floor length draperies: Measure from top of rod to floor or carpet. This is finished length, no allowance necessary. Ceiling to floor draperies: Measure from ceiling to floor and deduct 1 inch for finished length. Repeat measurements at two or three places across the span. Remember to measure from the ceiling and not from the rod.

Miss Bryant Weds John R. Boicourt

The sanctuary of Wesley United Methodist Church was the setting Friday evening for the wedding of Miss Denise Bryant to John Richard Boicourt, with the Rev. Caleb Hildebrand, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist Church, Midland, officiating for the rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. (Dub) Bryant, 1602 Tucson, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oren J. Boicourt of Syracuse, N.Y.

A prelude of nuptial music was performed by Miss Connie Gary, organist and pianist, and Miss Dana Mancill and Robbie Lloyd, vocalists. The altar scene was illuminated by candelabra and enhanced with emerald trees and arrangements of gladioli and greenery.

Carrying a cascade of white rosebuds and gardenias, the bride was attired in a formal gown of Venise lace; the empire line marked with white satin trim extending to a flat bow at the back. The scoop neckline was edged with double rows of Venise lace, which was repeated on the flounce of the skirt, and the sleeves were made entirely of lace. Her finger-tip-length veil was attached to a headpiece of looped tulle accented with seed pearls.

Attendants for the bride were Miss Lana Parks, maid of honor; and Miss Kae McLaughlin, Miss Pam Clemens, Bedford; and Mrs. Dan Riemond, Crystal Lake, Ill., bridesmaids. Miss Parks was attired in a floor-length gown of yellow crepe styled with empire bodice, featuring scooped neckline and brief, puffed sleeves trimmed with Cluney lace. The other attendants wore identical gowns in mint green crepe. Matching ribbons were worn in their hair, and each carried a single, long-stemmed yellow rosebud tied with ribbon streamers.

Nicholas Logan, Syracuse, N.Y., served as best man, and groomsmen were Stanley Blaskiewicz, Syracuse; Dick Hartnett and Brian Peterson, both of Commerce.

Summertime Brings Barbecue, Picnics

By SHERRY MULLIN (HD AGENT)

Summertime brings out the "cook" in many of us. The following questions and answers will help make that special fun event — the backyard barbecue or the picnic in the park or at the beach — more enjoyable.

Q. What can I do to protect the wholesomeness and safety of the meat and poultry I buy?

A. Meat and poultry should be selected just before going to the check-out counter. Take these and other perishable food items home right away and refrigerate or freeze them promptly.

Q. What should I look for in canned meat or poultry products to take on a picnic?

A. Avoid cans that are severely dented, leaking or bulging. If the product looks, tastes, or smells suspicious, DON'T EAT IT. Return it to your grocer and report the incident to your local health authority.

Q. What are the most important things to remember when preparing, storing and cooking fresh meat and poultry?

A. There are two basic things to remember. First, keep meat and poultry clean when preparing and storing. Second, keep these foods hot or cold — not in between. Don't let cooked foods sit around so that bacteria can multiply. If you plan to serve cold fried chicken, store it in the refrigerator after frying, until ready to serve.

Q. What should I keep in mind when storing meat and poultry?

A. If you are going to use meat and poultry products within a few days they may be kept in the refrigerator. For longer storage, freeze the products. The refrigerator section should be kept between 35 degrees and 40 degrees. Freezer temperatures should be kept at zero degrees F. or lower. Meat should be wrapped loosely for refrigerator storage. Poultry may be refrigerated in its special wrap. To freeze meat and poultry products, wrap them tightly in moisture-resistant material, such as aluminum foil.

Q. What about defrosting?

A. Defrost meat and poultry in the refrigerator when possible. Meat and poultry may also be placed in cold water, to aid in thawing, if the wrapping is watertight or they may be defrosted at room temperature if left in a tightly closed double paper bag. Cook foods promptly after thawing.

PICNICS

Q. What's the best way to keep food cold on a picnic?

A. Use a good, well-insulated cooler. And use plenty of ice (but not dry ice) to keep foods cold. Do not open the cooler unnecessarily. Leave it in a shady spot to help keep the ice from melting too fast.

Q. What precautions should I take when preparing meat and poultry for my barbecue picnic?

A. Be just as careful with food prepared for out-of-doors as you would for food to be eaten indoors. Clean your kitchen frequently. Rinse poultry in cold water and drain it well before you cook it. Clean all work surfaces with soap and hot water — including wooden cutting boards and counter tops — before and after using them for raw meat or poultry. Never place cooked, ready-to-serve meat or poultry on the same surface or in a utensil used for the raw product unless you have completely sanitized that surface or

Luncheon Held For Attendants

A luncheon honoring Miss Denise Bryant and the feminine attendants for her wedding was held Friday in the home of her grandmother, Mrs. M. O. Hamby, 1508 Eleventh Place, with Mrs. Luther Coleman as cohostess.

Guests included Miss Bryant's mother, Mrs. J. W. Bryant; her aunt, Mrs. Raymond Hamby; Mrs. Boyd Gregory, Dallas; and Mrs. Douglas Clemens, Bedford.

Miss Bryant was attired in a yellow and white pantsuit.

The luncheon table, covered with a green cloth, was accented with a centerpiece of yellow and white daisies.

The attendants were Miss Lana Parks, Miss Kae McLaughlin, Miss Pam Clemens, Bedford; and Mrs. Dan Riemond, Crystal Lake, Ill.

Recent Wedding Held In Lubbock

Mr. and Mrs. R.H. Sutton of Pearsall announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Mary Grace, to Ricky Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Simpson of Big Spring. Wayne LeCroy of Lubbock officiated for the wedding May 13 in Lubbock.

The newlyweds will reside in Big Spring this summer while he is employed by the Permian Pipe Fabricators Company. They will return in the fall to Lubbock where they are both seniors at Texas Tech University.

Turned Down

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I never thought a successful businessman would have to write to Dear Abby for advice, but here I am with the rest of the schnooks.

I am a 56-year-old Southern gentleman who lost his wife a year ago. (No children.) I put my house on the market and fell in love with the real estate agent. She's a sophisticated, 42-year-old divorcee who can turn me on with a look. I knew she was for me an hour after I met her.

I took her to New York, and we stayed at the best hotel (separate rooms). We saw five Broadway shows in as many nights and had a wonderful time. I took her to a jewelry store, hoping she would pick out some rings, but she ended up with a diamond wrist watch instead.

All the time I wined and dined her I never laid a hand on her because I wanted her to know I was a real Southern gentleman whose intentions were strictly honorable.

When we got home, she told me she couldn't marry me because the "chemistry" wasn't right. (Now what the heck does that mean?) She returned the watch and asked me not to call her anymore. Abby, I love this woman. How can I win her over?

VIRGINIAN

DEAR VIRGINIAN: You can't. The lady is looking for sky rockets, Roman candles, gypsy violins and goose bumps. In other words, YOU don't turn HER on. Don't waste precious time brooding. You have a lot going for you, so get going.

DEAR ABBY: After being married to Dudley for 30 years I suppose I should accept the fact that he isn't the most demonstrative man in the world, but something has come up that bothers me.

A few months ago we got a dog, and since then nothing has been the same around here. Dudley calls the dog all the pet names he used to call me. He even pats the dog on the same spot he used to pat me.

Abby, I need a little affection too, but I am being ignored. When I complained, Dudley said: "Don't tell me you are jealous of a dog?"

Well, I am, and I'm not kidding. Any suggestions?

DEAR ABBY: Put up a bowl and ask Dudley to please treat you like a dog. And if he refuses, bite him in the leg.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter-in-law steals things from our home. Before we put locks on all our doors and windows, she appeared from our freezer. Our son (her husband) mentioned casually that they were having steaks so often he was tired of them. In the spring about half of my canned fruit disappeared from my basement fruit room. Their daughter (age 10) said: "It seems like we have just as much fruit as when you canned last summer." Her mother blushed and tried to shush her up.

We spoke to our pastor about this, and he said he thinks our son knows his wife takes these things, but that he's trying to cover up for her. That's hard for me to believe. Our son wasn't raised that way.

The last straw was when they were here for Sunday supper and my daughter-in-law was helping me with the dishes afterwards. She kept hanging around the silverware drawer. After she left, I noticed three forks and four spoons were missing.

I am praying constantly for this girl. How can I hlep her? She can't be right in the head.

DEAR WORRIED: Between prayers, have a talk with your son. You are wise and compassionate to realize that something is wrong with the woman. She needs to be examined by a doctor.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 63700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Drive., Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212.

CHOOSING A PHARMACY REQUIRES THOUGHT

There's nothing like a June wedding, so the saying goes. If you are a June bride (or even a May bride) or any kind of bride and just setting up housekeeping, we know you are in the middle of loads of important decisions. You are trying to get everything off to a good start and want to choose things carefully. Choosing a pharmacy is certainly something to be given careful thought.

It's important to know that any prescriptions you need to have filled will be correctly handled and any specific instructions for deriving the full benefit of your medication will be explained. We will gladly order any hard-to-find item for you.

YOU OR YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a delivery. We will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people rely on us for their health needs. We welcome requests for delivery service and charge accounts.

Doctor develops Home Treatment to

in 15 minutes

Look! See them come off on your cleansing tissue—and without squeezing or digging!

See Blackheads "Wipe Off"

After a Single Queen Helene Skin and Beauty Treatment

INA LEE, Beauty Consultant

A leading New York dermatologist has developed a simple medicated home treatment that rinses away blackheads and whiteheads in a matter of minutes.

I saw it demonstrated recently on five women and two teenage boys. The results were almost breathtaking. Blackheads really rinsed away. In fact, many could be seen on the cleansing tissues that finished each treatment.

But this wasn't all! In the case of two older women, I saw enlarged pores reduced, and rough, muddy complexions made cleaner, clearer and smoother looking. In the case of teen-agers, I saw acne pimples improve after one application... After seeing these results, I can well understand why so many beauticians are now acclaiming this doctor's treatment as one of the most important beauty discoveries.

Floats Dirt off Face

The treatment starts with a thorough skin cleansing. A special laboratory-developed whipped cleansing cream is used that takes off not only surface dirt, but also softens and loosens pore-caked grime with its emollient action. It liquefies as soon as it is applied and literally floats the dirt right off your face.

After this is rinsed off, a delightful mint-scented cream is applied. Within 2 or 3 minutes an absorbing agent called Argilla dries and turns this specially medicated cream into a plastic-like masque. As it firms and hardens, its suction action draws on waste matter in the pores... In 8 or 10 minutes you simply rinse the masque away with lukewarm water which dissolves it immediately. When you wipe your face, you can see blackheads and other pore "filler" actually come off on your tissue. And your skin feels clean — really clean — and refreshed and smooth, like velvet!

Pore Sponging & Closing

The third step in the treatment is an exhilarating application of a unique antiseptic astringent—a facial "mint julep" that sponges and tightens emptied pores and leaves a protective invisible film that helps guard your skin against dust, dirt and bacteria for hours and hours.

Nothing Else Like It

Even after a single treatment, women who have been troubled by blackheads for years see a marked improvement. Many find it hard to believe their eyes. Some blackheads and whiteheads just rinse away. Others are softened and made ready to be drawn out by future treatments. Enlarged pores appear to be smaller. The skin looks smoother and firmer—feels fresher and more alive!

In short, after a single treatment taking only 15 minutes, you can expect to see results that normally you would not dare hope for even after many weeks... but don't expect everything at once. Damage done by years of neglect can't be undone in a day. Yet with 3 or 4 treatments a week, you may confidently look forward to startling complexion improvements within 30 days. Then one treatment a week—or every second week—will probably be all your skin will need to keep it clear, lovely and healthy looking.

The medically developed products used in this treatment are manufactured and quality-controlled by QUEEN HELENE. They are Queen Helene Whipped Cleansing Cream, Queen Helene Medicated Masque and Queen Helene Penetrating Astringent. The three items are sold as complete skin and beauty kit for $5.00. Quite a bargain when you think of what it will do for a person's good looks — and self esteem!

Wedding Performed On Friday Evening

The wedding of Miss Linda Gail McClendon to Michael Angelo Marino was held Friday evening at 7 o'clock in First Presbyterian Church. Parents of the couple are

Mr. and Mrs. John Marino, Gail Route, and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McClendon, 2510 E. 24th. The Rev. Earl Price, pastor, and Dr. R. Gage Loyd officiated for the ceremony. The altar floral arrangement, two baskets of gladioli on white pedestals, was flanked by candelabra. Music was performed by Mrs. Johnny Bedell, soloist, and Mrs. Gail Bonner, organist.

The bride's formal gown was fashioned with an empire waistline, high collar and long, sheer puffed sleeves with wide cuffs. Embroidered lace accented the bodice, collar and ruffled hemline. The veil was attached to cap of sheer nylon crown with pearls. The bridal bouquet was of spring flowers surrounding blue carnations.

Mrs. Bobby Beall, sister of bride, served as matron of honor and Miss Lynell Horn was bridesmaid. They were attired in floor-length dresses of blue dotted Swiss with puffed sleeves and lace empire bodice. They carried blue carnations with blue satin streamers.

Kyle Heckler was best man, and the groomsmen were John O'Brien. Ushers were Bobby Beall and Marvin Hyatt.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M. and El Paso, the couple will reside at 1408 Park, Big Spring.

The bride, a graduate of Big Spring High School and Howard College, is employed by E. P. Driver Insurance Company. The bridegroom attended Howard College and is employed at Texas and Pacific Railroad.

The couple was honored with a reception in the parlor of the church, where guests were served by Mrs. John O'Brien, Mrs. Kathy Laming, Miss Karen Tindal and Mrs. Gary Blount.

The refreshment table was covered with a cream colored lace cloth centered with a blue and white floral arrangement. The tiered cake was topped with a white dove.

MRS. MICHAEL ANGELO MARINO

Couple United In Marriage

The wedding of Miss Betty Carol Newton to James Hilliard Ditmore was solemnized Friday at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary of Prairie View Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard H. Ditmore, 2807 Lawrence, and Mr. and Mrs. David L. Newton, Coahoma.

J. B. Harrington, Hi-Way 50 Church of Christ minister, officiated for the ceremony before an altar centered with spiral candelabra entwined with ivy. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Larry Adkins. The soloist was Miss Gayla Williams.

The bride's crepe gown was a princess style; seamed skirt stitched to bodice above the normal waistline. It had a raised neckline and long sleeves gathered to cuffs. The gown featured embroidered organza overlaying the bodice and sleeves. Her layered circular veil was bordered with floral lace.

The bridal bouquet was a colonial arrangement of yellow roses, carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Sheila Fryar served as maid of honor and Miss Kay Miller, Lubbock, was bridesmaid. Their attire was of green crepe with daisy-patterened overlay on bodice and sleeves. They carried nosegays of white carnations, yellow rosebuds and Fuji mums.

Boyd Harrington served as best man, and the groomsmen were David Newton, brother of the bride, Coahoma. The ushers were Frank Long and Robert Turner, both of Big Spring.

Following a wedding trip to Six Flags over Texas, the couple will reside at 106 W. 10th, Big Spring.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is presently enrolled in the School of Vocational Nursing at Howard College.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Forsan High School and attended Howard College. He is employed by Safeway.

The couple was honored with a reception in the fellowship hall of the church, where guests were served by Miss Susan Mayo and Miss Ginger Ditmore, sister of the bridegroom. The house party were Mrs. Marion Newton Jr., Mrs. Raymond Stallings, Mrs. W. C. Fryar and Mrs. Jack Broughton. Miss Gayla Williams tended to the registry.

Guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Olen Edwards, Plains; Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Cole, Ropesville; Mrs. Teddie Davis, Altus, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mitchell, and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Finnigan, all of Sterling City. The parents of the bridegroom were hosts for a rehearsal dinner Thursday at their home.

MRS. JAMES HILLIARD DITMORE

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Brooks, 2908 Hunter's Glen, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Laura Lynn, to Howard Fain Sherrill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Sherrill, Rt. 1. The couple plans to be married July 23 in First United Methodist Church.

Bob Wrens Attend Fort Worth Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wren have returned from Ft. Worth where they attended the May 18 wedding of their granddaughter Miss Leslee Kaye Wren, to Walter Ira Browning III at Handley Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Browning Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Don Wren, all of Ft. Worth.

The couple attended Texas Tech and Tarrant Junior College and will enroll in Texas Christian University this fall.

The maid of honor was Janie Marie Ellis, Fort Worth, and the bridesmaid was Miss Lori Wren, sister of the bride. Best man was Larry Don Browning, brother of the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Wren attended a bridesmaid luncheon at the Ridgela Country Club and a rehearsal dinner at the Ramada Inn in the Chisholm Reception Room.

A family reunion was hosted May 18 by the grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Branch, Dallas, and Mr. and Mrs. Berry Parker, Ft. Worth. The reunion was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Parker.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Overton, Fairfield, La. Col. and Mrs. Stanly Hess, San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Steward, Ft. Worth; and Mr. and Mrs. Don Wren, parents of the bride.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

We love you, and by we, I'm including my husband and I'm not a bit jealous!

I have a good pair of shoes that only stared at me from the closet shelf every time I opened the door, because they were too large at the heels.

They kept slipping off my feet and forced me to walk with a shuffle.

Then the light flickered as I was cutting off the stretchy portion of a top of a pair of hose. I'm not talking about panty hose, I mean regular hose that cling, or the thigh-highs.

I cut this stretchy portion in half and glued it to the inside heels of my shoes with plain ordinary white household glue.

Now I'm wearing my shoes, and with such pleasure.

Edna Carter
Everyone with narrow heels is going to love you, Edna.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Your ideas have done much to guide me in finding the easier more efficient way of getting things done.

I recall a sewing teacher I once had saying, "When you do something the easiest, most efficient way possible, you take the fight out of it."

And that is what your column does for homemaking — takes the fight out of it!

Thanks a million.
Charlotte Johnson

DEAR HELOISE:

You may think this sounds rather strange but . . .

Instead of using a plain ordinary tray when serving someone (especially a child) sick in bed, I use a plastic dish pan. That's right, and I find the high, square kind is the best.

There's no worry about things slipping off the tray since the sides are high. They are easier to grip and sometimes lighter weight than the regular trays.

Besides if there is a spill, it can be washed out in a minute and no damage is done.

There are many ways to decorate the dishpan "tray." It is especially nice and attractive if spiffed up with adhesive-backed paper or even those stick-on plastic flowers.

A Reader

DEAR HELOISE:

I would love to share my way of poaching eggs in "pot pie tins."

I do it in the electric skillet. First of all, I pour a small amount of water in the electric skillet — put a dab of butter in each pie tin and place in the skillet. Heat until butter is melted and then place one or two eggs in each tin. . . cover and cook to desired firmness.

The steam cooks the eggs beautifully.

Holly L. Echo-Hawk Weds Blake Tollett

Miss Holly L. Echo-Hawk became the bride of Jason Blake Tollett in a morning ceremony held Saturday in the First Baptist Church, Pawnee, Okla., with the Rev. Jack Owens, a Baptist minister, and the Rev. Isaac, an Episcopal minister, officiating for the ceremony. A reception followed at the church.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Echo-Hawk of Pawnee, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Raymond L. Tollett Sr., Big Spring, and the late Mr. Tollett.

Carrying a bouquet of red roses interspersed with spring flowers, the bride was attired in a formal wedding gown of white chiffon overlaying taffeta. The bodice, styled with natural waistline, had a high neckline and was adorned with embroidery and seed pearls. The long sleeves were of sheer chiffon. Her headpiece was a Camelot chapeau, sprinkled with seed pearls, attached to a flowing veil which extended over the train of the gown.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. James Norris attended the bride as matron of honor, and the other attendants were Mrs. R. L. Tollett, Jr., San Antonio, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; and Miss Iris Ann Tollett, Big Spring, sister of the bridegroom.

They were identically attired in formal empire gowns featuring white embroidered flowers on a navy blue background. Off-the-shoulder necklines were accented with ruffles. Each carried a nosegay of red carnations and spring flowers.

Steve Cook of Austin served as best man, and groomsmen were Brian Fagen, Lubbock; and Raymond L. Tollett Jr., San

Mrs. E. T. Morgan presided at the guest registry during the reception.

WEDDING TRIP

After a wedding trip to Aspen, Colo., Mr. and Mrs. Tollett will reside for the summer in Arizona where

Club Group Gathers At Ranch

City Home Demonstration Club met Thursday at the Horace Garrett ranch. Hostesses were Mrs. W. N. Norred, Mrs. Merle Hodnett and Mrs. O.L. Lancaster.

Guests were Miss Anna Smith, Mrs. Clyde Johnston, Mrs. W. L. Eggleston, Miss Sherry Mullin, Mrs. Horace Garrett and Sue Garrett.

A covered dish picnic was served in the swimming pool area, and Mrs. Hodnett, president, presided over the business session.

New officers are Mrs. W. N. Norred, president, Mrs. Granvil Dawson, vice president, Mrs. W. J. Preibe, secretary, and Mrs. T. M. Dunagan, treasurer.

Mrs. Waymon Etchison gave the program on "Woman, the Financial Wizard." She told about the importance of women being familiar with the insurance policies, wills, bank records and investments.

"Being familiar with these areas of family finance and having all the records in order can be a very comforting feeling," said Mrs. Etchison. "The woman who takes an interest in money management can make a real contribution to her family even if she never has to shoulder the burden by herself."

Next meeting will be June 14 at the Texas Electric Reddy room and Mrs. James Johnston will be the hostess.

Macrame Shown At Club Meeting

Members of the Pioneer Sewing Club worked on individual handwork when they met Tuesday at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. J. D. Leonard. Afterward, refreshments were served, and the hostess demonstrated the art of macrame. The next meeting will be at 2 p.m., June 4 in the home of Mrs. L.B. McElrath.

Winners Told For LGA Bridge

Four and a half tables were in play for the regular Ladies Golf Association duplicate bridge games held Wednesday at Big Spring Country Club. Winners were Mrs. R. E. Dobbins and Mrs. D. A. Brazel, first; Mrs. John Fish and Mrs. E. O. Ellington, second; Mrs. Myrtle Lee and Mrs. W. Gill, third; and Mrs. Elmo Wasson and Mrs. A. Swartz, fourth.

Odessa Shakespeare Theatre To Offer Weekend Package

Drama won't disappear this summer. In fact, some unusual fare will be offered. Odessa's Globe Theatre will produce its annual Shakespeare Festival June 21-Aug. 25. Besides "Macbeth" and "Twelfth Night," they'll perform Moliere's hilarious "The Imaginary Invalid." Write 2308 Shakespeare Road, Odessa, 79761, for ticket information. A weekend fun package offering many extras besides just theatre tickets, is also available.

The ever-entertaining Dallas summer musicals will begin with "I Do! I Do!" June 4-16. Stars of the play (which covers 50 years of a couple's marriage) will be Rock Hudson and Carol Burnett. As the summer progresses, a series of musicals will be produced. Write The Musicals, Mildred Sale, 7612 Bryn Mawr Drive, Dallas, 75225. Tickets range from $2 to $9.

This is the final word on the arts management seminar in Houston's Oaks Hotel May 28-30 to discuss executive abilities in managing community art programs. Write the Seminar, Paul Sutton, Northwood Institute, Midland, Mich., 48640 for information.

An art education workshop designed especially for art teachers will run July 12-Aug. 2 at Texas Women's University Denton. Registration is July 11 for the course which offers three graduate hours. Write Dr. John Rios, Box 22836, TWU Station, Denton 76204 for information.

Midland's Museum of the Southwest has several special exhibitions slated for June as they close out May's events. The 8th annual south western Area Art Show ends May 30 and the National Association of Women Artists May 31. A one-woman exhibition of Janet Kruskamp's work begins June 14 and an exhibit dealing with America's environmental crisis starts June 1.

Austin's Aqua Festival, running through July and August will feature 10 full days of activity and more than 50 events on land and water. Write Harold A. Susskind, Director of Information, Austin Chamber of Commerce, for information.

Special drama news includes high school and Howard College students getting together this summer to produce the fine musical, "Music Man." Sponsored by Howard College with the high school's cooperation, proceeds will go to the college's music department scholarships.

Auditions will be held 7:30 p.m., Thursday at the college's music building and will be open to both high school and returning college students. A cast and crew of 30 or more is needed for the two performances scheduled the last of June or early July. Call Jack Bowers, Bill Bradley or Ken Sprinkle for information.

Midland Community Theatre will offer many attractions this summer. Auditions for the Summer Mummer July 5 production of "Rascality on the Rig" will be 2 p.m., today and 8 p.m. Monday. The Pickwick Players will also produce three shows this summer starting with "Ali Baba and the Magic Cave" June 27.

The Players summer instruction session begins

June 3. Tuition is $30 for children of theatre members and $40 for non-members, and scholarships are available. Upcoming productions include the horror-mystery, "Dr. Cook's Garden," starting June 7, and "Jabberwock," a tale of James Thurber's childhood, with tryouts in August. A salad luncheon will be held Monday at 10:30 a.m. at Genevieve Gorley's home, 2807 Auburn. Many MCT projects will be discussed.

"Now that we've organized in cities, towns and states, all over the United States," Heide said, "and initiated an international movement and actions, it must be apparent that feminism is no passing fad but indeed a profound, universal behavior revolution."

Heritage Museum's Board Hosts Chuck Wagon Party

BY JO BRIGHT

The first annual Chuck Wagon Party hosted by the board of directors for Heritage Museum brought out a host of "oldtimers" as well as newcomers to West Texas when the festive event was held Thursday evening at Dora Roberts Community Center.

In an informal atmosphere that encouraged fun and fellowship, Daryl Hohertz, museum president, presented party awards to six guests who were "the mostest."

Most authentic drugstore cowboy was Clyde Angel, most authentic drugstore cowgirl, Mrs. Katy Grimes; most authentic western wear, Willie Hull; "most tallest boots", Craig Fischer; most Marlboro Man, Harry Middleton; and "most desirable heifer to be marooned with," Stella Floore of Fort Worth.

Tapping toes kept time as western music was provided by Tom Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Miles, Joe Dunn, Howard Dodd and Johnny Shortes.

Following the barbecue dinner, with all the trimmings, two squares (16 couples) from the Big Spring Squares presented a dance exhibition to the calls of James Moore. The program was arranged by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Speegle, dual presidents of the club.

Bales of hay and saddles were arranged in front of the bandstand, and the western theme was continued in decorations for the dining tables. The centerpiece were western straw hats, filled with sand and arranged with "bear grass", and gingham flowers. They were flanked by sand-filled tin cups holding candles tied with bandana bows. The decorations committee was comprised of Mary Neil Mansfield, George Bair, Jane Thomas and Jerry Worthy.

Board members wore red bandana scarves. In extending the welcome, Hohertz said, "Tonight, the museum is not on Scurry Street. It is here, in this building with you people, for it is people that make the museum."

The museum came into being four years ago under the leadership of its first president, Jerry Worthy. Others who have held the presidency are Mrs. Clyde Angel and Joe Pickle.

Pickle, immediate past president, expressed appreciation to all who have had a part in preserving the heritage of Howard County through their work with the museum and expressed the hope that the Chuck Wagon Party will become an annual tradition for museum members and their guests.

General chairman for the party was George Zachariah, and the program committee was made up of Chub McGibbon and Bill Read. Planning the menu were Toni Choate, Janell Davis, Lucille Pickle, Agnes Currie and Louise Middleton. All helped make sour dough biscuits, too.

On the invitations committee were Sallie Wasson, Gerri Atwell and Jo Bright.

Membership in the Heritage Museum is still open, and several types of memberships are available.

Latest new and renewal memberships include Mr. and Mrs. Garner McAdams, Miss Marie McDonald, Mrs. Eva Nall, Mrs. Jo Bright, Mrs. Mabel Kountz, Mrs. Mildred True Lusk, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Allred, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Sheppard, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hatfield, Mr. and Mrs. John L. Taylor,

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dugan, Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Hogan and Dr. and Mrs. Henry K. Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Coleman.

The museum hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, and 1 to 5 p.m., Saturday and Sunday. Although museum memberships cover a wide range in price, names plates, on a bronze plaque, are provided for the members whose membership, by membership or memorial, is more than one hundred dollars.

Ceremony Performed Saturday

Miss Bell Zubiate and Edward Mendez Jr., were married in a 6 p.m. ceremony Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Deanda, 3700 Parkway. Afterward, a reception was held in the home.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mendez Sr., 611 N. Bell, and the bride is the daughter of Mrs. Micaela Zubiate, 405 NW 4th, and the late Eladio S. Zubiate. Walter Grice, justice of the peace, performed the ceremony.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of spring flowers in shades of yellow. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Mr. and Mrs. George Martinez, Midland, were among the guests.

Mendez attended Big Spring High School and is currently employed at Berkley Homes Inc. The couple will reside at 302 S. Bell.

Registration Being Held For Day Camp

Mrs. Clay LaRoche has announced that registrations for day camp will be accepted until June 5. The registrations should be mailed to Mrs. Carolyn Barnes, 4211 Hamilton.

The camp will be held from 8 to 2 p.m., June 10-14 at a fee of $3, and camp patches will be available at a charge of 50 cents each.

Brownies through Cadettes are eligible to attend the camp which is located in Silver Heels. There will be buses at Trinity Baptist Church and Marcy School each morning to take the girls to the camp site and return them in the afternoon. The buses will leave the starting places at 7:45 a.m.

Mrs. LaRoche said there is still a need for volunteer "papooses" leaders who will keep children of adult leaders at the camp site or in their home during the camp hours. Volunteers are asked to call Mrs. Jill Goetz, camp director, at 263-1025.

Local Girls Enter Teen Pageant

The third annual Miss Texas Teen Ager Pageant will be held June 20-22 at the St. Anthony Hotel in San Antonio. On hand to crown the new winner will be Miss Texas Teen Ager 1973, Charlotte Duggan of El Paso.

The winner of the state pageant will receive, in addition to a scholarship, a six-day, expense-paid trip to Atlanta, Ga. to compete with other state winners for the title of Miss National Teen Ager. All 50 states and the District of Columbia will be represented at the National Finals. A total of $10,000 in cash scholarships will be awarded at the finals.

All Texas girls between the ages of 13 and 17 are eligible to enter, regardless of race, creed or color. Judging is based on scholastic achievements, personality and appearance, civic contributions, poise. There is no talent or swim suit competition. Deadline for entering the contest was May 15.

Big Spring girls who are entered in the pageant are Spring Lanette Dunbar, 15; Karen C. Anderson, 16; and Shawn L. Moncus, 16.

AUGUST PLANS — Mr. and Mrs. Leon Riddle, Knott, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sherry Lynn, to Billy Garrett Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Reed, Ackerly. The wedding has been set for Aug. 9 in the Ackerly Church of Christ.

Forsan Retiree Receives Gifts

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. Ann Fairchild, a cafeteria worker at Forsan School, retired May 28 after 28 years. During a retirement party at the school, personnel presented her with a money tree, corsage made of money and a decorated cake.

Recent guests of Mrs. Fairchild were her son and daughter-in-law, the Dan Fairchilds of Odessa, and her daughter, Mrs. Mary Sione, and Teresa, also of Odessa. Mrs. Ann Fairchild attended exercises at Permian High School, Odessa, where her granddaughter, Dana Lynn Fairchild, is a graduate.

Jaycee-Ettes Participate Today In Cycle Rodeo

A motorcycle rodeo, at 1 p.m., today, is being held at the rodeo grounds under the sponsorship of the Jaycees and Jaycee-Ettes. All motorcycle riders are invited to participate, and gate prizes will be awarded.

About 20 Jaycees and seven Jaycee-ettes attended the state convention in El Paso May 16-18. Mrs. Edward Cole, Mrs. Terry Culwell, Mrs. Ben Faulkner, Mrs. Larry Miller, Mrs. Mike McCreary, Mrs. Robby Robertson and Mrs. Jim Tucker were the Jaycee-Ettes that attended. Elections of state officers were held.

The national convention will be held in San Diego, Calif., June 17-21, and three local couples are planning on attending.

Three Host HD Club Gathering

Mrs. J. F. Skalicky and Mrs. Frank B. Wilson were co-hostesses when the Fairview Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. C. A. Smailey, with Mrs. Wilson presiding. Miss Sherry Mullin, county extension agent, presented a program on fashions. She was presented the attendance prize. The next meeting will be at 2:30 p.m., June 4, in the Skalicky home, 1623 17th.

Orientation For Youth Slated At Hospital

Youth volunteer orientation will be held Wednesday, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in Room 219 of the Veterans Administration Hospital. Lunch will be provided free in the patients' dining room.

Youth must attend the orientation before they can serve as a volunteer. There are assignments for both boys and girls.

Volunteer service in the hospital by youth contributes significantly to the rehabilitation and recovery of veteran-patients.

"The idealism, enthusiasm and vitality of young people add warmth and cheer to the hospital atmosphere and bolster the morale and spirits of patients," said Mrs. Dene Sheppard, volunteer coordinator.

Youth volunteers serve a need and learn as they assist in laboratories and clinics, help nurses with bedside care, provide escort and messenger service, help feed disabled patients, share interest and skills with patients in hobbies (such as fly tying and arts and crafts) and assist in various hospital activities such as library, nursing, recreation, occupational therapy, X-ray, laboratory and typing pool.

Education is inherent in every phase of the care and treatment of veteran-patients. Opportunities for gratifying volunteer service with vocational exposure and experience are provided youth in volunteer assignments geared to their field of interest.

"In the hospital setting, youth can try out their talents, learn new skills and test themselves in work areas that might influence their future lives," said

Mrs. Sheppard. Youth volunteers are recognized as full-fledged members of the hospital team and are given personal recognition by the staff and special awards.

The youth may serve a minimum of four hours, one day a week. The schedules will be arranged at time of the orientation.

Arlington Resident Feted Here

The home of Mrs. Paul Sweatt, 3308 Drexel, was the setting Saturday for a bridal shower honoring Miss Jane Brumhall, Arlington, bride-elect of Larry Smedley of Arlington.

The honoree received guests with her mother, Mrs. Richard Brumhall, Arlington, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Virgil Smedley, Big Spring. Each received a rose corsage.

The refreshment table was laid with white lace and centered with a circle of yellow candles centered with yellow and white pom-pom mums. Appointments were crystal and silver.

Hostesses with Mrs. Sweatt were Mrs. Phillip Palmer, Mrs. William Finley, Mrs. Wallace Napper, Mrs. Ray Parker, Mrs. C. L. Mason and Mrs. Paul Russell.

The couple will be married July 6 in First Presbyterian Church, Arlington.

To Honor Gold Star Mothers

Gold Star Mothers will be honored guests at a memorial program slated at 10 a.m., Monday on the east side of Howard County Courthouse. The announcement was made when the group met Thursday at Kentwood Center with Mrs. Truett Thomas presiding.

Mrs. S. R. Nobles,

Veterans Administration Hospital chairman, reported that members served refreshments to patients at the hospital Wednesday, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Moody and Mrs. Herbert Smith.

The next meeting, June 20, will be a workday at Kentwood Center where the women will sew lap robes, slippers and bibs for use at the hospital. Portable sewing machines will be provided for the work, and a covered-dish luncheon will be served.

Miss Janice Medley Weds John Riherd

(Frank Brandon Photography)

MRS. JOHN ROBERT RIHERD

Miss Janice Elizabeth Medley and John Robert Riherd were married Friday evening in the sanctuary of First United Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Riherd, 1604 Kentucky Way, and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Medley, 2805 Goliad.

The Rev. Lee K. Gee, St. Paul United Methodist Church of Amarillo, officiated for the ceremony. The altar was enhanced with arrangements of apricot gladioli, apricot carnations, white daisies and palm trees. Organ selections were performed by Charles Parham.

The bride's gown was of white taffeta overlaid in white organza style with an empire waistline, long sheer sleeves, square neckline and ruffled hemline. Trimming was of lace at neckline, bodice and cuffs. Her headdress was a Camelot cap trimmed with seed pearls and holding a chapel-length veil.

The bridal bouquet featured apricot gladioli, white daisies and apricot gladioli corsage with white ribbon streamers. The maid of honor was Miss Cathy Kirksey, and Miss Terri Sledge served as bridesmaid. They were attired in floor-length, apricot floral organza with R, a girl Melissa Katherine, empire waistline and flare skirt. Streamers of apricot organza tied in back. They carried nosegays similar to the brides bouquet.

Gary Bradley was best man, and the groomsman was Ricky Mitchell. Ushers were Craig Medley, brother of the bride, and Joe Riherd, brother of the bridegroom both of Big Spring.

Following a wedding trip to the Davis Mountains, the couple will reside at 1405 Eleventh Place, Big Spring.

The bride is employed at Cosden Oil and Chemical Company as a receptionist. The bridegroom is employed at Wagon Transfer and Storage and will attend Howard College this fall as a sophomore.

The couple was honored with a poolside reception at Big Spring Country Club.

Guests were served by Miss Sally Jones, Miss Nadine Teague, Miss Vicki Robertson and Miss Amy Gee.

The serving table was covered with a white embroidered linen cloth, with centerpiece being a branched silver candelabra arranged with apricot carnations, gladioli, babies breath and white tapers.

Guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Vic Medley, Carterville, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Henderson, Mesquite; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Elkins, Coleman; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Henderson, Mesquite; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Watkins, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Barney Modling, Bronte; and Mrs. Melba Menniger, Abilene.

1974 Bride and Groom

John Willam Gary, Jr. and Patti Jeannine Womack will be married June 1 in the First Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. Kenneth Patrick officiating.

Beautiful weddings don't just happen! Of course . . . it all begins with love but planning helps make them perfect, from that first important moment when a couple becomes engaged to sending them off on their honeymoon.

Through the years, experience and friendly interest have characterized Big Spring merchants as they have helped countless couples plan a beautiful wedding. When the ceremonies are over these same friendly merchants are there to assist them as they establish their first home and begin their new life together.

John and Patti are such a couple. Come with them as they make the traditional shopping rounds that precede their wedding day.

Who knows? If you're young, or young at heart, you might soon follow in their footsteps!

(All Photographs by Danny Valdes)

A. J. Prager, owner of Prager's, is discussing the latest shoe fashions while John is selecting a new summer shoe wardrobe. He is looking at a smart brown and white loafer for casual wear while Mr. Prager is holding a more formal black and white shoe for dress. John knew he had the best selection available from Nunn-Bush, Weyenberg and Pedwin. John knows that good looking footwear is important to the overall appearance and coordinated his shoes with the other clothing available at Prager's.

Patti and John are in the market for a new television set for their home and they find this 19" Zenith black and white set an attractive model. Henry Gutierrez, at Big Spring Hardware, 117 Main St., explains design features and warranties to them. Big Spring Hardware has many famous maker appliances available for the home such as Maytag, KitchenAid, Westinghouse, Hoover and others. For all your household needs, see Big Spring Hardware first.

Nationally-known home appliances give confidence to every newly married couple, and Gibson's Housewares Department features many of those well-known products that generations of young newlyweds have trusted. Here Tracy Ruzicka, Housewares Department manager for Gibson's demonstrates the virtues of the famous West Bend Coffeemaker to Patti and John, a must for modern, comfortable living. This department could well be known as the "Small Appliance Center of Big Spring." The variety and complete selections of nationally known products here makes shopping so simple. All young couples can shop with confidence at Gibson's.

Domestic goods are always in demand in the home of the newly married. Price and quality are prime considerations in a purchase decision in such a home, so Gibson's Domestic department offers the low price of volume selling combined with the confidence of famous-name, nationally-known products as the beautiful Double Knit shown here by Domestic manager Luella Moore. Patti recognizes the quality in these products and values the names in merchandise that she recognizes from the home of her parents. Domestic also include many beautiful selections in sheets and other linens. The sizes are available for all demands and the designs will complement any decor, all displayed for easy selection.

Patti and John found out that Western Mattress also has a large selection of bedroom suites as well as mattresses and box springs. Western Mattress carries all styles of bedroom furniture and brand names such as Lane, Dixie, Vaughn Bassett, Heywood Wakefield, Coleman, and many more. Western Mattress has a bedroom suite to fit any pocketbook.

Patti found out that Western Mattress carries the largest selection of decorator bedspreads in this area. Brand names to be found at Western Mattress include Bates, Fieldcrest, Nettle Creek, Kirsch, Fabricut, American Nettlecraft, Scroll and many more. Matching drapes are also available on special order. They also carry J. P. Stevens colored no-iron percale sheets and pillow cases to complement any bedroom decor.

Patti and John discovered that Western Mattress also carries the new innovation in modern space-saving living. Versatile corner units, day beds and trundle beds compact enough for the small apartment but attractive enough for the den or play room. These units are couches or loungers by day and beds by night.

Here, Patti and John are inspecting the fine quality of the Lane cedar chest. Western Mattress is the distributor for the Lane Company, and also carry their bedroom furniture and rocker recliners as well as the famous Lane Cedar Chest.

At Jimmy's Clothing Store, John is admiring the latest in men's fashions just in from the market. John is also wearing one of the new Contemporary casual suits, just the thing for the well dressed contemporary man from Jimmy's Contemporary Fashions for Men and Women.

At Jimmy's Clothing Store, Patti is trying on the newest fashions for women. This year, the Women's Department is a new addition to the contemporary fashions at Jimmy's. Patti thinks it's a great place to shop.

Nothing can compare with a Hollywood, Kingsridge or Ratner Suit. George Weeks of Gibbs & Weeks is showing John Gary one of the latest styles in their famous brand suits. There are many suits for John to choose from in a variety of colors, in solids, checks, plaids and stripes. Matching accessories in Hathaway, Enro and Manhattan shirts plus a great selection of ties are available at Gibbs & Weeks, Downtown.

Carefree polyester and denim, trimmed with lace and bright appliques, make a beautiful addition to Patti's trousseau. Perfect for formal entertaining, this patio dress by Couriers, is one of the new junior lines now carried by The Casual Shoppe, 1004 Locust. Margaret Hamby, owner of The Casual Shoppe, invites you to visit their new store and choose from their wide selection of sportswear and dresses.

Patti and John are at Zales looking over the large selection of watches from the inexpensive to the very expensive, a selection for every taste and pocketbook. That's the reason Zales is number one.

J. W. Parmley, manager of Prager's, is showing John a fine double knit suit in a handsome check pattern. Patti is pointing out that the solid color slacks would double the wear of the suit. Because it is double knit, the suit is wrinkle-free, very comfortable and easy to care for. It is the perfect suit to start the honeymoon. John also knows that at Prager's, he is assured of correct fit in every clothing purchase. Mr. Parmley assisted John in selecting the proper accessories that are so important to a young man on the way up.

Patti and John are looking at the fine Silver on display at Zales. You can find anything from a single piece to a complete service, that's why Zales is number one.

At the Goodyear Service Store, John and Patti are faced with a thought provoking decision. There are so many styles of General Electric appliances, such as refrigerators, freezers, stoves, color television, and washer-dryer combinations, that any choice they make would complement a newlywed's household. Here Freddy Brown explains the luxury and convenience of owning a General Electric refrigerator.

Travis Hunter at Gray's, the Diamond Center, is explaining the valuable difference between a jewelry store and a Diamond Center, like ours, specializing in diamonds. That's why we can offer you what no other jewelry store can. Fantastic values on one of the largest, most exciting selection of Bridal Sets in town. Only Gray's has the Goldmaster diamond rings crafted with the matchless "Masters Touch".

Caudill's Specialty Shop, Highland Center on the Mall, stands out in Patti's mind as "the place to go" for the latest in fashions. Mrs. David Whitten is showing her this pretty float of nylon sheer, in two layers. A lavish use of lined nylon lace . . . applied low in the back . . . sweeps over the shoulders and cascades down the front. Its matching gown starts close at the bodice and flares to a dramatic conclusion. Made of petal pink nylon tricot with wide inserts of lace.

Your wedding is a most important day in your life. Patti is shown here being assisted by Opal Mealer, modeling a most exquisite wedding gown of lace and gossamer. Miss Royale' Shop, on the Mall in Highland Shopping Center, makes it a lot easier in planning the perfect wedding. Plus having many beautiful wedding gowns to choose from . . . they have a complete bridal shop. There are also racks and racks of dresses, pant suits, sportswear and lingerie. Come in and shop soon for the latest in fashions.

Patti and John are relaxing in the quiet atmosphere at La Posada where the menu has everything from Mexican food to steaks. La Posada is just right for 2 or 200, a truly delightful place to dine.

Lucille Brown, bridal consultant at Blum's Jeweler's, shows Patti and John their choice, Arabesque Smoke by Denby. Their choice in pottery is Summit by Denby, just one of the more than 200 patterns of pottery and china that Blum's has to choose from. While at Blum's they also selected Beaded Antique stainless by Towle and Lexington china by Oxford. Blum's takes special pride in having been appointed authorized dealer for all nationally advertised brands of China, Pottery, Sterling, Watches and many more too numerous to mention. They also carry Waterford crystal. Blum's entire personnel is experienced and trained to assist you with your selection.

Patti and John assisted by Ralph and Lynette Brooks admire one of the beautiful watches available at Blum's Jeweler's, 221 Main. Blum's is the exclusive dealer for Rolex watches and other nationally advertised brands, Bulova, Omega and Wyler. Blum's also has a large selection of ladies' diamond watches, rings, pendants and earrings. At Blum's you can find your diamond rings with matching bands by Art Carved and Orange Blossom. They also have men's 14 and 18 carat watches and jewelry. Quality and service are their forte. Custom jewelry design and the city's finest bridal consultant service are additional features which Blum's offers their customers.

Foyt's The Man To Beat

LONG NIGHT — A. J. Foyt Jr. appears to have had a long night during the drivers meeting at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway Saturday morning. Foyt spent almost eight hours winning two events in the Hoosier Sprints Friday at the Indiana State Fairgrounds.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indianapolis 500-mile auto race, often tragic, always spectacular, is scheduled for its 58th running today and the man in the saddle is Anthony Joseph Foyt Jr.

The $1 million classic, returning after a year in which it tried to live down a blood bath that was the 1973 fiasco, fires off at 11 a.m., CDT.

Foyt, admittedly nearing the twilight of a brilliant career, goes off from the front row pole position in a hand-made car that consistently was the fastest of the 33 starters in many days of qualifying and warm-ups.

"He is the man to beat, and it isn't going to be easy," said 1969 champion Mario Andretti, summing up the opinion of most drivers. "He is smart, a tough, hardened competitor, and he doesn't give up."

It took the better part of a month to put the show together, but it was a safe month. There were several minor crashes but not a single driver was hurt. The only pre-race casualties involved a speedway official who fell and broke his hip the day the track opened for practice, and a mechanic who let his car run over him—breaking a leg.

The most excitement, other than practice and speed trials, was created by a lawsuit several car owners brought against the management in a dispute over qualifying procedures.

The speedway won that round, and went on with its plans for the usual pagentry that included a gala parade downtown Saturday and a two-hour warmup featuring dozens of bands and celebrities Sunday.

The 33 participants in this most dangerous, richest and most prestigious motoring event in the world qualified at an average speed 182.787 miles per hour, making it the third quickest ever assembled.

The starters include two veterans already past their 46th birthday, four who are more than 40, and seven who are making their first start at shop-worn Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

For just over three hours of binding speed and heart-throbbing action they will divide a jackpot that for the last four years has totaled more than $1 million.

The field includes not only three-time champion Foyt but former winners Andretti, the Unser brothers, Bobby and Al, and Gordon Johncock.

Some, like the battle-scarred Lloyd Ruby, 46, have been trying to win it for at least 15 years and in some cases it has been touch-and-go, with victory in sight. Ruby says he'll quit when he finally lands in victory Lane, and may not quit until he does.

Johncock, a stocky little blond, was in front last year when rain finally called a halt to a tragic race week that saw one start aborted by a horrifying fire bomb crash that critically injured David "Salt" Walther and doused many spectators with flaming fuel.

Walther, 26, back for another try after two months in hospitals and the loss of most of the fingers on his left hand, starts a respectable 14th. "I thank God that he gave me another opportunity," Walther said.

Johncock made only 332.5 miles last year, having already lost an old teammate, Art Pollard, in a practice crash and one of his crewmen in a pit road accident on the day the race was finally run. He collected $236,022.82, but wasn't satisfied.

"I want to win a full 500, not a tainted one," he growled. "Except for the money, victory last year didn't do me any good. Most people still don't know me."

Walther Back To Test Indy Again Today

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The 26-year-old, boyish young man, who he said would never race again, barrels his Dayton-Walther Special out of the fifth row today in the 58th Indianapolis 500.

"There was no way of stopping him—he has racing in his blood," said George Walther, the father, head of the $150-million-a-year Dayton Walther Corp.

"Even if I wanted him to quit the track, it would be impossible, so I haven't tried," added the pretty mother, now the wife of Dr. Minas Joannides of St. Petersburg, Fla.

"He is his own man." The father was in the pits and the mother and step-father were in the grandstand when David "Salt" Walther's low-slung thunderbolt careened into a retaining wall in front of the main grandstand during an aborted start last year. The car burst into a ball of flame.

Dr. Joannides was one of the first at Salt Walther's side and he remained close as some 30 doctors sought to keep alive the badly seared young driver.

"Thirty doctors said he would never race again," said Dr. Joannides. "Only Salt's phenomenal determination to race again has put him back in the cockpit."

"It is a medical miracle." The fingers of Walther's left hand were severed at the second knuckles, leaving him only a nub, and the nerves of his right hand were severely burned. It appeared he would never be able to grip a steering wheel again.

He finished 33rd—last place—in both the 1972 and 1973 Indianapolis 500s. Then came last year's horrifying crash.

Green On Top By 3 In Memphis Tourney

MEMPHIS (AP) — Hubert Green, gunning for his third title of the year, stretched his lead to three strokes with a two-under-par 70 Saturday in the third round of the $175,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Golf Classic.

Green, already the winner of some $103,000 this season, put together a 54-hole total of 202, 14 under par on the 7,199-yard Colonial Country Club course and within one stroke of the best three round totals of the year on the pro tour.

Lou Graham and Bob Wynn

came on to tie for second at 205. Graham, a native Tennessean, fashioned a five-under-par 67, while the longest-horned Wynn—a nonwinner in five years on the tour—had a 69.

Masters champion Gary Player shot himself back into contention with a 69 and a 206 total, just four strokes behind going into the last round of the chase for a $35,000 first prize. He was tied with tour regular Don Bies, who had the day's best round, a 66.

Rod Curl, the little Wintu Indian who scored a surprise triumph last week in Fort Worth, Tex., and Tom Watson drifted back. Watson went to a 74-208 and Curl a 75 for 209.

Dave Hill, the defending champion and a four-time winner of this tournament, finished with a 70-210. Lee Trevino had a 69-213 and is 11 shots back.

Many of the game's premier attractions—Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Tom Weiskopf and Arnold Palmer—are skipping this tournament that is sandwiched in between two "designated tournaments," events in which they are required to compete.

Those 'Perfect Eyes' Mean A.J.'s Still Ready To Travel

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A. J. Foyt waddled up a used paper coffee cup and, with an unhesitating motion, flung it into a receptacle some 20 feet away.

"Twenty-five vision," he said proudly. "Same as when I started racing here 16 years ago."

It was one of those brief moments of relaxation in the car sheds of Indianapolis Speedway's Gasoline Alley. At his feet was the low-slung red and chromium Gilmore racing machine which Foyt will throttle from the pole position in today's 58th 500-mile test.

This is the 17th consecutive start in the race for the leather-tough Texan, his third time out from the pole and his bid for an unprecedented fourth championship.

Reports are that this may be Foyt's last hurrah at old Indy, that he has promised his wife Lucy and his three teen-age kids that he will hang up the helmet on his 40th birthday. That comes next Jan. 16.

Foyt shrugs off such a suggestion. "Lucy and the children haven't been after me to quit," he said. "I figure I'll continue racing as long as my eyes stay good. People keep saying that you lose your reflexes and your nerves in this game. I don't think so. I think it's all in the eyes."

Around the old asphalt oval that they call "the brickyard," the name of A. J. Foyt reverberates with a special kind of ring. It's a sound wave reserved only for immortals. The king is back.

They talk about him along the smelly, engine-churning alley where 32 other of the world's great drivers are preparing to challenge the man on the pole for the close to $300,000 first prize and the biggest title in auto racing.

Fellow drivers regard him as the best. This time they know he has a good machine provided by Jim Gilmore of Kalamazoo, Mich., operator of a chain of television stations and owner of car agencies. It averaged 191.632 in qualifying tests.

They talk about him in the shops and lounges and in the grandstand of the huge racing plant, which will draw some 350,000 to today's show. Jimmy the Greek has made him a 5-1 favorite.

"It takes a lot of racing luck," he said. "In 1969 I thought I had the race won. It was the last time I was on the pole. But a $2 gadget went bad and I lost 22 minutes in the pit. Last year at Pocono, Roger McCluskey had an eight-second lead on me and I had to take a five-second pit stop for fuel.

"My engine was burning up and it was a miracle I finished."

Valdes Gets Fight Crown

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Rodrigo Valdes of Colombia knocked Benny Briscoe down with a short right to the mouth and a left hook and stopped the American in the seventh round of the World Boxing Council's middleweight championship Saturday night.

The seventh round appeared to be Briscoe's best of the scheduled 15-rounder when Valdes suddenly ended it in the final seconds.

Briscoe had hurt Valdes early in the round with a hard right that brought blood from the Colombian's left eye, which was cut in the fourth round.

Then late in the seventh, Briscoe bullied Valdes to the ropes and threw a right. Valdes suddenly flashed home the right that traveled just inches and followed with a left hook.

Down went Briscoe. He struggled up quickly, but referee Harry Gibbs of Great Britain stopped the fight after giving a mandatory eight count.

The victory makes the 27-year-old Colombian a logical opponent for Carlos Monzon if the Argentine decides to keep on fighting.

Foul Weather Hampers NAIA Run In Arkansas

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — A heavy thunderstorm, packing high winds, moved into Arkadelphia Saturday night and delayed the NAIA track and field championships for at least 90 minutes.

The storm hit about 8 p.m., minutes after Mike Bott and Joseph Mandich of Eastern New Mexico finished first and third in the mile run to give the Greyhounds a leg up on the team championship.

The mile run plus a first and fourth in the 3,000-meter steeple chase gave the Greyhounds 51 points.

Southern California College, the leader after two days with 34 points, had not scored so far Saturday night.

The weather bureau reported a tornado in the Arkadelphia area at 8:10 p.m.

The high jump pit was lifted into the air and blown about 100 yards into a wire fence at the southeastern end of the stadium. The storm knocked out electrical power in the area and it was 45 minutes before the lights came back on at the stadium.

After a brief meeting, NAIA officials decided to resume the meet at 9:30 p.m. CDT.

Wally Schwartz, an official of the NAIA at Kansas City, said it would be impossible to resume the meet Sunday because more than 300 athletes and officials had plane reservations Sunday morning and some teams were short on money.

He said the NAIA championships had not been rained out in 23 years, although they were delayed more than an hour and a half six years ago at Billings, Mont.

There were still 10 events to be completed with the meet was postponed.

Astros Run Past Braves

Crockett Defends Sprint Title At California Relays

MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — Ivory Crockett survived his first challenge to the title of world's fastest human Saturday night by defeating rival Steve Williams in the 100-yard dash at the 33rd California Relays.

Williams had shared the world record of 9.1 seconds until Crockett's 9.0 two weeks ago.

Crockett, former Southern Illinois University sprinter now competing for the Philadelphia Pioneers, and a two-time AAU champion, was clocked in 9.2 Saturday.

Both he and Williams crossed the finish line virtually together, but Crockett dipped his head across first as the officials snapped their watches at 9.2 for both sprinters.

Second to Powell was South Africa's John Van Reenen with 220-11. He had thrown 223-3 in early March.

The ladies captured the attention early also when Joni Huntley of the Oregon Track Club and Maren Seidler of the Mayor Daley Youth Foundation set American women's records.

Miss Seidler, a 6-foot-1 Tufts University graduate, threw the shot put 56-11 1/2 to better her own mark of 54-10 1/2 set earlier in the month.

Miss Huntley cleared 6-0 for the second time in two weeks and is the only American woman ever to clear the height.

Ruidoso Sets Holiday Slate

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — Two big stake races are slated to round out the holiday weekend at Ruidoso Downs.

Today, the spotlight will be on the $67,550 Ruidoso Quarter Horse Derby as Mr. Hay Bug guns for his sixth straight win, and Monday, matters turn to the $4,000-added Memorial Day Handicap at 5 1/2 furlongs.

First post both days in the cool pines is 1:30 p.m. In today's showdown, Mr. Hay Bug drew the No. 9 post position with veteran ace Jerry Burgess quarterbacking. In last week's trials, the colt turned a stunning performance when he opened up a four-length lead and hit the tape with the fastest qualifying time of 20.19 seconds.

Mr. Hay Bug has finished worse than second only once in his career, and has banked over $120,000.

Here's the rest of the field: Smooth Flite, 20.36; Tencies Jet, 20.38; Dancer's Queen, 20.38; Flaming Jet, 20.39 Rocket Elaine, 20.41; Obvious Choice, 20.44; Mr. Top Bug, 20.45; Call Me Buddy, 20.48; and Miss Mighty Bug, 20.48.

STANTON — Jim Williams, head basketball coach at Odessa High School last season, has been named head cage man at Stanton High School.

Williams, 34, will also be junior varsity football coach, according to Stanton athletic director Bill Young. The new head Buff has coached at Floresville, Beeville, Canyon and Ozona, where he spent three years before his two-year stay at OHS.

Under Williams, the outmanned Bronchos finished last in Dist. 5-AAAA last season and posted a 3-28 season mark. He replaces Jim Jensen, who was released by the Stanton Board two months ago amidst controversy. Jensen had led the Buffs to the school's first district title in 10 years.

STANTON — Jim Williams, head basketball coach at Odessa High School last season, has been named head cage man at Stanton High School.

Williams, 34, will also be junior varsity football coach, according to Stanton athletic director Bill Young. The new head Buff has coached at Floresville, Beeville, Canyon and Ozona, where he spent three years before his two-year stay at OHS.

Under Williams, the outmanned Bronchos finished last in Dist. 5-AAAA last season and posted a 3-28 season mark. He replaces Jim Jensen, who was released by the Stanton Board two months ago amidst controversy. Jensen had led the Buffs to the school's first district title in 10 years.

VIEW FROM PLAINS Hunter Safety Programs Set

By J. D. PEER
Texas Parks & Wildlife

Are you a safe hunter? Could you pass the test? Find out. Put your name on the list for the next hunter safety class to be held by Texas Parks and Wildlife instructors.

The hunter safety program helps each student learn safe gun and bow handling ethics and responsibility, laws and regulations, game identification, survival and first aid, and the concept of a quality outdoor experience, whether or not a limit is bagged.

Every state trains hunters on a voluntary or mandatory basis. Texas has a voluntary status. However, if you are going to hunt in Colorado, Montana, Oregon or fourteen other states, and you were born after January 1, 1949, you will be required by law to have successfully completed an NRA Hunter Safety class.

Last year, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department wardens were asked by prospective young hunters to certify them for out-of-state hunting requirements just before the hunting season started. Many of these young hunters did not get to go to a state requiring a NRA hunter card, due to the lateness of their request. Don't get caught without your hunter safety card this year.

Records prove most firearm accidents result from a lack of hunter safety knowledge or the failure to apply it. Statistics from states with strong hunter safety training programs show a substantial reduction in hunting accidents.

Hunters contribute over $2.2 billion toward conservation in the United States in less than fifty years. The purchase of Federal duck stamps, guns, ammunition, and hunting licenses is responsible for $145 million a year used by the states and the Federal government to purchase and improve wildlife acreage and to protect both game and nongame species.

For registration information on hunter training, contact the Lubbock office of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department at 4821 Avenue Q, or call (806) 744-6847, or the Amarillo office at 3802 South Bowie or call (806) 355-9246.

Wilkens Facing Rugged Job With Trail Blazers

After finalizing the details of his agreement with the team and meeting the media for the first time in his new capacity, Wilkens departed with a signed three-year contract in one hand and a can of game films in the other.

"I'd be studying these films to determine weaknesses and evaluate talent," he said. Even before he plugged in his projector, however, Wilkens admitted two areas that need work.

"We definitely need improvement in team defense and we have to find an on-the-court leader," he said. Could that leader be Bill Walton, the All-America UCLA center who recently signed with the Blazers for a reported $2.5 million?

As cool off the court as he was on it during his 14-year National Basketball Association career, Wilkens quickly was ready with an answer.

"People in basketball know that Kareem Abdul-Jabbar couldn't carry the Milwaukee Bucks to a championship in his first season," Wilkens said. "Bill Walton is not an Abdul-Jabbar, but he is a fine player."

The new coach made clear, however, that young talent would be the key in the effort to rebuild a club which has compiled an embarrassing 94-233 record over the last four years.

STP WENT RACING IN 1963 AND HAS BEEN THE MOST VISIBLE COMPANY IN AUTO RACING EVER SINCE — STP IS USED BY THE WORLD'S BEST DRIVERS —

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

When the flag drops for the start of the Indianapolis 500 today, general consensus across the country will probably be that 33 insane men don't have anything better to do. It's the immediate thought that comes to mind, since cars will be hurtling over the track at an average of almost 200 mph, a speed not exactly conducive to a long and full life.

A good, hard, probing look at this event can only lead to a person asking one logical, sensible question: Why? Certainly there's been plenty written on racers and racing for interested laymen, but it's all fairly meaningless. Like most intense feelings — loneliness, remorse, guilt, etc. — trying to put it into words is pretty much a mistake. A little boy can hardly tell how he feels after his grandfather dies, and I'd imagine the excitement of conquering Mt. Everest would be nearly impossible to relate.

The very mystery of the Indy run, a little over three hours of anxiety, is what makes it so popular. And it's a dilemma that will never be solved.

A lot has changed since 1911 when some guy named Harroun drove a car called a Marmon over those funny-looking bricks, averaging a whopping 74.59 mph over six hours, 42 minutes and eight seconds. At the time, I imagine that was pretty impressive.

And when Billy Arnold sped to a victory in the 1930 event, traveling 100.488 mph, he set a pretty neat record by winning $50,000. Today, a first place at the Indianapolis Speedway will be worth more than a million dollars to the winner.

But then money, not even a million dollars, doesn't really enter into it. I mean, how's a guy going to spend any money if he's dead? I liked what ex-racer Jack Stewart said about racing: "We don't perform on the edge of death, we perform on the edge of life. It's very positive. Live is richer and more beautiful after you have raced and lived to talk about it."

Now that, sports fans, is heavy.

But even poetry from someone on the inside doesn't really answer the riddles. For instance, how can Bill Vukovich race on the same track where his father died less than 20 years ago?

How can Salt Walther, who spend months in a hospital after an accident in last year's Indy, come back and try again? What goes on in the minds of Al Unser and Bobby Unser, two racing brothers who know that with one small mistake they could kill each other? And has anyone figured out a reason for Peter Revson to be dead, other than a nasty turn in South America called Barbeque Bend?

Probably, people don't really want to know the answers. It sounds rotten, but people go to the races expecting excitement and nothing — not a knockout punch from Joe Louis, or a home run by Babe Ruth, or a 102-yard kickoff return — is as exciting as a car wreck at killing speeds.

A spectator doesn't really, personally, want anyone to get hurt. I don't think. And when they see a car explode right in front of their eyes, they probably get sick at their stomachs. Maybe in that one fiery moment they're as close to understanding the sport as they'll ever be.

MISS SOFTBALL OPENING CEREMONIES SET TUESDAY

Opening ceremonies for the Big Spring Miss Softball America League will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the City Park.

Managers and coaches of the 31 MSA teams will be introduced, and West Texas Commissioner Jane Upton will address the group, explaining some of the goals of MSA.

Over 400 girls are involved in the four MSA leagues, and all are asked to be on hand for the opening ceremonies. The First National Bank Kittens and First Federal Belles will collide in an exhibition minor league game following the program.

MIXING IT UP — Hats and fists flew in the third inning fight during Friday's Chicago White Sox-Kansas City Royals baseball game. Kansas City's John Mayberry (7) charged Chicago pitcher Stan Bahnsen, left, after being hit by a pitched ball. Catcher Chuck Brinkman (11) and Dick Allen, right and another infielder attempt to break up the fight. Mayberry was ejected from the game won by the Royals, 4-2.

Six Longhorns All-SWC; Hacker 'Player Of Year'

The Southwest Conference champion Texas Longhorns placed six players on the 1974 Associated Press All-Southwest Conference baseball team, but Texas A&M's heavy-hitting third baseman Jim Hacker was selected Player of the Year by the league's coaches.

It's one of the top hitting All-star teams to come out of the conference with the lowest batting average among a regular .333. Hacker led the mythical dream team with a .477 average.

The six Longhorns on the squad include shortstop Blair Stouffer, utility infielder Keith Moreland, catcher Rick Bradley, pitchers Jim Gideon and Rick Burley and designated hitter Mickey Reichenbach.

Texas won the SWC title for the 10th consecutive year and the seventh straight season under Coach Cliff Gustafson.

Gustafson was edged in Coach of the Year balloting by Texas A&M's Tom Chandler. Crain, who clubbed 10 home runs in SWC play and was credit with 38 RBIS, was named Newcomer of the year. Crain is a transfer from Tyler Junior College.

Gideon was the best of a mound staff that posted a combined 22-2 record. Gideon had an 11-0 record and teammate Burley was 5-0. Mike Pettit of Rice posted a fine 6-2 ledger.

The outfield consisted of John Scaeghorn, SMU, Mark Stevens of Houston and Paul Miller of Texas A&M with Mike Maddox of Houston in a utility role.

Besides Crain at first, Hacker at third and Stouffer at shortstop, Mike Schraeder of Texas A&M was the second sacker to round out the infield. Moreland was in the utility role.

Reichenbach with a .386 average and Steve Reeves of Houston at .426 were the designated hitters.

Colorado City Pro Leads Win

Colorado City Country Club Pro Bill Wilson and Mike Harrison and Hershel Cox, all of Pecos, joined Big Spring Colorado City golfers Bob Dennis and George Powell Friday for championship honors in the Big Spring Country Club's West Texas Pro-Am Tourney.

The foursome shot a 59, two strokes ahead of the team headed up by Midland pro Allen Pursley. Also playing on the second place team were Bill Hightower and J. V. Gilbreth of Midland and J. R. Farmer of Big Spring.

Three teams tied for third at 62, including the foursome headed by Big Spring Municipal pro Charles Brantley, who was playing with Pat Patterson and E. L. Powell of Big Spring and Bill Gully of Midland.

Talking Oil Well Has A New Line

HOBBES, N.M. — Hobbs, New Mexico's "talking oil well" has something new to say. Through an automatic tape player at its downtown Houston and Snyder location, Hobbs-Moran No. 1 has been talking to visitors for the past two years. It is now delivering its third message.

In the first version it listed drilling and production statistics dating back to 1962. The second tape covered protective devices

Two Men Killed By Electricity

LUBBOCK — Two Lubbock water production employees were killed by electrical shock at about 9:50 a.m. here Friday when their truck came in contact with an overhead power line.

They were Aubrey Barker, 32, and Mark Dye, 18.

Death by accident was ruled in the case by Justice of the Peace Charles Smith.

A third employee, Socorro Casarez, who suffered burns on his left hand, was treated at a Lubbock hospital and released.

Three Admission Counselors Added

ABILENE — Three new admission counselors have been named at Abilene Christian College, according to Clint Howeth, ACC director of admissions and placement.

The new counselors include J. David Bowie of El Paso, Tex.; Coy Dell James of Vidor, Tex.; and STokely Sawyer of Itasca, Tex. The appointments are effective immediately.

The three additions gives ACC a six-man force in admissions counseling. Other ACC admission counselors include Sid Hicks, assistant director of admissions; Mike Barnes and Johnny Lynch.

Buck Rogers' Story Line Considered Commonplace

By OMAR BURLESON, M. C. 17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A little noticed conference of physicists, astronauts, and various scientific specialists was recently held at Princeton University. Their subject centered on establishing self-sufficient human colonies in space.

A relative short time ago many developments — moon landings, space shuttles, unmanned vehicles past Mercury and other planets — were Buck Rogers' imaginations. Today, all these are accepted as usual and hardly dramatic.

It does, however, boggle the mind of our ordinary people to learn that there is serious discussion among technologists of building a whole community outside the Earth's gravity.

The initial goal would be the construction of a colony of about 2,000 people at a site along the orbital path of the Moon. According to these scientists, there are five points in space where the gravitation fields of the Earth and Moon balance one another. An object at one of these points would tend to remain in balance between the two planets.

According to reports from the Princeton University meeting, the initial station would be built using the space shuttle and space-tug systems now under development. These experts have figured out that advantage could be taken of abundant building materials available from the Moon using a cargo launching system in retrieving these raw materials.

Dr. Gerard O'Neill, professor of physics at Princeton University, pointed out in the discussions that "virtually unlimited" resources exist in space and that sunlight provides a continuous source of free energy with no interruption. Furthermore, he said that in the asteroid belt there are great chunks of almost pure nickel-iron which could be fabricated into steel with minimal processing.

To the layman, these discussions are fantastic in scope. The colony which they were talking about would require the transport of 10,000 tons of material from the Earth to fabricate a cylinder to house the 2,000 people mentioned in such a way to simulate gravity on the Earth, using the natural resources from the Sun to generate electric power and to raise crops within the cylinder.

From here they go on to larger colonies of 10,000 people which Prof. O'Neill indicated could be accomplished within the next 20 years. Probably the most dramatic opinion coming out of the conference is that in a century from now most humanity could be living in space. They talked of removing "dirty" industries from the Earth to space, utilizing non-polluting technology that would leave the Earth free of polluting influences.

If all these dreams were ever to become reality, the Earth then would become a worldwide park and a beautiful place to visit from other parts of the Universe. That really boggles the mind.

REMOTE AREAS OF AMERICA WILL GET BOOST THIS SUMMER

World's First Education Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The world's first "education satellite" will begin next month beaming televised health and training programs to doctors and school teachers in rural areas of Appalachia, the Rocky Mountain states and Alaska.

This orbiting marvel, scheduled for launching from Cape Canaveral May 30, is called ATS-6 for Applications Technology Satellite. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration describes it as "the most versatile, powerful and unique communications spacecraft ever developed."

Union Seeks Wage Hikes

HOUSTON (AP) — The president of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union says the union plans to seek a very substantial wage increase and a cost of living clause for oil company refinery employees.

A. F. Grosprion said he was not critical of the pay increases some major oil firms have been giving employees in recent weeks.

"But you better get your giving done because Santa Claus goes out of the picture June 4," he said.

That is the date on which the union's national policy committee is to meet in Denver, Colo., to draft a national policy for ratification by about 6,000 refinery workers whose contracts expire next Jan. 7.

Grosprion was in Houston for the concluding session of an industrial and labor relations conference sponsored by the National Refiners Association.

Grosprion said Sun Oil Co. has granted a 5 per cent pay increase and Texaco Inc. a 7 per cent increase to its exempt workers, with Mobil Oil Corp. giving its employees a month's bonus. Exxon Co. USA and Shell Oil Co. also announced 6 per cent increases Friday.

Grosprion said it would be up to the policy committee to outline specific objectives of the national policy to be ratified by the refinery workers.

However, he said the minimum for any program will include a substantial wage increase and attention to the increased costs of living.

Festival Funding Is Guaranteed

The Sid Richardson Foundation of Ft. Worth and three other Texas foundations have come through with a majority of the funding necessary for the continuation of the UTSA Institute of Texan Cultures' state-wide Texas Folklife Festival, to be held in San Antonio Sept. 12-15.

Other foundations are: Houston Endowment Inc. of Houston, the Ewing-Halsell Foundation of San Antonio, and the Moody Foundation.

Ewing-Halsell, Moody Foundation and Houston Endowment Inc. were leading supporters of the first Texas Folklife Festival in 1972. The $35,000 seed money to underwrite the 1972 festival was recovered and no foundations were asked to contribute in 1973.

Bad weather last year did not stop the 4,000 participants and the festival attracted more than 90,000 people. However, the hurricane damage cut the four-day run to two, wiping out a large part of the cash reserves necessary for continuation of the festival program.

Spanish or one of several Indian or Eskimo dialects.

Professionals and volunteers — counselors, doctors, teachers and others — will assess the programs and determine if a satellite system is a feasible way to get educational information to and from people in isolated areas.

In five Appalachian states — Alabama, Maryland, New York, Tennessee and Virginia — the emphasis will be on teacher education. Elementary school teachers in 15 communities, three in each state, will be offered two graduate level, three-credit courses.

Starting in September, about 4,900 junior and senior high students in 56 rural Rocky Mountain communities will receive programs in career education via the satellite. The programs will be broadcast each school day from Denver to the schools for 35 minutes.

BETTER WAYS

The communities are in Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, Nevada, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming.

In Alaska, the thrust will be on developing better ways for that state's farflung communities to communicate with one another.

Alaska has 265 communities scattered over 571,065 square miles, and two-thirds of them can't be reached by railroad or highway. Isolation and many languages and dialects make communications and concerted action among people difficult.

Each week, the satellite will broadcast to 18 villages a series called "Alaska Native Village." It will feature such concerns as land claims, pipeline impact and Alaskan culture and art.

There also will be instructional programs in language development, health education, early childhood education and teacher training.

Alaska will be the site of major health information experiments to be conducted with ATS-6 expanding a program that has been under for three years with the earlier ATS-1 satellite.

REMOTE REGIONS

A health program is planned using ATS-6 to determine the feasibility of instructing medical students in states without medical schools. It will involve faculty at the University of Washington Medical School in Seattle and students and faculty at the University of Alaska in Fairbanks.

After one year in orbit, NASA will maneuver the satellite into stationary orbit over Kenya, East Africa. From this outpost, ATS-6 will be able to transmit to all of India.

India's Space Research Organization will use the satellite four hours a day to demonstrate the potential value of a direct broadcast TV system for education in rural and remote regions.

Programs stressing improved farming techniques, family planning and hygiene, school instruction and occupation skill will be transmitted to TV sets in 5,000 communities in seven Indian states.

No Business In Oil Business

In an address last month to the American Association of Petroleum Geologists, of which he is a past president, Gen. Halbouty warned that nationalization of the petroleum industry would leave the United States without oil and gas within a year.

"We won't have a 25 or 30 per cent dependence on foreign oil and gas. We will have a 100 per cent dependence," he said in his San Antonio convention speech.

While the AP story reporting his remarks did not relate it specifically to a bill now pending in the Senate, Halbouty's statements were in apparent reference to the Magnuson-Stevenson proposal sponsored by Sens. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois and Warren Magnuson of Washington.

Their bill would put domestic oil and natural gas prices under rigid federal controls and create a government corporation to explore for oil.

Halbouty said that if nationalization came, "our national treasury will be bankrupt. The taxpayers will have to underwrite every wildcat well drilled. Instead of one in nine being a success, it will be close to one in a thousand."

The oil industry would then be "just like that of every nationalized oil industry anywhere else on earth," he said. "It will be a political football, eventually run by dictators."

In an interview afterward, Halbouty said he based his predictions on what he already has witnessed in the inefficiency "especially with our bureaucratic government and our Congress." He said nationalized industries in other countries, especially Mexico, are not self-sustaining now and are not producing to their potential. This means less oil and gas and also subsidization by the national treasury, Halbouty said.

He said governmental regulations, paperwork and inefficiency would mean a poorer ratio of oil and gas discoveries to dry holes.

The president of the Independent Petroleum

Association of America voiced concerns similar to Halbouty's in a speech to the Ohio Oil and Gas Association in Columbus.

C. John Miller of Allegan, Mich., said the Natuson-Stevenson bill would precipitate an energy famine and cause "economic panic" in the nation.

Critics can accuse Halbouty and Miller of espousing the oil industry's line, serving its interests. Indeed they are not speaking against the industry's best interests.

This Is Over-Doing It

Now look here, ladies. Equality if fine, but let's knock off this superiority business.

So half a loaf's not enough, granted. Fair is fair. But can't you be content with a whole loaf? Do you have to have the bakery, too?

Look at the news for a single day, and almost from coast to coast.

In Massachusetts, a Little League coach (male) went out on a limb to let a girl play as a member of his team. She played four games, and no one said much. In her fifth game, she pitched three innings, and struck out seven male batters. The manager no longer is a manager; the league officials bounced him.

In Utah, officials magnanimously have allowed girls to compete with boys in high school tennis this spring. So what kind of thanks do the magnanimous males get? One girls is playing No. 1 at her school, and reached the semifinals of a statewide tournament. Another girl — a sophomore — is undefeated against boys, playing No. 2 singles. A third girl won three straight matches against boys to give her team a dual meet victory.

For 130 of its 132 years, the University of Notre Dame was a males-only institution. It admitted coeds for the first time at the undergraduate level last year. When the 1,678 graduates march across the stage to receive their diplomas this year, they'll be led by a woman — the class valedictorian is one Marianne O'Connor, an engineering major, who has compiled the highest academic average of any of the seniors.

Come now ladies, that's over-doing it.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I was a widow who married again only to discover that my second husband had a split personality and a persecution complex. We can't communicate. If he says anything, it's to put me down. Now Mr. Graham, I'm a Christian, and believe marriage is until death separates. But how long can I take this?

C.S. Strife in a marriage is one of the most upsetting experiences we can know. The trouble is, it affects us emotionally and intellectually as well as physically. I'm told that marriage on the rocks is really America's number one sociological problem.

But now, you ask what the Christian attitude should be. Paul says in 1 Corinthians 7:13, 14: "If a Christian woman has a husband who isn't a Christian, and he wants her to stay with him, she must not leave him. For perhaps the husband . . . may become a Christian with the help of his wife."

Don't lose sight of that word "perhaps." It opens the door to the whole bright world of possibility. If you, through daily dependence on Christ, keep your sanity, your cooperative spirit, your optimism, your peace of mind, perhaps your husband will get the message and start to reflect these positive characteristics.

In any event, refuse to pay back evil for evil. Cultivate friends who will fill the gap in terms of conversation and companionship, and be confident of this slogan, I saw recently, "The will of God will never lead you where the grace of God cannot keep you."

Airlines Point The Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Pan American World Airways and Trans World Airlines, the two biggest American airlines flying overseas, have given the government suggestions on how it can help them make more money.

Details of Pan American's suggestions were published this past week — a list the airline said it conservatively estimated could boost profits by at least $341 million and affect deficits expected from higher fuel and other costs.

But neither plan apparently suggested either airline was ready to forego entirely its request for government subsidy. Both contend such payments will be needed to support their North Atlantic operations at least this year.

Instead, the plans submitted to a White House body studying the problems faced by the two international carriers suggest air travel across the Atlantic isn't likely to get cheaper very soon.

Pan Am, for instance, said it wanted the government to grant it a number of routes while restricting or rejecting new routes for others.

It wants fare and rate regulations changed in ways the airline says will produce at least $75 million more a year.

It wants a crackdown on alleged kickbacks and rebates by foreign airlines which compete with Pan Am. One plan gave flying students $50 for filling out questionnaires for one European airline.

Pan Am, which projected an operating loss of $75 million for 1974 when it asked for subsidy money in April, now says it figures the loss will be $29.3 million. Net year's operating loss — a loss before adjustments which include interest and tax credits — should be more than $88 million, the airline says.

Both airlines contend they need help if they're to be expected to maintain their North Atlantic services.

Both contend they've been hit with staggeringly high fuel bills since the energy crunch. Pan Am, for instance, says it expects over-all 1974 fuel charges to hit $353.5 million, up from $171.6 million in 1973.

American Motors this past week became the first of the U.S. automakers to boost prices this month. AMC raised its prices an average of $67 or 1.5 per cent, compared with $163 for Ford, $105 for General Motors and $182 for Chrysler, all of which make generally larger cars.

AMC was careful to keep its subcompact Gremlin model the cheapest U.S. product in its category at $2,481. But that's $383 more than last year — and only $1 below the price of Ford's Pinto.

The Week's Business

- Profits figured at $341 million
- Subsidy payments would be needed
- Air travel won't get any cheaper
- Staggering fuel bills hit companies
- American Motors boosts its prices

An Old Story - Again And Again

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you believe, my husband has been having pains in the stomach area for quite some time. Went to the doctor and come home with medication, ate highly seasoned sauerkraut and drank about 12 beers that day (and every day prior and every day after) and said the doctor said he had acute gastritis and duodenitis. The doctor also gave him a pamphlet on ulcers — he had been hospitalized before for bleeding ulcers.

Does he read the same thing about his condition that I do, or is he trying to make himself sick?

Not only that, this alcohol seems to change his whole personality. Instead of relaxing — he has two on his way home from work, three before dinner — he complains about the food, continues drinking until he can no longer hold his eyes open.

Our whole evening and the complete weekend is spent in an upset atmosphere. He is highly critical of anything the family does. He yells and shouts. Our children are very insecure and both want to leave home.

Our sex life is really sour. It seems to me that he is not responsive to my need for just plain affection.

Am I dreaming all these subtle and not so subtle changes in him? The few times I have talked to him he acts as though I am crazy. I feel sometimes as though I am but I don't know what to do. — P.G.

I am printing your letter because it is typical of many I get from wives with alcoholic husbands. (There are husbands with alcoholic wives, too.)

There can't be any doubt that his stomach trouble is related to his drinking. It is also aggravated by his own irritability. He is self-centered and inconsiderate of his family, and that does him no good, nor anyone else.

No, you are not crazy. But there may (or may not) be something behind his drinking that you don't know about. Problems at work that he keeps to himself but tries to submerge with alcohol? Worries of some sort? Could there be anything in the marriage that ought to be changed? A marriage counselor might find a significant clue that would help.

He can be helped medically if he wants to be helped. Or he could join Alcoholics Anonymous — again, if he wants to be helped.

But until he does, about the only suggestion I can offer you is that you get in touch with Al-Anon (counterpart of AA for spouses or relatives of alcoholics.) Or write to headquarters to find the chapter nearest you. Write to Al-Anon Family Group, P. O. Box 182, Madison Square Station, New York, Zip 10010.

Other than that, all I can see is that one of these days a major episode of bleeding from his troubled stomach may scare him into action in time to save himself.

Bourbon Would Help

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

It makes a lot of sense that a newspaperman experimenting with bourbon would come up with a startling discover, and if this release from the Bourbon Institute is on the level, men may start using bourbon externally.

BI makes John W. Woods, chief of the fisheries division, Florida Game and Fresh Water Commission, discovered that the aromatic repulsion of fish and man is mutual — that we don't smell any better to them than they do to us.

FISH, ADJUSTED creatures that they are, find this a satisfactory arrangement. Man cannot stand it. He wants to liberate that fish from that pond. The fact that the liberation will be fatal doesn't matter. The fish couldn't care less. Man repels him and that's great. But Woods wasn't satisfied. He found that fishermen secrete an amino acid called serine which has a frightening odor to fish.

As it turned out, this inequality could be overcome quite easily. Woods found, by something most fishermen just happen to have with them — bourbon.

EXPERIMENTATION SHOWED ONE SHOT OF BOURBON IN A GLASS, PLUS A SPOONFUL OF SALT MIXED WELL AND Poured INTO AN ATOMIZER AND SPRAYED ALL OVER YOURSELF MASKS THE ODOR.

In a related instance, Bobby Harris, my drinking cousin, has discovered a way to combat mosquitoes on a fishing trip. He describes it:

"RUB YOURSELF liberally with a good bourbon and sprinkle fine sand on top. The mosquitoes land, get a sample of bourbon, start throwing rocks at each other and break their fool necks ducking, or misjudge their next landing and bend their drills."

WE FISHERMEN ARE WEIRD, FOLKS

When Ann Landers and Abigail Van Buren (who really are sisters) get together, do they advise each other on their problems? MY ex-wife's neighbor, Roger Beard, has a friend who's a veteran at acupuncture — his wife's been needing him for years.

Sage of Scurry Street, A. J. Vaughn, knows a Texas A&M graduate who had a cow he could not get to breed. Eventually he consulted a veterinarian.

"Get yourself a bull," said the veterinarian. "Oh, yeah," said the Aggie sheepishly. And he went home and sold his cow and bought a bull.

SOME MORE Deft-anitions from bouncing Bobbie:

- Housework — mop art
- Rabbit farmer — hare raiser.
- Bunions — ache corns.
- Body guard — deter gents.
- Disc jockey — radio active.

EX-DUNCAN BANNER flash, Joe Awtrey, says "The other evening I asked the cashier of a local restaurant if they honored credit cards." And she replied: "Sir, we not only honor them but also love and obey them."

New York's Gay Bill

William F. Buckley Jr.

My friend Mr. Michael Harrington, who was Chairman of the Socialist Party until he found something even more disreputable to do, has called to ask whether I might adopt one of my "Maveick positions" in support of what they call in New York City "Int. No. 2-A", otherwise a Gay Liberation Rights Bill the intention of which is to remove civil disabilities from what the bill calls persons of differing "sexual orientation." This mining definition is elaborated to say that no one henceforward may discriminate against anyone on account of that person's "Choice of sexual partner according to gender." A Homosexual Rights Bill is the straightforward way to put it.

MR. HARRINGTON'S interest in the legislation, I need not but will add, has nothing to do with his own preferences according to gender, which are altogether orthodox, if he will permit me the word, knowing his antipathy to it in political, or theological matters. But he is seduced by what most avant-gardists are taken with, and also a few others, which is the old saw that there is no such thing as sexual abnormality, that that which someone likes — little boys, little girls, sheep, cows — is simply of no civic concern. And therein lies the difficulty. Because Int. No. 2-A, although it is being sold as nothing much more than a compassionate piece of legislation forbidding the starving or torture of the City's homosexuals, is, like the various proposals for amnesty for the draft evaders, something more than that.

Most of the active amnesty hawks are seeking slyly to find a way of codifying their personal view of the Vietnam War. Seeking a way of saying that the real heroes were not those who served, but those who did not serve. Too many of the Homosexual Rights Bill advocates are seeking a way of saying not that homosexuals should not be harassed, which clearly they should not be, but that homosexuals are, in the eyes of everyone — conceivably excepting their counterparts in the opposite sex — just the same as Michael Harrington and Don Juan.

The Old And New

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — I received a call the other night from a former White House aide whom I'll call "Deep Toes." He said he had to meet me right away and he gave me the address of an abandoned garage in Chevy Chase.

WHEN I ARRIVED he took me over to a wall and we sat down on the hard cement. He lit a cigarette.

"I got something very important to tell you."

"What is it?" I said excitedly.

"You know you've been writing about the New Nixon and Old Nixon for the last five years? Well there is no New Nixon and there never was."

"You've got to be kidding. I saw the New Nixon with my own eyes. The whole country saw him in 1969, 1970, 1971 and even 1972."

DEEP TOES shook his head. "It was the Old Nixon with make-up on. We dyed his hair, powdered his cheeks and put him in new suits. We had everybody fooled. You were the biggest patsy of all. Any time we fed you something on the New Nixon you ate it up."

"Whose idea was it to put out the story there was a New Nixon?"

"CHUCK COLSON and John Dean cooked it up between them. They figured if they were going to report to a lot of tricky stuff in Nixon's second term, it would be better to do it in the name of the New Nixon rather than the Old Nixon. You see, people would have been very wary if they thought the Old Nixon was running for office."

"What a fool I was," I said, hitting my head against the cement wall. "Was the President in on it?"

"Of course he was in on it. He played along with the whole thing. When he was in public he was the New Nixon, but when he talked to us privately he was the Old Nixon."

"He sure did a good job," I said. "He could have gotten away with it, too, if it hadn't been for Watergate."

"But why are you telling me all this? This stuff could blow the President right out of the water."

DEEP TOES took a drag on his cigarette. "I'm getting back at Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein, the guys on The Washington Post who broke the Watergate story."

"What do you mean?"

"They promised that if I leaked the Watergate details to them they would see that Robert Redford would play me in the movie. Now it turns out Redford is going to play Woodward. So I figured from now on, if I have anything good, I'm going to leak it to you."

A Devotion For Today . .

"When the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her and said to her, 'Do not weep.'" (Luke 7:13)

PRAYER: Our Father, we thank You for the love we have so often felt from You. May others receive Your love through us. Amen.

Tarzan Swims For Therapy

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Johnny Weissmuller, who spent a good portion of his life either in the water or swinging through trees, is back in the water again, this time for health purposes.

Weissmuller, who will be 70 on June 2, broke his hip last December during a fall at Caesars Palace hotel here, where he had been employed as a host-greeter.

After four months in the hospital the former star of 19 "Tarzan" films and holder of five Olympic gold medals for swimming has taken to the family pool for daily workouts to build up his shattered hip.

"The water's getting warm enough that I'm going to swim it off," said Weissmuller of his injured hip. "I've gotten rid of both the crutches already."

Weissmuller has retired but is thinking about making some television commercials to keep busy, although swimming and golf already take up a large part of his day.

In addition to the gold medals, Weissmuller set 57 world records as a swimmer, was named to the Helms Hall of Fame three times and has been honored as the greatest swimmer in the first half of this century.

He played Jungle Jim in the television series of the same name in the 1950s and now serves as a director of the National Swimming Hall of Fame at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

Gershwin Bust 50 Years Later

NEW YORK (AP) — On the 50th anniversary of George Gershwin's Carnegie Hall debut, in April, a bust of Gershwin was presented to the hall.

It was accepted by Leontyne Price, who sang Bess in Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess" on Broadway, on behalf of the Carnegie Hall Corp.

The bust is by Boston-born sculptor George R. Anthonisen. It will be displayed in a niche along the wall of the first tier boxes.

Is Grandfather

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Frank Sinatra is a grandfather. The singer's daughter, Nancy, gave birth Wednesday to a baby girl. It was the first child for Nancy and her husband, Hugh Lambert, a television director.

Redford: Jock, Golden Boy, Politician And Now 'Gatsby'

In the dozen films he has made, Robert Redford has been the self-centered jock in "Downhill Racer," the mountain man learning to survive in "Jeremiah Johnson," the rebellious Southern youth in "The Chase," the golden boy who never quite makes it in "The Way We Were," the alienated politician in "The Candidate," the anachronistic bank robber in "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid," and now one of American fiction's most famous heroes in "The Great Gatsby."

"The Great Gatsby" (PG) will be screened at the R-70 Theatre starting Friday.

If there is a common thread tying the parts Redford has chosen to play, it is about men trying with degrees of integrity to survive. "I'm interested in the forces that overwhelm the individual," Redford emphasizes.

The private Redford still acts as if he were not quite sure he should be a star, that there might still be options for him, perhaps as a painter, or a businessman running a ski resort in Utah.

When he finishes a film, he goes back to his home in Utah with his wife, Lola, and their three children, which he built on the side of a mountain where he can do what he likes: ride horseback and ski. "I react strongly to people trying to get too close to me," he admits.

College was a traumatic time of self-doubt for Redford. "I boozed and partied and blew my baseball scholarship because I didn't show up for practice. I felt I was drowning."

He fled to Paris. He painted and kept financially afloat by selling some canvases, a number of them now in Florence, Italy. He returned to

New York and enrolled at the Pratt Institute. One of his teachers suggested he attend the American Academy of Dramatic Arts to get a theatrical background that could be valuable in his painting.

His movie debut was in "War Hunt," then he returned to Broadway where he did "Little Moon of Alban" with Julie Harris and "Sunday in New York," for producer David Merrick, with whom Redford was reunited on "The Great Gatsby." Next he did "Baret" with Neill Simon's comedy.

Mexican Cabs Banned In El Paso

CUADAZ JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Thousands of Mexicans and Americans crossed and recrossed the border on foot Friday following the passage of an El Paso city ordinance banning Mexican taxicabs from crossing into the United States, Mexican authorities said today.

El Paso Mayor Fred Hervey and the City Council passed the ordinance Thursday banning the 1,000 Ciudad Juarez cabs from entering El Paso through the Cordoba, Santa Fe and Lerdo international bridges connecting the two cities.

Mexican authorities said the El Paso City Hall took the measure because Hervey allegedly claimed cab drivers had no insurance on themselves or the vehicles.

The Ciudad Juarez City Hall said it doesn't plan to take any retaliatory action. El Paso cabs continued to cross into Mexico freely, city authorities here said.

A spokesman for the local police department said late Friday that thousands of residents of both sides preferred to walk across on foot because of the bans.

He said border officials at the El Paso entrances of the bridges started to turn back the Mexican cabs late Thursday and continued to do so Friday.

However, he said Juarez Mayor Mario Jaquez plans to "establish a dialogue and solve the problem."

Teacher Pay Hike Offered

HOUSTON (AP) — Teachers in the Houston School District have been offered a 10 per cent pay hike, Samuel LaMonica, the district's labor relations specialist, said Saturday.

The raise, which would amount to at least $600 to each of the district's 9,000 teachers, would cost the district about $9 million next year, he said.

Under the plan, which requires board approval, beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree would receive $7,820 instead of the $7,200 currently paid, LaMonica said.

Top salary would be $12,850 instead of the present $12,160 for teachers with master's degrees and 14 years of experience.

The teachers had requested a 15 per cent pay hike.

Three Hurt In Wrecks

Two persons were injured in a three vehicle accident Friday afternoon and a truck driver lost a whole truck load of lumber in a one vehicle turnover on IS 20 early Saturday.

In the 3:59 p.m. wreck Friday, Elma Rosas, 1208 Lindbergh, was driver of one vehicle and Louisa Castilla, 1410 Robin, of the other. Both were injured with Mrs. Rosas receiving severe cuts around the mouth. Ricky Porras, a passenger in the second vehicle was also taken to Hall-Bennett Hospital, along with the drivers.

In the wreck at 1:15 a.m. Saturday one mile west of Big Spring on IS 20, William J. Malthaupt, Oil City, escaped injury when his trailer-laden truck swerved and turned over.

Ex-Athletic Director Guilty Of Vice Charge

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Travis Raven Sr., the toast of the town when he was coaching Austin Reagan to schoolboy football titles, has been convicted of engaging in prostitution in a case involving a 16-year-old Houston girl.

A six-man, six-woman jury convicted Raven of the misdemeanor charge of late Friday night after rejecting a felony charge against Raven of compelling prostitution of a minor.

Dist. Judge Tom Blackwell fined Raven $200, the maximum penalty.

Audry McDonald, 28, was found innocent on the felony charge and was not under indictment on any other offense.

Raven, 51, said afterwards that only he, the girl and "the man upstairs" knew he was innocent.

In closing arguments, Dist. Atty. Robert Smith said, "I like to think of this community as one of schools, of churches, and not schools infested by pimps."

Raven was suspended in March as athletic director of schools here at his own request after charges were brought that he and McDonald had compelled Mary Theresa Lindley to become a prostitute, with some of Raven's friends named as her customers.

That Painting Your Grandma Left You May Be Worth Loot

NEW YORK (AP) — Art is a world currency traded by thousands of people each year — and its value is generally skyrocketing.

From Great Falls, Mont., to New York City, art auctions are bringing in record amounts of money.

An auction of 20th century art at a gallery here in early May garnered more than $3.5 million, mostly for contemporary paintings and sculpture.

WESTERN ART

In Montana, more than $200,000 in paintings and sculpture were sold last month at the 6th annual Charles M. Russell Auction of Original Western Art.

And a Chicago couple brought an antique Chinese pottery figure for under $3,000 in 1969. This year it was valued at $92,500.

Last fall, a New York businessman and taxi fleet owner, Robert Scull, sold a pop art painting by Jasper Johns for $240,000. He bought it in 1965 for $10,200.

PICASSO PRINTS

"You want to know what an object will be worth in two or three years. I tell them it's like your investment banker on Wall Street — ask him what IBM stock purchased today will be worth in two or three years. The chance is the same."

But when Picasso prints which sold for $25,000 in 1969 are sold four years later for $179,000, many Americans see the art market as a more sure thing than chance. About $25 million is what they spent last year on prints alone.

"Most people buy because they love a painting," Woolworth said. The former investment banker says no other business is as intriguing as the art world.

"Real collectors buy paintings to live with. People are nervous today about loaning paintings or sculpture for a show with their names on them. It might leave them open to art kidnaping, political stuff. But they can't lock paintings in a vault. They have to take a chance, just as you do with your children, or as life itself is a chance. You just hope it won't happen to you."

LOVE COLLECTING

"We buy anything we think is good — and reasonable — and so far we've done well. In another two or three years we'll be experts, writing our own books, maybe we'll even go into business. We love collecting."

Rosen's Ching Pei vase, bought for $550 last year, was appraised at between $600 and $800, and other porcelains have appreciated in value. But for look back to the days of the Russian revolution and war-torn Europe.

"People fled catastrophe carrying jewelry and rolled-up canvases. Their money was worthless but they got a new start in life by selling art they'd collected."

Woolworth, who handles famous American painters including Andrew Wyeth, finds that the art world has up and down fluctuations just as the gold market does.

"In the long run it all levels out somewhere in the future. For example, when the Japanese were buying a tremendous amount of western art very rapidly, they got some great things but also some not-so-great. It had an enormous impact on prices. But when their economy began to have problems, they sold some pieces and a ripple effect resulted. A certain amount of selling cleared the air, and now they're ready to be buyers again," Woolworth added.

Long Vigil Of Dog Ends

The long vigil of a black and white border collie is over.

For two years, he had waited for his master near a farm road a short way from the Lamesa highway in the Fairview area.

Several different people had fed him for two winters but he had steadfastly refused to get into anyone's car. He kept looking down the highway.

Recently, a radio network announcer put the dog on statewide radio coverage trying to locate the owner. A lot of people drove up and down looking at the dog. Somebody tired of all of the publicity.

And this week the dog was shot by an unknown person. His long vigil is over.

Airport Dispute In Big D

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Aeronautics Commission has attacked Saturday a Dallas city ordinance which in effect bans commuter flights from Dallas Love Field.

The city is fighting operation of commuter flights at Love Field, wanting them to fly out of the new Dallas-Fort Worth Airport at Grapevine.

The commuter airlines want to use Love Field because of its convenience and nearness to Dallas patrons.

The aeronautics commission (TAC), which regulates airlines operating wholly within Texas, filed its petition in U.S. District Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr.'s court shortly before closing Friday.

If the ordinance becomes operative, the petition says, it will "impair, conflict with or destroy the statutory authority of the TAC to fully regulate in the public interest air carriers such as Southwest Airlines Co."

The state agency also said the ordinance would impair or destroy the air carrier services "required to be conducted in the public interest" under TAC certificates.

Sub-Committees Shape Up Essays On 'Goals'

A general meeting of the Goals for Progress steering committee is being delayed while sub-committees complete their first essays, Dr. Thomas T. Salter, project chairman, said.

The first essays will review current conditions in the Big Spring area. A series of second essays will set goals for the future, Dr. Salter said.

"In the end, we should produce a booklet with chapters (the 8 areas we have chosen to study)," Dr. Salter told steering committee members in a letter.

The health and education subcommittee chaired by Mayor Wade Choate had completed its first essay.

Other subcommittees and chairmen include government, Mrs. Mary Joy Cowper; design, Adolph Swartz; community relations, W. S. Pearson; culture and entertainment, K. H. McGibbon; housing, County Judge A. G. Mitchell; parks and recreation, Mrs. Horace Garrett; and economy, Tom Locke.

Completions Rise Sharply In U.S.

DENVER — Gas well completions in the United States during 1973 rose to 6,150 from 4,906 in 1972 while total drilling declined, according to Petroleum Information's recently published 1973 resume.

During 1973, 26,400 wells drilled for oil and/or gas were completed for the record. In 1972, 27,615 wells were completed for the record.

The 44th edition of Resume is a review of 1973 domestic oil and gas activity in the United States.

Figures compiled by Petroleum Information for the Resume show that 61 per cent of all wells drilled in 1973 were successful, resulting in 16,089 new producers. Explorations accounted for 31 per cent of 1973's work.

Gage Hopkins Is On Honor List

LEVELLAND — Four students from the Big Spring area are among 256 students named to the Dean's Honor List at South Plains College for the spring of 1974.

A total of 67 students earned a 4.0 grade point average or all A's, announced Nathan Tubb, academic dean at SPC. Students must maintain a 3.25 grade-point average and carry at least 12 hours in order to be named to the honor roll, Dean Tubb said.

Students include: George McCown (all A's) of Lamesa; Gage Hopkins of Big Spring; and Connie Cooley and William Dockrey, both of Colorado City.

Rapid Progress Is Made Toward Nursing Program

Rapid strides are being made in the development of plans for the establishment of a two year professional nurse program for Howard College at Big Spring, according to Charles A. Weeg, Chairman of the ADN advisory committee.

This program was approved by the college's board of trustees several months ago to help

Rodeo Pageant Opens Aug. 28

STEPHENVILLE — The Miss Rodeo Texas and Miss Rodeo Texas "Teen" Pageant will be held August 28, 29, 30th and 31st in Stephenville, in conjunction with the Erath County Livestock Association R.C.A. Rodeo.

Paula Davis, Miss Rodeo Texas 1974, from Seymour, will be on hand to greet all contestants in the Miss Rodeo Texas Division. Karen Little, Miss Rodeo Texas "Teen", from Odessa, will be on hand to greet all contestants in the "Teen" Division.

The pageant headquarters will be in the new Ranada Inn, with horsemanship competition taking place at the Livestock Arena. An open style show will be held August 28th featuring all contestants.

Girls entering the pageant must have a title, such as 'Miss A.J.R.A.' (American Junior Rodeo Assn.) or be a riding club sweetheart, or sponsored by a Chamber of Commerce. No commercial entries can be accepted.

The winner of the Miss Rodeo Texas Pageant will go to Oklahoma City, Okla. in November to compete in the Miss Rodeo America Pageant, which is held in conjunction with the National Rodeo Finals. Both girls must travel throughout Texas to stock shows, rodeos and other western events to promote the sport of rodeo.

Interested girls and/or sponsors are urged to write to P.O. Box 909, Stephenville, Texas 76401 in care of the Miss Rodeo Texas Pageant. Or call AC 817-968-3600 or 968-2161.

Sundown Water Supply Short

SUNDOWN — This Panhandle town's water wells are being threatened by oil and salt seepage.

Officials have already started planning emergency action. Mayor Allen Bailey said the city's water situation is "right at the stage of being critical."

One of the four wells operated by the city was closed Wednesday. If another is shut down, the users will be short of water. There is a possibility the city may be able to tie into the Canadian River Authority water line between Brownfield and Levelland. However, it would take at least six to eight months for the line to become operable.

alleviate a critical nursing shortage, Weeg said.

"The rapid progress that has been made to date is largely due to the fact that the college is blessed with a hard working, knowledgeable and dedicated committee," he said.

JULY TARGET
"We are farther along at this time than originally anticipated, and presently the curriculum, goals and philosophies are nearing completion. We presently face two deadlines that must be met by July of this year and April 1975."

Weeg explained that a rough draft of the proposed course of study must be appointed by April of next year.

In addition to Weeg, the committee is composed of Mrs. Betty Condray, R.N., Big Spring State Hospital; Mrs. Fred Hyer, R.N., (retired); Truett Thomas,

Pastors Complete Clinical Training

Six area pastors, representing four denominations, will earn certification in Clinical Pastoral Education training Tuesday, May 28.

They will complete their 20-week program, coordinated by Foy Richey, associate chaplain at Big Spring State Hospital.

Break Lamb Chop Barrier

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz has sent warm congratulations on behalf of President Nixon to a Pipestone, Minn., farm couple for breaking the lamb chop barrier.

The feat: Mr. and Mrs. John Wichern produced 200 lambs in one year from a flock of 100 ewes. The mother sheep, obviously, had to average twin births in each delivery.

"On behalf of the President, congratulations on an achievement that can only be described as incredible," Butz told the Wicherns in a telegram.

The couple was being honored today by the Pipestone Chamber of Commerce. It's agricultural committee for some years had a standing prize of $1,000 to any sheep producer who could come up with a 200 per cent lamb crop.

"You have done more than win the $1,000 award offered by the agricultural committee of the Pipestone Chamber of Commerce," Butz said in his telegram. "You also have established a new horizon and have served notice to the entire sheep industry in the United States what a proper breeding, feeding and management program can do."

Mercer: Beware Of The Drummers

Ron Mercer, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, today suggested that all area residents should be on the lookout for itinerant salesmen coming into the area.

Mercer said that every year at this time with the advent of warm weather and the various Clean Up-Paint Up Campaigns going on around the country, various salesmen are coming into the communities comparable in size to Big Spring selling various services and goods which it is later found are never produced. Persons should be extremely cautious of any type of solicitations and if in doubt, before signing any contract or paying any money, they should call the Better Business Bureau for advice.

Big Spring is now a part of the Permian Basin Better Business Bureau and, a toll free call can save some sorrow in the future. The Better Business Bureau can be reached by dialing the Operator and asking for Enterprise 8-4027.

East won the king and returned the ace, and South ruffed high to prevent an overruff. A trump to the jack brought the bad news that declarer now had a trump loser, but all was not yet lost. The king of trumps and king of clubs were cashed, and the closed hand was re-entered with the ace of hearts. Declarer tried a club to the jack, but when the finesse lost, he was down one.

Admittedly, declarer was most unfortunate to find trumps 4-0 and the queen of clubs offside—that combination will occur only about five per cent of the time. However, declarer had a near certain play for his contract.

South can afford to lose two diamond tricks and a club, so he can afford to protect against the possibility of trumps breaking badly. Instead of ruffing the third diamond, declarer should discard a low club, and that would leave the defenders powerless. Declarer can win any return, draw trumps and claim his contract. Should East lead a fourth round of diamonds, declarer can let that run round to dummy—if West ruffs, dummy overruffs; if West discards, dummy ruffs low and declarer's four top hearts extract all of West's trumps.

"Why do suits never break in bridge columns?" queries a reader. "I would prefer hands nearer to the type I pick up at the table." He doesn't seem to realize that a great majority of hands will contain either a singleton or a void, and a purpose of columns such as this, is to help you cope with adversity. The auction was soon over. Once South scraped up a free response over East's overcall, North had something in reserve for his leap to game. Unfortunately, South's declarer play was not up to the challenge.
West led the queen of diamonds and continued the suit.
