CHILD CARE Evangelist Roloff Wins Court Fight

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court ruled today that radio evangelist Lester Roloff did not have to get state licenses to operate child-care facilities because he did not house more than six children under the age of 16.

Roloff was fined $5,040 and sentenced to five days in jail by a trial court judge in Corpus Christi for failure to obtain licenses for his homes.

Roloff made several public statements about the holiness of his fight, but his lawyer's only reference to that in arguments before the high court March 20 was to say, "This is not a religious fight."

On Aug. 3, Roloff agreed to get licenses for the homes. In exchange for that agreement, the state said it would not require immediate compliance with the law and it also said it would not present in open court what it called evidence of child abuse.

But the law requiring such licenses contains no definition of the word "children." The licensing agency, the Department of Public Welfare, interpreted it for many years to mean children up to the age of 16.

Gas Prices Low In Texas

HOUSTON (AP) — Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and New Mexico have the lowest gasoline prices in the nation, an American Automobile Association survey shows.

The AAA survey, prepared here, shows motorists in the five-state area are paying an average of 53 cents per gallon for regular and 57 cents for premium grade gasoline.

Highest prices in the nation, the survey shows, are in California, Arizona and Nevada, where prices range from 57 cents for regular to 61 cents for premium.

New York and New Jersey and the Great Lakes states are next highest at 57 cents for regular and 60 cents for premium.

Gasoline prices are averaging 55 cents for regular and 59 cents for premium in the Mid-Atlantic states, the survey found. In the Midwest and Mountain states, it's 55 cents for regular and 58 cents for premium.

After the Southwestern states, the Pacific Northwest has the next lowest with regular averaging 54 cents and premium 58.

The AAA survey indicated only one per cent of the stations on a nationwide basis are out of fuel and only two per cent are limiting purchases. Forty per cent are open Sundays.

Rape Charges Jail Waco Man

WACO, Tex. (AP) — A Waco man was in jail today on charges stemming from an investigation into 10 sex attacks on 14 women in recent months.

A $260,000 bond total was set for Phil David Hunnicutt, 26, a glass company employe. Hunnicutt was arrested Sunday and was charged Tuesday with aggravated rape, two counts of sexual abuse and three counts of burglary.

Police say most of the victims were attacked in their homes, all of them unmarried young women.

Wet-Dry Election Is Slated In Lamesa

LAMESA — A wet-dry election has been called for Lamesa on June 22 in the courthouse.

The election will be for within the city limits of Lamesa. The Dawson County Commissioners Tuesday called the election after canvassing the petition signed by well over 1,000 citizens, more than was required to call the election.

Evel Knievel Being Sued

Odessa Raceway Park is suing Evel Knievel for $1.6 million in federal court through an office in Midland.

Robert C. Knievel, also known as Evel Knievel, had obtained a temporary restraining order through State 118th District Court in Big Spring.

In this restraining order, District Judge Ralph W. Caton prohibited the race track operators and KOSA-TV, 7, Odessa, from using film of Knievel to promote drag races May 19.

Also, Caton ordered the tapes and films of Knievel not be altered or disposed of.

Friday, the local district judge extended the restraining order until Friday, May 29, at 1:30 p.m. when a hearing is scheduled.

A news release accused Knievel of "interfering with Odessa Raceway Park's right to contract the news media, right to freedom of speech and freedom of press inherent in his advertising campaign."

"Odessa Raceway Park was surprised about the action of Mr. Knievel in filing a law suit for injunction to keep Monte Caldwell from publicizing through the use of news media the competition of Donnie Winn and the Kansas 'Cowboy' Ed Beckley at Odessa Raceway Park at Penwell, Texas.

"No one from Odessa Raceway Park ever represented or inferred that Evel Knievel would be present at this competition or was in any way associated with Odessa Raceway Park.

"The film clip depicts the excitement and danger of nation wide dare devil jumping has been shown on National television on a number of occasions and did not in any way represent to anyone with average sensibility that Mr. Knievel would be invited to appear at the drag races and jumping competition."

VIOLIN MAKER Pettitt Work Is Adjudged Best

Denver L. Pettitt, Big Spring, was recognized as one of the two top handicraft masters in the state at the Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair held on the Schreiner Institute campus in Kerrville last week.

Pettitt, a violin maker, shared the honor with Davie Boultinghouse of Round Rock, whose specialty is building muzzle-loaded rifles.

In all, 160 works of handicrafts were on display at the Fair, an event which attracted more than 20,000 people from throughout the Southwest.

Everything from oil paintings to handmade knives were displayed during the fair.

The fair committee paid top dollar for the violin Pettitt had on display and it will be shown at similar events (e.g., the State Fair in Dallas) around the state.

The fair committee designated Leo Nauman of Leander as second place winner among the master craftsmen. He specializes in the reproduction of old saddles.

Pettitt has been making violins for about 40 years in JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel and Syria wrapped up a separation of forces agreement today after Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger gained a major Israeli concession on Palestinian guerrilla attacks.

BULLETIN

JERUSALEM (AP) — Sources close to the Israeli government said Israel and Syria reached a disengagement agreement today after 33 days of truce efforts by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

They said a formal accord was awaiting ratification from Premier Golda Meir's cabinet. No official confirmation was available.

The sources said the agreement called for the two governments to withdraw their armies behind a United Nations' buffer zone.

SET UP BUFFER

Unofficial Israeli informants said 1,250 U.N. troops would set up the buffer and that it would be one to four miles wide. They said it would stretch from Mt. Hermon along the Golan Heights, including the abandoned Golan capital of Quneitra and a strip 300 yards west of the wrecked town.

They said on each side of the buffer the armies would be reduced in two corridors, each six miles wide. In the front line corridor, troops would be limited to 6,000, with 75 tanks and 36 short-range cannon. In the deeper zone, each side would be restricted to 450 tanks, with no long-range artillery or anti-aircraft missiles, they said.

Despite the lack of official confirmation, newsmen were invited to Mrs. Meir's office to drink a toast with Kissinger.

"It's all wrapped up," said one source close to Kissinger's negotiations. "It only needs the cabinet to ratify it and that is a formality."

Israel's state radio said the disengagement pact would be signed by Israeli and Syrian delegates in Geneva at the end of this week.

Mrs. Meir's cabinet met early this morning to discuss the pact, then scheduled an afternoon session during which it would decide "yes or no," according to an Israeli government communique. It said the decision would be final.

MIGHT QUIT

Information Minister Shimon Peres told newsmen he expected the announcement would be in "very general terms."

Meanwhile, Israeli officials said Mrs. Meir may quit office in the next 24 hours and turn over the government to Premier-Designate Yitzhak Rabin.

Rabin won approval for a new coalition cabinet Tuesday night from Mrs. Meir's Labor party announced to President Ephraim Kazar that he was ready to take over with a new government that left out Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and some of Israel's most familiar faces.

Mrs. Meir, who wants to retire to a communal settlement in the Negev desert, remains in power as caretaker premier until the parliament votes confidence in Israel's new leadership. This may come Thursday.

THE FINAL LAP

Israeli newsmen who have been covering the Kissinger mission for the past month said they thought the elusive disengagement agreement was finally "in the bag." Foreign Minister Abba Eban said Kissinger himself thought a "positive agreement on disengagement" would be reached, the state radio reported.

The radio also reported that Kissinger has promised the Israelis American safeguards against Palestinian terrorist activity against Israeli territory from Syria.

Syrian and Israeli gunners have waged a war of attrition along the 40-mile Golan front for 78 days, and the object of Kissinger's mission has been to separate them as he did earlier with the Israeli and Egyptian armies along the Suez Canal.

United States officials were unusually reserved in dispensing information. One senior American official said chances for a settlement were good, but now "it depends on Israel."

Kissinger, the U.S. secretary of state, was silent but smiling as he returned in the early morning from four hours of talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad. A Syrian presidential spokesman said later that most points discussed by the two "have been settled."

Arriving in Jerusalem, Kissinger immediately briefed Premier Golda Meir's negotiating team.

Kissinger had extended his 33-day Middle East stay yet another day Tuesday for yet another trip—his 13th—to Syria to carry unspecified Israeli "clarifications" personally to Assad.

Israel held a five-hour cabinet session Tuesday, apparently making some key concessions, and Kissinger decided to travel what he called "the final lap" by going to Damascus.

Need For Re-Evaluation Of Tax Roll Pointed Out

By MARJ CARPENTER

Don Crockett, school-business manager, reminded Big Spring school board members Tuesday that all Howard County governmental groups are operating on 1958 market values and pointed out the need for a re-evaluation of the tax roll.

Roy Watkins indicated, "The political climate is not such at this time that anyone would want to share costs on a re-evaluation of property, but perhaps it will be after the first of the year."

Watkins did not say whether he thought the county would share costs of such re-evaluation after Jan. 1. The re-evaluation would probably up the value of most property since property values have increased so much since 1958.

Board member Al Valdes asked what a re-evaluation would cost and was told by Crockett "around $100,000."

The discussion was held as the board eyed the proposed school budget in their first work session Tuesday afternoon in the office of Supt. Sam Anderson.

Crockett pointed out that the tax roll showed a $7,250,000 increase, with $6,000,000 from oil and petroleum revenue. The budget showed increases in many departments for the coming year. The big increase is an across-the-board boost in teacher salaries built in by the state.

This is the year that teachers across the state receive a cost of living increase as well as their regular increment which will average out around $1,000 per teacher. Crockett also told the board that the TSTA is going to ask for an additional cost-of-living increase next year rather than waiting three years for the next scheduled increase.

Hand in hand with this, the teachers group is also attempting to persuade state legislators to up the average daily attendance per capita payment per pupil to Texas school districts so they can pay for the salary increases and other increases.

Anderson pointed out that even though there will be 15 less employees, including six less teachers in the system next year, the salary increase has still caused the budget to increase noticeably in this department.

Watkins notified board members that he plans to set a special meeting of the board to hear the local insurance agents "one more time" on the workman's compensation insurance.

Board members present included Watkins, Valdes, Delnor Ross, Dan Wilkins, Thomas Fetters and Jim Bill Little. Administrators attending included Anderson, Crockett, Noel Reed, Lynn Hise and Don Green.

Bumpers Bumps Sen. Fulbright

By The Associated Press

Fast-rising political newcomer Dale Bumpers ran away with the Arkansas Democratic senatorial nomination and ended the 20 year career of J. W. Fulbright, one of the leading powers in American foreign policy.

The two-term Arkansas governor ran up almost a 2-to-1 victory margin Tuesday over Fulbright, who has been chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee for 15 years.

At the same time, 73-year-old Wayne Morse was winning the Democratic senatorial nomination for a political comeback in Oregon.

TOUGH RACE

Morse, who like Fulbright was a leading Senate critic of U.S. Vietnam policy, will meet Sen. Robert Packwood in the fall. Packwood, who ousted Morse after 24 years in the Senate in 1968, was unopposed for the Republican nomination.

In Kentucky, another of the Democratic new faces, Gov. Wendell Ford, won the party's nomination to challenge Republican Sen. Marlow Cook in November. Both scored easy victories over token primary opposition.

Just four years ago, Bumpers was a school board member and city attorney in Charleston, Ark., a town of 1,500. But in 1970 he upset former six-term Gov. Orval E. Faubus in the Democratic primary and went on to oust incumbent Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.

He won re-election in 1972. Both Fulbright and Bumpers said they were surprised at the size of Bumpers' win.

Juke Boxes Fee Killed By Court

AUSTIN (AP) — The Court of Criminal Appeals today knocked out the license fee system for amusement machines under a 1969 law passed in an effort to clean up the juke box industry.

The high court said the legal rule is that all persons or things within a particular class or similarly situated must be affected alike by state laws.

Goals Announced By Zale Corp.

Zale Corporation, Dallas-based specialty retailer, revealed recently that its goal for fiscal 1975 is to increase sales and earnings by more than 10 per cent over the record levels achieved in the year ended March 31, 1974.

Zale officials told a meeting of the Phoenix Society of Financial Analysts that one of the company's primary aims is to achieve in excess of a 13 per cent return on shareholder's equity as compared with a 12.7 per cent return in fiscal 1974.

"This computes to net earnings of $35 million to $35.5 million," Shearn Rovinsky, Zale treasurer, said. "If this figure is achieved, it would equate to an earnings per share increase of 10.5 to 12.5 per cent."

Zale earnings reached an all-time high of $31.3 million, or $2.40 per share, on record sales of $571.1 million for the 12 month period ended March 31, 1974. The company, with more than 1600 stores, is one of the world's leading jewelry retailers and operates also in the fields of footwear, drugs, budget fashions, sporting goods and home furnishings.

Grape Outlook Is Promising

LUBBOCK — Preliminary research results indicate that commercial grape production may have considerable promise in the Lubbock plains area.

Field trials by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station show that yields of several cultivars (cultivated varieties) of grapes topped 13,000 pounds per acre in 1972 and 16,000 in 1973.

Two to five-year-old vines of 238 cultivars of wine, table and juice type grape are being evaluated in the Abernathy vicinity to gauge yield, quality and adaptability to plains conditions.

Grape quality, so far, has been good, especially for wine potential. Sugar levels have hit as high as 32 per cent, and 21 per cent is considered a minimum for wine making. However, research is not complete enough to recommend wine varieties.

The researcher emphasized that the plains area is free from cotton root rot and Pierce's disease. These maladies, along with downy mildew, are real troublemakers for grapes in the more humid sections of the state.

There Are Other Considerations

Sen. John Tower of Texas has introduced a bill which would smooth the path for retired military officers who want to take a flyer in state politics. The bill provides that when an officer is required by state law to relinquish military pay and benefits in order to hold public office in that state, he may have them restored after serving his term in office.

While the bill does not mention any individual by name, there is little doubt that Tower has in mind Gen. William C. Westmoreland. The former Army chief of staff and commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam has announced his candidacy for the South Carolina Republican gubernatorial nomination. The bill was introduced after a meeting between Tower and Westmoreland, and an aide to the senator is on record as saying "you might infer . . . that Westmoreland requested it."

This is interesting, but its importance should not be over-emphasized. The larger question is whether Congress ought to make available to retired officers this kind of insurance against the financial risks of venturing into politics.

It is not an open-and-shut issue. There are at least two considerations to be weighed.

We feel some hesitancy about placing any obstacles in the way of retired military officers' seeking public office. They are citizens, and it is the right of all qualified citizens to run for office if they choose; the right is an important one. The retired officer's entitlement to retirement pay and benefits also weighs in favor of not penalizing him for political candidacy. These have been earned. It is unfair to deprive the officer of them without just cause.

A counter argument can be made. Many persons who seek public office thereby hazard loss of income and security in their employment. Nor is it uncommon for the holder of an office to relinquish it for a crack at a higher office. Risks of this kind are an inescapable part of politics. Should former military types be uniquely insulated against them?

It does not seem unreasonable that former officers be required to give up their retirement benefits if they do enter upon public life for the period of that public service. When this is over, the benefits might logically be resumed. Voters, however, ought seriously to ponder the question of keeping the civilian control concept for government.

Timely Advice

Noting the increasing demands for President Nixon's resignation, Democratic Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of the U.S. Senate has called upon politicians, press and others to "cool it."

Senator Mansfield's advice is timely. It notes that these demands are stirring public opinion to the point where pressure is growing upon Congress to take the type of hasty action that could haunt the republic in the future.

Other leading Democrats, including Speaker of the House Carl Albert, have joined in the plea to permit the system to take its course through constitutional channels — the legislative process of impeachment (indictment) by the House, trial by the Senate, and a verdict.

The preliminary processes, as well, are proceeding through the courts.

Meanwhile, President Nixon in taking his case "to the country" is making speeches demanding swift action by Congress. Mr. Nixon knows full well that Congress is moving as swiftly as orderly and lawful procedure permits.

At the same time the President is dragging his feet on releasing other information pertinent to the inquiry — which delays the action he calls for.

The Democratic leadership calls for "cooling it." The Republican leadership should so advise all concerned to do the same.

Hope Springs

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

When they pass out the horticulture awards, there won't be anything for my neighbor, Vernon Smith, and me, not unless one is for eternal hope.

FOR MANY seasons we have planted in the naive belief that this is the year that the elements will bless us and our battleground on Infertile Acres will turn into a verdant bower. Always, something happens.

Give us a year when there is no late frost, and then you can depend upon wind and hail. Or give us a year when February and early March turn off uncommonly warm, and we get things transplanted or sprouted just in time to be withered by the last bitter breath of Winter.

AND, IF perchance, we nurse tender plants through this travail, the cold weather leaves the tomatoes and peppers covered and stunted, like they got chilled in the squat, or, in the case of too much protection, the vines flourish but forget to fruit.

Our radishes pop out of the ground as if by magic, then sit there, and sit and sit, making mostly marbles that singe the nasal cavities when eaten. The same thing happens with onions, on which most people can't miss — a few succulent under-sized ones early in the Spring, then bulbs that possess more than a little character as time wears on.

BEANS ALWAYS offer promise, coming up dutifully to a good stand, only to be snaggle-toothed by the inroads of cutworms. All else failing, the wind will take over and systematically snap off the most promising plants.

As for squash, there is some natural mystery which dictates robust plants will begin to bloom like mad and set succulent fruit, just in time for the appearance of those accursed squash bugs. Those sappy stems and leaves overnight lay down like a weary dog's tongue.

WITH CUCUMBERS, it's much the same story — runners taking off and blooms taking over with little nubs poised to make crisp morsels for salads, pickling or munching. Suddenly, nature's time clock dictates that white lice or some such abomination put an end to this nonsense. Alas, the Patch of Promise resembles last year's Christmas tree.

In between there is a battle with the weeds, the temptation to over-water, the wrenching wilt of under-watering, the appearance of those voracious tomato or tobacco worms who can leave a vine naked in a day's time.

WE HAVE yet to put it all together, to experience that one big dream year. Considering the cost of water, our labors at 50 cents an hour, our unit of harvest comes out so high that by mid-summer we habitually swear off. But only until the sap comes up next spring, sending us Sons of the Soil forth once more to prove that those pictures on the seed catalogue are a snare and a delusion.

West Texas Dusters

Robert E. Ford

It came to our attention recently that there are young people in Texas, even West Texas, who never have seen a granddaddy dust storm.

WE'RE NOT talking about one of those piddling little things that starts with a touch of red in the sky and finally creates a minor haze in which you can see as far as half a block.

This shocking lack of education among our young was brought forcefully to mind when we started passing around a new book, "One Short Sleep Past."

It is by David L. Nail and published by the Staked Plains Press in Canyon.

It is "A Profile of Amarillo in the 30s," as the subtitle suggests. It centers heavily on the suffering of the Depression and the Dust Bowl of that period although the two were not related.

YET, "occurring as it did during the great Depression, the Dust Bowl added insult to injury," writes Nail, who grew up in Amarillo and now is assistant dean of students at Texas Tech University.

Nail includes some pictures of an honest, man-sized dust storm.

These did not begin as haze. You saw them first as a black, low cloud on the horizon.

As they moved toward you, they rose to a little height, but not until they were upon you did they fill the sky.

It was like a wall of earth moving forward at a great pace, and when it struck, it felt like it.

It blotted out objects a few feet away in an instant. Bright days turned into midnight in the blink of an eye. People choked and coughed. Some got lost as if in a dense fog.

NAIL TELLS with a straight face a story about a cockfight under way when a dust storm hit. One rooster was blown into the next county, thereby voiding all bets. The other contestant had all his feathers stripped off.

People told of passing a prairie dog town during a particularly stiff breeze and finding all the earth blown away from the burrows and the holes sticking straight up.

Some people found a cowboy hat on the ground and picked it up. They found a cowboy's head under it. They asked the cowpoke how he was and he said all right, but he figured the horse he was sitting on was getting restless.

THE HOUSEWIFE suffered as well as men in open fields. No home was proof against the dust and sand. A walk across the living room or hall or anywhere in a house resulted in puffs of dust from footsteps.

Dust streamed through unseal cracks around doors and windows.

Some persons reached the relative comfort and safety of their homes by guiding themselves hand over hand along barbed wire fences.

ONE OF THE heroes of the Depression and dust days was Gene Howe, editor and publisher of the Amarillo Globe who is widely quoted in "One Short Sleep Past."

Oil Tipping Trade Balance

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — While the United States turned in a net trade surplus of nearly $3 billion in April, it is far too early to say that deficits are behind us. Not with oil prices as they are.

No matter how encouraging the country's exports look, some trade analysts look for a net imbalance for the entire year. Blame it not on export weakness, they say, but on import prices, especially for oil.

The Morgan Guaranty, which closely follows the situation, foresees a 1974 trade deficit of as much as $5.5 billion, the unhappy consequence of an increase of $16 billion or more in the cost of oil imports.

Aside from the problem—and realistically, of course, it cannot be put aside—the U.S. trade position has improved in several categories during the past year, remarkably so in some respects.

Many a food buyer won't view the situation with the same joy as might a government bureaucrat, but a good part of the improvement is due to a huge leap in the value of agricultural exports from this, the most highly industrialized nation in the world.

In 1972 the United States sent abroad $3 billion more agricultural goods than it imported. In 1973 the comparable figure was $9.4 billion, and in the first quarter of 1974 the agricultural surplus rose to an annual rate of $13 billion.

While that first-quarter could very well fall off to a full-year rate roughly the same as last year's, it does indicate the pre-eminence of the United States as the world's breadbasket, even if some of the increase is due to inflation.

Almost every other nation on earth has a greater proportion of its citizens engaged in agriculture, but none can even approach the United States in productive capacity and efficiency.

Fortunately for the trade balance, but less happily for the American consumer, food prices are increasingly determined by a world rather than domestic market. If world demand pushes up prices, Americans must pay too.

Faith Is Corroded

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — President Nixon's refusal to yield tape recordings of presidential conversations for three dates is corrosively transforming Republican faith in his innocence into darkest suspicions of guilt.

House Judiciary Committee Republicans believe that the presidential tapes for three days in 1972 — April 4, June 20 and June 23 — would either exonerate or incriminate the President in the Watergate scandal. By adamantly refusing to release them, Mr. Nixon is turning the defenders he desperately needs on the committee into potential votes for impeachment. As Rep. Lawrence Hogan, a Maryland conservative and staunchly partisan Republican, told us bluntly: "The inference when the Fifth Amendment is taken is, justly or unjustly, one of guilt."

THUS, REPUBLICANS on the Judiciary Committee will turn from the Memorial Day weekend prepared to join their Democratic colleagues in rebuking President Nixon for his defiance. Whereas only Rep. William Cohen of Maine out of 17 committee Republicans joined the Democrats May 1 in declaring Mr. Nixon not in compliance with the first subpoena, many more are prepared to align themselves against the White House this time.

This suggests that the stonewall strategy at the White House, intended to fatigue and delay a disorganized Congress, may backfire by eroding the very Republican support essential to his survival. That erosion today is at the point where impeachment sentiment in the committee has reached a new high.

The picture is not optimistic. Rep. John Rhodes of Arizona, the House minority leader who once seemed to have abandoned Mr. Nixon, now privately predicts the President will serve out his term. If Rhodes has become an all-out advocate for Mr. Nixon, he could influence some Judiciary Committee Republicans. Moreover, when Republicans get together they invariably lapse into political paranoia and conjure up an anti-Nixon vendetta.

FOR NOW, however, the mood among the committee's Republicans is that Mr. Nixon has gone too far. Their view differs so sharply from Rhodes's mainly because they know so much more than he about Watergate. While the minority leader still talks in generalities, the committee members are now expert in intricacies, after mind-numbing hours listening to tape recordings.

To most Democrats and at least one Republican (not Cohen), the tapes heard so far incriminate the President. Most Republicans feel the evidence — even the March 21, 1973, hush-money tape — is ambiguous, containing some exonerating and some incriminating information.

Spontaneous Lung Collapse

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you discuss spontaneous collapse of a lung or lungs? I have heard that the collapse can be complete or partial due to blebs that pop, and these blebs are supposed to be a congenital defect. Since they don't show up in X-ray, it is impossible to know you have them until a lung "blows out."

At what age will this "pneumothorax" most likely occur and what are the chances that it would occur repeatedly? I am confused as to how this can happen to someone who is otherwise healthy, of average weight and exercises moderately. — M.K.

You seem, except for a minor detail or so, to have a pretty good idea of what pneumothorax, or lung collapse, is all about. As you say, it usually results from rupture of a bleb in the lung after which, like a punctured balloon, the lung more or less collapses and cannot draw much air in.

It most often happens to healthy young males, and most often between the ages of 20 and 40. It most commonly comes after heavy exertion or violent coughing but can occur with sudden changes in pressure — as high-altitude flying without pressurization. Or it may be a complication of such lung diseases as tuberculosis, bronchiectasis or others. Small blebs can be invisible in an X-ray but large ones may be observed.

While it is conceivable it could occur in both lungs at once, that is just improbable; usually it is just one side. There is a sharp chest pain, then shortness of breath in varying degrees.

The bleb usually heals over, with a little scar formation, and the lung resumes normal action. Whether the accident will happen again is unpredictable. It has been reported to recur in some women around menstruation. It may recur — but many times it happens once and that's the end of it.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

When I accepted Christ in my life to help me with my problems, I was happy. But lately, I've been sad and frustrated 90 per cent of the time. I find myself getting short with myself and God. What's your opinion of my situation?

In the 13th chapter of Matthew, Jesus spoke of seed which took root in stony ground. He said it sprang up quickly, but having a faulty root system, was burned by the hot sun, withered and died.

I'm making no judgment on your condition, but sometimes, people have an emotional involvement with Christ, but never really acknowledge His claims in repentance and faith. Such are likely to have a beginning sort of exhilaration — which fades in the face of trouble.

Your statement that you accepted Christ to help with your problems worries me. Faith is an action prompted by an awareness of personal sin and alienation from God. Problem solving then becomes a benefit from faith, not the reason for it.

In any event, the old remedy of prayer, Bible study and fellowship with God's people is the only effective action to counteract frustration and an impatient spirit. Many a Bible writer acknowledges that such personal troubles had a good effect — they led back to God. Read Psalms 50:15 and 2 Corinthians 4:8.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"Present your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable to God, which is your spiritual worship." (Romans 12:1)

PRAYER: Lord Jesus Christ, help us live in thankfulness and obedience to Your word. May our lives be sacramental in Your world that You have given us. Amen.

Don't Look

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You hear so much talk about how terrible the young people are, but how about the adults?

This new streaking fad is being encouraged by people who are old enough to know better. You can't pick up a newspaper without reading about a streaker. And everyone thinks it's something to laugh about.

Well, last week my 43-year-old husband went to take his usual shower before dinner, when all of a sudden we heard the shower door bang, and in nothing flat here comes my husband running completely naked past me, our teen-aged daughter and two teen-aged sons! He ran through the living room, dining room, kitchen and back to the bedroom. He thought he was being funny. I was furious, and the children were too shocked to say anything.

What do you think about this streaking business? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: I think that there is so much to cry about today, that streaking is part of the "anything-for-a-laugh" syndrome. For my part, if something I didn't want to see more of came into view, I'd quickly close my eyes.

DEAR ABBY: I have a pet peeve I have never seen aired in your column. It's women who wear heavy charm bracelets that go "jingle jangle, clunkety clunk" in church.

This friend of mine always wears a bracelet like that, and she insists on saving me a seat in church beside her. She always picks two seats way down in the front and in the middle. Every time she moves her hand, those charm bracelets make a dreadful racket, which is annoying to those sitting near us and embarrassing to me. (I've even seen the organist turn around and give her a dirty look between hymns.)

What is wrong with people like my friend? Don't they know any better? Or don't they care? And how can I tell her without hurting her feelings? She doesn't take criticism very well.

DEAR ABBY: The following story is almost identical to the one described by Loved and Lost, which recently appeared in your column. Only the ending is different. I think it's worth printing.

Mature man in his 40s meets younger charming woman in her 20s. She's sexy, charming, vivacious, etc. A serious emotional involvement follows. After a six months hidden passionate affair the man leaves his wife of 16 years and several wonderful children. He begins a new "heavenly" life with the younger woman, and after one year he finds that she is selfish, moody, materialistic, arrogant and possessive. The situation becomes intolerable, and the love affair is over.

All this time the wife had been getting counseling to help her over this painful experience. I asked if we could try again and this magnificent woman took me back with dignity and nobility. For the whole miserable episode never happened, and she refuses to hear even one word about it.

Conclusion: There are still women who hold the home and family above their own pride.

The power to use energy efficiently this summer is in your hands.

When it comes to home air conditioning, one of the best things to do for efficiency and economy is to set your thermostat at 78-80 degrees.

For each degree above 75 degrees, the energy used for cooling is reduced by approximately 5%.

If you are going to be away from home for several hours or longer, either raise your air conditioning thermostat several degrees to a warmer setting or turn it off. Here are some other things you can do:

Replace disposable filters or clean permanent type filters as required. Clogged filters make the air conditioning unit work harder and use more electricity.

Keep doors, windows and fireplace dampers closed to keep cooled air in and hot air out.

Keep direct sunlight out as much as possible. Use awnings over windows, or close draperies and blinds, or pull shades.

For more ideas on using energy wisely around your home, come by Texas Electric or request our free efficiency tips booklet on the comment portion of your electric service bill.

Scholarships Awarded Two

ROUND TOP — Two scholarships have been established to enable University of Texas at Austin students to participate in the University's Shakespeare at Winedale program, Winedale director Lon Taylor has announced.

The Virginia Williams Scholarship, named in memory of the wife of Winedale Council member Milt Williams of La Marque and Winedale, was established by Jim and Barbara Ayres and the Eastcheap Players (former students in the Shakespeare at Winedale program).

That scholarship will provide tuition, fees and living expenses during the six-week session to a woman student who exemplifies Virginia's great energy, imagination, and love for Winedale — and the land and its people," according to Dr. Ayres, who is director of the summer program.

A second scholarship established by the Friends of Winedale will provide the same benefits to a student on the basis of financial need.

The first recipient of the Virginia Williams Scholarship is Elizabeth Atkinson of Dallas, a post graduate student who is working towards a teaching certificate. The Friends of Winedale Scholarship has been awarded to Marilyn Hinton of Dallas, a post graduate student in the College of Humanities.

This year's six-week session will begin on July 15; public performances will be presented at 8:15 on the evenings of Aug. 9-10 and 23-24. On Aug. 10 and 24, the performances will be preceded by an old-fashioned stew supper ($1.50 per bowl), sponsored by the Friends of Winedale, and an after supper concert by UT Austin's Collegium Musicum. All performances are free.

Science Symposium Will Lure 4 Area Residents

Two students and two teachers from Big Spring area high schools have been selected to attend the 14th Texas Nuclear Science Symposium to be held at the University of Texas at Austin June 3-6.

Texas Electric Service Company, a member of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation which is joining with the university in putting on the symposium, will sponsor the students and teachers.

Students selected to attend are James Hughes of Big Spring High School and Pearl McCraw of Coahoma High. Teachers accompanying them will be J. O. Dawes, Big Spring, and Sue Riddlehuber, Coahoma.

Some 500 outstanding science students and their teachers from throughout the state are selected by their schools to attend the four-day meeting. Scientists and engineers from industry and education will discuss nuclear physics, nuclear engineering and related topics.

Two afternoons will be spent touring the science laboratories at the university, including those where experiments sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation are being carried on in thermonuclear (fusion) research.

"We are pleased to provide this opportunity for these outstanding students and their teachers," T. R. Locke, manager of TESCO, said. "Attending the symposium should be a most interesting and educational experience and a chance to learn more about the latest achievements in nuclear science."

Included in the list of speakers during the symposium are Dr. Warren Witzig, professor of nuclear engineering at Pennsylvania State University; J. M. More Bail Secrets By Silhouette Man

DALLAS (AP) — More revelations from a man claiming to be a bail bondsman are expected tonight on WFAA-TV after the man already has claimed prostitutes and burglars have been granted bond privileges through the sheriff's office.

The man appeared in silhouette during the Tuesday evening broadcast. His voice electronically distorted to disguise his identity. He said burglars and prostitutes have been afforded prepared-in-advance writs of habeas corpus by agents inside the sheriff's office and bail bondsmen.

The silhouette man claimed burglars were charged fees for the advance writs which permitted them to be released from jail almost immediately upon arrest.

Call girls, he said, were accorded the same privileges in exchange for sex dates with persons specified by a man that was not named.

The silhouette man said this man raked off earnings from the prostitutes in addition to being able to secure for prominent men a "good time" with the prostitutes in various Dallas hotels.

He said the call girls, in trade for the benefit of immediate writs, slept with "visiting lawyers" and others connected in any way with bail bonds including "one of the biggest lawyers in Texas."

The lawyer's name was given by the silhouette man but WFAA-TV blotted it out during the broadcast.

More Profits Are Needed, Fina President Declares

NEW YORK — Increased profits, particularly from the domestic segment of the oil industry, are needed if the United States is to achieve a high degree of petroleum self-sufficiency, R. I. Galland, president of American Petrofina, Inc., told a Belgian American Chamber of Commerce meeting here recently at the Regency Hotel.

Instead of apologizing for what critics of the oil industry term "obscene" profits, Galland cited statistical evidence that oil industry profitability has lagged behind other industries.

"The bulk of the increase in (oil) profits was from activities abroad," Galland stated. He added that although 1973 was a banner year in quantity of earnings, the quality of those earnings was not high in that they included substantial inventory profits and gains from currency fluctuations.

"Even the current level of earnings will not produce the funds required to halt the decline in the U.S. oil reserves and make up deficiencies in U.S. refining capacity," Galland told the group.

Citing various bank publications, Galland stated that they showed the rate of return of the principal petroleum companies on average amounted in the U.S. to only 11 per cent in 1973, up from 9.6 per cent the year before. Galland cited, "The average annual growth rate has been only 2.2 per cent for the past five years, and no more than 6.2 per cent for the past 10 years." That's a poor performance, he said adding, "There are too many opportunities for investment in the United States that are much more attractive."

No longer can we expect plenty of cheap energy, Galland said. "Given time, we will achieve a new balance between reduced demand at the new higher prices and a supply mix of old conventional fuels and costly alternative energy sources," Galland said. He went on to warn, "The great danger is that, in its current mood, Congress may rush into punitive action because of the attention focused on the growth of petroleum profits rather than their adequacy."

Water Inc., Has New Director

Water, Inc., is a non-profit corporation working toward a water importation project for West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. It is supported wholly through membership dues.

Lowery has been a Lubbock resident since World War II. He was vice president of Bell Dairy Products, Inc. from 1948 until 1964.

Consideration Due On Wage Boosts

GEORGETOWN — A proposal calling for $150,000 financial campaign to increase salaries of Spanish speaking United Methodist pastors, and their pension program, will be considered at Southwestern University here during the meeting of the Rio Grande Annual Conference, June 4-7.

Dr. Dan Rodriguez, conference council director, said the denomination's national office of finance and field service would be asked to serve as consultants on this three-year program if approved by the annual conference.

"At the same time, it is our purpose to help local churches increase the amount they raise for their budgets with training in Every Member Visitation programs," said Dr. Rodriguez.

Con-Con Delegates Working On Environmental Section

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Constitutional Convention resumes work today on a section to protect the environment after having rejected proposals that would allow suits by private citizens and that would make state agencies trustees to protect the environment.

The convention turned down the trustee proposal by a 90-64 vote Tuesday.

It threw out the private citizen proposal by an even heavier, though not recorded, vote.

Rep. Joe Sage, R-San Antonio, said a California court has interpreted trustee to mean that private citizens can sue to enforce the constitutional injunction for conserving the environment.

Rep. DeWitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi, and Sen. Bill Meier, D-Eules, said they were disturbed about the establishment of a trust in state agencies.

Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, objected to language that protected "other public natural resources" because he did not know what they meant.

Rep. Neil Caldwell, D-Alvin, a co-sponsor of the trustee proposal, agreed to take out that language, but he did not get a chance to before it was defeated.

The convention voted 94-55 to take constitutional officers, such as the governor and legislators, out of a section that would allow the legislature to set rules on removal from office.

As proposed by the General Provisions Committee, the section said the legislature could adopt other means of removal from office in addition to impeachment proceedings set out in other articles in the proposed constitution.

Willie Williams is a rare one. In these times of specialization it's not often that an athlete can stand out in three sports in high school, much less at the college level. But Willie, good of Willie, is doing it up right.

At 5-9 and not very heavy, Austin College probably wasn't counting on any miracles when it added Willie to its athletic program about this time a year ago. But the ex-Big Spring Steer might be trying to give it to them anyway.

Williams capped a year of achievement at Austin College this week by being named to the NAIA District 8 Central Zone all-star team.

The talented freshman hit .301 for the Kangaroos, the team's No. 2 hitter, and led the team in stolen bases with 18. It's interesting that Willie started the year at second base, the same position he played at Big Spring High, but made the move to shortstop at mid-season and still finished strong enough to get the all-district berth.

He ranked fifth in the nation in punt returns last fall while playing in the Austin College secondary, and as a guard for the Kangaroo junior varsity basketball team he averaged 14.6 points a game. He also long jumped in the district track meet. You'd probably believe me if I told you he sold programs before each game and sang in the school choir, which he might have, for all I know.

He did win his school's Tim Jubela Award, however, which goes to the outstanding freshman athlete each year during the spring all-sports banquet. Willie's at home this summer, and keeping busy by playing with the Tiger Cubs semi-pro baseball team.

Willie says he'll keep up the busy pace next year at the small college in Sherman. "I plan to play all three sports again. The coaches don't mind as long as I'm able to keep my grades up. In fact, they kind of like it," he says.

Grades haven't been any problem so far. Willie ended up with a B average through his first year of college work. He hasn't decided on a major yet, but thinks he'll probably go in business and P.E. "I imagine that's what I'll do — I'd like to be a coach."

Williams enjoyed his work in the Kangaroo defensive secondary, and he particularly enjoyed the punt return part. He ran back two for touchdowns, and he was also Austin's kickoff return man. He's also looking forward to what he thinks will be a good season for his team. "We're going to be pretty good next year," he said. "Last year there were a bunch of freshmen playing, and we've got almost all our starters back."

The Kangaroos play such teams as McMurry, Trinity, Sewanee, Millsaps, Miss., and Nebraska Wesleyan.

The ex-Steer also thinks he has a shot at starting for the Austin basketball team next year since the team loses several senior guards. But if his grades begin to suffer any, he figures he'll have to be basketball that goes and he'll concentrate on football and baseball.

It looks as though Willie is going to star in whatever he has time to star in. If I remember right, that's the kind of guys coaches spend half their lives looking for. . .

TEEN BASEBALL Kiwanis Rolls To First Win

The Kiwanis, considered among the favorites in the Big Spring Teenage Baseball League, got off to a fast start Tuesday and posted a 10-3 HI-Junior win over the Optimists to highlight opening night ceremonies.

In the Sophomore League Tuesday, the Saunders Angels blanked the ABC Rebels 8-0.

Dick Battle scattered five hits and his teammates provided the firepower as the Kiwanis crew rolled to its first win. Andy Anderson slugged two doubles and a single to lead the way at the plate, and Battle and Ray Don Box also contributed doubles.

Noel Hull took the defeat for the Optimists, who slipped to 0-2.

Javier Hernandez was impressive in hurling the Angels past the Rebels as he gave up just four hits and struck out 12 batters. Ronald Sundry managed three singles and Ike Gomez added a pair in leading the team's 10-hit attack.

For the Rebels, Randy Crockett rang up two singles and Nichols stroked a double.

Alan Cramer was the losing pitcher. The Angels now stand 1-1 and the Rebels are 0-2.

BILL WALTON

'WORTH MORE THAN WALTON' Mom Boosting Barnes

NEW YORK (AP) — Marvin Barnes' mother thinks her son is worth more than Bill Walton. And Marvin tends to agree.

Walton, the three-time All-American and two-time College Player of the Year from UCLA, was officially made the No. 1 pick in the National Basketball Association's draft of college players by the Portland Trail Blazers Tuesday.

Actually, the Trail Blazers had signed Walton before he was drafted, the Bruins' 6-foot-11 center agreeing to a five-year contract for between $2 million and $3 million.

Portland and Philadelphia, the teams with the worst records in the league last season, had conducted a coin flip to determine the No. 1 pick. The Trail Blazers won.

That left the 76ers with the No. 2 choice, and after being rejected by the league in an effort to draft 1974 Player of the Year David Thompson of North Carolina State, they selected Barnes, the 6-9 All-American from Providence.

A very happy Barnes acknowledged that his mother was recommending a $3 million contract. "That sounds good to me," he said. Barnes was the nation's leading rebounder last season and the runner-up in 1973. He was drafted last year by Denver of the American Basketball Association.

Barnes' teammate, Kevin Stacom, was picked in the second round by the Boston Celtics.

Big men were at a premium in the first round, with 15 of the 18 players selected being centers or forwards.

Buffalo selected Rhodes, scholar winner Tom McMillen of Maryland as the ninth pick over-all, considered by some a surprise because the lanky McMillen might pass up pro ball to continue his education.

Furthermore, his toughness, stamina and lack of speed have been questioned by pro scouts. The Atlanta Hawks' first choice was center Mike Sojourner of Utah, the Most Valuable Player in the 1974 National Invitation Tournament, who was taken from the hardship list.

Another center drafted as a hardship in the first round was junior Maurice Lucas of Marquette, taken by the Chicago Bulls. It brought a bitter reaction toward pro recruiters and lawyers representing players from Marquette Coach Al McGuire, who lost juniors Jim McNeill in 1973 and Larry McNeill in 1974 to the pros.

The new New Orleans team chose Aaron James of Grambling in the second round as its first selection. It had traded away its first-round choice. It also named Scotty Robertson of Louisiana Tech as coach.

In the only trade Tuesday, the New York Knicks gave their first-round choice to Chicago for forward Howard Porter and the Bulls' second-round pick in 1975.

Others first men selected in the first round were: 7-foot-4 Tom Burleson of North Carolina State, by Seattle; All-American John Shumate of Notre Dame, by Phoenix; Bobby Jones of North Carolina, by Houston; Scott Wedman of Colorado, by Kansas City-Omaha; Campy Russell of Michigan, by Cleveland; All-American Keith Wilkes of UCLA, by Golden State, and Len Elmore of Maryland, by Washington.

Tom Henderson of Hawaii was the first guard chosen, going to Atlanta.

Astro Reliever Shines In Win

MONTREAL (AP) — Mike Cosgrove does not mind coming into ballgames in tight situations and the Houston Astros' left-handed relief pitcher feels he may perform better in the tough going.

Cosgrove entered Tuesday night's game against the Montreal Expos in the first inning to relieve Houston starter Tom Griffin.

Griffin had failed to retire any of the four Montreal batters he had faced and Houston

Manager Preson Gomez decided to bring in Cosgrove to face left-handed hitter Ron Fairly.

With two on and none out and the Astros leading 5-2, Cosgrove fanned Fairly, got Bob Bailey to line out to second baseman Tommy Helms and Jim Cox to hit into a force play to end the threat.

The Houston pitcher then went on to pitch six more strong innings of relief and played a big role in the Astros' 8-4 victory over Montreal.

It was Cosgrove's first win since being recalled from Denver of the American Association about 10 days ago.

"I kind of like coming in a spot like that," Cosgrove said. "If you have to come in, you might as well come in in a tough one."

Third place went to Jerry Barron and Ron Medley who fired a 67, and three teams tied for fourth. Omar Jones and Fred Wilkerson shot 68, as did the twosomes of Jack Cook-Gil Jones and Daryle Hobertz-Dr. Broadway Broadrick.

The two teams each shot 18-hole best ball totals of 65, six under par.

The First Federal Belles nudged the First National Bank Kittens 7-6 Tuesday in a Miss Softball America Minor League exhibition tilt. Becky Upton was the winning pitcher and Tresa Hohertz the loser.

An estimated 800-900 persons attended the MSA opening ceremonies which preceded Tuesday's game. Play officially opens Thursday with action in the Mini-Minor League.

Justice Of Peace Position Is Open

COLORADO CITY — Mitchell County Commissioners are seeking applicants for the position of Justice of the Peace of Precinct 1.

The incumbent, Leonard Henderson, resigned effective June 1 after he defeated M. O. Wise in the May 4 Democratic primary with 344 votes against 270 received by Wise.

Wise turned down an appointment and also turned down the post effective in January since he just this week received notice from the Veterans Administration that he had been placed on the 100 per cent disabled list, stemming from his wounds.

Anyone wishing to apply for the job may do so by contacting the Mitchell County judges office. They must have been a Mitchell County resident six months.

 "Second hand low" is a sound general rule of card play. On today's hand, two players elected to ignore this advice. Both were right, but brilliant defense alone could not prevent declarer from scoring a well-played game. Despite the fact that he held a good five-card major, South had a balanced hand, so his choice of one no trump as an opening bid was eminently sound, since it averted later rebid problems. North checked on major suits, and when he learned that his partner had a spade suit, he invited game by raising to three spades. Since South was close to maximum and had a five-card suit in the bargain, he accepted gladly. West led the queen of hearts, won by the ace. Declarer had to lose two dia-

"There is little doubt that the marked trend of the law toward expanded rights of defendants, a trend so noticeable over the past two decades, has been influenced in part by the imbalance of the representation equation before the court," Powell said.

All-Child Show Will Be Staged By WWI Veterans

Plans are being completed this week for an area wide, all-child show to be conducted by the Veterans of World War I, Big Spring Barracks 1474. The month-long program, to be called the Junior Jamboree, will be two-fold, a prize baby show for the small fry and a child talent show for young entertainers. The baby show will be open to all tots from one month to five years of age and the talent show for 12 year olds and under.

Registration for the event will open in the Hemphill-Wells store Friday, and will continue through next Monday, said Marion B. Ireland, committee chairman.

There will be no charge to enter a child for the program and everyone is invited to enter his or her children. The child need not be present at the time of registration, Ireland added.

KINGS AND QUEENS

Following a month of preliminary events and judging the winners of the baby show will be crowned as 'kings and queens' of baby-land as they rule over a fairyland court scene at Howard College auditorium Thursday evening, June 27. Trophies, blue ribbons and diplomas will be awarded, and the little royalty winners will be entertained by talent contest entrants with songs, dances and musical numbers.

In the baby show, all entrants will be given a physical examination to insure that all are healthy, normal youngsters. They will then be judged for beauty by a panel of official, out-of-town judges who will name the most beautiful little girls and the most handsome and appealing little boys from each of six age classes.

MISS AND MASTER

Miss and Master Big Spring will also be named by the judges, and the beauty winners will parade on stage at the grand finale June 27. Auditions will be scheduled for the talent contest entrants to be followed by an official judging to name the 'stars' of the show. 'Oscars' patterned after those of Hollywood fame, will be awarded in the talent contest along with gold-embossed blue ribbons and diplomas.

Serving on the committee with Ireland will be Auxiliary president-elect Mrs. Marshall Brown, Mrs. Dorothy Hull, Auxiliary president, and publicity chairman-elect, Mrs. Viola Younger. The committee was appointed by Commander S.M. Haygood when a special meeting was held last week at the Tea Room. Program director will be Mrs. Jack Gaddis.
