Big Spring tax payers, and those in numerous other West Texas communities, likely will escape a raise in school taxes this year only because the cost of oil has gone up and, with it, the evaluation of such properties.

However, the Big Spring ISD possibly cannot long stave off a decision to go to the property-owners for more money with which to operate.

School business manager Don Crockett reminded the school board recently that all governing bodies in Howard County are operating on 1958 market values while trying to live within a 1974 budget. The need for re-evaluation of all property is most evident, Crockett said, in so many words.

Because the cost of re-evaluation would run an estimated $100,000, some of the other governmental agencies within the country might

Lower Oil Price, Yamani Suggests

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Saudi Oil Minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani proposed today that the posted price of Arabian light crude be reduced by more than $2 a barrel to $9, the authoritative Middle East Economic Survey reported.

Yamani, one of the leading spokesmen for Arab oil producing nations, said in an interview that he hopes Iran would cooperate with Saudi Arabia in reducing crude oil prices.

The lowering of the posted price — the price set by the oil producing governments which in turn determines the amount of taxes and royalties oil companies must pay — would have an immediate effect on the market price of oil, Yamani said.

His remarks were seen by observers here as underscoring a growing dispute between Iran and Saudi Arabia over rising crude oil prices.

Largely at the urging of the Shah of Iran last December, oil states in the Persian Gulf including Iran, Saudi Arabia and Kuwait hiked their posted prices for Arabian light crude to $11.65 a barrel from about $7 a barrel.

Martin Heavily Backed At Polls

COLORADO CITY — A surprising large number of voters marched to the polls here in the Second Democratic Primary, casting ballots in two races.

In the Commissioner Precinct 4 race, Robert Bruce edged Bill Preston, 257-206.

Mitchell voters lent solid support to Elmer Martin in the congressional race, 61st District. Martin collected 1,452 votes to just 81 for his opponent, Mike Young.

Nelson Triumphs Over Parchman

LAMESA — Robert Nelson was named Justice of Peace-at-large in a runoff election with John Parchman here Saturday. Nelson polled 779 votes to 645 for Parchman.

Dawson again gave Glenn Toombs solid support in the race for State Representative, 363rd District. Toombs polled 870 votes to 538 for Ezzell,

OXON HILL, Md. (AP) — "It's commendable for young people to run for office, and I've always encouraged it," said Roy Chambers. "But when my own son runs against me, well, that makes it kind of difficult."

Roy Chambers, 54, and his son Robert, 28, have both filed from Maryland's 4th District, for the Democratic nomination. There's no political love lost between the two.

"I'm going to treat him like any other opponent," said Roy. "We just disagree on most issues."

Robert said he doesn't intend to engage in any mud-slinging against his father, "but his filing encouraged me to file. If he ever got elected, he would set the state back 30 years."

In 1964, the father took time off from operating a machine shop to help the Maryland campaign of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in his first presidential bid.

He became a member of the American Independent Party, again campaigning for Wallace in 1968 and 1972. In recognition, he received an honorary commission as a lieutenant colonel in the Alabama state militia.

The son, a self-employed tennis instructor with bushy sideburns and shoulder-length hair, is a liberal. He worked in the 1968 presidential campaign of Robert F. Kennedy and campaigned for George McGovern for president in 1972.

The father has come out hard against busing and forced integration.

Ikey Rupard Is Winner, 705 To 377

Challenger Ikey Rupard decisively defeated Bill Bennett, the incumbent, 705-377, in the Second Democratic Primary's Commission Precinct 2 election here Saturday.

Rupard, who has never held public office before, operates a grocery store in the Sand Springs area. He solidly carried his box, 222-88.

Rupard not only gained the edge in absentee balloting (36-27) but carried every box but one in the race and lost that one (Forsan) by a mere vote, 26-25.

All Big Spring boxes were combined into a voting booth in Washington Place School. Rupard rallied a lot of support here, too, winning 334-180.

Rupard will be opposed in the general election in November by Republican Paul Shaffer, who did not have an opponent in the GOP primary last month.

Palmer Triumphs Over Laughlin

GARDEN CITY — Curtis Palmer edged Ted Laughlin, 53-41, in the Democratic race for County Commissioner, Pct. 4, here Saturday.

Palmer has no Republican opponent in the general election in November. He will be taking office for the first time.

In the congressional race, 21st District, Nelson Wolf edged Bob Krueger, 63-61, in Glasscock county.

HOUSTON (AP) — Terry William Reuther, 19, of Houston was killed Saturday, when the van he was driving overturned on a Houston street, police said.

A passenger in the car was injured.

More Than 20 Die In English Blast

FLIXBOROUGH, England (AP) — A chemical plant exploded in a huge ball of flame Saturday, rocking this small Lincolnshire village, and rescue workers estimated that more than 20 persons were killed.

The force of the blast demolished or damaged houses for miles around, and the explosion was heard in the major port of Grimsby, 30 miles away.

Officials said only a skeleton crew was on duty at the plant where the normal work force numbers 500.

Ambulance crews reported a number of casualties among people who were cut by flying glass in homes at various distances from the explosion in this industrial area 150 miles north of London.

Police said one body had been recovered in rescue operations that were hampered by poisonous fumes from the blast. A fire brigade spokesman said 23 persons were unaccounted for. Earlier estimates by police and ambulance workers had put the death toll at more than 50.

Hundreds of firemen, policemen and ambulance workers — some wearing breathing apparatus as protection against poisonous fumes — poked through the debris of the Nypro U.K., Ltd., chemical works and nearby houses demolished by the blast.

Most of the dead were believed to be inside an area of the factory that took the main force of the blast. Rescue workers were unable to get near the area because of the wall of flames and acrid fumes.

"We don't know how many people are inside, although we know there were about 50 or 60 before the explosion," said the designer of the plant, Michael Shaw, one of the first to reach the scene. "We probably got 30 of them out but we are still checking."

The factory is about a mile from Flixborough, which is three miles northwest of the major steel-producing town of Scunthorpe.

One ambulance worker said after the blast: "It was quite colossal. People are being treated for injuries from flying glass from shattered windows in surrounding villages."

"People have been injured by glass in the middle of Scunthorpe, two to three miles from the explosion."

"Ambulances from 20 to 30 miles around have been involved in the operation."

FIGHT FOR NOMINATION — Ikey Rupard (left) and incumbent County Commissioner Bill Bennett spent Saturday campaigning side by side at Washington Elementary School polling place in Big Spring. At day's end here, they shake hands. Working with Bennett was his wife. Rupard's wife worked at his store in Sand Springs, but daughters Susie, Christie and Kathie, gave their father help with election day campaigning.

Legislative Race Is Won By Ezzell

Mike Ezzell, a Scurry County teacher, defeated Borden County Judge Glenn Toombs in the Democratic runoff for State Legislator, 63rd District, Saturday.

Ezzell polled 3,890 votes to 2,623 for Toombs in the six-county area. The outcome was somewhat of a surprise, since Toombs had led the balloting in the First Primary last month.

Toombs failed to carry his own county and was in command only in Dawson County, where the electorate favored him, 870-539.

Ezzell still faces a big hurdle in the general election in November. Rancher Rich Anderson, a strong challenger for the post two years ago, will represent the Republicans in that race.

Election judges will meet at 6 p.m. Tuesday in the county courtroom to canvass returns in the runoff, Lee Porter, county Democratic chairman, said.

Harvey Hooser will take over a county Democratic chairman about June 9, Porter said.

CAPTURED BY VIET CONG IN 1966 Life Has Changed Dramatically For Webb Pilot In 20 Months

By DAVID CARREN

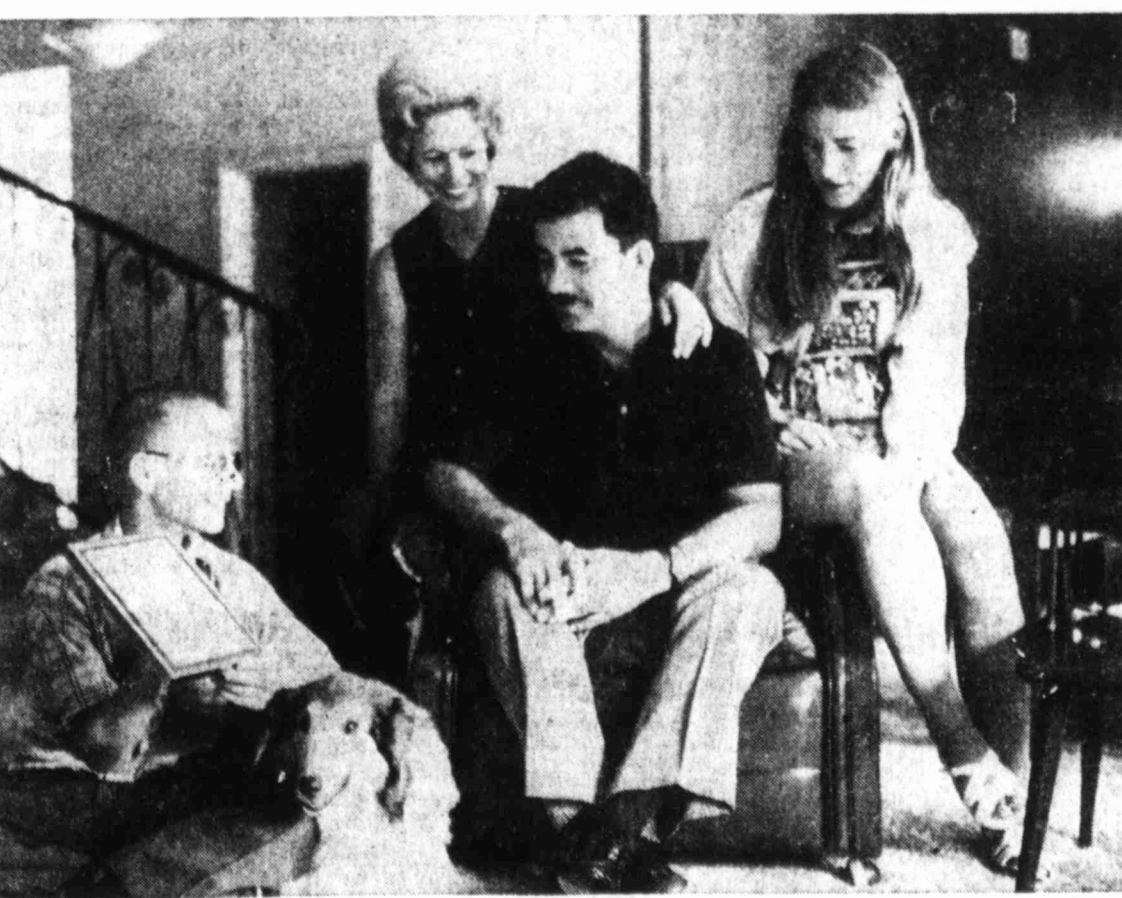

Lt. Col. Arthur Burer drives to work at Webb Air Force Base from a nice wood-paneled house by South Mountain where he lives with his wife, Nan, and two of his four children, Bob and Winnie.

But a bare 20 months ago, his home was a cell block he shared in Hanoi with 40 other prisoners of the Vietnamese War. From the day of his capture, March 21, 1966, Burer was kicked, clubbed, starved and otherwise mistreated by North Vietnamese interrogators before being released with several hundred other American prisoners and flown to Andrews Air Force Feb. 15, 1973. There, Nan threw herself into his arms (the moment preserved by AP and "Newsweek" photographers) and Burer saw his children for the first time in nearly seven years.

Since then Lt. Col. Burer has requalified as a jet trainer pilot through instruction at San Antonio's Randolph Air Force Base. The San Antonio-born pilot has just recently been attached to Webb's 83rd Flying Training Squadron to instruct student pilots in T-38 jet trainers. At times, Nan admits the sudden change of her family's circumstance hits her: "every now and then as if I'm in a dream."

Flying a single-seat, twin-engine jet, RF-101 Voodoo Burer was on his 40th photo-reconnaissance mission over North Vietnam and his 4th and last photo target of the day when he was hit March 21 south of Hanoi. His unarmed plane had been subjected to missile, anti-aircraft and even rifle fire throughout the mission, but the disaster was still a surprise.

"Every pilot lives with the idea it happens to the other guy, and it's a surprise when it happens to you. I felt a thud and an explosion, and my panel lights lit up — all the fire warning lights came on. I glanced into the rear view mirrors above my head and saw fire and smoke coming out of both engines and the main fuel cell," Burer said.

With 20,000 lbs of fuel distributed throughout the fuselage, Burer had only seconds before his craft consumed itself. He turned for the coast 10 miles away — only a minute of flying time at his 700 mph speed. But his "Voodoo" was hit again and he didn't have a minute's flying time.

"I had 55 seconds. I took a hit on the nose in that turn. My oxygen supply started burning. The cockpit filled with dense black smoke and fire. I got second and third degree burns on my left leg, hand and arm and right hand. Then a series of explosions occurred, and the canopy blew off. The 700 mph slip-stream tore off my helmet, and the Voodoo began to flip end over end in a big ball of fire. That's when I decided to bail out," he added with a smile.

Burer cites the perfection of American flying equipment. Though the Voodoo's design dated from 1955, all the safety features worked perfectly and spared him severe burns or death. He was ejected and floating towards the ground 2500 feet below just as the plane disintegrated into flaming fragments.

"It went to pieces, and I don't think the Vietnamese made too many combs out of it. The parachute ride was enjoyable, but I wasn't happy about where I was going. About 1000 feet up, I heard them yelling and shooting at me with rifles," Burer said, the smile gone.

LANDS ON BEACH
He landed, ironically, on the beach beside the ocean he had desperately tried to reach. Six Vietnamese soldiers rushed Burer — one shooting at him from point-blank range — and chased him 40 yards into the surf before capturing him. He was then dragged and paraded through North Vietnamese villages and countryside for 10-12 days before arriving in Hanoi.

"I endured five fake executions, empty pistols clicking at my temple, was mistreated physically and mentally, denied food and water and displayed at meetings to show their people how strong they were compared to us. I was rubber holed, stoned, beaten with bamboo sticks and fists and just about every little thing you can think of," Burer said.

About the only solace Burer had at this time was knowing his wing man, Tony Bledsoe, had probable flown home with the news he had bailed out safely. Nan was living in Misawa, Japan, and heard the hard news there.

"We were in limbo for 10 months before we knew he was an official prisoner of war, and limbo for another four years before we exchanged our first letters. At times, we thought he'd never come back. Or I thought they'd all come home as basket cases. They were stronger than a lot of people thought," Nan added.

At the infamous Hanoi Hilton, Burer met futher punishment (See EX-POW, Page 2-A, Col. 5)

THE WEEK

His neighbors and customers long recognized the fact that Denver L. Pettitt made some of the finest violins in the land.

The Texas Arts and Crafts Fair committee at Kerrville, (an organization encouraged by the Texas Tourist Bureau to go 'big league'), decided that Pettitt was a master at his chosen profession and bestowed such an honor on him.

Pettitt thought he had another potential buyer in his shop about two months ago with a stranger showed up and began to ask questions about his modus operandi. Ultimately, Pettitt was told he and his work were being scouted by the Kerrville committee.

Tragedy has a way of hitting especially hard during a holiday period and Memorial Day weekend was no exception.

One of the most senseless kind of human foolishness is vandalism. Some people may get their kicks tearing up other people's property or they may simply be taking out their frustrations in general by resorting to such practice but vandalism is a cancer upon the side of society that does absolutely no one any good.

Big Spring has had more than its share of such hoodlums lately. If such culprits were dealt with a little more realistically once they were caught, perhaps society might do a better job of combating the problem.

The Howard County school board will approve bus routes for the 1974-75 school year at its meeting 3 p.m., Tuesday, County Judge A. G. Mitchell, in his capacity as ex-official county superintendent, stated the meeting in his chambers at the courthouse.

Ex-POW Enjoys Life Anew

"We all refused to answer — just our rank, serial number and date of birth. First they just asked questions for military information. Then they used force (constant beatings), starved us, and refused medical attention. Our wrists were put in iron handcuffs, our elbows were tied painfully together with ropes and were strapped in iron stocks. Try sitting alone with your elbows strapped together and locked in irons in a hot five foot by 10 foot cell without water. You continue to resist until you can't any longer. Then you lie to them," he said, the smile returning.

Burer said the POWs poured false military information into Vietnamese ears — some of it ludicrous. One pilot gave his superior names as being Clark Kent, Dick Tracy and other comic strip titles. When the Vietnamese discovered their lies, the POWs were again tortured and forced to talk.

Burer said they made a "special case" of him, that they "didn't like my attitude." They wanted military information and to use him and the other POWs for propaganda purposes. He was kept in solitary confinement two years — a once a week bath and a once a week interrogation his only exercise. His food, often withheld, was some greens, rice and dried fish. It was barely enough, and Burer's weight went from 204 lbs at his capture to a low of 135. But Burer said the men kept faith despite everything.

"They gave us only news of crime rates, big floods, assassinations (King's & Kennedy's), anti-war trouble and such from home. They didn't tell us about the moon landing, but they told us about Muhammad. All refusing induction. Only bad points. It was long, hard and difficult. But our way of thinking — except for a very few of us — didn't change," he added, almost angrily.

Burer was moved to another cage with another POW for two years. Then he spent another year in a four prisoner cell. Finally, after the famous helicopter rescue raid failed in 1970, he was moved into a 40 prisoner cell block at the Hanol Hilton, an old French jail. But when in solitary, Burer wrote books, invented games, thought of the future, designed a house and many other things to keep sane. He feels the heavy B17 bombings helped free him, remembering how they terrified his captors.

DAY AT A TIME In the U.S. Nan lived each day at a time. She bought a house and went to work to keep herself occupied. Then, after many disappointing announcements and lost years, President Richard Nixon said Jan. 26, 1973, that the boys would be home within 60 days. She wasn't sure she could believe it. "You'd get on a big high and get back in the gutter again. Then, I didn't allow myself to get high. I worked to keep my sanity," Nan said. But the day at Andrews did finally come, and Burer, promoted to Major while he was "away," was back in family and military service. "We have a greater understanding of each other now," Nan added as she sat with her husband in the living room of their home. Son Bill and daughter Willie are away at school. Plaques, awards and mottos connected with Burer's years of service cover the walls. He is a 32 year veteran and refuses to retire. He loves the Air Force and his country "away," was back in family and military service. "Our South Vietnamese part of his job."

Blast's Victims Are Identified

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Two of the three victims of an explosion which demolished a parked station wagon Wednesday night were identified late Friday by Boulder County Coroner Bill Howe.

The two were Florencio "Freddy" Granado, 32, and Herberto Teran, 24, both living in Denver after moving there from Laredo, Tex., Howe said.

The third victim of the explosion which occurred near a drive-in restaurant shortly before midnight was tentatively identified by Howe as Francisco Dougherty, 20, also of Laredo.

The blast was the second in 48 hours in this university town of some 60,000. A man and two women were killed when their car exploded Monday night in a southwest Boulder park.

A fourth man, Antonio Alcantar, 23, Adams County, Colo., was maimed in the Wednesday night blast. He was reported in critical condition and under armed guard in Boulder Community Hospital.

Bits and pieces of paraphernalia reportedly used in the manufacture of homemade bombs have been discovered by police in homes of several persons connected with the two explosions.

The residences of Alcantar and Teran were among those searched by police.

Items seized at Alcantar's home included a pocket watch wired to batteries, a dynamite cap leader, a wrapping labeled "Du Pont Explosives" and a label from a stick of dynamite. Officers took newspaper clippings about the first explosion Monday from Teran's home.

Howe identified the three victims of the earlier blast as Reyes Martinez, 26, Alamosa; Una Jaskala, 23, Rochester, Minn.; Una Jaskala, 23, Rochester, Minn., reportedly Martinez' girlfriend, and Neva Romero, 21, of Ignacio.

Boulder Dist. Atty. Alex Hunter described the case as "extremely complicated," and said, "We are contemplating the possibility of criminal charges against the survivor" of the Wednesday night blast.

Police have speculated that the two blasts were connected, and that it is possible both groups of victims were assembling homemade bombs in the autos at the time of the explosions.

Several Chicano activist groups have disputed the police speculation as "nonsense."

"We do not believe that our brothers and sisters were bomberazy militants who were up here assembling bombs," said Manuel Lopez, a CU law student and spokesman for the United Mexican American Students at Colorado University.

"We believe the similarities in the explosions have raised possibilities of an unknown outside conspiracy to murder individuals active in the Chicano movement," Lopez said.

Injunction Hits Union Members

DUNCAN, Okla. (AP) — Haliburton Services company officials have served notice that striking union members who do not return to work by Monday will face dismissal.

The company issued the ultimatum Thursday after District Court Judge Will Willis granted the oil well cementing and serving firm a temporary restraining order against further picketing by members of United Auto Worker Local 1860.

Haliburton sought the court order after the fourth negotiating session broke down between the firm and union representatives.

The strike against the company has idled several hundred workers since May 5.

Officials said the deadlock occurred over union demands for agency shop.

Union officials are expected to seek a hearing on the injunction.

School Cutback, Remains Open When Others Close

APPLETON, Wis. (AP) — Lawrence University, it is sometimes said, is one of the places you send a bright kid who couldn't quite make it into Harvard, Princeton or Yale. It's a good school, although many outside of academia have never heard of it. "Is that in Kansas?" they ask. Or, "Oh, you mean Sarah Lawrence?" No, they mean Lawrence University, a liberal arts college of 1,400 students whose president admits that "university" is a misnomer. Lawrence features open dorms, a beer hall on campus, the tell-tale smell of pot in the student union. But it's basically Midwestern with one-third of students from Wisconsin and another third from the neighboring state of Minnesota and Illinois. REFLECTED GROWTH The 37-acre main campus, white with snow in the cold Wisconsin winter, is dominated by the neo-classic Main Hall, built in 1953. The eclectic architecture of the 30 or so structures reflects the growth of the school: from the old homes absorbed as Lawrence spread, now serving as office buildings and housing units, to the Georgian-style fraternity houses and most recently to Kohler Hall, a seven-story dormitory built in 1967. That was the year before Lawrence faced a financial crisis, eventually solved through retrenchment. Money troubles caused by over-optimistic planning and inflation," says V. V. Vistad. The Analytical Studies Committee was formed in 1969 to figure out how Lawrence could get out of debt. Four or five faculty members, two administrators and two students met 40 hours a week for four weeks and came up with suggestions. The student union revised its food service facilities were cut.

Daley's Illness Improves Election Odds On Singer

CHICAGO (AP) — William Singer didn't count on Mayor Richard Daley's health breaking down. And he's still campaigning as if Daley hadn't suffered a mild stroke last May 6 — a stroke that might require surgery for the 72-year-old mayor. Eight months ago, Singer, a Chicago alderman, announced that he would challenge Daley in the Democratic party mayoral primary next February. Since that announcement, Singer's campaign has become the strongest challenge in years against the party organization which has kept Daley in charge of Cook County politics for two decades. If he runs, Daley will be after a sixth four-year term. IF HE DOESN'T "We'll have to assume that Daley will run," Singer says. And if he doesn't run? Then any candidate designated by the Democratic party organization controlled by Daley "would be strong." It is not the first time that the 35-year-old Singer has taken on the mayor and the regular Democrats. In 1972, Daley and 58 of his delegates to the party's national convention in Miami Beach were denied their seats because they violated quota rules in selecting delegates. The man whose delegation was seated in place of the Daley regulars was William Singer. Daley's ouster from the convention, combined with the election defeats of candidates he backed in 1972 and the convictions on bribery charges of such longtime allies as former Gov. Otto Kerner and Cook County clerk Edward J. Barrett prompted observations that perhaps the Daley organization was crumbling. "That's self-delusion," Singer scoffs. "I'm not running because I think the machine is falling apart. They're going to go out and knock on all the doors just like they've always done, but we're going to knock first." What makes Singer, a Jewish lawyer with two aldermanic victories in partially liberal, affluent wards, believe he can break the organization grip on City Hall? Before Daley, two other mayors of Irish descent, Martin Kneily and Ed Kelly, ran the government for nearly half a century. "This is not going to be an election about Vietnam or space or energy or anything else. This is an election the people can feel, can touch," Singer says. "The people will be deciding how their city is going to be run. I know what they want." MANY VISITS On a marathon schedule fulfilling his first campaign promise to visit each of the more than 600 schools in Chicago, Singer has been in more schools than Dick and Jane. He jams in as many as eight school visits a day except for time out when he must attend a council meeting or committee session. "There are one million people in this city directly affected by schools," he says. "When you visit schools, you learn about the neighborhoods and the impact the schools have on neighborhoods." Singer, short and boyish-looking with a neat thatch of black hair, begins a routine day at 7:30 a.m. at Lane Tech, a massive high school with an enrollment of 6,000 pupils. He visits technical shops in the basement, climbs three flights to an art class, down two flights to the library, back up to the third floor biology lab and is still listening to teachers and administrators as he is whisked away to the next stop. "You can't really meet many people in schools," Singer says. "But the next mayor has to be a leader in education." By 5:30 p.m. he is in his downtown campaign office for a strategy meeting, mail check and a schedule of the night's activities. He hurries to his North Side high rise apartment where a fresh advance man and driver are waiting. Ten minutes later Singer is back in the car giving directions to a parent-teacher meeting in a mobile classroom on the West Side in a predominantly black area.

Letter Credits Outlawed Army With Crash

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The FBI is studying the contents of a letter bearing the seven-headed cobra insignia of the Symbionese Liberation Army, in which the terrorist group claimed it used an antiaircraft missile to send a police helicopter crashing in a ball of flames.

The letter, slipped late Friday night under a door of television station KNXT, said the jet-powered helicopter was shot down "in retribution for the 17 May elimination of six of our beloved comrades by members of the Los Angeles Police Department SWAT Teams."

A senior officer, Cmdr. Paul J. Gillen, who headed the Special Weapons and Tactics (SWAT) section of the Los Angeles Police Department, was killed in the helicopter crash Wednesday. Three other officers aboard the aircraft, which was reportedly on a SWAT training exercise, suffered serious injuries.

Heavily armed SWAT members stormed a South Los Angeles home May 17 in which six SLA members, including the group's leader, Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze, were hiding. All six terrorists were killed in the hour-long shootout and fire that followed.

Meanwhile, William A. Sullivan, FBI agent-in-charge here said Friday that missing newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst is not a "special case" and will be treated like any other fugitive if she and the SLA couple with whom she is thought to be hiding elect to shoot it out with officers.

Sullivan said "We will not chance our normal procedures" in trying to apprehend the 29-year-old Miss Hearst. William Harris and his wife, Emily, Miss Hearst, kidnaped from her Berkeley, Calif., apartment Feb. 4, has said in taped messages that she has since joined the SLA.

She is currently being sought on a number of warrants, including kidnaping and assault, stemming from a sporting goods store robbery here more than two weeks ago.

IN FAR WEST TEXAS Planting Of Irrigated Cotton About Complete

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Many sections of the state need additional moisture for crops and pastures, Dr. Dan Pfannstiel, associate director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says.

Moisture is especially short over Central Texas and in the Panhandle and South Plains, Pfannstiel said.

The wheat harvest is making good progress over the state although yields are light in most counties, he said. Some harvesting has started in the South and Rolling Plains.

PEANUTS

Peanut planting is active in Central, North Central and Southeast Texas, and some soybeans are also going in in north central counties and in Coastal Plains, Pfannstiel said.

Sorghum midge are beginning to increase in some sorghum fields and probably will increase as more sorghum starts blooming, he said. Boll weevils are generally heavy throughout southern counties, and spraying is under way in many counties to control the pecan nut casebearer.

Hay making is active in many counties with first cuttings generally producing good yields. However, baling wire is in short supply.

Range conditions are good in areas that received recent moisture, but livestock feeding is still necessary in many counties in the Plains and Far West Texas, Pfannstiel said.

Seeking Increase

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Northwest Pipeline Corp. has asked the Federal Power Commission for permission to raise its charges for natural gas 5.7 per cent.

Cox Ballot Is Ordered Counted By Judge Kirk

By JOHN EDWARDS
District Judge Weldon Kirk Sweetwater, had pulled out a large number of ballot stubs from the absentee stub box Friday afternoon when he took off his glasses and began speaking to the court reporter.

"Let the record show..." Judge Kirk began.

The visiting judge had found a stub for ballot 701, the ballot found loose in the county clerk's office.

And he ordered the ballot which was marked for M. Fern Cox, incumbent district clerk, to be counted.

2nd RUNOFF?
Cox and Mrs. Peggy Crittenden were tied for the Democratic nomination for district clerk at 2,426 votes each.

Judge Kirk, who presided because Judge Ralph W. Caton declared himself ineligible, took under advisement how and when the runoff election would be held.

It could not be held Saturday with other Democratic runoffs. William L. Kerr Sr., Midland attorney for Mrs. Crittenden, argued state law required runoffs to be held on the first Saturday in June.

APPEALED
Kerr gave notice of appeal to the Court of Civil Appeals, Eleventh Supreme Judicial District, Eastland.

In closing arguments, Kerr said ballots had been counted "in an exact and absolute manner."

If the misplaced ballot was not dropped into the ballot box, "that's not the fault of Mrs. Crittenden," Kerr said.

INNOCENT
"I make no charge of impropriety. It's with the facts and the situation," Kerr said. The ballot was discovered 13 days after the election, Kerr said.

Calling the misplaced ballot a "completely innocent clerical error" committed by the election counters, Guilford Jones asked the court to examine the stub box for the stub with the corresponding number, 701.

"I see no reason to doubt the testimony of any witnesses that testified," Judge Kirk commented.

DISCREPANCY
Judge Kirk knew no way to account for the discrepancy between the total of absentee votes cast according to the polling list, 399, and the number counted, 398, other than to look through the absentee stub box for the stub of the misplaced ballot.

Kerr objected "because of the failure to account for the open condition of the stub box before May 22 when it was given to the custody of the district clerk pro tem."

"It would not be a difficult thing at all to supply something to the stub box," Kerr explained.

The stub box would be "open same," Kerr said, "to anybody who might have desires, designs or hopes."

NO 'FRAUD'
Judge Kirk said he had found no evidence of "any fraud or irregularities other than mechanical errors."

Then Judge Kirk said he would not allow anyone other than himself to see who signed the ballot stub torn from the misplaced ballot.

Kerr objected again, but the judge wanted to "preserve the issue for the Court of Civil Appeals."

VOTER SECRET
"I certainly want to observe the purity of the ballot box if there is anyway to do it," Judge Kirk said.

The absentee stub box was placed on a table near the judge's bench, and several observers were asked to move behind the bar.

Between 20 and 25 watched from the gallery.

Working in shirt sleeves and apparently flushed from the pressure, Judge Kirk looked at numerous stubs before finding number 701.

If it mattered, Judge Kirk said, "the stub is near the bottom of the box."

Judge Kirk, acting on the recommendation of Jones, looked and found the name on the poll list and list of absentee voters.

Kerr turned his attention to the poll list. "Perhaps, it was plain, but I couldn't read it," the elderly attorney said.

FROM OVERSEAS
Judge Kirk disclosed that the voter using ballot 701 resided "at an overseas address."

INNOCENT
"I or Mrs. Crittenden am entitled to know whose ballot it is being counted if it is being said it has not been counted," Kerr said.

Kerr had noted one of the objections in Mrs. Crittenden's answer was that they were "deprived of an opportunity to investigate proof" surrounding

INSURED PROPERTY HEAVILY DAMAGED
Hail and high winds which struck May 25 and 26 in Texas caused an estimated loss of $9.6 million to insured fixed property, according to Frank I. Lewis, Southwestern manager, Property Claim Services, American Insurance Association.

Hardt Lit was San Angelo, which sustained an estimated loss of $6.4 million. Also receiving substantial damage was Colorado City. The majority of damage in both cities was caused primarily by hail.

Other areas receiving damage were Amarillo, Lubbock, Paris, Garland, Irving and vicinity, Petersburg, Vega, Hale, Center and Petty and vicinity.

PERFECTLY CONTENT
Kerr explained it was impossible for him to contact the person stationed overseas and was "perfectly content" with the court's decision not to disclose who cast the misplaced ballot.

Then, at the appellate level, Kerr said he could "holler 'look what's happened to me.'"

After Judge Kirk finished reading his decision for Jerry Spence, court reporter, Kerr presented the court with a typewritten notice of appeal.

MORNING SESSION
Opening the absentee stub box was the last in a series of questions Judge Kirk decided in favor of Cox.

First, Kerr argued state law required any primary election contest petition to be filed within 10 days of the canvass by the county Democratic Executive Committee.

Jones presented a letter from an official in the Texas Secretary of State's Office. In it, the date of the recount was given as one definition of "date of canvass."

This interpretation of the Texas Election Code would mean the election contest petition was filed before the 10 days elapsed.

The legal question settled at this trial, Mrs. Margaret Ray, chief deputy county clerk, took the stand.

Mrs. Ray revealed that ballots for the absentee box had been taken from packages for other voting boxes.

Absentee ballots consequently, were not numbered in sequence.

HOW?
Asked by Jones if he had any idea how ballot 701 was placed among applications for absentee ballots, Bob Dean, absentee box election judge, said: "None whatsoever."

For both Kerr and Jones, Dean outlined in detail how absentee votes were counted May 4.

Next to testify was W. D. Berry, chairman of the recount committee.

Berry told Richard Milstead, law partner of Jones, applications for absentee ballots were not in the same room where the recount was conducted.

RECOUNTED TWICE
In the recount, Berry said, ballots were divided into stacks for Cox, Mrs. Crittenden and "no vote," the last category being those ballots marked for neither.

All the ballots were counted at least twice in the recount, Berry said.

John R. Coffee, a local lawyer, told the court briefly about his work as district clerk pro tem. He was appointed to the position, because Cox could not file his own petition to the court.

Gas Prices Could Ease

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Top men from two major oil companies predict gasoline prices are stabilizing and may even ease off a little.

"My feeling is that they will not go much higher than the 55 to 60 cents a gallon which now is general, and I believe they will hang in that range unless the foreign oil producing countries increase crude prices," said Z. D. Bonner of the Gulf Oil Co.

J. B. St. Clair, executive vice president of Shell agreed.

"The world supply of crude oil is now just about what it was before the Arab embargo," St. Clair explained. "This is enough to meet the demand because of conservation efforts and the lower consumption because of higher prices. We are getting back into a competitive market."

The oil men made their observations in an energy crisis discussion at the annual convention of the Associated Press Broadcasters Association.

Another participant was Sydney L. Terry, Chrysler's vice president for public responsibility and consumer affairs.

Terry said its goal is to produce cars and truck which will use 20 per cent less fuel and the target date is 1980.

"But we still have to build cars that people will buy," he said. "We'd build 500-pound cars than ran on peanut oil if we could get people to buy them."

Terry said it would be a mistake to set fuel economy standards by law.

Heavy Downpours Dent Crop Outlook In Middle West

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — "I've been farming all my life, and this situation is very bad," says Iowa farmer Kirk Bennett.

"Two weeks ago it looked like the biggest crop we'd ever have — before this rainy spell set in."

Bennett, 52, who farms near Mapleton in western Iowa, echoed the thoughts of thousands of farmers in the upper Midwest whose crops are in jeopardy because of prolonged spring rains.

Crop production problems caused by heavy rains aren't universal throughout nine Midwestern states surveyed Friday. Some even have drought areas, while others are experiencing normal spring planting.

Severe damage to corn and small grain crops appeared most likely in a wide east-west belt across central Iowa, portions of North Dakota and Illinois and in Minnesota's Red River Valley.

Iowa farmers didn't get all their corn crop planted before four weeks of sustained heavy rain began.

Iowa Gov. Robert Ray said an assessment is being made to determine if Iowa farmers should seek federal disaster loan.

"The situation in northwest Minnesota is very serious and becoming critical," said Minnesota Agricultural Commissioner Jon Wefald.

"We have asked for a disaster designation and federal assistance because of the heavy rainfall and the late, cold spring which prevented farmers from planting," he said.

Illinois and Iowa farmers must soon decide whether to switch to early-maturing soybeans instead of hoping to salvage a corn crop.

University of Illinois agronomist Darrell Mulvaney said the situation is most serious in northern Illinois.

"This is the longest period I can remember that farmers have been unable to work the ground," Mulvaney said, noting about 50 per cent of the corn has been planted and 20 to 25 per cent of this suffered extensive water damage and may have to be replanted.

The U.S. Durum Growers Association said adverse weather conditions and spring flooding have created a critical situation for North Dakota farmers, delaying planting by more than four weeks.

Officials said more than 90 per cent of the nation's durum, used in such foodstuffs as macaroni and spaghetti, is produced in North Dakota and farmers are thinking about shifting to other crops.

Area To Benefit From U.S. Funds

The Texas Department of Community Affairs has applied for $18 million of federal funds to use providing job training and employment opportunities for the disadvantaged. Funds will be available for 161 Texas counties including Howard, Borden, Dawson, Glasscock and Martin Counties.

"Special emphasis will be given to the significant segment of the population which will include but not be limited to persons receiving public assistance payments, Vietnam Era veterans, former Manpower trainees and persons of limited English-speaking ability."

Price Supports Costly To Consumers Of Milk

WASHINGTON (AP) — The staff of the Senate Watergate Committee says President Nixon's order to raise federal milk price supports in 1971 may have cost consumers and taxpayers more than $300 million. The President's decision was apparently worth anywhere from $300 million to $700 million in extra income to dairy farmers, the committee staff said in a draft report to committee members.

The cost was shared by the government and American consumers, the committee said. It said the extra cost came both in taxpayer outlays in government milk purchases and in increased prices to consumers as the decision pushed up retail milk prices. The 359-page draft report, a copy of which was obtained by The Associated Press, also said Nixon's decision appeared to be directly linked to campaign contributions by the dairy-farmer lobby. The report also charged that serious deficiencies exist in Nixon's argument that congressional pressure forced him to raise prices.

It said the largest of the dairy cooperatives, Associated Milk Producers Inc., linked campaign donations and requests for government favors even as early as its first, secret, $100,000 cash gift to Nixon in 1969 according to testimony by former Nixon fund-raiser Herbert L. Kalmbach. The Watergate Committee report said the White House overstated the strength of congressional support for a price increase. The White House conceded that President Nixon was aware that dairy men promised to donate $200 million to his

Auditions Slated For 'Music Man'

Auditions for "The Music Man" will be at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday at the Howard College music building. People are needed for crew and lighting, according to Kenneth Sprinkle, director. He can be contacted by dialing 7-5195. The musical has been scheduled for late June or early July but the dates have not been locked in. No parts have yet been cast.

Long Agenda Shaping Up

Discussing the next contract for operation of Howard County Airport and authorizing advertisements for bids on the lease are on a long agenda for County commissioners Court Monday. The court also will consider buying threshold light reflectors for the airport. Unrelated items include: Opening bids on materials for a plastic voter registration cards at 10 a.m. Opening bids on sirens for the sheriff's office. Conferring with W.D. Berry about the Civil Defense budget. Meeting with District Judge Ralph W. Caton about carpet for the district courtroom. And considering a payroll method which will utilize time cards and will comply with requirements of the Wage and Hour Law and the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. As usual the meeting will start at 9 a.m. with the conference with Marvin Hanson, road administrator. And last on the agenda is approval of bills presented by Mrs. Virginia Black, county auditor.

MISS SOFTBALL

Perco Powers Past Pioneers

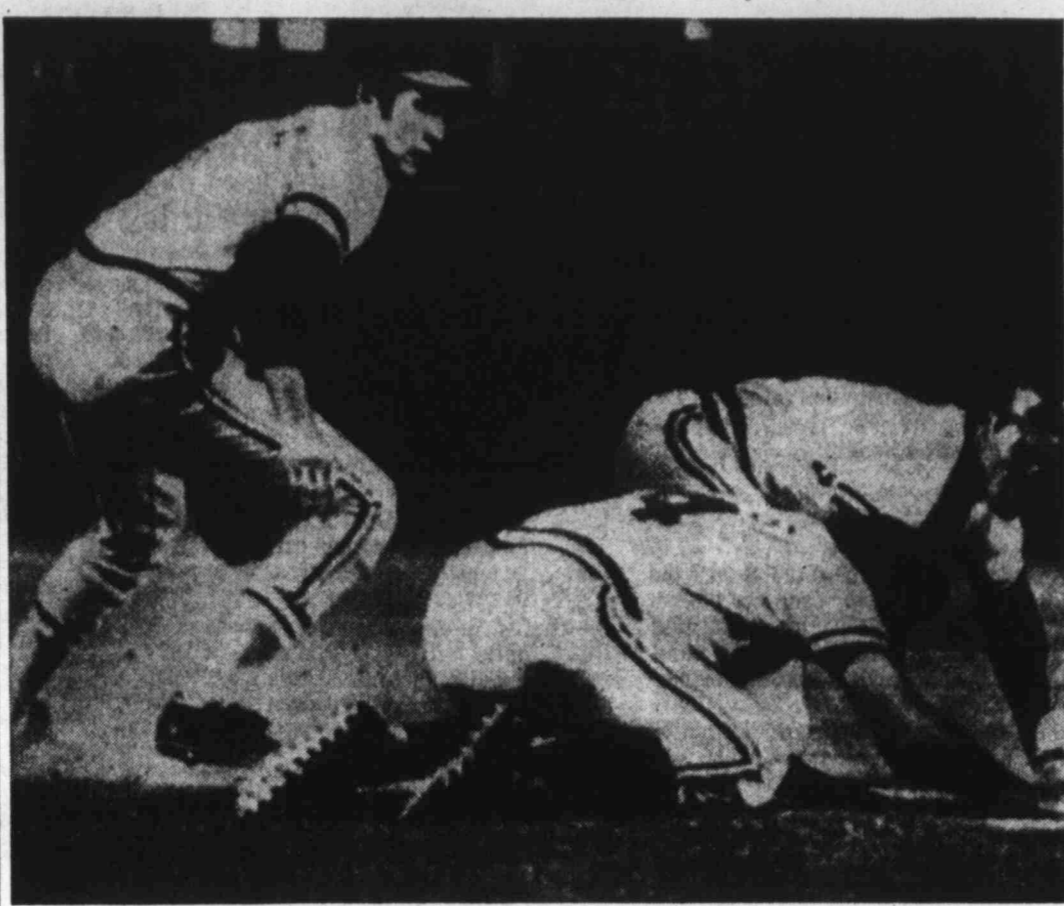

With the exception of one mismatch, close games were the order of the day Friday in Miss Softball America action.

The Perco Panthers rolled to a 4-2 smacking of the Pioneer Natural Gas Pioneers in a Minor League blitz for the day's only runaway. Leslie Rogers was the winning pitcher and Kim Hanson the loser as both teams played their first games of the season.

In the other two minor league games, the AAA Rentals Roadrunners claimed a 16-15 triumph over Ed's 66 Phillies and the Fina Flashers trimmed the Price Pavers Academies 19-18.

Cathryn Kennedy was the winning pitcher for the Roadrunners, while Lahoma Goodbanket was the Phillies' loser. The Flashers had Laurie Brock on the mound, and Pam Dudash took the defeat.

In the only mini-minor game Friday, Kim Madry pitched the ABC Supers to an 8-5 triumph over the Eagles Lodge Eagletes. Diana Lewis was on the losing end of the score.

TEEN BASEBALL
Angels' Pfeiffer Tosses No-Hitter

Kyle Pfeiffer came up with the Big Spring Teenage Baseball League's first pitching gem Friday, hurling the Saunders Angels to an 11-0 no-hit Sophomore League victory over the Yankees.

Pfeiffer, making his first start, struck out 12 batters in six innings of work in leading the team to its second win in three outings this year.

Javier Hernandez smacked a double and two singles to lead the Angels' 12-hit attack, while Ronald Sundry and Mike Evans chipped in a double and a single each. Steve Cannon also had a pair of hits for the winners.

Oscar James suffered the defeat for the Yanks, who slipped to 1-2.

In Hi-Junior League action Friday, the Kiwanis managed a tense 9-7 decision over the McMahon Indians for their third win without defeat.

Pat Carroll scattered seven hits in the win, and Ray Don Box paced the plate effort with three singles. It was Carroll's second victory. The winning run came in the bottom of the seventh inning as the Tribe battled back from a 5-1 deficit to tie the game in the top of the last frame.

Pubba Stripling led the Indians in the losing effort with a pair of hits. David Spence suffered his second loss as the team fell to 0-3.

In a Sophomore League game Thursday, Randy Crockett threw a one-hitter as the ABC Rebels blanked the Knights 7-0.

A two-out single in the seventh inning cost Crockett his no-hitter. Ricky Cluck homered to spark the Rebel's eight hit performance.

Losing pitcher was Freddy Martinez.

A's Visit Seminole

The Big Spring A's try to end their early season slump today when they visit Seminole for a semi-pro baseball doubleheader at 2 p.m.

David Newman will start on the mound in the opener for the 2-4 A's, who dropped 6-0 and 13-9 games to the Snyder Pirates last week. Joe Martinez will be behind the plate.

Playing first base will be Pat Martinez Jr., with either Sammy Rodriguez or David Carter at second, Felix Martinez at shortstop and either Tony Martinez or Billy Pineda at third base.

Jesse Zapata will head up the outfield from his center field spot, with John Grizzle in left and either Benny Marquez Jr. or Randy Womack in right.

Also available for action will be Jody Florez, Leon Hobbs, Chris Duron, Pogy Rodriguez and Carl Cousin.

Next Sunday the A's return home for a doubleheader at Steer Park with the Del Rio Mustangs and the Midland Colts.

FISHING IS FUN BUT SEEK ADVICE

So you've decided to take up fishing as a hobby. Great!

Now that you've made your decision to join the millions of Americans who have discovered the relaxation, beauty and serenity that fishing provides, where do you start?

Before you rush out to buy a fishing rod, reel, line, tackle box and lures, I would heartily recommend you do a little preliminary groundwork before spending your hard-earned money on equipment that may not be suited to your needs.

There are several places where you, as a beginner, can get good, reliable advice on equipment, fishing spots and other aspects of the sport.

If you have a friend who is a dyed-in-the-wool fisherman he'll undoubtedly welcome you to the fishing kingdom and guide you along the route in selecting the proper rod, reel, lines, lures and clothing. In addition, he may even extend an invitation to join him on a fishing trip or at least steer you to a likely looking stream or lake where you have a good chance of catching fish.

Another excellent source of information is your local game or fish warden who is familiar with the waters in your area and can suggest likely fish-producing spots. The state fish and game department generally publishes a magazine or guide that is helpful and informative.

In various areas of the country, fishermen have organized clubs and often these are fine sources of information for the novice. You might want to consider joining one of these clubs which usually provide stocked ponds, lakes and streams for members' use.

Bait and tackle shops, especially those where the real fishermen hang out, also are good sources of fishing information for the beginner. You will find that they usually welcome a new member to the fishing fraternity and see that he gets off on the right foot.

While the above sources will usually suggest good fishing spots for the newcomer, don't expect them to steer you to their favorite holes or pools. This is something you will have to develop on your own and it comes only with experience.

After you fish an area for a while you begin to discover the most likely spots to take fish. Invaluable sources of information to the beginner are the various outdoor magazines that are loaded not only with articles on fishing but helpful information on new equipment, lures, techniques and other material that will improve your performance.

While most fishermen enjoy the beauty of the outdoors — it's always a lot more interesting when you've taken some fish for your day's efforts. Remember fishing takes patience and patience takes time.

Dear Virgil,
How can I keep night-crawlers that I have left over after a fishing trip? I've been turning them loose in my lawn and hunting them later when I am going fishing again.
Rolf Ka'nen
Greenville, N. C.

Dear Rolf:
Next time get some worm bedding, which you can buy in many bait and tackle shops. Put this in a wooden box or similar container, moisten the bedding slightly and place your night-crawlers in the bedding until you're ready for your next fishing trip. Store them in a cool place such as the bottom of your refrigerator but make sure you have a cover on the container and some holes for air to circulate.
Virgil Ward

Bankers Outlast VFD By 26-20

The Coahoma Bankers, making the best use of eight hits, outlasted the Volunteer Fire Department 26-20 Friday in a wild Coahoma Freshman Baseball tilt.

Eddie Williams came up with three hits, including a triple, and Byron Neff and Jeff Murphee also collected triples as the team evened its record at 1-1. Kenny Keller managed two singles and Carl Mills was the winning pitcher.

The VFD was led by three hits each off the bats of Greg Brown and Gary Paige, while Mike Rupard, Randy Clanton and Keith Kohanek had a pair of hits. In all, the Bankers had six extra base hits. Brown was the losing pitcher as the VFD fell to 1-1.

Summer Cage Program Set

The summer recreation basketball program gets under way Tuesday at the Rummels Junior High gym, with high school and college athletes eligible to compete.

Ben Neel is directing the program, which is free through the local YMCA. Games will be from 7-9 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday, with the sessions set to run through July.

Neel said that in addition to prospective high school cagers and those on college scholarship, seniors who recently graduated are also eligible.

REGISTRATION CONTINUES
'Y' Classes Begin This Week

Registration continues for summer program activities at the Big Spring YMCA, with several classes beginning Monday.

Volleyball instruction for grades 7-12 scheduled to begin Monday at 3:30 p.m., adult badminton at 6:30 p.m., and Judo for ages eight and up at 7 p.m. Also, an additional recreational swimming period for families will be available every Monday at 7 p.m. along with the usual Friday night family swim.

Two new classes will begin the following day at the YMCA for men in the Big Spring community. A men's fitness class will be conducted every Tuesday and Thursday during the noon hour for ten weeks.

This course is designed to improve strength, flexibility, and endurance in the inactive adult and help increase resistance to heart attack. Also, an eight-lesson swimming course for men will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7-8 p.m. for beginners and intermediates.

The YMCA launched its summer program Tuesday, and according to Pat Owens, director of physical education, space is still available in many program activities for individuals who wish to register late for the first summer session.

The YMCA is offering several sessions in most classes during the summer in order to meet the needs of as many people as possible. Individuals may also pre-register now for classes which will begin in these later sessions.

Some of the aquatic activities currently offered at the Y include swimming instruction (with classes available for all ages), springboard diving, competitive swimming, recreational swim periods, and family swims.

Included in the physical education program are recreational games, trampolines, tumbling, gymnastics, teen-age weight training, volleyball, badminton, handball, racquetball, billiards, ping-pong, bumper pool, various tournaments, and fitness classes for men and women.

Special interests classes include tap and ballet, guitar, baton twirling, karate, judo, cheerleading and counseling.

It's about time you relaxed. Let us do the chores, the cooking and the dishes.

Lockheed's Woes To Be Tackled In Meeting

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Financial advisers to ailing Lockheed Aircraft Corp. are scheduled Monday to review proposals to strengthen the company's financial position, a company statement has announced.

The statement was issued Friday, shortly after trading of Lockheed stock was stopped on the New York Stock Exchange. A spokesman for the suburban Burbank-based firm flatly denied reports that the statement was triggered by impending announcements of a declaration of bankruptcy, the naming of a merger partner or the infusion of Arab oil money.

Improved Traffic Flow Expected

WALTON, Mass. (AP) — Advanced closed-circuit monitoring equipment is being installed in the Greater Boston area as part of a surveillance and control system that is expected to improve traffic flow and safety conditions on three interstate highways.

The system includes a computer that will evaluate traffic conditions and among other things, change the message to drivers on variable message signs. It will also assist in visual detection of highway accidents and problems and help determine the nature and extent of rescue assistance needed.

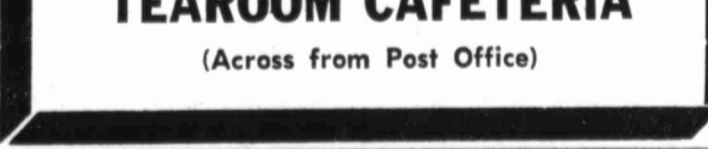

The equipment is being installed by GTE Sylvania of Waltham.

Record Crop Insurance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has written a record $1.1 billion in federal crop insurance for 1974, a gain of 10 per cent from last year.

Handled through the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation in the Agriculture Department, the policies help protect farmers from crop losses due to natural causes. The insurance currently is available in 1,442 counties—about half of those in the nation—in 39 states. Farmers pay yearly premiums based on local production and crop-loss history. Claims are paid from a fund built from premium payments.

"This means that the premium payment of a Kansas wheat farmer who had a good crop helped pay for the crop investment lost by a Texas citrus grower whose grove was damaged by freeze," Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz said Thursday.

"In other years, the procedure may be reversed, with money from citrus premiums going to a drought-stricken area of Kansas."

Girl Scout Day Camp

By JO BRIGHT

Have you ever seen a "song tree?" If you do, you'll recognize it from the melodic sounds that seem to come from beneath its branches. And if you look closer, you'll find beneath those boughs a troop of Girl Scouts.

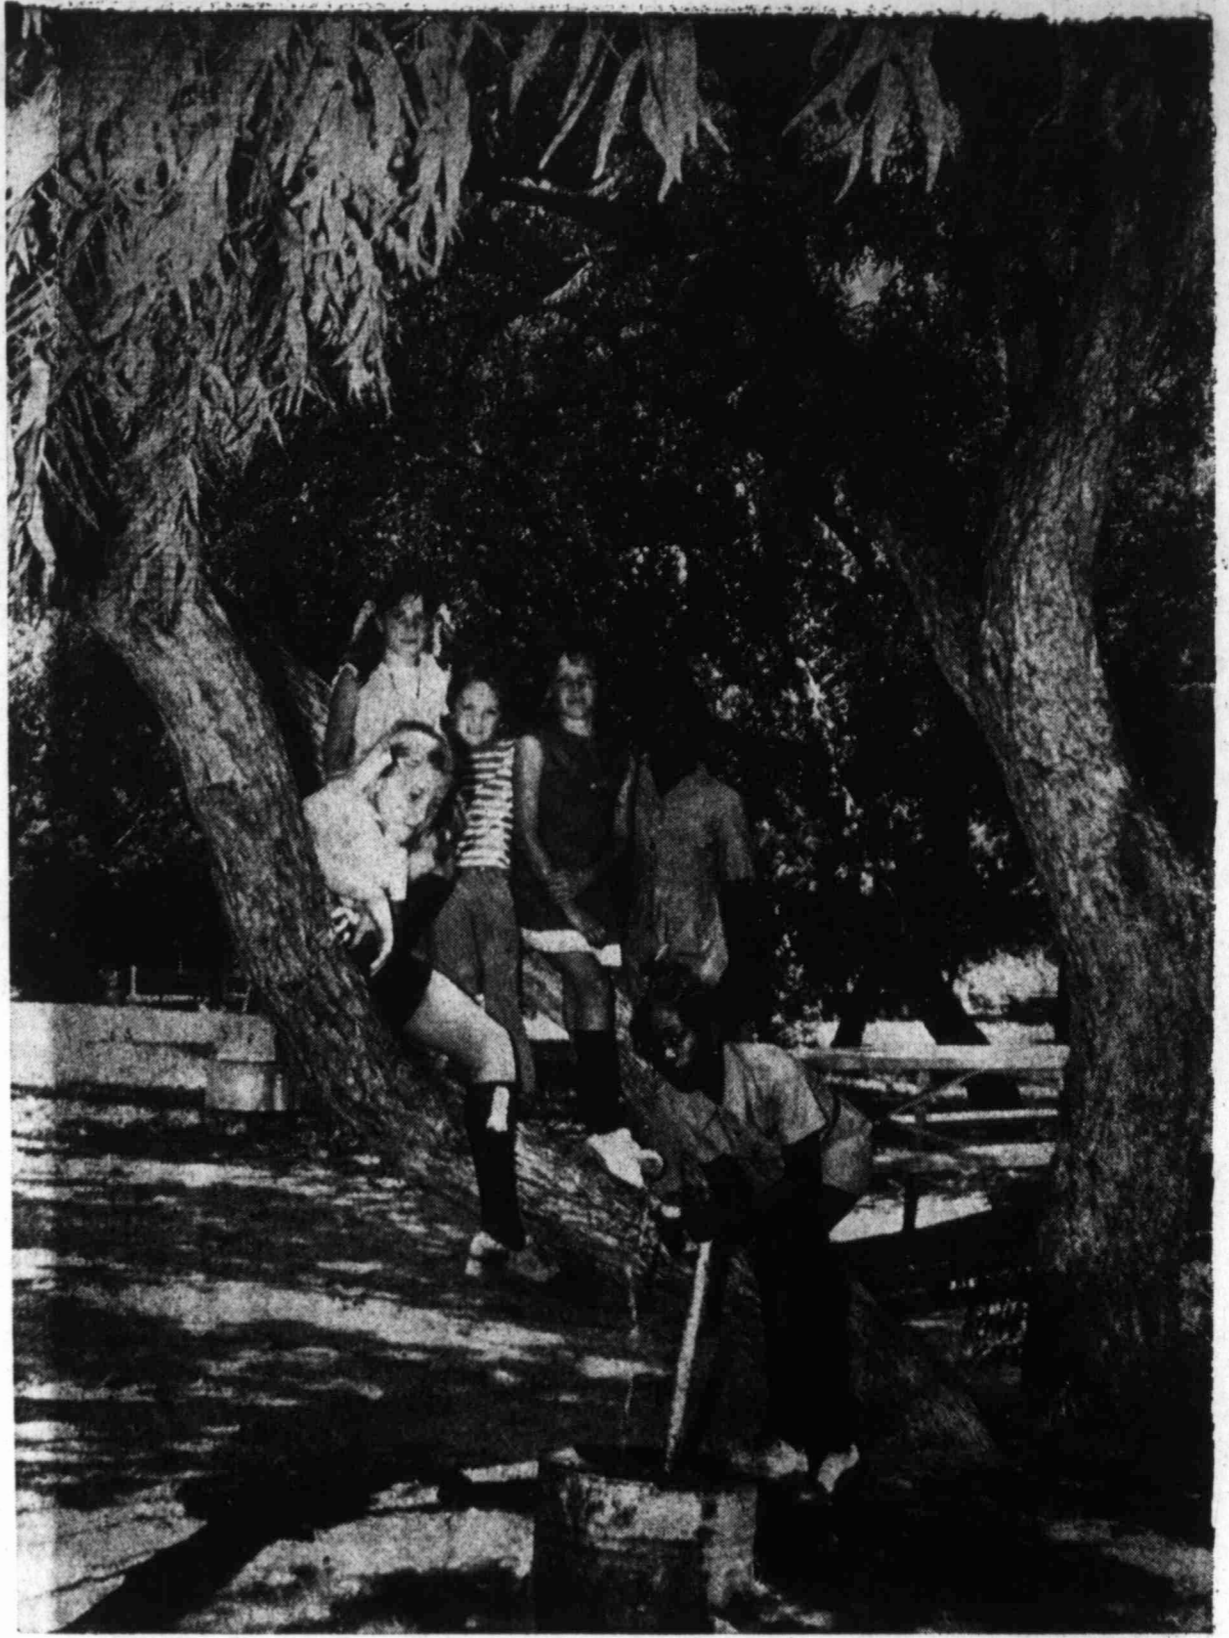

A "song tree" is one of the many interesting things to be found at the annual day camp which will be held June 10-14 in Silver Heels for girls from Brownie age through Cadettes.

The girls will participate in nature study, hikes, fire building, arts and crafts, singing, flag ceremonies — and they will have the opportunity to meet and come to know other Girl Scouts. Cadettes will be performing many special activities for the different units.

The camp will be held from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., at a fee of $3 and new patches symbolizing the camp will be available for 50 cents. Buses will be provided to take girls to the camp site and return them to the city. Buses will leave Trinity Baptist Church and Marcy School at 7:45 a.m. and return at 2:20 p.m.

Mrs. Donald (Jill) Goetz is camp director, with Mrs. Clay (Lou) LaRochelle and Mrs. Wayne (Janice) Stroup as assistant directors. Registrations, which should be in by June 5, should be taken or mailed to Mrs. Carolyn Barnes, 4211 Hamilton.

There is a need for volunteer "papoose" leaders who will keep children of adult leaders at the camp site or in their home during camp hours. Volunteers may call Mrs. Goetz at 263-1025.

FOR YOUR PLEASURE
Summer Season Introduces New Style Of Entertainment

The summer season is definitely upon us, and entertainment isn't so easy to find now. But for those who don't mind traveling, looking hard or just waiting, there is leisure fun to be found.

"The Great Gatsby," "Blazing Saddles," "American Graffiti" and other such fine films are coming to town or already here. Though several of the arriving flicks may not be for kiddies, a movie "night on the town" is still a good idea.

The high school and college produce "The Music Man" in late June or early July. Call Jack Bowers, Bill Bradley or Ken Sprinkle for ticket information or if you want to help out.

Further abroad, Arlington offers Six Flags Over Texas, Seven Seas and Lion Country Safari for children of all ages. Dallas has its always-fine summer musicals. Write the Musicals, Mildred Sale, 7612 Bryn Mawr, Dallas, 75225 for tickets information.

In Houston, there's Astro World, and in Spokane, Wash., there's a World's Fair. If you like traveling, there's plenty to see. We won't even mention Big Bend Park, Lake Texoma, the mountains of New Mexico or Mexico itself. Carlsbad Caverns are especially close.

And what about just visiting Dallas, Houston or Austin for the night life—whether its films, opera or plays for the whole family or supper clubs for the parents?

In area drama news, there's also good hunting. Midland Community

Theatre, Odessa's Globe Theatre, Permian Playhouse and Colorado City Playhouse all have dramatic productions in the works. Write Odessa's Globe at 2308 Shakespeare Road, Odessa, 79761, about its Shakespeare Festival. Lubbock's Hayloft Dinner Theatre is also offering Nancy Kulp in "Boeing, Boeing." Dallas' Theatre Center also getting in to the play act with full-scale productions. Write the DTC, 3636 Turtle Creek Blvd., Dallas, 75219 for information there. Their "Jack Ruby, All-American Boy" is a big hit and may go to Broadway.

Finally, there's the Dallas Civic Opera which presents some of the finest singing voices in the world. Write the DCO, 505 N. Ervay Bldg., Dallas, 75201, for information. Beverly Sills will appear in November.

In education, there's plenty available. Any college in the state, including Howard College, usually has some kind of summer program. Contact the institution you're interested in now. Registration is very close if not already started for most schools. For example, Texas Women's University is offering an Art Education Workshop July 12-Aug. 2. Write Dr. John Rios, Box 22836, TWU Station, Denton, 76204. TCU in Fort Worth has slated all types of summer art and dance courses. Write Dr. Winesanker, School of Fine Arts, TCU, Fort Worth, Tex. 76129.

Finally, there's the Midland Museum of the Southwest with exhibitions and special events planned for the summer. Write them at 1705 W. Missouri, Midland, 79701 for information. And let's not forget our own Heritage Museum with its ever-changing collection.

Austin's Aqua Festival is planning dozens of shows in July and August. Write the Chamber of Commerce, Box 1067, Austin 78767. Then there are historical variety shows scheduled in Albany and Canyon. "Texas" is the most famous and runs through the summer. Write Box 268, Canyon, 79015. The "Fandangle" runs only through late June. Write Box 185, Albany, 76430.

Teresa Butler Wed To Kelly Joe Gaskins

Bride-Elect Is Honored At Brunch

MRS. KELLY JOE GASKINS

The wedding of Miss Teresa Sue Butler to Kelly Joe Gaskins was solemnized at 4 p.m., Saturday at the Broadway Church of Christ Chapel in Lubbock.

O. A. Tabor, minister, performed the ceremony. Miss Butler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Butler of Lubbock, and Gaskins' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins, Knott.

A large candle centered an altar decorated with bouquets of pink and white flowers and white tapers. Nuptial music was by a chorus.

The bridal gown was formal-length of white silk organza over peau de soie designed with a fitted waist, full, bishop sleeves and ring collar of scalloped alcon lace. The waist was styled with a wide band of scalloped and sequined lace, and the bouffant skirt, edged with wide lace, swept to the back to reveal a panel insert of tiers of lace.

Her veil of illusion was waist-length, and she carried a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis and miniature pink carnations.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Miss Deanna Butler, Lubbock; her sister-in-law, Mrs. Terry Butler, Lubbock; Miss Kayla Gaskins, the bridegroom's sister, Knott; and Miss Debbie Collins, Gustine.

They were identically attired in floor-length flared dresses in shades ranging from hot pink to pastel pink. The gowns were styled with square neckline and elbow-length puffed sleeves accented with a pinafore of floral printed sheers edged with a self ruffle.

Johny Peugh, Knott, was best man, and groomsmen were Joe Horlen, College Station; Steve Olson, Hereford; and Robert Herren, Ackerly.

Ushers were Terry Butler and David Butler, the bride's brothers, Lubbock; Van Gaskins, the bridegroom's brother, Knott; and Mike Karnes, Dallas.

Paul David Martin, Ackerly, was ring bearer.

The couple will have a wedding trip to Hawaii, then will be temporarily at home in Knott, later moving to College View Apartments in College Station where the bridegroom will attend graduate school at Texas A & M University.

SCHOOLS
The bride is a graduate of Idalou High School and Texas Technological University where she was member of American Home Economics Association, Phi Upsilon Ormicron and was also on the Dean's list.

Gaskins is a Sands High School graduate as well as Texas A & M University where he is a member of Alpha Zeta, Saddle and Sirloin and Gamma Sigma Delta. He was also a distinguished student in a animal science.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall where Miss Linda Nicholson, Lubbock; Miss Barbara Wright, Odessa; and Miss Elaine Benton, Idalou, served refreshments.

The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink flowers. Silver and crystal appointments were used. The bridegroom's table was covered with beige linen and centered with a large pink candle in greenery.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Bonnie Du Laney, Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Polson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dugan, all of Brownwood; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hall, Portales, N. Vacations

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I can't agree on what constitutes a vacation. Paul and I have four kids, ranging in ages from 10 to 16. Last summer a friend turned over his farm to us and we took the kids and spent three weeks there. Paul is a country boy at heart. He likes to get up at the crack of dawn and run the tractor and spend every evening rocking on the front porch, looking into space and listening to the crickets. Meanwhile, I do all the laundry, cooking and dishes. (This is a vacation?)

Paul wants to go to this farm again, and I say we should leave the kids home and take a real vacation alone somewhere. My mother agreed to stay with our kids. What should I do? Take the credit cards and go to Reno?

CITY GIRL: To Reno with credit cards? What for? To gamble or file for a divorce? Why not compromise, and do what Paul wants to do for half the vacation and what you want to do for the other half?

DEAR ABBY: I'm not much of a letter writer, but I need some answers, so here goes:

The other day I got a questionnaire in the mail. It was a form to fill out. There were lots of questions about a friend of mine who apparently had applied for a job with a big company. Here are some of the questions:

Has ... ever been in trouble with the law?
Does ... drink?
Moderately? ... Excessively? ...

Does ... use drugs?
What do you know about ...'s health?
Please name some of ...'s undesirable qualities.
Name some of ...'s good qualities.

Abby, my friend must have given my name for a reference or I wouldn't have received this questionnaire, right?

I have known this person for about 15 years, but I can't honestly answer some of these questions. In fact, if I could, I wouldn't want to. I'm afraid if I don't fill out this form, my friend won't get the job.

How would you handle this?

DEAR STUCK: You are under no obligation to answer the questionnaire. I would write a letter telling what I DO know about the applicant and no more.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WHO AM I?": You are a 19-year-old high school dropout who never made a serious effort to stick with anything once the going got rough.

You didn't listen to your father because you thought advice from "a loser" wasn't worth anything.

You didn't graduate from high school because you were too lazy to make your grade, so you told yourself that school was a waste of time, that you had learned all there was to learn there, and you'd be better off in the business world.

Determined as you were to do "your own thing," you haven't done anything because you still don't know what "your own thing" is.

Right now you aren't anybody. But if you sincerely want to be somebody, do this: Go back to school. (Adult education - night classes are available for those who work days.) First, get your high school diploma, then learn a trade or develop a special skill, and work like a son-of-a-gun. You will then be "somebody," and you won't have to write to Dear Abby to find out who you are.

Tenderizer

A fabric softener "tenderizes" the fabric so that it feels soft and smooth to the touch. It also makes towels fluffier. This occurs because the softener provides a lubricating film on the strands of the fiber, allowing them to move more readily against each other.

time out for GOD

How DOES your garden grow?

The mystery of life and growth was one our daughter took for granted . . . until last summer when she "adopted" a flower bed all her own. Then she began to ask what makes her garden grow.

I once had a course in botany; I thought I knew all the answers. But none of them seemed to register with Mary.

So my wife took over the answering department. God makes things grow! That made much more sense to Mary.

Is it, after all, a contradiction of science to admit that we live in a world full of mysteries . . . mysteries that happen before our very eyes . . . mysteries that reveal the wondrous mind of the Creator?

At graduation time, we fully realize that our sons and daughters need a spiritual foundation for all other knowledge. They will find it in the Church.

The bride wore a wedding gown of polyester white organza accented with an empire bodice trimmed with sequined, scalloped chantilly lace. The chapel-length train had a center panel of lace. Her veil of illusion was bordered by scalloped lace and extended beyond the train of the gown.

Bridesmaids, who were dressed identically to the matron of honor, were Miss Sherry Lawrence of Richardson; Miss Carol Perry, Miss Janet Gary, sister of the bridegroom; and Miss Nancy Smith.

Ceremony Performed In Catholic Church

The Rev. Leo St. John performed nuptial rites for Miss Carlota Rodriguez and Airman I. C. Robert S. Martinez Saturday evening in St. Thomas Catholic Church before an altar enhanced with yellow and white roses. Organ music was by Mrs. Polly Settles.

Carrying a bouquet of azures and small yellow roses tied with yellow ribbons, the bride wore a full-skirted wedding gown of white taffeta with lace overlaying the empire bodice. Accenting the gown were belled sleeves, and her veil of illusion formed a cathedral train.

Mr. and Mrs. Concepcion Rodriguez, Rt. 2, Box 130, are parents of the bride, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Georgio Martinez of Corpus Christi. The bridegroom, who is stationed at Webb Air Force Base, attended schools in Robstown and received his diploma through the Air Force. His bride attended Coahoma schools and is employed at Walls Inc. They will reside at D&C Trailer Park.

Attendants for the bride were Miss Alvina Hernandez, Coahoma, maid of honor; and Mrs. Juan Gonzales, Mrs. Pete Gonzales and Mrs. Bernardo Garcia, bridesmaids. Their dresses were in individual colors of white, blue and pale pink with which they bore matching floral headbands, and each carried a single mum the color of her dress. The cushion maid, Miss Dora Hernandez, wore a yellow dress.

Rainbow Girls Hold Installation Saturday

Miss Rhonda Susan Riley was installed as worthy advisor of the Order of Rainbow for Girls, Big Spring Assembly No. 60, Saturday evening at the Masonic Temple. Miss Riley, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Riley, dedicated her term to her mother.

Miss Riley chose the theme, "Service through Love", and her scripture is Matthew 28:19-20. A corsage of blue and white spring flowers adorned the wrist of each officer, and the installing officers were presented corsages by the worthy advisor.

Following an invocation by the Rev. J. E. Meeks, the installing officers were introduced. Susan Smith conducted the ceremony as the presiding installing officer, assisted by Sharon Andrews, marshal; Kay Williams, musician; Zina Johnston, recorder; and Della Nobles, chaplain.

In front of the podium, which was draped with blue velvet, stood a large floral arrangement in blue and white. Guests were registered by Rhonda Riley's sisters, Roanne, Karen and Lisa Riley. The table was covered in blue and the centerpiece was a floral arrangement. New officers entered the hall through an arch flanked by baskets of blue and white flowers.

Line officers installed were Emily Boyd, worthy associate advisor; Jill Odom, charity; Mary Jane Wright, hope; and Kerrie Sue Knox, faith. Other officers are Cindy Smith, treasurer; Laura Jones, chaplain; Leilani Thomas, drill leader; Jan Hoover, love; Janet Shanks, religion; Mary Griffith, nature; Cindy Matthews, immortality; Brenda Bell, fidelity; Shona Garrison, patriotism; Nora Valles, service; Kenda Born, confidential observer; Alana Morris, outer observer; Phillis Hart, musician; and Darla Morrell, choir director. Serving again is Temple McDaniel, recorder. Mrs. Paschal Odom will be mother advisor.

During the program, Mrs. Clyde Angel gave the address, and the song, "My Rainbow," was sung by Miss Carrie Wheeler. Gavel was given to Jill Odom and Mary Jane Wright.

The "big sister" award was given to Kerrie Sue Knox from her "little sister," Charisa Hamner. Other awards were presented by Mrs. Don Williams.

Serving on the telephone committee will be Kenda Born, Charisa Hamner, Janet Hull, Darla Morrell, Linda Moss, Pam Parmentar, Debbie Reynolds and Leilani Thomas. Mary Jane Wright is chairman for communications. Working on the paraphernalia committee are Kerrie Sue Knox, chairman; Beverly Bell, Sharon Bryant, Phyllis Hart, Martha Sheldon, Susan Sheldon, Suzanne Smith, Leatreaca Stewart and Elizabeth Swindell.

Miss Riley introduced her parents, her sisters, her brother, Jon, and her grandmother, Mrs. Florence Ann Riley. Her out-of-town relatives who attended were Lettie Daniell and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Daniell, all of Houston; Mrs. Richard Nagel, Allie Kristen and Lauren Nagel, all of Killen; Kye Rosson, Snyder; and Bill West, San Angelo.

Honored guests were Mrs. Williams, past grand worthy advisor of Texas; Cindy Williams, past grand representative from New Jersey to Texas; and Miss Sharon Bryant, past grand representative from Oklahoma to Massachusetts, ORG.

The benediction was a song, "Sweet, Sweet Spirit," led by Dan McClinton.

Over 100 persons attended the reception, where cake and punch was served from a table covered with a white cloth and centered with flowers. Following tradition, the Rainbow Assembly will attend church as a group today where the new worthy advisor holds membership, the Baptist Temple, Eleventh Place and Goliad.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ranne announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda Kay, to Kenneth Wayne Golden, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Golden Jr., Colorado City. The wedding will be July 27 in First Baptist Church, Westbrook. Miss Ranne graduated with honors from Westbrook High School, and her fiancé attended South Plains College and Western Texas College.

Past Matrons Install Officers

Past Matrons Gavel Club, Laura B. Hart Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, met Thursday in the home of Mrs. Dick Mitchell, 1505 Stadium, for installation of officers. Mrs. Marvin Steen, out-going president, presided. New officers are Mrs. Mitchell, president; Mrs. Charles Boland, vice president; Mrs. James Felts, secretary; Mrs. Loyd Duncan, treasurer; and Mrs. Ollie McDaniel, reporter.

Couple United In Marriage

Miss Rosalyn Hodges and Lt. Richard James Thiele were married at Webb Air Force Base Chapel at 4 p.m. Saturday with Chaplain James Elwell officiating.

Mrs. Doris Lillian Cobb of Valdosta, Ga., is the mother of the bride, and Col. and Mrs. Arthur J. Thiele of Schertz are parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Ernest R. Faubion, organist, accompanied Mrs. David W. Finch, the bride's sister, who was the vocalist.

The bride wore a dress of soft yellow pleated chiffon with blouson top and wide fitted bodice gently gathered at the waist to add fullness to the long, swinging skirt. The full sleeves were gathered at the wrist. She carried three long-stemmed yellow roses.

Mrs. Finch served as her sister's matron of honor, attired in a pleated chiffon dress of soft red-orange, fashioned similarly to that of the bride.

Lt. Paul R. Barton, Reno, Nev., was best man, and

Voters Approve Power Takeover

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — Residents of this northern New York town, upset over rising electric bills, have voted overwhelmingly to throw out the giant utility that has provided their power for 74 years.

The voters of this town of 16,000 approved a municipal takeover of the power system Thursday. Final, unofficial results showed 3,636 in favor and 2,178 against — a margin of 63 to 37 per cent.

Supporters of the takeover of the Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. facility hailed the vote as a victory for consumers in the fight against rising utility bills.

"The consumer, the little guy that has to pay a power bill every month, had an opportunity to lower his own cost of living by voting," said John Dumas, spokesman for the town and village boards. He estimated that the switch "will pay off in a 20 per cent rate reduction at takeover."

The boards now have the authority to condemn Niagara Mohawk transmission facilities and take them over through a $4.5 million bond issue.

Niagara Mohawk, which serves 1.3 million customers in upstate New York, waged a month-long advertising campaign against the takeover.

"We have been here 74 years and we feel we are the experts in the electric utility business," said a Niagara Mohawk spokesman. The utility argued that the takeover's true cost would be about $8.3 million, almost double what the town estimated.

The issue of whether the town can go into the electric utility business "will have to be settled in the courts," said Donald P. Nims, Niagara Mohawk district manager.

Annual Conference Slated For Methodists In Amarillo

AMARILLO — The Northwest Texas Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church will take action on equalizing the number of lay and clergy delegates when it gathers here at Polk Street United Methodist Church June 4-6.

The conference will develop its own plan for increasing the number of lay members in keeping with the decision of the denomination's 1972 General Conference that called for an equal number of lay-clergy delegates in the 76 annual conferences of the nation.

Theme for the 65th session of the Northwest Texas Conference will be "Never Failing."

Dr. Aisie H. Carleton, bishop of the Northwest Texas and New Mexico Annual Conference, will preside over the three-day session.

Conference preacher will be Dr. J. Kenneth Shamblyn, minister of St. Luke's United Methodist Church in Houston.

A dinner meeting and caucus for special appointees has been scheduled for Monday, June 2, between 6 and 8 p.m. with Dr. Robert W. Thornburg and Dr. James E. Kirby speaking. Dr. Thornburg is from Nashville, Tenn., and Dr. Kirby from Oklahoma State.

'Expletive Deleter' Ad

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A classified ad in the Baltimore Sunpapers for an "expletive deleter" drew a number of calls to the White House switchboard, an operator there said.

The origin of the ad, which appeared in the newspapers in their Wednesday editions, was not clear. It said: "Sensitive position preparing official documents for publication. Extensive vocabulary required; retire; drill instructor preferred. High pay and good benefits, including executive clemency."

The ad gave the telephone number of the White House switchboard.

Queried about the ad, a White House operator said, "We're aware of it. We've had a number of calls." A White House press office employee said, "It's the first I've heard of it."

After 'Odessa File,' Star Ready For Stage

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newstudies Writer

NEW YORK — One minute Jon Voight is clowning, joking and poking fun at himself. The next he's deep into serious discussion of what he says really matters — his family, the theater, growing as an actor and a person.

Tall, blond and slightly ruffled, Voight stopped here en route to Los Angeles and home after filming the suspense thriller, "The Odessa File," in Munich. Ahead, he says, are months to relax and prepare a play for regional theater.

"I need to return to work on the stage. It's the only place other than the classroom where I do a thoroughly creditable job. I can feel myself stretching a bit and it refreshes me so that I can do the quick work required in films," Voight said.

Last year the 35-year-old actor appeared as Stanley Kowalski in a revival of "A Streetcar Named Desire" in Los Angeles, opposite Faye Dunaway; then took his own production company and the same play to Buffalo.

"I think it got better as we went along, although critics weren't necessarily in agreement. By closing night I was pretty good."

MORE A PERSON
Appearing on stage, he added, takes away that distance between actor and audience that comes in movies and "makes you feel more like a person."

"I'd like to do more — comedy, classics, not necessarily big stuff but something pertinent to today's situation. There's no reason why we shouldn't, no reason why critics shouldn't have a chance to take a swipe at me," Voight said.

What he has in mind, specifically, for himself is a production of Tennessee Williams' "Camino Real."

"I can work with people I admire, get work for them — some of them people who need work. People in films can afford to do it, even if it means losing a little money."

Eventually, Voight added, perhaps there might be a theater of his own, a place to do a classic like Moliere's "Don Juan."

SON OF GOLFER
Voight likes to do things well. Son of a Yonkers, N.Y. golf professional al, his early plans included following in his father's footsteps. His golf scores were in the low 70's, but his interest changed to painting, sculpture and drawing and he majored in fine arts at Catholic University.

But he found a new interest in dramatics and says he realized he would never express himself as well in drawing as he could in performing.

Voight, ever selective about scripts, has appeared in "Catch 22," "Deliverance," "The All-American Boy," "Conrack," in which he's teaching school on an isolated all-black island.

AS GERMAN REPORTER
In "The Odessa File," Voight will appear as a young German journalist who, for personal reasons, tracks down a former Nazi commander of a World War II concentration camp. It's a change, he admits, from the happy-go-lucky but committed schoolteacher of "Conrack."

In "Conrack," Voight said, the part is the type of character he likes best — with a sense of purpose, a person who relates to people. And he played against 23-scene-stealing black youngsters who had never acted before — recruited, indeed from a church group.

JON 'SHY'
"They were genuine and wonderful kids. Anything they did was perfectly believable — that jargon of theirs had a wonderful poetry. It teaches you a lot about yourself to work with kids.

"They could all sing and I can't, really. There's a scene in the film where one student says, 'Conrack sing like a frog.' That's about right. As long as it's silly, I'm fine, but if I have to be serious, I'm in trouble."

"One of the boys — Ronny Harris, I think — came up to me and said, 'You're shy, aren't you, Jon? I had a cousin that was shy.' Every day with these kids was like that. They'll tell you straight just what they feel."

Voight, who appeared in almost every scene of the film, retired to a camper to rest and get out of the humidity on location in Georgia. The kids, he recalled, always were trying to come in, to sit and talk, playing one adult against another.

"I kept thinking about my own child, wondering how he'd grow up to be when I saw how they approach life, their attitudes and the problems they have," he said.

Voight's son, just about a year old, was born just before filming began for "Conrack."

"We've been living in an apartment in Los Angeles," Voight said. "We've ever had a house. It's time I thought about my son and got a house with a stream and trees."

TO RELAX
He plans to take a vacation with his wife Marsheline, read no scripts and relax. He takes his work seriously, but admits he's done good things and bad things.

"I'm experimenting and I fail. Acting is getting to whatever is the most distorted part of you, the real guts of what that is, and stretching to give your best performance, maybe even do Hamlet. But I want to do stupid things, too — stupidity is rampant today," he said almost seriously.

"Most of all, I want to do a lot of different kind of things, and grow."

Poor Broadway Little Richer

NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway's doldrums deepened ominously during the 1973-74 season, now ending.

Although box-office gross was up about $1 million from the previous June-May semester, there were signs galore that the Fabulous Invalid is in for a long illness.

Revivals and rehashes loomed big, along with shows snared from off-Broadway and regional groups formerly snubbed as mere satellites of the Main Stem. Just 10 of 52 exhibits could be termed native originals, and only two promised backer payoff.

LABOR OF LOVE — Bea Arthur, shown here in her television role as "Maude" with co-star Bill Macy, says her show is a "labor of love."

"Maude" is among the successful Bud Yorkin-Norman Lear series, which also include "Sanford and Son" and "All in the Family." Miss Arthur says Lear is "a friend I have known since 1959, and I don't consider him an employer."

Aristotle, Folk Singer Are Friends

DETROIT (AP) — Gamble Rogers is a guitar-strumming, yarn-spinning folk singer from the South. But he's no country boy — not with his moneyed background and the years he spent in college studying the classics.

On stage in his wrinkled Levis and Western shirt with pearl snap buttons, Rogers is pure hillbilly with a rich, southern drawl that tells about rednecked sheriff's deputies and truckstop sweethearts.

But later, in an interview in his $9-a-night Detroit motel room and in his beat-up Mustang, he quotes Aristotle and ponders every word as though he were a college professor lecturing a freshman class in philosophy.

He believes he could have been just that if he'd set his mind to it. The way he sees it, it's all just a matter of talent and discipline. And Rogers has both.

He also had the financial backing to send him through three years at the University of Virginia in Charlottesville and another year or so at Stetson University in Deland, Fla. The money came from his architect father, who designed Florida's State Supreme Court building.

After majoring in architecture, history and philosophy and studying writing, classical arts and letters, Greek drama and the American novel, Rogers joined his father's Winter Park, Fla., operation.

He spent at least a half-dozen years with that architectural firm before permanently trading in his slide rule for a guitar pick.

In between, there was brief marriage, a child, a divorce and a try at writing the Great American Novel, which he abandoned after about 70,000 words.

He said he found the protagonist of his autobiographical work was "kind of dull and uninteresting" so he decided to "go out and live a little."

Rogers gambled on taking a plunge into show business. So far, he says he has no regrets on leaving the settled life of an architect, despite living out of a suitcase 10 months of the year and piling up some 177,000 miles.

ROGERS AND ASTAIRE, FOUR DECADES LATER — Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers, famed dancing partners of the 1930's, recreate an old routine at the recent world premiere of "That's Entertainment," a cavalcade of old MGM film musicals.

To Get Away From It All, How About A Monastery?

SUBIACO, Italy (AP) — To get away from urban stress, there are weekends for baking under the sun, skiing down the slopes or just lounging around in the country. And to get away from it all, there is a journey into divine monasticism.

In this 8th century hilltop monastery 50 miles out of Rome, Benedictine monks offer a taste of their cenobitic living and contemplative solitude for those who have had enough of television, telephones, cars and bright lights.

You can unwind back to the Dark Ages — to "ora et labora," pray and work, in that order. The ritual can bring you a bit of what Tommaso Moro, a monk, terms "pax," or peace.

AUSTERE

"To God and peace," Tommaso Moro, Italian for Thomas Moore, says to the urbanite, ushering him into the Monastery or St. Scholastica for a trip into a life and world as different as it is austere.

A layman can stay here up to a month, but it's up at 5 a.m.

mass three times a day, pasta and wine and to bed at 9 p.m.

In between, as you meander through serene gardens and theapse and pillars of the chapel, your heart's content. There's all the time in the world to contemplate Plato, memorize Kant and chants.

Father Moro, in charge of laymen's retreat in monasticism, sees an increase in the number of applicants for St. Scholastica's 15 rooms, all reserved only for men.

"We get all types," he said, "people who want to read, who want to learn or just those who are fed up with the world they live in."

The price: up to you. But the Benedictine monks expect a donation of no less than 3,000 lire — about $5 — a day for room and board, not including the Rome-heaven-and-back transportation.

THERE'S A CATCH

And, as in all things too good, there is a catch. The monks prefer that a layman be recommended by his parish priest, although non-Catholics, even non-Christians, are accepted.

At St. Scholastica few things are compulsory for the searching soul. Father Moro assures, but it's expected that everyone live up to the principles of St. Benedict, who became a hermit in a Subiaco grotto before moving on to Montecassino, between Rome and Naples, and establishing other monasteries.

The order of the day is, besides praying and reading, work. Benedictine monks have set up workshops, particularly in printing which they introduced into Italy in the 15th century. Or one can try one's hand at book-binding, carpentry, a day's guess at the weather observatory or looking after cows and fowls.

"There is one restriction," Father Moro observed. "You can't talk during mealtimes." Actually, as you dine communally, you listen to what is called a "lettura" — a reading, usually passages from the Bible but which could also be ordinary newspaper articles or an opera libretto.

And to those who go back to their real world and are disappointed again, the adage is "porta patet, con magis," the door is open but the heart more so. One can return.

Ex-Resident Commissioned

FOLT WORTH — Thomas E. Angle, formerly of Big Spring, was among 28 Texas Christian University students who were initiated into the honor society of Phi Beta Kappa in formal ceremonies held recently in TCU's Robert Carr Chapel.

Mrs. Telete Z. Lawrence, president of TCU's Delta of Texas chapter of the prestigious liberal arts society, presided at the afternoon ritual, and delivered a presidential address entitled "The Challenge of the Continued Pursuit" at the annual banquet honoring the initiates. Special guest was Professor Ki Jun Ohm of Korea's Inha University, a TCU alumnus who was awarded an honorary doctoral degree during May 19 commencement ceremonies.

Angle is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Angle, now residents of Fort Worth. The Big Spring high graduate received his degree "magna cum laude," with high honor. Named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, he earned the B.A. degree with a major in history.

You Can Take That Trip But Gas Is Still Short

Motorists were advised to continue their conservation of gasoline or be prepared for either waiting lines at service stations or for signs reading "Out of Gas."

That was the advice provided recently by Delbert M. Fowler of Dallas, administrator for the five-state region of the Federal Energy Office (FEO).

"Too many people are operating under the illusion that the lifting of the Arab bargo for the United States solved the energy crisis," Fowler stated. "But these people are just fooling themselves, because we do still have an energy crunch, and it will be with us for years to come," the FEO official continued.

Fowler said motorists are going to have to cut back their speed to the legal 55-mile-per-hour limit, continue and expand carpooling, and avoid unnecessary trips. There is further need to try riding the bus to work and to keep those thermostats up to 78 degrees.

The Texas Transportation Research Institute has estimated that from 2 to 5 percent of all gasoline used in automobiles could be saved if we all reduce our speed from 70 to 55 miles per hour. Five per cent amounts to total consumption for a full day and a half in every month.

Fowler said that with strict conservation, it would be possible for most persons to take their annual summer vacation but he added there would still be spot shortages throughout the nation. It is more energy-efficient to take the train or bus or perhaps the airplane for longer trips than it is to take an automobile. We had rather see families use one of these alternative forms of transportation if they are going to take a long trip. He added that

Resist Pressures From Car Makers

DETROIT (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency will fight hard to prevent its responsibility for rating auto fuel economy from being turned over to auto makers, an EPA official says.

Eric Stork, who heads EPA's fuel economy testing programs, said the agency would resist increasing pressures from auto makers and the White House to relinquish its program which determines how many miles per gallon a particular make of car can be expected to get. The findings are then published.

Stork, who appeared at a news conference Wednesday, accused the auto industry of "raising red herrings" in criticizing the agency's test procedures.

"The real issue is they want to get the EPA out of the mileage rating business," he said. "They want this data in the hands of an agency that is more malleable."

Cycle Racer's Body Found

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Fred Mundy may have been making a futile attempt to pursue airplanes that were looking for him when he died, his brother Charles says.

A team of Mexican cowboys and two off-duty U.S. Border patrolmen found Mundy's body Thursday about five miles from his abandoned motorcycle in the Baja California desert, 80 miles south of the border.

Searchers said Mundy, 48, apparently walked about 30 miles in a circling path over rocky desert ground, where daytime temperatures exceeded 100 degrees.

They believe he died five to seven days ago.

Mundy, a former football player and experienced outdoorsman from Riverside, Calif., took a wrong turn in a desert motorcycle race May 18. He left his motorcycle when it ran out of gas, and set out on foot.
