The World At-A-Glance

MIAMI (AP) — Dialing the telephone for the correct time, the weather or a prayer is commonplace for Miamians. But now there's "Dial a Disease." Beginning Monday, residents can call two Miami exchanges for pre-recorded messages about a disease-of-the-week, says Dan Friedenwald, a spokesman for Jackson Memorial Hospital. The service will be offered in English and Spanish. Officials say the service is strictly informational and not diagnostic.

appeared no closer Saturday to find a closer Saturday to finding Patricia Hearst and her Symbionese Liberation Army associates despite receiving a tape from the trio of fugitives. FBI and Los Angeles police continued an analysis of the tape, but said it told them nothing about the location of Miss Hearst and William and Emily Harris, the last three SLA members being sought, or about the identity of persons claiming affiliation with the revolutionary group. "We don't have any indication whether they left Los Angeles and we'd sure like to know. We have no idea where they are," said John Morrison, spokesman for the FBI in Los Angeles. LTV Exec Found Dead

DALLAS (AP) — Medical examiners still were trying to determine Saturday the cause of death of Dan Burney, 47, a top Dallas executive whose decomposed body was found Friday.

Burney, senior vice president and counsel for LTV Corp., had not been seen by acquaintances since he left his downtown office about 11 p.m., May 21.

His body was found in a clump of weeds near a Dallas apartment after a dog carried the skull to its master at the apartment.

Officers still held Paul Edward Johnson under $100,000 bond. He was released from prison last July and was arrested a week ago when discovered driving Burney's company-owned car.

Police Sgt. William King who notified the widow of the discovery, said she was upstairs with the family priest when we got here. She was crying but not hysterical... and wanted to know how her husband died."

HCJC Enrollment Record Established

Enrollment at Howard College for the first summer session has established a new record and has exceeded the comparable total of last year by 10 per cent.

As of Friday evening, when the deadline for sign-up fell, 383 had signed for courses, said Registrar L. L. Lewis. This was substantially above the 367 set in 1971, and compared with 346 a year ago. All but eight (in the San Angelo center) are enrolled on the Big Spring campus.

While other areas were having capricious weather with heavy rains and hail (baseball size at Merkel), ours was experiencing wind and rising temperatures. Wednesday topped with 108 and Thursday produced 101.

And all the while, young crops began to suffer — except those which gave up the ghost. Possibly a third of our cotton is either not up, up to a poor stand, or hurting badly. Another third will be in deep trouble within a fortnight. Time is running out for planting cotton with hopes of a fair yield. It may be that many farmers need to begin thinking in terms of alternate crops in event later rains come.

Not only did the Colorado River Municipal Water District experience its first two-billion-gallon month in May, it went far enough past to make April and May average that much. But this apparently was but a warmup, for on Wednesday a new daily record of 82,800,000 gallons was produced. This didn't last. Thursday the demand soared to 90,400,000 gallons. Barring rain, June could set a 2.5 billion pace.

Chances Slim Watergate Timetables Will Be Met

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chances are growing increasingly slim that the Watergate timetables established by federal judges and congressional leaders are going to be met.

Both major Watergate trials now are threatened with long delays. And the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment inquiry, already behind schedule, hasn't yet settled the issue of calling witnesses.

Not yet confronted is the growing possibility that the trials and the impeachment process could conflict, forcing a postponement in one or the other.

Here is how the situation has developed: U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell told White House lawyers on Friday he is considering issuing a contempt citation as a result of President Nixon's refusal to let a defense lawyer accompany his client on an examination of White House files. The conflict between Gesell and the President could delay the start of the Plumbers trial now scheduled for June 17.

DEMANDS Gesell said recently that if the trial doesn't get under way on schedule it could be delayed as much as a year.

—The Supreme Court has agreed to hear arguments on July 8 on whether President Nixon has a right to withhold material subpoenaed as evidence in the cover-up trial, scheduled to start Sept. 9. A court decision could take weeks, possibly coming around Aug. 1. Further delays could postpone the trial.

—Only two months ago, congressional leaders were saying the House Judiciary Committee might report its findings early in June. But committee chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-

N.J., talks now about the end of July. And still unresolved are demands from the Republican minority to call witnesses.

There had been concern about the possible effect of leaks from the Judiciary Committee on the court cases. But it has been the reverse so far. It was a leak from the court — news that the grand jury had named the President an undicted co-conspirator — that could influence dramatically the deliberations of the Judiciary Committee.

PUBLICIZED DEBATES If the Judiciary Committee reports a bill of impeachment, something even the White House concedes is a strong possibility, there would follow a highly publicized debate in the House. Defendants in the cover-up trial would probably claim some of the evidence would prejudice potential jurors against them.

Ford Trying To Head Off 'Deadlock'

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford said Saturday that he is trying to "head off deadlock" over Watergate, and said it should not be so surprising that he seems to support President Nixon one day and the House impeachment inquiry the next.

The vice president said he has been getting a lot of friendly advice to stop traveling so much and making so many statements on the subject. He said they have come in letters, telegrams and in late night telephone calls; at receptions; from the news media, and even in shouts from passers-by.

"In short," he said, "why don't I sit down and shut up like a good vice president should?"

Ford was commencement speaker at Utah State University, where his son, Jack, is studying forestry.

Strong Wind In West Texas

New threats of stormy weather arose in Texas Saturday, bringing advisories of possible tornadoes, high winds, and hail. Flood warnings were issued for some rivers after Friday's downpours.

Strong winds circulated in West Texas around a low pressure area, with gusts of 40 m.p.h. and more. Dust was kicked up some places, causing a drop in visibility to a half mile at Lubbock in the early afternoon.

SEVERE WEATHER Meanwhile, the adjoining states of Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana were undergoing even more severe weather.

The Weather Service advised citizens during the morning to watch for tornadoes in the south Plains, the southern Panhandle and North Central Texas.

In the afternoon, the Weather Service issued a watch advisory for severe thunderstorms on a 120-mile stretch from Brownwood to Wichita Falls. Other storms were forecast for parts of Central Texas.

Forecasts for Sunday were for quite cooler air to spread into the northwest portions of the state.

Heavy rains, mostly Friday, caused flood warnings on several rivers, mostly in Northeast Texas.

FLOOD WARNING An exception in location was a warning of flooding on the North Canadian River above Lake Meredith in the Panhandle. Rains of up to five inches in New Mexico Friday night and Saturday sent the stream on the rise. Citizens with livestock or other property in low areas were advised to protect them.

Busing Amendment Triggers Scuffle

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Constitutional Convention delegates refused 61-60 Saturday to put a school busing amendment in the new state constitution.

Temper flared as the emotion-laden issue finished off the convention's first Saturday work day. There was one scuffle at the speakers stand and sergeants-at-arms were called on several times to seat milling and shouting delegates.

Othe firecracker votes, before the convention finally recessed until Monday, included:

—Tabled on a non-record vote an effort to add a provision saying that no "newsperson" shall ever be required to divulge a news source.

—Tabled on voice vote a proposal to allow state credit to be used in constructing a deep-water port.

—Refused 121-20 to put in the new constitution a requirement that all state and local government purchasing be done on competitive bids.

—Settled an argument between the convention and Gov. Dolph Briscoe by adopting 117-14 a provision that says no appointive officer may continue in office beyond Dec. 31 of the year during which his term expires. Previously the convention said an officer had to leave office when his term ended.

The school busing argument provided an uproarious climax for a work session that had been confused and hectic throughout.

Republican Rep. Larry Vick, Houston, offered the amendment, saying it was co-signed by 47 other delegates. "It's very simple. You know what it's about and you are either for or against it," Vick said.

The proposed amendment said in its entirety: "The right of students to attend the public school nearest their place of residency shall not be denied or abridged for reasons of race, color, national origin, religion or sex."

HOSPITAL PILING UP INVESTMENTS AND ASKING MORE DONATIONS

Texan Regrets Giving Scottish Rite $23 Million

DALLAS (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. William A. Blakley gave over $23 million 10 years ago to anchor the Texas Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children. Today he regrets the donation.

"I made a great mistake by giving a piece of operating property to a charitable institution, as I did in this case. I have learned by bitter experience," Blakley now says.

DISSAPPOINTMENT His disappointment comes in seeing only $2.2 million expended to treat hospitalized children, while at least $40 million is held in investment accounts.

And, while the hospital board cries annually for donations from private citizens, its assets are formidable.

"I told them (the trustees) that I thought the least they could do would be to spend some of the money they told the public they were collecting for the benefit of crippled children," said Blakley, himself a hospital trustee.

"This is impoundment," he said, referring to the giant investment funds.

The hospital hit the headlines in 1972 when John McKee, its president for 20 years, was unmasked as James Zullinger and convicted along with Paul Prasifka, then his son-in-law and the hospital's endowment secretary, of pocketing Scottish Rite monies.

570 OIL WELLS

Blakley handed over properties—the Rocker B Ranch in Irion and Reagan counties of Southwest Texas and the San Cristobal Ranch in New Mex-co—together comprising almost a quarter of a million acres and estimated at the time to be worth around $23 million. Today Blakley's gift is appraised at $60 million, although the mineral rights are carried on the hospital's books at a nominal valuation of $1.

Although the San Cristobal has since been sold off to the hospital's benefit, the Rocker B continues pouring out several million dollars annually from its 570 producing oil wells and its 5,000 head of cattle.

Blakley himself, except for a brief period when McKee and Prasifka took over direct control, has continued to manage the ranch for the hospital without charging for his services.

HEART STRINGS

Blakley now believes his gift "has moved a very long way from what Mrs. Blakley and myself intended when we made it; we intended it to go to the crippled children."

He questions the continued need for what he called the hospital's "heart-strings approach" to solicit even the smallest donations.

Blakley worries, too, the future, and speculates the Scottish Rite Hospital might "in perpetuity be better off if it were a truly public institution amenable to the state authorities."

Blakley said the 78-bed hospital has the resources to handle far more than the 40 or so needy children it usually houses. "If you went there today, you'd find empty beds," he said.

SHIVERS CHAIRMAN

Funds accumulated for the hospital's healthy investment program are today in two Texas banks, although at one time part of the money was held out of state and in 1971 nearly $2 million worth of stocks and bonds had to be sold at a loss as result of unsuccessful speculative ventures.

The general endowment fund is in the Mercantile National Bank of Dallas and the Blakley endowment in the Austin National Bank. There is reportedly in excess of $20 million in each account and between $30,000 and $40,000 is paid out annually to trust companies for managing the money, which steadily accumulates interest.

Head of the Austin bank is former Gov. Allen Shivers, who is also chairman of the hospital board.

Cash and investment securities for the Blakley fund stood at $23.9 million at the end of 1973's third quarter, according to a two-year outside audit ordered at a cost of $15,000 from accountants Arthur Andersen & Co.

OIL ROYALTIES

The same audit showed 1973 income from investments and the Rocker B Ranch as totaling $8.2 million, up more than $1 million over 1972. Oil royalties ran at almost $4 million. Requests totalled $1.3 million and contributions brought in $354,790.

Against this, the sum set aside for patient care was $2.9 million, of which $2.2 million was actually expended, the rest going back into the principal for reinvestment, the financial statement showed.

Although the Masonic hospital claims in its annual Christmas appeal to be constantly needing money, other doctors in the pediatric field are frankly envious of its already considerable resources.

"The Scottish Rite has endowment of around $1 million per bed—probably more than any hospital in the United States," reckoned one internist at the sometimes financially pinched Dallas Children's Medical Center.

MASONIC OATH

Whatever the actual bed endowment, those who run the Scottish Rite Hospital go to some length to see that the details of its wealth remain a closely-guarded secret.

Trustees at the last annual meeting were forbidden to carry away copies of the financial statement for further study.

PERMITTED TO EMIGRATE TO ISRAEL — Soviet sources said former Kirov ballet stars Valery and Galina Panov, above, have been given official permission to emigrate to Israel. They said the husband and wife, who have fought for two years for such permission, would be given visas and would be free to leave.

Ballet Stars Get Word They May Leave Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — A "very excited, very emotional" Valery Panov said Saturday that he and his pregnant wife Galina have been given official permission to leave Russia for Israel after a 26-month struggle. "I won't stay here an hour longer than I have to," the former Kirov ballet star said, adding that he got the official word during a 15-minute session in the office of a Lt. Col. Pjalgrimas.

the office of a Lt. Col. Pjalgrimas. "I told him I was very pleased, but it's all very hard to believe." Advance word that the authorities had changed their minds was carried by Panov's brother Alfred. Having heard rumors that permission was possible, the brother took the phone call from the Lithuanian Interior Ministry summoning the ballet star for an immediate audience downtown. "Alfred found me in a store, shopping," Panov said. He said they rushed to the Interior Ministry, where Pjalgrimas received Panov at 2 p.m. The officer said he had a communication to read him from the passport office in Leningrad.

Solon Kicked Out Of 'Good Ol' Boys Club'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A state representative from Austin got kicked out of the legislative "good ol' boys club" Thursday because he blocked a chance for legislators to get into the lucrative judicial retirement system, according to a named. "He'll never be effective again on the judiciary article," the delegate said of Rep. Ronald Earle, D-Austin. Earle declined comment on the incident. Newsroom saw several angry delegates rush up to Earle after he offered his amendment Thursday.

Driver Hurt In Car Jump

A car jumped a curb, hit a utility pole and small tree, broke through a wall and dropped off a six-foot embankment after the driver apparently lost control in the 1500 block of Fourth Street about midnight Friday, police said. The driver, Pamela Pierce Lee, 19, Box 1784, was in a satisfactory condition at Medical Center Memorial Hospital Saturday night. A second car, which police said left the scene of the accident, swerved at the time of the accident, the hospitalized girl said. The 1969 model she was driving traveled 473 feet after she lost control, police reported. Mary Lou Marvin, 1322 Harding St., was reported to have minor injuries. A third occupant in the vehicle Sue Phillips, 1708 11th Place, was not injured.

required to be on an "actuarially sound" basis. Supporters of separate treatment for judges argue that special benefits must be given to qualified lawyers before they will be willing to take pay cuts to sit on the bench. The convention was debating a section on state employee retirement systems in the general provisions article when Earle offered his amendment to a subsection that excludes the judicial retirement system from the same "actuarially sound" investment standards of other systems. The subsection includes all judges from proposed circuit courts (today's county courts at law) to the Texas Supreme Court. Then it adds this language: "... and such other judicial state officials as now or hereafter provided by law."

State Bar Starts Parolee Service

The State Bar of Texas has announced the initiation of a program to provide legal counsel to indigent parolees at parole revocation hearings. The project, which is funded by a grant from the Criminal Justice Division of the Office of the Governor, is the newest in a series of public service programs recently initiated by the State Bar of Texas. When there is reason to cause the Board of Pardons and Paroles to consider revoking an individual's parole, an "onsite" hearing is held at the place where the alleged parole violation or arrest occurred. If a parolee wishes to be represented by a lawyer at his on-site revocation hearing and is unable to pay a lawyer himself, he must make this known to the representative of the board who notifies the State Bar of Texas. A lawyer will then be provided from the area where the hearing is to be held. The lawyer will receive a nominal fee from the State Bar of Texas, but most of his time and effort will be donated on a voluntary basis.

Parents interested in wholesome, supervised activity for their children are reminded that the Summer Fun portion of the Citywide Recreation program begins Monday 9 a.m. at Comanche Trail Park and at Lakeview. There's no charge for the daily program — just take your school age youngsters there. June always is a booming wedding month (although often exceeded by December), but it has been a long time since we've experienced such a run. Our women's department has a case of nuptial fatigue. Howard County Commissioners Court voted last week to expend $4,204 to provide equipment for plasticized (billfold size) voter registration cards. Now if we can only find some way to induce people to use these every time there's an opportunity. Big Spring has been chosen as a site for one of the workshops for bilingual education being sponsored by the Texas Education Agency. Area schools will send teachers here July 1-Aug. 9 for the training. Speaking of conferences, physicians, nurses, and nursing home administrators are invited Tuesday to Big Spring State Hospital to the third annual conference on latest methods and drugs for treatment of mentally ill individuals in and after the hospital. Two former county officials slipped from the scene last week — J. B. (Jake) Bruton, former sheriff, and R. L. (Lee) Warren, former county clerk. Glen Margolis carried the Howard County and West Texas banner to the National Spelling Bee and made it into the fifth round before stubbing his toe on a superfluous "y" on the end of extempore. He was among the youngest in the 80-contestant field from all over the country. Maybe the heat is affecting tempers or judgment, but at any rate there were more than the usual number of car accidents. One day brought a total of nine. Keep that up and we're courting tragedy on top of disaster.

On Honor Roll

Gene Meyers, 1306 Stadium, has repeated in the Spring semester on the University of Texas, Permian Basin, honor roll. He achieved a 3.75 grade-point average (3.25 in the Fall) as a senior psychology major. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Meyers.

Prowlers Keep Bar Owner Alert

Mrs. Mildred Martin, owner and operator of the Green Acres bar on North Birdwell Lane, thought she had helped corner a prowler under the building about midnight Friday. From their nearby mobile home, one of Mrs. Martin's grandchildren saw the prowler smoking a cigarette and lurking in the dark around the closed bar. Mrs. Sidney Carroll, Odessa, who has been staying with her mother, Mrs. Martin, flashed car lights in the prowler's direction. And a neighbor fired a pistol in the air. "We thought that he was under the house," Mrs. Martin said, but the prowler had vanished by the time they drove the car down to the building. Deputy sheriffs arrived quickly but confirmed the prowler was "G.O.A." (gone on arrival). Since the death of her husband, Charles, about a month ago, Mrs. Martin said they've encountered a prowler about once a week. "We've got them pretty regularly," Mrs. Martin said. "A couple of times before they knocked on the side of the trailer house to let us know they were there," Mrs. Carroll said. Somebody might be trying to cause them to sell the land, Mrs. Carroll said. Mrs. Martin said she had a pistol. "And I'm not afraid to use it," she added.

Bail Of $1 Million Set For Three Young Suspects

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bail of $1 million has been set for each of three young suspects in the kidnaping of the wife of the president of the Food Fair supermarket chain. The three are charged with abducting Mrs. Annette Friedland, 43, from her posh suburban Gladwyne, Pa., home and demanding $60,000 in ransom from her husband, Jack Friedland, 48. TERRORIST THREATS The suspects are all from Philadelphia. One, Frank Wyatt Jr., 18, the son of a city police sergeant and an office clerk for Food Fair, was arrested Thursday. Wallace J. Beckett Jr., 21, and Carl L. Bradford, 19, were arrested Friday. They were charged under state statutes with kidnaping, extortion, terrorist threats and other offenses. "This caps the investigation of the Friedland kidnaping," said FBI agent Richard J. Baker. Mrs. Friedland was abducted at gunpoint Thursday as she worked in her garden. Her four-year-old son and a 74-year-old gardener were left bound back-to-back in the Friedlands' modern mansion. DELIVERED $60,000 Her husband was contacted by the abductors and delivered $60,000 as instructed. Within a few hours of her abduction, Mrs. Friedland was released in South Philadelphia. Wyatt was apprehended almost immediately in the same area and was found with money concealed in his coat, police said. Asst. Dist. Atty. William T. Cannon said no federal charges were filed because there was no interstate travel and the abduction did not last more than seven hours. Bradford's mother, Mrs. Mary Bradford, insisted her son "wasn't out of the house all day Thursday. The neighbors know that." Breaking into tears several times while talking to a local reporter, Mrs. Bradford said Carl is on the dean's list at Howard University, where he is a sociology major. "He just finished two years at Howard, two good years," she said.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS, POVERTY 15,000 'Messengers' To Converge On Big D

DALLAS (AP) — The advance guard was rolling into Dallas Saturday for the massive Southern Baptist Convention, concerned this year with women's rights, race and social justice. Sessions beginning Tuesday can be expected to arouse storms, for Southern Baptists believe turning the other cheek is a great idea provided it doesn't compromise their religious or moral principles, about as diverse as the 12 million membership. ONLY TO GOD Whatever the convention decides will be only advisory. Individual churches are a law unto themselves, and even persons in each church are accountable only to God, not the congregation. An instance is that of women ministers and deacons. It is almost certain to be an tempestuous issue, although some churches already permit them. The convention president, Dr. Owen Cooper, Yazoo City, Miss., said earlier he can almost guarantee that one of the "messengers"—delegates—will offer a resolution against women serving as clergy. The convention's Christian Life Commission proposes that women make up one-fifth of the elected members of boards, agencies and committees by 1980. QUOTAS FOR WOMEN Cooper predicted it may be another decade before the convention is prepared to accept "with great feeling" quotas for women. "The majority membership in (Baptist churches) are women, but the minority runs the outfit." The Christian Life Commission urges in recommendations to the convention that agencies seek in assignment and employment "to communicate the conviction that racism is theologically untenable, politically destructive and fatal, dehumanizing." The commission calls for Baptists to work for racial justice in education, health care, housing, consumer concern and participation in politics. The commission also would have the convention support tax reforms to close loopholes for the rich and remove heavy taxes from the poor and "near poor." It wants development of a family support plan to "abolish the evils of the welfare system."

Haven't We Met Before?

Kelly Guinn and Rodney Kent Ferrell were driving cars which collided first at 9:40 p.m. Friday in the 1800 block of Kentucky Way and then five minutes later at East Fourth and Birdwell Lane. Police did not offer any immediate explanation, and an observer refused to comment, saying the incident would be decided in court. Ferrell lives at 519 Hillside Drive, but the address of Guinn was not listed.

Asks Revocation Of Probation

District Attorney Robert H. Moore III has filed to revoke probation being served by Thomas S. Hastings, 45. Hastings was given a probation sentence after being found guilty in 118th District Court of defrauding with worthless check. He is accused of failure to support his family, failure to report to the adult probation officer and failure to make restitution.

Judgment In Vote Contest

The judgment in the Cox-Crittenden election contest case was filed in 118th District Court this week. District Judge Weldon Kirk, who presided for Judge Ralph W. Caton who disqualified himself, ordered a runoff election to be held but noted the case has been appealed to the 11th Court of Civil Appeals, Eastland. The judgment states: "That 398 ballots were cast in the absentee box for both candidates, but only a total of 398 ballots were counted by the official recount canvass..." Ballot number 701 was a "validly cast ballot in the absentee box in favor of M. Fern Cox for the Office of District Clerk..." Ballot 701 "was not included in the total of the votes cast for M. Fern Cox in the canvass of ballots made upon recount..." "The true result of the election" was a tie between Cox and Mrs. Peggy Crittenden at 2,426 votes each. "That the failure to count voter ballot number 701 shows no evidence of fraud or intent but was the result of clerical or mechanical error only."

Hog Theft Raps Filed Against Two

The remains of a 100-pound hog were found buried near the marijuana farm discovered earlier in brush land abutting S. 20 north of Big Spring, Sheriff A. N. Standard said. Standard and Guy Talbot, a special investigator for the district attorney, arrested two men Friday afternoon and complaints charging felony theft were filed. Gary Lee Burt, 19, and Jay Lynn Beam, 20, are accused of taking a hog belonging to Albery J. Finch on June 5. The hog had been partially consumed before burial, Standard said. Inside a nearby house, law enforcement officers found 100 seeds and 200 marijuana plants growing under artificial light. Burt pleaded guilty in 118th District Court several hours after his arrest. The routine trial ran smoothly until District Judge Ralph W. Caton asked if Burt was aware he "could be" sentenced to two to 10 years in prison and fined for the offense. Startled, Burt said nothing. His attorney reassured him, and Burt said yes. Burt was given 10 years of probation to serve, with restitution stipulated. The other defendant charged with the hog theft is serving probation already there. And District Attorney Robert H. Moore II said he would file a motion to revoke probation. Beam was in county jail Saturday in lieu of posting $5,000 bond set by Peace Justice Gus Ochotorenna Jr.

Pick Architect, Check On Sites

The firm of Gary and Hohertz of Big Spring has been chosen by a building committee to plan for a new headquarters building of the Colorado River Municipal Water District. The committee met here Wednesday to inaugurate the planning stage of the building which will have some 10,000 square feet of space. Members also viewed a number of suggested sites and began assembling information on availability, space, price, etc. which will have a bearing on the selection. On the committee are Clyde McMahon and John L. Taylor, Big Spring. W. A. McGlaun, Snyder, H. S. Sampson, Odessa, P. C. Harbour, Odessa, CRMWD president, and ex officio member of the committee met with the panel at its initial meeting here.

Gets Franchise For Muzak

Purchase of the Muzak franchise for Howard County was announced Saturday by Winston Winkle, president of the Snider Corporation of Big Spring. It will be operated here under the name of ABC Music Service, and David Winkle, who has been undergoing on-job-training at Midland, will be sales representative. Many Big Spring industries, businesses and offices already subscribe to the service, said Winkle. Snider Corporation acquired the franchise from Midland Broadcasting Company. Originally Muzak operated from here but was sold subsequently to Pioneer Music of Midland. "We feel we are fortunate in being able to purchase the franchise for this area," said Winkle. "because Muzak people are specialists in physiological and psychological applications of music. Research has shown that this background helps provide a friendlier atmosphere, increase employee productivity, reduce errors, relieve fatigue and tensions." One of the advantages of bringing the franchise back here is the faster servicing of accounts and equipments, he added.

Cotton Outlook Is Diminishing

Cotton production prospects on the Texas High Plains become darker by the day according to officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock-based cotton producer organization representing 25 counties surrounding Lubbock.

A series of devastating hail storms across 11 counties in the north and northeast sections of the area, where most cotton is irrigated, has had a halting affect. So has a continuation of dry weather over the South and Western counties where most of the cotton is highly or totally dependent on rainfall.

Earlier in the year officials were looking toward 3 million acres of cotton in the 25 counties. Now they calculate that figure could be significantly reduced, and at best much of the Plains acreage will be fighting an uphill battle to produce normal crops.

Acreage lost to hail is estimated by various sources at from 200,000 to 350,000 acres. Heaviest losses were recorded in Crosby (100 to 140,000 acres), Hale (35 to 40,000), Floyd (25 to 30,000) and Swisher (25 to 30,000) counties losing in the neighborhood of 20,000 acres include Dickens, Lamb, Motley, and Briscoe. Smaller acreage was destroyed in Parmer, Castro and Lubbock Counties. The best estimate of cotton completely destroyed might be about 250,000 acres, with another 100,000 acres or so suffering damage that could well reduce the harvest. Much of the area south of Lubbock has not been planted or is up to uncertain stand due to lack of moisture. This may cut acreage in half.

'SLEEPING BEAUTY' CALLED DANGEROUS Are There Two Patty Hearsts?

EDITOR'S NOTE — Patricia Campbell Hearst, says the FBI, is a "self-proclaimed member of the Symbionese Liberation Army... (and) should be considered armed and very dangerous." But her friends know her as Patty—serene... self-contained... idealistic. Are there two Patty Hearsts? How could one have become the other? AP staffers Linda Deutsch, Steve Jenning and Richard E. Meyer talked with those who knew Patty. This is their story.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Once upon a time...

Patty Hearst and 10 classmates, all girls, visited Japan. Their guide took them to a topless show. Surrounded by the audience of men, all the girls giggled.

"Except Patty," remembers one. "She thought we were childish."

... There was a princess with grace and charm.

BUDDING BALLERINA
Patty Hearst was a budding ballerina. In her leotard and slippers, she twirled through her exercises. Other ballerinas smiled, laughed. Patty seemed preoccupied.

"I didn't feel her approach to ballet was healthy," remembers her instructor. "She was all wrapped up in the discipline of it all. There was no room left for personal expression."

The princess grew in elegance and ability... Patty Hearst studied art. She wrote about the Renaissance, Raphael and the Impressionists. Her papers were polished, concise — but littered with jargon.

"Jargon," her teacher thought, "is the last defense of the student who is bored."

... Until the princess fell under a spell. She was called the Sleeping Beauty.

'A LOVER'
Patricia Campbell Hearst. "Detached," said a teacher. "A little too mature," said a friend. "Serene," said a classmate. "Not much of an activist." "Unemotional." "Shelved." "Very much to herself." "A loner." "Not that close to her family." "Self-contained." "Passive." "Searching for something." "Directionless. She had no cause." "I think she was idealistic." "Searching for herself, maybe."

"Patty," said a girl who knew her well, "needed stimulation."

Feb. 4, 1974, Patty Hearst, an heir to the Hearst fortune and publishing fame, was abducted. She was snatched from an apartment she shared with her fiancé by a ragtag group spouting Maoist cant. The kidnapers called themselves the Symbionese Liberation Army. They demanded millions of dollars in free food for the poor. The abduction was the first political kidnaping in the United States—a crime to rival the Lindbergh kidnaping 42 years ago.

RUDE AWAKENING
The kidnaping, some of her friends think, might have been Patty Hearst's rude awakening.

April 3, 1974, Patty Hearst denounced her past. "I have been given the choice," she said in a tape-recorded message, "of 1) being released in a safe area, or 2) joining the forces of the Symbionese Liberation Army and fighting for my freedom and the freedom of all oppressed people. I have chosen to stay and fight."

"I think she found something," said a college classmate. A young man who knew her well said: "She was ready for exposure... It could be she never got the kind of real warmth and companionship and direction she got from the SLA."

"SLA's about the strongest willed individual I've ever met," says a girl who knew her in high school. A woman who has known her for years says: "Once she committed herself at all, in the crisis point she'd really commit herself."

Could this be? A new Patty Hearst?

FAIRY TALES
"Brainwashed," said her father, at first.

Put Dr. Frederick Hacker, a Los Angeles psychiatrist, who has advised Patricia Hearst's family since her kidnaping, said: "It's not at all unusual that in late adolescence one becomes a very different person."

Stress. Shared danger. Patty's youth. All these, Dr. Hacker said, could help her identify with her abductors.

Will Patty Hearst ever come back?

"She can go underground now. I think, forever," says her father.

"I guess everyone's interested because this has happened to a princess," says a college friend. "But it's only in fairy tales that you resolve every question."

Patty Hearst was born Feb. 20, 1944, the blue-eyed, honey-brown-haired daughter of Randolph and Catherine Campbell Hearst. Mother is from genteel Georgia society and a staunch Southern Catholic. Father is president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner. Grandfather was William Randolph Hearst, builder of the vast Hearst publishing empire. Randy and Catherine Hearst settled with Patty and four other daughters in a wealthy, manicured suburb called Hillsborough.

DESPISED MAID
Patty and her sisters were raised by governesses and maids. Patty despised one maid. The woman was fired. Patty's favorite was the Hearst's German cook, Emmy Brubach. Elderly, warm-hearted Emmy became Patty's chief counsel and confidant.

Although it was near home, Patty was enrolled in the convent of the Sacred Heart school as a boarder when she was 10. Beds were in cubicles separated by partitions. Mass at 7:15 a.m. Breakfast. Classes until 4 p.m. Mandatory study from 7 to 9 p.m. Lorna Corbetta, a classmate, remembers Patty would rather have lived home.

MOUSE IN GOWN
Lorna spent an occasional weekend at the Hearst mansion with her friend. Patty could be a prankster. One Saturday night, after Lorna dropped off to sleep, Patty put one of her sister's white mice down Lorna's nightgown.

At Sacred Heart, Patty began showing her strong will. When she played basketball, she argued with the referee. "Most everybody else would just sort of shrug it off," says Lorna, "but Patty always had to argue." And when Patty became a cheerleader, she took control of the squad.

At lunch one day, Lorna remembers, Patty insisted it was "not ba-lo-ney, but bay-log-na, pronounced literally like it's written. Well, of course, I knew she was wrong. But she had a way of forcing her opinions on you. She was just about the strongest-willed individual I've ever met."

Patty also began showing her detachment. Lorna remembers her developing a precocious interest in boys. A friend brought word to Mike Jurian, an altar boy who served early morning Mass, that Patty was interested in him.

GOLD CROSS
"I had a cross that had fake jewels on it, kind of a gold cross," Jurian recalls. "I sent it to her with one of the girls. But she sent it back, saying, 'I can't take that.'"

By the time she was graduated from the eighth grade, and classmates were throwing water balloons to vent their year-end frustrations, prankster Patty demurred. "Patty never participated," Jurian says.

Patty studied catechism. But she was confirmed as a Catholic, Miss Corbetta says. "More or less because of her mother."

At 14, she was packed off to Santa Catalina, another Catholic boarding school, this one on the blue Pacific at Monterey. She was unhappy. The school is run by strict Dominican nuns. Patty and the nuns clashed repeatedly. A friend says Patty was punished frequently. She cleaned toilets, emptied garbage.

SMOKING POT
Her detachment seemed to grow. Classmates began seeing her as an outsider. Two remember that one of Patty's few friends was a 50-year-old, foreign-born janitor. They frequently saw Patty and the janitor sitting on a garden wall talking.

"Patty found interesting things in people that others didn't," one of the classmates says.

Persistent rumor has it that Patty was expelled for smoking marijuana. Friends, family and the school say it isn't true. Nine girls were expelled at the time for that reason, Patty's classmates say — but Patty was not among them.

At 16, Patty entered Crystal Springs, a nonsectarian private school for girls near her home. Crystal Springs wasn't as strict.

THE COOLEST
Those were the Vietnam years, and some Crystal Springs girls marched for peace. But not Patty.

"She was a cool individual, perhaps the coolest," recalls her English literature teacher. But for algebra, Patty Hearst was an A and B student. Yet her teacher remembers: "Literature didn't really touch her the way it did my of the other girls. She never got really excited about what she read."

However, Patty didn't mind shocking her classmates. At Crystal Springs she joined a group of girls in Asian studies on the trip to Japan. The girl who sat next to her on the plane recalls: "She told me a story of how she had been hitchhiking and was picked up by a guy who was quote-unquote playing with himself. She said she didn't panic."

"She just looked out the window and stayed calm, and he finally let her out."

"She also said she wasn't going to change her watch to Japanese time. I asked her why, and she said she was on the pill and had to take it every 24 hours and would forget if she changed her watch.

"I think now that Patty was perhaps trying to shock me." On the way home she sat with someone else.

She took up ballet. Neither the girls at Crystal Springs nor her parents saw Patty dance.

"She didn't invite her parents to our visitation days," recalls Anne Bena, her instructor at the Peninsula School of Ballet. "It seemed this was something she wanted to preserve in her own world."

Because of her intensity and the joyless discipline ballet became for Patty, her instructor didn't encourage her to continue. "I think Patty was searching for something," Mrs. Bena says. "Searching for herself, maybe."

FASCINATED
Just as intensely, however, Patty, 16 by now, began campaigning for the attentions of a 22-year-old mathematics teacher at Crystal Springs named Steven Weed.

"I knew Patty for three years," says Stuart Olson, another teacher who met her through Weed. "Her primary interest during those three years was in getting Weed to marry her."

Weed, the gaunt, intellectual son of a Palo Alto stockbroker, was charmed by Patty. He was fascinated by her independence and what seemed to him to be her aloof maturity.

After Crystal Springs, Patty Hearst chose to attend Menlo College, a small private school in Menlo Park. Not surprisingly, Steven Weed lived in Menlo Park.

She shunned school activities, spent more time at Weed's apartment than at her dormitory and made only a few friends. One says "Patty valued her privacy. I respected that and had no desire to intrude."

Although she was only 17 and, by her friend's account, "into a heavy thing" when other girls her age "weren't into sex at all," Patty's life with Steven Weed was hardly a rebellion.

"The thing about her was that she seemed so mature," her friend remembers. "Patty needed stimulation. There was nothing really interesting going on."

Nor was the marijuana garden she and Weed tended in flower pots and boxes in a tin-foil-papered room behind his garage any particular rebellion.

"I wouldn't be surprised if they had experimented with LSD," says a friend of Weed's. "But it wasn't any big thing. Don't forget this was in '72."

Weed's friend wonders whether Patty Hearst got much warmth from Steven Weed. "Steve," his friend says, "was not a warm, affectionate, outgoing guy."

One evening, Patty brought Weed to a birthday party for Lorna Corbetta.

"She was wearing a full-length, yellow granny dress," Lorna remembers, "and it made her seem a lot older. But it was more than that. She and Steve really didn't talk to me or other kids my age... They floated around a little but kept mostly to themselves... I guess she was becoming more like Steve Weed... It was really strange. She was distant."

Bottom Snapping Getting Popular

NEW YORK (AP) — A new phenomenon: bottom snapping. . . Is it a manufacturing process? Wall Street jargon? Or just possibly an overly affectionate playful gesture? No, it is none of the above.

According to Rand McNally's new Outdoor Recreation Guide, bottom snapping is a combination hobby and sport. A bottom snapper is an underwater diver who devotes much of his time on the bottom to taking photos — of everything from coral formations to shipwrecks.

The guide lists practical information on the best locations and facilities for a number of other off-beat, leisure-time hobbies and sports, as well. They include: spelunging cave exploring, rockhounding, searching out samples of gemstones and minerals and historical hiking following trails of those, like Daniel Boone, who played important roles in American history.

YES, THEY MAY YIELD DISEASE CLUES Texas-Sized Shrimp In The Hills?

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — If a fisherman by chance snares an elusive giant freshwater variety of shrimp in the Texas Hill Country, Dr. Frederick Rommel wants the animal.

It may help in cancer research.

Rommel, a crewcut assistant professor at the University of Texas Health Science Center, has scouted in the Hill Country and also is being sent samples of the freshwater prawn from Ralston Purina Co.

CANCER PROOF

He hopes he can find an anti-cancer mechanism in the shrimp or in other aquatic invertebrates he plans to use—fresh water and saltwater clams, crayfish and saltwater lobster.

"The reason is that almost all aquatic invertebrates do not develop cancer or we never see it," says Rommel.

"There are only six or seven reports in the entire body of scientific literature of any sort of cancer or abnormal growth in these animals and most were benign."

He says there are two possible reasons for the absence of cancer which he will apply to his study, already three years in the making.

HOPING

"One, they do develop cancer. It kills them before we ever see it. There is a quick CANCER RESEARCH — A researcher is gathering specimen of this giant-sized freshwater shrimp from the Texas Hill Country to see if such invertebrates have an anti-cancer mechanism. If the claw to the right were stretched, the animal would have a total length of about 18 inches.

death and they are eaten by a predator," he says, hoping that such is not the case.

The second possible reason for the lack of cancer is that "they have an anti-cancer system which is operative that eliminates any cancer before it can grow, although such a mechanism has not been discovered."

"That is what we are looking for," says Rommel, 39.

"We expect within about two years to be able to decide its promise and pursue it further if we haven't already reached some sort of conclusion by that time," he says.

The huge size is the key to the usefulness of the monster shrimp. Otherwise, it would be more difficult to draw body fluids from the animal which will be used in the research.

TEXAS CRAWDAD

Many Texans think the animals are "giant crawdads" and the first one brought to Rommel was labeled "Granddaddy Texas Crawdad" by the fisherman who Rommel by coincidence had heard caught it.

The animal took months to identify here in the city but Rommel says "Nearly every marina and bait house from the Hill Country to the coast knows about them, or has a preserved specimen on display."

The specimen he has, which he can't use because it is in formaldehyde, measures 18 inches with the claws stretched and weighs 18 ounces. He needs live specimen to breed.

The giant shrimp "have to be caught personally," he says, because they remain hidden until night fall. The hunter of the shrimp has to wade out into the water with a flashlight, he says. Attempts to catch them are also being made with traps. Rommel says there is other research for possible anti-cancer mechanisms being done by a Dominican nun in Denver with cherrystone clams, a variety served up in oyster bars.

UNHAMPERED LIFE

He theorizes that Hill Country shrimp originally made their way to the Gulf Coast to spawn in brackish water. Now, however, many dams prevent shrimp far upstream from reaching the coast.

Rommel wonders if the shrimp's relatively large size is the result of a long and unhampered life, or whether the size is common to all adults.

Youngsters Urged To Join Summer Fun On Monday

The Summer Fun part of the City wide Summer Recreation program begins Monday 9 a.m. at Comanche Trail Park, and at Lakeview.

The program, made possible primarily by the City of Big Spring, with assistance of the Big Spring Schools and the YMCA, is for every child six years and above. There is no charge, although a $1 crafts supplies fee is suggested for those able to pay.

So far, 65 have signed for the Comanche Park outdoor program which continues each weekday through July.

"We urge other parents to bring their children to the Old Settlers pavillion (near the Totem Pole) at the park Monday and enroll their children," said Pat Owens, coordinator of the program. "We have a trained staff to work with the youngsters. Each child should also bring his or her bathing suit for the recreational swim which is held daily at 11 a.m. after a period of games, crafts and other activities."

Boys and girls taking part in the program at Lakeview are asked to meet Sam Dawson at the Lakeview Y at 9 a.m. Monday for the beginning of Summer Fun.

Group Fighting Lonely Battle In Big Spring

The Howard County Association of Retarded Citizens are fighting a lonely battle in Big Spring.

But they are still collecting "A" for effort as they attempt to help several retarded children and young people and also work with the hope for a Shelter Workshop as their ultimate goal.

On June 21, they will hold their annual children's movie at the high school auditorium with all monies to go toward aids for local retarded.

The movie this year is a story of a child and a horse and will be shown at 8 p.m. on that date for $1.50.

They have also received some recent donations from local merchants which helped their cause.

The group took 16 local children to the annual Special Olympics in Austin May 23-25 with four returning with medals.

Susan Menchao placed third in the 50 yard dash in her age category; Scott Sigmon placed second in bowling; Carrie Parker, second in the 50 yard dash and Elijah Aldredge brought back the group's first place medal, also in the 50-yard dash in his age group.

They also take a group to Prude Ranch each summer. They are charged only a nominal fee at the ranch where the children are allowed to swim, mountain climb and enjoy camping experiences.

The group also attempts to encourage research and help troubled parents. Anybody interested in information on the organization and how it helps retarded youth here may call Mrs. Ann Sigmon at 3-1704 or contact Mrs. Iva Schirmer, club president.

Vernon Blewett Returns Home

Cadet Vernon A. Blewett is among those home for the summer after concluding a year at New Mexico Military Institute by participating in the Institute's 81st commencement exercises.

The son of Mrs. Pat Blewett, 610 E. 16th, he was named to the President's List, Dean's List, and Commandant's List during the year.

Easy to Lose Lbs. Fast With New Vitamin 'E' Diet

LOSE 10-20-30 POUNDS!
HOLLYWOOD (Special) — New scientific discoveries have produced a Vitamin E diet that quickly works wonders on overweight people, and reportedly is gaining great popularity across the country with glowing reports of easy weight loss "while still eating almost as much as you want."

Those who follow the simple Vitamin E diet report an average loss of at least a pound a day and even more without exercise or starvation. Nutritionists' files are bulging with happy testimonials from formerly overweight people who are now trim and slim again. Best of all, you can still eat almost as much as you want of the "forbidden foods" like steak, chicken, fish, sauces, gravies, bacon and eggs and still lose weight.

Chewable (candy-like) vitamin E tablets, as used in the diet plan, contain a new scientific combination of ingredients that quickly curbs and controls the appetite, while also giving the wonderful benefits of Vitamin E which is so essential to good health.

The use of the new Vitamin E Diet tablets and foods prescribed in the plan will, through natural action, act to help your body use up excess fat. According to recent clinical tests, a person who is deficient in Vitamin E or Protein "will double the speed of fat utilization" with the use of Vitamin E.

Make And Keep It An Asset

The Howard County Commissioners Court has before it the matter of awarding a lease on operation of the airport.

This is not the sort of thing on which everyone will bid, but it should be a sufficiently attractive package to merit enough proposals for selectivity.

Discussions last week elicited an observation that an operator would just as soon not be bothered with a commercial carrier operating from the airport. While we appreciate candor, we cannot agree with that philosophy. Big Spring and Howard County officials, along with the civic and business community, have been fighting hard in an effort to retain regularly scheduled passenger and air freight service at the port. We have a feeling that this is important from the standpoint of community growth. So in looking ahead, we believe that this must be a priority consideration, if not for the present carrier, then for some suitable alternate carrier. We also will need improved terminal facilities.

Secondly, the airport must serve private aircraft operators in such a manner that they will be able and happy to base at the port or will be attracted into making it a stopping point for fuel and service. Somewhere down the line — and not too distant at that — we may be looking at the necessity of more hangar space for small private craft.

Finally — and this is particularly true if commercial service involves jet-powered aircraft — we may be talking about longer runways, and even more navigational aids for safety and for more latitude under varying weather conditions.

We have a considerable investment in the county airport; we need to see that this investment is an asset within itself and for the community.

Spanish Speakers Under-Counted

There are rising indications that henceforth a much more careful effort will be made to get an accurate count of Americans of Spanish-speaking origin. This has been increasingly demanded in recent years in light of evidence that there had been serious undercounts. These demands are taking on new force.

One factor in this is that the Census Bureau has announced a sharp upward revision of its 1970 count—from 9.1 million to 10.6 million. On the heels of that action, the Civil Rights Commission has issued a report taking issue with census methods and conclusions. In this report the CRC says: "We believe there is strong evidence that the Spanish-speaking background population was substantially undercounted."

The Cabinet Committee on Opportunities for Spanish-speaking People adds its voice to the complaint. That agency has said the total of Americans in this category is actually a third higher than the Census Bureau's figure.

A spot check in California tends to bear out this conclusion. We would guess Texas is undercounted.

Many programs are based on the census, and thus, the Spanish-speaking minority may have been deprived of its just consideration.

BILLY GRAHAM

You may disagree, but I feel that time spent in church could be put to better use by actively working to right the wrongs of the world. Why pray for some "God" to do it for you? I haven't been in a church for a year, and I feel much the better for it. C.J. A man named O'Malley once said, "Religion is a process of turning your skull into a tabernacle, not of going up to Jerusalem once a year." While the theory may be poor, the sentiment provides a comment on your question.

Going to church is not what Christianity is all about. If you have not been in church for a year, and feel "better for it," then it reflects on you, friend, not the church.

The heart of faith is belief in and commitment to Jesus Christ. A church is simply the location for the spiritual fellowship in which worship and discipleship can take place. It is, however, ordained of God and very important.

The Bible speaks of "being" before it speaks of "doing." In other words, your excursions into the world's market places to correct its wrongs mean little, if the motivation for such service is not God-given. The whole thrust of the Scripture is to eliminate the "some god" idea, and reveal the one living and true heavenly Father.

Read the 73rd Psalm. Notice how he describes the inequities of life and how they puzzled and challenged him. Notice, however, in verse 17 where he got his answer. You guessed it — the church.

Textron Bails Out Lockheed

NEW YORK (AP) — For the last three years, the financial troubles of Lockheed Aircraft Corp. have drawn more than the usual public concern attached to the woes of major American employers.

Lockheed is big enough that serious troubles under its roof can send economic shudders around the country. It is the nation's biggest defense contractor, leading such giants as General Electric and Boeing.

It also has some $620 million in debts to banks, $220 million of which is backed up by a government guarantee to pay off if Lockheed can't.

GETS NEW MONEY A plan made public this past week would rework Lockheed's debt, end the government's involvement, give the company $100 million in new money — and put 45 per cent of Lockheed's common stock in the hands of the seventh biggest defense contractor, Textron Inc.

"It seems to me that in a few years, people will look back and wonder how it was possible to get such a good deal," said Textron Chairman G. William Miller, who would become Lockheed's chairman under the new plan.

Both Textron and Lockheed stressed that the proposed solution was a financial restructuring — not a merger or consolidation.

WASHINGTON — Now that we have all taken our turn at reading a self-righteous lecture to India for detonating a nuclear device, it is in order to look at our own record in the department of annihilation. The plain truth is that the nuclear arms race goes on at a quickening pace with the United States outpacing the Soviet Union, the other superpower.

THE GENERALS, the admirals and Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger cry doom. With the huge new defense budget for the new fiscal year coming up, they poor-mouth the American nuclear posture while blowing up the Soviet position in a constant barrage of propaganda.

A study just released by the Center for Defense Information shows the United States in the lead in virtually every category and far surpassing the Soviets in developing fantastic new weapons. American officials thoroughly familiar with the complex nuclear jungle on both sides of the dividing line are known to be impressed by the Center's study.

THE UNITED STATES today has three times as many strategic nuclear weapons as the Soviet Union, 7,940 against 2,600. This country is producing weapons at a rate of about four a day to the probable Soviet rate of less than one a day.

All U.S. strategic missiles deployed since 1970 has been MIRVed; that is equipped with multiple, independently targeted reentry warheads. That assures the U.S. lead will continue to grow, the Center concludes, at least through 1977. The Soviets have only just begun to test the MIRV technology.

BECAUSE AMERICAN weapons technology is superior to that of the Soviets, American weapons are more efficient and get more explosive power for size and weight. This fact makes meaningless the "throw-weight" calculations that the big-weapons propagandists use to predict doom from massive Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles.

But what is truly impressive is the Center's rundown on 23 separate American entries in the nuclear arms race. Some of these entries are continuing projects such as the new Trident submarine with 10 projected at an estimated cost of $13 billion. Along with this goes procurement of the Trident I missile, with a much longer range, for 10 Poseidon submarines.

THE DEFENSE Department's shopping list, as contained in the new budget forecasts, if Congress goes along with all these engines of total destruction, an almost unlimited horizon of billions of dollars. Development of an entirely new strategic bomber, the B-1, is going forward.

The nuclear nonproliferation treaty, which India defied, provides in Article 6 unequivocal language on the arms race. It calls not only for a cessation of the arms race but for a treaty calling for general and complete disarmament to be agreed to at the earliest possible date.

What To Watch

William F. Buckley Jr.

CAUTION: SOVIETS AHEAD What is there to look out for in Mr. Nixon's two trips?

1. AS REGARDS the Mideast, we need to watch out for that comprehensive enthusiasm with which Mr. Nixon greets pleasant developments. One would have thought that the landing on the moon ended the problems on earth; ditto the Vietnam cease-fire, ditto the China trip.

Concerning the Mideast, we have to fear any arrangement of stability of which depends on the presumptive continuing cooperation of the Soviet Union. And such a dependency would transpire not from Mr. Nixon's trip, but from the naval budget in Congress. If we lose our power in the Mediterranean, we will be banking in the future on Soviet good will; and that is not worth two cents on the dollar, as Mr. Nixon has from time to time reminded us in the past.

Viewed in purely strategic terms, our relations with Israel are extremely important, giving us a foot in the door of an area (the Persian Gulf) which, until we discover a substitute for oil, is the most critical in the world. It is unlikely that the Soviet Union, having labored so exhaustively for 50 years for hegemony, will — now that nature has revealed the ultimate strategic weapon, sitting there in her back yard, tended to by a few olive-skinned sheiks — will suddenly discover the virtues of self-abnegation.

2. AS REGARDS the trip to the Soviet Union, we have to watch out for efforts by Mr. Nixon to get around the Jackson Amendment. The second Jackson Amendment. The First Jackson Amendment is the more notorious, demanding that the Soviet Union give emigration rights to Jewish citizens before we grant to the Soviet Union the economic advantages of Most Favored Nation.

The second Jackson Amendment demands nuclear parity in the next round of the Strategic Arms Limitations talks. This has been a vexing point for Mr. Nixon's disarmament specialists. The approach under Ambassador Smith at SALT I was that we didn't really need nuclear parity, let alone nuclear superiority, that all we needed was the knowledge that we could visit intolerable damage on the Soviet Union. Mutual Assured Destruction, they called it, and suddenly the roof caved in, and the whole thing when we were required to consider the possibility that the Soviet Union could successfully eliminate our land-based missiles while reserving enough weapons to devastate our cities in the event that we ordered our submarines to devastate theirs.

THEIR STRATEGIC arguments now turn on whether we should develop weapons that would train on the Soviets' weapons (a counterforce); or whether we should re-inter our land-based missiles so as — if feasible — to make them proof against even the highly-accurate megaton weapons of the Soviet Union.

Once again, the thing to watch out for is any sign that we are substituting optimism for rigor; that we have gotten into the habit of assuming that Soviet policy is conducted according to rational lines of thought. A country that will starve its people rather than free agriculture has not yet abandoned ideology.

IT IS SAID that nothing of a permanent nature will be attempted for so long as Mr. Nixon is under the cloud of Watergate. Careful, now. Because for so long as he is under that cloud, America's concerns tend to be introspective. It is almost impossible to attract the attention of an audience outside New York City to such questions as whether we have enough firepower in the Eastern Mediterranean.

If 'Last Period' Not Last

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You wrote that a woman can count herself "beyond the chance of pregnancy" when at menopause age she has not had a period for one whole year.

Does this mean there will be no more periods after that or does it mean the reproductive organs will be too deteriorated to reproduce?

I stopped menstruation at the age of 51. Now two years later I have experienced a normal, heavy, healthy flow for four days.

While I am not fearful of child-bearing, I am hoping that you will not mislead some poor desperate soul. — B.B.

No, I don't think I have misled anybody, and the rule still stands: pregnancy does not occur after menopause has provided a year without a menstrual period.

That period-free year indicates the reproductive organs have deteriorated — or should we just say aged? — to the extent the ovaries no longer produce ova, or eggs. Without an ovum, there can be no pregnancy.

An integral part of this aging process is that the ovaries not only have ceased producing ova but they also have substantially reduced the amount of estrogen, or female hormone, which they provide.

To explain what appears to be a "normal" menstrual flow after a year has passed without any requires some additional information about how the female body works.

Reduction of estrogen production is not the same as having it stop entirely. It doesn't. Some estrogen still is produced by the body, largely by the adrenal glands rather than the ovaries, however.

Now if, as sometimes happens, the uterus is still responsive to a surge of estrogen, and if there is such a rise in the amount of estrogen, then a "period" may occur. There can be such surges. Serial tests have shown that some women have sporadic rises in estrogen level and can account for such "periods."

They do not indicate that ovulation is occurring — that the ovaries have resumed producing ova.

A word of warning, however, concerning the resumption of "periods" after menopause.

They may be, as I have just described, the result of fluctuation in the amount of estrogen being produced.

But until you are sure that is the explanation, you will be wise to be at least a little suspicious, because other factors can be responsible.

One is that many post-menopausal women are taking estrogen regularly. The dosage may be sufficient to cause "breakthrough bleeding," in which case the dosage may be modified somewhat.

More important, some disorder of the uterus may be causing the bleeding, and it is important to find out what that disorder is. Hence, a Pap test is imperative. I do not say that such bleeding necessarily indicates cancer, because there are other disorders which can be responsible. But cancer is one of the possibilities, and no time should be lost finding out for certain.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Two Men Die, Sheep-Cell Serum Doc Loses License

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Florida officials have revoked the license of osteopath Dr. Robert A. Peterson, who according to sworn testimony injected a controversial sheep-cell serum into two men who died within 48 hours of gas gangrene.

The Florida Board of Osteopathic Medical Examiners stripped the 50-year-old Fort Myers physician of his license Friday following a week-long hearing into his rejuvenation treatments.

INJECTIONS

The board unanimously held that Peterson "did depart from prevailing standards of osteopathic medicine" in treating Texas millionaire Arnold Reed of Dallas and Tampa fireman George Sacco at his New Life Clinic on Florida's lower Gulf Coast on Jan. 20.

Medical officials testified before the six-member board that Reed, 55, and Sacco, 39, died of gas gangrene after receiving injections made from the cells of unborn sheep.

When asked by the board how he accounted for both men contracting gangrene, Peterson shook his head and said "I wish I knew."

The board also said Peterson relied on "unaccepted diagnostic procedures" by engaging in such practices as using a psychic to analyze blood samples from patients.

GAS GANGRENE

Peterson's attorney, Harvey St. Jean, said he will appeal. Dr. Charles Petty, chief medical examiner for Dallas County, Tex., said he performed an autopsy on Reed and found he died of gas gangrene, not of a coronary occlusion as Peterson stated in the death certificate.

Peterson said the death certificate he signed was, "to the best of my opinion, a true and valid one."

Sacco died in a Miami hospital after being transferred from the clinic. Dr. Jose Davis, medical examiner for Dade County, said Sacco also died of gas gangrene.

Peterson took the stand in a marathon session that lasted more than 13 hours Thursday and said he had treated 350-400 persons. Fifteen of his patients testified that the seven-to-10 injection series was successful.

Road Project Is Announced

The Texas Highway Department has announced a new highway construction project in Sterling County on SH 158 from 6.4 miles west of the Coke County line to the Coke County line, a distance of 6.37 miles.

The work will consist of complete reconstruction of the existing highway. The contractor, Seidel, Inc., of San Angelo, has scheduled the construction to begin Monday. It will be completed about April 1975.

H. L. Bailey, supervising resident engineer for the Texas Highway Department on the project, explained that traffic will be carried through the construction work on detours, treated with emulsion and on completed base courses treated with emulsion as work progresses.

Adequate barricades and warning signals will be prominently displayed, but motorists should use extreme caution along the work areas as it will heavily traveled by large highway construction equipment.

The entire project will be zoned for a maximum speed of 45 miles per hour. However, in areas where work is underway, motorists should reduce their speed below the 45 mph maximum. Cooperation of the public is requested in obeying all traffic signals, warning signs, flagmen, and speed zones, said Bailey.

Quail Dobbs Discovers Rodeo Clowning Pays Off

Quail Dobbs is a Howard County product and his home base is in Coahoma and he'll be seen in action here at the rodeo on June 19-22.

Listed as a rodeo clown, bullfighter, specialty acts and barrel man, he is all of these and makes the rodeo circuit throughout the year.

He's been in the business of professional rodeo as a clown and bullfighter for 10 years. He began his career while still in high school in Colorado City and competed as a bareback bronc rider and a bull rider.

Firearms School Completed Here

The Permian Basin Law Enforcement Academy has announced completion Friday of a basic firearms school held in Big Spring.

Instructors for the course were Lt. M. D. Browne, Permian Basin Law Enforcement Academy training coordinator, and Lt. J. L. Miles, Midland police department rangemaster. Participating students were from Big Spring Police Department, Howard County Sheriff's Office and Howard County district attorney's office.

The school was held at the Webb AFB firing range. Funding was through a Criminal Justice Division Grant from the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission.

He started filling in as rodeo clown, taking the place of one that failed to arrive. He soon discovered that clowning was going to be more lucrative financially for him than actual competition.

Quail is one of the few rodeo clowns on the circuit who works both the barrels and fights bulls as well.

A good rodeo clown is important to the bull fighter because he actually means the difference between life and death for the bull riders when they fall.

Quick action by a rodeo clown can draw the bull away from a fallen cowboy.

Several years back, Quail bought a 1910 Model-T that had been shown in the Thirties by an old-timer named Cy Ritter. The car act was seen at fairs, rodeos and exhibitions all over the country.

After a new coat of paint and a few hours of tinkering Gemini 11 and 1/2 was born on a comeback. Since then Gemini has become Apollo. Quail and his rocket have made successful appearances at rodeos throughout the country.

He and his wife, the former Judy McGuire have a daughter, Stephanie and a son, Coley.

They are currently on the rodeo tour and will come wheeling home in time for the Big Spring show.

Quail in his baggy overalls, polka dot shirt and old hat will add a touch of humor to the rodeo here.

Probe Of Vets Hospital In Waco Gains Steam

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A local veterans group has joined two national service organizations in calling for a congressional probe of the Veterans Administration hospital in Waco.

The controversy involves alleged neglect and ineffective treatment of mental patients at the facility.

The Tarrant County Veterans Council voted Thursday to join representatives of the American Legion and Disabled American Veterans in seeking the investigation.

MENTALLY ILL

E. W. Gee, service officer of a Fort Worth American Legion post, said he has urged U.S. Sens. Lloyd Bentsen and John Tower of Texas and three area congressmen to call for such a probe.

Representatives of both national service organizations said their national headquarters have been documenting instances of alleged neglect and ineffective treatment.

Demands for an investigation were triggered in part by recent Star-Telegram articles reporting that mentally ill veterans, upon release from the VA hospital, have either committed or attempted to commit suicide and killed or attempted to assault others.

SUCCESS

The newspaper quoted Dr. Thomas V. Frank, chief of staff for the 1,100-bed facility, as saying that physicians at the hospitals are "not really concerned" about those cases.

It said also that VA staffers, including at least one physician, said the hospital administration pressures doctors to release mental patients prematurely to allow bed space for incoming patients.

"Administrators and supervisors reportedly base success on the number of patients treated rather than on the number of patients being cured," the newspaper said.

Corn, Sorghum Make Good Progress In South Plains

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Most crops are making good progress over the state although moisture is still short in much of the western half of Texas. Dr. Dan Pfannstiel, associate director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says.

YIELDS DANDY
Boll weevils are increasing in cotton in southern and central areas, he said.

Wheat harvesting remains active over the state, Pfannstiel said. Yields vary greatly, from five to 50 bushels an acre, but the average crop is light. Oats and barley are also producing generally light yields.

Alfalfa yields in western areas have been good.

Hay making is under way in many counties and first cuttings have produced generally good yields, he said. Baling wire is in short supply.

The peach harvest is increasing in southern areas and in parts of East Texas, with yields fair to good. The pecan crop is making good progress in areas where insect control programs have been conducted.

Livestock forage is still short in western and some central sections, Pfannstiel said. Lack of green grass is especially slowing the development of lambs in western counties.

District Agricultural agents gave these reports:

PEANUT PLANTING
South Plains: Corn and sorghum are generally making good progress. Some dryland farmers are still waiting on moisture to plant cotton and sorghum. Recent sand storms have damaged some young cotton. Irrigated cotton looks good north of Lubbock.

Rolling Plains: Soil moisture remains short in over half the counties. Cotton and sorghum planting is nearly complete in some counties. Guar and peanut planting is also active. The wheat harvest ranges from 25 to 95 per cent complete. Range conditions are fair to good. Far West: Dryland crops are in generally poor condition along with pastures and ranges. Livestock are in fair to good shape but lambs are having a difficult time due to lack of green forage.

West Central: Some early sorghum and cotton plantings up to good stands. Recent hail caused some crop damage. Home gardens are producing well. The peach crop looks good but insects are damaging some pecan trees. Most pastures and ranges need rain.

Central: Rain is needed throughout the district. Small grain harvesting is about complete with yields generally light. Hay baling is active with baling wire scarce, and high priced. Boll weevil activity is heavy in many cotton fields. The pecan crop looks good where the pecan nut casebearer has been controlled.

Southwest: Spring crops are making good progress. Corn is in the roasting ear stage. Beans are moving to market along with onions, cucumbers and squash. Melon harvesting has started. Potato harvesting is almost complete. Stock water is getting low in some areas.

South: Cotton is fruiting heavily and boll weevil numbers are high. Cotton and late sorghum are being irrigated in the Rio Grande Valley. Melons and cantaloupes are moving to market along with some tomatoes and peppers. Ranges need moisture.

which took nearly three years to finish, the air-conditioned wood tree house was completed in one frantic night three weekends ago, ABC's Bob Siegenthaler says.

Siegenthaler, a senior producer in ABC News' special events department, said the rush job was made necessary because at that time it appeared the public hearings would start May 21. Has anyone tried to tiptoe to the treehouse for bugging purposes or to eavesdrop on the committee's closed sessions? "None of our people," laughed Siegenthaler, who said the committee orders periodic checks of the installation and puts a security man on duty during closed sessions to guard against unauthorized ears.

He said the structure was locked shut May 20 after tests of the camera and lighting gear and nobody was allowed to go in again.

Phone Companies Begin To Raise Dime Call Rates

NEW YORK (AP) — Tourists in Louisiana may be surprised to learn the dime they deposited for a pay phone call was a nickel too much. And phone booths don't make change. Travelers at the Dallas-Fort Worth regional airport have been known to respond angrily upon discovering a pay phone call costs a quarter.

20-CENT CALLS
The two areas represent the apparent extremes in a nation full of phone companies beginning to raise the prevailing 10-cent rate for local pay phone calls, a rate that has endured nearly everywhere for more than 20 years.

The first statewide 20-cent pay phone rate went into effect May 15 in North Carolina. Washington has a 15-cent rate. Requests are pending in several other states.

When Ma Bell seeks an increase, so normally do the more than 1,700 independent phone companies, the largest of which is General Telephone & Electronics Corp.

TEXAS BRAG
A General Telephone & Electronics subsidiary, General Telephone Co. of the Southwest, has the 25-cent rate at the Dallas-Fort Worth airport and at 16 communities in the metropolitan areas of the two cities and of Houston. Texas is the only one of the 50 states where phone rates are set by municipality.

Hawaiian Telephone Co., another GT&E subsidiary, is seeking increases to 15 or 20 cents on various of the islands.

Why do the phone companies want to do away with the dime rate?

ROLLBACK
Simply because pay phone calls "cost more to carry through than is paid," says Robert D. Lilley, president of

Fad Sam West Found Guilty

MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — The penalty phase begins today in the trial of Fad Sam West, found guilty Thursday by a state district court jury of murder in the slaying of Gladewater Fire Chief Harold Potts.

After deliberating for approximately six hours, the jury returned a guilty verdict of murder against West, 36. The jury also found West sane at the time he shot Potts.

The state had requested a verdict of capital murder. Potts was shot to death while responding to a fire at West's tavern on Feb. 5.

Church Of Christ Is Scene Of Ceremony

Miss Clarinda Sarah Harris became the bride of Richard T. Wright in a ceremony held Saturday at 3 p.m. in the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ.

Ralph Beistle, minister of Coahoma Church of Christ, conducted the rites.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Harris Jr., 1601 Owens, are parents of the bride, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Wright Jr., 617 Ridgelea.

The altar setting was enhanced with emerald foliage and palms centered with a starburst arrangement of pink gladioli and white majestic daisies. Pink tapers were held in spiral candelabra.

Music was furnished by a church choir with David Elrod as soloist.

The bride was formally gowned in candlelight peau de soie with re-embroidered Alencon lace. The princess silhouette gown with raised Venise lace petals, was a plique-a-jour with crystal beads and pearls, creating the standard neckline. Slender sleeves were banded with gauntlet cuffs, and a rope of pearls framed the lace bodice, coming to the center front and continuing to the hemline. A chape-length train complemented the gown. Tiers of illusion, attached to a crystal and pearl trimmed Alencon lace Juliet cap, formed her elbow-length veil.

She carried a cascade of orchids and pink roses. Miss Leah Harris, the bride's sister, was the maid of honor. She wore a formal-length pink, Venise lace dress, with scalloped waist and hemline, and a chapel hat of pink lace trimmed with pearls.

Bridesmaids were Debbie Harris, Mrs. Riley Falkner, Miss Ann Crawford, Mrs. Paul Biffle, Odessa, and Miss Nancy Wright, junior bridesmaid, Abilene.

The bridesmaid's dresses were fashioned with pink Venise lace bodices and chiffon skirts, and they wore pink chapel hats of lace and pearls. Their colonial bouquets were miniature carnations with brown asters and babies'-breath.

Bride-Elect Is Shower Honoree

Hostesses with Mrs. Davidson were Mrs. Eddie Lamb, Mrs. Robert Coffey, Mrs. Jann Ream, Miss Kay Coffey and Mrs. Jim Baumgartner.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth trimmed with lace, and the centerpiece was of yellow and white daisies.

A corsage of yellow and white daisies was given to Miss Burchett. Other honored guests included the bride's mother and grandmother, Mrs. Viola Burchett and Mrs. Willis Burchett, and the prospective bridegroom's mother and grandmother, Mrs. Broadway Broadrick and Mrs. Neel Barnaby.

Eddie Goolesby of Scottsboro, Ala., was best man.

Groomsmen were Gary Sturm, San Angelo; Danny Wright, Bounswick, Me.; David Wright and Deryle Wright, brothers of the bridegroom, and Larry Wright Jr., Abilene.

Ushers were Jack Martin, San Angelo, and John Meads.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to New Mexico the couple will be at home at 1501 Runnels.

The bride attended Big Spring High School, graduated from Howard College and attended Angelo State University, where she will receive her degree in December. She plans to teach school.

The bridegroom also graduated from BSHS and Howard College. He is employed by Cosden Oil and Chemical Co.

The couple was honored at a reception in the church fellowship hall, where guests were served from a table laid in white organdy and lace with a center arrangement of pink and white carnations and asters.

Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Wright Jr., honored the couple on Friday evening with a rehearsal dinner at Holiday Inn.

On Tuesday, the mother of the bride entertained at her home, 1601 Owens, with a "Peek and Punch" party for the bride and family friends.

TO WED — Mr. and Mrs. Sidney T. Clark, 801 Marcy Drive, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Lucretia Ann, to Larry Lee Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Franklin, Stanton. The couple plans to marry Sept. 7 in First Baptist Church, Big Spring.

Installation Performed At Dinner

The Rev. Louis Moeller installed officers for the newly-formed Immaculate Heart of Mary Parents Club during a dinner meeting Wednesday at the Spanish Inn.

Leaders for the group will be Lt. Col. Joe Crenwelge, president; Bill Thompson, vice president; Mrs. Jack Gilbert, treasurer; Mrs. George Wilson, recording secretary; and Mrs. Luis Puga, corresponding secretary.

The outgoing president, Mrs. Larry Key, expressed appreciation to officers who served when the club was being organized, with special thanks to Mrs. Elmer Olson who set up the bookkeeping system.

Final reports were given to each member; the highlight of which was the purchase of heavy duty record players and tape recorders for the school. A donation was made toward the deficit of the school, and a set amount was left as a beginning balance for a new season. Regular meetings will resume in the fall.

'Pops' Summer Symphony Planned For Easy Listening

The Tall City Summer Symphony has slated a series of four weekly pops concerts starting Friday, June 14, in Wadley-Barron Park in Midland. Others will be June 18, June 25 and the climax on July 4 with the patriotic "Ballad for Americans" program.

James John Gambino conductor, will have some 60 instrumentalists under his baton, and the July 4 program will be a joint presentation with the Summer Choir. The repertoire will be shaped for easy listening, a good portion in the pops field with an occasional interlude of more difficult work for variety. It's strictly informal, come-as-you-are affair, with families frequently bringing picnic baskets, blankets, etc. The Midland Parks and Recreation department is sponsoring the series.

San Angelo kicked off its annual Fiesta del Concho Friday, staging the Raymond Carver pageant ("The Land and the River") as will be the case every day at 8 p.m. (except June 14) through June 22. The fiesta ball was Saturday evening, and today there will be a regatta on Lake Nasworthy, a formal fiesta dance and presentation of ambassadors at the Country Club Thursday 8 p.m. and the river parade 8:15 p.m. at Santa Fe Park. Throughout the 15-day fiesta, there will be various sports events, dances, home tours, museum showings, etc.

"Sportsworld," a wax museum of famous sports figures and events, past and present, was opened Friday at Grand Prairie with much fanfare and appearances by such personalities as Bob Lilly, Larry Mahan, Kyle Rote Jr. Don Carter, etc.

There will be several new features for the "Let Freedom Ring" production of July 4. The location is being shifted from the courthouse to the Comanche Trail amphitheatre; the time to 8 p.m. In addition, Charles Parham is arranging for a 40-50 handbell choir to be featured on the program. Mrs. Mamie

FOR YOUR PLEASURE

Lee Dodds, who has directed the production since its inception, is seeking to have the reading of the Declaration of Independence preserved in sound film since no film libraries in the area have such a film.

Mel Tillis, one of country music's most prolific song writers and recording artists, comes to the Astroworld in Houston Friday. This is included in the Astroworld general admission.

Rehearsals start Monday on that can't miss musical, Meredith Willson's "Music Man," to be presented later in the summer under direction of Ken Sprinkle of Howard College and Jack Bowers of Big Spring High School. Cast in the title roles are Bobby Roger as Prof. Harold Hill and Nancy Conway as Marian Paroo. Other key spots include David Wright (Mayor Shinn), Ricky Mitchell (Marcellus Washburn), Kelly Draper (Tommy Dillas), Pam Little (Mrs. Paroo), Lynn Dickenson (Amaryllis) Cathy Fowler (Ethel Toffelmier) and a number of others, plus chorus.

Name plates for Mr. and Mrs. Ted O. Grobel and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McLaughlin went on the wall plaque at Heritage Museum last week. On the membership roster were Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Prager, Mrs. Dorothy Ragan and Mr. and Mrs. George A. McAlister. Added to the museum's inventory was the operating table of Dr. Otto E. Wolfe who came here over half a century ago to be a veterinarian. The "covered" wagon is now in place on the front lawn, thanks to Sig Rogers using his lift truck. The museum also added parking space when Mrs. Dorothy Garrett gave permission to use her lot directly south of the museum. While Gerri Atwell, curator, proudly wore an orchid given by Agnes Currie and read happy birthday cards, President Daryle Honertz (and family) took off for a week of fishing, swimming and boating at Inks Lake.

More H. W. Caylor reproductions have been received by the museum from Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Duff, Edmonds, Wash. They sent "Bed Ground," honoring his parents, Berry N. and Ida M. Duff; also "Nature Reclaiming Her Own," honoring Harry and Vivien Hurt, courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Middleton.

Edward R. Hutson, new chairman of Texas Commission on the Arts and Humanities, will be honored guest at the Shakespearean Festival opening night, June 21, at Globe of the Great Southwest theatre in Odessa. The opening production will be Macbeth, and an added attraction will be the Maridral Singers on the green.

Also coming up at Tech is a 10-day series starting a week from today at 8:15 p.m. Theresa Treadaway-Carroll, Tech's affiliate artist and a talented mezzo-soprano, has a repertoire from Bizet's Gypsy Song from "Carmen" to works of Carrie Jacobs-Bond. During the next 10 days she will appear at clubs, church services and in concert.

Now on display at the Museum of the Southwest in Midland is the Smithsonian photographic display, "Our Only World." Inspired by realization of astronauts that the biggest celestial show is the earth. The exhibit includes 113 pictures taken by the nation's leading photographers and chosen from 10,000 submitted to the Environmental Protection Agency. Opening Friday will be a show by Janet Kruskamp, who specializes in oil and egg tempera, and whose latest award is the first grand prize of $2,500 and the "Andy" trophy for 1973 Grand Galleria National Art Competition. KAREN COLLINS

Karen Collins Earns 'Cookie' Campership

Karen Collins, a member of Junior Troop 102 out of Webb Air Force Base, earned her two-week stay at Camp Boothe Oaks, the West Texas Girl Scout Council's own camp near Sweetwater.

Karen needed to sell 300 boxes of Girl Scout cookies to earn her cookie campership, and she exceeded that by two. The cookie sale supports the camp, and almost a hundred girls earned partial camperships during the sale. Karen was one of two girls in the council awarded the honor of a full campership. She plans to attend June 9-22.

In her third year as a Girl Scout, Karen also was a Brownie for two years. She is the daughter of S. Sgt. and Mrs. Thomas Collins of Big Spring. Sgt. Collins is currently serving a tour of duty in Korea.

The West Texas Girl Scout Council is a participating member of the United Way.

Nuptial Vows Recited In Methodist Church

Before an altar decorated with arrangements of garden flowers, votive candles and greenery, Miss Terelyn Hazelwood of Stanton and Steven Allen Garlington of Midkiff were married Friday at 8 p.m. in First United Methodist Church, Stanton. The Rev. Jack Daniels, administrator of Sky High Girls Ranch, Midland, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Garlington, Midkiff, and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hazelwood, Stanton.

Mrs. Roy Koonce, organist, accompanied Marc Traweck, vocalist.

The bride's gown was of organza an Chantilly lace. Lace formed a high neckline and pinafore bodice edged with ruffling. Bishop sleeves were ruffled at the wrists. Scalloped lace ruffles fashioned a deep garland on the skirt front and bordered the chapel-length train. An overlay of lace formed a godet effect on the skirt sides. A lace tiara, dotted with seed pearls held her lace-edged veil of illusion.

She carried a bouquet of garden flowers accented with stephanotis and babies'-breath.

Miss Amy Hazelwood was her sister's maid of honor and wore a blue dotted Swiss floor-length dress with cummerbund waistline, bishop sleeves and ruffled neckline.

Miss Gay Garlington and Miss D'Ann Garlington, sisters of the bridegroom; Miss Pat Trogdon, Stephenville, and Miss Becky Hanna, Eastland; were bridesmaids. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor but in pastel colors.

Dan Garlington was his brother's best man and groomsmen were Randy Smith, Rotan; Stanley Louder, Bryan; Kenneth Hillard, Lubbock; and Bill Culverhouse, Chico, Donald Boyd and Kenneth Boyd, both of Andrews, were ushers.

Kody Newman was flower girl, and Greg Herzog of Longview, the bride's nephew, was the ring bearer.

The Garlington's will live in the Courtney Community when they return from a wedding trip to the Dallas area.

The bride graduated from Stanton High School and attended Cisco Junior College.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Rankin High School and Cisco Junior College, is employed by Wheeler Motor Company.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall where Mrs. Karl Herzog of Longview and Mrs. Stanley Louder, Bryan, the bride's sisters, Mrs. Brock Fiege, Austin; Miss Debbie Ramsey, Olney; and Miss Gina Davis, Cisco; served refreshments.

The bride's table was laid with a draped cloth with an arrangement of garden flowers interspersed with votive candles as the centerpiece. Crystal appointments were used. The bridegroom's table was covered with an ecru cloth and centered with a brass container holding ivy.

Out-of-town relatives attending included Mrs. Mae Delle Davidson, Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Manning Davis, Cisco; Mrs. and Mrs. Joe Ward, Kerens; Karl Herzog, Longview; and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Midkiff, Midkiff.

Mr. and Mrs. Garlington, parents of the bridegroom, hosted the rehearsal dinner Thursday in the fellowship hall.

Brown Reunion Slated June 15

The second annual Brown Community reunion is scheduled for June 15 at the First United Methodist Church fellowship hall in Big Spring. All ex-students and teachers of the school and residents of the community near Ackerly are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Sundry, Gail Rt., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Karla Denise, to Dickie Leppard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Waymon W. Leppard, 700 Tulane. The ceremony will take place July 26 at Westside Baptist Church.

Family Reunion Over Weekend

Descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Geurin of Davis, Okla., held a reunion at Possum Kingdom over the Memorial Day weekend.

Families attending were those of Drannon Guerin and Wade Guerin of Edmond and Moore, Okla.; Mrs. Dorothy Alexander of Big Spring and Fort Worth; and Mrs. Odell Pace, Colorado City and Monahans.

ARMY WAR COLLEGE GRADUATE

Big Spring's Jan Dickerson Succeeds In Three Careers

When Col. Jan. Dickerson graduates Monday as the first woman Army Reservist at the Army War College in Carlisle Barracks, Pa., she will have an additional distinction.

She has been chosen to present her dissertation which resulted from a month-long research in Israel during April on the role of Israeli women who are conscripted for military service.

Col. Dickerson, who grew up in Big Spring, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Dickerson, 1700 Yale. Her father was on hand, May 31, to pin the eagle on her shoulders when she became a full colonel. He is remaining in Harrisburg to await her graduation, June 10, and to hear her presentation.

Next assignment for Col. Dickerson will be in mid-August at Fort Monroe, Va., where she will be part of a task force chosen to evaluate the officer education system.

This may not leave her much time for her chosen career of training and writing about horses. She has a place near Kansas City, Mo., where she has her own small stable. Her first book, "Make the Most of Your Horse," is now in its fourth printing by Doubleday Publishers. She followed this with another which is slated for publication.

NOT FOR COMBAT

While Israel is one of the few countries that conscripts women, Col. Dickerson discovered that this is not for combat but rather to free men soldiers for combat. In fact, much of the training is a development experience for the 19-20-year-old women who more or less accept that "their place is in the kitchen."

Shulamit Aloni, the blonde lawyer, disputes this. Col. Dickerson found, and well she might for she will be the only woman in the new cabinet. In general, however, woman seemed not to want to be too involved or committed, as in the case of Col. Ruth Muscale, Israel's highest ranking woman officer who has no desire to become a general because it might interfere with her family ties.

As for the U.S. Army, Col. Dickerson sees an expanding role for women. For one thing, the number of women in the Armed Services has grown from 41,000 in 1970 to 65,000 now and promises to hit a target of 123,000 by 1978. Already, women can qualify for 443 of 482 specialties, she said, and more opportunities are opening to them.

Col. Dickerson has successfully mounted three careers.

After her first experience as a Women's Army Corps officer, she was for 10 years a reporter and, later, art editor for the Kansas City (Mo.) Star. She abandoned this to devote time to her first love, working with horses, which led to her training school and publishing career. And now she is back as a ranking woman Army reservist committed, for the time at least, to a resumption of her military career which already has taken her on three assignments at the Pentagon.

FIRST HOUSE

Fascinated by horses as a youngster, she dodged her father for one. "You can have a horse when you're old enough to have a job and pay for it yourself," he told her.

So she began subbing for her brother, Bob Dickerson, who carried a paper route for the Big Spring Herald. Soon she had a job taking "kicks," or calls from people who had not received their paper. When she saved $50 she found a horse for $25 and showed it to her father, who offered: "Tell you what, I'll give you another $50 if you'll let me help pick a horse." They found an American Saddlebred mare for $100, and she was afflicted with horse love for life.

Later, she went to Hardin-Simmons University because it would accept horsemanship for physical education credit. Later, she interrupted a newspaper career for WAC officer training, then earned her master's in journalism at Missouri University, worked on the Kansas City paper and quit when it began to interfere with her horsemanship. With that background, she may bring back the cavalry if she stays around the Army long enough.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 18 years, and I always thought we had a great marriage.

Having once been his secretary, I sometimes fill in at his office when one of his girls is on vacation.

Last week while I was working there, a man phoned, and in a very gruff and angry tone, he asked to speak to my husband. Since my husband happened to be standing right beside my desk at the time, I handed him the telephone.

Then I heard his booming voice say: "My wife just told me everything, and even though I have a loaded gun, you're not worth going to prison for and neither is she, but if I ever catch you near her again, don't say I didn't warn you!" Then he hung up.

Abby, I nearly fell apart. I went home immediately, and my husband followed me. We had a long talk, and he told me who she was. (She and her husband belong to our club, and she certainly doesn't look the part.) My husband said he'd seen her only a few times, she meant nothing to him, and he'd never see her again.

I forgave him, and believe him when he says he'll never see her again, but I'm bound to run into her at the club, and I'm not sure I can handle it. I want her to know that I know. Should I tell her?

SHOOK: No. Keep your cool, and resist the temptation to tell her that you know. (Your husband will tell her.) No need to punish her further. Her husband has probably already taken care of that.

DEAR ABBY: So many older people grumble about how "neglected" they are. I wonder if it ever occurred to them that if they made an effort to be good company, they might attract more people. I realize that nobody can be cheerful all the time, but people who talk of nothing but illness, death, hardships present and past, will find that even close relatives give up, and pay only an occasional "duty" visit, and never stay any longer than they have to.

Take my mother: My husband and I drove 300 miles to take her out for dinner on Mother's Day. My husband has a wonderful sense of humor and he tried so hard to entertain her, but he couldn't get her to brighten up no matter how hard he tried.

She spent the whole time talking about illness, and death, and everybody's bad luck, and all the depressing subjects in the world.

We could have spent much more time with her, but four hours of her company put us both so down in the dumps we couldn't wait to leave. I was depressed for two days afterwards.

Abby, she's so much better off than many others, but she complains constantly, throwing constant digs about how nobody ever comes to see her. I wish she realized that not ALL older people are avoided. Only the crepe-hangers. Please print this. She may see it and get the hint.

HAD IT WITH MOM
DEAR HAD IT: Don't bet the rent. If she sees it, she'll probably apply it to some of her friends.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212 for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

WEDDING — Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Clayton, 1810 Donley, announce the engagement of their daughter, Karen Sue, to James Earl Grifford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Grifford, 2406 Carleton. The wedding will take place Aug. 2 at East Fourth Baptist Church.

Choose Softest Dusting Cloth

The right cloth is important when you dust and polish furniture. Old diapers, terry towelling, cotton knitwear or flannel cloths are good choices. Cheesecloth usually contains a starch sizing material and is not recommended unless it has been laundered several times and the sizing has been removed. Oiled or treated dust cloths should never be used on a waxed surface because oil softens the wax and the surface can become sticky or smeary.

Other types of cloths to avoid are: coarse material, fabrics which may be sized or linty, old clothing that may have buttons, snaps or trimming to scratch the finish and synthetic fabrics which will not absorb moisture.

OWC Coffee Features Speaker

The Officers Wives Club at Webb Air Force Base learned some good tips on house plant care during the monthly coffee held Thursday in the Officers' Club. The speaker was Jerry Haire of Los Patios in Midland.

Haire gave advice on watering, pruning and fertilizing the house plants and provided several methods of insect detection and control. During the vacation season, he said plants could be left for as long as two weeks without regular watering by using the following method: Using bamboo poles and a plastic dry-cleaning bag, make a tent over the plants, securing the bag at the bottom with a few weights, and moisten the soil.

Mrs. Alex Bridewell presided for a brief business session. The proposed budget was read by Mrs. Daniel Zoerb, treasurer, and approved by the membership. Plans were announced for fund-raising projects. The club will sponsor three children who will attend the Salvation Army camp in July. Door prizes were plants provided by Haire.

Green Retains Edge In Philly

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Front-running Hubert Green turned back the charge of Johnny Miller with an almost flawless, six-under-par 66 and stretched his lead to two strokes Saturday in the third round of the $50,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic.

Green, gunning for his third victory of the season, put together a three-round total of 203, a whopping 13-under-par and well within sight of the 72 hole record on the 6,708-yard Whitemarsh Valley Country Club course.

Baltimore Slips Past Texas, 6-4

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bobby Grich drove in three runs and Tommy Davis knocked in two Saturday night to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-4 victory over Ferguson Jenkins and the Texas Rangers.

The soft-spoken Miller, the sensation of the tour this season with five victories and almost $200,000 in winnings, once pulled into a share of the lead but finished with a 66 and a 205 total going into Saturday's last round of the chase for a $30,000 first prize.

Tom Jenkins, a four sophomore who never has challenged for a title, managed a 63 and was in third place with a 206 total, three strokes back.

Belmont Laurels To Little Current

NEW YORK (AP) — Preakness winner Little Current put on another patented stretch drive and powered his way to an easy victory Saturday in the $169,950 Belmont Stakes.

Little Current, ridden by Miguel Rivera, blazed past Jolly John, and Kentucky Derby winner Cannonade in the upper stretch and simply ran off.

The impressive victory made Little Current the undisputed leader of the 3-year-old division which had been wide open most of the year.

Little Current got to the wire seven lengths in front of Jolly John with a clocking of 2:29 1/5 for the 1 1/2 miles. Cannonade was third, the same position he finished in the Preakness, a nose back of Jolly John and three-quarters of a length in front of Rube The Great.

Little Current, who had put on a tremendous closing rush in the Derby to finish fifth, bolted into the lead Saturday with a little more than one-eighth of a mile to go. Once the John Galbreath-owned son of Sea Bird struck his chestnut head in front, the Belmont was all over.

Little Current, the 3-2 favorite on this cloudy, breezy day, returned $5, $4.40 and $3.40 in picking up first money of $107,970.

Nichols, paid $15.40 and $7.60 and John M. Olin's Cannonade paid $3.80 to show.

Completing the order of finish after Rube The Great were Kin Run, who also finished fifth in the Preakness; Shady Character, who had battled for the lead down the backstretch; Hudson County, a speedy colt who was never in the hunt Saturday; Sea Songster, who had been made a supplemental entry at $12,500; and Bold And Fancy.

A crowd of 52,564, about 15,000 less than was on hand to see Secretariat win last year and far below the record 82,694 set in 1971, watched Jolly John, Rube The Great, Shady Character and Hudson County try for the lead when the field came out of the gate.

Jolly John, ridden by Ben Feliciano, led after the first quarter of a mile, was second to Shady Character and jockey Eddie Maple after a half-mile, and was back in the lead after a mile, with Cannonade moving into second at that point.

Little Current was eighth all the while. But a quarter of a mile later, Little Current had moved to fourth — a length behind Rube The Great, who was ridden by Braulio Baeza.

Eastman-Brunson Duo Leading BSCC Meet

Eddie Eastman and B. A. Brunson handled West Texas winds Saturday and fired a five-under par 66 for the first round lead in the Big Spring Country Club Amateur Partnership Golf Tournament.

The Big Spring golfers held a two-shot lead over two teams in the Scratch Flight, San Angelo golf coach Barry Mink and Grant Collins, one of Dist. 5-AAAA's top golfers, and the Big Spring duo of R. L. Heith and Wayne Dixon.

Richard Pachall and Jerry Barron, the defending champions, headed up a group at 68. Howard College linkster Rick Cox and Ross Worthan of Iraan, one of the state's top Class A linksters, were also in at two-under, along with Bill Galley and Scott Niemann of Sweetwater.

Four twosomes, including perennial favorites Duncan Boyer and Larry McNeely of Abilene, were in at 70.

The Scratch Flight tees off at 2 p.m. today, while most of the Handicap Flight golfers hit at 9 a.m.

Dr. Howard Schwarzenbach and Bill McClendon of Big Spring are leading the Handicap division with a 66, but several teams are within striking distance.

Johnny Freeman and Howard College golf coach Tommy Rutledge are one shot back at 67, along with the duos of Harry Bynam-Larry Anderson, Leo Davis-Loyd Clyde and Don Reynolds-Tom South.

An even larger group looms at 68, Stan Waters-Frank Knox, John Friarson-John Hunkey, Olen Cantrell-Chester Pickett, Bobby Heath-Brent Womack, C. Humphrey-Ronnie Jones and J. Cornelius-Jim Black.

Homer Wins British Golf

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Trevor Homer of England held off the late charge of American Jim Gabrielsen and won the coveted British Amateur Golf Championship 2-up in the 36-hole final Saturday.

Victory came with a double bogey six for Homer at the last hole, where Gabrielsen took a homerous seven.

Homer, a 6-foot-3 company director who also won this tourney in 1972, grabbed the lead at the first hole over Muirfield's strangely windless 6,862-yard, par-71 links.

Gabrielsen, a 33-year-old insurance broker from Atlanta, made a big effort after the final turn for home but despite pulling even at the 33rd hole, the American Walker Cup golfer could not maintain his charge.

Ashe, Kodes Score Triumphs

PARIS (AP) — Arthur Ashe of Miami and Jan Kodes of Czechoslovakia stroked their way into the fourth round of the $200,000 French Open Tennis Championships Saturday before rain cut the day's program short.

Ashe, co-seeded No. 3, played a steady game from the baseline as he defeated Antonio Munoz of Spain 4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 6-4. Ashe, ranked No. 3 in the United States, never has gone beyond the fourth round in this tournament rated as the world clay court championships.

Kodes, the 1970 and 1971 French champion who has been seeded No. 2, seemed to be playing at the top of his form as he demolished Vijay Amritraj of India 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Sam Houston Falls To Lewis In NAIA

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP) — Lewis, Ill., won the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics baseball tournament Friday by edging Sam Houston State of Texas 3-2 on Tom Brennan's sacrifice fly in the ninth inning.

Brennan, who was named most valuable player of the tournament, had come in with one out in the top of the ninth in relief and got credit for his third victory of the tourney.

Southern Cal Tops Longhorns By 9-2

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Southern California defeated Southwest Conference champion Texas 9-2 Saturday in first round action of the double elimination College Baseball World Series.

In another first round game Saturday, Northern Colorado upended Harvard 4-2.

TEXAS SOUTHERN CLAIMS 'FIX' Tennessee Wins NCAA Crown

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Tennessee, led by Olympian Doug Blythe, and sophomore Ron Addison in the steeple chase, blunted a desperate UCLA bid for a fourth consecutive NCAA Track and Field title Saturday to give the Volunteers their first national track championship in the school's history.

Tennessee built up a big lead with 18 points in the 3,000 meter steeplechase, seconds in the 100 yard dash and the 220 run and a first place medal in the 880 run.

But the Bruins rallied spectacularly, taking their sixth consecutive NCAA mile relay victory on a brilliant 45.2 anchor by Maxie Parks.

A controversy involving Texas Southern University almost drew as much attention as the Tennessee victory. An appeal to the rules committee gave TSU second place in the 440-yard relay after its relay team had been disqualified.

Before the committee ruling TSU coach Dave Bethany charged that the championships "is the most bigoted meet I ever saw" after a second Tiger relay team was disqualified, promptly an NCAA official to throw a punch in a heated exchange of words.

The Texas Southern 440-yard relay team was disqualified for passing the baton too soon in the wake of an incident Friday night in which the mile relay team was disqualified for running out of its lane.

Palmer UP BY 3

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Sandra Palmer scrambled to a two-under-par 71 Saturday, boosting her lead to three strokes after three rounds of the $100,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association's Desert Golf Classic.

Mrs. Palmer, who led Sue Berning, Carole Jo Skala and Joanne Barner by two shots after 36 holes, missed green after green but avoided bogeys for the second straight day. Both of her third-round birdies came on par-three holes as she went to eight-under-par 211.

For What It's Worth

Jack Cowan

All of a sudden I feel my job — no, make that my profession — is in jeopardy. What I mean is, someday soon there may not even be a need for a sports writer. No kidding.

That probably sounds pretty absurd, seeing as how sports right now are at their proverbial peak, drawing more attention than ever before with no letdown in sight. Everyone except the poor goose who pays $7 to see a game is getting rich, and the big guys are running out of towns to put franchises in. The boom is astonishing.

How, you ask, does that hurt me? Simple. Saturation. You know, like when that paper towel on TV soaks up all the milk it possibly can and then just sort of sags there, dripping, unable to take any more and begging to be excused from the table.

Well, that's the way people are getting to be with sports. Professional sports have multiplied so many times in the last decade that the average "fan" is beginning to bulge at the eyes with the stuff, and nearing a bursting point.

Personally, and previously secretly I suppose, I resent it. Every time the NFL says it's going to expand I think "Rats!" I know that's not overly heavy, but that's the way it is. I figure it just means that the teams will have an extra off week for about five years each time they play the new team, and besides, it means that about 22 guys who were only second stringers last year will be starters.

More than that, though, it's 22 more guys to keep up with. Twenty-two more personalities to know about, to find out their quirks and hang-ups. And that's not even counting the top reserves.

And if it's that tough for a fan to keep up with a one-team expansion, think what it does to the mind when they throw a whole stupid league at you all at once. It's like overloading your circuit, and pretty soon all the electricity goes off in your house.

That's what's going to happen pretty soon, you know. Before long you'll be walking down the street, you'll see some guy reading a newspaper, and all of a sudden there'll be a "puff" and smoke will start coming out of his ears. His eyes will glaze over, he'll throw away his sports page and never again discuss the fielding prowess of Willie Mays or Wilt Chamberlain's effect on pro basketball. And it'll happen all over, everywhere, until all the fans are gone.

All of a sudden I'm out of a job. I suppose I could sell vacuum sweepers or something, or maybe become a brain surgeon. If I got too desperate I could transfer to "newsworld" at the paper, although I doubt that school board meetings and ripped-off bicycles could hold my attention for long.

I figure maybe someday, after all the leagues have died and grass has grown up all over the big stadiums, sports might creep back into society. Maybe in a half century, when everyone has forgotten about the WFL, the ABA, the WTT and all the others, someone will start out again with a new league.

Nothing fancy, just six or eight teams playing a sport, any sport, and it'll attract the peoples' interest. Folks will enjoy it again, and I'll be there to cover it.

LITTLE LEAGUE Rockets, Tigers Claim Victories

The Rockets and Tigers kept their lofty perches with victories Friday in Big Spring Little League baseball, but the Cardinals lost their magic touch.

Lupe Ontiveros clubbed another home run to go with his double and single as the Harris Lumber and Hardware Tigers topped the AFE Cardinals 8-1 in the Texas League.

Nato Jara added a double and Jamie Renteria scattered five hits in helping the Tigers to their 11th victory against three defeats.

Martin Castanada was the losing pitcher for the Cards, who fell to 5-9.

The Rockets remained in a tie for first place in the International League by defeating the Sabers 11-8. Mark Yarbrough went four-for-four at the plate in sparking the win as the team moved to 10-2. Yarbrough also scored four runs.

Winning pitcher Chris Smith drove in four runs with a double and a single, and Mike Domino and Mark Salazar clubbed two hits each.

Ron Hovda and Mike Wildt each had doubles. Wildt, Saazar and Greg Smith all pitched relief for Smith in the final three frames.

Losing pitcher Ronnie Ramirez drove in three runs with a double and a single, and Dale Sutter also had two hits.

Ralph Clark managed two singles and Jeff Huckaba rapped a double for the Sabers, now 6-6.

The Pollard Chevrolet Cardinals, previously the hottest team in the National League, allowed the Lions to score three runs in the bottom of the sixth inning for an 8-7 upset. Winning pitcher Ronnie Burleson smacked two hits and gave up just four against the Cards, while Donnie Burleson had three hits, including two doubles.

Clint Elliott also had three hits and Michael Brauer two for the winner, while John Pfeiffer, Terry Spears and Tony Guzman all starred defensively. The Lions are 5-8.

For the Cards, now 10-4, Dale Farnest was the losing pitcher. Mark Warren had a double in the defeat.

In an American Minor League game Friday the Truckers routed the Sports 19-5. Winning pitcher Johnny Hatch sluggeed two triples, while George Solis added a double and a single for the winners. The Sports were led at the plate by John Kennemur and Randy Wallace with two singles each. Wesley Leuchamp was the losing pitcher.

In an AL minor League clash Thursday the Mustangs nudged the Pals 15-14 with a four-run sixth inning. Lester Brown and James Lewis slapped four hits apiece and Billy Thompson had a pair, while Ron Nusz and Billy Thompson also shined at the plate. Nusz was the winner for the 6-5 Ponies. For the Pals, Charles Parker had three hits and James Kittrell two. Greg Wilkes took the loss.

Tiger Cubs Try Snyder 9 Today

The Big Spring Tiger Cubs visit the Snyder Stars today at 1 p.m. hoping to improve on a two-game winning streak.

Billy Diaz is the likely starter for the Cubs, 2-4, with Ismael Paderez behind the plate. Michae Sarmiento is the first baseman. Ismael Hernandez will be at second, John Thomas Smith will play shortstop and Willie Williams third base.

In the outfield will be Lawrence Byrd, Ernie Garcia and Andy Hernandez. Ready in relief will be Abram Yanez, Niko Paderez, Vito Garcia, Edgie Randle, Billy Wood and Mike Gonzalez.

White Sox Get Coahoma Win

The White Sox defeated the Cubs 17-4 in a Coahoma Minor League game Thursday. This ran the Sox season to 2-0 and left the Cubs 0-2.

Bendal Kyle allowed no hits for the Sox, while Troyce Renfro was tagged as the loser when Sox hitters picked up 13 hits. Kyle and Jeff Childers had inside-part homers; David Roberts, Jesse Metcalf, and Jeff Childers each had three hits, and Kyle two.

L.D. Brown, Craig Brown, Mike Scarbrough and Larry Horton. The four were among some 80 teams competing in the two-day event. Play ends today at BSSC.

MISS SOFTBALL Grand Slams Not Enough

Dee Earhart of Al's Barbecue Texas Belles introduced an impressive act Friday, hitting two grand slam homers in one inning, but it wasn't enough as the First Federal Belles eked out a 14-13 Minor League decision.

Darla Thomas countered with two home runs of her own in the First Federal win, and Jill Thomasson was the winning pitcher. Valerie Johnson took the loss.

In other Minor League action Friday the Dairy Queens toppled the Garden City Kitty Kats 18-11, the Security State Bank Starlets outslugged the State National Bank Greenbacks 32-9 and the Elks toppled the First National Bank Kittens 10-3.

The Wilson Oil Co. Streakers downed Good Housekeeping 20-11 in the Major League, while the Police Association Cadets downed the Blue Angels 17-9.

In a Saturday Major League affair, the Letter Carriers topped the Cardinals 9-3. The ABC Supers nudged the Kiwanians 13-12 in the only Mini-Minor game Friday.

Denise Ayers ripped two home runs to lead a 38-hit attack for the Streakers, while Ruthie Slape was the winning pitcher. Penny Ray also had a pair of round-trippers for Good Housekeeping, while Starla Mize and Peggy Calhoun also shined at the plate. Calhoun was the loser.

Sissy Yancey slugged a homer for the Cadets and Christy Martin had a pair of doubles as Cindy Stanton buried the win. Losing pitcher Debbie Scott had a home run for the Angels, as did Sheryl Barron.

Vicki Johnson was the winning pitcher for the Letter Carriers and Brenda Gilbert took the loss for the Cardinals.

Toni Myrick, Elisa Wheat and Patti Griffin all homered twice in the Starlets' victory and Cindy Mize pitched the win. Sherry Byrd was the winning pitcher in the Elks' triumph and Cindy easily suffered the defeat for the Kittens. The Queens had Linda Bledsoe on the mound, while Carol Ann McPherson was the loser for the Kitty Kats.

Stephanie Russell was the Supers' victorious hurler, and Colleen Craver was on the mound for the Kiwanians.

HOWARD COLLEGE 12TH IN NATIONAL NET MEET

OCALA, Fla. — Howard College finished 12th in the 47-team National Junior College Athletic Association tennis tournament completed Friday.

Bill Alcocer was the last HC singles player to bow out of the action, as he lost in the fourth round 6-1, 6-2 to Juan Ceron of Central Texas College in Killeen, which successfully defended its team championship.

In doubles action Alcocer and Terry Wood lost in the third round to Aranda and Copeland of Seminole, Fla. JC 6-4, 6-4. Ray Villarreal and Jay Box had bowed out in earlier singles and doubles action.

Around 250 players competed in the week-long event.

TEEN BASEBALL Yanks Surprise Lions By 8-7

The Yankees halted a Lion runaway in the Sohomore League Friday, stopping the loop leaders 8-7 in a wild clash.

James Pinkard scattered nine hits and struck out 11 batters in hurling the Yanks' win, but it was his bat that made the difference. Pinkard drove in four runs with a pair of triples as the Yanks lifted their mark to 3-2. Gary Wilkerson added a triple and a single and Jim Robinson managed two singles for the winners, while Mike Burleson and Allen Bristol also had doubles.

For the Lions, now 4-1, Charles Vernon suffered the loss. Vernon, who had a no-hitter last week, also chipped in two hits along with David Montanez, who slammed two doubles.

In other Sophomore League action Friday the ABC Rebels claimed a tight 3-2 decision over the Orioles and in the Hi-Junior loop the Kiwanians exploded late for a 9-2 triumph over Big Spring Hardware.

Pat Carroll ran his record to 3-0 and upped the Kiwanians mark to 5-0 with the Friday win, but it was one that wasn't decided until a six-run outburst in the top of the seventh. Mike Warren had two doubles and a single in leading the 13-hit Kiwanians attack and Ray Don Box chipped in a double and two singles.

Andy Anderson collected three singles, and Carroll, who allowed six Hardware hits, had two safeties. Dick Battle also had a double in the win.

For BS Hardware, Mark Moore took the loss, his second of the season against one win. Kent Newsom had a double and a single as the team slipped to 3-3.

Ricky Cluck turned in a one-hitter as the Rebels improved their mark to 2-3, and Randy Crockett came up with the game's only extra base hit in the win, a double. Crockett also starred in the Rebel defensive effort from his shortstop position. Cluck aided his own cause by driving in two runs.

Robert Underwood was the loser for the Orioles, now 0-5 on the year.

Randle To Attend Texas Lutheran

Mike Randle, a two-year starter at forward for the Howard College Hawks, has signed a scholarship agreement with Texas Lutheran College at Seguin.

Randle averaged nine points a game and was the team's third leading rebounder the past season, helping the Hawks to a 35-6 mark and the Western Conference championship. The 6-5 Randle, an ex-Big Spring Star, had his best game during the Region V tournament in March and his basket in the last second of overtime against Clarendon gave the Hawks a berth in the finals.

At T.L.C. he joins a line of former Howard College players. Harry Miller, who played at HC in 1970-72, was the Bulldogs' leading scorer and rebounder the past two years and Herbie Lee, a Hawk from 1971-73, starting as a guard this past season. Texas Lutheran finished second in the Big State Conference.

MIKE RANDLE

Randle hit 45 per cent of his shots from the field and made 59 per cent from the foul line. He ranked third in assists as a sophomore.

'READING' A RIVER FOR DARGEMOUTH BASS

"Reading" a river for largemouth bass is a skill you can pick up fairly easily and one that pays dividends in better catches and more fun.

Let's say a river has the usual tree-shaded banks, fallen logs, big boulders, a few riffles, and some deep holes. While you can take bass in all of these places at some time or another, certain conditions will make one spot better at any given moment.

For example, banks are good places in the early morning and late afternoon because bass then are moving around the river edges in search of food. Bass like to find an undercut bank and wait for insects that drop from over-hanging trees.

Fishing close to the banks also is likely to be better in the early spring spawning season. Bass and others in the sunfish family usually make their beds in the shallows near the banks.

Submerged logs are favorite hiding places for lunker bass. They like to lurk in the shadows underneath a log and wait for bait fish attracted to the moss and aquatic life that fasten to a water-covered tree.

Boulders standing out in a river also are worth trying. Bass often lie in the quiet water in the wake of a rock and wait for the current to sweep food down to them. A well placed lure that moves along behind the rock often will bring them out.

As for the riffles, largemouth often station themselves in the deeper water at the end of them. Try there.

Deep holes will contain bass at times, especially when the weather turns hot. Largemouth can be found lying inert near the bottom trying to escape the heat.

If you've worked the river's banks in early morning, try the deep holes later in the day when the temperature rises and the water warms up. Bass may not be in a hungry mood, but they'll strike if you make the right approach, such as slowly dragging a plastic worm past them. However, if a largemouth takes the worm, give it time to work the lure into its mouth. Let him move off a few feet and then strike hard.

Fishing with plastic worms requires considerable patience, but it pays off. Just check the Bass Buster assortment at your local tackle shop.

You might try some other deep running lures in the holes — or a spoon with a piece of pork rind.

Bass will take top-water lures more readily in the early spring and fall. Occasionally they will hit on the surface at any time, particularly in early morning and later afternoon.

Largemouth also are likely to take surface lures almost at any time when they're in shallow water. These lures are good when you're working shorelines near overhanging trees. But get your lure as close as you can to the shore. You'll be surprised how many strikes you'll get when you place the lure right at the bank.

Dear Virgil,

We have a pond which contains some pretty good size fish. What I would like to know is which part of the pond should I fish for bass — the deep waters, the shallow waters or the grassy waters?

Steven Fletcher
Alexander, Va.

Dear Steve,

The water depths are not as important in bass fishing as the water temperatures. I suggest the purchase of an inexpensive water temperature gauge. Do your fishing for bass in depths of water where you get a temperature reading of 68 to 70 degrees.

FROM THE PLAINS Fishing License Good Insurance

By J. D. PEER
Texas Parks & Wildlife Dept.

Do you need a Texas fishing license?

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department wardens have filed their reports after the three-day Memorial weekend.

A surprisingly large percentage of the violations observed by the wardens were individuals fishing without a Texas fishing license. Forty-five citations were written in the Lubbock area alone for "no fishing license."

The most frequent statement heard by Texas game wardens is: "I didn't know I needed a fishing license."

"Everyone that hunts or fishes in Texas is regulated by seasons, limits, and restrictions," Warden Bobby Goff said, "and it is very apparent that these individuals are either using this as an excuse or are not aware of license requirements."

A $4.25 fishing license is required of all persons (residents and non-residents) who fish in the waters of Texas with the exception of those:

under seventeen years of age; over sixty-five years of age; fishing in private waters; fishing in county of residence with trotline, throwline, or ordinary pole and line having no reel or winding device attached; or holding a valid Texas commercial fishing license.

These licenses issued by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, regardless of month issued, are valid only during the period of September 1 through August 31 of the following year.

This means that a license bought today will be good until August 31, and then you will be required to buy another license for this fall, winter and next summer.

It is a good idea to buy a fishing license before you go outdoors on that vacation you have been planning all year.

Even though there are over 4,500 licensed deputies that sell fifty-three different types of licenses, don't wait until you go fishing to realize what you are required to do. Besides, the money you spend on a Texas fishing license is used to stock the lakes and maintain the excellent fishing that you enjoy now.

Stop in any Texas Parks and Wildlife Department district office in Amarillo, Lubbock, and Abilene, or give them a phone call and find out the requirements of a Texas angler.

The fish can hardly wait to bite that minnow, worm or plug, and who can forget that aroma of deep fried flathead after the trip is over.

Tennis Clinic Opens Tuesday

A tennis clinic for local youngsters will begin Tuesday and run through July 19, according to Novice Kniffen, director of the program.

The clinic, sponsored jointly by the school and the city, will be held at the high school courts each weekday for youngsters of all school ages. Classes for junior high netters will be from 8-9:30 a.m., while the elementary lessons will be from 9:30-11 a.m. High school sessions will be from 1-2:30 p.m.

Cost of the program is $2, and participants will be able to compete in five tournaments, including one locally at the end of the clinic. Crane, Snyder, Andrews and Kermit will be the sites for tournaments.

Kniffen, who will be assisted by high schooler Vicki Murphy, said he expects around 200 youths to participate. He said that Tuesday's first gathering would serve as the registration time, and the first lessons would also begin that day.

'Conversation' Actor Son Of Ex-Big Springer

Frederic Forrest, one of the stars in "The Conversation" now being shown at the R-70, is the son of a former Big Spring school teacher.

Screen Star's Wife In Brawl

ROME (AP) — The wife of actor Burt Lancaster was arrested Friday night and charged with making false charges against a traffic policeman, police said.

Police said the screen star's wife, Jackie Bone, 46, was stopped in a downtown area and asked for her papers, and Miss Bone and a companion, Donald Tesdahl, 41, accused the officer of taking $190 from her passport.

A brawl followed, police said, and the two were taken to a magistrate where they were charged and jailed.

His mother Mrs. Virginia Forest Kountz, now lives in Dallas. She taught Spanish while in Big Spring.

Mrs. Darel Highley, Silver Heels Addition, is his cousin. Mrs. Mabel Kountz, Big Spring, and Mrs. Virginia Kountz were married to two brothers, now deceased.

Forrest made his screen debut in "When the Legends Die" followed by "The Don is Dead."

In "The Conversation," Gene Hackman plays a professional surveillance expert who is propelled into a violent murder.

"The Conversation" is Francis Ford Coppola's first film since "The Godfather." It is a psychological horror tale, a multilevel and personal film that focuses on a professional eavesdropper, who discovers, while trailing a young couple, that something explosive is going to happen.

HISTORIC MISSION INN IS SITE OF 'THE WILD PARTY' — James Coco, portraying a fading comedian in the days when talking movies first arrived, is pictured in ornate, aging Mission Inn in Riverside, Calif., where "The Wild Party" is being filmed. Thousands of celebrities have been guests at the Inn, and it was the site of the wedding of Pat and Richard Nixon.

James Gang Promise Sound Shows In Area

GO-GO GUY — Dave Kraemer, a go-go dancer in Carbondale, Ill., club, struts his stuff for $40 a night wearing his nylon bikini briefs for a women-only audience. Club owners, who have girls on stage most nights, have set Thursday night aside for the women. One member of the audience calls it reverse chauvinism.

The James Gang, whose records have sold millions, will perform at Odessa Wednesday, July 10.

On Monday, July 8, the group will appear at the Taylor County Coliseum in Abilene and on July 9, at the Lubbock coliseum.

"We not only play our music as we like to play it, but we give our audience a show," Jim Fox, drummer and pianist, said.

Million-selling single releases by the Gang have been "Walk Away," "Punk 49," "Woman" and "Midnight Man."

Among their albums, "Thurs," "Rides Again" and "Live" have been certified gold for selling over one million.

For $5 advance tickets contact C. D. Grisson, 510 Lexington, Abilene, at 692-6470.

At the door, the price will be $6.

Designer Wears Clothes Dull During Work Days

LOS ANGELES (AP) — By day she is "little Edith with the dark glasses and the little beige suit," avoiding visual competition with the movie stars she dresses. By night she wears color-splashed clothes and cooks up a storm in her kitchen.

This double life has helped Edith Head survive and maintain her sanity in the 40-year pressure cooker of designing clothes for the movie world's most glamorous stars. Her career has brought her fame, handsome salaries and eight Oscars for costume design.

The latest was awarded in April for her designs in "The Sting," starring Paul Newman and Robert Redford.

"I believe it was the first time that the costume-design Oscar went for a picture in which there was no female star," observed Miss Head.

"But then, I started out designing men's clothes in films. Paramount had top designers like Howard Greer and Travis Banton, and I was assigned to dress extras, elephants, grandmothers — and men.

"And say," she add brightly, "since 'The Sting' won, is this a victory for men's lib?"

Edith Head's mind works that way. She is always searching for the newsy angle, the catch phase that will help publicize her pictures, and hence her clothes. She has the publicity mind of the late Mike Todd.

But publicity alone could not propel a film career from the Depression '30s to the Watergate '70s. From Mae West to Elizabeth Taylor, from Alan Ladd to Dean Martin, stars have adored being dressed by Head. Bette Davis, Shirley McLaine, Natalie Wood and others have had her services as designer written into their contracts.

Miss Head has her own explanation for her longevity. She points out that her education B.A., University of California; M.A., Stanford gave her the background to research costumes through history and to understand psychology. Her coworkers marvel at her manner in handling stars. A key is her appearance. Miss Head is a smallish woman and with black bangs and owlsh tinted glasses — I wear them because I can't see without them."

THANK YOU

To my many friends in Howard County who worked, supported and voted for me in the May 4 and June 1 primaries.

The family and I wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to those who didn't listen to twisted facts, hostile and slanderous accusations leveled at me during the Legislative campaign. Writers Pick Track Stars

FORT WORTH (AP) — Refugio's versatile Curtis Isaih, Galveston Ball's Gregory Edmonds, Dallas Roosevelt's Alvin Crenshaw and Dallas Hillcrest's Bill Blessing head the 1974 Texas Sportswriters All-State Track and Field Team.

Edmonds was a unanimous choice in the 100 and 220-yard dashes and was selected in both sprints for a second straight year.

Isaih was named to the All-State team in three events—120-yard high hurdles, 330-yard hurdles, and high jump. The versatile Refugio athlete is the first trackster to be picked in three events since Dallas Sunset's Billy Foster did the trick in 1961 in the 100 and 220-yard dashes and long jump. Isaih's best times were 13.9, 37.0 and 6.9.

Hillcrest's Blessing is a repeater in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles but was also chosen in the 120-yard highs.

Jones Named To All-State

FORT WORTH (AP) — Linda Cornelius of Fort Worth Paschal and Baird's Kathy Jones were named in three events each to highlight the first annual High School Girls' All-State track team as selected by the Texas Sportswriters Association.

Miss Jones completed a brilliant career at Baird by scoring an even 100 points in the last three state meets including 40 as a soph, 38 as a junior and 22 this year as a senior. Miss Cornelius led the AA scores in the state meet by winning two events—the 440-yard dash and high jump and placing second in the long jump for a total of 28 points.

LEHIGH ACRES, Fla. (AP) — Florida's Broward Community College Central came from behind to win both the individual and team titles in the National Junior College Golf Championship, leaving Odessa College of Texas in second place in both categories.

Mike Donald, 18, took the individual title with a six-under-par 282, pacing Broward to a record 72-hole team total of 1,162 Friday on Mirror Lakes Country Club's par-72, 7,100-yard course.

Broward's total bettered by five strokes the mark Miami-Dade North of Florida set on the same course in 1972. It gave Broward a five-stroke team victory over Odessa, which finished at 1,167.

Mike Podolak of Odessa, who led with sub-par scores for the first three rounds, jumped to a 78 Friday and took second place in the individual competition, five strokes back of Donald at 287. Bruce Johnson of Lake County, Ill., birdied four of the last five holes to finish third at 289.

College of Lake County, finished third in the team event at 1,178, followed by Brevard, 1,183; Valencia Junior College, Fla., 1,184; Alexander City Community College, Ala., 1,200; McLennan Junior College, Tex., 1,203 and Temple College, Tex., 1,210.
