Dr. Thomas T. Salter today resigned his post as president of Howard College at Big Spring to accept a position with Weatherford College.

Dr. Salter was named president here in July 1972, coming from Lamar Tech in Beaumont where he had been for 12 years in various capacities, including head of the university's branch at Orange.

Weatherford College, near the Fort Worth-Dallas metroplex, is a substantially larger operation than Howard College. Recently, the deanship became vacant there.

Massive Fire In Galveston

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — A massive fire that destroyed cotton, rice and fertilizer on two Port of Galveston piers Monday night still burned today.

Acting Lt. Johnny Cannatella of the Galveston Fire Department said no official damage estimate had been made but expected damages of at least $2 million or $3 million.

The blaze began about 10 p.m. Monday night and quickly spread to a general alarm fire in an area about the size of three city blocks. One warehouse containing baled cotton was destroyed.

Nixon Vows Continued Assistance To Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — President Nixon ended his tour of the Middle East today with a promise of continued military and economic assistance to Jordan and an invitation to King Hussein for talks in Washington on "the strategy of future efforts to achieve peace" between the Arabs and Israel.

ISSUES, ANSWERS — The President left Amman for an overnight stop in Portugal's Azores Islands in mid-Atlantic. He will hold talks there Wednesday with the leader of Portugal's revolution, President Antonio de Spínola, before returning to Washington.

A joint Jordanian-American statement issued in Amman said Nixon and his royal host at the last stop on his five-nation Mideast swing discussed a whole range of issues and would resume their talks in Washington "at an early date."

Hussein and his wife, Queen Alyia, visited the United States last in March. The statement promised a "special effort" by the U.S. government to assist Jordanian economic development and to "play a strong role in maintaining Jordan's military strength."

"It was agreed that a joint Jordanian-U.S. commission will be established at a high level to oversee and review on a regular basis the various areas of cooperation... in the fields of economic development, trade, investments, military assistance and scientific, social and cultural affairs."

ROMAN RUINS — While Nixon and the king conferred this morning, Mrs. Nixon visited the Roman ruins at Jerash, 20 miles north of Amman. She told newsmen accompanying her that the President's peace initiatives will be successful because the Arab leaders he has talked to "know that war takes money away from the people."

Hussein hailed Nixon's "journey for peace" in a banquet toast Monday night but cautioned that "the final goal is still many milestones away."

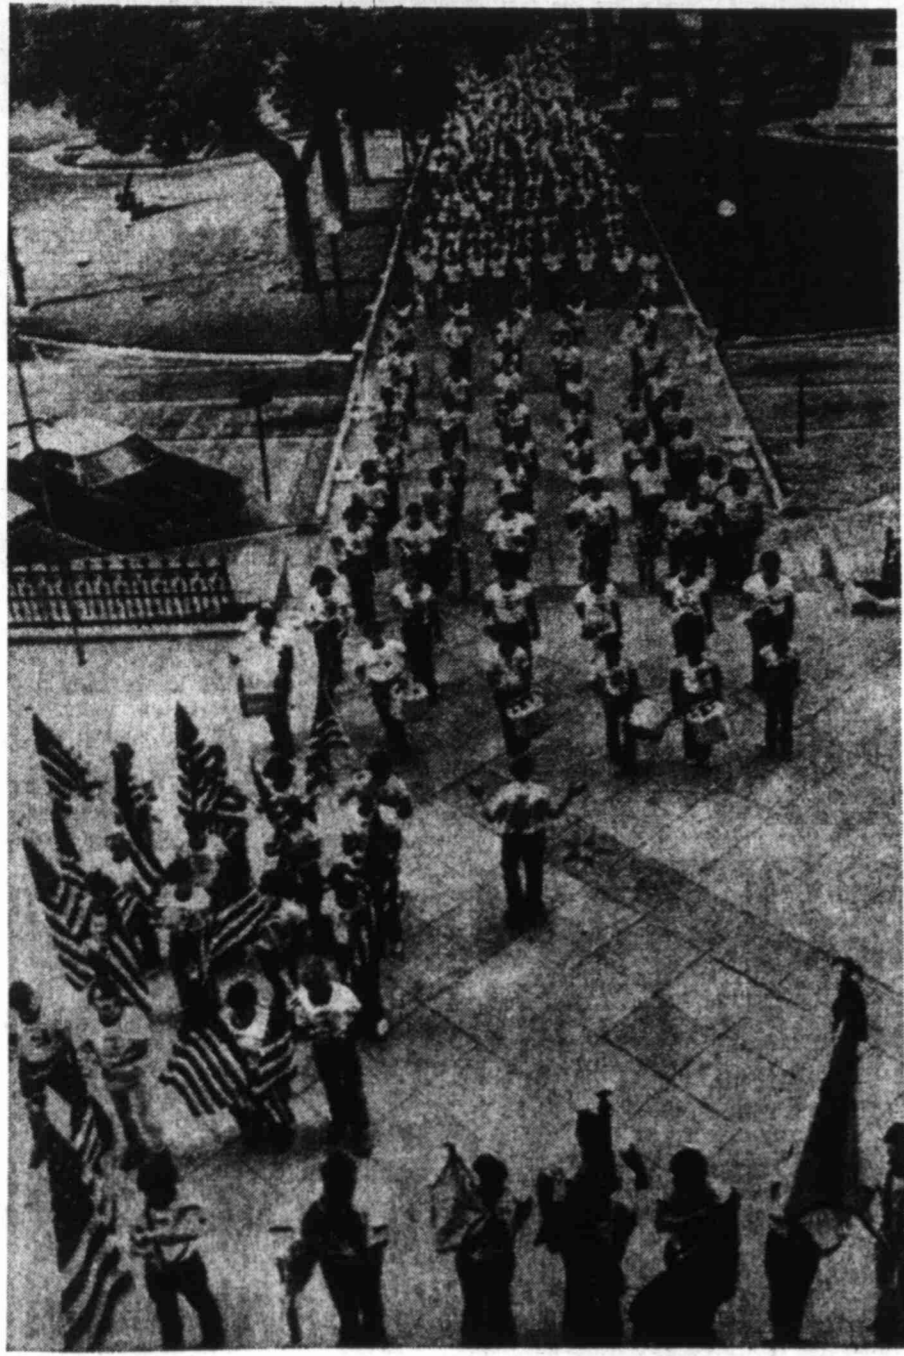

Hussein said withdrawal of Israeli forces from some of the Jordanian territory captured in 1967 should be the next step and was "an essential prerequisite to any permanent settlement."

Jordanian forces along the Jordan River could be accomplished "with the strong and friendly hand of America," an indication that he would welcome a Jerusalem-Amman diplomatic shuttle by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger.

ONE NEW ELEMENT — Echoing what Nixon's hosts in Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Syria had told him, Hussein also called for Israeli withdrawal from all occupied Arab territory, restoration of Arab sovereignty over the Arab sector of Jerusalem.

Pregnant Rule By Supreme Court Issued

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has ruled 6-3 that states which grant benefits to disabled workers need not extend them to women sidelined because of normal pregnancy.

The decision could affect the rights of pregnant women under private insurance programs.

In other cases Monday, the court:

—Let stand the convictions of former Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner and his state director of revenue, Theodore J. Isaacs, on bribery and other charges.

—Held that segregated private schools no longer may be given exclusive use of public recreation facilities.

—Upheld the hiring preference given Indians by the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

—Ruled that states need not provide free lawyers for poor defendants seeking to make their second appeals from criminal convictions.

The pregnancy decision stemmed from a challenge to a 30-year-old California law under which disability benefits are paid from a fund to which all workers are required to contribute.

A group of pregnant women argued that since they had to pay one per cent of their salary, just like any other workers, they should be able to claim benefits for normal pregnancy. The majority of the court said it did not believe they were being denied equal protection of the laws.

Body Of Felix Cabasos Is Recovered At Lake

The body of Felix Cabasos, 19, of Big Spring, was recovered in a dragging operation at Lake J. B. Thomas about 5 p.m. Monday by Jackie Merrick and lake patrolman Allen Young.

Cabasos had disappeared Sunday evening from an outboard motorboat which was threatening to capsize not far from the dam at the lake. The craft had been borrowed from Delbert Stanley, one of two Texas maintains at the lake. Stanley was not present at the time the accident occurred.

Several unused life preservers were later found in the boat, which never sank. Witnesses said Cabasos may have panicked after going into the water and declined to grasp a preserver near him in the water.

Five boats assisted in the search for Cabasos' body. They were manned by members of the Scurry County Sheriff's Posse, the Scurry County Sheriff's Department, the Snyder Police Department, the Snyder Fire Department, as well as the lake patrol.

Cowboys Signing In For 4-Night Rodeo

This was the day that it all comes together for the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo as it prepared for the opening of its 41st annual show here Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in Rodeo Bowl in western Big Spring.

Top professional rodeo cowboys were signing up at the headquarters in the Settles lobby. Farris, livestock superintendent, had his collection of bulls, steers, calves and broncs already to go.

Among those fans will see in action are Donny Gay, Mesquite, who placed second in RCA national standings in bull riding last year; Ronnie Sewalt, Chico, currently among the leaders in calf roping; Jack Ward, Odessa, and Rusty Riddle, Weatherford, two of the top contestants in bareback bronc riding; Shawn Davis, Lewisville, a big name in saddle bronc riding. As a prelude to Wednesday activities, the big Spring Streets will lead in a downtown square dance after 8 p.m. today on Main between Third and Fourth.

Wednesday 4 p.m. the colorful rodeo parade, with scores and scores of riders, moves from 10th down Main to Second, west to Scurry and south to 10th. Leading will be the Webb AFB color guard, the Big Spring High School Steer band, county and city officials, and Col. Robert G. Liotta, who may ride in the procession.

Several visiting sheriff's posses and other riding groups will be on hand, as will the 1st Cavalry Division Horse Platoon of Fort Hood, which arrived here Monday. It also will perform Wednesday evening. Several decorated floats are due to be entered.

The Big Spring Kiwanis Club will state its traditional rodeo barbecue — for the public — starting 5 p.m. at the Old Settlers Pavilion at Comanche Trail Park. The mesquite fire will be touched off tonight, and more than 700 pounds of choice beef will be put over the coals early Wednesday. (Plates at $2).

The grand entry Wednesday will include the visiting riding groups, rodeo officials headed by C. W. (Charlie) Creighton president, the producer Tommy Steiner, and contestants. The spotlight will be on Jim Ed Brown, Grand Ole Opry star, and the Cates Sisters — who also will be featured in the rodeo dance in the Fair Barns immediately after the rodeo. They will be back Thursday evening, then followed Friday by Barbara Fairchild, recording star.

Coahoma's own Quail Dobbs, who performed in this role at the National Finals, will be the clown, and Tom Hadley will announce.

Five Found Slain In Neat Illinois Home

PARK RIDGE, Ill. (AP) — Authorities are trying to piece together the final hours of a family neighbors described as close-knit, quiet and unassuming before death entered a neat suburban home.

Raymond A. Fuchs, 49, a purchasing agent for a small electronics manufacturer; his wife Ruth, 48; their daughter, Linda, 14, and son Scott, 16, were found slain Monday in the basement of their brick ranch-style house in this well-to-do suburb northwest of Chicago.

A fifth, badly burned body found in the kitchen of the home by firemen called to extinguish a blaze matched the description of the family's eldest son, Jeffrey, 18, but remained unidentified.

Firemen said they had not determined the cause of the fire, but a fire official said it may it may have been started to cover up the slayings.

"It could be the body in the kitchen is also the person who started the fire," said Anthony Sciaraffa, deputy coroner of Cook County. "We definitely have a homicide in regard to the persons in the basement."

Fire Chief Norman Brown said the blaze apparently started in the basement, where gas and oil cans also were found, he said.

Nevertheless, Sciaraffa said none of the bodies found in the basement appeared to have been burned.

The body of Mrs. Fuchs was found with her hands bound to a wash tub, said Sciaraffa. Linda's body lay next to her mother's.

The mother suffered a wound near the head and the daughter received two wounds on either side of the head. Sciaraffa did not describe the wounds.

A bloodied kitchen knife which could have been used as a weapon was found nearby, Sciaraffa said.

Scott's body was found in another part of the basement. His hands were tied behind his back with a rope running around his neck, Sciaraffa said. Fuchs was found near his younger son. He was not bound. Neither showed any wounds, Sciaraffa said.

All the bodies were wrapped in bedding or blankets, Sciaraffa said.

Airline Veep First On Stand In Air Hearing

Cross Over Complaints

AUSTIN (AP) — Representatives of two Travis County Young Democrats organizations filed complaints Monday against 23 voters alleged to have crossed party lines between the May 4 and June 1 primaries.

Justice of the Peace Jim McMurry said he would not issue arrest warrants but would send the 23 persons certified letters summoning them to appear in court July 9 to answer the charges.

Conviction on the misdemeanor charges could result in fines ranging from $1 to $200.

The charges claim that the 23 voted in the May 4 Republican primary then voted in the June 1 Democratic primary, a violation of the state election code.

Stacy Suits and Steve McGuire, members of the University of Texas Young Democrats and Travis County Young Democrats said they took the action "because it needed to be done."

The Republican-Democratic crossoverers were first aired by defeated county commission candidate Dave Dorsett.

Defeated Rep. Wilson Foreman, D-Austin, said he had discovered instances of voters in the Raza Unida primary switching to the June 1 Democratic primary, but no charges have been filed.

Revenue Sharing Money Cut Back

Big Spring's revenue sharing funds have been cut back this year from $370,036 to $336,000 according to Robert Massengale, city finance director.

Reason for the cut of $34,036 is that taxes in Howard County only increased around 3 per cent last year while the average increase throughout the state is 17.3 for the past year.

In a letter received by the finance director, the federal governmental agency explained that the eight per cent reduction here was because taxes in Howard County last year did not show as large a rise as in other parts of the state.

Harry Nagel, city manager, said here today, "I guess if we have to up taxes to get more revenue sharing funds, we'll just do with less revenue sharing funds."

Tornado Strikes Glancing Blow At North Texas Town

By The Associated Press

One tornado struck a glancing blow at the town of Memphis, injuring a woman, and others spun close to several North Texas towns in the state's latest rash of rough weather during the night and early today.

Vicious thunderstorms, often packing hail, roared through other sections from the northeast part of the Texas Panhandle into East Texas. Official observers blamed a weakening cool front which lay along a line linking Childress, Fort Worth and Lufkin near dawn.

NEARLY SEVERED
The Memphis twister struck near the north edge of town, where it wrecked an 13-foot trailer home occupied by Mrs. James Montgomery, 28, of Sentinel, Okla., who has been living in the Texas city temporarily while her husband repairs roofs riddled in a recent hail storm.

Although one of Mrs. Montgomery's arms was nearly severed, a hospital attendant said doctors hoped to save it and her condition was good.

The twister inflicted light damage to two other trailers and the owner's home in a park where they were quartered.

Word of tornado funnels being sighted 6 miles northeast of Greenville in Northeast Texas and at Leonard and Wolfe City in the same area was relayed by the National Weather Service. None apparently touched ground.

TORNADO WATCH

Prior to the Memphis tornado, 16 counties in the Texas Panhandle had been placed under a tornado watch in force until 1 a.m.

Hail up to the size of marbles fell around Perryton and elsewhere in the Panhandle, on each side of a line from northwest of Fort Worth to Waxahachie and from near Denton toward Tyler. Winds gusted as high as 50 miles per hour at Perryton.

By early morning skies outside the storm belt were mostly cloudy in the Texas Panhandle and areas south of the frontal zone. Skies were clear in other sections.

The turbulent weather capped a warm day which saw temperatures soar as high as 103 degrees at Wink in West Texas. By early this morning the range still was from a warm 80 at Galveston on the coast down to 64 at Dalhart in the Panhandle.

Forecasts held out prospects for clear to partly cloudy, with no lull in the summery heat for most sections and widely scattered showers and thunderstorms in North Central and Northeast Texas.

NO CLOSER TO COMPROMISE Nixon Convinces Arab Leaders He's Neutral

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — President Nixon has convinced four Arab leaders of his active neutrality between Israel and the Arabs, but he does not appear to have brought them closer to a compromise with Israel.

The American chief executive was told peace will never come to the Middle East without major concessions which Israel so far won't make—withdrawal from all territory captured from the Arabs, including Old Jerusalem, and restoration of Palestinian "rights."

Nixon earned praise from the Arabs and displeasure in Israel for the new era of good will that is opening up between the United States and the Arab world. But he found no softening in Arab conditions for a lasting peace.

The message was the same in Cairo, Jiddah, Damascus and Amman. Nixon admitted he had no solutions in his briefcase, but promised to use Washington's influence to maintain momentum for a settlement.

STEP FORWARD

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat talked of removal of Israeli forces from the Sinai Peninsula and of settling the Palestinian question.

King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, who considers himself the protector of Islam's holiest shrines, spoke of returning Jerusalem to Arab sovereignty.

Syria's President Hafez Assad stressed that military disengagement in the Golan Heights must be only a "first step toward... Israel's withdrawal from all occupied Arab territory and securing the national rights of the Palestinian people."

And King Hussein of Jordan asked Nixon to press for immediate Israeli withdrawal from the Jordan Valley, to create a six-mile demilitarized zone along the Jordan River similar to those separating Israeli forces from the Egyptian and Syrian armies on the Suez canal and the Golan Heights.

FRIENDSHIP

Hussein also outlined his ideas for a Palestinian solution: To let the 640,000 Palestinians on the West Bank of the Jordan River choose one of three alternatives once Israel withdraws—"continued union with Jordan, a new form of federation with the rest of Jordan or the creation of a separate state" uniting the West Bank and the Gaza Strip.

Nixon's constant references to the "new element in Arab-American friendship" symbolized by his Middle East tour resulted in hostile Israeli newspaper editorials. They complained of his agreement to sell Egyptian nuclear reactors and fuel although it was matched by a similar pact with Israel.

Israeli leaders reacted coolly to Nixon's suggestion that they take political risks in pursuing "the right way of state-manship" toward a Middle East compromise.

The power to use energy efficiently this summer is in your hands.

When it comes to home air conditioning, one of the best things to do for efficiency and economy is to set your thermostat at 78-80 degrees.

For each degree above 75 degrees, the energy used for cooling is reduced by approximately 5%.

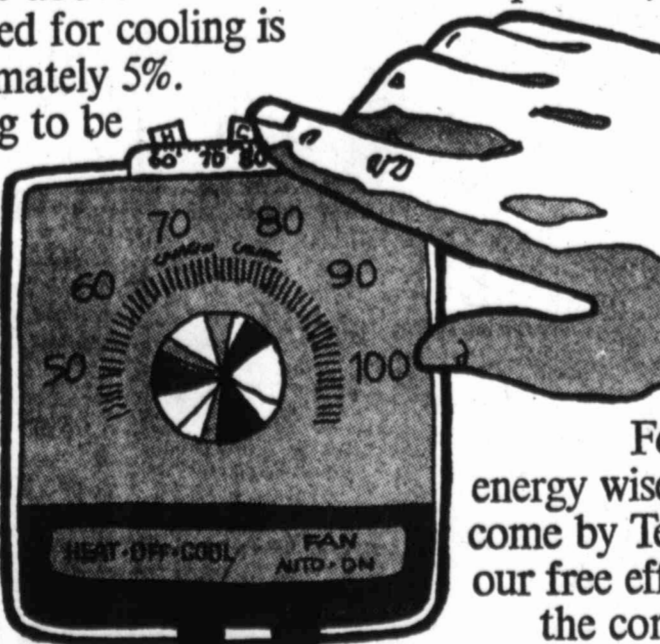

If you are going to be away from home for several hours or longer, either raise your air conditioning thermostat several degrees to a warmer setting or turn it off.

Here are some other things you can do:
Replace disposable filters or clean permanent type filters as required. Clogged filters make the air conditioning unit work harder and use more electricity.

Keep doors, windows and fireplace dampers closed to keep cooled air in and hot air out.

Keep direct sunlight out as much as possible. Use awnings over windows, or close draperies and blinds, or pull shades.

For more ideas on using energy wisely around your home, come by Texas Electric or request our free efficiency tips booklet on the comment portion of your electric service bill.

The meeting also gave the women an opportunity to meet with two of the outstanding Texas Division officers: Ms. Polly Orcutt, president, and Ms. Juanita Cole, first vice president. Ms. Orcutt and Ms. Cole described some of the current concerns of AAUW. Ms. Orcutt pointed out that the equal-rights amendment, campaign financing reforms, and equal funding for women in athletics are all important issues concerning AAUW nationally, as well as on the state level.

She further noted that members of AAUW in Texas was no small power since the Texas AAUW represents the sixth largest membership in the National Association of AAUW.

Ms. Grathwol announced a Division Workshop in El Paso on July 12 and 13. The summer conference will

Planning Is Topic

Mrs. Dale Smith was the speaker for the Thursday meeting of the Rosebud How To Grow Garden Club when members met in the home of Mrs. David Griford, 1211 E. 18th St.

Tickets for donations on a terrarium are on sale by club members and will continue until the second week in September. Also the fall flower show in conjunction with the garden club council will be held in September and Mrs. O. S. Womack urged all members to participate.

In Dilemma

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I dropped out of high school to be married. I am now 30, divorced, and have three children. We are totally dependant on welfare.

If I went to work I could earn $1.90 an hour as a motel maid, but here is my dilemma: I attend (but am not enrolled in) the poetry workshops of two colleges in my city. My teachers say I am very talented, and they urge me to stay with writing poetry. I have been published in some of the best literary magazines in the nation, and have had some very encouraging letters from editors, although they haven't paid me anything. My ambition is to become a major poet.

I have spent two years in therapy, but I can't psychoanalyze away my need to write poetry.

Now I must make a choice between my children's physical needs and what my family calls my "selfish ambition." I welcome your advice. POOR, SCORNE AND TORN DEAR P. S. AND T.: Since you are able to work I think you should get off welfare. Thus far your poetry has netted you only non-edible letters of encouragement. I advise you to get a paying job, and write poetry in your spare time.

DEAR ABBY: I am interested in the strange case of the woman who went to confession and was upset by the priest who confessed his own troubles to her. Even stranger was your advice that the priest should see a doctor!

So, here's the situation: If a woman confesses to a priest, she's religious; but if a priest confesses to a woman, he's sick.

My God, Abby, if that's the best you can do, you should quit. Why didn't you simply advise the poor fellow to go to another priest and confess?

INFIDELO DEAR INF.: The priest didn't merely "confess" to a woman — he broke down and wept — and to a parishioner who had come to HIM to confess yet. (This is healthy?)

True, another priest might have relieved the first priest's guilt by hearing his confession, but only a doctor can diagnose and treat one for an emotional disturbance, which appears to be the case here.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212.

'Scarlet Ribbons' Brown's Big Hit

Jim Ed Brown, who will be in the spotlight Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo — and for the rodeo dance immediately following in the Fair Barns — decided early in life that operating an Arkansas sawmill wasn't his forte.

He had a dream of being an entertainer, and with his sisters Maxine and Bonnie, they scratched up the ladder until the hit "Scarlet Ribbons," then followed with the clinching "Lampighter."

Bonnie and Maxine retired in 1966, but Jim Ed proved a star in his own right with such tunes as "Morning," "Southern Loving" and "Sometime Sunshine."

JIM ED BROWN
Big name in music

Equally at home in Carnegie Hall, Las Vegas or a high school auditorium, his easy manner and pleasant voice have earned him a top rung as star of the famous Grand Ole Opry, his own syndicated television show ("The Country Place") and a string of RCA hits.

Today, in a custom-built bus, his own road show tours the country. With him are the beautiful Cates Sisters, Margie and Marcy, who hold masters degrees from the Kansas City Conservatory which attests to their range from classical to country Western for a string and vocal sound of their own. These are backed up by the multi-talented Gems for best in modern listening music.

Margie and Marcy Cates come from Independence, Mo., but after pursuing their classical musical studies through the conservatory, they opted for Country Western and struck out for Nashville — and success.

Sons Of Founders Help Keep BS Rodeo Going

From an impromptu pasture party to a major production with fanfare and pageantry, action and appearances of top entertainment personalities, the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo has come a long way. That first show had a "rope" corral, and an arena lined by the home of the world's first rodeo, but there were many years when it did not have a show.

The famous Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford came into being about the same time as the Big Spring show. There were other rodeos in this area which flourished, like the Midland show, then faded.

That the Big Spring show kept going is a tribute to the determination, stamina and vision of the founders as much as anything.

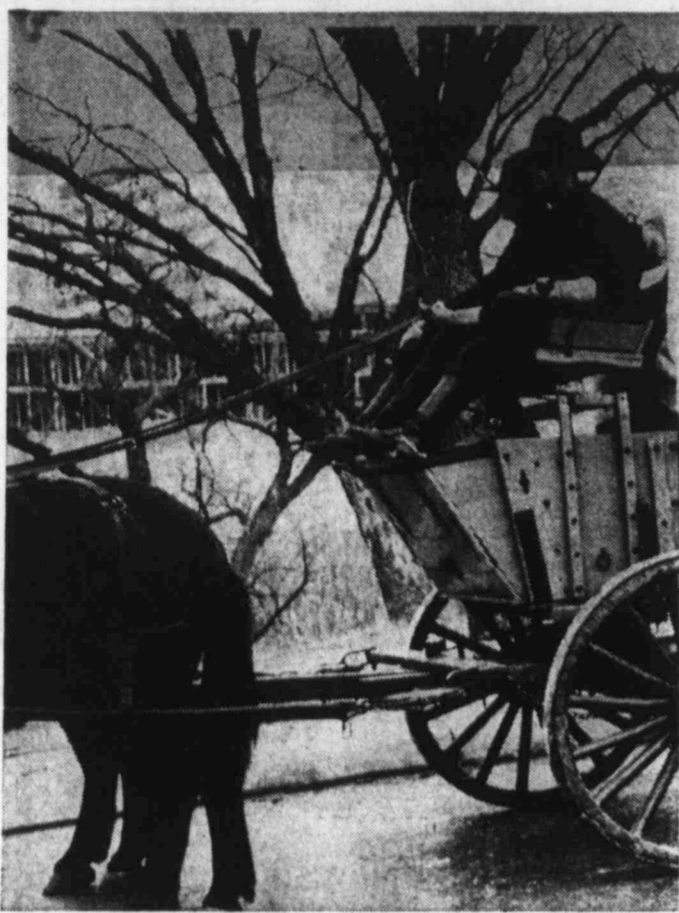

Only one of them, C. W. (Charlie) Creighton, is left of the original band, and he is president of the local show. However, there are some second and third generation ties. For instance, Harry Middleton and E. P. Driver are sons of R. V. Middleton and Ira Driver, two of the founders, and Skipper Driver is a grandson. Toots Mansfield and Bill Neal are sons in law of another founder, M. M. (Marion Edwards).

That first impromptu show held in southeast Big Spring on a Labor Day in 1933 was moved quickly into a permanent home the next year when the association headed by the late Tom Good acquired a tract of land between Settles and what became Birdwell Lane. Permanent corrals and a judges stand were installed at one end of a wire arena, and bleachers on either side. Within a year a grandstand was erected.

While the show wasn't produced formally during part of the World War II years, it was kept alive on a volunteer basis to furnish entertainment for the Big Spring Bombardier School personnel as well as the townspeople. With a demand for acreage for residences for a rapidly growing Big Spring after the war, the rodeo sold its site and moved to one in western Big Spring where a canyon furnished the contours for a natural bowl which was made permanent with the pouring of a concrete horseshow which can accommodate approximately 7,500 fans, including semi-circle of box seats.

Riders Adhere To '79 Book

The First Cavalry Division's renowned Horse Platoon, stationed at Fort Hood, Tex., will perform in the Big Spring Rodeo parade Wednesday afternoon and in the Rodeo Grand Entry Wednesday evening in celebration of the 41st Annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo here Wednesday, through Saturday.

Troopers from the Fort Hood unit will ride and demonstrate skills as they were employed by the cavalry a century ago. Some of the maneuvers on horseback will include the sabre course, the downed rider pickup and various other horsemanship drills by the unit.

The Platoon operates and trains under the 1879 United States Army Cavalry tactics manual and the uniform and equipment used by the platoon are based on that time period.

The horse cavalry platoon was organized in the Fall of 1971 to enhance army relations with the civilian community and to assist in the Division's unit of choice recruiting program. As a ceremonial troop, it carried on the traditions of the U.S. Cavalry of the old southwest.

Other features of the Rodeo Celebration, other than the Rodeo action itself, includes an appearance of Jim Ed Brown and the Cates Sisters and recording star Barbara Fairchild; and a calf dressing contest between various organizations an components at Webb AFB.

Rodeo performances begin nightly Wednesday through Saturday at 8:30 p.m., with the Rodeo parade beginning at 4 p.m. Wednesday.

SPEED AND ACTION are the keynotes of the girls barrel race, here shown by Terri Himes, Big Spring. The professional cowgirls have their own association. The Girls Rodeo Association, which last season approved 412 rodeos and offered a payoff total of $259,968. Terri finished in eighth place for the world championship, decided on the basis of money won over the season and at the National Finals Rodeo.

Pro Rodeo Is Native Sport

Pro rodeo, under the banner of the Rodeo Cowboys Association based in Denver, Colo., is a native American sport which has its roots in the post-Civil War era of the great cattle drives.

Rodeo events such as calf roping and saddle bronc riding evolved from the everyday life of working cowboys. In its early days, the sport was largely unorganized; there were no standard rules, and rodeo producers occasionally skipped town with the cowboys' prize money. On Oct. 30, 1926, however, at the Boston Garden rodeo in Massachusetts, a small group of cowboys realized there was only enough prize money at stake for top winners to barely pay expenses home.

The cowboys called a strike, refusing to compete in the rodeo until prize money was raised; they were successful, and that was the start of the Cowboys Rodeo Association, so named because "a turtle never gets anywhere if he doesn't stick his neck out." Within two years an approval system for all rodeos had been established, an official rule book distributed, and a process developed for choosing a board of directors.

At the CTA convention in 1945, the group was reorganized and renamed the Rodeo Cowboys Association, Inc., becoming a

Fort Worth, Tex. In 1950 the office was moved to Denver, Colo.

WHO STARTED SHOW Creighton Last Of Directors

"We thought Big Spring needed some kind of annual celebration and that nothing could be more appropriate than a Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo," Charlie Creighton, last surviving member of the original board of directors of the event, said here this week.

CHARLIE CREIGHTON

Back in 1934 when the show was organized, Tom Goode was president. Both Marion Edwards and Creighton were vice presidents and both declined to step up after Goode died and simply ran the board as joint vice presidents.

After Edwards died, Creighton became president and has served in this capacity ever since.

ORIGINAL GROUP
"Originally the board included Goode, Ira Driver, Edwards, Jess Slaughter, R. V. (Bob) Middleton, Harry Lees, and me. Today it includes myself as president; E. P. Driver, son of Ira as vice president; Malcolm Patterson, secretary; and Jimmy Taylor, treasurer."

"The board of directors includes Toots Mansfield and Bill Neal, both sons-in-law of Edwards; Harry Middleton, Bob's son; Skipper Driver, Ira's grandson, Rich Anderson, Dr. Hank Thompson, Kenny Thompson, Leland Wallace, Hezzie Reed and W. L. Wilson."

The first rodeo was held in an area a short distance west of where Howard College now stands. The present rodeo arena was constructed in 1950 and paid for that year.

The cowboy and rodeo association lets other groups use it during the year, if approved by the board.

LITTLE BIT BIGGER
"Our rodeo has gotten a little bit bigger each year with the top three years when we had Festus two years and last year 'Little Joe,'" Creighton stated. 'Little Joe' is Michael Landon of 'Bonanza' fame.

This year they will have stars from Tennessee's Grand Old Opry with one appearing the first two nights and another the final nights.

"Originally we all roped a little bit and thought it would be fun to have a rodeo. It's now quite a production. We start working on the next one as soon as one is over," Creighton added.

The board gets together in January to make concrete plans for the coming year but somebody has to keep up with details all year. And often that somebody is Creighton.

Workers Are Volunteers

The Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo is a non-profit, community operation. The 14 members of the board all volunteer their services. Whatever net proceeds may result from the show either are plowed back into improvements or are committed to helping with youth work, particularly those oriented to agriculture.

In addition, the association is generous in permitting the use of the Rodeo Bowl for many charitable and other affairs, such as the Shrine circus, horse shows, roping matches, livestock shows, etc. Much of the credit for the successful revival of the Howard County Fair is due to the association because it permitted use of its grounds and ample parking and show space, as well as use of the arena.

Owner Of Horse Is Also Greeter

CHANTILLY, France (AP) — The filly Highclere got a pat on the head from somebody special after winning a $140,000 race here—Queen Elizabeth II.

The Queen also happens to own Highclere, a filly that won the Prix de Diane by two lengths Sunday.

The queen is making her first visit to France since a 1972 state visit.

Barbara Fairchild Won First Contest As Child

It took Barbara Fairchild seven years to win her first contest as a vocalist as a child, but she made it to the big time in less. She will be featured at the rodeo Friday and Saturday, and the same evenings at the rodeo dance.

It wasn't exactly a smooth and meteoric rise. Until she was 13, Barbara lived in Knobel, Ark. where she sang "Peter Cottontail" at age five in a hometown contest. At the ripe age of 12, she finally hit the first prize of $10.

The following year her parents moved to St. Louis, Mo., where she expanded her singing career and signed a contract with Norman Records and cut a song called "A Brand New Bed of Roses." With a friend, she set out for Nashville and publisher Jerry Crutchfield suggested they go back home and write half a dozen more songs. Barbara came back with 15, and Crutchfield immediately signed her with Knapp Records. Two records were released, but they didn't fare so well.

AFTER RECEIVING PRISON SENTENCE — Herbert W. Kalmbach, former family lawyer and major campaign fund raiser for President Nixon, walks past newsmen as he leaves U.S. District Court Monday in Washington. Kalmbach was fined $10,000 and sentenced to a 6-18 month prison term for violations of federal election laws.

15th Watergate Figure Sentenced To Cell Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herert W. Kalmbach, President Nixon's personal attorney for four years, will begin serving a prison sentence of at least six months July 1.

The 15th Watergate figure to go to jail, Kalmbach was sentenced on federal charges Monday, the second anniversary of the June 17, 1972, Watergate break-in.

Kalmbach, 52, pleaded guilty Feb. 25 to a felony and a misdemeanor for violating federal campaign laws during the 1970 congressional elections.

In return for his plea and a willingness to testify in court, the special Watergate prosecutor agreed not to prosecute Kalmbach on his admitted role in raising $220,000 for the original Watergate defendants and in other related political activities.

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica sentenced him to six to 18 months on the felony count and a concurrent six months for the misdemeanor plus a fine of $10,000.

The maximum sentence Kalmbach could have received was two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Speed Counts With Ropers

In the timed events, calf roping and steer wrestling, winners are based solely on the fastest times.

In calf roping the cowboy must allow the calf a predetermined head start, then chase it on his horse and throw a loop around the calf's head, dismount and tie three legs with a small piece of rope called "a piggin' string." Time is stopped when the cowboy throws his hands in the air on completion of the tie; the calf must remain tied for six seconds before the time is official. Too fast a start cost 10 seconds.

The barrier rule applies to steer wrestling, too. In this event the contestant, mounted on a swift quarter horse, chases the steer which is being kept in a straight running line by the "hazer," an assistant who runs his horse on the other side of the animal. The contestant jumps from his horse to the steer's horns, often while traveling at a speed of 30 miles per hour, grabs the horns with both hands, then twists the steer to the ground for "time."

Pool Receipts Are Up Sharply

Swimming pool receipts for the first month of operation this year have already surpassed receipts for the entire summer season last year, according to James Campbell, utility director and City Manager Harry Nagel.

Orville Rau is managing the operation this year at the pool at Comanche Trails Park. Added this year have been football machines and a mickelodeon.

Bombing In Parliament Might Be Start Of IRA Offensive

LONDON (AP) — Senior Scotland Yard officials fear the bombing of historic Westminster Hall may be the start of a major summer offensive by the Irish Republican Army in England.

Police officials told the Times of London they believed the blitz would be aimed primarily at government buildings and political figures.

"This place is like Liberty Hall," said one worker. "No one asks for passes, and many people don't even have one."

Meanwhile in Northern Ireland, a 30-year-old policeman was killed when a parcel he found in an alley in Lurgan, 25 miles southeast of Belfast, exploded in his face.

Finesse Counts In Bronc Ride

Rodeo fans viewing bareback saddle bronc and bull riding should watch how hard the animal bucks and how well the cowboy rides. In bareback, cowboys must keep their feet above the horses' shoulders, and continue spurring with dulled spurs throughout the ride, keeping the free hand in the air.

In saddle bronc, the rider should maintain a smooth spurring stroke from the horse's neck to the rear of the saddle; this resembles an arc, and the longer the arc, the more points the rider earns. In bull riding, cowboys are not required to spur, but to hang on with one hand to a flat braided rope which encircles the bull behind the powerful shoulder muscles.

also hijacked two cars, loaded them with bombs and held a woman passenger from each hostage, while the drivers were forced to drive the bombs to their destination.

One explosion wrecked a tavern owned by a Protestant near the border with the republic, and the car blew up outside the police station in Ballymena, a Protestant town north of Belfast. No casualties were reported.

BOOBY-TRAPPED
Police stations in two rural communities also were destroyed by bombs. A 900-pound charge planted in a car wrecked the Stewartstown station. Bomb experts said they thought an explosion that wrecked the headquarters of the Royal Ulster Constabulary at nearby Coach was caused by a 500-pound explosive. Police spotted the booby-trapped cars in time to evacuate the police stations and avoid casualties.

Security forces blamed the bombings on the IRA. Earlier Monday, Geraldine Corrigan, 34-year-old mother of two, died of wounds sustained in a gun battle Saturday.

Dealer Regains Guru's Craft

DENVER (AP) — Guru Maharaja Ji's 22-foot cabin cruiser is back in the hands of the boat dealer.

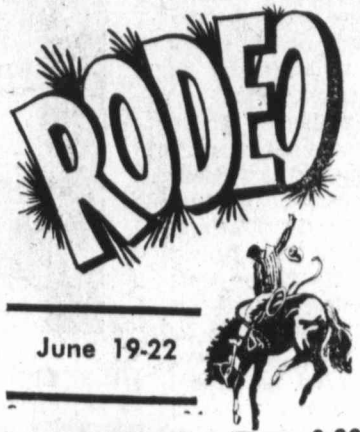

Followers of the 16-year-old religious leader gave him the boat as a wedding gift last month, but couldn't find a bank that would lend them the rest of the purchase price.

The purchasers put down $2,000 in cash. The balance was $7,200, according to the manager of the firm that sold the boat. "But their bank wouldn't give them a loan on the boat and neither would Bud Treat."

Wright Founded Own Firm 13 Years Ago
A resident of this community since 1952, Bruce Wright founded his own business, nine years later. Wright says he believes in earning the trust of the customer, adding: "We feel people of Big Spring and surrounding areas should do business with us, because it will benefit them to do so. We strive at all times to provide each and every customer who walks through our front door with the very best personal attention to their needs, whatever they may be and whatever department their needs may be in."
"We personally attack every problem that is brought to us, as if it were our own, for, in effect, it is our problem. These are 'our' people and we enjoy serving them."
Mrs. Wright's given name is Mary Ben. Other members of the family include David, 18, who graduated from the local high school the past May; and Mary Jane, 14, a student at BSHS.
The firm has become well known for the reliable way in which it expertly and expeditiously fills prescription orders and all doctors in town have learned to rely on that compliance.
Wright is a charter member and past president of the Big Spring Kennel Club, which stages several shows annually. Currently, he is serving the same organization on the board of directors.
"Our business is drugs," Wright said recently. "We are in business to fill prescriptions. However, we have a large variety of other merchandise...drug sundries, a large refrigerated candy case (containing the freshest candy in town), gifts. We are enlarging our gift department steadily and we always have something new for those shopping for a gift."
"Perhaps the most unique department in our pharmacy is our in-depth pet supplies department. In our pet supplies, as in all other areas of our store, we carry only the best quality products available. If it is not good or won't perform as it should, we will not allow it to remain on our shelves. Wright says he believes in earning the trust of the customer, adding: "We feel people of Big Spring and surrounding areas should do business with us, because it will benefit them to do so. We strive at all times to provide each and every customer who walks through our front door with the very best personal attention to their needs, whatever they may be and whatever department their needs may be in."

Winnings Count Toward Titles

When the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo claim that this a "world championship rodeo," it is no idle boast. Because the rodeo is sanctioned by the Rodeo Cowboys Association, all money earned by contestants in the Big Spring count toward the RCA world's championships which are determined on the basis of a point for every dollar earned in regularly scheduled events. One thing this does insure that top professional rodeo cowboys compete, insuring fans they are seeing the best.

DALLAS (AP) — Management officials at the Dallas Times Herald and Dallas Morning News told striking pressmen who offered to return to work Friday that most of their jobs already have been filled. Richard Blum, vice president of the News, said the pressmen's union notified the paper that the 190 strikes were willing to return to work unconditionally. "We advised the pressmen that we had only relatively few openings for pressmen at both newspapers," Blum said. He said the new employees had permanent positions. Blum added that the pressmen told him, "either we all go back to work or none do." The strike began May 2 over the issue of whether there should be a minimum number of employees manning presses.

SHOULD HAVE MINIMAL IMPACT ON CONSUMERS Exporters Order Hike In Royalties

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — The world's major oil exporting nations have agreed on a 2 percent increase in royalty rates that should have a minimal effect on consumers.

The increase announced Monday by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries after a three-day meeting in the Ecuadorian capital is about 11 cents a barrel or a quarter of a cent a gallon.

POSTED PRICES
With the royalty increase, the 13-nation meeting agreed to continue for another three months their freeze on posted prices put into effect last January.

Saudi Arabia, the biggest exporter, had proposed lowering prices while the other 12 OPEC members advocated some form of increase, either in the posted price or in taxes, to keep pace with inflation.

Saudi Arabia disassociated itself from the royalty increase, officially to await the outcome of its negotiations to take over more stock in the Arabian American Oil Co.

Shettima Ali Monguno, Nigeria's commissioner of mines and energy, said the other countries voted for the nominal increase partly as a warning that OPEC would take tougher action unless the industrialized nations bring their galloping inflation under control.

That inflation stems in part from the quadrupling of oil prices by OPEC last year. But prices have been frozen since the first of the year and will now remain so through Sept. 30.

Royalty rates among OPEC members now vary between 12½ and 16 percent. The conference statement said the increase was decided on as a first step toward uniformity.

In countries where the royalty rate already is 16 percent, such as Venezuela, the government will raise taxes to get an equivalent amount, the statement said.

ARABIAN CRUDE
Arabian light crude, a commonly used oil benchmark, has a posted price of $11.65 a barrel and a royalty rate of 12½ percent. The posted price is an artificial price on which the oil-exporting countries calculate their tax take. The 2 percent increase would raise royalties by 23 cents to $1.69. But because the royalties and 10-cents-a-barrel production costs are subtracted from the posted price before calculating the taxes, the net increase works out to only 10 to 11 cents.

The total government take on taxes and royalties has been $7 a barrel. The oil companies have been selling the oil for between $9 and $9.50 a barrel.

Texas Worms May Infect Cattle

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma cattle may be threatened by screwworms from Texas, according to a state agricultural official.

Dr. John Holcomb, director of the animal division of the department, says officials have detected an outbreak of the flesh-eating pest just across the state line from Altus.

This is the worst outbreak in Texas in two years and Oklahoma also had a massive outbreak two years ago.

Officials fear another outbreak may be just as widespread.

The government produces more than 200 million sterile screwworm flies each week in Mission, Tex., to halt the spread of the pest. But the effort, plus a Mexican buffer zone, has been unsuccessful.

Five Are Named To New Council

W. J. (Bill) Shepherd, Mary Joy Cowper, Tom Locke, Dave Brazel and John Currie were named to the newly created Big Spring Economic Advisory Council by City Council Monday afternoon.

The group was named to the council, because City Manager Harry Nagel said City Council members could not serve, according to a legal interpretation.

Today or Wednesday, the council is to meet. Serving two-year terms, the council is expected to meet only a couple of times yearly.

Four Adrift 52 Days Safe

BALLINA, Australia (AP) — Two men and two women who spent 52 days marooned on a remote coral reef said today they lived on food from their wrecked yacht and seawater they distilled over driftwood fires.

The rescued were the Welsh skipper Irfon Nicholas, 38, Australians Peter Lindemayer, 13, and Christine Braham, 23, and Geraldine Yorke, 23, of New Zealand. Nicholas had gotten the crew together by advertising.

Miss Braham, a former schoolteacher, said the crew lived aboard the rusting hulk of a Japanese fishing boat, an earlier victim of the reef.

"We didn't think we'd ever get off the reef. Until the trawler showed up we didn't see a single ship."

The key to many hands is control of the trump suit. Declarer failed to provide for the possibility of a bad break on today's hand, and paid the price.

The auction was routine. Once North could offer a free raise to two spades, South was good enough to leap to game, for his hand revalued to 17 points. Note the difference had West not overcalled and North then raised to two spades. In that case South could do no more than suggest game, preferably with a bid of three clubs.

West led the king of hearts and continued with the ace. The hand seemed routine, so declarer ruffed without giving the matter much thought.

A trump to the king and a trump back to the ace revealed the 4-1 break and declarer's plight began to dawn on him. He could no longer afford to extract all the trumps, because that would run him out of trumps, and when the defenders gained the lead with the ace of clubs they would be able to cash the rest of the heart suit. Declarer therefore abandoned trumps and led the queen of clubs in an effort to force the ace. West followed low and East started an echo by playing the eight. West won the jack of clubs continuation with the ace and played a third club for his partner to ruff. There was no place declarer could put his diamond loser, so he went down one.

Declarer lost the hand at trick two. Had he taken the time to work out that a 4-1 trump break, which was not too unlikely in view of West's overall, would imperil his contract, he could have taken preventive measures. Instead of ruffing the second heart, declarer should have discarded his losing diamond. This simple counter-measure would have secured the contract. If the defenders persisted with a third heart, declarer could ruff in dummy, draw trumps and force out the ace of clubs while he still had a trump to control the heart suit. Any other defense would make declarer's lot even easier.

Utility Customers Will Vent Anger At Hearing

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Irrate utility customers will have a chance Tuesday to vent their anger about increased rates at a public meeting in the city's convention center.

They're due to hear explanations of sudden steep cost increases directly from the chairman of the Coastal States Gas Corp., whose subsidiary Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. supplies San Antonio's natural gas.

Mayor Charles Becker says Coastal States chairman Oscar Wyatt will provide full background on the new rates, which some consumers have said are double or triple former charges.

Becker said he does not understand how utility charges could have increased so drastically when the rate increase granted two weeks ago by the city council was 19 per cent.

At a news conference Saturday, consumers complained bitterly to city officials. Homeowner Melvin Powers, said his bill jumped from $44.02 to $157.35. He said officials of City Public Service (CPS) rechecked the figures for him, judged them correct and told him "there was nothing for me to get excited about."

CPS board chairman Tom Berg said he feels increased use of air conditioning is the chief reason for large utility bills.

One concerned citizen, L. V. Lewis, vice principal of Vestal Elementary School in suburban Harlandale, said, "I stand ready to lead a users' strike against City Public Service and its zooming utility bills. My home bill of $121.18 is simply out of reason. Coastal States and Lo-Vaca should have been sued long ago."

Lo-Vaca Gathering Co. was placed under receivership last year after complaints that it failed to deliver natural gas supplies contracted to San Antonio, Austin and other South Texas customers.

What's Quality?

It may be some consolation to learn that even the specialists don't know if the general quality of the nation's water is getting better or worse or is indifferent.

One reason is that different people mean different things when they talk about the quality of water. "We have not generally agreed upon single set of criteria that can be used as a yardstick to characterize natural water supplies."

So said Dr. V. E. McKelvey, director of the U.S. Geological Survey, in an address before the recent Seventh International Water Quality Symposium in Washington, D.C.

Another reason, he said, is that in many places in the United States we lack the "baseline data" from which we can begin to measure changes in water quality — on the one hand the presumably good changes resulting from pollution control programs, and on the other hand the bad, caused by continuing agricultural, industrial and urban development.

There's one rule of thumb, however. "Considering that most of the water returned to the environment is of lower quality than when it was withdrawn, and that the amount withdrawn and returned has been increasing at the rate of about three per cent per year, we say with some confidence the water quality in the over-all has been declining."

To say that, of course, "is not very helpful," added McKelvey. He reported, however, that the

No Speedy Solution

The European Community of Nine has been asked with some urgency by Belgium and West Germany to set uniform speed limits among member countries. The motives of Germany, especially, are not completely pure.

The Bonn government, for reasons of road safety, recently tried unsuccessfully to set a speed limit on autobahns. What was produced was a "recommended" speed limit of 80 miles an hour, but the actual legal limit is whatever the motorist can attain.

The Brussels government argument is a bit more complicated. It cannot bear to see or hear of government is in the process of establishing the data base required to determine trends in water quality.

The International Water Quality Symposium, an every-other-year affair, is sponsored by the non-profit Water Quality Research Council in Lombard, Ill.

motorists driving a steady 100 miles an hour in Germany, or 87.5 miles an hour in France, or 70 miles an hour in Britain. This amounts to a sinful wastage of gasoline and diesel fuel, the Belgians believe, in sharp contrast to the austerity imposed on them.

A respectable argument can and has been made for uniform speed limits in the European Community. But the hint of reduced national sovereignty probably will forbid agreement, possibly on the grounds that each nation is the best judge of how many residents and visitors should be killed on the highway each year.

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

It has been said that one measure of a good writer or speaker is the volume of material in his wastebasket. Apply that formula to me and I might stack up as a pretty fair country editor.

I MUST, however, in all honesty, admit that the content of my wastebasket, which approximates the volume of a No. 2 wash tub, is not entirely the result of creative selectivity. It accrues more from a process of hurried screening to separate the wheat from the chaff.

What reaches this point is probably small potatoes to a large operation, but these are so departmentalized that I doubt editors there look at this much junk — I beg your pardon — material.

TODAY THERE were more than 50 first class letters, which means that someone put down $5 postage for these alone, of which probably 10 per cent will deserve a second look. I have no way of knowing, but I venture that when the cost of creating, reproducing, inserting, and mailing a letter is considered, these represent an investment of 50 cents to a dollar each. So you can see what is the value going into the waste basket.

OH, I forgot to mention the flow of material from the government, its functionaries and its agencies. Today there was a letter from the congressman, one from each of the senators, one from the treasury, one from the department of interior, General Services Administration, department of agriculture, environmental protection agency, HEW, department of labor, plus some from the extension service, state department of health, department of agriculture.

THESE ARE just the letter mail — which is fortified by a dozen pieces posted at bulk (or junk mail) rates — and does not touch the larger items which range up to an occasional parcel. The postage and cost of this exceeds that of letter mail. Today, being a good day over-sized mail included a styrofoam "frozen food plant" from Pacific Intrapak. Sometimes there will be a box of new cereal, new detergent, or fragrance for the women's department.

DAILY THERE is a flow of airmail containing syndicated columns, frequently the supply of cartoons and comics. Occasionally an agency will send in materials which lend themselves to use, such as one today telling about a new flight simulator for Webb in due season. Occasionally there will be pictures of brides, of graduates, former residents, stories of local student achievement, area meetings, etc.

MOSTLY, HOWEVER, the mail — large and small — is from companies or agencies seeking to get a free ride for "news" that properly belongs in the advertising column. I suppose, however, they get enough of it published to warrant continuing the practice. But for the most part one glance is sufficient to consign it to the wastebasket. Some mail is laid aside for a second appraisal, or for condensation if useable, or reading at a more leisurely moment. And this is my undoing — the thing that makes my desk, cadenza, and nearby chairs and file cabinet tops look worse than the wastebasket.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

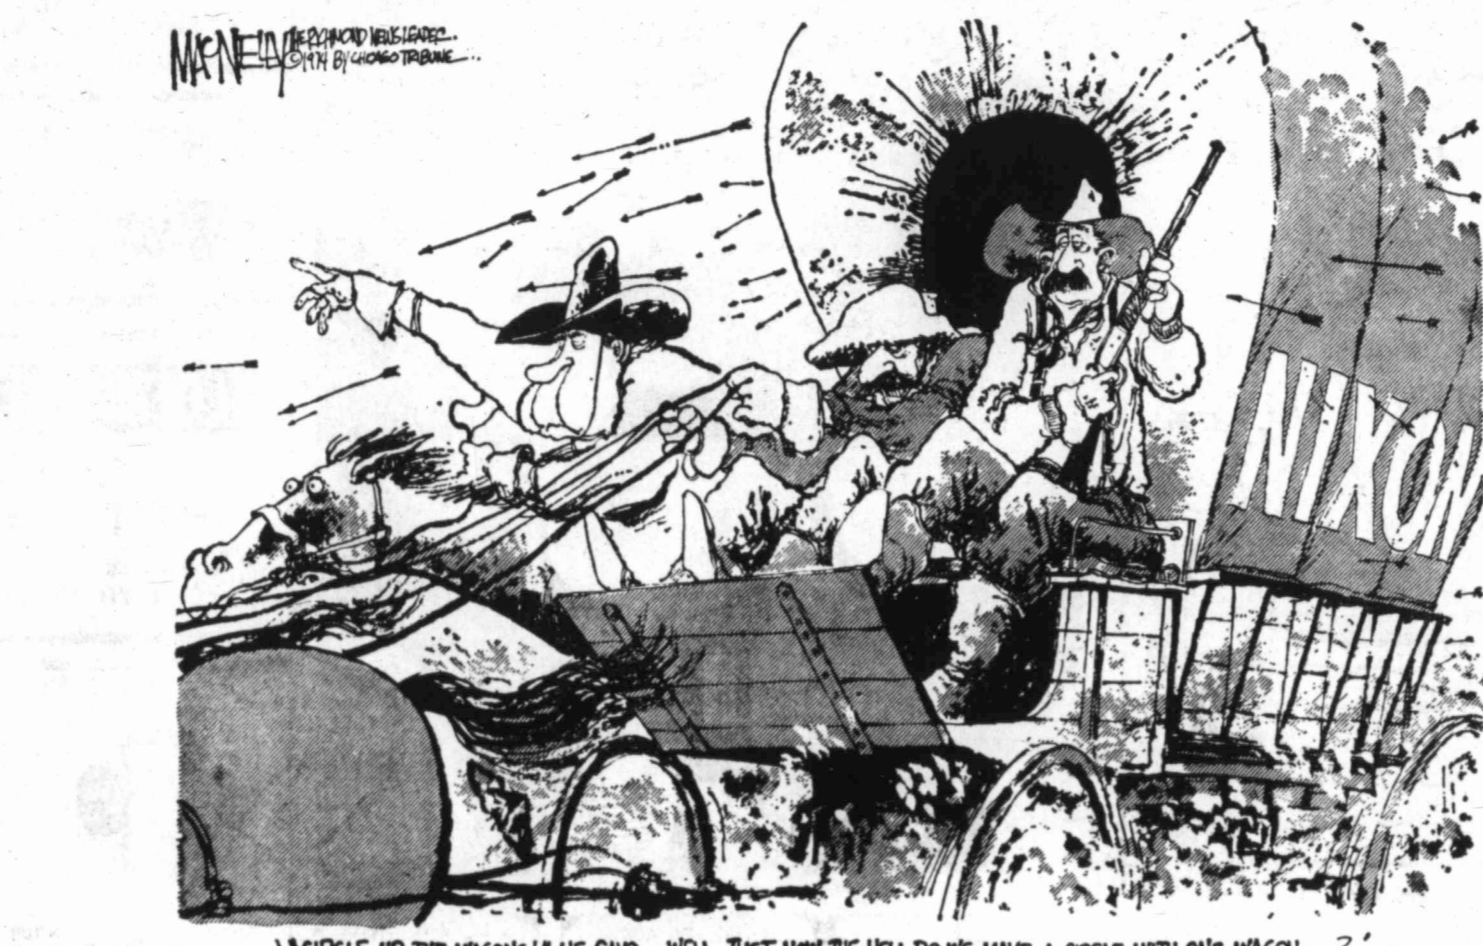

Let me offer a postscript to the question you handled recently about nervous problems. Most people don't understand that you don't get healed from nerves like you do when a broken bone mends. I've made a recovery of sorts, but I've discovered you then live with your "nervous nature" all your life. You never get off "dead center" as you suggested.

Just a minor correction first. It was the questioner, not I who used the phrase "getting off dead center."

I understand, of course, that some maladies are corrected slower than others. But I don't think anyone suffering a nervous disease should have any goal less than a return to normalcy.

Now what is normal is a variable, of course, dependent on training, maturity and inherited characteristics. But there is a flaw in your thinking, if it permits a rationalization of your weakness, rather than a determined effort to offset it.

The 16th chapter of the Bible of Acts shows two extremes of emotional reactions. The conversion of the jailer came through an emotional outburst (verse 27-29), whereas apparently Lydia found the new life of faith in quiet meditation (verse 14). But the marvel of the Christian faith is that whatever our emotional make-up, Christ can provide our particular abilities with their highest and happiest enjoyment. Ponder the prayer of the Psalmist in chapter 25: "Turn to me and show me thy favor, for I am lonely and oppressed. Relieve the sorrows of my heart, and bring me out of my distress. Look at my misery and my trouble, and forgive me every sin."

Penny Can Loom Large

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The announcement by the Treasury that stores could offer customers change in scrip instead of pennies during the penny shortage seems innocuous enough. After all, what's a penny worth?

Most customers will agree: Not much. It's when the pennies are bunched, such as when the price of a can of peas is raised to 26 cents from 23 cents, that customers are irked. One penny, though, is hardly worth worrying about.

Maybe so. But if you reviewed grocery store economics you might change your mind. A penny, insignificant as it seems to be, represents the profit on $1 of sales at many stores. At some it might be the profit on $2 of sales.

One penny to each of a thousand customers isn't going to impress any one of them. But a thousand pennies that customers fail to redeem makes a mighty impression on stores. It may be as good as $1,000 in sales.

The question arises, therefore, about how people will use the scrip that some stores will be inclined to issue.

Will they carefully safeguard it and trade it in for goods on their next trip to the store? Or will they discard it?

Inflation discriminates, especially when it is concentrated in the basic necessities of life. Food is probably the most basic need, and that is where the biggest price increases have been concentrated.

While it is true that the rich do spend more money on food than do the poor, there is a limit to how much either can consume before their appetites are satisfied. As a percentage of income, food expenditures therefore might be only 10 per cent for some of the rich.

The poor, however, sometimes never reach a point of satiety. Instead, they might spend more than 30 per cent of income on food and still be unable to satisfy the requirements of nutrition or the desires of taste.

The Labor Department has just released three hypothetical budgets, for a family living on a minimum income, an intermediate budget and a high budget. The low one includes no luxuries; the high budget includes many.

In the period from autumn 1972 to autumn 1973, the department said, the low budget for an urban family of four rose 10.8 per cent, but the intermediate budget increased only 10.3 per cent and the high only 9.9.

The main reason: food prices. The increase during the period was around 19 per cent, and that increase pertained to both the rich and the poor.

That same study demonstrated also how inflation discriminates geographically. It cost more to live in a metropolitan area than in a rural area, and more to live in the North than in the South.

On the lower budget, for example, it cost $7,233 to live in Austin, Tex., $8,988 in Boston, and $12,010 in Anchorage, Alaska.

Backwash Of Web

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Henry Kissinger's first serious thought of resigning came not last week but in April 1973, as the Watergate crisis exploded — and it was directly linked to his precarious position as an outsider in the Nixon White House.

FOR FOUR years, Kissinger had been the target of chief of staff H. R. Haldeman, who used to refer to him in the inner sanctums as "Superkraut." Despite rising popularity and diplomatic triumphs, Kissinger always felt imperiled. Partly from that sense of siege came his ready consent to wiretap his own aides in the name of security. From it, too, came his brooding 14 months ago that the wiretaps would someday be used to entangle him in Watergate.

HE WAS prophetic. Intimates are convinced that Haldeman's chief associate, John D. Ehrlichman, has leaked information against him. But the irony of his resignation threat is this: it fortifies both Mr. Nixon and indicted Watergate conspirators, including Haldeman and Ehrlichman. One House Judiciary Committee member said this has "robbed impeachment of its viability."

All now seem under the same tent. Mr. Nixon and his disgraced aides benefit from association with Nobel Prize winner Kissinger. But both his brilliant career and American foreign policy are threatened.

SUSPICION OF Kissinger by the Haldeman gang came from his associations: Harvard professors, Georgetown dinner parties, Vietnam sessions with Nixon-haters. He had also hired scorned "Eastern elitists."

In the parasitic White House, where everyone beyond Haldeman's inner circle was an enemy, Kissinger's political antecedents as intimate adviser of Mr. Nixon's political foe, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, were suspect.

KISSINGER HAD his own ample share of paranoia, and the Nixon White House polished it. Thus, two years ago Kissinger ended an early-morning Oval Office session with the President and Haldeman to keep a breakfast appointment. When Haldeman asked who with, he named the author of a new Nixon book.

"He's no friend of ours," Haldeman exploded in anger. Kissinger turned to the President and said the book had praised the Nixon foreign policy, but that he had skipped the rest of it. Mr. Nixon was amused, but Haldeman was outraged.

WHEN THE decision was made in May 1969 to start tapping telephones of reporters and National Security aides, Kissinger offered not the slightest resistance. He himself was enraged at the leaks. They threatened his network of secret diplomatic activity. He felt that a government unable to keep its secrets could not operate.

But beyond that was his own endangered flank. Surrounded by aides whom Haldeman regarded as Nixon enemies, Kissinger was "holier than the Pope," listing his closest associates on the National Security staff among those having access to secret information.

WHEN WATERGATE broke, Kissinger quietly suggested that both Haldeman and Ehrlichman resign in Mr. Nixon's interest. They did not react favorably, and Ehrlichman later became a source of newspaper stories seeming to link Kissinger into the enveloping scandal. Kissinger kept silent, but even in April 1973 he was privately talking resignation if a spurious tie-in connected him with Watergate. Thus, when he went public in Salzburg, the words that flowed had been practiced in his mind for many months.

Keep Those Shoes Dry

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Our son is 15 and has recurring trouble with blisters on his feet, especially in warm weather.

All clinical tests for fungus, athlete's foot and possible infectious condition of the skin have been negative. And the blisters still come and go. Since it seems the skin on his feet is supersensitive, can you suggest anything to help him? — O.F.P.

One possibility, often overlooked, is a chemical dermatitis due to materials in the shoes. (Or socks — but washing usually removes anything troublesome from socks. You don't wash shoes.) There are a host of potential offenders in shoes — glue, cement, rubber, dyes, synthetic materials, so many that I couldn't list them all.

In hot weather, when the feet perspire, moisture can leach more of the irritating substance from the shoes, besides which the moist skin is more vulnerable.

My suggestion is to consult a qualified shoe man because special shoes are available for people with this type of trouble. In addition, pay scrupulous attention to keeping the feet clean and dry (foot powder to help keep them dry); change socks daily; never wear the same shoes two days in succession, and if possible let shoes dry longer than a day between wearings. A podiatrist or dermatologist (skin specialist) might have other suggestions.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have angina pectoris, and when I take a nitroglycerin tablet it goes away. It is such a relief to be free of discomfort that I find myself reaching for the tablets with more and more frequency at the first twinges instead of waiting for the actual onset of pain.

How frequently can these be taken? Sometimes I take four or five a day. I also would like your booklet on angina and I enclose a stamped, self-addressed, envelope and 25 cents. — Mrs. C.S.

I think the booklet will clear up your questions, but here's the answer anyway: you can take nitroglycerin as often as you need it; it won't harm you and it won't lose effect from repeated use. Your four or five a day is not by any means a large number.

However, here's something you might discuss with your doctor. Long-lasting nitro preparations are available which can be taken two or three times a day. The principal advantage is that you don't have to reach for the pill box as frequently.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 45 and for the last year have been bothered with blepharospasm or "eyelid twitching." Is there any help for this? It is hard to drive, read of watch TV. What about any new drugs, or maybe acupuncture? — Mrs. A.H.

The causes that come first to mind are "nerves," irritation of the eye as in conjunctivitis, of a refractive error (meaning you need glasses). Your eye doctor would be the one to make the diagnosis and prescribe treatment. I cannot recommend a drug to control the twitching without first knowing the underlying cause. I haven't heard of acupuncture in relation to his, either.

Pacifying Signal

William F. Buckley Jr.

The Democrats are not even bothering to conceal their strategy. Which, in the current season, is a combination of good sense and good politics. What's bad for the Republican party is good for the country, they are saying in effect; but it must not be made to look as though they are opportunistic on the misfortunes of President Nixon. Thus when a few weeks ago Mr. Nixon appeared on television to announce the publication of the tapes, Sen. Mansfield, speaking for the Democratic party, graciously declined the proffered video time to dispute with Mr. Nixon. They have all felt that if Nixon is going to be impeached and convicted, it must be accomplished in a non-factional, even non-polemical way.

BY CONTRAST, the Republicans have no strategy. Last week, Sen. Dole, running for reelection in Kansas, and himself formerly chairman of the Republican National Committee, spoke candidly about his difficulties. 1. He is not permitted to say anything anywhere except something that relates to Nixon and Watergate — audiences simply yawn when he speaks about such distractions as world peace or the energy crisis. 2. Half his audience oppose Nixon, and wish to hear from Sen. Dole that the time has come to get Nixon off the back of the Republican party. 3. Half his audience are prepared to die for Nixon (and probably will).

Sen. Dole gave an example of his dilemma. Someone asked him a few weeks ago whether President Nixon would fly in to campaign for him. Sen. Dole replied jauntily that he would be glad if President Nixon would "fly over." In better natured years this would be accepted as an adroit compromise between a resolutely pro-Nixon and a resolutely anti-Nixon position. For Sen. Dole it resulted in angry letters from the loyalists, including such statements as: "For this offense I'll never vote for you, and will see to it that my family and friends don't either."

Henry The Husband

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The one question I keep getting asked when I'm on the road is: "What kind of husband will Henry Kissinger make?" It's a hard one to answer, but on the basis of Henry's recent behavior, Mrs. Kissinger is going to discover that it isn't easy to be married to the super-negotiator of the world.

THIS IS THE kind of situation that could come up.

"Henry, I forgot to buy bread for the smoked salmon for our dinner party tonight. Would you go down to the supermarket and get a couple of loaves?"

Henry replies, "Of course, my dear."

He returns in a half-hour. "What kind of bread did you want, rye or white?"

"It really doesn't matter, Henry. Either one will do."

"IT'S NOT GOING to be that easy. The supermarket has more white than it does rye and therefore they have put the white bread up in the front and the rye bread in the back. They're demanding guarantees that I buy two loaves of white for every loaf of rye. I've taken the position we should have the right to buy the rye bread without having to purchase the white bread."

"For heaven's sake, Henry, the guests are coming in 45 minutes. Will you go back and get the bread?"

HENRY COMES BACK after 15 minutes. "The supermarket has agreed to sell me the rye without having to buy the white, but they raised the problem of the size of the loaf. If we get the large loaf, we get three cents off, but that means we'd only need a loaf and a half. But if we get the small loaf, we'd need two and the price would be prohibitive. What do you suggest we do?"

"Henry, I need bread for the dinner. Would you please go back and bring some home?"

HENRY WENT BACK TO THE store and returned again.

"I think I've worked out a compromise, Nancy. If we get rolls instead of bread we won't have the problem of choosing sizes. The supermarket has indicated it would consider selling us rolls at the special price providing we buy a jar of peanut butter that they're pushing as part of the 4th of July sale. I told them I would bring the offer back to you and lay it on the table."

"Henry, I don't care if it's peanut butter or jelly or cream cheese as long as you get the bread."

"They didn't raise the question of jelly or cream cheese, but I'll tell them you'd rather have that than peanut butter."

A Devotion For Today . .

"He that loveth me shall be loved of my Father, and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him." (John 14:21)
PRAYER: Our Father, we remember Jesus. And as we think of the things He did for us and the things He said, we want to be like Him. We are grateful for His example. Help us to be faithful to His name by the way we live. Amen.

Return To County Home Rule Battle

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Constitutional Convention delegates return to the county home rule battle today with county court house sentiments running strong against any efforts to change their present methods.

Legislators-delegates tabled 80-71 late Monday a "pure" home rule charter amendment that would let voters of a county decide what form of government the county should have, including whether county officials should be appointed or elected and what length terms they would serve.

Several other amendments on county home rule charter elections were pending today.

"I know that some county judges don't like this and some sheriffs don't like it and some legislators don't like it," said Rep. James Kaster, D-El Paso, "but let's give the people a chance to say if they like it."

Sen. Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells, claimed Kaster's amendment was "just a power grab" and "if this is adopted we would be taking on every courthouse in Texas."

Earlier, county officials, who have exercised their power several times during the convention, won another round when an amendment was adopted 88-42 to provide a constant for every justice precinct.

The amendment replaces a provision that the convention approved some time ago giving a county commission power to hire one or more constables in each county.

Another amendment was approved 66-27 giving the legislative power to provide for the collection of taxes by political subdivisions. "This means that the 3,300 agencies we have collecting taxes now could be consolidated into 254 tax collection offices, one in each county," said Rep. Wayne Pevele, D-Orange.

Collecting $160,000 In Bail Bond Forfeits

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas County has begun collecting $160,000 in two-year-old bail bond forfeits from a New Jersey insurance firm, the Dallas News reported today.

Individuals in the sheriff's office and the district attorney's office have blamed each other for not collecting the money sooner from International Fidelity Insurance Co. of Newark, N.J.

SHERIFF'S DEAL

A spokesman for the office of Sheriff Clarence Jones said, "I believe the district attorney's office would have to file a suit against a company in New Jersey."

Wilson Johnson, assistant district attorney who negotiated a settlement with the New Jersey firm, said his office "never had any responsibilities with respect to execution because that's just the sheriff's deal."

The county recently collected $93,000 from the company after it agreed to relax efforts that had forced the firm temporarily to stop doing business in Texas.

Nagel Attending Houston Hearing

Harry Nagel, city manager and Bob Butler, city personnel director, leave Wednesday to attend a two-day meeting in Houston concerning labor relations.

The city officials are particularly interested in rulings and regulations which affect municipal unions and municipal wage and hour regulations. The meeting will be held at the University of Houston.

promised to pay the remaining $67,000 in three monthly payments beginning July 1.

District Clerk Bill Shaw moved to collect the forfeitures last March, two years after the sheriff's office had asserted it could find no Texas property to foreclose. The State Insurance Board then moved to suspend International Fidelity's right to do business in Texas.

PUZZLE

The News quoted company president Phil Konvitz as saying he had not known about the judgments against his firm until Dallas County complained to the insurance board.

John G. Foley, New Jersey's chief insurance examiner, said he was puzzled why International Fidelity could not pay the $160,000 in cash. He was quoted by the News as saying, "They have a surplus of $1,105,770 and total assets of $3,964,000. We are a little disturbed about the news that they didn't pay (before the settlement). They tell us it was all a mistake."

GAVE JAILERS BEEF?

Checked Into Motel Rather Than Jail

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Jack Bradley has been sentenced to two more years imprisonment, and this time U.S. District Court Judge Halbert Woodward guaranteed his cell will have bars on the windows.

Bradley, 30, was sentenced Monday to two years in the penitentiary for serving part of a four-month jail sentence on weekends in a motel at Lawton, Okla.

Bradley, from Tulia, Tex., was convicted here last November on charges of making false statements to acquire loans. He was sentenced to 20 months probation and four months in a "jail-type institution."

However, Judge Woodward gave Bradley permission in February to serve his term only on weekends at the county jail in Lawton, Okla. He would get credit for three days in jail by reporting at 5 p.m. each Friday and checking out at 8 a.m. each Monday.

Bradley testified Monday he began checking into a motel rather than the jail after the first weekend when he made several good friends among jailers and deputies.

He said he checked into the motel so his son wouldn't have to see him in jail. He also contended that other jails in the area practiced the motel arrangement.

Judge Woodward, however, refused to accept that explanation. "I don't buy your explanation that they opened the door and said, 'Mr. Bradley walk out,'" the judge said.

He said Bradley made the motel arrangement "in complicity" with jail officials. Bradley testified he gave the jailers two sides of beef but he planned to bill them later for the meat.

Additional Grant Goes To College

Cong. Omar Burleson announced approval of a supplemental college work study grant to Howard College in the amount of $20,000 for an estimated 43 student awards.

Federal funds will provide 80 per cent of the payroll and a matching college for off-campus agency contribution will provide the remaining 20 per cent.

Pro Couple Stage Rodeo

No newcomers to the rodeo circuit are the producers of the annual Big Spring show.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Steiner Jr. (Tommy and Beverley) have been at the business of staging world championship rodeos for 22 years now.

They operate from the base of their X-S ranch near Austin where Steiner collects and conditions steers, bucking broncs, calves and bulldogging steers he thinks have potential for being downright cantankerous. Many of his bulls and broncs are picked for the National Rodeo finals.

Mrs. Steiner is a complement to the act in that she concentrates on costuming, staging specialties and the fine points which add action and zip to a show.

It has been estimated that they play to more than a million spectators in the major shows they produce from coast-to-coast. This has given rise to a quip that "There's nothing finer than a Steiner" when it comes to rodeo.

Steiner, in two hitches, has produced nearly half of the shows here, and all of them have his personal attention.

Velasco's Bond Set By Judge

A $1,000 bond was set by Judge John R. Coffee Jr. on Ernesto G. Velasco for carrying a prohibited weapon on licensed premises.

Velasco was charged by city police for carrying a gun inside the Tap Room. He was in the city jail this morning to be transferred to the county jail.
