President's Position Shaken By Evidence?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some members of the House Judiciary Committee say a taped presidential conversation heard by the committee indicates President Nixon may have been aware of the Watergate cover-up at least as early as March 17, 1973.

But other committee members disagreed.

A tape heard by the committee Tuesday indicated to some committee members that Nixon knew of the cover-up at least as early as March 17, 1973.

significant in their view. They said the apparent discrepancy raises doubts about Nixon's Watergate explanations. He repeatedly has given March 21 as the date he first learned of efforts centered in the White House to contain the spreading scandal.

LISTENING

The committee heard an excerpt from a June 4, 1973, tape made while Nixon was listening to a number of tapes and commenting about them to aides Alexander M. Haig Jr. and Ronald L. Ziegler.

Members said Nixon's comments about a March 17 conversation he had with his former counsel, John W. Dean III, indicated he and Dean discussed the Watergate cover-up then. Members could not hear the tapes Nixon was listening to.

Stung by criticism of a new leak of a confidential committee memorandum, members were reluctant to discuss what they heard.

But May 21, in a press briefing, Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., had said the June 4 tape showed the March 17 meeting with Dean included "a discussion of the Watergate matter and the possible involvement of White House personnel and others."

"I'll stick by that statement," Rodino said Tuesday; other members said after hearing the tape they agreed with it.

Asked whether he now had doubts that Nixon first learned of the cover-up March 21, Rep. Edward Mezvinsky, D-Iowa, said, "Yes."

NOT SO CERTAIN

Some members, however, were not so certain. Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., said "It's not open and shut." And Rep.

Charles Wiggins, R-Calif., said that although Nixon got "an inkling" of the cover-up March 17, it was clear he did not get the full story until March 21.

The March 17 tape is one of 42 the committee subpoenaed April 19, but for which it got a White House-edited transcript instead. The transcript contains no reference to a discussion of Watergate.

Meanwhile, former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst told the Senate Judiciary Committee that he stayed deliberately aloof from the original Watergate investigation.

Put All Voters On The Ballot

BEVERLY BEACH, Fla. (AP) — There's never a voter recognition problem during local elections in this tiny Atlantic Coast town. All 18 registered voters know each other, and they're all on the ballot.

"We just put everybody on the slip," says city clerk Marcella Leatherwood, whose husband, Granville, is mayor. She said those who get the most votes "turn out to be our mayor and city says the system has worked without a hitch since the town of 80 residents was incorporated 19 years ago."

DEMOCRATIC WAY

The mayor and five commissioners are elected annually in a nonpartisan vote. Mrs. Leatherwood ago.

"We've had some close elections, even ties, but I never heard a nasty word or seen evidence of any hurt feelings," she says. "Folks just abide by the vote 'cause it's the democratic way."

Two years ago, two citizens were deadlocked for one commissioner post. A special ballot was drawn and a second vote broke the tie.

Leatherwood, 58, was reelected mayor last month. The incumbent five commissioners also won.

All six elected posts are unsalaried, but Mrs. Leatherwood, 57, says there has been some talk of offering a stipend for her appointed job.

WOULD FACE CHANGE

"There's so much red tape with the state and the federal revenue sharing," she says. "These bookkeeping duties would get the best of me if I didn't get help. . . . Those boys in Tallahassee and Washington want five or six copies of everything."

Beverly Beach, about 20 miles north of Daytona Beach, has for years successfully fought off annexation proposals by neighboring Flagler Beach.

But the town may begin to expand if a proposed mobile home complex is annexed. It could increase the population greatly and force a change in the town's voting procedures.

HOT WAY TO WAKE UP HER HUSBAND

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — Mrs. Bernice L. Jones was arrested early today in connection with an unusual scheme to wake up her husband, authorities reported.

According to officials, the 43-year-old woman said she summoned fire engines hoping the noise would awaken her sleeping husband.

He apparently went to bed after a marital argument. She was charged with calling in a false alarm, police said.

End Of Rainbow

RAINBOW BRIDGE NATIONAL MONUMENT, Utah (AP) — Century-old Paiute Indian Jim Mike has collected on a turn-of-the-century debt for scouting services which led the first white man to Rainbow Bridge.

Jim Mike, believed to be nearly 101 years old, was credited in recent research with discovering the towering, red sandstone natural arch about 1900. He is said to have helped lead a party of white explorers to it nine years later, but he was never paid for it.

Tuesday, Lynn Thompson, regional director of the National Park Service office in Denver, presented $50 and a colorful blanket to Jim Mike during brief ceremonies at Rainbow Bridge.

Man Burned Alive; Body Brought Here

Fred Hale of Water Valley was burned alive when trapped in a wrecked oil transport truck 15 miles northwest of Sterling City on Highway 87 about 8 a.m.

A Cactus Oil Co. transport truck apparently exploded after it went off in the ditch and hit a deep culvert, according to Sheriff Jim Cantrell of Sterling City.

Herb Edwards was investigating highway patrolman at the wreck scene this morning. The body of the driver was brought to Nalley Pickle Funeral Home in Big Spring where services were pending.

Webb Air Force Base tried to rush a truck load of water to the scene to help extinguish the fire, but officials were notified that it was "burning; too fast and was already gone." The truck was turned around and sent back to Big Spring.

Top Float Will Earn $100 Award

The top three floats in the Rodeo Parade this afternoon as judged by Big Spring Rodeo Association, will get a total of $200 in cash prizes while the top three Riding Clubs or Sheriff's Poses will receive trophies from the Rodeo Association.

The first place float will win $100 while the second place float will win $65 and the third place float will win $35.

The Rodeo parade will get underway at 4 p.m. today and will begin at 10th and Main Streets. The parade will travel north on Main Street to Second Street, then west on Second Street to Scurry Street and then south to 10th Street.

Candidate Is Visitor Here

Mary Kirchhoff of Plainview, Republican candidate for the State Senate from the 30th District, is spending several days in Big Spring on behalf of her candidacy.

She will ride in the rodeo parade at 4 o'clock this afternoon (aboard a horse owned by Rich Anderson) and will appear at the rodeo both tonight and Thursday evening.

She plans to go to Comanche Trail Park this evening for the rodeo barbecue. At noon tomorrow she will speak before members of the Kiwanis Club at the Settles Hotel.

She will also fulfill a speaking engagement before members of the American Business Club at the Settles at noon Friday.

The Howard County Republican Women's Club will stage a reception for Mrs. Kirchhoff from 2:30 until 4 p.m., Friday at the First Federal Savings and Loan building.

Mrs. Kirchhoff, who faces Democrat Ray Farrabee in the general election in November, was due to arrive here early this afternoon and is quartered at the Holiday Inn.

BULLETIN

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — About 3,000 union members walked off their jobs at the Gulf Oil Co. refinery today in a jurisdictional dispute with management.

A spokesman for the refinery said members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union left their jobs at 11:30 a.m. after 60 days of negotiations failed to make headway.

Economic Aid To Portugal Pitch Shapes

LAJES, Azores (AP) — Pausing here on route back to the United States from his Middle East mission, President Nixon told the new president of Portugal today that "an independent free, prosperous Portugal is vital to the Atlantic Alliance."

Nixon also indicated, in his farewell remarks to President Antonio Spínola, that economic aid is planned. He spoke of working with Spínola "in the great goals he has set for his government."

BAERNSTUHMING

The two presidents met nearly two hours before Nixon headed on to Washington to conclude his 16-day period of diplomatic bargaining. Nixon arrived Tuesday for an overnight stay.

Spínola exchanged the two presidents' exchanged views on "the technical, economic, financial support" which would enable Portugal to be economically on a par with other countries in Europe.

The two presidents made no reference to the soon-to-expire agreement allowing the United States to maintain a crucial air base in the Azores.

Spínola headed the military overthrow of Portugal's old rightist government April 25.

Several hundred persons greeted Nixon here and President Spínola unexpectedly flew in from Lisbon four hours early for Nixon's arrival.

Spínola told Nixon he was the first foreign head of state Spínola had met since taking over the Portuguese government.

WITNESS REMINDS LISTENERS AT HEARING

In Four Decades, Airline Service Has Deteriorated

By JOHN EDWARDS AND MARJ CARPENTER

"This has evolved down to the point where the only way you can get out of Big Spring is to hitchhike," Robert J. (Jack) Cook said in the Civil Aeronautics Board hearing in the district courtroom today.

The businessman-pilot, told about the beginnings of commercial air service to Big Spring in 1934.

American Airlines kept two crews at the Settles Hotel, and the carrier's "logship" flew to New York City one day and Los Angeles the next.

LOTS OF SERVICE

Shortly after World War II, Big Spring was served by three airlines, American, Pioneer and Continental. The Civil Aeronautics Authority and federal government airport engineers had offices here.

When Continental withdrew, Big Spring leaders agreed not to fight the withdrawal but to support Texas International. Trans Texas, as it was then known, promised to give Big Spring any scheduled desire.

At first, service to Big Spring was good, Cook said. Then, service deteriorated.

"In my opinion, the schedules were deliberately made so we wouldn't use the service," Cook said.

Cooks told Miss Carolyn Cox, attorney for TXIA, that Howard County Airport was built with a $500,000 bond issue but that voters rejected a later bond issue.

LOCATED AT WEBB

Formerly, airlines flew to the airport where Webb Air Force Base is now located.

Ralph McLaughlin, president of the Chamber of Commerce, later testified that the $750,000 airport bond proposal was voted down in 1967.

"Everything was negative," Cook said of local attempts to attract a commuter airline replacement for TXIA.

Cook, who said he had been associated with airplanes since 1938 when he soloed here, is an oil and gas lease broker and partner in Big Spring Aircraft Inc., the firm which operates Howard County Airport under a lease.

Jimmy Taylor, president of First National Bank, said savings and checking account deposits have grown from $53 million in 1969 to $88 million in April, 1974.

Loan totals climbed from $27 million to $35 million during the period, Taylor said.

Robert E. Hickson, manager of Hemphill-Wells Department Store here, said: "We make a number of trips to markets both in Dallas and New York."

Per year this number averages 40, Hickson said.

When a flight left Big Spring at 6:05 a.m., he said they could make "good connections" to New York City, Washington D.C., Houston and Austin.

But the 9:30 a.m. flight he called "no good for us."

When trying to return from New York City, Washington officials often don't know until two days before when they will return.

Store representatives would fly to Howard County Airport, "but 697 is almost booked solid.

So we have to go to Midland and have our families pick us up."

Joe Welch, Midland, told about a two-week survey conducted for Big Spring of area passengers flying from Midland airport.

228 BOARDINGS

Between April 16 and May 6, his exhibit showed 228 persons from an eight-county area centered around Big Spring flew out of Midland.

"At least half of the people from Big Spring or Howard County," Welch guessed. The survey did not show the communities from which individual passengers came.

Echoing Hickson, Bill Blalack of Saunders Co. Inc. said frequently the firm's representatives cannot return from Dallas via TXIA to Big Spring because the flight is full.

Through Civil Aeronautics Board hearing questioning Tuesday afternoon, a government attorney suggested limousine service to the Midland-Odessa Air Terminal as an alternative to Texas International flights to Howard County Airport.

Local witnesses argued for a Big Spring flight arriving at Dallas at 9 a.m. daily.

A flight started by TXIA June 15 reaches Dallas at 11:37 a.m. Most spokesmen for Big Spring interests felt that was too late an arrival time.

John E. Manger, vice president for economic planning at TXIA, continued testifying Tuesday afternoon about mainly technical and statistical matters contained in the airline's exhibits.

AREA SUPPORT

Then, a series of area and local persons took the stand.

Art Roberts, manager of the Lamesa chamber, earlier had said that at this time, 60 per cent of Lamesa's air travelers go 20 miles further to Midland. The balance go 25 miles further to Lubbock because there are no flights that interest them out of Howard County Airport.

"If they had an early flight and end of day return from Dallas, I'm sure they'd get some Lamesa traffic. After all, it would save them 40 to 50 miles of driving time."

For Snyder residents, Houston is the most frequent air trans- (See Big Spring, Pg. 2-A, Col. 5)

Curtain Goes Up Tonight On 41st Annual BS Rodeo

The curtain goes up at 8:30 o'clock this evening on the 41st annual Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion in the Rodeo Bowl in the west part of town.

Advance ticket sales have been reported excellent and a near-capacity crowd is expected to be on hand.

Spotlighted along with the performing cowboys will be Jim Ed Brown and the Cates Sisters, noted country-western singers who have performed in the Grand Ole Opry and on national television.

In addition, the First Cavalry Horse Platoon of Fort Hood, Tex., will parade through the arena following the grand entry which, in effect, will be the concluding part of the annual rodeo parade which takes place in downtown Big Spring starting at 4 p.m.

Employees of the Big Spring Rodeo Association have conditioned the infield of the Rodeo Bowl for the four-night show, one of the biggest of its kind in the Southwest.

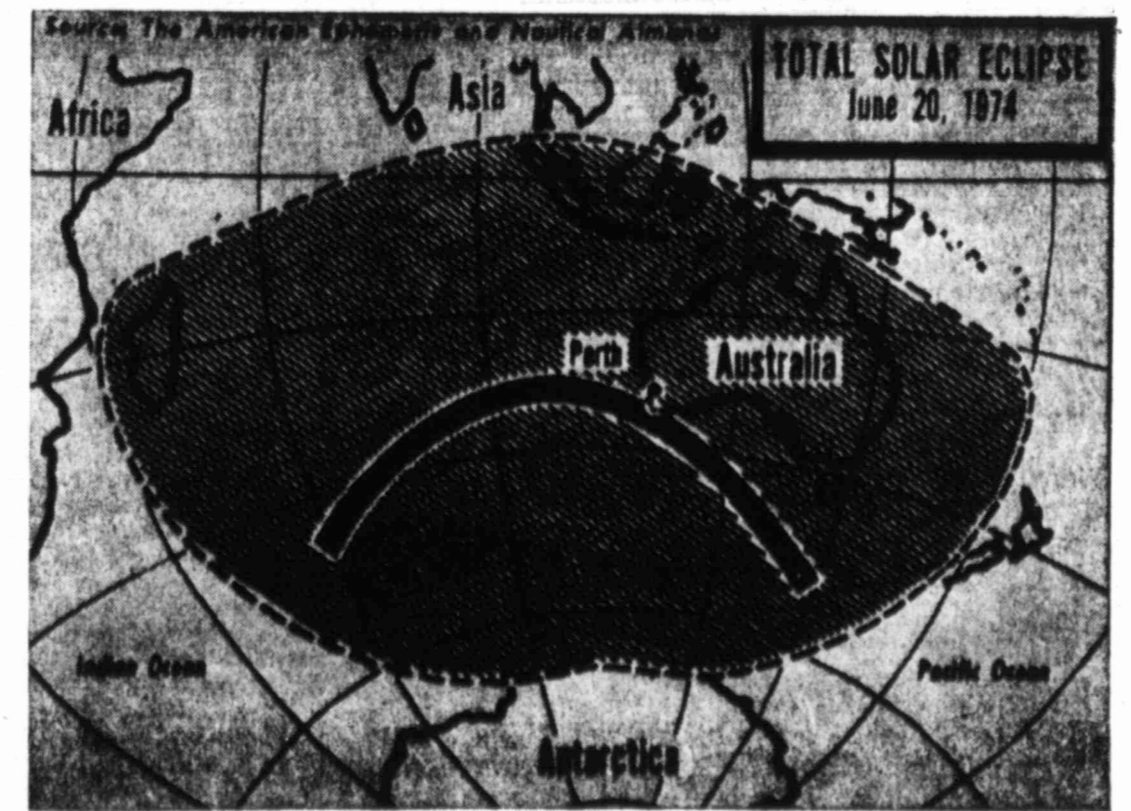

Not only cowboys but spectators from over a wide area will be in attendance and the cowboys will be shooting for some big money.

Starting Thursday evening, eight teams representing different groups at Webb AFB will contest each other in dressing a Brahma calf. It's a speed event to see which team can get the bloomers on the calf the fastest.

Entering teams are the Air

Base Group, Communication, Hospital, Field Maintenance, Organizational Maintenance and Supply Squadron, and each night they change personnel. At the final performance Saturday evening, a women's team from the hospital group will compete for time in an effort to show up the men's teams.

A LEBANESE 'LOOK' AT NIXON — The Beirut magazine Al-Diyar in a tongue-in-cheek cover montage portrays President Nixon in a kaffish, the traditional Arab headdress. The magazine called him "arabized."

PLENTY HOT

Temperatures which climbed over 100 degrees Tuesday are expected to do the same today and Thursday. The low tonight is expected to be near 70. Winds from the south at 10-25 m.p.h., decreasing tonight to 5-15 m.p.h. No rain predicted.

Mrs. Mays Talks For Cactus Group

A talk by Big Spring's first city councilwoman and installation of the new slate of officers was the agenda of the meeting of the Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association, at Furr's Monday evening.

Mrs. Floyd Mays, city councilwoman, was introduced by Mrs. Helen Stewart. Mrs. Mays gave the group a review of her first year in office. She said the things that motivate a woman to run for a political office are an interest in home and government, the belief that she can do a better job as well as the challenge and excitement.

She likened serving on the council to that of serving on a Grand Jury as the council is faced with small on a grand jury as the large ones. Those serving must consider what will do the most good for the majority of citizens.

According to the speaker, there are 10 boards in Big Spring and most of the duties could be handled capably by women, some of whom are more qualified than the persons now serving in many city, state and national offices.

Mrs. Cecil McDonald, outgoing president, installed Mrs. David Walker as president; Mrs. R. O. Clark, vice president; Mrs. Ron Byerly, treasurer; Mrs. Eldon Watts, recording secretary; and Mrs. David Jansch, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. McDonald presented ABWA charms to the chairwoman of each of her committees.

Results of the attendance contest showed the blacks to be the winners and they will be entertained by the gals.

Miss Judy White was a guest.

The vocational talk was by Mrs. Alva Thomas, receptionist and nurse for Dr. Henry Butler, dermatologist at Malone-Hogan Clinic.

Busy Woman

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A few months ago I met and fell in love with the most beautiful girl I've ever seen. She liked me, too, and soon she was staying with me, cooking my meals and taking care of my apartment. It seemed like an ideal setup, but there is just one problem: she works days in a massage parlor, and is a call girl at night.

She makes more in one night than I make in a whole week, but she never has any money because she likes to gamble, and she gives ten per cent of her earnings to the church.

Is there any way I can get her to quit taking those calls at night? She says she loves me, but she can't live on what I make.

A FOOL IN LOVE
DEAR FOOL: (You said it, I didn't.) So your lady love works in a massage parlor by day and is a call girl by night? When does she work you in? I'm afraid it's hopeless, unless you can make more, or she agrees to settle for less.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a peculiar one. I've been dating a very special young lady for the past two months. She is perfect in every way except for her elbows. They have got to be the ugliest matching pair I have ever seen. I've never mentioned this to her, but she must be aware of it because she keeps them hidden by long sleeves when possible.

I've met her parents only once and they both seem to have normal elbows so it's not hereditary. Could she have developed those ugly elbows through drug abuse? Or could she have had a vitamin deficiency when she was young?

I wouldn't hurt her feelings by asking her what happened to her elbows because I love her, but I wonder if you can tell me anything that might shed some light on the subject.

NAME WITHHELD BY REQUEST
DEAR NAME: It's entirely possible that the young lady's elbows are perfectly normal — it's your concept of ugliness that's far-out. As long as they bend in the right places and you say she is otherwise perfect and you love her, why not accept her as she is — elbows and all? I trust that you are a perfectly flawless man.

DEAR ABBY: I am 41 and my boyfriend is 43. We've gone together for six months, and have been considering marriage. We've both been married and divorced. I have worked for 23 years and have some money in the bank. Probably more than he has.

Out of curiosity mostly, I asked him if I could borrow $200. He said, "Yes, but you will have to sign a note." When I showed surprise, he added, "It wouldn't matter if it was my sister or brother. When it comes to money, I want a note."

I couldn't get over his attitude. Then I told him I really didn't need the money, I just wanted to see how he'd handle it, and he said I should write to you and get your opinion. So I'm writing.

CORKY
DEAR CORKY: I'm with him. A loan is a business deal, and he sounds like a hard-nosed businessman. I'll bet a lot more people regret not having asked for a note than regret having asked for one.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CRYING A RIVER IN BUFFALO": Believe him. It's all over. I think you gave too much. There's nothing for him to come back for.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Baby Oil Is Great Beautifier

drop or two of your favorite fragrance, it makes the scent last and last.

After shaving your legs, skin has a tendency to dry out and feel flaky and rough, especially in the wintertime. Baby oil smoothes on gently will help prevent dryness and leaves your skin feeling baby-soft again.

Running out of your favorite rouge? Mix the remainder with baby oil for a great all-over-the-face blusher that moisturizes while it's doing its beauty thing.

Remember any part of you that needs softening can get an instant beauty treatment with baby oil. After all, if it does such nice things for baby's delicate skin it's sure to do wonders for big girls too.

Mrs. Mike Bishop, Big Spring, sister of the bride, was the pianist.

The bride's dress was fashioned with a skirt of bridal satin with an empire bodice of lace over chiffon with long full sleeves. The mandarin collar was of matching lace. Her bouquet was pink sweetheart roses, orchid feathered carnation, purple statice and gypsophila.

Miss Terry Graves was the bride's only attendant and wore orchid organza over purple knit.

Jessie Smith served his son as best man.

Miss Melody Murpree and Miss Cindy Perry, both of Big Spring, lighted the tapers.

The couple will make a home on Route One, Stanton.

The bride attended Big Spring High School and Stanton High School.

The bridegroom attended Ranger schools and graduated from Stanton High School. He is presently employed by Cooper-Bessemer in Odessa.

Modernize Your Old Bathroom

Many houses with old-fashioned bathroom fixtures can be updated without doing an expensive remodeling job, points out artist-designer Jack Denst, who has just remodeled his 90-year-old Victorian House in Chicago.

While he used "every trick in the book," he says, to make rooms look larger, he may have taxed his ingenuity more in the bathroom than any other place.

Instead of using a lot of mirror-bright finishes, he decided to turn the bathroom's old features into decorative assets, adding a few contemporary attractions without incurring too big an investment. The removal of a small wall of a tiny bedroom next to it provided him with more space, and a tiny closet became a shower stall.

A bathtub with claw feet was moved to a more prominent position. Still utilizing existing plumbing at its former position along the room. Behind it on a wall covered with a patterned bronze foil, he placed a convex "shop-

Treat Your Walls To Burlap

COLLEGE STATION — Treat your recreation room walls to burlap, suggests Anna Marie Gottschalk.

The housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, noted that burlap hides cracks, patches and blotchy color.

"It also helps sound absorption and provides flexible space for hanging and rearranging wall collections frequently. When using colored burlap, buy enough for the entire job. Die lot colors vary — colors frequently do not match from different dye lots," the specialist warned. "Necessary supplies include wall sizing and brush, fabric paste and large brush, drafting tape, steel measuring tape, sharp knife, short nap paint roller and a plasterer's trowel."

For best results, fill large cracks and holes with spackle or crack filler. Cut panels slightly larger than the correct length. Starting on an inconspicuous wall to "get the feel of burlap," hang the first panel. "Press burlap against wall with your hands, smoothing it straight across the top. Then press it against the wall at the center, working out to the sides. Next, go over entire panel with a roller or trowel. By overlapping selvage edges of each panel, a sharp blade can be run down the seam, both selvages removed, while obtaining a perfect butted seam.

"To fit fabric top and bottom, run a knife through the crease at the ceiling and floor, remove excess. Continue this procedure around the room until finished. To change wall color later, simply paint over the burlap."

Hints From Heloise

Dear Folks:

I was buying a gift for a friend this week and there was a plastic purple marker with the price right on it! I told the clerk that I would buy it if she would get the purple price off.

That sweet gal just grabbed a can of hair spray and squirted away and wiped it off with a facial tissue.

Now if that doesn't take the cake, I'll eat it! Try it — it really works!

Dear Heloise:

I enjoy your hints very much. Some of the answers are so simple, I wonder why in the world I hadn't already thought of it.

My solution to iron cookware rusting is to turn the pot upside down after washing. Just prop one of the sides up a bit to let a little air in.

This really works as I have used this method for years.

Mrs. Elbert Little

As you said, some of the answers are so simple.

Now why hadn't I thought of that before!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When we are having a lot of company and need lots of ice, I use my plastic egg cartons for extra ice trays.

When frozen, I remove the ice and put it in a large container in the freezer. Then I refill the carton and make more.

The ice cubes are nice and round and, needless to say, I always have plenty of ice for those get-togethers — and very inexpensively!

Mickey Shaffar

Dear Heloise:

The other night I was cleaning the coffee pot so I could make a fresh pot.

I had a new flower bed and coffee grounds make an excellent fertilizer for the flowers I'm told.

I didn't want to take the grounds outside right then and put them in the flower beds, so I held a plastic bag over the sink and poured the coffee grounds into it. Some of the grounds fell into the sink.

Well — I didn't want the sink to be clogged up so I put a used coffee filter over the stopper and let the water drain, catching all the grounds.

Then I just folded up the filter and placed it in the plastic bag.

Best of all, no wet goop to put in the garbage to seep through the bag.

Officers Frisk Diseased Man; Can't Charge City For Shots

DALLAS (AP) — Two Dallas police officers have been told by city officials that the fact that they searched a man who had infectious hepatitis did not justify their taking treatment shots and charging the city for them.

As a result, city officials refused to pay the $50 from a local hospital, the Dallas Police Association decided to pay it, and the Association's attorney recommended legal action against the city.

RIDICULOUS — "This is ridiculous," a spokesman for the association said when told of the refusal to pay the bill.

"All we did was refuse to pay a bill out of workmen's compensation funds," said Tom A. Witt, director of the Safety and Health Department. "We have to draw the line somewhere," Witt said. The officers should have consulted with a city physician before taking the shots.

Workmen's compensation is part of a new series of regulations recently approved by the state legislature for municipalities. It will go into effect next month.

WATCH OUT COP — "What we have here is a scare more than a legitimate, valid exposure," Witt said, explaining he had acted on the recommendation of a city doctor who had not seen the officers.

It all started on March 36, when officer Donald McCarrell, 36, and policewoman Pat Bunge, 24, arrested a man for not having a valid state inspection sticker. Officers found he had several unpaid traffic tickets and he was taken to the police station after a search. At the station he told officers he was suffering from infectious hepatitis and showed them a treatment slip from Parkland Hospital.

The officers' supervisor then told them to report to Presbyterian hospital for treatment. They did and receive the shots. Payment for the bill was approved by Chief of Police Don Byrd.

'DISGUSTED' — Lt. Charles T. Burnley, president of the Police Association, said policemen were "disgusted" with the city's action.

"We are not under workmen's compensation guidelines," he said. He added that under the compensation program employers may not pay salaries to injured employees for the first week of injury time and after that employees receive only a share of their total pay.

"The first time a police officer is not on duty and he is not paid his salary for one week, there won't be any police on the streets in Dallas," Burnley said. "For the 19 years I have been in the force we had always taken some kind of preventive measure in cases like this."

Witt, however, said he had not been shown any specific precedent.

Burnley said the association's attorney had recommended legal action against the city if the officers were willing. The officers have declined comment so far.

"The city must make some special allowance for policemen in regards to workmen's compensation," Burnley said.

Fisher Reports Theft From Car

Three prescriptions from the VA hospital for Julian Fisher of Gail Route were stolen off the front seat of his car, according to the police report.

Other thefts in the city Tuesday included $13 taken from a purse of a storeowner at Toyland, a portable television taken from Norred TV, a cassette tape recorder taken from the display counter at Big Spring Hardware, and $3.40 worth of candy stolen at the National Little League Park concession stand.

Two juveniles were also caught in the act of going over the fence at the Dr. Pepper Co. and turned over the juvenile officer today.

He did his pre-med work at Baylor University and earned his medical degree at the University of Texas Medical School in San Antonio.

Education Article Ignites Tempers In Semifinal Test

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The education article has demonstrated again its capacity to ignite tempers in the Constitutional Convention but has passed its semifinal test despite some doomsday rhetoric.

Convention debate on the article's third reading took only about four hours Tuesday and capped a day that also saw approval of the local government article, 124-36.

ULTIMATE VOTE — Both articles were amended and, therefore, must return to the floor for another look—with no further amendments allowed—after the Style and Drafting Committee has reviewed and perhaps reworded the amendments. The ultimate vote will be on the new state constitution as a whole, along with separate proposals to be submitted to the voters.

Delegates take up the legislative article on third reading this afternoon.

The brief debate on education was like a replay in miniature of the 2-1/2 weeks of argument on second reading.

There was Rep. Ray Barnhart, R-Pasadena, trying to water down the equal educational opportunity section and claiming it would generate lawsuits if left as it was.

There was Rep. Joe Pentony, D-Houston, attacking the dedicated funds for state colleges and universities.

FISCAL INSANITY — There was Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, assailing the college lobbyists and declaring the college funds to be fiscal insanity.

But the only amendments approved were relatively minor. One added the words—branded and women can come up with," said Rep. Bob Vale, D-San Antonio.

OPPORTUNITY — About the only major changes from the existing constitution are the requirement that the school system "must furnish each individual an equal educational opportunity" and the creation of SHEAF. SHEAF would be general tax money appropriated by the legislature in an amount equal to the income from the Permanent University Fund currently about $2 million a year. It would be used for buildings, library books and capital equipment for colleges outside the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems.

During the local government debate, the legislator-delegates voted 117-40 in favor of giving the voters a separate submission on whether counties should have limited home rule authority. If approved, the provision would become a part of the new constitution.

PROPERTY TAX — Other provisions of the local government article include: —Retention of the county commission form of government, with the county judge presiding, and separate election of the sheriff, treasurer, tax assessor-collector and county clerk.

—County voters could create additional offices and eliminate or combine existing jobs. A county commission would have to be retained, but could be reduced or enlarged.

—Maximum property tax rates of $2 per $100 assessed valuation in cities and $1.25 in counties.

Hollowell blasted both Sheaf and the Permanent University Fund—which has been part of the constitution since 1876—and said they were promoted by "pressure groups sent down by the colleges to see what they could get out of the grab bag."

"They are putting the State of Texas on the same road to ruin that has brought the federal government a $500 million deficit," he said.

But Sen. A. M. Aikin, dean of the legislature, vice-president of the convention and architect of the present Texas school finance system, urged approval of the article.

"It is a definite improvement over what we have," Aikin said.

"This is probably the best article this convention of 181 men

Citizens Told They'll Pay Higher Prices For Energy

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Some citizens came with babies and others with the black and white pirate's flag of a skull and crossbones. They also came with frustration and anger.

UTILITY BILL
They wanted to find out who was responsible for the latest utility bills here which in some cases increased 200 and 300 percent from one month to the next. In effect, they were told they bore a major share of the blame for using more electricity in May than in April when pre-summer heat began wilting this South Texas metropolis.

About 1,000 persons attended a public meeting in the Convention Center which was called by the mayor. Local television carried several hours of the meeting, which lasted into the night.

To a lesser extent, a June city council-approved hike in basic utility rates contributed to the escalating bills, rate consultants said. Also involved, said the consultants, was an increase in acquisition costs of additional fuels necessitated by curtailments of natural gas by the city's contracted supplier.

"BIG LIE"
Judging from the catcalls and boos, the citizens weren't satisfied with the answers.

"You can't blame air conditioning alone," yelled one from the audience. Mayor Charles Becker said the energy situation here is "the most catastrophic event the city is undergoing since the days of the depression... It cannot be endured very long."

At Becker's invitation, the chairman of the board of the parent company of the city's gas supplier spoke and then argued with representatives of the city's publicly owned utility about who was at fault in the situation.

It was Oscar Wyatt, leader of Coastal States Gas Corp. of Houston, who the pirate's skull and crossbones flags were directed toward. Wyatt has also been called "a robber baron" and a user of the "Big Lie" technique here.

MAKING MONEY
For his appearance here, there were plainclothes police officers in the audience for security, a city spokesman confirmed.

Wyatt said Coastal's intrastate subsidiary, Lo-Vaca Gathering Co., could not supply total gas needs called for in its contracts with San Antonio also nearby Austin at prices the long-term contracts stipulate.

Lo-Vaca, which has been losing money while Coastal is making money, has massive problems of delivering natural gas and is before the Texas Railroad Commission asking for the commission to set rates apart from the contracts.

Even if San Antonio and Austin were willing to pay substantially higher prices for the natural gas that manufactures their electricity, would Lo-Vaca be able to supply the gas the cities require?

CHOKING ON DUST IN PARTS OF WEST TEXAS Baling Water Out Of Back Yards

By The Associated Press
West Texas is plenty dry. And East Texas is plenty wet. It's a case, almost, of feast or famine.
While the western two-thirds of the state are choking on dust, the eastern third is baling water out of the back yard, a survey showed today.

It seems almost typical of Texas weather extremes. JUST ABOUT Thunderstorms over West Texas this spring, while numerous, have been a tempest in a teapot. The area west of Dallas, including the Rio Grande Valley, is seriously short of rainfall.

Crop-saving rains may come tomorrow. But while waiting you may as well make a full pot of coffee. "Climatologists feel like droughts run in 20-year cycles," advised Michael Flynn at the climatology department at Texas A&M University. "If that's so, then we're just about due for one," he said.

rainfall situation stands. Plus four is very wet. Zero is normal. Minus four is very dry. Using that index, Flynn notes that West Texas, the Plains and the Edward's Plateau are in the minus 2 to 3 range... "moderate to severe drought." On the other end of the stick, the Orange-Beaumont areas have a plus 3... "really wet" condition.

Hail damage and drought have taken their toll on the wheat and cotton crops this year. With summer approaching, there doesn't seem much chance of improvement before autumn. "Generally speaking," Flynn said, "drawing a line from Dallas south to the Gulf, everything west of the line is drier than normal and everything east of the line is wetter than normal. But I wouldn't say this condition is really attributable to anything bizarre or rare."

Musical Ducats Go On Sale

Tickets for Meredith Willson's "Music Man", a joint presentation of Big Spring High School students, Howard County College students, and interested persons in the Community, will begin Friday, according to Co-director Ken Sprinkle.

The tickets will go on sale at the Howard College business office, the Big Spring High School Choral room, and from members of the cast and crew of the play for the two performance Thursday and Friday, June 27 and 28. Cost of the tickets is $2 each with no reserve seats.

The play will be presented in the high school auditorium beginning at 8 p.m. each night with all proceeds going to music scholarships at Howard College. The public is invited to attend the play, directed by Sprinkle, Jack Bowers, and Bill Bradley.

Opening lead: Two of ♠
It is not always easy to spot the right combination to develop a crucial extra trick. Today's hand is a typical example, and I would hazard a guess that the majority of players would fall into the same trap that declarer did. The auction presented no problems. South had a classic one no trump opening bid and North, with 10 HCP and a five-card suit, certainly had nothing to be ashamed of when he raised to game.

When dummy came down, declarer could count seven running tricks, and the king-queen of hearts was certain to provide an eighth. It seemed that diamonds would have to be developed for the game-going trick. To give himself an extra chance, declarer allowed East's king of spades to win the first trick, and ducked the continuation of the three as well. West won and drove out the ace of spades. Declarer cashed the ace and king of diamonds, and then conceded a diamond to East. After taking the ace of hearts, East led his last spade, and that was down one. "Had West started with five spades, I would have made the hand, partner," remarked South.

That was true enough, but hardly likely in view of the defensive carding. West's opening lead of the two of spades and East's return of the three at trick two made it a moral certainty that the suit was going to divide 4-4. Thus, by conceding a diamond declarer was, in effect, giving the defenders the setting trick without a fight, for he would have to lose three spades and the ace of hearts as well.

Declarer overlooked the importance of dummy's ten of hearts. By utilizing that card, he can bring his chances of success up to a straight 50%—a finesse for the jack of hearts—which is a considerable improvement over 0%. South was right to hold up the ace of spades twice, but after winning the third spade he should have led a heart to dummy's ten. East can win the ace and the defenders can take their third trick in spades to complete the book, but the remainder of the tricks would have been declarer's.
