Underground Nuclear Arms Test Conducted

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the House of Commons today that Britain conducted a nuclear test a few weeks ago.

Wilson did not say immediately where the test was held. He said the signs were that it was successful and Britain has no plans for more tests in the near future.

U.S. INVOLVED

In Washington, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said a joint U.S.-United Kingdom underground nuclear weapons test was conducted "several weeks ago" at America's nuclear test site in Nevada.

An AEC spokesman declined to give any further details.

Wilson said the latest test was necessary to maintain the effectiveness of Britain's nuclear deterrent. He added it had been arranged by the Conservative government, which was defeated in the general election last February.

Wilson maintained the test was in accordance with Labor party policy.

According to a report in the Daily Telegraph, the British test probably took place two weeks ago when seismographs at universities in Nevada and California detected a small underground explosion.

NEVADA SITE

British scientists are working at the Nevada test site in cooperation with the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. The AEC does not announce all its tests.

Wilson said the test took place within the framework of the partial test ban treaty of 1963 and the nonproliferation treaty of 1968.

He was replying to questions from left-wing lawmakers of his own Labor party. They were angered by a press report over the weekend saying Britain was about to explode a nuclear device at the U.S. underground nuclear testing range in Nevada.

They claim any nuclear testing by Britain goes against Labor party policy, as decided by its annual conference last year. A motion was passed then agreeing to scrap all nuclear bases in Britain, including the Polaris submarine bases in Scotland.

France and China set off nuclear explosions in the atmosphere just one week ago, and India set off its first nuclear test underground on May 18.

BAD TIME?

Wilson's announcement comes at a time when America and Russia appear to be moving toward an agreement on limiting underground nuclear testing.

It also coincides with agreements by the United States to supply Egypt and Israel with aid to develop nuclear power for peaceful purposes.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — From the standpoint of severity, 1974 is shaping up as possibly the worst tornado year in American history. U.S. government weathermen blame numerous twisters on especially capricious antics of one of the two high-altitude "jet streams" that help control America's weather. They said there have been 371 deaths and possibly 5,000 injuries so far this year from 658 twisters that have struck in all but 14 states, causing losses in property, crops and animals unofficially estimated at close to $500 million.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The case of a Lithuanian sailor forced back to his Soviet vessel with the permission of the U.S. Coast Guard was among items on which President Nixon was briefed in preparing for his Moscow summit trip. Simas Kudirka, 45 — said to be an American citizen — is in a Soviet labor camp in the Urals serving a 10-year term for treason. There has been no contact with him since October. The claim by Lithuanian groups in the United States that Kudirka is an American citizen is partly backed up by the fact that his mother, now living in Lithuania, was born in Brooklyn.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxes, impeachment and concern over the spread of nuclear weapons to the Middle East occupy the attention of Congress this week. The Senate is resuming debate on tax cut and tax reform measures, but chances of passage of the proposals appear to have evaporated. House activities include decisions on witness for the impeachment inquiry against President Nixon, along with hearings on whether nuclear power aid to Egypt and Israel could lead to development of nuclear weapons in that region.

Eye Tropical Depression

MIAMI (AP) — A tropical depression with winds gusting to 45 miles an hour in squalls was expected to gain strength slowly as it drifted to the north today, the National Hurricane Center said.

The depression was located in the Gulf of Mexico some 600 miles south of New Orleans and had highest sustained winds of 35 miles an hour, forecasters said. A reconnaissance plane was to investigate the disturbance today.

The center said satellite photos showed that shower activity was disorganized but warned that the depression was nearing tropical storm strength. Small craft were advised to stay in port in the southwest gulf from the Yucatan Peninsula westward.

A depression is designated a tropical storm when sustained winds are 39 miles per hour.

The highest winds were in an area to the east and northeast of the depression's core, which forecasters located about midway between Vera Cruz and Merida in the Gulf of Campeche, a body of water enclosed by the Yucatan Peninsula and the east coast of the Mexican mainland.

Black September Terms Reduced

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — A Sudanese court sentenced eight Black September guerrillas to life imprisonment today for killing two U.S. diplomats and a Belgian envoy, but Sudanese President Gaafar Numeiry reduced the terms to seven years, the Middle East news agency reported.

It said Numeiry also decided to hand over the eight guerrillas to the Palestine Liberation Organization to enforce the sentence. "This is because the PLO is the lawful representative of the Palestinian people," the agency said.

The guerrillas were sentenced for killing U.S. Ambassador Cleo Noel, his assistant George C. Moore, and Belgian Charge d'Affaires Guy Eid inside the Saudi Arabian Embassy in the Sudanese capital of Khartoum in March 1973.

One Killed, 40 Injured By Tornado

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms rumbled across the eastern slopes of the Rockies today while temperatures hit record highs in the Southwest and unseasonable lows for the northern half of the nation.

Nearly two inches of rain and hail the size of golf balls hit parts of Colorado, clogging traffic on Interstate 70.

That storm arose in the wake of another violent system that swept through Arizona Sunday. One person was killed and about 40 injured when a tornado ripped through a mobile park a few miles from Tucson.

Scattered thunderstorms also wracked the central and southern Atlantic coast and the Gulf Coast. The naval air station near New Orleans reported nearly an inch of rain during the night, and almost as much fell at an Air Force base near Biloxi, Miss.

Elsewhere, however, most of the nation experienced pleasant weather and cloudless skies.

Temperatures during the night were generally in the 50s for the northern half of the country. In the South, levels were in the 60s and 70s.

Record-breaking hot weather kept its grip on much of the Southwest with night temperatures in the upper 80s and 90s.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 99 at Needles, Calif., and Phoenix, Ariz., to 39 at the Marquette County Airport in Michigan.

Secret Pact Story Ripped By Kissinger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger today branded as "totally false in every detail" assertions that he negotiated a secret agreement giving the Soviet Union more nuclear missiles than publicly announced in the first round of the strategic arms talks.

Such reports, Kissinger said in a news conference, "have no merit whatsoever."

The secretary was referring to assertions by Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., that Kissinger may have negotiated some type of understanding that would allow Moscow to build submarine-based missiles in excess of the 950 allowed under the SALT I agreement signed in Moscow May 27, 1972.

Jackson also indicated that such an understanding may have pledged the United States to maintain a submarine missile force of its own of less than the 710 allowed by SALT I.

Kissinger was questioned closely about the past nuclear arms negotiations, but he opened his news conference with a lengthy discussion of what he hopes will be accomplished this week when he and President Nixon arrive in Moscow for another summit meeting with Soviet leaders.

The sessions will involve three parts, Kissinger said. The first will be a general review of the world situation "to identify areas of conflict and reduce them and where possible to identify areas of cooperation."

The second part and the most difficult, he said, will be "the serious problem ... of the control of the nuclear arms race."

'Carnal Knowledge' Ruled Not Obscene

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today ruled that juries do not have unlimited authority to decide what is obscene in their communities.

A unanimous court determined that the film "Carnal Knowledge" is not obscene and overturned the conviction of a Georgia theater operator who showed it.

In a related 5-4 decision, the court ruled in a California case that a brochure advertising "The Illustrated Presidential Report on the Commission on Obscenity and Pornography" was hard-core material which can be banned under a federal law.

MADE IT PLAIN

Justice William H. Rehnquist, who wrote the court's opinions in both cases, said guidelines delivered in five landmark cases a year ago were not meant to give juries absolute freedom to ban movies and other materials as obscene.

He recalled that the court last year "made it plain that ... no one will be subject to prosecution for the sale or exposure of obscene materials unless these materials depict or describe patently offensive hardcore sexual conduct."

The court viewed "Carnal Knowledge," a film which gained wide critical acclaim, and concluded that it did not "depict sexual conduct in a patently offensive way," Rehnquist said.

SEX

"While the subject matter of the picture is, in a broader sense, sex, and there are scenes in which sexual conduct including 'ultimate sexual acts' is to be understood to be taking place, the camera does not focus on the bodies of the actors at such times," he continued.

In the 1973 cases, the court rejected the application of a national standard defining punishable obscenity and said instead that prosecutors may move against films and other material on the basis of community standards.

The ambiguity of community standards produced confusion in courts, and the Supreme

County Goes 'First Class' For Airport Fire Fighting

Discussion over the Howard County Airport lease renewal continued in County Commissioners Court this morning, and the court voted to "go first class" when purchasing a fire truck for the air field.

The airport committee and court will be conferring about the lease again this afternoon.

Members of the court proposed increasing rent, charged airport hangar users, from $30 to $35 per month, increasing the price charged for fuel from 68 to 70 cents per gallon, and deleting a clause which provides an option to renew.

J. W. McClendon, manager of Big Spring Aircraft Inc., wanted to maintain the same price for hangar rental. Of the $30 charged now, $5 goes to the county.

In recommending meeting with the committee, Commissioner Simon Terrazas said: "If we're going to make some improvements out there, then we going to have to have some encouragement toward it."

The court plans to build additional hangars at the airport and to outline the taxiway with either lights or reflectors.

This morning, the administrative body voted to entertain bids on the more expensive of two proposed fire trucks.

CHOICE MADE

An $8,000 "skid unit"-pickup combination would meet specifications for the lowest classification of airports in which Howard County Airport now falls. But the more costly version of fire fighting equipment would satisfy the next classification up, McClendon said.

The federal government will pay 75 per cent of the cost of a truck and truck housing the court plans to construct. Also, the court was concerned about the effect the inexpensive route might have on the pending Civil Aeronautics Board ruling over discontinuance of Texas International flights here.

"So far, they can't blame this county for anything as far as keeping the airport in good shape," McClendon said.

Action was taken today because of a promise to Federal Aviation Administration official.

A temporary exemption from compliance with regulations will be extended for a time, but County Judge A. G. Mitchell said: "I've got to give the man a letter today and date it today."

"That will take this old boy off the hook in Dallas," Mitchell said.

FAMILY HOMESTEAD FIGHT Ethel Won't Go

WAYNE, W. Va. (AP) — Ethel Carson says she has given up on the federal government and has begun relying solely on God to save her family homestead.

"I'm just praying that God will keep their hands off me until He finds me another place to go to," the 66-year-old widow said as she sat on the porch of the old frame farmhouse her father built at the turn of the century.

Mrs. Carson lives on Miller's Fork Road in rural Wayne County.

It's a land of overgrown fields and weed-choked driveways leading to houses no longer there. The road is rutted. Humped groundhogs laze boldly along the roadway and a passing automobile sends scores of rabbits springing off in every direction.

Once scores of farm families lived along the road, but no longer. Almost everyone has left, except for Mrs. Carson, Pearl Blankenship — a widow who lives down the road and is in the process of moving out — and a few others.

The Miller's Fork exodus began three years ago when the federal government came in and began condemnation proceedings in preparation for the Beech Fork Lake project.

ALL GONE

"They're all gone now," Mrs. Carson observed one day last week. She grew up on Miller's Fork, left when she was 18 and returned many years ago to take care of her aged father. "And them federals have told me to leave, too, three different times. Now they say I've got to be gone by July 1st."

Mrs. Carson said she accepted the government's final offer of 15,000 for her house and surrounding six-acre bottom, but that more than $2,000 of that money went for attorneys' fees and her father's funeral expenses.

"Now I've just got $13,000 left and I can't find a place for that," she said. "I'd leave if they'd treat me right but I can't find no place for $13,000. I can't go into debt, all I got coming in is $111 a month from

Not Fair, Says Saxbe

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP) — Atty. Gen. William Saxbe said today it is unfair for Watergate convicts to receive short prison sentences while thieves serve years behind bars.

"It is hardly reassuring when one man goes to prison for years for theft while another man involved in a conspiracy to steal our freedoms is in and out of jail in a wink of an eye," Saxbe said.

Saxbe's comments were in a speech for the annual convention of the National Association of Attorneys General.

"No one is suggesting that the thief should not go to jail," the attorney general said. "He should—and so should the man who is convicted of failing in his public trust."

The remarks expanded on Saxbe's earlier criticism of the extensive plea-bargaining involved in the Watergate prosecution.

Light Rain In Part Of City

Rain barely fell on the just or the unjust as an early morning shower dropped as much as .3 of an inch in some parts of the city today.

The U.S. Experiment Station official gauge showed only .01, and Webb AFB area showed only a trace. However, a rain gauge in Kentwood Addition measured 2 and .3 in Edwards Heights 2.

Temperatures dropped during the night as a cool air mass spread southward across Texas, kicking up thunderstorms and blunting an early season heat wave.

By early this morning, the forward edge of the cool front moved down to Houston and Corpus Christi.

More thunderstorms were expected in deep South Texas. West Texas was due to continue to have cooler weather through tonight, according to the forecast.

HER SHOE KEPT FALLING OFF Killed Nurse Because She Couldn't Keep Up

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Ethiopian guerrillas killed a Dutch nurse they kidnaped because one of her shoes kept falling off and she couldn't keep up as they ran through the bush, according to her American companion.

Deborah Dortzbach, a pregnant, 24-year-old missionary nurse from Freehold, N.J., who was kidnaped May 27 with the Dutch nurse Anna Stickwerda, said the guerrillas of the Eritrean Liberation Front asked her to relay their apologies for the killing.

HER ORDEAL Mrs. Dortzbach, who was released unharmed Saturday, told her story to her associates in the Society of International Missions in Asmara, the capital of the northern province of Eritrea.

She was reported in good health despite her ordeal but has been in seclusion with her husband Karl in the Asmara area since her release.

The guerrillas kidnaped Mrs. Dortzbach and Miss Stickwerda, who was 54, from an American Evangelical Mission hospital in an area partly controlled by the ELF 25 miles from Asmara.

Mrs. Dortzbach's friends said she told this story:

After they were taken from the hospital at gunpoint, Miss Stickwerda and Mrs. Dortzbach were forced to run through the bush toward a hideout. But the Dutch nurse was unable to keep up.

'I CAN'T GO ON' One shoe fell off repeatedly, and the guerrillas told the woman she would have to hurry. She fell to the ground, gasping, "I can't go on. I can't go on."

A guerrilla bent down and shot her in the head.

There was speculation that the guerrilla might have been frightened into shooting by the appearance overhead of a helicopter. But the helicopter was piloted by Grant Wyatt, a Canadian, instead of Ethiopian soldiers, and the guerrillas captured Wyatt when he landed nearby.

MISTAKE Wyatt had been hoping to meet ELF leaders and rescue three Americans and two Canadians captured while prospecting for oil three months ago.

Wyatt was later released, but the other five men still are held.

The guerrillas told Mrs. Dortzbach the shooting of the Dutch nurse was a "tactical mistake."

A spokesman for the Society of International Missions said the guerrillas released Mrs. Dortzbach unconditionally.

Rodeo Turnout Is The 'Best Yet'

A record breaking four-night rodeo crowd viewed the 41st showing of the Big Spring Rodeo.

E. P. Driver, vice president of the association, said "all figures are not yet in, but it has to be a record breaker for the four nights."

"The second night had the smallest crowd, but there's been lots of years we'd have settled for that crowd. The crowd on the final night was tremendous."

Good weather, good stock, popular stars and good publicity were all credited with the large crowds this season, he said.

Driver observed that in the four years the rodeo has had a star, personality, it has never rained on those 16 nights.

Making teams from Webb Air Force Base an actual part of the show in the calf dressing contest has also increased interest, Driver added.

Charlie Creighton, president of the rodeo association, said he was pleased with the success of this year's show.

Officials hoped that more floats could be included in the parade next year.

Other program highlights included colonial music by members of the Big Spring High School Band, a reading "Ring the Bells for Freedom," will be given by Elizabeth Lipscomb, who three years ago was a state winner in poetry reading.

Also, Arnold Marshall, former mayor, will sing, "Let Freedom Ring," and Robert Moore, district attorney, will read the Declaration of Independence.

Al Scott will be the town crier, and colonial dancers will be pupils of Mrs. Ora Bursan. The Webb AFB color guard will past the flag and the invocation will be by the Rev. Fred Witt.

Mrs. Mamie Lee Dodds, who directs the production, said that the Texas Highway Department had requested color photographs of the program for consideration on one of its feature articles.

The program is set for 8 p.m. and will be concluded in ample time for spectators to take in the traditional July 4 Fireworks.

Display provided by Webb AFB groups. In fact, the display can be seen from the park.

Man Named In Exposure Count Jesus Juardo Marquez, 57, of 700 NW 7th St., was charged this morning with indecent exposure.

The defendant, who is serving a probated sentence for a previous offense, was in county jail in lieu of posting $10,000 bond set by Peace Justice Walter Grice.

The incident, involving a girl under 17 years of age, happened June 21, according to the complaint police filed.

Industry Chief The hiring of a full-time industrial executive will be the topic of a called meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors this week, according to Chamber Manager Ron Mercer.

Break-In-Over A break-in resulted in a break-out at the city dog pound over the weekend.

Tommy Aycock, humane officer, said that three dogs were taken from the pound during a break-in over the weekend.

Dallas Cowboys Lose Court Fight

DALLAS (AP) — A state appeals court judge cleared the way today for recruiting of Dallas Cowboy football players by the World Football League.

Judge Harold Bateman reversed a lower court injunction that had halted WFL recruiting of players from the National Football League team.

District Court Judge Charles Long had issued an injunction that barred WFL recruiting of Cowboys Calvin Hill, Craig Morton and Mike Montgomery.

The Cowboys, who obtained the temporary injunction, described the WFL recruiting as "raiding."

Judge Bateman disagreed with the Cowboys' claims that the WFL recruitment was illegal meddling in player contracts.

"We must consider the freedom of contract of the individual players as well as the rights of the club under its present contracts," Judge Bateman said.

'The Lord's Boot Camp'

MELBOURNE, Fla. (AP) — "Get dirty for God—lay a brick" is the message some 500 teen-agers who want to be missionaries overseas are learning this summer at "the Lord's boot camp."

The youths come from all over for the two-week training program, where sponsors say they learn bricklaying, carpentry and other construction trades.

Robert Bland, director of the nondenominational Teen Mission Camp, says that after a couple of weeks of military-like discipline the youths find the transition to the poverty-stricken regions of Bolivia, Colombia, Haiti, Venezuela and Peru much easier.

"We challenge the kids to 'Get dirty for God, to really put their faith into action," he says, adding that the young people are taught that their evangelism will be more effective if they put work first and preaching second.

They harden muscles by lugging sandbags, swinging over creeks on ropes and scaling 12-foot walls, and they learn to do without modern home conveniences.

The program started four years ago in Greenfield, Ohio, with 67 youngsters. This summer, the 500 teen-agers in the program come from 47 states, Canada and Mexico.

Bland says the young missionaries have built more than a dozen churches, youth camps, orphanages and even air strips in remote regions since the program began in 1971.

DURANT: A LIVING LEGEND IN ITS TIME 'Bottleneck Of The Nation'

DURANT, Okla. (AP) — Twenty years of frustration for cross-state motorists should come to an end today with the snipping of a red ribbon.

A new bypass was being opened here at 1 p.m. It would be a fairly ho-hum occurrence except that this isn't your ordinary town of 11,118.

Motoring legends have been made in this Southeastern Oklahoma town — bad motoring legends.

NASTY WORDS
Take a stroll along the 27-block business district on U.S. 69-75 and you can see the bumper-to-bumper crop of motorists mouthing nasty words from inside their air-conditioned cars and trucks.

Little wonder. On week days you can count on spending at least 10 minutes crawling through the business district. It drags much longer on holidays and weekends.

Not one of the 11 traffic lights is synchronized with another. There are 28 service stations along those 27 blocks.

The north-south route through town easily provides the worst traffic snarl from Tulsa to Dallas. Annually it leaves lifelong impressions on fans migrating south for the Oklahoma-Texas football game in the Cotton Bowl.

WASTE OF TIME
Several years ago a trucker appearing on the Johnny Carson television show, called Durant the "bottleneck of the nation."

"That started arguments that should be eased today. I wouldn't say it's the worst town in the United States, but it's one of them," said trucker Bill Featherston of Dallas. "It's a waste of time — that just about sums it up."

A young attendant at a Denison, Tex., truck stop was still shaking his head after a rig hauling an 84-foot light pole wheeled on south.

"That ole boy sure was cursing Durant," Calvin Hullum said.

LITTLE OLD LADY
"He liked to never get that pole to 'bend' around those corners. Said cars stacked up for blocks."

Because North First Street is a bit wide for two lanes and a bit narrow for four, accidents have trapped truckers and motorists entering the town with unblemished driving records.

"I've driven all over this country and had only one wreck," said Wayne McClelland of Corsicana, Tex. "I was in the right lane and a little old lady whipped across my path from the left lane. Nobody got a ticket."

The accident occurred eight years ago but McClelland still remembers it.

SCENE TO CHANGE
"Bypass talk dates back to when I was in high school in 1953," says former state Sen. John Massey, who helped push the project into reality.

The $5.7 million four-lane bypass has been nearly 10 years in the making. Its 9.7 miles long.

The south leg of the new U.S. 69-75 route has been open since 1969. The north leg was delayed by a lack of federal matching funds.

Galyean Assumes Post With TSTA

AUSTIN — E. L. Galyean, Austin, has been named acting executive secretary of the 152,000-member Texas State Teachers Association to succeed L. P. Sturgeon, who retires as executive secretary at the end of this week.

Galyean, now associate executive secretary of the professional organization, has been with TSTA 24 years.

Lone Survivor Of Grape Plan

NEW HOPE, Okla. (AP) — The son of a Missouri Muleskinner who faced a life of deprivation has seen the first signs of harvest in a once-ambiguous plan to get thousands of persons off the welfare rolls.

Jim Dodd, who came here two years ago to join nine other families in this Atoka County settlement, is the lone survivor of the Office of Economic Opportunity project.

He refused to leave with the last two families last fall when the OEO — headed for liquidation on July 1 — abandoned the visionary project.

Dodd estimates this year's crop of French hybrid grapes could bring him $5,000.

"The harvest should begin the first part of August, maybe before," he said. "There already are a few pods turning blue out there."

SOLD FLOWERS
He plans to double this crop, the first in two years here, to 15 acres for next year.

Dodd got a boost when the Indian Nations Community Action Center recently gave him a loan of $1,000 payment-money received from an oil pipeline company for right-of-way which knocked out six rows of grapes, and the land is now his.

He and his wife, Leona, have made ends meet for their 17-year-old daughter and 13-year-old son by selling flowers and plants from a makeshift greenhouse. They also have acquired a milk cow and 10 hogs, plus a few rabbits.

Dodd believes his background may be the clue to why he alone stayed.

NO SHOES
Until he was 13, he didn't know what it was like to live in one place, let alone a house. His father was chasing mule-

BRIDGE QUIZ ANSWERS

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠AQJ1065 ♥Q97 ♦AK2

The bidding has proceeded:

South West North East
1 ♠ 2 ♦ Dble. Pass ?

What action do you take?
A.—The partner's double indicates a desire to push the opponents and shows a distaste for spades, your hand is so offensively oriented that you should head towards game. The proper bid is a jump to three spades—a mere two spades would indicate dissatisfaction with the double, and perhaps, a weak distributional opening. Any penalty you might collect is unlikely to compensate for missing an almost sure vulnerable game.

Q. 2 — East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AKJ ♥85 ♦82 ♣QJ762

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—The proper call is a preference to two spades. Some players will balk at this suggestion on the grounds that it does not adequately describe the strength of your spade support. However, you have already taken that into account when you responded at the two-level, showing a reasonable hand, and if partner can't move over your preference, you are unlikely to miss anything.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠5 ♥Q76 ♦A1043 ♣AQ1072

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass 2 ♥ Pass 2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades. The bidding virtually marks partner with a singleton diamond and, despite the non-forcing sound of the auction, shows it is a possibility since the hands appear to fit well. Start investigating with a cuebid.

Q. 4—As dealer, vulnerable, you hold:

♠A76 ♥AQ98 ♦AQ432 ♣8

What is your opening bid?
A.—You have a borderline reverse bid, so we suggest the natural opening of one diamond, your longest suit, followed by a strength showing rebid of two hearts. However, we would not fault you greatly if you elected to treat the suits as being of equal length and so opened one heart, with the intention of rebidding two diamonds.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠Q6 ♥A92 ♦K1092 ♣8743

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three spades. Despite the fact that partner has made a bid that sounds like a minimum, one push from you is in order. Partner almost certainly has a six-card suit and you are at the top of your bid with valuable support in the form of a doubleton honor in partner's suit.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AJ965 ♥75 ♦Q5 ♣K1092

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South
1 ♥ 2 ♦ 2 ♥ ?

What do you bid?
A.—Two spades. If partner has a fit, game is by no means out of the question. This action is relatively safe, for if partner cannot stand spades, he can return to diamonds and your doubleton queen is suitable support.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠KQ1072 ♥K10873 ♣J65

Your partner opens the bidding with one no trump. What is your response?
A.—Three spades. Should partner rebid three no trump, you intend bidding three hearts. With a game-going hand and two five-card major suits, there is no need to start a probe for a four-card major in partner's hand with a Stayman bid of two clubs.

Q. 8 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠832 ♥AJ9854 ♦A8 ♣A872

The bidding has proceeded:

North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♥ Pass 1 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts. While a forward move must be made, the hand does not qualify for a jump bid of any kind. Unless partner can bid again, there should not be good play for game.

Less Coffee Needed In True Ozarka Water

Less coffee is needed in pure Ozarka water, Mrs. Jim Adams, 1904 College says. She adds, "It is clearer, yet richer to the taste. It is not spoiled by the harsh minerals and strong chemicals in other water."

Mrs. Adams has used Ozarka for 17 years and knows that the taste of foods cooked in water without chemicals and pipe residue is more pleasing.

"We even take Ozarka water along when we travel or on camping trips," Mrs. Adams said. "My three year old son has been raised on it."

Mrs. Adams went to work at Ozarka water in Midland 2½ years ago. She believes that water free of chemicals and pipe residue is better for your health and her family's health means a great deal to her.

Most frozen foods require an addition of water. The reason these vegetables and juices are frozen is to preserve their garden-ripe freshness. With Ozarka Water, these subtle country flavors are retained.

All beverages are better and lose none of their flavor if ice cubes are made with Ozarka water.

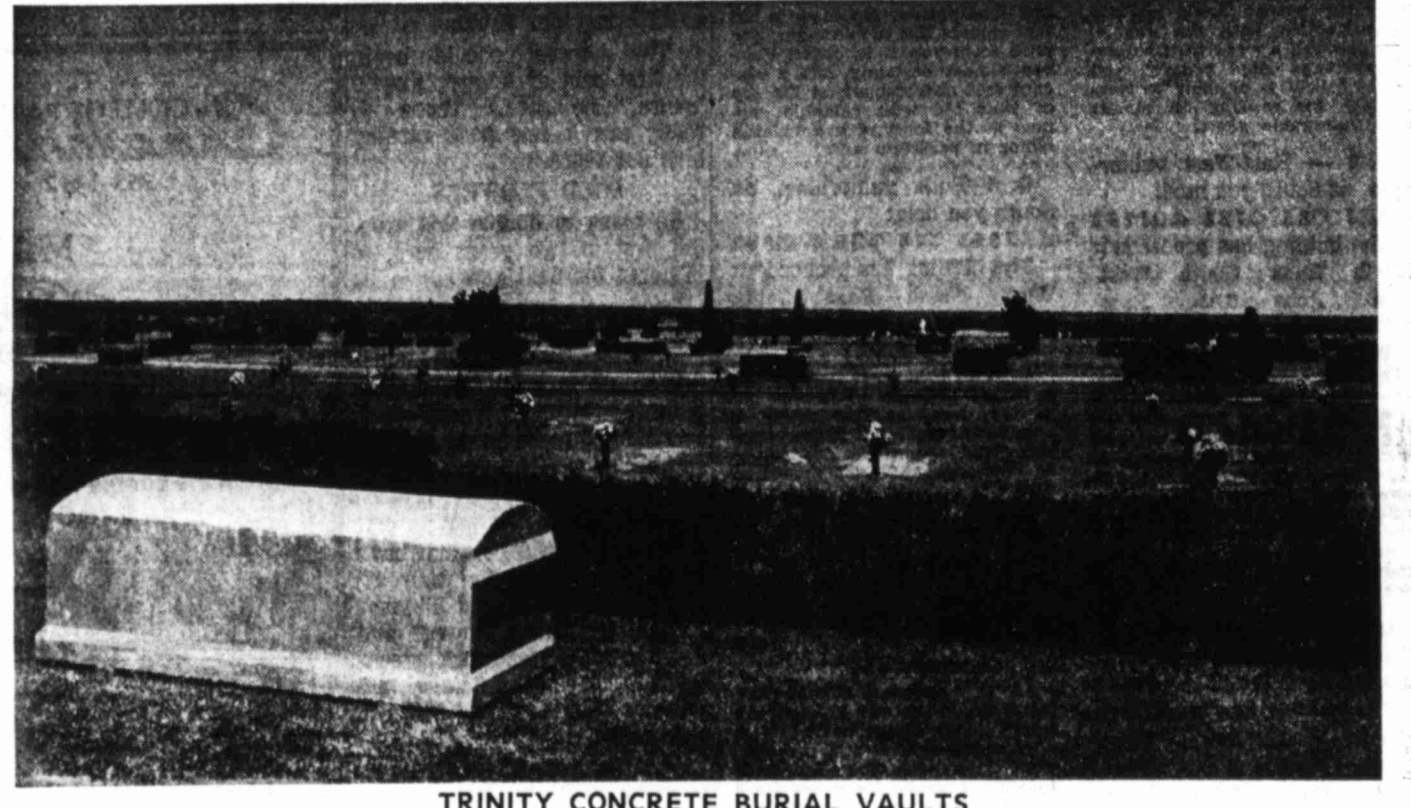

As a working housewife, Mrs. Adams maintains that there are many ways that Ozarka Water helps improve every day living and saves time.

Use of perfection distilled water will keep mineral deposit from forming on delicate mechanisms and will keep your steam iron working better longer.

Ozarka Water will be delivered to your home or business. For information on how to have plenty of pure Ozarka Water for all your needs, call Enterprise 8-4024.

NATURAL FLAVOR COFFEE — Ozarka water, pure and free of harsh minerals and strong chemicals, brings out the natural delicious flavor of coffee. Mrs. Jim Adams, 1904 College St., wouldn't make coffee any other way. She has been using Ozarka water for 17 years.

Trinity Memorial Park Tells Of Quality Burial Vaults

Trinity Concrete Burial Vaults . . . serene atmosphere

When it becomes necessary to make arrangements for the burial of a loved one, it would be wise to consider the permanent protection a burial vault can give.

More and more people in Big Spring and surrounding towns are realizing the superior quality of concrete burial vaults. The concrete vault is less expensive than many other types with the possible exception of solid copper.

Trinity Memorial Park is one of the largest firms between Fort Worth and El Paso to construct concrete vaults. Trinity vaults are built of steel reinforced concrete with a waterproofing agent mixed with the concrete before its formed. The earth with its moisture and chemical acting properties attacks and breaks down many materials including metal, yet the moisture only serves to complete the curing of the concrete.

Dense concrete with a strength of more than 4,000 pounds per square inch is required, and tests have shown that this concrete increases in strength as the years go by.

A concrete vault prevents sunken graves, and rust and corrosion are not possible. Trinity Memorial Park manufactures the vaults which are through the various area funeral homes including Stanton, Lamesa and Snyder. Trinity Park has been making these vaults for 10 years.

Rigid standards regulate the construction of concrete burial vaults to insure the quality of the concrete and workmanship. Often, because people do not realize the importance of a burial vault, the necessity of a vault for permanent protection is disregarded. Unless arrangements with the funeral director are made, the outside container will be a wooden box. A vault replaces the wooden box with an indestructible material and thus protects the casket.

A special feature of vaults constructed by Trinity Memorial Park is the "Air Seal." Any dampness which might occur in this type vault from condensation of air can escape so the interior will be kept dry. The vaults' durability

They'd Like To Have Mayor On Presidential Ticket

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The annual meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors this week is serving as a showcase for new political stars among municipal chief executives.

WHITE OF BOSTON

The Democrats especially are making plans for a bigger role in choosing their party's 1976 presidential ticket, and they wouldn't mind having a mayor on it. Included among possibilities for a vice presidential bid are mayors Kevin White of Boston and Thomas Bradley of Los Angeles.

Most of the Republican limelight is on Ralph Perk of Cleveland and Richard G. Lugar of Indianapolis, Ind., both nominees for the U.S. Senate this year, and Pete Wilson of San Diego, considering a 1976 Senate race in California.

But the vast majority of the mayors are Democrats—22 out of the 30 most populous cities—and they are organizing this week to make a formal effort to exercise their political influence on the national scene in the next two years.

The Democratic caucus led by Milwaukee Mayor Henry W. Maier planned a meeting tonight to discuss methods by which the city chief executives can round up and control blocks of delegate votes to the 1976 Democratic National Convention.

INFLUENCE

The Democrats are expected to meet with national party chairman Robert Strauss before the 42nd annual mayors' conference ends Wednesday. It began today.

Sunday, two Democratic mayors said they expected the caucus to wield significant power at the 1976 convention.

Mayor Maynard Jackson of Atlanta said, "We believe the future of America is the future of the cities. We believe the mayors ought to have significant influence at the convention. We would like to see a mayor on the national ticket."

Push Ex-Governor For Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP)—A citizens committee has been formed to seek the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976 for former North Carolina Gov. Terry Sanford.

Sanford, head of the party commission drafting a charter for the mid-term Democratic convention in December, said he approved of the group but that "this is not an announcement that I am a candidate."

Sanford was an aspirant for the nomination in 1972.

Nixon Talking With His Top Economic Advisers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ending a secluded weekend at Camp David, Md., of preparations for his Moscow summit trip, President Nixon today returned to the White House today to talk with his top economic advisers.

Aides said he planned to take up a few domestic matters today before his Tuesday departure for Brussels and a 10-day trip that will include talks in the Soviet Union with Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev.

An 11 a.m. White House meeting was called to get a report on the nation's economy from the administration's new economic policy coordinator, Kenneth Rush; Treasury Secretary William E. Simon; Budget Director Roy L. Ash; Chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers Herbert Stein, and Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns.

Nixon then will sign the Colorado River Basin salinity act, a new law resulting from lengthy negotiations with the Mexican government over the flow of waters from the Colorado River into Mexico.

In Brussels, the President will meet with representatives of the 15 North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations and sign a declaration on Atlantic relations, pledging wider and more intimate consultations among the NATO allies.

He goes on to Moscow Thursday for a third summit meeting with Brezhnev. The visit to the Soviet Union also will include a trip to Brezhnev's Black Sea resort home at Oreanda in the Crimea and to the Soviet city of Minsk, the White House said.

R. J. Impresses On His 'Night'

MIDLAND — R. J. Englert appreciated R. J. Englert Appreciation Night.

Englert, performing before his hometown fans at Big Spring Night, slapped a pair of singles in six times at bat in helping the Amarillo Giants to a 13-7 victory over Midland's Cubs.

Rich Guerra's three-run homer in the fourth inning highlighted a six-run outburst that sparked the victory which kept the Cubs in the Texas League East cellar. Tony Pepper also had a solo home run in the win, while Midland's Wayne Tyrone stroked two homers to move into the TL lead. David Fuqua, 4-3, was the winner.

Englert used the trip to Midland to boost his ego and his batting average. The former Big Spring Steer and Texas A&M standout had a slow beginning with the Giants, but has hit near .400 for the month of June and boosted his average

Connors Claims Smith Jinx Alive

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — The keen personal rivalry between Stan Smith and Jimmy Connors sizzled with fresh sparks today as the great and near-great began the two-week grind in the Wimbledon Tennis Championships.

The brassy, 21-year-old Connors, who shares the No. 1 U.S. ranking with Smith, bristled at the suggestion that Smith, his best stuff going for him Sunday night, had California's ace right hander Nolan Ryan summed up his 22-year-old teammate's performance better than anybody.

"Sure, he beat me at Nottingham in the quarter-finals," Connors said. "So what? Our matches are like the ocean tide; they flow and ebb. I beat him four times and now he comes back to beat me once. 'What does that prove? Nothing. Next time could be my time. That's the way it works.'"

Smith's triumph at Nottingham on grass after a somewhat lack-lustre season caused Landon's legal bookies to shorten odds on the towering Californian from an original 7-1 to 9-2.

Connors refused to concede that the reversal at Nottingham, followed by Smith victories over Roscoe Tanner and Russia's Alex Metreveli, had any significant impact on the duo's rivalry.

Because of his dominance over his older and more experienced opponent, Connors was given a share of the No. 1 ranking this year with Smith. He also was handed a higher seeding here—no. 3 compared with No. 4 for Smith, who won the title in 1972.

John Newcombe of Australia was seeded No. 1, followed by Ilie Nastase of Romania, Connors and Smith. Defending champion Jan Kodess of Czechoslovakia was seeded sixth.

Newcombe also is the choice of London bookies at 7-4. Nastase is 4-1, Young Bjorn Borg of Sweden 7-1, Connors 14-1 and Arthur Ashe 18-1.

Angels Dump Rangers, 10-2

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — It didn't take great insight into the nuances of pitching to realize that Andy Hassler had his best stuff going for him Sunday night, but California's ace right hander Nolan Ryan summed up his 22-year-old teammate's performance better than anybody.

"Great, the kid is coming along fast, isn't he? That is a terrific hitting team he beat tonight. You've got to be at your best to beat them. Hassler had great stuff and that is what it takes against Texas now," said Ryan. Hassler, whose 1974 record evened at 1-1 with his first major-league victory in nine decisions, allowed only three hits in 7-13 innings before his arm stiffened and he was forced to give way to Skip Lockwood.

For a change, the much-maligned angled bullpen came through to preserve a 10-2 win.

Texas' pitcher Ross Grubbs (7-1) pitched 7 1/3 innings, allowing 10 hits and 2 runs. He was replaced by Tommie (Gallagher) Wilson.

California's pitcher Nolan Ryan (10-1) pitched 7 1/3 innings, allowing 3 hits and 2 runs. He was replaced by Skip Lockwood (1-0).

Osteen Stars As Houston Pops Padres

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros pitcher Claude Osteen says he feels like he is starting a new season.

Osteen pitched his first complete game in a month Sunday as the Astros clubbed the San Diego Padres, 8-2.

"This is kinda like a new season, really," Osteen said. "I was able to throw some pitches where I wanted to throw them. Two weeks ago I couldn't do it."

Cesar Cedeno and Bob Watson clubbed home runs, Gregg Gross had four hits and Osteen had a two-run double in the Astros' 12-hit attack on four San Diego pitchers.

"It's bound to help him," Houston Manager Preston Gomez said of Osteen's performance. "It's good for his confidence. Actually, he pitched well in the two games he came out of the bullpen."

Houston started the scoring early off Dave Freisleben, 6-3. In the first inning Cedeno slammed his 14th home run of the season after Gross tripled.

Gross doubled home a run in the second for Houston and the Astros added three more in the third on Watson's seventh home run and Osteen's two-run double.

Houston added another run in the fourth when Cedeno walked, stole second and third and raced home on a bad throw to third.

The Astros scored their final run in the fifth when Gross singled, went to second on a wild pitch, to third on a ground out and scored on a single by Cedeno.

Foreman Tangles With Ali At Party

NEW YORK (AP) — Gossip columnists might well put George Foreman and Muhammad Ali under the heading of "people not to invite to the same party."

The two heavyweights were at the same party Saturday night, the New York Boxing Writer's Association Dinner, and they were anything but congenial guests.

Foreman, the neavyweight champion, was being honored as the association's fighter of the year, and Ali, who will challenge him for the title in Zaire Sept. 25, was the featured speaker.

Ali needed Foreman, sitting just two seats away.

"Hittin' hard don't mean nothing if you don't find nothing to hit," chided Ali. "Are you serious, George, fighting me? George Foreman do not hit hard..."

Foreman finally approached the podium and said: "I don't know about anybody else, but I'm tired of all of this and I want to go home."

He then strode to his seat, picked up his awards and started to leave. Ali interceded.

Foreman then grabbed the hem of Ali's blue suit coat and ripped it up the back.

The two were eyeball-to-eyeball and snortin' mad. They were pulled apart, but not before Foreman's shirt was ripped from beneath his coat.

Foreman left in a huff and insults and drinking glasses hurled by Ali.

As foreman's elevator descended to the hotel lobby from the dining room above, the heavyweight champion was overheard telling promoter Don King of Video Techniques:

"You'd better get me a body guard any time I'm going near him again." The incident was not unlike a scuffle between Ali and Joe Frazier on a television talk show just two days before their fight last January.

Eastman Sinks Ace At BSCC

Eddie Eastman sank the first hole-in-one of his golfing career Saturday, acing the 160-yard No. 7 at Big Spring Country Club. He used a six-iron for the feat.

Playing with him were Jerry Phillips, Joe Eastman, C. L. Phillips and Sidney Clark.

Tiny's Gay Wins Kansas Futurity

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — Tiny's Gay, leading from the start, buried the field in an awesome performance and captured Sunday's 24th running of the $358,705 Kansas Quarter Horse Futurity at Ruidoso Downs.

Jockey John Ward never used the whip as Tiny's Gay, owned by John Colville of Paramount, Calif., cruised under the wire with a three-quarter length lead over I Can Go.

Tiny's Gay's victory, his eighth without a defeat, was worth $117,783 — considerably more than the $3,000 Colville paid for the colt in a yearling sale last year. Tiny's Gay now sports career earnings of $201,331.

Mutual returns for the victory were $3 to win, $3 to place and $2.60 to show after the colt turned in a 17-41 clocking, the fastest time in the history of the Futurity.

I Can Go, owned by Ethel and Charles Bird of Midland, finished second with Willie Lovell in the irons and backers collected $3.40 and $3.

The only surprise of the race was Passum Choice, and 18-1 outsiders ridden by Larry Brooksher for Raymond Brooksher of Maysville, Okla., which finished third and paid $4.60 to show.

Heza Charger, a 9-2 shot owned by Ronald Houseman and Alonzo Stanley of Madill, Okla. was fourth. I Can Go earned $49,165 for second. Passum Choice got $22,990 and Heza Charger's fourth place money came to $16,270.

Rounding out the field, with money earned, were: fifth, Really Rapid owned by L. R. French of Odessa ($13,087); sixth, Panama Sister owned by Royal T. Foster of Sterling City ($12,379); seventh, Get Swinging owned by B. F. Phillips of Frisco ($11,672); eighth, Streaky Jane 3 owned by Thomas D. Goodner of Duncan, Okla. ($11,318); ninth, Rebel Rainbow owned by Charles Roweik of San Antonio ($10,611); tenth, Bo Rax owned by Ron Southerland and a John Whitehead of Pascagoula, Miss. ($9,903).

The 350-yard thriller, the first leg of the Triple Crown of Quarter Horse racing, was beamed to an estimated television audience of five million in 13 western states.

The Ciudad Acuna, Mex. Tropis swept a doubleheader from the Big Spring A's Sunday at Johnny Stone Park, winning the opener 3-2 and rolling in the nightcap, 13-2.

In the second game, Joe Martinez stroked two home runs for the only Big Spring markers. Pineda had a pair of hits and Felix Martinez and Jody Flores came up with one apiece. Flores was the losing hurler, allowing 14 hits.

Hearing Can Prove Asset

The Civil Aeronautics Board hearing on the application of Texas International Airways to abandon service here has been concluded, and it may be a month to three months before there is any definitive ruling on the matter.

Winning the point would certainly prove an asset to the community, for testimony stressed this very point. This also would answer eloquently the thesis that airline permits are awarded for the convenience of airline operators and not the convenience of people.

But even if there were to be an adverse ruling, we feel that this experience has been an asset. For one thing, it has brought out once more the capacity of diverse elements within the community to come together and to fight for the common good. To those who have observed the intricate detail with which the case was prepared, it has demonstrated a willingness to dig for facts, to prepare, and to persevere. To our credit, we didn't just roll over and play dead.

Out of this experience, this inventory and appraisal, this consolidating our efforts might well come equal effort expended in other directions positively and aggressively instead of defensively. One of the first tests, ironically, might come if we get favorable ruling and end up with an unwilling bride.

Licking The Log

It is regrettable that Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby would be in the position of being charged with driving while intoxicated. It is refreshing, however, that he made no contest and lost no time in accepting his punishment of a fine and probated jail sentence, and with a likely driving license suspension to come.

The cynical view is that he was caught dead to rights and there was no alternative. But there are and were alternatives, as previous examples have shown, and we can admire Hobby's refusal to claim exception to the law and his willingness to take his medicine.

In accepting the consequences, he said he hoped that the people will judge him on the basis of all his acts, and not on a single unfortunate one. Without condoning the act, most people will be more willing to forgive and to trust someone who candidly admits to error than someone seeking to circumvent or belabor the law.

Venture And Potential

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

This and that: Titled pitchers don't come cheap, but raking up enough scratch to pay Lord Lawrence Olivier is the least of Polaroid's worries.

POLAROID has spent over $250 million to perfect its SX-70 camera, which is being demonstrated every time you lock eyes with the telly, and is turning out 5,000 of them daily.

The SX-70 retails for $180 and each film pack will relieve you of an extra $6.50.

In other words, Polaroid figures on selling to a much wider market than grandparents who delight in showing pictures of their children's shoes.

Its first year on the market, 470,000 of the SX-70s and 4.5 million of the film packs were assimilated into our restless society. You have to be only fair in mathematics to figure out the potential.

SOME ONE said recently that a small town is one where it's no sooner done than said. The small town is also a place where there's no place to go that you shouldn't.

A NEW automobile, called the Bricklin, was shown to Bricklin dealers in Las Vegas recently. Security was such that it could only be compared to that used by a group of legislators meeting to discuss ways and means of milking the public treasury for higher pay and expense accounts.

Guards even had a metal detector and scanning units to uncover hidden cameras smuggled into the place by industrial spies.

THE BRICKLIN is supposed to sell for $6,500. About the size of a Corvette, it takes on the appearance of a runabout in the $20,000 plus range. A Chrysler automatic transmission will be used, and its motor will come from the American Motors Corp.

Boasting flip-up doors, the auto's body is breathtaking. Its developers will aim its sales pitch at the sportsmen and no doubt we have a lot of that type around.

IN THESE airy days, if you don't aim your product either at the sporting types or the teens or both, you're not with it. If you had been aboard the Titanic, you'd have been reassured if the captain had dropped by to say: "We're just stopping for ice."

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

I am an extremely jealous wife, and in my view, jealousy is the worst social disease anyone could have. I worry about my husband meeting someone not as jealous and more beautiful. How can I stop this, and gain confidence in myself and my marriage? C.W. That's a new definition of "jealousy," but I know what you mean. Jealousy begins in one heart, but its social implications are immediately seen as it spreads its tentacles of suspicion, envy and mistrust everywhere.

One of the dictionary definitions of "jealousy" is to be zealous and vigilant in guarding a possession. The fact of the matter, however, is that you can't adequately "guard" a husband. Trust plays a very big part. There is as much reason for you to mistrust your husband, while he is away from home daily, as for him to be suspicious to you at home.

The Christian can commit jealousy to the Lord — in daily prayer and in progressive surrender of life. After Paul urged the Christians in Rome to refuse to act "in dissension and jealousy," he advises, "Rather clothe yourselves with the Lord Jesus Christ and do not think about how to gratify the desires of your sinful nature." (Romans 13:14.) That's the expulsive power of a new affection.

YOUR PRAYERS HAVE BEEN ANSWERED... A FIRST STRIKE CAPABILITY!

Way Out On A Limb

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — In the past few weeks there has developed very little evidence to support the consensus forecast of a sharp drop in price increases and interest rates by the end of the year.

And, since this is a repeat of the 1973 scenario, when prices seemed to defy the efforts and best intentions of those who claimed to understand what was going on, there exists today a feeling of abandonment to fate.

The federal government has largely withdrawn from direct intervention in the marketplace as a whole, although it continues sporadically its attempts to cover over the big problems, such as the threatened bankruptcy of cattlemen.

The forecasts come with the old frequency but are quickly assaulted by facts. Private and government forecasters alike are beginning to find themselves out on a limb, their pleas of "wait 'til next month" sounding too shrill to be believed.

Last week the prime rate rose, against the forecasts, of course. It was foreordained by a sharp rise in business borrowing at the big New York banks, again in defiance of the forecasts.

The latest consumer price index, for May, also showed an increase in the rate of increase, to an annual rate of 13.2 percent. It meant that consumer prices in May were 10.7 percent over a year ago.

What does that mean in terms of wages? For some, of course, it means automatic increases because their incomes are tied to the cost of living, rising via escalator clauses to the same degree.

For millions of others, however, it means a further decrease in the purchasing power of the dollar they take home. They can buy less and less with that dollar unless they get pay raises. And so, trouble brews on that front.

In fact, the forecasts that seem most likely to be realized are those now emanating from every direction that labor will become increasingly aggressive, after a mysterious hiatus during the past year.

Medical bills are growing faster now than earlier this year. Clothing and used car prices are accelerating. Mortgage rates are rising, although the consequences are academic, since the housing market has all but expired.

What is bothering some economists and government officials now is a matter that should have been appreciated much earlier: Whether prices can be controlled at all for many months more.

It is one thing to control domestic prices through proper fiscal and monetary measures. It is an entirely different matter when the prices to be controlled are set abroad.

Both energy and food are world markets, with world demand setting the price. Since the United States imports both — as well as exports both — it cannot escape the inflationary impact.

Squeeze On Panel

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — A squeeze on the House Judiciary Committee, helping to reverse the impeachment tide and give the momentum to President Nixon, was applied last week by independent actions of the Justice Department and a federal judge.

ON WEDNESDAY morning, Deputy Atty. Gen. Lawrence Silberman placed on angry telephone call to John Doar, majority counsel for the impeachment proceedings. Silberman bluntly informed Doar that the Justice Department and the FBI were red hot about leaks from the committee. They simply could not tolerate FBI reports appearing on the front page of every morning's Washington Post.

About the same time, minority counsel Albert Jenner had a lower-keyed conversation with federal Judge Gerhard Gesell. Asked by Jenner for private comment on the committee possibly going into open session, Gesell said no. If committee proceedings went public, the judge warned, he would not be able to empanel a jury in the Ellsberg burglary trial of John D. Ehrlichman and others.

REP. PETER Rodino of New Jersey, the committee chairman, quickly responded to Silberman's warning by pleading with fellow Democratic committee members at a caucus that afternoon to summon a little self-restraint in maintaining confidential information. But with jury selection for the Ellsberg burglary trial to begin June 26, Gesell's admonition could keep the proceedings closed until well into July.

Thus, a squeeze has been applied to the committee, dropping morale of the Democratic majority to its lowest ebb since Doar took over last Dec. 20 to bring order of chaos. While not sufficiently disciplined to prevent leaks, the committee cannot go into the open sessions that would avoid the need for discipline.

COUPLED WITH resurgent Nixonian regularity among the committee's Republicans, the initiative has moved from the impeachment investigators to the President's defense. The 38-member Judiciary Committee is belatedly following the course predicted months ago by senior White House aides: polarization along party lines and disintegration among the 21 Democrats.

SIGNIFYING incipient disintegration is the first substantial criticism among committee Democrats of the Rodino-Doar leadership. The complaint is two-fold: First, in retrospect, the committee should have been in open session, closing the doors only for specific confidential points; second, Doar should have conducted the inquiry much more rapidly, even at the sacrifice of thoroughness.

SENIOR DEMOCRATS on the committee are urging Rodino to hold to July 15. House majority leader Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts is privately exasperated with the delay. Whereas Doar was a hero to House Democrats a month ago, many now grumble that over-preparation of cases was his weakness as the Justice Department civil rights chief in the early '60s. But the most disruptive factor has been the leaks. Privately suspected are two anti-Nixon fire-eaters — Rep. Robert Crinan (Mass.) and Rep. Jerome Walde (Calif.). Most damaging, however, was Rep. Joshua Eilbert's garbled account of the Kissinger wiretap affair, described by a colleague as "absolutely mindless."

Might Be Sciatic Nerve

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My problem is my left leg. I have excruciating pain that radiates from the hip down, sometimes all the way to the ankle.

I have been to about five different doctors and none helped me. One said it might be poor circulation and prescribed a purple pill, and another said it might be from back strain or sciatic nerve and gave me a white pill, and another said it could be from female trouble. I have been having, and two others said it was not from that even though I am scheduled for a hysterectomy and have trouble with my ovaries.

I am only 35 and have four children that keep me on the go, so I need help very badly. Please help me or refer me to someone who can. — L.F.

Five doctors have seen you and come up with variable answers; I'm certainly not going to try to diagnose the trouble without even seeing you. All the same I hope and think I can help you. I get the impression that none of the five doctors made a thorough study, and possibly in some cases it was a matter of seeing a doctor about your "female trouble" and asking him something like, "Does that have anything to do with the pain in my leg?"

One thing stands out: the pain radiates down your leg. That implies something is bothering the nerve which serves that area, and that in turn lends substance to the doctor who said it might be the sciatic nerve.

If that is the case, a pill isn't going to be the answer, nor, as so many folks blindly hope, liniment or massage.

Personally I think you should see a neurologist (or perhaps an orthopedist) but you should not expect a solid answer the first visit. First step is to make certain it is the sciatic nerve (if that, in fact, proves to be the case). Second step then would be to find out what is irritating that nerve. Has your lower spine been X-rayed? Has back strain caused a shift in the bones of the spine so they press on the nerve? Is there an infection that has reached and irritated the nerve? Can the problems with your ovaries or other reproductive organs (a tumor, for example) be exerting a pressure?

In other words, there are some health problems that are quite readily solved and there are others which require some logical and progressive study before the answer appears. Seeing five doctors sometimes isn't nearly as helpful as seeing one doctor five times as often.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What do you think of the Laetrile cancer treatment? — Mrs. D.K.

Experts on treatment of cancer have not been able to find any evidence that it helps; until they do, I certainly will have nothing to do with it.

To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, send for a copy of "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)" by Dr. Thosteson. Write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

What Is Negligence?

Erma was all too familiar with the cracked floorboard in her apartment, and she usually stepped over it with care. But one day her attention was diverted by her pet parakeet, as it made a sudden beeline for an open window. Momentarily off guard, Erma tripped on the floorboard and sprained her ankle.

COULD SHE COLLECT damages from her landlord for not keeping the apartment in good repair? In a court test, the landlord argued that Erma herself was guilty of negligence for forgetting about the faulty condition of the floor.

But the jury absolved her of negligence and granted her claim. Reason: the "distraction doctrine."

UNDER THIS DOCTRINE, behavior that would ordinarily be considered negligent may be excused if the person's attention was distracted from the danger.

But not every kind of distraction is enough to constitute an excuse. It must be quite sudden, quite unusual, and quite compelling. Something less won't do. Thus:

A SHOPPER in a supermarket noticed a loose carton on the floor ahead of her. Just before reaching that spot, she paused to commiserate with a friend about rising prices. By the time she started walking again, she had forgotten about the carton and proceeded to fall over it.

Driving In Fog

NEW YORK (AP) — Fog can raise havoc with the average motorist's vision in more ways than one.

Pedestrians, trees and oncoming vehicles viewed through fog may look twice as far away as they really are, reports CIT Service Leasing Corp., which provides safe-driving information for users of its cars and truck fleets.

What's more, a motorist driving through fog may feel that he is going at only half his actual speed.

"It was her own fault," said the market when she sued for damages. And this time, the court agreed. The court said a friendly chat was not a compelling enough distraction to justify forgetting about such an obvious danger.

WHAT ABOUT traffic noises that distract a pedestrian? That will not ordinarily be enough to excuse negligence.

A man who stumbled on a broken curb claimed afterward, in suing the city, that the rumble of an oncoming car had diverted his attention. But a court held this to be no excuse.

"The sound of automobiles," said the judge, "is hardly an uncommon occurrence in urban America. City inhabitants should not be diverted by ordinary city traffic."

Delicious Possibility

MORRISVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Can snacking hold more appeal for college girls these days than streaking? Apparently.

The delicious thought of digging into a box of cereal recently overcame the urge of a group of students at the state university here to witness a streaking incident right under their dormitory windows.

As the streaking was about to begin, one hungry coed suddenly found a box of a natural-type cereal and headed back to her room — by herself, she thought. She was immediately pursued by a dozen other girls who abandoned the streakers for a chance to snack on the cereal instead.

She was so amazed that she wrote a letter to Quaker Oats, producer of the cereal, to tell them about it.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"I bid every one among you not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think." (Romans 12:3)

PRAYER: Our Father, help me to realize my unworthiness before You, and so to overcome any thoughts of sinful pride. Amen.

Her veil of illusion was held by a crown of azares.

The maid of honor was Miss Leticia Padilla, sister of the bride, who was attired in an empire gown of white organza over satin, styled with ruffled neckline and hem. There were 23 other attendants including Mrs. Henry Guterrez, Mrs. Jose Padilla, Radcliff, Ky.; and Mrs. Juanita Gaitan. Their gowns were of green floral organza over green satin, and they wore mint

Fast Talker?

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Harvey is 76, and I am a few years younger. We've been married for two years, both having lost our mates in death.

My problem is his interest in other women. He says he just likes to "talk."

We went to the Bahamas for a holiday, and he took up with an old maid he met in the hotel lobby. She was with a tour, but found Harvey so fascinating she stayed behind and let the group go on without her. (Now don't tell me all he gave her was conversation!)

When Harvey was in the hospital for a few days for tests he called up an old girl friend, and she came to visit him. Even with me in the room he held her hand, and they talked over old times. The head nurse told him he couldn't have any more visitors after that because it ran up his blood pressure. You can imagine how humiliated I was.

Divorce is not the answer. If it weren't for this thing he has about other women he'd be a good man.

I'm considering inviting two or three women over every day, and let him get all talked out. Should I, or not?

HURT
DEAR HURT: I wouldn't. Harvey might have more conversation in him than you think.

DEAR ABBY: How does a parent deal with this new breed of woman? I need advice on this matter. Somehow I find it hard to accept this business of living together without marrying.

Am I wrong to deny them sleeping quarters together in my house?

My daughter is well educated, with a master's degree from a fine eastern university. She is only dumb where men are concerned.

NO NAMES, PLEASE

DEAR NO: What your adult offspring do away from home is their business. What they do in your home is YOUR business. If you don't feel right about their sharing sleeping quarters in your home, tell them so. And if they don't like it, they can stay at a motel.

DEAR ABBY: What can be done about a neighbor who comes over every day as soon as I come home from work at 3:45 p.m.?

Her husband travels, so she stays for hours. I have no time for myself and absolutely no privacy. Sometimes I've had a hard day at the office and would like to lie down for an hour before I start preparing dinner, but I can't because she's here.

She brings her two preschool children along, which makes matters worse because she doesn't discipline them, and they run wild.

Otherwise she is a good neighbor and does a lot of little favors for me. I haven't wanted to say anything that might hurt her feelings, yet these poorly timed visits are getting to me. Any suggestions?

WEARY
DEAR WEARY: Yes. Tell her you sometimes like to lie down after work so please telephone before coming over. I don't know what "little favors" she does for you, but you're paying a big price for them. Is it worth your privacy? Think about it.

A LOVELIER YOU Too Much Sun NoNo; Fake Tan Possible

By MARY SUE MILLER

A lovely writes: My dermatologist has ruined my summer. He has forbidden me to get a tan, owing to a now past skin flare-up. Is there any sort of cosmetic that convincingly simulates a tan? I have not found one.

The Answer: There are several kinds of makeup that fake a tan very well, and wash off as desired. You usually have to practice application a bit before undetectable results. But if you are set on looking tan without exposure to tanning rays, a bit of effort is a small price for the effect.

Opaque makeup in cream or stick form produces instant, waterproof tans. New bronzing gels seem to lie transparent on the skin under a film of color. For the sake of a healthy approach, the male has been known to wear bronze gel formulated for him. Why not poor little hothouse you?

Whatever you use, just be careful that the finish is smooth as silk and there are no stop-and-start marks at the hairline, chin or base of throat. With leg makeup it is possible to match your legs and face coloring. The best cover for the arm is a long sleeve, now very "in," so no groans are necessary. Could be that a bit of this kind of trickery would be good for all of us. Doctors are universally opposed to oversunning. It is a danger to the health of your skin. Your beauty, too!
