REPORTED SNIPER'S FIRE BECOMES SHATTERED WINDOW INCIDENT

Veep Ford's Motorcade Mystery

DALLAS (AP) — A patrol car window in Vice President Gerald Ford's motorcade shattered Saturday, setting off an instant search for a possible sniper. None was found. The vice president was uninjured.

Later, the Secret Service in Washington blamed heat expansion, but Texas Department of Public Safety officers noted that the car was airconditioned, making heat shattering unlikely.

State Trooper Jim Bryan, the driver, said after the window shattered "all three people in the car thought we were under fire and I notified the lead DPS car we were under fire."

state trooper regional headquarters here but with the damaged glass removed.

the news was told to the vice president. "He thought it was kind of funny."

The Department of Public Safety disagreed about it being a new car. A spokesman said it was put into service Feb. 1 this year and the mileage meter showed 12,255 miles.

Officers immediately searched the open country from where a shot could be fired without finding anyone or a spent shell. They hunted on foot, in helicopters and with search dogs.

Pope Lauds Kissinger For Personal Efforts

The World At-A-Glance

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Vice President Gerald R. Ford said Saturday he assumes President Nixon would obey a Supreme Court order to turn over White House tapes to the Watergate prosecutor.

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The man in charge of this prestigious community of mansions and yacht races is a maintenance worker at the local electric company.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal panel of nutrition experts recommends that all food made from corn, wheat and rice be enriched with 10 vitamins and minerals to reduce malnutrition risks.

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI praised Henry Kissinger on Saturday for his personal efforts "in the service of peace" and told him the United States should persist in attempts to cool world tensions.

The pontiff and the secretary of state conferred for more than an hour in the Pope's private library, exchanging views on the Middle East, President Nixon's summit talks in Moscow and other international issues.

FEW DETAILS The Vatican gave out few details of the talks but it was believed the pontiff sounded out Kissinger's views on how to resolve the Vatican-Israeli impasse over the future of Jerusalem.

Pope Paul has repeatedly called for some form of international covenant to, as the Vatican puts it, protect the rights of Jews, Christians and Moslems in Jerusalem. Each religion regards the city as holy.

But Israel has made it clear it has no plan to give up control over the city which it took over completely in the 1967 war and has made its capital.

PRIVATE VISIT Vatican spokesman Federico Alessandrini said the talks were "open and cordial" and observers noted Kissinger received an unusually warm welcome for what was officially described as a "private visit."

Alessandrini said the two discussed first the Middle East, then Nixon's recent trip to Moscow and that the Pope gave the Vatican's position on a number of issues.

The Pope voiced his particular appreciation for the initiatives of the United States and Kissinger's personal efforts in the service of peace," Alessandrini said.

The Pope urged the United States to persist in efforts in the cause of peace "despite the numerous and grave difficulties," Alessandrini said.

The Vatican visit ended Kissinger's brief stopover in Italy, which was part of a series of briefings to European allies on Nixon's Moscow summit. Kissinger left immediately for Germany to attend a World Cup soccer game.

DISCUSSES MOTORCADE INCIDENT — Vice President Gerald Ford's aide Bill Roberts, left, discusses an incident involving a shattered window in patrol car that was in Ford's motorcade from Dallas-Fort Worth Airport Saturday. Texas Department of Safety originally reported the window shattered by sniper's bullet, but F.B.I. later said the window was shattered by heat expansion. Ford is shown at press conference before dedication ceremonies at World Trade Center Building.

AFTER 74 YEARS OF BLINDNESS Mrs. Josephine Mulkey's Eyes Have Seen The Glory

BRISTOL, Va. (AP) — Mrs. Josephine Mulkey's eyes finally have seen the glory: Her family ... a leaf on a tree ... a cobweb hanging on the corner of the porch ... the neon signs along the city streets.

Mrs. Mulkey, who is 80, can see again after 74 years of blindness. To her, these ordinary things are priceless works of art, a feast for eyes that were starved for beauty.

Then, with a corneal transplant, an eye surgeon in Abingdon, Va., restored the details and features she'd been missing most of her life.

Later, she married the late Stanley Mulkey and raised seven children. They gave her 16 grandchildren who, in turn, gave her 16 great-grandchildren.

Reviewing the ... Big Spring Week ... with Joe Pickle

Bank deposits reached $88,575,683 on June 30, reports in response to the bank call last week showed. This was a whopping 32.16 ahead of a year ago and $400,000 above the previous peak on the April call.

Our July 4th turned out to be a pleasant, eventful day. For one thing, there was a fine turnout for the "Let Freedom Ring" program, an estimated 2,500 in its first showing at the Comanche Trail Amphitheatre.

Dope Ring Crippled

WASHINGTON (AP) — A drug-smuggling ring alleged to have brought $32.7 million worth of cocaine into this country from Chile in military aircraft and diplomatic pouches has been crippled with the arrest of 22 persons, the Justice Department says.

Chilean authorities arrested 16 persons in Santiago, including members of the Chilean air force and navy. Six others were arrested this week in the Washington area, New York City and Madison, Wis.

The Justice Department said all 22 were key members of the ring; sealed indictments were returned in New York on June 5 but kept secret so that authorities could make arrests as simultaneously as practicable.

The ring was said to have smuggled at least 162 pounds of cocaine from Chile to New York via Washington between May 1973 and last month, Bartels said. A spokesman said cocaine has an illegal street sale value of more than $500 a gram.

The five-count federal indictment alleges that a naval officer stationed in Valparaiso with access to diplomatic pouches arranged the smuggling, and that an officer stationed at the Chilean embassy received the incoming drugs.

Diplomatic pouches are routinely used by diplomats to carry communications and are not subject to customs inspections. Among those arrested in the United States was Marion R. Brown, a University of Wisconsin professor of agriculture who worked in Chile last year at the university's Land Tenure Center.

Another was Mrs. Eduardo Diaz of nearby Silver Spring, Md., whose husband is a chief petty officer in the Chilean navy assigned to the country's embassy here. Her husband was arrested in Santiago.

Arrested in New York City on Monday and Tuesday were Lina Gotes, owner of a dry cleaning firm; Lionel "Chile" Marques, owner of a food market; Elva Morales and Jose Rey-Ferrero.

The Justice Department described Mrs. Gotes as mastermind of the ring; the indictment charged that she traveled to Washington "to receive the narcotics after they had been smuggled into the United States."

Marques was described as a major purchaser and re-seller in New York of the cocaine. The indictments allege that on some occasions a member of the ring secreted at least 50 kilograms — more than 100 pounds — of cocaine in Chilean military craft flying from Santiago to Andrews Air Force base near the capital.

18-YEAR-OLD DEFENDANT ACCUSED OF KILLING SIX YOUTHS

Judge Shifts Spotlight To Self In Sensational Case

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — In four days of hearings a San Antonio judge has turned the spotlight in the sensational Houston mass murders case off the 18-year-old defendant and squarely on himself.

As lawyers battled over the picking of a jury to try Elmer Wayne Henley, District Court Judge Preston Dial issued a series of orders and counter orders which had newsmen running in and out of his court—either to file the latest event or to vacate the courtroom on the judges orders.

Henley is accused of killing six of the 27 youths whose bodies were discovered last August in and around Houston. Officers accused the youth of being one of three persons who lured teen-aged males to drug parties where they were homosexually raped, tortured and murdered.

calling them "a bunch of locusts" who would contaminate the panel. The local newspapers—The San Antonio Light and the Express and News, a television station, KENS-TV, and The Associated Press and United Press International immediately hired lawyers.

Controversy over Dial's action on the Henley case started last January when he agreed to hear it without at first checking with District Court Judge Peter Michael Curry, the presiding judge of the area judicial district.

This came after he had signed an order allowing special privileges for the narcotics dealer being held in jail here. The dealer, Fred Gomez Carrasco, later pleaded guilty to the charges and was given a life sentence.

Dial won election four years ago to his district court post largely on the strength of his 11 years in the district attorney's office, part of that time as chief assistant.

NOT FIRST TASTE It was not the first taste of controversy for Dial, 45, whose four-year career on the bench and 11 years as an assistant in the district attorney's office, have attracted praise criticism.

STATE SENATOR APPEARS IN COURT — State Sen. Anthony Lucero (left), D-Bernalillo, appeared in District Court at Albuquerque Friday with his attorney, Anthony Lucero Jr., his son. The senior Lucero was held in contempt of court for failure to appear in a civil case against him. He was fined $250 by District Court Judge Rozier Sanchez.

Judge To See If Geronimo Is Fierce As Folks Claim

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — U.S. District Court Judge Stephen Chandler will make a trip to southwest Oklahoma next week to see for himself whether Geronimo is the fierce, wild jaguar some folks say he is or if he actually is a 225-pound kitty.

The purpose of the judge's trip will be to decide whether Geronimo and two other wild animals being kept on a farm near Mangum should remain where they are or be turned over to U.S. wildlife agents.

LESS HARMFUL
Geronimo's owner, Frank Ready of Tulsa, told Judge Chandler in a hearing in Oklahoma City Friday that the jaguar was "less harmful than the German Shepherds that roam the streets."

Judge Chandler decided after Friday's hearing that he could issue a ruling only after inspecting Geronimo's home grounds.
Ready said the big cat, which had been in captivity all his life until he escaped from a pen on the farm near Mangum last week, was chased under a farmhouse by a female coyote.

After Friday's hearing, Judge Chandler announced he will go to Mangum, inspect the farm and the animals and then hold court and announce his decision on Geronimo's future at 10:30 a.m. Monday.

ESCAPED
Ready told Judge Chandler he brought the three cats to Oklahoma to start a zoo and breeding farm and that bringing them to the state was actually an effort to keep them from being destroyed.

He said the three cats were in Eureka Springs, Ark., and he had been told they would be destroyed if he did not pick them up immediately. He said that by the time he reached Eureka Springs, a male mountain lion and a hyena had already been killed.

VESSEL WOUND UP NEAR COAHOMA It Cost About $16,000 To Move De-Methanizer

Have you ever tried moving half a football field some 543 miles? Well, that's sort of what Skelly Oil Company did recently. Except it wasn't half a football field, it was a vessel 139 feet long, weighing 154,000 pounds.

Last December Skelly's manufacturing department purchased the vessel for use at the Skelly interest East Vealmoor natural gasoline plant here.

The vessel, a de-methanizer, will allow production of 70-30 EP (70 per cent ethane-30 per cent propane) product instead of 50-50 EP product, said Jim H. Zike, supervisor of technical services for Skelly's manufacturing department.

The East Vealmoor plant presently produces a 50-50 EP mix which is sold to Chemplex Company in Clinton, Iowa. Chemplex, a Skelly affiliate, uses it as feedstock in the manufacture of ethylene and polyethylene.

"We plan to produce a 70-30 mix to release more propane to the fuel market," Zike says. Making this different composition requires additional equipment, including the de-methanizer.

Securing a de-methanizer seems easy enough. You just go out and buy one, right? Wrong. A new unit the size of the one Skelly purchased would cost roughly $30,000, and they're not exactly rolling off the assembly line like hotcakes.

"And because of steel shortages and delivery problems, it could take as long as a year to get a brand new unit," said Kent Pearson, buyer for Skelly's purchasing and materials department.

NO SHOP

Why not construct a de-methanizer at the East Vealmoor plant? "Because you would have to have a shop to fabricate a unit like that," Pearson added. "The most likely places for building such a unit would be Tulsa or Houston, where there are concentrations of vessel fabricators."

And eventually Skelly was

School Trustees To Meet Monday

The Big Spring school board will meet at 5:15 p.m. Monday and study re-roofing bids on three elementary schools.

They will also approve resignations and new employment. A budget amendment for July and August for work-mans compensation insurance premiums will be discussed and tentative approval will be given the 1974-75 budget.

The board will also set a date for the public budget hearing and hear regular reports.

Gliding Test Due In Area

HOBBS, N.M. — Residents within a 150 mile radius of Hobbs, N.M. may have an opportunity to assist in New Mexico's first U.S. standard class soaring championship, according to Jack Gomez, contest manager.

At Austin the unit ran into trouble when the main truck developed transmission problems. By the time it was repaired the Texas moving permit had expired. When the hauler received the new permit, it directed them to take a different route.

So a lead car surveyed the roads at night and drove back to the main truck to lead it on during the day.

UNDER 40 MPH

The maximum speed traveled was 30 m.p.h. to 40 m.p.h. There were a few corners that had to be turned at 90 degree angles, which required assistance from the second truck. To make these turns, the carrier hooked a winch to the steering dolly.

At Big Spring, some of the directional signs along the highway, such as "curve," had to be moved temporarily. Also, crew members ran into their most challenging problem at Big Spring. They were not permitted to use the main roads here because city officials feared Big Spring bridges could not support such a heavy truck. Therefore, they had to get an alternate route through town.

It took seven hours to survey Big Spring for the best route. Finally, it took approximately an hour and a half to move the truck through Big Spring because the movers had to go under overpasses.

CRMWD Seeking Bid On Wells

The Colorado River Municipal Water District will receive bids until 10 a.m. July 15 for the drilling of three wells to the Santa Rosa water formation.

One of these wells will replace a well which experienced production difficulties. The other two will be for the purpose of beefing up the district's ability to supply brackish water to the SACROC unit in southeastern Borden and southwestern Scurry Counties.

Originally the district drilled five deep wells with a capability of 2,500,000 gallons per day for oilfield repressuring purposes. Bids will be opened at the headquarters, 1318 East Fourth, and it is anticipated that a contract will be let promptly to expedite the work. SACROC will finance the work.

Environment Hearing Set

The Atomic Energy Commission has set 10 a.m. July 31 at the high school in Glen Rose for a public hearing on environmental effects of the proposed nuclear power plant in Somervell County, R. T. Martin, vice president of Texas Electric Service Co., said today. This is a prelude to authorization.

The AEC released its final 407-page environmental statement on the proposed plant recently, based on two years of study by the AEC and the power companies building the plant. It also includes a review of questions and comments from a number of federal, state and local agencies.

Robert M. Lazo, who holds doctorate degrees in radiation chemistry from Notre Dame and in law from Rutgers, is chairman of the Atomic Safety & Licensing Board panel of the AEC which will conduct the environmental hearing.

The $779 million nuclear-fueled plant, to be owned by TESCO, Dallas Power & Light and Texas Power & Light, will generate electricity for the one-third of Texas served by the three companies.

A request has been made to the AEC by the power companies for a "limited work authorization" which, if issued, will allow site work and work on the dam to begin prior to issuance of the final construction permit.

SOUTHWEST BOOKS Comanche Days

FLOW-HORSE CAVALRY, The Caney Creek Boys of the 34th Texas. By Robert S. Weddle. Madrona Press, Austin, Tex. 210 pages, $9.

Robert S. Weddle, who has distinguished himself as a writer of Texas history, turns in his new book to his beginnings—Fannin County and Caney Creek.

In doing so, he writes a microcosm of combatants of the Civil War and their women. For the Caney Creek men went off to battle as a unit, their cavalry chargers their plow-horses.

Weddle tells the story largely through letters preserved by his own family, with extensive added material to put the story into perspective.

These are some of the better letters preserved from that period. You learn of the men's worries, their suffering for lack of clothing and food, and particularly the extremely large number of desertions.

Threaded throughout the story are the problems of all persons in that part of Texas had with bushwhackers and with their consciences.

Weddle elected the format of the historian, a terribly restrictive form of writing. Only in the last chapter does the reader see how well Weddle can write. Perhaps he may do another version with worldwide appeal.—The AP (REF).

SONORAN STRONGMAN, Ignacio Pesqueira and his Times. By Rodolfo F. Acuna. University of Arizona Press, Tucson. 179 pages, $10.50 cloth, $4.50 paperback.

Ignacio Pesqueira came to power in Sonora on Mexico's isolated northwest in a period when few could rule effectively. He was considered a liberal—but a liberal then meant something quite different from today.

He was beset by warring Indians on the north—the famous Apaches—and in Indians the south. There were internal military clashes between his faction and others. He ruled during the French occupation although he was rather good at resisting these invaders. The United States and Britain gave him trouble. The central government could give him no aid.

It is remarkable that he survived at all and not remarkable that he was unable to improve the lot of the 150,000 or so residents of this state.

This is an amazing account of the chaotic period of the mid-1800s.—The AP (REF).

COMANCHE DAYS, By Albert S. Gilles Sr. Southern Methodist University Press, Dallas. 126 pages. $6.95.

Albert S. Gilles had the good fortune to be very close to the Comanches when they were just winding down from the days of the war parties.

In fact, it was a game with him as a youngster to try to identify the heroes of the tribe as they came to his father's store at Faxon, Okla., to trade. His family started the store in 1902 in what then was Indian Territory 20 hard miles from Lawton.

This really is a collection of graphic stories about individuals he knew. Woven into the stories is a great deal of material: how the educated Indians would not use their new knowledge, unusual buying habits, the stories of some very old warriors, how polygamy worked, and how Comanche women seemed to speak a different language from the men—Gilles learned to speak the male version but never that of the women.

Included are four specific stories about Quanah Parker who is a romantic individual in Texas and Oklahoma history. It was he who finally led the remnants of the tribe to the reservation.

Gilles includes a concise history of the tribe and how it carved out its own place in America before being driven back by the white men.

Gilles became a lawyer and practiced in Norman. He resides there now and while in his 70s began writing.—The AP (REF).

Kaye Presented Lions' Award

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Citing Kaye's "concern for the welfare of children," the International Association of Lions Clubs has awarded the comedian its highest honor.

Kaye was presented with the Lions' Humanitarian Award during the group's international convention here Thursday.

The award cited Kaye's work as the United Nations' Children's Fund representative when the organization won the Nobel Peace Prize.

Border Patrol Corruption?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rep. Andrew Hinshaw, R-Calif., has released Justice Department statistics indicating 321 cases were investigated in the continuing probe of possible corruption involving U.S. Border Service personnel.

The figures released here by Hinshaw, a member of a House panel studying U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service operations, also showed 224 of these cases were closed.

58 were still being investigated and a decision on prosecution is still to be made by federal lawyers in the remaining 39 cases.

No details of the cases involved in the 2-year-old Operation Clean Sweep were released. Most concern bribes from smugglers of illegal aliens and narcotics.

The figures released by Hinshaw were the first made public by the Justice Department in almost a year.

As of June 19, the figures showed 59 persons were indicted, with 42 of them convicted of various criminal offenses and three of the cases dismissed.

Hinshaw said he considered the compilation of the statistics an attempt by the Justice Department to counter criticism of Operation Clean Sweep on the ground that it was being kept under wraps and only a small number of indictments, generally against

Waco Rates As Murder Capital

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Waco has the distinction of being the murder capital of major Texas cities for the second time in three years.

A Waco Tribune-Herald poll of the 14 largest cities in the state shows Waco's 1973 murder rate of 14.58 per 100,000 population to be the highest. It is almost double the murder rate of the second ranking city, Dallas. San Antonio ranks third.

Water Demands Hit New Peak

For the second consecutive month, the Colorado River Municipal Water District established a new production record, delivering 2.4 billion gallons of water.

The 2,409,049,260 gallons pumped in June to municipal and industrial-mining customers were well above the previous record of 2,132,054,100 gallons in May, the first time for a single month to cross the two-billion-gallon mark.

June deliveries were 17.98 per cent ahead of the same month a year ago.

For the month, the municipalities took 1,850,722,200 gallons, up 20.27 per cent over June 1973, and well over the 1,526,376,300 gallons in May. The June deliveries for mining and industrial purposes were 548,327,060 gallons, 19.82 per cent ahead of a year ago but down from the 605,677,900 gallons in May. Most of the decline from May was due to one brackish water well, used for oilfield repressuring, being out of operation.

For the first half of the year, the district produced 10,715,871,762 gallons of water, up 28.18 per cent over the same time a year ago.

By cities, June deliveries were:

Odesa 627,483,000, down 07 per cent; Big Spring 400,440,000, up 23.18 per cent; Snyder 110,086,000, up 19.18; Stanton 13,668,000, up 6.81; Midland 429,565,000, down 11.28; San Angelo 267,427,000, up 569 per cent; and Robert Lee, a new customer, 12,053,200 gallons.

Missing Teen Reveals Ride To San Antonio

Marcos Mendez, 13, Coahoma, returned home Friday night and told about riding to San Antonio in a stolen car with four other juveniles and two small children.

With information the youth provided, the police department and sheriff's office are trying to locate the others through San Antonio authorities.

The group stayed in San Antonio at a San Pedro Street address after car trouble, but Marcos decided to hitchhike back to Big Spring, Sheriff A.

Youth Injured When Car Flips

Donald Joseph Mackay, 17, 1412 Tucson Road, was treated at the Webb Air Force Base hospital Saturday afternoon after a one-car turnover.

Mackay was driving a car west on East Eighth Street when he lost control and the vehicle slid sideways 162 feet on the unpaved street and rolled on its top, police said.

His mother, who took him to the hospital, later said glass punctured the youth's knee.

Woman Found With Throat Cut

A 68-year-old woman was taken by Alert Ambulance to Medical Center Memorial Hospital with a cut throat about 5:15 p.m. Saturday, local officials said.

The victim was reported in serious condition Saturday night.

She had been cut on the side of her neck with a razor blade and was found on the kitchen floor at a Johnson Street address by another woman, police said.

VANDALISM

A pickup's windshield was shattered at 2800 west Farm Road 700 on July 4. Police listed Cliff Carpenter as owner of the damaged vehicle.

A vehicle belonging to the Charles Wash's was reported edged at 2804 Hunters Glen.

A garage window was broken at a Gulf service station at IS-20 and State Highway 350, police learned Saturday.

THEFTS

A tool box was taken from a pickup while it was parked at one of various locations Friday, Elmer L. Franklin, Box 1362, told police.

Quin Martin, 1514 Mesquite St., reported his tools, tool box, fishing tackle and tackle box taken on an unknown date from his pickup while it was parked behind the Sears Roebuck & Co. store, 403 Rannels St.

Betty Lou's Cafe, 1012 W. 3rd St., lost three cans of beer in a burglary which resulted in a broken window, police said Friday.

Tracy Patterson, 1307 E. 14th St., reported a boy's bicycle stolen.

Porno Ruling Figure Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Samuel Roth, 70, defendant in a landmark U.S. Supreme Court pornography ruling, died Wednesday. He was jailed after the court upheld his conviction, but the Roth vs. United States decision actually broadened the legal definition of obscenity.

Bartender Poor Man's Psychiatrist

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — Tavern owner Robert Sucharda, like many other bartenders, has always thought of himself as a poor man's psychiatrist.

But now he has a framed diploma on the wall of his neighborhood hood bar to prove it.

Sucharda and a dozen other bartenders got their diplomas this week from the Racine County Mental Health Association in a new program to teach barmen to help disconsolate drinkers who cry in their beer.

"A lot of people drink when they have problems," said Sucharda, 52, a bartender for 24 years. "And they usually talk to the bartender, telling him their troubles. But now I know what to do."

The program, the brainchild of Dr. Wendell Hunt of the Milwaukee County Mental Health Foundation, consisted of five, three-hour sessions that focused on training bartenders to recognize what kind of problems their drinkers have.

LISTEN

It also gives them a knowledge of where people can go to get help.

For instance, program director Ruth Wayland of Racine said the bartender can guide his patrons to public agencies offering aid for medical, emotional, juvenile, financial and alcoholism problems.

"We're not trying to teach bartenders to become armchair psychiatrists," Mrs. Wayland said. "We teach them how to listen. They're not supposed to analyze problems or anything like that."

"We don't push it," Sucharda said. "There are times when a guy isn't going to want you to butt into his business. They have to want help themselves. A lot of people just don't know where to go, and that's where we come in."

HELP

Dr. E. W. Belter, who guided the training period at the Racine County Alcoholism Treatment Center, said the bartenders are the logical choice for helping people who don't know where to turn.

"Fate has placed tavern keepers in the position of hearing these cries for help, often from people who wouldn't be there in the first place if they knew where to turn," he said.

"Studies show that ministers and bartenders have the most contact with inner city residents," he said. "Ministers are trained to help the people who go to church, so why shouldn't bartenders be trained to help those who go to bars?"

Gas Prices Raised, Cut

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Some New Mexico service stations raised the prices of gasoline by as much as four cents during the past week, while others cut prices by about three cents, the American Automobile Association said today.

Ray Keller of the AAA Albuquerque office said the group's weekly survey of 37 service stations around the state showed that nine raised their gasoline prices and five dropped their prices "as a result of first of the month price changes."

The average of cost of regular gas at full-service stations in New Mexico remained unchanged, however, at 55.5 cents per gallon for regular, he said.

The cost of premium gasoline dropped two-tenths of a cent for an average of 59.3 cents a gallon.

Keller said 86 per cent of New Mexico service stations now are open after 6 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and 68 per cent are open on Sundays.

He said the price increases varied from one cent to three cents, while the decreases ranged from two-tenths of a cent to 3.2 cents a gallon.

Church, nation have lost ethical compass

This "State of the Church" sermon was preached at the opening session of the Central Texas Conference by W. McFerrin Stowe, Bishop of the Dallas-Fort Worth Episcopal area of the United Methodist Church.

By Bishop W. McFerrin Stowe

Jeb Stuart Magruder, a self-confessed Watergate conspirator and liar, the sixth former White House aide sentenced to jail in the Watergate scandal, at his sentencing, stated: "I lost my ethical compass." Is that not what has happened to millions of Americans, including much of our leadership?

Norman Cousins, in an editorial in Saturday Review World asks:

"How far is Watergate from Main Street? One wonders. The question that has to be asked is whether Watergate is less a sudden wild aberration in the society than a terrifying reflection of something that has been happening on almost every level of the national life."

This insightful writer says:

"Of all the questions a human being can ask, none is as deeply unsettling as: 'Whom can I trust?'"

As I diagnose our ills in America, I see first that, like Magruder, we, too, have lost our spiritual and "ethical compass."

We have no one to trust. Many that we trusted have proved themselves untrustworthy. Also, when one subconsciously realizes he has no inner integrity, he cannot trust another because he does not trust himself.

But deeper still, our loss of trust relates to the fact we put our faith in false gods who have betrayed us. We have burned our candles on the wrong altars. We have made our sacrifices to saviours that cannot save us.

Our predicament may best be seen in a scene in ancient Babylon recounted in Isaiah 46. The children of Israel were captives in Babylon, had been for 70 years, when Cyrus led the Persians against Babylon, and the gates were yielding. The city was falling. The Babylonians came to rescue their gods, to put them on ox carts and haul them to safety. Their gods were made of wood, covered with gold and precious stones. Isaiah of the exile stands by and cries out in derision. "Careful there with your great god Nebro. Lower him down easily. Don't let his noble nose get in the mud. And don't forget you have to save your gods." His laughter follows the squeaking wheels of the ox-carts, laughing at gods that men have made, gods that cannot save men, but that men have to save. Then the prophet's tone changes, as he speaks for God and declares:

"... to gray hairs I will carry you. I have made, and I will bear, I will carry and save." (Isaiah 46:4)

This may be what sin is — worshipping gods that cannot save. This may be the real cause of our predicament, our loss of faith. This we have done in America.

WE HAVE WORSHIPPED a god called progress. We have put our trust in him, have made unbelievable sacrifices to him. The automobile is his symbol; Henry Ford the prophet; mass production the method. And now masses of humanity piled upon humanity in our cities, millions of acres of our richest land covered with pavement, a depletion of fossil fuel, pollution covering the nation, and more persons killed on the highway than in all our wars.

The young first saw the god called progress before whom we had prostrated ourselves could not save us but indeed might destroy us. A wooden god gilded in gold — now we know. Gods that cannot save!

Another god we have put our trust in is science. We have known science could save us from all things. Down deep in our bowels we have believed: "Science is my shepherd. I shall not want." Instead of "The Lord is my Shepherd..." Now we know that with pollution, atomic garbage, hydrogen bombs, and germ warfare, science is more likely to lead to our destruction than to our salvation. Science cannot save us. It is science that must be saved. A false god with a face gilded with gold.

Many of us have put our faith in education. Horace Mann in establishing public education believed it would eliminate crime completely. We have not eliminated crime; we have educated the criminal. Our schools are not going to save us. We must save our schools. Gods that cannot save!

What a god we have made in America of success and wealth. We have been sure that with enough money we could solve our problems, eliminate the slums, overcome racism, provide fine education and medical care, bring peace. This was the great society dreamed of by John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, and we poured out the money and the problems remained. We have trusted in money to save. How many of us have spent our lives sacrificially to secure money, how many have lied and cheated and destroyed to secure it. How powerful a god it has been: what absolute worship we have given to it. Again, can the dollar save us? We are trying to save the dollar. Gods that cannot save!

Let me mention one more god we made, sure that he could save us. Millions of lives we have given to him and billions of dollars. This is the god of violence and force. In World War I we made the sacrifice, assured we would be saved — a war to end wars. In Viet Nam, in our trust in the god of force, we all but destroyed the nation we were trying to save.

There has been horror across America about Patty Hearst and the violent Symbionese Army. Why should we be shocked that young people who grew up during the Viet Nam war should think they can achieve their goals by force and violence?

How long must we take to learn that violence is a false god who cannot save but only destroy? Gods that cannot save!

THE GODS WE HAVE trusted in have failed us, and naturally we have lost our trust in the leaders who told us these gods were our saviour. America is ancient Babylon brought up to date. The enemy are besieging the city gates; the gods we made are powerless to save us — false gods with ugly faces overlaid with gold.

If sin be worshipping false gods, and well this may be the definition of sin, then it may be that hell is the consequence of worshipping false gods, and this is why sin leads to destruction.

False gods cannot save us. Only God can save us.

There is a spiritual vacuum in America; there is a growing sense of guilt, a hunger for God. There is a cry for moral and spiritual leadership, for leaders who have integrity and character, who believe in something bigger than their own greed or ego.

What, then, is the place of the church? What must we do?

First, we must confess our sins. We have failed rather miserably to provide ethical and moral leadership in America — failed so badly that a brilliant psychiatrist, Dr. Karl Menninger, has written a book, especially calling upon the clergy to provide moral and spiritual leadership of this nation. He calls the book Whatever Became of Sin? I commend it to you. He begins with this account:

"On a sunny day in September, 1972, a stern-faced, plainly dressed man could be seen standing on a street corner in the busy Chicago Loop. As pedestrians hurried by on their way to lunch or business, he would solemnly lift his right arm, and pointing to the person nearest him, intone loudly the single word 'GUILTY!'"

Then without any change of expression, he would resume his stiff stance for a few moments before repeating the gesture. Then, again, the inexorable raising of his arm, the pointing, and the solemn pronouncing of the one word 'GUILTY!'"

"The effect of this strange j'accuse pantomime on the passing strangers was extraordinary, almost eerie. They would stare at him, hesitate, look away, look at each other and then at him again; then hurriedly continue on their ways.

One man, turning to another man who was my informant, exclaimed: "But how did he know?"

(Messinger, Whatever Became of Sin? pp 1, 2.)

Who is guilty?

We are guilty. Guilty of what?

Guilty of failing to give moral and spiritual leadership.

Who should stand up and speak for God?

Where is the ethical and spiritual leadership?

In the President? Certainly not in the presidency at this time.

In the Congress? The Congress has forfeited her moral leadership by the majority of her members repeatedly siding with that which is expedient rather than standing for that which is right. Thank God there are some exceptions. But they are exceptions.

In the courts of law? The courts, which should be bastions of justice and righteousness, have too often shown favor to the white, the rich, the prominent, and laid intolerable burdens upon the poor, the ignorant, the black. Where justice and moral righteousness should be, too often it has been missing.

Where is the moral leadership? In our schools? No. Our schools cannot save us. We are going to have to save our schools.

Where is the moral leadership? In our churches? No. We have abdicated our age old place of moral leadership. Why? Because of timidity? Because of our self doubts? Because of our complacency? Laziness? Indifference? Because we have lost our faith in God as Judge and Ruler? Because we have lost our faith in Jesus Christ as the Hope of the World, as Lord and Saviour?

Should the newspapers be our moral guides, or the church of Jesus Christ?

Should the movies provide our moral standards, or the church of Jesus Christ?

Should the television be our ethical teacher or the church of Jesus Christ?

Should our politicians establish the ethical atmosphere, or should the church of Jesus Christ?

Guilty — guilty by equivocation or neglect or timidity or a lack of conviction — we have failed to be the spiritual leaders for the people of our communities, of our congregations, of our nation.

The arm is extended, the finger is pointing, and the word is "GUILTY!" Until we feel and confess our guilt we have no chance to lead.

THE CHURCH MUST confess our guilt, trust in the Grace of God and the power of God to bring new life. What is it the church must have? It is resurrection. We are dead in many places, organizations but not living organisms. We are dead to guilt and grace and judgment. How many church members don't believe in any of the three? Guilt? or Grace? or Judgment? Too many of us in too many places are a valley of dry bones, and the question the world is asking of the church is "Can these bones live again?" Yes, they can, by the act of God, be enfolded by you and me.

Will you, the clergy and lay leadership, let God touch you and bring you back to vital, vibrant Christian life and ministry? Then, through us, God will be able to touch others and they shall live. The church has called on others to be born again and often nothing happened. Could it be that we must experience the resurrection before our voice has the ring of certainty?

Then what shall you do? Preach! Proclaim the word of God.

Dr. Paul Van Buren a decade ago was one of the "God-is-dead" theologians. But now he has changed.

"Before I was asking, 'How can we make sense out of God?'" says Van Buren. Now he has determined that the gospel is not something that men have to make sense of. "It is rather something that makes sense out of men."

You will never completely understand God's love, but you can preach God's love; men will experience God's love and be transformed by God's love. Preach it! You have nothing else to preach but Jesus Christ and Him crucified.

Dr. Menninger, who, as a psychiatrist, has worked on the one to one basis, looks with longing at the preacher's opportunity from the pulpit.

"Some clergymen prefer pastoral counseling of individuals to the pulpit function," writes the psychiatrist. "But the latter is a greater opportunity to both heal and prevent... There is much prevention to be done with large numbers of people who hunger and thirst after direction toward righteousness. Clergymen have a golden opportunity..."

"How? Preach! Tell it like it is. Say it from the pulpit. Cry it from the housetops.

"What call we cry?"

"Cry comfort, cry repentance, cry hope. Because recognition of our part in the world transgression is the only remaining hope."

Our preaching has been timid; it has been pabulum. Too often "the hungry sheep look up and are not fed."

Preach! Preach sin and grace, and faith and love. Preach the kingdom of God on earth, preach hope. Preach Christ. They will come to hear.

WHAT SHALL YOU DO? Teach! Teach in your homes and in your churches. Jesus gave most of his ministry to teaching. Are we better than our Lord? Are we wiser? Do we know better how to reach others than He? Teach the children how to pray to God. How serious is the omission when a child is not taught to pray. Teach the youth to love. We have failed to love those who are different in skin, those who are different in thought or faith, those whose sores are running, those who are dirty, those whose lives are ugly. We have failed to love the unlovely. Maybe, for Christ's sake, our youth will love. Teach the Scriptures, for they are a "light unto our feet and a lamp unto our pathway," and for many the night is dark and the path is rough, and they may stumble and fall. What chance does a democracy have whose children and youth are not taught right from wrong? Who shall know the Gospel if there is no teacher? Your church school — are you reaching out or are you drying up?

What shall you do? Preach, teach, reach—Reach out with love. Reach out to those of a different race — like Christ did, with love.

Reach out to those who hunger, like Christ did — with bread and love.

Reach out to those who are the outcasts — like Christ did — with love.

Reach out like Christ did to anyone who needs help.

Reach out to the sinner, like Christ did, with love and the Gospel.

We go into the church to worship and we go out to witness and to be the servants of the Lord Jesus.

Reach out with love to everyone you meet.

One more thing you must do—pray. Pray for yourself. Pray for forgiveness. Pray for guidance, for strength. Pray for God's Holy Spirit. When His Spirit fills a life one has all he ever needs.

Pray for others. Pray so much for others that you will go out to bring them into Christ and His church.

A minister called me the other day and said: "I have been looking at an old report to the Annual Conference and the first thing you had to put down was 'conversions' and the second was 'accessions,' and then he said, 'That's our business.'"

That's our business. How well has your church been attending to that business? When we get back to our business, the churches will grow, the Sunday School will come alive, many will come, the church will be what God wants it to be.

Pray! Pray for those who do not believe in Christ. Pray by name. Pray as one sinner prays for another. Pray until you care enough to go as Christ went with love and goodwill to offer them the pearl of great price.

Pray! Pray for your enemies until they become your friends. It can happen. I know. Pray until you love all persons. Pray until God sets you on fire with the joy of being His beloved child. Pray until God can use you as an instrument in His hand to do His will.

Pay Raises After Votes?

JACKSON HOLE, Wyo. (AP) — Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., said today that only after the November elections in Congress likely to approve pay boosts for top federal officials.

McGee is chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, which is holding hearings on government salary scales.

Earlier this year the Senate killed President Nixon's proposals for higher pay for Congress members, federal judges and top government officials.

McGee said he does not expect his committee to get anywhere in efforts to raise pay levels until after the November elections.

McKenzie Looking Forward To New Job's Challenges

"I feel like it is a distinct honor to be selected to return to serve in a school system where I have served before," Dr. Emmett McKenzie, new school superintendent, stated at the end of his first week at his new duties here.

Then he laughingly added, "Especially if you served the first time as a coach. This is the second time I have gone back to a school where I had coached and served as superintendent. I did this in Netherland as well."

McKenzie said he jokingly told his wife recently, "Well in Carthage, I've only served as superintendent. I hope we don't complete the cycle by returning there as a coach."

Dr. McKenzie admitted that when he first got out of coaching, he "missed the contact with the boys. There was a period of adjustment but I find administrative work very challenging."

On the wall of his office is a plaque that the senior football boys of 1962 gave to their coach. "I suppose part of them may still be around here. I really haven't had time to find out yet," he added.

When asked if he thought Big Spring had changed, he said, "It may not have mushroomed in population but certainly there has been a lot of construction. The new residential areas show that the population has more or less stabilized. We are very pleased."

He said, "I plan to make no changes the first few months. I will mainly be learning about the details of the system. I am never for change just for the sake of change, but only if something might be improved."

Dr. McKenzie said when he left Big Spring, he and his wife, Shirley, had one 18 month old baby son, David, who is now 13. We now have three other children, Kathryn, 12; Dean, 9 and Craig Allan, 7.

Dr. McKenzie said some of the administrators, such as Don Crockett, John Smith, Harold Bentley and Soc Walker are still here as administrators and many teachers are the same.

"I am anxious to see old friends and make new ones and plan to do as good a job as possible for the Big Spring school children."

Dr. McKenzie has already been a superintendent in a district involved in a lawsuit.

controversy (in Carthage) and is familiar with the agency's line of thought.

In fact, he is familiar with most areas of school administrative work and also is familiar with Big Spring. He will attend his first school board meeting as superintendent Monday night.

And he is available in his office at the administration building for those who need to talk to him.

U.S. Schoolboy Team Makes Rowing Finals

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP) — The United States schoolboy champions from Holy Spirit High School of Absecon, N.J., sped into the finals of the Princess Elizabeth Challenge Cup for eights at the Henley Royal Regatta today with a smooth semifinal victory over England's Bedford Modern School.

But two other American hopefuls from Kirkland House of Harvard and Potomac Boat Club of Washington, lost over the one-mile, 550-yard River Thames course.

The Holy Spirit eight, stroked by Kenneth Monar, was a half-length up from the start and gradually pulled away in winning by 2-3 lengths in 7:30.

The Holy Spirit youngsters put on a precision display of control rowing, hardly raising their rate above 28 strokes per minute.

The comeback tactics of Kirkland House finally failed in the quarter-finals of the Ladies Challenge Plate for heavy-weight eights.

This time, Kirkland allowed its English opposition, the University of London, to get too far away and despite a rousing finish, the Americans lost by 3 3/4 lengths in 7:17.

In previous rounds, the Kirkland eight had started slowly but finished strongly in scoring narrow victories. But in the quarter-finals, the highly rated London crew calmly swept ahead and stayed there at a leisurely 32 strokes per minute.

Coming to the finish, Kirkland stroke Gene Labarre of Marietta, Ohio, had his crew steaming at 42 strokes per minute, but they hardly dented the London advantage.

The four from the Potomac Boat Club, stroked by John Butler, made its exit in the Wyfold Challenge Cup quarter-finals. It lost by 3-2-3 lengths in 7:51 to England's Leander Club.

Trolling is one of the oldest methods of angling as well as one of the most productive for certain species of gamefish. Yet many sportsmen tend to shy away from it in favor of bait casting, spinning or still fishing.

That perhaps is a throwback to earlier times when trolling was real work. Now motors, especially electric fishing motors, have opened up this field to those who shunned the rowing or paddling chore that once attended trolling. I favor the electric fishing motor because it is quiet, produces no oil slick and has lower trolling speeds than the gasoline engine.

Lake trout and walleyes are ordinarily taken by trolling rather than still fishing or casting. Muskie and northern pike also are taken in this manner, as are salmon during the summer months when they move to the deep reaches of lakes.

For trolling you need a short stiff rod about five feet long so that you can set the hook solidly when you get a strike.

A heavy-duty reel with a star drag or clutch is a must. The new Johnson "Guide Reel" with an exclusive double drag is ideal. It is virtually impossible to break a line, regardless of the size of the fish. When the fish's pull approaches the line's test strength, the reel automatically shifts into a factory preset drag. The second star drag can then be adjusted from firm to soft to suit the angler's preference while playing the fish.

The reel should have considerable capacity since you may be trolling 300 to 450 feet of line in order to take your lure down where the fish are.

Your line can be either lead-core, copper, stainless steel or monofilament. I like the limp monofilament with very little stretch because there are generally fewer misses when a fish hits. However, the others require less weight in sinkers to take them down to the required depths.

A long-billed deep running lure is ideal for summertime trolling when fish are down deep. If you are fishing in the northern regions a one-quarter ounce Bass Buster maribou jib is probably a better choice since fish in northern waters seem to be attracted by jigs more than deep billed plugs.

When trolling, follow an "S" course to vary the action of your lure. Also change depths frequently and try to move your rod forward so the lure races ahead a few feet to simulate a minnow trying to escape.

In the Midwest, trolling across the entrances to deep coves and over bars, ridges and long steep banks produces the best results. Remember that big fish lie along banks and when you fish them you're almost sure of success.

So, if you haven't experienced the fun of trolling, give it a try. You may be pleasantly surprised at the trophy size fish this mode of angling produces.

Dear Virgil:

I heard someone refer to a "Christmas tree" rig in connection with trolling. What is it and what it is used for?

Leon Ognibene
Cotam, N.Y.

Dear Leon:

The "Christmas tree" is an elaborate gang of spinners used for taking lake trout and landlocked salmon. A popular rig consists of five Bear Valley and three willowleaf spinners on a 48-inch wire leader. It creates the illusion of a school of baitfish and attracts fish by the vibrations and action.

WORLD CUP SOCCER Poles Take Third With 1-0 Win

MUNICH (AP) — Gregorz Lato scored his seventh goal of the tournament Saturday, giving Poland a 1-0 win over Brazil and third place in the World Cup soccer competition.

West Germany and The Netherlands play for the championship here Sunday.

Lato raced through on the right in the 78th minute, held off a challenge by Brazil's Alfredo, drew goalie Leao from the goal and then kicked the ball along the ground for the Poland goal. But the ball score with 14 minutes left in the game.

A linesman was flagging for an offside while Lato was making his decisive move, but Italian referee Aurelio Angonese let the Pole continue.

Brazil's Jairzinho protested that Lato was offside and drew a warning from Angonese.

Brazil, which won the Cup in 1970, almost got a goal earlier in the second half when Rivelino kicked six yards out from the Poland goal. But the ball slammed against the post.

Summer's Water Babies

By JO BRIGHT

Every summer, numerous West Texans drown for no reason than that they do not know how to swim. It is particularly sad when small children lose their lives because parents have not seen to it that they receive swimming instruction before letting them go near deep water. Swimming and other water sports are not only fun, they are healthful and contribute to body building. Yet, because of the lack of coastline and scarcity of lakes, many West Texans do not learn to enjoy and respect the water as a source of pleasure.

Miss Lynda Cathey is a young woman who is making an effort to change all that and, at the same time, perhaps contribute to the saving of lives. As a swimming instructor, she is teaching very young children to stay afloat — and learn a skill that will serve them well the rest of their lives.

Miss Cathey learned to swim when she was five years old because her family spent a great deal of time at lakes. She joined the YMCA swimming team, and when she was 13 years old, moved to Arlington to swim for Coach Don Easterling. After a year under his coaching she joined his team, the Burford Club, and continued to train for the Amateur Athletic Union nationals. Between workouts, she taught swimming at the University of Texas, Arlington, which increased her interest in becoming a professional instructor. She took water safety instruction and was certified to teach.

"My coach helped me develop the idea of the type of program I have been trying to set up here in Big Spring," said Miss Cathey.

"I have also set up this same type of program in Arlington and have supervised it for the past three years at U.T.A."

Since beginning her program here in May, Miss Cathey has taught about 100 students ranging in age from 14 months to 30 years. A mother of one of the young students says, "She earns every penny she makes!"

Miss Cathey says babies have fear when they first go into the pool but not necessarily of the water.

"With the very young ones, their fear is of new situations and unfamiliar people, so they soon adjust," continued Miss Cathey, "but by the time a child is six years old, it is the water of which he is afraid."

The first day a child comes for lessons, Miss Cathey talks in a gentle voice to get them to relax and trust her.

"I don't make them put their face in the water then, for there is pressure on them while they are getting used to the new experience," she explained. "I try to keep them on their stomach at all times for babies will try to get their feet up under them and work their legs like they are riding a bicycle. This way, they eventually sink."

"I let them keep their hands on me at all times until I gain their confidence. You can't force them; they know when they're ready. Instructors and parents must give them confidence and praise. You must be very, very patient or not start them at all. If they only get several lessons, they will remember only the hard part."

"I tell them if anything bothers or hurts them or if they are afraid to tell me right away and we will stop and start over in a different manner."

Working with handicapped children has been a source of pleasure for Miss Cathey, and she has remained close friends with the parents of one such child she taught to swim at a doctor's request.

"I respect children and, in turn, they respect me," said Miss Cathey. "Their feelings are important — I feel it — just touching their little hands. If they are afraid, I find out why. A lot of love and understanding is important."

The lessons are given in a plastic pool (secured by metal) at the Jack Cathey home. It is four feet deep, 27 feet long and 12 feet wide. It has a filtering system and works fine for the children's swimming program.

Miss Cathey, who set some state swimming records in high school, wants to build a program here that may someday enable her to coach a swim team from Big Spring. She's making a good start.

ENTERING THE plastic-lined pool for swimming instruction are, from left, Kerry Fryar, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fryar; David Rotan, 3, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Rotan; and Craig Knocke, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Knocke. Their instructor is Miss Lynda Cathey, right.

THERE'S nothing like a big beach towel to make a girl feel cozy after a swim. At right, Kimberly Land, 3, warms up after her turn in the pool. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Land.

"THIS ISN'T as easy as it looks" seems to be the thought of Bethany Jo Schalk, 14 months, who is the youngest of Miss Cathey's students. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schalk.

SHOWING HIS younger friend how it's done, Jeffrey O'Brien, 3, tests his buoyancy as Miss Cathey supports Cameron Nusz, 2. The young swimmers are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Brien and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Nusz.

A FUTURE swimming star? Jason Szczawinski, 23 months, enjoys the water and is reluctant to leave when Miss Cathey turns him over to his mother. Jason is the son of S. Sgt. and Mrs. Richard Szczawinski.

LEARNING to float is quite an accomplishment, and Kelcey Steinriede, 3, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. Martin Steinriede, has learned to relax and enjoy the coolness of the water.

A BIKINI-CLAD beauty, Bree McDaniel, 2½, enjoys poolside sociability with Trent Baird, 3, while waiting for their lessons. Parents of Bree are Mr. and Mrs. Terry McDaniel, and Trent is the son of Mr. Alton Fields and Ronnie Baird.

Who's To Say?

Dear Abby
 Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 19-year-old girl who is getting more and more confused about the word "morality." Who decides what is morally right? My parents? Society? The law? Or should I make the decision myself? My parents are divorced and I live with my mother. She keeps company with a nice enough man, but they go away together for weekends, and I'm sure they do more than hold hands. I don't know why they don't get married.

Meanwhile, my mother doesn't want me to stay out too late with my boyfriend. He's in law school, and we can't afford to get married until he graduates.

He doesn't see anything wrong in premarital sex, but it just doesn't seem right to me. I've been able to hold out so far, but why should I? The pill is available, so there is no danger of my getting pregnant. Besides, we love each other, so what's wrong with making love?

I'm sure my mom thinks it's okay for her to do what she does, but she'd have a fit if I did it. How come the difference in standards?

PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: Your mother (like most mothers) regards you as her responsibility, not as a mature young woman who can accept the responsibility for her own actions.

If you feel sufficiently mature and competent to set your own standards for your own reasons, do it. Who decides what is "morally right?" With the help of your learning, examples, experience and conscience — with an eye for consequences — YOU decide. And God bless.

DEAR ABBY: I am 55, and recently remarried. She's a terrific woman who is close to my age. My problem is that some of my tactless friends keep reminding my wife that my ex-wife was pencil slim and dressed like a fashion plate. Now my present wife is

Baptist Sanctuary Is Scene Of Ceremony

Miss Judy Marlene Barber and James Wallace Matthews were married Thursday afternoon in the sanctuary of the First Baptist Church with Chaplain Lee Butler officiating.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Matthews, Oklahoma City, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Barber, 2922 Melrose Lane, Big Spring.

The altar was graced with greenery of palms, baskets of gladioli and white daisies, a memory candle and candelabra.

Wedding music was performed by Mrs. Jerry Helmer, Kermit, pianist, and Mrs. Terry Newman, Waco, vocalist.

Carrying a colonial bouquet of white daisies and gypsophila, the bride was attired in a white dotted Swiss gown styled with three-tiered skirt gathered to a high rise bodice featuring a square neckline. Long, sheer sleeves were gathered at the cuff and trimmed with white lace.

Miss Ann Low, Dallas, served as maid of honor. She was attired in a yellow dotted Swiss dress and yellow picture hat trimmed with yellow ribbon. She carried a natural straw basket holding yellow daisies and gypsophila.

Best man was Gene Matthews, Oklahoma City, Okla., brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were Craig Barber, brother of the bride, and Ray Matthews, Oklahoma City, Okla., brother of the bridegroom.

The couple will reside in Edinburg following a wedding trip to New Mexico and Oklahoma.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Baylor University. She is presently teaching at McAllen. The bridegroom is a graduate of an Oklahoma City high school, attended the University of Oklahoma and is now employed by Continental Oil Company in Edinburg.

A reception honoring the couple was held in the home of the bride's parents. Serving the guests were Mrs. Ray Lawlis and Miss Kim Whitlow, the latter of Miami, Fla.

Guests from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ingram and Mr. and Mrs. Ted White, all of Ozona; Mr. and Mrs. Mark White, Albuquerque, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Moore, Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Nelson, and Joe Bill Averitt, all of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Herman H. Spoede III, Waco; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Low, Dallas; and Mr. and Mrs. Al Matthews, Oklahoma City, Okla.

EAGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Parnell Garrett, 1400 Sycamore, announce the engagement of their daughter, Rosemond Kay, to Terry Lee Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. Petersen of Dallas. The couple plans to marry Aug. 3 in the First Baptist Church.

Here's How To Heat Fondue Pot

If using an electric fondue pot, heat the oil about 15 minutes or until it reaches approximately 400 degrees. Make sure the fondue pot sits on a secure rimmed holder, thus reducing chances of being overturned.

DEAR ABBY: After 50 years of marriage, I lost my mate. Although we never were blessed with children, we had many nieces and nephews who always addressed us as "Uncle Herman and Aunt Minnie."

I recently married a lovely woman who had been a friend of the family's for many years. (She lost her mate, too.) Now I find that my nieces and nephews address us as "Uncle Herman and Bertha."

I don't mind being called "Hey you," but I think it's disrespectful of them to address my wife as "Bertha."

What do you think?
 SAME OLD UNCLE HERMAN

DEAR UNC: I think you should tell your nieces and nephews that you'll gladly answer to "a monkey's uncle," but you'd appreciate it if they would call your wife "Aunt Bertha."

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Wedding Solemnized In Arlington Church

The wedding of Miss Janet Claire Brumhall to Larry Vergil Smedley was solemnized Saturday evening in the First Presbyterian Church at Arlington. The Rev. D. Warren Neal, pastor, performed the nuptial rites before an altar adorned with white, yellow and apricot flowers and illuminated with cathedral candelabra.

Mrs. Larry Vergil Smedley

After a wedding trip to San Francisco, Calif., the couple will reside at 1115 W. Inwood, Arlington, where he is a member of the Arlington High School Faculty. A graduate of Big Spring High School, he graduated from Southwest Texas State University where he was a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. The bride graduated from Arlington High School and Texas Wesleyan College. She is a teacher at the Ruby Swift Elementary School.

PARENTS

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Brumhall, 1031 Lynda Lane, Arlington, and Mr. and Mrs. Vergil Smedley, 1105 E. 4th, Big Spring. Mrs. Barbara Baird was organist, and Dan O'Leary performed on the guitar and played the vibraphone at the reception.

The bride was attired in a formal gown of white Quiana and Alencon lace adorned with seed pearls. Her tiered veil of illusion was held by an arched caplette overlaid with tiny flowerettes, each centered with a seed pearl. She carried a cascade of white rosebuds, gypsophila and apricot gladioli blossoms.

The two matrons of honor were Mrs. Rob Brown and Mrs. Ron Sitton, the latter of Irving. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jon Parker, Dallas, and Mrs. William H. Coots of Lawton, Okla., sister of the bridegroom. They were identically attired in yellow halter dresses with matching shawls. Picture hats, trimmed with fresh flowers, completed their costumes.

Karry L. Harper of Star served as best man, and groomsmen were Eddie Craig, Fort Stockton; Capt. William H. Coots, Lawton, Okla., brother-in-law of the bridegroom; and Jim Brumhall, brother of the bride.

The ushers were Mike Cade and Roy Smith, with Billy Coots and Brian Coots, nephews of the bridegroom, serving as candle lighters. The ring bearer was Keith Harper, and the flower girl was Monica Brown.

RECEPTION

The reception was held at the church where refreshments were served by Mrs. Dave Crowell, Miss Gail Overbey, Miss Kim Stanley, Miss Donna Peterson, Mrs. Maxwell Scaggs and Mrs. Tim Moore.

The table was laid with white organza embroidered with green and yellow flowers. The candelabra were based in circles of fresh flowers.

Out-of-town guests attending were John H. Brumhall, Boone, Iowa, the bride's grandfather; and Helen Goodale, Joshua Tree, Calif., the bride's great aunt.

Vary Burger Flavor

To get some variation in the burger part of a meal, try these dressed up super smoky patties seasoned with green peppers, bacon and onion. Other seasonings make this a tasty addition to out-of-door cookery.

SUPER SMOKY 'BURGERS

- 1½ lbs. ground chuck
- 1½ tps. salt
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- 2 tbsps. grated onion
- 2 tbsps. chili sauce
- 1½ tps. Worcestershire sauce
- 12 slices Provolone cheese
- 1-3 cup finely chopped green pepper
- 6 bacon slices partially cooked

6 green pepper rings
Mix together lightly beef, salt, pepper, onion, chili sauce and Worcestershire sauce. Shape into 12 patties. Cut cheese in circles to fit: place 1 slice on each of 6 patties and top each with 1 tablespoon green pepper. Cover and seal with remaining patties. Wrap a bacon slice around each patty; secure with wooden pick. Grill 5-6 minutes on each side or until cooked to desired degree of doneness. After turning, top each with a slice of cheese. Garnish with green pepper ring. 6 servings.

*Burgers may be frozen. Allow 5-10 minutes extra cooking time for each side.

Gino Conforti plays the servant-squire, Sancho Panza. Tickets ($6-$9 lower, and $2, $4, $7 balcony) may be had from the State Fair box offices.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
Since I retired a year and a half ago, I have taken several knit sewing courses, and find I always have stretch knit scraps on hand — some too small to do much with except for trim. I wear terry cloth aprons which I buy in the grocery stores, and I find that the waistband and ties wear out long before the apron itself. So now I take my polyester knit leftover scraps and make waistbands and ties from the scraps. I usually have some that will match some part of the pattern colors in the apron. They brighten up the old apron, launder beautifully, and best of all, they do not have to be ironed. I hated having to iron just the ties or waistband of a terry cloth apron, but I surely do like the aprons.

Mrs. J. G. Daniel
DEAR HELOISE:
Buy your ground beef in large quantities and brown it all at once! Since all the "package meals" require browned ground beef, you only have to "reconstitute" the package with liquid and you are in business. You could also mix the browned ground beef with gravy and (or) sauce to suit individual family tastes. After browning the meat, divide in portions called for in each recipe and store the unused portion in freezer containers.

E. W. Neely
DEAR HELOISE:
This is for mothers who have to polish infants' and toddlers' white shoes every night. When washing the laces, wash them in the sink, along with the applicator pad, in soapy water. The laces will absorb the white polish from the applicator, and the result is a much whiter shoe lace than soap and water alone will produce.

Mrs. C. M. Larrabee
DEAR HELOISE:
I have taken some of those wooden border picket fences usually used in the flower garden and cut the part off that goes in the ground.

I used these for a delightful wall decoration in my kitchen. I placed them by my kitchen door, one on top of the other longwise. Some small tacks placed here and there held each section in place nicely. Then, I ran plastic roses and greenery through the fences (like a trellis).

Dot Mathis
DEAR HELOISE:
Whenever I need to change an address or a telephone number in my address book, I don't scribble out the old one or erase. Instead, I just cover the old address with a strip of adhesive tape and write on that.

This really saves that valuable space in your book. Eileen Conner
DEAR HELOISE:
Here is an idea of what you can do with empty nail polish bottles: First clean them with remover. Then fill them up with glue and use the nail polish brush to apply the glue evenly over a surface. It works wonderfully!

DEAR HELOISE:
Ever blunt a machine needle and find it's your last? Reach for your emery board and pull the needle across it on an angle. Soon you will have a sharp point. Bev Melton

DEAR HELOISE:
When traveling with very little ones, there are bound to be "accidents" now and then.

My husband and I always carry a large plastic bag in the trunk of the car. In the bag are two fresh towels, a washcloth, a bar of soap, several clean diapers, and a bag for storing soiled clothing. Believe me, more than once we have been thankful for this clean-up aid. Kaye Chastain

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING Dishwasher Demands Proper Detergent

By SHENRY MULLIN
HD Agent

The main function of a dishwasher detergent is, naturally, to remove food soil and clean the dishes. Sounds pretty simple! But in order to do this effectively, a dishwasher detergent must accomplish the following:

1. Penetrate, break down and loosen soil in the time allowed for the wash part of the cycle.
2. Condition the water and hold food soil in suspension.
3. Soften the water and condition the surface of the dishes for rinsing.
4. Sanitize and prevent build-up of coffee, tea and food stains.

That's quite a job, especially when you consider that it only takes a few tablespoons of detergent to clean an entire load of dishes. No wonder dishwasher detergents have to be so specially formulated.

But that's not all. In addition to the above requirements, it is essential that detergents be low-sudsing for the automatic dishwasher. A suds build-up will smother the action of the wash arm and slow down the rate at which the water recirculates over the dishes. This prevents the dishwasher from doing an effective job of cleaning. And if sudsing is excessive, it could even damage the dishwasher.

Soap of any type of detergent other than automatic dishwasher detergent should never be used in the dishwasher. These products do not have the proper ingredients to do an adequate cleaning job. And, they suds excessively.

Most dishwasher manufacturers recommend several dishwasher detergent brands. Since detergent formulas vary, it is a good idea to try several different recommended brands to find the one that does the best job with the water conditions in your area. Use an entire box of each type before switching detergents to obtain an adequate comparison between brands.

Recommended amounts of detergent are for average water conditions. In hard water areas, more detergent will probably be needed. In soft water areas, good results may possibly be obtained by using less than the recommended amount. However, never use less

Artichokes Get Finger Food Bill

The artichoke has been called a "finger vegetable" because it is eaten that way, much in the manner of plucking a daisy when saying "he loves me, he loves me not."

Cook the artichoke in boiling salted water 30 to 40 minutes, until a leaf can be pulled off easily. When cooked, the base of each artichoke leaf is edible. Just pluck it off and dip it in a savory sauce such as a smooth Hollandaise or melted butter zingy with fresh lemon juice. A most enjoyable vegetable.

FOR YOUR PLEASURE Spotlight Swinging To Odessa, Lubbock

Entertainment spotlight of the area this week will be on Odessa and Midland where the Globe of the Great Southwest continues its Shakespeare festival, and the Summer Mummies pick up their traditional melderammer.

The Globe Theatre (a replica of the Globe built in 1598) is located on the Odessa College campus, and the summer cast includes outstanding professional talent. This afternoon, Moliere's "The Imaginary Invalid" will be presented at 2:30, and the 8 p.m. week-day schedule will be: Tuesday, Thursday and Sunday (July 14) "Twelfth Night," Wednesday, "Invalid," Friday, "Macbeth." Tickets are $3-$1.50.

Midland Community Theatre's informal summer troupe kicked off its 26th season of fun Friday with a resurrection of "Rascality on the Rig," or "Oils Wells that Ends Well" (ouch!). This goes on 8:30 p.m. each Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. through August at the Legion Hall, 206 S. Colorado in Midland.

With the end of the Miss West Texas Pageant in Odessa last night, beauty fanciers now turn their eyes to Fort Worth this weekend where Miss Texas will be chosen to compete at Atlantic City for the Miss America title. Finals will be telecast at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

Dallas Civic Opera is buoyed by a rise in sales (1,838 over the pace) at this time of the year. The season opens Nov. 1 with Beverly Sills in her Dallas debut in

Donizetti's "Lucrezia Borgia."

The Frank Larrabee Group appears in concert at the University Center ball room at Texas Tech in Lubbock Monday. Cathy Crossland, a Tech graduate of 1972, will be performing as singer and guitarist. The group has a repertoire of blue-grass progressive country, as well as contemporary folk and blues. Program time is 8:15 p.m.; tickets $2, $1.50 and $1 (students).

There's a series of events of interest at Lubbock. Millard Sheets, internationally famed watercolorist, will lecture at the opening of an exhibit of 50 of his works 8 p.m., July 10 at the Museum, Texas Tech. There is no admission fee. This show remains on through Aug. 25. Brass rubbings from ancient tombs in England will be displayed Saturday through Aug. 25. Mrs. Joseph B. Bailey made the rubbings with the classic method of black heelball (a composition of beeswax, tallow and lampblack) on white paper — later gold heelball on black paper. "Bust Stop" on Friday evening and "My Three Angels" opened Saturday to launch the summer season of the Tech Repertory Theatre. Today, "Roar of Greasepaint" debuts. The three will be presented five times each in the same sequence. Tickets ($3-$5-$8) may be had at University Box office (742-2153). Also, on display starting Saturday will be the Jean Louis Berlandier record of range life he found in this region in 1829-39. The exhibit is on loan from Southwest at Midland.

If you're going to be in cool Colorado in mid-July, you may want to catch the opening of the Central City Festival '74. The festival has been held every year since Lillian Gish played the title role in "Camille" in 1932. Central City, once the culture city of the West, drew famous personalities all the way up to President and Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant who walked across the silver bricks to Teller House. First up will be the Young Artists preliminary July 10 in "Sister Angelica" and excerpts from "Midsummer Night's Dream." The season begins with Verdi's "Rigoletto" 8:30 p.m., Saturday, July 14, again and 2:30 p.m. Sunday. This continues through July 19, and "Midsummer" opens July 20.

'Quotable Women'

Here are some quotable quotes from women.

"Once a month I pack everything in the office that'll move into my old Chevy — baby scales, screening equipment, the works — and move the clinic around." Ruth Murphy, a registered nurse in Elk County, Kansas, a 650-square-mile area where there have been no doctors for 15 years.

"In Portugal now, four million women have the right to speak out. One does not and it's me." Mrs. Carlos Palma, women's rights activist and wife of Portugal's new prime minister, explaining that her husband's job will cause her to be less active.

"Anything which affects our society is a woman's issue. Interrelationships between government and industry must be studied in reference to their effect on our society." Cathleen H. Douglas, Washington attorney and wife of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, speaking to the 104th graduating class of Cedar Crest College, Allentown, Pa.

"Many nurses are coming around to the view that nursing is a matter of service, not how you dress. I think it could be called part of a new morality." Dr. Ada Jacox, chairman of the American Nursing Association Commission on Economic and General Welfare, speaking in support of striking nurses from 40 Northern California hospitals.

A LOVELIER YOU The Simple Solution To Dry Skin Care

A Lovely writes: My teen daughter has been advised by a dermatologist to wash her face at least three times daily. Her skin is very oily and washing is part of the remedial treatment. This has set me to wondering whether dry skin should be soap-and-water cleansed. I have heard not and should think not, since dry symptoms are opposite to oily. Please tell me.

The Answer: The skin is the world's oldest example of wash-and-wear fabric. With one exception, every skin needs the asepis of some form of suds. The soaping allergic skin is the exception and very rare.

One sudsing a day is usually sufficient for dry skin. The best time is after the removal of makeup with a creamy cosmetic remover at bedtime. An effective way to freshen up during the day is with cosmetic remover and a mild skin tonic or astringent.

Albeit washing removes the skins oil, moisture and acid mantle — along with soil — the result is temporary. The skin renews the supplies in whatever amounts it is capable of. Hence, you would suds oily skin frequently to carry away excessive secretions. But you would not deplete a dry skins supplies by constant suds.

The sort of soap or suds used differs, like timing, for dry and oily complexion. Dry skin responds to superfatted creamy bars and fluids; clear, moisturized bars too. Medicated soaps and fluids with the pH factor aid oily conditions. Like all precious fabrics, the complexion thrives on proper care.

RELIEF FOR OILY SKIN
An oily skin can be improved. Just send for my leaflet, RELIEF FOR OILY SKIN. Advice covers corrective treatments and makeup; such special problems as pimples, blackheads and enlarged pores. HOUSTON (AP) — While the cost of the paper on which this story is printed has zoomed to an unprecedented high and shortages of newsprint abound, only one U.S. company is expanding to meet the demand.

$215 PER TON
"There are no paper shortages among our customers," says Melvin Kurth Jr., president and chief operating officer of Southland Paper Co. of Houston. "Our customers may be getting cut back by other suppliers, but not by us."

Newsprint prices in the United States are hovering about $215 per ton, up from $175 a ton a year ago. A ton of newsprint is needed to print 7,000 full-sized, 24-page newspapers. This country used about 11 million tons last year. Mills are churning out as much newsprint as they can produce, but despite high prices, most of the industry is reluctant to add capacity. They remember the 1960's and early '70's when everybody expanded and resultant glut drove prices sharply down.

PHONE BOOKS
Southland, the nation's second largest domestic producer, is bucking the trend, expanding its capacity 40 per cent. Kurth says it is the only company adding newsprint capacity.

Last year, Southland sold 457,361 tons and the new production facilities will add 200,000 tons annually. However, Kurth said Southland plans to change 80 tons of old production to making paper for telephone books until company sales can use all the new capacity.

Kurth said all paper companies have been forced to put a lot of their normal expansion money into pollution abatement equipment in the last few years.

Building costs are skyrocketing, he added, with a 200,000-ton mill on a new site costing between $70 million and $100 million. Paper makers who need lots of energy to grind up wood for pulp and run their complex machines, have also been hard hit by the jump in energy costs. Increased transportation costs have also hurt, he said.

Newsprint producer's share have suffered on the stock exchanges and, coupled with a long period of low profits and interest rates in the 11 per cent range, the firms have trouble raising the capital for expansion, Kurth added.

While other newsprint producers have seen their stock exchange prices fall so that price-earnings ratios are around 6 to 1, Kurth said, Southland is sporting a 12 to 1 ratio, the traditional industry range.

Southland is fortunate, Kurth said, in having its timber supply, energy needs and customers all in a fairly compact area.

The company was established by the Kurth family and a group of Southern newspaper publishers in the late 1930s and was the first to successfully make paper from Southern pines.

Melvin Kurth is the nephew of the company's first chief executive, E. L. Kurth of Lufkin. Trained as an engineer, he reluctantly took a temporary job with Southland and—as he says with a smile—"I got to liking the paper business."

Newspaper customers still own about 20 per cent of the company which sells in an arc from Atlanta, Ga., to Phoenix, Ariz.

Southland owns 512,345 acres of timberland in Southeast Texas which supplies about a quarter of its pulpwood needs. And this same land is counted upon to solve the company's energy problems.

Southland ran into the energy crisis three years ago and at times had two-thirds of its natural gas supply curtailed, Kurth said, forcing it to turn to diesel fuel which costs four to six times as much.

DISCOVERS GAS
But a company subsidiary, Southland Energy, has found natural gas on its timber property south of Lufkin. A pipeline to bring the gas out is nearly completed. Kurth says the company has essentially solved its immediate energy problems.

Southland, said Kurth, met and mastered its pollution problems in the 1950s long before other companies had to face them.

Gain Medals For Heroism

LONDON (AP) — Seven men who thwarted the attempt to kidnap Princess Anne were awarded medals for heroism Friday.

A citation from Queen Elizabeth II said they "displayed outstanding courage and a complete disregard for their personal safety."

Anne's bodyguard, Police Inspector Jams Beaton, 31, received the George Cross, Britain's highest award for civilian gallantry. He was wounded three times as he shielded the princess, 23, from a man who on March 20 fired repeatedly at her car in the mall about 100 yards from Buckingham Palace.

Two other policemen, a cleaning company manager, the queen's chauffeur, the chauffeur of another car and a journalist received lesser awards.

The would-be kidnaper, an unemployed Englishman named Ian Ball, has been confined to a mental hospital.

shows the nation's unemployment rate holding steady at 5.2 per cent in June, maintaining about the same level it has hovered at so far this year, the Labor Department reported in Washington Friday.

TEXAS CROPS Still Waiting On Moisture

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Some farmers on the High and Rolling Plains and in parts of West Central Texas are still waiting on planting moisture for cotton and sorghum, Dr. Dan Pfanstiel, associate director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says.

Moisture is needed for cotton to set and hold bolls, and some cotton in Central Texas is beginning to shed some of its bolls, he said.

DEPRESSED
The prolonged dry conditions are putting stress on livestock, Pfanstiel said. More ranchers are using supplemental feeding to maintain their herds and some cattlemen are starting to increase marketings although prices are depressed.

Stock water is becoming short in many western and northwestern counties, he said. Vegetables are moving to market in Central and East Texas with harvesting generally complete in coastal areas and in South Texas.

cantaloupe harvesting is active in many areas, he said. The peach crop is generally good although supplies are light, Pfanstiel said.

District agricultural agents gave these reports: South Plains: Sorghum and southern peas will be planted if rains come. Irrigated cotton is making generally normal growth. Dryland cotton looks poor. The potato harvest is under way. Some livestock feeding has started.

REPLANTING
Rolling Plains: A few fields of cotton are still being replanted. Most cotton needs rain. Early sorghum fields are heading. Planting of peanuts and guar remains active. Stock water is getting short. Livestock feeding continues.

Far West: Crops and ranges need moisture. A good alfalfa crop is being cut in Ector County. The crop is being kept for market in Central and East Texas with harvesting generally complete in coastal areas and in South Texas. Melon and crop looks good.

Promise To Child Leads Julie To Whangdoodles

NEW YORK (AP) — Keeping a promise to a child is perhaps one of the most difficult things a parent "has" to do. Nevertheless, the results can sometimes be a source of pleasure for both child and parent.

So says Julie Andrews, film and Broadway star, who started out to write a "page full of nonsense" to satisfy her daughter Jenny, and ended up with a published children's novel of 188 pages called "Mandy."

That was three years ago. Now, using the same talent Jenny sparked, Julie has written a second book, "The Last of the Really Great Whangdoodles." It's dedicated to her husband, Blake Edwards, and as its author she uses the name Julie Edwards.

"Mandy," she explains, "came about as a result of a game we were playing. While we were in Paris, Jenny and my other two children were running wild. I was busy making a film and we were all on sort of a holiday. I couldn't keep an eye on them very well. So I devised a game where I said, 'Okay, if you don't pick up your laundry, and if you don't brush your teeth at least once a day, and if you don't charge your underwear, then you'll have to pay a forfeit.' And Jenny, who is the oldest, said, 'Okay, but you'll have to play the game too — you've got to stop swearing so much.' 'Well, I lost the game in about 10 minutes of that conversation."

And she said, "Your forfeit should be, write me a story. And that's exactly how it happened."

Considering taking the easy way out, Julie first contemplated writing her a page of nonsense, but on second thoughts decided to write her something a little more meaningful that just might teach her something without her realizing it.

"I tried to teach her something she didn't know. She's a city girl and didn't know too much about the country. I'm fond of the country and nature and things like that, so I came up with the idea for 'Mandy.'"

"Jenny was 11 when I got the idea but she was about 14 by the time I presented the book to her. Then I found that I had enjoyed writing that one so much, that I kind of felt lost when I stopped, so I started on the second."

Suds Study Tells About Brew Basics

By DAVID JORDAN
Written for Associated Press

If you enjoy beer, no one needs to tell you about its pleasures — whether you're celebrating spring's arrival with a picnic, sitting around your apartment pool this summer, or just relaxing after a long, hard day. But maybe you're not aware of what a wide variety there is or how beers differ. Here are some basics about the brew.

Beer is the generic term for all fermented malt beverages. American beer is about 3 1/2 percent alcohol by weight; ale, malt liquor and imported beers run up to 6 per cent.

The brewing process begins by combining malted grains with other starchy cereals, and hops. Yeast is used to ferment this "mash" into alcohol. Scientifically controlled operations assure that beer from a given brewery will always taste the same. Subtle variations in ingredients and techniques are what differentiate one company's beer from another's. Brewers can add cereals, roast the malt differently, or use more or less hops than their competitors, but the key ingredients are the yeast cultures and the water.

The result is a beverage with a great deal of nourishment, including riboflavin, an important B vitamin. Beer also contains protein and carbohydrates, so if you're dieting, figure on about 175 calories per 12-ounce bottle; more for ale.

Lager is a light-bodied, effervescent, clear, tangy brew. It's bottom-fermented — the yeast sinks and works from the bottom of the mash — and is aged in refrigerated tanks under controlled conditions. Lager is the biggest seller in this country.

Pilsner on a label tells you that a beer duplicates the stuff brewed in Pilsen, Czechoslovakia. It's a pale-colored, light lager beer.

Dark beer is lagered from a more highly kilned malt, usually with caramel added. It's heavier, richer-tasting, and almost chocolate-brown in color.

ENTERPRISING TEEN — Fifteen-year-old Stephanie Segars displays fur-trimmed laminated g-strings and matching pasties she's made. The enterprising teen-ager says she's earned $1,000 in less than a year sewing "Sassies by Steph." A friend of hers goes to bars taking orders from exotic dancers and Miss Segars' custom makes the coverups, figuring size from agent's description. The job is fine, says her mother — providing her daughter's grades don't fall.

High School Freshman Cashing In On G-Strings

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Fifteen-year-old Stephanie Segars after-school job has found a lucrative market. She makes G-strings and pasties for "exotic dancers."

The enterprising teen-ager, a straight 'A' student, says she's earned $1,000 in less than a year sewing "Sassies by Steph."

Designing custom-made cover-ups is a ready market and business is booming, says the pretty high school freshman. She can earn $100 a week in spare time — providing her grades don't fall. If they start to slip, her mother, Mrs. William Segars, says that'll be the end of the money-making hobby.

"A friend was telling us how hard it was for the girls to get good costumes," Stephanie says. "It's different and it gives me something to do."

She sells her products through a friend who goes around to bars in Tampa taking orders. Stephanie says big companies charge $8 to $12 for pasties. She throws them in for free with a G-string order. While their G-strings cost $30-$50, hers run $5-$35, depending on design and material.

Material for a full outfit — top and bottom — costs her as little as 25 cents. "Out of three-eighths of a yard of material I can get four G-strings," she says.

Lancaster Has Dual Job In 'The Midnight Man'

It's no snap, take 'em from Burt Lancaster, to direct oneself in a movie.

The Academy Award winner doubled as actor-director back in 1954 in "The Kentuckian," and now, 20 years later, has hyphenated himself again as the star of Universal's Technicolor mystery, "The Midnight Man," which starts at Cinema Theater today. Stared with him are Susan Clark and Cameron Mitchell.

This time out, he's added the duties of screenwriter and producer in tandem with Roland Kibbee.

"There is a big problem in directing yourself," he tells it. "You become so immersed in a scene as the director that you don't respond on the same acting level as the other actors when you switch from directing. Kibbee and I attempted to get around it by using a stand-in to block out my scenes and perform until the camera was ready to turn. I would direct him as I would any other actor. Then it was just a matter of plugging myself into the part. But still, the film was an enormous weight on me because I'm in all but two scenes."

Heavy lead or not, Lancaster intends to take his place behind the cameras more often in the future.

'MY STORY' BY HECHT

NEW YORK (AP) — Marilyn Monroe's forthcoming "autobiography" entitled "My Story" was ghost written by the late Ben Hecht, the book's publisher says.

Sol Stein, president of the publishing firm of Stein and Day, said that Hecht originally wrote the manuscript for Doubleday in the mid-1950s on the basis of interviews with the late film star. But Doubleday never published the book.
