Greek Officers Control Cyprus

ATHENS (AP) - Greek army officers commanding the Cypriot National Guard have seized control of Cyprus, and toppled the government of President Makarios, Radio Cyprus announced today. Reports differed on the fate of Radio Cyprus announced newspaper published Nicholas Sampson had been appointed president to succeed Makarios. Sampson publishes the newspaper Machi, meaning combat.

The radio earlier reported that Makarios had been killed but did not repeat this report in announcing the appointment of

A Turkish Cypriot radio monitored in Ankara said Makarios had survived the coup and taken refuge with the United Nations force assigned to keep peace between Greeks and Turks on the island.

The Turkish broadcast said Makarios appealed to "all loyal Cypriots to struggle to end the foreign aggression in our homeland." Is said he also sought United Nations intervention to halt "unnecessary bloodshed among brothers.' In Greece a military source said the Greek armed forces had been put in a state of alert, and in Turkey Premier Bulent Ecevit canceled a trip to Turkey's Agean area and called an extraordinary cabinet meeting.

Ecevit declared Turkey "will not let any alien touch the Turkish community's basic rights on the island."

The Greek officers of the National Guard were recently accused by Makarios of supporting the terrorist Eoka-B organization, which seeks to unite Cyprus with Greece.

Union with Greece, or Enosis, had also been an early goal of Makarios, but he gave it up in favor of an independent Cyprus because of bitter opposition to Enosis by the island's large Turkish minority.

Makarios, 60, was the political leader for the island's struggle for independence from Britain in the 1950s and had been president since Cyprus became independent on Aug. 16, 1960. He had been archbishop and head of the Cypriot Orthodox Church since 1950.

Britain's high commissioner to Cyprus, Steven Olver, reported to London that the presidential palace in Nicosia was under attack, but "there is no confirmation on the whereabouts of President Makarios," a spokesman for the British Foreign Office reported.

Fem Attempts Suicide On TV

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) - A local television personality shot herself in the head today while her morning program was on the air. The woman, Chris Chubbuck, was in critical condition at Sarasota Memorial Hospital.

Officials for WXLT-TV said that Miss Chubbuck, 30, suddenly announced on the air: "In keeping with Channel 40's policy o' having the news first you are going to see another first - an attempted suicide."

Jack Hartley, a salesman with the station, said no one knew why Miss Chubbuck shot herself. He said she had been working for the station for about a year doing a regular morning interview show called "Sarasota Digest."

National Airlines and the copper industry were hit by strikes today, but a tentative settlement was reached in the lengthy walkout by garbagemen and other city employes in Baltimore.

A union spokesman said negotiators would recommend approval of the offer to 3,000 striking Baltimore employes, some of whom have been off the job since July 1. A separate dispute involving city police remained unsettled with the issue of reprisals the main stumbling

The National Airlines strike involved mechanics. In the copper industry, workers walked out on four major producers in a dispute that threatened to involve 30,000 industry employes. Prison guards and other workers picketed a dozen state facilities in Ohio, with employes at some state liquor stores vowing to join the job action. NOT IN SIGHT

The dispute between the National Football League Players Association and the NFL Management Council involving players' rights entered its third week with no settlement in sight. The College All-Star game already has been canceled due to the dispute and the next casualty could be the July 27 Hall of Fame Game in Canton, Ohio, which begins the exhibition season.

In Baltimore, union spokesman Barry Able said union and city negotiators reached agreement in the municipal employes strike at about 2 a.m. Three hours later, he said, both sides in the police dispute reached agreement on economic issues. He said the negotiators would recommend approval of the offer if it included a pledge of no reprisals against striking police, who walked out Thursday night, joining other city workers on the picket line.

Able declined to discuss the details of either offer, saying they would first be annnounced to the union membership.

Elsewhere, shipworkers, miners, autoworkers and bus drivers were involved in labor disputes - most of them centered on monetary issues. Here is a

Aggies Set Barbecue

The Texas A&M University . Club has announced the annual scholarship barbecue for Aug. 8 at the Comanche Trails Park amphitheatre.

This marks a departure from the June date which has characterized the barbecue for most of its 21 years.

Currently, two young men are attending Texas A&M University on scholarships provided by the local club, and more than a score have been provided over the years.

Tickets ($2.50 adults children under 12 free) are available from Aggies, or they may be purchased at the gate. Delbert Donelson is the barbecue chairman this year,

Bruce Griffith, club president, announced. Don Newsom again will be the food chairman for the event which features barbecue, beans, all trimmings and beverages.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Several American firms are going to an international exhibition next month in Moscow with hopes of selling sophisticated police and criminology equp-

Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn's novel "The First Circle" focused on a Stalin-era Soviet institute where scientist prisoners were under pressure to develop a rudimentary voiceprint machine for pinpointing a political criminal.

Asked if he thought the Soviets might employ his firm's equipment in wiretapping of political dissidents, as well as against ordinary criminals, William Hughes, vice president of Voice Identification, said:

"Quite honestly, I am going over there to exhibit equip ment. I suppose they'll want to buy it - I certainly hope so, that's the purpose. It's obviously, as it is here, an investigatory tool. Now, how do they want to use it? I don't know. I can't speak for them or their system of justice or anything

A Commerce Department official said only a general export license was needed for shipment to Soviet bloc countries of police equipment including shotguns and so-called drug "stun guns."

Henley Murder Trial Is Stalled By Argument

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) -The murder trial of Elmer Wayne Henley stalled today after lawyers for the prosecution and defense argued about the judge's charge to the jury. Henley is charged with six of the 27 Houston mass

Defense lawyer Will Grav filed 33 written objections to the charge District Court Judge Preston Dial will read to the ju-

The charge outlines the law the jury must follow in deciding Henley's guilt or innocence. The judge scheduled final arguments to begin after the wording of the charge is pounded out in conference.

Each side will be allowed two hours for final arguments.

Testimony ended Friday after the state presented 25 witnesses during five days. The defense did not put any witnesses on the stand.

If they find the defendant guilty, another hearing will be held to present evidence about Henley's character. Defense lawyers say this hearing may take a week. They will retire again to debate punishment. The jury must decide individually Henley's culpibility in all six of the murder cases on which he is being tried. Henley was arrested last

Aug. 8 after he phoned police in the Houston suburb of Pasadena and told them he had shot and killed Dean A. Corll, 33, in what was later ruled to be self defense.

Savers' Gifts To Be Denied

AUSTIN (AP) - State savings and loan institutions will be prohibited, as of Sept. 15. from giving items of valuesuch as trading stamps-to attract savings accounts.

The savings and loan section of the State Finance Commission voted 3-0 today to put the new regulation into effect in two months.

A member of the section, C.E. Bentley of Abilene, said earlier this would be the first "restrictive law" applied to the savings and loan industry in modern times.

To reassure the industry that they had not adopted the regulation and would forget about it, the section also voted 3-0 to review it continually for four consecutive months.

A resolution by Bentley states that the section will hold monthly meetings beginning in September.

Bentley said the review would include how the industry is complying with the regulation and its effect particulary regarding the competitive situation with commercial banks.

Bentley's resolution stipulates that the section will consider at the fourth meeting, in January, whether the regulation should be eliminated.

Robert Baldwin III of Houston, another member of the section, noted that it had the authority to rescind the regulation at any time before then.

The third member, James Dickson of Waco, voted for the regulation, but he said he would like to see it automatically terminated in January. Then, only if the section thought it a success, would it be continued.

Dickson said the regulation puts state savings and loan institutions at a disadvantage with those insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

The committee also will question Colson about his role in helping arrange for a political contribution by the dairy industry to Nixon's 1972 campaign. One of the allegations the committee is investigating is whether Nixon raised the milk support prices in 1971 in exchange for a $2 million campaign pledge.

Colson was the White House contact man for dairy industry representatives during discussions about the contribution. Nixon has said he increased milk prices because of congressional pressure.

Big Problem

Dear Abby Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 23, not pretty and don't have a good figure. I don't even have an education. I had to quit school in the sixth grade to work as a car hop to suport my mother and two other kids in our family, so you can see, I have nothing to offer a man except love.

A year ago, I started seeing a married man I'll call Jim. I'm not making excuses for myself. I knew it was wrong, but I really cared for him and was too weak to break it off. Jim is 33 and his wife is 27 They've been married for seven years and have been wanting a baby, but couldn't have any. They've been on a waiting list to adopt for two years.

I am pregnant by Jim and now I am facing a big decision. Jim told his wife all about us, and I even met her. They want me to have this baby so they can adopt it, I love Jim and want to do what is right. I'm sure my would baby would have a good home with them, but what about me? I'm too far along for abortion now.

Please, help me. BIG PROBLEM DEAR PROBLEM: My advice to you is to end the relationship with Jim now. If possible, relocate. I can provide you with the names of some reliable homes for unwed mothers in your area. If you want to give your baby up for adoption do it through a legitimate agency. I see nothing but problems (for you and for Jim and his wife) if you let them adopt your baby. Please let me hear from know why anyone should be so uptight about the expression "Jewing down." It's really not meant to put down Jews.

Almost all Europeans do business that way. And so do most Asians. It means to bargain, negotiate or haggle.

I heard one Italian merchant say that when Americans pay the first price they're asked, it takes all the fun out of selling. I'm not a Jew, but I enjoy Jewing people down.

JEWER DOWNER DEAR DOWNER: TO each his own. But sensitive people who deplore ethnic references would find this expression offensive.

The MIT report notes, for example, that a $300 refrigerator may cost the consumer as much as $700 for electricity consumed over its average 14year life span. Referring to these as "hidden costs" the report says one can expect the operational costs to equal at least the purchase price of major

"The American public generally is unaware of the 'life-cycle costs' of major appliances, which in addition to purchase price, include costs of maintenance and repairing, servicing, electrical operating energy and even disposal," the MIT report said.

In discussing the need to encourage the use of energy-conserving appliances, the study said: "Unfortunately, the American consumer is still more concerned with such features as size, appearance, function and price than with the energy consumption . . ." Design changes aimed at conserving energy will likely increase the cost of the appliance, it was noted.

Well, bully for the boys at MIT! Now the poor, uninformed consumer knows that it costs money to operate those electric appliances which preserve the food, cool and warm the house, cook the meals, wash and dry the clothes, help clean the homestead and do myraid other chores.

"If the appliance industry is unable to encourage the adoption of energy conserving appliances,

Signs Of A New Mood

For the first time in 50 years, a sitting U.S. senator has been indicted on a federal charge. Sen. Edward Gurney, R-Fla. was indicted on charges of bribery, conspiracy and perjury.

Sen. Gurney was accused of taking part in a scheme to collect $233,000 in kickbacks from housing contractors.

While Sen. Gurney may or may not be guilty of the charges, his indictment is indicative of a new mood in America. Americans now are demanding a cleaner bill of ethical health from federal, state and local governments will likely do so through regulation," the study predicts. It's the same old pattern which already has Big Brother peeking into the nation's bedrooms

- a tiny hint of trouble on the horizon, authorization of a study designed to magnify the tiny problem, a finding that it is really a big problem and a thinly veiled threat of federal government intervention.

their public officials and the government appears to be willing to enforce citizen wishes. Ten years ago, few if any elected public official had any worries about being indicted on federal charges. Except for the dispute surrounding former New York Rep., Adam Clayton Powell, Congress has usually escaped the probing eye of the courts.

If this trend continues, incumbents and aspirants to political office would do well to keep their records clean in finances and campaigns.

Arafat's In The Fire

Robert Novak

BEIRUT - The growing power of Yassir Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) within politically fragile Lebanon was dramatized when Arafat's own security appartus made the crucial breakthrough in the mysterious kidnapping of a senior columnist of the respected daily newspaper An Nahar.

PROMPTLY, ARAFAT turned over two suspects in the bizarre case to the Lebanese government, thereby underlining what one leading Beirut editor described this way: "This country is shrinking as Arafat and the Palestinians expand their power."

Yet, despite the "expanding power" of the PLO within little Lebanon, Arafat today faces his gravest crisis in the Palestinian struggle to create an independent state on the Israelioccupied west bank of the Jordan

The cricis: Arafat has not yet seen anything remotely resembling a green light from Washington, the real source of Israel's power, to back up his hope that the Geneva Mideast conference - now scheduled for September - will become the opening wedge for Palestinian independence.

THE U.S. has conspicuously failed give its support to the concept of a Palestinian state side-by-side with Israel. Moreover, Israeli Prime Minister Itzhak Rabin has now publicly ruled out the possibility of Israel ever agreeing to any kind of an independent Palestine on the west bank of the Jordan.

Thus, Arafat faces the threatening possibility that, if the Geneva conference is actually held, he may be asked to attend in a distinctly subsidiary role: perhaps as high-level observer, possibly linked in some way to King Hussein of Jordan. Hussein, whose small Kingdom held sovereignty over the west bank for 20 years until Israel seized it in the six-day war of 1967, vows he will not go to Geneva until after Israel has made at least a token pullback from the Jordan River and turned over some of the west bank to him. Egypt has also vowed it will not go without the

YET SYRIA and Egypt, both of which gained territorial adjustments during Secretary of State Henry Kissinger's long Middle East medication earlier this year, must have a Geneva conference to continue the momentum toward an over-all settlement. Otherwise, they risk grave political danger from extremists at

"ISRAEL DOES not want Geneva," Arafat told us in his dingy hideout, surrounded by gun-wielding security guards. "Israel is doing its best to delay, and its generals are wounded wolves, already preparing for a fifth Middle Fast war."

Arafat is a short, round middleclass Palestinian whose perpetual week-long growth of black stubble renders him anything but the image of romantic revoluntionary. In fact, however, he has a quick mind and sharp sense of humor and has maneuvered to his present position as undisputed political skill.

It is not only the Geneva conference that makes these days so perilous for Arafat. Although Lebanon has given lip service to guerrilla operatons across the border into Israel, its delicate political structure cannot take much more of the vicious bombings that Israel has unleashed in reprisal for Palestinian terrorist

"They called us saboteurs, criminals and murderers 10 years ago, before we were even organized," Arafat told us later. "But they are barbarians." Lebanon cannot tolerate many more reprisals.

"But, aside from that, we have created a cozy, world dove sanctuary!" ACCORDANGE AND A CONTRACTOR OF THE STATE OF Phyllis was having tea in an openair cafe when she spied a wallet under a nearby table. A look inside revealed $900 in cash but no identification. Dutifully, Phyllis left the wallet with the proprietor of the cafe, to be held for a possible claimant.

Finders Usually Keepers

Months passed, and no claimant appeared. Finalliy Phyllis decided it was now hers to keep. But the proprietor demurred. 'The wallet was found on my premises," he pointed out in a court "Therefore, unless the original owner shows up, it belongs to me.

HOWEVER, THE court ordered him to hand the wallet and the money over to Phyllis. The court said lost property found in a public place, not traceable to the original owner, may be retained by the finder.

Most courts endorse this rule. Unclaimed money (or other valuables) found in public places, like the lobby of a hotel or the aisle of a supermarket, are usually awarded to the finder rather than the management.

a five-year old to leave it alone. I didn't say this (Kierkegaard did), but how true it is: "Life can only be understood backwards, but it must be lived forwards."

THE SMALL boy best explains it when he defines conscience as "Something that makes you tell your mother before your sister does."

Confusius didn't say it, but there is deep wisdom in the advice: "If thine enemy wrongs thee, buy each of his children a drum."

I UNDERSTAND one of the Energy Conservation Awards will be going to the Baylor Bears, who haven't staged a long weekend drive since

A friend says he feels he does his part in the energy crisis. When one of the energy czars speaks on TV he gets up and turns off the set.

Fine Portrait Of 'Hero'

4th weekend is upon us and I don't know of many who'd pass up the brilliant flash of the aerial bomb for the dull glow of the TV set. But make an exception Thursday night.

The reason: An extraordinary public TV documentary called "2,251 Days," filmed by station KQED in San Francisco It concerns one of the bestknown U.S. prisoners of war North Vietnam freed in March 1973.

He's Cmdr. Richard A. Stratton, the tall, hawk-nosed Navy flier whose bowing and seemingly drugged appearance shocked the nation in 1967 when his captors paraded him before foreign photographers in Hanoi.

REUNITED WITH his wife and three sons in Palo Alto, Calif., after 61/2 years as a POW, he may serike some as a philosophical fossil, a man with an unswerving faith in his naeion's leadership despite Vietnam, Watergate and the complex, pervasive doubts they raised.

But KQED's study - filming began at the Stratton home a month and a half before his release - tries to understand the sources of his faith, his beliefs and does it with no small amount of empathy.

In the process, it etches a fine portrait of a guy you'd enjoy debating, having a beer with, and of a family you'd value even if the old man did grouse occasionally about the long-haired of this world. Most importantly, the show keeps its narrative to a bare minimum, giving its subjects a clear, uncluttered forum for their views and emotions, be it in a kitchen or a backyard

St. Patrick's Day beer bust.

IT LETS THE Strattons tell their story, augmenting it with the recollections of two of his ex-cellmates -Douglas Hegdahl and Cmdr. Richard Mullin - and those of veteran antiwar activist David Delliger, who once visited Hegdahl and Stratton

A deeply religious Catholic and son of a Massachusets shipping clerk, Stratton comes across in most instances with the warm, dry Irish wit common to citizens of his state. But he shows real anger when discussing the torture that made him confess "crimes" against North Vietnam, an act he again repudiates

NEW YORK (AP) - The long July as "a complete and totally false confession."

THE ANGER shows again, when he says the "worst hurt" the POWs brought out of Vietnam was that "there are American citizens who choose to believe the enemy in the foreign capital and not believe their president or their government."

Strong, bitter words that perhaps time and understanding will change. But the only real way to assess the man who said them is to watch "2,251 Days" from start to finish Thursday

The show runs about 2 hours and 20 minutes. That's a lot of time, but the program contains a lot that helps explain this Navy commander who still keeps an uncommon faith in an era of common disbelief.

Protein Necessary

NEW YORK (AP) - The world's population is expected to double to 7.5 billion in less than 30 years. By then, experts claim competition for global food supplies may be fierce. Statistics indicate now that 10,000 persons in the poorer countries of the world die each day because of protein deficiency.

Speaking here at a recent seminar on textured vegetable protein, Dr. Walter Ames Compton, president of Miles Laboratories Inc., explained that:"Increasingly, means must be found to supplement the already inadequate and limited supply of protein derived from animal sources with proteins of good quality from other sources."

For example, an acre of land that could yield about 500 pounds of protein directly from soybeans, gives only 50 pounds through animal culture. "This tenfold disparity must eventually enter the equation of food need and land availability," said Dr. Compton.

He said the objective of his company, a leader in the development of textured vegetable proteins, is to provide consumers with a wide variety of nutrutious and aesthetically appealing plant protein foods and ingredients.
