NEW FIGHTING ON TURKEY'S INVASION BEACHHEAD

Name Cypriot President

BULLETIN

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Premier Adamantios Andriopoulos' military-backed government resigned today and power in Greece will be turned over to a civilian government, the president's office announced.

By The Associated Press
The Greek Cypriot who took over the Cyprus presidency from the ousted Archbishop Makarios resigned today and a prominent figure in the old regime was named to replace him, Cyprus radio said. The move was seen as an attempt to reach a peace accord with Turkey.

RENEW DEMAND
The British reported a new outbreak of fighting on Turkey's invasion beachhead in northern Cyprus near Kyrenia despite a cease-fire agreement accepted by all sides. Shortly before these developments, Turkey's deputy prime minister, Necmettin Erbakan, renewed an old Turkish demand for partition of the Mediterranean island between Greek and Turkish Cypriots.

EVACUATION
The fighting report came from the British Defense Ministry which said in London that the battle action was taking place as a Royal Navy task force was evacuating stranded Britons and other foreigners from the northern coast. The ministry said the evacuation of about 2,500 foreigners was continuing without too much difficulty because the fighting was about six miles from the evacuation point.

EXPERIENCE
The Cyprus radio broadcast said Clerides already had been sworn into office. Clerides, a lawyer, headed intercommunal talks with the Turks under Makarios.

Nikos Sampson, who took over from Makarios after the national guard seized power and precipitated Turkey's invasion last Saturday, said in an address over the Cyprus radio that Clerides, because of his experience, is better equipped to lead the nation.

Sampson added that he was stepping down with a clear conscience. He maintained that his actions since the coup had been motivated by a desire to avoid civil war between the Turkish and Greek communities which share the island 45 miles from Turkey in the Mediterranean.

breach of the cease-fire.
The cease-fire had been called for 10 a. m., EDT, Monday but fighting continued for several hours after that deadline. Then about six hours later, the U.N. command on Cyprus reported all quiet on the island and that the cease-fire appeared to be holding.

EXPECT FIGHTING
The dispatch was filed before the British and U.N. reports of new action.

U.S. officials have said they expect fighting to continue between the Greek and Turkish communities for at least several more days. The Greeks outnumber the Turks on the island by about 4 to 1.

The national guard leadership which overthrew Makarios demanded complete union with Greece—or enosis—which the archbishop opposed. Erbakan's statement did not make clear whether he was speaking for the entire Turkish government or whether partition would be a major demand of Turkey at a meeting in Geneva this week or possibly next among Britain, Turkey and Greece, which are empowered by a 1960 treaty to guarantee Cyprus as an independent democratic republic.

Earlier today, Associated Press correspondent Frank N. Hawkins Jr. reported from Nicosia that sporadic fighting broke out along the so-called Green Line separating the Greek and Turkish communities but that in general the cease-fire had been honored by both sides.

The United Nations in New York said troops of its peace force on Cyprus took over the airport at Nicosia, the Cypriot capital, because of new fighting there. A U.N. headquarters spokesman said no details of the Nicosia fighting were available to him but that he described it as "a new and serious

Dr. Charles D. Hays, who is the new president of Howard College, resigned the presidency of Panola College Monday, effective Oct. 1.

"I hope I can come to Howard College much sooner than that," he said, "but I agreed not to leave Panola in a hole and to stay until a successor is named, or for a reasonable length of time."

He hoped it will be possible to be here to start the fall semester. Meantime, he said, he has been in touch with Ben Johnson, assistant to the president at Howard College, and will offer direction to the administration pending his arrival. Dr. Hays plans to come here next week to seek housing.

"We are anxious to be back at Howard College," he told the Herald. "I am aware there have been some problems, but these can be smoothed out and we can get on with it together." "Howard College has a lot of potential that has not yet been utilized, and I am excited to have the opportunity to be a part of it."

Dr. Hays was academic dean here for a year and a half prior to taking the Panola presidency at Carthage. He succeeds Dr. Thomas Salter, who went to Weatherford College as dean.

returned safely. The spokesman for the high command declined to say if the targets hit were Arab villages, guerrilla encampments or the houses of individual guerrilla leaders or sympathizers.

He also declined to report on the accuracy of the bombing mission that began at around 4:30 p.m.—10:30 a.m. EDT—and ended several minutes later.

It was the first time Israel used its jets in its war against the Palestinian guerrillas since June 20. Then jets hit guerrilla targets near the Mediterranean port cities of Sidon and Tyre in Lebanon.

Israeli navy gunboats also hit these ports with offshore shell fire July 8 to revenge the June 24 terror attack on Nahariya in which four Israelis were killed. Palestinian terror raids into Israel since April have killed 53 Israelis and wounded 100.

Premier Yitzhak Rabin has promised to wage war against the guerrillas and hit them "anytime, anywhere." The military spokesman said today's raid was part of Rabin's anti-guerrilla war policy.

'The Cattle Sale Deal'

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A federal grand jury investigating a matter described as "the cattle sale deal" listened to three Harlingen bankers, a veterinarian and a Dallas insurance executive Monday.

He said the matter is being investigated by the FBI and is being presented to the grand jury by federal prosecutors from Houston, San Antonio and Brownsville.

Dial Dunkin, M.F. Power and L.C. Buck of Harlingen National Bank, Dr. Frank Moffett, a veterinarian from Dilley, and Bill Williams of Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. of Dallas were among those who testified Monday.

Kunst and another brother, John, began the trek from their Minnesota home in June, 1970, to promote UNICEF. Refuses To Confirm Impeachment Stand WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Lawrence Hogan, R-Md., a member of the House Judiciary Committee, plans to announce his position on impeachment today amid rumors he will declare President Nixon should be impeached.

Hogan, a candidate for governor of Maryland, scheduled a press conference for 3 p.m. EDT to make his decision known. Hogan declined to confirm the rumors sweeping the Capitol that he will decide in favor of impeachment, but said "it's all over as far as I'm concerned."

If Hogan comes out for impeachment, he would be the first Republican on the Judiciary Committee to do so. Such an announcement would be a heavy blow to the solid front Republican supporters of Nixon are trying to maintain on the committee.

With Democrats holding a 21 to 17 edge on the committee a vote for impeachment is regarded as likely, but Republican support is believed necessary if the House is to go along with the committee's recommendation.

Hogan, while maintaining from the start he was uncommitted, has been one of Nixon's most vocal supporters on the committee. At least three other Republican members have been regarded as more likely to vote for impeachment.

Hogan said he was making his announcement at this time to explain to Maryland voters how he reached his decision. He purchased time on several television stations to repeat the announcement tonight.

"This is a big political problem with me in this state," he said.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota's commissioner of securities says a new law governing franchise operations in the state is an attempt to "establish a franchisee's bill of rights." Edward J. He said the state wants to make sure the prospective buyer knows everything there is to know about the franchising company. Two Lawsuits Challenge Political Contributions

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Two class action lawsuits have been brought against the Associated Milk Producers, Inc., as challenges to political donations made by the giant dairy cooperatives.

A North Texas dairy owner, Mrs. J. D. Van Huss of Fannin County, filed the suits in federal district court on behalf of all AMPI members. They are the first by one of its members.

ILLEGAL
One suit names AMPI's two political committees — Trust for Agricultural Political Education (TAPE) and Committee for Thorough Agricultural Political Education (CTAPE)—and the cooperative's Texas corporate directors, agents and lawyers, including Jake Jacobson.

The suit claims that AMPI acted illegally when it allegedly withheld political contributions for TAPE and CTAPE from proceeds of dairy sales for its members. It asks that the committees be restrained from disposing of any further funds and that a receiver be appointed for remaining funds.

SECOND SUIT
The second suit is against 46 AMPI out-of-state corporate directors, employees, lawyers and commercial defendants. Other defendants are the Committee to Re-Elect the President (CREEP), Finance Committee to Re-Elect the President (FICREEP), 1972 Campaign Liquidation Trust, Herbert W. Kalmbach, Charles W. Colson and others. It claims that the Federal Corrupt Practices Act and the Federal Election Act of 1971, which permit political committees to receive funds from corporate entities, are unconstitutional. The suit asks that CREEP and FICREEP be enjoined from administering any further funds and that a receiver be appointed over their assets.

CONTRIBUTIONS
The suits bring up a question never raised before—an allegation that such committees dilute the individual right to vote.

"It was not intended that through large accumulations of monies expended by corporations, organizations, political committees and/or groups, that the people's right to a republican, representative form of government might be diluted purchased, unduly influenced or impaired," the petition states.

The suits ask that AMPI recover its assertedly "illegal" contributions from the recipients named as defendants and that AMPI officers, agents and lawyers who participated in any illegal act—either willfully or through acquiescence—respond in damages.

While no amount is set for damages in the complaints, Mrs. Van Huss's lawyer, Perry Westbrook of Wichita Falls, said the result could be "millions of dollars" restored to the co-op. Previous reports revealed that AMPI expended $5,456,378 for political activity from Sept. 1, 1967, through June 30, 1973.

Weinstock claimed he was severely injured after he tried to fend off Sinatra's advances to Weinstock's wife Connie at a Palm Springs, Calif., hotel on May 5, 1973.

U.S. District Court Judge Manuel Real set the trial date Monday after conferring briefly with lawyers for Sinatra and Weinstock.

Weinstock's suit asks for $250,000 general damages against Sinatra, Rizzo and Arvenitas; $250,000 general damages against the Trinidad Hotel in Palm Springs; $1 million punitive damages against Sinatra, Rizzo and Arvenitas; and $1 million punitive damages against the Trinidad Hotel.

Queen Contest Highlights Annual 4-H Rodeo Show

The annual Howard County 4-H Rodeo is living up to its reputation of being one of the most popular in the southwest. Already, the entry list has topped 300.

The colorful show kicks off a three-night stand Thursday evening with a couple of extra highlights — the crowning of the rodeo queen, and a performance mounted drill team from Midland.

Show time is 8 p.m., the same for Friday and Saturday, at Rodeo Bowl. A colorful prelude will be the traditional parade through the downtown area starting 4 p.m. Thursday from tenth and Main, north to second, west to Scurry, south to Tenth.

The various 4-H Clubs of Howard County — Knott, Coahoma, Lucky Acres, Northridge, and Gay Hill — are selling tickets to the rodeo ($1.50 adults and $1 others). The queen will be chosen on the basis of which club sold the most tickets for its nominee.

Events include three kinds of roping — tie-down, ribbon and breakaway — goat sacking (catch a goat and stuff it into a sack), calf scramble (catch a calf and ride it across a finish line), bull riding, saddle bronc and bareback bronc riding, pole bending, and barrel racing.

Charles Thompson, Lubbock, producer who furnishes the stock, had moved in the bulk of his stock today.

Each night at the show, a $50 merchandise prize will be given, according to officials.

Panel Wants Awareness Of Mid-Morning Flight

The Chamber of Commerce transportation committee is anxious that the public know that Texas International Airways now has a mid-morning flight.

Plans were developed at a meeting of the panel Tuesday to acquaint the public with this change in schedule that offers a 9:30 a.m. departure for Dallas, and noon connections in Dallas for all parts of the country.

Reports indicated that already increased boardings have reflected the more favorable schedule. The transportation committee was confident that boarding will climb substantially if more people know about this time.

The committee also noted that improvements to the airport are needed regardless of the outcome of the contest of TIA's effort to suspend service here. The lack of decent terminal facilities was cited, as one priority item.

Also, the panel went on record favoring efforts to obtain an operational leg on the Amtrak (railroad passenger service) from Fort Worth to El Paso.

Palbearers will be Loren Casselman, Rog Smith, James M. Donald, Adolph Supak, George Colvin and Dean Long.

YOU'RE RIGHT, NEVER HOTTER

If you thought it was hot Monday, history supports you. The official record of 102 degrees ties the all-time high of 102 in 1966.

One bank thermometer here recorded 103 at 4 p.m. but the official thermometer at the experiment station claimed 102 as the high.

PEOPLE LIKE MAX How Do You Explain Attention He Gets?

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — People who have never even met Max Jacobsmeyer like him.

How else do you explain the attention he gets?

Like the invitations to attend college, to test drive a new car, to accept free dancing lessons and to eat a steak dinner at the expense of a land development corporation.

Last week Max received a letter from the St. Louis County Health Department. It instructed him to connect his property with a sanitary sewer.

That did it as far as Max was concerned. On Monday the health department received this letter: "I am sure that connecting to a sanitary sewer as you indicate would solve one of my difficult problems, however... I don't have the working knowledge needed to follow your directive."

BOR Position Favors TIA

The Bureau of Operating Rights has stated its position that Texas International Airways be given the right to suspend service on its route serving Big Spring.

However, this has no bearing on the Civil Aeronautics Board, according to the Big Spring-Howard County legal counsel, Herman Schurer, in Washington, D.C.

The CAB conducted a hearing here in June and has not yet had a report from its examiner and therefore has not ruled on the TIA application. Earlier the CAB denied a request by TIA for a temporary suspension, and the Bureau recommendation Monday contained that. The city and county have contested a temporary suspension, calling for a permanent one should it come to that. This would clear the way for contacting other carriers.

Council Members Are Honored

Eddie Acri, mayor pro-tem, has been named to the Texas Utilities Advisory Council.

Acri was appointed by the Texas Municipal League and has agreed to serve in this capacity.

A second honor came to a local city official this week. Mrs. Floyd Mays, councilwoman, was cited by the Texas A&M College of Liberal Arts for the development of the brochure on Historic Howard County.

Bruce White Is Mensa Member

Bruce White, instructor at Rannels Junior High, is a new member of Mensa, according to Mike Craddock, local representative. He is a University of Texas graduate.

Mensa is an organization comprised of those who score in the upper two per cent (roughly 130) on IQ tests. In addition to inter-action with individuals of similar scores, Mensa members engage in psychology and social science research. Mensa has more than 20,000 members in 14 countries. Those interested in applying may contact Craddock. Mensa will furnish IQ tests.

Westbrook Man Leaves Board

WESTBROOK — Rex McKenney, former school board member for the Westbrook School, has resigned from the board.

McKenney said he submitted his letter of resignation for several reasons. He said that Westbrook doesn't need the 398-seat auditorium projected in the building program for the school. He also said he doesn't agree with the idea of issuing bonds to finance the building.

He also said that his daughter graduated this year and that he no longer has a child in school.

Supt. L. M. Dawson had no comment on McKenney's decision other than to say that McKenney seconded the motion that the bond election be held.

Dawson said the vacancy will be filled by appointment.

Venue Change In Murder Trial

MCKINNEY, Tex. (AP) — Jury selection will begin July 29 in Dallas in the murder trial of Robert Excel White, transferred from McKinney on a change of venue.

State District Court Judge Tom Ryan ordered the trial moved Monday, granting a defense request.

White is accused in the May shooting of Preston Broyles, 73, a rural store owner. White also has been charged in the slaying of two of Broyles' customers.

Jury selection had been under way for a week at McKinney.

Paige Little Is Contest Winner

Paige Little won the Miss Congeniality title at the Texas State convocation of the Order of DeMolay in Houston last weekend.

She is the Big Spring DeMolay sweetheart and took part in the state parley, along with her sister, Irene, a duchess. With them was their mother, Mrs. Jack Little.

DeMolay delegates were Corby Tatum, Jackie Sawyer, Robert Smith, John Petty, and Michael Aboe. With them was the chapter dad, E. A. Evesash.

THE SHOW MUST GO ON?

Beachfront Nudity Fuss

By The Associated Press

Angered by what they fear may become Son of Streaking, authorities in some coastal areas are doing slow burns over an outbreak of beachfront nudity.

Others, however, say they consider the practice of going nude something less than a threat to the Republic and have concluded that the show must go on.

"I'm willing to be busted for this because I think it's a worthy cause," declared Gisele Rodulle, 22, who reclined topless at New York's Jacob Riis Park over the weekend.

I GO NAKED

"I go naked because I don't like a bathing suit sticking to me in the water and the sand getting in it and scratching my skin," was the explanation from Annette Rosenow, a 22-year-old nurse interviewed at Black's Beach near San Diego.

The Misses Rodulle and Rosenow are among hundreds of beachgoers who have concluded bathing doesn't necessarily mean a bathing suit. That conclusion, however, is under some dispute.

"I don't know where these people get the idea they have a constitutional right to strip naked and parade in front of other people," said federal Magistrate Vincent A. Catoggie as he scolded Shelly Leiberman, a 25-year-old Brooklyn hairdresser who was taken into custody and wrapped in a blanket at Riis Park.

In Los Angeles, an anti-nudity law was passed after a raucous City Council meeting during which Robert Opel, the man who streaked the Academy Awards ceremony, presented himself in the raw to support his contention that nudity need not be lewd.

The ordinance would prohibit public sunbathing, bathing or walking in the nude by persons older than 10. But Superior Court Judge David M. Eagleson ruled that it limited "the exercise of personal freedoms which are granted by the Constitution." A hearing is set for Aug. 2.

Aside from occasional court skirmishes, most officials have chosen to ignore the question. San Diego, for example, set aside 900 feet of a beach as an "optional swimsuit area" and let it go at that.

'Right To Work' Issue Singled Out As Key To Win Or Defeat

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The Constitutional Convention has come down to three words—"right to work"—according to Sen. Nelson Wolff, chairman of the committee that determines the arrangement of proposals the delegates vote on.

The convention learns late today if enough votes have been switched to make a 121-vote, two-thirds majority needed to put the new state charter on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Monday, the delegates voted 85-80 to recess without taking a vote on the latest, third, package approved by Wolff's Submission and Transmission Committee.

THREE WORDS

After the recess, Wolff told his committee, "I think you'll find this convention has come down to three words—right to work."

Those delegates opposed to this prohibition against labor-management agreements on union or agency shops, combined with the delegates who oppose any new constitution, can block passage of the document, Wolff said.

And those who insist the anti-union shop proposal must be given to the voters as a separate proposal, combined with the same delegates who oppose any new constitution, also can block it, he said.

FLIP-FLOPPING

The committee must decide which way it will go on this issue and stick with it, he said. "You just can't keep flip-flopping."

But some members of the committee disagreed. "They might be led, but they are not going to be driven," said Rep. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur.

"I react adversely to force," said Rep. Ray Hutchinson, R-Dallas.

The committee recessed without taking any substantive votes. Convention President Price Daniel Jr. said Monday a poll of delegates indicated the 121-vote majority was near.

STRONG FEELING

Asked if his strategy was to recess the convention each day until he has the votes to pass the latest package, he said: "We won't face that until we get to it."

But he acknowledged there was "some strong feeling" on the part of many delegates to do just that.

A labor spokesman disagreed on what the poll showed. John Rogers, AFL-CIO lobbyist, said the 80 no votes on the motion to recess showed there were 80 delegates against the latest resolution.

That resolution contains the basic constitution and three of the original seven separate proposals: prohibitions against labor-management agreements on union shops and against pari-mutuel wagering on horse races, and a grant of limited home rule for counties.

Delegation Pleading For Change In Disaster Rules

Three High Plains farmers from this vicinity are in Washington this week to plead for more equitable administration of farm program disaster provisions.

Heading the delegation is Donnell Echols, Patricia, past president and now member of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. With him are Donovan Phipps, of the Welch community in Dawson County, and C. A. Daughterty, Fluvanna in Scurry County.

The Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973 provides that farmers prevented from planting or making less than two-thirds of normal yields because of drought or other adverse weather conditions will be paid 12.67 cents per pound, times the difference between the normal yields and actual production. Farmers who were not able to plant this year, generally, are happy because they will be paid 12.67 cents per pound times their allotted acreage times the farm's established yield as the law intended.

But for those who planted and either didn't get a good stand or got a stand and lost most of it to the drought, sand or hail, there are problems.

For example, consider a field with what the FCIC appraisers say has 18 per cent of a normal stand. The farm's established yield is 544 pounds per acre, so the current procedures set potential production at 98 pounds per acre (18 per cent of 544), without regard for the size and condition of plants, lack of soil moisture, the economics of trying to farm 18 per cent of a stand, or the fact that such a crop couldn't be machine harvested even if it realized its full "potential" under ideal conditions.

Left to maturity it would produce 98 pounds per acre. The farmer can plow up the remaining cotton and lose over $12 per acre of his disaster payment, or he can leave the cotton until fall to prove it won't produce, foregoing in the process any possible soil conservation or other alternative use of the land, HPCE officials point out.

Another injustice is encountered by the farmer who plants and subsequently loses cotton on more than his allotted acres. A case reviewed by FCG shows that if a farmer, with a 100-acre feed grain allotment, planted 110 acres of cotton and no grain sorghum he would get almost $3,000 less in disaster payments than if he had planted only 100 acres of cotton. This example assumes a 600 pound established yield for cotton and a 30 bushel yield for grain sorghum.)

Hurting Stelson Charge Hits Cop

HOUSTON (AP) — A policeman was released under $20,000 bond Monday after being charged with injuring his 3-year-old stepson.

Patrolman Phillip Ray Allen, 27, was arrested Saturday, after the boy, Michael Ray Williamson, was hospitalized Friday.

Kandy Allen, 26, the boy's mother, told police Allen telephoned her at work Friday and said the child fell in a bathtub. Investigators said, however, that physicians at Texas Children's hospital said the injuries were inconsistent with a bathtub fall.

The boy was reported in critical condition.

Gin Statistics Are Compiled

Ginning costs for the 1973 cotton crop were higher in Texas than for the preceding season.

Growers paid an average of $25.60 for saw ginning and wrapping a 480-pound net weight bale, according to statistics released by the Agricultural Marketing Service and Economic Research Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

This past year's ginning charges included an average cost of $8.00 for bagging and ties, but does not reflect any patronage dividends or customer rebates.

Almost 100 per cent of the crop was harvested by mechanical means. Machine-stripping accounted for 90 per cent, machine-picking — nine per cent, and one per cent was harvested off the ground. A small amount was hand-picked and hand-snapped.

The average seed cotton weights needed to make a 480-pound net weight bale were 1,533 pounds for machine picking; 2,143 pounds for stripped; and 2,506 for ground scrapped. Hand-picked bales required 1,459 pounds of seed cotton and hand-snapped — 2,038 pounds.

Receiving charges at Texas public warehouses averaged $1.17 per bale. The insured storage charge was 72 cents per bale per month.

Texas Areas Burn Dryer

By The Associated Press

Texans kept their air conditioners working overtime today as more July heat records topped, drought-stricken areas burned even dryer and demands on water systems and power plants mounted.

Only in the Texas Panhandle, where a feeble cool front was easing toward the south, did the overnight temperatures moderate—and only a little in that sector. The forward edge of the cooler air lay between Childress and Lubbock in early morning.

The only moisture consisted of a few quickly dissipated showers in early morning along the Canadian River near the Texas-New Mexico border.

Sizzling temperatures skyrocketed again Monday, going as high as 109 degrees at Wichita Falls. Several points posted heat records for the date.

Top marks at other points included Dallas 108, Mineral Wells 107, Childress, Fort Worth and Waco 106, Abilene and San Angelo 104, Junction 103, Austin, College Station and Del Rio 102, Midland and Wink 101 and Cotulla, Lufkin, Texarkana and Tyler 100. The maximum stayed below 90 at just two points—Galveston at 86 and Corpus Christi at 89, on the coast.

Readings near dawn today stayed as high as 81 at Waco and 82 at Wichita Falls. Behind the new front Amarillo's 71 wasn't much cooler.

Official forecasts called simply for continued hot weather, with possibly a few thunder-showers by evening.

Odessa-Midland Freeway And Midland Loop Talked

ODESSA — An alternate north freeway connecting Midland and Odessa is under consideration, according to Paul Coleman, district highway engineer here.

No routes have been pegged, although three are currently under consideration. So are three possible routes for a north loop around Midland. In the latter case, at least, studies have stirred land speculation.

A meeting is set for 7:30 p.m. Thursday in Goddard Junior High to let Midlanders give their suggestions. Basically the loop would stem from IS-20 at FM 1369 west of Midland and

First Half Income Of Fina Is Up 2.1 Times

DALLAS — American Petrofina, Incorporated, has announced that net income in the first half of 1974 amounted to $32,321,000, or $3.03 on the average number of shares outstanding during the period, as compared with $11,033,000 and $1.44 per share in the same period of 1973. Gross revenue was $471,411,000 during the first six months of 1974 as compared with $155,725,000 in the same period of 1973.

For the second quarter of 1974, gross revenues were $258,361,000, up from $82,076,000 in the second quarter of 1973. Net income on the average shares outstanding amounted to $1.80 per share during the second quarter as compared with 82 cents during the corresponding period last year.

The total assets of the Company increased to $523,053,000 at the end of June, up from $263,825,000 a year earlier. The increase in assets was due, in substantial part, to the acquisition on July 1, 1973, of a coastal refinery at Port Arthur, Tex., together with related pipelines and distribution and marketing facilities in the Southeast. Record sales of petrochemicals and plastics and higher prices for the crude oil produced by the company were responsible for the increase in earnings.

Refinery throughputs during the first half of 1974 averaged 175,919 barrels per day, up from 99,255 barrels during the same period of 1973. Profits from the refining and marketing of gasoline, distillates, and other energy products, however, remain at low levels under government regulations which limit increases in prices of such products to the pass-through of increases in costs of raw materials.

Grace Shows Robust Gain

NEW YORK — W. R. Grace & Co., with strength in all sectors of its industrial, specialty, and agricultural chemicals businesses, set new all-time sales and earnings highs for both the second quarter and for the first half, ending June 30.

Net income for the second three months of 1974 rose 68 per cent to $46,163,000 compared with $27,464,000 in the same period last year. Per common and common equivalent share, earnings amounted to $1.47 against $1.19 in the 1973 period, as restated, an increase of 62 per cent. Quarterly sales and operating revenues were $882,403,000 versus $721,458,000, up 22 per cent. This was Grace's 10th consecutive quarter in which gains were registered over comparable prior-year periods.

For the first half of the year, income before extraordinary items totaled $72,305,000, a gain of 86 per cent over the $38,858,000 earned in the first six months of 1973. Earnings per share reached $2.31, up 80 per cent from last year's $1.28. Sales for the first half increased 21 per cent to $1,624,802,000, from the $1,339,327,000 sales figure in the 1973 six-month period. Grace's last 12-month period showed sales of $3.1 billion. Chemical operations contributed heavily, and of special importance was the improvement in results from fertilizer operations. Grace operates a fertilizer plant at Big Spring, Tex.

Farm Bureau Backs Loan Bill

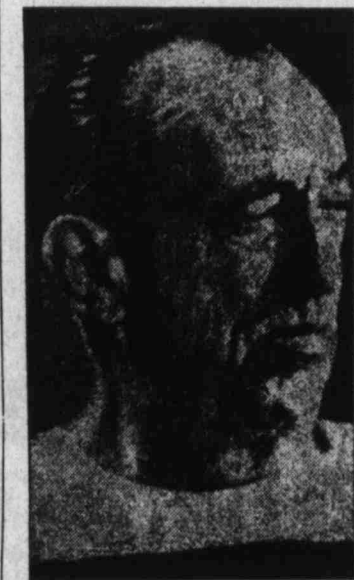

WACO — The Texas Farm Bureau Board of Directors has asked President Nixon to sign into law an emergency livestock credit bill just passed by Congress.

The legislation provides up to $250,000 credit for individual livestock producers. Eligibility would be limited to bona fide farmers and ranchers, as determined by the secretary of agriculture.

Vines And Seay Going To Meet

Truitt Vines and Ed Seay of Big Spring will be among 1,400 vocational agriculture teachers meeting in Houston, July 29 to Aug. 2. They will take part in an annual in-service education workshop, sponsored by the Agriculture Education Department of the Texas Education Agency in Austin.

During the annual awards ceremony, congressman George Mahon, Lubbock, will receive the Distinguished Service Award. It's based upon service to citizens of the state through support of agriculture, education and rural youth programs.

DIES — Actor Allen Jenkins died Sunday in Santa Monica, Calif., following lung surgery. He was 74.

Shrimp Boat Owner Fined

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The owner of a Mexican shrimp boat accused of fishing inside United States waters paid a $3,400 fine in federal court Monday.

U.S. District Court Judge Reynaldo Garza also fined Manuel A. Medina, captain of the "Don Julian," $500. Asst. U.S. Atty. John Smith told Judge Garza an agreement had been worked out between the U.S. Justice Department and the fine on the boat to be paid for forfeiture of the catch of shrimp and the boat's rigging.

The captain's fine was to be paid in cash by Hector Cantu Silva of Tampico, Mexico, owner of the boat.

U.S. Coast Guard cutters seized the "Don Julian" north of Port Isabel and about five and half miles from shore last week after a Texas shrimp boat complained about the Mexican boat's location.

Policemen Exonerated

DALLAS (AP) — Police internal affairs investigators said Monday they found no wrong doing by two officers in the death of a prisoner, Gary Wayne Benfield, 21, of Newton, N.C., during an arrest.

Benfield's larynx was crushed when the officers subdued him during an arrest early Saturday. He died after collapsing in the city jail basement.

Capt. Lee Spradlin, head of the internal division, said he will recommend that no action be taken against officers B. P. Bedwell and K. E. Hammond.

However, the case will be routinely referred to a Dallas County grand jury.

The two officers said they were forced to use a choke hold while subduing Benfield. An autopsy showed death was attributed to a broken bone in the larynx.

Spradlin said his investigation showed "no indication of malicious action on the officers' part. We feel they had no intention of hurting the man."

The officers said they arrested Benfield after finding him lying in a vacant lot behind a restaurant about 3 a.m. Saturday. A scuffle occurred after Benfield was placed in the back seat of a squad car, they said.

After being subdued with a choke hold, Benfield was taken to the jail, where he collapsed in the basement. He was dead when the officers carried him to the fourth-floor jail.

Eastland Banker Wins $5.6 Million Haiti Suit

EASTLAND, Tex. (AP) — A state jury Monday rejected a $5.6 million claim brought against Eastland banker Mike Collins by the would-be developer of a free port at Haiti's Tortuga island.

Don Pierson, president of Dupont Caribbean, Inc., had sued Collins by the would-be developer, for allegedly taking a million-share stock certificate without authorization and damaging the company through statements he made after he resigned.

The jury found Collins innocent of 12 of the 13 counts in Pierson's civil suit. The jury found Collins had advised persons against investing in DCI, but said that action should not warrant monetary damages.

DCI was incorporated in late 1970 to develop Tortuga into a duty-free port with luxury hotels and casino gambling.

Since then, the development has stalled in legal battles. On July 12, a Haitian court ruled a DCI contract with Haiti null and void.

Collins was once a director of DCI, but resigned in 1972 over disagreements with Pierson.

Pierson contended in the suit that a letter of resignation written by Collins was publicized out of "spite, malice or the wish to damage" DCI.

Collins denied the charge and said he never gave the letter to the news media.

On the stock issue, Collins said he received the stock as payment for his services after obtaining written approval from all other stockholders. Collins later sold the stock for $15,000.

Housing Still In Trouble

Although there was a sudden spurt in new housing construction during the month of June, the government dampened hopes of the industry by noting the 8 per cent increase in housing starts was no signal of recovery from the deepest slump on record.

The Department of Commerce, in issuing its housing report, revised upward its estimate of the number of new housing starts expected by the end of the year. After adjustments for seasonal factors, the department estimated the year's total at 1,595,000, up from the May estimate of 1,476,000.

Even if the higher figure is reached, housing construction still will be far off the normal pace. This is shown by the fact that even with the unexpected increase during June, housing starts still were 26 per cent below the same month in 1973.

The skyrocketing costs of construction and high interest rates on mortgage money have contributed greatly to the slowdown in housing construction. Latest government figures show that interest rates on mortgages are running between 9.19 and 9.5 per cent. Construction material costs have soared along with other prices under the present inflated economy.

Many families literally have been "priced out of the market" in both the new construction and existing housing areas.

Financing for housing remains scarce, according to James T. Lynn, secretary of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

There is nothing in recent money market events to indicate a change for the better.

Not Armageddon

Sometime soon, the House Judiciary Committee will be confronted with the necessity of a decision on whether to recommend a bill of impeachment for President Nixon.

While this is a matter of utmost gravity, it is a mistake to equate it with Armageddon. Whether or not the committee recommends the House consider voting on impeachment (which is roughly equivalent to an indictment) is not the end of the age.

Indeed, if one adheres to the theory that ours is a government of laws, then the entire procedure, as traumatic as it may be, is simply a resort to due process.

Whatever the outcome, so long as due process is observed, we will survive and our nation will go on. The ultimate decision might have been avoided by a more reasoned course of action at the outset, but it was not, and now it confronts us. History will be made either way — but the important thing is that people go on doing the best they can to make certain our nation goes on making history, regardless of the outcome.

Race Fans' Bible

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

I would never have thought of connecting U.S. Ambassador Walter H. Annenberg with the Daily Racing Form.

Yet, according to the Wall Street Journal, the wealthy and handsome diplomatic figure is the owner of "the Form" which, at $1 a copy, is the highest priced daily newspaper in the world.

THE RACING Form, itself, (which is about 80 per cent statistical) has always been formidable reading for me, but its history, structure and service are fascinating, even if you never intend to stand in line at the $2 window.

It's said that the Racing Form is the closest thing to a monopoly in the publishing field, mainly because it owns the performance statistics on every racehorse, jockey, trainer, owner and breeder doing business in the United States. The information is the basis for most race track betting, and it is accepted as official in other countries.

THE FIRST Racing Form was printed in 1894, in Chicago, by Frank Brunell, but it was purchased 22 years later for $400,000 by Ambassador Annenberg's father, "Moe" Annenberg, and two partners. The elder Annenberg, a peddler's son, then bought out its rivals, the Morning Telegraph and the American Racing Record. He then forced out his partners, became sole owner of the Racing Form and set up a racing wire service for illegal bookmakers. He dominated this field until 1939 when the feds closed the wires. Indicted for income tax evasion, he received a three-year prison term but was released in 1942, not long before he died.

TODAY, THE Racing Form is part of Triangle Publications Inc. of Radnor, Pa., a large, closely held company whose 1973 revenues are estimated at $215 million. Completing the other sides of the "triangle" are TV Guide (circulation over 18 million) and Seventeen, a popular magazine for young girls. At one time, the company owned the Philadelphia Daily News and the Philadelphia Inquirer but sold them in 1969 for $55 million. Two years later it disposed of extensive television and radio holdings for $110 million.

TODAY, TRIANGLE is owned by Walter H. Annenberg who has been ambassador to England since 1969. He, family members, several foundations and nonprofit corporations own all the stock. It seems the ambassador is ready to return home and ease himself into the vacant company president's chair again, but President Nixon has asked him to remain in London a while longer.

The current publisher is Michael Sandler, 62, who oversees its 950 employees including writers, chart callers, chart takers, workout clockers and Teletype operators. At least two Racing Form employees are at every racing meet in the United States.

DAILY CIRCULATION (from four widely spaced plants) averages about 160,000 during the season from May to December and about 120,000 at other times when racing is less active. It turns out more than 300,000 copies on Kentucky Derby day. The paper's computers contain past-performance records on some 90,000 horses. Each past-performance record contain more than 20 pieces of information.

As any horseplayer knows, the Racing Form's pages are often stuck together. I always assumed it was due to sloppy pressroom procedure. Not so. They plan it that way — to discourage newsstand browsers.

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

My question is — am I living in adultery? I divorced my first husband and remarried 15 years ago. He was divorced also. Just seven years ago, I gave myself to God. I have been studying the Bible ever since. But I am near despair from this overpowering feeling of doing wrong — in disobeying God's marriage laws. Please help me. G.M.

The most complete discussion of divorce by Christ is found in Matthew 19. Here, the Pharisees had tried to trick him by a reference to Moses. They brought up the issue of justifiable causes for breaking the marriage bond.

Two Jewish schools of thought existed. One (Hillel) said divorce was all right for many reasons, including even poor cooking. The other (Shammai) said the only allowable cause was adultery.

It was the latter position Jesus assumed. Because adultery destroys the "one flesh" concept the marriage can be considered concluded — not necessarily, of course, if forgiveness is forthcoming.

Now, you were converted subsequent to your divorce. When you asked for forgiveness in that step of faith in Christ, all sins were covered. To suggest anything less is to nullify the cross. Furthermore, you say you now have two children. To separate because your divorce or your husband's was not on the Biblical ground of adultery would be cruel to them.

I suggest you continue your relationship, trusting that the God who can forgive the past can also give you now the wisdom and power for daily Godly living.

Impeachment Sentiment

Robert Novak

LARCHMONT, N.Y. — The fact that the well-heeled suburbanite is every bit as terrified as blue-collar workers of an inflationary present and future is strongly reinforcing his firm verdict on impeachment: President Nixon must go and go now.

ONLY THAT conclusion can be drawn from interviews we conducted in Mamaroneck District 8 of plush Westchester County, with the help of Patrick Caddell's polling organization. Frequent Republican but with independent characteristics which make it a weathervane, this district gave Mr. Nixon 57.3 per cent of the vote in 1972. Today, however, it has made up its mind about impeachment — and cannot understand why Congress does not do the same.

Accompanied by Dotty Lynch, senior analyst for the Caddell organization, we interviewed 54 registered voters. By an astounding 6 to 1 margin, they agreed the President should be thrown out of office. Only one opposed a Senate trial for the President, and only two believe Mr. Nixon's avowals of innocence in the Watergate cover-up.

THIS LOPSIDED condemnation by upper middle-class voters, nearly all with family income over $20,000, coincided with an unexpected mood of panic about the economy, usually associated with working class voters. Nearly half of our voters complained their standard of living has declined over the past year. As for next year, only seven voters expected improvement and 19 predicted still worse times.

"I just can't support my family at the same level anymore," the attractive wife of an advertising executive, dressed for tennis, told us at the door of her mansion. A wholesale food products executive declared that "inflation is the one thing that changes my life directly." Both were 1972 Nixon voters; both now favor impeachment.

INDEED, there was no sign of the effect, so desired by the White House, of economic woes building support for the President. Although many voters voiced impatience with the slow pace of the impeachment proceedings, only nine agreed that Watergate problems should be solved to let Mr. Nixon get on with solving problems of the economy.

Indeed, confidence in Mr. Nixon's economic savvy was wholly lacking. Overwhelmingly and most surprisingly, these voters favor exactly what the President has ruled out: renewal of wage-price controls. The 25 voters who volunteered inflation as the nation's most important problem chose the Democrats as the party best equipped to handle it by a 5 to 1 margin.

THIS DISAFFECTION in a Republican stronghold is typified by the elegant 40ish wife of a television executive who, asked to name the "three toughest problems today," replied, "Nixon, Nixon and Nixon."

There were a few dissenters. "I feel everyone is sick to death of impeachment," the wife of a computer consultant told us. "Get over with it. It's costing us so much money."

BUT SUCH sentiments were rare. The White House anti-impeachment campaign has conspicuously failed to take hold in District 8. By a 9 to 1 margin, our voters feel newspapers and television have been fair to the President. By 6 to 1, they believe Mr. Nixon carried the flag to the Mideast and Moscow to take the spotlight off impeachment. By 6 to 1, they blame the President — not Congress — for the delay in the impeachment proceedings.

It seems to me some sort of physical therapy should be required in every nursing home. Please comment and tell how we can help — E.C.

For openers, you might arrange to go to the nursing home fairly frequently and take your relative for walks. The mental stimulation of having these visits might be even more useful than the sheer exercise.

As I've written in this column before, just plain boredom plays gradual havoc with anybody, young or old, and homes with programs of activities, however simple, for their occupants, are making a valuable contribution to them.

Signs Of Change Eyed

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Here are a couple of long-term trends that businessmen, investors and others will be watching for signs of change: — Automobile registrations.

In every decade this century the number of passenger cars registered in the United States has grown. And simultaneously the number of persons per car has fallen.

In 1910, for example, there were 500,000 passenger cars registered, one car for every 202 persons. By 1950 the number of registrations had risen to 40.3 million, and persons per car had dropped to 3.8.

The latest compilation by the National Automobile Dealers Association shows that in 1973, when the population totaled 210.4 million, there were 101.2 million passenger cars on the road, one for every 2.08 persons.

Because of the high price of gasoline and threats of further shortages, forecasts of an end to this trend have been common. But the car dealers say no, we'll just have more of the same.

By 1980, they project 126.7 million cars, or one car for every 1.8 individuals.

— Institutions: Back in 1965 it became obvious institutions were becoming a growing factor in stock markets. The old-time bank trusts and life insurers were being joined by mutual and pension funds.

Moreover, these institutions were changing their investment style. Institutions by tradition were investors rather than traders. It was their style to sit on good quality stocks and be content with dividends.

But some of the institutional funds had different ideas. They wanted to show bigger returns, and quickly, and so the performance game was born. It meant churning your portfolio in search of big capital gains.

As a result, large block transactions in the New York Stock Exchange began to soar, and by the early years of this decade fully 70 per cent of trading on some days was by institutions.

By 1972 the total of big blocks — that is, single involving 10,000 share or more — reached 31,207, or 15 times the 1965 figures.

While exchanges at first welcomed such transactions, they soon realized its dangers. If the institutions were going to trade in such huge blocks, then the small investor figured he'd better get out of the way.

But last year, the New York Stock Exchange has just announced, big block transactions fell for the first time since statistics were kept. A 6.3 per cent decline brought the total down to 29,233.

Investment analysts are watching the figure closely. While one year, and perhaps an unrepresentative one at that, doesn't necessarily break a trend, it could mean that individual investors might consider returning.

Aiding At Nursing Homes

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: There must be others besides myself who would like to know how we can help a member of our family in a nursing home to have some physical therapy.

They get so little exercise walking from their room to the dining room and back. Soon they are bed patients only because of inactivity.

There must be something we can do to help them. They are not allowed to go outdoors by themselves because they might wander off.

It seems to me some sort of physical therapy should be required in every nursing home. Please comment and tell how we can help — E.C.

"physical therapy" mandatory in nursing homes, I'm afraid that you are asking for more than you realize. Such a requirement would add very substantially to the cost of such homes, and it would have to reflect in the charges made for such care.

But do feel that keeping people interested has a tremendous impact on their well-being.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send your booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You," for which I enclose 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed return envelope.

About nine years ago, when I was in the hospital for something else, by chance my doctor found I had diverticulosis. I was told to eat no roughage, but going without roughage is no help to my constipation. — E.D.

Call it roughage, call it "bulk," but avoiding it altogether is no longer accepted as the proper course with diverticulosis.

Avoid the few irritants which are known to be risky with that condition, but as you'll find in the booklet (revised just a short time ago) a reasonable amount of bulk in the diet helps rather than harms.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that women are not supposed to do sit-ups unless their legs are bent or they will damage their ovaries. Is this true? If true, why don't gym teachers do anything about it? — M.A.

Gym teachers don't do anything about it because it's not true. The stress is on the abdominal muscles. The ovaries are tucked well inside the pelvis and are not affected by exercise.

Choice On Erlichman

William F. Buckley Jr.

The conviction of John Ehrlichman raises to an intolerable intellectual and emotional pitch paradoxes for which there is only a single solution.

A little background is in order.

RICHARD NIXON, having observed John Ehrlichman in operation over a period of four years, terms him one of the best public servants Nixon has ever worked with.

John Ehrlichman, asked by the Ervin Committee whether the President has the implied power to enter illegally the offices of a psychiatrist, as was done in pursuit of the medical record of Daniel Ellsberg, answers in the affirmative. That, too, is the position, truthfully asserted, of his lawyer, a gentleman, it happens, of some renown.

There is then a trial. At that trial, there are, in fact, two categories of defendants. There are those who actually broke into the psychiatrist's office. Not much time was apparently wasted on the question whether they had broken the law. It was never suggested that Richard Nixon even knew who they were, let alone that he had instructed them to burglarize.

ERLICHMAN'S DEFENSE was specific and general. Specifically, he insisted that a "covert operation" to examine all the medical files still held by Ellsberg's psychoanalyst, which are the words he used to activate the plumbers, was not necessarily an illegal operation. He insisted, in short, that he did not know the form of action the plumbers would take. In respect of the general argument — that the President has implicit powers that cover such an operation as this one — Ehrlichman was pretty much powerless. Because the judge would not entertain any discussion of the point unless Ehrlichman was willing to say that Richard Nixon had instructed him to proceed with the burglary. And this Ehrlichman was not willing to say. Whether because Nixon had never given him reason to believe that such action was now called for in the national interest, or because Ehrlichman simply wanted to keep Nixon out of it, we do not know.

NOW COMES a statement by Richard Nixon in which he says that, in fact, John Ehrlichman was not fairly tried. There was the usual business about Ehrlichman having been pilloried by the press, etc. But Nixon is a lawyer, and he must know that a jury is reasonably influenced by the pencilled notation of Ehrlichman: authorizing "a covert operation" to examine all the medical files still held by Ellsberg's psychoanalyst — if done under your assurance that it is not traceable. A perfectly honest jury not only can, but almost necessarily will, reach the conclusion that those words add up to the authorization of burglary, for which act John Ehrlichman is now officially guilty.

SURELY THE resentment of Richard Nixon cannot be against the law, or against the conclusions of the jurors. It must be a resentment against a residual injustice resulting from the unavailability of all the evidence to the jury. You see, the notion that there are rights that issue from the chief executive's responsibility for the national security does not require that the exact nature of that national security be specified. Indeed, under some circumstances it is required that they not be specified. Mr. Nixon's behavior, in a word, suggests that he knows Ehrlichman was truly innocent because Ehrlichman knew of Nixon's direct concern for the national security as it involved Daniel Ellsberg, and acted in a way that was consistent with what Richard Nixon wanted done.

THERE IS, surely a remedy here: it is executive clemency. President Nixon should either repudiate John Ehrlichman, which is inconceivable in the light of his recent statements about him — or commute his sentence. That inference would then be drawn about the role of Mr. Nixon in the Ellsberg affair is simply a pity. But it would not paralyze Mr. Nixon for these inferences to be drawn — he would retain the highly defensible right to refuse to discuss publicly matters touching on the national security. But the alternative is for John Ehrlichman, one of the finest public servants Richard Nixon ever knew, to rot in jail. Viewed this way, the alternative is for Richard Nixon to send one of the finest public servants he ever knew to rot in jail.

Bank To Open Nairobi Branch

NAIROBI (AP) — The First National Bank of Chicago has been licensed by the Kenya government as the first American bank to open a full service branch in Kenya.

This was announced here by Karl Ziegler, manager of the new branch. Ziegler, who has served since 1972 as the bank's Nairobi representative, added that First Chicago will also operate a wholly owned merchant bank in Kenya.

Both the branch and the merchant bank will open here later this year. Ziegler told newsmen First Chicago would use its Nairobi base to extend its commercial banking experience throughout eastern Africa.

A Devotion For Today..

PRAYER: Our Father, heal the deafness of our minds. Deliver us from careless listening. Help us interpret what You say into meaningful action. Amen.

WOMEN RUNNING MATES — On the right is U.S. Rep. Ella Grasso, who won the gubernatorial nomination Saturday and who could become the first woman U.S. governor elected without her husband first holding the office. On the left is Connecticut Secretary of State Gloria Schaffer, nominated for her second term. It's the first time a major-party ticket in Connecticut has had two women.

Connecticut Demos Back Two Women

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Congresswoman Ella Grasse, who could become the first woman in American history to be elected governor without the help of her husband's coattails, says her sex won't make a difference at the polls.

And she says neither she nor Secretary of the State Gloria Schaffer will lose votes because there are two women on the ticket, a first for either major party in Connecticut.

"I think we are two persons who are also women," Mrs. Grasse, 55, said after her unanimous nomination Saturday by the Democratic state convention.

"It's a natural fact and I feel that what we bring by virtue of our lifetimes of public service on which we will be judged."

If Mrs. Grasse is elected in November, she will be the first woman in the country to become governor without succeeding her husband in office.

There have been three women governors but each succeeded their husbands. They were: Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming in 1925, Miriam Ferguson of Texas in 1925, and Lurleen Wallace of Alabama in 1967.

The selection of two women on the six-person state ticket "makes political history in the country," Mrs. Grasse said. "But in Connecticut we've earned our chance and our candidacies have been accepted in that light."

At one time in her campaign she felt her sex might influence people to vote a certain way.

"I thought this might have been an issue because I had been told it would be. But interestingly this has not emerged," she said.

Starting in 1953, Mrs. Grasse served four years in the state House of Representatives. She was elected secretary of the state in 1958 and held the post for 12 years.

In 1970 she was elected to her 6th District congressional seat, succeeding Thomas J. Meskill, who was making a successful run for governor.

Mrs. Grasse was followed as secretary of the state by Mrs. Schaffer, now seeking a second four-year term.

She and her husband Thomas, a retired school principal, have two children, Susanne and James, both teachers who live with their parents in Windsor Locks.

She said the only time a person told her he would not vote for her because she is a woman was when she was campaigning at the factory gate during her 1970 congressional campaign.

"Two years later I met him at the same factory gate, and his greeting was much more cordial," she added.

The Republican nomination convention will meet Saturday in Hartford to choose gubernatorial and other state candidates. Rep. Robert H. Steele and Bridgeport Mayor Nicholas Panuzze are considered the frontrunners for the governorship nomination.

Principal Speaks To NSA Group

Parliamentary procedure and its use in a democratic society was detailed by Marlon A. Barber, principal of Moss Elementary School, when he spoke Monday evening to the National Secretaries Association.

In summation, Barber said, "Parliamentary procedure is simply a code of ethics in meetings of a democratic society. The minority vote is important."

The meeting was held in Texas Electric Reddy Room with Mrs. Elmer Seitzler, president, introducing the guests, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Henry West and Mrs. Marion Barber.

Initial plans were made for a secretarial seminar, Nov. 9, which will be open to area secretaries. It was announced that an NSA member, Mrs. Al Long, has received her Certified Professional Secretary certificate.

The attendance prize was won by Miss Marguerite Cooper.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m., Aug. 26 at Coker's Restaurant.

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our 25th wedding anniversary is coming up, and my husband offered me a "present" which I don't know how to take.

He said, in all seriousness: I think it's time for us to present each other with a week off from our marriage every month."

I didn't know exactly what he meant, so I asked him to explain it. He said, "Well, one week out of every month you can do whatever you want, go wherever you please, and no questions asked. This includes staying out all night, and even going out of town if you want to." And, of course, he wanted the same privilege.

I said: "Over my dead body!"

Abby, I know some people have this kind of arrangement, but I think they are only asking for trouble. What do you think?

FULL TIME WIFE

DEAR FULL: I agree. But I wouldn't have put it the way you did. That's also asking for trouble.

DEAR ABBY: My husband owns a motorcycle which he tinkers with quite a bit in our front yard.

There is a 14-year-old neighbor girl who has a terrific crush on him, and now that school is out, she is over here the minute my husband appears outside to work on his cycle, and she stays until he comes inside. All the neighbors have commented on how this dopey kid moons over my husband.

My husband didn't mind it so much at first, but he says now she has become an awful pest. He hates to have to hide in the house because of this girl. He is really bugged, but he doesn't want to hurt her feelings.

How can I tell her to quit hanging around my husband without appearing to be jealous?

JEALOUS

DEAR JEALOUS: It won't be easy. Why not tell your husband that any man who is old enough to ride a motorcycle is old enough to speak for himself? And then let him figure out a way to tell this girl she's bugging him.

'Peoples Yacht' Scores Win

NEWPORT, R.I. — Intrepid defeated Courageous by one minute on the East Coast and the waves could be heard 3,000 miles away. Intrepid's victory over Courageous may help the Seattle Sailing Foundation complete raising the estimated $750,000 needed to rebuild, refit and defray crew, yard and yacht tender expenses here, said Dick Friel, the Intrepid's business manager, Monday.

Unlike most contenders which have been financed by wealthy sportsmen or syndicates throughout the 123-year history, the Intrepid is funded by the general public. Intrepid's funds have been raised and are still coming in from individual donors and businesses, sailing and yachting clubs and a unique "nickel, dime and dollar" fund raising effort. Sort of a boat of the people.

Friel said that several days after the Intrepid beats her arch-rival the Courageous, donations come pouring in to Seattle. He said $553,731 has been raised but an additional $200,000 will be needed to keep Intrepid on the East Coast.

Monday's victory over Courageous should help. It was the first time that the American 12-meter yachts have sailed over the actual America's Cup course since trials began last month.

By winning, Intrepid took a 5-4 lead over her arch-rival in races this summer. Monday's race was highlighted by a record-breaking tacking duel between the two boats on the first windward leg. In 4 1/2 miles of sailing each yacht made 53 tacks. A tack involves a change of sails from one side of the boat to the other.

The old record for the number of tacks on one leg in an America's Cup trial match race was 42, set in 1964.

Intrepid established her superiority on the first windward leg Monday and led for the balance of the 24.3 mile race. Intrepid, a wooden boat built in 1967, is trying to become the first yacht in America's Cup history to defend the trophy three times. She turned back Australian challengers in 1967 and 1970.

With the financial reverberations made on the West Coast by Intrepid's victories on the East Coast, Friel thinks the Intrepid will defend the America's Cup against either a French or Australian challenger when the matches start Sept. 10.

WHO'S THAT KID? — Frank Robinson of the California Angels turns to take a look at a small outfielder during Tuesday's practice session of the American League at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium. That outfielder is nine-year-old Mark Williams, son of Dick Williams, American League manager. The practice session was held Monday prior to Tuesday night's All-Star game.

IN ALL STAR GAME American Leaguers Hope To Break Losing Skain

PITTSBURGH (AP) — "I hope we win," said Oakland slugger Reggie Jackson, "but if we don't, it doesn't mean we're an inferior league. We won the world championship the past two years and that's the important thing."

Jackson, Most Valuable Player in both the American League and the World Series last year, was defending the AL's showing in recent All-Star games. The National League has dominated the rivalry by winning 10 of the last 11 meetings.

Tonight the midsummer showdown will be played for the 45th time. Gaylord Perry of Cleveland starts for the American League and Andy Messersmith of Los Angeles for the National before a sellout crowd of 50,235 at Three Rivers Stadium at a national television audience—NBC. Game time is 8:30 p.m. EDT.

Jackson, who will be in right field and bat No. 3, emphasized that he'll play to win, but he won't take any chances on hurting an opposition player or himself.

"I'm going to take the extra base when I can," he said, "and I'm going to try for the diving catch."

He added: "I don't want to hurt myself or my club. It's foremost in my mind that I don't get injured because I'm susceptible to injuries. I haven't played a season yet without getting hurt."

Scrappy Pete Rose, who will bat leadoff and probably play left field for the National League, has a different approach.

"I'm going to play as hard as I always play. I don't want to lose," said the Cincinnati Red star.

Lee MacPhail, the new AL president, doesn't want to lose either and he took steps so that Dick Williams, the AL manager, had a rested pitching staff. American League clubs were directed to set up their rotation so that All-Star pitchers would not hurl last Sunday. Except for relievers, Rollie Fingers and John Miller, they all sat out Sunday's games.

"We're going to win at all costs," said Williams, "we're going to try to keep our best players out there, whether they're starters or reserves."

Messersmith, who has an 11-2 record and 2.11 earned run average this season, criticized MacPhail's move, saying, "It's kind of farcical to put this game ahead of a pennant race. It's like a busman's holiday. I want to win, but I'm not taking it too seriously."

Manager Yogi Berra's National League team will include Atlanta right fielder Hank Aaron, the all-time home run king, in his final All-Star appearance before retirement.

Berra wasn't certain who would follow Messersmith, but Steve Carlton of Philadelphia, Jim Madlock of the New York Mets, Ken Brett of Pittsburgh and Lynn McGlothen of St. Louis are the most likely Sunday.

Williams said he probably would follow Perry with either Boston's Luis Tiant or Jim "Catfish" Hunter of Oakland, adding that he'd lean toward using at least four pitchers.

CICERO, Ill. (AP) — More than 60 persons were injured, at least 20 seriously, when race fans pushed toward the exits at Sportsman's Park after a fight started on the third floor grandstand Monday night.

Some of the injured told police that the panic started when a man yelled "Someone's got a gun." Police said the man was not identified.

Cicero police Sgt. Albert Sykora said the "gun" actually was a screwdriver brandished by one man.

Algie Berry, 58, and Billy McClure, 44, both of Chicago, were charged with disorderly conduct. They filed battery charges against each other, Sykora said. He said the fight started when McClure told Berry to get his feet off the back of McClure's chair.

A spokeswoman at MacNeal Memorial Hospital in Berwyn said 27 persons were treated there and seven were hospitalized, two in serious condition. She said she did not have their names immediately.

Downs said the Oilers also are committed to donating part of their gate from their Aug. 31 game against Chicago to the Eye Bank.

Houston's third pre-season game Aug. 17 against the Dallas Cowboys is the annual Salesmanship Club game in which the club contributes to youth activities.

Their (Cowboys) advance sale is only about 18,000 now and they usually have about 25,000," Downs said.

Downs said the amount contributed to charity in the Giants game would depend on attendance.

The charity is guaranteed $15,000 plus a percentage of the gate. "They get a flat fee of $15,000 but they make up to $40,000 based on the crowd," Downs said.

NFL PLAYER STRIKE Talks Break Down, Nonstrikers Rewarded

WASHINGTON (AP) — National Football League owners are sweetening the pot for the 114 veterans who have crossed picket lines and reported to training camp.

The NFL Management Council, bargaining agency for the owners in the labor dispute with the NFL Players Association, ordered a salary increase Monday night for all players, including rookies and free agents, who are in training.

The action came after negotiations had moved back to point zero with no date set for future contract bargaining.

Federal mediator James Scearce said Monday the negotiations had collapsed and that he did not intend to call another meeting until "there is reason to believe that the talks will result in progress."

In New York, Wellington Mara, chairman of the NFLMC executive committee, announced that it was immediately "authorizing the 26 clubs to implement the improved pay schedule to all players now in training camps."

This means that each rookie will now get $200 a week while in camp, rather than a daily pay of $15.65. And the veterans who defied the union will get an additional 10 per cent of their salary, up to $10,000 for the training season.

Earlier in the day, Scearce conducted a brief bargaining session to which the players union sent seven representatives but the management sent only attorney Sargent Karoh.

"There are no proposals," said Karoh as he walked down the hall after remaining in the room only a few minutes. "I'll be back when there are proposals the players association wishes to give us."

Then Scearce announced that he did not plan to call any more meetings at the present time.

NFLMC representatives said Sunday, after 2 1/2 days of negotiations which ended with the owners walking out, that they would not attend any more meetings until the union made new proposals.

At a news conference here Monday afternoon, Bill Curry, union president, and Ed Garvey, the executive director, accused the owners of refusing to negotiate in an attempt to break the union, which they said would not happen.

Among their demands, the players want elimination of the reserve and option clauses.

The owners have said acceptance of the players' 63 demands, including the 13 so-called freedom demands, would lead to anarchy. They say they are willing to talk modification but not abolition of NFL rules and regulations.

Mara, owner of the New York Giants, said earlier it now is likely the NFL will play the exhibition season with rookies, free agents and the veterans who reported to training camp.

Under a ruling by the council, fans who have tickets for the Hall of Fame game in Canton, Ohio, Saturday and for the first week of preseason games Aug. 2-5, will be able to get a refund if they want it and apply for the money 48 hours before the game.

work out at their own pace, things appear to be going fairly well.

In Washington, some 25 Redskins vets were joined by other NFL players including Alan Page of the Minnesota Vikings, Kermit Alexander of the Philadelphia Eagles, Cal Snowden of the San Diego Chargers, Willie Brown of the Oakland Raiders and George Nock of the Baltimore Colts.

"It sure beats doing nothing," star running back Larry Brown said at the camp, which was operated much like the one they are boycotting. Players opened the workout with warm-ups, ran laps and participated in various drills with quarterbacks Sonny Jurgensen, Bill Kilmer and Sam Wyche directing the attack.

"The main thing we're trying to do is get down the execution and timing," said co-captain Charley Taylor. "And we're getting in some work."

The same goes for the Long Beach, Calif., camp of the Los Angeles Rams' veterans, where 28 striking players welcomed back wide receiver Lance Rentzel after his one-year suspension for pleading guilty to marijuana possession.

Charlie Smith of Stanton hit 47 out of 50 possible targets Sunday to win the Western Sportsman Club trap shoot.

Smokejag Rigdon hit 45 for second place, and Ed Wright was third with 45. Fourth place went to tanley Haney who downed 44 targets. V. W. Kemper and David Bar tied for fifth place with 43.

The next match will be at 2 p.m., Aug. 18. All shooters and spectators are welcome to the meet, which will be held at the club range nine miles from Big Spring on the Andrews Highway.

Charities May Lose Big In Exhibitions

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers assistant general manager Dan Downs says one of the losers in the pro football strike will be charities that benefit from exhibition games.

Proceeds from four and possibly five of Houston's six pre-season games will benefit charity this year but Downs said the final donation could be much less because of the National Football League Players Association (NFLPA) strike.

"We're very disappointed in our advance sales for the Post charities game," Downs said Monday. "It's always slow in advance sales but this year we're about 4,000 tickets behind last year."

Houston's first pre-season exhibition game Aug. 3 in the Astrodome against the New York Giants will be for the benefit of sickle cell anemia.

Downs said only 11,000 tickets had been sold to the Aug. 3 game compared to 15,000 last year.

"We experienced the same thing in 1970 when the players were on strike," Downs said. "But the players came into camp one week before the game and we wound up with the biggest gate sales ever for that game."

The NFLPA campaigned to raise funds for the All-Star charities lost when the game was cancelled but Downs said the players had not offered to help out with Oilers' charities.

"They don't seem to think about that," Downs said.

Downs said the Oilers also are committed to donating part of their gate from their Aug. 31 game against Chicago to the Eye Bank.

Security State Offers A Friendly Atmosphere

J.D. Nelson, president of the Security State Bank, also finds the time to serve the Chamber of Commerce, work during United Way campaigns and takes an active role in seeing that aims and objectives of the Industrial Foundation are achieved. He is a past president of the Big Spring Country Club.

Security State Bank, located at 1411 Gregg Street, is an institution that takes pride in being a family bank, small enough to cater to every banking need of its customers and large enough to handle any kind of transaction.

Its friendly atmosphere and convenient location make it a favorite with its clientele. It also offers a drive-in banking service for those who like to do their banking business from the comfort of their cars.

Nelson's family include his wife, Pauline, and two children, Sandra, age 12, who will enroll at Goliad Junior High again this fall; and Scott Nelson, 9, who attends Parkhill School.

Your toughest financial problems can usually be handled by personnel at the Security State Bank. The easiest you can do is give them a try. Other officers at the bank include Jere Sink, vice president; Darlene Dabney, cashier; Oneta McDaniel, assistant vice president; and Pat Young, assistant cashier. Mrs. McDaniel has the most seniority among the employees, having been employed by the bank for 18 years. Mrs. Dabney can look back on 16 years with the bank.

Job Center Out Of Funds

DALLAS (AP) — A community center whose business was finding jobs for Mexican Americans found itself broke and out of a job last week.

The Human Resources Development Center in West Dallas closed Friday, displaying a sign, "A Mexican-American Profile in Dallas Closed, No Funds."

Its director, Ernest Perez, said the center had its federal budget slashed from $60,000 to nothing. A $30,000 interim budget maintained with revenue sharing funds and Dallas Community Action money also ran out. Though the city has offered $25,000 through a federal Labor Department program to continue the center, Perez says it isn't enough.

He said, "We are out. Period. Why prolong this kind of agony?"

Deputy director Pete Martinez said the center has handled 3,632 job referrals and placed 1,390 persons since it was financed by the federal Office of Economic Opportunity in 1972.

From Under Their Noses

GRAHAMSTOWN, S. Africa (AP) — A Station wagon belonging to the traffic cops here, complete with siren on the hood, blue light on the roof and emblems on the doors, was stolen from the police garage.

Pain Can Kill A Marriage

LONDON (AP) — Arthritis may be a marriage wrecker, says a report published here on the crippling disease which affects six million persons in Britain.

The British Arthritis and Rheumatism Council said more than a third of women who provided case histories for the report had failed marriages — and many blamed their illness.

One 38-year-old sufferer whose husband left her after 13 years said, "It takes an exceptional man who can stand the pressure of having a wife who is slowly deteriorating through arthritis."

DONORS WANTED TO BE AMBASSADORS

Wealth Of Political Detail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert W. Kalmbach troubles with political donors who wanted to be ambassadors, claims that C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo was collecting campaign money and a wealth of political detail and trivia all were channeled to H.R. Haldeman during 1971 and 1972.

In response to a steady flow of political memorandums from his aide, Gordon Strachan, Haldeman frequently would jot down campaign opinions and decisions. Their breadth illustrates the power of President Nixon's chief of staff over the Nixon re-election bid.

Thirteen previously unpublished Strachan memos were made available to The Associated Press after the House Judiciary Committee voted narrowly Monday not to publish them as part of its impeachment inquiry.

In Nov. 16, 1971, for example, Haldeman was told that Kalmbach, a secret fund raiser and Nixon's personal lawyer, was about to meet with John H. Safer of Bethesda, Md., who would contribute $250,000.

"Kalmbach realizes he cannot make a 'commitment,' but would like to tell Safer that he would receive 'serious consideration' for an ambassadorship to Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, Netherlands, Belgium, Denmark, Argentina, Brazil, Mexico and Australia in that order," the memo reported.

IN JAIL Haldeman directed that Kalmbach not be authorized to promise "serious consideration." Kalmbach has since gone to jail for offering an ambassadorship in exchange for a political contribution in another instance.

Rebozo, a close friend of Nixon, came up in a May 16, 1972 memo, when Strachan forwarded a report that "the Florida Finance Chairman, George Champion, Jr., is having trouble raising money in Florida because they claim to 'be giving through Bebe.'"

Rebozo has said he was not a fund-raiser, but has been embroiled in controversy over a $100,000 contribution he received and later returned to Howard Hughes interests.

ABSURD Haldeman said a new campaign finance law should be explained to Rebozo.

Throughout the memos, ranging in time from August 1971 to September 1972, Haldeman often just put check marks when he approved developments reported by Strachan.

But there is no doubt when he disapproved. "This is an absurd memo which I will under no circumstances put out," he wrote in large letters across one memo.

Some names, paragraphs and whole appendices are missing from the memos. Some omissions are attributed to the Judiciary Committee; others are simply blank spaces.

While most of the memos deal with political nuts and bolts, intelligence and covert activities crop up from time to time.

Real Problem

"Unless You Decided To Quit, Your Problem Isn't Going To Be Smoking; Your Problem's Going To Be Staying Alive." This somber title is a new publication printed by the federal government and is available through the Consumer Information Center 7th and D Sts., Sw, Washington, DC.

COMPETE IN STATE MEET — Dawn Underwood, left, and Tessa Underwood, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Underwood, and Laurie Choate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Choate, are competing this week in the Texas state finals with the Southern States Pageant System. Dawn, 7, won the LaPetite title of West Texas and has won numerous other talent events. Tessa, 5, also has placed high in local and regional pageants. Laurie, 15, is Miss Coahoma High and winner of Junior Miss Big Spring title. They are pupils of Mrs. Ora Burson at the YMCA.

Firm Tailors Its Services

Big Spring Savings Association, located at seventh and Main Street in Big Spring, is a concern owned and operated by local business people. It first opened its doors in August, 1961.

Jack P. Worsham is president of the firm. He has been functioning in that capacity since May, 1967.

Other employees include Mrs. Audie Mae Smith, assistant secretary-treasurer, affiliated with the company for 12 years; Richard F. Fleener, assistant vice president, a member of the company for two years; Janie Harmon, bookkeeper; Candy Wilbanks, secretary; and Nell Harris, teller.

Among unique services offered by the firm's personnel are savings plans to fit every need, mortgage loans, personal loans and property improvement loans.

Why should anyone do business with Big Spring Savings Association? A company spokesman puts it this way:

"We strive to give that little extra something that makes it a pleasure to visit here. We want everyone to feel welcome when they come in."

Worsham's family consists of his wife, Jo; and two children, Tommy, age 14, a freshman at Big Spring High School; ..

MOTTO IS 'PLEASE THE PUBLIC' — The Big Spring Savings Association built its reputation on friendliness and tries to practice it to this day. Here are two of the firm's employees whose charm has helped 'sell' the concern to Big Spring and area people. They are Candy Wilbanks (left) and Debbie Miller, shown holding a placard displayed by Big Spring Savings.

Discounts All Items

Operating under the slogan, "If you didn't buy it from Gibson's, you paid too much," the local Gibson's store joins the entire chain in claiming "a true discount operation with every item discounted."

Founded in April, 1958, Gibson Discount Center, Inc. is a fast-growing operation. H. R. Gibson Sr. was the founder.

Local manager is David Al Stephens who came to Big Spring on Sept. 20, 1971.

Stephens is active in Big Spring civic affairs. He is a member of the Cedar Ridge Church of Christ. He is a director of the Optimist Club and very active in Boy Scout work, serving as scout master of Boy Scout Troop 33 which has produced several Eagle Scouts, taken part in the exposition and other scout activities.

He is director of the Distributive Education Program of the local schools and received their professional award this year.

He is also a member of the national auctioneers association and secretary-treasurer of the state organization.

He and his wife, Eileen Joyce have three children, Karla Lynn, 9, Karen Lavelle, 6 and Karol Leslie, 1½. The two older girls attend Kentwood School.

CHECKING EQUIPMENT — Juanita Brookshire and Doug Henry look over some of the tape recording equipment stocked by their employer, Gibson's Discount Store, located at 2300 Main Street in Big Spring. Shopping carts are supplied to customers by the store but those seeking information or the whereabouts of items need only consult friendly 'people-pleasers' like Juanita and Doug.
