

Demands Of Convicts Rehashed By Officials

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Negotiations resumed today between authorities and seven armed convicts holding 11 hostages at the main prison unit, prison spokesmen said.

Prison spokesmen would not comment beyond saying the talks had resumed. Earlier, a state prison official said the three-day ordeal may be drawing to a close.

"I don't think it will go beyond today," prison spokesman Ron Taylor told reporters at an informal news conference, held before dawn just outside the main entrance.

Negotiations by telephone with the rebel inmates, held intermittently since they seized their captives about 1 p.m. Wednesday and holed up in the penitentiary's education building, had been recessed for a second night by agreement. Demands of the convicts have dealt only with guns and other items to help them escape.

While Taylor described life inside the prison as fairly normal for others, he added that it was necessary Thursday and today to keep the remainder of the 1,800 convicts in their cells and feed them with sack lunches.

They were fed in this manner, he said, because there's a big second-story mess hall immediately below the third floor library and other rooms where the convicts are holding their captives under threats of killing them.

The director of the Texas Department of Corrections, W. J. Estelle Jr., had said Wednesday evening that the "negotiation picture has brightened."

When noises are audible on the building's second floor, Taylor said, the ringleader of the seven convicts, Fred Gomez Carrasco, suspects some move to capture him and telephones more threats.

mand was that the convicts, holed up in the third floor prison library, want three M-1 carbines instead of M-16 automatic rifles sought in their original demands Wednesday.

Taylor noted no transportation had been requested by the prisoners but said "we are anticipating transportation demands."

JUST UPTIGHT
"He (Carrasco) thinks people are breaking in—he's just uptight," Taylor said.

The prison spokesman had told newsmen earlier that tension on both sides seemed to have relaxed a bit.

FIVE DEADLINES
Five deadlines set by the convicts came and went Thursday, Taylor said the only new de-

The hostages have been allowed to telephone their families. They were reported in good spirits although one at a time they are made to sit in front of the glassed-in double door to the library to prevent any possible sharpshooting.

BOLT OF HOPE — A bolt of lightning north of Big Spring Thursday night brought a ray of hope that some rain would fall. Luther, Forsan and Coahoma all had measurable rainfall but Big Spring missed again.

Belief Disproved; It Can Rain Here

Isolated spots in the county came in for light to generous amounts of rainfall late Thursday.

Water-starved Big Springers, some of whom have given up in the fight to salvage lawns and gardens, watched the rain fall northeast, east and south of Big Spring.

Hamlin Elrod, who resides in the Forsan area, reported the heaviest fall. His rain gauge trapped .8 of an inch but the rain there was highly localized.

Mrs. Kenneth Scott, who lives two miles west of Coahoma, reported the fall there at .3 of an inch while upwards to half an inch descended closer to Coahoma. South of that city, the fall tapered off to .1 of an inch.

Ed Simpson of Luther said his place benefitted from a downpour measured at .3 of an inch and there were reports that as much as a half inch of moisture fell in the general area.

The Colorado River Municipal Water District reported that its gauges showed .1 of an inch nine miles north of town. Twelve miles north of Big Spring, the fall was reported at .25 of an inch. Three miles farther north, the measurement was .35 of an inch and 18 miles north of Big Spring, CRMWD gauge trapped .3 of an inch. Beyond that, it dropped to a trace.

Mainly, the rains disproved a belief on the part of some residents that it cannot rain in Howard county.

New Charter Voted Down Fourth Time

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Constitutional Convention delegates today failed for the fourth time to give a new state charter the necessary two-thirds majority to send it to the voters. The vote was 96-78.

The vote, which was the fourth defeat for the proposed new state policy document, was the same as one last Monday.

The vote sends the document back to the Submission and Transition Committee for further attempts at compromise.

The balloting came in a session as short-tempered and confused as has been the two weeks of fruitless haggling over a new constitution.

At one time several delegates attempted to get Republican Rep. Ralph Scoggins, El Paso, from the speaking stand because of his remarks against Texas AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard.

"If this constitution fails the man responsible for the defeat will be Harry Hubbard," Scoggins said in referring to the labor leader's part in opposing the separate submission on labor-management contracts, attached to the proposed constitution.

Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, broke in to demand that Scoggins be removed from the speaking stand. "I second that," Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, shouted.

Speaker Price Daniel Jr. cautioned Scoggins not to refer to personalities in his talk, and the incident subsided.

The next speaker was Rep. Joe Allen, D-Baytown, who said he had always been a friend of organized labor but he was going to vote for the constitution with right to work in it.

To Surrender 20 Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under prodding from U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica, presidential attorney James St. Clair agreed today to surrender tapes of 20 Watergate conversations by next Tuesday and to speed work on 44 others.

NO PROMISES
St. Clair and Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski agreed to a compromise timetable for White House surrender of the tapes after Sirica made clear he would not accept a promise by President Nixon's lawyer to move as quickly as possible but without a specific target date.

Sirica said he hopes prompt production of the material which the Supreme Court ordered Nixon to surrender on Wednesday, will enable the Watergate cover-up trial of six former presidential and campaign aides to start on schedule Sept. 9.

Under the compromise agreement, reached in a private conference that lasted more than an hour, St. Clair will report back to Sirica next Friday on progress in preparing the tapes and documents relating to the remaining 44 conversations.

Associate Special Prosecutor James F. Neal said that next Friday will be a target date for 13 additional conversations beyond the first 20.

The 20 conversations for which tapes are to be turned over by next Tuesday include material covered in the edited White House transcripts released in late April.

Earlier, St. Clair told Sirica it would be impossible to comply with Jaworski's proposal that the White House surrender all of the tapes within 10 days.

However, Sirica told St. Clair, "I think you're making this thing more complicated than it should be." Sirica said he would set a timetable himself if St. Clair and Jaworski could not agree on one between themselves.

With that statement, Sirica called a 30-minute recess in the hearing on Jaworski's call for prompt compliance with Wednesday's 8-0 Supreme Court order that President Nixon produce the tapes for the scheduled Sept. 9 trial of six former presidential and campaign aides in the Watergate cover-up case.

BLAME BAG FOR MISSING WIFE

SHERIDAN, Wyo. (AP) — Ever lose your wife: Oden Dunham of Chamute, Kan., did, and he didn't locate her again until he had driven more than 200 miles.

The culprit was a garment bag the Dunham's had hanging over the rear window of their car on the driver's side.

Elma Dunham decided she would take a nap after a lunch break and got in the back seat to stretch out while her husband headed up Interstate 90 en route to a planned vacation with relatives at Flathead Lake near Polson, Mont.

The problem came when Dunham decided to stop at a visitors center here Wednesday afternoon. While he was inside, his wife woke up, and she also went in. She was still inside when he came out and drove away.

The garment bag apparently blocked Dunham's view of the back seat when he entered the car and he didn't discover that his wife was missing until about four hours later.

He finally contacted her in Sheridan through the highway patrol and they resumed their journey on Thursday.

"I could never find another wife like her," Dunham said. "I just didn't look. I thought she was asleep in the back seat."

IMPEACHMENT

Panel Nixes Delay Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee soundly rejected today a Republican plea for delay and moved on to shape precise charges for its expected recommendation that President Nixon be impeached.

The delay was rejected on a vote of 27-11.

The panel's second-ranking Republican sought unsuccessfully to halt the nationally broadcast proceeding, giving Nixon 24 hours to say he would turn over to the committee more White House tape recordings within 10 days.

The roll call vote on the delay motion of Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois brought a blurring of pro and anti-impeachment lines.

Some of Nixon's GOP supporters joined the panel's Democratic leadership in opposing the delay motion, while some who seek impeachment favored the pause.

Twenty Democrats opposed the motion along with seven Republicans. Ten Republicans and one Democrat approved.

As the committee moved from its opening round of debate to voting on motions and proposed impeachment resolutions, it was clear that a majority of members favored the move to oust Nixon.

The committee's public session was delayed by a caucus of Democrats. They revised the first article of a proposed impeachment resolution to make more explicit the charges against Nixon.

If the committee — as expected — recommends impeachment, it will require a majority vote of the full House of Representatives to send the issue to a Senate trial, where a two-thirds vote would be required to remove him from office.

The unsuccessful attempt for delay was based on a Supreme Court ruling on White House tapes.

In related developments: —Vice President Gerald R. Ford said conviction and impeachment of Nixon would be "very, very bad" for the country both on domestic and foreign fronts. He added, "I can say from the bottom of my heart the President of the United States is innocent... He is right."

—The defense rested in Ed Reinecke's perjury trial after seeking to cast doubt on the accuracy of the transcript of Senate testimony on which the California lieutenant governor was indicted.

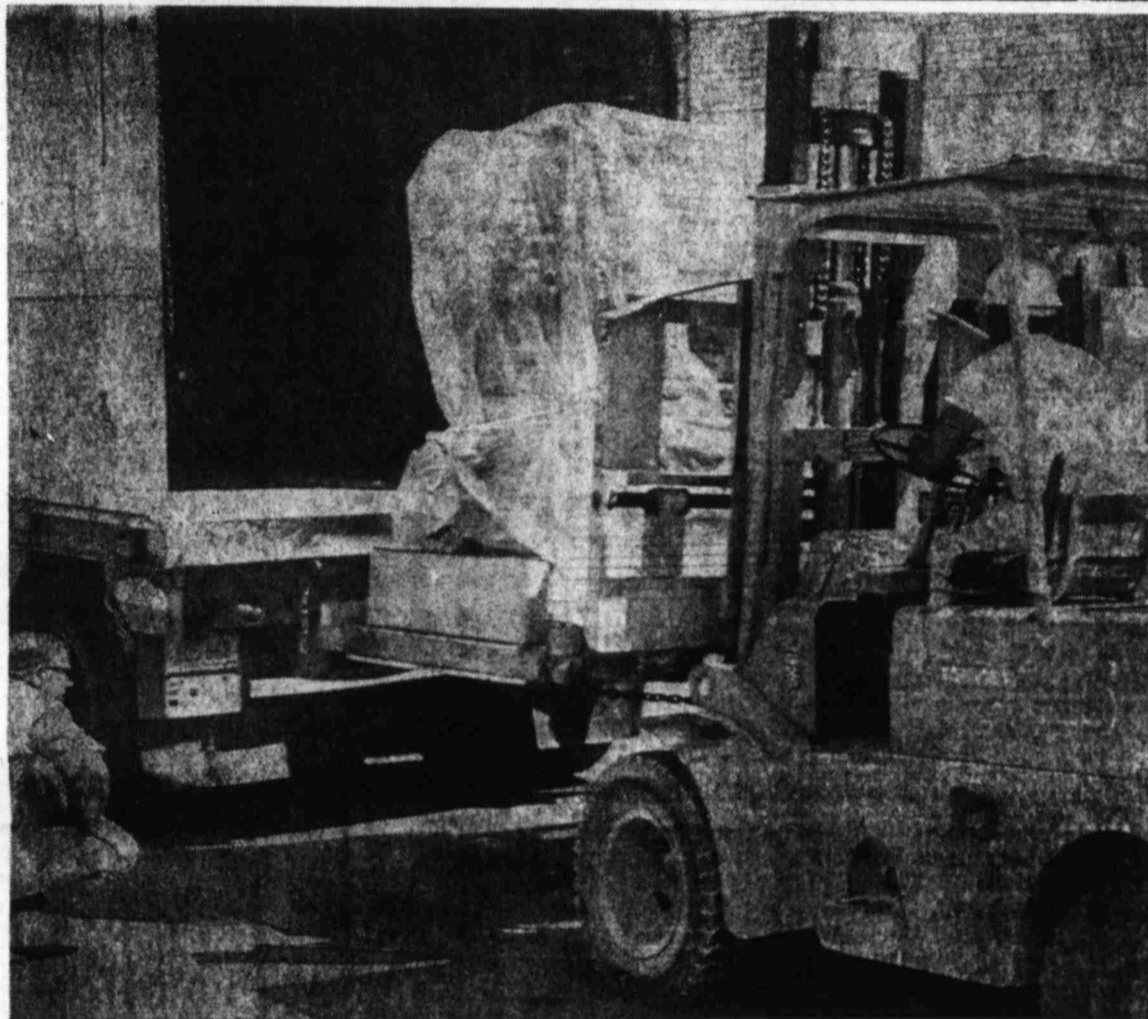

Rodino plans to continue the Judiciary Committee meeting into the night, if necessary, to complete the drafting of an article and bring it to a vote.

Other articles charging Nixon with abuse of power and failure to comply with committee subpoenas are to be offered, but as soon as one is approved a formal recommendation of impeachment will have been made.

The certainty that the committee will recommend impeachment was sealed Thursday when every uncommitted member either came out for impeachment or expressed such deep concern over Nixon's conduct of his office that it left little doubt as to how they would vote.

In a long round of speeches in which 29 members unburdened themselves on their struggle with the evidence, the Constitution and their consciences, only eight came down solidly against impeachment.

Nixon's hopes of holding the committee Republicans together vanished during the debate when Rep. Caldwell Butler, R-Va., became the first of the uncommitted members to take the side of impeachment.

'HARD-HEADED CHILD' Thanks Officers After Cop Shot, Killed Her Armed Son

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police said the mother of a 16-year-old youth who was accused of raping a woman thanked officers after a policeman shot and killed her armed son.

The youth, Earl Lewis, was killed when he pointed a .38-caliber pistol at the officer's face Thursday, police said.

His mother, Shirley Thomas, told officers after the shooting, "I'm glad you all got him. I won't have to worry about him no more."

RAPE CHARGE
Lewis was one of two youths accused of seizing and raping a 28-year-old woman on July 16. After the woman, an employee of the federal parks system, was freed, the attackers ran a police roadblock, exchanging shots with officers.

The other youth, Johnny Ross, also 16, was arrested at his home on Thursday. He was booked for aggravated rape, aggravated crime against nature, attempted murder of a police officer and aggravated kidnap.

Police said Lewis had a long juvenile arrest record—24 felony charges, 23 misdemeanors and seven city charges. He had escaped from the Louisiana Training Institute at Scotlandville three times and was still at large after escaping the last time on May 8.

When officers arrived at the youth's home, his mother told them he was not there.

But they searched and when they found him hiding under a stairwell he pulled the gun, a spokesman said.

Mrs. Thomas, a welfare mother of eight, described Earl as a "hard-headed child who didn't want to listen. I can't count the times these people done arrest him."

"He hit me and cursed me a lot, and he wouldn't listen."

Lita Cox Is Rodeo Queen; Several Riders Bruised

Around 1,500 persons watched the opening performance of a rip roaring three night junior rodeo here Thursday with all kinds of action on tap.

The first nighters saw Lita Cox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fern Cox, crowned rodeo queen, witnessed a local youth, Valtasar Rodriguez, get thrown off and stepped on three times by a bull, saw the rodeo clown, Steve Holland fall and bruise his lip in an effort to draw the bull away from the rider and saw little Talley Griffin of Borden County fall off her horse and slide into a chute pole following the girls pole bending.

Apparently, none of the injuries was serious and some 303 youths rode, ran, roped and scrapped their way to the best times for the opener.

Butch Prickett of Fort Worth, with a score of 41, was the only youth to stay aboard the bareback broncs furnished by Charles Thompson's C-Bar-T.

In the 13-15 age group calf roping, Wes Smith, Carlsbad, N.M. cowboy placed first with 17.6 followed by Nicky Griggs of Carlsbad with 23.4 and Jackie Buchanan, Big Spring, 26.6.

In the 16-19 class, Larry Cade of Sonora paced the opener with time of 12 flat, followed by another Carlsbad cowboy, Kirk Kirkes, with 14.3 and Billy Reed of Ackerly with 17.3.

RIDES STEER
Kyle Bennett of Big Spring, in the 12 and under group, rode the only steer, collecting a 36 score. The Midland County 4-H drill team put on an outstanding performance from horseback.

In barrel racing, in the 12 and under, Annette Mitchell of Tularosa, N.M., won opening night with a 19.61 followed by Valerie Adams, Big Spring, 19.79 and Leslie Knott, Knott, with a 21.9.

In the 13-15, Fawna Lee Abel of Hobbs picked up another first place for New Mexico with an 18.4 followed by Melody Walker, Rotan; 18.91 and Laurie Ann Britt, Lamesa with 19.43.

In the 16-19, Marla Thomas of Lamesa led with an 18.1 followed by Ann Tillman, Ozona, 18.76 and Toby Hutto, Del Rio, 18.87.

Sabrina Wilcoxson of Odessa won the 12 and under flag race with 9.5; Talley Griffin, Borden County was second with 9.9 and Sandy Sewell of Big Spring third with 10.57.

BREAKAWAY WINNERS
Christie Adams of Big Spring, in the 12 and under was the only one who caught her calf

Blast Set Off As Bulldozer Breaks Pipeline, Kills Man

LIVINGSTON, Tex. (AP) — A bulldozer blade ruptured a gas pipeline in the Pine Woods of East Texas triggering an explosion that killed one person and injured three others.

"It sounded like somebody dropped an A-bomb," said a witness to the Thursday blast, which shattered windows half a mile away and touched off a brief forest fire.

Investigators identified the dead man as Levy Leek and said he burned to death when trapped in a car consumed by flames.

A companion, C.V. Thomas, was rushed to a Lufkin hospital with severe burns. Neither of the two men was a construction worker.

The other two victims, John Hightower and Emmett Mathes, were identified as employees of H&K Construction Co. of Sinton, Tex. Mathes was critically burned. Hightower's injuries were less serious.

The explosion occurred about 1 p.m. near the community of Seven Oaks north of Livingston in the heavily wooded Big Thicket.

The forest blaze and scattered grass fires were confined to a relatively small area and were quickly snuffed out by fire fighting units.

Several pieces of heavy machinery and a number of pickups were destroyed in the explosion and fire.

Same Steam Heat Today

By The Associated Press

They used to call these the dog days, probably meaning the incessantly hot weather like Texans keep sweating through simply wasn't fit for man.

It was more of the same steam heat today, with another round of scattered showers and thunderstorms. Few areas received enough moisture for appreciable easing of tightening drought, however.

Some of the heavier thunderstorms early in the day rumbled through areas from around Vernon and Wichita Falls southward to San Angelo and eastward around Mineral Wells. Showers dotted other sections from the Panhandle-Plains to ward the south into the South-San Angelo 101 and Alice, west Texas Hill Country and toward the east past Fort Worth and Lubbock 100.

Readings near dawn today ranged from 85 at San Angelo and 83 at Del Rio and El Paso down to 68 at Amarillo and 66 at Dalhart.

Forecasts called for no essential change anywhere in the state.

Nixon Calls For Federal Payroll Slash Of 40,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) — some 300 pickets who marched outside the hotel. These included impeachment advocates and representatives of the United Farm Workers of America.

Nixon was applauded when he pledged no return to wage or price controls, called for energy self-sufficiency and urged a re-evaluation of federal environmental and safety programs to determine whether they hamper production.

Basically, the President advocated a continuation of present federal economic programs and rejection of "the shock treatment of a sudden, drastic 'wringing out' of inflation, the cost of which in terms of increased unemployment for millions of Americans would be unacceptable."

REPEATS PLEDGE

Here is how Nixon summarized his approach:

"A policy to check inflation is fundamentally a policy to curb the growth of demand relative to the growth of supply. In the short run, attention must focus on holding down the increase in demand, because with few exceptions increasing supply takes a considerable amount of time."

Repeating a pledge to balance the budget due for submission to Congress in January, Nixon also said he will try to hold spending in the current budget year, which begins July 1, to close to $300 billion. This would represent a cutback of nearly $5 billion from his goal seven months ago.

Nixon also announced he will reduce the federal work force by 40,000 by next June 30. Aides said this would be accomplished through normal attrition and would not involve firings.

FIGHTING INFLATION

Nixon urged that all Americans join in fighting inflation by cutting their own spending.

"I call on state and local governments, on businesses and consumers to hold down their own spending and increase their own savings as their contribution to the fight against higher prices."

"I recognize that some Americans cannot cut their spending without real hardship. Some expenditures by business cannot be cut without cutting production now or in the future. But most families could reduce or defer some expenditures — building their savings instead — without hardship. Every business has some fat in it, just as every federal agency has."

He advocated "a cut of only 1 1/2 per cent in personal consumption expenditures — that would mean like putting away 15 cents for every $10 spent."

Atlanta Loses Official Status As Cotton Mart

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atlanta, a symbol of the ante-bellum King Cotton South's defeat when Union troops burned it more than a century ago, is losing its official status as a cotton market.

The Agriculture Department said Wednesday that trading in the Georgia capital in cash cotton no longer is conducted under conditions or in the volume needed to compile accurate reports.

The city therefore goes off the list of 11 bona fide spot cotton markets next Thursday. It has been on the list since 1916.

The Agricultural Marketing Service made the decision because the number of traders there was declining and not enough price information was available for maintaining a spot-or cash-quotation.

No objections to the deletion were received after it was proposed July 2 in the Federal Register, a spokesman said.

This will leave on the list Montgomery, Ala.; Augusta, Ga.; Greenwood, Miss.; Greenville, S.C.; Memphis, Tenn.; Dallas, Houston and Lubbock, Tex.; Phoenix, Ariz., and Fresno, Calif.

Turkey Steadily Building Up Forces, Grabbing Land?

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — President Glafcos Clerides charged today that Turkey was violating the Cyprus cease-fire with massive land grabs. He threatened to resume the fighting on the troubled island unless the alleged violations stop.

RUNNING OUT

"Time is running out," Clerides told a news conference. "It will be with the greatest reluctance that I will appear before the Greek people of Cyprus to invite them to fight to the last man and to the end."

"I can no longer restrain the national guard and other forces in the republic from taking countermeasures" against Turkish advances.

Before the presidential news conference, diplomatic and military sources claimed that the Turks were building up their invasion force and grabbing new territory on several fronts in violation of the four-day old cease-fire.

The sources gave no specific figures but cited witness reports of troops, trucks, armor and other war materiel pouring into the Turkish beachhead on the north coast near Kyrenia.

"There are two elements on the other side: Turkish Cypriots, with whom I would like brotherhood, and the Turkish invasion forces, which are forcing me to take a decision which I would loathe to take," Clerides said.

"Unfortunately, the two elements cannot be separated and the consequences would be borne to a great extent by the Turkish Cypriots."

Charging that Turkey had almost doubled the size of its territorial gains on Cyprus since the United Nations-sponsored cease-fire went into effect on Monday afternoon, Clerides said: "So far we have shown all possible restraint, but this cannot go on. The responsibility for what might happen in the next few hours will rest solely on the shoulders of the Turkish government."

Clerides refused comment during the truce period were when asked if reinforcements for the Cyprus national guard had been promised by mainland Greece. He also refused to say if Greece already has sent troops or other military aid.

SWAPS CHARGES

"We are not prepared to continue withdrawing and to see Greek villages ruined and refugees being piled up while we stand still," Clerides said. "We have both methods and effective ways of counteracting."

"It is abundantly clear that Turkish forces show they have accepted the cease-fire agreement merely as a pretext to occupy the territory which they were unable to occupy when the small national guard was opposing them."

He said he had informed the three participants in the Geneva talks on Cyprus—Britain, Greece and Turkey—that the Turkish army's movements during the truce period were totally unacceptable.

In Geneva, the Greek and Turkish delegations exchanged charges that the other side was violating the Cyprus cease-fire, according to British delegation sources.

UNDERSTANDING BOY FRIEND Decoy Prostitute Finds Job Downright Boreome

DALLAS (AP) — Bored in your job? Want some exciting night life and adventure? Don't become a policeman who decoys as a prostitute.

"It was boring," said the Dallas police officer out to arrest those who proposition women for pay. "I expected it to be a lot of things, but boredom never entered my mind."

The operation is simple: decoy sits in bar, customer strikes up conversation with decoy and offers money, both leave bar, customer is collared by two undercover agents.

At first, she expected a few leers and then to get down to the business at hand.

'I WAS NERVOUS'

The first customer talked for 45 minutes.

"I was nervous. I wondered what I was doing wrong. He just talked and talked and talked."

Next came the indirect insults, such as when the customer offered her $5 for her services.

"My God," she thought to herself, "my makeup costs more than that."

Then there was the guy who only had $17. The hotel room was going to cost him $3.40, so he offered the decoy $13.60.

"What the hell are you doing, charging tax?" yelled the desk sergeant as he read that arrest report.

Next came the fellow who kept insisting to arresting officers that the woman was his wife.

"Did you know your wife was a policewoman?" the officers asked.

The decoy bristles when she reads news accounts that she's "enticing" customers.

"I don't wear anything that's the least bit enticing. I dress just like the other customers in the bar I'm going to. If it's a higher class bar, I dress accordingly. If it's a hippie bar, I dress like a hippie. The made-up, overdone looking women are never the prostitutes."

As for her own social life, she says she has a very understanding boy friend.

And as for belligerent customers, she says that's no problem.

"In fact," she said, "I was shocked to find that after the arrest, a few men looked me up in the police station and explained they had no bad feeling and wanted to know what I was doing after work."

50-Year-Prison Terms For Three
MARSHALL, Tex. (AP) — Three men face 50-year-prison sentences following their conviction on aggravated robbery charges arising out of the January robbery of the Security State Bank in Elysian Fields.

State District Court Judge John Furr Thursday assessed the sentences on Olin Taylor Dukes, Roger D. Johnson and James Albert Dukes after a nine-man, three-woman jury returned a guilty verdict after deliberating an hour and a half.

The ten-day period between conviction and sentencing was waived by the defendants following the jury verdict.

Defense lawyers said they will appeal the state court sentences.

The three were sentenced in Marshall federal court June 6 on federal charges stemming from the same bank robbery.

THREE MEN SLAIN Killer Shouts: 'Don't Kill Me!'

SCHULTER, Okla. (AP) — "Don't kill me! Don't kill me! I give up!" a 20-year-old Schulterman cried after he was shot by deputies who had surrounded the home where he barricaded himself.

The shooting capped a nightmare in which three men were killed—the city marshal of Dewar, Okla., Thomas Adkins, 44; Walter T. Hembre, 60, a Henryetta wrecker driver; and Okmulgee County Sheriff's Deputy Burton Brewer, 57.

Henryetta Police Chief Richard Larney was wounded during the battle.

'Partridge' Plagiarism

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Producers of the television series "The Partridge Family" have agreed to pay a writer an undisclosed amount in an out-of-court plagiarism settlement.

Columbus-Gems, ABC television and the show's writers and producers agreed Wednesday to compensate Roberta Tatum, who said the pilot episode was "identical" to a 1965 program idea of hers.

The agreement stipulated that terms of the settlement were not to be revealed, said Miss Tatum's lawyer, David Ellis.

Ellis said Miss Tatum, who now writes an advice column under the name "Emma Broomstick" for an Orlando, Fla., newspaper, sued for $250,000 after the series pilot aired in September 1970. The series has since been canceled.

Plays Footsey

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is 28, married and has two adorable children. She phoned and asked if she could come over to talk to me about something important. Well, she just left, and I am a wreck!

She is having an affair with — of all people — her foot doctor! (He's married and nearly twice her age.) My daughter is very pretty, but she's stupid. She has a husband who treats her like a queen. What she wants with this foot doctor, I'll never know.

I wish she had never confided in me. What did she expect me to tell her? Now that she's told me, if she leaves her husband, she can say: "My mother knew all about it."

I told her to get another foot doctor and to quit seeing this man, but she cried and said: "But, Mother, I love him!" What a nut! She needs a head doctor, not a foot doctor. Now that she's involved me, what should I do?

HER MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: You've done all you can. You've listened to your daughter, and given her some sound advice. The rest is up to her. (Nice man, this philandering foot (lo)se doctor. He gets his patient's feet in shape — the better to walk out on her husband.)

DEAR ABBY: Every time my husband is near a pencil and a piece of paper, he scribbles his name all over it. I cannot keep a scratch pad near the phone without his ruining it in this manner.

I have had several different opinions as to why he does this. I will believe yours. Can you tell me why a man writes his name on every piece of paper he sees?

Thank you.
T FROM TEXAS
DEAR "T": Most people, when there is a pencil and a scratch pad handy, will doodle. It's normal. The fact that your husband writes his name all over the pad consistently could mean: (a) he has an identity problem, or (b) he has NO identity problem.

It's not serious, so quit collecting opinions about a harmless little habit, and lay in an ample supply of scratch pads. Or use the backs of old envelopes and/or butcher paper.

DEAR ABBY — I am 13 years old and I am still a virgin.

My problem: Every time a guy tries to get something off me and I turn him down he starts spreading dirty rumors about me saying I gave in. I live in a small town where people like to run their mouths.

How come boys never talk about the girls they get something off, but they make up lies about the girls who won't give in?

How can a nice girl save her reputation from trash like that?

A NICE GIRL IN ATLANTA
DEAR NICE: Stay "nice" and don't worry about what anybody says. The kind of people who matter don't listen to trash. And the other kind don't matter.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Coahomans Host Party For Bride

Miss Linda Beistle, who will marry Tony Kite Aug. 16 in the Coahoma Church of Christ, was the honoree at a bridal shower Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Bill Read, Coahoma. There were 14 hostesses.

Attired in a floor-length, turquoise crepe dress, she was presented a corsage in colors of turquoise and pink. Similar corsages were presented to her mother, Mrs. Ralph Beistle; her sister, Miss Terry Beistle; and her grandmother, Mrs. Beatrice Denton of McAllen. The honoree's aunt, Mrs. Jimmy Rogers of Tulsa, Okla., was also in attendance.

Guests were served refreshments from a table covered with white linen and centered with an arrangement of kitchen gadgets in colors of turquoise and pink. A crystal punch service was used, and turquoise and pink streamers were used as table accents.

Gardeners Studying For '74 Flower Show

"When and How to Grow Plants for Show" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Odell Womack, 1601 Tucson, when the Rosebud How-To-Grow garden club met recently in her home. Mrs. Womack is a national flower show judge, member of the African Violet Society of America and litter chairman for District I, Texas Garden Clubs, Inc.

As she spoke, Mrs. Womack groomed plants brought by members, showing techniques, competition points and general plant care for both show and home. She stressed using clean, unobtrusive pots in proportion to the size of the plant, suggesting that bleach be used to clean the pots. All dead material should be removed and the leaves sponged with cotton and water or, in the case of African Violets, by using a small, soft brush.

During a discussion of the Sept. 16-17 flower show which the Garden Club Council will hold in conjunction with Howard County Fair, Mrs. Womack noted that terrariums will be eligible for an Award of Merit, but must be glass, have a top and contain a special type genus. The plant's leaves must not touch the side of the container. The show will have two classes for succulents and cacti, and succulents may be displayed in dish gardens. Hanging baskets will be displayed for the beauty of the show only. In conclusion, she briefly discussed showing out flowers, arboreals, African violets and collections.

In regard to the local litter campaign, Mrs. Womack said 40 litter barrels have been painted and distributed, with an additional 30 donated. Several business are planting and maintaining planter boxes in front of their establishments. Novice Kniffen was commended for outstanding work at Figure 7 Tennis Center.

Mrs. Brent Womack, president, welcomed Mrs. Sterling Moore and Mrs. J. F. Sanders as guests at the meeting and led a discussion concerning a secretary for the garden club council and clerks for the flower show.

Mrs. Stanley Lewis was cohostess.

Club Will Help At Open House

Members of the Busy Bee Hobby Club worked on various craft projects Thursday morning at the Kentwood Center. During a business session led by Mrs. Don McGonagill, vice president, the group made plans to assist with an open house at the center in August. The next club meeting will be at 9 a.m., Sept. 5 at the center.

Auxiliary Takes Part In State Convention

Big Spring was well represented by American Legion Auxiliary members at the 56th state convention which ended Sunday in Laredo. Attending from here were Mrs. Ollie Branson, Mrs. Don McCray, Mrs. Sidney Doggett and Mrs. Troy Melton, accompanied by the local junior auxiliary president, Leilani Thomas.

Over 700 women participated in the meeting which was attended by Mrs. Richard Philebar, national executive committee woman; and Mrs. J. Brown Whitten and Mrs. Maurice Kubby, national vice presidents.

Mrs. Jack L. Whitson of Houston, state president, presided. Mrs. Kubby, of El Paso, was elected national auxiliary president and will be installed at the national convention in Hollywood, Fla. The new state president will be Mrs. Jack Potter of Fort Worth.

James W. White, Houston, was elected state commander by the Legionaires.

The keynote speaker was Gov. Dolph Briscoe, who was accompanied by his wife. The governor praised veterans and said the time has come for increased medical benefits for older veterans, regardless of whether the medical problems are service connected. He said the care in VA hospitals should be improved rather than "watered down." Also, he expressed "concern for attempts to alter the scope of VA hospitals from veteran services to general services."

The local junior auxiliary won second place in a contest to create arrangements from Legion poppies.

Speaker Traces Lodge History

Mrs. Lois Hood related the history of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge 153 during Tuesday's meeting in the IOOF Hall. Mrs. Jones Lamar, who was present at the meeting, was a charter member when the chapter was instituted July 19, 1947, with 28 members. Now, there are 195 members.

The 24 attending Tuesday's meeting reported 21 visits to the sick and shut-ins. Mrs. Grady Sudberry, noble grand, presided. The next meeting will be Tuesday evening.

Guidepost Established

The 8-0 decision by the U. S. Supreme Court on Wednesday answers clearly the question of whether the President is obliged to furnish tapes and papers subpoenaed in a criminal investigation. Chief Justice Burger said that the court concluded that the fair administration of criminal justice prevails, as a fundamental demand of due process of law, over generalized pleas of confidentiality by the President.

Prospect that the tapes and papers might be surrendered to the special prosecutor stirred speculation that the Judiciary committee could delay its vote pending a chance to review the material. Chairman Peter Rodino, however, dampened this prospect on the grounds that it would take a couple of months for the material to be put in useable form. This would be an intolerable delay, from his point — and his view carries a lot of influence.

This does, however, point up some future possibilities, were the committee to recommend a bill of impeachment. Rep. Rodino may head off delay in the committee pending the delivery and assimilation of materials in the tapes and papers, but there will still be enough strength in the House to hold up and delay for weeks and even months. One option might be to draw it out until after the general election.

However, the present major mood in the committee seems more likely to prevail in the House, namely get on with it and whatever the result, get it behind us.

Meanwhile, at least there is one legal guidepost established should this problem ever rise again in the U. S. Congress.

Two-Speed Escalator

With rising costs of labor and raw materials it was not surprising when the steel industry announced a round of price increases for its products. This will have its impact eventually on the prices of manufactured goods using steel, and at least one major auto manufacturer has already adjusted prices of its current line of cars to reflect the new level of steel prices.

After several years of careful price-watching the American people by now are familiar with the chain-reaction effect when price changes are passed along in the process of changing raw materials into manufactured goods. They also have probably noted by now that the adjustments are made quite swiftly when prices are going up, but with agonizing slowness when it is time for prices to come down.

As a case in point, livestock prices began to break more than four months ago. It is only within the last few weeks, however, that meat prices began coming down at the retail level.

We wish the price escalator worked as quickly on the downside as it does when prices are going up.

My Answer

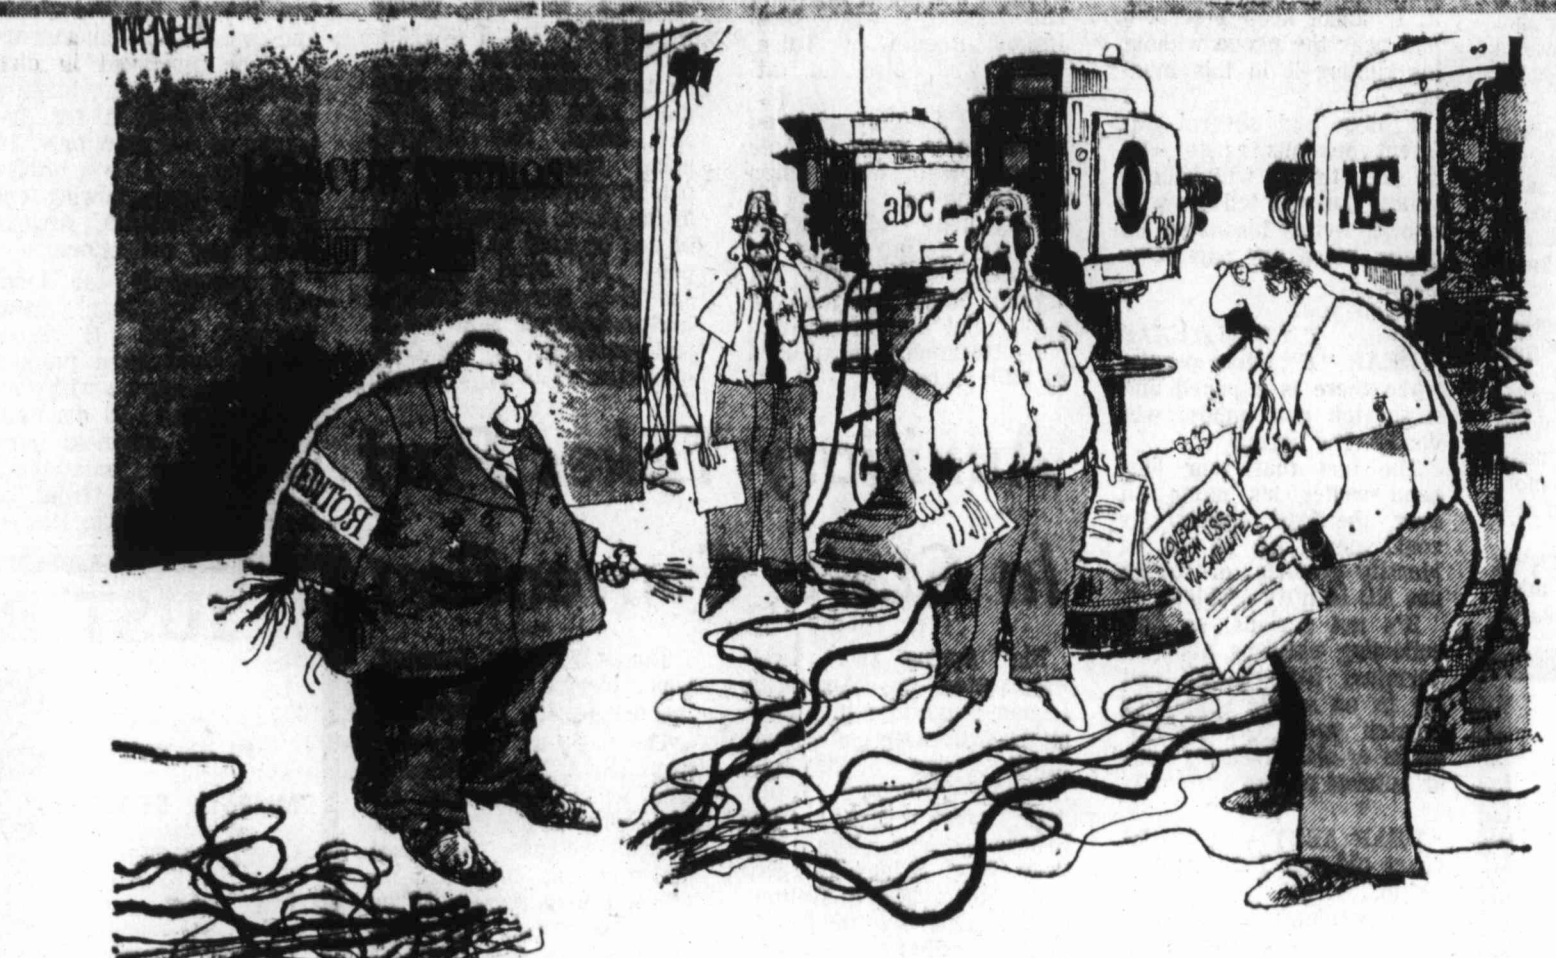

BILLY GRAHAM

Do you think hypnosis could help me? I'm so sick and tired of being pushed around. The meek are supposed to inherit the earth. Well, I'm tired of waiting. I need to be more aggressive, instead of sitting like a bump on a log.

A.B.R.
First, let me comment on that statement in Matthew 5:5 to which you referred. Jesus was here commending meekness toward both men and God. The word includes humility, but it's more than that. It's the attitude of the disciple to the teacher when teaching — or of the son to the father when exercising paternal authority.

The meek man is not given to retaliate for injuries, but rather to forgive. Well, look at the life of Christ. There's the supreme example of the willingness to take wrong patiently — and a gentleness in dealing with others. True meekness is a grace — a fruit of the Holy Spirit.

You may be humbly meek, applying dullness, timidity and a weakness of character. But true meekness is strong. It displays strength of purpose and self-control. Now will hypnosis help you? I doubt it. That operates at a level of awareness other than the ordinary

Strange Tongue

Around The Rim

John Edwards

A mullet was grubbing with a dog (Woolf-wool) when a crispy-crittered burr startled his grubbette.

Meanwhile back at the party, "the kids were doing handstands."

IT ALL SOUNDS very low camp, but that's the way a few cliques and Greek fraternity and sorority members used to talk when I attended the University of Texas circa 1960-1963.

Translated, it means: A slouchy boy was kissing his date, who was so ugly she made you howl. And another man-boy, naked except for motasses and potato chips, stumbled on the pair scaring the girl. Meanwhile back at the party, everybody was having a great time.

If I knew anyone around here from that era, I could probably add some more words from the past.

WIRE EDITOR WALT Finley, has pointed out only one member of the editorial staff smokes, which is highly unusual. So I've decided to air some other interesting figures.

Of six regular reporter-editor types here, three have been walking up in the middle of the night in a hot sweat. The cause of this phenomena is not guilt, but rather a lack of air conditioning.

Marj Carpenter, the City Hall reporter, said that she recently was awakened by fresh air. A nighttime gust knocked her window down.

MERRY JO BRIGHT, society editor, says the hardship reminds her of her youth in Louisiana. Children in her family used to go to bed wet to stay cooler. That is, they took showers and didn't dry off or soaked their pajamas before jumping on the covers.

This summer sleeping reminds me of my youth, too. Mother used to tuck me in and say "sweet dreams."

The Truth Machine

William F. Buckley Jr.

Every now and again you hear talk about lie-detector tests. It lasts for a while, and then usually subsides. Talk of it is an expression of a general mood of skepticism.

IT IS NOW revealed that in a moment of acute concern over the apparent disestablishment of government secrecy, President Nixon summoned two aides and suggested that they come up with a classification so secret that only numbered copies of the supercharged documents would be put into circulation, to men and women whose names were recorded. Then if a particular secret leaked, everyone whose name appeared in the ledger as having had knowledge of that document would be lined up, as if to receive a vaccination from a doctor, and given a lie-detector test. The idea, as we know, did not flower. Instead, a few taps were installed, and the plumbers were recruited.

LAST SUMMER, prominent newspapers antagonistic to Vice President Spiro Agnew agreed editorially that the leaks against him were damaging, and that they violated his constitutional rights. Under that kind of pressure, 134 Justice Department employees, including all the prosecutors, signed affidavits swearing that it was not they who were leaking the information to the press. But no lie-detector tests were administered and one cannot reasonably conclude other than that at least one of these gentlemen was lying.

A few weeks ago Dr. William Shockley wrote to make a quite startling proposal. We were to engage in an exchange of opinion on television, and he suggested that before the program began, he be wired up by a polygraph expert. It would require then only a short explanation to the viewing audience, that if they saw the indicator humming along behind Dr. Shockley, out of his line of sight, while he spoke, suddenly bolt up across the solid line, why then Dr. Shockley was telling an untruth. I did not invite Dr. Shockley to make the arrangements because I do not see that "truth" or "untruth" enters into what Dr. Shockley is invited to discuss. But the idea intrigues me, and one naturally wonders about its practicality.

The recent changes would seem to benefit the health of North Atlantic Treaty Organization. For one thing, the decline of dictatorships eases the discomfort engendered by the ties of authoritarian regimes to the United States in the name of defense and security. For another, NATO's southeast flank, severely endangered by the Cyprus crisis, was not only rescued but may prove more secure than before.

ONE RECALLS a year ago the appearance of Patrick Buchanan before the Ervin Committee. The press had widely publicized, on the shortest notice, his impending appearance before the committee, attributing a feast of misdeeds to him about which he would be challenged. Those leaks came from someone on the committee, and one wonders what would have been the reaction of Chairman Sam Ervin to an invitation to submit the committee member and the chief of staff, there and then, to a polygraph?

THE MAIN trouble, of course, is that to ask someone to do it is to register your disinclination to take his word for something. I take it that a more sophisticated trouble is that some people do not react as neatly to a polygraph as others. This is so less in response to such questions as Did you rob the Bank? As to such questions as: Did you leak the information about Agnew to the press... The mind is infinitely subtle, and one supposes that a practiced self-server would quickly decide that "leak" was not the right word for what he had done; and so on. So that we probably will not arrive at a handy mechanical means by which to judge whether people who do not know what the truth is, are telling the truth.

WHICH MEANS that we shall have to rely on evidence. Which means that such evidence has got to be collected. Which means sleuthing. And surveillance. And, yes, under certain circumstances, bugging. One wonders: would it be more or less humiliating to a member of the staff of the National Security Council to be told that his telephone would be tapped (by a bonded tapper), or that he would be expected to take a polygraph test once a month and reply to specific questions?

The challenge, of course, is to avoid having to do either. That is the mood, when people suggest that lie detector tests be standard equipment on talk shows. Come to think of it, maybe SONY could merchandise an attachment which would let us flick on a Truth Switch when listening to our favorite news commentator or politician. If he turns red on the screen, he is fibbing... But that is for Walker Percy's next novel.

Greek Turnabout

John Cunniff

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
(Substituting for John Cunniff)

Greece's dramatic turnabout has capped a series of events that, in just a few months this year, so transformed the political picture in non-Communist Europe as to amount to major upheaval.

The Greek convulsion, provoked by the boomerang wallop of a short-lived Cyprus coup, produced yet another in a whole series of deep changes that can have far-reaching impact on the mood and even the future prospects of the Atlantic Alliance.

A half dozen important nations underwent meaningful change in recent months. The rest of Western Europe will feel the effects. Still, it would be difficult and probably rash to generalize about these changes, despite an over-all hopeful look.

In Portugal, Greece and Spain, the outlook is brighter. Those nations are witnessing the phasing out of dictatorships. That is cheerful news for Europe's moderates, though not necessarily for left-wing extremists for whom more difficult targets.

Instead of a military dictatorship that drew Western scorn, the cradle of European dmocracy, Greece, now has a government that once again at least looks democratic.

Instead of the iron rule of Generalissimo Franco, Spain seems emerging toward something freer. Now that the ailing old dictator has turned over many of his powers to Prince Juan Carlos, his designated successor, Spaniards have reason to speculate that the days of rigid one-party dictatorship are numbered.

Instead of Marcello Caetano's frozen authoritarianism, Portugal since its recent upheaval has a hesitant, tentative liberalism under old soldier Antonio de Spinoia, who shows signs of recognizing that the colonial era is over.

Instead of Georges Pompidou, heir to aloof and unbending Gaullism, France has Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, a practical realist.

Instead of Willy Brandt's glittering and sometimes brash-looking leadership, West Germany has a down-to-earth pragmatist, Helmut Schmidt, at the helm.

Instead of Tory Edward Heath struggling to patch the tatters of British socialism, Harold Wilson is back grappling with a multiplicity of problems, many of them generated during his Labor Party's welfare state rule.

Instead of a government that habitually looked the other way at the approach of mountainous difficulties, Italy's leaders, faced with bankruptcy, bit the bullet and adopted a raft of stern, politically unpopular measures.

Today the West European community may not necessarily be enchanted at all times with American leadership nor even comfortable about American-Soviet summitry. But that is beside the point for Americans who can welcome the emerging new look from a standpoint that what's good for Western Europe in the long run is good for Americans, too.

The recent changes would seem to benefit the health of North Atlantic Treaty Organization. For one thing, the decline of dictatorships eases the discomfort engendered by the ties of authoritarian regimes to the United States in the name of defense and security. For another, NATO's southeast flank, severely endangered by the Cyprus crisis, was not only rescued but may prove more secure than before.

Nixon's Nemesis

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — One year after his nationally televised Senate testimony began President Nixon's greatest crisis, John W. Dean III has again proved his nemesis by building sentiment for impeachment behind the closed doors of the House Judiciary Committee.

DEAN'S APPEARANCE before the impeachment inquiry July 11 helped shift momentum against the President — generally by appearing as a credible witness, but specifically by unveiling new evidence. When Dean testified to a direct presidential role in attempted misuse of the Internal Revenue Service (IRS), the handful of fence-sitting Republicans who may decide Mr. Nixon's fate were profoundly shocked.

So the old White House campaign of trying to discredit Dean is being talked up among hard-core Nixon Republicans on the Judiciary Committee. Some insist a committee vote should be delayed for many weeks until Dean's damaging testimony can be checked against a segment of a White House tape recording now in litigation.

THESE ARE TACTICS of desperation. Dean's testimony helped undercut White House attempts to limit impeachment to whether the President authorized hush money in the Watergate cover-up. Dean's incrimination of the President in misusing the IRS led undecided Republican members toward considering gross abuse of presidential power as an impeachable offense.

DEAN TESTIFIED before the Senate Watergate committee June 25, 1973, on the President's direct role in pushing the IRS to harass Nixon "enemies." According to Dean's description of the Sept. 15, 1972, Oval Office meeting, Mr. Nixon "seemed somewhat annoyed" by IRS refusal to cooperate. But Dean said nothing about direct presidential orders to pursue the matter. The tape recording of the Sept. 15 meeting given special prosecutor Leon Jaworski did not contain the Nixon-Dean IRS dialogue. Judge John Sirica had ruled those 17 minutes were not relevant to the Watergate investigation. When Jaworski petitioned for their release, Sirica last month reversed himself. But the White House appealed, keeping the matter before the courts.

CONSEQUENTLY, DEAN was plowing new ground July 11 before the impeachment inquiry. Dean testified he told the President on Sept. 15, 1972, that IRS commissioner Johnnie M. Walters was refusing to audit tax returns of Nixon enemies. Dean next added: "And he (Mr. Nixon) said something to the effect, well, if (Treasury Secretary George) Shultz thinks he's been put over there to be some sort of candy ass, he is mistaken, and if you have got any problems, you just come tell me, and I will get it straightened out."

This was a direct presidential link to Walter's sworn statement to the House committee that Dean on Sept. 25, 1972, again pressed him to audit the "enemies." After conferring with Shultz Sept. 29, Walters continued, "We again agreed that nothing would be done with respect to the list."

The President's defenders shrug this off; after all, nothing happened. They stress Dean's inadequate explanation of some other claims.

Loses Sleep Over Taxes

TORONTO (AP) — The tax department received a letter along with a tax return recently. "I haven't been able to sleep since cheating on my income tax," the letter read. "Am enclosing a check for $500. If still unable to sleep, will mail you the balance."

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Would you explain just what neuralgia is? What is the treatment? How long does it last? Can it cause insanity? Does it happen mostly to the elderly? — Mrs. A.M.

I've gathered that a good many folks don't know what neuralgia is, and don't know why it is not the same as neuritis. Both, of course, are painful. Both have to do with nerve trunks. The difference is this: neuritis is infection of a nerve; the nerve itself is diseased. Neuralgia differs in that the nerve itself is not diseased, but is affected by some condition outside the nerve. One common form is sciatica, in which the sciatic nerve is painful because of pressure at the root of the nerve. Although the pain of sciatica is felt mostly in the backs of the upper legs, and sometimes in the buttocks or lower hip region, the trouble originates at the spine where the sciatic nerve exits from the spinal column.

What Neuralgia Is

neuralgia is affected, and intercostal neuralgia involving nerves in the region of the ribs. This can follow an attack of shingles. Neuralgia does not cause insanity; neither does it happen mostly with the elderly. It can develop at any age. Treatment involves correcting the cause. And, sad to say, the cause in some instances is very hard to track down — as in tic douloureux in which the treatment is primarily devoted to controlling the pain by cutting or paralyzing the nerve, or by powerful medication.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I was away but a friend said she read about sugar being used to cure bed sores. My mother has some very stubborn bed sores on her leg but she is very alert for her years, 91. This seems to be her only failing. I would like very much to help her. — Mrs. J.S.

Granulated sugar is an old-fashioned treatment for skin ulcers (bed sores being a form of ulcer). It is sprinkled on the ulcer, then covered with a tight sterile bandage. It should, if used, be applied daily. The sugar is an irritant but apparently causes tissue changes that lead to healing in some cases. I cannot guarantee it, but have seen it work, so it is worth trying.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: You wrote to Mrs. J.C.L., "No, Ritalin is not an amphetamine pep pill." Well, what is it? — Mrs. H.B.B.

Chemically, it is methamphetamine hydrochloride, which I imagine tells you nothing — except that it is entirely different chemically from amphetamines. It's a "psychic energizer."

Amphetamines are in a medical classification known as "anorexics" which get their name from their trait of being appetite depressants.

Incidentally, that's why amphetamines have been used as "diet pills," but the accompanying nervousness is one of the big reasons (although not the only one) that they are dangerous for that purpose.

Well-known Evangelist Slated At Auditorium Monday Night

By MARJ CARPENTER
The Hillcrest Baptist Church is sponsoring a ministry of their church, the appearance of Mickey Warlick, well-known area evangelist at 7:30 p.m. in the city auditorium Monday night.

There is no offering or charge, but the public is urged to come and hear this vibrant speaker, who deals with the topic, "How the Lord Helps in the Midst of Life's Difficulties."

Warlick, who was an outstanding high school athlete in Seminole and later played football at Howard Payne became an evangelist in Feb. 1968. Then in January 1969, he underwent a brain tumor operation. He had another operation two years ago.

He has served churches at Brady, Mason and Midland and currently does evangelistic work from out of Seminole.

He is well-known here and has spoken at Hillcrest, Forsan, Ackerly, Coahoma and many other places.

The Hillcrest choir will furnish special music with James Kinman, Hillcrest music director and Lyon Garvill, music director at Seminole, will lead the music.

The public is cordially invited Monday night according to the Rev. Collins Moore of Hillcrest. "CHRISTIAN Liberation for Contemporary Women" will be the issue discussed during the week-long Christian Life Commission Conference at Golieta Baptist Conference

MICKEY WARLICK

Church of Nazarene Was Organized Here In 1928

The Church of the Nazarene was organized in Big Spring on April 15, 1928 in the district court room at the close of a revival conducted by Rev. I. B. Spurlin and Rev. C. C. Montandon. Of the twelve charter members, Mrs. B. Y. Dixon is still active in the church. Other charter members were: Mrs. Mary Reynolds, Mrs. Millie Reynolds, Mrs. J. E. Smith and daughters, Idabelle and Louise, Mrs. S. E. Henderson, Mr. Frank Henderson, Miss Valerie Henderson, Mr. J. C. Zell, and Anna and Vera Dixon, daughters of Mrs. Dixon.

Services were held regularly at the court house until property was purchased at 500 Young Street in the spring of 1930. A basement was built with a two-room apartment at one end for a part-nage at that time, and services were held there until 1937 when property containing two residences was bought at North and Austin Streets. The smaller residence was used for a parsonage and the other was torn down and a chapel of frame construction was built in 1938. This was remodeled and enlarged by the addition of eight Sunday School rooms in 1950. The parsonage was remodeled and enlarged at this time also. Those years were filled with tests, trials and blessings; many had to walk over hills and valleys to get to the church, but many blessings were received.

Pastors who served during that time included: L. P. Morris, W. P. Phillips, J. P. Ingle, R. T. Smith, Thomas Ahern, James A. Gray, J. A. Ludlam, S. E. Tate, Robert Jones, J. F. Simmons, Ernest Orton, Ivy Bohannon, W. R. McClure, Henry Thomas, Lewis Patterson, Womach Stroman, Sidney Knox, L. V. Reazin, and Lawrence Gholson.

Under the ministry and leadership of Rev. Lawrence Gholson, property was purchased at 14th and Lancaster and the present church building, which includes a sanctuary and a two-story educational unit of brick and masonry construction was completed in August 1957. The three-bedroom brick veneer parsonage was completed in August 1958.

In 1966 a Fellowship Hall with three additional Sunday School rooms was built and named Sidney Fox Hall for a former pastor who went to New Guinea as a missionary from this church.

Some of those who have served as Sunday School Superintendents are: R. E. Zell, Bog Reynolds, J. H. Turner, Claude Stewart, Herman Mize, Kelly Mize, Marvin Woolridge, Travis Waller, Dan Turner, and A. C. (Cotton) Mize.

As of June 8, 1974, there are 157 members with an average attendance of 150.

During the past full church year a grand total of $44,182.38 was raised for all purposes. The combined church and parsonage property is valued at $125,000.00. We praise God from whom all blessings flow.

Center, July 27-Aug. 2, 1974. Specific topics to be explored include "A History of Women's Liberation Movements," "Changing Responsibilities of Women in the Church," "A Christian View of Women, and the Family," "Women, Obscenity and the Sexual Revolution," "Women Alone," "Myths About Men and Women," "A Critique of Institutional Discrimination Against Women," "An Understanding of Women and Abortion" and "Women and Divorce" in Christian Perspective."

Guest personalities for the conference include Dr. Sarah Frances Anders, Dr. and Mrs. David R. Mace and Dr. Harry N. Hollis Jr.

THE ANNUAL CONFERENCE of American Methodism have predominately been clergy oriented. The first conference held in America, December 1784, was composed entirely of clergy delegates.

Equalization of lay-clergy delegates in this beyond the local church policy-making body is "an effort by the denomination to give greater voice to the person in the pew," said officials.

REPRESENTING over 500,000 members in 2,500 local churches in the two-state region, the conference delegates this year received an update on a proposal before the Texas Insurance Board that will permit churches in the state to become eligible for the new multi-peril insurance policy offered nationally to United Methodist churches. This report will also be of interest to the churches in the New Mexico Conference that are located in the western part of Texas.

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH'S presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. John M. Allin, has appealed to participants in a planned irregular ordination of women to call it off.

The church does not permit ordination of women as priests. In individual telegrams sent Tuesday to the three bishops and 11 women involved, he urged them to cancel next Monday's ceremonies in Philadelphia.

"For the sake of the unity of the church and the cause of ordination of women to the priesthood, I beg you to reconsider your intention..." he said in separate telegrams to the women.

Many talented musicians have participated in the music programs. Organists and pianists have been:

Organists: Darlene Agee, Joy Findley, Freddie Carnes, Myrna Richardson, Sylvia Norvelle. Pianists: Deanna O'Brien, Frances Thomas, Lila Huling.

The Women's Missionary Union and the Brotherhood organizations have functioned through the years with the leadership of people like:

WMU: Mrs. Bob Swift, Mrs. J. C. Gross, Mrs. Horace Rankin, Mrs. Fred Potts, Mrs. R. H. Travis, Mrs. L. C. Alston, Mrs. Byron Orand, Mrs. W. E. Anderson, Mrs. Bill Blalack.

BROTHERHOOD: Leonard Coker, Bill Blalack, Joe Fortson, Pete Hull, Wayne Watson.

The original building was built at a cost of $50,000. New educational space has been added through the years. A new sanctuary was completed in January 1965. It accommodates 800 persons, and is more than double the size of the original auditorium which seated 300. In April 1970, a new activities building was dedicated. This houses a gymnasium, kitchen, dining hall facilities, game room, and four youth departments. The total church plant is valued at $550,000. The homes for both pastor and minister of music and education are owned by the church. A house adjacent to the church plant is presently rented to the church secretary.

In the past 16 years, 2,420 people have been received into the church's membership with over 800 of these coming by baptism. The current membership total is 1,122. The present total Bible Study enrollment is 941.

The first budget of College Baptist Church was $20,647. The adopted budget for 1974 is $106,991.56.

The Church Staff for 1973-74 is as follows:

Jimmy D. Law, Pastor; David K. Norvelle, Music Director; Nelva Adams, Secretary & Clerk; Margaret Sunday School Director; Don Brodie, Church Training Director; H. C. Blackshear, Chairman of Deacons; Bonnie Hale, Librarian; Mrs. Tom Buckner, Adult Division Director.

College Baptist has been blessed through the years with many faithful people who served as secretaries and clerks:

Pinkie Rogan, Evelyn Coker, Dorothy Carroll, LeRoy Cebik, Imogene Hurst, Cheryl New.

College Baptist Church Began As Mission Here

College Baptist Church, 1105 Birdwell Lane, was begun as a mission of First Baptist Church on June 1, 1955. The mission started with 60 people, and during the two-year period before organization as a church, 187 people joined. The mission was constituted as a church on June 9, 1957. There were 227 charter members, and 57 of these still hold membership here. Eight charter members are deceased.

H. W. Bartlett was pastor of the mission and newly organized church. He served until April 1961. M. B. Smith served as pastor from July 1961 to June 1962. R. Byron Orand was pastor from October 1962 to June 1971. Our present pastor is Jimmy D. Law, serving since December 1971.

James M. Stephens became the first full-time minister of music and education in 1965. He served until 1968. Orville Bryant, Paul Petterson, Ben Caldwell, Kenny Sheppard, Harold Keistler and Steve Acuff served as song leaders through sponsored by the Northwest Texas Annual Conference United Methodist Women. The Rev. Bill M. Canyon, Kent Stephens of First UMC, attended the annual school of Christian missions this week at McMurry College in Abilene.

PATTY HEARST LOOK-ALIKE? - Kelly Ravenscroft, 13, talks with a newsman in Los Angeles about a police raid on the apartment where she was visiting in the belief they were about to capture Patty Hearst. More than a hundred officers surrounded the building after reports of Miss Hearst being seen there, followed by a phone call - which officers later said was a hoax - in which "Patty Hearst" offered to surrender. Miss Ravenscroft, whose home is in Sacramento, said she often is taken for Miss Hearst.

Grass Fires Rage In Area

Lightning and dry grass are a bad combination in West Texas in the summer.

Some five grass fires were apparently set off by lightning Thursday night with the worst located 15 miles north of Sterling City west of Highway 87.

Silver Heels fire department joined fire fighters from Sterling and Glasscock County in combating the blaze and fought it for around three hours. There was no estimate as to how many acres of grass burned off.

There was also a grass fire on the Sawyer Ranch at Luther, with one ranch hand called from the junior rodeo to go home and help fight the blaze.

There was also a fire six miles south of town where FM 821 intersects with Highway 87. A fourth fire was on the edge of Big Spring, just southwest of town. A fifth fire was reported out on the Andrews highway, which turned out to be in Martin County near Lenorah.

Though North America again failed to wrest the World Team Bridge Championship from Italy, two members of the team, Robert Wolff and Robert Hamman of Dallas, had the satisfaction of becoming the first Americans to win the World Open Pairs title. They achieved this feat at the Fourth World Bridge Pair Olympiad played in Las Palmas, Canary Islands, in May. A sample of Wolff's technique, from a training match prior to the World Championship, illustrates why they did so well.

South was close to raising his partner's three spade bid to game, for he held more than he need have for his one bid.

However, he took into account that his partner's bid was made under pressure of West's jump, and that his own hand was devoid by any distributional feature. This proved to be a wise decision.

West attacked with three rounds of diamonds, and Wolff ruffed the third round in dummy with the king as East discarded a club. Since there appeared to be two definite heart losers, he could not afford a trump loser as well. It seemed logical to play East, who was marked with diamond shortness, for length in spades. However, declarer decided to postpone drawing trumps until he had learned more about the hand.

First he cashed the king and ace of clubs, then ruffed a club in dummy. When West followed to all three rounds, nine of his cards were known—six diamonds and three clubs. Declarer now led a low heart off dummy. West won the king and returned the jack. Declarer took the ace, cashed the ace of trumps and led a low trump to his ten. This play guaranteed the contract, for twelve of West's cards were known. If the thirteenth card was the jack of spades, West would win but would be endplayed. His forced diamond return would present declarer with a ruff-and-suff. If West had some other card, the finesse would win and declarer could afford to lose another heart.

PEACE MAY HINGE ON PALESTINIANS Million Live On Handouts

Editor's Note: Millions of Palestinians, dispersed by various Arab-Israeli wars, still live in refugee camps, which are breeding places for guerrillas and terrorists. Can there be a permanent peace in the Middle East while the fate of the Palestinians remains unresolved? Here is an in-depth look at the situation.

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT (AP) — More than half the 3 million Palestinians seeking a homeland still live on handouts and hate in refugee camps. Their fate could determine the course of peace in the Middle East.

The guerrilla movement gave them leaders. The October War with Israel gave them hope. The Arab-Israeli cease-fire has presented them with an agonizing dilemma:

TIREDF OF WAITING

Should they attend a Geneva conference with Israelis and bargain for some of their old homeland back, or should they escalate terrorism and wait for another Arab-Israeli war in hopes of winning it all?

"Even if all the Arabs sign a peace agreement with Israel I will continue to fight," shouts an angry guerrilla called Salah at a camp in South Lebanon.

"I have waited 26 years and I am tired of waiting," shrugs Ahmed Hussein outside his refugee shack in Jordan. "I will accept whatever I am given."

Hussein lives in the Bakaa Camp 12 miles north of Amman. It is not a pleasant place to wait.

WATER POINTS

More than 52,000 refugees are crowded into 7,389 corrugated iron huts, which average 10 square feet of living space for every six inhabitants. Summer-time temperatures of 122 degrees Fahrenheit have been recorded in the tiny sweat-boxes.

The dusty streets are unpaved. There is no running water, no sewage system, only 422 public lavatories and 61 "water points" where camp wives collect the precious liquid in rusty tin cans.

Women in Bakaa average 10 children apiece. Two of them die, victims of typhoid, pneumonia, tuberculosis, gastroenteritis and malnutrition.

Each refugee receives a monthly ration from the United Nations Relief Works Agency — 10 kilograms of flour, less than half a kilo of rice, sugar and oil. It amounts to 15 cents worth of food a day, not enough to sustain a human being. A kilo is equivalent to 2.2 pounds.

EXTRA RATIONS

The men hire out as laborers to building contractors who send trucks with recruiters from Amman. But there is never enough work for all. Refugee deaths are seldom reported so their families can continue to draw the extra rations.

While their younger children go to UNRWA schools and their teen-agers join resistance groups, the parents fantasize about what they left behind in Palestine and hoard copper pennies under their pillows for the day when they return.

"We have to believe in something," said Majed el Hadi. "The October war was a victory for us because it smashed the myth of Israeli invincibility. We might not get everything we want, but we will get something out of it."

Four-fifths of the inhabitants in Bakaa are "double refugees." They fled from Israel to Jordan's west bank when the Jewish state was created in 1948, and they fled to the east bank in 1967 when Israel occupied the west bank.

BETTER CHANCE

The other 10,000 are west bankers who stand a much better chance of regaining their former homes. This underlines the basic problem that divides the Palestinians and their guerrilla spokesmen.

Israel's ultimate withdrawal from the territories seized in 1967 appears to be negotiable. Her 1948 borders are not. What might satisfy the Palestinian from the West Bank or the Gaza Strip will not necessarily satisfy the Palestinian from Haifa or Jaffa.

Tulsa Will Co-Host Show

JIM HARTZ

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Hartz, a slow-talking native of Tulsa, Okla., will be a permanent co-host on the NBC television "Today" show.

NBC announced the selection of the 34-year-old Hartz on Wednesday. He won the job after tryouts on the show by several newsmen.

Hartz will start his new job next Monday, appearing with the show's other regulars—Frank Blair, Gene Shalit and Barbara Walters.

He takes over the opening left after the death of Frank McGee.

Hartz currently hosts the early evening and late evening news on WNBC-TV in New York. His new job will force him to forego the late news show, NBC said.

Washington Reporter Leslie Carpenter Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leslie Carpenter, a Washington newspaper correspondent for nearly three decades and husband of former White House press aide Liz Carpenter, died Wednesday. He was 52.

Police said Carpenter was found unconscious in a downtown hotel Wednesday night. He was pronounced dead a short time later at George Washington Hospital.

Carpenter came to Washington in 1945 as Washington correspondent for a group of newspapers including the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Dallas Times Herald, Houston Chronicle and the New Orleans States.

He opened his own news bureau in 1951, representing more than 30 newspapers. Most of the papers he represented were in Texas but they spanned an area from Honolulu to Boston.

Carpenter and his wife were associated for many years with the late President Lyndon Johnson. Mrs. Carpenter served for a number of years as Mrs. Johnson's press secretary.

Carpenter wrote a syndicated column distributed by Publishers Hall Syndicate for nine years.

He also had served as Washington editorial representative for book publisher G. P. Put-
