JUSTICE. — Former White House Chief of Domestic Affairs John D. Ehrlichman faces newsmen outside U.S. District Court in Washington today after he was sentenced on his conviction for conspiracy and perjury in the Ellsberg break-in case. Ehrlichman said "justice will be found and done and that I will ultimately be exonerated and vindicated."

Sentence Ehrlichman To 20 Months In Cell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidential assistant John D. Ehrlichman was sentenced to a minimum 20 months in prison today on his conviction for conspiracy and perjury in the Ellsberg break-in case.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell set 20-months to five-year sentences to run concurrently for each of the three criminal counts for which Ehrlichman was convicted.

TWO 'DUPED'

G. Gordon Liddy, a member of the White House plumbers unit which carried off the break-in, was given a one-to-three-year sentence, but it is to run parallel with other sentences handed Liddy in the original Watergate break-in case. Thus it does not add any time to what Liddy already had to serve.

Gesell said two other convicted members of the plumbers group, Miamians Bernard L. Barker and Eugenio R. Martinez, "were duped by high government officials" and gave them suspended sentences.

Ehrlichman, until April 30, 1973, one of the closest members of President Nixon's inner circle, stood before Gesell just before sentencing and said quietly:

I AM INNOCENT

"Your Honor, I believe I am the only one in this courtroom who really knows whether I am guilty or not guilty. I am innocent of each and every one of those counts."

Answering briefly, Gesell called the break-in at the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist one of the most "shameful episodes in American history."

Gesell said that among the defendants, Ehrlichman had violated the high public trust that went with his position in the White House.

20 YEARS POSSIBLE

Ehrlichman told an impromptu news conference outside of the courthouse that "justice will be found and done and that I will ultimately be exonerated and vindicated."

Ehrlichman, 49, a highly successful Seattle zoning lawyer who joined the 1968 Nixon presidential campaign, could have received a maximum penalty of 20 years in prison and fines of $30,000.

Ehrlichman plans an appeal and Gesell freed him on his own recognizance.

All except Liddy have been free since their convictions by a jury of six men and six women that deliberated for five hours before deciding on a verdict July 12.

Liddy was sentenced March 23, 1973, to 6 years, 8 months to 20 years after being convicted on six counts of conspiracy, burglary and wiretapping in the Watergate break-in. He also received an additional sentence for refusing to testify before the grand jury, the term to run the life of the jury, which is scheduled to expire Dec. 4. He is in the D.C. jail.

Ehrlichman and the others were convicted of violating the rights of Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, the Beverly Hills, Calif., psychiatrist who treated Ellsberg, a former Pentagon analyst.

The Plumbers, a special White House investigative unit, broke into Fielding's office in a fruitless search for the medical records of Ellsberg, who leaked the Pentagon Papers study of the Vietnam war to the press.

Ehrlichman said within minutes of his conviction that he had directed his attorneys to prepare an appeal. The former Seattle zoning lawyer also is among the defendants in the Watergate cover-up trial, now scheduled to begin Sept. 9.

WILL APPEAL

A lawyer for Martinez and Barker, exiles from Cuba, said Tuesday he also will file an appeal even if Gesell gives his clients a suspended sentence. Barker and Martinez testified they believed the break-in was an extension of two decades' experience as clandestine CIA agents working for the overthrow of the Castro government.

STOCK FRAUD Billionaire Howard Hughes Indicted

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Billionaire Howard Hughes and three others have been charged with conspiracy, stock manipulation and fraud by a federal grand jury that made an aboutface in 24 hours.

The grand jury accused the four men on Tuesday of trying to force down the value of Air West stock to make it easier for Hughes to gain financial control of the regional airline. Now called Hughes Airwest, Hughes took it over on Dec. 31, 1968.

The charges are a streamlined version of an indictment returned last Dec. 27 which was thrown out by a federal judge. He termed it "the worst case of criminal pleading" he had ever seen.

When the charges were thrown out Jan. 30, the jury was given six months to return a new indictment, a time limit which expired Tuesday midnight.

The grand jury, the same one that handed down the original charges, had met Monday but returned no indictments.

Indicted with Hughes on Tuesday were Robert A. Maheu, former head of Hughes' Nevada gaming empire; Chester Davis, chief counsel for Hughes' Summa Corp.; and David B. Charnay, chairman of Four Star International, a Los Angeles movie production firm.

Hank Greenspun, publisher of the Las Vegas Sun, and George Crockett, a Las Vegas businessman, were named as unindicted co-conspirators.

In Los Angeles, Hughes spokesman Dick Hannah said in a telephone interview that no comment on the indictments would be made until attorneys had a chance to read the jury's findings.

The indictments apparently represented a change in Justice Department planning and settled a dispute between the department and Nevada U.S. Atty. V. DeVoe Heaton over whether Hughes was to be included in the new indictment, sources said.

Constitution Compromise Efforts Fail

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Despite intense pressure from its leadership, the constitutional convention has ended after falling just three votes short of sending to the people a new state charter.

The final count on the last package—Resolution No. 32—was 118-62, with a two-thirds majority—121 votes—required to submit a new constitution to the voters.

Convention President Price Daniel Jr. refused for 23 minutes to close the last vote count in hope that enough legislator-delegates would switch to put the document across.

His hopes ended at 11:59 p.m. when he gavelled the state's first constitutional convention since 1875 into adjournment.

Under the terms of the constitutional amendment that called it, the convention could last no longer.

The 1875 document, ratified by the voters in 1876, remains in effect. The 1974 convention had whittled its 50,000 words down to 18,000 and changed numerous provisions to streamline the court system, strengthen the governor and make the legislature more flexible.

Failure of the new constitution followed six months of deliberations—not counting a one-month break for primary election campaigns—that began Jan. 8 and cost $3.2 million.

The convention hung up sue, and the stalemate was never broken.

Organized labor bitterly opposed any submission to voters of a provision that would embed in the constitution the present 1947 law against labor-management contracts requiring employes to join or pay agency fees to the unions that represent them.

Numerous conservatives said they would vote for a document only if it was accompanied on the ballot by a separate proposal making such union or agency shop contracts unconstitutional.

The final package was an attempted compromise that prohibited only the union shop and allowed the legislature to repeal that prohibition by a two-thirds majority of each house.

Convict Ignores Deadline; Fem Captive Not Bombed

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Fred Gomez Carrasco ordered breakfast and morning newspapers today, ignoring his 8 a.m. deadline to blow up one of 13 hostages at the main state prison unless he received three bulletproof vests.

NO ACTION

"We don't know what to think" said prison spokesman Ron Taylor. "Another deadline went by with no action."

Prison officials said they planned new negotiations with Carrasco, a rebel convict who, along with two other inmates, has held the hostages in the prison library for a week.

Taylor said Carrasco never mentioned passage of the deadline and prison authorities did not raise the subject.

Carrasco, 34, had threatened to blow up a woman captive unless prison officials met his demands.

Late Tuesday a TDC spokesman said the demand for the vest had been rejected along with Carrasco proposal for five prison officials to replace 10 of the 13 hostages, who include three other prison inmates.

BULLET PROOF

"As it stands right now, if he does not get the (bullet proof) vest by 8 a.m. he will blow up a woman hostage stationed in the doorway of the library," Ron Taylor, TDC director of information, told newsmen.

Taylor said prison officials were told by Carrasco to provide the vest at 7 p.m. Tuesday. "Fifteen minutes later we called back with a counter-measure to exchange the vest for all the hostages," Taylor added.

Earlier in the day authorities said they did not know if there were any bombs in the library area. Subsequently they said the library's part of a classroom section and the school facilities include science kits and items normally found in a schoolhouse operation.

BAD GUESS

Taylor also pointed out that officials may have underestimated the amount of ammunition in the hands of the convicts, noting that bombs could be constructed from gunpowder.

Carrasco was quoted by officials as saying he had three bombs, one was for the hostage at the door, a second for the rest of the hostages, and a third to blow up anyone who tried to intervene.

Authorities were dealing cautiously with Carrasco, who was described by some as being "moody."

Taylor said that when Carrasco called to demand the vest, he told officials they had 15 minutes to decide. "We called back about 15 minutes later and we were pretty sure he was going to explode the bomb," Taylor said.

That's when they offered Carrasco a vest in exchange for all the hostages. Taylor said he considered the proposal and then rejected it, repeating his threat to blow up the woman hostage.

ANSWER IS NO

Officials previously rejected the proposed swap of the hostages for the five prison officials. "The answer to the hostage offer is no," Taylor said Carrasco was told.

The proposal to trade hostages came through Kathy Pollard, 24, daughter of hostage Novella Pollard, who said Carrasco outlined his swap offer in a telephone conversation.

"I have spoken with Fred Carrasco and he apparently has discarded his demands for more weapons and has repeated a willingness to trade all the hostages he now holds for five prison officials," she said. "Carrasco says he will release all 10 hostages in exchange for warden Hal Husbands, the director and assistant director of the TDC, Maj. Andrew Murock and any captain in the system."

DESPERATE BID

Carrasco's desperate bid for freedom began last Wednesday when he jerked out a pistol in the third floor prison library, shot a guard in the foot and announced a takeover.

He took a dozen school teachers and librarians, seven of them women, as hostages along with four inmates in the library.

Later Carrasco turned loose the wounded guard and a school teacher who suffered a heart attack. The prison's Roman Catholic chaplain, the Rev. Joseph O'Brien became a captive while acting as a go-between in the negotiations.

Another hostage, inmate Henry Escamilla, escaped Monday when he crashed through the library's glass doors. He suffered serious cuts, but was reported in satisfactory condition Tuesday.

Another hostage, Aline Hurre, suffered an apparent heart attack Monday afternoon and Carrasco allowed her to be taken to a hospital.

Since the takeover Carrasco has demanded, and received, walkie talkies and protective helmets.

DRAGNET OUT

Meanwhile a dragnet was out for Carrasco's wife Rosa. Officials felt that she would be instrumental in any deal with the reputed former South Texas narcotics dealer.

Don Kirkpatrick, assistant director of the TDC, told newsmen he thought the reason Carrasco has not made any specific demands for transportation is that he has not heard from his wife.

Carrasco went to prison after pleading guilty to charges of assault on a San Antonio policeman. Rosa was with Carrasco a year ago when police surrounded the El Tejas motel in San Antonio and arrested both of them. She was released in a deal which involved Carrasco's guilty plea.

Investigators had linked Carrasco to the drug traffic in South Texas and Mexico for years. In 1972 Carrasco and others were arrested in Guadalajara and jailed in a seizure that included the confiscation of $20 million in heroin.

Weapons Bill Sent To Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $22.1 billion weapons procurement authorization bill has been sent to President Nixon by the Senate on an 88-8 roll call vote.

The compromise measure, adopted Tuesday, trimmed $1 billion from the administration's budget requests for U.S. armed forces weapons spending for the 12 months ending June 30, 1974.

It also set a $1 billion ceiling on U.S. military aid to South Vietnam.

The bill established an active duty military manpower ceiling at 2,149,300 at the end of the fiscal year, 2,800 below the figure recommended by the Pentagon. Civilian personnel of the Defense Department was set at 995,000 by year-end, 32,327 under department requests.

Mrs. Bertha Matlock, 3222 Auburn, reported to police that someone had entered her home Tuesday and stolen a can of tuna, loaf of bread, jar of mayonnaise and packet of cheese. Also missing were some personalized checks.

In the report to Patroman Howard Kloss, Mrs. Matlock said entry to the house was probably gained through a front window that had been broken for some time.

Mrs. Matlock was understandably annoyed. This was the second time in two weeks the hungry intruder has raided her refrigerator.

Urging Nixon Be Removed From Office

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proclaiming that President Nixon "warrants impeachment and trial and removal from office," the House Judiciary Committee has ended its historic inquiry with a three-part resolution to be sent to the House.

In fit the committee recommends Nixon's impeachment for obstructing justice, misuse of his powers and failing to obey its committee subpoenas for evidence.

HIGH CRIMES

Debate in the House will begin in about two weeks.

U.S. Steel Earnings Up

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp. reports its second-quarter net income, bolstered by 13.5 per cent in price increases, surpassed a 15-year record.

The nation's largest steel-maker said Tuesday that it earned a record $160.3 million, or $2.96 per share, on sales of $2.42 billion. Earnings were up 92 per cent from $84.9 million, or $1.56 per common share, on sales of $1.81 billion in the second quarter of 1973.

They also broke the quarterly income record of about $148.5 million in 1959.

For the first half, U.S. Steel earned $249.8 million, or $4.61 per share, on sales of $4.38 billion.

COMMITTEE CONCLUDES HISTORIC INQUIRY

Before the committee concluded its inquiry it rejected a impeachable offenses proposed articles recommending impeachment for concealing the bombing of Cambodia from Congress, and perpetrating tax fraud by underpaying his income taxes. Both were defeated 26-12.

The committee's recommendations first must face the formality of passing through the House Rules Committee before making their way to the House floor.

A majority vote is needed in the House to impeach the President. The Senate then would conduct a trial, in which a two-thirds majority would be needed to convict and remove Nixon from office.

CITES ODDS

The House committee's proceedings ended with a rap from the gavel of Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. and his ruling that "This concludes the work of the committee."

Zoo officials say only 15 of the animals, members of the hyena family, are in captivity, four of them at the zoo in Oklahoma City. The Sardwolf emits a smell somewhat like that of a skunk when frightened.

Urging Nixon Be Removed From Office

The three articles would redefine and limit the power of the executive. They are the first to be sent to the House floor since President Andrew Johnson's impeachment during the Civil War reconstruction period more than a century ago.

The third impeachment article relating to the subpoenas was approved Tuesday by a narrow 21-17 vote.

The three articles of impeachment charge Nixon with "high crimes and misdemeanors":

—Obstructing justice in covering up the Watergate affair, the break-in of Democratic national headquarters June 17, 1972, once described by a White House spokesman as just a "third-rate burglary."

MISUSE OF AGENTS

—Abusing his powers through misuse of federal agents and agencies to violate constitutional rights of citizens by wiretapping, income tax audits and other activities.

—Refusing to comply with committee subpoenas for 147 tape-recorded conversations and other material sought as evidence by the inquiry.

Before the committee concluded its inquiry it rejected a impeachable offenses proposed articles recommending impeachment for concealing the bombing of Cambodia from Congress, and perpetrating tax fraud by underpaying his income taxes. Both were defeated 26-12.

The committee's recommendations first must face the formality of passing through the House Rules Committee before making their way to the House floor.

Urging Nixon Be Removed From Office

The final day of the committee's deliberations saw a break-down in the bipartisan coalition that adopted the first two articles by votes of 27 to 11 and 28 to 10. The committee has 21 Democrats and 17 Republicans, all lawyers.

FACING THE PEOPLE BACK HOME

State Convention Hangover

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The most difficult task many former constitutional convention delegates had today was facing the people back home.

"We failed," was the only answer they had for the failure of Texas' first constitutional convention in 99 years to give voters a new constitution to vote on Nov. 5.

Some of the 181 legislator-delegates have been dropping hints for several weeks that the historic convention was unlikely to produce anything.

POLITICAL JOBS
To those close to the convention—newsmen, state officials and employes and others—it became apparent soon after the convention began last Jan. 8 there were problems.

The 181 state senators and representatives were having trouble separating their strictly political jobs as state legislators from their new tasks as delegates writing a state policy document expected to last for another century.

Then when the convention had approved by majority vote each of the separate articles and started voting on the constitution as a whole the second big mistake became apparent—the requirement that any constitution must get a two-thirds majority from ever being attained.

Yet, the Revision Commission had recommended that the new constitution make no mention of right to work. It was already in state law and had been there untouched for a number of years without any major challenge.

MAJESTIC MISTAKES
If the convention could have approved a new constitution by majority vote, it would have gone to voters more than a week ago.

Whose fault were these two majestic mistakes?

Veterans of the 1971 legislature will tell you that the resolution calling for a constitutional convention in 1974 could not be passed through the legislature until its supporters agreed to let legislators be delegates instead of having elected delegates.

And it was the 1971 legislature that added the unusual provision that any proposed constitution must get a two-thirds vote of the legislator-delegates before the people could even vote on it.

It is true both actions were later ratified by Texas voters in 1972, a fact that is of little comfort to some legislators today.

RIGHT-TO-WORK
As a result of the direct and intense involvement of legislators the proposed constitution became filled with detailed changes in state laws, the varying that the 37-member citizens committee, the Constitutional Revision Commission, recommended against.

Proposed submission of the right-to-work issue for a separate vote became the stumbling block for the entire document, dividing the delegates in factions that kept the two-thirds majority from ever being attained.

The issue of a constitutional prohibition against pari-mutuel betting did not become an insoluble problem until the politics-minded legislator-delegates began receiving pressure from church groups, particularly Texas Baptists. The Revision Commission merely recommended that the state or local governments be restricted from operating lotteries or other gambling enterprises.

CONFLICT
Numerous delegates complained that conflict over the separate submissions kept the main document of the proposed constitution from being approved. Politically-minded leaders replied that the main document would never be approved by voters unless accompanied by the right-to-work and the pari-mutuel betting prohibition.

Then there was the question of leadership.

The day after Speaker Price Daniel Jr., convention president, said he was not running for re-election or any other political job, his influence with the senators and representatives obviously lessened. Time and time again delegates brought out that lame duck presiding officer did not have the authority to keep the convention moving in an organized manner. Several of the committee chairmen that Daniel named voted against proposals that Daniel supported.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe's influence on the convention was a mystery throughout. After opening ceremonies he avoided the convention hall, never appeared in person before committees and made few comments on the convention's work.

NO MORE TO SAY
The convention already had approved on majority vote the article on the executive branch before Briscoe made a rare complaint about several provisions. When most of the changes were made, he issued a statement saying he was satisfied with the proposed constitution up to that point. Later, after numerous other changes were made, Briscoe had no more to say.

Daniel's staff said that the convention president urged the governor to help iron out the right-to-work controversy but got no answer.

Right-to-work is a prime issue to the Texas labor faction, which is a strong arm of the Texas Democratic Party, and also to the Texas Republican Party, whose gubernatorial candidate has made it his No. 1 attack on Briscoe.

Whether Briscoe will share blame for failure of the new constitution apparently will be carried on into the November elections.

Book Recordings Being Converted To Cassettes

Four Texas foundations have pledged a total of $175,000 to a program to convert open-reel recordings of books to cassette recordings for use by blind and physically handicapped persons. The conversion, which will cost about $300,000, will be carried out by the Texas State Library's Division for the Blind and Physically Handicapped.

The Moody Foundation, the Sid Richardson Foundation and the George Brown Foundation have each pledged $50,000 while the Houston Endowment, Inc., has pledged $25,000.

"Not only is the cassette tape more convenient for these handicapped persons to use," said Donald K. Bailey, director of the division for the blind and physically handicapped, "but also the Library of Congress makes available players for its patrons." He added that the talking books, materials recorded on phonograph disks, has indicated a need for the spoken material.

Many Opposition Delegates Cheered, Hugged And Cried

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — For 24 agonizing minutes Tuesday night, Price Daniel Jr. waited for opposition delegates to change their votes.

The fate of a proposed new state constitution—and perhaps Daniel's political career—awaited that final vote.

FIVE SHORT
Emotional appeals by strong labor delegates Bob Gammage, Democratic senator from Houston, and Carl Parker, Democratic representative from Port Arthur, had brought the total yes vote to 116, five short of the two-thirds majority needed to send the document to the voters Nov. 5.

The electronic vote board flashed the vote, and opponents cheered, hugged and cried.

But Daniel, president of the constitutional convention, refused to announce the vote, hoping other delegates who opposed the anti-union shop proposal in the package would switch rather than see no document at all come out of seven months of labor and $3.2 million spent on the convention.

Delegates and reporters massed in front of Daniel's high desk.

"YOU'RE A LIAR"
Rep. Jim Mattox, D-Dallas, cried for a point of order, demanding that the vote be announced. When Daniel assured him the rules were being followed, Mattox shouted: "Mr. President, you're a liar!"

Rep. Hilary Doran, D-Del Rio, came to the front to say his machine recorded him as voting no when he intended to vote yes.

Daniel announced Doran's vote to great shouts. That made it 117, four short of the needed majority.

Rep. Billy Williamson, D-Tyler, switched his vote from no to yes.

It was 118.
Daniel sat down, ignoring shouts from the floor.
"If this is democracy, you can have it," said Rep. Jim Clark, D-Houston.

MINT TIME
At 11:46 p.m., with only 14 minutes to go to the mandatory midnight adjournment, Rep. Wayland Simmons, D-San Antonio, yelled back from the throng at the desk to a fellow delegate on the floor, "A hundred and 18 and holding."

Daniel stood up, half smiled, sucked on a mint and looked up at the packed gallery without raising his head. A moment later, he sat down and popped another mint in his mouth.

Charles Schnabel, secretary of the convention, stood behind Daniel with the official printing of the document under his arm, ready to be signed before midnight.

Daniel looked at the vote sheet and drummed his fingers on the desk.

At 11:52 p.m., Rep. Tom Schieffer, D-Fort Worth, pushed his way frantically through the crowd and said, "All we need is two more."

WHO IS IT?
"Who is it?" asked parliamentarian Bob Johnson.

Schieffer shook his head and refused to say who had told him he would switch if the supporters of the document could get two more. "All we need is two more," he repeated, holding out two fingers.

A minute later, Daniel said in a low voice to no one in particular, "That's the last vote of the convention."

With only five minutes to go, he stood and whispered to Schnabel.

Rep. Tom Bird, D-San Antonio, took the front microphone and pleaded, "Give us a vote on Resolution 26 (the constitution without side issues). We've got five minutes."

Daniel shuffled papers, took a drink of water, pored some more water into his glass and sipped it. He sipped again.

Convention Reaction From Officials Mixed

By The Associated Press
Former state supreme court chief justice Robert M. Calvert says he can think of two or three "prime reasons" why the constitution convention failed to produce a new constitution.

"One is the obstinacy of the pro-labor and anti-labor delegates on the right-to-work issue," said Calvert who was head of the 37-member Constitution Revision Commission that made a preliminary draft of the constitution.

"Subsidiary reasons are that all of the delegates were legislators, and that it took two-thirds majority to send the document to the voters. And I really think we also had too many delegates," Calvert said.

"Putting all those together is about the strongest reason I could give."

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said the constitution is 'the basic contract between the people and their government. The people must approve or disapprove. Therefore, the people, all the people, have the right to the final say.'

"Failure to deliver a sound document, with options to be accepted or rejected by the voters, if necessary, will darken the record of the Texas Legislature for many months to come," said an editorial in the Austin American-Statesman.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe said in a statement, "Despite the fact that the constitutional convention could not agree on a submission to the voters, it should be recognized by all Texans that the delegates worked long and hard in the face of many controversies and conflicts. I hope and believe that their labors will result in better government for Texas."

BLANCHARD 'VERY TIRED'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Doc Blanchard, D-Lubbock, collapsed Tuesday night in the final moments of the constitutional convention but later was pronounced "just tired."

Convention President Price Daniel Jr. asked over the main microphone, "Is there a doctor in the house?" Sen. Blanchard needs a doctor. If there is a doctor in the house, go to the members' lounge."

Blanchard, who underwent open heart surgery two years ago, was all right, an aide said an hour later. "He was just tired," the aide said.

Why They Think He Should Withhold Parts Of Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's lawyers are planning to urge U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica to withhold parts of 20 surrendered Watergate tapes from special prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

Nixon's chief attorney James D. St. Clair, said he expects to submit an index and analysis of the tapes to Sirica today.

St. Clair told reporters Tuesday the extent of the claimed privilege is "not significant."

The President's counsel responded to questions after delivering to Sirica the first batch of 64 taped conversations Jaworski subpoenaed.

The Supreme Court last week upheld Sirica's order that Nixon relinquish the material for his private inspection to determine which parts should be delivered to Jaworski as evidence for the Watergate cover-up trial.

After the 35-minute hearing Tuesday, St. Clair conceded that there may be at least one gap in the recorded conversations.

The recording of a meeting April 17, 1973, among Nixon and his then closest advisers, H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, is contained on two separate tape reels, St. Clair told the court.

A notation attached to the tapes indicated that the first reel ran out and was removed midway through the meeting.

"If that was the case, it would appear there may be a part of that conversation missing," said Asst. Prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste.

"I have no reason to believe that is so," St. Clair replied. "I will have to check it."

He told reporters later, "Every time you change a tape, you're going to have down time."

Sirica agreed to provide the prosecutors copies of identifying labels attached to the surrendered tapes. Ben-Veniste asked for the information to determine whether Nixon met the requirements of the subpoena in the first batch of tapes.

The set of recordings covers 20 conversations involving Nixon, Haldeman, Ehrlichman and former White House counsel John W. Dean III in March and April 1973. The White House last April made public edited transcripts of these tapes.

St. Clair now has given Sirica the 11 six-hour tape reels with the original recordings of these conversations, plus duplicate tapes of the Watergate conversations alone.

Another 13 conversations of the 64 are due in court Friday. Although Nixon still is examining those, St. Clair said he expects to meet the deadline.

The subpoena also demanded related memoranda prepared by Nixon, Haldeman, Ehrlichman and Dean. St. Clair said all the papers will be relinquished but that White House personnel are still searching for some of them.

INCLUDE STATE, LOCAL OFFICIALS Budget Breakthrough In Concept Of New Federalism

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — White House agreement to consult state and local officials in the federal budget-making process has been hailed by governors as a breakthrough in federal cooperation.

The first of a series of meetings on the budget involving state and local representatives will be in Washington shortly after Sept. 1, Kenneth R. Cole Jr., President Nixon's chief economic adviser, said Tuesday at the 1974 Western Governors Conference here.

'NEW COALITION'

"We're looking for their input, their suggestions on things to be done and where programs can be cut," Cole said in discussing the plan with Govs. Calvin L. Rampton, Utah Democrat and chairman of the National Governors' Conference, and Daniel J. Evans, Washington Republican.

Evans, chairman of the national conference last year, said the decision represented a new spirit of cooperation between the Nixon administration and other levels of government and a recognition of growing leadership at the national level by the 50 state governors.

The budget meetings will involve federal officials and the "New Coalition," a group representing the governors' conference, National League of Cities, U.S. Conference of Mayors, National Association of Counties and state legislators' organizations.

OPPORTUNITY

This will be the first time governors and local leaders have had an opportunity to present a united front at the start of the budget-writing process, Evans said.

"We will have some input from the start instead of merely being in a position of reacting to something that is handed to us," he said.

This will be particularly important next year because of President Nixon's determination to check inflation by restricting federal spending, Evans said.

"It's going to be a tough budget," he said, adding the joint decisions reached are bound to affect federal domestic policy.

The meetings, which will involve the Office of Management and Budget as well as Cole tentatively are scheduled to continue through January, when the President will unveil the budget for the fiscal year starting July 1, 1975.

JUDICIARY DEBATES Likely To Affect Future President

WASHINGTON (AP) — In its wordy windup, the House Judiciary Committee got in some debate that will affect the kind of impeachment case it takes to the House floor and possibly the Senate and may touch other presidents far into the future.

The committee considered three articles of impeachment Tuesday and adopted only one, an item recommending that President Nixon be impeached for refusing to turn over evidence it has subpoenaed.

Although it passed by only a 21-17 margin and faces rough going in the House, the subpoena article involves probably the most important constitutional issue of the impeachment controversy.

However it turns out on the floor or in a Senate trial, the subpoena question ultimately will write new constitutional law that will tell presidents just how valid the doctrine of executive privilege is in resisting impeachment.

But two other articles—Cambodian bombing and the President's income taxes—probably are just as important for the fact that they didn't pass.

Although both items were debated at length, they were defeated with solid Republican opposition and considerable Democratic defection.

INCOME TAXES

Proponents of the articles seeking impeachment for secret 1969 bombing in Cambodia and the President's underpayment of income taxes by more than $400,000 over the past four years knew they would lose before they started, but they pressed on for tactical reason.

The tax question particularly, debated in prime television time, allowed impeachment forces to fully explore one of the subjects shown by the polls to be most sensitive to the American people. If it did not pass, it was nonetheless expected to make the viewing audience just a little more susceptible to impeachment fever.

But Cambodia and taxes, and to a degree subpoenas, served another important function—allowing committee members who have been against the President on key votes since last Wednesday to vote for him in a situation where it couldn't matter less.

BLANKET BIAS

This appearance of fairness, of voting according to the issue and not a blanket bias, is important for most members of Congress in an election year in which they face one of history's most difficult decisions. Only members with the strongest constituency support voted a straight party line this past week.

Many House members also have let it be known that they would be less inclined to vote impeachment if the committee recommended what they considered frivolous, patently partisan, or unsubstantiated charges.

Many considered Cambodia, taxes and impoundment of funds in this category. Consequently, the impeachment leaders had no intention of letting them get to the floor. The latter was not even proposed in the six days of formal debate.

Gasoline Shortage? It's Sell, Sell, Sell

By The Associated Press

Gasoline shortage? Don't tell that to dealer Art Paul. He's out there pumping into the night.

"Sell, sell, sell—that's what the companies are telling us now," said Paul, taking a break Tuesday night at his Los Angeles station to comment in his capacity as president of the Gasoline Retailers Association of Southern California.

He is among some dealers around the country who report that even though television commercials are still plugging conservation of gasoline, the companies are filling service station storage tanks with gasoline allocations equal to or exceeding those of 1972.

"Every dealer in Southern California is getting as much or more than '72," Paul claimed. He said that to his knowledge, in Southern California, Mobil is supplying 105 per cent and Standard 109 per cent of 1972 deliveries.

LIKED IDEA

Dealers who liked the idea of limiting hours to get home for dinner or even take a Sunday off for fishing are finding themselves back in the thick of competitive sales.

Reports from Southern California are echoed at least in Chicago and Miami, according to survey by The Associated Press. Some oil companies admit the accounts of higher supplies and selling pressure are accurate.

A Union Oil spokesman put it this way: "We have not forced the dealers to stay open longer. We have requested them to return to the operating hours they had prior to the problems of last winter and early this year. The reason is that more gasoline is available now and we want to be able to take care of the motoring public."

In Maryland, dealers said deliveries were running from a low of 80 per cent to a high of 120 per cent of 1972 levels. Arkansas dealers said they were getting about 90 per cent of 1972 allocations.

The American Petroleum Institute, an industry trade organization, said in Washington that gasoline stocks are slightly higher than a year ago while demand is slightly lower.

56 CENTS A GAL.

No one immediately had a certain answer for reported variances in allocations, although Paul said that the heavy concentration of refineries in Southern California might be a local plus and that some regions might be slighted.

The American Automobile Association said gas prices were running on a nationwide average of 56 cents a gallon for regular and 60 cents a gallon for premium.

The API denied reports that gas prices are being supported at unnecessarily high levels by a reduction in gasoline production.

It said increased gas production would have to come from additional imports of oil and would cost more than gas produced from domestic crude oil, so production increases would not reduce the price.

Also in Washington, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon said he believes retail gas prices could drop as much as 7 cents a gallon in the next 12 months.

Bud Whitten Takes Post

HOUSTON — Donald G. "Bud" Whitten, a veteran of more than 25 years in the petroleum industry, has been appointed senior vice president, gas and oil operations, of Mitchell Energy Corp., subsidiary of Mitchell Energy & Development Corp.

Whitten has been an independent consultant since 1972 and before that was associated with American Petroleum Co. of Texas in Dallas. He has served as vice chairman of the Oil Information Committee of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association and received a special award for his service there.

Whitten was stationed in Big Spring in charge of Fina's Production activities for several years.

A graduate of the University of Oklahoma in 1956 he holds a B.S. degree in petroleum engineering.

Lanchart Has Quarter Gain

WICHITA FALLS — Lanchart Industries, Inc., Wichita Falls, Texas-based mobile home manufacturer, reported record sales volume and increased earnings for its third quarter ended June 30, 1974.

For the quarter, sales were $7,611,343 versus $6,383,669 in the comparable quarter a year ago, and net income was $189,816 compared with $161,192. Based upon 946,185 average shares outstanding, per share earnings were 20 cents versus 16 cents in last year's third quarter with 977,935 average shares outstanding.

According to board chairman Ben D. Woody, results of the third quarter in 1973 exclude $1,117,447 million in sales and $43,346 in net income which stemmed from a subsidiary that was sold by Lanchart as of June 30, 1973.

Berkley Homes, Big Spring, is a Lanchart subsidiary.

He explained that the sales figure and higher net income are particularly significant in light of generally slower mobile home sales in 1974. He pointed out that sales and profit margins of Lanchart, along with the entire industry, have been and still remain under extreme pressure from inflationary costs and high interest rates.

30-DAY WEATHER OUTLOOK MAP — This is how precipitation and temperatures for the nation shape up for the next 30 days, according to the National Weather Service.

First Methodist Plans Bible Class Building

A Bible class building, which will have enough flexibility to double as a community center, soon will be raised by the First United Methodist Church just west of its sanctuary.

The church owns the south two-thirds of the West half of the block between Fourth and Fifth and Gregg and Scurry. The building, which will serve primarily as a home for the Men's Bible Class, will abut commercial buildings on the north end of the half block and will be faced south toward an improved paved parking area. It will be placed toward the Gregg Street line, and the space between the east end of the building and the alley will be made into a recreation area.

The present building for the Men's Bible Class is now in process of being demolished, said Parham. This space will be converted to parking, too, but as with the additional new parking area, it will have landscaped islands to carry out the church's effort to help beautify the downtown area.

"The new building will serve many purposes. Not only will the men's group meet there but it can be used by civic organizations as well," said Parham. "Also, many church groups visit our church every year and sometimes they need a place to spend the night. The new building will have accommodations which hopefully will serve this purpose."

Construction will begin as soon as all the necessary materials are received. Parham stated that the church hope to have the work completed by the last of October.

Computer Theft Charges Axed

ABILENE, Tex. AP — State District Judge J. Neil Daniel Monday dismissed charges against two former Unifab employees here accused of conspiring to steal computer cards after they left the firm.

Judge Daniel acted at the request of Taylor County Dist. Atty. Ed Paynter in dismissing charges against Verle Wayne Byars, 52, of Abilene and Dennis McBride, 32, of Wichita, Kan., formerly of Abilene, Tex.

The two had been given two-year probated prison terms in Dec. 1972 after conviction on charges that they conspired to commit a theft.

On appeal the case was sent back for retrial after the appellate court ruled some of the trial testimony was inadmissible.

The case was one of the first in Texas involving computer related crimes.

The bidding:
 South West North East,
 1♥ Pass 2♥ Pass
 4♥ Pass Pass Pass
 Opening lead: King of ♠ Great brilliancies on defense are few and far between. Sometimes a simple bit of deception can be as effective, as East demonstrated here.

North did well when he elected to raise his partner's suit rather than respond one spade or one no trump. At a heart contract, he had a ruffing value because of his doubleton club, and since his hand was worth only one bid, he decided to make the response likely to be most helpful to his partner. After receiving support, South's hand revalued to 20 points, so he jumped straight to game.

West led the king of spades, and the sight of dummy did little to bring joy to East's bosom. Unless he could do something about it, dummy's spades were going to produce two tricks for declarer. He saw a ray of hope—if he could convince declarer that he held a doubleton spade, declarer might be reluctant to subject the queen of spades to being ruffed away, as he might need the lady for a discard.

To create the impression that he could ruff the third round of spades, East started an echo on the first spade by playing the nine. West continued with the ace of spades, and East completed his message by following with the two. Now, when West led a third spade, declarer took East's echo at face value. He needed the queen of spades for a diamond sluff, so he took the "marked" finesse for the jack of spades. Much to his surprise, East won the trick with the jack to complete the defensive book. The queen of spades was still there for a diamond discard, but declarer had to concede a trump trick for down one.

Note that the contract would be made if East follows routinely with the three of spades to the first trick. Best defense is for West to shift to a club at trick two. Declarer wins in hand, cashes the ace and king of trumps and leads a spade. The fourth spade takes care of declarer's losing diamond while the ace of clubs is still in dummy as an entry. Declarer loses only two spade tricks and a trump.

Putting On The Brakes

President Nixon's appeal for the American public to cut back spending during his economic speech indicated clearly that the administration has no new ideas on how to curb spiraling inflation.

Perhaps he's right this time. By decreased spending, inflation could be checked. Whether Americans can afford to stop this spending is another question.

The administration's initial laissez-faire economic policy allowed prices to shoot up at an uncontrollable rate. Then America went through a series of sputtering economic phases of wage and price control that slowed down inflation, but was no permanent solution. As soon as the controls were lifted, prices skyrocketed, placing additional pressures on the American pocketbook.

However, Congress and the American buying public have not helped the situation either. Congress continues to appropriate vast expenditures out of already drained federal coffers and Americans continue to spend all of their paycheck. This is understandable since inflation has lessened the buying power of that paycheck.

Now it's going to be up to Congress and the American public to take effective anti-inflationary actions. Since the administration apparently doesn't have any real proposals, it will take an individual effort of each American to attempt to hold back the inflationary spiral. It is imperative however, that Congress hold federal spending as well.

The administration's goal of reducing federal payrolls by 40,000 is commendable but somewhat deceptive, for this is to be accomplished solely through attrition. One of the best things that can be done is to reduce the federal bureaucracy, which will not only reduce its voracious appetite, but likely would promote its more efficient operation.

Tarnishing Charge

The long-hinted indictment of John Connally, former governor and secretary of treasury and secretary of Navy, has been reported by a grand jury in Washington. Connally vigorously denies any claim that he accepted political contributions in return for influencing decisions favoring a group of milk producers.

As with any charge, this has yet to be proven in court, and Connally says that he is confident of vindication. Sorrowfully, even the filing of an official allegation does tarnish a distinguished career of public service, for as with the old saying, if you mess around a mud puddle long enough, some of it is liable to splash on you.

Discord In GOP

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Deepening Republican malaise as the impeachment of President Nixon impends in the House transformed a private strategy session by conservative Republican Congressmen into an angry recital of complaints against both the White House and their own leaders.

THE REBELLION CAME NOT from anti-Nixon mugwumps but from the President's loyalist hardcore: the conservative Republican House faction headed by Rep. Sam Devine of Ohio and now known as "The Good Guys." Meeting for dinner July 23 at the Marriott Twin Bridges Hotel in neighboring Alexandria, Va., The Good Guys turned on presidential counselor Dean Burch and — with much greater intensity — the highly respected House Republican leader, Rep. John Rhodes of Arizona.

Thus, seemingly monolithic support for Mr. Nixon by conservative Republicans seem to be evaporating with the plunge in the President's prospects. There now are far fewer pro-Nixon enthusiasts and a growing body of potential pro-impeachment votes among The Good Guys. What this portends for the House impeachment vote and the Senate trial beyond it menaces Mr. Nixon's chances for survival.

services for the poor, a major symbol for the right, and now planned to sign the bill. These aggravations were intensified by generous applications of alcohol before dinner.

THAT COCKTAIL hour included much grumbling. Some Good Guys complained Rhodes had not been steadfast enough in defending the President. But many more conservatives grouched that Rhodes, traveling the country to raise congressional campaign funds, is not around the House enough.

Thus, when the panel discussion began, Rhodes was subjected to rough questioning. "In all my years," one amazed conservative told us, "I've never quite seen anything so wild." Rhodes, his face flushed, responded in kind with barbed comments that did not improve the climate.

WHEN ONE COLLEAGUE chided Rhodes for not answering Speaker Carl Albert's House speech attacking the Nixon administration's economic policy, the minority leader snapped back that the questioner could do it himself. When another colleague asked about plans for fighting impeachment, Rhodes retorted that the questioner was himself not committed against impeachment.

BURCH WAS NOT IMMUNE from conservative wrath. How could Burch justify Mr. Nixon's breaking his promise to veto the legal services bill? The answer was unclear, also unsatisfying. Some congressmen understood Burch to say that he wanted to veto and Gen. Alexander Haig, White House chief of staff did not and Haig won out.

THE INTENDED FEATURE OF Tuesday night's dinner was a panel discussion, featuring minority leader Rhodes and counselor Burch, on the 1974 election. But many members really expected a pep rally for the President.

The timing was inauspicious. Shortly before their dinner, the conservatives had been stunned when one of their own — Rep. Lawrence Hogan of Maryland — declared himself for impeachment. They had just been outraged by news that President Nixon was reneging on his pledge to veto a bill providing legal Adding to wood was a statement by Sen. James McClure of Idaho, considered a hard-core anti-impeachment figure, who suddenly warned that Nixon's renegeing on promises would cause conservative rebellion.

"Inflation is killing us all..."

"... So our only hope lies in getting an inflationary settlement!"

Wage Pressure Builds

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The OECD has issued its economic outlook for member countries through mid-1975, and its main conclusion needs little elaboration:

"Cooperation and consultation between governments have never been more necessary than they are today, given the unaccustomed and troubled waters on which the world economy is now embarked."

The 24-member organization, made up of the world's most active trading nations, didn't spare the details: inflation at "very high rates," growth prospects "uncertain," big oil payments deficits, rising labor costs.

In short, a grim outlook from this, the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, formed in 1960 to seek for its members the highest sustainable growth and employment, rising living standards and financial stability.

The brightest aspect of the outlook appeared to be for commodity prices, with the OECD forecasting a "marked improvement" by the end of the year. Even this good news was followed by a "however."

Labor costs, the forecaster stated, "will almost certainly cause increasing pressure on the price level as wage earners seek to re-establish former living standards and strive for at least some growth in real earnings."

Therefore, the statement continues, it is expected that "in most member countries wage pressure will produce a substantially higher rise in unit labor costs than in 1973."

No nation, the OECD makes clear, is immune from the ravages of inflation, the disruptions resulting from shortages, the demands of citizens for a higher standard of living. In these respects, the world is one.

How Far West To Go

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter, 10, has diabetes and severe sinus trouble. We have no trouble controlling the diabetes as long as the sinus does not act up, but every winter we have trouble with sinus infection. Cutting a window in the sinus for drainage did not help. Last winter she was under the care of a pediatric allergy specialist.

I have heard that prolonged stays in West Texas, New Mexico or Arizona cause sinus infections to dry up. Is this so, and if so how far west would one have to go for relief? — O.T.F.

Quite true that infections make it difficult to control diabetes and I most certainly agree that keeping after some correction of your daughter's sinus infections is important.

The seasonal flare-ups suggest allergy of some sort — house dust in the winter, mold perhaps, perhaps some other factor. It's my feeling that your present approach, seeking an allergy, is the logical one.

But I have to admit that sometimes allergies can be pretty baffling. In many cases, of course, tests for the more common allergens produce a prompt answer. And then again sometimes the allergist has to seek among the less familiar ones before finding the right answer. It can take time.

But to reply to your direct question, about trying a Western climate to "dry up" the infections — it's risky to put too much dependence on that. To be sure, it may be helpful. Then again you may find either the same or other allergens there which keep the trouble flourishing.

So before contemplating any such long stays, first consult your allergist to see what clues, if any, he can provide. Second, instead of plunging into a prolonged stay, make a test visit to one of the areas you have in mind and see whether a short stay begins to have any effect.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like to know about niacinamide, otherwise called nicotinic acid, for canker sores. My daughter has been having soreness inside the cheek for almost a year — Mrs. G.

It is also called niacin, a member of the vitamin B complex family, which is essential for proper growth and good health.

Deficiency of this in older people often is accompanied by cracking at the corners of the mouth. Niacin therapy is often helpful in such cases.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of Dr. Thosteson's newly revised booklet, explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it. For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

I am indebted to the National Hot Dog and Sausage Council for a treasury of information entitled: "Hot Dog Fact Sheet." Yes, you guessed it; this is all you ever wanted to know about the hot dog — and more.

HOWEVER, I DO confess that my conception of the hot dog was all too narrow. I assumed it to be a Frankfurter placed in a split bun and anointed with mustard. Add a dash of chili con carne to that and you had a Coney Island. But the fact sheet leads me to believe that it is the sausage itself that is the hot dog, not it plus the accoutrements.

These have a noble heritage, stretching back to the 9th century in Homer's Odyssey, by some accounts. Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany is pegged in tradition as the birthplace of a popular sausage which we know today as the frankfurter.

The hot dog is made of selected meat trimmings ground into small pieces (about 70-80 mixture of lean and fat) and then into a mixer which blends this with spices and curing ingredients into an emulsion. This is pumped into a stuffer which fills a cellulose casing that slides off the end of a snout at speed matching the emulsion. This goes to a smoker for curing and cooking, then to a stripper which pulls off the casing.

THE TRUE-BLUE hot dog can contain 15 per cent poultry meat along with beef and pork, plus water, sweetener and curing agents. Sausages which include by-products must have them so labeled, and each kind of meat must be spelled out. Eitherway, the sausage can have three and a half per cent non-meat binders and two per cent isolated soy protein.

If you want to make your own, put in 85 parts of meat, 10 parts of water, 2½ parts salt, two parts corn syrup or dextrose, half a part of flavorings (including a touch of sodium ascorbate and sodium nitrite. Smoke (cook) it; then when ready to eat, put it in water and bring to a simmer for five to 10 minutes.

A POUND of hot dog has nearly as much protein as a pound of T-bone — and no bone; one has as much protein as an egg (and one-tenth as much cholesterol). The average five-inch specimen has 150 calories.

In the United States alone 1.5 billion pounds of hot dogs sausages are manufactured each year; this represents 15 million hot dogs, or more than 41 million a day, or 72 for each person in a year's time.

NATURALLY, someone had to produce a hot dog for the records. The German Butchers Guild in the late 1600s turned out an 885-pound hot-dog type sausage a mile and a half long. A Montreal maker has a machine which will turn out 72,000 per hour, and that could make the Germans utter with great respect: "Hot Dog!"

Gardens Open Year Round

CYPRESS GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — The Cypress Gardens of Florida, open year round, feature over 9,000 varieties of plants and flowers gathered from all parts of the world. There are 1½ miles of waterways and 6,935 feet of pathways through the gardens. A water ski revue is presented four times a day and Delta Kites performances are also displayed regularly. The Cypress Gardens are near Winter Haven, 30 miles from Disney World.

MY ANSWER

Billy Graham

Would you enlighten me as to where God came from. A group of adults friends of mine argue that God came from evolution. I can't find a Biblical answer anywhere.

A.L.

The Bible uses simple words to describe the origin of God. Take Psalms 90 for example: "Lord . . . before the mountains were created, before the earth was formed, you are God without beginning or end."

Some might call that evasive. I think rather it is a statement of fact which our finite minds can grasp. Certainly it is more acceptable than the monstrosities of pagan thought.

God's nature is not subject to the law of time. God is not in time. It is more correct to say that time is in God. He conceives of all things simultaneously, but observes all things in their succession. In other words, we cannot gain from experience our idea of eternal duration in the past — for experience gives only duration that had a beginning.

Back to that opening statement. After using the past tense, the writer uses the present tense for God's identity. This is right because while we say, "I was — I am — I shall be — I will do," God can only say, "I am — I do."

Obviously no explanation of God's beginning can be totally satisfying rationally. We do know, however, He did not evolve. Part of faith is to accept His love in the here and now — while we leave to future enlightenment the understanding of His eternal nature.

A Devotion For Today..

"Seek the Lord while he may be found, call upon him while he is near." (Isaiah 55:6)

PRAYER: O Lord, whose gifts are freely poured out upon us, help us to seek and accept the gift of salvation, the gift of eternal life; through Christ our Savior. Amen.

BETTER CHANCE OF MAKING IT — This has been an exceptionally dry year in Howard County, one of the driest on record. About the only farmers assured of making a crop are irrigating. Here is a cotton field north of town benefitting from underground water.

Chronicle Suit Arguments Set

HOUSTON (AP) — Final arguments were scheduled next Tuesday in a lawsuit brought by the Houston Chronicle challenging the police department's ban on reporters' access to criminal records.

Both sides rested Tuesday and State District Court Judge Lewis Dickson gave attorneys a week to submit legal briefs and be ready for final arguments.

The Chronicle seeks a court order lifting the ban, claiming it is unconstitutional and seriously hinders the efforts by the news media to obtain background for crime stories.

POLICE STORIES

During the second day of the two day trial, two Chronicle executives said the city's policy has crippled the paper's coverage of police news.

Everett D. Collier, editor of the Chronicle, said the current policy which gives police discretion to withhold certain reports from reporters, is "very damaging to our process of news."

Zarko Franks, Chronicle city editor, said the policy has on occasion delayed publication of police stories.

Franks also said the current policy, in effect after rulings by City Atty. Jonathan and State Atty. Gen. John Hill earlier this year, hampers the paper in presenting balanced news stories about crime and criminals.

Police allow reporters to read offense reports but refuse them access to individual criminal histories.

Franks said deadlines often prevent reporters from securing the information from other sources.

OFFENSE REPORTS

Day's interpretation of the Texas Open Records Act initially closed both offense reports and criminal records to newsmen but Hill's later opinion left access to the offense reports, which contain detailed information about each alleged crime reported to police, at the discretion of Police Chief Carroll Lynn.

The Hill opinion, however, maintained that the criminal histories of individuals should not be divulged to persons other than law enforcement officials.

Day sent three police administrators and a chief records clerk to the witness stand.

The city witnesses testified that before the ruling reporters with proper credentials were allowed to see police records showing an individual's previous arrests and convictions.

Day claims that records made available to reporters should be available to the general public, too.

"If we provide criminal history files to newspapers, we must also provide them to credit agencies, insurance companies, your neighbor, my neighbor, anyone," Day said.

McAllen Fete Lures Jaycees

Five members of the Big Spring Jaycee chapter, plus one from Snyder, flew from here last weekend to McAllen for the annual recognition banquet for the Five Outstanding Young Men of Texas.

Honored were Price Daniel Jr., chairman of the constitutional convention, and speaker of the House of Representatives; Lloyd Lebermann, blind legislator, Rick Clayton, Abilene Jaycee who was last year's international president, Roy Ybarra and Bill Melton.

The occasion served as a state board meeting. Attending from here were Eddie Cole, president; Larry Miller, internal affairs vice president; Robert Robertson, external affairs vice president; Gary Davis, parliamentarian; Ben Faulkner, Jaycee international senator. They were accompanied by Kim Burton, president of the Snyder Jaycees.

'The Whole Doggone World Is New' To Former Convict

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Wesley Robert Wells is living in mansions these days, but he can't get used to sleeping with the doors unlocked.

For 36 years he never had that problem. His homes carried names like San Quentin, Vacaville, and death row.

But Wells, 65, changed his address July 2 after the state parole board decided that the convict no longer was a threat to society. He was released to the custody of the Delancey Street Foundation, a self-help group for addicts and former prisoners.

ICE CREAM

Wells now lives in the former Russian consulate, one of two Delancey Street mansions in posh Pacific Heights. His private bathroom is larger and better outfitted than the cell where he spent four years as a condemned man. He dines nearby in the former Egyptian consulate.

ing to sleep with the door unlocked," said the graying ex-convict. "The whole doggone world is new to me."

Economic, transportation and fashion changes are constant sources of wonderment to a man who has been in institutions since the age of 10.

"It cost us 50 cents for an ice cream cone," he complained. "Gave a dollar for two ice cream cones, and didn't get no money back."

Wells was equally dismayed that the parking meter had to be fed while they ate their ice cream. "I was wondering if we'd have to pay for the air we breathe," he said.

STOLEN GOODS

"Wearing clothes is different. Autos and streetcars bug me. The way they drive — everything is different," he added.

After his mother died and his sisters brought him to Los Angeles, Wells entered a juvenile hall in 1919. He went from one California Youth Authority facility to another until, at 19, he was convicted of receiving stolen goods.

"That's when I first went to San Quentin," he said. "I went in in 1926 and came out in 1941. Then back in in 1942 on a stolen car charge in Los Angeles."

Behind bars, he was convicted of manslaughter in the 1932 slaying of another inmate during a fight. In 1947, he was sentenced to death for hurling a cuspidor at a guard, breaking his jaw.

In California, a lifer convicted of assault on a prisoner or a guard would go to death row.

MESSED UP

Wells left Vacaville in grand style. He ordered a guard to open a gate and there was swept away in a Rolls-Royce. A Cadillac followed as a backup car.

Delancey Street had rented the cars for the occasion. "I'm older, wiser and better self-controlled," Wells told newsmen witnessing his departure.

PREPARE REPORT Impeachment! What Next?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Impeachment proceedings move now to staff offices and closed committee rooms for a new marshaling of forces for and against President Nixon.

The staff of the House Judiciary Committee, armed with three articles of impeachment recommended by the panel, has the first task. It must prepare a report for the full House that will cite the evidence backing up charges voted by the committee after more than six months of investigation.

The raw material of the report lies in more than 7,000 pages of information and exhibits, and additional hundreds of pages of testimony accumulated by the impeachment inquiry.

GROUND RULES

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said Tuesday night as public hearings concluded that the staff report would be ready Tuesday.

Members who disagree with committee recommendations can include their dissenting views in the report.

Just when the report will be made public has not been stated. By the start of House debate would be the latest; a few moments after getting into the hands of a leak-minded member likely would be the earliest.

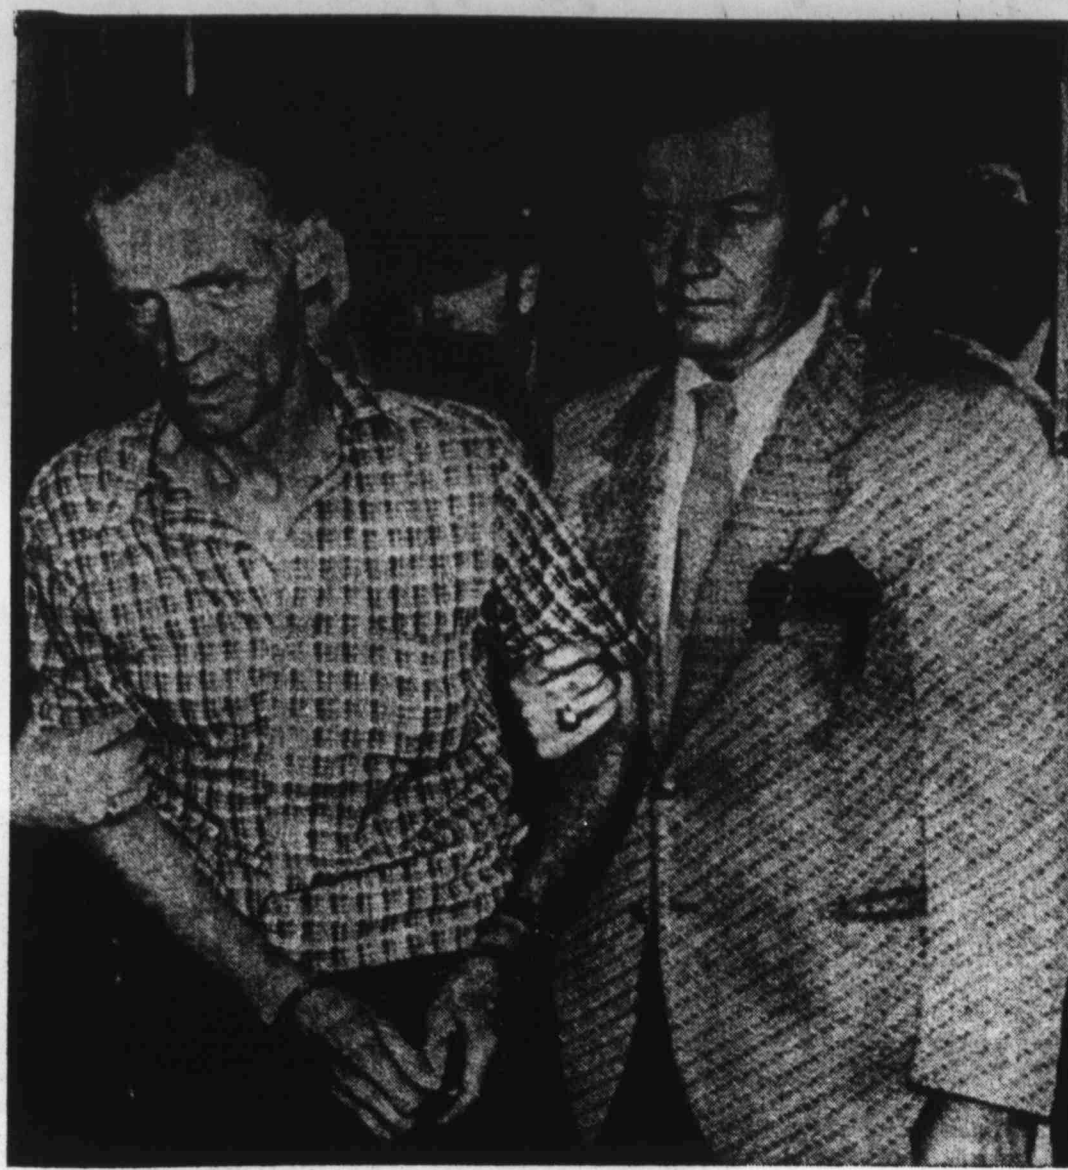

The House Rules Committee next week will set precise grounds rules for an anticipated two weeks of House debate.

100 HOURS

The House leadership is thinking in terms of 100 hours of debate, daily sessions from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., and a time span of Aug. 12 to 26.

The Senate, which would be the jury for a trial of Nixon if the House votes to impeach him or any of the three articles, already is starting its tentative planning.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger would preside at the trial, but the Senate would set the rules for matters ranging from admissibility of evidence to overruling of the presiding officer.

CHARGED WITH ARSON — An unidentified New York City police officer leads Gordon Marais 56 from the 19th precinct in Manhattan Tuesday after Marais was charged with arson, homicide and burglary in connection with fires at three Manhattan churches Monday night. A Roman Catholic priest, the Rev. Thomas Smith, 71, died at New York Hospital Monday night of smoke inhalation after one of the fires.

Police Chief Fired After Cops, Dog Catcher Quit

CLEVELAND, Tex. (AP) — City councilmen fired Police Chief Bill Stuckey Tuesday night, 24 hours after all five Cleveland policemen, four civilian dispatchers and the animal warden resigned.

Council members, meeting in special session, first asked Stuckey, chief or acting chief for about seven years, if he was going to resign his $850 a month post.

"No," he replied, "I'm going to have to be fired."

The councilmen said Stuckey was dismissed for failure to cooperate with them and with the city manager.

The entire police department staff walked off the job Monday night in protest against what the officers called poor pay, long working hours and "harassment" from City Manager T. A. Boothe.

Boothe said he had not interfered with operations of the police department.

Stuckey said earlier he was in sympathy with the officers and would resign if he could not reach a compromise with city officials over operation of the department.

Stuckey said the officers' average pay was $450 to $650 a month and they often worked 10 to 12 hours a day.

Liberty County sheriff's officers and Texas highway patrolmen were giving the town's 6,000 residents protection, Stuckey said.

Loss In Vacation Trade Felt By Some Motels

Smaller motels are not doing as great a business as last year but the larger franchised motels are doing "business as usual," These varied reports come in the light of forecasted gasoline shortages and the higher price being paid for gas when it can be found.

Inflation, which brings with it higher costs for food and entertainment, can also be blamed for any decreases in the tourist business. People are traveling shorter distances than they did last year and many are taking their vacations at home.

In a survey with several managers in Big Spring, it was learned that most motels were worried as summer approached as to whether or not business would take a turn for the worst. Now at mid-summer the facts are in and are proving interesting.

Independent motels suffering from lack of business are blaming the gasoline crisis as the culprit behind decreased room occupancy.

Franchised motels reporting little or no loss in rooms rented indicate that they, too, believe that the situation could become bad for business but until now they have not felt the crunch.

Motels in a neighboring town are reporting a ten per cent decrease in business from last year.

Pending Cases Grow In Court

The five criminal cases disposed of in county court during June were guilty pleas in drunk driving cases.

With six appeals and 21 new cases filed by County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eysen Jr., the county court criminal docket grew from 1,332 to 1,354 pending cases.

Pending at month's end were 170 driving while intoxicated, 324 worthless check, 7 marijuana possession and 833 miscellaneous cases.

In the civil docket, one case was filed and County Judge A. G. Mitchell disposed of one case. Total civil docket case count stayed at 165.

BIG SPRING HERALD

(AP WIREPHOTO)

SENATE'S STAR — Sen. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., a major star of the 1973 televised Senate Watergate hearings, says he has been too busy to watch much of the House Judiciary Committee's impeachment hearing. Baker, who has been sampling public opinion in his state, says the discussions he has watched left him with a "pretty fair" impression of the committee.

Postal No-Man's Land Triggers Mail Revolt

SANDERSON, Tex. (AP) — There are two ways to send a letter the 20 miles from here to Dryden: let the U.S. Post Office pack it on a 1,200-mile bureaucratic odyssey or give it to Herbert Brown who'll drop it off when he goes to work.

Although the two West Texas towns are practically within a coyote howl, the U.S. Post Office has separated them with the ultimate demarcation: a zip code line.

It means no mail trucks go east from Sanderson, Zip 79848, to Dryden, Zip 78840, or vice versa. The truck from El Paso stops at Sanderson and turns around while the truck from San Antonio pivots at Dryden.

Which makes a 20-mile postal no-man's-land.

If you live in Dryden and correspond with someone in Sanderson, your letter first goes east to San Antonio, then west way over to El Paso and back east to Sanderson.

Some persons, like rancher Herbert Brown, think that's ridiculous.

So Brown, who ranches in Dryden but lives in Sanderson, has started ferrying mail between the cities. So do other commuters, who drop inter-city mail in a big box at either end.

Now delivery is in one day instead of three.

The Sanderson Post Office and Dryden both feel the competition. Sanderson Postmaster Ray Hodgkins says people in his city who want to get a letter east to San Antonio just give it to the commuter run-instead of letting the federal system send it careening around the state.

This fall, the cities will modernize their system by putting the mail on a school bus.

"We have to pay the price of living off where we do," reflected a postal worker.

UTPB Mobile Registration Unit Due Here

The UT Permian Jornada will arrive in Big Spring Thursday. The mobile admissions office will set up in the Texas Electric Service Company parking lot at Fifth and Rannels and will be open from 5 till 9 p.m.

Any student with 54 or more hours from any accredited junior college, college or university can attend UT Permian. Not especially for the transfer student, this university retains your grades from other universities as they were earned. Students can be accepted on the spot if a transcript can be presented. An admissions representative will be available to evaluate transcripts.

Tour To End At Jump Site

W. L. (Buck) McMullen and Coy J. McCann, co-owners of Two-M Enterprises Inc., will leave Monday to begin a zig zag tour of several western states. The tour is designed to promote and sell commemorative of the up-coming motorcycle jump of Evel Knievel.

The tour will begin in Dallas where the two will pick up a motor home that has been painted and decorated in Evel Knievel colors. From Dallas the two will travel to Amarillo and then on into Oklahoma.

The western tour will take the two to Nevada, Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, California, Oregon and finally to Idaho. It will be at Twin Falls, Idaho, where Knievel will attempt his historic jump of the Snake River canyon.

Cash And Checks Lost To Thugs

A burglary at the Premier Service Station, 610 Lamesa Drive, was reported to Big Spring police by Clay Harris at approximately 8:45 p.m., Monday.

Patrolman Raymond Bedford investigated, reporting that entry to the station had been gained by prying tin from a small rear window. Reported missing was $135 in cash and $2.35 in checks.

Play Destroys Sox In Ninth; Rangers Lose

By The Associated Press
 Detroit Manager Ralph Houk thinks rookie catcher Tim Lincecum's attempted pickoff would have been a heck of a play. But it wasn't and Boston Manager Darrell Johnson says he doesn't expect to see it ever again.

"I guess you might call it inexperience, but this should happen only once," Johnson said after the Red Sox lost 7-5 to Detroit when two runs scored on Blackwell's wild throw with two out in the ninth.

In other American League games, the Cleveland Indians beat the Baltimore Orioles 8-6, the Minnesota Twins topped the Kansas City Royals 7-3, the Chicago White Sox edged the California Angels 3-2 in 10 innings, the Milwaukee Brewers swept the New York Yankees 3-0 in 10 innings and 4-0 and the Oakland A's trounced the Texas Rangers 11-3.

The Red Sox went into the ninth leading 5-3 when Gary Sutherland singled and Al Kaline homered. Then with two out and Jim Northrup, who had doubled, on third and pinch-hitter Ben Oglivie on first, Oglivie broke for second.

Backwell, pressed into service a month ago when Carlton Fisk suffered a knee injury, faked a throw to second and then threw wildly past third, allowing three runners to score. It was Boston's fifth error.

Indians 7, Orioles 2
 The Indians built a winning 7-2 margin with five runs, only two of them earned, in the seventh. In that inning, the Orioles committed three errors, two by first baseman Boog Powell, who also had a single bounce off his glove.

Twins 7, Royals 3
 Kansas City's shortstop Fred Patek also had a rough time in the field, committing three errors. Runs scored on two of them. Harmon Killebrew and Larry Hisle homered for the Twins.

Big Spring Attains Finals In Tourney

MIDLAND — Bill Battle's Big Spring Kiwanians mopped up on two opponents in the District 6 Hi-Junior Baseball Tournament here Tuesday.

The Kiwanians nudged the Odessa Radiators, 3-2, and then rocked the tournament with a 4-3 success at the expense of the undefeated Midland Mavericks in the second round.

Midland had won 16 straight games going into the action and was a heavy favorite in the meet.

Blanked until the sixth, the Big Spring team erupted for three runs in that round to deadlock the score at 3-3 and then won it in the seventh when Gary Roberts singled home Kent Newsom.

In the Kiwanians' big sixth, back-to-back singles by Dick Battle and Andy Anderson and Kenneth McMurtrey's two-out triple enabled Big Spring to climb back into contention against Midland.

Carroll opened Big Spring's sixth by popping out. Battle and Anderson then singled. Kim Wrinkle skied to the infield for the second out but McMurtrey then lashed his triple. The center fielder made a diving stab at it but missed. McMurtrey then scored on a wild pitch, at which time Mark Moore was at bat.

In the seventh, Newsom gained a life on a base on balls. Warren followed with a one-baser. Roberts, who bats left, hit a ball that appeared to be foul but caromed back into fair territory before it cleared third base and Newsom steamed home. There were no outs at the time.

Each of the teams collected seven hits. Mark Moore was the winning pitcher, Billy Shock the loser. Moore whiffed nine and walked four.

His ninth strikeout arrived at a crucial time. Midland had runners at second and third with two in the seventh inning when Moore elbowed a third strike against the batter.

K. C. Nix banged a double and Scooter Ray a triple for Midland. Warren paced Big Spring at bat with two singles.

Odessa tied the score against Big Spring in the first game with a two-run surge in the third but the Kiwanians came back with the winning tally in the fifth.

Pat Carroll, on the mound for Big Spring, scattered five Odessa hits effectively. His record is an impressive 9-0 now. Ricky Ross (9-1) was the loser. Carroll fanned eight and issued no walks.

Ray Don Box clouted a double for Big Spring. McMurtrey hit his first triple of the day for the Kiwanians and would up with two hits in the contest.

Midland earned the right to oppose Big Spring by trouncing Abernathy in its opening test, 16-0. Odessa later ousted Abernathy, 5-4. Odessa used a squeeze play to edge by Abernathy.

Big Spring plays the winner in the Odessa-Midland game in tonight's second contest. Should the Kiwanians lose that one, a third game would be needed to determine the winner.

The Kiwanians will be vying for a place in the State Tournament, which starts in Monahan's Aug. 6.

Miller Enters Sutton Meet

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Johnny Miller, pro golf's biggest winner this year, was expected to make a late arrival today to play in the $200,000 Pleasant Valley Classic.

Miller who hasn't played in this country since the U.S. Open more than a month ago, telephoned tournament officials from his home in Napa, Calif. and told them he definitely expected to compete in the 72-hole test that begins Thursday.

Miller, winner of five tournament titles and more than $204,000 this year, filed his entry at the last moment. He had planned to play in the Canadian Open last week but withdrew just before the first round. His wife, Linda, is expecting their third child.

Miller was expected to arrive today in time for a late afternoon start in the pro-am event. He was scheduled to start from the 10th tee at the same time that Vice President Gerald Ford will be teeing off from No. 1.

The vice president is playing with pro Dave Stockton, a two-time winner of this event. Speaker of the Massachusetts House David Bartley also is in the amateur field and will play with pro Al Geberger.

Morton To Start For Dallas Club

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Veteran Craig Morton will be the starting quarterback Saturday night when the Dallas Cowboys open their National Football League season in Oakland.

Coach Tom Landry gave the nod to Morton, a perennial backup man behind Roger Staubach, over rookies Clint Longley of Abilene Christian and Marty Ginestra of Temple.

Morton reported to camp early in the week. He's playing out his option and will be with the Houston Texans of the World Football League in 1975.

Members of the committee are Touchstone, Jack Gully, Johnny Ward, Doug Simpson, Nobles and Ken Sprinkle.

A family picnic will be held in conjunction with the tournament at Oak Creek starting at 6:30 p.m. The tournament will begin the Top 15 competition and places one through five will be awarded.

In addition, the club's Big Bass Prize will be presented at the conclusion of competition. The Top 15 fishermen of the past year are Vic Keys, Jim Madden, Jerry Avery, Touchstone, Tom Henry, Sprinkle, Jim Dudley, Jerry Dudley, Ted Hicks, Simpson, Nobles, Joyce Grigg, Bill Grigg and Jim Woods.

The regular Bass Club meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 8, in the First Federal building, starting at 7:30 p.m. A door prize will be awarded.

Keys is the newly elected president of the club. Other officers include Touchstone, first vice president; Sprinkle, second vice president; Mrs. Simpson, secretary; and Mrs. Touchstone, reporter.

Reggie Smith Feasts On Phillie Pitching

By The Associated Press
 Reggie Smith Jr., age six, likes to see home runs—especially when they're hit by his dad.

On the other hand, the Philadelphia Phillies have seen quite enough, thank you.

The senior Smith, St. Louis's slugging outfielder, slammed two home runs and a triple Tuesday night, driving in all four Cardinals runs in a 4-3 victory over the first-place Phillies, which moved St. Louis to within one game in the National League East.

Reggie Jr. has been traveling with his father on the Cardinals' current road trip. The tyke complained that his dad wasn't hitting enough home runs; Smith hadn't homered since July 1.

After the win, the Cardinals' fourth straight and eighth in nine games, Smith said that during extra batting practice he discovered he was dropping his shoulder and corrected it.

Smith is batting .318. Elsewhere in the National League, the Montreal Expos edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3 in 10 innings; the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the New York Mets 6-0 before losing the second game of a twin bill 4-3; the San Francisco Giants erupted for three runs in the 12th inning and beat the Atlanta Braves 6-3; the Houston Astros defeated the Cincinnati Reds 8-4, and the Los Angeles Dodgers blanked the San Diego Padres 8-0.

Expos 4, Cubs 3
 Mike Jorgensen's two-run single in the 10th inning gave the Montreal Expos a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The Expos had loaded the bases in the 10th and Jorgensen, greeter legend Oscar Zamora with his game-winning hit.

Pirates 8-4, Mets 0-4
 Pittsburgh's Jim Rooker blanked the Mets on five hits in the opener, but New York's Terry Kosman came back to stop Pittsburgh on five hits in the second game.

Richie Hebner singled twice, knocked in one run and scored two for the Pirates in the opener. In the second game, Cleo Jones doubled home Jerry Grote with the winning run, Jr. in the eighth.

Tommy Perez hit his 19th homer to tie the bench for the Reds' team lead in the seventh.

Lee May, a former Reds player, batted in three runs on two hits, including a bases-loaded double in the third inning, after being moved to the cleanup spot in the lineup by Houston Manager Preston Gomez.

"It don't make no difference to me where I hit," said May, who lives in Cincinnati. "The same pitcher is out there.

"But I'm a different type hitter against Freddie. I give up power. If you go for the home run against him you're dead. He can make you look like a fool."

Norman, who was tagged for Cesar Cedeno's 22nd home run and rookie Cliff Johnson's sixth, said, "I didn't feel right out there. My screw ball wasn't that good and I had to rely on the fast ball."

Sparky Anderson Chafes After Loss To Houston

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — "We've got to get it straightened out," Cincinnati Reds Manager George "Sparky" Anderson said Tuesday night after his team dropped its second game in a row.

The Houston Astros took the measure of starter Fred Norman 8-4 as the Reds continued to slip off the pace in the National League West. Cincinnati now has dropped five and one-half games behind the Dodgers.

The Reds have seven games to play on the West Coast, including three with the Dodgers, after closing the home series tonight with Houston.

Lee May, a former Reds player, batted in three runs on two hits, including a bases-loaded double in the third inning, after being moved to the cleanup spot in the lineup by Houston Manager Preston Gomez.

"It don't make no difference to me where I hit," said May, who lives in Cincinnati. "The same pitcher is out there.

"But I'm a different type hitter against Freddie. I give up power. If you go for the home run against him you're dead. He can make you look like a fool."

Norman, who was tagged for Cesar Cedeno's 22nd home run and rookie Cliff Johnson's sixth, said, "I didn't feel right out there. My screw ball wasn't that good and I had to rely on the fast ball."

Norman (10-10) went to the showers in the fifth inning after giving up seven hits to the Astros, whom he has beaten three times this year.

John Bench hit a two-run homer in the first inning. Johnson's homer came in the second, and May doubled to make it 3-2 in the third. May doubled another run home in the fifth and scored on Bob Watson's single. Cedeno homered in the sixth and Don Wilson's two-run single in the seventh ended the scoring for Houston.

Perez hit his 19th homer to tie the bench for the Reds' team lead in the seventh.

Lee May, a former Reds player, batted in three runs on two hits, including a bases-loaded double in the third inning, after being moved to the cleanup spot in the lineup by Houston Manager Preston Gomez.

"It don't make no difference to me where I hit," said May, who lives in Cincinnati. "The same pitcher is out there.

San Angelo North Wins Bi-District Playoff

San Angelo North got off a flying start, banking two runs in the 'hello' round, and went on to topple Midland North, 4-1, in Little League bi-district play in a game played in the American League park here Tuesday night.

The success enabled the Angloans to qualify for a trip to the State Tournament, which takes place in Waco Aug. 5-10.

Each team managed six hits but the Concho City gang used its blows to better advantage.

Midland escaped a shutout by scoring its lone run in the fifth inning.

Danny Rosales and Ricky Perez of the San Angelo team clouted doubles.

Veteran Placed On NBA Waivers

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Otto Moore, a six-year veteran, has been placed on waivers by the Kansas City-Omaha Kings of the National Basketball Association.

Moore, 6-foot-11 backup center, played in 65 games for the Kings last season. He saw considerable action while Sam Lacey, the Kings' No. 1 center, was sidelined with injuries.

If no other NBA team picks up Moore's contract, he will become a free agent.

Texans Host Florida Club

HOUSTON (AP) — Bob Davis and Mike Tallafiero, a pair of former New York Jets substitute quarterbacks, were expected to oppose each other tonight when the Houston Texans host the Florida Blazers in World Football League game in the Astrodome.

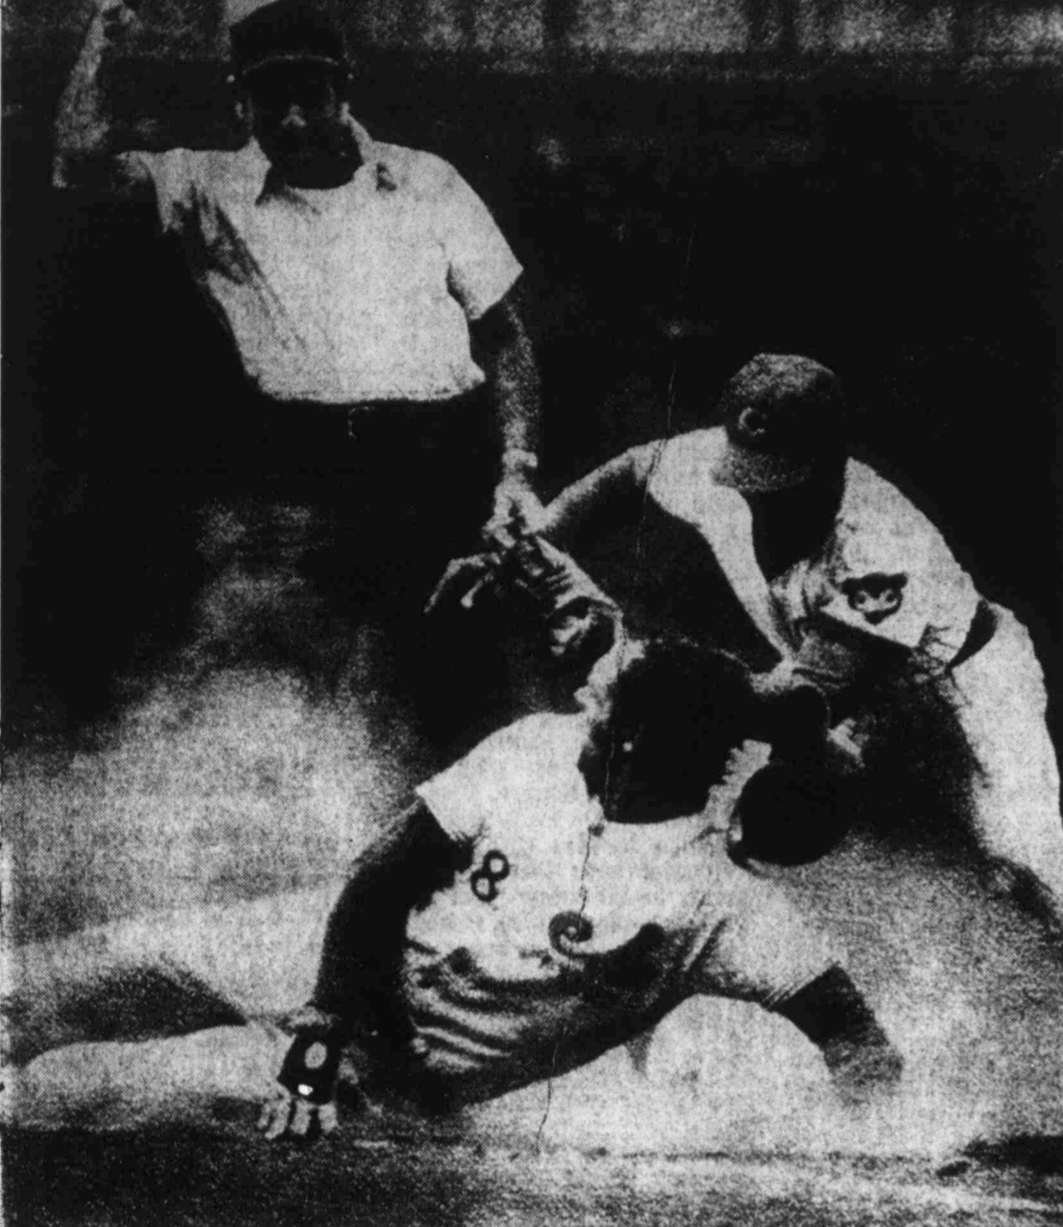

The game is the second home game for the Texans who drew an announced 26,227 for a "nickel beer night" opener July 17. This one is "nickel hot dog night."

Lee May, a former Reds player, batted in three runs on two hits, including a bases-loaded double in the third inning, after being moved to the cleanup spot in the lineup by Houston Manager Preston Gomez.

"It don't make no difference to me where I hit," said May, who lives in Cincinnati. "The same pitcher is out there.

"But I'm a different type hitter against Freddie. I give up power. If you go for the home run against him you're dead. He can make you look like a fool."

Norman, who was tagged for Cesar Cedeno's 22nd home run and rookie Cliff Johnson's sixth, said, "I didn't feel right out there. My screw ball wasn't that good and I had to rely on the fast ball."

Norman (10-10) went to the showers in the fifth inning after giving up seven hits to the Astros, whom he has beaten three times this year.

John Bench hit a two-run homer in the first inning. Johnson's homer came in the second, and May doubled to make it 3-2 in the third. May doubled another run home in the fifth and scored on Bob Watson's single. Cedeno homered in the sixth and Don Wilson's two-run single in the seventh ended the scoring for Houston.

Perez hit his 19th homer to tie the bench for the Reds' team lead in the seventh.

Foolish Girl

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I just read a letter from that foolish girl who was miserable because she had a big nose and a small bosom.

Where has she been? Big noses and flat chests are IN! Look at Barbara Streisand. She's got a real beak on her, but after a while it sort of grows on you.

And how about Princess Ann? She doesn't have a little button nose either, but you don't see her getting it bobbed.

As for the small bosoms, just look at all the fashion models. Not one of them wears a bra, because they have nothing to put in it.

So tell all the girls who are unhappy with their big noses and small bosoms to cheer up. They're in style!

NO COMPLAINTS
DEAR NO: All right, girls, no more crying in your 32 A cups. You could win by a nose.

DEAR ABBY: Is it possible for a person to serve a prison term for another person who has been tried and sentenced?

I realize this is a strange question, but I really must know. If this is possible can more than one person serve the time in place of another? In other words, may twelve people serve one month each to cover a year's sentence of another? If this can be done, how would one go about volunteering?

KANSAS QUESTION
DEAR QUESTION: In the U.S.A., each person must serve his own sentence.

DEAR ABBY: How can

a wife tactfully refuse invitations from a wonderful person who has a terrible bore for a husband? I met this woman through our children. School events and community projects brought us together. She's a fine woman with a charming, outgoing personality and I enjoy her company.

She invited my husband and me to her home for dinner, and afterwards my husband said, "Please don't ever subject me to another evening with those people. He is the worst bore I've ever met!" Naturally I've never invited them back.

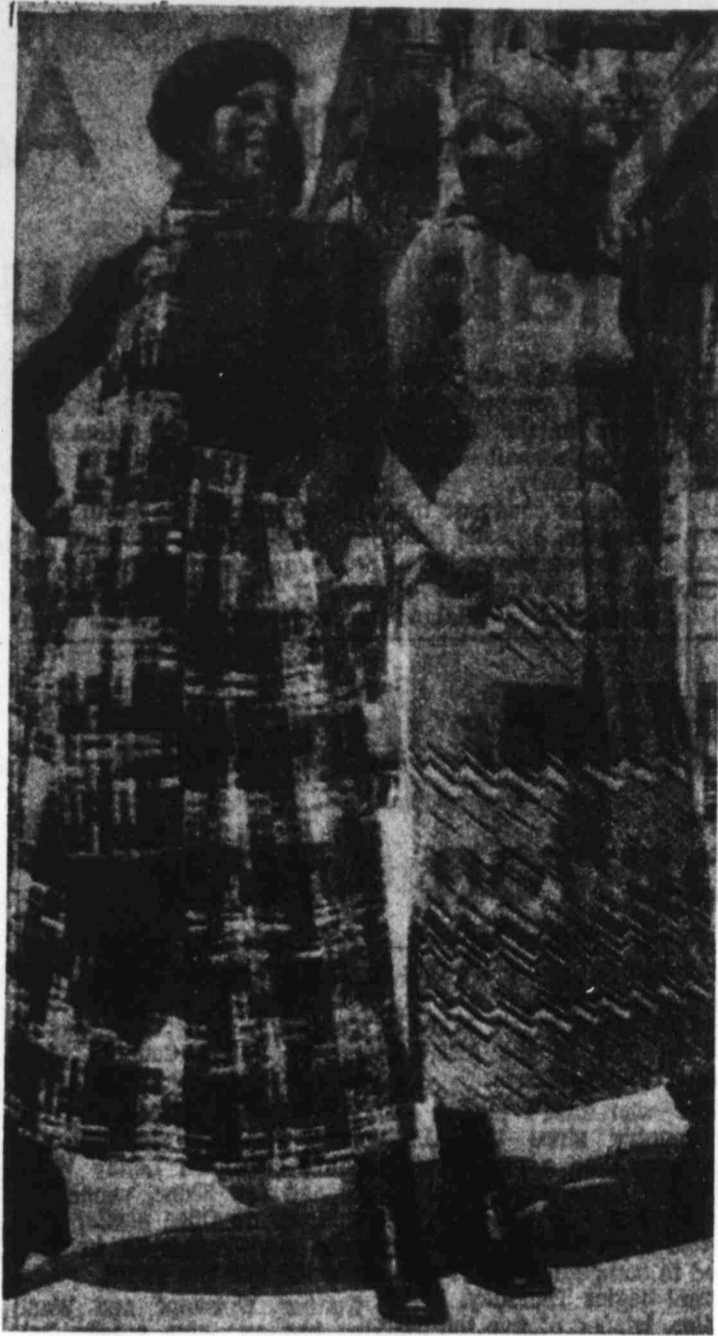

Abby, now I feel so guilty when I see this woman. I owe her a dinner invitation, but I can't reciprocate, knowing how my husband feels.

EMBARRASSED
DEAR EMBARRASSED: Include this couple with other couples to reciprocate their hospitality. After that, see the lady during the daytime, and spare your husband.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to that Ph.D who claimed he had traveled all over the world and had been in the company of ambassadors, etc., and that he didn't know what R.S.V.P. meant: Everybody knows it means "Rented suits very proper."

C. FELTON: ALHAMBRA, CAL.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. Enclosed stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Jim Bill Little Home Scene Of Gift Shower

Miss Kay Morehead, future bride of David

Clinkscales, was honored recently with a kitchen shower in the home of Mrs. Jim Bill Little, with cohostesses being Miss Pam Little, Miss Beverly Pearce and Mrs. Harold Pearce.

The honoree, her mother, Mrs. Jimmy Morehead; and her fiance's mother, Mrs. Jack Clinkscales, were presented corsages made of gingham flowers and small kitchen utensils. Miss Morehead was attired in a long green dress with white ruffled collar.

The serving table was covered with a yellow and white checked gingham cloth, and the centerpiece was a white basket of gingham flowers in colors of yellow, blue and white. Crystal serving pieces were used.

Engaged Couple Is Honored

A garden party honoring the bridal attendants of Miss Jill Forrest and Bobby Heith was held Saturday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy McCann, 2307 Roberts.

The refreshment table was accented with a floral runner and a centerpiece of ivy in a clay pot. Yellow and orange colored serving pieces were used. Miss Forrest was attired in a green pant suit.

Guests from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. Chris Scharbauer and Miss Jeanette Thompson, all of Midland; and Darrell Morgan, Granbury.

Miss Forrest and Bobby Heith will be married Aug. 10 at Wesley Methodist Church.

Vickie Hodnett Given A Shower

Miss Vickie Lou Hodnett, bride-elect of Airman Walter T. Bumbulis, was honored Tuesday evening at the Pioneer Flame Room with a bridal shower.

Corsages of white carnations tied with lavender ribbons were presented to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Grady Hodnett. The honoree was attired in a pink sleeveless net dress styled with a rounded neck.

The refreshment table was covered with a yellow lace cloth and centered with a candelabra of yellow tapered candles and surrounded by yellow roses and miniature yellow, white, and lavender flowers.

Miss Kayle Hodnett, sister of the honoree, and Mrs. C. C. Cline assisted in displaying the gifts. Hostesses were Miss Pam Daniels, Miss Temple McDaniels, Miss Robin Lewis, Mrs. Cline, Mrs. Monty McGuire, Mrs. Sam Lewis and Mrs. M. F. Hodnett.

Miss Hodnett and Bumbulis will be married Aug. 9 at First Methodist Church.

Mrs. L. Thomas Is Guest Here

Mrs. Lynette Thomas of Bend, Ore. is visiting her mother, Mrs. C. M. Sullivan, 1300 Lexington, and her grandmother, Mrs. H. T. Moore, 510 E. 16th. She plans to be in Big Spring until Aug. 3.

Girl Scouts Prepare Art Entries For Fair

Girl Scouts are putting finishing touches to art entries for the Girl Scout Division of the Woman's Show at the West Texas Fair in Abilene.

Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts are assembling "Memories from Summer" consisting of rock critters, collages, twig creatures as well as leaf, string, stamp, plaster, carbon and nature prints and crayon rubbings.

'Pounding' For Bride

An old-fashioned "pounding" was held Monday for Miss Jill Forrest, bride-elect of Bobby Heith, in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Taylor, with Mrs. James Cape as cohostess.

The honoree was attired in a blue and white checked pantsuit. Corsages made of miniature straw baskets holding multi-colored flowers were presented to Miss Forrest and both mothers, Mrs. Dean Forrest and Mrs. R. L. Heith.

Refreshments were served from a polished table appointed with brass and copper and centered with a multi-colored arrangement. Guests included the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. James Jones of Stanton, and the prospective bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. W. M. Gage.

The couple will be married Aug. 10 in Wesley Methodist Church.

Initiation Slated By Rebekahs

Mrs. Dwite Gilliland, noble grand, presided at the meeting of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 Tuesday evening in the IOOF Hall.

It was announced that Mrs. James Norman will be initiated as a new member Tuesday evening at the IOOF Hall at 7 p.m. There will be practice for the degree team Thursday evening at 7 p.m. at the IOOF Hall.

Mrs. Travis Melton presented Mrs. Jewel Fields with a certificate for a perfect semi-annual secretary's report. Mrs. Ivan Collins, district deputy, gave lodge instruction.

The refreshment committee for August is composed of Mrs. J. E. Brown, Mrs. Beulah Morrison and Mrs. Joe Jacobs.

phone and age group on the back only. They will be judged the afternoon of Sept. 5 and will be on display all this week. Entries must be picked up Sept. 9 between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. Entry blanks are available at the local Girl Scout Office.

"Country" Look Is Leading Trends In Furniture Styles

The design, size, color, shape, feel — in short, the look that you like can be found in home furnishings this summer. Manufacturers bringing out new and renewed lines at the Dallas Market Center's Summer Home Furnishings Market in July offered wider range and higher quality in furniture, floorcoverings and decorative accessories in response to the consumer's growing demand for the functional, the comfortable, the good looking in better quality home furnishings.

Upgrading of manufactured goods has been going on for the past year due to the pressure of rising costs which can be more easily absorbed into higher priced furniture, and the homemakers' desire for longer lasting, higher fashion furnishings. Inflation is inadvertently serving the cause of conservation because the process of supply and demand can no longer tolerate planned obsolescence.

Along with the trend towards upgrading, is a trend towards the eclectic in furniture styles. No one fashion in home furnishings dominates the scene as Mediterranean did just a short while ago.

The leading trend in furniture right now is the "country" look. But, "country" means anything from Early American to French Provincial these days. What is clear is that Americans are creating environments for themselves that are casual, less formal than previous generations. And, they're spending more time at home in the family room which is the single most important room in the house today.

The Bi-Centennial has greatly influenced the upsurge of interest in Early American styles. Companies such as Simmons have come out with lines like Charleston reproductions in the formal vein of Early American. But, the simpler and quaint groups in dark and light finishes are also a big seller.

What is called country can be traced to many sources including the English and French Provincial, and just plain old-hewn designs that depend on wood for their effect.

Wood has become more important in furniture manufacturing with the move away from plastic embellishments or the "borax" treatment and the rising cost of certain types of plastics. And then too, wood has a solid and durable reputation that homemakers are looking for this year.

One trend that promises to develop many new style treatments is the growing fidelity to materials — if it's wood, then the most is gotten out of its particular grain, color, weight, texture. If it's plastic, then it should be used as plastic and not as a substitute for wood which hopefully will free designers from the restraints of copying and allow them to utilize this material as it alone can be used. Metals of all kinds are popular, with the mixing of metals still a design trend.

GROUNDING STEW — Normie Kane, 29, of Miami pumps gas at a filling station which is a far cry from her usual job of stewardess for National Airlines. When the machinists strike shut down flying operations, Normie, a University of Michigan graduate, accepted a job taking care of cars instead of passengers.

Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Wed., July 31, 1974 7-B

Cool Front Tapers Off

Rains which accompanied the downstate march by a welcome cool front tapered off across Texas today but there still were a few showers in several sections.

By early morning the frontal system lay nearly stalled along a line linking Longview, San Antonio and Cotulla. It was expected to start dissipating without much further effect.

Light rain fell again, however, near Junction, in an area from Greenville and Dallas southward past Waco and between Victoria and Alice.

Skies cleared over the western half of the state while clouds lingered nearby everywhere else.

Temperatures near dawn ranged from 62 degrees at Dalhart and 63 at Amarillo in the Panhandle up to 79 at Del Rio and Victoria in the south.

Thanks to the influx of cooler air, many points stayed 10 to 15 degrees cooler Tuesday afternoon than during the recent and prolonged siege of 100-plus weather. Alice with 101 was the hottest spot in the state and Lubbock the coolest with a maximum of 80.

Fair weather was forecast in Northwest Texas. It was expected to be at least partly cloudy elsewhere with scattered thundershowers in the afternoon and evening.

Federal Mortgages At Low Interest Rates Proposed

CHICAGO (AP) — The president of the Carpenters Union, whose members have been hard hit by the slump in housing construction, says federal mortgages at low interest rates should be provided to combat skyrocketing mortgage rates.

TIME HAS COME

William Sidell told 2,500 delegates to the union's 1974 convention on Tuesday that the time has come "to remove the housing industry from the free enterprise banking system."

"In its place, I propose that the federal government broaden the Federal Housing Administration and provide funds directly to the citizen" at interest rates "in the 4 or 5 per cent category."

Current mortgage interest rates are about double those sought by Sidell.

He described his proposal as a way out for his 850,000 members, who have an unemployment rate estimated at 12 per cent because of the housing slump.

Officials of the National Association of Home Builders reported 2 million housing starts in 1973, but current seasonally adjusted estimates call for a decrease of 597,500 units in 1974. June housing starts were 26 per cent below last year's 1,585,000.

$9.39 AN HOUR

Sidell, a member of President Nixon's Construction Industry was responsible for wage controls in building trades unions, is an advocate of union restraint in wage negotiations.

But union officials blame much of the decrease in housing starts on high interest rates and land costs, rather than high wages. They say that in 1949 land costs and interest charges added up to 16 per cent of the cost of a house and today are nearly triple—47 per cent.

Carpenters' wages, at an average of $9.39 an hour and about $6.50 an hour when the into account, are not out of shorter working season is taken into account, are not out of line, the union says.

(RIPE FOR DISCUSSION)

Sidell said his proposal would provide more equitable mortgage payments to the homebuyer, an accelerated housing industry and a possible tax reduction resulting from cheaper financing for federal building projects.

Robert A. Georgine, director of the AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department, told a newsman the idea, similar to the one advocated by AFL-CIO President George Meany, was "ripe for discussion."

The proposal was criticized, however, by a spokesman for the United States League of Savings Associations, who said it would add to inflation by increasing federal spending.

OIL REFINING EXPERT Thinks Days Are Limited For Unleaded Gasoline

HOUSTON (AP) — An oil refining and marketing expert believes the days are limited for both the catalytic mufflers on new 1975 automobiles and the unleaded gasoline they require.

"It would appear to me a more satisfactory engine to meet environmental requirements can be developed in three to five years," said W.H. Burnap, an executive vice president of Continental Oil Co.

THING OF PAST

"I would think that three to five years from now that no-lead gasoline will practically be a thing of the past."

With the approach of 1975 model automobiles and their catalytic mufflers, the Environmental Protection Agency required service stations selling more than 200,000 gallons of gasoline a year to start selling an unleaded grade by July 1.

Burnap said at a Tuesday news conference there has been wide industry concern about unleaded gasoline ever since the EPA began developing the new regulations.

"We probably lose four, five, or six per cent of the crude oil in working it over to meet the no lead standards," he said.

"Also, one trouble with the catalytic muffler is it turns the sulphur in gasoline into sulphuric acid. The EPA is concerned about this and reportedly wants a drastic reduction."

NO PROOF

Burnap said several government studies also indicate the no-lead requirement may be around only long enough to permit development of more efficient engines.

"For one, an EPA study indicates there is no proof of harmful health effects from lead," Burnap said.

He added that a study ordered by William Simon, former head of the Federal Energy Office, called for a reevaluation of the situation.

It was estimated Continental has spent $35 million and the industry as a whole $1 billion in meeting the no lead requirement.

"That $1 billion figure is about what it would cost to build a new 300,000 barrels a day refinery but it has been spent with no increase in domestic refining capacity," Burnap said. "And to take the sulphur out of gasoline it would be 50 per cent more expensive than it has been to take out the lead."

Burnap was asked if a transition status of only a few years for no lead gasoline and catalytic mufflers would mean an industry loss of the $1 billion in total expenditures.

"Essentially, that is true," he said.

Snyder History Termed 'Best'

SNYDER — The 1973 Award for the Best Publication of the Year on Local or Regional Texas History was presented on July 30 to Hooper Shelton and the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee for the book "From Buffalo to Oil: A History of Scurry County." The presentation of the award was announced by Clifton Caldwell, chairman of the Texas Historical Commission, the state agency which sponsors the annual competition.

Mrs. Maxine Blanker, ship member of the Texas Historical Commission from Lubbock, gave the main address at the ceremony honoring Shelton and the Scurry County Committee.

The writing of the book is the result of a fortunate collaboration between Hooper Shelton, retired newspaperman of Fisher County, and the Scurry County Historical Survey Committee, a local independent arm of the Texas Historical Commission.

Shelton, the author of three books, approached the Scurry County group in 1972 with the idea of compiling a comprehensive history of the area. Inasmuch as the group had been, since 1963, accumulating material for such a publication, members decided to collaborate with him.

The history covers the region from the time of the first buffalo hunters to the discovery of oil.

FIRING IS OVER Turkish Cypriots Refuse To Leave

FAMAGUSTA, Cyprus (AP) — The firing has stopped around the 12th century Famagusta Fort, but the 11,000 Turkish Cypriots holed up in the walled city-within-a-city refuse to come out.

"Before we walk out of these walls, we want to see that we will not be exterminated," said Hassan Debes, security chief for a refugee camp of 1,000 Turks in a school in the old city.

Other Turks in the old fort, the scene of many a siege since it was erected by the Lusignans in the 12th century, say they are less concerned about being attacked by the Greek Cypriots manning machine-gun nests on the tall buildings in modern Famagusta than they are about supplies.

SHORTAGES

"We have four major problems—shortages of medicines for our wounded, shortages of green vegetables because our fields are all outside the walls, garbage problems because we have nowhere to put it, and economic worries because all our animals are outside and are either dying or are being stolen," one senior official said.

The United Nations Command in Nicosia said U.N. convoys took supplies to Famagusta, but the convoys were suspended Tuesday at Greek insistence because the Turks refused to let mercy supplies through to Greek Cypriots trapped in Turkish-held Kyrenia.

Of the 11,000 persons in the old fort, 4,000 are refugees from Turkish areas outside who fled when the Greek Cypriots attacked their villages after the Turkish invasion 11 days ago.

Some buildings have been damaged, including the 13th century Cathedral of St. Nicholas, a classic gothic structure that was converted into a mosque when the Turks overran the fort after a nine-month siege in 1570.

DESDEMONA

The other 40 chapels and churches left from the 13th century are undamaged. So is Othello's Tower, where tradition says Shakespeare's jealous Moor strangled his wife Desdemona.

Turkish leaders claim that "ten tons of explosives" rained down on the old fort area during a day-long bombardment. The people hid in the catacombs under the walls. These are well ventilated and have bombproof roofs 40 feet thick. Because of these shelters, the inhabitants seem unconcerned about the Greek guns massed outside.

WATER WOES

However, food could soon become a problem, the Turks say, and there was concern when the Greeks cut the water supply off for two days.

"But they turned the water back on because the main supply for the main city runs through the fort," an official said.

Deputies Finish Training School

Deputy Sheriffs Buster McCartney and Sgt. Robert Puentes successfully completed the one-week Municipal Firemer's Training School at Texas A&M.

Fire fighting, prevention, fire department administration, pump operation and maintenance, disaster rescue, executive development, teaching techniques and armed services fire protection were among the areas covered.

Fast control and extinguishing of petroleum fires was emphasized.

This training will help the deputies assist volunteer fire departments, Sheriff A. N. Standard said.
