JACOBSEN'S SAN ANGELO LOAN SCANDAL INDICTMENT DROPPED

Enters Guilty Plea To Bribing Connally

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas lawyer Jake Jacobsen today pleaded guilty to a charge of bribing his one-time friend John Connally with $10,000 in milk money.

In return, the Watergate special prosecution force agreed to drop the government's seven-count indictment against Jacobsen in an unrelated savings and loan scandal in San Angelo, Tex., and to bring no further charges against Jacobsen concerning matters already uncovered by the prosecutors.

Jacobsen was indicted last week at the same time that Connally was named in a five-count indictment charging bribery, perjury and a conspiracy to obstruct justice. Connally is scheduled to enter his plea on Friday and has said he is innocent.

INNOCENT? Jacobsen promised prosecutors to testify truthfully at a trial if called as a witness; he is expected to be the Watergate prosecutor's star witness at the anticipated trial of Connally, a former secretary of the Treasury and one-time governor of Texas.

$5,000 PAYMENT Jacobsen, said, in pleading before U.S. District Court Judge George Hart Jr., that he had given Connally two $5,000 payments on behalf of his client, Associated Milk Producers Inc., the nation's largest dairy cooperative.

The money allegedly was given to Connally in return for his help in persuading President Nixon to raise federal milk price supports in March 1971. Jacobsen, once a close aide to the late President Lyndon Johnson, wore a grey, pin-striped suit and spoke in a soft voice as he appeared before the judge.

Jacobsen, of Austin, Tex., faces a maximum possible sentence of two years in prison and a $10,000 fine on today's plea.

Hart asked him how he pleaded. "I plead guilty, Your Honor," Jacobsen responded. Hart then asked Jacobsen if he had in fact paid Connally the $10,000 as charged in the indictment. "Yes, sir," Jacobsen said, his voice barely audible.

In response to other questions by Hart, Jacobsen denied that his guilty plea had been induced by any promise of a light penalty or any other promises except those contained in a letter of understanding from Deputy Special Prosecutor Henry Ruth Jr.

TO LOSE LICENSE? That letter, essentially a deal to drop Texas savings and loan case and possible perjury prosecution in return for Jacobsen's guilty plea and testimony against Connally, was dated more than two months ago, on May 21, 1974.

Although sources had said weeks ago that Jacobsen had tentatively agreed to such a deal, it was not confirmed officially until Jacobsen actually entered his plea and the letter was released today.

Jacobsen is almost certain to lose his license to practice law because of his plea.

Urges Nixonites To Create Public Jobs Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns has urged creation of a public service jobs program involving up to 800,000 workers as a tool to curb rising unemployment.

Burns suggested Tuesday that the government hiring program be launched when unemployment hits 6 per cent. The jobless rate now is 5.3 per cent, but government and private economists expect it to jump to at least 6 per cent by year's end.

Burns estimated the cost of a new jobs program at $4 billion. Testifying before the congressional Joint Economic Committee, Burns also called for tougher antitrust enforcement and a more powerful inflation-moratorium agency than the one proposed by President Nixon.

He told the committee there is no quick way to cool spiraling inflation and predicted it will take at least two years "for the kind of inflation we have been experiencing to unwind."

Republican Support For Nixon Dwindles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several Republican senators have contacted President Nixon and urged him to resign, Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass., said today.

"The message has been sent to the President," Brooke told reporters. "To my knowledge no response has been received."

Brooke refused to identify the senators who contacted Nixon. He said he believes resignation has always been a "viable option" for the President during his Watergate troubles.

"I think he is considering it more clearly now than at any other time," Brooke said. Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said, meanwhile, that Nixon has removed any presumption that he is innocent of complicity in the Watergate cover-up, and the question remaining is "his degree of accountability."

BREAK-IN As top Senate Republicans prepared to meet to decide whether to send a delegation to warn Nixon he faces the growing likelihood of conviction in an impeachment trial if he does not resign, Scott told reporters: "I have frequently stated the President was entitled to a presumption of innocence. That presumption has now been removed by his statement. But we still are faced with the question of his degree of accountability."

Scott referred to a statement issued by Nixon on Monday in which he admitted he ordered to thwart a key phase of the FBI's investigation of the Watergate break-in just six days after the burglary occurred.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said, meanwhile, the Senate should conduct an impeachment trial even if Nixon resigns.

"This matter has gone on too long and too far not to be carried to its ultimate conclusion," he told reporters. Mansfield emphasized he was giving his personal view.

BASIC REASON House Speaker Carl Albert also said there were reasons for proceeding with impeachment even if the President resigns.

"The basic reason is probably to show what the case is. Whether we do it or not is another thing," Albert told newsmen.

Albert said he would meet with members of the House Judiciary Committee if the situation arose, and then make his decision.

Senate Republican Whip Robert P. Griffin, who Monday called for Nixon's resignation, said Republican senators decided against discussing the matter at a morning caucus but that the leadership would weigh it again later in the day.

However, Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., chairman of the GOP conference, expressed concern that such a visit might be counterproductive.

RESIGN AT ONCE "It might make him more firmly convinced he should fight," Cotton said.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., who represented GOP liberals at a leadership meeting on Tuesday at which Nixon's future was discussed, said Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., "would be a prime part" of any delegation.

Goldwater, the party's 1964 presidential nominee and a strong Nixon supporter in the past, was understood to have told Tuesday's party caucus in strong terms that he feels the President must resign at once.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford, who was present briefly at Tuesday's session, was reported to have made clear to the GOP senators he is unable to serve as a conduit to express their views to the President.

A key question, several senators said, is whether any delegation would be able to see the President and, if it did, whether such a visit would have any impact.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott told reporters late Tuesday afternoon the GOP leadership will meet again today "to discuss the desirability and means of conveying to the President" views expressed earlier in the day at a party luncheon.

After that luncheon, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., told reporters "it is my guess that the majority sentiment among Republican senators is that he should retire from office."

The Texas Republican, chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, said that there was "great concern that the President does not perhaps comprehend the great hazard he faces in coming to trial in the Senate."

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., former national GOP chairman, said today that "all but a handful of Republicans in the Senate would like to see resignation."

He had been quoted Tuesday as saying that no more than 20 pro-Nixon votes could be counted on.

In an interview on the CBS "Morning News," Dole said that if an impeachment vote were taken in the Senate "as of today," Nixon would be removed from office.

STUNTMAN WALKS BETWEEN TOWERS — French professional stuntman Phillips Petit carries a balance pole as he walks across a tightrope suspended between New York's World Trade Center twin towers today. Petit, who had performed similar stunts in Paris and Australia, hung by his heels at one point and crossed the cable twice. Photographer Alan Welner photographed the tightrope walker during his early-morning stroll between the city's highest structures.

Mitchell Sets Trial Goal

Following a civil trial Aug. 20, County Judge A. G. Mitchell said he will be holding two criminal trials weekly for the rest of 1974.

"I'm tired of these excuses of being sick, can't find my client, I'm out of town," Mitchell explained.

"The officers do their job," Mitchell said. "It's up to this court to do its job."

"Furthermore, these bondsmen that can't show up with their clients their bonds will be forfeited," Mitchell said.

County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eysen Jr. has agreed to cooperate, Mitchell said, "and will work with me 100 per cent."

As of June 30, last date for which statistics were available, there were 1,354 criminal cases pending in county court.

Also, the county clerk's office counted 165 civil cases pending, but Mitchell does not consider the size of the civil docket a problem.

Nixon To Quit, Paper Reports

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — President Nixon has made an "irrevocable" decision to resign, the Providence Journal-Bulletin said today.

The newspaper quoted "a reliable source close to the President" as saying Mr. Nixon "has come to the conclusion that the national interest may best be served by his resignation, irrespective of the massive injustice committed against him that prompted this painful decision on his part."

The source said, "I can tell you that the decision is irrevocable."

The source said the decision was reached very recently. A few people closest to the President were informed of the decision this morning, the Journal-Bulletin said.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford was apparently among those informed of the decision, the paper reported.

The report was filed by the paper's Washington bureau.

Meredith Named Sul Ross Prexy

AUSTIN (AP) — Dr. Hugh Meredith, vice president for Academic Affairs at Angelo State University, was named today the new president of Sul Ross State University, effective Sept. 1.

The announcement was made by Bernard G. Johnson, president of the board of regents of State Senior Colleges.

The San Angelo Standard-Times said today that Meredith was actually elected by the state board in an executive session Monday.

Meredith, who has a doctorate degree in Germanic languages from the University of Texas, is the vice president of Angelo State University. He was dean there until his appointment to vice president in May 1972.

Sources told The Associated Press Tuesday that the board had voted to delay the announcement of the new president until 10 a.m. today.

Israeli Planes Attack Targets

By The Associated Press

Israeli planes raided suspected guerrilla targets in southern Lebanon twice today, and first reports said at least 14 Lebanese villagers were hospitalized.

The attacks were the first into Lebanon since July 23, and apparently were in retaliation for the latest guerrilla raid on the frontier.

The Israeli command said its jets made their first raid early in the morning, blasting targets near Hareba Junction, just across the Lebanese border.

A spokesman said the raid lasted five minutes and all planes returned safely.

Witnesses in southern Lebanon said the second raid came in the afternoon and lasted two hours.

Eagleton Wins Race In Missouri

By The Associated Press

Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton has easily won renomination in Missouri's Democratic primary but the man dropped as his party's 1972 vice presidential candidate is ruling out any future bid for national office.

In Kansas, Rep. William R. Roy became the overwhelming choice of Democrats to run for the U.S. Senate against incumbent Sen. Bob Dole, former Republican national chairman.

Michigan Democrats picked former state Sen. Sander Levin for an election rematch against another Republican incumbent, Gov. William S. Milliken.

And Sen. Frank Church handily won renomination by Idaho's Democrats.

These were some of the results in the only four states that held primaries Tuesday.

Less than one-third of Missouri's registered voters turned out, but Eagleton rolled up 88 per cent of the tally. He will defend his seat against former Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, his Republican counterpart who also had little trouble being renominated. In 1968 Eagleton won his first Senate seat by narrowly defeating Curtis, then a nine-term congressman from St. Louis.

"I have no national ambitions whatsoever, and you can put a triple exclamation point after that," said Eagleton. Two years ago he was removed from the second spot on George McGovern's presidential ticket after he disclosed that he had undergone treatment for mental depression.

In Kansas, Roy rolled up 84 per cent of the vote to crush former state treasurer George Hart. Dole was unopposed in the GOP primary.

Court Holds Cops Can't Refuse To Let Reporters See Records

HOUSTON (AP) — A state district judge has ruled that the Houston Police Department cannot use the State Open Records Law as a basis for denying newsmen access to police offense reports and criminal records.

However, Judge Lewis Dickson, in a Tuesday ruling, also said the Houston Chronicle, a plaintiff in a lawsuit against the city, cannot use the law as a basis for demanding access to such records.

NOT DEFINITE Dickson said the law approved by the last state legislature was "vague and not capable of being enforced."

"It is ineffective, not definite and permits too many discretions," the judge said.

The ruling left unanswered the question of whether or not newsmen will be permitted to see arrest records routinely as they had before the law went into effect.

Police Chief Carrol Lynn was non-committal on any possible change.

"I have to see the court ruling to see exactly what was said," Lynn said. "It's too soon for me to know. I'm not going to make a policy change until I know exactly what the ruling says and what the ramifications are."

'OLD CUSTOM' Attorneys for the Houston

Chronicle contended reporters have been allowed to see arrest records for more than 40 years until the policy changed after Jan. 14.

City Atty. Jonathan Day said he was unsure if Dickson's ruling would change the new policy back to the "old custom."

"I haven't conferred with the chief of police and the mayor as to their decision in this matter," Day said. "I think we're back where we were. It's been a custom that records be available (to the news media) but I don't think there has been any legal basis for it."

Robert Brown, attorney for the Chronicle, said news agencies had free access to police offense reports and criminal records until Lynn and Day took office in January. Such material now is made available at police discretion.

DENIAL ILLEGAL Brown argued that individual criminal records now being denied to the news media contain information that should not be kept secret from the press.

Day answered that the press is not a representative of all classes for all purposes of the public. He said making the information available to the press also would require that the material be available to lawyers, politicians, neighbors and employers.

Hurts, But May Help

There is dismay in some quarters that Gov. Dolph Briscoe elected not to call a special session to deal with the matter of additional school aid and possibly increased pay for state employees.

This undoubtedly will put many school districts in a bind, but on balance, we concur with the governor's position that it is impractical to call the legislature back into session this near the 1975 regular session.

The governor drew a bit of criticism for not having taken a more aggressive stance in forcing extra aid to schools during the last session, but it is the legislature which must appropriate funds.

It is time that the legislature take a more responsible course of action in school and other financial matters. For too long, the standard course of action has been to drag out the situation until the final moments of a session and then dump the matter into the hands of a conference committee which did what was never intended for it to do, namely write an appropriation bill without much consideration for what the whole of either Senate or House had wanted.

And, too, frequently, it has been a practice to hold back on coming to the lick log on touchy questions in the expectation that the governor would call a special session to deal with the matter. While the financial pinch for many districts will be felt extremely, it could be that these districts will let their legislators hear from them and demand action when the 1975 session convenes.

In case there still are some people who aren't convinced of the major upheavals which have occurred in the world in the past few decades, look who's lending money to whom! Iran has announced a $1.2 billion loan to Britain.

That's some change in world economics from pre-World War Two days when the British Empire "owned half the world" and claimed that the sun never set on its territories. Most Westerners, in those times, viewed Iran as a sheikdom inhabited by a rich shah and a poor population.

Iran rapidly is developing into one of the world's top aid providers. The new loan to Britain, in three separate credits over three years, is in addition to $9 billion in loans and credits which Iran previously had granted to France, Syria, Senegal, the Sudan, Pakistan, the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund. Iran also has pledged funds for assisting in the development of other nations, particularly in Africa.

Just how much good the Iranian loan will do for the faltering British economy remains to be seen. The United States has poured billions in aid to Britain and other countries since World War II and only West Germany and Japan seem to have been able to put their aid to good use.

Anyway, the American taxpayer certainly should appreciate the efforts of Iran in the credit-loan field. It's nice to have a bit of help in supporting the rest of the world.

Nice To Have Company

My Answer

BILLY GRAHAM

My sister recently died and I'm having a rough time relating her untimely death to God's loving care. How could God have done this to our family when we were all people of faith?

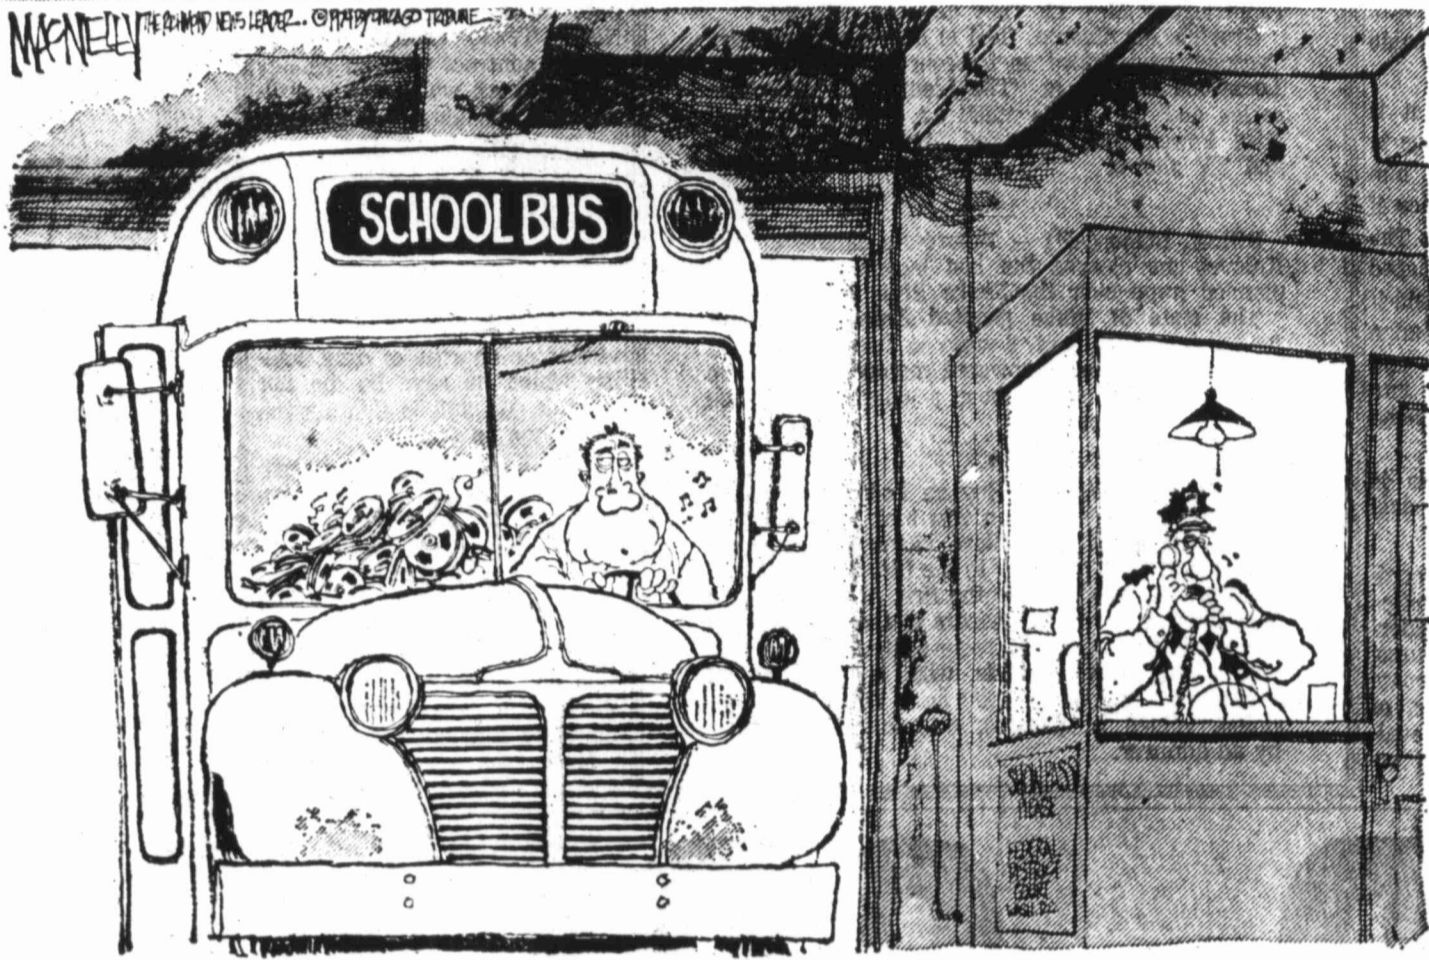

J.A. You're making two mistakes. First, to blame God for your sister's death. And secondly, to see the passing of a Christian as a penalty.

God never wanted the specter of death to exist in His creation. Romans 5:12 shows clearly that death was a later introduction into God's perfect world, and that it was a product of sin. The Bible would picture God as more grieved over your sister's death than you are.

Secondly, to the believer in Christ, death is no penalty. The Psalmist said in chapter 116, "Precious is the sight of Jehovah is the death of His saints." The whole purpose of Christ's coming as the world's Savior was to take away any retribution or judgment due for our lost estate. Hope of heaven is the believer's guarantee.

The poet has given us justifiable assurance in saying, "If we could push ajar the gates of life, and stand within, and all God's working see, we could interpret all this doubt and strife, and for each mystery find a key."

Lean on the Lord extra hard during these days of bereavement.

JUDGE SIRICA? HE'S HERE WITH THE TAPES, SIR... BUT... ER... I THINK WE'RE GONNA NEED ANOTHER RULING FROM THE SUPREME COURT...

Change Might Recharge Hopes

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The removal of President Nixon from office would do little immediately and directly to brighten the gray economic picture that Americans have viewed with frustration for so many months.

Many people are bound to view a new administration as a beginning, and therefore the depressed consumer outlook that shows up regularly in the polls might tend to lift. But the underlying problems won't disappear.

The stock market, which has also, as most economists predict, perhaps to 6 per cent by the end of the year. The recession most likely will run its course. Housing can be expected to stay depressed.

True, a goodly number of people who felt the Watergate matter was a reason to suspend all plans and projections, now will be more inclined to act, and therefore some economic activity might result.

But simply because an individual now feels confident enough to buy the house so long postponed doesn't mean that he'll get the money if the savings institutions don't have it to lend.

It's the same with business loans. While some executives might decide that a presidential resignation or impeachment is an economic watershed, similar to the end of a major war, and therefore a time to spend and expand, they might not be able to find the funds to do so.

The economy's problems have a very real identity that is not even remotely associated with Watergate. True, many economists believe Watergate has worsened some problems, and may even have caused others. But it isn't the sole cause.

At best, a change might recharge faded hopes, restore pride and confidence, and reinforce the belief of so many Americans that the country can always work out its problems if given the leadership.

Emperor's Clothes

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — Chairman: The clerk will read the Articles of Abdication.

CLERK: RESOLVED that the Emperor violated his oath of office when he paraded down the streets under a canopy with no clothes on.

That he made false and misleading statements to the effect that he was wearing clothes at the time, and that he was party to a coverup and interfered in a lawful investigation as to whether in effect he did on said day parade in the sans garments.

Chairman: Each member of this committee will have five minutes for the purposes of debate only. I recognize the courtier from Grazinda.

GRAZINDA: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. The question we have been asked to vote on today — a question that could affect the empire for generations to come — is did the Emperor know he had no clothes on, and what did he do about it.

Let me review the evidence. The Emperor had a coat for every hour of the day. Now from the Emperor's own parchments we know that on June 17 two characters arrived and claimed they were weavers and that they could make such magnificent clothes that they would become invisible to anyone who was unfit for the office he held.

WE KNOW THE Emperor ordered a set of robes, and gave cash in advance, then sent one of his closest aides to confirm that they indeed were working on his clothes.

When the aide went to see the cheats, he discovered they weren't wearing anything at all. The aide went back and lied to the Emperor. Then on March 21 the Emperor himself went to the weavers and he saw with his own eyes that there was no cloth; there were no trousers; there was no robe. Did he arrest the weavers?

No, he said they were two of the finest men he had known and he told the country they had woven him a magnificent set of clothes. That, gentlemen, was the beginning of the coverup that continued until the very day when the Emperor walked down our streets in his birthday suit.

CHAIRMAN: Your time has expired. We will hear from the other side now. The courtier from Tearturnia.

Tearturnia: Mr. Chairman, if you read the Emperor's parchments, as I have done, you can only come to one conclusion. The Emperor was wearing clothes on the day in question.

Now if you follow the story, the Emperor did not take the word of his aide concerning the weavers — he sent another aide and this aide also reported back that the weavers had indeed made a magnificent robe for His Majesty. At this point in time the Emperor was busy with affairs of state and could not devote time to his clothes. His closest advisers deceived him but, is there anything to indicate the Emperor himself was involved.

THE ONLY EVIDENCE that the Emperor wore no clothes came from a little boy who was sitting on his father's shoulders as the Emperor went by.

The boy said, and I quote from his testimony, "But he has nothing on." Nobody can read anything into that statement. I defy anyone to show me where the boy said, "He has no clothes on." Mr. Chairman, if the Emperor says he had clothes on, it's good enough for me.

Bumpers Took The Bumps

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Dale Bumpers of Arkansas came to office in 1970 in the greatest landslide victory in state history. It was his second political race.

The first, for a legislative seat, was a failure.

Regaining Use After Stroke

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have followed your articles about the strokes but I would like to know how to eliminate spasticity. I was stricken in right arm and leg nearly a year ago. My right hand won't seem to respond.

I pick up about 100 marbles every day and turn a doorknob 100 times. Have you any ideas?

—M.R.

Spasticity is an increased resistance of muscles to being stretched. After a stroke you may or may not have any true spasticity; you may simply have a situation in which the muscles are not really spastic but simply do not respond to your wish to make them move.

If it is true spasticity, there are muscle relaxants that can help. Your doctor can prescribe them. But do not neglect the things you can do yourself to help things along—and they will help whether it is true spasticity or otherwise.

Passive and active exercise, massage, heat all help. By "passive exercise" I mean moving your arm and leg with the assistance of someone. Or, of course, you can use your left hand to move your right arm, hand and fingers. The movement, even with help, is useful.

By all means keep up the routine of picking up marbles and turning doorknobs. The fact that you can do it is evidence that some potential remains and can be improved. You may not regain full strength but persistence, even after a year of trying, should bring new gains.

You may possibly have reference in your letter to a new medication to relieve spasticity which was reported a few months ago. I understand that it can have unpleasant side effects, so I am reluctant to advise it. Your doctor may decide otherwise.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband suffers from a prostate infection, with a resulting enlargement somewhat impeding the flow of urine. A surgical procedure through the urethra has been suggested to him, but he refuses this, feeling that he will be rendered impotent.

Is this true? Would this be true if the entire prostate gland were removed?

Why won't men ask medical questions of their doctors or directional questions of service station operators before it's 12 months or 12 miles too late?

—Mrs. F.A.

Removal of the prostate would not necessarily make your husband impotent. The prostate merely manufactures a fluid that helps transport the male sperm.

The procedure you refer to is called transurethral resection (TUR). It is commonly done.

The entire gland is not removed by only so much tissue as is now encroaching on his urinary stream is removed.

Sexual potency following this kind of prostate surgery is usually equivalent to what it was before the operation.

Your last question intrigues me, and I don't think I've ever heard it stated so appropriately.

The reluctance of men to discuss such things openly is one reason that the vast majority of questions I get about male potency and fertility are from wives.

I usually leave such questions to the psychologists to deal with, but I can't resist theorizing that it all has to do with the male image of himself, which he doesn't want tainted by suspicions of weakness.

That would go for any suggestion that he doesn't know how to read a road map, also.

Ah, Chautauqua—

Around The Rim
Joe Pickle

What do you remember about the Chautauqua?

WELL, THERE WAS a time that the mark of a progressive town was that it had a Chautauqua every summer. This was the window to the outside world of adventure and culture for the hinterlands. Theodore Roosevelt, who took a New Yorker's pride in the institution, rated it as "the most American thing in America." Of course, he was among the former presidents, presidential candidates and other nationally prominent figures who took advantage of its platform.

THE MOST - PROMINENT memory of my wife was one morning when a lady came in late and asked her and others to slide down and make room. This she did, to her sorrow, for seats invariably were rough lumber tacked to a one-rail back. So when she slid, she buried a long splinter, which seemed more like a scantling, into her thigh. She dared not make a peep, for frivolity and noise were frowned upon at Chautauqua. So she sweated out the entire program, hurried some only to be told she would have to go to the doctor to get the splinter removed. Since that would be too embarrassing, she secreted herself in the bathroom with a pair of hefty tweezers and muscled it out herself.

NOT MUCH culture in that. Nor was there intended to be much comfort in those hard seats, which not infrequently had a spot of resin to bless you. But it was only for a week, and as the people endured this discomfort, as they did the heat, for the Chautauqua was considered broadening for our minds as well as bottoms.

There was a certain excitement about it, because here at least, the Chautauqua was housed in an open tent (which had the flaps pulled only in case of rain or high wind). Community leaders generally put the bite on merchants and professional people to underwrite the expense in case the sale of season tickets didn't take care of the expense. And that was most of the time.

WHAT WE GOT was a variety of programs, a little long on the lectures, howbeit. Big names on the national scene seemed readily available for bookings. That's how William Jennings Bryan, the perennial Democratic candidate for president, came to our town. Travelogues were another item that came in abundance, with such figures as Burton K. Holmes, who often embellished our imaginary journeys to far-away lands with projections from a magic lantern. Who can forget those immortal lines — "and so, as the sun sinks slowly in the west, we bid goodbye to the land of . . ."

MUSICIANS AND OCCASIONALLY vocalists (usually opera stars over the hump) found their way on the program. Hardly a season got by without Swiss bell ringers, and it was from such a program that first I heard of the uncorrupted art of yodeling. Artists found their way to the platform, some giving demonstrations along with lectures. And there were chamber music exponents and instrumentalists.

The highlight, however, were the plays (Harley Sadler had conditioned us to the finer points of high drama). How else could we have been treated to "Abie's Irish Rose" and "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway"?

YES, IT WAS a great intinerant institution of creativity and inspiration. You may be interested to note that Tuesday marked the 100th anniversary of Chautauqua and that the U. S. Postal Service has issued a stamp for remembrance. That's better than a splinter.

Ford's Strategy

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — Vice President Gerald Ford has launched his trenchant new defense of President Nixon to avoid political reprisal from the pro-Nixon Republican hardcore, undercutting him with Republican moderates — including staunch friends in the House.

FORD'S THESIS, spelled out to aides repeatedly, is that he must not risk a trace of a fingerprint on the impeachment dagger to insure that the Republican right wing will not turn on him.

As Republicans and voters of various persuasions join the pro-impeachment ranks, intimates say Ford is convinced their resentment will disappear if, in the end, he (Ford) is catapulted into the White House. That is in the future. For the present some old Republican friends are expressing doubts about the vice president's political judgment.

In fact, Ford has been subjected to quiet pressure from his own staff not to tie himself to Mr. Nixon.

JUST AS THE HOUSE Judiciary Committee began its formal impeachment investigation, a Ford aide drafted a speech for the Vice President to get him off the hook. The thrust of that never-delivered speech: now that the House is considering the evidence, it would be injudicious for Ford to express an opinion since such evidence is not available to him; he had faith in the President but would refuse ex-parte judgment. Ford threw the speech away.

Ford's political lieutenants say he has no intention today of modifying his loyalist defense of the man who made him vice president. He still lobbies quietly, urging House Republicans to give Mr. Nixon the benefit of every doubt (but avoiding arm-twisting).

HIS TOP ASSISTANTS have been dimayed by the escalation of Ford's public defense of the President while other Republicans abandon the sinking presidential ship. That new intensity began July 25 in Muncie, Ind., in his speech for Rep. David Dennis, a Nixon defender on the Judiciary Committee facing reelection troubles — a speech viewed by some Ford intimates as a disaster.

"We all want Jerry to shut up and stay nationally popular," one of his longtime friends in the House told us. "He is the hope of the party and of the country for 1976."

ANOTHER MEMBER of the House Republican leadership holds similar views. Ford, he says privately, is wasting his unique political assets both within his party and in the county at large.

Ford is being strongly advised not to overestimate the pro-Nixon hardcore, particularly with the defections of such conservatives as Maryland's Rep. Lawrence J. Hogan and Virginia's Caldwell Butler. But Ford seems oblivious. Concentrating in his cross-country speaking tours to old-line Republican audiences who roar their approval of his defense of Mr. Nixon, Ford seems out of touch with the trend among House Republicans now threatening the President with a massive impeachment defeat.

What Others Say

It has been here a little, there a little in America's fight against sex discrimination — and now it's the Little League which has seen the light.

Congratulations to the courts in New Jersey and the individuals in various states for resisting the foolish justice of excluding girls who are ready, willing, and able to play baseball. Following their efforts, Little League headquarters has now bowed to the "social climate" and removed its opposition to permitting girls on Little League Teams.

Would that all the figurative umpires in the realm of fair play for everyone were prepared to follow this example and eventually make things right. — CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR.

The federal government, for many good reasons, is getting out of the business of constructing low-cost housing.

Certainly, that is no sign the State of Texas should get into that business. The federal government suspended subsidized housing programs on Jan. 5, 1973, following a series of scandals. President Nixon called the federal housing programs inequitable, wasteful and discriminatory. He said the federal government was the biggest slumlord in history.

Yet, this is what some are proposing the State of Texas get into. The trial balloon being floated calls for the state to sell tax-exempt revenue bonds and loan the money to builders at low interest rates for low-and-moderate-income housing and home repairs.

Filling the Vacuum could take the state to the cleaners.

PLAN FOR FALL EVENINGS Get Yardlight At Haston's

We all know that in West Texas, the most enjoyable weather in the evenings is during the autumn months. Some people refer to it as "Indian Summer."
 During the coming months as summer ends in August, the evenings outside are ones that we can enjoy. And it's a good time to have a yard light.
 Haston's Electric has several to select from to light up your yard or patio.
 Located at 109 Gollad, Gene Haston offers an electrical service that is both complete, competent and experienced. No matter what kind of an installation, repair or maintenance you need for an electrical system, Gene Haston will be happy to help you.
 Haston has a reputation for friendly, thorough service. This reputation is backed by a combination of some 75 years experience among his electricians. They are highly qualified.
 Haston Electric also feels that they have the best stock of bulbs in town. They offer a complete line of dependable General Electric light bulbs. They are one of the few places that carry the higher-voltage, longer-lasting type bulb that doesn't need to be replaced every few months. It is for this reason that many of their customers will not buy bulbs elsewhere.
 Haston carries a complete selection of odd bulbs. They have high intensity appliance bulbs, indicator bulbs, 130 watt bulbs and 25, 40 and 60 watt decorator bulbs.
 Even unusual flame-tip and candelabra type bulbs are part of their normal stock.
 Since they do a considerable volume of lighting installation and repair, they maintain a vast stock of fluorescent tubes, ballast unit, electrical fixtures and decorative lighting fixtures for every room.
 For any electrical needs, call the pros at Haston's, 267-5103.

SHAKESPEARE SAID IT . . . 'Just What's In A Name?'

And the Johnston people answered: "A complete description of our product . . . that's what!" As a matter of fact, the Johnston people are absolutely right. They make a product called No-Roach. The name says it all: No-Roach. What No-Roach promises . . . what No-Roach does . . . all right in the name. And if the Johnston people were to add to the name of their product enough letters to describe how discretely works for you night and day . . . infecting every insect that crawls across its path with a deadly poison, that lingers long enough for the carriers to get back to the nests and infect the unborn eggs. And No-Roach does this without any attention from the housewife, not even any tell-tale odor to live away the secret.
 Easy-to-use, odorless, and . . . as the name tells you . . . effective. What more could any householder ask for? No more . . . say the Johnston people. Just ask for Johnston's No-Roach . . . as simple to use as it is effective.
 You can obtain Johnston's No-Roach at:
 Safe way, Furr's, Piggly Wiggly, Gibson's, Foodway, Giant Discount and all grocery stores. It is distributed by Kimbell.

Couple Is Married In New Mexico Rites

Mrs. Judy Grant Steagald, Coahoma, and Robert N. Mills, 1425 E. 6th, were married Saturday evening at Hobbs, N.M. in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. David Stoker. The Rev. D. K. Moore Jr. officiated as the couple stood before an improvised altar centered with an arrangement of coral candles and coral and light green gladioli and gypsophila. Background music was recorded.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Grant, Coahoma, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Atheleen Mills, Montgomery, Ala. For the wedding, the bride wore a full-length tailored dress of beige Chrysalene accented with coral and brown butterfly designs. Complementing the dress was a corsage of coral and green carnations.

Serving as attendants were Miss Tonya Steagald and Miss Deidra Steagald, daughters of the bride. They were attired in floor-length dresses in coral and green fruit designs overlaid with beige eyelet.

Following a trip to South Texas, the couple will reside in Big Spring at 1210 Ridgeroad. Mills is a Civil Service employe in the computer department at Webb Air Force Base. Mrs. Mills is employed by General Adjustment Bureau.

A reception was held in the home immediately after the ceremony, with Mrs. Mary Jo Stoker and Mrs. Janis Grant, sister-in-law of the bride, serving refreshments. The table was covered with a gold cloth overlaid with ecru lace and centered with wedding bells.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. A. K. Turner Sr., Coahoma, grandmother of the bride; J.B. Turner, Coahoma; and Capt. and Mrs. Thomas A. Grant and family, all of Ft. Bliss, Paso.

Dallasite Is Feted Here

Miss Paula Lemons of Dallas, who will be married there Aug. 24 to David Michael Hubbard, was honored here Saturday morning at a pre-nuptial gift shower in the home of Mrs. Craig E. Campbell, 2511 Fisher.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Ernest Boyd, Mrs. Robert Campbell, Mrs. John Dibrell, Mrs. David Elrod, Mrs. J.E. Fortson, Mrs. Hervey Perry, Mrs. D.S. Riley, Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. Mel Stinson, Mrs. Paul Vaughn, Mrs. J.H. Woods and Mrs. Gilbert Gibbs.

The honoree's mother, Mrs. Bill Lemons and her fiancée's mother, Mrs. Jean Hubbard of Big Spring, attended the shower, as did Hubbard's grandmothers, Mrs. Dan Conley and Mrs. B. S. Hubbard. An out-of-town guest was Miss Lemons' sister, Mrs. Dwight Fortson of the Dallas area.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a white organdy and lace cloth over yellow linen, and the appointments were crystal and silver. Centering the table was a floral arrangement in yellow and white.

Joins Law Firm In Washington

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Charles and Lynda Bird Robb are moving from Richmond to McLean in Northern Virginia. Mrs. Robb is the older daughter of the late President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Robb has accepted a job with a Washington law firm, and the couple has rented a home in the Washington suburb of McLean, Mrs. Robb said.

The Robbs moved here last summer when Robb took a one-year job as clerk for Judge John D. Butzner of the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

The Robbs have two children — Lucinda, 5, and Cathy, 4.

No Miracle

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Your advice works miracles. On June 2, the Philadelphia Bulletin ran the following item, datelined Toronto, Canada:

"The tax department received a letter along with a tax return recently. 'I haven't been able to sleep since cheating on my income tax,' the letter read. 'Am enclosing my check for $500. If still unable to sleep, will mail you the balance.'"

The following item appeared on the same day in the DEAR ABBY column in the Washington (D.C.) Star-News:

"DEAR ABBY, I haven't been able to sleep very well. You see, I did a little creative bookkeeping on my income tax by way of 'deductions.' Any suggestions?"

INSOMNIAC
"DEAR IN: Send the Internal Revenue Service a check for $500. And if you still can't sleep, send them the balance."

Now, that's what I call action!

A.C. ROBIDOUX, DOVER, DEL.
DEAR A.C.: Not really: The letter in my column was scheduled for release on March 22nd. And that's when it ran in Toronto.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a big mouth. I've heard that he has been blabbing all around the warehouse where he works all kinds of personal things about his sex life.

This is very embarrassing to me because I know all the guys who work there, and I can hardly look them in the eye knowing they know so much about me.

This is enough to make me want to pack up and leave him. Am I wrong?

STELLA
DEAR STELLA: Don't pack until you're sure he was talking about you.

DEAR ABBY: My wife of 20 years has never shown me much affection.

You may say: "All right, some people just aren't the affectionate type," but let me lay this on you. When she and her brother get together, you never saw so much hugging, kissing and pawing in your life. They can't keep their hands off each other.

The other night they both sat squeezed together in one little loveseat, and it was obvious that they had more than a sister-brother relationship going. I didn't make an issue of it because I didn't know how to. This is something completely outside my experience. Maybe divorce is the answer, but I don't want that.

Please publish this with a workable solution as there must be other readers of your column with the same problem.

PUZZLED IN NEW ORLEANS
DEAR PUZZLED: Don't jump to any conclusions. You could be wrong, and you probably are. Many siblings are overtly affectionate to each other, and they have nothing going except brotherly and sisterly love. Since your wife obviously is capable of responding to affection, initiate some, and see what happens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO KAY: Take your time, and get to know him better. When his true character "crops out," you may witness a crop failure.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Sent $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Bridge Club Hosts Party

The Coahoma Bridge Club, which met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Wendel Walker, Rt. 1, Big Spring, held a farewell party for Mrs. Lee Guidroz who is moving with her family to Ouray, Colo.

Four tables were in play, and game winners were Mrs. Babe Collier, high; Mrs. Sonny Barnes, low; and Mrs. Jodie Sorey, bingo. Next week's meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Jan East, 403 N. 5th.

Fall Festival Slated At Immaculate Heart

The upcoming Fall Festival at Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church was a prime subject of discussion Monday evening by members of the altar society.

The festival is slated Sept. 7-8 on the church grounds where games, gift booths and refreshments will be provided. On the first day, a German sausage dinner will be served and, on the second, there will be a Mexican dinner.

Mrs. L. D. Jenkins and Mrs. R. L. Anderson presented reports on society activities. Mrs. Jenkins represents the National Catholic Community Service at the Veterans Administration Hospital, and she told of volunteer work being done there, including help with preparing the altar for mass on Saturday morning. Mrs. Anderson told about persons who served refreshments to hospital patients.

Mrs. Mildred Ward gave a report on spiritual development, and Mrs. Kathleen Williams said table games are being held in the parish hall every Sunday at 7:30 p.m. The altar committee for August will consist of Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Ava Russell and Mrs.

Frank Knapp.

During the social hour, Mrs. R. L. Anderson and her daughter, Miss Wanda Anderson served refreshments, and Miss Anderson showed a film on Texas missions, which was provided by the Texas Highway Department. The attendance prize went to Mrs. Keith Thompson, president.

Due to the Labor Day holiday, the next meeting of the society will be Sept. 3. At that time, further plans will be discussed for a membership drive.

Initiation Performed At Rebekah Lodge Meeting

Mr. and Mrs. James Norman were initiated as new members of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284 Tuesday evening at the Lodge Hall. Mrs. Dvite Gilliland, noble grand, presided.

A letter was read from the Rebekah Assembly state president, Mrs. Cleota Brooks. She will be in Big Spring Aug. 19 at 6 p.m. for a salad supper and for a formal meeting. Lodge 284 will be the host group and John A. Kee Lodge No. 153 and Stanton Rebekah Lodge will cohost the event.

Plans were made to charter a bus to go to Corsicana for the Pilgrimage Day Sept. 1 at the children's Home and the old folks Home.

Tuesday was birthday night for Mrs. E. J. Adcock and Mrs. Beulah Morrison. The 40 members present reported 25 visits to those that were sick or shut-in.

Miss Dean Honored At Gift Party

Miss Kathy Dean, bride-elect of Roger Grisham, was honored Saturday afternoon at a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Joe Smoot, 204 Jefferson.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Merrill Creighton, Mrs. Sherman Smith, Mrs. Joe Whitten, Mrs. Leonard Coker, Mrs. Charles Sweeney, Mrs. Sidney Clark, Mrs. Clemont Jones, Mrs. Bill Irwin, Mrs. Billy Smith, Mrs. J. O. Haygood, Mrs. Wayne Bartlett, Mrs. T. H. McCann, Mrs. Robert Bradbury, and Mrs. Richard Grimes.

The honoree, attired in a red, blue, yellow and white full-length print dress, received guests with her mother, Mrs. A. J. Dean; the bridegroom-elect's mother, Mrs. Tolbert Grisham; and Miss Dean's grandmother, Mrs. Lloyd Compton of Winters. They were presented corsages of yellow daisies.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white linen cutwork cloth centered with a bouquet of white mums and yellow daisies in a crystal container. Appointments were of cut glass and crystal.

The couple will be married Aug. 17 in First Baptist Church.

Retirees Plan Events For Area Members

The National Association of Retired Federal Employees, Chapter 1095, has planned several events for the coming three months.

Regularly scheduled game days are every second and fourth Wednesday at the Kentwood Center from 2 to 4 p.m. Mrs. Marshall Brown is chairman of the recreation program.

Saturday is the formal opening of Kentwood Center which is for the use of all senior citizens' organizations in Big Spring such as NARFE, American Association of Retired Persons, World War One Veterans and others. A meeting of the executive committee will be held in the home of Mrs. John H. Samuell, 2706 Carol, Sept. 3.

The regular meetings of NARFE will be held in the First Federal Community Room Sept. 12 and Oct. 10 at 10 a.m.

The District 11 workshop is slated Oct. 17 at Coker's Restaurant from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. or later, if necessary. The noon meal will cost $2.50, including tip. Members who have handwork are to bring it for exhibit.

Hi-Lo Bridge Club Winners

Mrs. J. A. Westmoreland was hostess for the Hi-Lo Bridge Club Monday in the home of Mrs. Laura Thomas. Mrs. Jeanetta Brooks won high score and Mrs. Jackie Wakler was low. Next week's meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Jim Swann, 511 N. 5th, Coahoma at 7 p.m., Monday.

Barracks, Auxiliary Attend Convention

World War I Barracks 1474 and its Ladies Auxiliary met Saturday at Kentwood Center for the regularly monthly meeting and luncheon. The registration table was centered with a "rainbow of colors" representing the theme carried out at the state convention, "The Rainbow of Friendship."

Group Returns From Mexico

Returning last weekend from a ten-day vacation in Mexico were Mrs. C. B. Underwood, 3002 Cactus; her granddaughter, Miss Sherry Lynn Overman, Andrews; Mrs. J. R. Pike, 2209 Johnson; and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Steen, 1408 Wood.

The group visited the Basilica of Guadalupe with its famous paintings in Mexico City, the National Museum of Anthropology, and attended the Folklore Ballet of Mexico which won first place at the Paris Festival of Nations. After visiting the pyramids, they spent some time at the Floating Gardens of Xochimilco and the Gardens of Cuernavaca.

Honored With Birthday Party

FORSAN (SC) — Don Limbocker, a patient at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Big Spring, celebrated his 83rd birthday in the home of Woodrow Scudday in Forsan. Those present to help him celebrate were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Holloway, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holt, Erin Holloway, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Lee Holt, and James Weidon Holt, all from Monahans; and John Mathews of Eastland.

Club Meets

Amy Smith, Mrs. Lois O' Barr Smith's granddaughter, was a guest Tuesday afternoon at the Pioneer Sewing Club meeting in Mrs. Smith's home on Sterling City Route. Twelve members were present, and refreshments were served. Next meeting will be Aug. 20 at the home of Mrs. Henry Park in Forsan at 2 p.m.

Mullican presiding for the auxiliary, reports were given by Mrs. Kate Moren and Mrs. Maxine Irland who were auxiliary delegates from District 19 to the convention. Mrs. Dorothy Hull was alternate.

Before dinner, the approximately 65 members and guests were entertained with music and singing led by Marshall Brown. Guests were Mrs. Johnnie Brandford of Austin, Mrs. Polle Daniel, Big Spring, and a Mrs. Davis from Blythe, Calif. The next meeting will be Sept. 7.

During reports of the convention, it was announced that 381 delegates participated at the meeting in the Villa Inn Convention Center in Irving. Among those attending was Mrs. Ruth Hanneman of California, national junior vice president; and Mrs. Elsie Keating of Irving, state president, presided. Mrs. Irene Gentry of Houston is the new state president.

The barracks meeting was attended by 484 delegates, and Art Northrup of Mineral Wells was elected the new state commander. Serving as national representative was John McIntyre, national adjutant. Dan Martin, mayor, extended the welcome, and David Watkins, Icelandic consulate representative, gave the address.

A memorial service was held for deceased. The local auxiliary received two membership awards, and Mrs. Hull filled the chair of state patriotic instructor. Marion Irland, D. Dist. 19 commander and local barracks commander, was delegate and was installed as Dist. 19 commander at the convention.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise: I have a long-haired dog (part collie), who loves the water.

In the hot weather she really suffers from the heat. So I bought a children's swimming pool.

It is set up in the yard and she is the only dog on the block with her own pool. Miss E.

Dear Heloise: Have you ever wondered where the garden hose end is when it's coiled or lying in the grass?

Painting one end of the hose red for about a foot sure simplifies finding it. Alfred G. Wiggins

Dear Heloise: I have a very easy way to match pairs of curtains of different lengths when washing.

Merely put the same number of bright red nail polish dots on the back of the top seam of each pair. Not hard, no sewing and washable too. Mrs. V.A.A.

Dear Heloise: For the reader who used a dry wash cloth to wipe out the bathroom basin, may I suggest another way? Make a pad of about 8 or 10 thicknesses of nylon net.

Lay it under the cake of soap. It catches the drippings. Then use the pad to wash out the basin and the tub. Zelda

Dear Heloise: I found a good use for cottage cheese containers!

I paint them a bright color and use them for houseplant pots and the lid makes the saucer to set it in. Mrs. L.F.A.

Dear Heloise: If, after cooking onions in a pan, a slight odor remains, just add about a teaspoon of soda to pan of water and let it come to a boil. I find all the odor is gone. Mrs. V.A.A.

Briscoe Reaffirms Huntsville Action

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe says it would have been immoral for him to have influenced votes for a new constitution.

In his first news conference Tuesday in more than two months, the governor also praised Jim Estelle, executive director of the Department of Corrections, for his handling of the Fred Gomez Carrasco attempted prison escape.

And he said the impeachment-resignation question in Washington should be quickly "brought to a final conclusion," but he did not call for President Nixon's resignation.

STRONGARM TACTICS
The governor said he was not a delegate to the convention that failed by three votes to agree on a new constitution and he said he participated, as he had promised, only on issues affecting the executive branch.

"To me, strongarm tactics from this office on the final day (July 30) would have been not only improper but it would have been an immoral act," he said.

Asked if he thought he could have changed three votes, the governor said, "That would be an iffy question." He paused and thought about it a moment, then raised his voice as he said, "I don't think so."

When he was a legislator, he said, "Once my mind was made up, I don't think anybody could change it."

Convention President Price Daniel Jr. has said Briscoe is partly to blame for the convention's failure.

Briscoe said he never told Daniel he would get back to him on the next-to-last day of the convention, as Daniel has charged.

"During those days, I was here in the office. I saw every delegate who came in. I was available in person or by phone," Briscoe said.

REFUSED TO SAY
The governor refused to say whether he supported placing an anti-union shop provision in the constitution. He has always supported it as a law, he said.

Nor does he know if he could have supported the final document the convention voted on in the minutes before midnight July 30, he said.

"It was changed so many times that I did not go over it to that extent," he said, laughing and fingering the edge of his podium.

'NO ONE'
On Nixon's problems, the governor said: "I have never called for the resignation of any other public official."

Briscoe said he was convinced Estelle "did all that was humanly possible to protect the lives of the hostages and, at the same time, protect the people of the State of Texas" in the Carrasco case.

A freelance photographer who earlier Tuesday called a news conference with six other persons to demand a citizens' investigation of that case, asked Briscoe: "Who decided that the hostages were expendable?"

Briscoe said, "No one." The photographer, Alan Pogue, said Estelle stated he never considered letting Carrasco and the hostages leave the Huntsville prison.

"I don't follow you at all," Briscoe said. He said he visited Tuesday morning with the families of the slain hostages Elizabeth Beseda and Julia Stanley, and he described them as "two strong, fine Christian families."

MY OPINION
After the news conference, Briscoe's press aide, Bob Hardy, asked other newsmen who the photographer was and when he learned Pogue represented no news media, said:

"We're going to have to do something to stop that."

Briscoe was angered by a question on whether his praise of Estelle was a prejudgment of a matter that he has ordered the Department of Public Safety to investigate.

"I'm not asking for a biased report," he snapped, pointing his finger. "This is my opinion that I'm expressing here today."

The DPS has named Ranger Capt. Pete Rogers to investigate the case. Rogers was one of the law enforcement officers who led the attack against Carrasco's shield.

Briscoe said reaction to his decision not to call a special session has been mixed. He is "very definitely" convinced he can live up to his promise of no new taxes despite his recommendation of a 10 per cent increase in state employee salaries next year.

NEW EQUIPMENT SHOWN BY GEORGE GATLIFF
MuTex firm has formal opening this week

Firm's Formal Opening Due This Week

Formal opening of MuTex Sound and Electronics Radio Shack, located at 302-306th 11th Place (one block west of Big Spring High School) will be observed Saturday, Aug. 10, through Saturday, Aug. 10, Home-owned and operated, the Radio Shack is managed locally by George Gatliff.

New Braceros Agreement Not Feasible, U. S. Says

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A new agreement on Mexican migrant workers with the United States is not feasible now or in the future, the U.S. Embassy said Tuesday night.

The embassy advised Mexico such a program proposed earlier by the Mexican government could not be signed because of farm unemployment in the United States.

There was no immediate comment from the Mexican Foreign Ministry on the American stance.

The controversy involves hundreds of illegal Mexican migrant workers who enter the United States annually in search of work as farm field hands.

These workers are known as braceros or wetbacks because many of them cross over the border by swimming the Rio Grande.

The Mexican government estimated recently that more than 600,000 of these aliens were deported from the United States in 1973.

The American position was outlined in a press statement issued by the embassy in reply to a Mexican government protest June 19 demanding "fair and humane" treatment for the aliens and proposing the agreement.

"The United States government once again carefully considered the possibility of a new agreement . . . The United States concluded that such a program . . . is not at present or in the foreseeable future a feasible solution to the problem," the embassy said.

It added that American Ambassador Joseph John Jova replied to the protest note July 26 it did not give a reason for the delay in making the reply public.

The court upheld here a government appeal of a ruling by U.S. District Court Judge James L. Noel Jr. of Houston, who had ordered the dismissal of charges against Keith S. Irick, David P. Kay, Richard N. Myers and Joseph E. Peel.

The appeals court disagreed with Noel's contention that the indictment against the men was faulty because it charged the man with assault on "a special agent of the Drug Enforcement Administration" while the law refers only to the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, the agency which preceded the DEA.

Congress neglected to substitute the new name for the investigative agency in the assault statute when it reorganized the agency in 1973.

Noel had ruled that the charge was defective because the law "applies only to those departments, agencies and bureaus specifically named therein."

Lower Court Rule Reversed

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals has reversed a lower court ruling that dismissed an assault indictment against four Texas men.

The court upheld here a government appeal of a ruling by U.S. District Court Judge James L. Noel Jr. of Houston, who had ordered the dismissal of charges against Keith S. Irick, David P. Kay, Richard N. Myers and Joseph E. Peel.

The appeals court disagreed with Noel's contention that the indictment against the men was faulty because it charged the man with assault on "a special agent of the Drug Enforcement Administration" while the law refers only to the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, the agency which preceded the DEA.

The bidding:
South West Pass East
4♥ Pass Pass
Opening lead: King of ♠

Have you ever dreamed of playing on some of these championship teams that you are always reading about? Here's your chance to test your playing technique against two experts. We will give you a slight edge by allowing you to look at all four hands as you attempt to bring home a close game.

At this vulnerability, South's opening bid of four hearts meets with our approval. It is in keeping with the Rule of Two and Three, which requires that a player be within three tricks of his contract when preempting if he is not vulnerable.

Obviously, if the spade finesse is going to succeed, you have no problem. Therefore, you must plan your play on the basis that the finesse will fail, in which case you are in danger of losing a spade, two diamonds and a club. Your first move should be to duck the king of diamonds to keep control of the suit. If West shifts to, say, a trump at trick two to try to cut off dummy's diamond ruff, you can set up a second spade trick while the ace of diamonds prevents the defenders from cashing a second trick in that suit. However, West continues with a diamond. Your goal is to avoid a second diamond loser—the only question is how to accomplish this.

If you draw trumps and take the spade finesse, the defenders will be able to cash the setting tricks in the minors before you can take a discard on spades. If you lead a club, the defenders can bring about the same position by winning the club and returning a trump, eliminating the possibility of a diamond ruff.

The winning play is not easy to spot. You have to preserve communications between your hand and dummy, and the only way to do this is to lead the queen of spades at trick three! East cannot afford to duck, for then the defenders' spade trick will vanish. But after he wins the king he cannot make a damaging return. You still have a trump in dummy to take care of the third round of diamonds, and if the defenders shift to a trump you can extract all their trumps and then take a discard on a high spade. No matter what they do, they can take no more than three tricks.

If you found the winning play, I'd be proud to have you for a teammate.

Seasonal Upswing In Unemployment

AUSTIN (AP) — Although unemployment began its usual seasonal upswing in May, only 3.9 per cent of Texas' job force was out of work, the Texas Employment Commission reported today.

It was the ninth consecutive month that unemployment had remained below 4 per cent.

At 3.9 per cent, the unemployment rate was just a fraction above May 1973 and below May 1970, 1971 and 1972.

The unemployment rate traditionally rises from April to July as students and housewives seek jobs.

As of mid-May, the commission said, Texas' labor force totaled 5,084,700, an increase of 64,500 from mid-April and 190,000 from May 1973.

Insured unemployment dropped for the third consecutive month, totaling 31,695 at mid-May, a decrease of 5,172 from April.

DISCUSS STRIKE — Minnesota Vikings' Godfrey Zaundrecher (left) and Carl Eler arrive at a meeting of the veterans Tuesday night to discuss the team's position on whether to report or training camp. As yet, none of the veterans has reported. After a three-hour discussion the team agreed to continue the boycott but to work out together as a team until the strike is settled.

Marichal, Cepeda Still Capable Of Big Efforts

By The Associated Press
You're excused if you closed the books on Juan Marichal and Orlando Cepeda, whose glory days are long past. But the veteran pitcher and the old slugger aren't quite through yet.

Marichal, who has spent most of the last two months on the disabled list, hurled seven innings of two-hit baseball Tuesday night as Boston blanked Milwaukee 6-0 to complete a doubleheader sweep over the Brewers. The Red Sox took the opener 6-3.

Meanwhile, Cepeda, who was cut by Boston in spring training and was languishing in the Mexican League until last week, showed up in Kansas City and ripped a pair of singles in the Royals' 17-3 romp over Minnesota.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday, Cleveland outlasted Detroit 9-7, Baltimore trimmed New York 4-1, Texas shut out Oakland 1-0 and Chicago battered California 12-2.

Marichal, 35, went before Diego Segui came on to complete the three-hitter. Dwight Evans, who singled home the deciding run in the first game, drove in four more in the nightcap, three of them on a homer.

Meanwhile, Minnesota couldn't control Kansas City, which collected 19 hits. Amos Otis drove in four runs with a homer and a double but the most intriguing part of the attack were a pair of singles by Cepeda, who drove in two runs in his return to the big leagues.

Rangers 1, A's 0
Ferguson Jenkins limited Oakland to two hits and shut out the A's for his 15th victory in 25 decisions.

Texas scored the game's only run in the fourth inning on a right that fell between Oakland double by Lenny Randle and Toby Harrah's bloop double to second baseman Dick Green and right fielder Reggie Jackson.

Orioles 4, Yankees 1
Three New York errors helped Baltimore to three unearned runs and moved the Orioles past the Yankees.

Grant Jackson shut off a late threat to save the victory for Baltimore which was out hit 11-8 but took advantage of the loose New York fielding for the victory.

Paul Blair singled home two of the Orioles runs but errors by Bill Sudakis and Dick Tidrow in the first inning and Sandy Alomar in the seventh gave Baltimore the edge.

White Sox 12, Angels 2
Ken Henderson rapped three hits including a bases-loaded triple that capped a seven-run second inning as the Chicago White Sox thumped the California Angels.

Henderson opened the second inning by drawing a walk and eventually scored on a single by Carlos May and a double by Brian Downing.

Jenkins' Mastery Over A's Endures

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Reggie Jackson became so flustered at Ferguson Jenkins' artistic mound work Tuesday night that the Oakland star shouted at the Texas Ranger pitcher, "Quit making it look so easy."

Jenkins continued magical string over the world champions with a two-hit, 1-0 victory as he struck out eight and walked only two.

The 30-year-old Jenkins, obtained in an off-season trade from the Chicago Cubs, defeated Oakland for the third time in as many tries. He has allowed the hard-hitting A's only two earned runs in 27 innings and only 10 hits over that span.

"You have to go after them," explained Jenkins, who is now 15-10 and has an excellent chance of winning 20 games.

For Jenkins, it was his eighth victory in his last 10 decisions.

Texas Manager Billy Martin said Jenkins' turnaround came "when he stopped trying to pitch so fine. He was throwing a lot of pitches. He just started pitching strikes and now he's getting ahead of the hitters."

Jenkins took a psychological page from Gaylord Perry's book. The mound was muddy from rain earlier in the day and occasionally Jenkins would reach down and use a little of the goo to scuff up the ball.

"They did a lot of hollering until I quit it," Jenkins laughed.

Jenkins said he has a good chance to win 20 games.

"I figure I will get at least 12 more starts so that gives me a good shot," Jenkins said. "This ball club can really get you some runs, but I was wondering if they were going to get me enough tonight."

Texas' only score off loser Blue Moon Odom came in the fourth inning on Lenny Randle's double and a bloop double by Toby Harrah which fell between Dick Green and Jackson, who had a mixup.

Odom, who allowed only five hits, pitched in place of Vida Blue, who was hospitalized with chest pains.

Oakland called up Bill Parsons from Tucson of the Pacific Coast League to make room. The A's sent Pat Burke down to make room for Parsons, who has a 2-5 record.

Parsons and Jim Bibby of Texas will tangle tonight.

'Papering House' Claims Have New League On Run

By The Associated Press
Tonight in Philadelphia, the Bell will host the Memphis Southern in a World Football League game. A crowd of 30,000 is expected, but it's anybody's guess how many of those will be paid admissions.

The rookie league has been rocked by reports of "papering the house" with free admissions to its games — most notably Philadelphia, which claimed over 120,000 spectators for its first two home games when in fact only 20,000 had paid for their seats.

So the surprising, often amazing claims of attendance in the WFL's first month have become suspect. After boasting an enthusiastic reception, the WFL has been sent running for cover.

Over-all, five of the 12 teams, responding either independently or directly to Associated Press inquiries, said they had given away 158,000 free tickets to their home games. Assuming that none of the other seven league teams gave tickets away, the paid attendance for the league's first 24 games is 563,000 or an average of 26,000.

Bell Executive Vice President Barry Lieb admitted his club gave the extraordinary number of tickets away. Only 13,800 of the home opening 55,334 admissions were paid; just 6,200 of the 64,719 paid for the nationally televised game against New York two weeks ago.

"We just had to do it or we would have been a joke," Lieb said. "I admit we lied to everyone. What can I say? I never thought the figures would come out."

But they did come out, as they have in a number of other places — to a lesser degree — around the league. And the reaction of people around the circuit has been surprise, shock and dismay.

"God, this really hurts," said Southern California Sun General Manager Curly Morrison. "Why in hell would they do something like that? It's bad. It didn't serve any purpose to inflate the gate."

League President Gary Davidson said that the league's initial policy had been for each team to announce only a turnstile count and not divulge paid attendance.

Davidson added, "The thing I resent is that the management in Philadelphia misled the public," and acknowledged the WFL's reputation had been

Major Leagues Ready To Talk Expansion

NEW YORK (AP) — The expansion boom that has marked nearly every major sport in the past few years has been noticeably absent in baseball — and perhaps the major leagues now are ready to do something about it.

Expansion was expected to be one of the important topics of discussion as the major league owners began their two-day summer meetings today. Although there was no proposal for expansion talk at the sessions, "It doesn't mean that expansion couldn't come soon," one league official said.

When expansion does come, probably for the 1976 season, the cities most likely to be awarded franchises are Seattle,

Toronto, New Orleans and Washington, D.C.

Seattle was one of the four cities included in baseball's last expansion, in 1969, when the major leagues jumped from 20 to 24 teams. Seattle was joined in the American League lineup five years ago by Kansas City, while Montreal and San Diego were added to the National League.

That year also saw the introduction of divisional play, with the American and National Leagues each split into East and West Divisions, with six teams in each sector.

However, Seattle lasted only one year. The team went bankrupt and was sold for $10.8 million to a group that relocated the franchise in Milwaukee in 1970.

Later, however, the American League promised Seattle it would receive a franchise no later than 1976. When Seattle rejoins the league, it will play in a domed stadium now under construction.

New Orleans, which also likely will join the American League when the majors' next expansion is completed, also has a domed stadium under construction, the Louisiana Superdome. It is scheduled for completion next year.

Washington, like Seattle, formerly was a member of the American League. But in 1972, the franchise was shifted to Texas. Since then there have been discussions of some teams scheduling games in the nation's capital, but so far nothing has been done on the matter.

The answer, instead, is expected to be an expansion franchise. When Washington is admitted back into the majors, it likely will be in the National League, not the American.

Toronto would be a natural for the National League, especially in the East Division, joining its Canadian rival, Montreal.

Before discussing expansion, however, the major league executives had other matters on the agenda. They included a proposal to increase the number of teams qualifying for the post-season playoffs from four to eight, a desire by the Chicago White Sox to replace Milwaukee in the American League East with the Brewers being switched to the West, and discussion of the new central scouting bureau in which 17 teams are participating.

More Cowboys Are Joining Workouts

DALLAS (AP) — The veteran ranks among striking Dallas Cowboys are thinning.

The camp arrivals are particularly pleasing to Landry who is going to have something of a morale problem with what seven defectors to the World Football League on the squad.

Staubach arrived in camp Sunday and remained relatively silent until Ed Garvey, the executive secretary of the National Football League Players Association, was quoted in the Washington Post as saying: "I'm glad I wasn't at Pearl Harbor with him (Staubach)."

"You can say a lot of things to a Navy man, but talk about his family and then Pearl Harbor and you're in trouble," Staubach retorted.

Garvey sent Staubach a letter saying, "I was misquoted. I did not mean to criticize you. I respect your individual decision."

Staubach said Garvey could have called him a scab and "I wouldn't have said anything. But that is a really ridiculous analogy. It shows the type leadership we have if you have to use analogies like that to make statements."

Jack's Fans Offer Many Tips On What's Wrong

CLEMMONS, N.C. (AP) — When things go bad, the customers always write.

So mused Jack Nicklaus, noting that his mail box is stuffed with suggestions on how to cure his golfing ills.

"You'd be surprised how many letters I get from people who know what I am doing wrong," said the game's greatest collector of major titles, allowing himself only two days preparation for defense of his PGA Championship beginning Thursday.

Nicklaus, whose last victory was the Hawaiian Open Feb. 3, is co-favorite with South Africa's Gary Player in the tourney over the 7,050-yard, par-70 Tanglewood course starting Thursday.

At last count, 146 touring and club professionals were prepared to tee off in the 72-hole tourney that ends Sunday.

Late withdrawals included Hale Irwin, the U.S. Open champion, whose wife is expecting a baby; veteran Julius Boros, suffering from a back ailment; Buddy Allin, who has a sore shoulder, and former title-holder Jack Burke Jr., who decided not to compete.

"I am not playing that badly," said Nicklaus, who breezed in Tuesday for his second tour of the course. "But I've not been totally happy with my game."

"I've been close several times, in a position to win. But each time I've backed off."

Nicklaus practiced Tuesday and planned another round today.

"Usually, I like more preparation," the 30-year-old Nicklaus said. "But I had no more early practice last year when I won at Canterbury (Cleveland)."

Had To Start For LA Rams

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — All pro quarterback John Hadl, in camp only a couple of days, has been named to start for the Los Angeles Rams in their exhibition game Saturday night against the Dallas Cowboys.

Coach Chuck Knox said Hadl, who quit the players' strike and reported to camp Monday, will be the only change from the starting lineup that defeated Cleveland 24-21 in the Ram pre-season opener last Friday.

Three more veterans entered camp Tuesday, including 1973 starting safety Steve Preece — bringing to four the number of last year's starters now in training.

Also reporting Tuesday were quarterback James Harris, Hadl's backup last year, and reserve defensive back Bill Drake.

The Rams now number 19 veterans in camp, including wide receivers Jack Snow and Lance Rentzel and offensive guard Joe Scibelli.

Translating Thoughts Helped Bench, Reds

By The Associated Press

Johnny Bench walked up to over the Los Angeles Dodgers the plate thinking "home run" all the way. Then he translated his thoughts into action.

Bench hit a two-run homer in the 10th inning to carry the Cincinnati Reds to 6-3 decision Tuesday night and make the National League West race a little more interesting.

"We won tonight, now we have to win tomorrow night and then get about six more," Cincinnati's All-Star catcher said after the Reds cut the Dodgers' lead to 6½ games. "It's going to take a lot for us to catch them. Even if they split the games they have left (the Dodgers have 51 remaining), we'd have to play .700 ball."

OFF MARSHALL

Bench's game-winning blast came off a screwball from Mike Marshall, the Dodger relief star.

Elsewhere in the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals took a doubleheader from the Montreal Expos 5-4 and 9-4; the Houston Astros blasted the San Francisco Giants 13-4; the Atlanta Braves stopped the San Diego Padres 5-2; the Philadelphia Phillies hammered the Chicago Cubs 8-3 and the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the New York Mets 9-8 in 11 innings.

With the Reds and Dodgers tied at 3-3, Pete Rose led off the 10th with a single and one out later, Bench blasted his 21st homer into the left field pavilion off Marshall, tied 7-7.

Los Angeles tied the contest when Wynn hit his 26th homer of the baseball season.

Cards 5-9, Expos 4-4

Mike Tyson's two-run triple highlighted a four-run rally in St. Louis over Montreal in the first game of their doubleheader. The Cardinals scored seven runs in the third inning of the second game to complete a sweep.

Astros 13, Giants 4

Left fielder Gary Matthews dropped Tommy Helms' liner for a two-base error and Houston rallied for three unearned runs in the sixth inning and went on to beat San Francisco.

Milt May's one-out single and a two-out single by Doug Rader started the rally. Matthews then dropped Helms' liner and both runners scored, breaking a 3-3 tie.

YANKEE TALK — George M. Steinbrenner, 43, owner of the New York Yankees, fears the Yankees will never again dominate the American League. But he termed the team "a national institution."

Strike's Twilight Hour May Be Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the striking National Football League players and club owners were scheduled to meet again today with federal mediator W.J. Usery Jr., as veterans continued to trickle into various training camps in defiance of the 35-day-old strike.

Usery met with the two sides Tuesday, and the only announced result of those meetings was that they would meet again this morning.

Meanwhile, management said that as of Tuesday over one fourth of the NFL veterans had reported to preseason training camps. A spokesman for the NFL Management Council put the number of defections at 360, or 28 per cent of the total NFL work force, and claimed that 111 of them were starters. He said 910 veterans, about 500 of those starters, remain out of camp.

Tuesday's camp arrivals included kicker Pete Gogolak of the New York Giants, defensive tackle Jon Kolb of Pittsburgh, middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti and offensive tackle Norm Evans of Miami and guard John Niland of Dallas.

Niland said it was "God's will" that he join 19 other Dallas veterans at the team's camp in Thousand Oaks, Calif. But a group of about 30 Minnesota Vikings veterans, at a meeting Tuesday night, decided to begin working out as a unit but reaffirmed their decision not to report to camp.

Cornerback Bobby Bryant, speaking for those who attended the two-hour meeting which included Coach Bud Grant, said, "We'll be working out daily but nobody is going to camp. The main purpose of the meeting was to get ourselves organized."

Bryant said Grant attended about one-half hour of the session, but was not involved in the discussion of the strike. He said Grant had been invited to hear the players' positions on the strike.

Following Tuesday's negotiations, the first since last Thursday, mediator Usery said he was more hopeful than before. "We still have some difficult issues, but they are surmountable when you have people

If fans wait until game time, they will have to pay $2 per game. Early buyers can save as much as $2.50 if they buy tickets for all home games.

Crippled Giant Staff Is Pummeled By Houston

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants have a rare two-day break in the baseball schedule and need every minute of it.

"I hope the time off helps some of our pitchers," Manager Wes Westrum said Tuesday night after a 13-4 pounding administered by the Houston Astros and their 18-hit attack.

The Astros, led by Bob Watson who had a homer, triple, single and four runs batted in, were merely rubbing salt in the Giants' staff's wounds. They had 19 hits at Candlestick Park Monday in a 7-2 victory.

"I don't want to knock the Giants' staff. But their pitchers seemed to be behind us on counts all the time. Down at Los Angeles, the pitchers always seemed to be ahead of us, and it's tough to hit that way," said Watson.

The Astros, a distant third behind Los Angeles and Cincinnati in the National League West race, came here after losing two games in Los Angeles and had only 12 hits in their previous three games before the Candlestick stop.

Lee May also homered for Houston Tuesday night. Greg Gross, Milt May, Doug Rader and Watson had three hits each, but a two-base error by Giants left fielder Gary Matthews in the sixth inning sent the Astros ahead.

Matthews dropped a Tommy Helms line drive, allowing two runs to score which broke a 3-3 tie. Giants starter Ed Halicki, 1-5, didn't make it out of the inning.

Mike Cosgrove, 6-1, picked up the victory, allowing the Giants only one run after relieving starter Tom Griffin in the fifth. Halicki drove in two runs with a double in the fifth.

"Our only problem this season has been Los Angeles and Cincinnati," said Astros Manager Preston Gomez. "We just haven't been able to beat them. We've won two out of 12 against the Dodgers, two of 10 against the Reds."

The Astros returned home to play Atlanta tonight, while the Giants rested for a road trip which begins Friday in Chicago.

Bryan Defending Champ In Hi-Junior Tourney

MONAHANS — Bryan is the defending champion in the State Hi-Junior Baseball Tournament, an eight-team event which gets under way here today.

The double-elimination tournament lists among its contestants three West Texas teams, including the Big Spring Kiwanians.

The Monahans Lions and San Angelo's Gibson's are also competing for the championship.

Big Spring won a berth in the tournament by racing through the District 6 tournament without a defeat last week.

Other teams eligible for competition include Victoria,

Paris, Sharpstown, Dallas and Bryan.

Tournament director is A. G. Adair of Monahans.

Monahans advanced to the tournament with a 10-3 record. San Angelo advanced by turning back Fort Stockton, in a best-of-three game series. San Angelo currently boasts a 10-2 record.

Pairings for the meet were to be announced sometime this morning. Monahans is hosting the tournament for the second straight year.

First Round pairings:

WEDNESDAY
Sharpsstown (Houston) vs. San Angelo, 9 a.m.; Monahans vs. Paris, 1 p.m.; Victoria vs. Dallas, 4 p.m.; Victoria vs. Bryan, 8 p.m.

A win over Dallas would return the Monahans to play at 4 p.m. Thursday against the winner in the Victoria-Bryan contest. Should Big Spring lose, it would get action again at 1 p.m. Thursday.

The championship game is scheduled for 8 p.m., Saturday.

Fems Are Led By Underwood

The Comanche Trail Ladies Golf Association hosted women linksters from Webb AFB and the Big Spring Country Club Tuesday at the Municipal course, featuring a nine-hole low ball tournament and a luncheon.

Start was play was delayed until 10 a.m., due to a light rain.

First place prize was captured by Alta Lee Underwood, who posted a 34. Virgie Reese copped second, one stroke off the pace. Third was Lavelle Vaughn, who also went around in 35. Madeline Atkins was fourth with a 39 while Ann Lowery scored a 41, good for fifth place.

Opal McDaniel and Mrs. Underwood also tied for the lowest number of putts. Each used just 15 putts on the round.

Footballers Will Undergo Exams

Football players at all area schools are being reminded that physical examinations will be offered by a team of local physicians in Steer Gymnasium here, starting at 1 p.m., Thursday.

No boy will be allowed to play who does not undergo an examination.

Big Spring boys are being advised to bring ten cents with them, which will be used to defray the cost of the physicals. Shoes will be offered to Big Spring High School gridders Friday, Aug. 16. The Steers can start working as a unit without pads Aug. 19.

They will be issued all their gear as early as Aug. 23 and will launch full-scale drills after that.

The Longhorns, ambitious to improve upon a 1-9 record of a year ago, will scrimmage against Sweetwater Aug. 30.

$22.2 Billion Military Procurement Bill Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $22.2 billion military procurement bill has been signed by President Nixon despite what he said were "serious reservations" that portions of the measure are unnecessary or unconstitutional.

In addition to authorizing funds to buy weapons for U.S. armed forces, the bill also set a $1 billion ceiling on U.S. military aid to South Vietnam. The bill is $1 billion below Nixon's budget requests for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1975.

In a statement Nixon said the legislation supports his view that America's military forces must be kept strong if world peace is to be maintained.

However, he said, "a number of provisions authorize spending for unneeded equipment and could thus inflate defense spending unnecessarily at a time when we should recognize the need to avoid waste."

He said he would watch spending closely and promised to make a special review of a provision requiring that any new major combat ships be equipped with nuclear power "unless the President advises otherwise."

"I shall recommend nuclear propulsion for ships only when the added cost of such propulsion is fully justified in the national interest," the President said.

Nixon criticized as unconstitutional a section of the bill authorizing Congress to veto presidential decisions permitting the export of certain goods and technology to specific countries.

The bill also sets an active duty military manpower ceiling at 2,149,300 by the end of the fiscal year, 2,800 less than recommended by the Pentagon.

It's Much Nicer Here'

WASECA, Minn. (AP) — "I don't want to go back," said 10-year-old Marie O'Neill. "It's much nicer here. The people are better... I'm not scared here."

Marie is among 120 youngsters who will be returning two weeks to their Belfast homes in the heart of Northern Ireland's war zone after spending six weeks in the Midwest.

About 30 of the children got together Sunday for a small-town picnic, at the edge of Clear Lake near Waseca, featuring a potluck buffet and softball games sponsored by the Irish American Club of Southern Minnesota.

The youngsters came to Minnesota, the Dakotas and Wisconsin June 28 via a project sponsored by the Hibbing, Minn., Rotary Club, to help them escape the Protestant-Catholic violence which has plagued Northern Ireland.

Marie, a summer guest of the Joe Jacobs family of Maple Plain, Minn., was not the only one who didn't relish returning home. But some expressed concern for relatives.

"I'll be kind of glad to get home because I miss my sisters," said Jackie Scarsfield, 10. She added, "But America's fantastic."

Clinic Set For Aug. 16

A back to school screening clinic will be held at the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Friday, Aug. 16, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The screening program is being done in cooperation with the Big Spring Jaycees and is designed to detect existing or potential problems in orthopedic defects, speech, hearing, vision, visual perception, fine and gross motor coordination problems. Screening for dental problems will also be held.

Mr. Jack H. Davis, director of the rehabilitation center, said, "All of the screenings will be handled by qualified and registered personnel here at the center and the doctors who have donated their time to help."

DDS J.R. Cave and DDS John R. Key will attend to the screening of dental problems. Dr. Harold Smith will be at the screening to check for eye and sight disorders.

A charge of $5 per child or $12 for three or more children will be assessed. Total time for the screening in all areas should be 30 to 40 minutes, according to Davis. Appointments may be made by phone or at the center on the day of screening.

FBI Involved In Shootout

HOUSTON (AP) — The FBI confirmed Tuesday night that one of its agents became involved in the Texas prison shootout at Huntsville Saturday when peace officers were exposed to gunfire from Fred Gomez Carrasco and other inmates attempting to escape.

The assistant special agent in charge of the FBI's Houston office, John J. Schwartz, said agent Robert Wyatt of Bryan at the prison as a "liaison" between federal and state officials—became involved after a fire hose used to spray the shielded inmates broke.

Schwartz said Wyatt and two Texas Ranger captains rushed from their positions at the prison mess hall in an attempt to protect other officers from gunfire.

NO JURISDICTION He also confirmed that a special FBI team was at the Huntsville prison for 10 hours before it was determined the agents had no jurisdiction in the situation.

An unidentified FBI source in Washington had said earlier that the special operations group, known as a Special Weapons Assault Team (SWAT), was sent to the prison shortly after Carrasco and two confederates seized hostages and held them under armed guard in the prison library.

Carrasco, another convict and two hostages were killed when shooting erupted Saturday night as the convicts tried to escape to an armored car with their captives.

Another Justice Department agency, the Bureau of Prisons, was contacted informally during the 10-day standoff but took no direct part in the negotiations.

A bureau official in Washington, Charles Turnbo, discussed those contacts in response to a reporter's questions last Thursday but later asked that the information be withheld for fear of bringing harm to the hostages. The Associated Press complied with his request.

Nuclear Reactor

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Nuclear reaction began early Tuesday at Unit One of Arkansas Power & Light Co.'s Arkansas Nuclear One Steam Electric Station — the first nuclear-fueled electric generating unit in the southwest.

William Cavanaugh, AP&L manager of nuclear services, said that additional testing of the unit will be conducted at a level of zero power for the next two weeks.

The zero power test phase will be followed by comprehensive testing at steadily increasing power levels until the full capability of the unit is realized.

Full operation is scheduled for early October. Electricity generated during the testing process will be transmitted into the system for use by AP&L customers.

Today's initial sustained fission reaction, known as criticality, was achieved by diluting the neutron-absorbing boron in the reactor coolant and adjusting the control rod groups in a predetermined sequence.

Growers Plan Weevil Attack

LUBBOCK — Bids of aerial applicators for multiple spraying of an estimated 200,000 acres of cotton in the 1974 High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program will be opened Aug. 12 and the first planes should take the air on Aug. 26.

Ed Dean, field service director of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., gave the estimated base acreage figure and said the aggregate of acreage to be sprayed could come to around 650,000, requiring some 77,000 gallons of insecticide.

PCG initiated the program in 1964 when it became apparent that without a control effort the cotton boll weevil within a few years would infest the entire High Plains and move on into New Mexico, greatly increasing cotton production costs and reducing both yield and quality of the crop. It has been described as one of the most successful pest management efforts ever developed in agriculture.

The massive spraying of technical malathion to decimate the number of weevils going into hibernation each Fall is preceded by surveys to determine the areas that are infested and whether or not weevil populations are high enough to justify treatment.

The program "control zone" lies along the rim of the Caprock bordering the High Plains on the East.

The program is financed on a dollar for dollar basis by cotton producers in PCG's 25 counties and the federal government with some contribution from the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Bob Dylan Signs Columbia Pact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer-songwriter Bob Dylan has signed a long-term contract with Columbia Records, the company that sold millions of his records when Dylan, first became famous.

Irwin Sagelstein, CBS Records president, said contract agreement with the 33-year-old singer was reached on Saturday after two days of negotiations. Sagelstein didn't announce the terms of the contract but said it was "long term."

Crookston Times Sale Announced

CROOKSTON, Minn. (AP) — Robert E. Taylor, president and publisher of the Crookston Times, has announced the sale of the newspaper to a group which also owns the Dickinson, N.D., Press.

The sale was effective Aug. 1. The new owners of the Times are Clark O. Murray and Wright S. Coulson, principal officers of Inland Newspaper Machinery, Corp., Kansas City, Mo., and Les Daughtry and Wes F. Palmer Jr., Galveston, Texas.

Palmer has been named publisher of the Times. He moves from The Galveston Daily News where he was an advertising executive.

Murray and Coulson have newspaper holdings in Iowa, Missouri, Illinois and Ohio as well as the Dickinson Press. Daughtry is editor and publisher of the Galveston Daily News and is associated with Carmage Walls and Lee Walls in the ownership of 17 newspapers.
