Irony Of Fate Kept Camera Wizard Deep In Shadows

WASHINGTON AP — It is an irony of history that the man who took the earliest surviving and remarkably distinct photographs of the nation's capital is a shadowy, little-known figure.

He was John Plumbe Jr., an immigrant who became a prosecuting attorney in Iowa, later established a chain of thriving photographic studios and died a suicide at 48 when the government rejected his scheme for a transcontinental railroad on a southern route.

Five of the daguerreotype types he made about 1846 in Washington and one from Baltimore survive, discovered in a flea market 3,000 miles away 126 years later.

31 SURVIVE

Although Plumbe was in the business of photographing notables, only 31 surviving portraits have been identified. Those include such persons as John Quincy Adams, John C. Calhoun, Henry Clay, Sam Houston, James K. Polk and Mrs. Polk, Martin Van Buren,

Area Tests Are Plugged

Several area wildcats have been plugged, but one, Coquina No. 1 Bible, in Dawson County is running 4 1/2-in. casing to 9,200 feet.

Three miles north of Patricia in southwestern Dawson, Brown No. 1 Echols took three drillstem tests. One from 8,100-130, as well as one from 8,225-80, each returned 90 feet of drilling mud. Then one from 8,650-75 showed only drilling of the fluid. The abandoned venture was located 900 from the south and west lines of section 2 of the more CSL 268.

Coquina No. 2 Fulkerson 1,200 from the north and 1,890 from the east lines of section 31-33-5n, T&P, six miles southeast of Key, was an abandoned location.

In northeastern Borden, Mitchell Energy and Development No. 1-368 Morris Miller, 660 from the north and west lines of 368-97, H&TC, six miles southwest of Fluvanna, showed 180 feet of oil and 280 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud before abandoning below the tested interval of 7,708-90.

branches of the Smithsonian Institution.

Two other views are of the General Post Office in the same area. One seems at first glance marred by scratches. But a close examination shows them to be wires. Fern and Kaplan theorize that they carried Samuel R.B. Morse's new telegraph message from his office on Pennsylvania Avenue to Baltimore.

N. Currier, later of Currier and Ives fame, reproduced some of Plumbe's photographs, and Plumbe himself took a copyright in 1846 intending to issue a daily series of likenesses of great Americans, to be sold by subscription.

The venture seems to have been a failure and Plumbe

Ford Had Excuse For His Absence

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The guest of honor was absent, but Gerald R. Ford had a valid excuse.

While still vice president, Ford had promised to speak in person at the dedication on Friday of a Watts district housing project.

The audience attending the dedication of the new, 200-unit housing development in the predominantly black district of Los Angeles heard a Ford speech recorded an hour before he was sworn in as President in Washington and piped here by telephone.

"I had looked forward to meeting in person with the new homeowners at today's ceremony, but fate had something else in store, so I'm still in Washington," the President said.

idea for a transcontinental railroad via a southern route. With another of his ideas frustrated, he returned to Dubuque and committed suicide there in 1857.

"He was the embodiment of the American 19th century adventurer: an immigrant, starting with little, creating a business empire," Fern and Kaplan wrote in the library's Quarterly Journal.

"He boasted of employing a staff of 500 at the height of his career. He was involved in two other areas of significance to the growing nation: rail transport and printmaking. But he has remained obscure."

It's about time you relaxed. Let us do the chores, the cooking and the dishes.

Body Is Found Near Greenville

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The Hunt County Sheriff's office continued efforts today to identify the body of a woman found 11 miles west of here.

Chief Deputy Roy Randolph said it appeared the woman had been shot.

Randolph said the body, clothed in a red and blue knit dress and sandals, was found Friday by highway workers on FM 2642 about one-quarter mile south of Interstate 30. He said the body had been at the spot at least 12 hours.

Randolph said the body appeared to be that of a small Mexican-American woman about 40 years old. He added officers had found on the body a 1949 high school ring bearing the initials "MAR".

Randolph said the body is at the forensic laboratory in Dallas where an autopsy will be performed as ordered by Justice of the Peace Merrick Monday.

Delegation Led By Weinberger

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — A member of President Ford's cabinet, Caspar W. Weinberger, will head a 33-member American delegation to the U.N. World Population Conference Aug. 19-30 in Bucharest, Romania.

The delegates were named on Friday by the U.S. mission to the United Nations. Weinberger, secretary of health, education and welfare, will be chairman of the group. Russell W. Peterson, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, will be vice chairman.

Three congressmen, Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Reps. Edith Green, D-Ore., and Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., were also named to the delegation.

Tar-Feather Job Brings Charge

MOUNT HOLLY, N.J. (AP) — A man accused of tar and feathering another man has been released on $1,500 bail from the Burlington County jail.

Police say Joseph W. Dorsen, 25, of Delran, N.J., used a toy gun to kidnap 20-year-old James Chalus on Wednesday, a year to the day after Chalus allegedly assaulted a woman who later became Dorsen's wife. Police said Dorsen stripped Chalus, of Riverside, N.J., tied him to a fence and covered him with tar and feathers.

During Library Seige, Carrasco Kept Diary

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A peace justice here said Friday convict Fred Gomez Carrasco apparently kept a diary of the 11-day prison library seige that ended with him and three other persons dead.

"I haven't seen it. I understand it is in the custody of prison officials—but one of the hostages told me that Carrasco made entries from day to day," said Justice of the Peace J. W. Beeler.

"I understand that the entries included the demands he sent to prison officials, but I don't know what else he may have written. It may include the so-called will which he read by phone to an attorney in San Antonio, I'm not sure."

Carrasco's lawyers, Ruben Montemayor and James Gillespie, said Carrasco requested cremation of his body and care for his children.

Carrasco, fellow convict Raulo Dominguez and two hostages, Mrs. Judy Standley and Mrs. Elizabeth Beseda, died Aug. 5 in a shootout here in the Walls Unit of the Texas prison system.

Standley "confirms our conclusions that she was shot by one of the convicts inside the shield they had built from blackboards and law books."

Other Bombs Said Hidden

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A tape-recorded voice claimed credit for Tuesday's massive bombing at Los Angeles International Airport and warned there were still other explosives hidden at the airport, authorities said.

The anonymous caller, who spoke with a Middle Eastern accent, telephoned CBS network news here Friday and was quoted by a CBS spokesman as saying: "Not all of the explosives planted at the airport went off. There was still an egg that failed to hatch."

Other Bombs Said Hidden

Two airlines employees were killed and 34 persons injured when an explosion early Tuesday ripped through the Pan American World Airways section of the terminal, making a shambles of the lobby.

A police spokesman said they followed directions given by the caller which guided them to a trash can in suburban Maywood. Inside, wrapped in green napkins, were a cassette recording and a key which the caller claimed fit the locker near the Pan American counter in which the bomb was placed.

Police Capt. Mervin King said the key was being checked out but it appeared to be the type used to open coin-operated lockers at the airport.

King said the tape-recording of a male voice lasted six to eight minutes.

Nixon Fan Seeks Money For Him

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — George Dumas, head of an anti-impeachment organization says he now will turn his efforts to raising money for former President Richard M. Nixon's legal fees.

Dumas said he was "torn up" by Nixon's resignation and added, "I think we should continue this organization and not fall apart."

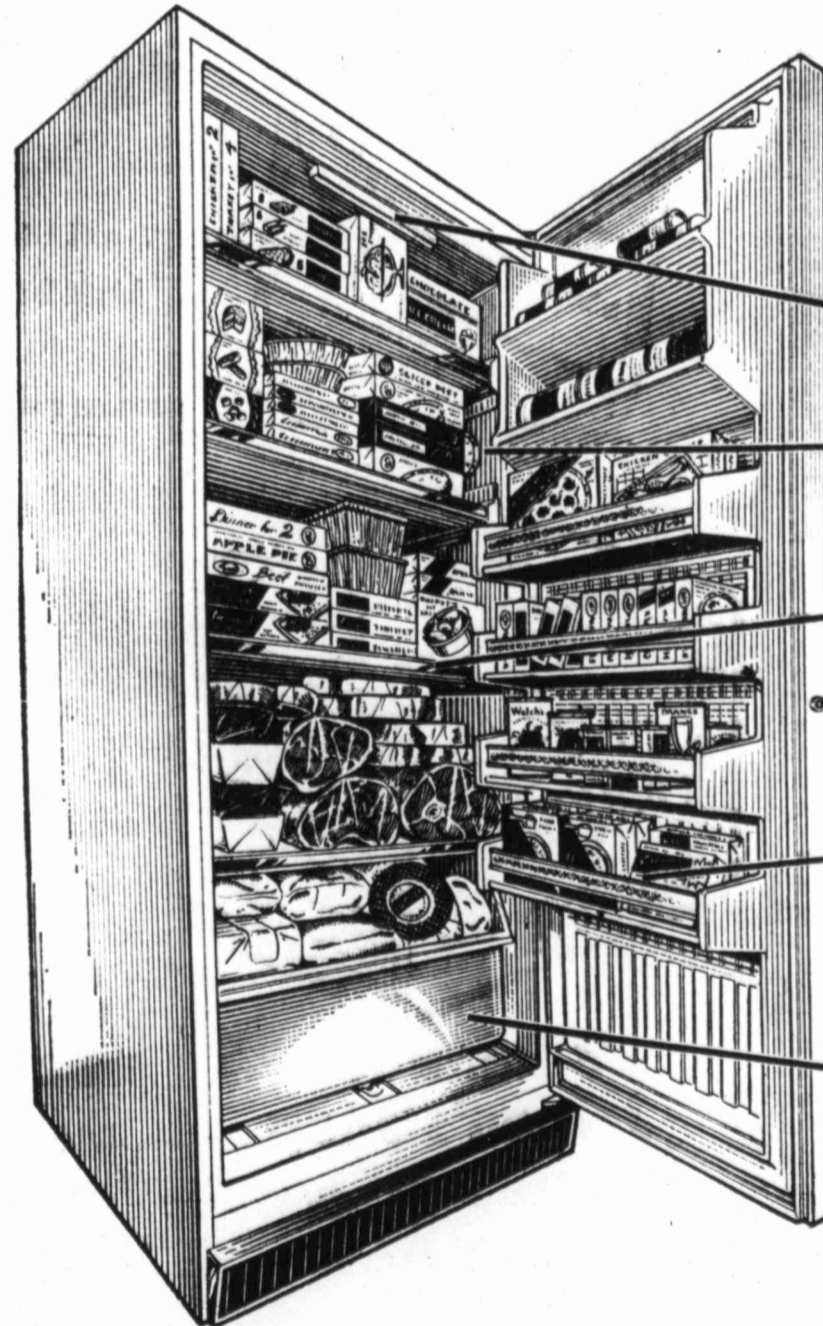

Dumas founded the President's Friends of America last year to support Nixon.

Seeing is believing.

Think about it. How many of your beliefs were formed from what you've seen? The statistics say 80% of our knowledge comes from what we see and read.

And children are no different. The way a child sees has everything to do with how well he learns. The trouble is that one out of every four school-age children needs a visual correction. But children have no way of comparing poor vision with good. And many of them never know to complain. Your child could be one of them.

A professional eye examination and a visit to TSO can help you make sure your child can believe what he sees. Stop in soon and see.

Puppetry Used In Many Ways

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It's been a long time since Finis T. Bluster brought howls of laughter from the Peanut Gallery on the Howdy Doodly Show. And in that time there's been a quiet revolution among puppeteers.

They're reaching beyond the kiddies in the Peanut Gallery toward adult audiences, dangling their wood and cloth creations in sophisticated performances ranging from Shakespeare to Ionesco to educational programs teaching the techniques of birth control.

"We're trying to make puppet watching as popular as a trip to the movies or an evening in front of the television," said Howdy Doodly's developer Rufus Rose, who joined 550 of his colleagues for a convention which ends here today.

For inspiration in their new endeavors they point to Bill Baird's achievement in using puppets to teach birth control techniques to millions of East Indians.

Baird, a New Yorker, said the project was a major coup. "It was one of the first times a puppeteer has tried on a large scale to reach adults instead of children," said Don Avery, editor of The Puppetry Journal.

The puppeteers stress they have no intention of abandoning the kiddie audiences they've made howl with laughter for centuries. They admit there probably always will be a demand for performances of Peter Pan, Rip Van Winkle and other storybook heroes.

In fact, in recent months they say there's been a great interest in Pinocchio, the puppet whose nose grew everytime he lied.

But many artists who have spent years learning dramatic techniques feel the time has come to make the slapstick

Strangler Kills Registered Nurse

ORANGE, Tex. (AP) — Orange county Sheriff's deputies identified Thursday the body of a Connecticut woman found on IN 10 and FM 1130 by a 15-year-old boy.

The partially-clad body of Claudia Marie Bierce, 23, of Naugatuck, Conn., was found shortly before 3 p.m., Charles Morvent Jr., chief deputy at Orange said.

County pathologist Oscar R. Griffin said an autopsy showed the cause of death was strangulation, probably with a leather necklace found around the woman's neck. He placed the death at 10 p.m. Wednesday.

Capt. John E. Wade said letters in a knapsack found nearby showed the woman was hitchhiking from Florida to Big Bend National park in Texas.

She was a registered nurse and was survived by her parents and 10 brothers and sisters.

Third Man Who Allegedly Helped Carrasco Nabbed

UVALDE, Tex. (AP) — The third of four men charged with capital murder in connection with the Huntsville prison shootings last week has been arrested here.

Texas Ranger Joaquin Jackson said Jimmy Dan Brown, 28, was apprehended at his home in Sabinal Friday night after Brown's mother notified Uvalde County sheriff's deputies.

Brown, arraigned before Justice of the Peace Jerry White, was jailed pending $500,000 bond. Jackson said Brown probably would be transferred to the Walker County jail at Huntsville this weekend.

Two brothers, Don Michael and William Henry Kolsten, are in the Walker County jail, charged with capital murder, under $500,000 bond.

Still sought is George S. Cisneros.

All four are alleged to have supplied weapons to Fred Gomez Carrasco, who along with two other convicts held hostages at the state prison at Huntsville and kept officers at bay for 11 days. Carrasco, Rudolf Dominguez, and two women hostages, Mrs. Judy Standley and Mrs. Elizabeth Baseda, were killed Aug. 5 in an escape attempt that ended the siege.

Jackson said Brown had been working in an offshore oil field in Louisiana the past week and apparently did not know he was wanted by Texas authorities until he returned to his home.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe ordered an intensive search to find out how Carrasco managed to obtain three pistols used in his escape attempt.

Also sought is Carrasco's wife, Rosa, 27. She is charged in a warrant with providing an implement of escape for Carrasco.

Authorities have been unable to track her down despite a nearly three-week effort.

No Comment, Says Agnew

CROFTON, Md. (AP) — Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew offered a terse "no comment" when asked about President Nixon's downfall.

Agnew, Nixon's 1968 and 1972 running mate, has avoided publicity since he resigned last October after a no contest plea to evading federal income tax charges.

Herbert Hoover Leader In Feeding The Hungry

By EDITH HEIRMAN

Perhaps too little is said about our ex-presidents except in a history class at school, but they need to be remembered more often because of what each one has contributed to this country. Hoover would have been 100 years old Saturday.

Herbert Clark Hoover, 31st President, born at West Branch, Iowa, Aug. 19, 1874, did not fit the picture of a politician. Hoover did not play a villain-and-hero farce for the galleries. He could not wipe off the makeup because he did not wear any. The lines he spoke were not written by speech-makers. Hoover's opinions, enthusiasms, worries and indignations were not stage efforts but in dead earnest. For him politics was not a "game" for stakes, of power or loot, alongside Stalin to impose

DC Extends Spraberry Pay

Spraberry production has been extended in two areas of Dawson County.

Spraberry pay was extended 1/4 mile south and west in the Gil (Mississippian and Spraberry) field of Dawson County with completion of John L. Cox, Midland, No. 1 Bishop, five miles southwest of Lamesa, to pump 71 barrels of 38 gravity oil, plus 40 barrels of water daily, with gas-oil ratio of 770-1.

Spraberry production was extended 1/2-mile southeast in the Felken (multipay Spraberry) field of Dawson County with completion of Gulf Oil Corp. No. 12 G. C. Wright Jr., et al, 9 1/2 miles southeast of O'Donnell, to pump 173 barrels of 37.8 gravity oil, plus 24 barrels of water daily, with gas-oil ratio of 422-1.

Production was through perforations at 7,264-268 feet, which had been acidized with 250 gallons and fractured with 8,500 gallons and 11,200 pounds. Operator had filed a plugging report June 13 at 7,475 feet, the total depth.

Location is 660 feet from the south and 2,980 feet from the west lines of 17-60-J. Poitevent.

Also in Dawson, Brown No. 1 Jack was coring at 8,065 feet. Coquine No. 1 Bible plugged back to 6,350, and Amoco No. 1 Orson was circulating at 8,300.

Ferguson Adds To Lead

DENVER, Colo. — Pro rodeo cowboys were especially busy last weekend competing in three major rodeos, plus whatever others they could get to, the Rodeo Cowboys Association said.

The big ones included the Central Wyoming Fair rodeo in Casper, the Days of '76 rodeo in Deadwood, S. Dak., and the Last Chance Stampede rodeo in Helena, Mont.

At Casper, Tom Ferguson, Miami, Okla., all around leader for 1974, won first in steer wrestling for $1,105, and Gary Ledford, Comanche, Okla., won first in calf roping for $1,092.

At Helena, Joe Alexander, Cora, Wyo., won first in bareback riding for $772. That put the reigning bareback champ over the $30,000 mark this season. Dean Oliver, eight-times world champion calf roper from Boise, Ida., was first in his event for $879, and held to second place in standings.

Leaders in various events were:

All-around cowboy — Tom Ferguson, Miami, Okla., $45,250, and Leon Carmillo, Oakdale, Calif., $26,078; saddle bronc riding — John McBeth, Burden, Kan., $19,377, and J. C. Justice Served, Says Minister

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Richard Nixon's former minister says justice was served by the president's resignation.

The Rev. John Huffman Jr. said Friday that Nixon lied to him about Watergate during a conversation the two held after an Easter service last year at the Key Biscayne Presbyterian Church, a short distance from Nixon's Florida home.

The minister, who since has accepted a church assignment in Pittsburgh, said the White House tapes that Nixon released just before his resignation make it obvious "that for over two years he has been lying to the American people."

The tapes showed that Nixon knew about the cover-up long before he said he did.

In telephone interviews with Miami newspapers, the Rev. Mr. Huffman related that he talked with Nixon about the cover-up after the Easter service in which he preached a sermon some observers saw as moralizing about Watergate.

Nixon, who attended the service, "gave me absolute assurance that he was not at all involved and was going to the very heart of the problem and would bring the full facts out into the open, although it would take time," the minister said.

"I believed him, and his recent revelations have convinced me he lied in what I took as a

Lee Trevino Captures Lead In PGA

CLEMMONS, N.C. (AP) — Lee Trevino, flashing the form and frolic that made him part of the American legend...

Cole finished with a 71 for a 208. Nicklaus, the defending champion in this event that serves as the last of the season's four major tests of golfing greatness...

Nicklaus trounced par 70 in the humid, overcast weather and was tied with Cole for second. Veteran Frank Beard, who twice made eagle two in a wildly erratic round...

at 210 were Dave Hill, whose 67 was the best round of the day, and Leonard Thompson. Thompson, winner of the rich Jackie Gleason Inverrary Classic earlier this year, had a 70. Sam Snead, that 62-year-old marvel from another golfing era, lost a shot to par with a 71 and was next at 211. Arnold Palmer, now 41, and still chasing the one big title that has eluded him, matched par 70 and appeared out of it at 217. Johnny Miller, the season's winning money winner was another stroke back after a 72.

Trevino, four shots out of the lead at the start of the day's play, kept the ball in the fairway on the first two holes with his short, flat swing and rammed in 15-foot birdie putts on each.

But he quickly dropped back into the shifting, scrambling back when he double-bogeyed the fourth hole, catching one of the 110 bunkers that dot this long course, still wet from the heavy rains that have drenched it for almost a week.

He parred the next eight holes while the other leaders struggled from pine tree forest to trap to knee-deep rough to near-disaster to miracle saves. Schlee, Green and Cole all

BEARD SINKS 2 BIRDIES

CLEMMONS, N.C. (AP) — Eagles are rare in any golf tournament, but Frank Beard knocked in two Saturday in the third round of the PGA Championship.

Beard had a 69 and Green, alone in second and just one shot out of the lead when the day's play started, struggled to a 73. Gary Player and second-round leader John Schlee dropped back to a tie at 220. Schlee, the star-gazer who had led or shared the lead throughout the first two rounds, went to a fat 75 and Player, already the winner of the Masters and British Open and the author of a record matching 64 in Friday's second round, went to a 73.

led or shared the lead at one time as they took turns backing off. Cole, a 25-year-old globe-trotter who owns the South African Open title but has yet to win in six years on the American tour, shared the lead on three different occasions.

Far from through, though, Trevino pumped a wedge shot to within four feet of the cup and made the putt for a birdie on the 13th.

Trevino got his third shot on the par-five hole about 20 feet below the cup and ran the putt up to the lip of the cup. It hung there while Trevino dug his heels, blew his breath at the ball, then broke into a broad grin when it finally fell in for a birdie. It gave him a tie for the top.

European Women's Open Title Is Won By Rankin

SUNNINGDALE, England (AP) — Judy Rankin, one of the tiniest players on the U.S. women's pro golf circuit, mastered the long, narrow fairways of Sunningdale Saturday and became the first winner of the European Women's Open title.

JUDY RANKIN

The 29-year-old fair-haired star from Midland, Texas, who stands 5 feet 3 in her stockings, played the 6,227-yard course in one-over-par 73 and finished with a 34-hole total of 218—five strokes ahead of her nearest challengers—to win the $9,600 first prize.

Sue Roberts of Columbus, Ohio, and Mary Mills of Gulfport, Miss., shared second place with 223. Each picked up $5,240.

"I have been playing badly for six weeks," Mrs. Rankin said. "I really thought it was time I played well and won something."

"You really feel like a winner when you win on this course. I shouldn't think there is another golf course in the world where you pay so much penalty for a bad shot."

last day. Mrs. Rankin started the final day one over par and two strokes ahead of her nearest rivals. At first it appeared she would let the title slip. She had bogeys at the second and third holes.

Her game began to click at the short fourth, where the hole is on top of a hill guarded by a vast tract of heather. She took a six-iron on the tee, planted the ball 12 feet from the pin and dropped the putt for a birdie-two.

"That helped to give me confidence," she said. "But I really came good in the rain on the next two holes. I had made double bogeys twice at the sixth this week, and third time

I birdied it." Judy pulled a fluffy white hat over her head as the rain beat down—and played some of her best golf. She had a par-four at the tricky fifth hole which most of her rivals bogeyed, and rolled in a nine-foot putt for a birdie at the sixth.

By the time she reached the ninth, the rain had stopped. She took off her hat, chipped within 15 feet of the flag and sank the putt for another birdie. Then she parred eight of the nine home holes.

Her two main rivals started the day well but came to grief at the sixth. Miss Mills got into trouble in a bunker and took a bogey-five. Miss Roberts put her second shot into a bank of heather and had a double bogie six.

Both of them lost touch with Mrs. Rankin after that.

IN-LAWS LIVE IN COUNTY

Judy Rankin, winner of the European Women's Open golf title in Sunningdale, England, Saturday, is the daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Rankin, who reside on a ranch in East Howard County. She is married to Walter Rankin, a former Midland and Texas Tech football player.

GM Auto Prices Will Go Up Average Of $500

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors has scheduled an average $500 price increase on new model cars and trucks, a 10 percent boost that makes it the largest introductory increase in the industry's history.

And analysts say more increases are expected as long as inflation continues, bringing the under-$3,000 automobile ever closer to extinction.

GM announced on Friday the increase would take effect when 1975 models go on sale in September. The announcement said 1975 model car and truck stickers will carry an average 9.6 percent increase — about $480 — on the base price, including $130 for emission control equipment. Tacked on to that will be a $20 boost in shipping charges.

The company would not give a by-model breakdown, on the increases, but its least expensive model, the subcompact Chevrolet Vega, would sell for $2,800 without options if it carries the average increase.

With options, state and federal taxes and dealer preparation charges, most Vega buyers could easily pay more than $3,000.

The new model increase compares with an average $73 boost GM put through on its 1974 models last September. The previous industry record for introductory price increases was an average $206 per vehicle in the fall of 1970.

Ford Motor Co. has said prices on its 1975 model cars and trucks will go up an average eight percent, or $418.

Chrysler Corp. has said only that its new model increase will be "substantial."

CREEP Settles Suit By Demos

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Richard M. Nixon's re-election committee has agreed to pay the Democratic National Committee $775,000 in settlement of a civil suit arising from the Watergate break-in, the Democrats say.

The settlement, announced Friday, resulted from an exchange of damage suits by officials of the Committee for the Re-Election of the President and the Democratic committee.

Maurice H. Stans, who once headed the financial division of the Nixon committee, sued former Democratic Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien last September. O'Brien had commented on the June 17, 1972, break-in of Democratic headquarters by men paid from re-election committee funds.

In subsequent countersuits, O'Brien and current Democratic Chairman Robert Strauss sought $6.4 million in damages from the re-election committee.

Ex-Hostage Who Sensed She's Die Back Home

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A woman held hostage in a Texas prison for 11 days returned to her native Nashville Friday night and greeted relatives she never thought she would live to see again.

Mrs. Ann Fleming, 50, arrived after a week of rest and several appearances on television talk shows.

She was a librarian at the Texas state prison in Huntsville when three inmates seized control of the facility and held her and several others hostage until last Saturday night.

Two of the inmates and two hostages died during a shootout while trying to move down a long ramp from the prison library to an armored car prison authorities had waiting for them.

"I felt from the beginning that we would die," Mrs. Fleming said.

The irony for her, she said, was that she was not even supposed to be in the prison library at the time of the takeover.

She said she ordinarily worked in the youths' and women's prison and had gone to the men's facility to help with some library orders.

The ordeal wasn't as bad as might be expected, Mrs. Fleming said.

"We lived a normal life with running water, air conditioning, good food, bedding," she said.

"You would have thought that we would have been dismal all the time, but we kept a good sense of humor," she added. "The only time anyone cried was when they were talking to their families."

School Children To Meet Friday At Rehab Center

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center reminded again today that it will offer a school screening service for children of Big Spring and surrounding area Friday.

Hours will be between 9 a.m. and 12 p.m. Appointments may be made by phone, or by coming to the center on the day of the screening.

There is a charge for the service ($5 per child, or $12 for three or more). The screening should be completed in about 30 to 40 minutes in most cases, and it will be done by qualified and registered personnel.

The screening is designed to detect existing or potential problems in posture, speech, hearing, vision, visual perception, fine and gross motor activities. In addition, a dental check will be offered.

"While the public schools offer screening of pupils in the areas of vision, speech and hearing, we recognize the value of a more comprehensive screening process such as the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center plans to offer," said E. H. McKenzie Jr., Big Spring superintendent.

Church Rites Held Friday

The wedding of Miss Judy Diane Holland and Donald Joe Robertson Jr., was held Friday evening at Crestview Baptist Church with the Rev. Collins Moore, minister of Hillcrest Baptist, officiating.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Joe Robertson, 1315 Princeton, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Holland, 1217 Ridgeway.

The altar was centered with a tall candelabrum and completed with candles, flowers and a heart-shaped arch flanked by greenery.

The wedding music was performed by Mrs. Patsy Scott, vocalist, and Miss Kathy Russell, organist.

The bride wore a formal gown of white satin with organza yoke and long sleeves. Lace adorned the bodice, neckline and extended down the front of the gown. Matching lace was used to trim her floor-length veil of illusion. Her bouquet was of pale blue roses and stephanotis interspersed with mixed flowers.

Miss Kaye Holland, maid of honor, was attired in a sky blue, floor-length gown styled with empire waistline, ruffles at the neckline and hemline and blue satin ribbon at the waistline. The bridesmaids were Miss Beverly Henkel and Miss Kim Trawick. They were attired in baby blue gowns, similar to the maid's of honor, and blue hats.

The best man was Ronnie Maines, and the groomsmen were Mark Fort and Billy William. Ushers were Loy Holland, and George Robertson, brother of the bride, and George Robertson, brother of the bridegroom. The flower girl was Sheri Myrick, and the ring bearer was Paul Baily of Graham.

The couple will reside in Big Spring.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

The refreshment table was covered with a light blue cloth overlaid with white lace and divided by a small crystal candelabrum and the bride and bridesmaids' bouquets. The bridegroom's part of the table was covered with a blue cloth.

The guests were served by Miss Jan Holley, Miss Kathy Russell, Miss Helen Ray, Miss Donna Brashears, Mrs. Lou Norris, Mrs. Georgie Ward and Mrs. Muriel Myrick.

Guests from out of town included Mr. and Mrs. Neville Bryant, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Robertson, Kingsland; and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Myrick, Kingsville.

PUPPIES DON'T SIT ON FENCES

But people sit on fences. And faithful puppies never question. Our children, trusting the love and wisdom of their parents, respect even our indecision.

But the moral and religious growth of every child is deeply influenced by his parents' commitment of their own lives to God.

We have outlived the day when fathers and mothers sent their children to Sunday School without accepting their own rightful responsibilities and opportunities in the religious community.

Juvenile delinquency is the aftermath of fence-sitting!

The Church is for the family. Religious instruction and inspiration are foundations of the home. Lives—growing or mature—gain direction only with commitment.

Join the FAMILIES who worship and grow together in church.

David Clinkscales' Go On Honeymoon Trip

MRS. DAVID CLINKSCALES

New Mexico was the destination of Mr. and Mrs. David Edward Clinkscales when they left on a honeymoon trip following their wedding Friday evening in the Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ.

The bride, the former Marjorie Kay Morehead, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Morehead, 704 Highland. The parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Clinkscales of Forsan.

The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's father, assisted by Perry Colham, as the wedding party stood before a white archway entwined with ivy and yellow mums. Flanking the arch were baskets of yellow gladioli, topiary trees and spiral candelabra. Music was by a Church of Christ chorus led by Dan Conley and featuring as soloists David Elrod and Karen Lee.

Carrying a circular bouquet of yellow rosebuds and white orchids accented by stephanotis, the bride was attired in a Juliet-style gown of white organza and peau d'ange lace. The fitted bodice was designed with square yoked neckline outlined in bobbin lace and ribbon insertion with a high collar and mock bolero of peau d'ange lace, laced in front with satin. Bishop sleeves were gathered to wide cuffs edged in bobbin lace and ribbon.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Riley Falkner, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were another sister, Miss Carol Morehead; Miss Pam Little, Miss Beverly Pearce, Miss Rebecca Palmer and Miss Kim McCullough.

They were identically attired in gowns of pale floral silk organza over yellow satin. Empire-style, they were accented with a ruffle at the neckline and on the skirt, with a yellow sash circling the waistline. Their headpieces were bandeaus of fresh yellow daisies.

Best man was Randy Jones, and groomsmen were Riley Falkner, Shelby Simmon, Donnie Andrews, Mike McCullough and Mike Pitts. Wedding scrolls were distributed by Dana Rowden, Kristin Morehead and Cindy Morehead, the latter two cousins of the bride.

The reception was held in the home of the bride's parents, and presiding at the refreshment tables were Miss Brenda Clinkscales, Miss Pam Little, Miss Beverly Pearce and Miss Kathy Haught. On the bride's table, silver appointments were used with a floor-length white satin cloth rimmed with yellow ribbon. The centerpiece was a branched candelabrum with orrisms. The bridegroom's table, on the patio, was accented with a black wrought iron candelabrum with votive cups. The swimming pool featured large floating hearts of yellow roses and votive candles.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morehead, Houston; Mrs. Doris McCullough and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Barker, all of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinkscales will reside at 2007 N. Monticello. Both are graduates of Big Spring High School, and he is a salesman for Walker Auto Parts. The bride attended Howard College for one year and is presently an audit clerk for Sears, Roebuck and Co.

A LOVELIER YOU

Bored? Don't Let It Show On Your Face

By MARY SUE MILLER

Have you ever held a conversation with a lass or lady who looked bored? You tried to get away from that deadpan face at the first chance, didn't you? Indeed you seemed invited to leave.

The message on the face is plain enough. It implies, "I want to be alone." So you leave the lady alone.

If a woman hopes to be thought a desirable companion, she cannot look or act disenchanted. Young women often prove to be the worst offenders.

The would-be belle feigns boredom in the belief that she appears poised — cool. But what she really appears is uptight. A confident lovely is interested in people and ideas. In no other way can she acquire the kind of background that leads to ease of manner.

But, you may wonder, what should one do when boredom is real? Better check on the reasons why. All of us are worn at times with friends and surroundings. For courtesy's sake we should not let it show. Besides, there is the possibility that one becomes bored because one has become boring.

The condition signals the need for a more stimulating

Haunted By Scandal, Soap Box Derby Tries Again

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Twelve-year-old Dave Tippel measures 4 foot 9 but dreams 9 foot 4. Visions of winning the All-American Soapbox Derby dance in his tousled head. He can see himself flashing down the slope at Derby Downs while thousands roar for the champion of the world of gravity racing. His dream collides with reality. The annual derby next Saturday Aug. 17 is haunted by scandal and strapped for money. "That doesn't matter to Dave. He has more important problems. There's the matter of balancing his steering gear lead-center inside his tiny plywood car. And Dave has no over-zealous father or doting uncle to advise him, or do the job for him. Dave lives at the Summit County Children's Home. "Boy, it's hard," he said. He peered into the body of his treasured car. "That was the hardest thing." He pointed to the drag brake assembly bolted at the rear of the car floor. CLIMBED IN You could see the dreams in his eyes when he clambered into the rough shell. "I don't

Paul Lynde Will Star In Aug. 20-25 Show

The comedian rated "America's Favorite" in the 1972 Photoplay Gold Medal Awards poll, Paul Lynde, will close the 1974 season of the Dallas Summer Musicals, August 20-25. No, he doesn't sing in a Broadway musical, though he has done so. As a unique change of pace for the Musicals, Tom Hughes, is presenting him in a comedy written especially for him by Ron Clark and Sam Bobrick, and called Mother Is Engaged. As writers for the pilot for the Paul Lynde TV Show, Clark and Bobrick wrote the play to display Lynde's many-faceted talents. It portrays him as a man in his forties in the throes of a divorce brought on by his wife's deserting him for a younger man. His reactions and a number of unexpected complications create the hilariously funny situations that have caused Lynde to quip: "The audiences are likely to think I wrote it."

PAUL LYNDE

Lynde has been acting in summer stock with the Kenley Players since 1969, playing to 89,000 persons in four week tours in his home state of Ohio. The appearances in "The Impossible Years," "Don't Drink the Water" and "Plaza Suite" demonstrate that the Lynde magic works as well on stage as on TV. This year he is increasing his tour to ten weeks, to include Atlanta, Indianapolis, Norfolk and Dallas. Paul Lynde got his first break during Monday amateur night at the famed supper club, Number One Fifth Avenue, New York as a stand-up comic. While filling an engagement there he was signed for "New Faces of 1952" in which he was a rousing success. In 1956 he wrote and directed "New Faces in 1956" and he has written and directed a number of other shows since then. His big hit "Bye, Bye, Birdie" on Broadway brought him to Hollywood for the movie version. It also launched him on a long list of films including "Under the Yum Yum Tree," "Son of Flubber," "For Those Who Think Young" and "Gidget Grows Up." But his great popularity has come via the TV screen—where he has been on every major program from Ed Sullivan to Jackie Gleason and a host of others, ever since he first started with two seasons as Pal Paul on the Perry Como Show. For several years he clocked an annual average of 180-190 hours tube time, not including re-runs, appearing on such programs as the Carol Burnett, Dean Martin and Glen Campbell shows; Kraft Music Hall and the Bob Hope Chrysler Theatre. Lynde starred for two summers on the Martin summer replacement series, and added fans as the recurring Uncle Arthur on "Bewitched". He is perhaps best known for his frequent appearances on "Hollywood Squares," where his clever, humorous quips brought him, this year, his third Emmy nomination. This Paul Lynde show for the Musicals is the second one-week special of the season. It opens Tuesday evening, August 20, playing every evening through Saturday, with Saturday and Sunday (August 25th) matinees. Prices remain at $9 and $6 for the lower floor; $7, $4 and $2 for the balcony, and tickets are available at all State Fair box-offices at Titches.

know if I can fit in here," he said. "It's little." He bent over in racing position. Kids have been dreaming the way Dave Tippel dreams since 1934 when the first soapbox derby was held in Dayton, Ohio. Chevrolet Division of General Motors sponsored the contest through 1972, spending lavishly on the coasting spectacle—as much as $800,000 a year so thousands could watch the youngsters coast 975 feet down a course originally built as a for the winners were college municipal ski slope. At stake scholarships worth $30,000. "I don't want to be quoted on this, but it became a monster," said one derby official. "It was a monster for years and Chevrolet and a lot of us knew it. Chevrolet got out just in time." The Akron Chamber of Commerce took over sponsorship for the 1973 derby and that's when cheating surfaced. "I think it has been blown way out of proportion," said Jack Moran, chief of inspection for the 1974 derby. "Sooner or later it was going to happen because of permissiveness on officials' part."

The 1973 race almost blew the All-American Soapbox Derby, already on shaky financial legs without Chevrolet money, out of existence. James Gronen, 14, of Boulder, Colo., won the race from among 156 local champions. Then derby officials spotted the electromagnet in the boy's car, a clear violation of the rules. A photograph of the race start actually pinned down the magnet. "You know, when the starting gates drop there is an instant where the cars are sitting there, then they start down the slope," said Ron Baker, general manager of the national Derby. "Well, the photo showed Gronen's car glued to the starting gate as it dropped. It was pulling Gronen's car ahead like it had a motor." Jimmy was disqualified and Bret A. Yarborough, 11, of Elk Grove, Calif., second place finisher, was declared the 1973 champion. Robert Lange Sr., Jimmy Gronen's uncle, took responsibility for installation of the electromagnet device. In a letter to the Boulder Jaycees, sponsor of his local pageant, on Aug. 28, 1973, Lange said it was common knowledge that 11 year olds could not build winning racers. "Anyone participating in derby races with eyes and ears open would soon learn, as I did, that... the Derby rules have been consistently and notoriously violated by some participants without censure or disqualifications," Lange said. Derby officials with hardly an exception blame adults for cheating, not the boys and girls who compete. Lange has a different point of view: "After seeing my nephew work hundreds of hours to build his own car, knowing that he would be competing against professionally built cars and against cars that would be in violation of the official rules, and having heard and believing that some fast cars in Akron would be equipped with a magnetic nose, I determined that he would build and install a magnetic nose so as to be competitive. I knew that this was a violation of the official Derby rules and consider it now to be a serious mistake in judgment." Lange said he began to realize a lot of derby cars weren't built by kids when he met some professional builders who "live and die derby."

Re-Refined Oil May Save Us From Acute Shortage

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — For Cameron L. Kerran, that dirty, sludgy stuff drained from an auto crankcase is the beginning of a cycle that not only eases the energy shortage, but is helping the ecology too. That waste motor oil is the raw material for Kerran's Double Eagle Refining Co., one of the few oil re-refiners left in the United States. And Kerran says if restrictive laws on re-refiners aren't changed, the shortage of lubricating oils will make the gasoline and heating oil shortage look like a potentate's feast compared with a backyard picnic.

Kerran takes that dirty oil, runs it through his refinery and says the finished product is as good, or better, than it was the first time around. And re-refined oil sells at only 60 to 70 per cent of the cost of new lubricating oil from major oil company.

The waste oil comes from service stations, garages, truck lines and airports within a 600-mile radius of Oklahoma City. And, for Average Joe Motorist who changes his own car oil, Kerran has even placed barrels at fire stations where the old oil can be dumped. But Kerran is worried about the future supply of lubricating oil. "I've been to meetings where people who know a lot more about it than I do have presented papers saying that the lubricating oil is that part of the barrel of oil that is going to be in much greater shortage than anything else because the crude oil in the world today is not lubricating oil quality," he said. To add to the problem, Kerran said that "when the energy crisis got critical last winter, many of the industrial plants in the North and East began to use waste motor oil for fuel oil for industrial burners and boilers. "Once it's burned, you're done — you'll never recover it again."

By re-refining, however, much of the oil is saved. But he said the waste in burning the motor oil is only a small part of the problem—that an even greater danger comes from the contaminants the burning produces. He said that on the national level, moves are being made to ban the burning of waste motor oil in boilers or burners just as moves are being made to remove what he calls restrictive laws on re-refiners. But he said the action is slow. The Double Eagle plant has been here since 1931 and started out as a service to garages which had to find a way to dispose of the oil they drained from customers' cars. While helping filling stations and garages, it left Kerran with a problem — what to do with the sludge left after the re-refining process. "It can't be burned because of pollution laws and we have to be very careful where we dump it. The environmental protection laws are very stringent and require that if it is dumped in a land fill, it must be in a certain type of land fill, where it won't seep into underground streams."

Chamber Offices Will Be Built

SNYDER — The Snyder Chamber of Commerce is seeking to hire an architectural firm to draw plans for a new Chamber office. A site for the new structure north of the post office has been given to the Chamber by Roger Nize, president of the Snyder National Bank. The new structure will include offices and a conference room. The Chamber is now housed in the Better Living Building in the Cogdell Center. Prior to that, it was located in the city of the refinery."

James Bond Moves Act Into Exotic Far East

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — James Bond, after eight films and 11 years of violence and fantasy, is at it again. Indestructible agent 007 is now karate-chopping a path through the more exotic corners of the Far East, charming his way through a smorgasbord of ever-willing "Bond Girls."

Makers of the latest Bond film say their celluloid package will be delivered to the public for Christmas, 1974. And they are certain "The Man with the Golden Gun" will again soothe their ears with the ring of the box-office cash register.

Meanwhile, cameras churn on in the casinos at Macao, on the canals of Bangkok and on remote "James Bond Island" off the coast of Thailand, all in hot pursuit of heretofore unbeatable formulas: first, "create an atmosphere of belief in surroundings of utter improbability," and second, top the last Bond extravaganza with more of everything.

DIFFERENT TRIPS
"We've got to give the viewer a vicarious trip," says film publicity chief Charles Juroe, nervously puffing on a four-inch cigar. To avoid the risk of viewer ennui each trip must be different from the previous one.

With the exception of the rather Westernized Japanese background of "You Only Live Twice," the East is virgin territory for Bond followers.

To play up the exotic Oriental angle, Bond's archrival — normally a Germanic-Slavic type — is now a smooth, sophisticated and properly inscrutable Chinese money lord from Hong Kong. He in turn hires the world's highest paid assassin ($1-million per contract), 40 successful jobs to his credit, Scarabanga, Christopher Lee of "Dracula" movie fame is "The Man with the Golden Gun."

Hung on this rather thin plot are car and boat chases, an exploding seaplane, sea-tossed Chinese junks, and, in the words of the producers, "the entire spectrum of the Eastern martial arts" as practiced by the East's finest swingers of arms and legs — kung fuers, karate masters, sumo wrestlers, Thai kick-boxers, you name it.

NEVER DONE
In the gadgets and gimmicks department, the producers promise, among other things, "something with cars that has never been done on film."

It all comes to an end on a rugged island off Thailand, "but I'm not going to tell you the ending, love," says Juroe, from under a cloud of cigar smoke. He does soften the suspense a bit: "Bond has become stylized, like a matador or a Western hero. You know he's supposed to win, to survive. The trick is to keep putting him into more intricate and bizarre situations from which he can escape."

The Bond of "Golden Gun" is a lean, handsome actor looking at least a decade younger than his 47 years. Moore has one Bond movie behind him and follows Sean Connery, who hung up his white dinner jacket and Beretta sidearm after seven films. Coproducer Albert R. Broccoli, who worked with both men, says Moore is closer to the conception of Bond's creator novelist Ian Fleming. Connery's Bond was a "rough diamond," a physical man who seemed to relish knocking off his opponents.

Moore's is the polished, school tie, Etonian type, thoroughly professional and charming, Broccoli said.

"I made Bond close to my own personality," Moore said or location in Bangkok. "Some things I leave out, like my filth-sense of humor. But some things don't change about Bond. Toward women, he's still a rat, a male chauvinist pig with great charm."

Many members of the production crew have been with Eon Productions since 1963, when the company came out with its first film, "Dr. No." A $5-million budget, plus constant pressure to anticipate what the public will pay for at the box office, said Juroe, means you can't fool around.

"A new group of kids are seeing the Bond movies now," said Broccoli. "We're fortunate to have a new generation of connoisseurs. This pattern exists, but only with the Bond pictures."

Plans are already in the works for another film from the Fleming novel "Moonraker." The company also has the rights to manufacture new Bond titles once Fleming's books are filmed up.

Yes, Juroe says, between puffs and publicity calls to Rome and London, Bond will be back — again and again.

Texan And Oregonian Vie For Cowboy Title

Move over Joe Namath, Jim Brown and Jean Claude Killy, and make room in the movie world for another sports superstar: Larry Mahan.

The only true celebrity in the bone-crunching sport of rodeo, Mahan is the central point of focus in "The Great American Cowboy," The Oscar-winning film, distributed by American National Enterprises, is appearing, at the Cinema.

"The Great American Cowboy" follows Mahan's battle for the 1972 All-Around Champion Cowboy title against the 1971 champion, young rodeo phenomenon Phil Lyne — a duel that ended dramatically with a serious injury to Mahan's right arm. Lyne retired in 1972 and went home to his family's 11,000 acres near George West.

Originally from the small Oregon town of Brooks, (since incorporated into the nearby town of Salem, Mahan had his first taste of rodeo when he was 12 years old. He entered a calf-riding contest and won $6.00 and a belt buckle.

In 1963, Mahan became a full-fledged member of the Rodeo Cowboys Association after struggling along on a "permit" for some time. He won $3,641 that first year, and $12,009 the second. In 1965 he was crowned World Champion Bull Rider, winning $18,105 in that event, and finished seventh in the battle for All-Around Champion Cowboy with $24,000.

The following year, 1966, brought him his first All-Around Cowboy title — a feat which continued for a record-setting five consecutive years — through 1970.

He finished seventh in the race for the crown in 1971 and third in 1972 despite severe injuries and long periods of inactivity while recuperating.

TV's Newest Start Soon

NEW YORK (AP) — All three TV networks will hold "premiere week" — the start of the fall TV season — the week of Sept. 9 amid much ballyhoo and drumbeating.

Excluding ABC's "NFL Monday Night Football" show, 62 evening programs are in the networks' lineups for the new season. Of these, 25 are new.

CBS has five new shows and NBC and ABC 10 each. According to network spokesmen, only two won't start during "premiere week."

Those shows, both on ABC-TV, are "Nakia," an hour-long action-adventure series about a lawman of Navajo heritage, and "The Sonny Comedy Revue," starring Sonny Bono, but not Cher, who has left him. "Nakia" debuts Saturday, Sept. 21 and the Bono show Sept. 22.

Another ABC series, "That's My Mama," a half-hour situation comedy about a black family in Washington, D.C., is the only new show getting a jump on premiere week. ABC says it'll air Sept. 4, a Wednesday.

Lady cops, whose ranks are swelling on big-city police forces, will make a limited dent in this season's law-and-order gang on TV.

Bleak Future Foreseen For Western Society

THE PRIVATE FUTURE. By Martin Pawley. Random House. 217 Pages. $7.95.

In this chilling book, Martin Pawley takes a quick look at the past, a lingering look at the present, projects what he sees into the future and comes up with a frightening forecast. It is this:

"Western society is on the brink of collapse — not into crime, violence, madness or redeeming revolution, as many would believe — but into withdrawal. Withdrawal from the whole system of values and obligations that has historically been the basis of public community and family life."

This "emerging society of privatized, uninvolved, anti-community individuals," Pawley feels, is due not only to man's desire to have as little to do with his fellow man as possible but in large part to our society's overabundance of consumer goods whose ostensible functions are in reality subordinate to their overwhelming function as social isolators. "The deepfreeze, for example, has resulted in eliminating the necessary daily shopping of the past as well as the social contact it resulted in.

Pawley's arguments bolstering his theory of "the emerging pattern of privatization in Western society" are absorbing even though some are not entirely convincing. His stress on the role of consumer goods as social isolators seems a bit farfetched although it must be admitted that it does have a certain logic.

Regardless, what Pawley has to say — and he says it well in largely succinct, well-arranged prose — is interesting as well as frightening in its implications. One doesn't want to think of the man of the future as "alone in a centrally heated, air-conditioned capsule, drugged, fed with music and erotic imagery" but the road Pawley takes to get him there is an absorbing one to follow. Phil Thomas—AP Books Editor

Farm-To-Market

WASHINGTON (AP) — One mile of country road in every five and one bridge in every six are rated "critically deficient" by the Federal Highway Administration, says Donald S. Knight, executive director of the Road Information Program.

Farmers must truck their goods to market over 600,000 miles of rough, rutted roads and across 80,000 aging, narrow bridges, Knight says. Neglect of country roads and bridges inflates food prices at the consumer level, he points out.
