

THROUGH BINOCULARS

Killer Convicts Seen By Cops

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — State troopers said today they have spotted three men who have terrorized parts of Texas and New Mexico for four days, and officers surged into the area along with bloodhounds and horses.

The three escapees from the Colorado penitentiary, homing in on Texas to revenge themselves against witnesses at their trials, have killed a man and woman, raped two young women and wounded five persons, authorities said.

Troopers said one of their number using binoculars saw them walking along a creek, a tributary to the South Fork of the Bosque River.

home of Mrs. C.R. Proctor, evacuated during the night because of fear of the convicts, was pillaged, guns taken, the beds slept in and telephone lines cut.

Ranch and farm families in the target area had been evacuated. The trio shot and killed two persons who testified against some of the trio in criminal trials.

The men sought are Dalton Williams, 29; Richard Mangum, 22; and Jerry Ulmer, 22.

SOUGHT IN MANHUNT — Three escaped convicts from Colorado State Penitentiary were being sought in Texas Monday by more than 200 police. The men were wanted in connection with two deaths, rape and a series of burglaries. From left are: Dalton Williams, Richard Mangum, and Jerry Ulmer. Photos were released Sunday by Colorado prison authorities.

All Strangers Suspect In Stephenville Area

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — The little segment of Texas north of this small city became an armed camp today, shotgun swinging officers stopping all cars going in or out in any direction.

They feared a new outbreak by three terrorists who have murdered two persons in revenge, raped two girls and wounded five people. The three at midmorning were believed holed up in nearby ranch country.

Their terrorism had no pattern except that they were out to kill at least some witnesses who helped send some of the men to prison. They murdered two of them.

Union Is Seeking To Get On Agenda

Kenneth Howell, union representative, called today requesting a place on the council agenda Tuesday morning to discuss possible unionizing of city employees.

To be placed on an agenda, under the law, requires a four day notification period. Harry Nagel, city manager, informed Howell Nagel request in writing and that his appearance can be placed on the next agenda.

Howell said here this morning that he is preparing the request, but that he still hopes to get on this Tuesday's agenda.

He said city employees held a second meeting Saturday evening at the union office.

"We already have 50 names of employees requesting a union and expect to get more," he reported.

Howell said the workers were from the sanitation, electrical, garage, street, park, water and sewer, golf course, welding and painting and warehouse departments.

Other cities in the area have expressed interest in the outcome of the union discussion here.

The city council agenda had been amended for Tuesday to include an executive session to discuss personnel, but this is for the purpose of discussing a new fire chief, said Nagel.

The present chief, A. D. Meador retires Aug. 31.

One cattleman appeared at the state police command post headed by Ranger Capt. G.W. Burks and said he must check his cattle herd.

Bill Sanderson pleaded guilty to sale of marijuana and was given a 10-year sentence, probated. The sale of 1½ ounces occurred on Oct. 19, 1972.

'Guards Negligent' In Felons' Escape

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP) — Three convicts believed responsible for a weekend crime spree in Texas apparently escaped from the Colorado Penitentiary by scaling a section of wall not visible to guards, Warden Alex Wilson says.

Part of the wall is blocked from view by an obsolete tower.

The escape wasn't noticed for nine hours, Wilson said Sunday, adding that one official bed check and several unofficial checks were made during that time. He said guards apparently were negligent in failing to detect the escape.

The three stuffed their beds with pillows and sheets to simulate sleeping men and escaped Thursday night.

Wilson said one of the convicts had sworn to kill a number of persons involved in court cases that sent him to prison.

Plan On Tighter Rent Rule

A fight inside the Dora Roberts Community Center Saturday night caused city administrators to set plans for tightening the rules for use of the center.

Two men were arrested and charged with public intoxication and affray shortly after midnight Saturday. A large mirror was broken during the incident.

Breakage deposits are already required for use of the centers, but other regulations will be reviewed by the city.

Last week, a fight in the park, in which a police officer was struck with a wine bottle, induced administrators to plan an ordinance limiting usage of amplifier groups in the park.

"Abuse of city facilities causes trouble for everyone," the City Manager Harry Nagel pointed out this morning.

"Big Spring has some unusually fine facilities available for public use, but we cannot afford to let them be destroyed due to lax regulations," he added.

Probation Revoked

Jesus Juardo Marquez will be transferred to Huntsville Department of Corrections after his five-year probation was revoked by Dist Judge Ralph Caton here Friday afternoon.

District Attorney Bob Moore said the original charge was indecent exposure to a minor child. The charge which caused the revocation was again indecent exposure to a minor child. A new five-year sentence was assessed.

In other action this week, Kevin Dewayne Michaels had his six-year burglary probation revoked by Judge Caton. He also will be transferred to Huntsville. A sentence of six more years was assessed on a new burglary charge.

Monty Wood Jr. pleaded guilty to criminal mischief and was given five years probated sentence, with a proviso of restoration of property.

Bill Sanderson pleaded guilty to sale of marijuana and was given a 10-year sentence, probated. The sale of 1½ ounces occurred on Oct. 19, 1972.

BRIDGE BLOCKS CANAL — A lift bridge spanning the Welland Canal at Port Robinson, Ont., lies in the water after being rammed early Sunday by the lake freighter Steelton (background). The collapsed bridge has blocked canal traffic and damage estimates are in the millions of dollars.

Big Surplus Seen By Budget Group

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislative Budget Board staffers astounded the board today by predicting the 1975 legislature will have $1.5 billion available for expanding state programs over the next two years.

Key item in the forecast was an estimated $910.4 million surplus in the general revenue fund at the close of the current fiscal year, Aug. 31, 1975.

"It's time to reduce taxes," asserted Sen. Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells, who said he plans to push next year for a sales tax reduction of one cent on the dollar.

"Senator, is it fair to assume you will be a candidate for reelection?" cracked Rep. Neil C. Adwell, D-Angleton, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

AUTOS GET BLAME Carbon Monoxide Threat To All

CHICAGO (AP) — Researchers said today that nearly half of all nonsmoking Americans have dangerous levels of carbon monoxide in their blood.

And for those who smoke cigarettes, the problem is even more severe, the researchers at the Medical College of Wisconsin found.

The study, contained in today's issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, reports on a 30-month survey during 1969-72 of 29,000 blood donors living in urban, suburban and rural areas.

Automobile exhaust is a major source of environmental carbon monoxide. High levels of the noxious gas are especially harmful to the elderly, infants and heart patients.

Federal standards set blood concentrations of 1.5 per cent or more of carbon monoxide as the harmful level.

The study was done by Dr. Richard D. Stewart and his associates in the department of environmental medicine at the Milwaukee college.

At Age Of 91, Man Plans On Returning To School

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Frederick B. Noble had no sooner received his master's degree when he announced he would go on to higher education.

Noble is 91 years old and received a law degree from Harvard 67 years ago.

"You're never too old to learn," he said. "The more education the better. It's a great satisfaction to know things."

Noble, who keeps active as an attorney, received a standing ovation from his classmates when he received his masters degree in history Sunday from Jacksonville University.

Noble said he would go back to college to take courses in music appreciation.

"I do want to learn to appreciate music," he said. "There's satisfaction in learning and it gives me a purpose for using my spare time in the evenings."

Noble, received his bachelor of arts degree in 1902 from Washington College in Maryland, and his law degree from Harvard in 1907.

He said part of his history study was easy because, "I've lived through all that."

Court Awards Job On Fence

The Howard County Commissioners approved a low bid of $1,100 for labor to erect a fence around the County Fair Grounds at their regular meeting Monday.

L. B. Thomas was awarded the contract for the construction with the completion date set at Sept. 13.

DISCREET SEX HINTED

Mingling Of Convicts Succeeding In Prison

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (AP) — "Sexual intercourse is prohibited, but that's not to say it's not engaged in. We'd be pretty naive if we said that. But it's discreet," says Peter Bishop. He is the acting superintendent of the nation's first coed prison.

"When the prison went coed (in March, 1973), some people saw, the institution turning into a 24-hour orgy. But they were laymen's fantasies," Bishop said.

He added that coeducation has brought some problems to the prison, "but they are much more healthy kinds of problems, problems of interrelationships between men and women.

"If nothing else, this being the most humane way to treat people is still sufficient reason for it, even if the recidivism rate does not change one double murder, said his transfer to Framingham from the maximum security state prison at Walpole "was about the best thing that ever happened to me. It is such a learning experience, relating to women again. It's a decompression chamber ..."

Diane Dixon, 23, serving a life term for murder, said the coeducational situation was "more open and the men and women get along fairly well."

"We have a tight relationship," said Eli Lizotte, 23, who said she was sent to Framingham for a drug-related crime. She said the men "are not here to play house. They just want to do their time and get out."

One couple who met at the prison married while on a furlough and returned to the institution.

In other action, Mrs. Jerry (Johnny Lou) Avery and Mrs. Harold (Jeanette) Davis were appointed as co-chairmen of the Bicentennial Celebration slated here for 1976, as recommended by Commissioner Wm. Crooker.

Crooker, as a member of the joint city and county committee selected to make the recommendation, said that the two selected are diligent workers.

The commissioners voted to allow the Big Spring High School Homecoming Committee use of the County Fair Barn for its Homecoming Dance on Oct. 5.

"The Commissioners set a fee of $25 for clean-up and utilities and suggested that the committee hire two deputies or policemen to be present at the dance.

Permission was granted to advertise for bids on one typewriter for the district clerk's office, two typewriters for the county clerk's office and one adding machine for the tax assessor-collector's office.

MAY RAIN
Chances of showers today and Tuesday are set at 50 per cent by the national weather service. High predicted for today and Tuesday in the mid 80s with a low tonight in the mid 60s. Winds from the southeast at 8-18 miles per hour.

AN OLD FRIEND, DEARLY DEPARTED — A 25-year-old willow tree in the yard of Ella Moore, 2410 Scurry Street, was uprooted by the vicious winds which struck parts of the city Saturday evening. A section of the roof of the Moore home was damaged when the tree fell. Workmen here saw the tree limbs in order to help in its removal.

Dear Abby

Boys In The Girls' Dorm—Another Vote

DEAR ABBY: Indeed the letter from the girls in the coed dorm who protested the presence of men in their bathing and toilet facilities was not put on.

I am a psychotherapist who has counseled college students since 1942, and the bizarre situation they describe is common. Coed living is creating severe emotional problems for college men and women. Impotence in college men is now a common symptom—the result of a culture that pushes sexual performance. Some girls panic because of sexual pressure; others become overly aggressive. It is totally unfair to pay for a double room in a girls' dorm and then end up sharing it with a girl and her boyfriend. The only way to escape being an observer to the roommate's sexual activities is to find some other place to sleep.

I have had this same picture from male and female students from every coeducational residential college or university that has been represented in my patient load. The schools are doing harm and injustice not only to the minority, but also to the students whose vote is regarded as an order by the administration. This is one reason psychiatric treatment of college students has increased in volume. The universities need to hear a voice of sanity. Abby, please take a serious look at this widespread problem.

CONCERNED COUNSELOR
DEAR CONCERNED: I am looking, but it's sometimes hard to believe what I see. For example, this letter from a Washington (D.C.) STAR-NEWS reader:

DEAR ABBY: I am surprised by the amazing stupidity you exhibit in some of your answers. The most recent deals with those two modest girls in Scripps Women's college, who are offended by the sight of men sharing their sleeping and bathing facilities.

As I understand it, the male 24-hour visitation policy was established three years ago by a majority vote, and is upheld by the college authorities. Any girl who wishes to make other living arrangements can do so, therefore the ladies who are offended have no legitimate complaint.

Your comments were an even greater surprise when you suggest that 98 per cent of the dorm find another place to live! Someone in your profession should be able to offer more practical advice rather than convert the entire dorm into a nursery of two. I would like to commend that college for having the integrity and maturity to provide its students with their needs—whatever they may be.

Will you publish my letter? Or don't you believe in free speech?

THE GREAT DEFENDER
DEAR DEFENDER: It is my view that if college students want to play house, it's not the business of the college to provide them with bedrooms for that purpose. Let them make their own arrangements—off campus. I believe that in a WOMEN'S residential college, girls who wish to sleep and shower with men should suffer the inconvenience of applying for a living situation compatible with THEIR lifestyle, even if they are in the majority.

Altrusans Hear Parks Director

An update on current recreational facilities in the Big Spring area, as well as projections for the future, were presented by James Campbell, director of parks and recreation, when he was guest speaker Thursday for the Altrusa Club. The women held a luncheon at Coker's Restaurant, with Mrs. V. F. Michael, president, conducting the business session.

In his introduction, Campbell was described as being "interested in people and things." He has held his present position for three years. A graduate of East Texas State University, Campbell is active in his church, the Masons and the local junior football league.

Campbell described various sports facilities, dwelling on the recently-opened Figure Seven Tennis Center which he said was used by over 400 persons in the past year. In the Comanche Trail Park and Cosden Lake area, hike and bike trails have been established and will be extended.

The overnight camping facilities for trailers in the city park has proven popular with tourists, said Campbell, adding that the travelers may stay three days without charge. The area has water, lights and sanitary facilities, and there are outdoor cooking facilities nearby. A police officer has now been assigned to weekend duty in the park in order to cut down on vandalism.

In conclusion, the speaker told of plans to develop the Roy Anderson Park, a sports complex which will be located northwest of the city. Mrs. Adie Huling was introduced as a guest at the luncheon.

The next meeting of Altrusa members will be Thursday at 8 p.m. when Mrs. Loyd Wooten will be hostess for a salad buffet in her home, 817 W. 18th.

Wanton Trash Dumping

Complaints of wanton dumping of trash seem to be on the increase. While residents living on the outskirts of town are particularly plagued by those who use right of ways, fields and pastures as dumping spots, they have no monopoly on this outrageous practice. There is hardly a vacant spot in town, half way shielded by brush or terrain, but what gets a deluge of everything from garbage to construction, business and residential trash. It's a disgrace.

It's also against the law, only someone almost has to catch the offender in action, although more diligent enforcement frequently could detect, from piles of trash, from whence it came.

It may also be that the closed schedules on the city-county dump encourages this off-limits dumping. If so, officials ought to get together and cure this problem. Then, there being no excuse at all, authorities ought to try harder to track down the offenders. They deserve to be caught and dealt with.

Encouragement, Not Opposite

The House Ways and Means committee is recommending that the $100 tax exclusion on dividends from stock holdings be withdrawn. This would be a shortsighted and unfair policy. First of all, taxing dividends is double taxation in the sense that corporate earnings are taxed at the corporate level, then taxed again as personal income when dividends are paid. Secondly, the modest exclusion of stock dividends is not of consequence to large stockholders, but it is of substantial benefit to the small stockholders. And it is the small stockholder that needs encouragement of this sort to invest some of his earnings in various corporate stocks. This stimulates him to get a piece of the American action, and it provides a reservoir of sorely needed capital by the business and industrial community. Congress should promote, rather than erect barriers, private investment.

My Answer

Billy Graham

You keep repeating "The Bible says..." and I know you base all your messages on that. But the Bible is a very hard book for me to understand. In some places, I get the idea that the Bible is like a past history book. It hasn't any relation to the "now" way of experience over theology. R.B.

What I say here is not meant to be a defense of the Scriptures. No man needs to do that, because it is self-justifying. It is breathed through with the Holy Spirit of God.

You call it a "history" book and so it is. I mean not only are the 17 books of the Old Testament labeled as historical, but many others that give us a reflection of the past.

But now, the Bible also relates intimately to everyday life. Any idea which exalts experience to the exclusion of, or even the depreciating of, the revealed truth in the Bible, is a serious error. It seems to me Bible statements about immortality (1 Corinthians 15), about death (1 Corinthians 15), about forgiveness (Hosea) makes it a pretty contemporary book.

Difficulties of understanding the Bible are easy to correct. Get a newer version in modern speech, but

Limits Of Loyalty Oaths

May a public school teacher be required to take a loyalty oath? Yes, provided that the oath stays within constitutional bounds.

CONSIDER THE case of a high school teacher who balked at swearing to uphold the state and federal constitutions.

"I just don't like the whole idea of loyalty oaths," she explained in a court hearing. "They are an infringement upon my freedom of conscience."

BUT THE JUDGE said this kind of an oath was nothing more than is expected of most public officials, up to and including the President. He quoted the following comment from the United States Supreme Court:

"Obviously the framers of the Constitution thought that an affirmation of minimum loyalty to the government was worth the price of whatever deprivation of individual freedom of conscience was involved."

NEVERTHELESS, SOME oaths have been thrown out by the courts for going too far.

Another case involved a declaration that the teacher had never lent "aid, support, or advice" to the Communist Party. Wouldn't this apply, a court wondered, to everyone who had ever supported any cause that the Communist Party had also happened to support?

THE COURT concluded that it was unconstitutional to require an oath "in terms so vague that men of common intelligence must guess at its meaning."

Also rejected was a requirement that teachers submit an annual list of every organization to which they had either belonged or contributed during the previous five years.

THE COURT felt that such a requirement intruded upon the teacher's right free association. The court said there were all sorts of outside relationships that "could have no possible bearing upon the teacher's occupational fitness."

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

NEW YORK (AP) — The trouble with the stock market, said the broker, is that it has fallen under the domination of Murphy's Law, which states that when trouble comes everything that can go wrong does go wrong.

"It is the opposite of St. Paul's idea of everything working together for the good," said Lucien Hooper, vice president of Thomson & McKinnon Auchincloss Kohlmeyer Inc.

What can break the spell? He listed these: More Arab oil money might come to the market on the theory that the dollar is the best of the world's major currencies.

Rising commodity prices might decline.

"Then we are approaching Labor Day, which often in the past has marked a turning point in economic and investment trends," mused Hooper.

But Hooper and other market men must suspect that another diabolical law holds the market captive. It is the law of broken promises and frustrated hopes. It states that you shouldn't hope because it won't come true.

Market men consoled themselves for many months with the hope that once Watergate was behind the nation the stock market would move forward. It didn't.

Then, brokers waited for inflation to crack. Reports, based more on hope than fact, related to anyone who would listen that food prices were bound to drop.

The Agriculture Department buried that hope with its drought report.

With that news the market took another dive, plunging through the 700-point "barrier" on the Dow Jones Industrial Average like lead through tissue paper, which is about the strength of some blue chip stocks today.

As it begins this week, the market now has very little hope left for any sudden economic changes of sufficient strength to turn it around. Each day the bleak reality settles lower over "the street."

Market men know, for example, that no pronouncement of President Ford is going to dispel the forces that have driven investors from stocks and into the credit market, where their cash earns unprecedented dividends.

These are the forces that also have driven American industry from the stock markets, where some of them can't raise a dime, into the offices of the bankers, who have the money to lend but at devastatingly high rates.

Monetary restraint is chief ingredient of those forces. It reduces the relative supply of money. Interest rates rise, siphoning off funds.

In theory, this high cost of money should discourage spending plans, but it hasn't.

The last faint hope of the summer is likely to expire with another rise in the prime lending rate. Then, the few remaining optimists will begin talking up the year-end rally."

The rest might pray to St. Paul.

Question No Answer — Yet

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I read your column every day and have learned a lot from it. Now I would like an answer to this question. How does cigarete smoking cause cancer of the lung?

I have smoked for over 40 years and have no trouble. I've had X-rays taken and my doctor says there is no sign of cancer. There are many people who smoke and die of cancer. Why?

So I've come to the conclusion that smoking does not cause cancer but may aggravate lungs that are already sick with some disease like cancer, which is already present whether the person has smoked for a long time or not at all.

It puzzles me, and no one has explained it to me. — A.A.S.

Well, I'm glad you haven't developed lung cancer, but I've got to say that your "conclusion" won't wash.

As to exactly what it is about smoking that contributes to cancer, nobody yet knows for sure. A lot of researchers have spent years trying to find out.

Indeed, when you come right down to it, nobody yet knows exactly what causes cancer. Or what combinations of factors cause cancer.

What we do know is that SOMETHING causes cancer. And we also know that some people are much more likely to develop cancer than others.

An increase in the incidence of lung cancer was noted as early as 1900, but it was about 50 years before any really large-scale studies (involving hundreds of thousands of people) gave us some reliable statistics.

Not everybody who smokes cigarets gets lung cancer. But we know that a much higher percentage of such smokers die of lung cancer, and a higher proportion of them die of somewhat related diseases.

These figures show that 10.8 times as many cigarete smokers died of lung cancer as among an equal number of non-smokers. For bronchitis and emphysema it was over 6 times as many; cancer of the larynx, 5.4 times as many; mouth cancer, 4.1 times as many; cancer of the esophagus, 3.4 times as many.

So we don't know exactly why. But we do know it happens.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've had a cyst for four years. It has recurred several times during this time. I was told that in order to keep it from coming back, I must have it removed surgically.

I'm worried that, after waiting this long, they will have to cut a lot more out and it will leave a large hole in my back. Wouldn't it be better to let it keep coming back than to have a chunk out of my back? Would there be danger of cancer? — Mrs. D.B.

A cyst will recur unless the entire sac is removed. You can't predict how big a "hole" will result. There probably will be a small depression in the skin.

On balance, removal of the cyst is probably wiser than allowing it to recur again and again. Besides total removal will end the risk of infection.

Confucius Said?

One thing and another: SURELY YOU'VE heard about that woman who complained to her husband that ever since they got their waterbed they've been drifting apart.

It wasn't Confucius who said that every time you lend money to a friend, you damage his memory.

That 55 miles-per-hour speed limit imposed upon us all may be one of the great blessings of mankind. You must remember that automobiles aren't the only thing that can be recalled by their Maker.

you get from reading the small print, whereas experience is what you get from not reading it.

A friend brags that his son is very advanced. He tried to lecture him on sex the other day, and the boy corrected him.

EARLY TO bed and early to rise usually means that you're too broke to enjoy a night on the town, that your television set is on the fritz, and that your thermostat is set too low.

I'll repeat a hot flash I heard recently: Sonny Bono will team with Yoko Ono on TV next season. The show will be called "The Sonny & Yoko Ono Bono Show."

THE QUESTION before the house today: Is there life after taxes? Think hard now. Have you ever met a kid who wants to show you pictures of his grandparents?

My daughter insists she heard this announcement on the school loudspeaker not too long ago: "Will the student who lost $1.25 on the campus the other day form a double line."

Ford, GM Won

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Fully five days before the nominated Nelson A. Rockefeller for vice president, President Ford confided to longtime advisers a set of guidelines that could lead him in no other direction.

HE WAS NOT, the new President said, interested in ticket-balancing considerations for 1976, much less 1980. Rather, he wanted someone of presidential stature with an established reputation. What's more, he was getting strong recommendations from his transition staff to break with 200 years of tradition and actually put his vice president to good use.

Given those standards, the ultimate choice was bound to be Rockefeller. The reason it seemed less than inevitable last week was a publicly lukewarm attitude within the Republican party's dominant conservative wing, and overt, though private, opposition on Mr. Ford's own staff. That he overrode these considerable bases of resistance reveals much about the future course of the Ford presidency and the inner confidence of the President.

EVEN BEFORE Richard Nixon's resignation, Mr. Ford was getting a strong — and toally sincere — recommendation for Rockefeller from his former House colleague and longtime adviser, Melvin R. Laird. His surfacing of Rockefeller did produce a surprisingly strong counter-campaign for Republican national chairman George Bush, basically from conservative elements of the party. Far more important, however, was anti-Rockefeller sentiment from Mr. Ford's personal staff, who feared that the famous multi-millionaire with his international reputation and vast personnel resources would smother his chief. That opposition became so intense that some Rockefeller boosters feared the choice would go to Bush.

SUCH PESSIMISM, however, did not take account of several factors. Some of the most powerful Southern Democrats in Congress, including the respected Sen. John Stennis of Mississippi, uncharacteristically pressed for Rockefeller to foster national reconciliation and ease deepening fears in the financial community. Nor was Mr. Ford's closest personal aide, Robert Hartmann, nearly as fearful of Rockefeller as were nonpolitical staffers.

MOST IMPORTANT was the remorseless trend in Mr. Ford's own thinking as reflected in confidential conversations last week. In no uncertain terms, the President rejected any consideration of the fitness of his vice president as a runningmate in 1976 or as a presidential candidate in 1980. His transition team, headed by Ambassador Donald Rumsfeld and former Gov. William W. Scranton, recommended that the President make extensive and unprecedented use of the vice president in domestic affairs. That suggested the selection of somebody with wide experience and competence in government — such as Rockefeller.

BUT IN private conferences last week, Mr. Ford provided the dead giveaway that would be Rockefeller: he wanted a Vice President with stature, experience, and the ability to instill confidence both here and abroad — the exact qualifications laid down by Laird in recommending Rockefeller.

Kill Commercials?

By JAY SHARBUTT
NEW YORK (AP) — Some time this fall, the Federal Communications Commission will consider acting on a 4½-year-old petition by a parents' group to abolish all commercials on children's TV shows.

It's doubtful the commission will take that strong a step, says Larry Secrest, a legal aide to FCC chairman Richard E. Wiley, although "there's a whole spectrum of possible actions" it could take.

The petition was filed by Massachusetts-based Action for Children's Television—ACT, which claims 3,000 members nationally and is run by Peggy Charren, mother of two youngsters 18 and 10 years of age.

SECRET SAYS he has no idea what the FCC will do about ACT's petition, but the threat that it will do anything already has prompted the powerful National Association of Broadcasters to take action of its own.

The NAB, representing the three TV networks and 412 stations that subscribe to its television code of standards, last July 1 revised the section of the code dealing with "nonprogram" material on kid shows.

The NAB, whose code now allows a maximum of 12 minutes "nonprogram" material per hour on Saturday morning kid shows, is cutting that to 10 minutes at the start of 1975 and to 9½ minutes when 1976 begins.

The 9½-minute figure is the maximum allowed by the NAB for any hour during prime evening time on network-affiliated stations.

IN ADDITION, the NAB, which allows a maximum of 16 minutes of "nonprogram" material per hour on daytime kid shows on weekdays, says it is cutting that to 14 minutes in 1975 and to 12 minutes in 1976. The NAB says stations which are code subscribers consider their adherence to its standards a solid plus when applying to the FCC for license renewal.

Those who consistently violate the code can be drummed out of the ranks, but this rarely happens because such violators are rare, the NAB says.

There are 295 commercial TV stations in United States which do not subscribe to the code and are not bound to follow its standards.

NO SPECIFIC date has been set for FCC commissioners to deliberate on ACT's petition, which has been the subject of lengthy hearings, oral arguments and more than 100,000 letters from concerned citizens.

Meanwhile, the networks contend that without advertising there is no way they can continue to air quality children's shows, which can cost between $40,000 and $60,000 per half-hour to make.

Mrs. Charren calls this bald-faced adding: "We still feel that children are not the proper target for a product commercial and we'll always feel that."

A Devotion For Today..

"The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance: against such there is no law." (Galatians 5:22-23)

PRAYER: O God, we ask Your help, believing You will listen to our cry and our confessions and will forgive us our sins. Renew us by the power of Your Spirit. In Jesus' name. Amen.

BENGALS VS LIONS Veterans Back On Grid Field

The veterans will be back on the field tonight in what Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown considers sort of the second phase of a three-pronged season for the Bengals. The Cinderella team, which last year turned a disastrous start into a Central Division crown in the American Football Conference, has won all three of its pre-season games this year — using primarily rookies.

"I don't attach any importance to that record," said Brown, whose Bengals will take on the Detroit Lions, 1-2 thus far in tonight's nationally televised game.

For Brown, it's the beginning of "Bengals: Phase II," which will prepare the team for the start of the regular season in two weeks.

"We know everybody was short-handed and in the same boat earlier. The important aspect about those games is that we found some new people who are going to play for us," Brown said.

Brown said his Bengals now "have reached the point where we have to play the people we want in the lineup for the opener." A crowd of 50,000 is expected at Riverfront Stadium in Cincinnati for the 9 p.m., EDT, start.

In Monday's other exhibition games, the Chicago Bears play the Colts in Baltimore, and the Houston Oilers host the Atlanta Falcons.

The Minnesota Vikings crushed the Buffalo Bills 32-13 in Sunday's only exhibition game.

In Saturday's exhibition action, Pittsburgh beat the New York Giants 17-7, Washington downed Cleveland 20-17, Denver

Astros Blank Phils

HOUSTON (AP) — Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark says Houston Astros pitching hasn't been all that good recently — it's just that the Phillies' hitting has been so bad.

Either way it is translated, Houston pitching has shut out the Phillies three straight games, including a 5-0 blanking Sunday.

Don Wilson and Mike Cosgrove combined on a six-hitter for the Astros Sunday which followed a pair of 1-0 blankings by Dave Roberts and Larry Dierker.

Dierker hurled a three-hitter the first game and Roberts followed with one-hit-ter which adds up to only 10 hits allowed by Houston pitching in the three game series.

GETTING READY — Coahoma backs Gary Roberts, Jody Bennett, Putt Choate, and Ricky Patterson with center Guy James are ready for the football season to begin come Sept. 6 with Big Lake, there. The Bulldogs home opener is with Post, Sept. 13.

Tigers Catch Rangers, 6-5

DETROIT (AP) — The score was 5-4 with Texas ahead of Detroit in the bottom of the ninth inning Sunday.

On the mound for the Rangers was Steve Foucault, ace reliever appearing in his 58th game and fresh from a triumph over Detroit the night before.

Foucault had a slick 2.15 earned run average, six victories and 10 saves this season and is the guy Manager Billy Martin called his "bullet."

At bat was catcher Gene Lamont, the ninth man in the Tigers' order, hitting .219 with one home run and six runs batted in.

Turnabout is fair play. About 24 hours earlier the Rangers trailed Detroit 4-3 going into the ninth. Toby Harrah then homered to tie it 4-4 and Texas won 6-4 with two runs in the 10th off Mickey Lolich.

Sports Shorts

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — A Florida motorcycle stunt rider remained in fair condition in an Athens hospital today following an unsuccessful attempt to jump over 10 steep cars.

Jose Sesteros, 39, of Hollywood, Fla., was attempting to break a record held by Evel Knievel when he crashed Saturday night at the Athens Speedway.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Bernard Hardin, sixth-round draft choice of the Portland Trail Blazers, signed with the National Basketball Association team during the weekend.

Hardin, a 6-foot-5 forward from New Mexico, will be trying for an opening created by the loss of forward Ollie Johnson to New Orleans in the expansion draft.

A Portland spokesman also said free agent Jerry Pender has signed with the Blazers.

Pender, a guard from Fresno State, spent one year with San Diego of the American Basketball Association.

Saints Back Credits Line In Win 16-7

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Saints speedster Doug Winslow credited his blockers for paving the way on a 93-yard kickoff return that iced a 16-7 New Orleans victory over the Dallas Cowboys in a National Football League exhibition game Saturday night.

New Orleans was on top 9-0 at the time but the Cowboys were still very much in the game.

"They set up the wall like it was drawn on paper," said the slender second-year man.

Actually, the run was more Winslow than that. He took the kickoff on his seven-yard line, hip-faked the first would-be tackler and knifed through a wall of defenders, with several getting their hands on him.

Then he hit the left sideline at about the 35 and set sail on a foot race with the final two defender.

One of them had the angle on him and could have nailed him 20 yards short of the goal. But Winslow faked him with a change of pace and left him grasping air.

"I thought I was going to run out of gas at about the 30, but I saw that last man coming over, and that gave me more juice," Winslow said.

Oilers Look To Falcons

HOUSTON (AP) — Sid Gillman's patchwork puzzle lineup and Norm Van Brocklin's veterans see how the pieces fit tonight when the Houston Oilers and Atlanta Falcons meet in a National Football League exhibition game in the Astrodome.

The kickoff is at 8 p.m. Gillman undertook one of the most extensive scouting campaigns in the NFL after last year's 1-13 season and feels he has put together a winner with a blend of rookies, free agents and available veterans.

"I think our expense was worth the effort," Gillman said. "We looked at more players than any team in the league and this team can win. We're so much improved over last year there's just no comparison."

While the Oilers will still utilize many Van Brocklin veteran lineups headed by quarterback Bob Lee.

RECORD 19 UNDER

Caddy Corrects Miller's Swing

HARRISON, N.Y. (AP) — "I've really been in contention, in position to win, seven times this year — and I've won six." Johnny Miller said.

"You shouldn't win more than one out of three."

"It's a joke, really, a joke."

But Miller, who scored his sixth victory of the season by a record 19-under par score in the rich Westchester Golf Classic, was dead serious Sunday when he said he would skip next year's PGA national championship if he is not allowed to use his regular tour caddy — Andy Martinez.

"If I can't use my caddy, I definitely will not play in the PGA," Miller said after his final round 67, five-under-par, had provided him with a two-stroke victory over journeyman Don Bies, with Tom Weiskopf and Jack Nicklaus once against frustrated, unsuccessful challengers.

Miller's 269 total was a record for the 6,614-yard Westchester Country Club course. He collected $50,000 from the total purse of $250,000, pushed his leading money winning total to $255,567 and, with six titles, has won twice as many tournaments as any other player on the tour this season.

"I owe this one to my caddy," the 27-year-old Miller said. He explained that his professional, touring caddy, Andy Martinez, helped him

Tug-Of-War Over Star Is Planned

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The tug-of-war over Moses Malone continues, a week before the 6-foot-11 basketball star is scheduled to start classes as a freshman at the University of Maryland.

Working against a Sept. 1 deadline of the American Basketball Association, the Utah Stars have offered Malone a contract described by an ABA source as worth more than $1 million.

An early decision of the immediate playing future could be forthcoming this morning at Malone's home in Petersburg, Va.

An ABA spokesman said James Collier, new president of the Stars, was to meet at the Malone home along with Arnie Ferrin, the Utah general manager, and Morris "Bucky" Buckwalter, the team's director of player personnel.

Hawaiians Lose Again In WFL

HONOLULU (AP) — Their defense played so well that the Hawaiians of the World Football League lost again Sunday.

While a Hawaiians defensive back was admiring the play of the front four, the Jacksonville Sharks scored a late touchdown to win, 14-8.

"I thought the quarterback was going to be sacked, and then I saw the receiver cut back outside," said cornerback Derrick Williams, who was beaten by Drew Buie for the decisive score.

The Hawaiians got to the quarterback seven times in the game, with linemen Levi Stanley, Ron East and Lem Burnham nothing two sacks each.

NFL Talks To Resume

CHICAGO (AP) — Negotiations in the National Football League player dispute, stalled for more than a week, will resume Monday before chief federal mediator W. J. Usery.

Usery last Friday told both the NFL Players' Association and the NFL Management Council to come to the talks "prepared to make every good faith effort to consummate an agreement."

The strike will be entering its 57th day, although the players have returned to camp during a 14-day cooling off period which ends Wednesday.

The Players' Association is expected to meet in Chicago Tuesday to discuss its future course although two clubs — the Buffalo Bills and the Cincinnati Bengals — already have announced they will not leave their camps if the association decides to walk out again.

Last Test Jump Made By Evel

TWIN FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Stuntman Evel Knievel says he won't launch another test skydive across the Snake River before making his promised Sept. 8 jump.

Knievel watched on Sunday as the second skydive tested in the past year plunged to the bottom of the 500-foot-deep canyon in southern Idaho.

A helicopter later retrieved the craft from the water.

The test firing ended when a parachute malfunctioned at about 2,000 feet. The rocket-powered vehicle nosedived into the canyon.

"The combined cost of both vehicles which have now gone into the Snake River is almost $500,000," Knievel said. "This makes the Snake River the richest river in the state of Idaho. In fact, there is a rumor that all the trout are turning to gold."

The first skydive landed in the canyon last November and was not recovered until last month.

Sunday's launch came without fanfare or advance warning.

Heat Energy Proving Lure In Land Rush

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (AP) — Klamath Basin, a rolling prairie in the shadow of the Cascade Mountains in southern Oregon, is the focus of a new American land rush.

It has nothing to do with farming or precious minerals, but with hot water.

Geologists believe this region sits atop one of the earth's richest stores of geothermal energy: vast, subterranean reservoirs of high-pressure steam and hot water capable of spinning turbine generators, producing electricity, powering industry, easing the burden on dwindling fossil fuel supplies.

"More heat energy lies within one mile of the surface in southeastern Oregon than in all of America's oil fields," said Dick Bowen, economic geologist with the Oregon Department of Geology and Mineral Industries. "Of course, we can't recover all of that. But even if we could tap 1-1000th of it, it would be significant — something on the order of the North Slope of Alaska."

Early this year, after prodding from scientists, industry leaders and politicians, the U.S. Bureau of Land Management began accepting applications for leases to explore for geothermal energy on the vast tracts of federal land in its domain.

The bureau was deluged. In the first four months of 1974, bureau regional offices in the Western states received 3,508 geothermal lease applications, covering 7,768,776 acres.

Applications came from many of the large oil companies — Mobil, Gulf, Chevron, Phillips, Sun — and dozens of smaller ones.

Geothermal energy is nothing new in these parts. A hundred years ago the Klamath Indians were using hot surface springs to cook their food and soothe their arthritic limbs.

In the early 1920s, crude wells were dug and subsurface hot water was tapped for home heating.

Today, geothermal wells in this town of 16,000 provide clean, and almost cost-free heat for some 500 homes, schools and businesses along what is called the Hot Springs Belt — an area of several square miles that outlines a vast hot water reservoir 300 to 400 feet deep.

This is believed to be the most extensive use of geothermal home heating anywhere.

Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota have fundraising committees financing heavier travel schedules around the country so they can decide whether to announce candidacies.

Runaway Held On Suspicion

A runaway from Fort Benning, Ga. was found on the roof of the Silver Quarter in College Park at 12:15 a.m. Sunday.

He was arrested on suspicion and a routine check showed that he was sought in Fort Benning as a runaway. The juvenile youth is in the city jail, according to Lt. Jim McCain of the city juvenile department.

The juvenile department also took into custody two local youths, ages 13 and 15 in connection with destruction of city property.

They were reported as breaking out vapor lights at the Figure Seven Tennis Center.

No Motive Is Found For Double Murder

PEMBROKE PARK, Fla. (AP) — Police say they have found no apparent motive for the killings of two teenagers who were gagged with tape and strangled with belts.

The bodies of Luzlo Sandor, 19, and LuAnn Donhauser, 17, were found Sunday in an apartment in this town west of Fort Lauderdale. Sandor's wrists had been slashed, apparently with a butcher knife found near the body, officers said.

Police said there were only minor signs of a struggle in the $180-a-month, three-room apartment where Sandor, who worked with his brother repairing automobiles and stereos, had lived the past month.

Sandor's body was found in the living room and Miss Donhauser's body was discovered in the bedroom, police said. Both were fully clothed, their heads wrapped in surgical tape and mouths taped shut, officers said.

Radios Stolen From 2 Stores

A slick thief with a weakness for radios struck twice Saturday, apparently getting away with two radios taken from two different stores.

Between 9 and 10:50 a.m. Saturday, a thief walked into the Western Auto store, apparently picked up a radio on display and walked out without anyone seeing him. He got away with a CB radio valued at $149.95.

Around 3:15 p.m. either the same thief or one with the same idea walked into the Radio Shack and walked out with a radio transistor which was displayed in the center of the store. That radio was valued at $249.95.

In both places, none of the employees saw the thief or even knew of the theft until the radios were missed.

File Charge Of Burglary

A timely call from a local resident told police late Saturday that "Somebody is inside Carver's Pharmacy."

The police arrested Darrell Bruce Thomas inside the store at 11:43 p.m., and a charge of burglary has been filed.

Bond was set at $5,000 by Judge Walter Grice and Thomas was transferred Sunday from city to county jail and released on bond.

Udall Is Checking On Odds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Rep. Morris K. Udall is spending his weekends traveling the country and scouting his 1976 presidential odds.

"There's a great vacuum out there," the Arizona congressman said in an interview. "Nobody knows what Kennedy is going to do. It's sort of wide open."

So, more than a dozen weekends so far Udall has set out for some new section of the country to make himself known to local Democrats and size up his prospects.

He said it's too early to tell what they are. "This is sort of stage one, seeing if the effort is worthwhile," he said.

"I spent two days in New Hampshire and I got a good reception there," he said. "Of course, that's next door to Kennedy."

The name of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts comes up a lot when Udall talks about his exploratory presidential effort. He says that if Kennedy does not seek the Democratic presidential nomination it is open to all comers.

But even if Kennedy does not run, Udall is competing against better-known Democratic prospects and at least two of them already are spending more money and traveling harder than he is.

Sens. Henry M. Jackson of Washington and Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota have fundraising committees financing heavier travel schedules around the country so they can decide whether to announce candidacies.

Squeeze Stymies Home Builders

Contractor John Mixon of Trimble, Mo., usually builds about 30 new houses a year. Right now, he doesn't have a single home under construction.

Mixon is caught in the tight money squeeze that has hit buyers, builders and bankers and caused some industry sources to forecast that Americans will have to change their way of life.

The Commerce Department reported recently that the number of new houses started in July was the smallest in more than four years. At the same time, the government raised the maximum allowable rate on federally insured home loans to a record 9.5 per cent.

An Associated Press survey showed that mortgage rates vary from area to area, depending on state laws. The amount of money needed for a down payment also varies, up to 40 per cent in some regions. Throughout the country, however, available houses are more expensive and loans are harder to get.

Mixon says there is very little construction going on right now. "There's not much point in even giving a prospect a price estimate on a house he wants to build unless he's got the financing pretty well lined up," he said.

Bankers say they don't have money to loan. They say deposits are down because investors can get more interest by putting their money in things like treasury notes than they can from savings accounts.

James T. Lynn, secretary of Housing and Urban Development, said on Sunday that the report that housing starts slipped to just under an annual rate of 1.34 million units in July, 16 per cent below June and the lowest figure since 1970, was disheartening.

Arthur Rheingold, a 32-year-old attorney with the New York State Public Service Commission, is one of the would-be home owners affected by the shortage of mortgage money.

Rheingold makes "over $30,000" a year. His wife works as a graphic artist and together they have what Rheingold calls a "healthy" income. Since their marriage five years ago, they have rented the top two floors of a two-family house.

They spent six months searching for a home of their own and found one they liked — a $50,000 townhouse. The first bank they tried wouldn't give them a mortgage. "They wouldn't even consider it," Rheingold said.
