Airlines Pilot Hurt, Nab Hijack Suspect

BOSTON (AP) — A young black man demanding $10,000 for the poor was taken into custody today after holding an Eastern Airlines pilot hostage aboard a jetliner at Logan International Airport, authorities reported.

The pilot was injured when the hijacker was nabbed, but the extent of the injuries was not known, an airport spokesman said.

The pilot and his unidentified assailant, armed with either a knife or a fingernail file, had been alone on the twin-engine DC9 for more than three hours when a white van pulled alongside and a police car approached the other side. The police car sped away with lights flashing and an airport spokesman announced the hijacker had been taken into custody.

The twin-engine plane, a 7 a.m. shuttle from New York's La Guardia Airport, had just arrived at Boston when the hijacker rushed the cockpit and confronted the pilot with either a knife or a fingernail file, authorities said.

The hijacker, in his 20s, ordered the passengers and all of the crew but the pilot off the plane.

NAME PILOT

The pilot was identified as Capt. L. E. Whitaker of New York City.

John Stiffler, Eastern airport services manager, said the hijacker then demanded $10,000. The money was spread out on the runway after the man demanded to "see its color."

After this was done, Stiffler said, the man's only comment was, "Give me the money to the poor people of Roxbury," a predominantly black section of Boston.

State police Maj. Edward Keenan said later the money was picked up by police. He did not elaborate.

Stiffler said no further demands had been made and it was unknown whether the man wanted to fly anywhere in the commandeered plane.

"If he demands, we'll go where he says," Stiffler said, but he would not say how much fuel the plane had.

The hijacker ordered authorities to bring him two steak sandwiches, according to airport publicist Phil Havran.

James Caulfield of Boston, a passenger, told Eastern officials that a voice was heard just as the plane reached the gate to unload, saying twice: "Nobody out the front of the plane, everybody out the window exits."

All of the passengers and the crew, except the captain, used the window emergency chutes to deplane. Stiffler said there were no injuries.

Eric Korotish, 13, of Brentwood, N.Y., said the trouble began just as the plane came to a stop.

'I WAS SCARED'

"I saw this guy get up near the front of the plane. I was in the ninth row," he said. "Someone yelled, 'Get out, get out' and everyone started pushing toward the (emergency) doors. I was scared. But I came out on a wing and I'm okay."

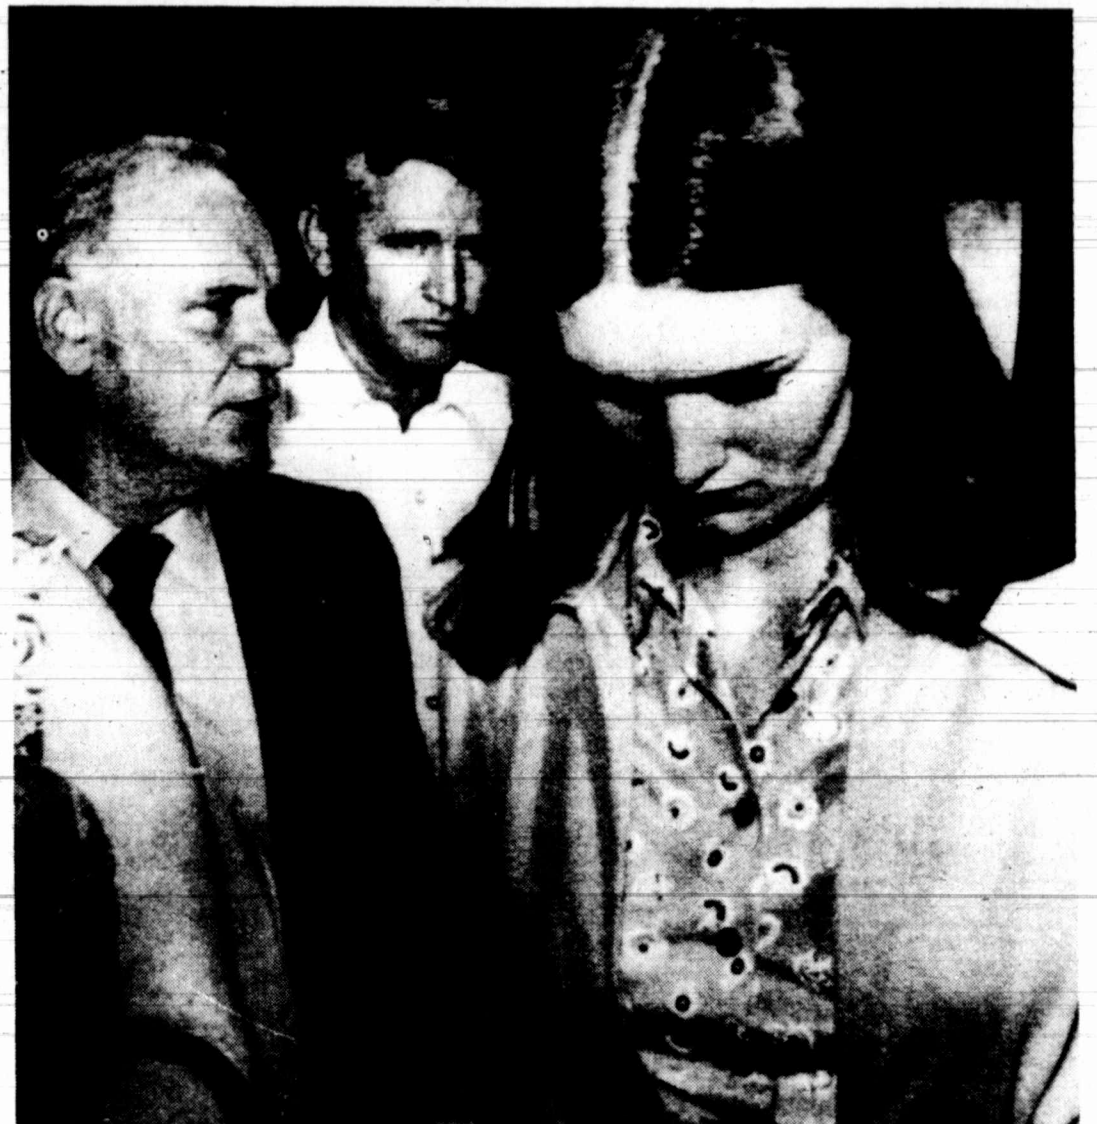

Another passenger, William Knowles of Concord, N.H., said he was sitting near the back of the plane, which he said was full of passengers, mostly men. He said he did not see the hijacker make his move but had spoken to a young girl who was sitting next to the hijacker during the flight.

"She told me he was asking around during the flight for a fingernail file," Knowles said. "Someone yelled 'Get out!' There was a lot of panic."

Both Knowles and Korotish said neither of them heard any specific instructions for escape from the flight crew or the pilot.

At midmorning, the plane sat in the mist at the intersection of two runways on the harbor side of the airport. It was a dismal, gloomy day in Boston and the plane could barely be seen from the terminal because of the fog.

LEAVES HEARING — Bridget Clark Brooks, wife of David Owens Brooks, who is accused in four deaths concerning the homosexual murder of 27 youths, leaves court Tuesday. At left is Brooks' attorney, Ted Musick, and behind the lawyer is Brooks' father, Alton Brooks. A sanity trial was set for Nov. 4 in Houston.

CHALLENGING ASSIGNMENT

GOP Leader Bush Named To Head China Mission

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — Republican National Chairman George Bush has been chosen to head the U.S. Mission in China, an associate said today.

Mrs. Mary Louise Smith of Iowa, who has been Bush's deputy, will succeed him as head of the Republican National Committee, according to party sources in Washington.

The White House was expected to announce President Ford's choice of Bush for the Peking post later in the day.

In Midland, James M. Allison Jr. reached Bush by telephone at GOP headquarters in Washington. "I am thrilled and excited about this appointment and feel it is the major ambassadorial challenge this country has," Bush said. "I am looking forward to this important and challenging assignment."

FORD'S CHOICE — Mary Louise Smith of Des Moines will be nominated by President Ford to become chairman of the Republican National Committee, GOP sources in Iowa report. Mrs. Smith, 60, has privately told leaders of the party she has met with Ford and will be his nominee to succeed George Bush of Texas.

Nations, said he was leaving immediately for the State Department where he would be briefed on his new role. He was reached by Allison at GOP headquarters in Washington.

Ambassador David Bruce is head of the American mission in Peking at present.

Bush said he will begin in his new post before year's end.

"It will require leadership and patience but I feel this administration can make a lasting contribution to world peace if we handle this assignment correctly," he said.

Bush expressed his thanks to "the many Midlanders and other West Texans who have supported me in the past. Barbara and I miss our friends but plan to take a little West Texas hospitality to the People's Republic with us."

Bush said he is pleased that Mrs. Mary Louise Smith of Iowa has been recommended by President Ford to take over Bush's role as national chairman of the GOP.

"Mrs. Smith is a superb lady and a great leader and our party is long overdue in having a woman at its helm," he said.

Bush, 50, was considered a strong possible choice as vice president to President Ford before Nelson Rockefeller was selected.

The Times Herald said Ford later offered Bush a number of posts, including ambassadorships in France and England.

Ford discussed succession of the GOP post with Mary Louise Smith, assistant national chairman, and presidential counsellor Dean Burch Tuesday, the newspaper said.

The U.S. mission in Peking was established last year following Nixon's trip to China.

FUND STILL FAR SHORT

There was a good flow of support for the Bible Class Fund today, but the annual appeal — in its last week — is still about a thousand dollars short of its goal.

Two former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ray of Barstow, Calif. visited old friends here and left a gift. Stella Floore, who was reared here, mailed a check from Fort Worth. Another sent a gift with a prayer that "God bless the teacher daily."

Set For Trial

At docket call Tuesday afternoon, County Judge A. G. Mitchell set two criminal cases for trial Sept. 11 and 12.

County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eysen Jr. said, out of 49 cases listed, first motions for continuances were granted in connection with about 12.

Two Reasons Are Noted

Mrs. Zirah L. Bednar, county tax collector, notes two good reasons for voters to notify her office of address changes: The November general election and plastic registration cards the county plans to issue.

Temperatures Tumble Again

Mercury dropped lower today than the record for the second morning in a row at the U.S. Big Spring Experiment Station.

Low temperature today was 49 degrees, compared to 51 recorded in 1963. Tuesday morning, the low point was 50, where 56 degrees had been lowest since 1955.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — A key White House aide said it probably is too late for the current Congress to act on any long-range legislation that President Ford's inflation conference might recommend. L. William Seidman, chief coordinator of the Sept. 27-28 meeting, said the chances of congressional action were dimmed by the likelihood of a mid-October recess. But Seidman said that administrative moves not requiring legislation would be made as necessary to fight inflation, perhaps even before the conference.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chances of avoiding a crippling nationwide coal strike appear to depend on the critical issues of increased safety for the miners and greater production for the owners. Despite optimism expressed at the start of negotiations for avoiding a shutdown, initial contract proposals put forth indicate that the miners and owners are far apart on these issues. Union sources said they expect less difficulty winning large wage increases and fringe benefits than in obtaining non-money items now that the companies are selling coal at record prices.

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Sniper fire and looting marked a third straight day of disorders in New Jersey's largest city. Police said 12 officers and five civilians received minor injuries. Relative calm returned to this city of 400,000 about midnight on Tuesday. Police said about 15 stores, including a five-and-dime and a small department store, were looted on Tuesday and Tuesday night as bands of youths, most of them Puerto Rican, rampaged through the predominantly white North Ward.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House counsel John W. Dean III has begun serving a minimum one-year jail sentence for his part in covering up the Watergate scandal, but his role as a major source of Watergate evidence is not over. Dean will testify at the Watergate cover-up trial scheduled to begin Sept. 30, and federal officials said he will remain available for any other investigations by Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski.

STAR WITNESS IN 1964

Dead Man Identified As Syndicate Figure

DALLAS (AP) — Chicago authorities have identified a man found dead here last week as a one-time star witness in 1964 murder trials of a former Chicago policeman, Dallas police said Tuesday.

They said fingerprints established that he was Leonard Fiorenzo, 42. Firemen checking for a possible natural gas leak Aug. 27 found the body in an apartment. Homicide Lt. Charles Burnley said the county medical examiner's office attributed death to an overdose of drugs.

Testimony by Fiorenzo was credited in Chicago with helping send former policeman Thomas Durso and a man accused of being his crime syndicate crony, Michael Gargano, to prison for terms of 100 to 150 years for killing a Chicago narcotics peddler and police informer.

After Fiorenzo testified in the case, the Cook County state's attorney's office arranged for him to change his name and find a job in Oklahoma. He was reported to have lived there for 10 years without incident.

Police said Fiorenzo enrolled in a methadone center here last May for treatment of his drug habit.

Enrollment at Howard College was moving at a pace similar to last year at mid-morning Wednesday with 602 having cleared the business office and another 41 signed.

Registration was to continue from 1 p.m.-4 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. today at the college library, and a large number of additional registrants is expected, said L. L. Lewis, director of admissions.

Classes will begin Thursday morning, but registration continues through Sept. 20. However, those planning to enroll are urged to do so as soon as possible to avoid missing class instruction.

ROYSE CITY, Tex. (AP) — A well-dressed gunman made off with an undetermined amount of cash today from the Citizens State Bank in Royce City.

Authorities said the robber wore a blue pin-striped suit and a green mask, stuffing money into a green bag as he pointed a .45-caliber automatic pistol at tellers.

Opening lead: Ten of ♥

Just because it is your turn to bid is not reason enough to enter the auction. Unless your side has the potential to buy the contract, or unless your bid has lead-directing potential, it might be wiser to remain silent, lest you tip off the distribution to an alert declarer.

East might have selected to pass at his first turn, to see how the bidding would develop. Alternatively, he could have bid one spade to suggest a lead. Instead, he decided to make a takeout double, and drew a roadmap for South that steered him to the winning play. West got his side off to a good start with the ten of hearts. East overtook the jack and declarer won the queen. There were seven fast winners, and declarer could rule out the spade suit as a source of tricks—even if he resorted to finesse for the ten, the defenders would have the heart suit set up before South could establish a spade. Thus, diamonds would have to be declarer's best friend, and the obvious way to tackle the suit was via a finesse—except that the bidding had almost certainly marked East for the king of diamonds.

East had made a vulnerable takeout double, and except for a pair of jacks, the only missing high cards were the ace-king-queen of spades and the king of diamonds. Almost certainly, East had to have all these cards.

Therefore, declarer rejected the diamond finesse in favor of playing a diamond to the ace and a low diamond from dummy! When the king came tumbling down on the second lead, the queen and jack became the game-going tricks.

What if East had started with three or more diamonds to the king? In that case, there would have been no way to make the contract. Work it out for yourself if you don't believe me.

San Fran Attracts Thieves

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) — Most of San Francisco's summer visitors come to see the Golden Gate Bridge, tour Fisherman's Wharf and visit other famous landmarks. But a few spend their time indoors, stealing thousands of dollars in cash and other belongings from the tourists.

They are well-dressed, professional burglars who frequent major hotels in San Francisco, New York, Chicago, Miami, Los Vegas, Los Angeles and Honolulu, says police inspector Robert Kane.

They are believed responsible for about 150 burglaries in the last three months in this city's 25 largest hotels, Kane said.

Losses, mostly in jewelry, travelers checks and cash, average about $2,000 for each burglary, he said.

"They're pretty cool," Kane said. "They don't use violence. They're usually well-dressed and sort of blend into the background."

The sad fact is that the marks identify themselves for the thief by flashing too much jewelry or displaying too much money, he added.

But hotel security officers and executives say tourists should place valuables in the hotel safe, never invite strangers to their room and always lock the hotel door and latch it while sleeping.

PRELIMINARY NECESSITY — Registration is a very necessary function of any student's school life. Fearing Assassination Figured In Assignment

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Prison authorities considered the possibility of an inmate assassination in giving Fred Gomez Carrasco his controversial job in the prison chapel, Father Joseph O'Brien says.

O'Brien's disclosure was in a first-person characterization of Carrasco which appeared in Tuesday's edition of the San Antonio Light. He told his story to Light City Editor was Tom McGowan.

Carrasco was slain last month at the end of a 10-day holdout in the library at the Walls Unit of the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville. O'Brien, one of the hostages which Carrasco held, was wounded. Another convict gunman and two hostages were killed.

"He could have been ripe for assassination, so I was asked to accept him as a janitor in chapel," said O'Brien. "The Department of Corrections had two obligations: One was to confine Carrasco and the second was to protect him."

Carrasco, a San Antonio narcotics warlord, was approved for the prison chapel's job by prison director W.J. Estelle. Estelle has been criticized for allowing Carrasco the job, given the inmate's violent history.

O'Brien said Carrasco, since he had allegedly killed many underworld figures in Texas and Mexico—and later so bragged to me—might have had many enemies in the prison.

"And let me stress this, too. While he was at work, he was locked inside the chapel and did not mingle with the general population of the prison."

Regulations Reviewed For Officials Here

Top city administrators viewed a film presentation on the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 presented by Robert Massengale, city finance director, after he attended a meeting in Dallas outlining details of the new legislation.

A showing of the regulations concerning the new federal legislation on housing grants was held in the office of City Manager Harry Nagel.

The administrators then discussed with Massengale possible application locally.

The new legislation updates federal housing bills begun in the 30s, updated in 1949 with urban renewal and followed through in the 50s and 60s with the last bill enacted in 1968.

The new legislation allows $8.4 billion in the next three years to be allocated by local municipalities for housing projects, eliminating detrimental health, safety and public welfare areas, eliminating blight, improving community services, use of land and resources, reduction of isolation of income groups, restoration of historical and aesthetic locations, improving public services.

payment of local portion of federal projects, payment of the cost of complying with urban renewal, relocation projects, and related administrative costs.

Some $2.5 billion in the funds will be available in 1975. However, the biggest grant, 80 per cent, will go to some 490 municipalities with populations over 50,000 throughout the United States.

Only 20 per cent is allocated to smaller areas. Anyone applying must submit a three year plan. Housing Urban Development has 75 days to study grant applications and has the power to approve or refuse the grant.

The complicated grant applications will take months of study prior to any local action, according to the city manager, who added, "This is why we are beginning a study for next year now."

District Farm Union Meet Due

A District VIII meeting of the Texas Farmers Union has been set for Tuesday noon at Ramada Inn on IS 20, according to Vernon Chandler, Midland, district director.

The meeting will draw many top figures from the farm organization, including Jay Jaman, Waco, president. The session, said Chandler, is to set the stage for a pre-state convention activities since counties soon will be adopting resolution and naming delegates to the state convention in Houston in December.

"It is very important that all farmers and ranchers, Farmers Union members, and others come to our district meeting to see what Farmers Union is doing and to learn how a farm organization can make it possible for a farmer or rancher to represent himself better."

A team of Texas Farmers Union leaders and staff will attend. Besides Naman other state TFN officials are: vice president Joe Rankin Halls, director of organization Chester Jones, Waco, and staff assistant Bob Mullins.

Others who will participate in the meeting in addition to Vernon Chandler will be district vice director Alvin Sefcik, Vancourt, and district secretary B. E. (Bobby) Rogers, Winter.

The state farm organization president has joined the District VIII director on calling on all farmers, regardless of farm organization membership to attend the Farmers Union District Meeting.

Naman emphasized that it is important with a new administration in Washington that the efforts of the farm organizations be consolidated.

The Big Spring meeting is one of nine scheduled throughout the state during September. District VIII is comprised of Dawson, Glasscock, Martin, Midland, Mitchell, Runnels and Tom Green-Concho counties.

Firemen Honor Chief At Retirement Dinner

"When you have a group of men who never give you any problems and captains such as this department had, you sure will miss them," A. D. Meador, fire chief, said at his retirement dinner here Tuesday night.

The dinner was held in Central Fire Station where Meador served all of his years in the fire department.

The trucks were parked outside and were allowed to sit there through the dinner, since there were no fire calls.

A fire call would have slimmed down the crowd since a lot of the guests were firemen. Also on hand were fellow city employees, city administrators and three of the city council, including Eddie Acri, Harold Hall and Mrs. Polly Mays. Hall was accompanied by his wife.

Also special guests were Mrs. Meador and the Meador's children and grandchildren. Two retired city employees who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Crocker.

Robert Massengale, city finance director, introduced the members of Meador's family. Harold Hall,

Telephone Installations Are Slowed By Shortages

Telephone installations will be temporarily limited because of a strike-related shortage of instruments, cords, bells and other equipment, Southwestern Bell spokesmen have announced.

The company said tentative agreement has been reached in a nationwide strike of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers against Western Electric that has caused the shortage.

"We don't know exactly how long it will take to return equipment inventories to normal," a company spokesman explained.

Western Electric is the Bell System's manufacturing and supply unit.

"Under the procedures we've established, installations will be limited to one line and one telephone per customer," the spokesman said. "When inventories return to normal, and equipment becomes available, we will complete the installations that customers requested without additional charge."

The company said customers will be billed only for one line and one telephone until any additional equipment they have ordered has been installed.

"We regret not being able to furnish all the equipment our customers request at the time they want it," the company official said. "However, the policy is temporary. Meanwhile, we'll be able to provide good, basic service until the equipment situation improves."

Farabee Against Gas Tax Hike

WICHITA FALLS — "A 10 cent tax on each gallon of gasoline will not help solve the problem of inflation. It will increase inflation and put an additional burden on both consumers and producers," according to Ray Farabee, Democratic nominee for the Texas Senate from the 30th District.

Farabee communicated his views to U.S. congressmen and other officials in Washington after learning that such a proposal was being considered.

The Wichita Falls businessman and attorney was specific in pointing out the problems — such as tax would create for the farmers and ranchers who already face inflated prices for all agricultural inputs. If the tax is imposed, they will have to get more for their products, he said. He noted problems of people in this district that are living on fixed incomes and the devastating effect a 10 cent a gallon gasoline tax would have on them.

Farabee speaks at a rally here Thursday evening.

Plane Crash Kills Three

LYTLE, Tex. (AP) — State police have identified three Ennis residents as the persons killed in a private plane that crashed a few miles southeast of here in South Texas.

A spokesman said Monday night the victims were Don Ballew, Harley Schoep and W. J. Pollan. The three men had flown to that area on a fishing trip.

Their plane was reported missing Thursday on a flight from Laredo to Waco but the wreckage was not spotted until Monday. State police reported the plane apparently broke apart in flight during a storm and the wreckage was scattered widely in heavy brush country.

Westbrook Superintendent L. M. Dawson said Westbrook had an enrollment of 151 Friday with 76 in elementary and 72 in grades 7-12.

Loraine has 339 students with 86 in high school, 50 in junior high and 203 in elementary.

CHAMPVA Aids Many Families

About 112,700 family members have established eligibility for the Veterans Administration's CHAMPVA medical care program, according to Jack D. Powell, hospital director.

Mitchell Farm Tour Nearing Funding Jobs For Vets Not Always Easy Task

COLORADO CITY — Mitchell County's annual farm tour will leave from Lone Wolf Electric Coopatorium at 9 a.m. Thursday.

Bob Benson, county extension agent, invites persons planning to attend to come at 8:30 a.m. for coffee prior to boarding buses for the tour.

A community barbecue luncheon will be held, with tickets selling for $2.50.

The tour includes Curtis and Don Latimer farm in Longfellow for cotton variety demonstration; Cliff Etheridge, northeast of Lorraine, cotton variety; Wayne Oliver farm north of Lorraine; refreshment break at Lorraine Lions Building; J. W. Boyd farm, west of Lorraine and the barbecue.

THEFTS

Jasper Denton reported that a $179 radio was taken from his truck while it was parked at Rip's Truck Stop.

Russ Rutledge, 604 Elgin, reported that his jeep was taken during the night Sunday while parked out front of his parents home; value $3600.

It has been described as everything from a national disgrace to a minor problem across the country, but many believe that the high unemployment rates for Vietnam veterans is a major concern.

That is what the local office of the Texas Employment Commission believes too, so it gives special priority to veteran job applicants coming through their office.

Veterans are such a concern, that the office has a full-time Veterans representative, Joe Wallis, who is in charge of counseling, testing and finding jobs for the veterans.

Veterans receive priority over non-veterans in the jobs in the files at the TEC, and handicapped veterans have priority over veterans for these jobs.

If nothing can be found locally, then contacts with the Midland office covers an area from San Angelo to Pecos, looking for the right job.

Still, some veterans with little or no practical job training, or with moderate handicaps have trouble finding jobs. National estimates say that there are over 300,000 Vietnam era veterans who are unemployed.

In Big Spring, some 48 new veteran applicants were taken during the month of July, and 40 of them were found jobs. The remainder will stay in the files in case something comes up in the future.

However, some of these vets can undergo on-the-job training with a special program offered by the Veteran's Administration.

Death Near For 'Ironside'

TEL AVIV (AP) — Raymond Burr, star of the television mystery program "Ironside," says the series will end its eight-year run this January.

This is set up between the veteran, his employer and the VA — the VA helps pay wages during the training period.

Testing is also available at the TEC office for veterans, if the employers require it or if the veterans want to be tested.

Counseling is another of the duties of the TEC Veterans representative.

Wallis reports that the number of veterans applying at the local office has slackened in the past year, but retirees and discharges from Webb Air Force Base still come in regularly.

Wallis noted that the degree of difficulty of finding a job for a veteran or a handicapped veteran depends on the training he has received and the extent of his disability, if any.

Over-all, finding jobs for veterans is sometimes difficult, but with the counseling, testing and on-the-job training available, more and more veterans are getting good jobs, he said.

Sheriff Seeks Probe By Jury

LAMESA — Dawson County Sheriff Guy Kinnison has submitted a letter to District Attorney Joe Smith requesting that a grand jury investigate allegations of improper conduct on the part of himself and his deputies.

In the letter to the DA, the sheriff states, "allegations of impropriety have been made against me and my department as a result of certain bail bond practices. It is my desire that my office be kept above reproach and I would request that the grand jury make an investigation of those allegations against me and my department."

A New Ball Game

"Politically, it's a whole new ball game." That was the message to a Democratic rally at Asheville, N.C. last week from Sen. Robert C. Byrd, West Virginia Democrat and assistant majority leader of the Senate. Byrd was outlining the new situation faced by Democratic candidates with Richard Nixon out of the White House.

Not only is it a new ball game which the Democrats will be facing in this year's congressional elections, but also a new team of opposing players headed by President Gerald Ford. Removal from the scene of Mr. Nixon has effectively cut the ground from under Democrats to base campaigns on attacking the GOP through the Watergate scandals.

Byrd also told fellow Democrats that he is concerned that "our party appears to be factionalized rather than united as it prepares for its mid-term convention." He urged the party to face the issues such as inflation which now have the full attention of the people.

There is every reason to believe that Byrd has correctly gauged the sentiment of the voting public in calling for members of his party to run on the issues and to leave Watergate and Mr. Nixon behind. He said that Democrats must face the fact that the country wants the new President to have his chance which calls for cooperation from the Democrat-controlled Congress.

"Let us not delude ourselves. Gerald Ford is respected. Moreover, the naming of Nelson Rockefeller as vice president is a distinct plus for the Republicans, in my judgment," Byrd said.

Byrd wasn't crying "wolf" in laying it on the line to his fellow Democrats.

Watergate is subsiding. The division within the Democratic party which started as a sizable crack in Chicago in 1968 and widened into a huge chasm in 1972, shows no signs of being closed.

One fact already certain. Democratic aspirants are going to have to work hard and satisfy the voters on the real issues this fall to enjoy success at the polls.

May Help Some

Availability of livestock feed grain to American feeders got a shot in the arm over the past two weeks as both Japanese and European Common Market authorities cut back their demands for U.S. grains.

Since the sale of U.S. grain to the Soviet Union two years ago, American producers of beef, pork, poultry and dairy products have had to face a shortage of feed and higher production costs. Much of this has been passed on to the American consumer who has been tightening his belt for the past two years.

With Japan and the Common Market both cutting back on grain demands by 10 per cent, more grain should be available on the domestic market. It should ease the demand on U.S. grain stockpiles now being drained to their lowest levels in more than a quarter of a century.

What all this will mean to the American consumer and producer is not yet clear. Most likely the price of grain won't go down or food prices cease to rise. But it will mean that chances for stabilization of prices has a greater chance if middlemen hold back their profit margin.

Safety Pair

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

Texas out-did itself in measuring up to the predictions for highway carnage over the Labor Day weekend.

TWO FACTORS appeared to have influenced the record which seemed more "like old times." These were speed and volume of traffic, and it's hard to say which carried the most weight.

Until now, this year's death toll on highways has been running well below the previous year when the rate of 4.2 deaths per million miles of travel was the lowest on record. But this trend may be changing.

FOR ONE THING, drivers on highways and roads outside cities are mashing down on the accelerator when an officer isn't in sight. The average speed through June was said to be 55-60 mph under the new 55 mph limit, but within the past couple of months another five miles has been added to that.

Aside from the lower speeds, one of the factors in reducing non-urban mishaps was said to be that of providing a greater uniformity of vehicular speed. It came within the 10-mile-per-hour range that traffic engineers regard as a desirable "pace."

ANOTHER FACTOR was that of traffic volume. Some engineers think this, as much or more than speed, has influenced the number of accidents. A National Survey Council publication shows that for five national holidays in 1970-72 travel was up four per cent, and deaths rose 22 per cent. The implication is that the decrease of travel due to shortage or higher price of fuel now is abating.

IT'S TOO SIMPLE to say that lower speed limits mean much fewer deaths. There's no denying that the laws of physics being what they are, your chances of surviving a crash at 55 mph are far greater than at 70 mph. But statistics show that more than half of the vehicles of all fatal accidents occur at speeds less than 55 mph.

TO CONCLUDE that the lower speed limit has no effect in reducing the traffic toll, however, would be erroneous, because the bulk of travel occurs within cities which have speed rates considerably lower than 55 mph. A more significant reading might be, particularly in cities, the number of vehicles driven too fast for conditions. In other words, a car driven at 40 mph in certain city conditions could be far worse than one driven 70 mph on a rural road.

One interesting aspect of the lower speed limit however, has been that the rate of reduction of accidents on city streets has tended to parallel that on rural roads. Again — that volume factor may be the big influencer.

SO, FOR SAFETY'S sake, fuel shortages may play as much a part in pulling down the traffic tolls as is the reduced speed. The two seem to make a pretty good pair.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Can you be a real Christian and dislike your sister? She is the oldest, and resents us four younger kids. She'd rather be with her friends than family. She argues all the time. We just want to live our life in peace and quiet. Will God understand? Give your answers with ample Bible references, please. N.S.

It was Shakespeare who in Henry VIII said, "Men's evil manners live in brass; their virtues we write in water." I think you may be exaggerating your sister's faults, but in any event, let me give you some Bible statements that may be helpful for any Christian tempted by hatred.

First, recognize that hatred which seeks injury and displays spite is everywhere condemned. See Numbers 35:20, Psalms 109:5, Proverbs 10:12, 1 John 3:15.

Secondly, on the other hand, the Old Testament teaches that hatred of evil, when purged of personal malice, is commended (Psalms 97:10, Psalms 101:3). The New Testament also intensifies this distaste of wrongdoing (see Jude 23 and Revelation 2:6).

Thirdly, however, the gospel of Christ brings all of this under the higher law of love (Matthew 5:43, 44 and Romans 12:17-21). Of course, you can be a Christian and dislike your sister. Faith depends on a commitment to Christ, not on suc-successful family living. But knowing Christ should upgrade all your interpersonal relationships.

Interest(ing) Theory

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Are those high interest rates holding down business spending? Aren't they supposed to?

The answer to the first question is no, they're not holding down spending. The answer to the second is yes, they should be discouraging spending if the theory is correct.

The Conference Board, an independent research organization supported mainly by business, found in a study just finished that the nation's 1,000 largest manufacturers have sharply raised their capital appropriations.

Between the first and second quarters of the year, it found, these manufacturers authorized the spending of $16.29 billion, a whopping 39 per cent increase.

Since appropriations are authorizations to spend money in the future, the impact of heavy capital spending most likely will be felt for many months to come, when the actual spending will be done.

While the board said it feels an appropriations peak might have been reached, the substantial increase in spending plans during the April-May-June quarter adds another question mark about monetary policy.

The avowed intention of the Federal Reserve Board's tight money policy is to discourage spending, thus bringing the economy down to a noninflationary pace.

The most logical explanation for the surge in appropriations is that many U.S. industries believe they must expand their capacity or make their production lines more efficient.

The largest jump in appropriations, some 125 per cent, was registered by the petroleum industry, with nonferrous metals — non iron, that is — paper and chemicals following in that order.

One reason for expecting a peak has been reached in appropriations, said the board, is that electrical machinery orders are being increasingly affected by troubles in the electric utility industry.

Utilities are among those industries that have been forced to curtail borrowing. Bond issues have been postponed by poor markets and expansion plans have been thwarted by various environmental restraints.

Nevertheless, a separate survey of large manufacturers, this one also conducted by the Conference Board, suggests that capital spending is likely to remain strong in 1975.

It said about 50 per cent of manufacturers responding to the survey expect their capital spending to rise in 1975, 30 per cent expect little change over 1974 levels, and 20 per cent anticipate a decline.

What Bronchiectasis Is

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please write on bronchiectasis. My doctor says I have it.

At times, mostly at night when I lie down, I cough up some foamy, salty-tasting fluid. I also have a tightness in my chest in the late evening and at night.

This all started after I had a very bad cold about three years ago. Could muscles or nerves be the problem? I am 39 — Mrs. L.M.

Guess I haven't discussed bronchiectasis lately — and it is a pretty common problem.

It's a disorder of the bronchial tubes. They become dilated in a cylindrical or sac-like form. The walls are damaged and normal mechanism for drainage of secretions is destroyed.

Your bad cold may well have been at least part of the cause. The condition occurs mostly in persons who have had repeated lung infections or who smoke heavily.

The result of the condition is a puddling and accumulation of secretions, a cough with usually copious foul sputum — the puddled material is a convenient place for germs to multiply, so recurrent fevers are common. Bronchiectasis also is the commonest cause of lung hemorrhages.

Infections can be subdued with antibiotics but are likely to reappear. A maneuver called "postural drainage" will give temporary relief by getting rid of some of the secretions and pus. This is done by means of a board ("slant board" or an ironing board, or similar) set at an angle of about 25 degrees. The patient lies on it, with his head at the lower end, for a few minutes four or five times a day to let the matter in the bronchial tubes drain toward the mouth so it can be coughed out. As a patient gets used to this simple technique he can increase the time and drain out more material.

In severe cases, especially if infection or hemorrhage is quite disturbing, the affected portion of the lung may be removed surgically.

Diagnosis: routine X-ray may not show much, but a special X-ray procedure called bronchography will give a definite diagnosis and also define the extent of the trouble. A special substance that will show up in X-rays is introduced into the bronchial tubes and the lung is "mapped."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the difference between a cyst and a tumor? — H.G.

A cyst is a sac which contains fluid or some semi-solid substance. A tumor is an unwarranted growth of cells that serves no useful purpose.

The cyst is usually movable, and the tumor, since it is usually embedded in the surrounding tissue, is not. Thus, the cyst is much easier to remove surgically than is the tumor, which must be cut away from surrounding tissue.

Arthritis suffers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis," write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Hood's Reunion

This is for you who attend the reunions of your old military unit and celebrate too well, to loosely describe what you do.

You have distinguished precedent for it.

THIS IS one of the interesting sidelights in a new book, "Hood's Texas Brigade in Reunion and Memory," published by Hill Junior College of Hillsboro.

The author is a retired Air Force colonel, Harold B. Simpson, director of the Confederate Research Center and Gun Museum at the college. This is one of several books he has written about the Confederacy.

About those celebrations. Hood's Texas Brigade Association was organized in Houston May 14, 1872, and met in various cities and towns throughout Texas until Bryan became its permanent home.

It held sessions for 62 years until finally only two attended in 1933 — E. W. B. Beach and Sam D. Moodie, both 91 and both of Houston. Both died before the next scheduled reunion. However, they were not the last survivors.

THESE FIRST reunions were marked by the amount of liquids consumed. These soldiers were not inclined to pass up any food or drink after near-starvation during those terrible days of the Civil War.

The local inhabitants in reunion cities provided them with large quantities of refreshments. As if that wasn't enough, there were a multitude of mini-reunions in the saloons which all the cities provided in profusion.

Then suddenly this guzzle-guzzle stopped.

You know why? Somebody invited the wives. That ended that!

Barbecue became the big thing at the reunions up to World War I. After that, as Col. Simpson says, the old fire-eaters were provided with "lighter foods." Teeth, you knew. They probably weren't what they once were.

THERE IS another matter in addition to alcohol in which the old-timers are like today's veterans. They took care of their own.

This came about when Gen. John Bell Hood, his wife and a daughter died within six days of each other of yellow fever.

The general left 10 children ranging in age from two months to nine years.

An appeal went out to Hood's men and in a very short time they collected $18,412. This was a tremendous sum for those times and still more remarkable when you recall the small number of survivors and that none was rich.

It strictly was a matter of loyalty to their old commander. When the association leaders decided to erect a monument to the brigade, the old vets kept their hands in their pockets.

THE MONUMENT was erected largely with outside contributions. It stands on the Capitol grounds in Austin, the tall, thin column with the figure of a Rebel atop it.

Hood's Texans were known as the shock troops of the Confederacy.

To give you a concept of their stubbornness in combat, consider Antietam.

The First Texas Infantry regiment suffered 82.3 per cent casualties in that battle, the highest of any regiment North or South in the Civil War. The brigade itself lost 64.1 per cent at Antietam.

Of the 4,000 who first enlisted in the brigade, only 473 remained to lay down their Enfields and stack their tattered battle flags at Appomattox Court House.

The brigade's depleted ranks often were filled by soldiers from other states but it always was known as Hood's Texans — even when it was commanded by two other officers.

THE 4,000 who first went so proudly to battle with Hood were only a small fraction of the 50,000 to 60,000 Texans who fought under Lee and Jackson and the other noted Confederate commanders. They obviously formed the most famous Texas unit.

They fought in 38 battles including all the major ones except Chancellorsville. They had been assigned temporarily at the time of that clash to Longstreet and others in the Tennessee theater.

How ironic that the last survivor of Hood's Brigade was not in any of the three Texas regiments. He was in K Company of the 3rd Arkansas Infantry, frequently a part of the brigade.

This gentleman was Sgt. M. L. McCurdy, a native of Florida. Immediately after the war he settled at West, Tex.

GEN. HOOD was born in Owingsville, Ky., in 1831 and was graduated from West Point.

He served with the 2nd U.S. Cavalry on the Texas frontier, and when his home state of Kentucky waffled about the war, he declared himself a Texan.

Hood was only a colonel when he took command of the brigade, but his battlefield performance caused his promotion to full general. He was the 8th and last full general in the Confederacy.

What Others Say

In a belated but welcome move, Congress appears ready to recognize it went too far in trying to protect motorists by redesigning cars. The House has voted to repeal federal regulations requiring new automobiles to have buzzers and ignition cut-offs linked to seatbelts, also inflating airbags to protect occupants in case of an accident.

The airbag requirement would not be effective until the 1977 model year, but the ignition interlock and buzzers connected to seat harnesses have been required on 1974 and 1975 models. As the number of these cars on the highways has increased, so have complaints about the cumbersome devices.

Mrs. Mitchell, the estranged wife of former attorney general John Mitchell, said she was opposed to political amnesty for those caught up in the whirlwind of Watergate.

Dear Abby

Says She Lost 98 Pounds—And Man

DEAR ABBY: I am only 29, and could write a book about my life, but nobody would believe it.

My mother died when I was eight, and I was passed around from relative to relative to raise. Somehow I was smart enough to realize that I had to get a good education in order to take care of myself, so I put myself through secretarial school.

I fell for a guy and let him move in with me. (Big mistake number one.) He really used me. It turned out he was on drugs, and soon he had a $40-a-day habit which nearly broke me, so I got rid of him—which wasn't easy. (Maybe I should mention that I weighed in the neighborhood of 235 at this point.)

Then I met another guy and fell hard for him. We dated for three months and he said if I lost 100 pounds he would marry me—but he was ashamed of me the way I was.

In the last 13 months I lost 98 pounds, Abby. Last week he told me he changed his mind. He met someone else and was marrying her! I nearly lost my mind. I was so crushed and depressed I went on an eating binge. Thank God it lasted only two days.

Please tell me how to get over this blow, Abby. I've even considered suicide.

HEARTBROKEN IN L.A.
DEAR HEARTBROKEN: The L.A. Suicide Prevention Center has an excellent counseling program. Call them. Disappointed as you are, you have much to be grateful for. The man who "changed his mind" also changed your life by motivating you to lose nearly 100 pounds. Stick with that diet, and go to work on forgetting him. And count your blessings instead of your disappointments.

DEAR ABBY: Recently my husband and I were shopping in a department store. My husband purchased several pair of slacks and I bought a pants suit.

My husband's slacks were a trifle too long, so the store made the necessary alterations at no charge.

However, I was charged for the alteration on my pants suit. I was told that as a matter of policy the store does not alter women's clothing free of charge. Only men's.

It seems to me that this is unfair. I think there should be equality in the treatment of both sexes. Please print this. Maybe if this appears in your column merchants will see it and do something about it.

UPSET IN BIRMINGHAM
DEAR UPSET: Better not make waves, ma'am. If you scream too loudly for "equality," they may start charging MEN for alterations.

DEAR ABBY: Just heard you on CBS radio. You advised a lady who wanted to know what to say to someone who asked her a very personal question to say: "If you'll forgive me for not answering, I'll forgive you for asking."

That's much too polite, Ab.

Chaplain Speaks Views Expressed On Family Living

Chaplain Foy Richey, director of clinical pastoral education at Big Spring State Hospital, was speaker for Scenic Chapter, American Business Women's Association, at the Palmer House Tuesday.

Chaplain Richey has received degrees from Abilene Christian College, Hartford Christian Foundation and New York Theological Seminary. From the latter two his master's degrees were in divinity and counseling.

In his duties at the hospital where he has served for one year, the chaplain teaches other clergymen to participate in family therapy and how to cope with family crises. He pointed out that children learn at a very early age "how to make it or not" through love, trust and feeling close to their parents. The perceptive child finds drama with three roles — rescuer, persecutor and victim.

The speaker said the family structure is the crossroads of life and that one learns to give and take with feelings which are very important in this relationship, as compared with material things.

He also stated that he ceased to be shocked by the values children are taught today when no limits are set for them. In closing, the chaplain said that family living is learning to make peace with one's neighbors.

Mrs. Beverly Cramer, who is employed in the procurement office at Webb AFB, was the vocational speaker.

Mrs. Wallace Garner, Mrs. Helen Stewart, Mrs. Dessie McMichael and Mrs. Cecil McDonald, members of the Cactus Chapter, were guests.

Views Expressed On Family Living

Mrs. Gatlin Jones read a letter concerning a girl, sponsored by the chapter, who is at Big Spring State Hospital. Eleven members plan to attend the Sept. 23 dinner at Lowake, and announcement was made of plans being made for the Silver Anniversary Tea Sept. 15 at the Barcelona Party Room.

Plans are underway for a paper drive and other fundraising activities under the direction of the ways and means committee.

Scholarships were presented last month to Jimmy Ruth Burkes, Hazel Baker and Vicky Denton.

The Sept. 17 meeting will be held at Furr's Cafeteria at 6:30 p.m.

Prayers were by Mrs. Thelma Montgomery and Mrs. George Mixon. Mrs. Bill Leugoud led the Pledge of Allegiance.

Interest seems to be climbing day-by-day for Evel Knievel's Snake River Canyon jump, Sept. 8. A lady called me early Monday morning at the Herald, inquiring if Odessa is the only location tickets can be purchased.

The source of information I have lists only Ector County Coliseum, Odessa. Tickets for the two-hour show are priced at $6, $8, and $10. It will be shown via closed circuit TV.

A profile of Knievel will be shown Thursday on ABC TV at 7 p.m.

In checking out school stadium capacities, Odessa tops the list with 18,000, followed by San Angelo, 17,200, Abilene, 15,046, Midland 15,000, and Big Spring, 10,000.

The closest Steer home sell-out game according to Don Green, assistant business manager, shows figures in the neighborhood of 8,000. The Big Spring Key Club will help out in the home opener by tossing 100 souvenir footballs to the crowd.

Members of the Big Spring evening Lions Club will serve the annual football barbecue prior to the first home game Sept. 13. Serving time will be from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m., $2 a plate at the Big Spring High Cafeteria.

Maybe some other organizations will come up with some attractive ideas to attract the public to the first home one, against Hobbs. Sure would be nice to eyeball the first sell-out contest.

Back to the drawing board!

I attended the Big Spring Quarterback meeting Tuesday night at the Steer cafeteria. Only 35 people were in attendance. Bob Burris, Big Spring High football coach announced that sophomore Tommy Churchwell tore ligaments in his knee and will be out for the season. Joe Mathews developed a shoulder separation. He will be lost for some time. Both injuries occurred Monday.

In the Sweetwater game, Ronnie Mullins suffered a cracked hand. He's expected to suit up for the Andrew game.

Burris announced co-captains for the season. They are seniors Lawrence Byrd, Casey Lovelace, John Miller, and Danny Ferrell. Film of the Sweetwater game was shown.

I was surprised to find out that every 5-AAAA school has a trainer, except Abilene.

The steers will leave the high school parking lot around 5:30 p.m. Friday for the 63 mile trip to Andrews. Sure hope a lot of Big Spring admirers will be on hand there to lead a cheer.

Bob Burris, Steer head coach, told me a new activities bus has been ordered, but as yet, not delivered.

Burris reported that 209 boys turned out for football. The breakdown: freshman, 92; figured 70; junior varsity, 80; figured, 50; and varsity, 37, the number expected.

Ken Taylor, Texas Classic Bowling Association, Dallas, expressed a "feature interest on J. M. Ringenger, Bowl-A-Rama manager.

For what it is worth dept: Sign on the east side of Big Spring High building read Tuesday, "Four more days till we abolish Andrews."

Cards Just (2) Short Of Lead

The Montreal Expos stopped Lou Brock in the opener of their two-night doubleheader Tuesday. Brock was retired in each of his four trips to the plate, although the Cards posted a 5-1 victory.

But the Expos ran out of luck in the second game, won by St. Louis 8-4, and Brock swiped his 99th base of the season. That theft, in his 136th game, left Brock just five short of Maury Wills' record of 104 stolen bases set in 1962.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh beat Philadelphia 8-2, Cincinnati defeated Houston 7-5. San Francisco outscored Los Angeles 9-5. Atlanta topped San Diego 7-2, and New York swept a pair from Chicago 2-0 and 11-4.

The sweep moved the Cards to within two games of the front-running Pirates in the NL East. Reggie Smith slammed two home runs and Joe Torre belted one to power the Cardinals in the opener, while a pair of two-run doubles by Ken Reitz keyed the attack in the second game.

Parates 8, Phils 2
Jim Rooker, 11-10, pitched a six-hitter for the Pirates and also contributed with the bat. His double started Pittsburgh on its way to a seven-run outburst in the fifth inning, and his two-run single capped

Glidden Wants National Win
INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Bob Glidden, who was runner-up in his first pro stock drag race two years ago and has since won two national championships, says he and his crew "just want to win again."

Don "The Snake" Prudhomme, a three-time national champion in top fuel dragsters and twice-winner in funny cars, says "I always want to win."

The two drivers were the only repeat champions Tuesday in the finals of the 20th annual National Hot Rod Association's U.S. Nationals. Prudhomme, 37, won his second consecutive title in the 1000-hp class, beating Donnie Boykins, 10.70 to 10.80 seconds.

STEER DISCUSSION — Rex Scofield, Steer assistant football coach goes over game plans with Ken McMurry, Jerry Marquez, Lawrence Byrd, John Russ, Dennis Fulcher, Danny Ferrell, Doug Robison, Ronnie Mullins, Tommy Churchwell, and Pete Lopez. Mullins received a cracked hand in Sweetwater but is expected to suit up for the Andrew game. Churchwell will be lost the entire season due to a torn knee ligament suffered in Monday's drill. Big Spring opens its 1974 season Friday against Andrews, there, at 8 p.m.

STARTING FULLBACK

Thomas Returns To Fold

By The Associated Press
Duane Thomas, the Washington Redskins' own prodigal son, returned to the fold Tuesday and promised to behave himself.

"He said he was sorry," explained Coach George Allen after reinstating Thomas. "He does not want to play for any other team."

Thomas, a gifted but unpredictable running back, was sent packing a week ago after an altercation with assistant coach Charlie Waller in which he reportedly grabbed Waller by the collar, cursed at him, accused him of racism and threatened to punch him.

Later apologized and asked to rejoin the team.

"It was my toughest decision ever as a coach," said Allen. "It'll be unpopular with a lot of people. My first consideration was for the team. Duane can help us... he has made so much progress I wanted to give him a second chance."

Thomas started his career with Dallas and was instrumental in the Cowboys' victory over Miami in Super Bowl VI. He then was sent to New England, back to Dallas, and on to San Diego, leaving angry, frustrated coaches in his wake.

He came to Washington last year but was used only sparingly, gaining fewer than 100 yards on 32 carries.

With the departure of Charlie Harroway to the World Football League, Thomas had apparently won the starting fullback job in Washington.

Elsewhere in the National Football League, the Los Angeles Rams signed veteran center Bill Curry, president of the NFL Players Association, to a one-year contract. Curry was cut five days ago by the Houston Oilers.

Johnny Bench followed with a sacrifice fly.

Houston's four first-inning runs came on a sacrifice fly by Lee May and singles by Milt May and Doug Rader. Lee May whacked his 22nd season homer for Houston's other run in the fifth inning.

Cincinnati, gearing up for a weekend showdown with the Dodgers, scored two runs in the first on a wild pitch by Houston starter Dave Roberts and Perez' sacrifice fly.

Dave Concepcion's grounder gave the Reds their run in the sixth inning.

Rangers Roll To 6-3 Win

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Steve Foucault hung up one for the side of the oppressed Tuesday when he turned on old nemesis Minnesota.

Foucault, who in his two-year career in the majors has experienced virtually nothing but ill fortunes against the Twins, stopped the American League's top hitting team without a hit over the final four and two-thirds innings as the Texas Rangers rolled to a 6-3 victory.

"This is a completely new experience for me," said the Rangers' pudge righthander. "I've never had any luck against these guys. In the past this has been by far the toughest team in the league for me."

Foucault went against the grain somewhat in finally succeeding against the Twins.

"I more or less went the other way in pitching against them tonight," he said. "I've been throwing a lot of breaking balls lately, but tonight I threw many more fast balls. It was really a matter of mixing them up a little more tonight, than I have been lately."

A breakdown in the Twins' infield defense would have to rate with Foucault's pitching as a key factor. The Twins committed four errors, with two of them coming on the same sixth-inning play which allowed the eventual winning run to score.

With the score tied at 3-3, Texas' Jim Fregosi worked losing pitcher Ray Corbin for a one-out walk. After Lenny Randle struck out, Toby Harrah lashed a grounder to Rod Carew, who booted the ball. It bounced toward shortstop Danny Thompson, who fielded it and threw into the first base dugout in an attempt to throw out Harrah.

A breakdown in the Twins' infield defense would have to rate with Foucault's pitching as a key factor. The Twins committed four errors, with two of them coming on the same sixth-inning play which allowed the eventual winning run to score.

With the score tied at 3-3, Texas' Jim Fregosi worked losing pitcher Ray Corbin for a one-out walk. After Lenny Randle struck out, Toby

Barbecue Set Again

Sixteen years ago the Big Spring Evening Lions Club hit on the idea of a barbecue meal just before the opening home football game.

They've been at it since, and now the first game barbecue has become something of a tradition. Also, the locale is back where it started, the high school cafeteria - only it's a new cafeteria.

Proceeds from the affair Friday, Sept. 13, will go to the club's main projects including furnishing eye glasses to children and others who can't afford them, crippled children, the eye bank, work at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Squeaky Thompson is chairman of this year's barbecue, which will be beef with all the trimmings at $2 a plate. He urged fans to make plans now to take in the feed and not be bothered with the dishes, etc. in a rush to get to the game.

Says Speaker's Race Not Over

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur today placed his hopes on "second thoughts" to unglue the liberal conservative alliance on which Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake bases his claim of victory in the race for speaker of the 1975 Texas House.

Parker held a news conference just minutes after Clayton issued a statement listing 15 more names of House members who he said have promised to vote for him when the House chooses its presiding officer in January.

Clayton's latest list brings his total number of claimed pledges to 98. Seventy-six votes are required for election, assuming all 150 House members are present.

"The speaker's race is not over... I will be a candidate for speaker of the House until January unless a majority of the people who are pledged to me advise me to do otherwise," Parker said.

One who has advised him to stay in the contest, Parker said, is House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., who is not a candidate for re-election to the House.

Clayton, a conservative, has announced pledges from both conservatives and liberals.

Parker's natural constituency is the liberal wing of the House.

Parker indicated his strategy will include an effort to woo away from Clayton members who are publicly committed to him.

He said he would use Clayton's conservative 12-year legislative record against him and would take the campaign to the people in various legislative districts.

Over 80 Sign Up

The Sul Ross University extension program through the Big Spring Education Center is underway, but individuals can still register through next week. Well over 80 have signed so far.

Courses — graduate and undergraduate — carry credit as through on campus.

It appears, said Mrs. Ralph Smith, director, that eight or more classes will be firm, and a three or four others have a good chance of making.

Those in need of just a few more registrants are Ed 5315 (Educational Measurement and Guidance) under Dr. Wayne Bonner, and Ed 6304 (School Administrators Seminar) under Dr. Emmet McKenzie.

Among the course assured are Ed 5307 (Graduate Research) under Helen Thomas; Ed. 5314 Personality Theories) under Gene Adkins; Ed 5320 (Advanced Methodology for Exceptional Children) under Gene Adkins; Ed. 5324 (Educational Psychology) under Eunice Bell; Ed. 6308 (Advanced Studies in Child Growth and Development) under Dollie Wilkins; and PE 4102-03-04 (Physical Education Workshops) under Harold WildeWilder.

Information may be had by calling Mrs. Smith (7-8360).

Fire Ruins Residence

A fire heavily damaged a residence at 507 Donley around 11:18 p.m. Tuesday.

The home, which for years was occupied by the Lee Brownfields, had been vacant for about eight years.

Frank Bownds of Lubbock was in the process of getting the residence ready to rent or sell. Work was under way at the location with paint purchased and at the location ready to apply.

An ice box and stove had been moved in Tuesday morning and the electricity had been turned on at the location for several days.

Neighbors adjacent to the home did not notice the fire until it was already out of control. A passing policeman turned in the alarm.

Firemen at Central Station were first told that the fire was in the 500 block on Douglas and rushed to the wrong side of town before they learned that the blaze was on Donley.

Midway Scene Of Meeting

The Big Spring Baptist Association for the WMU will have its associational meeting Thursday 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. at Midway Baptist Church. There will be conferences and clinics for all departments and age groups, and there will be a covered dish luncheon, said Mrs. R. C. Thomas, president.

Hays Wants To Point With Pride To HC

Dr. Charles Hays, back home now as president of Howard College, wants to earn a change in the community billboards.

Coming to Big Spring four years ago to become an assistant to Dr. W. A. Hunt, then president, he spotted the signs, which said, among other things, "oil, industry, agriculture, jet pilots, etc."

"But nothing about education or Howard College," he said.

One of his ambitions is to change that. "I would like for Howard College to become a kind of nucleus around which the entire county can get together," he said.

To that end, he hopes the college will be right in the middle of things.

He sees a great potential for the college, but Dr. Hays also is convinced that it will take stepped-up recruiting to realize that potential. A good education is still the prime objective, but he also envisions a program of activity that will make young people want to come to Howard College.

When here as vice president before taking the presidency of Panola College two years ago, he launched an ambitious continuing education program. There won't be any let-up on this front, either, for he feels this got only is one of the broad opportunities of the college, but that it also is one of the best tools for good community relations.

At Panola, which is in a hotbed of competition with other junior and senior colleges, he managed to show an enrollment gain both of the years he was there, also fill up the dormitories.

One thing he will be looking for will be ideas. At Panola, his council has a weekly brainstorming session, with no idea too novel to be heard. Anyone with a suggestion had a chance to put it in the hopper. A lot of them got shot down, but not before getting a chance to see if they would fly. Those that did make it turned out to be real stimulants, he said.

Whether that same thing is tried here has not been decided, but one thing is certain, said Dr. Hays, he's anxious to listen to ideas.

"I'm sold on what we can get going here," he said. "I came to stay, and I hope they'll want me around as long as Dr. Hunt." That was 20 years.
