PARDON FOR NIXON TRIGGERS FRESH CRITICISM

Vietnam Amnesty Sidetracked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pardon for former President Richard M. Nixon has brought President Ford mounting criticism and has sidetracked a Vietnam amnesty plan he was to have announced today.

Ford missed his own deadline for announcing terms of conditional amnesty for Vietnam-era deserters and draft evaders because he was focusing attention on Nixon's pardon, aides said. Now, no time is set for Ford's amnesty decision affecting some 50,000 men.

The President wants more time to consider the complex questions, said Deputy Press Secretary John W. Hushen.

Several advocates of amnesty felt Ford's postponing his decision after the Nixon pardon might lead to a broader, less conditional program for the Vietnam group.

But, Hushen emphasized that Ford has not changed his view that, unlike the "full, free and absolute" pardon he gave Nixon, Vietnam offenders must be judged case-by-case, category-by-category.

Public reaction, meanwhile, was mounting in the first 48 hours after Ford's surprise pardon announcement on Sunday.

PARDON ALL
The president got a chorus of boos, amid applause, from a crowd of about 500 outside a Pittsburgh hotel where he made a speech Monday morning. There were chants of "no more cover up," and "prosecute Nixon," and demonstrators protesting the Nixon pardon held signs with such comments as: "The honeymoon is over," "Justice Died," and "Why not pardon all?"

The White House switchboard continued to be jammed with calls throughout Monday. The first 3,000 calls Sunday night ran 2 to 1 against Ford's decision, a White House spokesman reported.

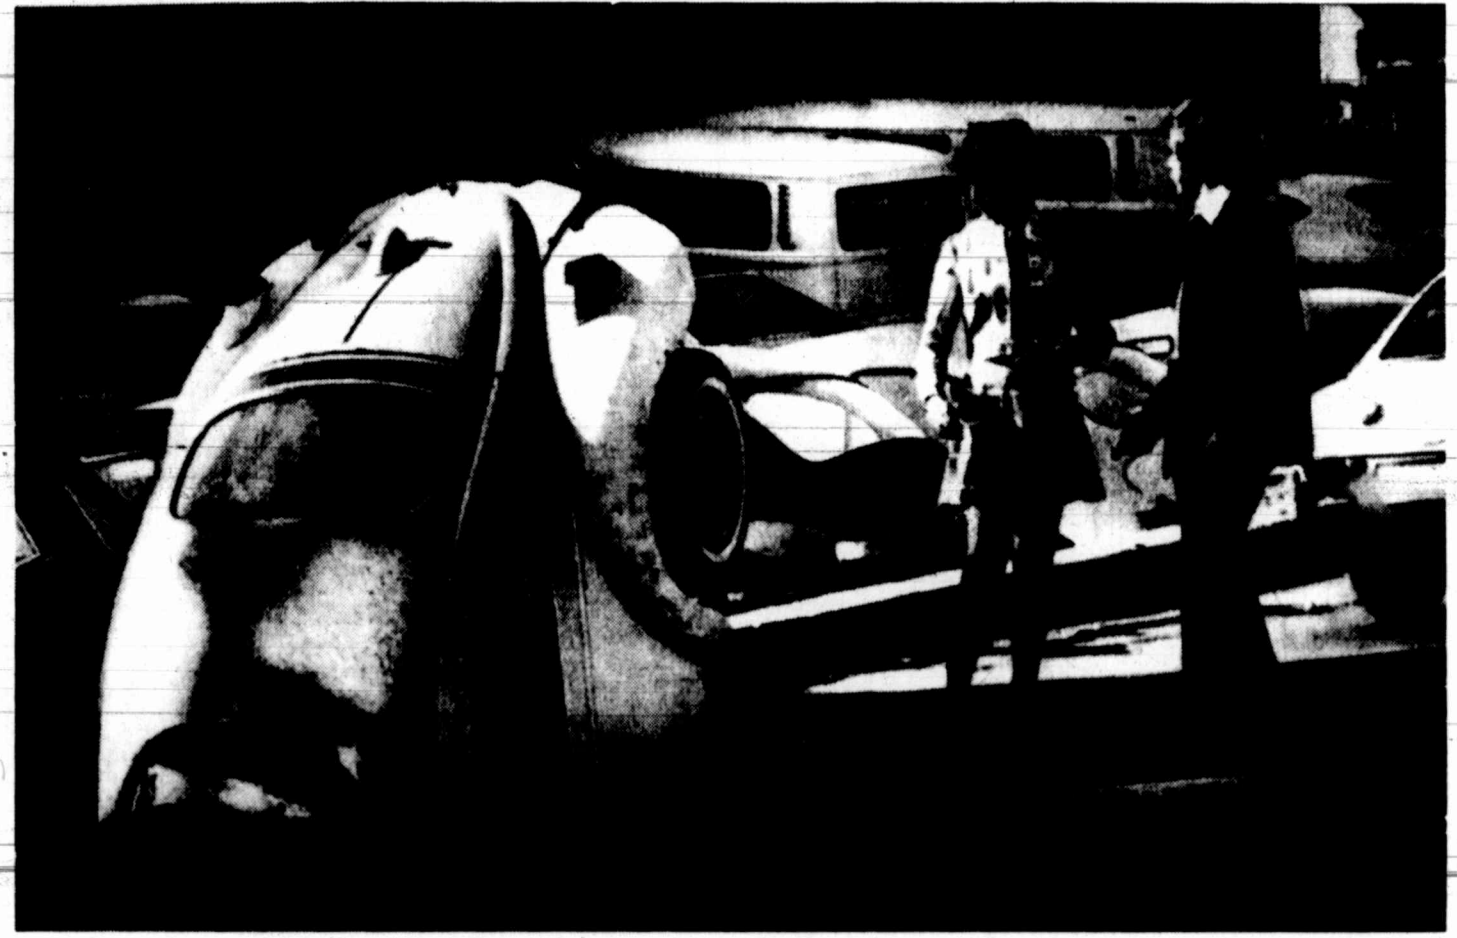

In Nixon's home state, the House of Delegates of the California Bar voted 347 to 169 in favor of a resolution which said Ford's action "violates the principle that all persons stand equal before the law and presents a substantial threat that the confidence of our citizens in the American system of justice will be undermined."

Watergate Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski said of pardon: "This is a matter that was decided upon by the President on his authority under the Constitution. It was something I didn't participate in."

But, one of his chief aides, Philip A. Lacobara, submitted his resignation because he said Ford's pardon of Nixon "disposes of the question" of the former President's legal status. Lacobara's was the second resignation stemming from the pardon.

Ford's press secretary, Jerald F. terHorst, who quit on Sunday as a matter of conscience and credibility, went back to work on Monday for the Detroit News, where he will now be a national columnist.

Howell Urging Early Action On Grievance

By MARJ CARPENTER

"I have talked to a lot of taxpayers and they've told me that if we need to raise city taxes to correct this wrong, then we should do it."

This statement was made by Kenneth Howell, of Union local 826, when speaking to the city council this morning concerning paying the city employees time and a half for overtime rather than paying them on a fluctuating work week, which he admitted was legal.

"Eventually I think the unions will take this fluctuating work week to court. It is morally wrong," Howell added.

Howell spoke for close to an hour to the council, asking first that $96 per year be taken from the pay checks of 62 city employees for union dues and then requesting that something be done about their overtime problems.

PROPOSES MEETING
Mayor Wade Choate requested that the union representative meet with the city manager and two councilmen to further discuss their grievances. He also instructed the city manager and finance director to study the costs of deductions from the payroll.

Howell asked "We would like for something to be done today." At this point, Councilman Eddie Acri, who had also spoke at length favoring the group in their grievance, made a motion that the city revert to time and a half overtime. It died for lack of a second.

Later in the morning, when the council was adopting the budget for the coming year, Howell again requested to speak and asked that more than $60,000 be included in the budget for pay raises next year. He pointed out that the cost of living had risen 13 per cent and that many oil companies were including large adjustments.

City Manager Harry Nagel stated, "But we can't jump our prices up like the oil companies. The city tax rate has been set for the same next year."

The tax rate was again approved at $1.40 per $100 assessed valuation. The budget approved on the first reading is for $5,138,669, up from last year's estimated actual budget of $4,397,590.

The council amended the budget $1800 for funds to be placed back in the county juvenile probation officer's budget and also included $5,000 from revenue sharing for bicentennial expenses. Acri suggested that the juvenile board be requested to help finance the city juvenile department expenses next year.

RIGHT QUESTIONED
Bob Bowman appeared before the council and ask them to look into wrecker service fees in the city. Nagel questioned whether the city has the legal right to set wrecker fees. A study was to be made.

In other action, the city approved the first reading of an ordinance closing a street and alleys as requested by CRWWD.

Discussed alley cleanup with Garland Morrison making a report.

Heard an emergency reading of an ordinance revising the code of ordinances by amending the section concerning paving cut repair costs.

Approved an emergency reading of a resolution authorizing the mayor to deliver and execute a lease agreement with National Little League of Big Spring.

Pardons For All Muled

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today authorized a spokesman to announce that the question of pardons for all those connected with the Watergate scandals "is now under study."

Acting Press Secretary John W. Hushen startled reporters with the unexpected disclosure and said, "I can give you no further guidance."

Hushen made it clear possible pardons were being considered for those already convicted of Watergate-related crimes as well as those who may face trial in the future.

White House Counsel Philip Buchen had told reporters Sunday "no thought had been given to such a question."

Hushen said he did not know whether the study was launched before Ford's Sunday announcement of unconditional pardon for former President Richard M. Nixon.

Hushen was asked by a reporter if he understood the likely consequences of his announcement and its impact on the American people.

"I think those factors have been taken into account," he replied, adding that the initiation of a study did not mean pardons would be granted.

Asked if he felt the scheduled Sept. 30 trial of six key Watergate defendants could go forward in the wake of the White House announcement, Hushen said, "I believe it can."

In first disclosing the study, Hushen gave no indication of who had authorized the statement.

The World At-A-Glance

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-three of the 50 state attorneys general disapprove of President Ford's unconditional pardon of Richard M. Nixon saying it was precipitous and establishes a double standard of justice. Seven attorneys general approve. "This action repudiates the basic American belief that no man is above the law," said Michigan Atty Gen. Frank Kelley, a Democrat, in a statement echoed by many of his colleagues. The Associated Press attempted to contact all 50 chief state legal officers for their views on the pardon Ford issued Sunday and what it means. Seven were unreachable. Of the 43 attorneys general who answered, 18 Democrats and five Republicans said they disapproved; six Republicans and one Democrat approved; five declined comment; and eight said they had mixed feelings.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Julian Bond claims that the Democratic party is in turmoil and says that if he does not win the party's presidential nomination in 1976 he hopes at least to have bargaining power to influence the naming of a standard bearer.

Woman 'Apparent Suicide' Here

Although his ruling was pending today, Peace Justice Walter Grice called the Monday shooting death of Martha Anaya, 23, an "apparent suicide."

The bullet found in her chest is being sent to a lab to determine if it was fired by the .22 pistol found near the woman, Grice said. Grice talked to Dr. R. B. G. Cowper by phone this morning.

Police were notified of the shooting in Ranch Inn apartment 15 about 2 p.m. Monday.

Joe Garcia, who has been living with the deceased woman, told police she had called for him at work, Detective Avery Falkner said. When Garcia received the message, he said he returned home and found her.

Observers said the victim was lying on a telephone book on a bed. The apartment was described as extremely neat although two bullet holes were noticed in the wall.

Police were not sure whether the bullet holes existed before the incident.

Powder burns seemed to indicate the pistol was fired at close range.

Services are pending at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

She was born Aug. 5, 1951. She has been a resident of Big Spring the past year, at which time she moved here from Carlsbad, N.M.

She was a member of the Church of Christ.

Survivors include her father, Bacilio Molina, McKinney; her mother, Maria Rodriguez, Big Spring; two daughters, Barbara Anaya and Estella Anaya, both of Carlsbad.

Chamber Banquet Scheduled Again

A decision to return to an annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet after an absence of two years was made by chamber board members at their monthly luncheon meeting Monday.

The group did not make a decision as to whether to have a speaker or entertainment at the banquet, which will be scheduled sometime early in 1975.

In other action, the board decided to combine with the industrial foundation and sponsor a fair booth and ask Ron Mercer to be in charge of an industrial exhibit.

The board also has final approval to a joint agreement between the city and chamber to sponsor an industrial executive and agreed that his monthly reports could be a summary and not a detailed itinerary.

Reports included one from the Economic Development committee given by Jimmy Taylor. He reminded the board of the Agri-Barbecue slated next Wednesday at the Fair to honor farmers and ranchers.

He told the group that a Camper Rally, sponsored by the tourism committee would also be held during the fair week and brought up a discussion about a fair booth. Johnnie Walker, active on the Fair board, urged the group to sponsor a booth that would tell something about Big Spring.

Carmen Is Dead

Weather service observers formally pronounced Tropical Depression Carmen dead as the once mighty storm brought showers or drizzle in parts of the state for a second straight day.

They said the weather associated with the fading traces of the disturbance consisted of skippy to light moisture from around San Antonio through North Central Texas and on across the Red River, and of a few showers or thunderstorms in the Houston-Lufkin area.

A final advisory from the weather service said Carmen advanced as far as the Waco-Dallas vicinity before becoming indistinguishable. It said, "The threat of heavy widespread rains has definitely been minimized."

Alert Response To Call Criticized

By JOHN EDWARDS

County Judge A. G. Mitchell told County Commissioners Court Monday he had received complaints the government-subsidized Alert Ambulance was slow in responding to a fatal car-pedestrian accident Friday afternoon.

Terry Tyrone Peterson, 4, was dead on arrival at Cowper Hospital at 7 p.m. Friday, police reported. Police showed the ambulance service was contacted at 6:30 p.m. and arrived at the scene in the 700 block of Lamesa Drive at 6:45 p.m.

Monday, Mitchell asked Sheriff A. N. Standard to investigate. Standard returned with a note.

Reading Standard's note, Mitchell said: "Fifteen minutes but I know better than that, because I listened to it (police radio receiver) myself for 30 minutes."

Standard explained that 15 minutes was the time which passed between the time Alert was contacted and arrived at the scene.

L. A. Hillbrunner, manager of Alert, said the

Ford Leading Ted Kennedy

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP) — President Ford easily defeated Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., in the first Gallup Poll trial run between the two men since Ford became President on Aug. 9.

In a survey of 1,590 registered voters conducted between Aug. 16 and 19, 57 per cent chose Ford; 33 per cent selected Kennedy, and 10 per cent were undecided.

In a trial heat held in May between the two men, Kennedy had a 50 to 39 per cent lead, with 11 per cent undecided.

According to Gallup, Kennedy is currently the top choice of Democrats for their party's nomination. The Massachusetts senator has not made known his intentions regarding the 1976 race.

Cops Storm Settlers' Stronghold

By The Associated Press

Police stormed a white settlers' rebel stronghold at the radio station in Lourenco Marques, the capital of Mozambique, today and government spokesmen announced a three-day attempt to seize power in the Portuguese southeast African colony was over.

The whereabouts of the rebel leaders was not immediately known. They had threatened to proclaim a "free Mozambique" in defiance of an agreement between Portugal and the black guerrilla movement, Frelimo, to give Mozambique independence next June. The government spokesman said the radio station was the only "active center of resistance" and once it had been occupied the revolt quickly collapsed.

The radio broadcast appeals to the white crowds in the streets to disperse and return to their homes. Earlier, the government said it had agreed to a 48-hour truce with the white rebels after meetings with two envoys from the Lisbon government. There was no indication how the "truce" was broken but government sources said the rebel movement "disintegrated" without violence.

Hearst Papers Boost Bennack

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank A. Bennack Jr., publisher since 1967 of the Hearst-owned San Antonio Light, was named general manager of newspapers today by the Hearst Corp.

Frank Massi and John R. Miller, president and executive vice president respectively of the corporation, said Bennack, 41, will be liaison between them and the publishers of the eight Hearst newspapers.

Board Is Confronted With Financial Woes

"I haven't had supper yet and I'm already getting indigestion," Roy Watkins, school board president, told the board as Don Crockett, assistant superintendent of business outlined two financial woes which are apparently "waiting in the wings for school officials."

Crockett told the board about difficulties which teachers are experiencing with their hospitalization insurance with premiums taking a large jump. He asked the board to consider possible future participation by the schools if at all possible.

He also told the board that the auditing department's main piece of equipment purchased in 1968 at a price of $34,000 was worn out. No action was taken on either item.

NO COACH

Two board members also brought up a current problem in the athletic department. It had been reported to these two board members that the golf team was reporting for golf the final period of the day without a coach.

The coach assigned to golf this year is also a football coach and cannot work with the team until football season is over.

The board decided to place the item on the next agenda and make some decision in relation to the golf team's plight.

The board also adopted the amended budget for the coming year with total estimated revenue set at $6,624,660 and total estimated expenditures at $6,571,417.

Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent of instruction, outlined the screening process being used locally in the bi-lingual program required by the state for children who do not have a workable knowledge of the English language.

NO MORE HELP

Enrollment problems and heavy class sections at some elementary schools were discussed. Voluntary transfer was deemed as the only possible solution since the load did not merit additional teachers.

Federal programs will be discussed at the second meeting in September and board teacher evaluation requirements will be discussed in October, according to Supt. Emmett McKenzie.

Approved for hiring as new teachers were Donald Hise, Goliad Jr. High; Mrs. Nadara Luenburg, individualized program at the state hospital; Richard Nelson, high school metal trades; Mrs. Becky Scroggins, College Heights sixth grade and Mrs. Marjorie Hutte, high school English and Spanish.

Resignations were accepted from Mrs. Margaret Frost, high school physical science who accepted a job at Howard College; Mrs. Doris Peters, Kentwood Elementary; Mrs. Renee Rizzo, high school English-Spanish and Mrs. Lattie Steinriede, Bauer.

Straw Vote On 'Commuter Tax'

DALLAS (AP) — The officials predicted a large turnout of 38,000 voters today for a straw vote on a controversial "commuter tax" and a binding referendum on collective bargaining rights for Dallas policemen.

City Secretary Harold Shank forecast a strong voter turnout on the basis of 213 absentee votes cast, what he called unusually high.

The commuter tax proposition, proposed and strongly advocated by Mayor Pro Tem George Allen, calls for a levy of a one per cent tax on the salaries on all persons employed in Dallas, with the first $5,000 in income exempted.

Credits would be returned to all Dallas residents on property taxes or rents.

"No resident in Dallas will be taxed," said Allen. "The only reason Dallas residents are included in the assessment formula is to assure the ordinance is constitutional and non-discriminatory."

Allen said he proposed the tax because he feels suburban citizens should pay a fair share for services they use in Dallas.

But there were still tough constitutional questions attached to such a proposal — whether its real intent is discriminatory and whether it constitutes taxation without representation since suburbanites cannot vote in city elections.

A number of suburban mayors have voiced opposition to the proposal since suburbanites would carry the load.

Allen said the tax is levied in about 75 U.S. cities, none of them in the Southwest.

If approved, the collective bargaining proposition would give the Dallas Police Association the right to negotiate for the department. Strikes and lockouts by police would still be prohibited by law.

Opponents of collective bargaining say such bans have not stopped other departments from striking when negotiations broke down.

Sophomores elected Jill Odom, president; Steve Hughes, vice president; Donna Carpenter, secretary, and Donna Sunday, treasurer.

The freshmen named Steve Cannon, president; Donny Knight, vice president; Irene Little, secretary and Debra Hayworth, treasurer.

Conduct was termed excellent by the faculty and administration officials, who commended the local youth for the event.

Governors Discuss Tourist Business

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Southern governors take a look at transportation and tourism possibilities of the South today.

Highlights of the Southern Governors' Conference agenda included a panel discussion on "Travel and Economy of the South," headed by South Carolina Gov. John West, and a session on the American Revolution Bicentennial celebration headed by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

The three-day session of the conference, which consists of 17 Southern states and the Virgin Islands, is being held at Lakeway, a luxury resort on Lake Travis 25 miles northwest of Austin.

The half-day business session today followed one of the conference's social highlights Monday night, a Texas "fiesta" featuring the music, foods and costumes of the six nations that have governed the state. Sunday night there was a ranchstyle barbecue picnic, and Tuesday night the traditional black-tie state dinner is scheduled.

Although not on the original conference program, Southern politics came close to being the subject that has attracted the attention of the 14 governors attending the 40th annual meeting.

First, there was the surprise reaction of Democratic and Republican governors to President Ford's pardon of former President Nixon on Sunday.

Second, there was the unscheduled appearance Monday of National Democratic Chairman Robert Strauss in an attempt to consolidate party feelings among the 12 Democratic governors of the conference.

Strauss' luncheon with the Democratic chief executives followed a speech by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., a Democratic presidential hopeful for 1976.

Enrollment Up By 74 Here

Enrollment in the Big Spring school system showed a net gain of 74 for the week ending Sept. 6.

Of that number, 40 were in the state hospital or homebound category. However, the senior high school revealed a net gain of ten (up to 1,815). Goliad Junior High lost one (with the head count now at 645) while Runnels Junior High picked up three for a total of 534.

In all, the district currently has an enrollment of 6,445, compared to 6,371 for the week ending Aug. 30. The increase was not unexpected, since many students waited until after the Labor Day holiday to start classes.

Biggest gain among the elementary school was at Cedar Crest, where, eight more students were enrolled. Park Hill added six and Marcy four.

The executive officers and the faculty representatives of the local unit of the Texas State Teachers Association met Monday to nominate delegates for the district and state conventions.

The district TSTA will be held in Midland on Nov. 7-8 this year. Executive officers of the local unit will be delegates including Mrs. Ruth Ann Box, Mrs. Janice Rosson, Mrs. Elizabeth Shattel, Mrs. Lynn Calvert and Mrs. Nedline Speegle.

All officers, committee chairmen and representatives were urged to attend the District XVIII workshop in Odessa, Sept. 12.

REKINDLED MEMORIES 'Monkey Law' Held Unconstitutional

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee's 1973 "Genesis Law," which rekindled memories of the John Scopes monkey trial, has been held unconstitutional.

Nashville Chancellor Ben Cantrell ruled Monday that the celebrated law is an act "respecting the establishment of religion" and thus runs counter to the constitutional doctrine of separation of state and church.

"SATANIC"

The law decreed that the Adam and Eve theory of man's origin be spelled out in textbooks alongside the theory of evolution. It also forbade the teaching of "occult" or "satanic" theories and includes a disclaimer saying all the theories—with the exception of the Genesis Adam-Eve account—are not fully founded on scientific fact.

The Tennessee Legislature passed the law in 1973, specifying that all biology textbooks in the state's public schools must give equal consideration to all theories of creation of man.

Cantrell ruled that the legislature attempted to place the Biblical account of man's creation and the world above other theories. By so doing, he said, the law gives a preference to religion and violates the Tennessee Constitution.

NOT KNOWN

Blackburn and Malcolm McCune filed the suit on behalf of Harold Steele, president of a group called Americans United for the Separation of Church and State.

It was not known at once if the state would appeal the ruling.

Scopes, a biology teacher, was convicted in 1925 at Dayton, Tenn., of teaching the theory of evolution of man, which at that time was against the law. The theory holds that man evolved from the ape.

Scopes was fined $100 in what became known as the famous "Monkey Trial" but the state Supreme Court overturned the penalty on a technicality, thus preventing an appeal to federal courts. Scopes never again taught school.

It wasn't until 1967 that the Tennessee Legislature repealed the anti-evolution law.

Houston Firemen 'Sick' Of Low Pay

HOUSTON (AP) — Fire Chief John Little was to meet today with Mayor Fred Hofheinz to decide what to do about a sickout of some 280 firemen.

Little said about 45 to 50 per cent of Houston firemen scheduled to report to work Monday evening called in sick in support of requests for higher pay and shorter working hours.

A spokesman for the absent firemen said the firemen's union was not connected with the action.

backing the sickout, said the action was "in no way" connected with the union and that no union officials were involved with the committee.

The "sick" firemen want a 20 per cent pay increase a minimum four-hour reduction from the current 56-hour work week for fire suppression personnel and for the city to place ambulance service personnel in a section separate from the fire suppression crews.

Minimum pay for firemen at present is about $12,000 a year.

Hofheinz was out of town Monday but Councilman Frank Mancuso called the sickout "irresponsible" and said the city could not meet the 20 per cent pay increase effective Nov. 8, as asked by the group.

Jim Westmoreland, another councilman, said, "this is not the way to bring about a solution in a reasonable manner."

Lester Tyra, president of the firemen's union, said he "sympathizes" with the sickout, but objected to it because the demands "should be channeled through collective bargaining."

STRIKE BAN

The fire department's ambulance service placed in a separate section from the department's fire suppression crew.

The fire chief said about 280 firemen of some 600 personnel in the "A" shift who were to report at 6 p.m. Monday called in sick. The shift is one of three 600-man units.

State law prohibits firefighters and police officers from striking.

Little said he would fill the vacancies with men from the other shifts if necessary.

The sickout occurred after a group known as the Houston Firefighters' Committee of Suppression Personnel took control of a special called meeting of the Houston Professional Fire Fighters Association.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Texas federal judge has been ordered by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to reconsider whether Linda Roberta Pond was discriminated against by Braniff Airways.

The appeals court Monday ordered another hearing for Ms. Pond who accused Braniff of sex discrimination.

The airlines had refused to allow her to become a customer service agent after announcing it was phasing out her previous job as a reservationist.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Halbert O. Woodward of Amarillo had ruled that Braniff could choose a male for the job because he was allegedly more qualified because of his strength and larger size.

"Where the only basis in a record for finding that a male employee-applicant was more qualified than a female are factors directly related to sex—the attributed capacity of a male to lift bigger and better boxes—then we are not at all certain that a fact finding of nondiscrimination can stand where no objective tests were given either applicant to determine their physical abilities," said the appeals court.

"On the one hand, Braniff chose not to rely upon the BFOQ, which if properly proven would permit Braniff to reject a female applicant for a position involving extremely heavy lifting solely on the fact that she was a female," the court said.

Lawyer Discloses Nixon Open Street, Will Quit Practicing Law Sewer Bids

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon's lawyer says the former president is ready to write an end to 35 years as an attorney.

Nixon's lawyer, Dean Butler of Los Angeles, told newsmen on Monday that Nixon would resign soon from the California bar, which is gathering evidence on Nixon's role in Watergate for possible disciplinary action.

DISBARMENT
Nixon is also a member of the New York bar, and Butler said Nixon also plans to resign from that organization.

Nixon's decision probably means the California bar will not pursue its investigation of the former president. Bar President Seth Hufstetler said the bar seldom recommends that the state Supreme Court reject a resignation.

Butler's announcement came two hours before the California bar's House of Delegates over-whelmingly condemned President Ford's pardon of Nixon for crimes he may have committed in the White House.

Butler denied that Nixon's pending action is designed to avoid disbarment or suspension from the practice of law in California.

"It is a decision he made some time ago — that he would not engage in the practice of law," Butler told newsmen.

Butler did not say when the resignations would be submitted, but Hufstetler said Nixon was preparing a resignation from the California bar and "it would be submitted promptly."

RESOLUTION
Delegates to the California bar's annual convention approved, 347 to 169, a resolution condemning the pardon announced by Ford on Sunday.

It said in part, "This action violates the principle that all persons stand equal before the law and presents a substantial threat that the confidence of our citizens in the American system of justice will be undermined."

This was referred to a sub-committee on which Acri will serve.

Other action referred to committees was on property tax reform, and state local expenditures for state highways through cities.

Backing of a proposed amendment for financing public transportation carried in a controversial vote 26-15. The cities were favoring state support of this action.

The committee recommended allowing all governmental bodies to be exempt from the motor fuel tax. They also made a request that the state make up the difference for city exemptions on the property tax.

NIXON'S VALET GOES SHOPPING — Manolo Sanchez, who is former President Nixon's valet, described his boss as being in good spirits and working on personal papers during his stay at the sprawling desert estate of Walter H. Annenberg, ambassador to Great Britain. Sanchez was interviewed as he bought pipe tobacco for Nixon at a nearby shopping center.

The bar's board of governors refused to allow delegates to vote on a portion of the resolution which urged that the investigation of Nixon continue.

Nixon spent Monday at the Palm Springs estate of Walter H. Annenberg, U.S. ambassador to Britain. The former president's valet said Nixon was in good spirits and was working on his papers.

City Officials Are In Austin
City Attorney Jim Gregg and Bob Butler, personnel director, are in Austin this week attending a labor relations seminar.

Gregg also plans to check on the status of the Roy Anderson Park grant while he is in Austin this week. Butler will remain to attend a personnel committee meeting of the Texas Municipal League.

Bids were opened at City Hall Monday on the Phase II street improvement project and the sanitary sewer on the Eleventh Place extension.

These were to be presented to the city council today at their regular session.

Two bids on the street improvements were both above the budget and included Price Construction of Big Spring with $636,337.70 and South Texas Construction of Midland with $698,156.50.

The sewer bids were close to the budget and included Bettie-Womack of Big Spring, $93,894.25; Key Enterprise, Odessa, $98,863.75; and R. B. Hodgson and Co., Midland, $107,761.70.

Confer Awards At Den Meet

Awards were conferred at the meeting of Pack 63 (Den 1) Sunday at the home of Mrs. Bob Oliver, den mother.

Justin Buchanan, Robert Oliver, Raymond Delatour received attendance pins, arrow points and service stars; Raymond Delatour received his Bear patch and a neckerchief slide for recruiting the first member, David Shockley; Raymond Delatour, and David Shockley received their Webelos neckerchiefs and color bars.

Service awards went to Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Buck Buchanan, pack chairman, and Mrs. Evelyn Delatour, treasurer. Refreshments were served.

Man Is Held

Tony Lopez was arrested here Sunday on a fugitive warrant from Denver. Lopez was wanted in Denver for the alleged sale of two grams of heroin for $65 to a Task Force agent.

The heroin was analyzed in Dallas prior to putting out a warrant for his arrest. Denver officers were in contact with city police detectives here this morning and will come for Lopez.

Wounds Shatter Dreams Death At Own Hands Ends Travail Of Vietnam Vet

DALLAS (AP) — The Vietnam War killed a lot of men. Some died instantly; others hung on for a few days or weeks.

And for some, like Harris Haynie Jr., it took years to die.

"Butch" Haynie grew up like a lot of All American boys—big, blond hair, sleepy-looking with a slow grin that made him a favorite in high school.

He was smart—a National Merit Scholarship finalist who dreamed of becoming a surgeon. He joined the Emergency Corps here to get advanced first aid training.

Haynie put two years of premed training behind him before Vietnam beckoned in 1965. His mother had been ill, and he had to juggle his college hours—missing just enough to make the draft.

He went without quibbling. First he was assigned to armor, then trained for a scouting outfit. But he wanted to be a medic, and finally he got his chance.

PATCHED UP
The first day out he patched up a soldier under fire. That quickly qualified him as a combat medic. He dived in head first, his blond hair and tall stature sticking out among the Vietnamese civilians he treated.

In one fight, Haynie rescued and treated at least half a dozen soldiers. He took shrapnel hits in the head and elbow. Another bit of shrapnel smashed his glasses, but he returned to action the next day.

One September day in 1967 Haynie was aboard a helicopter when its sister ship was shot down. The young soldier and five others dropped 30 feet to the ground and ran to help.

It was there that Haynie's world exploded around him as he pulled the pilot from the cockpit of the burning gunship.

EARDRUM SHATTERED
His left arm was in a rag. An eardrum was shattered. There was steel in his stomach. They patched him up and sent him home.

There was hope. Doctors thought they could repair the arm and Haynie could become that surgeon.

But the left arm wouldn't work. There were those years of frustration.

For seven years, Haynie was in and out of hospitals, always in pain.

Monday the pain ended for Harris Haynie Jr. He shot and killed himself in his apartment.

Besides his dreams of becoming a doctor, Haynie left behind three Purple Hearts for wounds in action, a Silver Star for gallantry and the Distinguished Service Cross.

When doctors telephoned his mother to ask if they might use part of his skin for a transplant on a critically burned patient, she replied, "Certainly."

It was what Butch would have wanted.

Governors Wager On Great Gobbler Gallop

CUERO, Tex. (AP) — If Jimmy the Greek were setting odds on this Saturday's first leg of the Second Annual Great Gobbler Gallop, he would have to go with Ruby Begonia II on breeding alone.

You see, Ruby's mother won the Traveling Turkey Trophy of Tumultuous Triumph last year.

Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe Monday bet Minnesota Gov. Wendell R. Anderson a smoked turkey that Ruby II could defeat Minnesota's fleet-footed fowl, Paycheck.

Ruby II and Paycheck will enter the starting gates this Saturday in Worthington, Minn. The Thanksgiving specials will square off for a second heat Sept. 29 in Cuero, the alleged turkey capital of Texas.

The winner of the turkey trophy will be the bird with fastest overall time for the two races.

"I followed the turkey race last year when Ruby Begonia won the trophy for Cuero and I'm certain Ruby Begonia II will keep the trophy in Texas for another year," Briscoe said.

"Knowing Texas gobblers are far superior to Minnesota turkeys, I don't see how Ruby Begonia II can lose," the Texas governor added.

Since neither governor has identified the future smoked turkey, Paycheck and Ruby II may be running as if their lives depended on it.

The event is sponsored by the Cuero Daily Record and the Worthington Daily Globe.

Eddie Acri Returns From Austin Meeting

Eddie Acri, mayor pro-tem, returned from a meeting in Austin of the Texas Municipal League legislative committee on finance, of which he is a member. Fred Hofheinz, Houston mayor, presided.

The committee failed to take any action on state and local cooperative purchasing at this time, and then agreed to support House Bill 1499. This bill would require all cities, both general law and home rule, to provide for an annual audit of municipal records and accounts.

The committee took no action on a municipal bond depository, and discussed a state sale of city property which will be offered first to governmental bodies.

Cities impacted by state institutions, such as Big Spring with its state hospitals were discussed. Galveston has suggested that the TML support legislation which shall provide funds of the state to be used to pay for the construction and expansion of municipal utility services where such services are primarily for the use and benefit of a facility of an agency of the state.

Other action referred to committees was on property tax reform, and state local expenditures for state highways through cities.

Backing of a proposed amendment for financing public transportation carried in a controversial vote 26-15. The cities were favoring state support of this action.

The committee recommended allowing all governmental bodies to be exempt from the motor fuel tax. They also made a request that the state make up the difference for city exemptions on the property tax.

The bidding: South West North East 1NT Pass 3NT Pass Pass Pass Opening lead: Queen of ♥.

Perhaps the single most difficult play in bridge is selecting the winning opening lead. In fact, a whole book has been devoted to this one topic—and with good reason. To a certain extent it is a shot in the dark. Yet, there are inferences—both negative and positive—to be drawn from the auction. It is vital to act on these, for often you are given no second chance to defeat the contract.

This hand was dealt in a match of the Spingold Knockout Team Cham- pionship at the American Contract Bridge League's Summer Nationals held in New York this past July. The auction was simple enough, and at first glance, appeared to offer little clue to the opening lead. South opened the bidding with one no trump and North raised to game.

Sitting West was William Passell, a bridge teacher living in Yonkers and one of the best players on the East coast. Obviously, he held most of his side's strength, but equally obvious was the fact that none of his suits appeared to be a likely source of tricks. He decided from the auction that he wanted to attack a major suit. The clue was slender—if North had a four-card major suit, he would, on most hands, have checked on a possible major-suit contract by employing The Stayman convention. Thus, it seemed probable that East West had at least seven cards in one of the majors.

After reaching this conclusion, it would seem that West had a natural spade lead. However, jack ten fourth is not the most appetizing holding to lead from, for unless partner held two honors in the suit, it would take a while to establish the spade tricks.

Therefore, Passell decided to lead a heart—if partner held four hearts headed by either the king or the jack, the suit could be set up quickly. In order to give his side the best chance of recovery in the event that cards were not distributed as in the diagram, Passell hit upon the killing lead of the queen of hearts.

There was nothing declarer could do. He could not come to nine tricks without some tricks in diamonds, and when East won the ace of diamonds, he reverted to hearts and the defenders took four heart tricks for a one-trick set.

Note that with any other suit lead, declarer has time to take the diamond finesse and come to at least ten tricks.

We're building power plants that use different fuels so you'll continue having the electricity you need.

Natural gas is the major fuel we use in our generating plants, and will be for several years. Oil is used on a standby basis.

But new supplies of these fuels are extremely difficult to obtain and increasingly expensive. To reduce our dependence on them, we've begun using lignite coal. We now have one lignite plant in operation, and two others under construction.

We have adequate supplies of lignite for the operating life of these plants and for some additional planned units. Even so, we will need another dependable fuel source for the future. That's why we're planning to have a nuclear-fueled plant in operation by 1980.

The use of lignite and nuclear fuels is necessary to provide enough electricity in the years ahead. Supplies of these fuels are more abundant and neither is being used extensively for any purpose other than the generation of electricity.

But building plants that use these fuels is a difficult and expensive job. Lignite and nuclear plants cost much more to build than gas/oil plants. While this means electricity will have to cost more in the future, the cost won't be as much with lignite and nuclear fuels as it would be with natural gas and oil, even if adequate new supplies were available.

We're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

Surprising Twist

President Ford's pardon of former President Nixon for offenses committed or which might have been committed during the Watergate era is surprising for its timing, if not its sweeping scope.

The President undoubtedly felt that this precipitous action, while stirring considerable furor, would head off a prolongation of the Watergate episode were the former president brought to the dock. Based on his own words on a tape released almost on the eve of his resignation, a fair case can be made for indictment for conspiring to obstruct justice. There may be others that Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski would come up with. On that score, none will ever know for certain.

From the point of eliminating a bridge before it is crossed, the president may have solved one problem by saying "don't pursue the matter; it won't do any good."

By this demurrer, President Ford has left unanswered by a court of law whether any individual is above the law. To be sure others involved in the same episodes for the same offenses have been convicted or face indictment or possible indictment. Some are serving prison terms. Would they logically be pardonable after the fact?

The President has power to pardon, but this may set something of a precedent in exercising the right before there has been a conviction of wrong doing. It is a sweeping and potentially dangerous conference of immunity.

While the action may be applauded in some quarters, or it may bring a sigh of relief from those caught on the horns of a dilemma, it adds another straw in the wind that Mr. Ford's honeymoon period may be running into rough waters, coming as it does on the heels of his amnesty proposals. Perhaps, like a player stuck in an uncertain no-trump bid, Mr. Ford is absorbing his losers first.

Left Imprint

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

Some people said the Turks arrived in town carrying two suitcases full of $100 bills. That's not exactly traveling light.

But by the time the 11 men and one woman boarded a plane Friday to head for home, their burden had been considerably lightened by the money they left in Big Spring.

AND THE LOCAL people who waved goodbye had been left with some pleasant memories of their guests.

The group, ranging in age from 26 to 41, was composed of technicians and chemists, all representatives of Petkim, a petro-chemical complex under construction at Izmit, Turkey, about 50 miles from Istanbul. The construction of the Petkim complex was begun in 1967, and part of the facilities will be completed and in operation by early 1975. The plant will employ approximately 2,600 people.

Of the 11 men who were in the learning program here, 10 were married and the father of children. When asked what "souvenirs" their families wanted, the men grinned and replied, "Boots, cowboy hats and blue jeans." Like husbands everywhere, they did their best to fill that order, as well as taking home some extras such as denim fabric, coats, pantsuits and accessories.

THE ONLY WOMAN in the group was Seval Tekin, a chemist and wife of the area manager, Atilla Tekin. A friendly, gracious woman, she left most of the talking to her husband, but only because he spoke fluent English.

"Turkish women are more liberated than those in the United States," said Tekin, adding that there are 23 other women engineers with Petkim, as well as many female technicians and office workers. Education is free in Turkey — as is medical care — but it is paid for by an income tax that is approximately 48 per cent of the worker's earnings.

TURKEY IS still basically an agricultural nation, and because of the high unemployment rate, many men have temporarily left the country to become "guest workers" in Belgium, Germany, Holland and Australia.

Although the visitors were from a city of approximately 120,000 population, they adjusted readily to smaller town living. Prudently, they came supplied with plenty of Turkish cigarettes and a few bottles of the national drink, raki, which can only be described as an eastern version of "white lightning."

ON WEEKENDS, they covered an amazing amount of ground as tourists, renting cars and driving to Lubbock, Dallas, San Angelo, Carlsbad, Clouderoft, Midland, Odessa and El Paso. Missing the rodeo season, they did the next best thing — spent an afternoon at the auction barn looking over the cattle.

Riding herd on the visitors during working hours at Cosden were Wobler Willbanks and Ray White who found the Turks to be as easy-going and fun-loving as any Texan.

Included in the group with the Tekins were Sener Keskim, Tuncer Sahim, Erdal Sukan, Mehmet Ozdemir, Tefik Olcay, Hayrettin Abukam, Aydogan Sanal, Yuksel Piyade, Rafik Sengelen and Sevket Altunbulakli.

"We have really enjoyed our stay," said Tekin. "Please thank everyone for all they have done for us, and ask them to please continue to support us in the Cyprus situation. We only want to see our people protected."

My Answer

recently, you and other Christian leaders have been saying that persecution and rough days could well be ahead. I know the Bible calls it "perilous times." But Mr. Graham, I'm afraid — for myself and my children. How will we live through these things? N.B.

If by perilous times, you refer to the Tribulation period, some Bible scholars see the Christians as going through it, while others say the church will escape it. Right now, of course, in some parts of the world, Christians are suffering for their faith. Even in America, there's evidence of this. Whatever view the Christian holds, he should always be ready for adversity. The Bible promises no immunity from trouble.

On the inside, however, in the well-spring of the soul, there can be peace and assurance. Again and again the Lord kept saying to His disciples "Fear not," and this was in the face of severe threats and abusive tactics.

Fear, of course, is a natural feeling, arising in the anticipation of danger. But did you know that the fear of God, which means reverence and awe, can deliver you from the fear of man and evil? See Numbers 14:9 and Psalms 23:4.

Just take heart that 1. Christ is the ultimate victor and soon-coming King of Kings; 2. that nothing will try you beyond what you can stand (1 Corinthians 10:13); 3. that your suffering only parallels Christ's (Matthew 10:24); and 4. that anything suffered here means all the more glory over there (2 Corinthians 4:17).

Haig Hangs

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — An urgent feeling by President Ford's closest aides that Gen. Alexander Haig must be removed as his chief of staff soon — hit fever pitch in two backstage developments last week.

DEVELOPMENT NO. 1: Haig entered the Oval Office with a commission (from Mr. Ford to sign) nominating Pat Buchanan, Richard M. Nixon's longtime political adviser and speechwriter, as ambassador to South Africa. Despite Haig's fervent arguments, the President delayed his decision.

DEVELOPMENT NO. 2: The General Services Administration was instructed by Haig deputy Jerry Jones to move furniture into two executive office building suites next door to the White House for two ex-Nixon aides now in San Clemente: Room 352 for ex-press secretary Ron Ziegler, Room 348 for ex-appointments secretary Steve Bull.

Mr. Ford's own aides — were thunderstruck. They view Buchanan as the symbol of bloody-nose Nixon politics who undercut Mr. Ford as vice president, and who now should be removed from government, not promoted to an embassy. As for Ziegler, he is the bad old days incarnate who, they vow, will never be permitted to return to White House premises even to clean up files.

HAIG'S SUCCESSES in the vicious rivalry now swirling around the Oval Office have led the thin line of totally loyal Ford aides to a grim conclusion. "The White House staff run by Haig is still functioning in the interests of Richard Nixon and the walking wounded of a lost war," one Ford man told us. Unless Haig goes, they think Ford will be the "prisoner of Zenda" in his own house.

That interpretation makes suspect Haig's private recommendation to the new President for leniency to the old. Though their concern for Mr. Ford may distort their view, these aides believe Haig must share responsibility for inaccurate information given Mr. Ford a month ago that special prosecutor Leon Jaworski had agreed the White House tapes were Nixon's legal property.

BEYOND RESIDUAL loyalties, Haig also playing the politicized general — warning of right-wing

Republican discontent, fighting the President's position on Vietnam amnesty, undercutting Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger.

Even Haig's roughest critics concede his uniquely indispensable service to the nation in facilitating Nixon's resignation, thanking heaven it was Al Haig rather than Ron Ziegler to whom Nixon gave unprecedented power.

HAVING SERVED as de facto President in the final months of Nixon's agony, Haig continued to wield awesome power — greater than many past presidents — after the Ford succession. In his early days as President, Mr. Ford signed the commission for one presidential appointment given him — Nixon style — by Haig with no Ford man even knowing it. That Haig was fulfilling a commitment to his old boss is no excuse.

ONE INCIDENT a month ago convinced some Ford aides that Haig was not in tune with the new President's own interests. He failed to warn Mr. Ford that six hidden microphones, though disconnected, remained in the Oval Office, theoretically a potential for bugging the President. They were not removed until a week after Mr. Ford's Aug. 12 pledge there would be no more electronic eavesdropping in the White House.

On a more trivial level, Haig ignored Mr. Ford's desire to replace portraits in the cabinet room of Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson (Nixon favorites) with Abraham Lincoln and Harry Truman (Ford favorites) until brought to his attention a third time. Coincidentally, Lincoln and Truman were Mr. Ford's models in post-war amnesty grants.

Not On Porpoise

WASHINGTON (AP) — You should know that it's illegal now to place radio transmitters on the backs of porpoises.

Who would want to do a thing like that? Tuna fishermen, that's who. They do it because porpoises chase tuna and if you can locate the porpoises easily, you can zero in easily on the tuna.

Not Saving Enough

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans aren't saving enough to finance the nation's future and the consequences could be absolutely appalling, "literally incalculable," according to the findings of a study just released.

It could lead to further urban congestion and decay, say the researchers who put the study together. It could mean failures of small- and medium-size businesses, the encouragement of industrial oligarchy, and more power shortages.

The dismal tale gets grimmer. It could very well mean that ecological and environmental programs will be aborted for lack of funds. It could mean high unemployment. It might mean chronically depressed stock prices.

Millions of Americans dependent upon private pension plans might find their resources drained away. Health and educational services might have to be curtailed. Living standards might fall.

These, says the New York Stock Exchange, are some of the implications of a developing capital shortage, a shortage that already is forcing business to curtail expansion.

In fact, all these consequences are to some extent already with us. "A capital shortage is no longer merely a threat for the future but a fact of the present," said James J. Needham, chairman of the Big Board, where prices of stocks are at their lowest in four years.

This is how the situation stacks up between now and 1985, say the economists and researchers at the exchange:

Sources of funds: business savings, $2.923 trillion; personal savings, $1.109 trillion, for a total capital resource of $4.032 trillion.

Uses of funds: gross private domestic investment, consisting mainly of spending for industrial plant and equipment, and residential construction, $4.503 trillion; federal deficit financing, $4.2 billion; state and local government financing, $30.3 billion; federal credit agency borrowing, $103 billion.

A quick calculation shows a need for $4.678 trillion of capital and a likely availability, under present attitudes and laws, of only $4.032 trillion, or a shortage of $646 billion. And that's conservative, the exchange maintains.

The detailed report, which was the basis of a speech by Needham prepared Monday for the Economic Club of Detroit, is the big gun in an exchange offensive to defeat the capital shortage problem.

As Needham said in his prepared remarks, "We have become literally obsessed by the need for identifying the scope and implications of this problem before it becomes too late to do anything about it."

Lot Of Apples A Day

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is fruit fattening? My daughter eats a lot of fresh fruit, mostly apples and oranges. She has been putting on a lot of weight. Where she works she has a lot of bending down to do on her job. She says it is hard for her to bend. She has most of the fat on her stomach.

The boss lady told her to not eat apples or oranges because they are fattening. She said her doctor told her about it. My daughter is 26. — Mrs. J.J.

I'll accept your implication that your daughter is fat — and getting fatter. But when you say she eats "a lot" of apples and oranges, I'd like to know what you mean by "a lot."

If she's a "muncher" who has to be eating whenever the chance occurs, she could get enough extra calories from apples and oranges to add to her weight — assuming that she is getting just enough to supply her daily needs at her regular meals.

But I would rather doubt that to be the case. My guess is that she's a fairly hearty eater at her regular meals, and her apples and oranges merely add to her problem. They don't cause it.

To call fruit "fattening" is not a fair statement. (Although canned fruit, if it is sweetened, can represent a lot of calories because of the added sugar.)

Specifically, a medium or somewhat larger apple or orange will range from 75 to 100 calories. A hamburger patty not that large would be 300. A malted milk can run 400 to 500 calories, a medium, lean pork chop 200. A tablespoon of butter or jelly contains as many calories as a pretty large apple. A three-inch cut of apple pie can go 200 or more calories, and some other kinds of pie much more than that.

So unless she's eating an awful lot of apples a day, she'd better take the pains to find out which are the really "fattening" foods and which ones aren't.

When she's so fat that it's hard to bend, one thing is certain: she's eating more food than she needs, and the excess is being stored in her body as fat.

There are three things most fat people have in common. They don't realize how much they eat; they have never learned that they don't need that much; and quite often they have never bothered to find out which edibles contain 100 calories or more per ounce and which ones don't. So they end up blaming apples or something, and just keep on getting fatter.

I'd suggest that you send me, in care of the Big Spring Herald, a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents and I'll send a copy of my booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing." If your daughter will really read it and understand it, she can get rid of that big bothersome stomach.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I understand that normal vision is 20-20. I am 76 and have cataracts and dystrophy of the cornea. My vision is 20-70 in one eye and 20-60 in the other. Would you explain what these figures mean? — Mrs. A.P.

The figures mean that you can only see at 20 feet what you should be able to see at 60 or 70 feet.

For a better understanding of colitis and other intestinal ailments, their causes and treatment, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "Colitis and Kindred Complaints." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Quasi-Religious

William F. Buckley, Jr.

President Ford has proposed an amendment to the Constitution to return to the individual states the right to prescribe abortion laws. In other words, to undo the decision of the Supreme Court a year and a half ago pre-empting authority over abortion.

I HOPE MR. Ford's amendment is adopted, but I do so for more reasons merely than because, along with so many others, I thought the decision usurpatory.

The underappreciated point about the Supreme Court is that it has become kind of moral-secular authority. Adult men and women, staring hard at a clause in the Constitution of the United States that forbids, say, an establishment of religion — and recognizing no reasonable nexus between that prohibition and the recital, at their local public school, of a public prayer jointly formulated by rabbis, ministers, and priests — receive on Monday what might be called a juridical bull from the Supreme Court, and on Tuesday there is compliance.

THEIR DOCILITY is, in the religious sense, exemplary. If that is want the Supreme Court says, the most urbane American lawyers, governors, ministers, and journalists will say — why that is how it shall be. It is my point that it is something more than compliance that results. It is something more akin to what, in religion, they call "internal assent." If that is what the Supreme Court says that is the way it ought to be. The docility becomes religious in character.

The objection that, after all, we have had a number of constitutional amendments in recent years does not affect the insight. Because the amendments, with an insignificant but nonetheless interesting exception, have merely codified popular passions, some of them consolidated (no poll tax), others impulsive and manipulated (no booze). But (save for one largely irrelevant exception — the income tax amendment) there has been no Constitutional amendment the purpose of which was to revise the interpretations of a Supreme Court, notwithstanding egregious provocations by the Court.

Sagging Economy

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The people who cried "Let's forget about Watergate so we can get on with the business of running the country" are now singing another tune. Roger Petulant, a neighbor, who is furious with the way the press played up Watergate, walked over to my driveway the other day and said: "All you guys ever write about now is the sagging economy. Why don't you put the economy behind you so we get on with the business of running the country?"

I EXPLAINED TO Roger that it wasn't my decision to make the economy the major issue of the month. I was on vacation and some subordinate chose it as the big news story to replace Watergate. "If I had been there," I said, "I would have gone with how much money Nelson Rockefeller has."

"Well," said Petulant, "people are getting sick and tired of you guys picking on government spending and two-digit inflation all the time. Good grief, we've always had government spending and inflation. What's the big deal about a sagging economy?"

"IT ISN'T JUST government spending, Roger," I said. "It's also the stock market which has gone to hell, the bank loan rates that have soared to the skies and the price of food and oil. We can't just close our eyes to these things."

"Why not? If you ask me," Petulant said, "I think you guys just cooked up the sagging economy to sell newspapers."

"NOW, WAIT A minute, Roger," I said angrily. "I warned you that the day we stopped printing stories about Watergate we'd all be in trouble. Watergate kept this country going for two years. We had inflation, high grocery prices and automobile cost raises before, but no one cared."

"The truth is, Roger, we needed Richard Nixon and his merry crew to make us forget what was really going on. Once he resigned, we had no choice but to write about the sagging economy."

WHY DON'T YOU write about President Ford? Petulant asked. "We have, Roger, we have. But he's on a honeymoon and how much can you write about a guy on a honeymoon? But when it comes to hard news he's never going to replace a sagging economy."

"I still think you could find something good to write about inflation."

"We're trying, Roger. Do you know what it's like to be a news editor?"

"The other day an editor called me up and said, 'I've got the choice of leading with a series titled "The Troubled Strip Miner" or "Swinging Scranton, Pa." So don't complain to me, Roger. Without Nixon to kick around anymore, we're all stuck with a sagging economy.'"

A Devotion For Today . .

"(Jesus) said to her, 'For saying this, you may go home happy.'"

Mark 7:20

PRAYER: Lord Christ, if it seems that You do not respond when I pray, perhaps it is because I am lacking in faith, humor and humility. Help me to grow in faith. In Your Name, Amen.

Golden Agers Hear Political Candidates

WESTBROOK (SC) — Three political candidates spoke at last week's meeting of the Golden Age Club. Running on the Republican ticket are two of the speakers, Gaylord Marshall, candidate for the office of Texas' lieutenant governor, and Mrs. Mary Kirchhoff, seeking the post of senator from the 30th district which includes Mitchell County. Caddo Matthews, a write-in candidate for county school superintendent, was the third speaker.

Mrs. A. K. Anderson, club president, and Mrs. Lillie Ward, program chairman, welcomed the guests and introduced the speakers. Refreshments were served, and music was provided by a string band. Mrs. Royce Moore was elected president of Ruth Sunday school class, First Baptist Church, at a Thursday meeting in the home of Mrs. H. R. Parsons who will be vice president. Other officers are Mrs. Maxey Ware, secretary; Mrs. Johnny Shackelford, treasurer; Mrs. T. A. Whitesides, reporter; Mrs. L. M. Dawson, class secretary; Mrs. Dale Byrd, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Wayne Pierce, song leader. Mrs. Charley Buchanan, Odessa, was a guest. The October meeting will be in the Ware home. Among this year's college students are Tim Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Parsons, who is attending Texas Western in Snyder, and Steve Hines, son of Mrs. Pete Hines and the late Mr. Hines, who is attending Tarleton State in Stephenville.

Silver Tea Hosted By ABWA Group

Twenty-five candles set the theme for the Silver Anniversary Tea held Sunday by Spring City Chapter, American Business Women's Association, in the Texas Electric Reddy Room. Mrs. James Cox was tea chairman, and guests were Mrs. Mary Owens, Mrs. Terry Wegman and Ms. Peggy McDonald. Refreshments were served from a table covered with a white cloth and appointed with crystal and silver. The centerpiece was a floral arrangement centered with a white and silver candle. Mrs. Nancy West and Mrs. Bill English narrated a program about the history of ABWA, and members participated by lighting the 25 candles.

Past Matrons At Breakfast

Mrs. Jo Callihan, a guest, brought the devotional when the Past Matrons Club, Coahoma Chapter 499, Order of Eastern Star, met for breakfast Saturday at First United Methodist Church, Coahoma.

Hostesses were Mrs. Doris Hale, Mrs. Elizabeth Martin and Mrs. Peggy Davis, and the presiding officer was Mrs. Margie Engle, president. During the business session, $10 was donated to the Bible fund at Big Spring High School. The breakfast was served at round tables covered with pink floral cloths and centered with arrangements of flowers and birds.

Federation Urged By TFWC Exec

Mrs. Beth Kensworthy, second vice president of Western District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, was guest speaker at a breakfast held Saturday morning by the 1941 Study Club. Mrs. Kensworthy discussed the federation structure and stressed the importance of benefits to member clubs. The breakfast, which was held at Big Spring Country Club, honored Mrs. Rod Tiller, 1974-75 president of the study club. A patriotic theme was used in table decorations, including red, white and blue flowers in provincial print fabric. Each guest received a miniature bottle holding straw flowers. The first regular meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 7 with Mrs. Vivian Wilson and Mrs. Jackie Zitterkopf as hostesses.

Medical Unit Sets Meeting

The first fall meeting of the year for the Permian Basin Medical Society Auxiliary will be held at 10 a.m., Thursday in the staff development center at Big Spring State Hospital. Mrs. Floyd Mays will be the program leader, showing a film about the Texas Constitution, and hostesses will be Mrs. Preston Harrison, Mrs. Robert Tinley and Mrs. Chapman Isham. Mrs. Robert Griffin is auxiliary president.

Single Parents Slate Speaker

"The Single Parent and Society" will be the topic discussed by Jake Glickman, social counselor at Big Spring State Hospital, when he speaks Wednesday to members of Parents Without Partners. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in the Texas Electric Reddy Room with Mrs. Ruby Bruns serving as hostess. Interested persons are invited to attend.

Course Offered In Self-Defense

A women's course in self-defense begins this evening at the YMCA and will continue through Oct. 10, with classes being held from 6 to 7 p.m. each Tuesday and Thursday. The 10-lesson course will be taught by Tom Wall. Charge for the course is $10 for members and $15 for non-members. Women may register by calling the YMCA, 267-8234, or attending the first class. There will be physical activity, so those participating are advised to wear suitable clothing.

Prominent Noses Show Character?

DEAR ABBY: I have been saddened and amused by the number of letters in your column from people who were upset by the size of their noses. The mother who couldn't love her baby because of its big schnozz hit me hard. To me, a prominent nose is beautiful. Look at Cleopatra. A little button-nose may be "cute," but give me the beauty and character of a nose that is proud and prominent! We are all entitled to our own standards of beauty. Why should we let Madison Avenue stereotypes lead us around by the nose? KNOWS NOSES DEAR ABBY: We shouldn't. Which inspires the following limerick: There once was a beauty named Rose, A Puritan life-style she chose. Lechers galore she would show to the door, Would you say she was saved by her NO'S? (Edgar Allen Po-Po) DEAR ABBY: I would like to say something about that young mother who was depressed because she thought her infant daughter was too homely to take out in public. I'm glad you sent that mother to a psychiatrist because she is desperately in need of treatment. If she doesn't take your advice and go, I'm afraid her daughter will be the one to end up on a psychiatrist's couch, getting treated for her inferiority complex. That is what happened to me. When I was a little girl, my mother drummed into me that I was homely. I grew up believing it. I let myself get fat and sloppy. I never cared how I looked because I thought that I was so hopelessly ugly, nobody could care for me. I also became very promiscuous. That was the only way I could get a boy to pay any attention to me. My self-esteem was about as low as it could get. At age 17, I had had three abortions, so my mother sent me to a psychiatrist. Meanwhile, she sobbed, "I'll never understand that child, I gave her everything." My psychiatrist explained that small children believe everything their parents tell them and that my problems began when my mother convinced me that I was homely. "TWENTY TWO AND NOT HOMELY ANYMORE" DEAR ABBY: Please print this for the mother who was so "depressed" because her baby had such a large nose. Our first baby was a beautiful little girl. There was only one problem. She was born with "spina bifida" — an open spine. Our baby is only four months old and she has had, to date, surgery five times. Abby, instead of this mother looking at her baby and crying because of her large nose, she should be crying for joy and thanking God for having blessed her with a healthy baby. She doesn't know how lucky she is.

Luncheon Held For Attendants

The home of Mrs. Lonnie Coker, 1018 Birdwell Lane, was the scene Saturday of a bridesmaids' luncheon honoring Lucretia Clark who was married that evening to Larry Franklin. Cohostesses were Mrs. Charles Swinney, Mrs. T. H. McCain, Mrs. J. O. Hagood, Mrs. Leonard Coker and Mrs. Welby Jackson. The table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of white and yellow daisies in a blue bowl. Among the guests were the honoree's mother, Mrs. Sidney T. Clark Sr.; her grandmother, Mrs. W. G. Clark; Franklin's mother, Mrs. Jim Franklin; Miss Shila Brazile, Miss Danna Baker, Miss Mary Franklin and Mrs. Sidney T. Clark Jr.

WANTED 20 HOMES THAT NEED PAINTING

Homeowners in this area will be given the opportunity to have the new United States Steel finish on their homes. It will be of special interest to homeowners who are fed up with existing paint. United States Steel is ideally suited for the Texas climate as it will not mildew, peel, crack, fade or chalk, for the life of the building.

UNITED STATES STEEL finish has been developed after years of extensive research and testing.

UNITED STATES STEEL carries a written 30-year guarantee (labor and materials)—can be applied over any type of home, wood frame, stucco, asbestos or brick. This new U.S. Steel and Vinyl finish has excellent insulating properties which will make the home warmer in cold, damp weather.

U.S. STEEL VYNASOL paneling has been advertised nationally in LOOK and LIFE Magazines. Homeowners who act now will receive special decorative work at an additional cost. Please call collect 915-949-3110 and ask for Mr. Tom Fox. An appointment will be made to see your house with no obligation. Please act at once. Out of town calls welcome.

SPLATTERED Toss Tomatoes At Kennedy

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy says he hopes the emotion shown by anti-busing demonstrators, which left him splattered by a thrown tomato, will dissipate before Boston schools open Thursday. But the Massachusetts Democrat expressed doubt it would. "There are still voices in the community stirring up hatred among the races," Kennedy made the comments on Monday after he was booed and made the target of two ripe tomatoes as he tried to address a crowd of some 8,000 to 10,000 demonstrators in front of the John F. Kennedy Federal Building.

One of the tomatoes landed near Kennedy and part of the fruit splattered on him. Kennedy was also hit on the shoulder by at least one of several women who leaped in front of him as he left the gathering

Grant For Head Start Approved

Approval of a $165,741 grant to the Big Spring Independent School district for head start was approved in Washington D.C. Monday.

Both Congressman Omar Burleson and Senator John Tower's offices telephoned to announce the approval of the grant by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The grant funds a nine-month pre-school training program for 200 children from low income families in Howard County.

Farabee To Talk

Ray Farabee, Democratic nominee for the Texas Senate, will be the speaker at the 30th district caucus Monday in Austin.

Primary interest of the delegates at that meeting is expected to center on the election of a district committee man. A three man race has developed and voting on that position will take place during the Monday caucus.

Candidates for the committee man post are Lynn Darden and Elmer Parish of Wichita County, and Charles Stenholm, Jones County. Present committee man is L. H. (Butch) McCullough of Wichita Falls who is not seeking re-election. Mrs. James Snyder from Callahan County, the district committee woman, is seeking re-election. She has no announced opposition.

Farabee plans to have a travel van at the convention site on Tuesday that will be utilized as a mobile headquarters. He will visit with convention delegates and alternates from Howard County.

Howard County delegates to the Democratic convention are Cecil Riordan, C. E. (Chuck) Gressett, Dorothy Humphreys, Floyd Young, Mrs. Alta Lee Underwood, Jack Little, and Mrs. Bert Bedford.

Others are D. A. Brazel, Oliver Cofer, JoAnn O'Daniel, Milton Isaiah, Jim Baum, James Baird, and Delano Shaw.

Alternates to the Austin meeting are Ray Nichols, O. H. Ivie, Kenneth Howell, C. Roscoe Cone, John Roemer, Sr., L. R. Mundt, Hamlin Elrod, Edgar Ray, and Mrs. B.F. Mabe.

Additional alternates are Jack Roberts, Sister Janice John, Margaret Ray, A. A. Porter, Susan Harrington, Mrs. Danny Botros, James C. Ferguson, and Mrs. Emily D. Elrod.

Farabee won the Democratic Primary in May with over 61 per cent of the vote. He plans to campaign actively in Howard County prior to the November 5 election. He is opposed by Republican Mary Kirchoff of Plainview for the post being vacated by Jack Hightower. Senator Hightower is the Democratic nominee for U.S. Congress in the 13th district.

To Pass 1,000

SNYDER — Enrollment in Texas Western College here likely will pass the 1,000 mark, school officials say. Registration ends Thursday.

WEATHER FORECAST — Mild, cloudy weather is forecast today for the East. Showers are expected in southern Florida, eastern Oklahoma, the Ohio Valley and part of the Midwest and upper Great Lakes. Continuing cool weather is forecast for the northern Plains. Clear skies and seasonable temperatures are expected for most of the West.

Hot Line 'Success'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe told Southern governors today that Texas' toll-free telephone service to put runaway children in touch with their parents is a big success.

"During this first year of operation, we have received more than 4,000 calls and nearly half of these calls have involved relaying one or more messages between runaways and their parents—giving those parents 'peace of mind' of knowing that their son or daughter is alive and well," Briscoe told a session of the Southern Governors' Conference.

The telephone hotline, based in Houston, operates 24 hours a day nationwide.

Briscoe said the Florida legislature appropriated $20,000 to help publicize the "Peace of Mind" telephone number. He said other states helping get word to the runaways include Georgia, North Carolina, Maryland, Kentucky, Missouri, Oklahoma and Alabama.

Must Not Nab Alleged Hookers For Loitering

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Police Department has told its uniformed personnel that they may not arrest alleged prostitutes under the city loitering ordinance.

That and other procedures were spelled out in a statement issued last week by Asst. Chief James Souter, commander of the patrol bureau.

In the past officers have arrested suspected prostitutes for violating loitering laws.

"We were not on a particularly firm ground so we decided to take a chance," Souter said.

Souter said the state prostitution law will be used in making such arrests.

"Arrests will not be based solely on past reputation nor does mere presence of known prostitutes in areas frequented by prostitutes justify arrests," the order read.

However, another section of the state penal code which pertains to obstruction of public highways or passageways can be used against prostitutes who violate that law.

Souter said this was aimed at hookers primarily on South Ervay in South Dallas who flag down motorists and offer their services.

In a related move, Souter clarified portions of the city ordinance concerning solicitations for food and beverages in the so-called "grape juice" clip joints.

In those places, thinly clad waitresses and topless dancers urge customers to buy non-alcoholic beverages, such as grape juice, near-beer and fruit juice champagne.

Revival Opens At Webb AFB

A Protestant revival got under way at Webb AFB Base Sunday evening and continues through Wednesday, with all services beginning at 7 p.m. in the Base Chapel.

A men's prayer breakfast was held Saturday morning at the Chapel Annex to introduce the Rev. Bill Foil of Canyon, the guest evangelist.

The public is invited to attend the services.

Souter's order pointed out that the law could be applied "only to those (establishments) not covered by the Texas Liquor Control Act."

Asst. Chief Don Steele, commander of the special services bureau, said Souter's order would not affect operations of the vice squad, which deals in undercover operations.

Steele said these operations will continue.

Rocky Cancels Appointments

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President-designate Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he has canceled all of his scheduled political appearances until the end of his confirmation hearings before Congress.

"I think it's appropriate for me not to participate in actions that might raise doubts in the minds of the committee and the public," Rockefeller said.

Hugh Morrow, press aide to the former governor of New York, said Rockefeller had acted on advice from Hugh Scott, R-Pa., the Senate minority leader, and other congressional leaders.

Family Aid Is Sought

Both the Grace Baptist Church in Big Spring and the Midway Baptist Church were serving as receiving points of gifts for the Jimmy Rose family of Sand Springs, who Saturday night lost their mobil home and all belongings to a fire.

A hot-water heater explosion is said to have caused the blaze. Fortunately, no one was seriously injured in the fire.

Especially needed by the family are boys' pants sizes 2-3, 6, 10 regular and 14 huskie, shirt sizes 3-4, 6-8 and 10-16, shoe sizes 3-5 and little boys' shoes sizes 4 1/2-5 and 12 1/2.

In addition, girls' dresses sizes 4-5, shoes 11-11 1/2 and women's dresses 10-12-14 and shoes 6-8 are needed.

Those interested in helping the family can contact the Rev. Rufus Wilson by dialing 3-4840, the Rev. Roy Honea at 3-4840 or by calling the Grace social secretary, Helen Larson, at 3-3920.

Indian Guides To Reorganize

Big Spring YMCA Indian Guides will reorganize existing tribes and organize new tribes at the organizational meeting planned for Tuesday at the YMCA.

Bob Butler, Longhouse chief of the Y Indian Guides, encourages all returning braves to be present at 7:00 p.m. as well as any father and son who is interested in joining a tribe. Boys must be in the first, second or third grade.

Y Indian Guides use Indian symbols and ceremonials to carry out the character building father and son program. Boys and dads are formed into tribes and meet every other week in the members' homes.

Charles Dunnam serves as Medicine Man of the Longhouse. Robert Grim is chief of the Choctaw tribe, A. J. Pirkle Sioux chief, and Don McDonald chief of the Apaches.

Curt Mullins, Y executive director, said he is hopeful of organizing several new tribes in addition to reorganizing existing tribes. Detailed information about the program will be available at the Tuesday organizational meeting.
