

Non-Stop Rains Pose Fresh Flood Threats

By The Associated Press
Road blocking deluges isolated some towns in West Texas and compounded flood miseries over a wide stretch of the state today.

Major flooding developed along the Pecos River, often dry in places, and authorities looked for conditions to grow worse as protracted rains stretched into a second week.

MORE TO COME
At the same time a new cool front shoving southward through the north part of the Texas

Panhandle carried a promise of still more downpours before there is a letup. Some of the more serious flooding—although there was no word of deaths—occurred around Iran, into which all roads were closed, and around Rankin, 22 miles north, where only one route was reported open.

At McCamey, 15 to 20 miles west from Rankin and Iran, Chief Deputy Sheriff Malcolm Reimers said some ranchers already had been able to determine that losses were heavy among their sheep, goats and cattle. The numbers of animals and cost cannot be learned until high water subsides.

FLOATAWAY
"There also have been some big losses to oil operations," Reimers said. "A lot of tanks have just floated away. Fire broke out yesterday in two tank farms and the firemen couldn't reach 'em—just had to telephone operators advised callers that no numbers could be reached in Rankin or Iran, leaving the central peace officers' radio hookup in the McCamey sheriff's office the principal means of communication over several counties.

Reimers said his people were assured there had been no deaths from drowning or other severe hardship in the cutoff areas.

BIG BEND
While the heavier rains shifted their concentration somewhat farther west, steady showers and thunderstorms continued from the Big Bend country in far West Texas toward the north and east.

Gully washing described the flood along the Pecos River as the worst on that stream since 1941. He said gauges on a ranch or two had caught more than 11 inches of rain in the past couple of days.

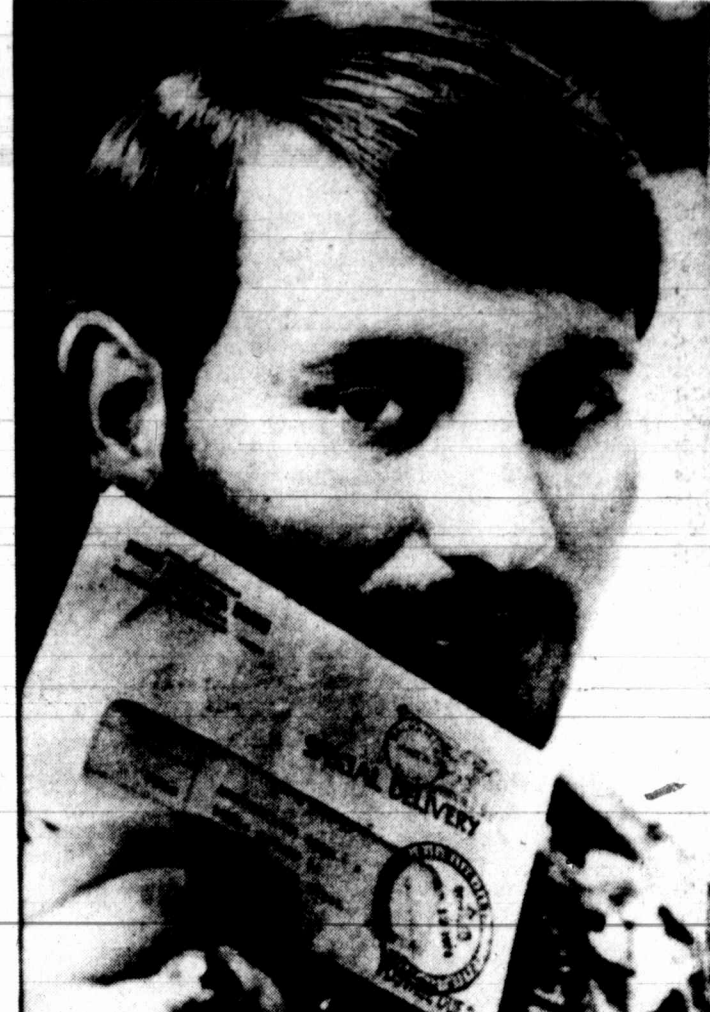

BIG LAKE
"Around Sheffield, which is south of McCamey," he added, "the countryside looks like nothing more than a big lake. And south of McCamey on Texas 305 where a highway truck got stalled, you can see only the top six inches of it above the water."

Consumer Prices Soaring

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices soared 1.3 per cent in August as sharp increases in costs of meats, clothing, mortgage interest and medical services led the biggest inflationary surge of the past 12 months, the government reported today.

The leap in retail prices, which works out to an adjusted annual rate of 15.6 per cent, was foreshadowed by near record wholesale price increases over the past two months and virtually assures continued high inflation through 1974.

President Ford's top economic advisers had said Thursday that the economy would remain sluggish at least through mid-1975.

AIRMAN'S SAD STORY — Robert Chapdelaine displays the lost letter that put him in the U.S. Air Force instead of the California Highway Patrol, where he wanted to be. The 19-year-old Sacramento, Calif., man says the Highway Patrol letter, telling him to report for his oral exam, was lost by the Postal Service for a year and in the meantime he became an airman. Now he wants out.

Airman's Hard Luck Tale Told

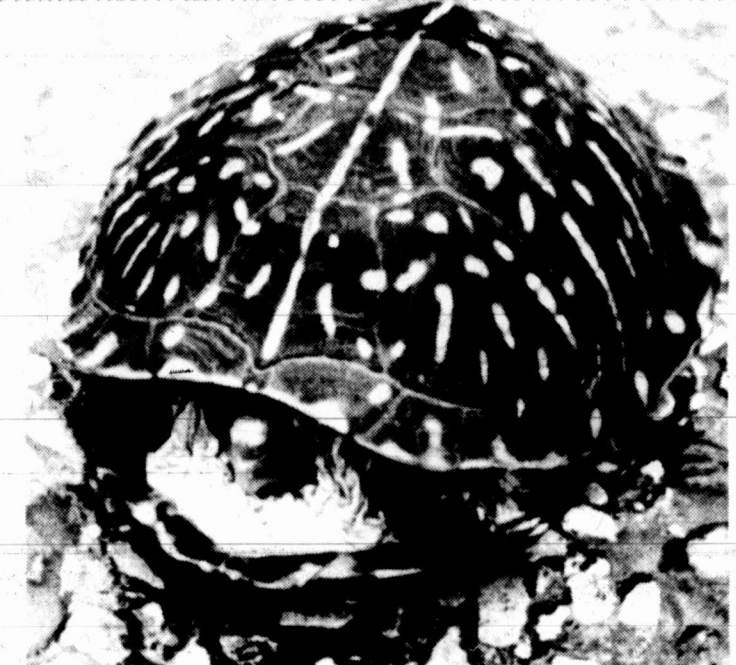

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Robert Chapdelaine has a sad story to tell about how he ended up in the U.S. Air Force because the Postal Service took 356 days to deliver a letter across town.

And when it finally arrived, the letter came with two cents postage due because the rates had gone up during the year Chapdelaine was waiting. Having failed to get the job, which he believes the lost letter would have brought him, Chapdelaine signed up for a four-year hitch in the Air Force. Now he wants out.

Daring Escape Staged By 11

MIAMI (AP) — Police were searching today for 10 of 11 inmates who made a daring escape from the Dade County jail. Four of the 11 had been charged with murder, and one was awaiting trial in a brutal double abduction slaying.

The 11th escapee was nabbed by officers early today about four hours after the break. Police said that the escapees were extremely dangerous, may have armed themselves and were believed to be wearing civilian clothing.

All Areas Boost Moisture Totals

Forsan held on to the distinction of measuring the most rain in the county today as it reported 1.6 inches, which fell yesterday and last night to bring the community's grand total since Sunday to 7.7 inches.

Forsan handily outdistanced the runner-up, Mrs. John Couch at Luther, who measured 1.4 inches yesterday and last night to bring her total to 5.2 inches since Sunday.

Most areas near Big Spring were close behind. Bill McIlvain, who lives on the Wilkinson Ranch west of Big Spring reported .5 inch of rainfall in the past 24 hours to bring his total to 4.5 inches.

Coahoma High School reported 7 inch in the past 24 hours to bring its total to 4.9 inches.

Mrs. Cecil Allred at Ackerly reported 4 inch in the past 24 hours to bring her total to 4.0 inches since Sunday.

Bill Cregar called in that he has had 2.7 inches since yesterday for a total of 5.5, which puts him up in second place.

The Agriculture Experiment Station here measured 1.20 inches since 8 a.m. yesterday, bringing its total for the year up to 10.63, still behind the normal which is around 14 inches for this time of year.

At Sand Springs, 48 of an inch fell last night, bringing its total since Sunday to 3.40 inches.

In east Big Spring, another inch of moisture fell between 3 p.m. Thursday and 8 o'clock this morning, bringing the aggregate for the six-day period to 4.9 inches.

Fair Is Near End

Upward of a thousand spectators braved the rainy weather Thursday evening to take in the Howard County Fair.

The big annual show moves today into its final two days of showing with the pet show set for 8 p.m. in the South Barn East arena.

Anyone with a pet, particularly unusual pets from monkeys to turtles, from birds to beasts, is urged to enter that pet in the show, headed by Bruce Wright.

Last year, there was an uncanny assortment of unusual, as well as conventional pets, and many of these were entered by youngsters as well as adults.

Exhibits at the Fair will remain in place to 10 p.m. Saturday evening. The new Fair exhibits building given by the Dora Roberts Foundation, together with previous buildings, has kept the Fair in the dry all during the unprecedented rainy week, although it has crimped the style of the big assortment of rides and booths of the 20th Century Shows' midway.

J. Arnold Marshall, general superintendent, said he expected — with a break in the weather — a good turnout this evening, and if Saturday turns off well, a tremendous crowd for the closeout.

Private Eye
Linked To Gem Theft Ring
AUSTIN (AP) — Police arrested on Thursday the owner of a private detective agency and a local land developer accused of being members of an alleged theft ring that has "fenced" $100,000 in stolen diamonds in recent months.

Police Lt. Bolton Gregory said the arrests were part of the breakup of "a big operation of jewel thieves" in Austin and Houston.

Arrested and charged on the basis of sealed indictments returned by the Travis County grand jury were Edward B. Barker, 43; owner of the Phares Protective Systems Inc. and Certified Investigation of Austin and Robert Milam, 23, Austin real estate man.

Overnight, 2.2 inches fell at the Big Spring pump station at Lake Spence and 3.1 at the Sun Oil plant northeast across the lake. Moss Creek had 1.3 inches. Walsh-Watts in east Howard County, 1.1, Lake Thomas 1.4 at the pump station and 1.0 at the dam, Martin County pump station 1.0, Odessa 1.31 Monahans 1.0.

PARENTS SUE Sailor Dies Of Cancer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Timothy Nunley, a 19-year-old sailor who for months tried to convince Navy doctors that his illness was serious and not imaginary, died today of cancer.

Nunley was flown to Jacksonville Tuesday from Bethesda Naval Hospital near Washington, and admitted to the Jacksonville Regional Naval Medical Center where he died shortly after midnight.

"What's left of Tim Nunley got home," Mrs. Robert Nunley said when her son returned from Washington. "I didn't think I'd get him home alive."

Nunley and his parents filed lawsuits seeking $6.5 million from the government on grounds that Navy doctors at three bases failed to diagnose his illness correctly until it was too late to operate.

In April, the Navy issued a statement admitting Navy doctors failed to diagnose Nunley's condition and saying that "appropriate disciplinary and corrective action has been taken."

Mrs. Nunley has accused Navy doctors of treating her son like a fool when he begged for their help.

"My son was humiliated and degraded. When he went to the Navy doctors they told him there was nothing wrong, it was all in his head," Mrs. Nunley said in an interview earlier this year.

Nunley enlisted in the Navy last September. A sulphur smoke bomb was hurled in the window of the corporation courtroom at 7:25 p.m. Thursday, breaking the window and landing in the jury box.

City police detectives had few leads this morning in trying to determine who had hurled the missile into the police station.

Ford Puts Lid On Tax Returns

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford ordered a sharp curtailment today in access to federal tax returns by White House officials.

At the same time, Ford sent a memo to heads of departments and agencies demanding that laws intended to keep the Civil Service system out of politics be fully and effectively carried out.

In an executive order, Ford imposed the requirement that only he can direct the disclosure of any tax return to a member of his staff, and that he must designate in writing the staff member authorized to see the return on his behalf.

In an obvious reference to allegations that the administration of former President Richard M. Nixon abused the tax system for political purposes, Deputy White House Press Secretary John W. Hushen told newsmen with reference to Ford and his action:

"I think he's seen what's happened in the past and wants to make sure it doesn't happen in the future, as long as he is President."

Rockefeller Says He's Worth $182.5 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller puts his personal fortune at $62.5 million, but the head of a committee probing his vice presidential nomination is more concerned with what the holdings are than their total.

Rockefeller issued a statement on Thursday listing his personal fortune and saying he also receives income from two trusts with assets of $120 million.

HIS HOLDINGS
Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, said, "The significance of his financial holdings is what the holdings are in and whether there is a likelihood of a conflict of interest."

Cannon said the Rules Committee will question the former New York governor closely about some of his holdings.

City Courtroom Here Is Bombed

A sulphur smoke bomb was hurled in the window of the corporation courtroom at 7:25 p.m. Thursday, breaking the window and landing in the jury box.

City police detectives had few leads this morning in trying to determine who had hurled the missile into the police station.

They had determined the type of bomb and where it is available in the city.

Police were searching today for 10 of 11 inmates who made a daring escape from the Dade County jail. Four of the 11 had been charged with murder, and one was awaiting trial in a brutal double abduction slaying.

The 11th escapee was nabbed by officers early today about four hours after the break. Police said that the escapees were extremely dangerous, may have armed themselves and were believed to be wearing civilian clothing.

As aides had promised, the total was substantially higher than the $33 million personal worth figure that had leaked from the House and Senate committees preparing for confirmation hearings.

REAL ESTATE
Including the $62.5 million in personal holdings, the statement declared that "total assets owned outright and in the two trusts amount to approximately $182.5 million."

The $62.5 million figure includes the $33 million listed earlier, some $20.5 million in art and real estate to be given away at his death and some $9 million representing updated appraisals of art and real estate that were unavailable when the first report was filed.

More details will be included in the opening statement Rockefeller will present to the Rules Committee on Monday.

Hearings before the House Judiciary Committee, which apparently is planning an exhaustive look at the Rockefeller fortunes, may be put off until after the November elections.

Rain

Weatherman sticks out his neck and puts rain possibilities at 70 per cent this afternoon and tonight. Likelihood diminishing to 40 per cent Saturday. Variable wind 5-15 miles per hour through tonight. High today and Saturday, low 70s. Low tonight, near 60.

The Judiciary Committee is doing its own calculations of Rockefeller's net worth, and its investigators are not expected to finish until mid-October, about the time both House and Senate plan to recess until after the Nov. 5 elections.

The men used a steel bar broken from a plumbing repair compartment door to dig a hole through a reinforced wall and gain access to an outside window, according to Jack Sandstrom, jail director.

The convict accused in the abduction slaying, Thomas Knight, 23, was being held on two charges of first degree murder in the July 17 kidnap slayings of wealthy paper bag company owner Sydney Gans, 64, and his wife, Lillian, 60.

Hike In Milk Prices Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today proposed a boost of up to 13 per cent in minimum prices paid to farmers for milk produced for bottling under federal marketing orders.

Officials said the proposal was offered as a way to help financially distressed dairy farmers who say rising costs are threatening to drive them out of business.

A hearing will be held Oct. 8 in Rosemont, Ill., near Chicago, to gather comments from producers, milk dealers and consumers, the department said.

The proposal involves a formula used to compute minimum prices which must be paid to farmers for Class I fluid milk in the nation's 61 marketing orders areas. Those produce about 60 per cent of the total milk supply.

Officials said the proposed increase relates only to Class I milk and not other grades used for the manufacture of dairy products.

Under the plan, a floor price would be set for computing Class I minimums.

Normally, the formula is based on the market price of manufacturing grade milk sold in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

The proposal would set a maximum of $7.50 per 100 pounds in the formula and eliminate the normal market fluctuations for manufacturing grade-milk. That would be translated into the minimum prices paid to farmers for Class I milk in each of the marketing order areas.

But, for example, if the full $7.50 rate now proposed was adopted, farmers in the federal order areas would get $9.60 per 100 pounds, $1.11 more than they are scheduled to get under the current system. Milk prices at the farm soared to record levels last spring, rising to $10.25 per 100 pounds, on the average, for Class I milk under the marketing orders.

Prices, however, have slipped sharply since then.

'Neither Rain Nor Sleet...'

Despite the unusually heavy rainfall for this part of the country, all rural mail carriers have been successfully completing their daily rounds, according to Postmaster Frank Hardesty.

The main reason for the service despite the bad weather is that the roads are in good shape.

Sometimes the rural carriers would come across some water across the road, but the carriers lived up to the old saying that neither rain, nor sleet, nor high water can keep the mailman from his appointed rounds.

Declarer pieced together various clues evident in the auction and defense with the skill and patience of Sherlock Holmes, and his deductions would have done honor to that famous sleuth.

North's reopening double could have been made on slighter values, so he felt obligated to show that he had a full opening bid by raising his partner to two no trump. South gave full weight to his intermediate cards and the fact that his hand might actually be better than it was because he was over the opening bidder, and went on to an optimistic game.

West led his lowest diamond, and declarer captured East's queen with the ace. Seven tricks were now there for the taking, for the jack-ten of diamonds guaranteed a second trick in the suit. If clubs broke 3-2 and East held the queen, a finesse in that suit would produce the two additional tricks South needed for his contract.

Before committing himself to that line of play, declarer decided to see what he could learn about the unseen hands. From the opening lead, it appeared that the diamonds were divided 4-4, and this suspicion was reaffirmed when South returned a diamond at trick two. East won the king and played another diamond, while West followed with the three and four. Declarer's next move was to cash two high hearts, and on the second round East discarded a spade.

Declarer donned his thinking cap, for East's discard had been most revealing. Since East had opened in a four-card suit, he surely could not hold a higher ranking five-card suit. Yet he was marked with eight cards in spades and clubs, for he held only 5 in the red suits. If declarer's deductions were correct, East had to have four or five clubs, so a simple finesse in clubs would not be good enough to pick up the suit.

Suiting the deed to the thought, declarer proceeded to cash the king of clubs and, when no honor appeared from the West hand, continued with a low club to the nine. His analysis was vindicated when West failed to follow. It was now a simple matter of cross to dummy's remaining heart honor and repeat the club finesse for a well deserved game.

Shower For Bride-Elect

Miss Cynthia Ann Stanley, bride-elect of Sidney Philip Savant, was the honoree for a gift shower recently in the home of Mrs. Simon Terrazas.

The couple will be married Sept. 28 in the First Methodist Church.

Guests were served refreshments from a tea table covered with yellow, overlaid with a white crocheted cloth. The bride's colors of yellow and peach were carried out through the flowers and refreshments.

There were nine hostesses. Corsages of yellow carnations were given to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. John Stanley, and grandmothers, Mrs. Myrtle Nelson and Mrs. Thelma Stanley.

Mrs. Nita Jennings, Mrs. George Faulkner and Mrs. Danny Clary were guests from San Angelo.

Mrs. Quigley Is Coffee Hostess

Downtown Lions Auxiliary members were entertained at coffee Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. John Quigley.

The October meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. B. M. Keese. It will be a covered dish luncheon.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For years I have fought the battle of six teenage boys with dirty, stinky tennis shoes. I keep yelling that if you wash them once a week, they will not only last longer, but won't get that gym odor! I finally made up my mind that I had gotten my last gray hair over that subject matter, so each Saturday morning I demand all tennis shoes be in the laundry room by 10 a.m. Dad got behind me and it's working wonders. (They're grounded if they aren't there...)

All I do is remove all the strings and retie them through an eyelet. Then, if the inside soles are extra dirty, I hold them under the hot water faucet, add a little water and a bit of detergent and scrub with a brush.

Dump them in the machine along with some bath towels, and run through the entire cycle. Hang them on the line by the tongue of each shoe to dry.

Stricter Mama

Dear Heloise:

Do you wear glasses? Wipe them with a dollar bill! Surprised?

Or use newspaper! I guess there is something in the ink that both dollar bills and newspapers are printed with that cleans glass. Of course, newspapers make a more economical throwaway towel—for the moment at least.

Warning: Don't clean the specs with money in public. I once used a twenty, and completely alienated my commanding officer.

Capt. John R. Watts

Dear Heloise: How do I remove a white spot on my dining room table caused by hot food served in a paper plate?

Mrs. I. Needhelp

Dear Mrs. Needhelp: Take a pecan or walnut and remove the shell. Break the meat in half. Rub the spot with the broken side. This works, no matter what kind of furniture it is. Maple, walnut, blond, etc.

Or, if that fails, put some vegetable oil on the spot and then add cigarette or cigar ashes, and rub in. Take caution when doing this.

With either method, when finished, you HAVE to take your finger and rub briskly until it becomes warm. You'll know this because you will feel it on your fingertip! Then polish as usual. Good luck!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

If you leave your cake in the pans to cool, stick a few holes around in the layers with an ice pick.

This prevents the cake from sweating and sticking to the pan.

DEAR ABBY: You should have told "Mother of Eight Dolls" to tell the doctor who told her, "The law of averages is in your favor, 100 to one" to go back to medical school for courses in genetics and statistics.

Theoretically, no matter how many children of what sex a couple already have, the odds are very close to 50-50 that the next one will be a girl. Before this couple had had any children the doctor could have predicted that if they went on to have eight children, the odds were 256 to one against all eight being girls.

But that isn't the question the doctor was asked. He was asked, "Of all families that have seven girls born already, what are the odds that the eighth will be a boy?"

In summary, the proper prediction to give this couple, if asked for advice concerning an eighth try for a boy, would be, "The normal odds are 50-50, but in your case there may be other factors causing you to bear only girls, so I would have to say that your eighth child is more likely to be a girl than a boy."

SARA K. WEINBERG, CLASS OF 1977 UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

DEAR SARAH: You belong at the head of the class, which is probably where you are.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell me if I am wrong or right. There was a TV program (a special) I had looked forward to seeing for a long time. I was invited to play cards that night, but declined because I wanted to see it.

About 15 minutes before it was to go on, in came my sister-in-law and mother-in-law! They don't live very far from me, and we see each other quite often. I got along fine with my sister-in-law, but my mother-in-law is a different story.

I said, "I'll fix coffee, but I so want to see a TV program which goes on in 15 minutes. Please stay and watch it with me?"

My mother-in-law said, "Don't bother making coffee, we can't stay." Then she pulled my sister-in-law by the arm and they left.

The next day my sister-in-law called and said, "For a smart woman, you sure are dumb!" Then she laid me out because I didn't just skip the TV program and entertain her and Mom.

I want your opinion on this incident.

BURNING IN BOSTON DEAR BURNING: I don't know why anyone (relative or otherwise) should drop in uninvited and unannounced and expect to be treated like an invited guest. They should have called first and given you a chance to say, "I'm sorry, but I have plans. How about tomorrow night?"

Maintain Proper Role

The role of the CIA is coming under closer scrutiny these days, and that's to the good.

At least three fairly recent events have reflected a disposition of the Central Intelligence Agency to stray far afield.

The record indicates that the CIA gave too much aid and comfort to the military dictatorship which ran things in Greece.

Another instance is the lately-admitted involvement in unseating the Salvador Allende regime in Chile by violent revolution.

At least three fairly recent events have reflected a disposition of the Central Intelligence Agency to stray far afield.

Certainly the CIA must be on top of situations around the globe if its intelligence is to be of value, but this does equate with meddling or interfering in the internal affairs of other countries, particularly when they are friendly countries.

While there are notable exceptions, in general the record of the CIA in obtaining and maintaining a flow of accurate intelligence is good.

Testimony coming out of the Watergate investigations reflect a dangerous venture by former President Nixon and aides using the CIA for domestic partisan political purposes.

Coahoma's Great Honor

To dust off a thread-bare expression, there's a "shoot out" tonight in the Coahoma corral.

Coahoma, which has established a winning tradition in Class AA for several seasons, is rated No. 1 in the current statewide poll by the Associated Press.

This evening the Cisco Lobos, once the scourge of Texas football, come to Bulldog stadium, and Cisco is bearing the mantle of No. 2 in the latest poll.

Both teams have had impressive victories in their first two outings this season, and the battle shapes as a classic.

When the dust (or mud) settles, we trust the current poll will have proven to be entirely accurate.

Special Awards

Around The Rim

John Edwards

As correspondent for Howard County Fair results listing, I felt especially qualified to serve as immediate past president-elect of the second annual Big Spring Herald Editorial Department Unfair.

BECAUSE OUR publicity chairman reneged on performing his responsibility, I am announcing the results myself. They follow:

Hardest to argue with — Joe Pickle, editor in chief — his reward, charts and graphs of overtime, compensatory time and "anticipatory" time granted the editorial staff contrasted to the same allowed backshop and pressroom denizens.

Best Pickle canner — Lucille Pickle, part-time society editor and wife of the chief — prize, an invitation to her husband's blue ribbon staff meetings.

Most conscientious managing editor at the Herald — Tommy Hart, the only ME at the BSH — a participation ribbon and our old low-bid, high-static police radio, which he kept turning off to preserve its crystals.

Most apparent heir — Carol Hart, the Megaphone editor, who, in the old Tommy Hart family tradition, is seen sometimes but rarely heard — a megaphone to use in the newsroom and her ribbon.

FOREIGN CORRESPONDENT prize — Walt Finley, Sunday columnist and wire editor, for his comprehensive coverage of letters from home in Durant, Okla. — "Take Me Back To Tulsa" and all my other Bob Wills tapes so he can listen to them on his own time.

Most society conscious — Merry Jo Bright, 50 and proud-of-it, soccer editor — a glass-lined office to set her and her love seat apart.

Most virtuous — Clark Leshner, our sports editor, who "more or less" left Colorado Springs, Colo., to escape dopers and prostitutes — $15 so he can come to know off-field games and tricks in Big Spring.

Most at-large reporter — Troy Bryant, roving reporter of Quanh, then Big Spring, then Levelland and now Coahoma — a round-trip bus ticket to the West Texas newspaper of his choice.

MOST DOWN-TO-earthiness reporter — Marj Carpenter, the only person ever accused of offending the police department with an undetected expletive — a blue ribbon and tape recording of our Associated Press teletype machine the day Nixon resigned.

Flashiest and fastest — Danny Valdes, chief photographer renowned for the clothes he wears, women he photographs and speed with which he pitches and reaches disasters — a red ribbon to remind him of the Cuban home he can't return to and, every time he "shoots" pretty chiquitas, a free escort — me.

Because of the obvious conflict of interest, I disqualified myself from competition.

Henry Fading?

WASHINGTON — In affirming on Tuesday that Henry Kissinger would still wear two hats as both Secretary of State and director of the National Security Council (NSC), President Ford was postponing the ultimate choice between Kissinger and Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger.

ALTHOUGH MR. FORD denied published reports that his transition team recommended that Mr. Kissinger be stripped of his NSC hat, the President did not divulge confidential recommendations from intimate advisers.

THIS SHOWDOWN has been postponed, but there seems little chance that Kissinger and Schlesinger can coexist in the Ford administration into next summer.

Even if they agreed on policy, confrontation between Kissinger and Schlesinger would have been inevitable. Never before have two such brilliant intellectuals simultaneously held the cabinet portfolios for the State and Defense.

BUT THE FACT is that they most certainly do not agree. Schlesinger believes Kissinger's detente diplomacy concedes too much to Moscow on all fronts — SALT, mutual force reductions, the European security treaty.

It was therefore predictable that Schlesinger would grow restive with total domination of national security policy by Kissinger.

MR. FORD'S accession seemed to confirm that suppnacy. As vice president, Mr. Ford sought a personal relationship with Kissinger while privately expressing doubts that the pipe-smoking, donnish Schlesinger could sell defense budgets on Capitol Hill.

THE IMPRESSION of Schlesinger's impending doom was confirmed by Mr. Ford's first weeks in office. Intimates reported the President displeased by Schlesinger's professional style of explosion. White House staff papers gave the President the totally erroneous impression that the Pentagon brass distrusted Schlesinger because he had never worn the uniform.

BUT WITHIN THE past week or so, the climate has changed. Key Ford aides now defend Schlesinger and urge his retention. His position is certainly not hurt at the White House by Haig's imminent departure.

FINALLY, KISSINGER'S perceived indispensability has been sharply eroded by the Cyprus crisis and the Chilean revelations.

"As you perhaps know, some of our policies have been questioned of late."

No Heros Emerge

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The government sponsored meetings on inflation during the past two weeks have served to publicize the problem, but so far they haven't produced any common agreement on a solution.

Less government spending and easier money seem to be among the more popular suggestions for lowering the inflation rate, but nobody claims that these moves alone will bring equilibrium to a troubled economy.

In fact, the multiplicity of suggestions, the disagreements, the appeals to self-interest, seem to suggest that the American public is acquiring an education in how complex, pervasive and indelible the problem is.

It is learning also that no one person or group of persons has the answers. The naively optimistic hope that inflation might go away if the proper levers were pulled must now have vanished completely.

No heroes have emerged. No stunning new ideas have revealed themselves. The critics, now that they are having their say, can come up with nothing more than the conventional suggestions. What has been produced is such an overwhelming mass of opinion that it might make even more difficult the anti-inflation action that must follow, or at least encumber the decisions sought at a National Conference on Inflation Sept. 27 and 28.

Meanwhile, there are indications that the airing of conflicting views and the realization of how difficult is the economic situation might be having a negative impact on public attitudes, and even firing their fears.

Subtly Guide Him

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am worried about my son. He is 3. He takes my undergarments (only the silky ones) and puts them on or just carries them around.

I am unsure of how to treat this problem and am also wondering if this means he has a tendency toward becoming a transvestite. — Mrs. P.A.

May or may not presage a problem. Youngsters will cross-dress at a young age, but this usually disappears by the age of 3 or 4, or soon after that.

He's only 3, and I would suggest first of all to keep such clothing out of his reach. Prevent temptation.

He may, indeed, catch the hint and understand that such things aren't for boys. A mother's attitude can have a subtle effect. Some mothers think it is "cute" which amounts to both sanction and encouragement.

So be sure you don't do that. At the same time, make it a point to emphasize his masculinity. ("You're getting to be a big boy now," or praise for other things he does.)

Don't be too permissive in your control over him. If he gets into things he shouldn't (including your "silks") tell him they are not for him to play with.

Your husband can play a quiet but important role, too, by emphasizing masculinity. It should be natural, though, not overdone.

If your son's present trend continues, however, get help from a child guidance counselor or a child psychiatrist. Transvestism can lead to transsexualism in which a child denies his gender. (That does not mean homosexuality, however.)

Marquis Childs

(Gus Tyler is substituting for vacationing Marquis Childs — Ed.)

NEW YORK — The front page headline in El Diario, the nation's most widely circulated Spanish language daily, proclaimed: "Ford Proclama Semana Hispana." (For Proclaims Spanish Week.)

THE HEADLINE just below that noted that 78 persons — mainly of hispanic origin — had been arrested in the recent Newark riots, touched off by Puerto Ricans in protest against the "brutalities" of a police force under a black mayor.

Both items are symbolic: the first, of the great number of Americans of Spanish origin, who make up the nation's second largest minority; the second, of their frustrations.

In his 90-minute meeting with hispanic members of Congress, Ford promised to look into the "problems of the 15 million hispanics residing in the United States." Although the official population figures issued by the Department of Commerce for March, 1974 report only 10.8 million persons of Spanish origin, Ford's figure is probably closer to the truth because there are several million hispanics who are here although officially invisible.

PUERTO RICANS, who make up about 1.5 million of the hispanics, are all here legally, since they are U.S. citizens by virtue of their island's commonwealth status. But of the Mexican-Americans, there are undetermined millions who smuggled their way across the border and now fan out across the country, living a fugitive shadow existence. To these must be added the more recent emigres from South and Central America and the Caribbean who steal into the promised land out of hunger and hope.

The official figures on income show widespread poverty among hispanics. About one family out of four lives below the poverty level. (If the invisible illegals were included, the percentage would be higher.)

Among Puerto Ricans, the percentage in poverty is more than one out of three families.

THE ANNUAL INCOME of the average hispanic family lags some $4,000 behind that of the average family in the whole population: $8,000 as against $12,000. About 20 per cent of the hispanics over age 25 had less than five years of schooling. (The same figure for the country as a whole is only 4 per cent.)

American hispanics live under a triple burden: racial, linguistic and economic: Because their skins are darker — in some cases as dark as the Negroes — they suffer from the discomfords of racial discrimination.

BECAUSE THEY SPEAK a different language, they have trouble making it in schools and in the society. The old Mexican-American communities of the Southwest lived for generations in a rural isolation that perpetuated their native tastes and tongue.

THE recent immigrants find themselves in the same position as the Italians, Jews, Slavs and Germans of an earlier time — viewed by many as the latest flotsam and jetsam washed on to our shores.

Finally, these traditionally rural people find themselves suddenly sucked into an urban culture for which they are still unprepared, trying to adjust their agricultural ways to the demands of a sophisticated industrial process. (Of the two and a half million hispanic families, about two million live in metropolitan areas.)

AT NO POINT on the face of the earth is the wage differential as great as it is on each side of the Mexican-American border. Poverty pushes and prosperity pulls the Latinos into "the States."

True remedies are not at hand. Proclaiming a Spanish Week won't solve anything, nice as the gesture may be; neither will a riot. Needed are employment and education — both of which are harder than ever to come by in an economy plagued by inflation and unemployment.

Karras Tackles Job

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Alex Karras, initially considered and then rejected by ABC-TV as Don Meredith's replacement on ABC's Monday night football jousts, finally has gotten an on-air shot at the job.

Although he played it relatively straight and was unusually — for him — reserved in his Monday night tryouts, he was infinitely better than ABC's first choice, black actor and NFL veteran Fred Williamson.

WILLIAMSON, 36, was dropped from the Monday night football filibuster after three pre-season games because he just couldn't hack it in the broadcast booth.

Karras, who spent the last two seasons as a free association analyst of televised Canadian football games in addition to his acting career, was hastily summoned only last Friday to fill the oral cavity created by Williamson's departure.

Although no final decision has been made on whether Karras will join the show permanently, the 36-year-old former Detroit Lions great seemed to fill the bill in the dispute between Buffalo and Oakland.

For one thing, his tie was loose. I never trust a sportscaster whose tie is properly aligned. For suitably awed by the way ABC treats Howard Cosell and Frank Gifford, the Monday regulars.

"They tote you around in those great limousines and everything," he told Cosell, then thought about it and added: "Of course, they picked me up today in an Edsel Ford with a Greek chauffeur...."

He also made some cogent remarks about the gridiron people, such as one massive Oakland player: "Of course, this is Otis Sistrunk from the University of Mars."

As another Oakland giant smote a Buffalo back, Karras observed: "...he says hello and blows a little garlic in his face."

Perhaps because he wasn't used to the rhythm of the Cosell-Gifford patter, he stayed mostly with straightforward, perceptive commentary on the game. He didn't go off into the wild, zany flights of verbal fancy for which he is famed in Detroit and other outposts.

He wasn't vintage Karras, a vintage preserved in the writings of George Plimpton, Karras' unofficial Boswell. But things may return to abnormal once Karras learns how to tell if Cosell is pausing for breath. It usually occurs when Cosell is mailing in his tax return.

Tom Vance, Karras' agent, said in an interview before Monday's game that no contract for a full-time job has been offered, but that Karras wasn't pressing for one. He said his client probably would be game to become a Monday night football regular, but that executives at ABC Sports "are going to have to make the play."

My Answer

Billy Graham

We have been married 30 years. To my great disappointment I find that my husband has been involved in an affair for three years. Upon advice I read in your column in similar situation, I forgave him and tried to get things back to normal. But this didn't help. He is still seeing her. The worst thing is it is affecting the life of our sixteen-year-old daughter very much. He is a fine man — good, honest and well-loved in the community. This affair, far from making him happy is making him unhappy. Is it wrong to have pride to want to make your marriage work? Please help me. M.M.

You mentioned you are a Christian, and I must say you seem to have reacted as a Christian. No, it is not wrong to have pride in making your marriage work, but love is a greater power than pride.

Could it be (and I am just asking) that your prime motivation is pride? For one's mate to be unfaithful is not only a comment on the defector, but sometimes, and even often, it is a reflection upon the seeming innocent party. I am convinced that many marriages would break up if it were not for pride of family, pride of prestige, and pride of social esteem. But marriages and relationships built upon pride alone are really not on a sure foundation. My advice is to search your heart and ask yourself: have I been a loving wife, or just a proud spouse? Try to get some counseling for the whole family, and remember the Bible says, "Now abide faith, hope and love, but the greatest of these is love." 1 Corinthians 13:13.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"I do not say to you seven times, but seventy times seven." Matt. 18:22.

PRAYER: Father, provide us with the love which makes forgiveness overcome hate, with Your Son as our example. Amen.

No. 4 Nebraska Visits Wisconsin

By The Associated Press. Top-ranked Notre Dame goes into Saturday's game against Northwestern following an impressive 31-7 victory over Georgia Tech Sept. 9, while the unranked Wildcats dropped their opener by an embarrassing 41-7 score to Michigan State.

Nevertheless, Notre Dame Coach Ara Parseghian has something to worry about as he prepares the Irish for Saturday's game before an expected capacity crowd of 55,000 at Northwestern's Dyché Stadium: quarterback Mitch Anderson, the leading passer in the Big Ten Conference last year. "We still don't know how our green secondary will respond against a good passing team," said Parseghian, who left the head coaching job at Northwestern in 1964 to take over at Notre Dame.

Of the other Top Ten teams in The Associated Press poll, only third-ranked Oklahoma has the weekend off. In day games, No. 2 Ohio State plays host to Oregon State No. 4 Nebraska journeys to Wisconsin, No. 6 Michigan entertains Colorado and Navy visits No. 8 Penn State. In night action, No. 5 Alabama meets Southern Mississippi at Birmingham, Ala., No. 7 Louisiana State plays host to Texas A&M, Wyoming visits No. 9 Texas and Oklahoma State opposes No. 10 Arkansas at Little Rock, Ark.

Baptists Set People Search, Churches Man Fair Booths

By MARJ CARPENTER

Among the top news items among area churches this week is a canvass being conducted by the Baptist Temple Church.

Also, St. Paul's Lutheran hosted Bible translators this week. St. Paul's is also one of two churches in town that has a booth at the Howard County Fair. They give away a family Bible. Visit their booth Saturday on the final day of the fair.

Hillcrest Baptist also mans a booth and gives away a Bible.

IN AN EMPHASIS entitled People Search 1974-75 designed to locate unchurched and unreached people of a neighborhood, the Baptist Temple Church is canvassing the area around their church to involve these unchurched people in one of the fine church programs of our churches of Big Spring.

The program involves many volunteers from the church to go door-to-door asking such questions as the person's name, correct address, family status, and church preference. From this information the prospect is categorized as either church or unchurched and whether they are a good, possible, or poor prospect for a particular church.

The goal of the People Search Program is to involve more people in our community with a church home.

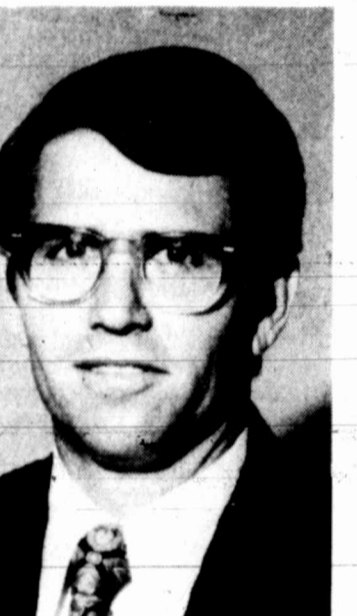

The program is under the direction of Dan McClinton, Minister of Education. Rev. J. E. Meeks is the pastor of the church.

CARL AND NANCY Nienhuser of Abilene.

Kansas spoke at Saint Paul Lutheran Church, Thursday on their experience in Liberia, West Africa.

As an original Bible translator team, they went to West Africa in 1969 to write the Gola tongue and make a Bible for them. There are still some 2,000 tribes throughout the world which have no written language and it is teams such as the Nienhusers who go to such regions, learn to speak the language and after learning the language, analyze and put into written word the Bible.

To do so, the translators first undergo special training, such as a Bible Institute, followed by specific skills learned at such places as the Institute, followed by specific skills learned at such places as the Institute of Linguistics conducted at the University of Oklahoma. The Gola Tongue is one of 16 in Liberia which had no written language previous to the Nienhusers coming to their area. The Nienhusers had to return to the US due to a medical problem suffered by Mrs. Nienhuser and at present, are traveling about the country sharing the Bible. Translator's work and increasing their knowledge and skills prior to returning to Africa and continuing their work.

MEMBERS OF THE First United Pentecostal Church, 1010 West 4th Street, have recently returned from a four-day crusade in San Angelo. The theme of the crusade was the Sound of Pentecost and the theme was carried out in varied forms of street services, door-knocking campaigns, and nightly services held at the San Angelo Coliseum. Pastor M. J. Mullins of the local congregation stated a similar crusade will soon come to Big Spring, the title being The Power of Pentecost.

THE COAHOMA METHODIST CHURCH will hold a called charge conference Sunday at 7 p.m. for purpose of discussing improving the church property.

THE LUTHERAN HOUR

a worldwide radio ministry sponsored by the International Lutheran Laymen's League, will begin its 42nd season of broadcasting on Sept. 22 and Dr. Oswald Hoffmann, Lutheran Hour speaker, will begin his 20th season on the program. It will be broadcast locally at 9:35 a.m. on KBYG.

In his opening season message, "Prove It," Dr. Hoffmann reiterates the purpose of the broadcast: "To bear witness to Jesus Christ, offering the world the life and salvation which God gives to all who believe in Jesus Christ."

Tommy P. Thompson, administrator of the L.L.'s Mass Media Department, commented, "The Lutheran Hour is one of the longest lived religious broadcast efforts in the world. It was begun in October 1930 with Dr. Walter A. Maier as first speaker."

TEXAS BAPTISTS, in an effort to help alleviate human need, are seeking to raise more than one million dollars this fall.

The exact goal is $1,111,111.11.

It will be raised through the Mary Hill Davis State Mission Offering, conducted among 2-million Texas Baptists in 4,200 churches and missions around the state.

The money will be re-invested in areas of human need from the Rio Grande River to the teeming, impersonalized metropolitan areas.

First Baptist Sets Week Of Evangelism

One of the outstanding Christian philosophers among Southern Baptists will come to the First Baptist Church for four days this week.

He will be followed in four more days of evangelistic services by Dr. O. Byron Richardson, associate for revival evangelism for the Texas General Baptist Convention.

A native of North Carolina who began to preach at age 12, Dr. Havenger for years pastored First Baptist Church of Charleston, S.C., oldest Baptist Church in the south. Since 1940 he has pursued a unique ministry of Bible conferences, revivals, and writing. His works include 26 books of sermons and devotions directed primarily to the church.

Dr. Richardson pastored churches in College Station, Alice and San Angelo before entering on full-time evangelism with BGCT.

Sunday evening services will be followed by an ice cream supper. Monday's will spotlight music. Tuesday adults 7:00 and over; Wednesday the Sunday

Gospel Singers

SPRINGFIELD, 111. (AP) — The stamping, clapping gospel beat of a 100-voice choir is the lifeblood of his church, says a black Baptist pastor.

At Union Baptist Church, one of the largest black congregations in central Illinois, more than half of the two-hour Sunday service is filled with rollicking gospel songs and blues-tinged spirituals.

KNOW WHAT SENDS MY PRESSURE UP?

It's thinking about that $250 seat—the one that was empty last Sunday.

Haven't you figured out what your seat at church is worth? Say the building—at yesterday's prices — cost roughly a hundred thousand. And there are four hundred seats. That's an investment of $250 per seat.

That's little enough for a seat occupied regularly by a person eager to worship the Lord. (Men have given their lives for the Gospel.)

But to preach Christ to an empty seat—$250 is a lot of investment in the man who isn't there!

I realize my kind of arithmetic isn't likely to save souls. But it would do a lot for my blood pressure if just a few people in every congregation across the land would start thinking about that empty seat the way I do!

I don't mean the money. Just the fact that spiritual opportunities are here to be claimed . . . and only when wasted do they cost us dearly.

Murder Conviction Is Affirmed By Court

A cake labeled "Happy birthday, jailbird," which was delivered to a juror, did not constitute jury misconduct, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled Wednesday.

Pet Show At Fair

The Big Spring Kennel Club has completed plans to assist the Howard County Fair Association in conducting the Pet Show in the 1974 Fair.

Pet show will be to-night and will again be held in the South barn East on the fair-grounds. Entries will be accepted at ring-side beginning at 6:30 p.m., and show-time is slated to begin at 7:30 p.m.

"We are all looking forward to helping with the pet show again because we all had so much fun last year," said Bruce Wright, Kennel Club spokesman.

"We urge all youngsters in the area to bring their pets to the Show," Wright said. "Just about any kind of pet is eligible and we will have classes for dogs, cats, fowls, as well as exotic animals."

Subdivisions within the categories will be for the largest, smallest, best behaved, best groomed, etc.

All animals should be on lead, or in cages or otherwise easily controlled, and domestic animals should have received routine inoculations against rabies (dogs) and other common pet diseases as indicated.

Additional information can be had from Wright at Wright's Prescription Pharmacy 419-main.

A copy of the opinion affirming the murder conviction of Narciso Joseph Santiago, 28, was received today by District Attorney Bob Moore.

Former District Attorney Wayne Burns prosecuted in the 118th District Court trial here before Judge Ralph W. Caton.

Jurors, who were sequestered for six days during the trial, learned that Mrs. Rozell Hogue had a birthday, the opinion states. A collection was taken, and a woman bailiff ordered the cake, which two male bailiffs brought to jury quarters.

"The cake had on it, 'Happy birthday, jailbird,'" and on its side was a window with bars on it," the opinion states.

Jurors sang happy birthday to Mrs. Hogue.

Testimony from jurors was taken on the motion for a new trial of the man convicted of shooting Malcolm T. Gore.

"We conclude from their testimony that the cake and birthday part for Mrs. Hogue, had no reference to appellant (Santiago) nor to the deliberations, but were strictly directed to the celebration of the juror's birthday," the court ruled.

Santiago was sentenced to two years to life for murder and to 10 years for a related assault with intent to murder.

KBYG Ex-Owners Sued By AP

The Associated Press today filed a suit in 118th District Court here against Howard County Broadcasting Inc., one of a series of owners of Radio Station KBYG during the past several years.

The firm of which John Hicks III is president owes AP $1,647 for news services according to the petition. Services were suspended. And the international news firm wants money for estimated costs for the time remaining in the contract.

Altogether, AP is seeking $5,116. Howard County Broadcasting has applied to the Federal Communications Commission for approval of sale of KBYG to another firm.

Jimmy Mathis Changes Mind; To Stay On Job

STANTON — Stanton's first city manager, Jimmy Mathis, resigned recently, but tore up his letter of resignation this week and decided to remain after a special called meeting of the city council and a strong show of support.

Councilmen Bill Coggin and Jack Cook called the special meeting and Coggin presented a three-fold proposal. They granted Mathis a $1,416 raise, bringing his salary to $12,000.

He was given permission to work on civic activities such as his position as industrial chairman during working hours. He was also given permission to have a free hand to handle personnel matters.

Mayor Cecil Bridges questioned whether Mathis would stay for the $12,000 annual pay. Coggin answered that he thought he would. "If he turns down a $17,000 a year job for one paying $12,000 than I suggest he wants to stay," Coggin stated.

Bridges commented that Councilman F. O. Rhodes said, "I'll tell you fellows one thing, an employe you have is better than one you have to go out and hire."

Forum Host To Meeting

The American G.I. Forum regional convention slated Saturday and Sunday at the Settles Hotel will attract an estimated 60 regional and state officials, Gus Ochotorena said.

Tony Morales, national chairman, Fort Worth, and Dr. Amador Garcia, the founder from Corpus Christi, are expected.

Districts within the state G.I. Forum organization have been dissolved, and four regions are being established in their place.

he hated to be "put over a barrel" by an employe and Coggin pointed out that Mathis had said nothing to any of the council about wanting a pay hike to stay.

Bridges reminded the council that the city had run for 40 years before it hired Mathis.

Yeah, Coach

LEADING BY A POINT — Dave Henry looks over the car which made him mid-season class A champion at Big Spring Raceway. With the season ending Saturday night, Henry is leading Darrell Pollack by one point for the title of season's champ. Don Baker is far ahead of other class B contestants, and Ronny Thompson has a commanding lead in class C. Bill Moore, owner of the raceway west of Big Spring by IS-20, said the races start at 8 p.m. Saturday, followed by a demolition derby and awards presentation. The next season commences April 1, 1975.

Insanity Appeal

HOUSTON (AP) — Harris County Dist. Atty. Carol Vance has asked Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill to appeal a federal court ruling dealing with Texas insanity laws, to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Vance took exception to a ruling in Dallas last week by a three-judge federal panel. Vance said the ruling indicated release standards for persons committed as criminally insane are unconstitutional and should no longer be used.

"This is a very far-reaching opinion in that it will permit the release of potentially extremely dangerous people who have committed violent and depraved acts back into society by a simple order by the institution," Vance said.

"This is opposed to the present law which required release by a jury," Vance said.

In a letter to Hill seeking the appeal, Vance said "I feel it would be a tragedy for the people of this state if patients were to be released from Rusk Hospital without the necessity of a jury trial, and I also feel that the patients themselves would be victimized."

Living In House By Side Of Road Risking Cancer?

NEW YORK (AP) — Living in a house by the side of the road might hold the risk of having cancer as an uninvited guest, a Swiss physician reports. Dr. Walter Blumer of Netstal, Switzerland, said he had 75 patients who died of cancers over a 12-year period, and 72 of them had lived within 50 yards of a state highway carrying 5,000 vehicles a day through Netstal.

DEATH RATE
He said this meant the death rate from cancer was nine times higher among those living close to the highway than among those living beyond, and the rate might have been higher still if a greater proportion of people lived along the highways. Blumer's findings were published in the Medical Tribune, based on an account of Blumer's report recently to an International Medical Congress on Road Accidents in Utrecht, the Netherlands.

Scholarship Is Being Set Up

The Progressive Forum met Thursday at LaPosada for lunch. Mrs. Donald Priddy, president, conducted the business meeting. Members decided to sell pecans again this year. The money will be used for a scholarship for a nursing student at Howard College.

Mrs. Maxwell Green gave a short devotional on "Pioneer in the Home." She said when you find a new and better way to do something in the home, share it with others.

The programs for this year will be on Our Texas Heritage. Anyone interested in attending a meeting can call 7-5130. The next meeting will be Oct. 17.

A graduate of Welch High School, he was raised in Dawson County. He is over Howard, Dawson, Gaines and Borden Counties.

$5.40 Hour Voted Down
HUGHES TOOL CO. (AP) — Hughes Tool Co. sought a temporary injunction in state district court today to prohibit any violence during a strike by 2,600 members of United Steelworkers Local 1742.

The hearing was originally scheduled for Wednesday but Judge Arthur Lesher postponed the hearing until today at the agreement of both sides.

The steelworkers walked out at midnight Saturday after turning down a company offer for a 15 per cent wage hike the first year of the new contract.

A company spokesman said the wage offer would increase the average salary from $4.67 per hour to $5.40 per hour. The union's negotiating committee had accepted the offer but the membership voted it down.

Management and the union reportedly will resume contract talks Friday with the aid of a federal mediator.

SURVIVAL CRACKERS
Fallout Shelters Food Being Shipped Abroad

By The Associated Press

Millions of pounds of food stockpiled in American fallout shelters during the 1960s are being sent abroad to aid famine-stricken nations.

"Rather than let the stuff go rancid in the shelters, the thing to do is try to feed somebody with it," says John L. Padgett, Louisiana's deputy director of civil defense.

Communities across the nation are doing just that.

An Associated Press survey shows at least 30 states and 40 communities have donated or plan to donate a percentage of the stockpiled food to hungry nations. Most of the food consists of survival crackers and is going to Bangladesh.

The crackers are part of some 150,000 tons of crackers that remain from supplies stockpiled in shelters between 1962 and 1964, according to a civil defense spokesman in Washington. The supplies were turned over to the control of communities where they were stocked.

The Agency for International Development and CARE have sent shipments of the crackers to 19 countries, including Bangladesh and Nicaragua, the spokesman said.

Most of the food in the shelters has passed its shelf-life of about five years and if the supplies are not used soon they will become inedible.

Edward W. Kroll, Dane County, Wis., emergency planning director, said his county's supplies had dwindled because they deteriorated and had to be removed.

Kroll said Wisconsin has agreed to send 2.1 million pounds of crackers to Bangladesh.

Some communities are finding other uses for the supplies.

Some using them as landfill; Kentucky civil defense officials say they have sent some spoiled food to feed livestock at state prison farms.

Abortions, Busing Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A ban on using federal funds for abortions and school busing has been approved by the Senate as part of a $33 billion appropriations bill financing health, education and welfare projects.

The bill now goes to a House-Senate conference committee to work out differences on funding. The Senate bill Wednesday was $419 million below the administration's request and $297 million less than the appropriation approved by the House.

The abortion provision prohibits use of federal funds to pay for abortions except when necessary to save the life of the mother.

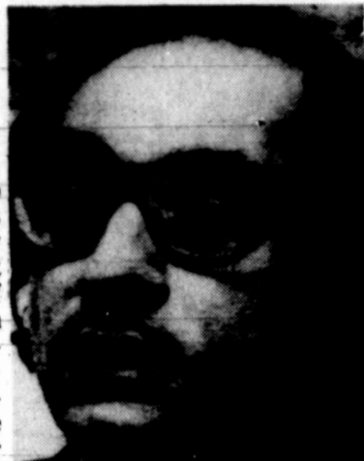

Overall, the bill finances most of the government's domestic social programs. The heaviest funding cut by the Senate was $1.1 billion for welfare benefits.

MIT To Study Newspapers

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Two Massachusetts Institute of Technology professors will direct a long-range study of newspaper distribution methods and management.

The study was commissioned by the American Newspaper Publishers Association and will be headed by J. Francis Reintjes, electrical engineering professor and Thomas L. Magnanti, assistant professor of management.

The study also will examine newspaper marketing and the storage and use of information.

GOOD PAY — Donald E. Santarelli, the former head of the Law Enforcement Assistance Agency, who resigned June 1, is still with the agency as a $135 a day consultant. Santarelli resigned June 1 after suggesting publicly that Nixon should quit the presidency because of Watergate.

Garbage Truck Has Troubles

The rain was causing problems for utility companies and city services Wednesday.

A Texas Electric Pole was reported down west of the Bowlarama late Wednesday.

A city garbage truck was reported to have gone out of control in an alley and slid into a fence. The city wrecker came to get the truck out and the boom broke and a maintainer was used to extract the truck from the mud.
