Stiff New Fee On Gas Proposal Is Pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — A stiff new fee on gasoline, surcharges on natural gas and electricity, and a tax break for insulating your home are among the energy saving proposals pondered by the Ford administration.

Administration spokesmen said Tuesday that these and other ideas were being circulated among White House and Cabinet officials with the aim of sending energy-conservation proposals to Congress as part of President Ford's economic package.

NEXT WEEK
The proposals could come as early as next week, but spokesmen and officials said they were not yet in final shape and had not been approved by the President.

Among the tentative proposals were ideas to require industry planning for energy conservation, and to boost government publicity on fuel-saving methods.

A spokesman for the Federal Energy Office said the United States would gain two ways from strong conservation efforts.

They would allow a reduction of oil imports, reducing the outflow in the U.S. balance of payments. And they would "show the world we mean business" as the United States seeks to rally oil-importing nations behind a campaign to reduce demand and force international oil prices down.

Another FEA source said still more energy-saving proposals may emerge later when the agency sends its Project Independence policy proposals to President Ford in November.

The spokesman and source provided these outlines of the conservation ideas under consideration for early proposal to Congress:

—A conservation fee on gasoline, at 10, 20 or 30 cents per gallon. This would raise the price at the pump to as much as 80 cents per gallon, but at least part of the fees collected might be refunded to the public through the income tax system.

—Owners of homes and commercial buildings might be allowed to purchase basic quotas of natural gas and electricity at normal prices; but graduated surcharges might be collected on excess use.

INSULATION
Large commercial buildings probably could reduce their use of electricity some 10 to 20 per cent, the FEA source said.

—Home owners who install insulation or storm windows might be allowed to deduct 20 to 30 per cent of the cost from their income tax payment.

—Industries might be required to develop energy conservation plans subject to federal approval, but the FEA has not indicated how such plans could be enforced.

Last winter's public appeals, followed by rising prices, cut energy consumption and the FEA reports that even now, instead of the usual annual increase, energy consumption is barely back to last year's level.

The World At-A-Glance

CHICAGO (AP) — Plastics industry officials quickly denounced and filed lawsuits contesting new federal safety standards reducing worker exposure to vinyl chloride, a gas that may cause cancer. One industry official called the standards "economically unrealistic, technically unfeasible, politically, the stricter regulations for vinyl chloride, a chemical used in numerous plastic products, would cover 7,500 U.S. plants with 350,000 workers.

DETROIT (AP) — New car owners apparently won't have to worry about finding unleaded gasoline for their 1975 models this fall. But some service stations are worrying about finding enough customers for the new grade. A nationwide survey by The Associated Press indicates that at least half the stations in most states already carry unleaded gasoline and many more, mostly in rural areas, plan to stock it later this fall. Virtually all American-made cars will require unleaded fuel.

NEW YORK (AP) — The mayonnaise you put in your tuna fish salad or spread on your hamburger is going up in price along with the basic fish and meat you're trying to economize on. The Associated Press compared prices in September 1973 with prices this Sept. 1 and Oct. 1. The spot check showed that prices for mayonnaise and mayonnaise-type dressings went up sharply over the past 13 months in many areas and there are indications of further increases ahead. The increases ranged from 8 to 27 per cent. In Washington, D.C., the price of a quart of mayonnaise-type dressing more than doubled, going from 65 cents in September 1973 to $1.49 on Oct. 1.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Food price increases in 1975 may top current predictions because of killer frosts in Midwestern corn and soybean areas, Agriculture Department sources say. One source said an estimate by Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz that food prices may rise 8 to 10 per cent next year could be conservative if crop damage is extensive this fall.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic and Republican presidential candidates would be limited to spending $20 million each in their general election campaigns and the government would pick up the tab under legislation awaiting final touches in Congress. The measure would place both candidates on an equal financial footing. By contrast, in 1972 former President Richard M. Nixon's reelection costs ran $60 million while Democrat Sen. George S. McGovern's losing effort cost $30 million to $35 million.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A surprisingly large number of countries are fearful that the United States could push the world into a deep economic recession if it rigidly pursues its anti-inflation policies. "None of us can hope to avoid disaster if there is a severe recession in the United States," said British Finance Minister Denis Healey at the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica has begun selecting a jury in the Watergate cover-up trial, a painstaking process that may take up to a week. He excused 90 of the 155 potential jurors first called before him Tuesday after they said they would be inconvenienced by serving on the jury, which is to be sequestered for the trial.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency has banned production of two pesticides used on key farm crops, saying they are possible cancer hazards and that adequate alternatives exist for them. Several experts say the ban on Aldrin and Dieldrin is unlikely to have a far-reaching effect on the production or price of the crops on which they are used.

Governor Due Thursday

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, accompanied by his wife, Janey, will visit here Thursday afternoon as part of a West Texas tour.

He and Mrs. Briscoe will be honored at an informal reception 2 p.m. at the First Federal Savings & Loan Community Room, said Jack Little, local coordinator, and the public is urged to visit with the governor.

"This is a come-and-go affair and open to everyone," said Little. There will be refreshments. The Briscoes are due to go from here about 3:30 p.m. to Midland and then to Odessa for an overnight stop. Friday they swing back to the east and will be in Dallas Saturday for opening of the State Fair.

MAY LEAD TO GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF NEWSPAPERS — Clay T. Whitehead, former head of the White House Office of Telecommunications Policy, in interview in Cambridge, Mass., says Federal regulation of television may eventually lead to some government control of newspapers. He said FCC regulation of television programming "will escalate until we have a system of tv being programmed with government control of what we see and hear."

Scrap Plan To Slay 1,000 Head Of Cattle

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Protesting cattlemen scrapped plans today to slaughter hundreds of calves after a White House spokesman said President Ford may meet with them in Washington.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White urged the cattlemen not to kill their calves and bury them in a mass grave as the cattlemen proposed.

White said this would create a bad public image.

"Thousands here in the United States can't afford to buy beef and milk. They're not going to understand what you're trying to do," White said, referring to the cattlemen's cost-price squeeze.

At that moment, about 400 persons, mostly cattlemen and dairy men, were gathered on the open range of the Jack Beyer Ranch north of here. They had backed up their cattle-loaded trailers and pickup trucks to an open grave which was bulldozed just prior to the emotional meeting.

The next goal for the hospital, according to Reese, is to get 100 per cent participation from the hospital employees. At present, about two-thirds of the employees have contributed to the campaign.

W. S. Pearson, campaign chairman, said that initial 100 per cent employee group contributions were due to be reported to the office today.

George Zacharian, in charge of the UW office, said that the campaign now has passed the $50,217 mark. This is 41.5 per cent of the total goal, and a figure expected to swell this week as employee groups begin reporting.

The suspect convinced detectives that he had no knowledge of Hendley's disappearance and he was released.

The bank withdrawal, police said, never was a police matter since no complaints were filed.

Hendley's wife did not confirm her husband's whereabouts, but King said, "I understand Hendley has grown a beard and has plans to enroll in a gunsmithing school at Denver. There was no foul play... he's up there by his own volition."

Hendley, a former chief felony prosecutor for Dist. Atty. Henry Wade, reportedly made contact with his wife and law firm partners about 10 days ago. The partners contacted friends in the police department Monday and they relayed the information to King.

The 42-year-old Hendley vanished Aug. 14 after his wife drove him in her car to the law firm's downtown office. His 1971 Lincoln Continental also was reported missing.

Investigators confirmed after Hendley's disappearance that he had withdrawn $31,300 from an escrow account maintained by his firm on Aug. 14.

Sentence Reinecke For Lying

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge gave former California Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke an 18-month suspended sentence today for lying to a U.S. Senate committee about an ITT financial pledge to the 1972 Republican National Convention.

U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker also placed Reinecke under one month of unsupervised probation.

"You were a victim of your own selfish ambition," Parker told Reinecke. "But under the circumstances you have been penalized sufficiently."

Reinecke resigned as California's lieutenant governor at 12:15 p.m. EDT today in letters submitted to the state assembly speaker and president of the California state Senate.

VA Exceeds CFC Target

The employees of the Big Spring Veteran's Administration Hospital have contributed $3,443 to the Combined Federal Campaign, according to VA Campaign Keyman, Jack Reese. This is $208 over the immediate goal.

The campaign for all federal employees is headed by Col. Robert Owens, Webb Air Force Base.

A total of 72 per cent of the money collected by the Combined Federal Campaign goes to the local United Way campaign. The remainder of the collections goes to benefit national charities and health agencies.

The next goal for the hospital, according to Reese, is to get 100 per cent participation from the hospital employees. At present, about two-thirds of the employees have contributed to the campaign.

Senate Ignores Threat, Refuses Aid To Turkey

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has defied the threat of a presidential veto and written a ban on military aid to Turkey into a foreign aid bill.

The action came as the Senate considered a $2.5-billion bill for foreign military and economic aid Tuesday.

In another vote, the Senate cut $435 million, which could be taken from this bill or other foreign aid appropriations that would be considered separately.

VOTED DOWN
The Senate ignored President Ford's threat of a veto and added unwanted foreign policy restrictions to a stopgap resolution providing funds for federal programs whose regular appropriations have not yet been approved.

AID TO CHILE
President Ford said the Eagleton amendment would rob the United States of negotiating flexibility and influence and "destroy any

It voted down 59 to 29 a motion to strike an amendment by Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton, D-Mo., aimed at cutting off all military aid to Turkey for what he called the "illegal" use of U.S. military grant weapons in the July invasion of Cyprus.

The motion to strike was offered by Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania after President Ford issued a statement that he would veto the bill if it survives a House-Senate conference with the Eagleton language intact.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana supported Scott's motion.

AID TO CHILE
President Ford said the Eagleton amendment would rob the United States of negotiating flexibility and influence and "destroy any hopes for the success" of U.S. efforts for peace in Cyprus.

Scott said that the Eagleton language, barring aid to "any country" using U.S. weapons for nondefense purposes, also could be interpreted as applying to Greece and Israel.

Besides the Turkey aid cutoff, the Senate adopted Tuesday the amendments to the money bill, including:

—By Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., approved 47 to 41, to cut off military aid to Chile for what he called repression of human rights.

—By Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., 52 to 31, to reduce foreign aid spending 30 per cent in November and 10 per cent more each month until the regular appropriation bill is enacted.

HOW TO CHEAT, ROB, STEAL State Textbook Panel Caught In Crossfire

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The 15-member State Textbook Committee, caught in a crossfire of protest with hints of a local boycott in Austin, votes today on a series of proposed texts.

Final decisions on which books to adopt in 15 public school subjects will be made Nov. 9 by the State Board of Education, based largely on the committee's recommendations.

BOYCOTT
The committee was reminded at its final hearing Tuesday that one series of language arts books, D.C. Heath & Co.'s "Communicating" for grades 1-6 has been involved in the strikes and boycott over texts in Kanawha County, W.Va.

"After carefully and thoroughly reviewing this series, I can understand why so many thousand of parents in West Virginia are objecting to these books and are willing to sacrifice their salaries in strikes against the use of these books," said Mrs. Mel Gabler of Longview.

Mrs. Gabler, who has protested books from a generally conservative stance for more than a dozen years, recently became a full-time consultant on textbooks and offers her services to groups in other states.

UNHEALTHY
She released to The Associated Press a letter in which Alice Moore, leader of the West Virginia protest, asked for reviews of the Heath books and several other texts.

Mrs. Gabler contends the Heath books portray stealing, vandalism and violence in a way that is unhealthy for youngsters. She called the series "handbooks on how to cheat, rob and steal for 6 through 9-year-olds."

A spokeswoman for the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. R.C. Bearden Jr. of San Angelo said an unidentified Austin woman approached her at the hearing in September and mentioned the possibility of a boycott.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS
She quoted the woman as saying: "I want you to know that I and a group of my friends are prepared, if they adopt all these texts to which you all are objecting, to take our children out of school and to have our day in court to let people know what is going on and what is in the textbooks."

Women's rights advocates also are trying to force changes in some of the books and say they are not happy with any of the basal readers that are up for adoption.

"All of them have a well measurable amount of sexism," said Marjorie Randal of Clear Lake City. "All we could do was grade them from totally unacceptable to relatively acceptable."

Louis Stolar of the Hal Leonard Publishing Co. said the Continuing Task Force on Education for Women appeared to be going too far in its attack on stereotyping of female roles in textbooks.

"The methods employed... project an extremely negative attitude toward those values which a majority of people in our society consider to be sound, proven, desirable and even necessary," Stolar said.

PICKING ON MOM
"To project a positive approach to the many contributions made by professional women is one thing, but to pick on Mom is another," he said.

Committee member Gwendolyn Shelton of Austin objected to a kindergarten book published by Stolar's firm that shows a mother in an apron fainting after a bug gets on her hand.

"Mr. Stolar, moms don't faint, they get the flyswatter," Mrs. Shelton said.

HUNT KIDNAPERS Banker's Wife Found Dead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — The wife of a rural banker was found dead after she was kidnaped by three gunmen who forced her husband to give them an undisclosed amount of money.

The body of Jean R. Reville, 51, was found late Tuesday in the trunk of her car on a dirt road about 12 miles west of Augusta, the FBI said early today.

The cause of death was not immediately known. An autopsy was scheduled today.

Her husband, 53-year-old Eatonton B. Reville Jr., was waylaid on his way to work early Monday by three masked, armed men who told him his wife was locked in the trunk of her car, agents said.

Mrs. Reville had left home about an hour earlier than her husband for her nursing job at University Hospital in Augusta.

Authorities said Reville took the men to the Hephzibah branch of the Georgia Railroad Bank and Trust, where he is manager, and gave them a plastic waste container filled with an undisclosed amount of cash.

He was found locked in the trunk of his car early Tuesday.

Court Penalizes AMPI $230,000

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The state of Texas will collect $230,000 in penalties from the nation's largest milk cooperative and has gained a comprehensive injunction in an out-of-court settlement of a suit alleging restraint of free trade.

Associated Milk Producers, Inc., however, did not admit any past wrongdoing in agreeing to pay the money.

In yet another move to dispense with myriad litigation against it, the scandal-tainted co-op submitted itself to the injunction only three months after the Texas attorney general's consumer protection division brought suit in state district court.

'LOADING THE POOL'

District Court Judge Tom Blackwell signed the agreed judgment which, besides the penalties, permanently restrained the 41,000-member, San Antonio-based AMPI from the following in Texas:—illegally "loading the pool" by using federal orders to flood a market with milk and depressing the price paid to dairy farmers.

—Forcing milk haulers to carry only AMPI milk from the dairy farm to the processing plant or from acquiring control of milk haulers who formerly carried non-AMPI milk, unless the haulers would continue to carry non-AMPI milk.

—Entering contracts to supply milk from its farmers to processors for more than one year at a time.

REBATES

—Accepting rebates from processors.

—Using its influence in an area where its farmers members are predominant to require milk processors to buy AMPI milk in other areas where AMPI has competitors—in other words, foreclosing the market.

—Discriminating against any processor who buys non-AMPI raw milk.

—Threatening AMPI members who want to quit or using undue influence on non-AMPI members to join the co-op, which has a majority of the milk producers in Texas in its membership.

TOUCH

"I felt that we were obtaining everything we could reasonably hope to obtain in a trial," said Atty. Gen. John Hill said after a court session Tuesday in which he read the 11-page settlement.

The specifics in the injunction conformed with antitrust violations the state alleged in its original pleadings in the suit.

"I don't know of a base we haven't covered. In it, we try to see this operation continues as we believe now it is operating in a legal manner," said Hill. The order provides for annual review for the next 10 years.

AMPI attorney Sidney Harris of Washington, D.C., noted in court that "AMPI does not agree nor admit that the attorney general could have proved violations. AMPI does want to continue in business."

The co-op, which also has reached agreement in a proposed settlement of the federal government's antitrust suit against it, wants to "get its litigation behind it and to go forward in an entirely legitimate manner," said Harris.

Hill was asked by reporters if the agreement by AMPI to pay penalties was in effect an admission of past wrongdoing.

"No, it is not," Hill first said.

Later, he said, "I'll let it speak for itself. I mean, you'll have to construe what it means. The public will have to construe what it means. We sought penalties in this suit for violations of the law and some penalties have now been collected."

"I think you ought to leave it at that," he said.

Hill declined to discuss negotiations about the amount of penalties except to say "there was some give and take."

Conceivably, the attorney general's office could have asked for more than $2 million if it carried the allegations back to the co-op's beginning of operations in 1969 and applied the maximum penalty to each day of operations.

NEVER

However, Hill said, "That was never our intention and we didn't think the proof showed that at all."

Using the maximum daily fine of $1,500, the $230,000 figure would represent 153 days, although Hill did not indicate what figures or length of time were used in computing the penalty accepted by AMPI.

The federal case, which is now before a federal district judge in Kansas City, was filed in 1972 and contains the same complaints against AMPI operations. Competitors in private antitrust suits wave also alleged predator and restrictive activities by AMPI.

According to one estimate, AMPI has spent between $3 million and $4 million in legal fees since the federal suit was filed.

Despite its problems, AMPI set an annual record for revenues in the past fiscal year.

Two of its former top officials have pleaded guilty to Watergate-related federal campaign contribution violations and the co-op itself has been fined for such violations, involving contributions to former President Nixon's reelection campaign and to other Republicans and Democrats.

Former AMPI attorney Jake Jacobsen is pitted against former Treasury Secretary John Connally in Connally's pending trial on charges he accepted a bribe from the milk producers in return for his influence in the Nixon administration.

$6 Million In Missing, Unpaid Traffic Tickets

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Nooks, crannies and by-holes in city hall are being searched for what could amount to $6 million in missing, unpaid traffic tickets.

FANTASTIC

One closet in the city judges' law library yielded eight cartons containing some 28,000 of the missing traffic tickets.

"Fantastic," says Mayor Wyeth Chandler. "Maybe if we open up all the closets in the clerk's office we'll find the whole bundle."

George Supensky, director of finance and budget, said in early September that checks by his office showed that up to 150,000 citations could not be located at either the Traffic Violations Bureau or the City Court clerk's office.

"These tickets weren't missing," said David Vance, city court clerk, of the tickets found in the law library closet. "We knew where they were. No one asked me about them. I didn't know these were the tickets they were looking for."

UNCOLLECTABLE

Another 14,000 tickets worth $807,000 in revenue were located by Charles Cagle, manager of auditing and management services, in a city court clerk's file marked "uncollectable."

Supensky said they weren't even included in his first estimate, and Cagle said there was no apparent effort to collect them, although they were filed as uncollectible.

"The courts have made no effort to collect them because that happens to be the city attorney's responsibility," City Court Judge Joseph McCartie said Monday.

City officials said part of the problem stems from an April switchover of ticket responsibility from city court clerk to the Traffic Violations Bureau, which installed computer equipment to process tickets.

The bidding:

Opening lead: Ace of ♠

Often, there are alternate methods of playing a contract, and it is declarer's task to select one that offers the best chance of making the desired number of tricks. Sometimes the bidding or play will yield enough valuable clues to make the selection of the winning line even easier.

Since North's major suit was hardly biddable, he elected to open the bidding in his lower three-card minor. After East's overall, South opted to bid the full value of his hand, and North was happy to pass.

West led the ace of spades and continued with the nine, declarer ruffing. It appeared that the contract hinged on finding either the queen of diamonds or king of clubs with West, but in view of East's overall and the fact that West had already shown up with the ace of spades, it seemed likely that both these cards were with East. Declarer therefore set out to arrange an endplay.

Trumps were drawn in two rounds, ending in dummy. The queen of spades was led, and when East covered with the king, declarer discarded a club from his hand. This loser-on-loser maneuver assured the contract, for East was left with the unenviable task of either leading up to dummy's minor suit holdings or giving declarer a ruff-and-suff. Note that this line would succeed even if West held the king of clubs, for though East could safely exit with a club to his partner's king, the queen of clubs would be set up for a diamond discard.

As the cards lie, declarer can also make the contract via a strip endplay. He ruffs the king of spades and plays ace, king, jack of diamonds. East has no safe return after winning the queen of diamonds. However, this line is considerably inferior to the one adopted by declarer, for it would lose the contract if West held the queen of diamonds and a club higher than East's lowest club. When West gains the lead, he returns his highest club and declarer has no recourse except to gracefully concede down one.

Scientists Achieve Vital Point In Fusion Process

Scientists at the University of Texas at Austin announced Tuesday the achievement of a milestone in efforts to use nuclear fusion reactions as a source of energy.

"We have achieved temperatures of over 200 million degrees in the Texas Tokamak," Dr. William E. Drummond, director of the UT Fusion Research Center, said. This is the first time that temperatures of that magnitude have been achieved in a containment device. The experiment is jointly supported by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission and the electric utilities industry.

Extreme temperatures, as high as 10 times the temperature of the sun, as well as the containment of the fusion fuel at that temperature for the required period of time are necessary for the creation of controlled fusion reactions. Fusion is viewed by many as the best long-term solution to the energy shortage.

PRIVATE RESEARCH

Texas Electric Service Co. and nine other Texas power companies, through the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation, have been supporting nuclear fusion research since 1957. Utilities nationwide joined the effort through their research organization, the Electric Power Research Institute. The Tokamak project represents a unique partnership of industry, university and government in supporting the kind of long-range research necessary to meet the country's future electric needs.

"If the goal of achieving fusion power can be reached, it will indeed be a thermonuclear El Dorado," Dr. Drummond says. Fusion power plants could provide the world with a virtually unlimited supply of electrical energy. These fusion plants will not only be attractive from the environmental viewpoint, he continued, "but also because of intrinsic safety and the possibility of very high efficiency."

FUEL FROM WATER

The basic fuel for the fusion reaction is deuterium, an isotope of hydrogen, which can be extracted readily from seawater. Scientists estimate that the deuterium in a pitcher of water can provide enough energy for the average home for a year.

The Texas Tokamak is a variation of a device first built in the Soviet Union. A Tokamak is a doughnut-shaped chamber in which the fusion fuel can be heated to extreme temperatures and contained by means of a magnetic field. In effect, the Tokamak is a magnetic bottle.

At the temperature levels the UT scientists are working, containment could not be achieved in a bottle constructed of material walls. No material could withstand the heat. In the Tokamak, magnetic fields prevent the ultra-hot gas from contacting the walls of the doughnut-shaped torus.

TURBULENT HEATING

The Texas Tokamak uses a method of heating developed at UT and in Great Britain called "turbulent heating." Other methods have been used to reach fusion temperatures, but the experiment at UT represents the first time that such extremes of temperatures have been reached in a magnetic confinement device.

In addition to reaching the thermonuclear temperatures, transition from this turbulent heating phase of the experiment to the confinement phase has been successfully achieved without the hot gas escaping to the walls of the torus.

The next step for UT researchers will be to carefully measure the properties of this extremely hot confined gas and by modifying the Tokamak, to extend the confinement time.

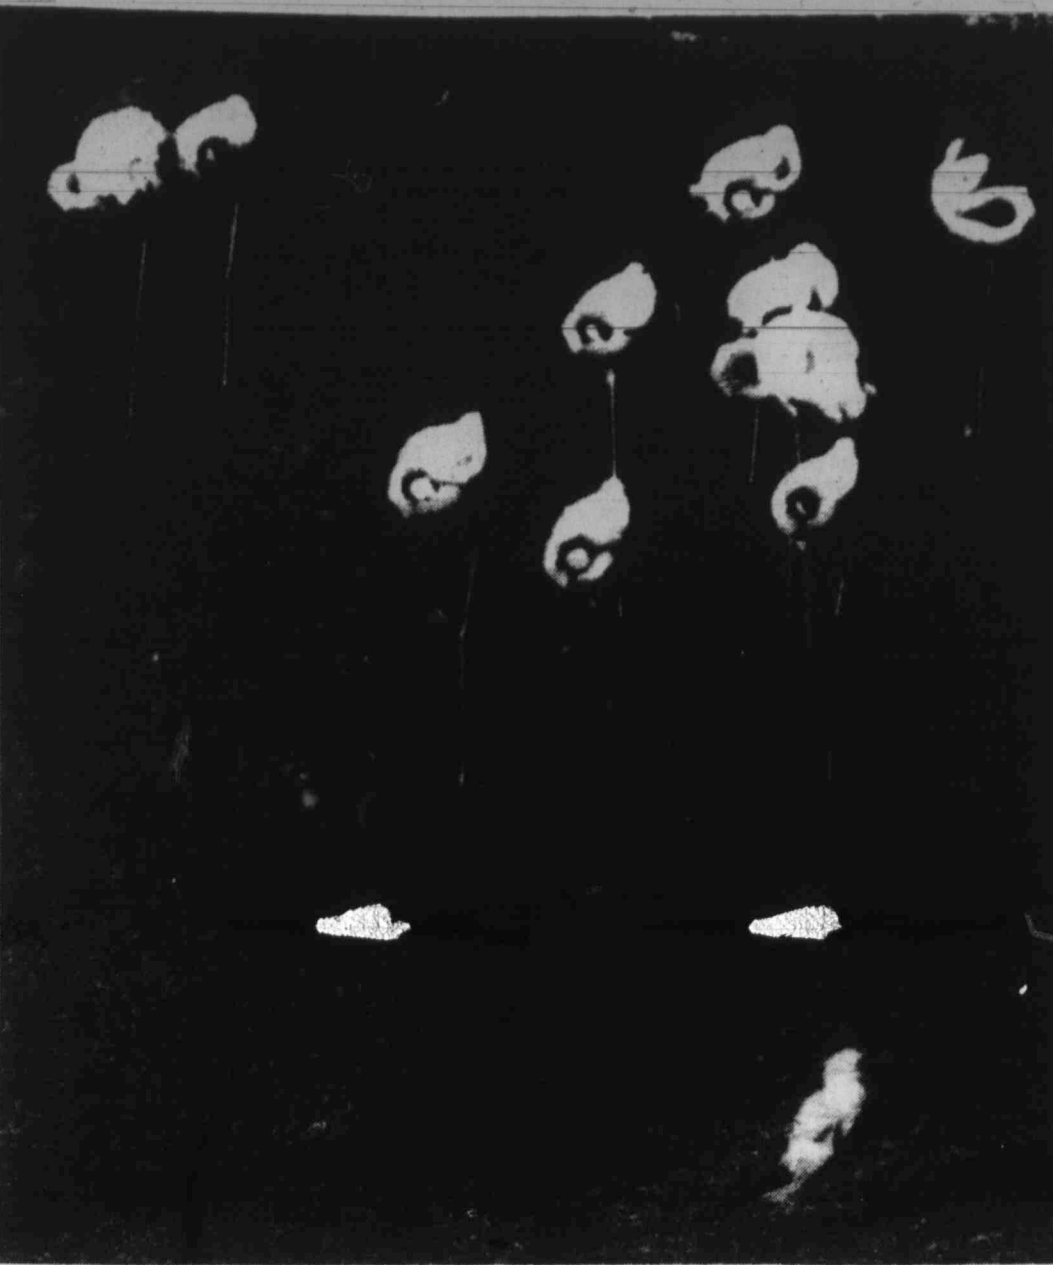

Although the Texas Tokamak is a research device which is small compared to the fusion power plants which will ultimately be developed, it has the unique property that its confinement is controlled by the same principle mechanism that will probably control the confinement in fusion power plants. As a result, the Texas Tokamak has the ability to test experimentally the theories of confinement which will be used in the design of large fusion power plants of the future.

CONFIDENT

Researchers throughout the world currently are conducting experiments to provide information that will be used in determining the methods which will be employed in this country's first fusion reactor. The difficult decision as to how that will be done will be made in this decade.

"The development of fusion power is a complex problem," Dr. Drummond said. "However, fusion will be developed. At the moment we are looking to a point sometime in the 1990's when we should have a fusion power plant which actually demonstrates both the engineering and the commercial viability of this new source of energy."

Brooks' Lawyer Claims Inmates Clipped Client

HOUSTON (AP) — A state judge has scheduled a hearing for next Monday on motions that David Owen Brooks, 19, a defendant in the Houston mass murder case, be given no more haircuts prior to his sanity hearing.

Ted Musick, Brooks' lawyer, contends his client was injured while being forced to have his hair cut in the county jail.

Musick asked District Court Judge William Hatten to dismiss the charges against Brooks or to order the sheriff's office not to cut Brooks' hair.

Brooks is being held without bond after being named in murder indictments involving four of the 27 victims of the 1973 sex-torture murder ring. Brooks has a sanity hearing scheduled in Hatten's court Nov. 4.

Musick's motions allege bruises and injuries were inflicted under the supervision of sheriff's deputies who had two inmates drag Brooks from his cell and force him into a barber's chair.

Chief Sheriff's Deputy Gus George denied the charge.

George said Brooks was not abused. He said Brooks did not want his hair cut but that haircuts are necessary in jail for cleanliness and sanitation.

Musick said the haircut violates Brooks' constitutional rights.

Elmer Wayne Henley, 18, the second defendant in the mass murder case, was convicted in a July trial in San Antonio and assessed six 99-year prison sentences for a total of 594 years.

There Are Still Many Satellites Up There

The average citizen may have forgotten that there are satellites still up in space on regular swings around the earth.

This week, Gary Carlson, who is in charge of the high school planetarium, issued a list of when they may be seen near Big Spring.

Skylab Debris-K, launched in 1973 may be seen Saturday at 8:39 p.m. in the mid sky in the south and should be bright.

Pegasus 1, launched in 1965, nine years later is still circling and can be seen Sunday at 8:38 p.m. in the western sky traveling east, bright; and again on Wednesday, Oct. 9 at 8:52 p.m. in the same spot.

Skylab Shroud-E, launched in 1973 may be seen Monday at 8:43 p.m. high in the southeast, bright. A satellite called OAO-02 RKT, will be dim, high in the northwest at 9:14 p.m. Tuesday. It can be seen at 8:33 p.m. high in the west on Wednesday and 9:36 p.m. moving from west northwest to east on Thursday.

Mystery: Who Left The Boots?

"I just found them one morning, and I wonder if there's a barefoot litigant (party to a law suit) out there somewhere," District Judge Ralph W. Caton said.

Caton was talking about the mysterious men's boots left by the plaintiff's table in Howard County's 118th District Courtroom.

Caton said he first noticed the black, zipped boots during the recent rain siege, but the passage of time has failed to yield any clues.

VFW Slates Meet Today

Today at 7:30 p.m., the VFW has scheduled a meeting in the V.F.W. Post Home.

An increase of national dues and insurance coverage, and important post activities will be discussed, Leonard E. Posey, quartermaster, reported.

BSHS Set For Homecoming

Homecoming for Big Spring High School, which turned out its first graduates 70 years ago, is ready to fire its first salvos Thursday evening.

This will be in the form of the first torchlight parade by students on the way to a big downtown pep rally, Friday 9 a.m.-9:45 a.m. will see two assemblies at which two new BSHS Hall of Fame inductees, Congressman J. J. Pickle and Joe Pickle, Herald editor, will speak briefly. They will be part of the 4:30 p.m. homecoming parade from 10th and Main to Second, west to Scurry and south to Ninth. Upwards of 200 out-of-town couples have written they plan to attend Homecoming.

Five finalists have been named for the Homecoming queen coronation at half time of the Big Spring-Abilene game. They are Nancy Conway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Conway; Leslie Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Harris; Kathy Meek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Meek; Linda Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bill Little; and Melody Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Ray.

After the game, several glass groups are having informal receptions. The 1930-39 decade will be at First Federal Savings and Loan (and the 1920's may join them); The 1940's will be at the High School cafeteria, with Classes 43-44-45 spotlighted. Classes 1950-55 will be at St. Mary's Episcopal Parish; Classes 1956-59 at the Settles Hotel Ballroom (1960s and 61s may join them).

Saturday 10 a.m.-12 noon, Twila Lomax will host the classes of 1919-23 (classes before 1919 are invited to join them) at her home. Class of 1944 will have a luncheon at La Posada; the Pep Squad of the mid-30s will have a brunch at the Big Spring Country Club.

The Hall of Fame induction, followed by a gathering of all classes in the cafeteria, will be in the BSHS foyer at 2 p.m. Homecoming dances for the exes will be Saturday evening at the Howard County Fair Barn, and for the students in the cafeteria.

MOD Plans For Airlift

Plans for the March of Dimes Airlift Sunday afternoon were finalized at the MOD's Cap Rock Chapter board meeting last night. Proceeds will be used in the MOD fight against birth defects.

Flying high with the March of Dimes is one way to help fight birth defects, according to Vaughn Martin, chairman of both the Airlift and the local MOD chapter. He announced that flights will get underway at 12:30 p.m. Sunday at the Howard County Airport.

Passengers will be airborne 15 minutes, getting a bird's eye view of Big Spring from 1,000 feet, also passing over such landmarks as Signal Peak, Scenic Mountain, Webb Air Force and the Big Spring State Hospital.

Local pilots who have volunteered their aircraft will be lifting off continuously until dusk, with gasoline for the flights donated by Bill Wilson Oil Co.

Pilots will include Jack Wagner, Buster Weaver, Robert Dugan, Tom Stuckey and Vaughn Martin.

"We're expecting an even bigger turnout than last year," predicted Martin, "and we'd welcome more volunteer pilots and planes." Martin can be contacted at 263-4842 for more information.

sWith Big Spring High School Homecoming this weekend, Martin hopes that high school exes will take advantage of this chance to see their old haunts from the air.

Advance tickets are on sale at First National Bank and Big Spring High School: adults, $2.00; children 12 years and under, $1.00.

More than 1,000 students viewed the educational film, "Tomorrow Happens Today," during its seven showings, reported Arm Lanc, chapter executive, and that Jack Goble of the V.A. Hospital and local physicians Ramsey Botros and Mark Nordone conducted follow-up question-answer sessions.

Mrs. Lane also reported that a chapter of the March of Dimes Teen Action Program (TAP) will get underway next week with an organizational meeting at the high school.

Vanessa Mancill, Kim Brock, Kathy Perry, Donnie Knight, Steve Hughes and Robert Bradbury are organizers of the new TAP chapter.

Chairman Martin noted that work on the chapter's Mothers' March in Snyder got under way with a coffee Monday night. That city's regional and area chairmen were briefed on the coming campaign by Mrs. Lane.

In other board business, Mrs. Lane commended both the Kiwanis Club for its donation of $60 to buy space for the MOD educational booth at the Howard County Fair, and the high school's Key Club for providing volunteers to help man the booth.

"Keep on Walking," a March of Dimes educational film, was screened, at the meeting by board members. In the film little Marty, born without arms, demonstrates his artificial arms to classmates, then goes into action in the film playing baseball, shooting pool, painting, even swimming. Even when not prevented, birth defects still can be conquered, he showed.

Crim Named Demo's Nominee For Surveyor

With only one precinct chairman present, the Howard County Democratic Executive Committee Tuesday night certified C. R. Crim as the Democratic nominee for county surveyor.

John J. Roemer of precinct

16 made the motion, and Harvey Hooser, county chairman, seconded.

Confusion about the date of the meeting followed differing advance stories announced by radio stations and the Big Spring Herald.

The naming of Crim clears the way for printing general election ballots here.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, today submitted a notice of election listing nominees of all parties for advertisement in the Herald.

Action by the Democratic Executive Committee was necessary, because Ralph Baker, who filed for nomination, died before the first Democratic Primary.

County Commissioners Court appointed Crim to finish Baker's unexpired term. And Crim was the only person to apply for the Democratic nomination, Hooser said.

Roemer asked two questions about Crim.

"First, is he a Democrat?"

"And second, will he support the Democratic nominees?"

Hooser said Crim said he's a Democrat, but the chairman did not know whether the candidate would support other Democrats.

Hooser said he would personally invite members of the Democratic Executive Committee, the precinct chairmen, to the next meeting, which will be held Tuesday, Oct. 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the county courtroom.

Study Indicates Need Of Family Counseling

The Family Counseling Center committee Tuesday discussed the status of surveys being conducted in the community to determine a need for establishing a family counseling center in Big Spring, and what services the proposed center should offer.

Julian Patterson, chairman of the subcommittee of the Chamber of Commerce, asked the members at the meeting for a discussion of the results of the surveys.

The consensus of these indicate that Big Spring business and organization leaders feel there is a need for a Family Counseling Center in the city and that many of their employees and clients would be able to pay $5 to $10 per counseling session, committee members said. Survey results also indicated that various interpersonal services would be needed by the Center to meet the requirements of the community.

But even with the expected revenue from client counseling sessions and the apparent sanction by local

Dear Abby

Swiss Are Great, Stand For Finest

DEAR ABBY: I understand that a few years back, you had a letter in your column from someone who asked why the Swiss are such an arrogant people.

The writer stated that a Swiss will let you know five minutes after you meet him that he is not German, French or Italian - but SWISS.

My ancestors came from Bern, Switzerland. Therefore, I am interested in the way you answered that.

Concert Campaign Enters Last Week

The new membership phase of this year's Community Concert drive got off to a good start Monday evening when a dinner for concert board members and workers was held at La Pasada. Approximately 100 persons were in attendance to begin the biggest and final week of the campaign.

A ticket booth has been set up in the lobby of Hotel Settles, and a second booth is in operation at Hemphill-Wells. Tickets are available at both locations, and further information may be obtained by calling the booth at the hotel, 263-0461. Hours of operation for the booths is 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., with tickets sales ending at 5 p.m., Saturday. Workers are to report regularly to the hotel booth, either in person or by phone, to report sales, and captains have been urged to keep in contact with their workers during the week.

During Monday's dinner, Charles Bell, association president, introduced the board members and officers, thanking the workers for their continued support and efforts. Also, he introduced Mrs. Floy Hancock, Community Concert representative from the Columbia Artists office in New York, who spoke briefly on all the artists appearing in the series. She will remain here the remainder of the week.

Prize winners at the dinner were Jeanette Bentley, who won a student ticket, and Mrs. Fran Wyatt, who won an adult ticket. The table centerpiece was won by Ben Johnson.

The four local presentations will be "The World of Gilbert and Sullivan," Oct. 21; "Polynesia!," Nov. 11; Fred Waring and the Young Pennsylvanians, Feb. 15; and "One Third Ninth," April 14. America's Favorite Beef Stew

DEAR WIS: First, the Swiss are not "arrogant." They are a proud people who have much about which to be proud. They have fresh air and clean government. (Their president serves for one year only, and cannot be re-elected.) They produce the world's finest chocolate, cheeses, watches and precision instruments. Their people are honest, industrious and well-mannered. Their skiing is unbeatable and their banks unbreakable. And if that's not something to yodel about, I don't know what is!

DEAR ABBY: I am a 53-year-old widower. I have a nice home, a responsible position, good health and an adequate income. Some time ago, I met an attractive widow and we've been seeing a lot of each other. She's pretty, has a good figure and is a fine cook and housekeeper. We have the same tastes in music, the theatre, sports and literature. We couldn't be better matched had we been selected for each other by computer.

We want to get married, but we have a problem. I have a dog who has been my constant companion for eight years. Never having had children, King was a great comfort to us during my wife's terminal illness. He was like a member of my family.

Unfortunately the lady has a dog and cat to whom she is equally attached. We've tried to bring these animals together without success. Both dogs are big and they fight to the point of trying to kill each other.

If I bring King to the lady's apartment, he intimidates her cat, and she snarls and hisses and runs up the curtain.

We've discussed our problem with our friends and they're no help. Frankly, they think we're nuts.

Is there a solution that will work?

WANTS TO MARRY

DEAR WANTS: Te widow has the advantage, two pets to one. Why not find a good home for King? Or flip a coin to see which dog goes. If King "wins," the cat remains a problem—unless the two can adjust. (If you

Mexico Might Add 30th, 31st States

MEXICO CITY, Mexico (AP) — Mexico might get its 30th and 31st states this year — one an area consisting largely of cactus and desert and the other a tropical Caribbean paradise where tourists go when they tire of the crowds at Acapulco.

President Luis Echeverria has urged congress to admit to the United States of Mexico the arid territory of Baja California del Sur and the territory of Quintana Roo in southern Mexico. Baja California del Sur lies in the lower half of the long peninsula that extends southward from California into the Pacific; the northern half, above the 28th parallel was admitted to the Mexican union as a state in January 1952.

The territory of Quintana Roo, named for Andress Quintana Roo, a soldier and statesman of the independence period, occupies the western half of the Yucatan Peninsula and was created from the state in 1902, becoming a federal territory in 1935.

Both territories have now fulfilled requirements of Article 73 of the Mexican Constitution for statehood: to have a minimum of 80,000 inhabitants and economic resources, and to maintain their own governmental functions and to contribute to the general treasury of the nation.

HIGHWAY

There is little question here but that congress will approve the bill for statehood for both territories which the president said he will submit for it consideration soon.

"We have put forth considerable effort in the territories of Baja California del Sur and Quintana Roo in support of the efforts the inhabitants themselves to provide their expanded populations with the infrastructure and resources necessary to maintain self-government," Echeverria said recently in his annual report to the nation.

"Through the Transpeninsular Highway, Baja California Sur has been definitely linked with the rest of the nation. There and in Quintana Roo, agriculture and livestock, fishing, industrial and tourism activities are burgeoning."

Adoption of the presidential initiative, he declared, will not only achieve "a long standing ambition of the inhabitants of those regions ... but also a traditional national aim consummating the federalist integration process, initiated 150 years ago in the first federal constitution, will be brought to fruition."

Angelo Diocese Will Observe Education Day

Friday has been set for the annual Education Day of the Diocese of San Angelo.

The event will take place at Sacred Heart Cathedral School, San Angelo, where the day long program will begin with a mass celebrated by Bishop Steven A. Leven in the Cathedral at 9 a.m.

Theme for the gathering of educators will be: "Christian Life Values: Challenge to Educators." The Rev. John Tickle, diocesan director of religion education of El Paso will give the keynote address. Workshops in reading skills and mathematics for academic teachers will be interspersed with presentations on techniques and materials for Junior and Senior High School religious education, and elementary level religion class demonstration, a workshop on art in the religion class, and drama as a teaching tool.

A record crowd of some 350 teachers and aides is expected to participate in the event.
