MOTHER NATURE IN CHARGE

Food Shortage, Cold Christmas

DUBLIN, N.H. (AP) — A food shortage, a bone-chilling winter and a searing summer are in store for 1975, according to the Old Farmer's Almanack, which has been predicting American weather with a claim of 80 per cent accuracy for 182 years.

The 183rd annual edition of the almanac — not to be confused with The Farmers' Almanac, a mere 158 years old — says, "Mother Nature is still in charge and we only try to forecast what is already ordained."

Last year's almanac predicted the drought in several areas of the country and the mild winter of 1974.

K-K-K COLD
The almanac's weather

tables, that begin with November, predict a generally warm Thanksgiving and a cold Christmas, even in Florida, for 1974.

But there will be a snowy Thanksgiving in the Rockies and Pacific Northwest and a white Christmas is likely in parts of the Northeast, Great Lakes and Great Plains, the almanac says.

And the Old Farmer's Almanack disagrees with the Farmers' Almanack's forecast of an average winter.

The Old Farmer's Almanack's predictions by "Abe Weatherwise" use a secret formula developed by its first editor and takes into account sun spots, moon phases, jet streams and ocean currents.

The Farmer's Almanack, published in neighboring Maine, gets its forecasts from Harry Buie, an Inverness, Fla., astronomer whose system is keyed to the sun, moon and planets.

LESS FRIENDLY

The editors of the two almanacs are generally friendly, but "it gets a little less than friendly about this time of year" when new editions are printed, says Rob Trowbridge, the Old Farmer's Almanack's publisher.

About 4 million of the 192-page New Hampshire almanacs are sold for 75 cents a copy.

Mills 'Humiliated' By Jumping Event

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, who has not been seen at the Capitol since he was involved in an episode during which a woman jumped into the Washington Tidal Basin, will not, after all, return to his legislative work today.

An aide said Mills and his whole family "have a bug" and that it was not known when Mills would be able to resume congressional duties or go to Arkansas to resume campaigning for re-election. Congress is scheduled to recess for a month at the close of business today.

POWERFUL
Mills described himself Thursday as embarrassed and humiliated by his involvement in the affair. But he said in a statement he was returning to his Capitol office and the active chairmanship of the House Ways and Means Committee and that he would soon go on the campaign trail.

Mills, 65, and long considered one of the most powerful and respected members of Congress, has not been seen on Capitol Hill this week.

Park police said they stopped his speeding, unlighted car, driven by someone else, early Monday. They said a woman passenger "obviously intoxicated" emerged and Mills stepped from the car with his face bleeding, smelling of alcohol and intoxicated. They identified the woman as Annabel Battistella.

No charges were filed in the incident. In a written statement on Thursday, Mills said Mrs. Battistella was one of a party of neighbors and friends he was entertaining, that she became ill, he tried to have her taken home, there was a struggle and her elbow broke his glasses, causing facial cuts.

Mills' administrative assistant, Oscar Eugene Goss, said Tuesday that Mills had told him he was not in the automobile and knew nothing of the episode. Mills said in his statement that Goss had misunderstood him when he said merely that a news account of the affair was inaccurate. Goss agreed in a separate statement.

CLOSE FRIENDS
In his statement, Mills said he and his wife Polly became close friends of Mrs. Battistella and her husband

Eduardo when the Millses moved to a suburban apartment complex in Arlington, Va., where the Battistellas already had an apartment.

Mills said the events of Sunday evening and Monday morning began when he arranged a bon voyage party for Gloria Sanchez, a cousin and house guest of the Battistellas, who was returning to her native Argentina.

HIT HIS GLASSES

Because Mrs. Mills had a broken foot, he said, they could not entertain at home and at Mrs. Mills' insistence he arranged to "take our friends to a public place we had frequented before."

His statement did not specifically mention drinking, but continued "we then visited another public place and after a few refreshments Mrs. Battistella became ill and I enlisted the help of others in our group to assist me in seeing her safely home."

"The man I asked to drive was unfamiliar with my car and among other things in the glare of the lighted streets neglected to turn on the headlamps," Mills said.

Mills said "as we proceeded home, she (Mrs. Battistella) attempted to leave the car and I attempted to prevent it.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union plans to bar American newsmen from viewing the launching of Russian cosmonauts during next year's joint U.S.-Soviet space mission. But Russian reporters will be welcome at Cape Canaveral for the liftoff of the American astronauts. That policy has emerged from 18 months of negotiations during which Space Agency officials said the Soviets repeatedly rejected requests that they open their launch site at Baykonur to U.S. reporters. But aside from that, the Soviets have agreed to open up their space program as never before on this mission, providing the same type coverage characteristic of the U.S. program.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Barbara Hutchison has described her abduction by leftist gunmen as a two-week-long comedy of errors and near-tragedy that ended almost in friendship between kidnapers and hostages. "I feel no rancor toward them. I feel they were sincere in what they believed they were doing," the American diplomat said about the seven leftist rebels who held her and six other persons captive in the Venezuelan consulate.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Without agreement, but "encouraged" on the prospects of restarting Arab-Israeli peace talks, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger travels to Syria and Jordan today to sound out two more Arab leaders. Kissinger's departure from Cairo was delayed a half-hour after a Secret Service agent's gun accidentally discharged aboard the secretary's jet, wounding the agent. In Damascus, Kissinger is to meet with Syrian President Hafez Assad and then fly to Amman for a meeting with King Hussein.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attempting to dam a flood of complaints from the South, the government's chief civil rights enforcer denies that segregated school systems in the North are getting more tender treatment. "There is no double standard," said Peter E. Holmes, director of the U.S. Office for Civil Rights in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. "We apply the law the same way, whether North, East, South or West," he said in an interview.

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Each year on her birthday, Josie McNeely races to the yard of her farm home, turns cartwheels and waves wildly at the airplane that swoops over her father's cotton fields. Minutes later, a birthday package of candy, gum and caramel-coated popcorn plummets to the yard from Ed Schoonmaker's Stearman biplane. "I am so intrigued by Josie's acrobatics that I almost forget my flying," says Schoonmaker, a crop-duster who has been dropping birthday goodies to Josie, who turned 16 on Monday, since she was 10.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) — Barbers here may not be able to put hair on a man's chest, but if he's got it, they'll dye it, curl it, or even landscape it. "Haircuts are definitely moving down the body these days," said a stylist known as Mr. Eckhard, who operates parlors at both the Fairmont and Mark Hopkins hotels.

Oil Taxes Puts Conditions Clarified Of More Busing By Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's newly "clarified" position on a key petroleum tax issue is being cheered by oil state forces and denounced by oil industry critics in Congress.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Thursday that the President, reading the transcript of the previous day's news conference, has decided he had been perhaps "imprecise in his answer, and wasn't clear as he should have been" when questioned about his views on the oil depletion allowance.

After telling reporters Wednesday that he is "not going to quibble" with the House Ways and Means Committee in every detail of its tax revision bill, Ford was asked: "Is it your own view that the oil depletion allowance should be phased out?" He replied: "The answer is yes."

However, Nessen, acknowledging that the White House got calls from oil-state representatives seeking clarification of Ford's remarks, said Thursday that "as the price of oil continues to be controlled, the President believes that elimination of percentage depletion on domestic oil production would be a mistake."

Nessen added: "The President feels oil should be sold on a free market basis and he thinks many oil producers would be glad to trade percentage depletion in order to achieve the important result of a free market for oil."

Rep. Bill Archer, R-Tex., a member of Ways and Means, applauded Ford's criticism of the committee's bill, which would gradually get the depletion allowance out of the tax law by 1979. "For the good of the country, this bill is bad and I'll vote against it. I'm pleased the President does not favor the phase out," Archer said.

Rep. William J. Green, D-Pa., another Ways and Means member and a leader of anti-oil forces seeking to amend the panel's bill in a way that would end the allowance retroactively to Jan. 1, 1974, attacked the President's position.

BOSTON (AP) — Five Justice Department lawyers have been assigned here to insure prompt enforcement of federal civil rights laws in connection with court-ordered school busing. The FBI announcement Thursday night came after what Gov. Francis W. Sargent called a "relatively quiet" day in Boston.

City officials said there were few of the incidents of violence which have marked the first four weeks of a U.S. District Court plan to desegregate Boston public schools by busing 18,200 of 92,000 pupils.

CIVIL RIGHTS

James O. Newpher, special agent in charge of the Boston FBI office, said the FBI has been investigating alleged civil rights violations and cases of possible interference with Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr.'s busing order.

"We have sent some information to Washington for a decision on what further action to take," Newpher said in an interview Thursday. "When the lawyers arrive tomorrow, we'll present our information to them, and they will expedite whatever action is necessary."

Meanwhile, Mayor Kevin H. White said he would not support a wider busing plan until the federal government gives a better guarantee of safety for school children here. He accused President Ford of inflaming resistance to integration.

TAUNTS CITY

There was no direct White House response to White's remarks, but a spokesman said citizens should obey the court's ruling. The spokesman also said law and order in Boston is a state and city responsibility.

Ford told a news conference Wednesday that, while the law must be obeyed, he disagreed with Garrity's order.

White said Ford's statement would lead to further disruption "and will endanger the safety of our school children in the process."

State and Metropolitan District Commission police replaced the Tactical Patrol Force of the Boston police in the white, Irish South Boston section for the first time Thursday. The 450 new police patrolled the section, a center of anti-busing sentiment, after Garrity ordered White to seek such aid from Sargent.

SEEKS SAFETY

While the Boston School Department is drawing up plans for the second phase of school integration, White said he would not support it without greater federal safety guarantees for school children.

"I reject the criteria that federal assistance is justified only when a condition of riot and rebellion exists in our streets and when local authority has collapsed," he said.

At least eight persons were injured in busing-related violence Thursday, none of them seriously, according to police and the mayor's office.

School officials reported citywide attendance Thursday was 65 per cent, compared with 60 per cent on Wednesday.

Missing Plane

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — Heavy fog this morning delayed resumption of an aerial search in East Texas for a light airplane missing since Tuesday with three persons aboard.

The search by Civil Air Patrol and Texas Forestry Service planes was to center north of Nacogdoches and in the area around Rusk, a search spokesman said.

BACK AT NO. 10 — Prime Minister Harold Wilson waves as his wife Mary looks on, in the doorway of No. 10 Downing Street (the official residence of British Prime Ministers), after election results indicated the Labor Party would have an over-all working majority in the new Parliament.

Wilson Carries Labor Party To Narrow Win

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has carried his Labor party to a narrow victory in Britain's general elections on a platform of radical measures aimed at rescuing the nation from its worst economic slump since the 1930s.

Official returns today said the Laborite took at least 318 seats, the number needed for an over-all majority in the 635-member House of Commons. Labor held only 298 seats in the previous Commons, and its legislation was hobbled by minority rule.

HIGHER COSTS
Even as the returns came in, the Trade Department announced a $900 million foreign trade deficit for September, continuing a year-long trend. It said higher costs of importing oil accounted for much of the deficit.

"I would have liked a bigger majority," Wilson told supporters in Transport

House, headquarters of the Labor movement. "But this Parliament is interesting and viable and can continue until the Labor government has done everything it was elected to do."

He said he would appear on nationwide television and radio Monday to outline his administration's program "to bring the country through to economic security."

BOMB SCARE
As Wilson spoke a bomb scare forced the evacuation of Transport House, which is near the Parliament buildings. He quickly drove away under police escort.

Labor campaigned on a manifesto to renegotiate Britain's membership in the European Common Market, to bring key industries under state control, to bring about voluntary wage restraint, and to tax the rich "until the pips squeak."

Wilson favors keeping close ties with the United States.

With 618 of 635 seats decided, the Labor party held 318 seats, Edward Heath's Conservatives 273, the Liberals 9, and splinter groups 18.

FOUR TIMER

Even before the results were official, Wilson declared, "I will soon be forming my fourth administration." He is the first man in this century to serve four times as Britain's prime minister.

Wilson, looking relaxed but tired after staying up most of the night watching the returns, flew into London from his home district near Liverpool as computer projections predicted a five-seat majority for Labor in Parliament when all returns are in.

The Labor party has been in power with a minority government since last February when a narrow Labor electoral victory returned Wilson as prime minister, and ousted Heath.

Two Students Gunned Down

OKMULGEE, Okla. (AP) — Sheriff Harry Liles said he expected arrests today in a shooting at Oklahoma State Tech that left two students dead and a third wounded in a dormitory.

Officers theorized the shooting Thursday night could have come during a drug transaction.

The dead students were identified as Steven Lee Hamlin of Ponca City and Joey Don Godfrey of Shawnee.

Bert Cohen of New Haven, Conn., was listed in good condition at a local hospital with six bullet wounds.

Officers declined to reveal any details of the shooting but a school spokesman said other students reported the shooting followed a confrontation between Cohen and six persons.

Hamlin and Godfrey were gunned down as they apparently came to Cohen's aid, the spokesman said.

Loss In Grain Crops To Boost Meat Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big loss in grain crops this year because of bad weather will send meat prices up again next year but has stirred debate in the Ford administration about how food prices will act over-all next season.

The Agriculture Department said Thursday the corn crop will be 6 per cent less than forecast a month ago, mainly because of killer frosts. And it will be down 16 per cent from the record 1973 harvest.

REDUCED HARVEST
Soybeans, another livestock feed needed to produce the nation's meat, milk and poultry, will be 4 per cent less than the September estimate and down 19 per cent from last year.

Don Paarlberg, USDA director of economics, said the reduced harvests — even farther below what experts had expected six months ago — will mean higher meat prices next year.

But Paarlberg refused to predict how food prices generally might react in 1975. Those are expected to go up 15 to 17 per cent this year, one of the sharpest climbs since World War II.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz has been saying for six weeks that 1975 food prices would be held to less than a 10 per cent gain from this year. Paarlberg was asked about that.

RECESSION
"We have not made an official estimate," Paarlberg told a news conference after Thursday's crop report. "This is Secretary Butz's judgment. And he may simply hold to that figure; he may revise it; he may wait until the analysts have, themselves, reviewed the situation."

In other economic developments Thursday: —Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns said the nation is in a recession — an assessment contradicting the one stated by President Ford at his Wednesday news conference — although he disagreed with those who forecast a deepening recession in the year ahead.

—United Mine Workers President Arnold Miller said a nationwide coal strike is likely to begin Nov. 12 unless a negotiating impasse with the coal industry is broken.

—The House and Senate approved a compromise package of improved GI education benefits that would increase most payments to veterans by nearly 23 per cent.

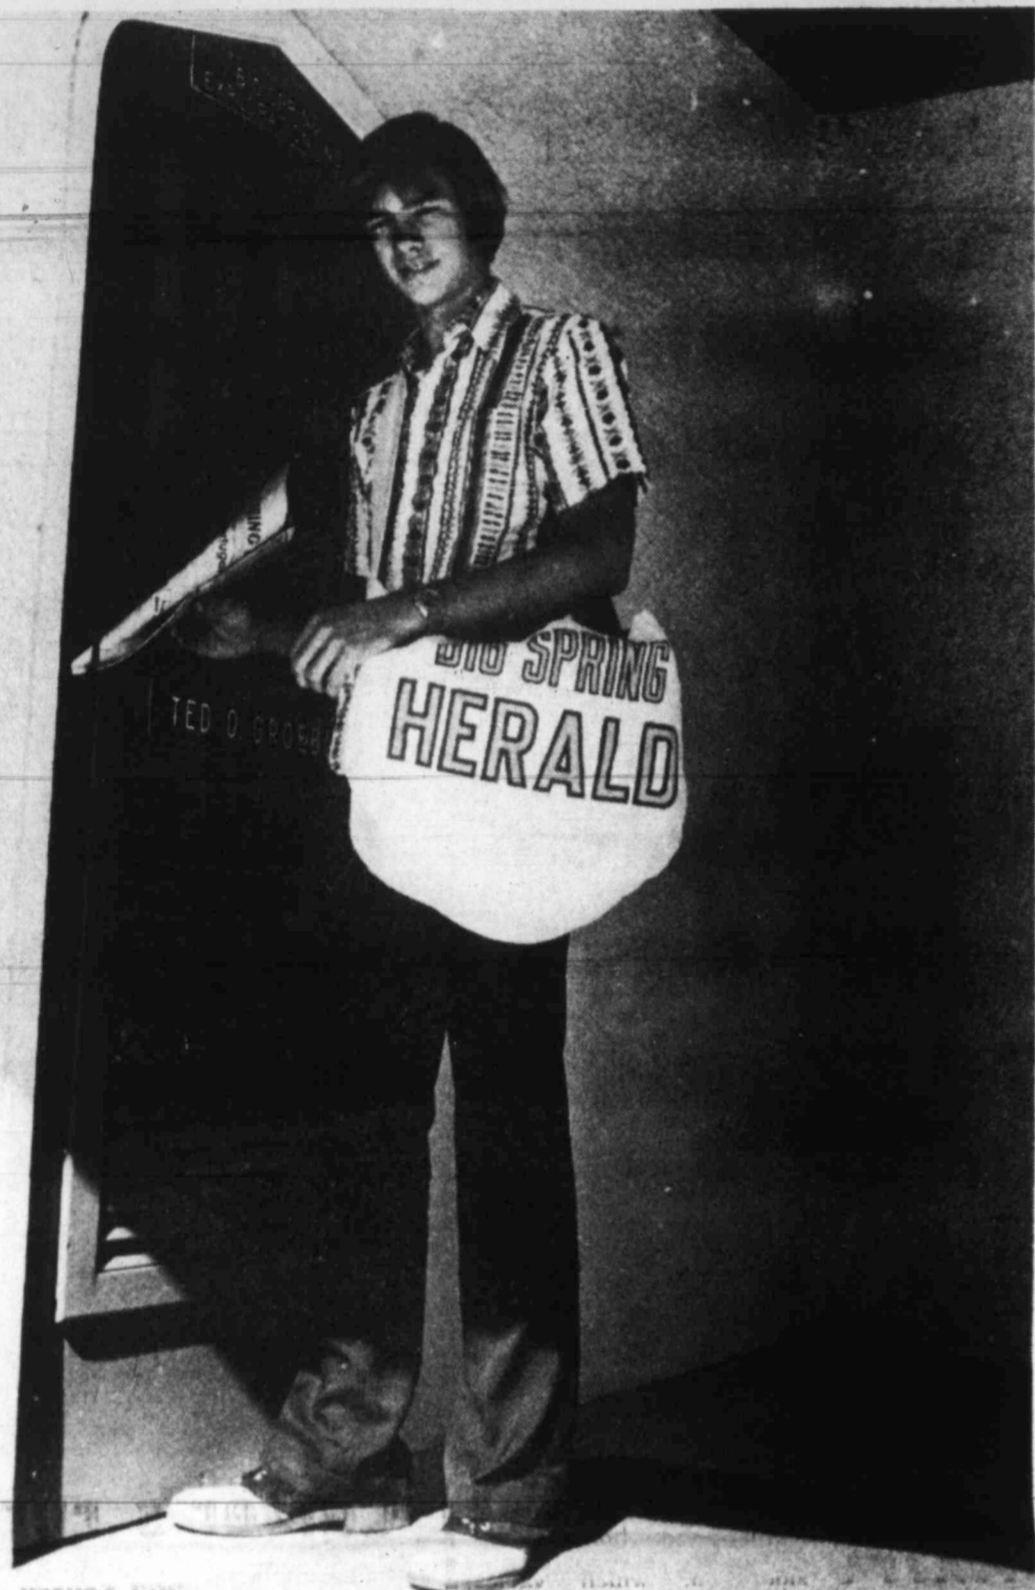

—The Senate passed unanimously an emergency housing bill under which $7.75 billion in government funds could be pumped into the home mortgage market.

—President Ford urged his cabinet officers to find further budget reductions to hold fiscal 1975 spending to $300 billion or below.

—The Senate passed a bill to double the size of savings accounts which qualify for full coverage under federal deposit insurance.

OCTOBER 12, 1974 INTERNATIONAL NEWSPAPER CARRIER DAY

MARK MORGAN — CARRIER FOR BIG SPRING HERALD

Official Memorandum

By
DOLPH BRISCOE
Governor of Texas

GREETINGS:

AUSTIN, TEXAS

October 12, 1974, has been designated as "International Newspaper Carrier Day" in tribute to the thousands of loyal, efficient young men and women who serve the public early and late in the day to bring them the newspapers upon which all of us depend.

To these young men and women must go much credit for the dissemination of the news to the people of our nation.

It was while serving in these honorable roles thousands of our business, civic, professional and religious leaders received their first training in the principles of free enterprise.

It is fitting that the citizens of Texas express their sincere appreciation of the day-by-day service rendered by their friendly newspaper carrier salesmen and for the training these boys and girls are receiving.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate October 12, 1974 as in Texas, and urge all the people they represent and the customers they serve so diligently to express their appreciation for these unflinching services.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 19th day of Sept., 1974

Dolph Briscoe
Governor of Texas

DEAR ABBY: I was busted for possession of marijuana two weeks ago. I am a married woman and have a 14-month-old child. Everyone has said he calls his own thing his own thing. I was not with grass now and then. When the police came to my door, they deprived me of my civil rights by letting me read the warrant before they searched my home.

What can I do about it? So many people have been busted the same way. I am sick of the way the police push people around. If I can't smoke the privacy of my own home then I guess I'll become alcoholic.

BUSTED: DEAR BUSTED: Possession and sale of marijuana are unlawful in narcotics cases. Warrants cannot be issued because the officers are waiting for someone inside the house to be a complice, possibly a law enforcer must be first, and then the warrant is available for reading.

The people, through the democratic process, have the laws, and the police enforce them. If you threaten to turn to the authorities, you show a dependency on the kind of mood-changing drugs which should concern at least as much as the deprivation of your civil rights.

DEAR ABBY: I thought I'd be writing you but here I am. W

Dear Abby

She Has Wrong Slant On Her Civil Rights

DEAR ABBY: I was busted for possession of marijuana two weeks ago. I am a married woman, 19, and have a 14-month-old son. Everyone has something he calls his own thing, and my own thing is relaxing with grass now and then. When the police came to my door, they deprived me of one of my civil rights by not letting me read the search warrant before they entered my home.

What can I do about this? So many people have been busted the same way. We are sick of the way the police push people around.

If I can't smoke grass in the privacy of my own home, then I guess I'll become an alcoholic.

BUSTED IN L.A.
DEAR BUSTED: Both possession and sale of marijuana are unlawful, and in narcotics cases, search warrants cannot be read at the door because while the officers are waiting outside, someone inside (an accomplice, possibly) can destroy the evidence. So the law enforcers must enter first, and then the warrant is available for reading.

The people, through the democratic process, write the laws, and the police only enforce them. However, your threat to turn to alcohol if you can't have the "grass" shows a dependency on some kind of mood-changing drug, which should concern you at least as much as being deprived of your civil rights.

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I'd be writing to you, but here I am. Will you please let doctors, nurses, aides and all hospital personnel know that when someone who works with them is hospitalized that person deserves the same consideration about visiting hours as anyone else in that hospital?

I was hospitalized with a serious injury two months ago, and during my stay at the hospital, even though there was a big sign on my door which read: "POSITIVELY NO VISITORS: DOCTOR'S ORDERS." I was pestered to death by co-workers who felt I needed a little cheering up.

Nurses, doctors, aides, and people from the hospital office came to see me. Most of them stayed for only ten minutes, but multiply that by 50 every day and you'll have some idea of how exhausted I was.

I finally had to leave the hospital to get some rest. I love my co-workers, but they almost killed me with kindness.

FLORENCE NIGHTENGALE

Pam Eisler Will Marry

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Eisler, 2907 Navajo, announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Pamela Ann, to Paul Edward Newton, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Newton Jr., Austin. The wedding is to be held in the Carl Street Church of Christ, Oct. 18.

FINAL PLANS — Mrs. Clyde Cantrell, left, publicity chairman for District 12, Texas Federation of Music Clubs, and Mrs. Marguerite Hyden, president of Big Spring Music Study Club, the host group, check final plans for the district conference which begins at 9 a.m., Saturday at Howard College. Mrs. Hyden is conference chairman.

Public May Hear Choirs

The public is invited to hear a choral program at 2 p.m. Saturday when five choirs will perform at Howard College for the 14th annual conference of District 12 Texas Federation of Music Clubs.

MRS. W. L. ACREMAN

Mrs. W. L. Acreman district president, will preside for the meeting which will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m.

Mrs. Acreman earned a BA degree from Texas Wesleyan College in Fort Worth and a masters degree from the University of Nebraska. She has assisted in production of operas in Fort Worth and in Lincoln, Neb. and has worked with the Permian Playhouse and Globe Theatre productions.

She has been choir director for St. Luke's Methodist church in Odessa and has been associated with Hood Junior High School Odessa for 30 years.

A 30-minute period for registration and coffee will precede the opening assembly at 9 a.m. Approximately 60 members are expected from Odessa, Midland, Stanton and Big Spring.

Each club will present a program during the day.

Mrs. Bell Is New President

WESTBROOK (SC) — Mrs. W. A. Bell was elected president of the Baptist J. O. Y. Sunday school class when it met in her home recently.

Other officers elected were Mrs. W. D. Whitesides, vice president; Mrs. D. J. Barber, secretary; Mrs. Altis Clemmer, treasurer and card chairman.

Mrs. Keith Williamson read the devotional, "Take Time," and the teacher, Mrs. Rex McKenney, worded the prayer.

Two choirs from Odessa and two from Midland will perform, as will the Big Spring High School choir.

Dr. Charles Hays, president of Howard College, will extend the welcome.

Microwave Oven Shown

A demonstration of the microwave oven was given for the Center Home Demonstration Point Club Tuesday in the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

Miss Dana Feaster, demonstrator, prepared food in the oven and served refreshments from her demonstration.

Mrs. Ethel Bartlett was a guest.

A poem was read by Mrs. Redica Akerboom, and Mrs. Ethel Kent brought the devotional.

Mrs. Alden Ryan, president, announced there will be a Diabetic Clinic Oct.

Sororities Plan Skit

Xi Pi Epsilon chapter met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Roe Fulgham, 1402 E. 18th, with other Beta Sigma Phi chapter representatives to practice a skit to be presented in Midland Saturday.

Eight sorority members will take part in the patriotic presentation to be given for the area convention when the Big Spring women will enter a bid for the 1975 meeting. Mrs. Fulgham is directing the skit.

Plans were made for a Las Vegas party for members of the chapter and their guests on Oct. 28 at the Sand Springs home of Mrs. Clarence Hays.

Birthday Is Celebrated

The birthday of Mrs. C.C. Forrest was observed when the Friendship Breakfast Club met Tuesday morning at Coker's Restaurant, Miss Juanita Hamlin, hostess, presided and welcomed a guest, Mrs. Phebia Howard. The devotional was by Mrs. M.B. McFall, and members gave thoughts on friendship. Miss Hamlin will be hostess for the Nov. 12 meeting.

Amendment Is Talk Topic

Mrs. Jack English of Midland was the speaker for the Lees Home Demonstration Club when members met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. J. L. Overton.

The speaker who is from the League of Women Voters explained the new equal rights for women amendment which the members then discussed.

Plans were made to continue quilting and crocheting at the Oct. 22 meeting to be held in the home of Mrs. Gene Smith when a quilting frame will be up and a quilt placed in it in preparation for quilting.

Broker Talks About Leases

J. W. Purser, an independent oil and gas lease broker who has been in the business since 1948, was the speaker for the Desk & Derrick Club, Monday evening in First Federal Community Room. He was introduced by Mrs. Nummy McDaniel.

Citing the Permian Basin as an example, Purser explained that all major oil companies, and most independent operators, rely upon their geological departments to maintain a map of the area with daily postings of well activity, sometimes, the structure changes radically. When a favorable structure appears and determination is made of the area to be explored or developed, often the lease broker is engaged to put together the leases for the company planning to prospect for oil.

Management's decision to acquire leases is influenced by such factors as the cost of drilling, and the cost of the mineral leases, the latter being determined in large measure by the activity in that area. The more activity, the higher the lease price. As a general rule, Purser said, independents expect a 2 or 3-to-1 return on their investment; majors expect a 4 or 5-to-1 return.

In his mission to acquire leases, the broker goes first to the abstract office where everything that has happened to the land in that county since sovereignty (early 1880's) is recorded. Purser pointed out that in West Texas there is very little acreage whose owner also has all the mineral or leasing rights. Sometimes, there may be dozens of people who share those rights. Today, the average lease period is five years, versus the customary ten years in the past. In this region, there are probably 150 different lease forms in use.

The lease purchase is really the right to drill on that land and a matter of buying time to do so. Most leases provide for $1 per acre per year in lieu of drilling, or as a rental. For every surface acre of land, there is an acre of minerals; this is the basis of figuring a bonus consideration, which varies according to the activity in the area.

said Purser. Many mineral owners cannot be located. In those instances, their share is held in suspense by the pipeline company for two years, then is passed to the state. Miss Ollene McShan, club president, appointed a nominating committee composed of Mrs. Leon Kinney, Mrs. W. E. Barnett and Miss Helen Hurt. They will report at the next club meeting, scheduled for 7 p.m. Nov. 4 in the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

Campaign Bill Rushed To Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that overhauls the collection and spending of money in presidential primary and election campaigns has been sent to President Ford for his signature.

The legislation, spawned by the Watergate scandals, received final congressional approval Thursday on a 365-24 vote in the House. The Senate had approved it earlier.

$120 MILLION White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford has not made a final decision on the measure but that congressional action in deleting or softening some features opposed by Ford "improved chances the President will sign the bill."

The bill's major innovation is public financing of the presidential nominating and election process.

A maximum of $20 million would be given to each major party presidential nominee in 1976, with the money coming from the voluntary $1 check-off on federal income taxes that has been in effect the past two years.

Candidates of minor parties would receive partial funding if they polled at least 5 per cent of the total vote.

Each major party would receive $2 million in check-off funds to conduct its presidential nominating convention.

Spending on presidential primaries would be limited to $10 million for each major party candidate.

LIMITS SPENDING The bill also restricts the maximum any individual could contribute to $1,000 to any one candidate and $25,000 for all candidates. No cash contributions of more than $100 would be permitted.

A Federal Election Commission would be established to administer the new regulations and would have the power to enforce them through court action.

The bill restricts spending in House races to $70,000 per candidate.

The spending limitation in Senate contests is based on a formula using the voting-age population to spend 8 cents per potential voter and those in the general election could spend 12 cents.

Under that formula, general election limits for Senate candidates would range from $150,000 in the smallest states to $1.7 million in California, the nation's most-populated state.

Corrected Phone The telephone number of Baker's Chapel AME, which is resuming Saturday its weekly benefit barbecues for its building fund, was incorrect in Thursday's story. It should be 7-2940. Charlie Merritt and other members begin the barbecue at 11 a.m. for on-premises or carry-out consumption, plates or meat by the pound.

During the evening, Gary Carlson, lay president of the congregation, and Mrs. John Lemman made a presentation patterned after a Scout Court of Honor awards giving the life of the Rev. Utz. Testimonies, with letters and cards, were presented to Rev. and Mrs. Utz, along with a memory book to place them in.

Rev. Utz Honored

Trinity Lutherans honored their pastor, the Rev. Lester M. Utz, S.T.M. Ed on the 40th anniversary of his entering the ministry Sunday evening.

The Rev. Utz came to the surprise event, thinking it was a family night supper honoring new members, of which there have been many during the past year as he served here.

Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Werley of Orefield, Pa. had stopped to visit them that week. Then at the morning service, two other old friends turned up in Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hardenstine of Pine Grove, Pa.

The Rev. Utz was almost suspicious at that point, but forgot all about it when after church, the Hardenstines said good-bye and told them they were going on to Hobbs, N.M. Actually, they remained and helped set up the tables for the supper.

Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Naughton of Albuquerque, Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Henninger, Austin, Mrs. N. O. Henninger, Seguin, and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dejmaj—and children, representing the Midland congregation. The Rev. Father Louis Moeller, Immaculate Heart Catholic Church, was also a special guest.

During the evening, Gary Carlson, lay president of the congregation, and Mrs. John Lemman made a presentation patterned after a Scout Court of Honor awards giving the life of the Rev. Utz. Testimonies, with letters and cards, were presented to Rev. and Mrs. Utz, along with a memory book to place them in.

Champagne Popping Can Be Dangerous

DALLAS (AP) — It may not be a common occupational or recreational injury, but the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology says that popping a champagne bottle can be a dangerous thing.

The academy—which groups eye, nose and ear and throat specialists—listened to a medical report Thursday that dealt with research on injuries to the eye caused by popping champagne corks. It is a serious thing, the specialists were told. It was the third research report on the subject.

The report was submitted by the Dr. Sherwin H. Sloan of the Jules Stein Eye Institute of Los Angeles.

The report indicated that the increase in eye injuries caused by popping corks is a result of American affluence. "There has been a marked increase in the consumption of champagne in the United States," it said, "and in the exposure of individuals to the apparent mishaps resulting from flying corks."

Furthermore, it said, "the use of newer plastic type corks covered by a wire mesh has increased the likelihood of injuries." The plastic type, it explained, does not allow for the relative easy control and finger guidance of the cork.

The report covered a study of 36 eye injuries which included a majority of left eyes. This can be explained, the report said, by the fact that most people are right-handed.

The report said that the seriousness of the "ocular injuries" warrants some preventive action.

It recommended a clear labeling of champagne bottles and more care in their opening.

The problem with this type of preventive measures, the report noted, "is the spirit of the event (champagne popping) that prevent people from reading the labels."

Surgeon At Reservation Told To Get Out Of U.S.

DALLAS (AP) — A Philippine doctor, ordered to leave the United States within 90 days, says he will appeal the order.

Dr. Filemon J. Inocencio, 39, the only surgeon at an Oklahoma Indian reservation was ordered to leave the United States on charges he overstayed his visitor's visa which expired Dec. 31, 1973.

Dr. Inocencio and his wife, also a doctor, said they thought they received authorization to remain in the United States when they were permitted to work at the Indian Health Service Hospital in Lawton, Okla.

Clubs Honor Burleson

Congressman Omar Burleson has been invited to a "thank-you civic luncheon in Big Spring Nov. 2 at the noon meeting of the American Business Club.

The event will be staged at the Settles Hotel with invitations to all other civic clubs including the Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis, Century Club, Optimists, Jaycees, Civitans, Chamber of Commerce and Ambassadors. Downtown Lions voted to change their Oct. 30 meeting to Nov. 1.

Mayor Wade Choate will proclaim that day "Omar Burleson Day" as a token of appreciation from Big Spring for thanks for his constant efforts in behalf of the Big Spring area.

The hospital has a medical staff of nine.

"I think I will appeal," Dr. Inocencio quietly told Judge Arvid Boyes of San Antonio after hearing the ruling.

Boyes ruled that the government showed sufficient cause to deport Inocencio but granted him until Jan. 11, 1975 to depart voluntarily.

Mrs. Inocencio's hearing before the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service judge adjourned after five minutes when she requested time to retain an attorney. Her husband represented himself.

"I did not overstay (my visa) with the intention of transgressing the law," Dr. Inocencio said during the hearing.

He said that in good conscience he believed that he had been given verbal authorization.

The government's attorney,

Richard M. Casillas of San Antonio said immigration service procedures are never concluded orally.

"It's not that we're hard-nosed," Casillas said, we just have procedures to follow."

Casillas said he believed that Inocencio had come to the United States on the visitor's visa and did not intend to return to his home in Ethiopia. He pointed out that Inocencio would not be eligible to immigrate as a Philippine citizen until 1977.

Inocencio told the court that at the time his visa expired in December it was unsafe for him and his family to return to their Ethiopian home because of the political situation there.

He said he had intended to return and did not give up his home there until early this year.

Dr. Inocencio requested that he be sent to Botswana Africa if deported. The judge specified that if he is not eligible to enter Botswana that he return to the Philippines.

A private bill granting the Inocencios permanent residency was introduced by Sen. Henry Blackmon, R-Okla., and is pending in the Senate. One of the Inocencio children is a U.S. citizen by birth.

The Inocencios, both of Manila, studied at Wayne State University in Michigan and later were medical missionaries in Africa.

"We would not have accepted the work here if we could not stay," said Noemi Inocencio after the hearing.

"If we had been told in the beginning that it was not legal, we wouldn't have stayed."

Briscoe Calls For Public Explanation Of UT Firing

HOUSTON (AP) — The chancellor of the University of Texas system will either provide an explanation of the firing of the president of the University of Texas at Austin or answer to Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Briscoe told reporters here Thursday he will give Chancellor Charles LeMaistre an opportunity to make a public explanation about the firing of President Dr. Stephen Spurr.

BEING PREPARED Earlier Thursday, LeMaistre's office in Austin said a "comprehensive" statement was being prepared on Spurr's firing and probably would be released within several days.

Neither LeMaistre nor the regents of the school, who backed him with an 8-0 vote, have said why the president was ousted from his post after three years as president of the school.

Briscoe said Thursday he hopes LeMaistre's statement would explain the circumstances of the firing.

"If it is not, certainly I would use the powers provided to the governor by the state constitution to require a written statement from any official to any state institution to explain his actions."

IF RE-ELECTED

"I'm convinced he will do this because it is in the best interest of the University of Texas," Briscoe said of LeMaistre's coming statement. "I think that in a public institution the stockholders are the people of this state and the people have a right to know and I'm going to see that they do."

"I'm willing and think it is only right to give them a reasonable length of time," he added.

"But I do think the facts must be met, and I hope it will not be necessary and I do not think as of now that it will be necessary, to use that constitutional power. But if it is, I certainly will," Briscoe said.

If re-elected in November, Briscoe will appoint three persons to the nine-member board of regents in January.

He said Thursday he wouldn't make a decision on appointments until December but added, "I believe in accountability in so far as any state agency is concerned, so naturally, I would assume anyone I appointed would feel the same way about it."

FROM $16 TO $240 Million Dollars Going Begging

WASHINGTON — Nearly 60,000 former Army reservists have a share in $1.1 million but the Army doesn't know how to reach them. Army officials said the former reservists earned the money for drills and training attended during the Oct. 1 through Dec. 31, 1972 time-frame. The Army wants to mail checks for this back pay before Christmas. So far only a little more than one thousand have applied for their money. The checks vary from $16 to $240. Former reservists who trained during the 1972 period should write to the Army area in which their old unit is located: Commander, First U.S. Army, Attn: AFKA-PA-R, Fort Meade, Md. 29755. Commander, Fifth U.S. Army, Attn: AFKB-PA-R, Fort Sam Houston, Tex. 78234. Commander, Sixth U.S. Army, Attn: AFKC-PA-R, Presidio of San Francisco, Calif. 94152. In the event a reservist retired, was discharged or died since the 1972 period, claims from the former reservist or his survivors should be addressed to: Commander, U.S. Army Reserve Components Personnel and Administration Center, Attn: AGUZ-TAD-DP, 9700 Page Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63132.

Homecoming At NTSU Oct. 17

DENTON — North Texas State University will kickoff a three-day homecoming celebration Oct. 17 with barbecues, banquets, bandwagons and beauties. Coming to Denton to participate along with NTSU alumni are Rep. Ray Roberts (D-Tex.) and Miss America 1975 Shirley Cochran, who will serve as co-grand marshals for the homecoming parade, and entertainer Doc Severinsen. The theme for the 1974 homecoming is "North Texas — One and Indivisible." The celebration commemorates the Republic of Texas, 1836-1845. Don January and Bobby Maxwell, NSTU exes, will take part in a pro golf tourney, Oct. 19. NSTU meets New Mexico State for football.

Opening lead: Four of ♠.

There is nothing my good friend Omar Sharif likes better than to take time off from film-making for a good horse race or a rubber of bridge. At the recent Deauville Bridge Festival, he partnered American internationalist, Harold Ogust, and they came up with a sparkling defense on this deal.

Despite a competitive auction, North-South bought the hand at five spades, a contract that was made at most tables. Holding the West cards, Sharif took advantage of the vulnerability to make two bids on minimal values, to suggest a sacrifice should his partner be so inclined. Holding fair defensive values, however, Ogust elected to try to beat the opponents.

The opening club lead was won by the king, and declarer ruffed the ace of clubs continuation. The contract hung on declarer's ability to bring in the spade suit without loss, and the odds slightly favor trying to drop the king over the finesse—two missing cards will divide 1-1 52 percent of the time. However, before tackling trumps, declarer decided to see if he could glean any further knowledge about his opponents' holdings.

Declarer crossed to the ace of hearts and led dummy's singleton diamond. Ogust stole the limelight by making the fine play of the king of diamonds. When this won the trick, he continued his excellent defensive work by returning a low diamond. Now it was declarer's turn to make a good play—he inserted his queen.

Sharif realized that declarer's problem had to be locating the king of trumps. It was also apparent that if West revealed that he held the ace of diamonds, it would surely mark his partner for the king of spades. So he found the brilliant defense of ducking smoothly, allowing declarer to win a useless trick with the queen of diamonds.

From declarer's view, East was now marked with the ace-king of both minor suits. West had bid twice, apparently without a high honor in either minor and, at most, two secondary honors in hearts. Logically, therefore, he had to have the king of spades. So declarer ran the ten of spades, and was greatly shocked when East won the king for down one.

'TRUE GRIT'

Competition Proves Too Rough For ABC

By JAY SHARBUTT
(AP Television Writer)

NEW YORK (AP) — Suppose they gave a two-night party costing more than $1 million and nobody came? Well, that is roughly what's happened to ABC-TV on Friday and Saturday nights ever since the 1974-75 season began.

The NBC-CBS competition has proved just too rough, and ABC, in a hurry-up effort to salvage some ratings, has retooled and revamped its Friday-Saturday program schedule after only a month of the new season.

It has canceled two new half-hour shows — "Kodiak," which has its last run tonight, and "Texas Wheelers," halted after last Friday — and rolled in hit movie reruns to temporarily fill the ratings breach.

Tonight, for example, ABC has "True Grit" making its third network appearance. Next Friday, "Guns of Navarone" also makes its third network showing, while on Oct. 25 "Hawaii" appears for the fourth time.

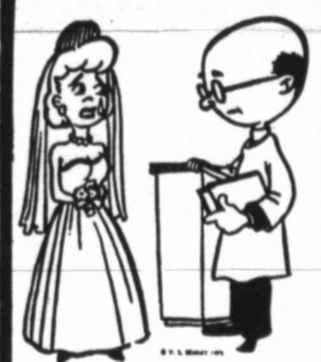

On Nov. 1, ABC's new — and it hopes improved — Friday lineup of weekly series begins, starting with "Kung Fu," which is becoming sort of a floating spirit on television. Last season, it aired Thursday nights and was shifted this season to Saturday nights. Now, it'll try Fridays.

It had good ratings last year and ABC hopes it'll regain them in its new home, thus giving a strong lead-in — a large audience — to "Six Million Dollar Man" and "The Night Stalker," both of which remain on ABC's Friday night schedule.

About Saturday nights: the current ABC lineup of "The New Land," "Kung Fu" and "Nakia" will continue to struggle against CBS' powerhouse lineup and NBC's wares until Oct. 26, when a patchwork schedule arrives. "Nakia" will be the only regular in that schedule, and it'll temporarily withdraw the night of Nov. 16, when "Where Eagles Dare," a Clint Eastwood-Richard Burton thriller, is the only offering.

Mourners May Be Mourned

The time has come for the city to face up to the problem of funeral processions.

One of two things — the city ought either to ban processions, or else it ought to protect them.

The practice of allowing only one patrol car to shepherd a procession across busy intersections is woefully deficient at best; at the worst, it's going to get someone killed.

We have witnessed, and have received increasing complaints of, drivers barreling through processions at high speeds. Only by the grace of God and the narrowest of margins have serious crashes been averted. Even funeral coaches have been almost hit broadside.

You can't blame the poor patrolman, who is trying to cover half a dozen key intersections, almost simultaneously. It's a wonder he doesn't get hit or hit somebody hurrying back and forth.

You can't blame the mourners and friends who assume that as part of a procession they have the right of way through red lights and stop signs.

And you can't even blame the people who nearly clobber the cars in the procession, for often they are blinded to the fact that there is a procession and, seeing a green light, maintain full speed through the line of cars.

If we can't afford the concession of at least adequate protection through the highway and access road concessions, then let's settle for an announcement that the services are concluded at the church or chapel and will be completed in 15 minutes or whatever at the cemetery. If we don't, we're going to add to the cemetery population.

Time For A Cleanup

Sometime between now and frost, we need a citywide effort to clean up our town. Whatever else they will accomplish, September rains will produce heavy covers of weeds and grass. These need to be chopped away to cut down on the mosquito infestation and for general appearances. But more than that, this dried material after frost will constitute a first-class fire hazard in many areas.

As for the mosquitoes, spraying of stagnant pools can help, but so can making sure all the cans, bottles and old tires in your vicinity are gathered up.

Title Game

Around The Rim

Troy Bryant

BACK IN MY more athletic days, believe it or not, this 5-11, 145-pound not-so-athletic athlete was an offensive back on a pro football team.

As a member of the Quannah Packers of the Over-the-Hill Football League (OHFL) I was a part of a football squad which lost only one game all season.

"Tomato Juice" was my nickname (my initials are T.J.) and beating those defensive backs in the pass patterns was my game.

We didn't let the fact that there were only 3 or 4 teams in the League or the fact that the other team was the defending OHFL champs dampen our spirits, because we always drew great crowds of two or three kids and three or four wives; also the local ambulance driver who was more worried about heart attacks than pulled ligaments.

PERHAPS OUR greatest moment was our fantastic come-from-ahead loss to the defending champion Chillicothe Chiefs in the annual Linament Bowl before a roaring crowd of 23.

That game was the culmination of a three-game season during which the Packers had knocked off two cross-town rivals to take the Western Division Championship. The Chillicothe team had similarly won the Eastern Division title. The championship of Hardeman County was at stake.

WE LED THEM 7-0 until the fourth quarter when their experience began to show. Moreover, they took out the impartial referee and put in their water boy.

From that point on, it was all Chiefs as they defeated us 19-0.

We didn't let the loss get us down though, because we have water boys in Quannah, too, and next year, the Linament Bowl would be played in Quannah.

OCTOBER, OCTOBER, October. The tenth month of the year. The month for haunting and buying antifreeze. What a month!

Several meaningful events happen in October, such as the Texas and Oklahoma bloodletting in Dallas, the unleashing of millions of monsters on the homes of America, and the last minute horn blowing by politicians to be everyone's friend, at least until November 4.

Other events, not so meaningful but still worth mentioning, enjoy anniversaries in October. For instance, was it just one year ago this month that Walt Finley accidentally fed his dogs rotten meat, and was forced to put down the Boxer Rebellion?

AND WAS IT only two years ago that John Edwards arrived at a party two hours late, and discovered that he had been beaten to the punch?

Julius Caesar joins Walt and John with doubly meaningful deeds in October. Only 2,020 years ago, he announced that Rome had too many soothsayers, and levied an excess prophets tax.

A juvenile (so we can't use his name) picked October to teach his pet bird to say four letter words, but the law caught up with him, charging him with contributing to the delinquency of a mynah.

AND, NOT TO Marj Carpenter out, I found out that it was in October, just three years ago, that she finally got fed up with the same old grind, and switched from Maxwell House to Yuban.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I would like to know if the Devil is the "Prince of the power of the air" and where it is in the Bible that this is stated. Also what does it mean? — M.B.

It's the apostle Paul, in the 2nd chapter of his letter to the Ephesians where this designation of Satan is given. It seems to mean that evil spirits, who can influence us by their temptations, have their abode in the atmosphere. They try to draw human souls in worldly directions and contrary to the will of God.

The word "prince" perhaps refers to the Devil's headship over the fallen angels and these evil spirits. As the air surrounds the earth, so there is a sphere bordering on our spirits — invisible, yet through which evil suggestions can readily be conveyed.

But I must also quote the fourth verse of Ephesians 2: "But God is so rich in mercy, He loved us so much that He gave us back our lives again when He raised Christ from the dead." Satan is only a very temporary "prince;" and one day the King of Kings will put him out of His house forever.

Lumber Prices Lag

John Cuniff

By RICK SCOTT

(Substituting for John Cuniff)

DALLAS (AP) — Lumber prices are sinking like granite because of a slump in home construction and there is no relief in sight, according to industry officials in Texas.

"The bottom has fallen out of the market," says Pat McCaslin, spokesman for Kirby Lumber Corp. in Houston.

Alan Miller of Temple Industries at Diboll in the Piney Woods of East Texas says, "We're not making any money."

And, Charles Magee of a Wickes building supply in Richardson north of Dallas says he's cut lumber prices more than 30 per cent so far this year and is "thinking about going lower than that."

A survey of several manufacturers and distributors by The Associated Press found prices are at their lowest levels since 1969.

An example, at the distributor level, from Magee: 1,000 board feet of lumber that sold in January for $195 now is selling for $135.

These are the prices a contractor would pay for his lumber, said Magee. On a larger scale, $5,000 worth of lumber for a house six months ago now would cost about $3,500.

But contractors aren't buying the lumber, said

Miller, because they aren't building any houses. And they aren't building houses, he said, because they can't find money to finance their projects.

"The demand is gone, but the supply is still here," Magee said. The slump "has affected our business at least 20 to 25 per cent."

For a person that has some money, now is the time to build an addition to a home, while prices are down, he advised.

"Things have gone completely bad," said McCaslin at Kirby Lumber Corp. which owns or manages more than half a million acres of forest in East Texas.

The drop in prices at the manufacturing level, said McCaslin, has been drastic. "Lumber, random length boards and studs, that sold for $150 per thousand board feet a year ago is selling for around $50 now."

"We're losing money," said McCaslin. Kirby has cut back its sawmill operation and shifted workers to jobs in plywood production. Plywood prices have not dropped as sharply, he said. Still, 25 workers have been laid off.

Temple Industries, said Miller, "is inventoring right up to the rafters. We can sell at a loss or cut back on production and we're doing a little of both. About 70 of the lumber division's 1,800 workers have been laid off."

Magee, at Wickes in Richardson, said the decline in lumber prices has been offset in the housing industry by increases in the cost of such items as copper plumbing tubing, electrical fixtures and other items.

Desperate Time

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In 1970 my husband was very ill with acute gastroenteritis. We were told that he had a damaged liver, but if he stopped taking alcohol he might live for another 30 or 40 years. He now is 53.

Two years later he hemorrhaged from esophageal varices and went into a coma for three days but successfully came through a seven-hour operation.

When he left the hospital the surgeon advised a low-protein diet, but I think I read that a high-protein diet is best. It confused me and I asked our family M.D. who said use a moderate protein diet. What should I do? — L.G.F.

Hemorrhage from ruptured esophageal varices is one of the dreaded complications of advanced cirrhosis of the liver, and your husband must count himself fortunate to have come through it. Many don't. The esophageal varices are varicose veins at the lower end of the gullet, a result of the liver condition.

The liver has a great deal to do with protein (nitrogen) metabolism, and when the liver is not functioning, this metabolism is disturbed, naturally. At the time of your husband's operation, his liver obviously was in very poor condition (his coma resulted from acute failure of liver function), so treatment after such an operation calls for a low-protein diet. Which the surgeon ordered.

As the patient recovers (as luckily your husband did) liver function improves, and more protein can be added to the diet since the liver can handle more of it. A high-protein diet is not recommended for cirrhosis; a moderate intake is. In general, an average diet with a vitamin supplement is tolerated. So you were properly advised by both doctors. The two-year interim, you see, makes a difference.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there any kind of surgery for thick ankles? Mine are nine inches and it's all gone but the rest of my legs are pretty good.

I am so embarrassed and have had a terrible complex all my life. My sister-in-law keeps urging me to go to a very good plastic surgeon but I am embarrassed to go, feel he'd think I was crazy.

I know when I look around I should be ashamed, and just be thankful I can walk. — Mrs. J.I.

Some thick ankles are due to fluid accumulation, usually the result of varicose veins or other interferences with circulation. Some are just fat.

By you say your ankles are "all gone and have always been that way." And I am not aware of any surgery that can change that. If you can afford the fee, pick out the "very good plastic surgeon" and ask his opinion. At least it will settle the arguments.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of Dr. Thosteson's newly revised booklet, explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it. For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

WASHINGTON — The Greek government has quietly withdrawn some of its top military officers from North Atlantic Treaty (NATO) headquarters in Brussels, one more indication of how seriously the Karamanlis government views anti-American sentiment now sweeping Greece.

FACING THE FIRST parliamentary election on Nov. 17 since the military coup d'etat of 1967, the new civilian government of Prime Minister Constantine Karamanlis is torn between conflicting political realities.

The merest fragment of public display of pro-American sentiment could boomerang, giving the Greek left a dangerous opening that Andreas Papandreu would be quick to exploit, Karamanlis dealt with this hard political fact by pulling Greece out of the military organization of NATO. Now he has followed up by withdrawing some of the 300-odd Greek officers from their regular military billets in Brussels, Naples and other NATO commands.

BUT THE DOMESTIC political demands for anti-U.S. actions raise the gravest future problems for Greece. Friendship with the West, and particularly the U.S., is absolutely essential for Greece in the long run, as a glance at the map proves. Greece is bordered by three Communist states to the north and by muscle-flexing Turkey to the east.

KARAMANLIS AND his foreign minister, the astute George Mavros, along with most other leading Greek politicians of the center and right, fully understand that fact. But despite strong pressure from the U.S., they are unable to impede the move toward what looks like a form of dangerous neutrality for fear that the anti-American currents now sweeping Greece would pull them under. Accordingly, rational diplomacy dictated by long-term Greek security needs has been inundated by short-term domestic politics. The foundation for this was built by Washington's long love affair with the hated military dictatorship.

A CASE IN POINT was the absolutely futile effort by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger last week to enlist sub rosa Greek support against the then-pending congressional ban on U.S. military assistance to Turkey.

Conferring at his own request at the Plaza Hotel in Manhattan last week with Mavros, Kissinger explained that the effect of a congressionally-imposed Turkish aid ban was predictable: it would make the Turks dig in their heels against U.S. mediation efforts to remove Turkish troops from Cyprus and return part of Turkey's Cyprus conquest to Greek Cypriots. Thus, it was in the self-interest to Athens to keep the U.S. on good terms with Turkey.

MAVROS WAS stunned. "That," he told Kissinger, "is not something for a Greek to do."

Indeed, far from discouraging Greek sympathizers in the U.S. Congress from voting against the ban on aid to Turkey, top Greek diplomats in the U.S. encouraged it.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

With the lifting of the crisis image from the energy crunch, many Americans have begun to slip in their conservation efforts.

The question in many instances now is, how much of the higher-priced fuels can the consumer afford rather than how much should he use.

Price remains a tough economizer for many in the lower and middle-income groups. But it is a case of economizing as much as possible on everything in a high inflation era, not just energy.

Industry is reacting more positively to the continuing oil, gas and coal situation. Energy conservation has become the subject of companies where millions of dollars are at stake. A spokesman for one large Minnesota manufacturing company estimates conservation efforts in the last year have saved the equivalent of 10 million gallons of fuel oil.

One of the major paper manufacturing companies now has a fulltime vice president overseeing energy matters. To assist him the company has an energy committee delving into ways of trimming an annual fuel bill which totals $60 million.

Many companies which have taken the energy challenge seriously are amazed to find how wasteful they have been in the past. With very little inconvenience they have extracted sizable cost savings. The scale is smaller, but most homeowners will find they can, too. — AMERICAN STATESMEN

Letters To The Editor

DEAR EDITOR: I am writing to let you know how much I enjoy the paper. I would enjoy the paper a lot more if I could get the paper everyday. I pay for the paper by the month. There are some days I don't get a paper. There have been days I don't get a paper for two or three days; sometimes I miss a paper once a week. Once in a while I get the paper every day. I would also like to say that I am not the only one who is having trouble with this paper carrier.

I would like to thank you for your time.

Hunter Throws Curve

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim "Catfish" Hunter, it seems, has thrown a curve at Charles O. Finley, and Mike Andrews has thrown a high, hard one.

The Oakland A's owner may not be able to handle either pitch.

Finley, usually up to his baseball cap in controversy, hasn't even opened his mouth on the eve of the 1974 World Series — but still finds his foot in it.

Hunter, a 25-game winner this season while helping the A's capture the American League pennant, reportedly wants to leave the team after the World Series with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Hunter, according to a newspaper story, claims that Finley has failed to pay half of his $100,000 salary for 1974.

Reached at a downtown Los Angeles hotel Thursday night, Hunter would neither confirm nor deny the report.

"I'm not saying anything at this time," Hunter said — or rather didn't say.

"I don't want to talk," he added.

Jim Bank, the A's traveling secretary, said he had "heard the story about Hunter, but you'll have to talk to Mr. Finley about it."

Mr. Finley was unavailable for comment.

The Chicago Sun-Times story said Hunter had notified Finley a month ago that he planned to become a free agent on Oct. 21, the day after the completion of the World Series, should it last seven games.

Hunter said he received $50,000 of his salary in the regular bi-weekly installments, but Finley refused to pay the remaining $50,000. He said he first asked Finley for payments two months ago and the Oakland owner has since failed to answer three letters.

The final letter a month ago said Hunter planned to declare himself a free agent.

Forsan collected 220 yards on the ground and made 17 first downs. Bronte was limited to just three first downs and 60 yards total yardage.

Neel rushed for 11 yards on seven carries. Forsan offense was helped out by Angel Miranda and Randy Gregory. Defensive standouts were Kevin Low, Terry Everts, Neel and Henderson.

Forsan plays next Lorraine here at 6 p.m. Thursday.

Sands Quarterback Club will meet at 7 p.m. Monday in the high school cafeteria. Films of the junior and senior games are scheduled. Bobby Barr will introduce the Girls' basketball team.

Tech-A&M Draws OU-Texas Spotlight Before Noon Game Planned

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Any self-respecting gunslinger knows the best time for a showdown is high noon and that's exactly when Texas Tech's Jim Carlen wants to play the Texas Aggies.

Carlen doesn't hope to get off the first shot by blinding the Aggies with sunlight. He figures weather conditions will be better with a noon kickoff.

Thanks to the Los Angeles Dodgers, Carlen gets his wish Saturday when his ninth-ranked Red Raiders challenge the Aggies before a capacity crowd at Kyle Field and a national television audience.

A noon kickoff depended on the Dodgers winning the National League pennant and becoming hosts in the first game of the World Series, and that set Carlen rooting for the Dodgers.

"We want to play the Aggies in the early afternoon because the humidity will be less," Carlen said. "The Astro-turf really soaks up the sunshine and late in the afternoon it would be real humid on the football field."

By late Saturday, the Raiders either will have extended their unbeaten string to 14 games and retained at least a share of the Southwest Conference lead or ride off into the sunset with their SWC hopes dimmed.

"Coming off two physical ball games like Texas and Oklahoma State, we are battered and sore," Carlen said. "I'm worried about another physical ball game."

"A&M has the best defensive team we've faced this year. Their defensive front four are real big and strong. Their linebackers move extremely quick and their secondary recovered real fast."

More specifically, the Aggie defense is led by linebackers Garth Ten Napel, an AP defensive player of the week earlier this season, Ed Simonini and a defensive front four of Don Long, Ted Lamp, Warren Trahan and Paul Hulm.

The Raiders will sink or swim on offense with the potent pass catching duo of sophomore quarterback Tommy Duniven and senior flanker Lawrence Williams.

Duniven, who engineered Tech's surprising 26-3 victory over Texas, will be facing the Aggies for the first time, but the veteran Aggie defense will remember Williams from last year's game. Williams caught two touchdown passes in a 28-10 Tech victory.

The Aggies lost to Kansas 28-10 last week and dropped from ninth to 16th in the AP poll. A&M Coach Emory Bellard says he may have been too conservative.

DAVE DUNCAN

Duncan Finally Realizes Role

For a receiver, experience is important... sometimes.

"It's taken me until this season to finally realize what being a receiver is all about," says senior wingback Dave Duncan. "I played quarterback in high school but when I got here I was used as a split end and defensive back."

"Just learning little things, what to do in every situation that might come up, reading a secondary — all take game experience. We worked a lot on passing last year but rarely used it in games. This year, it's changed."

Experience, however, also has its drawbacks. "After you've played some tough, physical secondaries like Texas A&M and Arkansas, it's tough to just concentrate on the ball as it's coming to you. All the time you know some defensive back or linebacker is about to stick his helmet in your ribs."

"When you're a freshman you don't worry about it as much because you haven't been banged around much yet. But after a while, I think the toughest thing a receiver has to do is keep his eye on the ball until he's caught it."

The all-district product of Big Spring High caught eight passes last season for 131 yards. This year he has five for 85 yards and TCU's longest reception of the year, a 31-yarder against U.T.-Arlington in the season opener from quarterback Lee Cook.

"Lee throws a 'light' ball," Duncan says. "That is, it's easier to catch than a Jimmy Elzner pass, which is a much harder-thrown ball and tougher to receive. Both are good passes but a receiver has to have experience with each one so that the quarterback knows the receiver's tendencies and the receiver understands what to expect from the thrower."

Duncan feels the timing element might be overrated except in certain patterns and situations. "On outs and curls, Lee just has to look and make sure the route is correct, then hit the receiver."

"The toughest passes to handle are the crosses over the middle, where the quarterback has to hit the seam at just the right second. And I've got to catch the ball moving to that exact spot."

"In other patterns you are more or less moving with the ball and can adjust a little better. In crosses, it's either there or it's not."

The business major feels that TCU's passing game is there, and with the establishment of the rushing attack that the airways will be a bit more open.

"Arkansas almost played a prevent defense the whole game. If we can give Lee a little more time and make them respect the run, we'll get going."

Goliad Tops Snyder

With three Mark's leading the way, Burris, Young and Poss, Goliad took care of Snyder-T, 22-14, here Thursday afternoon on Blankenship Field.

Goliad put together all of its scoring drive the first half. Snyder tightened up the final tally by moving the ball across twice the second half.

Burris scored Goliad's first TD pursuit. His tally came about in the first on a 30-yard run. Young ran over the extra points.

Young came to Goliad's aid in the second as he hit the end zone on a six-yard scamper. Burris ran the PAT.

Poss concluded Goliad's TD effort, scoring on a 31-yard second quarter pass interception. Poss had to shake off several would be tacklers enroute to paydirt.

Burris collected 145 yards rushing and Young 39. Outstanding Goliad defensive play was turned in by Mike Gomez, Kevin McLaughlin, Johnny Garcia and Poss.

Goliad's record is 2-2-1 and face Snyder-L here Thursday.

JH Teams Win Pair

COAHOMA — The two Coahoma Junior High teams chalked up two wins as the seventh graders downed Stanton, 22-0, and the eighth graders downed Stanton, 26-0, in an incomplete game.

The seventh graders used two touchdowns from Isidro Mendez from 45 and from four-yards out and a Tim Davidson touchdown from 15-yards out to defeat Stanton. Davidson also added four extra points on two runs.

The eighth graders won their game, 26-0, in a game which was halted just before the half.

Danny Fincher scored on the first play from scrimmage for the Seventh graders on a 70-yard reverse play. The run failed and Coahoma led 6-0. Coahoma made it 14-0 on a 50-yard Tracy Frazier touchdown. Frazier ran for the extra points.

Jim Bob Reed threw a touchdown pass to Gary Holum for 50-yards for the third score. Larry Nix went 60-yards on a run for the fourth touchdown.

Midland Wins JV Contest

MIDLAND — Midland's junior varsity stunned Big Spring's JV here Thursday, 27-7.

Big Spring's only scoring drive was of a five-yard play by Bobby Morrow in the middle of the first. Randall Jones' extra point kick was good.

Midland scoring: first quarter-45 yard run; second-10 yard run, PAT, pass; third-five-yard run; Fourth-25-yard run, PAT, kick.

Twelve penalties on major plays netting 90 yards curtailed Big Spring's chances of closing in on Midland.

Big Spring JV stands 1-2 for the season. The next grid attraction is against Odessa Permian in Big Spring at 4 p.m. Thursday at Blankenship Field.

SWC FIGURING Crossword Puzzle Time

By The Associated Press

There are enough questions about Saturday's games involving Southwest Conference football teams to run crossword puzzles at least a week in your family newspaper.

Will the Texas Aggies come out of their conservative offensive shell to challenge the Texas Tech secondary instead of waiting too late like they did in an upset loss to Kansas last week?

Can A&M's secondary stop perhaps the most deadly pass-and-run combination in the conference — quarterback Tommy Duniven to Lawrence Williams?

Can fast-improving Baylor and its high-octane offense move against the Arkansas Razorback defense which has allowed one touchdown all year?

Can Texas keep from being humiliated by 21-point favorite Oklahoma? Why did Texas Coach Darrell Royal go behind closed doors to prepare for the Oklahoma showdown?

Will trick and treat Coach Al Conover try to paint the Notre Dame Dome with Rice Blue?

The Tech-A&M SWC clash before a sellout crowd and a national television audience at College Station has drawn some of the spotlight usually shared by the Oklahoma-Texas weekend in Dallas.

The unbeaten ninth-ranked Red Raiders with only a tie to New Mexico to mar their record must travel to the home field of what has to be the most irate club in collegiate football.

The Texas Aggies were fifth-ranked and soaring last Saturday before Kansas stopped them cold 28-10. The Jayhawks placed an eight man line in front of Coach Emory Bellard's crew and dared A&M to throw. It was too late by the time A&M got around to it.

"We were too conservative too long," admitted Bellard, dropping strong hints that won't be the case this week.

"You can bet we'll have our helmets screwed on tightly for Texas Tech," offered offensive tackle Glenn Bujnoch.

The oddsmakers have established A&M a four-point pick over Tech which barely survived 14-13 over strong Oklahoma State last week.

The Red River Classic in Dallas—which Oklahoma has dominated the last three years—shapes up as a potential rout although Texas is 3-1, losing only to Tech. The second rated Sooners own the second best defense in the land and are tops offensively. Oklahoma is 3-0.

Justice Agency Offers To Defend Nixon, Trio

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has offered to defend former President Richard M. Nixon and three of his top advisers in civil suits accusing them of improper political harassment, department officials said.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Henry E. Petersen made the offer about two weeks ago in letters to attorneys for Nixon, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former presidential advisers H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, officials said Thursday night.

FB Annual Meet Set

The Howard County Fair Bureau will have its annual membership meeting Saturday 7 p.m. at the Howard County Fair Barns.

Members and their wives will be served a barbecue dinner and will hear the music of Joe Dunn and his band.

In the business session, resolutions will be presented for action, and eight board members will be chosen.

Those whose terms expire but who may be nominated again include: Larry Shar and Durwood Blagrove, Precinct 1; Ralph White and Lawrence Davis, Precinct 2; Neil Fryar and Ross Hill, Precinct 3; and J. L. Baugh and Larry Fryar, Precinct 4.

This event normally draws several hundred people.

City Agents In Mishaps

The city attorney and a police detective were involved in two separate accidents Thursday night.

Avery Falkner, 708 W. 7th, struck the rear of a vehicle, which he was pursuing, when it stopped suddenly. The car was driven by Randy Joe Faulkner, Gail Route, who was charged with going 65 miles per hour in a 40 mile zone. There were no injuries in the mishap at 4th and Nolan at 12:01 a.m.

James Gregg, city attorney was involved in a minor collision at the intersection of 4th and Gregg at 7:24 p.m. Thursday.

The car driven by Gregg and a car driven by Billy R. Badgett, 2111 Cecilia collapsed. Gregg was cited for running a red light. There were no injuries.

In another accident at 9:12 p.m. Thursday, Steven Dennis Fox, 904 Abrams, was injured in a wreck at 4th and Benton in which the car he was driving was in collision with a vehicle driven by Arthur Fierro Hernandez, Box 1574.

Fox, being x-rayed at Medical Center Memorial Hospital this morning, was reported to be in satisfactory condition. A passenger in the vehicle, David Fox, was treated and released.

Cemetery Has Fund Appeal

The annual Autumn cleanup of the Salem Cemetery, in the R-Bar and Center Point Area, has been completed, and funds are needed to cover the expense.

Families who have loved ones buried there, and other friends of the Salem Church Cemetery are urged to send contributions to Earl Hull, Route 1, Box 421, or to the Salem Cemetery, c/o Coahoma State Bank.

CHEST HAIR DYED

Haircuts Moving Down The Body

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (AP) — Barbers here may not be able to put hair on a man's chest, but if he's got it, they'll dye it, curl it, or even landscape it.

"Haircuts are definitely moving down the body these days," said a stylist known as Mr. Eckhard, who operates parlors at both the Fairmont and Mark Hopkins hotels. "I've had to put in two extra booths to keep up with the demand."

Most men who want their chest hair dyed are "somewhat on in years and don't want to give away their age when they're out sunbathing," Mr. Eckhard said.

But some clients have more exotic motives, like Irish-born businessman James McCarthy, who was in having his chest hair trimmed into the shape of a shamrock.

"I'm living proof the Irish shamrock can grow in

Scouters Set For Work Day

Adult work day at the Boy Scout Ranch in the Davis mountains is set for Oct. 18, continuing to the next day, according to Ike McCarroll, Midland, Council president.

Scouters who can participate should send reservations to the council office (P.O. Box 1508, Midland 79701) by Monday. The registration fee is $2 and includes meals except for Friday evening.

Participants are asked to bring their own tent and bedding, hand tools, paint brushes. Those who have welding and jackhammer rigs also are needed urgently.

Court To Study Tax Contest

County Commissioners Court will consider a tax suit filed against the county, city and school system Monday morning.

Flato Realty Investment, Corpus Christi — a business trust, claims tax value set on the Permian Building is higher than that for comparable property owned locally. The petition for an injunction was filed in U.S. District Court in Abilene.

Librarian Larry Justiss will talk to the court about an adding machine for the library.

Neel Barnaby, county road engineer, will confer with the court, and bills will be submitted for approval.

Base Entry Is Tightened

New, tighter controls for entry to Webb AFB have been put into effect at the direction of Air Training Command headquarters to give better protection of government and private property.

During normal duty hours, visitors are allowed entry at either the main or south gate for the purpose of visiting specific organizations, facilities or persons. During non-duty hours, visitors will be allowed entry if a military or dependent sponsor vouches for their entry; they possess a VIP pass, a valid club card indicating

PROSECUTION

The department did not consult Special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, said Robert Havel, the department's public information director.

But Havel added, "If Jaworski is interested in any possible prosecution in any particular area, then we would not represent Nixon." He said the offer would apply in future suits against Nixon "if the department determines that Nixon was acting within the scope of his authority" at the time of the challenged acts.

Maroney said the move developed after Nixon's resignation because "we were trying to get our representation of the various people in order."

15,000 Ballots Are Received

The county clerk's office received 15,000 ballots Thursday afternoon and will begin mailing over seas absentee ballots today, Mrs. Chole Newton, deputy county clerk, said.

Absentee voting starts in the office Wednesday at 8 a.m. and continues until Nov. 1 at 5 p.m. Absentee ballots going by mail to voters in the United States may not be sent until Wednesday.

Mailed ballots must be received at the county clerk's office by 1 p.m. election day, Nov. 5, Mrs. Margaret Ray, chief deputy county clerk, said.

Latter Day Saints List Local History Church

During World War II, T. C. (Tommy) Tubb, son of a well known pioneer family of Howard County, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Tubb, was serving in the U. S. Navy. While stationed in Utah, he met and married a young lady by the name of Iris Caldwell. Learning the requirements of the Church, and believing them to be true, he was baptized. In 1945, when the war was over, he returned to Big Spring.

After getting settled, he and his wife started a dependent Sunday School, with six people. They were Tommy and Iris Tubb, Mary Toop and her daughter Peggy, Ellen Watts and Nancy Marlene McCullough. Mary Toop was a nurse here. Ellen Watts was the wife of Edward R. Watts, a well known T & P Railroad conductor. Marlena McCullough was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McCullough. About this same time, there was a small group in Odessa, and there were one and two family Sunday Schools scattered throughout West Texas and along with Big Spring, their Parent Group was located in Monahans. For about five years just a Sunday School was all there was in Big Spring. They had their meetings in the homes of the different members.

Progress was slow, because at the time, Webb Base was closed and there had been no convert baptisms. By 1950, the group had grown sufficiently to become organized as a Branch, with Tommy Tubb as its first President. In 1952, the Base had been reopened, and the Church began its growth. A few missionaries were sent from Salt Lake to spread the Gospel and to encourage the Saints. They were easily recognized by outsiders of the Church. They traveled in pairs, wore little black bowler hats, dark suits, white shirts, walked or rode bicycles and knocked on people's doors and asked if they could teach them the gospel. They were often arrested as peddlers because their pockets would be bulging with Church literature or Books of Mormon, which they would offer at fifty cents each. They would often go hungry, and have to sleep under the stars, because they were not paid for their missionary work and members of the Church who would feed them or give them a place to stay were few and far between. These young men were usually between the ages of nineteen and twenty three.

In 1958, Big Spring became the Parent Group for Garden City, Colorado City, and Snyder. In Garden City there was the family of Underwoods who attended the Church here in Big Spring. Mr. W. C. Underwood, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Underwood and Kitty Lemon, who was Mrs. Underwood's mother. In Snyder, there were two special ladies, to be recognized. Lillie Bell Ellington was one, having been baptized into the Church in 1905 by a Preston Thomas. He was just passing through the area. He stopped at her house and asked for a night's lodging and a meal. He asked her if she knew about the gospel, and she became interested and baptized. The other lady from Snyder had lived in Sweetwater and was a Baptist Sunday School teacher there in the early 1900's. She had a little girl in her class who seemed very special and so different from the other children in her class. One day she asked the little girl what made her feel so sure of her belief in Heavenly Father, and what caused her to seem so different from the other children. She told Osa Read, the Sunday School teacher, that she was a Mormon. Mrs. Read asked her about the Mormon Church, then told her that if she got the chance she would like to learn more. Not long after this her husband died, and for some reason she moved to Snyder. She had been there but a short time when two missionaries knocked at her door and told her they were Mormons. She invited them in, listened to what they had to say, believed, and was baptized.

JOE BOYD

Joe Boyd of Corpus Christi will be evangelist in an old-fashioned Bible preaching revival at Grace Baptist Church starting Monday, Oct. 14 and lasting through Sunday, Oct. 20.

The church, with Rev. Roy Honea as pastor, is located across from the National Guard Armory and the congregation extends to each person a personal invitation to attend the revival services. They will be at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. daily.

Joe Boyd was born in Jacksonville and raised in the Dallas-Fort Worth area. Athletics came naturally to him as a young man and he rose through the ranks of high school and college to national prominence as an All American tackle for two years for Texas A&M, 1938-40. His name is in the A&M Hall of Fame.

He was a successful businessman and at the age of 27, returned to Southwestern Bible Theological Seminary in Fort Worth and entered the evangelistic field.

During the years he has had three pastorates and at one time operated a Christian school. Presently, the Boyds make their home in Corpus Christi and publish a monthly Christian newspaper and broadcast a daily radio program called "Strength for Today."

Musicians will be Howard Jewell of Payson, Ariz. and J. C. Walker of Weatherford. Jewell is a unique singing evangelist. He began work as a child singing with his father in pioneer Salvation Army work. He is a soloist and recording artist and is in his 70's. At one time, he sang for Billy Sunday, the world famous evangelist.

In 1963, Oscar David Graham became Branch President, and his 1st counselor was Elton Wallace and second counselor, David Shaw. At this time, plans were put into effect to add a Junior Sunday School wing onto the west end of the existing building. Apostle Howard W. Hunter came from Salt Lake City to dedicate the First Phase Building, on July 19, 1964.

Like all the former military personnel, David Graham was sent to another place, and Elton Wallace was called to succeed him. His counselors were Carroll Brown and Ferrel Smith. In 1965, application was made for the building of the Junior Sunday School wing. Actual construction on this building was not started until 1969. Each building phase is paid for before construction is begun.

Elton Wallace was Branch President from 1965 until

"Not by might, Not by power, but my spirit, saith the Lord" Zech. 4:6

REV. TERRY WILSON

The Church in Big Spring began its initial growth in 1958. It had thirty-eight members at this time, and a need for a permanent meeting place was recognized. Up to this time, the congregation had met in the members' homes, the Odd Fellows' Lodge, the Girl Scout's Little House, and the Base Chapel Annex. A site was chosen at 1803 Wassor Road, in the Douglas Addition. A three-acre tract was bought and paid for, and

time out for GOD

Stop... and look

A child is born with imagination, with the ability to see the magic of the world around him. Yet so much creativity—so much "seeing"—is often lost as we grow older and the complexities of life sweep over us.

When a child confronts nature, he isn't in a hurry. He takes time to study each blade of grass, to appreciate the colors of a butterfly, to marvel at a flower or the soft fur of a kitten.

We shouldn't lose this sensibility as we grow up. God created the world, but man has often abused it. So stop—once in awhile—and look, feel and listen. This is communion, restoration... like the spirit you find in church.

Have you been there lately?

Fix Overseas Mail Deadline

It's time to begin thinking about mailing parcels and greeting cards overseas, according to Big Spring Postmaster Frank Hardesty. He has released a list of recommended mailing dates for Christmas mail.

Oct. 15 is the first recommended deadline for mailing international surface parcels to the Far East. Closely following is the Oct. 25 deadline for mailing international surface greeting cards to the Far East.

Other deadlines coming within the next month include the Oct. 28 deadline for mailing surface mail to the Armed Forces in Antarctica, Australia, Burma, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, New Zealand, Okinawa, Philippines, Taiwan, Thailand, and Vietnam; the Nov. 1 deadline for mailing surface and space available mail (SAM) to Armed Forces in Ethiopia, Iran, Israel, Saudi Arabia and Turkey; the Nov. 1 deadline for mailing international surface parcels to Africa and the Near East; and the Nov. 4 deadline for mailing international surface greeting cards to Africa and the Near East.

Cannon Is Made Pioneer V-P

AMARILLO — Pioneer Natural Gas Company board of directors, have named James E. Cannon as vice president of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Pioneer President K. B. (Tex) Watson, said that Cannon will be responsible for the liquid products sales of Pioneer and will work on special development projects.

Cannon joined Pioneer in August of 1972 as assistant manager for gas supply and in June of 1973, was named vice president of Pioneer Gas Products Company, a position he will continue to hold.

Cannon, a graduate of Texas Tech University with a BBA degree in Industrial Management, joined Pioneer in 1972 as assistant manager of gas supply.

BS Exploration Meeting Oct. 17

Big Spring Exploration Company will have its annual meeting Thursday, Oct. 17, at the company headquarters, 611 Gregg, it was announced by Ted O. Groehl, executive vice president.

Current directors, who include John B. Roden, Casper, Wyo., president, Dr. P. W. Malone, chairman of the board; Dr. Jack Margolis, and Dr. J. M. Woodall, are nominees for re-election.

The company had 829,113 shares outstanding. Last year it sold its three rigs in the subsidiary Roden Drilling Company, but this year a smaller rig was purchased and is in operation.

Kenny Batla Is 4-H President

ST. LAWRENCE — New officers of the St. Lawrence 4-H Club are Kenny Batla, president; Wayne Hirt, vice president; Larry Batla, secretary; Mark Halfmann, reporter.

The new hunter-safety training program was discussed. Leon Halfmann, Delmer Batla, Eugene Hirt, and Oliver Werst, county extension agent, have been certified as instructors. This program, beginning next week, is open to all 4-H members between the ages of 12-19.

Serves On Pair Of Committees

Eddie Aciri, Big Spring's mayor pro-tem, was named to two Texas Municipal League committees this week.

He will go to Austin, Friday, Oct. 18 to attend a sub-committee of the TML committee on financing. Fred Hofheinz, Houston mayor, is chairman.

On Oct. 26, he will go one day early to the TML state meeting in Fort Worth to serve on the resolutions committee for the annual meeting. Wes Wise, Dallas mayor, will preside at this meeting.

'I'M NOT A SEXY GUY' People Are Crazy, Says Alice Cooper

DETROIT (AP) — When Alice Cooper is not on stage beheading dummies and entwining himself with snakes while singing rock songs, he says he likes to "play golf, drink beer and be quiet."

Offstage, Alice Cooper is Vincent Furnier, who was born in Detroit 26 years ago.

He came home last weekend to premier his new movie, "Good to See You Again, Alice Cooper." He says he also came to chat with friends, drink a few beers and, well, just be normal.

"I'm not a sexy guy," he insists. "I'd never act in a porno movie or anything like that. I just like to play golf, drink beer and be quiet."

But once onstage, he says his "Frankenstein" takes over.

"There's more to performing than just sitting around with a guitar and singing," he said. "It's all theater, man, you've got to get the audience to react."

"We've all got that other side, that Frankenstein. I just go out there and Alice takes over."

WW1 Meet Draws 75

A.B. Strickland, San Angelo, department of Texas chief of staff for the World War I Veterans, addressed the District 19 meeting of the barracks and auxiliary here Saturday. The meeting at Kentwood Older Adult Center drew 75 persons from Lubbock, Crosbyton, Levelland, Lamesa and Big Spring. Guildord Jones, Big Spring spoke to the combined groups at the luncheon.

WVI Barracks 1474 and the Auxiliary were joint hosts, and Marion B. Irland, district 19 commander, presided over the opening and business sessions. Bob Butler welcomed visitors, and Sid Lowery, Lubbock, responded. Mrs. Mary V. Forrest, Lubbock, District 19 auxiliary president, was in charge of the women's sessions and also spoke. Mrs. Frank Mullican, Big Spring auxiliary president, presided over afternoon sessions, as did Irland, who presented a gift to the Kentwood Center. A special note was made that Mrs. Abbie Sawyer, who is in a San Angelo rest home, was 101 years old Sept. 29. The same day, the Gold Star Mothers' national organization observed its anniversary. For the luncheon, the women decorated tables with fall flower arrangements.

GOP Rally Slated Sunday

Jack Warren, Tyler, State Republican chairman, Tyler, will join U.S. Sen. John Tower for a Permian Basin area-wide barbecue on Sunday afternoon, honoring Jim Granberry, GOP candidate for governor.

Midland Mayor Ernest West and Odessa City Councilman Ed Barham are co-chairmen for the 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. event. Tickets are $4 for adults, $2 children, and can be purchased at the gate. The rally-barbecue will be held at the Rich Air Company hangar north of the Midland-Odessa Air Terminal.
