

COVER-UP TRIAL BEGINS

'Most Powerful Men Involved'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prosecution opened its case in the Watergate cover-up trial today by telling the jury it would prove that "the most powerful men in the government of the United States... even including the President" conspired to block the investigation of the Watergate break-in.

Richard Ben-Veniste, an assistant special Watergate prosecutor, told the jury of nine women and three men:

"We will prove to you in the course of this trial that the attempts of legitimate law enforcement agencies... were met by an effort to cover up the facts and obstruct the investigations by the most powerful men in the government of the United States in a conspiracy that even involved the President of the United States himself."

The start of the trial was delayed two hours, apparently when one juror asked to be excused.

ALTERNATE NAMED
U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica excused the juror, Lucille F. Plunkett, 59, and named the first alternate, Helen D. Pratt to replace her.

The five defendants, including three of the most powerful officials in the Nixon administration, sat at five small counsel tables with their lawyers.

When Sirica entered the courtroom at 11:29 a.m., John J. Wilson, attorney for former White House staff chief H.R. Haldeman, immediately rose and moved for a mistrial, apparently because of the request by the juror to be excused.

"Motion denied," replied the judge, who also had presided at the Watergate break-in trial nearly two years ago.

Stewardess In Trouble

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Pacific Southwest Airlines stewardess who posed nude as Miss October for Playboy magazine is causing some turbulence within the ranks.

The centerfold adds to an already improper image of stewardesses, said Kelly Rueck, president of the Association of Flight Attendants.

The image has been fostered by such advertising slogans as "Fly me" and "We really move our tail for you," she said. "And this is another setback."

The PSA stewardess used the name Ester Cordet for the magazine and some of the pictures showed her in flight uniform.

"We're trying so hard to get away from that image," said Ruth Schliskey, a Western Airlines stewardess. "With this kind of publicity it's even a longer road."

At a stewardess class conducted at suburban Cypress College, the reaction was anti-playmate.

"I'm sure half the businessmen flying PSA are looking for that stewardess," said Marjorie Olson of Anaheim.

LEANING TOWER OF BRISTOL — A 210-foot smokestack at the New Departure Co. power plant topples Sunday morning in Bristol, Conn., after workers set off explosives to bring it down. The tower was removed as part of a redevelopment project.

Heaviest Rains Fall At Ackerly

Big Spring Experiment Station registered 2.39 for the biggest 24-hour rain period during 1974 in rains which began Sunday morning and resumed during the night Sunday. Much of the area received even heavier rains.

The rain was not especially welcomed by cotton farmers who are needing hot dry weather for their crops to mature before the first freeze. However, it filled stock tanks and helped rangeland and assured the area of a small grain crop this fall.

It was also the first time this year that the man at the experiment station checking the rain gauge got stuck in the mud and had to be pulled out.

Heaviest rain fell in Ackerly where Cecil Allred reported 3.5 inches and at Luther where John T. Couch measured 3.3. Mrs. O. R. Crow at Luther reported 1 1/2 inch in a hard shower Sunday and two at night for a 3 1/2 total. This included Sunday and Sunday night rains. The Ackerly area got about two inches of this total in one hard shower Sunday afternoon.

Bill McIlvain reported 2.5 inches at the H. H. Wilkinson Ranch west of town and Coahoma had the same amount. Herb Smith of the Forsan schools said it rained 2.1 there and Moss Creek Lake reported 2.55 for that area. The report showed .85 of this on Sunday. Elbow also measured 2.5.

At the Texas Electric switching station, the measurement was 2 inches with its gauges at Colorado City showing 2.4; Sweetwater, 2.6, and Lamesa, .91.

There was around 2.5 inches between Big Spring at Gail, with the Gail crossing running 1 1/2 feet at 6 a.m., according to reports from the Colorado River Municipal Water District. The crossing rose to two feet at 7:30 a.m. Upstream, Tobacco Creek and Buck Canyon were running, but not big.

Lake Spence had 4 inches at the dam with Beal's Creek south of Westbrook running 6 1/2 feet. The river at the diversion works at Colorado City had been spilling since Sunday midnight.

Lecturer
Dr. Jose R. Becero, who has recently joined the VA Hospital staff and who is assistant professor, department of medicine, attend. He also was not in the division of endocrinology at the Texas Tech Medical School at Lubbock, will lecture Oct. 16, at 2:00 p.m. in Room 216 of the VA Hospital. His topic will be this year than Democrats. "Hypo-Glycemia".

Republican women reported that "There must have been some breakdown in communication."

Fisher earlier was to have appeared at a Republican Women's meeting and sent word that he was unable to attend. He also was not in the group which campaigned here on tour in August.

Republican candidates as a whole have been much more in evidence, in Big Spring.

Luigi's Calling It Quits

NEW YORK (AP) — Luigi's restaurant-bar by day was a mecca for lawyers, judges and politicians from Queens Borough Hall across the street. But its owner is selling out because it proved too much a magnet for criminals at night.

A while ago the owner, Nick Jutis, put up a sign in Luigi's that said: "I have been in this business a long time. I have been cussed and discussed, boycotted, talked about, lied to, hung up, held up and robbed. The only reason I am staying in business is to see what the hell is going to happen."

When he opened the restaurant Monday Jutis saw what had happened over the weekend. A burglary, the 27th in ten years.

And Jutis put the total money loss to criminals around $60,000.

"That's it," said the 51-year-old restaurateur. "I can't take it anymore. I need some peace. I'm going to sell the place or give it away and move to Florida or California or some country where people are safe."

Such a move would end a 25-year career with Luigi's in which Nick served as a waiter for 15 years before becoming owner, fighting bad breaks all the while.

The restaurant's burglary insurance was cancelled after the first few break-ins.

Jutis has a silver plate in his leg from fighting during World War II. So does his German Shepherd watchdog Louie, because the dog lost a pitched battle to burglars who broke one of its legs.

The $1,600 cost of the dog's silver plate was somewhat offset last April when the dog was in the restaurant with Jutis' son Pete, 21, a college student.

Pete was alone at the bar when two men walked in with knives and demanded money. Pete said his father left with the cash, but the men started hurling ketchup bottles at him. He responded with a barrage of liquor bottles until Louie limped up and frightened off the holdup men.

And the restaurant was almost destroyed two years ago in a suspicious fire, possibly set by burglars.

And when he opened the door Monday, Louie was lying in a back room, drugged by burglars who jimmed a back window, took $1,000.

"It's all yours, son," Jutis told Pete. "If you want the restaurant you can have it."

"I don't want it," said Pete.

Housewife Is Raped

A 59-year-old housewife was blindfolded, raped, robbed and tied to a chair in the early morning hours at her residence in the residential area not far from E. 6th and Birdwell.

The victim could only describe the assailant as "tall" since he blindfolded her as soon as he entered her house. Entry was made through a bedroom window, according to investigating officers. The victim reported that he blinded her with a flashlight.

The woman was then blindfolded and gagged with torn sheet shippings, which the culprit had apparently brought with him to the home.

He later removed the gag and put the blindfold on double. She was first tied to the bed and raped, then robbed of money from her purse, a credit card, a watch and some jewelry. Total value of the robbery was set at $166.95.

The woman requested a drink of water which the assailant gave her. He then tied her to a chair in the living room with more sheet shippings. She worked her way loose and summoned police.

Det. Avery Falkner sent her to a local doctor for medical treatment. Police were called to the scene at 1:15 a.m. Doctors verified the attack.

Additional inflow as expected, but again Lake E.V. Spence is expected to catch the bulk of the water.

At mid-morning Monday, Lake Spence was at elevation 1860.85, an increase of .55 of a foot, or about 2,500 acre feet. Yellow Wolf Creek on the northside was running about eight feet deep, but tributaries on the south side were about two feet deep on the strength of rain that measured 4 inches at the dam and 3 inches upstream.

Sadat Will Give Henry Backing

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger gained Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's assurance today that he will try to rally support at the Arab summit for interim agreements with Israel.

"There are positive indications that we are making progress toward a just peace in the area," the secretary said at Sadat's residence outside Cairo.

Kissinger also announced he would return to the Middle East the first week of November, following visits to Russia and the Indian subcontinent.

After his talks with Sadat, Kissinger flew to Damascus for talks with Syrian President Hafez Assad. Later, he flies to Algeria.

WALKING ON EGGS
Sadat, the key leader in Kissinger's Middle East diplomacy, seemed to be walking on eggs as he agreed to take the initiative at the Arab summit in Morocco on Oct. 26.

"Why am I asked about guarantees?" he exclaimed when a newsman asked whether Egypt was prepared to offer them to Israel in return for a withdrawal in Sinai. "I myself, I need guarantees," Sadat said.

But he added that he was "very optimistic" about the summit.

The West German news magazine Der Spiegel quoted Sadat as saying he would be ready to sign a peace agreement if Israel pulls back from territories occupied during the 1967 war.

As Kissinger arrived in Damascus, Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy flew to Moscow for talks aimed at improving Soviet-Egyptian ties, arranging a visit to Cairo by Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev, and reopening the Moscow-Cairo arms pipeline.

The pipeline practically dried up after Egypt backed U.S. diplomatic initiatives to end last October's Middle East war.

In Jerusalem, former Defense Minister Moshe Dayan signed a petition opposing Israeli withdrawal from occupied Jordan.

The petition was circulated by the right-wing opposition Likud bloc, and Dayan's action raised speculation he would quit Israel's ruling Labor party and join Likud.

Asked about the prospect of Palestinian participation in future Geneva peace talks, Kissinger said, "Negotiations between Jordan and Israel should start first. But as I have pointed out previously, negotiations should include all the parties concerned."

A key goal of Kissinger's current trip has been to initiate separate Israeli-Egyptian and Israeli-Jordanian talks rather than to press for a full-scale Geneva parley. Newsmen travelling with Kissinger were told Sunday the secretary hopes to have new peace negotiations under way by the end of the year.

Ford Rating Has Dived
PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — President Ford's approval rating has dropped 21 percentage points since he took office, primarily because of his pardon of former President Nixon, according to the Gallup Poll.

Half of those questioned in the survey approved of the way Ford is handling his job, 28 per cent disapproved and 22 per cent expressed no opinion.

The current rating represents the sharpest decline for any President in his first two months in office.

In a poll taken just after Ford took office on Aug. 9, 71 per cent said they approved of the way Ford assumed the nation's leadership. Three per cent said they disapproved, and 26 per cent said they were undecided.

The latest poll was taken after Ford pardoned former President Nixon on Sept. 8 and before he presented his economic program to Congress last week. The pardon was the chief cause of Ford's decline in popularity, and the nation's economy was another important factor, according to the polling organization.

COOLER
Continued considerable cloudiness along with a chance of rain is expected for this afternoon with the weather clearing and turning cooler tonight and tomorrow. The high temperature today is expected to be in the mid 60's with the low tonight in the mid 40's and the high Tuesday in the mid 60's. There is a 40 per cent chance of more rain this afternoon decreasing to 20 per cent tonight.

COSTLY TO TAXPAYERS Fishing Camps Drawing fire
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., has charged that the Army and Air Force are operating exclusive fishing camps in Canada and Alaska for high-ranking military and civilian guests.

Proxmire called on the General Accounting Office on Sunday to find out how much the camps cost taxpayers and to compile a list of all persons who have used them in the last five years.

He said his "very conservative estimate" is that the camps probably cost more than $500,000 a year. Proxmire said he was told that the Army and Air Force may be closing down several camps in the area of Goose Bay Air Base, Labrador, but several others in Alaska are "more than taking up the slack."

In response, the Pentagon said, "It is the policy of the Department of Defense to provide, operate and maintain activities and facilities determined necessary for the establishment and continuation of high morale and overall effectiveness of its personnel."

Elvis' Bodyguards Accused In Suit

RENO, Nev. (AP) — A California man contends in a $6.3 million damage suit he was beaten by bodyguards for entertainer Elvis Presley.

Edward L. Ashley, a real estate developer from Grass Valley, complained in the suit filed Friday in federal court he was roughed up as he tried to attend a party arranged by Presley the night of May 20.

Presley, who is appearing at the Sahara Tahoe Hotel, could not be reached for comment. A spokesman for the Sahara Tahoe, where the alleged beating occurred, would not discuss the matter.

Ashley said he had paid $60 to attend the party. But when he showed up, the suit said, "his arms were pinned behind his back, and he was thrown through the door and onto the floor inside."

Cancer Is Fatal To Famed Emcee

NEW YORK (AP) — Ed Sullivan, the Great Stone Face whose "really big show" entertained millions of American television viewers on Sunday nights for more than two decades, is dead of cancer at 72.

He died Sunday night at Lenox Hill Hospital, with Carmine Santullo, his aide and close friend for more than 40 years, at his bedside. Sullivan had been hospitalized Sept. 6, but his illness was a closely kept secret.

Bob Precht, Sullivan's son-in-law and head of Sullivan's TV production company, said the performer-columnist did not know that he had cancer of the esophagus.

A warm but poker-faced newspaperman who got into broadcasting in 1930 with a radio variety show, Sullivan made his debut on CBS with his weekly TV show in May 1948. The program was called, "The Toast of the Town."

MANY ACTS
In its 23 years on television, the popular Sunday night program introduced to viewers such now-famous performers as the Beatles, Elvis Presley, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis and Dick Van Dyke.

Although the show folded in 1971 because of low ratings, Sullivan continued hosting several specials a year.

Sullivan, born in Manhattan and raised in Port Chester, N.Y., began his newspaper career 53 years ago as a $10-a-week reporter on the Port Chester Daily Item. He drifted into sportswriting and started his Broadway column in 1931 on the now-defunct New York Journal American.

NOTHING IS HIGH AND DRY — Even the trash cans in Birdwell Park here are awash in the mini-flood which hit Big Spring and environs here Sunday night and this morning. The temporary lake beautifully mirrors the many trees which line the park. The drainage system at the north end of the park soon lowered the water level, however.

TWO CANDIDATES MEET IN ARKANSAS
GOP Judy Petty (left), Democrat Wilbur Mills

Judy Petty Says Her Hopes High

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Republican Judy Petty says she is "completely, totally, absolutely optimistic" about her chances for defeating Rep. Wilbur D. Mills next month.

The 30-year-old divorcee says the Tidal Basin incident in Washington last week involving Mills will be a factor in the election, "but not because I make it so."

Mills' car, in which he was a passenger, was stopped last Monday near the Tidal Basin for traveling at high speed and with headlights out, according to police reports. Another passenger in the car, a woman later identified as a former stripper, leaped into the basin and had to be rescued by a policeman.

Many observers originally believed Mrs. Petty would make a poor showing against Mills in the general elections. But her chances for topping the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee may have improved since the Tidal Basin incident.

She has maintained that the Mills incident is a personal matter, not a campaign issue. She has concentrated her drive against the 65-year-old Democrat on illegal campaign contributions — especially from dairy interests.

"Wilbur Mills is up to his knees in sour milk," Mrs. Petty said.

Penalty For Marijuana Use May Be Lightened

WASHINGTON (AP) — The maximum penalty for simple possession of small amounts of marijuana for personal use would be reduced from one year to 30 days under draft legislation that rewrites the U.S. Criminal Code.

The reduced marijuana penalty is one of hundreds of changes in federal criminal laws found in the proposed legislation, an outgrowth of a massive project begun in 1966 by a commission appointed by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Separate bills growing out of the commission's proposals, one developed by the Justice Department and the other by the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on criminal laws and procedures, have been combined into the draft legislation.

Many of the changes the legislation would make are technical simplifications and improvements. Others are of major significance likely to prove controversial.

The legislation is being prepared for introduction in the next Congress.

Besides the change involving marijuana possession, here are some of the ways in which the present code would be altered.

Provision is made for appellate review of sentences in federal criminal cases, on an appeal taken either by the government or a defendant, in an effort to reduce glaring disparities in penalties imposed by judges.

Dissemination of obscene materials to minors or to any person, in a way in which there is no opportunity to avoid exposure to it, would be prohibited.

Commercial distribution to consenting adults would be banned only if this would be in violation of the laws of the state in which it was disseminated.

Sex bias in sex crimes would be wiped out so that, for example, a 21-year-old woman who seduced a 14-year-old boy could be convicted of statutory rape. Under present federal law, statutory rape applies only in cases of girls under 16 years of age.

Included in the bill is a sharply scaled-down version of separate legislation previously passed by the Senate to provide compensation for personal injury to innocent victims of federal crimes of violence.

Another section provides for restoration of the death penalty for certain types of crimes, if specific aggravating factors are present and there are no mitigating factors.

The compromise draft also modifies changes proposed in the Justice Department bill to make it a crime for federal employees entrusted with classified information to disclose it to newsmen or others not authorized to receive it, regardless of whether the material was properly classified.

This proposal has aroused intense controversy, with opponents contending it amounted to a national secrecy act and was designed to block the type of reporting involved in the Pentagon Papers case, the My Lai massacre and the Watergate affair.

Pretending a slip-of-the-tongue, she occasionally refers to her opponent as "Wilbur Milk." Cartoonists, taking the theme, have shown a Millsfaced cat licking cream from its whiskers.

The Watergate Committee report says more than $80,000 was illegally given from corporate assets of organizations which operated in 1971 and 1972 before Mills said he was running for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Mrs. Petty has campaigned much more vigorously than Mills, who has hardly put in appearances that could be construed as campaign ventures. In one week, she made 26 stops in one county and met factory shifts around the clock.

She has accused Mills of doing little in his Ways and Means post to rid the nation of inflation and what she calls an inequitable tax system that needs reform.

Mrs. Petty says she entered politics in order to support herself and her daughter after her marriage broke up. She and her 10-year-old daughter Debbie live with Mrs. Petty's parents in Little Rock.

Until her divorce in 1967, Mrs. Petty's political involvement was limited to work as a neighborhood volunteer for Winthrop Rockefeller in his 1964 and 1966 gubernatorial campaigns.

After the divorce — on grounds of "general indignities, or whatever that catch-all thing is" — the housewife found herself in the position of breadwinner.

"So I asked myself: What would I want to do if I could do whatever I wanted to? The answer was politics."

She joined the Young Republicans organization in Arkansas, became vice chairman of the YR National Federation and served as chairman for the 2nd District Women's Political Caucus.

Slaughter Of Cattle Protested By HSUS

CHICAGO (AP) — The Humane Society of the United States has condemned a planned mass slaughter of cattle by Texas dairymen and beef raisers to protest feed grain costs.

At its national conference which ended Sunday in Chicago, 300 delegates passed a resolution saying the group "stands unalterably opposed to the needless killing of any living creature when done solely for publicity purposes or for economic or political recognition."

Dairy and beef raisers in Stephenville, Tex., plan to shoot nearly 1,000 young calves in a huge pit and bury them to register their anger over the cost of feed.

The farmers delayed their plan after promised meetings with White House officials.

But no talks have been announced and the slaughter is set again for this week, officials said.

The resolution also criticized the cattle raisers' "announced proposal to purposefully bury the carcasses and thereby waste this protein so desperately needed in today's starving world."

Humane society members will observe any mass slaughter and seek prosecution under state anticruelty laws if the killings proceed and any animals suffer inhumanely, a spokesman said.

The maximum penalty for violating the Texas anticruelty statute—a misdemeanor—is a $2,000 fine and a year in jail.

Hi-Fi Murder Trial Nears

FARMINGTON, Utah (AP) — Three Air Force airmen accused of killing three persons during an apparent attempt to burglarize an Ogden, Utah, music store last April, go on trial Tuesday for first-degree murder.

Dale S. Pierre, 21, of Brooklyn, N.Y.; William A. Andrews, 19, Dallas, Tex.; and Keith Leon Roberts, 20, Oklahoma, could be sentenced to death if found guilty of the April 22 killings at the Hi-Fi Shop.

The trial was moved here on a motion by defense attorneys who claimed the atmosphere in Ogden was hostile to the defendants. The attorneys have tried in vain to have the trial moved to Salt Lake County. Appeals to the State Supreme Court for separate trials have been denied. The trial is expected to last about a month.

The three were arrested shortly after the bodies of three people were found in the basement of the store. Two other victims were shot but survived the ordeal.

Killed were Stanley Walker, 20; Mrs. Byron Naisbitt, 52; and Sherry Michelle Ansley, 18, who was found nude and had been raped, police said. Orren W. Walker, 43, and Courtney Naisbitt, 16, survived. Police said Walker lived through four separate attempts on his life, including an attempt to kick a ballpoint pen through his ear into his brain. He is expected to testify.

Young Naisbitt remains hospitalized and testimony was taken last week to determine if he was physically and mentally able to testify at the trial. A court decision said he was not competent to act as a witness.

Police said all five persons were forced to drink liquid drain cleaner and then lined up against a wall and shot in the head one by one.

They said Walker's wound was superficial, and he had "spat out the drain cleaner." So an attempt to strangle him with a cord was made, and the pen was kicked into his ear. It was still protruding, with blood running down the side of his face, when the crime was discovered.

Officers said an estimated $24,000 in goods was hauled away from the store. A van owned by Andrews was confiscated by officers during the week after the shootings, and officers said the stolen goods were found in a storage garage that had been rented by Pierre less than 12 hours before the crime occurred.

Pierre, Andrews and Roberts were helicopter mechanics at Hill Air Force Base outside of Ogden in northern Utah. They had been at the base less than a year when arrested.

Ogden Police Chief LeRoy Jacobsen said during his department's investigation that officers were led to the suspects by the discovery of a victim's wallet in a trash container in the area where they were arrested. The wallet was found by two boys rummaging for pop bottles they could sell.

Store Here Is Robbed

Bollinger Grocery was robbed by two young Latin American males at 4:30 p.m. Sunday, Mrs. O.R. Bollinger was threatened by one of the youths with "either a gun or knife in his pocket," she told police.

She told the officers that she was told to "open the cash register and back away from it." They reached in and grabbed "from $30 to $50," she added.

The description was that they were "probably in their teens, Latin American." One youth wore a blue wind breaker and brown striped pants and had long sideburns. The other youth had a beige sweater.

Cook And Huff Win At Rodeo

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Main events were won by convicts from Pottsboro and Pampa, and a Uruguayan prisoner became a two-time winner Sunday in the second week of the annual Texas Rodeo.

Roger Cook of Pottsboro, serving five years, won the saddle bronc riding event and Pampa's George Huff, serving ten years, captured first in the bareback riding competition at the rodeo which is run each Sunday in October every year.

Cid Artecona of Uruguay, serving 15 years, won the bull riding competition for the second straight Sunday.

Winners of the opening mad scramble—ten riders atop ten bulls coming out of chutes at the same time—were lifer Sylvester

More of Houston; Danny Pruitt of Lancaster, serving four years, and Rodney Smith of Dallas, serving five years.

Eddie Holland of San Antonio, serving ten years, won $75 which he snatched from between the horns of two bulls.

Dirri Winters of San Angelo and Justine Gardner of Monroe, La. won the calf tussle contest in the women's division.

Everybody knows somebody who's been helped.

The United Way is reaching out. It goes into every neighborhood. To every age group. Across every income level.

To help. In a thousand ways.

A neighbor. A relative. Maybe someone down the street who's out of work. Or sick. Or in trouble. Chances are the United Way helps someone you know. Maybe someday it'll be helping you.

Thanks to you it's working. The United Way.

Demos Could Pick Up 30-40 House Seats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican office-seekers across the nation, and indicated that Democrats are making the most of it.

One Republican, Rep. LaMar Baker of Tennessee, who seeks a third term in the Nov. 5 election, said "I resent having to carry the burden of past actions of officials in our party."

Baker's remarks came after Ford had announced an anti-inflation program including a surtax on middle and upper income citizens.

The AP survey showed the Democrats stand to come close to the record 39 governorships they held after the 1936 election, as well as winning substantial gains in the Senate and House.

To counter this trend, Republicans have begun moving to cut their losses by pumping new money into the breach, planning a heavy

Nuisance Could Be Drought Relief Could Predicted Increase Planting

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — A reliable way to predict red tides may help prevent the regular nuisance of tons of dead fish washing onto resort beaches from Maine to Florida.

"We've had some luck—this is a break through," says Dr. David Baldrige, who has been able to predict when red tides would affect one area on Florida's Gulf Coast. "It's the link in the chain."

"If we're ever going to control red tide, we have to be able to know when it will happen and catch it early when it only covers a couple of square miles of ocean, not when it's spread 100 miles down the coast and 10 miles out to sea," said Baldrige, chief researcher for the Mote Marine Laboratory in Sarasota.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drought relief in parts of the Great Plains and a switch from corn and other crops in some states may boost winter wheat plantings 3 to 5 per cent from last year, says an official of the National Association of Wheat Growers.

"But that doesn't necessarily mean total grain production will go up next year," says Jerry Rees, executive vice president of the association. "It possibly could mean a decline."

Rees said there is indication that many farmers who had severe corn losses from drought last summer are planting winter wheat this fall. Also, some sorghum producers in the southwest appear to be doing likewise.

Thus, because wheat is lowyielding than corn and sorghums, the net grain output from those converted acres could be down sharply.

Initially, Rees said in an interview, the association last August surveyed members and found they probably would not increase winter wheat plantings this fall. But effects of the drought became more apparent later and that probably caused much of the switching.

Rees said winter wheat seeding in Oklahoma and Texas appears to be up from last year because of improved soil moisture conditions. Also, he said, wheat seems to be popular in eastern Nebraska and parts of Kansas where drought-damaged corn was cut for silage.

But in part of western Kansas, Colorado and a big section of Washington state, dry weather has delayed winter wheat seeding. There is still time, Rees said, if those areas get adequate moisture.

Total wheat production this year was estimated last week by the Agriculture Department at a record 1.78 billion bushels. That included 1.39 billion of winter wheat.

The total wheat output this year was up four per cent from 1973, with all of the gain registered by the winter type. Durum and other wheat planted in the spring declined from 1973 production.

In its crop report issued Oct. 10, USDA said winter wheat planting for next year's harvest

VYING FOR TOP — Charlie Rich and Olivia Newton-John are each nominated for four Country Music Association awards, including the prestigious entertainer of the year. The nominees for tonight's award presentations reflect the variety and breadth of modern country music. The show will be televised nationally from the Grand Ole Opry House.

Turks Can Get Arms Elsewhere

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Many Turks seem unperturbed about the move by the U.S. Congress to end American military aid to Turkey. Government officials privately express confidence that President Ford will veto the attempt.

But if Ford doesn't, or if Congress overrides a veto, Turkey presumably would go shopping for arms elsewhere, with Britain or France among the most likely suppliers.

"For a country in our position there would always be those willing to provide these arms," one high-ranking Turkish official said.

Ankara is unlikely to seek weapons from the Soviet Union, its giant neighbor to the north, nor is it certain that the Kremlin would sell it arms even if asked. A Turkish shift toward Moscow would go contrary to centuries of enmity and a traditionally strong Turkish aversion to Communism.

The drive by Congress has been met with official silence in Ankara and almost no public uproar. Turkish leaders have been careful to refrain from statements that could spark a wave of anti-Americanism like that which followed a harsh letter from President Lyndon B. Johnson that warned Turkey not to invade Cyprus in 1964.

Curtailment of American arms sales could result, however, in quick deterioration of Turkish-American relations. The future would be uncertain for the American military presence here, mainly a strategic air base in Incirlik and three radar monitoring stations in Anatolia.

"We could undertake some actions which would be very bothersome to the United States," said an official of the Defense Ministry.

FB Opposes Export Brake

Howard County Farm Bureau turned out in record numbers for the annual meeting Saturday evening, naming eight directors and adopting resolutions against export limitations and raising federal fuel taxes.

At the same time, the membership approved a resolution asking restrictions on imports of beef, at least until the present surplus is wiped out. They also favored a citizens committee, not the legislature as delegates, as a constitutional convention if and when another attempt is made to overhaul the Texas constitution.

Directors named were: Precinct 1, Larry Shaw and Derwood Blagrove; Precinct 2, Ralph White and Delbert Stanlev; Precinct 3, Neil Fryar and Ross Hill; Precinct 4, Bobby Cathey and Lloyd Underwood.

The board will meet Tuesday evening to organize, name officers, and prepare the resolutions for submission to the state. Johnnie Walker, president, was in charge of Saturday's gathering which drew well over 300 to the barbecue dinner at the Howard County Fair Barns. Music was furnished by the Joe Dunn-Tom Castle band.

Reports were made by Lloyd Robinson, youth chairman, who introduced Sherril Ingram, Sally Echols, queen and talent winner, and Byron Hill, Leslie White and Terrie Richardson; also from Derwood Blagrove, Neil Fryar.

CMA Show Upcoming Tonight

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The stars of country music vie for a host of awards tonight at the eighth annual Country Music Association awards show, to be televised nationally as it is hosted from the Grand Ole Opry House by singer Johnny Cash.

Finalists for entertainer of the year included Loretta Lynn, who won the title in 1972, and Roy Clark, who did so in 1973.

Charlie Rich and Olivia Newton-John are each nominated for four awards, including entertainer of the year. Rich is up for top male vocalist, top single and top album. Miss Newton-John is a finalist for top female vocalist, top album and top single.

Mae Davis, who hosted NBC's country music special "I Believe in Music," is the fifth nominee for entertainer of the year.

One of six finalists — Minnie Pearl, Owen Bradley, Vernon Dalhart, Frank "Pee Wee" King, Merle Travis and Kitty Wells—will be inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame.

The songs nominated for single of the year include hits in both the country and pop field. Rich's "Most Beautiful Girl in the World," Miss Newton-John's "If You Love Me," Ray Stevens' "The Streak," "As Soon as I hang up the Phone" by Miss Lynn and Conway Twitty, and Cal Smith's "Country Bumpkin" are all in the running.

The winners are selected by the CMA's 3,300 members. Votes are kept secret until announcement tonight.

Co-Ops Holding Up Milk Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Milk prices in most parts of the country are being held above federal minimums through the bargaining power of big dairy cooperatives, according to government and private statistics.

The government calculated that extra charges levied by coops amounted to an average of 1.9 cents per half-gallon nationwide last June, the most recent month for which an official average is available.

The average has risen since then, but the Agriculture Department has not yet revealed the amount of the increase. Bottlers say dairy co-ops in southern Florida are charging 11 cents per half-gallon over federal minimums, which one government economist said was the highest extra charge ever recorded.

Co-ops are able to charge prices above federal minimums because of their size and partial immunity from antitrust laws. The higher prices generally are passed on to consumers.

Under present law, bottlers must pay at least what the government sets as the minimum price for fluid milk in 61 federally regulated markets, which account for about 80 per cent of the nation's fluid milk. But coops are free to demand more, and also are free to join in price-fixing associations among themselves.

Club To Meet This Evening

Members of the Howard County Youth Horsemen Club are being urged to attend a business meeting of the organization, scheduled to get under way at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the First Federal Saving and Loan Association building.

Gambling Raids Hit 'Country Club Set'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A six-week investigation of what a policeman called "the country club set" has ended in seizure of several boxes of alleged gambling paraphernalia and the issuance of arrest warrants for ten persons.

Among those charged were Edward Randall Petri, 33, golf pro at Balcones Country Club, and Carolyn DeHority, 34, tennis pro at the same club, police said.

All but three, including Petri, were taken into custody Friday.

The arrest warrants, except for the one on Mrs. DeHority, were based on sealed grand jury indictments.

Mrs. DeHority was arrested and charged with keeping a gambling place, police said. Petri was charged with one count of communicating gambling information.

Others charged were J. Larry DeHority, 37, Mrs. DeHority's husband, six counts of communicating gambling information and seven counts of gambling promotion; Harold Patrick Livers, 23, one count of communicating gambling information and three charges of gambling promotion; Darrell L. Davis, 30, three counts of communicating gambling information and four counts of gambling promotion; John D. Riley, 32, six counts of gambling promotion and five of communicating gambling information; Dean Boertz, 32, one count each of communicating gambling information and gambling promotion; Kenneth Wayne Powell, 31, one count of gambling promotion; Pat Paul Payne, 50, gambling promotion; and Frank Limon, 34, communicating gambling information.

Pavone and Limon are members of the club where Petri and Mrs. DeHority are employed, a club spokesperson said.

Police Sgt. Jim Baker said he and Department of Public Safety intelligence agent Jim Rundell Jr. headed the six-week probe of what Baker called "the country club set."

The Friday night arrests merely "scratched the surface," Baker said, and "we hope to have at least 20 persons granted immunity to testify before the grand jury in the weeks to come on bookmaking in Austin and Travis County."

Baker said Austin betters placed wagers with alleged bookmakers on baseball, football, hockey, horse racing and elections.

DPS intelligence Capt. Hugh Poague said, "As far as we know, no original (betting) line comes from the state of Texas. Many of the original lines to Texas come from Los Angeles and Nevada."

LEGAL NOTICE

ADVERTISMENT FOR BIDS
Sealed Proposals Addressed to the President, Board of Directors for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, Big Spring, Texas, will be received at the offices of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, 1318 East Fourth Street, Big Spring, Texas until 10:00 A.M., Tuesday, October 29, 1974, (at which time they will be publicly opened and read aloud), on the following project:

NEW OFFICE BUILDING INCLUDING GENERAL CONSTRUCTION MECHANICAL AND ELECTRICAL WORK

The successful bidder will be required to enter into a contract with the Colorado River Municipal Water District, Big Spring, Texas. However, the District reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

One lump sum BASE PROPOSAL (General Construction of an Office Building) will be received to include General Construction, Site Work, Plumbing Work, Heating and Air Conditioning Work and Electrical Work.

Proposals shall be in accordance with plans, specifications and contract documents prepared by Gary and Shoberg - Architects, 219 Main Street, Big Spring, Texas 79720. Any Bid received after the closing time will be rejected.

A Cashier's Check, Certified Check, or Acceptable Bidder's Bond payable to the Owner in an amount not less than 5 per cent of the largest possible total for the bid submitted, must accompany each bid as a guarantee that, if awarded the contract, the Bidder will promptly enter into a contract and execute such bonds as may be required.

Attention is called to the fact that the rates of pay for labor and mechanics engaged in the construction of the project will be not less than the prevailing local wage rates for such work and in full compliance with any National or State Wage Law that may be applicable.

General Construction plans and specifications containing all Mechanical and Electrical Work may be examined without charge in the office of the Architect or they may be procured from the office of the Architect upon deposit of $50.00 for the first set as a guarantee of the safe return of the plans and specifications in good condition. Plans will be sent out by the most expedient means of transportation. The full amount of the deposit will be returned to each bidder upon return of the plans and specifications in good condition, provided the Bidder has submitted a properly executed performance bond, plans and specifications in good condition within 5 days after the receipt of the plans and specifications.

No bid may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time for receipt of Bids and may be held 30 days unless sooner returned by the Owner.

A performance bond and Material and Mechanics payment bond in the amount of 100 per cent of the contract price will be required of the successful Bidder.

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BIG SPRING, TEXAS, REVISING THE CODE OF ORDINANCES BY AMENDING SECTION 24-19 CONCERNING PAVING CUT REPAIR COSTS, AMENDING 24-10 CONCERNING BACK-FILLING, FILLING AND RESURFACING AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF BIG SPRING, TEXAS:
THAT the Code of Ordinances of the City of Big Spring, Texas, be revised to read as follows:

Section 24-19. Repair Fee
Type of Pavement, Concrete, First Square Yard or Less $30.00
Asphalt (Perm.) 25.00
Asphalt (Temp) 15.00
Unpaved 10.00

Each Additional Square Yard, Price of Material and Labor.
Charges for cutting or altering any street or alley in the city shall be paid at the time the permit required by Section 24-18 is issued, and will be based on the estimated size of the cut to be made. Adjustments for overruns and underruns will be calculated upon completion of the cut and additional charges or reimbursements will be made accordingly.

Section 24-20. Back-Filling, Filling, and Resurfacing
Any person making a street or alley cut under a permit required by this article shall back-fill the ditch as directed by the City of Big Spring Public Works Department.

The Department of Public Works will be notified when the back-filling required by this section is completed. This notification will be accomplished by the submission of Section C of the application form to the Department of Public Works or his authorized agent. Upon acceptance of the back-fill by the Department of Public Works the permit holder will be notified that the city will take over the cut and assume liability for the safety of the traveling public.

The Public Works Department will then resurface the cut. At the time that the Department of Public Works begins the resurfacing of the ditch, the city assumes complete control over the ditch.

In certain areas designated by the Department of Public Works paving cuts across streets will not be permitted. To cross these designated streets with pipeline or cables it must be accomplished by boring, tunneling or jacking at the expense of the contractor.

THAT the passage of this ordinance constitutes an emergency and an imperative public necessity that the Charter Rule requiring that City ordinances be read at two (2) separate meetings of the City Council be suspended, and said rule is hereby suspended, and this ordinance shall take effect immediately upon its passage.

AUSTIN (AP) — A state-regional-local water quality planning and management system has been proposed by the Texas Advisory Commission Intergovernmental Relations.

"Unless a responsible state-regional-local water quality planning and management system is begun during the next few months Texas local governments stand to lose in excess of $10 million in federal money for regional water quality planning over the next two years," said Arlington Mayor Tom J. Vandergriff, commission chairman.

"There are no federal funds to support the required regional planning if conducted by Texas state government, although funds are available to support such planning by local regional planning organizations, which are representatives of locally elected officials."

The commission's proposal was in response to the Federal Water Pollution Control Act of 1972 which requires states to engage in extensive regional water quality planning, Vandergriff said.

Vandergriff said the commission proposal would ensure that state government "retain the primary role in water quality management since water quality problems do not recognize local government boundaries. To the degree consistent with this objective, the proposal would give local elected officials the opportunity to determine water quality management policies for their communities."

Traffic Is No. One Killer Within State Of Texas

By The Associated Press
Traffic as usual was a big killer in Texas over the weekend, but small number of violent deaths from other causes kept the overall total at a lower level than usual.
The Associated Press tabulates the violent deaths in the state each weekend from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.
Early today, the toll for the weekend was 19, including 12 in traffic mishaps, two shooting deaths, one stabbing, two drownings, a fatal fall and a traffic-related fatality caused by a man who swallowed gasoline he was trying to sip.
William Guderian, 24, of Lorena died Sunday when his motorcycle crashed on a highway at Lorena in McClellan County.

Police said Cozette Holland was killed Sunday in a two-car accident on Texas 6 on the Lake Waco bridge.
A Prairie View A&M student, Johnny Ray Phillips, 21, of Texarkana was shot to death Sunday while attending a student function on the campus. The Waller County sheriff's department was investigating the shooting.
Henry Allrede, 47, of Houston was killed Sunday when his car ran off the road in Liberty County ten miles west of Dayton.
Also in Liberty County, Darrell Wayne Fox, 8, died of injuries suffered when he was struck by a car as he stepped off a school bus Saturday.

Kenneth Brady Kelly, 17, died in Arcola in East Texas after swallowing gasoline he was attempting to syphon from a gas tank.
Kellie Ann Wright, 15, of Houston was killed Friday night when the car in which she was riding swerved to miss an opossum in the road and overturned. Police said the driver of the car was unhurt.
A 49-year-old Dallas man identified as Carl Bryant was shot three times in the back and killed as he sat in a pickup truck Friday night.
Mark Hodnott, 19, of Houston was killed Friday night when the car in which he was riding left a Houston street, crashed into several trees and overturned.

Felipe Perez, 29, of McAllen drowned Saturday at Lake Ray Hubbard near Dallas. Authorities said he apparently fell off the spillway while he was fishing.
An Arlington man was presumed drowned Saturday when he fell from a fishing boat. Police did not identify the man, and searchers were looking for the body.
Charles P. Godfrey, 18, of Roanes Prairie, was killed Saturday when his small foreign car ran off a Harris county road.
Police found the body of Kevin Hardaway Cox, 19, of Alvin, on a Harris County road Saturday. Police said the youth apparently was stabbed in a car and got out of the vehicle, running 125 feet before collapsing in the roadway.

The Major Milepost

Our welter of woes got all the headlines, but perhaps the most significant news of the month was the item out of Austin announcing that the Tokamak project there has heated and contained plasma up to 200 million degrees temperature.

Until now the maximum was some 30 million degrees, but the new advance puts the process of nuclear fusion within reach. Further experimentation and development undoubtedly will result in lengthening the interval of holding the mass, several times hotter than the sun's surface, from an infinitesimal to a substantial fraction of a second necessary to sustain fusion.

When that time comes, we will stand on the threshold of a new and bountiful source of energy.

The raw material is deuterium, which is obtained from seawater. By a process known as turbulent heating, its temperature is raised to fusion levels by being contained or forcefully held inside a magnetic field. The result is the release of fantastic levels of energy. For instance, it has been estimated that one pitcher of deuterium, the hydrogen isotope, is sufficient to supply all the energy needs of a family home for a year. As opposed to atomic fission (splitting) the fusion (mashing together) process leaves no atomic wastes, and its source of supply is almost limitless. Of course, this won't happen tomorrow, but it is far more imminent than any could have dreamed even five years ago. In the interval there will have to be considerable development of alternate sources of energy (more coal, perhaps the sun, wind and tides), but the big breakthrough is in sight, thanks to the cooperative effort of the scientific community and Texas private utilities who are funding the Tokamak project.

Penetrating Perception

One of those leaving the halls of Congress through retirement this year will be Rep. H. R. Gross, a plain-spoken Republican from Iowa, who for many sessions has opposed everything he conceived to be wasteful or needless government spending. His tart comments on his colleagues' spendthrift proposals are by now legendary.

Recently, the House of Representatives argued whether to appropriate $10 million for Eisenhower College, a little school about to go bankrupt despite its illustrious name. Heavy lobbying on behalf of the money, which would come from proceeds of the sale of Eisenhower coins, was led by Speaker Carl Albert, aided by a long list of retired generals, labor union spokesmen and friends of the late president.

H. R. Gross, as he so often has done, spoke for the minority view. Before the motion carried, he snorted, "This proposal combines motherhood, brotherhood, sisterhood and Robin Hood all in one." Even Ike himself surely would have smiled.

Ole! Jalapeno!

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

One thing and another: A WASHINGTON-BASED UPI writer, one Dick West, wrote recently he paused for a meal in Big Spring and had a memorable experience. He sampled a jalapenoburger.

The native diet, West insisted, includes jalapeno corn bread, relish and jalapeno cheese. He forgot to mention jalapeno ice cream.

JALAPENOS ARE to Texans, West insists, as rice is to Chinese, potatoes to the Irish and garlic to the French. Dick obviously missed that Big Spring restaurant which features garlic toast, Spanish rice and jalapeno potatoes.

West uses poetic license to recall the Spanish explorer named Juan Caliente, who led an expedition into this area in search of the legendary Rio de Chili. The river was one of chili flowing like water. Whoever found it could open a chain of Mexico food carryout restaurants and be fixed for life.

WEST CREDITS Caliente with having the presence of mind to carry jalapeno seeds in his saddlebags and scattering them about the ground so that they might take root and proliferate. With tongue in cheek, West suggests that Caliente's nickname was Johnny Peppercude.

West not only survived the ordeal but may have satisfied an urge to take some of the jalapeno home with him.

To a lot of Texans, a world without jalapenos would be like a world without big belt buckles, pickup trucks and pinto beans.

WEST, OF COURSE, missed the great experience. He didn't try to eat a raw jalapeno and wash it down with tequila. Texas is short on volcanoes but such a combination produces the next most memorable effect.

You best try that combination while standing at the foot of Niagara Falls.

WEST ALSO wrote that much of Texas appears incapable of sustaining human life. Maybe so. There is lots of room to stretch out here. Mr. West should remember, though, that those who chose to live out here help provide the tax money that enables the Washington establishment to maintain a life style unique to most Americans.

YOU'VE HEARD, no doubt, about the six-year-old boy who watched, for the first time, when members of the choir filed into their church voice, he exclaimed:

With his eyes wide and wonder in his voice, he exclaimed: "Are all those people going to get haircuts?"

Many a young man can't wait until he's old enough to shave — so that he can grow a beard.

Roosting Chickens

Robert Novak

DENVER — A drastic change in the national political balance of power is suggested by ex-McGovern campaign manager Gary Hart's abandoning abrasive liberal ideology for a bland moderate facade in order to build a seemingly big lead over entrenched conservative Republican Sen. Peter Dominick.

WHAT MAKES this so remarkable is the background of the two candidates. Hart, whose connections with Colorado are recent and insubstantial, is seeking his first elective office at age 36; Dominick once was this state's most formidable vote-getter. But Dominick's misery is widely shared. A sweep by the Colorado Democratic ticket, surely the most leftish in the nation, looms in a state dominated by Republicans throughout the 1960s.

IN TERMS slightly larger than life, Colorado represents the national upheaval of the 1974 election. Republicans here, dispirited by Watergate, are menaced by immigrants flooding from west and east and pushing Colorado leftward. Rigidly doctrinaire liberals who long ago captured this state's Democratic party have planed down their ideological edges to take advantage of rampant anti-Republican hostility.

DOMINICK has special problems. An arthritic backache keeps him in constant pain and causes slurred speech, making Dominick at 59 a shadow of the aggressive, youthful campaigner who a decade ago rode into public office the conservative tide sweeping the Rockies.

Besides delaying campaign planning until September, Dominick's physical problems may explain repeated lapses. Republican leaders still wince over his statement last month that the actual Watergate break-in was "insignificant." Debating Hart last week, Dominick dismayed his own supporters by this response to suggested United Nations distribution of food: "Uganda is in there (the UN) and they'd rather eat their own people than food." Meanwhile, Dominick has suffered because of tangential connections with laundered milk lobby contributions to the 1972 Nixon campaign.

BUT THE importance of Dominick's special problems is questionable, considering the adversity encountered by other Republicans. The Denver Post poll shows Republican Gov. John Vanderhoof, moderate and supposedly very popular, losing as badly as Dominick against an extreme liberal, state legislator Richard Lamm. Sam Brown, the former Harvard divinity student who gained national notoriety by organizing 1969 anti-Vietnam demonstrations, has a big lead over the noncontroversial incumbent for state treasurer.

GARY HART and Sam Brown on the Colorado ticket reflect left domination of the Democratic party here. Old-line Democrats, typified by former Rep. Wayne Aspinall, have been purged. Promising new moderates, such as former Lt. Gov. Mark Hogan, have been driven out of politics.

But here as elsewhere, liberal fire-eaters are shielding their ideological flames for this election.

Hart's positions, supporting President Ford's conditional Vietnam amnesty and opposing wage-price controls, frustrate any ideological attack.

HAVING neutralized ideology, Hart can ride the anti-Republican sentiment which helped upset Sen. Gordon Allott in 1972 and has since been fueled by Watergate and inflation.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I'm not trying to play word games with you, but anytime the possibility of failure on God's part is mentioned, people become defensive. Well, I'm telling you God is ignoring me! He has failed me when I needed help most. I wish God would take me off His black list. How can I get God to keep His promises? W.F.

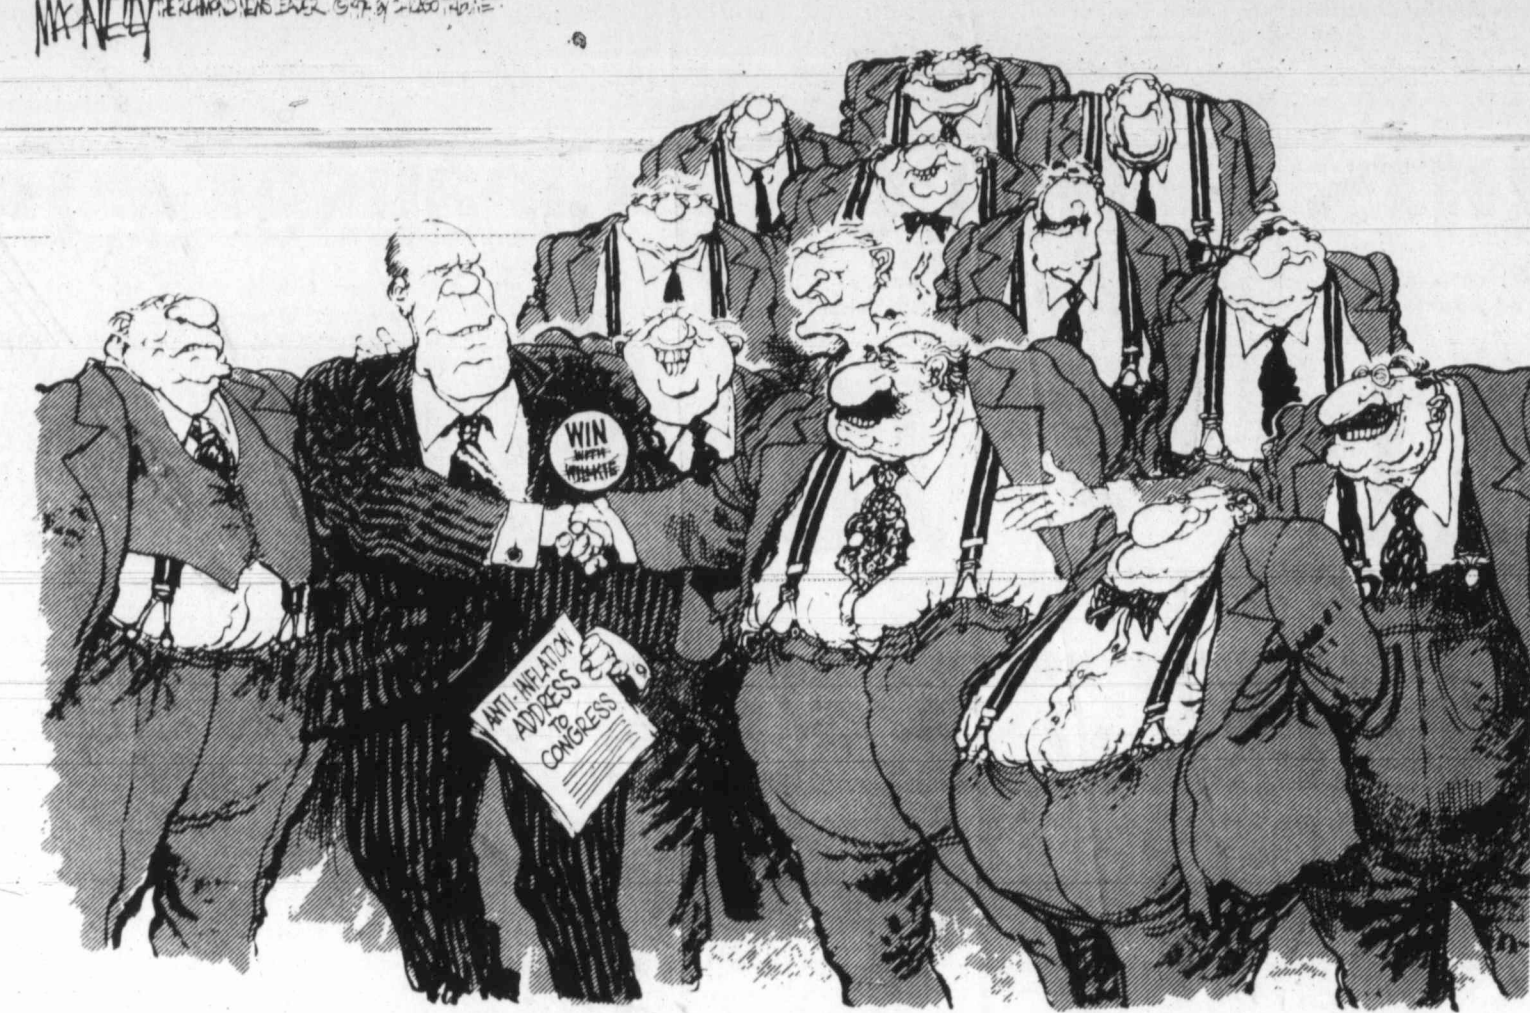

You're making the mistake of equating bad circumstances with the disfavor of God. You're also making the mistake of thinking that all those enjoying God's favor have no problems.

The Scriptures, as well as church history, indicate that some of the greatest saints had the greatest trials. God has no black list because the Scriptures say He is not willing that any perish.

Your lengthy letter could not be completely reproduced in the column, but your problem evidently is unemployment and a bitterness about the educational system that forced you — even with a masters degree — out of work.

Let me suggest two things you need to discover on this Columbus Day. The first is to ask God's help in getting rid of what the Bible calls a "root of bitterness." (Hebrews 12:15) Unless through the power of faith you let God remove this, it will poison your attitude on everything in life.

Secondly, believe what Paul wrote in 2 Corinthians 1:20, "For no matter how many promises God has made, they are 'yes' in Christ." What God's goodness assures, His inexhaustible resources will realize. You trust God's promise of forgiveness and you'll find His promises of guidance, protection and will surely follow.

'GREAT SPEECH, JERRY... ESPECIALLY THE PART ABOUT TIGHTENING OUR BELTS... DYNAMITE!'

Wants To Be First

DALLAS (AP) — Elijah F. Rogers, a black assistant city manager of Berkeley, Calif., says he would like to be the first black city manager in the South.

Rogers is attending the 60s annual convention of the International City Managers Association (ICMA) here. The association is composed of career administrators who manage local government.

Rogers said that as a Southern black city manager he would have a free hand in dealing with minorities, which he calls the most pressing urban problem.

"We have to concentrate on turning city government around, cutting out the 'wet' dichotomy that surrounds the way people talk about minorities."

Rogers said he backed into the city administration field while working as assistant director of federal programs for the National Urban League.

"In each city I visited, we'd run into stumbling blocks with city halls," he said.

On the advice of a professor, he changed his plans of getting a doctorate in sociology and applied for a fellowship for minorities in a management program. Rogers was one of the first six members of the program jointly financed by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, ICMA and the National Council of governments.

After receiving a master's degree in public administration from Howard University, Washington, D.C., Rogers served as assistant to the city manager in Bowie, Md., and in Richmond, Va.

In Richmond, Rogers was promoted to assistant city manager in charge of administration. He said in Richmond he learned the importance of diversity in background for city government.

"Diversity is very important," he said. "You can take a minority member and a nonminority member and give them a problem. They'll have different solutions because of their different perspectives."

Minorities have to work twice as hard to get city government positions, he said.

Russia Feeling Pinch

John Cuniff

(Substituting for John Cuniff)

MOSCOW (AP) — Almost daily the Soviet press virtually chortles about inflation in capitalist countries. The implication is that it doesn't happen here.

"Clouds on the economic horizon," read a big headline recently in the Communist party organ Pravda. Inflation, unemployment, strikes and the rest of the West's economic woes were detailed in the story.

While price for ordinary quality basic goods do remain unchanged, the same items with some improvements get a higher price tag. The original items are no longer attractive or are phased out.

This trend, Western experts feel, probably creates what amounts to a real overall inflation rate of about 2 or 3 percent annually, still far below that in the West.

Tonsils--Out Or In?

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son, 12, has chronically infected tonsils which his doctor feels should be removed. He gets three or four tonsil infections a year.

However he has asthma, and one throat specialist said he never would remove tonsils from an asthmatic child since there is a possibility the asthma will get worse.

Another specialist I took him to said he does not believe this and the tonsils should be removed. I am at my wit's end. Mrs. J.T.

I agree that the question of nose or throat surgery in an asthmatic child is controversial. You have seen three doctors; two are for removal, one against. I'd cross my fingers and go with the majority opinion, but there are one or two observations that may help.

Claude Frazier, M.D., in his book, "A Parents' Guide to Allergy in Children," urges that the question be approached cautiously because asthma may be temporarily improved but return later, or a mild case may become more severe.

How then to decide? Weigh the necessity of correcting the tonsils. Infected tonsils sometimes can be controlled with antibiotic medication. If

As the Soviet Union reaches out for Western books out for several years. Medical and dental care and education are free.

Thus a Soviet citizen who is content to live with the drab basic needs provided by the state has not felt the pinch suffered by citizens of the developed Western countries.

This is even more true given the fact that wages have moved up a bit in the past few years to an average $225 a month.

But there is more to the story than comes out of Soviet statistics books and the Soviet press as it recounts with thinly masked content the galloping inflation in the West.

Most foreign observers here feel that if Soviet consumers could get a crack at more of the higher quality consumer goods which are commonplace in the West, every kopek they earned would tumble out of pocket books and savings banks to chase after the items. Inflation, Western style, would be here.

Premium price tags go on anything that emerges into the luxury class of consumer goods, either produced here, brought in from more highly developed Eastern satellite communities or the West.

East German raincoats will create block-long police controlled lines at a department store.

Automobiles, which are becoming more available, are bought up as quickly as they come off the line.

Western popular records reportedly go for as much as $130 on the black market and many a tourist has been quoted wild prices for blue jeans.

To a great extent Western-style inflation doesn't exist in this planned and tightly controlled economy.

He took an X-ray and found I had two cracked ribs. He said there was nothing he could do as they don't bandage you up any more. Is this so? He said to keep working as I have been and gave me a prescription for pain pills. — A.A.C.

It's true that a simple crack isn't automatically taped or bandaged, because it will heal if left alone.

But a binding can restrict movement of the chest wall and in that way lessen pain. In other words, the severity of pain is a pretty liable indicator of what needs to be done.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 15 and have a problem with my ears sticking out. I was thinking of having an operation to have them put back. Is this usually successful? — B.D.

Yes, it's reliably successful. You should go to a plastic surgeon for it.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed,

Drunkness No Excuse

"Yes, I did beat up my wife," acknowledged the repentant husband in court, "but I was drunk at the time. The whiskey loosened my inhibitions, so I just wasn't myself."

BUT THE COURT threw out this defense and found the defendant guilty of assault and battery. The court said:

"Although the use of intoxicating liquors does to some extent blind the reason and exasperate the passions, yet, as a man voluntarily brings it upon himself, he cannot use it as an excuse for crime."

THIS IS A WIDELY accepted rule of law, rejecting intoxication as an across-the-board defense against criminal charges. Nor is it an excuse that the defendant drank to "nerve" himself for a deed he would not have done if sober.

As another court put it: "All that the crafty criminal would require for a well-planned murder would be a revolver in one hand to commit the offense and a quart of liquor in the other to build his defense."

NEVERTHELESS, most courts will take intoxication into account if the crime is one that requires a specific intent—to see if that intent was really there. Consider this case:

A man was accused of Stealing an automobile. He had sat down drunk in the parked car of an acquaint-tance, noticed the keys in the ignition, and commenced to drive home.

There was no doubt that he had taken the car without permission. But the court said he could not be convicted of theft if he had been too drunk to have any notion of stealing it.

FURTHERMORE, intoxication may be a good defense if it was not voluntary.

Suppose, for example, that a man noticed the keys in the ignition, and imbibing a "Mickey Finn." If the drink was potent enough to put him out of control, he could not be found guilty. In these circumstances, says the law, neither the intoxication nor the crime itself was truly his own act.

Son's Burial To Be Long Time Following Death

BUNA, Tex. (AP) — Clair Pearson, 79, of this Southeast Texas community will attend his son's burial Oct. 18 in Arlington National Cemetery — a burial 29 years overdue.

Sgt. Earl Pearson and nine other members of a World War II B-24 bomber crew will be buried with full military honors.

The story of Earl Pearson and his comrades began May 7, 1944, when their B-24 aircraft, part of the 64th Bombardment Squadron, 43rd Bombardment Group, 5th Army Air Force, took off from their home base at Nadzab, Southeastern Australia, New Guinea.

Their original B-24 had engine trouble and they manned a standby. The plane took off about 25 minutes late on an assigned combat mission over Sawar, Northern Netherlands, New Guinea.

The crew had been together for more than a year. They trained in Florida, Colorado and at Biggs Field, Tex.

They had a dozen successful combat missions against the Japanese to their credit and the mechanical delay did little to dampen their spirits as the lone bomber disappeared in the early morning Pacific fog.

It was mission No. 13.

For the four officers and six non-commissioned officers aboard, it was their last.

Clair Pearson was living near Erie, Pa., in 1944. He had been born there and reared two daughters and his son in the area.

Clair Pearson's 20-year-old son, was one of two gunners on the missing B-24.

"My wife and I had just received a letter from Earl," Pearson said. "We had just read it when my daughters came with word from Washington that our boy was missing in action."

"After that, I wrote Washington for the names and addresses of the other crewmen's parents and we all wrote each other. But it was bad—none of us knew what happened to our boys."

The Pearsons finally received word from the Army on Feb. 15, 1946, which said that under a provision of the Missing Person's Act, Earl and the other crewmen were officially presumed dead.

Libya Closes Exxon Plant

NEW YORK (AP) — The Exxon Corp. says Libya has ordered the closing of the firm's oil production facilities in the Middle Eastern country.

The company said Thursday that Libya's order apparently was made in response to Exxon's decision to shut down its liquefied natural gas plant in the country.

An Exxon spokesman said officials of the company were still discussing the matter.

Only a small portion of Exxon's worldwide daily production of more than five million barrels comes from Libya, an Exxon spokesman said.

The Exxon spokesman said the incident began with a dispute with Italy's state-owned ENI—Ente Nazionale Idrocarburi—over the prices of natural gas under contract and led to a halt by Exxon's Libyan affiliate.

Tit-For-Tat Killings Continue In Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Shadowy assassins have killed 16 persons in a month of tit-for-tat killings by Protestant and Roman Catholic extremists.

Police said today it is evidence of a new wave of backstreet sectarian murder.

Another 20 persons have been shot and gravely wounded.

Police said most victims have been shot going to work, strolling with friends or answering the door at home.

The murderers generally escape in hijacked cars or disappear through Belfast's maze of narrow alleyways.

The only motive seems often merely to destroy any Protestant or any Catholic, investigators say.

"It's a rampage of killing, and it's getting worse," one senior police officer said.

"It'll soon be even bloodier than in 1972, when 30 people were murdered in a couple of summer months."

The latest round of murder has heated up Northern Ireland's half-century of violence during which the Catholic-based Irish Republican Army has sought to sever Ulster's ties with Britain and unite it with the Irish Republic to the south.

The current campaign began in August 1969, when Britain sent troops to quell IRA street turbulence. At least 1,076 persons have been killed since then.

The latest victim was a man of 28 with an Afro hairstyle, whose body was found Sunday dumped in hills overlooking this capital city. He had been savagely beaten, then shot six times in the head and chest.

Identified as Ciarian Murphy, he was the weekend's fourth Catholic murder victim.

The Ulster Freedom Fighters, an outlawed Protestant group, claimed responsibility for all four. It said they were to retaliate for recent bombings in Northern Ireland and England blamed on the Provisional wing of the IRA, which is Catholic based.

Authorities said the upsurge of Protestant underground activity appeared to follow the IRA's admitted murders of a Northern Ireland judge and a magistrate on Sept. 16. Nine of the 16 victims of assassination since then were Catholics.

Another probable sectarian murder failed late Sunday night, police said. Five shots were fired at a Protestant man in the kitchen of his house in north Belfast. All missed.

The Northern Ireland death toll this year is 149, of whom 112 were civilians.

Plans Are Scuttled By Cowmen

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Texas cattlemen have scrapped plans to kill calves they say are too expensive to raise, but to prove their point they are giving some of them away to charity institutions.

Cattlemen in the Stephenville area Sunday donated nearly 50 calves to the Methodist Home in Waco and indicated that more donations would be forthcoming to other institutions.

"The cattlemen want to show the people that we are not a bunch of villains around here," said James Traweck, president of the Cross Timbers Beef and Dairy Association which had planned a mass calves slaughter for Wednesday.

The Wednesday slaughter, along with one for Tuesday planned by cattlemen in Nacogdoches and Sulphur Springs in East Texas, have been canceled as part of an agreement for talks with federal officials.

Bruce Matthews, a cattleman in Sulphur Springs, said "the Agriculture Department said they wouldn't meet with the ranchers unless we called the slaughter off. We will have to wait and see what they have to offer us."

The cattlemen had scheduled a meeting today with Agriculture Department Undersecretary Phil J. Campbell and Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex., but the meeting was postponed because Poage could not attend.

"We want to give them time to come down," said Felix Darmley, president of the Nacogdoches County Dairy Farmers Association who added the possibility of killing calves still existed depending on the outcome of the talks.

The Texans first announced their decision to kill calves last month saying it cost more to raise them than the price they got at the feedlots. They said they were caught in the economic squeeze between the high price of feed and the low price of beef and demanded either government subsidies or an elimination of beef imports hoping for an increase in beef prices.

Texas officials convinced the cattlemen at first to postpone the initial plan for mass slaughter saying it would have no effect on the market and would cause adverse public reaction. Some organizations, including the Humane Society of the United States, condemned the mass slaughters.

But to prove their point that live calves are more expensive than dead calves the cattlemen decided to get rid of some by giving them away.

"I am pretty sure we will donate some more," Traweck said. "I had a few head I would have given if I had known about it sooner."

A spokesman for the Methodist Home said the cattlemen "want to get some good out of the calves."

'Honduran Officials Keep Best Supplies'

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — An American physician has accused Honduran officials of keeping the best food, clothing and medical supplies flown into the flood-ravaged country for hungry and sick villagers.

"We saw tons of food delivered to the local commandant but never saw the people getting anything more than beans and rice," Dr. Edward Austin of Cocoa said after returning from a two-week mission to the village of Cuyamel near the Honduras-Guatemala border.

"The people got only picked-over clothing. We saw government officials and the upper class wearing newer clothes and what was left over — the ratty stuff — being worn by the people."

Austin's wife Sara, a physical therapist, said patients told her food was confiscated by local authorities and school teachers, who then gave each family — regardless of size — one pound of rice, a half-pound of beans and one pound of lard to last two weeks.

Austin, 40, said he was told government officials were taking the supplies to sell on the black market but added he had no firsthand knowledge because he was not allowed into military areas.

"Our interpreters told us the officials would hold the food and, when the bad times hit, sell it back to the people at the price of gold," he said.

The Austins were part of a relief team sent by St. Marks Episcopal Church in Cocoa, which has sister churches in Honduras.

In Washington, Red Cross spokeswoman Dorothy Taefe said she had talked to one of five American disaster relief specialists in Honduras on Friday and "they were getting all the supplies we sent."

"It's just one of those rumors, I think. I wouldn't put any credibility in it," she said of the Austins' charges.

William Dalton, a spokesman for the Agency for International Development, said: "This is the first I've heard of such a thing. We thought the Hondurans had been doing a pretty good job."

Hurricane Fifi struck the Honduran coast on Sept. 19, killing thousands of persons, leaving many thousands homeless and causing millions of dollars in damage.

County Girds For Tax Battle Over Valuation

By TROY BRYANT
A suit filed jointly against Howard County, the City of Big Spring, and the Big Spring Independent School District was the main topic of discussion at the regular meeting of the County Commissioners this morning.

The suit was filed in Federal Court by Flato Realty Investments and Trust concerning the taxation of the Permian Building property.

The suit claims that the three taxing agencies are discriminating against the firm because it is an out-of-town concern by taxing its property more than other property in the county.

County Attorney William H. Eysen, Jr. expressed his doubts about the jurisdiction of the Federal Court in the matter and said that the case is likely to be tied up in jurisdiction change motions for a while until the case can be tried on its merits.

He also said that taxes levied against property in the county are ad valorem tax, or based on the value of the property. It is not a tax on the income gained by the property.

Flato Realty had claimed that since it was having occupancy problems, that its taxes should not be so high.

Representing the county in the case is not part of the duties of Eysen as county attorney, so the county will have to hire him separately or hire another attorney for the matter.

Eysen said that he did not know yet if he could take the case, because of the time that would likely be involved.

He did agree to see that the county's answer is filed within the 20 days as required.

Commissioner Bill Crocker brought up the possibility that the tax evaluating firm hired by the county may furnish legal counsel, but an examination of the contract revealed that the firm is only obliged to furnish expert witnesses on behalf of the county.

In other action, the commissioners discussed with county engineer Neal Barnaby, various drainage and washout problems encountered as a result of heavy rains across the county Sunday night.

Eysen said that he did not know yet if he could take the

Downpours Hit State

By The Associated Press
Heavy rains and thunderstorms drenched parts of West and North Central Texas today as one cold front spread over much of the state and a second front promised to take its place.

Rains were so hard in the San Angelo and Midland-Odessa areas that four counties — Irion, Sterling, Schleicher and Sutton — were put under flash flood warnings until 11:30 a.m. Heaviest flooding was expected on the Concho River.

Odessa recorded over 1.3 inch of moisture in a six-hour period before midnight Sunday. Some lowland flooding occurred in the Abilene area early today after one-half inch fell in about 30 minutes.

Fog formed in wide areas of Central and East Texas. Visibility was reported at zero in Nacogdoches near dawn. A travelers' warning went up for the Hill Country west of Austin. Visibility also was lowered by fog in some coastal sections.

The stationary front extended from south of Wichita Falls southwestward to near Marfa. Showers and thunderstorms were scattered all along the front. In West Texas, the shower activity extended from the eastern portion of the Big Bend to the South Plains near Lubbock and eastward to the Abilene and San Angelo areas.

In North Central Texas, rain fell in the Dallas-Fort Worth areas and as far east as Paris.

The new cold front, heading toward the Panhandle, was expected to overtake the stationary front during the day and continue moving rapidly southward.

World Population Problems Talked

World Population Problems" was the topic of Dr. Benjamin Viel, executive director of the Western Hemisphere Region of the International Federation of Planned Parenthood, at the annual meeting Oct. 9 in Midland at Ramada Inn.

Dr. Viel, a native of Chile, spoke of the serious over-population problems in all of the underdeveloped countries of the world, with special emphasis on the Latin and South American countries. He stated that until about 1915 and the introduction of both DDT and antibiotics, the death rate in these underdeveloped countries was so extreme that of 10 infants born only two would survive to reproduce themselves. Since then, however, DDT and antibiotics have enabled the death rate in these countries to be the same as in industrialized nations, eight deaths per 1000 per year. With a birth rate of about 35 per 1000, the populations will now double about every 20 or 25 years. This is why the birth rate needs so desperately to be controlled.

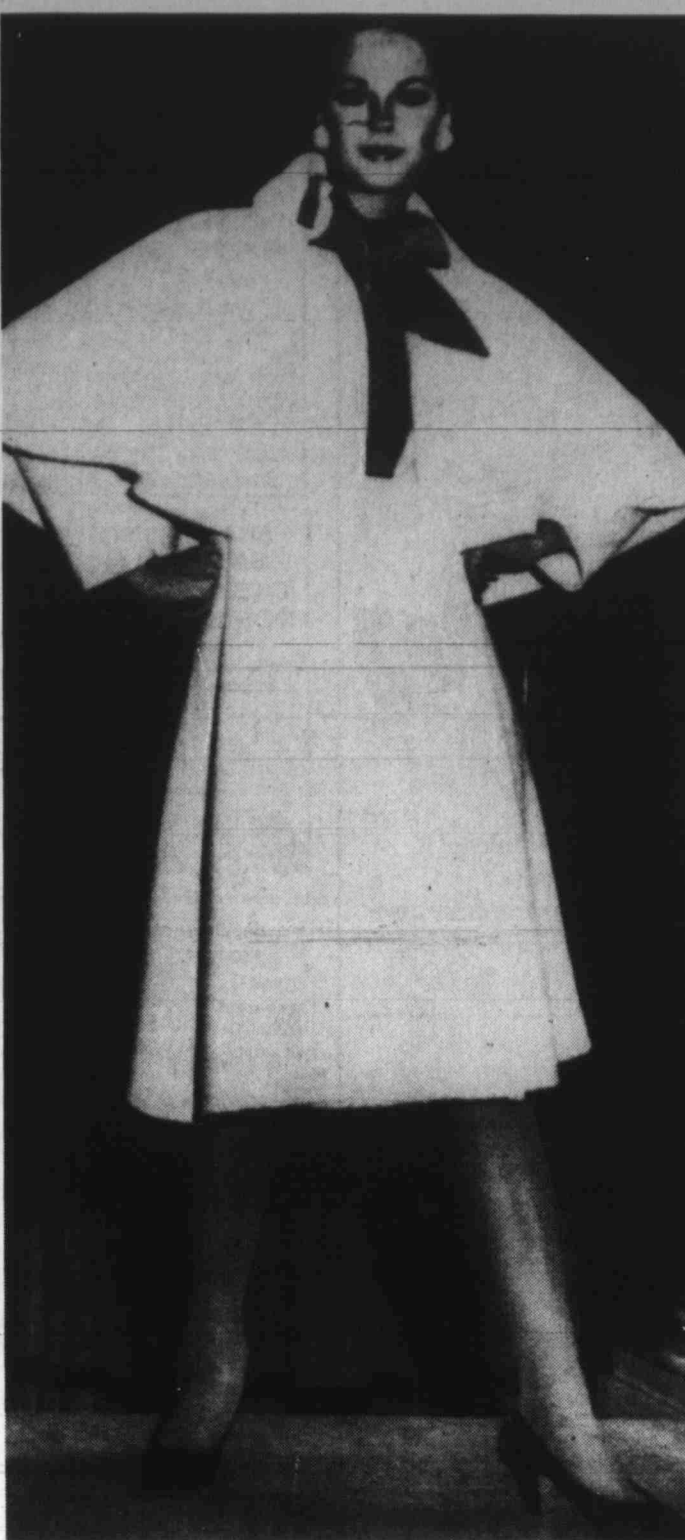

of the United Nations. At that meeting ninety (90) nations agreed to take steps to implement some degree of family planning in their countries. At this conference for the first time it was stated that the individual had the right to conceive only wanted children. Previous to this, their position had been that each couple should reach this decision. Dr. Viel stated, "In countries with strong 'machismo' traditions this left many women in the role of being literally forced 'reproduction machines.'"

The biggest problem left in the underdeveloped countries if their governments truly embrace family planning as the best course of action will be funds to finance such programs. Dr. Viel's estimate of the amount it would cost per year to support a family planning program in all the Latin American countries was approximately $200 million. This is based on an estimate of about 70 million women of childbearing age. Of these, he feels about 20 million are able to provide their own birth control measures. This leaves 50 million women at $4 per year. Dr. Viel points out that $200 million is quite a bit less than our government now provides in military aid to these countries. He feels that population control would be infinitely more valuable.

One of the more interesting items mentioned by Dr. Viel is a new type of contraceptive which should be available within a year, a paper pill. He described these as stamplike papers to be dissolved under the tongue. Distribution would be much less expensive than the pills now available.

Those attending the meeting from Big Spring were Mr. and Mrs. Nabar E. Martinez, Mrs. Lois Mitchell, and Ms. Mary Dudley. Mrs. Martinez and Mrs. Mitchell are the Outreach Workers in the local Planned Parenthood Office. Ms. Dudley is a member of the Board of Directors of Permian Basin Planned Parenthood, Inc.

To say that the repeat showing of the originals and reproductions of pioneer artist H.W. Caylor is providing a delightful surprise is not entirely accurate. It's delightful enough, but not a surprise, really, that it is drawing a steady stream to Heritage Museum. Caylor, with his wife, came here in the early 1890s and painted the old West without flattery but with feeling. There are nearly a score of originals, but twice as many remarkable reproductions gathered through the sacrificial efforts of Cmdr. and Mrs. Howard Duff (she is the former Pauline Melton) of Edmonds, Wash. The exhibit is free.

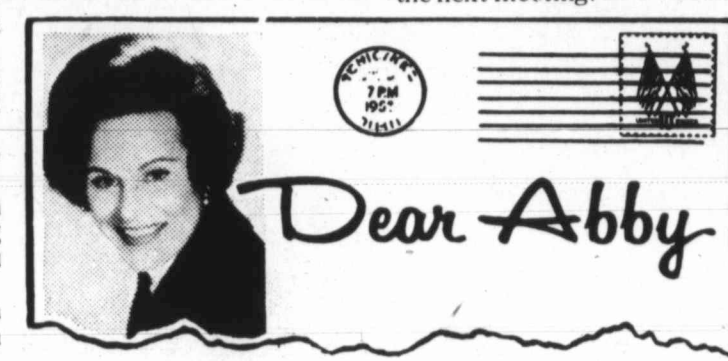

Memberships continue to increase with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Neal, Zane Neal, Randy Yates, Miss Jackie Cauble, Mrs. Ola Mae Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. G. Ben Bancroft, Mr. and Roger D. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hamby, Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Dawes, Mrs. Woodrow Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Griffin II

Better Not Marry Daughter-In-Law

DEAR ABBY: A man signed "Borrowed Time" asked in which state he could marry his former daughter-in-law. You replied that since they were not related by blood, he could marry her in ANY state.

Not in Massachusetts! I quote from Section 1, Chapter 207 of the Mass. General Laws:

"No man shall marry his mother, grandmother, daughter, granddaughter, sister, stepmother, grandfather's wife, son's wife, grandson's wife, wife's granddaughter, brother's daughter, sister's daughter, father's sister or mother's sister."

RESPECTFULLY YOURS PAUL W. CORRIGAN ATTORNEY AT LAW LYNN, MASS.

DEAR MR. C: Yours are the first of umpteen hundred letters I received to signal my error. I admit that I shot from the hip on that one, using only common sense and simple logic. (It was understandable to me why people related by blood ties should not marry, but why extend that law to those related by marriage?)

The second letter pointing out my erroneous advice came from Angela Haven Bonin (also of Lynn, Mass.), and the third was from Alan I. Alford, of Alford, Tuck and Pizzi in Sudbury, Mass. (I quit counting when they got up into the hundreds.)

From Judge Blair C. Wood of Waterloo, Iowa came this word: "If a man should marry his son's former wife, the marriage would be void in Iowa. And if they lived together after the marriage, he would be subject to a penalty of 25 years in the penitentiary for incest." (Why only HIM, Judge? How about HER?)

Then, Rabbi Samuel Friedman, my honorary consultant on Jewish law, wrote from Asheville, North Carolina: "On all other affairs, I yield to brains, beauty and a blessed writer, but please bear in mind that a Jewish man is forbidden by law to marry his daughter-in-law."

Henry N. Berry III, Cumberland County Attorney, made the following contribution: "Your column has been read and enjoyed by us in Maine for many years, but please be advised, Abby, that if 'Borrowed Time' plans to marry in Maine, he may become involved in an illegal relationship. I quote from Title 19, Section 31, of the Maine Revised Statutes: 'No man shall marry his son's wife and no woman shall marry her husband's father.'"

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A. Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Cowboys Losing Ground In NFL Eastern Chase

By The Associated Press

The New England Patriots and St. Louis Cardinals are still having the time of their lives. The Miami Dolphins are starting to fight for theirs.

The Patriots, with Sam Cunningham's two touchdown runs providing the offense, ran roughshod over Joe Namath and smothered the New York Jets 24-0 Sunday while the St. Louis Cardinals, on Jim Bakken's clutch 31-yard field goal with 1:02 to play, stung the Dallas Cowboys 31-28.

That kept the two early-season surprises unbeaten through five National Football League games, along with the Minnesota Vikings, who shellacked Houston 51-10.

But the Dolphins, everybody's early-season favorite, dropped their second game of the campaign, falling 20-17 to the Washington Redskins, their old Super Bowl foes, on Sonny Jurgensen's second touchdown pass of the game, with a scant 16 seconds to play.

In Sunday's other games, Green Bay stunned Los Angeles 17-6, Atlanta nosed out Chicago 13-10, Buffalo beat Baltimore 27-14, Cincinnati outlasted Cleveland 34-24, Oakland scrambled past San Diego 14-10, Pittsburgh defeated Kansas City 34-24, Denver dumped New Orleans 33-17 and Philadelphia slugged the New York Giants 35-7.

Patriots 24, Jets 0

Cunningham scored on a five-yard sweep around left end in the first period and a one-yard plunge in the fourth to lead the Patriots' attack. But it was the defensive unit that really sparkled, sacking the Jets' Joe Namath four times, intercepting two of his passes and two more by reserve quarterback Al Woodall, and limiting Namath to completions on just seven of 21 attempts for a meager 63 yards.

Cardinals 31, Cowboys 28

Jim Hart passed for two St. Louis touchdowns in the second period. But Roger Staubach, who had passed for one touchdown, ran one yard to the score that tied the game late in the final quarter.

Terry Metcalf then ran the ensuing kickoff 56 yards to the Cowboys' 34 and, five plays later, Bakken came through.

Redskins 20, Dolphins 17

The Dolphins shackled Billy Kilmer in their 14-7 Super Bowl victory two seasons ago. And Miami Coach Don Shula would have preferred to see him calling Washington's signals again. Instead, he saw Jurgensen engineer a seven-play, 60-yard drive in a minute and a half that ended with a six-yard touchdown pass to Larry Smith.

Vikings 51, Oilers 10

Minnesota had been forced in the past three games to scramble for victories so the trampling of Houston was more than just another notch in the win column, according to Coach Bud Grant.

"You can call it a morale day," he said.

Fran Tarkenton passed for 274 yards and three touchdowns in less than three quarters of play.

Packers 17, Rams 6

Green Bay intercepted four Los Angeles passes — three of them by linebacker Ted Hendricks — and turned two of the thefts into scores. But it was Jon Stagers who gave Green Bay the lead for good, running back a second-period punt 68 yards for a touchdown and a 7-3 edge.

Falcons 13, Bears 10

The Falcons limited Chicago to only 28 yards in the first half and 77 after three periods before the Bears struck on a long touchdown pass and added a late field goal to gain a 10-10 tie. That left the outcome in the hands — or, more precisely, on the foot — of Atlanta's Nick Mike-Mayer.

He acknowledged he was nervous when he trotted on the field with 10 seconds remaining, "but as soon as I kicked it I knew it was good," he said of the 31-yard boot.

Bills 27, Colts 14

Safety Neal Craig picked off one of Bert Jones' few passes late in the first half and ran it back 55 yards for the touchdown that put the Bills ahead to stay at 10-7.

Jones passed for 44 yards but was sacked five times for 43 yards in losses.

Bengals 34, Browns 24

Ken Anderson passed for 279 yards and three touchdowns — 28 yards to Lenvil Elliott, 65 to Charlie Joiner and 18 to Isaac Curtis — and ran 19 yards for another score in the Bengals' victory over Cleveland.

Raiders 14, Chargers 10

Trailing 10-7 going into the final period, Ken Stabler put the Raiders ahead to stay by ending an 80-yard drive with a four-yard touchdown pass to tight end Bob Moore.

Steelers 34, Chiefs 24

The Steelers' defense made seven interceptions — three by Glen Edwards who returned one 43 yards for a score — and two fumble recoveries. The Kansas City turnovers wrecked a three-touchdown performance by Mike Livingston.

Broncos 33, Saints 17

The Broncos' Steve Ramsey threw two touchdown passes while Otis Armstrong ran for a pair of scores, keeping New Orleans winless in 18 straight road games.

Eagles 35, Giants 7

New York took a 7-0 first-quarter lead before Philadelphia quarterback Roman Gabriel got things moving with his first two touchdown passes of the year, Jim Del Gaizo, replacing injured Norm Snead for the Giants, threw three pass interceptions, two that led to Eagle touchdowns.

TEAFF REMARKS

Biggest Victory Of Grid Career

What we have on our hands now Southwest Conference football fans is one of those old-fashioned family feuds of yesteryear back when candy bars were a dime.

And it's been nearly a decade, since the SWC has found itself embroiled in such a competitive swirl of events.

Two private church schools, Baylor and Southern Methodist, mind you, are right up there tied for first place with the Texas Aggies. Hanging on for dear life with conference losses are defending champion Texas, which has merely claimed the title six consecutive years; Arkansas, which fumbled flat on its face 21-17 to the aforementioned Baylor Bears Saturday; and Texas Tech, which definitely got the number of the truck that crunched the Red Raiders 28-7 Saturday at Texas A&M.

Baylor, SMU — which mauled Texas Christian 33-13 — and A&M own 1-0 ledgers in the early going.

Arkansas, Texas, and Texas Tech are 0-1 and can ill afford another SWC pratfall. No team has ever lost two conference games and been awarded a first place ribbon.

"This is the biggest win of my career," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff, who has brought respectability back to the once downtrodden team ... You have to crawl before you can walk. Now, we're walking.

Baylor scored in the final minute after an Arkansas fumble while the Porkers were trying to run the clock out.

An unbelieving Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said: "It was one of those things that happen once in a lifetime. We fought our guts out to get back ... we had it within our grasp and then laid the ball on the ground."

Baylor quarterback Neal Jeffrey gets the courage award of the week. He came off the bench with a broken nose to take Baylor to the winning touchdown.

Hawkettes To Odessa

The Howard College Hawkettes volleyball team travels to Odessa today and a 7 p.m. contest against Odessa College.

On Tuesday, in Abilene, the Hawkettes are scheduled to meet McMurry and Abilene Christian College at 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. respectively.

The Hawkettes advanced to the Houston Tournament finals Saturday, but lost out to Texas Women's U., 0-15, 8-15. Howard College defeated Texas A&I, Northwest Texas and Texas Lutheran.

Big Spring QB Meets Tuesday

The Big Spring Quarterback Club will conduct its weekly meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

Film of the Midland High game and a scouting report on Odessa Permian, next Steer opponent, will be reviewed.

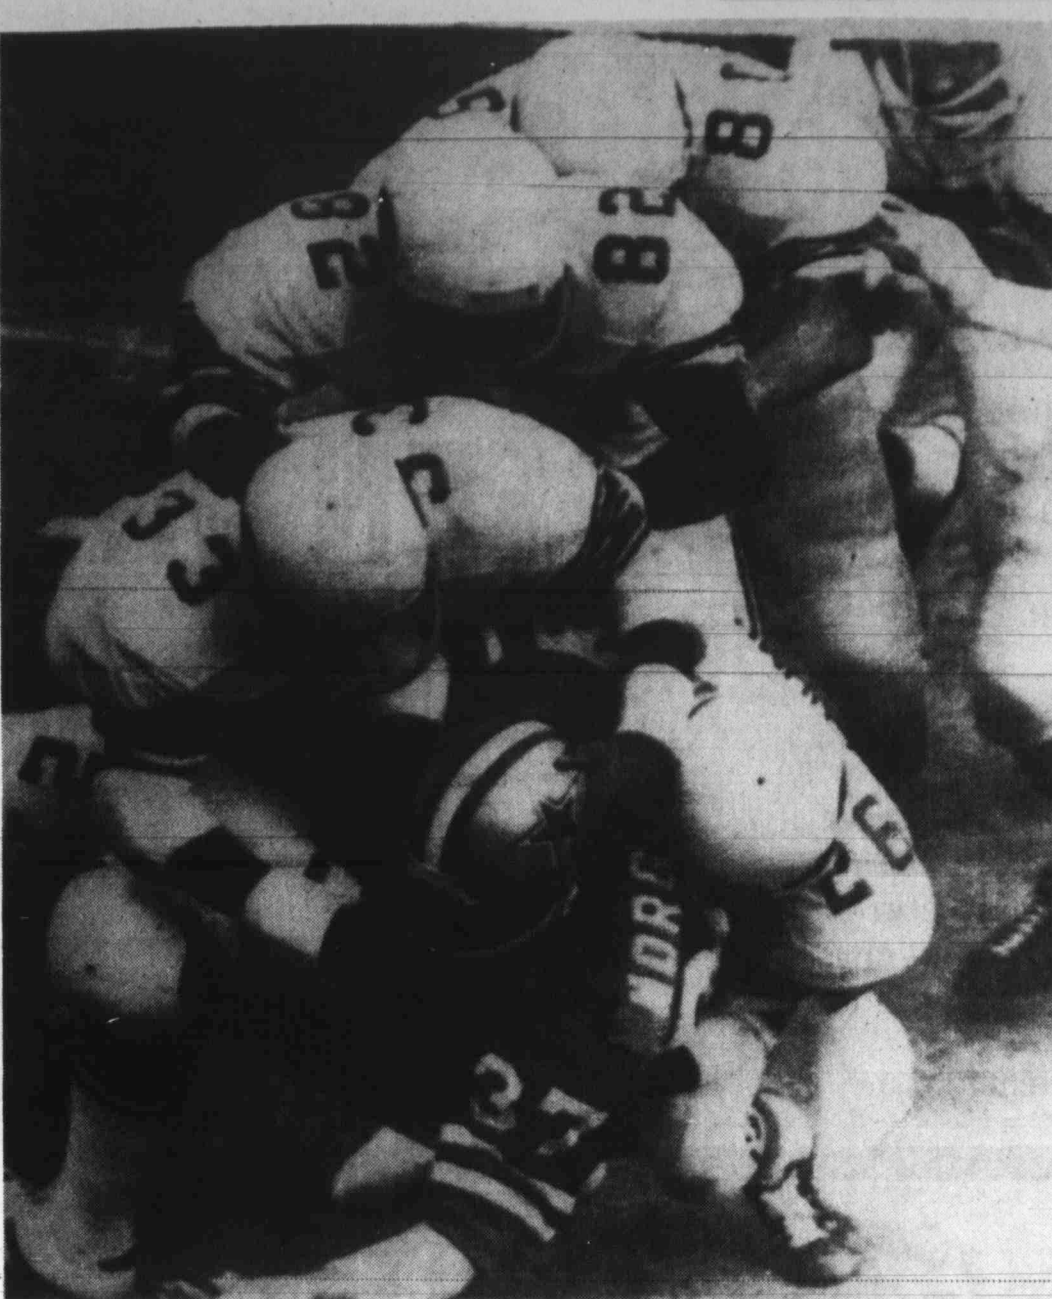

(R) Raiders Nip Goliad

The Rannels Raiders stopped Goliad 14-8 in seventh grade football played Saturday at Blankenship Field.

Gilbert Rubio started Raider scoring procedure in the second, sneaking over on a quarterback sneak from the five. This TD effort was engineered on a Rubio 35-yard pass to Mike Domino.

In the third, the Raiders Domino intercepted a Goliad pass and raced 25 yards to the four. Rubio circled end for the TD.

Goliad scored a touchdown and a safety in the last quarter.

MOBBED ON KICKOFF — Dallas Cowboys Dennis Morgan (37) is mobbed by a gang of St. Louis Cardinals on a now or never fourth quarter kickoff return. With the score tied with 1:06 remaining in the game the St. Louis' Jim Bakken kicked a field goal to pull ahead 31 to 28. On the following kickoff to Dallas, Morgan was only able to return to the 18 yard line before he was hit by six Cardinal tacklers. Time ran out on Dallas as they set up for a tying field goal on the Cards 21 yard line.

Dodgers Picking Up World Series Speed

OAKLAND (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers are picking up speed in their "freeway series" with the Oakland A's.

"We've captured the momentum that we lost in the first game," said Joe Ferguson, hero of Sunday's 3-2 victory over the A's that tied the 1974 World Series at one game each. The A's won the first game by the same score.

Riding the crest of their dramatic victory at Dodger Stadium, the National League champions prepared to face the A's Tuesday in Game 3 at the Oakland Coliseum — a seven-hour car ride from Los Angeles.

Ferguson hopes he can produce as explosively as Sunday, when he belted an enormous two-run homer over the centerfield fence off Vida Blue.

The Dodgers will start little-used Al Downing against Catfish Hunter, the A's formidable 25-game winner. Explaining his choice of Downing over Doug Rau, normally the Dodgers' No. 3 pitcher, Manager Walt Alton noted: "Downing's been pitching better than Rau the last few times out. It's as simple as that."

The way the A's have been hitting of late, it may not take much to stop them, anyway.

"We've been having a hard time producing runs," said Al Dark, Manager of the American League champions. "We'll take them any way we can get them."

The A's were not able to score until the ninth inning Sunday. Shut out by Don Sutton through the first eight, the A's needed some breaks in the last inning to get men around the bases.

Sutton, a 19-game winner this year, hit Sal Bando with a pitch leading off the ninth and then gave up a checking double to Reggie Jackson that eluded Los Angeles third baseman Ron Cey.

Alton brought in strongman Mike Marshall from the bullpen at this point, but baseball's premier relief pitcher didn't exactly look in top form right away. He gave up a two-run single to Joe Rudi, and the A's were back in business.

Herb Washington, Oakland's famous designated runner, took over for Rudi at first base after Gene Tenace struck out and every one of the 55,989 fans at sunny Dodger Stadium knew what he was going to do.

So did the Dodgers.

"It's my job to hold him on and to give the catcher the best chance to throw him out," said Marshall, cognizant of the fact that

Washington would try to steal second.

Washington had thoughts of stealing second anyway, but didn't get very far. Marshall, one of the best pickoff men in the business nailed the flashy runner

Lamesa Loses

SAN ANGELO — Lakeview recorded a 16-6 3-AAA decision over Lamesa here Friday night.

Lakeview scored seven in the first and nine in the second. Junior Button picked up Lamesa's lone TD. Lamesa for the season stands 3-3 and 3-AAA, 0-2.

There was a shocker in Class 2A as Anahuac upset Hull-Daisetta 19-14.

Aledo, the No. 1 ranked Class A outfit, shaved Lake Dallas 19-15 and Class B kingpin Big Sandy dusted off Union Hill 22-0.

Seventh-rated San Angelo was victim of an upset in the 4A ranks. Midland Lee ros up to surprise the Bobcats 21-7. In 2A, sixth-ranked Hearne lost 30-13 to Caldwell.

Ranked AA Hearne Upset By Caldwell

By The Associated Press

All was right for The Associated Press' top-ranked schoolboy football powers over the weekend except in Class 2A but there was an upset here or there to keep things interesting in the other divisions.

In Class 3A, top-rated Beaumont-South Park crushed Orange Stark 35-13.

Seven Register Easy Decisions

By The Associated Press

No. 1-rated Ohio State threatened to join the ranks of college football's upset victims Saturday ... until the Buckeyes got the ball in their hungry little hands.

Wisconsin, the nation's 13th-ranked team, took the opening kickoff and stormed 80 yards in six plays, with Gregg Bohlig passing 38 yards to Ron Pollard for a touchdown.

Thus embarrassed, the Buckeyes exacted their pound of flesh by scoring the first four times they had the ball on Tom Klaban's 43-yard field goal and touchdown runs of nine, five and 11 yards by Archie Griffin, Brian Baschnagel and Cornelius Greene.

That made it 24-7 at halftime before Ohio State added two more touchdowns in each of the final two periods, with Baschnagel and Greene each getting another, and the final count was a staggering 52-7.

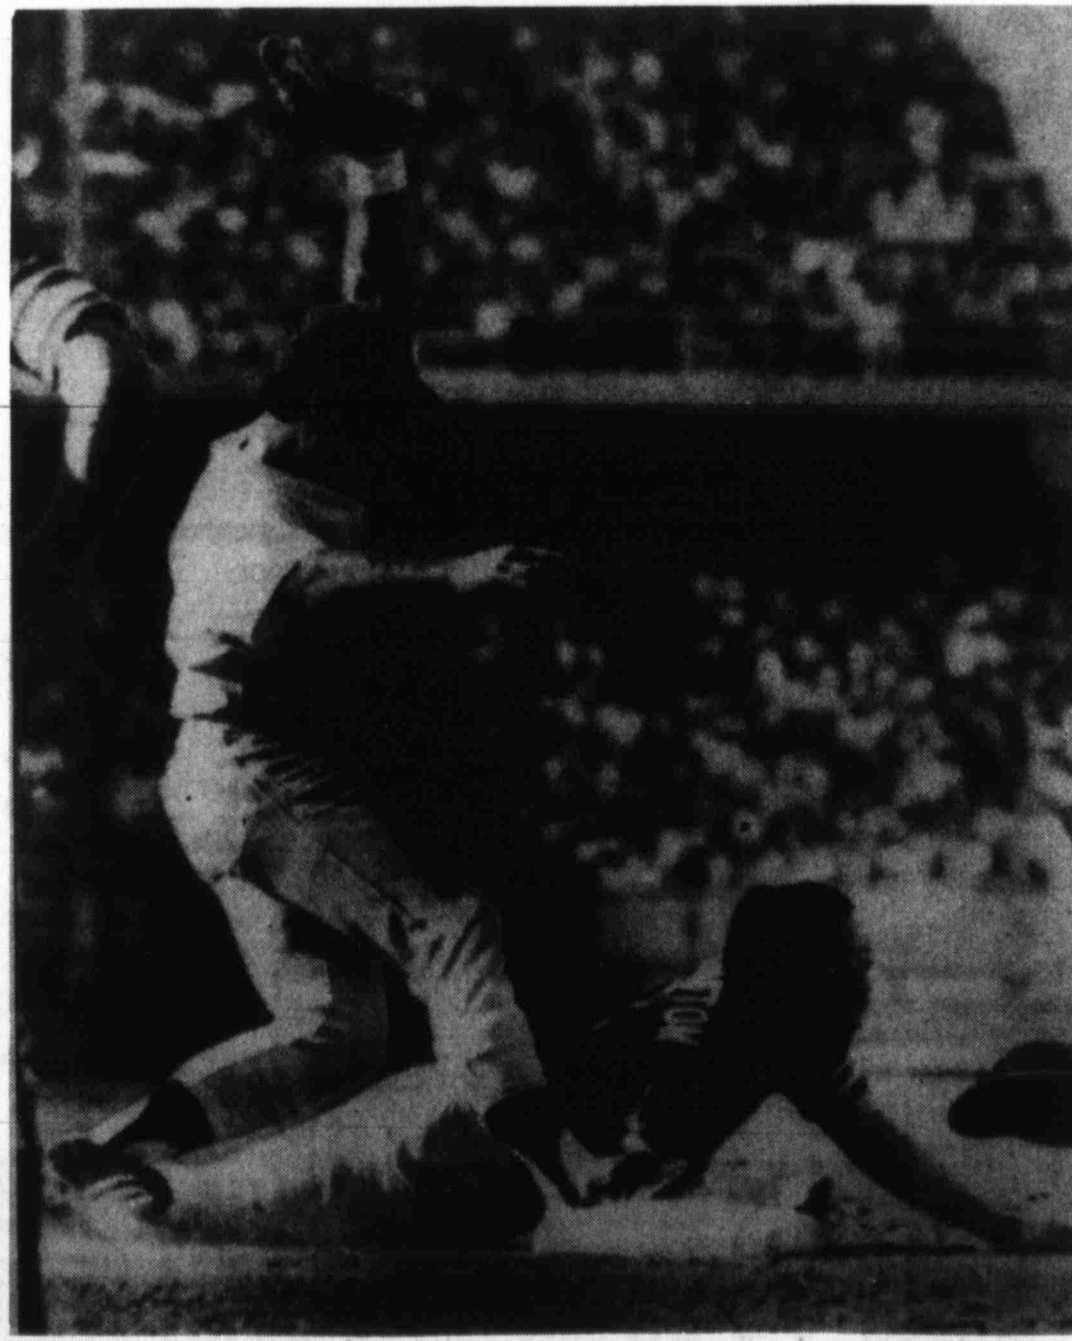

The Buckeyes were one of only seven Top Twenty teams to have a relatively easy time of it as the amazing wave of upsets continued for a fourth consecutive weekend.

Besides Ohio State, fourth-ranked Michigan trimmed Michigan State 21-7, No. 7 Southern California routed Washington State 54-7, 10th-rated Auburn trounced Kentucky 31-13, No. 12 Arizona bombed Utah 41-8, No. 15 Penn State clobbered Wake Forest 55-0 and No. 20 Miami of Ohio whipped Ohio U. 31-3.

But runner-up Oklahoma needed a late field goal to shade No. 17 Texas 16-13 and third-ranked Alabama

Coahoma's QB Club To Meet

The Coahoma Quarterback Club will have its regular meeting Tuesday 7 p.m. in Room 204 at Coahoma High School. Films of the 20-20 tie with Anson will be shown, and there will be a report on Winters, where the Bulldogs must play Friday evening. There may be a report on Gary Roberts, who was sidelined with an injury Friday evening and underwent knee surgery in Midland today.

MARSHALL NAILS WASHINGTON — Los Angeles Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey lifts his glove in the ninth inning Sunday after putting the tag on speedster Herb Washington of the Oakland A's. The pickoff by Dodger relief pitcher Mike Marshall snuffed an Oakland rally. The Dodgers evened the World Series at one game each with a 3-2 victory at home.

Food Stamp Quotas Up

WASHINGTON (AP) - A low-income family of four will have its food stamp benefits raised about $4 per month beginning Jan. 1, according to new figures released today by the Agriculture Department.

Currently, a four-member household gets $150 a month in total food stamps. The amount a family pays for its monthly allocation depends on its income. The stamps are free, for example, if a family's income is less than $30 per month.

But if income goes up, so does the amount a family must pay. For example, if net income rises to $450 a month, the household of four must pay $126 to get $150 worth of stamps.

An estimated 14.9 million persons received food stamps in August, the most recent month tabulated. Nationally, during the month, they paid about $200 million and received coupons worth $493 million at retail food counters.

The $4 increase in benefits was indicated from costs computed by USDA to feed typical households in August. Then, the department said, it cost $35.40 a week to provide an "economy" menu for a four-member family including two school children.

A spokesman said that translated into a rate of $153.40 per month. The economy food plan constructed by the department is the basis for making semi-annual adjustments in food stamp allocations.

Last July 1, based on an economy menu costing $149.30 a month the preceding February, the stamps allocation was raised to the $150 level from $142 a month set the first of this year.

Jack Nichols, deputy director of the department's food stamp operations, said he thought the August economy menu rate would be rounded off at the $154 level beginning Jan. 1, but said the formula "was still being discussed" in the agency.

The economy food plan costs are not published regularly by USDA, but those for three other plans figures are supplied at the request of reporters when the others are announced.

In a weekly publication, Food and Home Notes, the department said today a "low-cost" food budget cost $44.30 a week in August, up 30 cents from July and $3.50 more than in August last year.

A "moderate" food plan was $55.90 a week in August, up 80 cents from July and $3.20 from a year earlier.

The most expensive plan, a "liberal" menu, was $67.70 a week, up 90 cents from July and also $3.20 above August 1973.

The main difference between the low-cost and the more expensive plans involves the quantity of various items in the food bill.

It Was Drunk Out Sunday

Police were kept hopping, keeping up with the drunks Sunday night, even though bars are not open on Sunday nights.

At 11:09, a man was arrested and charged with public intoxication outside the Dog House at 604 W. 3rd. At 11:59 p.m., two were arrested for public intoxication at the Sonic Drive In.

Lozaro Torres was arrested at 12:44 p.m. and charged with drunk in an auto, carrying a prohibited weapon and was under investigation this morning on other possible charges.

A local resident came in and filed a complaint at 2:21 a.m. because a man had called him over to his car while parked at Herman's Cafe and struck him on the head with a tire tool.

Then at 4:10 a.m., two drunks were arrested in the 400 block of Gregg and charged with public intoxication. The cook at Herman's then called in to report a fight.

Sheriffs Not Ready To Give Up Posts

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas county sheriffs are not ready to check in their gun belts and give their jobs to the city cops.

"The county sheriff is as important today as he ever was," says Sheriff Robert Gladney of Angleton, Brazoria County.

"I still see an active need for him regardless of the size of the county," says Dallas County Sheriff Clarence Jones whose department has a $6 million annual budget.

From time to time, including in debate at the unsuccessful Constitutional Convention, there have been proposals to merge county and city law enforcement agencies for economy and efficiency reasons.

The merger can take place under current laws but only three counties have tried it, and one of them, Garza, reverted to separate Sheriff-police departments.

"The people still look to their sheriff for justice," Gov. Dolph Briscoe said in a message to the Sheriff's Association of Texas at their Houston meeting last July. "Although the title of sheriff conjures up visions of the old West with gunfights in the streets, you are as modern as tomorrow."

The motto of the Sheriff's Association is: "First line of defense in local self government."

"He is the most responsible law enforcement officer because he faces the perpetual penalty of not being elected if he is not," said Gladney.

"The sheriff is the last remaining law enforcement officer who is elected by the people," said Martin County (Stanton) Sheriff Dan Saunders, president of the Sheriff's Association. "City police, DPS, FBI and all the others are appointed and hired."

"Whoever is elected does a better job," said Travis County Sheriff Raymond Frank Austin. "When a constituent calls, you are sure to call him back and work on his needs. If a police chief is appointed by a city manager he may not have that same feeling."

"We are close to the people and we know what they want and need," says Hardeman County Sheriff Chester Ingram, whose county is one with a combined law enforcement staff for Quanah and the county. His 11 officers are called deputies—"That carries more weight than a patrolman," he said.

A sheriff's duties are threefold—keeper of the peace, executive officer of the court, and administrative duties that include control of the courthouse and jail.

In 42 counties of the state, with population under 10,000, he is also the tax assessor and collector.

"It shouldn't be that way, the jobs should be separate," said Saunders whose county is one of the 42. "It goes back to the old English days when taxes were collected at the point of a spear. It's hard to put a man in jail one day and the next day try to collect taxes from him."

Originally, a sheriff and his department subsisted on fees collected for their various duties. However, today the sheriff must live on a budget approved by the county commissioners' court like other divisions of county government.

Merger talk draws quick comment from most sheriffs whether they are for or against it.

"There is a great trend toward merging but I am 100 per cent against it," said Saunders. "State and federal governments are doing their best to force consolidation, but it will not work."

Kleberg Succumbs

HOUSTON (AP) — Robert Justus Kleberg Jr., president of the famous King Ranch and renowned cattleman whose operations spanned continents, died late Sunday night in a Houston hospital after a long illness. He was 78.

Kleberg was known wherever game conservationists and lovers of good cattle and fine horses met. He was credited with producing the Santa Gertrudis breed, the first authentic breed of American cattle which has been introduced to 47 states and 45 foreign countries.

The cattleman stood twice in the winner's circle at the Kentucky Derby and he was noted for his game management work and for his experiments and developmental work with a wide variety of forage grasses.

Kleberg was born in 1896 in Corpus Christi. He graduated from Corpus Christi schools and took special agricultural courses at the University of Wisconsin from 1914 to 1916 before returning to the King Ranch which his father helped establish.

He was a descendant of a pioneer Texas family. His grandfather, Robert Justus Kleberg, came to Texas from Germany in 1834 and settled at Cat Spring, north of San Felipe de Austin, volunteered for the Texan Army and served with Mosley Baker's Company during the Texas war for independence.

His father, Robert Justus Kleberg Sr., was born in DeWitt County in 1853. Kleberg Sr. practiced law for many years in Cuero, then moved to Corpus Christi, where he soon became an attorney for Richard King, the celebrated steamboat captain who founded the King Ranch with Mifflin Kenedy.

He married Alice Gertrudis King in 1886, a year after the death of her father. Kleberg Sr. died at his home on the ranch near Kingsville in 1932.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete early today.

Court Dockets About The Same

During September, Howard County's 118th District Court civil and criminal dockets remained about the same size as before.

District Judge Ralph W. Caton saw 75 new civil cases filed and disposed of 50, leaving 1,053 pending.

District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III negotiated nine guilty pleas, including five cases in which defendants waived indictment. Probation was granted the defendants.

Moore filed three motions to revoke probation.

Saucer Story Alarms Some

MIAMI (AP) — Newspaper and radio station switchboards lit up from Pensacola to Miami as Floridians checked out radio broadcasts that two spaceships were being hidden at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

A 20-year-old flying saucer story turned out to be responsible for all the commotion.

Robert Carr, a former Hollywood screen writer who lectured at the University of South Florida last year, was promoting a "Flying Saucer Symposium" to be held next month in Tampa. At a news conference Friday, he repeated information from a book published in the early 1950s, and a number of radio listeners apparently heard fragments of the report.

Carr, 65, now living in Clearwater, said sources had reported that two UFOs and the frozen bodies of their occupants were being hidden at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Dayton, Ohio.

Buzz Kilman, news director at WSHE-FM in Fort Lauderdale, said, "Panic in the streets, with a lot of alleged lies and reporteries. Our phones haven't stopped ringing all day."

"There are no little green creatures or craft from space at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base now. There never have been. The report is without foundation."

ABC Show Tonight Has Fine Sense Of Timing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC-TV, exhibiting either a fine ironic sense or the true meaning of public service, precedes its NFL football show tonight with a good, solid documentary on the hazards of high school football.

This ABC "Close-Up" piece is a must-see for the parents of any kid who wants to play or does play high school football.

It studies questions shoved under the Astroturf far too long, particularly the issue of "head tackling"—driving into the ball carrier with one's head—that many doctors contend can seriously cripple.

It also takes a long look at helmet design, noting that the helmet, primarily designed to protect one's noodle, now has become what reporter Jules Bergman calls "an offensive weapon used to punish the opponent."

Equally important, it dwells—if only briefly—on the qualifications required of high school football coaches, claiming that 41 states have no kind of minimum athletic standards a coach must meet before he can sally forth in hope of a winning season.

The show has a few flaws, including one curious segment in which Joe Namath, the New York Jets' quarterback, holds forth at his summer football clinic for boys aged eight to 18.

He advises them to never, ever drive into the ball carrier with their heads in making a tackle: "We don't want you hurting one another."

Yet as sure as God made little green apples, you know that on any Sunday those kids can see any pro team's defensive line, including the Jets, doing exactly what he's warning the youngsters not to do.

And for reasons known but to the show's producers, the gridiron studies are briefly halted towards the end for a discourse on preventing tennis injuries—I kid you not—among the young.

The main thrust of the show is the problem of high school football injuries, and when it sticks to that it's engrossing, highly informative, and when it visits two football-crippled boys, very saddening indeed.

I've no doubt a great many coaches, parents and even high school players will consider this "Close-Up" a one-hour exaggerated alarm, and rightly point out that it fails to mention the coaches and schools trying to correct the problems it examines.

But if it makes parents concerned enough to question the safeguards of athletic programs at the schools their children attend, it will have more than served its purpose.

Humane Group Meets Oct. 22

A general business meeting for all members of the Humane Society of the Permian Basin and visitors will be held Tuesday, Oct. 22, at 7:30 p.m., at the Ector County Courthouse, Room 214, in Odessa. Any interested person is invited to attend.

The new office of the HSPB is No. 10 in the Space Center Building on East Hwy. 80 and South Loop 338. It's a yellow building belonging to Paul Rochester. Mailing address is P.O. Box 1255, Odessa; phone number is 366-0522. Anyone wishing information is asked to call or write, since Big Spring may be included in the society's outreach in the future.

Latest news is that $100,000 has definitely been appropriated by Odessa city councilmen to build a new animal shelter. In the next year, bids for construction will be taken.
