

Sirica May Order Nixon Checked

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica indicated today he is considering sending a team of three doctors to California to determine if Richard M. Nixon's health would prevent him from testifying at the Watergate cover-up trial.

Opening the 12th day of the trial, Sirica emphasized, however, that he has made no decision on defense and prosecution subpoenas for the former president.

The judge has scheduled a hearing on the issue for Thursday. Sirica said today he wants defense and prosecution lawyers to think about who will foot the bill if he decides to conduct his own medical inquiry.

PROBLEMS POSED

"If I should decide either now or later, if it should develop that I feel it necessary for the former president to appear personally," said Sirica, "who is going to pay expenses to fly doctors out there — the defense or prosecution?"

After that, the lawyer for defendant Kenneth W. Parkinson began his opening statement to the jury, portraying his client as a non-political lawyer lied to by former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, another defendant.

The statement by Jacob Stein, representing Parkinson, continued a pattern in which it has become every man for himself among the five defendants.

Shortly before the prosecution's first witness, John W. Dean III, was to appear, Sirica denied renewed motions for separate trials from former White House Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman and Mitchell.

Opening statements Tuesday by the attorneys for defendants John D. Ehrlichman and Robert C. Mardian emphasized their client's distance from the other defendants. Haldeman and Mitchell lawyers plan to deliver their opening statements after the prosecution has completed its case.

In his hour-and-a-half statement, Stein acknowledged that Parkinson had shredded handwritten notes made in discussions with Mitchell and Jeb Stuart Magruder, Mitchell's deputy on the 1972 Nixon reelection committee, in preparation for defending a civil damage suit filed by the Democrats against the committee.

Stein said Parkinson was worried the notes would turn up in the newspapers. Stein said Parkinson never stepped outside his role as a private attorney called in to defend the committee against the Democrats' $1 million damage suit.

Stein said Parkinson believed Mitchell when Mitchell said Magruder lied to cover up the misuse of hundreds of thousands of dollars of Nixon reelection funds.

Dean, expected to be the prosecution's star witness, had been scheduled to appear Tuesday, but opening statements by two defense lawyers took longer than planned.

Nixon has himself been subpoenaed to testify by the prosecution and defense.

U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica set Thursday afternoon for a hearing on requests from the former President's lawyers that he be excused for reasons of ill health.

STORY CONFIRMED

In the first defense opening statement Tuesday, Ehrlichman's lawyer confirmed increasing reports that his client would openly split with the former President, whom Ehrlichman served for six years.

While saying it was not easy for Ehrlichman to make such charges, attorney William S. Frates said Nixon lied to Ehrlichman about Watergate "to save his own neck."

But Frates also sought to divorce Ehrlichman from the other defendants in the minds of the jurors.

The heavyset, folksy Miami, Fla. lawyer noted that Watergate prosecutors in their opening statement had linked Ehrlichman's name repeatedly with Haldeman, Ehrlichman's close friend from their days together as college students in California.

"The government ... was always saying Haldeman-Ehrlichman, Haldeman-Ehrlichman, Haldeman-Ehrlichman. We're here to defend John Ehrlichman. We're not here to defend the other defendants, nor are we here to prosecute," he said.

David Bress, the other defense lawyer who first addressed jurors Tuesday, cautioned them to make sure they noticed how little of the prosecution's evidence Bress said involved his client, former Nixon reelection committee official Mardian.

All five defendants are charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice. All but Mardian also are charged with obstruction of justice.

BALLOT EXPLAINED — Mrs. Pauline Petty, who retires as county clerk Jan. 1, shows a newcomer to elections how to mark a ballot. Anne Thomas, 18, is a temporary employe in the county clerk's office and a student at Howard College. Today was the first day absentee ballots could be cast in the county clerk's office. Mrs. Margaret Ray, chief deputy county clerk and the only nominee for county clerk, said 58 absentee ballots have been mailed.

IN DEMO SWEEP Executive Branch Would Diminish

KANSAS CITY (AP) — President Ford told a Republican breakfast here today that a Democratic landslide in next month's Senate and House elections could produce a legislative dictatorship with Congress telling the executive branch what to do.

Departing from his prepared text, Ford said heavy Democratic gains could lead to a veto-proof Congress that would harm the traditional American system of checks and balances.

"If you have a veto-proof Congress, you have one branch of government dictating to another," he said. "Americans don't like dictatorships."

Ford, who is campaigning in four Midwestern states for Republican candidates, acknowledged that he gets a little discouraged reading polls that indicate significant Democratic gains in the November balloting.

In his prepared text for a $100-a-plate Republican breakfast here, Ford said that in the economic area, "the President proposes but the Congress disposes." He called for the election of "inflation-fighters who are going to keep track of every single penny this government spends."

"Unless we send people into the House and Senate who recognize the role big government and deficit-spending play in our economy, we never are going to end this inflation that is costing every American consumer so much."

At another point, Ford told his audience, "You can make my job easier by sending more Republicans to Congress to work with me in the two years ahead."

The President, who scheduled campaign stops today in Missouri, South Dakota, Nebraska and Indiana, declared, "I know that this will be a tough election and some people say that the odds are against our candidates this year."

The President made his strongest campaign pitch in behalf of former U. S. Rep. Thomas B. Curtis, who is challenging Democratic Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton in Missouri.

The President began his day with a dawn meeting with Republican Sen. Robert Dole of neighboring Kansas, who is facing a strong election challenge. Dole, who recently left the post of Republican national chairman, later told a news conference Ford promised there would be no federal controls on exports of wheat.

The chief executive then mingled with 22 guests at a GOP coffee gathering that cost $1,000 a person.

A MAN WHO LOVES CHRISTMAS 'Save A Little Spirit'

TUSTIN, Calif. (AP) — The bumper stickers read, "Boycott Christmas spoliars!" They're the brain child of Bob Clay of Tustin, who says he loves Christmas and decided "this is too much" when he saw a Christmas advertisement in a newspaper Sept. 18.

Under the name of the "Committee to Eliminate Premature Christmas Advertising and Display," the 47-year-old father of three printed 2,500 stickers. He sent out 1,000 to his firm's Christmas card list and to newspapers.

Clay charges 25 cents each and, he says, "this thing really took off."

months of seeing Christmas everywhere. By Dec. 25 most of us are over-Christmased," he said.

"Now some retailers are starting even earlier. Three months of Christmas commercialism could mean that we would be tired of Christmas before Thanksgiving arrives."

Clay said that his aim is simply to "save a little Christmas spirit for Christmas Day."

"When I was a kid Christmas was at Christmas time," he said. "Then the shopping season began after Thanksgiving, then it moved up to Halloween, and now a home improvement store in my neighborhood had a banner reading 'Christmas in September!'"

Pension Vote Is Negated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is expected to follow the House in overriding President Ford's veto of a railroad retirement bill and thus enact it into law.

If the action is taken today, it would be the first time Congress has overridden a veto in Ford's presidency.

The bill is designed to put on its feet the virtually bankrupt railroad retirement system by committing $285 million in federal funds annually for the next 25 years, a total of $7.1 billion.

Ford said this was unfair to the taxpayers and that Congress ought to be able to come up with a better plan.

However, sponsors of the legislation who have struggled with the problems of the system for years said they knew of no better solution.

They pointed out that future pension benefits will be trimmed back under the compromise plan included in the bill. If there is no federal subsidy, even current pension payments must be cut back, they contended.

The House vote to override was 360-12. So far Ford has vetoed six bills; the House tally was his first setback on any of these measures.

About 1 million retired workers and survivors now receive railroad retirement payments. The industry has approximately 600,000 workers on its current payrolls.

Kidnapper Is Facing Charge

PIEDMONT, Mo. (AP) — A high school sophomore accused of kidnaping his principal at gunpoint and robbing his school vault of $447 will be charged with violating the juvenile code, authorities said.

The 16-year-old armed himself with a .22-caliber pistol Tuesday, robbed the office at Clearwater High School, and then abducted Edwin Thompson, 42, Wayne County sheriff's deputies said.

Thompson was found unharmed near Des Arc, about 10 miles north of here. The teenager was arrested moments later when he left the cover of nearby woods.

Authorities did not identify the youth.

Officers said the youth accomplished the robbery by forcing coach Reggie Bone to accompany him to Thompson's office, where he ordered the vault opened. He took the money, forced Thompson into a car, and drove to the woods; police said.

Death Sentence Given Woman

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The Seoul District Criminal Court today sentenced to death a woman convicted of being a master spy for North Korea.

It convicted Chae Soo-jung, 49, of supervising seven espionage networks operating in Seoul and other cities.

She was arrested last May on an indictment charging that she was a highly decorated spy for the Communists. The death sentence is subject to automatic review by a higher court.

Selassie Kin Must Report

Both Sides Of County Court Docket Grows

The number of criminal cases pending in county court continued to increase in September.

September started with 1,478 cases on the docket and ended with 1,529.

County Judge A. G. Mitchell accepted eight pleas of guilty and dismissed eight cases. No jury trials were held.

County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eysen Jr., filed 28 cases and 39 cases were appealed from lower courts.

Mitchell saw eight new civil suits filed, entered two default or agreed judgments and dismissed one petition. The civil docket, which held 160 cases at the month's start, was up to 165 by month's end.

In the probate section, the county judge's office counted 11 cases filed.

This May Spook You; Halloween Costs Up

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Whether you're tricking or treating, Halloween is going to cost you more this year.

A check of local stores Tuesday showed that pumpkins are wearing a fatter price tag, candy prices are up and broomsticks have soared sky-high.

"The price of candy has just gone out of sight this year — mainly because of the increase in sugar cost," said Ed Swain, regional director of merchandising for Woolworth's.

Pumpkins, both real and fake, also are more expensive. Lucky Stores says the pumpkins at its grocery markets cost five cents a pound last year and seven cents this year. Kevin O'Rourke, manager of the Marina discount variety store, said "those buckets of plastic pumpkins which used to be 88 cents are now $1.29."

It's going to cost kids more for costumes, too. Martha Asten, owner of Cliff's Variety store, said "rubber masks which last year were $5 and $6 now are $7 and $8, with items made of paper up from 49 to 59 cents."

Even would-be witches will have to pay more to ride in style. Montgomery Ward reports an ordinary yellow corn broom that sold for $2.29 last October now costs $2.79.

California Field Is Now Nation's Second Largest

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Elk Hills oil field in the San Joaquin Valley is now considered the second largest oil field in the nation behind the fields on the North Slope of Alaska, according to new estimates.

It had been ranked fourth, behind the fields in East Texas and in Wilmington, Calif.

U. S. Navy officials Standard Oil Co. of California and Rep. Alphonzo Bell agreed Tuesday that the 46,000-acre Elk Hills field near Taft in Kern County may hold five billion barrels of oil — most of it scarce, low sulfur oil.

Bell and Navy Capt. George Dowd, officer in charge of the field, said Elk Hills has 1.3 billion barrels of proven reserves and 3.7 billion barrels of estimated reserves.

The Navy controls 80 per cent of the reserves, which are held for emergency Navy use. Standard Oil controls the other 20 per cent.

Yogi Bear, Mickey Mouse Break Law But That's OK

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Yogi Bear and Mickey Mouse have been reprimanded by state officials.

Both were among cartoon characters used to help children in Bement, Ill., find their school buses, but they conflicted with federal regulations specifying how the vehicles should be painted.

State officials decided Tuesday, however, that the cartoons can stay anyway.

"It's one thing to have rules, but there's also such a thing as common sense," said Langhorne Bond, head of the Illinois Department of Transportation.

Bement School Supt. Ray Belcher had cartoon figures of Mickey Mouse, Yogi Bear and other animals painted on the hoods of the school buses to help small children tell them apart. Belcher gave credit for the idea to a lost boy.

Public Responsibility Panel Work Reviewed

State hospital volunteers Staurday got an overview of the public responsibility committee program from one of those who pioneered it in Texas.

Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital which was chosen as the pilot for the project to furnish the public a voice on services, moderated the panel on public responsibility.

"I feel gratified with the results of the workshop, because all participants and other members of the audience in this special session contributed a great deal to our Public Responsibility committee," he said.

"Mrs. Billee Smith, Mrs. Tup Ferguson and Mrs. Gene Caldwell were well received in summarizing their activities at BSSH."

Committees now are functioning in all Texas mental hospitals and special schools to receive and act upon complaints reaching them.

Other speakers and topics included Dr. Kenneth Gaver, commissioner for the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, "Humanization and the Volunteers;" G. F. England, Austin, "Grants and Resource Development;" Wade Clark, "Council Incorporation and Tax Exempt Status;" Mrs. Arthelia Cook Smith, Austin, "Committee MHRM Centers;" Mrs. Ruth Jones, San Antonio, "Enlisting Non-Traditional Volunteers;" and Dr. Robert K. Alsop, Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., "Role of Concerned Volunteers in Obtaining Improvements."

San Antonio was the winner of the David Wade plaque, which was won last year by Big Spring, for having the most volunteers in attendance at the meeting.

Also attending from the Big Spring State Hospital Council with Dr. and Mrs. Harrison were Mrs. Anna Braselton, Mrs. Gene Caldwell, Mrs. Tup Ferguson, Mrs. Mari Tidmore and Mrs. Edie Brasher, Midland; Mrs. Billee Smith, Mrs. Doris Day, Mrs. Margaret Baum, Mrs. Nancy Lester and Mrs. Sonya Swindell, Big Spring; W. E. Womack, Mrs. Cordi Wilkes and Mrs. Pearl Wilkes of Lamesa; Mrs. Dona Reed, Colorado City and Mrs. Janie Johnson, Seminole.

Lakes Still Are Rising

Lake E. V. Spence reached a new all-time high for it Wednesday morning, and it may have a modest additional increase from Sunday-Monday rains.

Elevation, this morning was 1862.10, which was .04 of a foot higher than the previous peak in April 1973. The Colorado City river continued flowing 5 feet deep at the Silver bridge above the lake, 3½ feet at Pan-Am bridge and 4 feet at Pecan Crossing. Beal's Creek, a tributary, also was flowing as were Big and Little Silver Creeks, though modestly. Water still flowed over the diversion channel at Colorado City.

The lake now contains 143,000 acre feet and has increased by about 11,000 acre feet.

Lake J. B. Thomas was at elevation 2223.82, a gain of 1.24 feet or about 2,500 acre feet. It had just about stabilized.

Lake Colorado City also continued rising, hitting elevation 2062.05 this morning a net gain of 2.5 feet or about 2,500 acre feet. There were no late reports from Champion Creek Lake.

CALF KILL.—A farmer takes aim at a calf as members of the Buena Vista Beef Growers Association slaughter 22 animals Tuesday at a farm near Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., as a protest against low cattle prices. National Farmers Organization members killed 636 calves in a similar fashion for the same reason about 60 miles away near Curtis.

Task Distasteful, Say Calf-Killers

CURTIS, Wis. (AP) — Protesters low cattle prices, farmers shot or slit the throats of 636 calves and buried the carcasses in trenches.

"I'm tired of rhetoric," said Steve Pavich, president of the National Farmers

Organization in Wisconsin. "There is a problem out here in rural America and something has to be done about it."

"None of us like it," one farmer said. "But if they don't change soon they might as well shoot the American farmer and throw him in the pit."

The farmer and Pavich spoke at a demonstration here Tuesday where 636 calves were killed by NFO members. Another 22 were slaughtered by members of the Buena Vista Beef Growers Association near Wisconsin Rapids, about 60 miles southeast of here.

The farmers say the price of feed grain and other costs have jumped while veal prices have plummeted.

Farmers were getting $90 to $125 a head for veal calves eight months ago, but are now receiving $17, according to Phil Broege, marketing dairy representative for the NFO in the Curtis area.

"You're paying about $2 a pound for veal in the store, but the farmer is getting 17 cents a pound for his animal," Broege said. "Everybody between the farmer's driveway and the consumer is taking the rest."

Broege said the NFO offered to turn the calves over to slaughterhouses at Edgar, Wis., and Dubuque, Iowa, if packers would distribute the meat to needy families. But the offer was turned down.

The Rev. William Whitcomb, director of the Wisconsin Christian Rural Overseas Program, criticized the calf kill. He said the farmers could have held the animals off the market without waste by contributing them to charitable organizations.

But Newell said part of the point was to slaughter female calves — to dramatize the need to cut down future production.

Most of the animals slain were less than two weeks old, but some weighed as much as 400 pounds. Farmers said all were healthy. An average veal calf weighs about 100 pounds.

Brezhnev Plans Visit To Cairo

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Ismail Fahmy, the straight-talking foreign minister who engineered Egypt's friendship with the United States at the expense of its ties with Russia, has now convinced Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev to visit Cairo.

The Soviet Union announced Tuesday that Brezhnev will make his first visit to Cairo in January for meetings with President Anwar Sadat. Brezhnev agreed to the summit after long talks with Fahmy and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The invitation indicated that Sadat is apparently becoming unhappy with the scarcity of concrete results from his year-old opening to the United States.

Fahmy was accompanied to Moscow by chief of staff Lt. Gen. Abdel Ghany Gamasy and War Production Minister Ahmed Kamal.

Their presence indicates Sadat hopes to restore the flow of Soviet arms, including the modern missiles and planes that have been supplied to Syria and other Arab states.

A popular figure both in Washington and in Moscow, Fahmy made Egypt's new search for a balance between the superpowers clear when he met with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on Sunday and the next morning flew off for Moscow.

Fahmy was named foreign minister soon after the October 1973 war while in Washington making the first overtures to President Nixon and Kissinger for a more active U.S. role in settling the crisis between Israel and the Arabs.

The romance he helped engineer reached a peak last June when millions of Egyptians greeted Nixon in Cairo and the American leader promised Egypt nonmilitary nuclear and economic aid.

Two months earlier, Sadat had lashed out at the Soviets for not supplying him sufficient arms and declared he would search elsewhere for military supplies.

Flory Is Humble

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — "When I think of the hundreds and thousands of people working in this field, I feel it's a bit unfair for one person to be singled out," said Stanford University Prof. Paul J. Flory. He had just won the 1974 Nobel Prize in chemistry.

Flory, 64, was honored for pioneering work in the development of plastics. He is in his final year of teaching and research at Stanford University.

When told Tuesday he had been named a Nobel laureate, he said he was "just overwhelmed."

The award carries a $124,000 cash prize.

Macromolecular science, Flory's field, involves the study of giant molecules or polymers. They are the building blocks of synthetic products including nylon, dacron and bulk plastics with such diverse uses as bread wrapping and construction materials.

Flory is author of "Principles of Polymer Chemistry," considered a classic in the field. A book he wrote on the mechanics of chain molecules has been translated into Japanese and Russian.

A native of Illinois, he also received the 1974 Priestly Medal, the highest honor in American chemistry.

College Trustees Get Annual Audit Report

Howard College trustees Tuesday approved the annual audit (by Hollinsworth, Wilson, Lee and Reynolds), a document which showed the college with $4,631,474 capital assets and an income late year of $1,649,587.

Regarding the assets, which net out at $3,547,474 when outstanding bonds are deducted, John Wilson, auditor, told the board "there's no telling what these are worth on replacement basis—maybe two or three times as much." The report was complimentary, although it did include an oft-repeated suggestion that capital account inventory (particularly on equipment) be tightened. Dr. Charles Hays, president, responded: "I think we've just got that whipped, although we will never agree entirely with auditors over what constitutes supplies and what is equipment."

(A more detailed audit report will follow later).

REVALUATION

In approving the appraiser's monthly report, mention was made that Big Spring Independent School District was wanting to take a look at revaluation. Trustee Don McKinney offered: "We're not in that bad shape. There's not too much support for this in the county." Harold Davis said revaluation wouldn't necessarily mean increase in taxes, some might be raised, some lowered.

The matter of the $3,000 annual participation in the concert association series came up for discussion. This is part of the student activity fund, and there was some indication that this might be looked at later.

The board approved the lease of a building at 819 W

3rd for $150 a month a lab for evening courses in automotive and auto body repair. Three classes have filled in this field.

MACHINE TOOLS

Upwards of $150,000 in surplus machine tools have been acquired from the federal government for less than $4,000, Dr. Hays told the board. This assortment of equipment, all of a commercial, heavy-duty type, will be shown Thursday 7:30 p.m. in the practical arts building. To make way for it, the woodworking lab has been moved to the maintenance shop.

Dr. Hays noted that the San Angelo and Lamesa centers were off to a good start, and that there had been contacts, particularly with the latter, to strengthen the program.

He also reported that the college had been given the advantage of the 30 per cent deviation under new policies, and that even with a 20 per cent increase in coverage, there would be a savings of $1,300 per year.

The board approved the schedule for classified employees, which calls for a $50 a year increment if these employees get a favorable annual evaluation. Under previous policies, faculty members have a $100 annual increment.

Intruder Drinks Up Evidence

Much ado about nothing aptly applied to a vandalism and attempted robbery Tuesday night.

Somebody broke a $160 window in Elmer's Liquor Store at FM 700 and Birdwell and stole a display bottle of Cutty Sark, a half gallon size. The bottle was empty and its contents were the only thing missing.

This was reported at 2:10 a.m. to police. At 3:26 a.m., it was reported that there was somebody inside the store. It turned out to be the manager trying to board up the window.

I'm Still Underdog, Says Jim Granberry

DALLAS (AP) — Jim Granberry says the next governor of Texas depends on how many Texans who voted Democratic in May will vote Republican in November.

The GOP candidate for governor was in Dallas Tuesday after a quick swing Tuesday through East Texas for a last-ditch effort to raise money to complete his challenge of Democratic Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

"We are still the underdog, but we are optimistic," the 41-year-old Lubbock dentist told a civic club luncheon in Tyler. "The surveys show the undecided voters are moving in my direction."

"If we can buy the broadcast time, we can win the race," Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said Tuesday night at a fund-raising reception given by a wealthy couple in North Dallas. Entertainment for the lavish party included the showing of television advertisements made for Granberry but unseen by voters for lack of funds.

"We have taken surveys to show Jim Granberry is gaining on Dolph Briscoe," Tower said. "What we really need is money to mount an immediate campaign."

Tower said he was spending all his time on the telephone "leaning" on possible Republican contributors throughout the state to come to Granberry's aid.

Granberry said his surveys show him ahead in Amarillo, Odessa-Midland and Lubbock areas. "I feel optimistic here in Smith County and Gregg County... we should win handily in Dallas County. We are still a few percentages behind in Houston, but the trend looks good."

Granberry said he and other Republican leaders predict a voter turnout Nov. 5 of 1.5 to 1.7 million.

Although only 70,000 voted in the May GOP primary, Granberry said he feels Republicans will poll about 1 million of the general election vote because they have betted one million in the last three general elections.

"I have always felt that Texas Republicans vote in the Democratic primary because they want a voice in the local races, then they switch to Republican in November," Granberry said.

Granberry said much of his forecast is based on the 1962 race when John B. Connally defeated Republican Jack Cox by a small margin. That was the last Democratic-Republican gubernatorial race when there was no presidential or U.S. Senate candidates to attract large number of voters.

Portugal's Prexy Asks U.S. Help

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — President Francisco da Costa Gomes says the United States can assure the growth of democracy in Portugal by giving his government large doses of economic and political help. He was interviewed on the eve of his departure today for the United States to address the United Nations General Assembly and meet later this week in Washington with President Ford. Costa Gomes is the first Portuguese chief of state ever to visit the United States. He became president two weeks ago after leftists in the military forced Antonio de Spínola to resign. In the interview, he was vague about his hopes for the talks in Washington.

He was asked what Lisbon needs from the United States to encourage the development of a healthy, democratic Portuguese state.

He offered no specifics but replied: "Both economically and politically, the United States can give immense help to the Portuguese people in the development of the democratic process now in course. We believe in the disinterested help of friendly peoples and governments."

"In relations between countries, increased mutual confidence is an essential element for the development of dignified and fruitful relations. During these talks much can be done in this direction."

A senior Portuguese government official, who asked not to be named, said the United States should realize that building a democracy in a country emerging from a half-century of dictatorship is made more difficult by economic hardships.

The official said the United States can offer financial aid to bolster employment and blunt the rise of inflation. It also could help by providing aid for Portugal's former African colonies, just granted or being granted independence, the official said. He added that the United States could make Portugal stronger politically merely by issuing a declaration of support.

The president indicated he will discuss with Ford the status of a U.S. air base at Lajes in the Azores islands, which is operating now under an expired agreement.

Fem Dies; Starved?

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — A 79-year-old widow died alone in her barren room here just hours before she was to pick up her $97.40 Social Security check.

The clothes Elsie DeFratus had planned to wear to the post office to pick up her check were neatly laid out.

"I think she just died from weakness. She probably starved to death," said her landlord, Steve Haddock, 82. "I offered to bring her coffee or tea and toast in the mornings, but she said she didn't need any help. She had lost a lot of weight. Poor old thing. She's lucky to be at rest."

Dr. John Shinner, Pineallas County medical examiner, said he couldn't determine the exact cause of death but said malnutrition was a significant contributing factor. He estimated that she died about 10 a.m. on Oct. 3. Her body was found the same day by the building manager.

Little is known about Mrs. DeFratus or her family, except that she once lived in Chicago.

From her monthly check, she paid $60 rent. Other known expenses were $8 a month for bus trips to Tampa, 25 miles away, where she rented a post office box for $1.20 a month and a safety deposit box for 60 cents a month.

That left her $27.60 a month. In 1972, the Florida Department of Health estimated that the monthly food cost for a minimum balanced diet for an older person living alone was $34.39. But Mrs. DeFratus had neither that much money for food nor the benefit of 1972 prices. She didn't even have a kitchen to cook in.

A social worker who knew Mrs. DeFratus said she refused offers of help that amounted to charity or welfare and would not apply for supplemental security income, insisting she could care for herself.

Dr. Shinner said the autopsy showed Mrs. DeFratus had a chronic kidney ailment but it did not cause her death.

"We really don't have a good cause of death in this case," he said. "She was thin, about 90 pounds. My feeling is that this is a real problem in this community."

Suspect On Bond

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Richard Henry Flores, 27, was free on bond today after surrendering to police in connection with the Sept. 21 shootout at San Antonio International Airport which left one person dead.

Flores was sought on a warrant charging him with murder in the death of Thomas L. Herdith, 23, of Tampa, Fla. Flores was wounded in the incident, which police said was narcotics-related.

Authorities continue to seek Richard J. Brooks, also named in a murder warrant, a court spokesman said Tuesday. Both Brooks and Flores are from San Antonio.

A spokesman for Peace Justice J. P. Gutierrez said Flores surrendered Monday and was freed after his attorney posted $7,500 bond. The attorney said Flores was treated in Mexico for a shoulder wound which police say he sustained in the shootout.

According to police, the gunplay outside the terminal entrance resulted from an alleged marijuana transaction which fell through.

Arrested on drug charges were Ricky Meredith, 21, the dead man's brother, and Gerald Barrett, 32, both of Tampa. Police said they were told Flores had been held captive by the dead man and his associates but jumped free at the airport.

ELECTRIC CAR — Dick Bassett of Albuquerque uses a hydrometer to check the specific gravity of one of the batteries that power his electric car. By using conversion tables he can determine with specific gravity how far the car will travel before it needs a new charge. He says the car, converted to battery power, will go 40 miles an hour for up to 50 miles on a charge.

Mortgage Money May Come Easier

WASHINGTON (AP) — Homebuyers should find mortgage money easier to locate as a result of an emergency housing credit bill passed by Congress Tuesday.

The bill, which authorizes up to $7.7 billion for federal purchases of conventional housing mortgages, was a priority request of President Ford in his economic message to Congress a week ago.

Rep. Garry Brown, a ranking Republican on the Banking Committee, said he has been assured that Ford will sign the bill.

He said the mortgage purchases should begin soon afterward, freeing up banks and savings and loan institutions to underwrite more mortgages.

Seventy per cent of single-family homes have conventional mortgages but the government's secondary mortgage agencies have been restricted to purchases of home mortgages insured by the Veterans Administration and the Federal Housing Administration.

Middle-class homebuyers will benefit most from the legislation. It authorizes the government agencies to buy up mortgages on houses costing between $33,000 and $38,000 but authorizes the secretary of Housing and Urban Development to allow purchases of mortgages on houses costing up to $42,000 in high-cost areas.

A ceiling of $55,000 was put on mortgages in the extraordinarily expensive areas of Alaska, Hawaii and Guam.

The housing industry is in its worst doldrums since World War II, its officials say.

Homebuyers can't find mortgage money and when they do, it is prohibitively expensive because of interest rates approaching 10 per cent in some areas.

In a fight on the Senate floor, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., succeeded in getting the bill's interest rate lowered to the cost of the money to the Treasury plus one-half of one per cent, or about 8.5 per cent.

Brown estimated the interest would be higher than Proxmire had projected, somewhere between 8½ and 8¾ per cent.

Work Weekend Results Good

Although the notice to report was short, attendance for the work weekend at the boy scout camp in Silver Heels was considered good. Much progress was made.

Scouts collected three truckloads of garbage and constructed a permanent pipe fence.

Troops attending included 1776, with Terry Lizette as scoutmaster; 249, Richard Acuna, scoutmaster; 238, John Eckley, scoutmaster, and many Order of the Arrow members.

The scout leaders expressed gratitude to the U.S. Experiment Station for use of the facility's equipment

Candidates Who Are Guiltless Projected

DALLAS (AP) — Republicans must defeat a Watergate deficit and present GOP candidates free of guilt by association, former U.S. Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson has said here.

Richardson told the Dallas County Republican Men's Club Tuesday that GOP candidates must be seen on their own merits if they are to defeat some anti-Republican feeling among swing voters and apathy among Republicans themselves.

He warned that a veto-proof Congress controlled by Democrats would not be in the best interest of the nation or the Democrats.

"I believe it would cripple the campaign against inflation," he said. "The Democrats would be unable to exercise the budget restraint necessary."

He told newsmen earlier that he had no White House aspirations in 1976 or 1980, but indicated he felt that a Ford-Rockefeller ticket in 1976 would be strong. "I couldn't imagine a stronger one," he said of the Ford-Rockefeller ticket. "Of course, there's a difficulty in how economic problems are handled. A lot will turn on how well we (Republicans) can do. But as men, as leaders, it's a strong ticket."

He said he believed Congress would confirm Rockefeller as vice president.

"The Democrats see benefits in prolonging the confirmation process which effectively prevents Rockefeller from taking part in campaigns. They may now see openings to exploit—things that threaten the Republican party ticket in 1976."

Richardson said President Ford's pardoning of former President Nixon was almost "uncharacteristic" of his previous openness, but speculated that it was not a decision that invited discussion and was more an act of individual conscience.

"Garbo" Is Back In Exciting Fall Styles

Garbo. Her name is a world in a word. The aloofness, the individuality, the search for privacy that was her mystique extended from real life to starring role. As Queen Christina, Mata Hari, Camille — whether betrayer or abandoned woman — she was always exciting — as inscrutable as the Sphinx and very, very beautiful.

In 1974, we are no longer "the sacrificial woman" that was so popular in Garbo's era, but we are again feminine and beautiful. Fall fashions are as glamorous as she was — with yards and yards of fabric to wrap ourselves in — and a season of elegance straight from our favorite 30s movies, with styles designed for lunching behind palm fronds at a cozy table for two or for dancing until dawn to the dreamy music of Eddy Duchin. Long full skirts and sweaters, streamlined suits, wrappy coats and flowing capes change at night to slinky chiffons and satins and sequins. Colors are as subdued as Garbo's smile — dusty-rose, sea-green, pale peach, pearl grey. Accessories are important again. Bags and shoes and stockings match, and gloves and hats are back. And every outfit has its own flowing scarf — or feathered boa to be tied or looped or draped to suit the moment's mood.

GREATFACE

This year also marks the return of the Great Face, capped with equally great hair. Make-up is artfully natural and alluring deep lustrous lips, rosy cheeks, enigmatic eyes—all covered with a light matte-powder finish. Gone are last year's severely short hair styles, and curling irons are back to produce those soft 30s waves. The new bouncy medium-length styles begin with hair that is as naturally clean as the days when being a woman was basic. Along with curling irons, Prell was around Garbo's day... and it's still a favorite for women who know that great-looking hair stems from really clean hair. Forget all the mumbo-jumbo about shampoo additives and the current stress on "mild" shampoos. Contrary to what most people believe, there really is no such thing as a "mild" or "harsh" shampoo among those commercially available.

LOVELY HAIR

So for Garbo-lovely hair choose a shampoo for what really matters — better cleaning or, if you need it, dandruff protection. Then, if you feel it necessary add your favorite conditioner or rinse. It's the same as cleaning your face (Garbo was a soap and water fiend) and then add the finishing touches of make-up.

Some basic ideas just cannot be improved on. Garbo has remained as mysterious as the moon before we conquered it. This year—with fashions, makeup and hairstyles that have rediscovered her secret—you too can achieve her luxurious combination of soft woman and sultry lady.

IT'S A BARGAIN! Her new suit, that is, with its softly shaped jacket and longer skirt. As carefree as it is handsome, it's fashioned of wrinkle-shedding gabardine of polyester and rayon; it will give lots of fashion for several seasons to come.

A LOVELIER YOU

Know The Right Touch For Now

Not in many a season have new accessories so well bridged the void between end-of-summer and fall wardrobes. Perhaps it is because accessories have joined the seasonless trend that they become perk-ups for the old and the right touch for the new. Have a look:

At The Top. A slouch hat in soft felt. Think how an eggplant shade would rejuvenate a cotton summer suit and lend distinction to an autumn tweed coat or suit.

At The Throat. A long, long paisley scarf to wrap or float at the throatline of dresses and pulls, both the summer and winter versions.

At Hand. Knit gloves with leather palms to wear with whatever you wear when driving.

In Hand. An envelope handbag — leather, suede or pigskin — in natural colors. Some are designed with small cutout spaces for the fingers to grasp. The easier to carry, you know.

Waist Hug. Soft belts and shaped girdles to supply finish at the waistline of skirts. Made of fine wools and buttery leathers, often combined, the hug is a luxury treatment!

A Girl's Best Friend. It's jewelry of course — thin ropes upon thin ropes of glistening beads. Tiny gold beads, jet, diamonds, smoked pearl, emeralds — all fakery, but who's wearing glasses?

Well, mine have rose-colored lenses.

LOVELIER HANDS
Do you have a hand problem? Send for LOVELIER HANDS, a booklet that covers every step in your quest for hand beauty. It tells how to keep the skin and nails groomed; how to overcome weak nails, polish chips, discolored knuckles, prominent veins, wrinkles; how to use the hands with poised grace. For your copy, write to Mary Sue Miller in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin.

Hears Report Of Assembly

A report from the annual Supreme Assembly was given to members of the Social Order of Beauceant at the meeting Monday evening at the Masonic Temple.

Mrs. W. F. Fryar, president, told of the session in Kansas City, Mo., which she attended along with Mrs. Albert Davis and Mrs. Lee Porter.

Plans were made for assisting with the Christmas party at Big Spring State Hospital. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Willard Sullivan, Mrs. Roy Reeder and Mrs. Coy Nalley.

The next meeting will be on Oct. 28.

Guests Here

Mrs. Shelton Ashley and son, Jeremy, of San Angelo are spending the week here with relatives, including the C. R. Moads, the Lyndell Ashleys and the Cecil Drakes.

NAFR Meeting

The local chapter of the National Association of Federal Retirees will host a district meeting here Thursday. The conference will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Coker's Restaurant.

Son's Birth Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Edens, Rt. 1, announce the birth of a son, Jeremy Davis, Oct. 10 at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital. The infant weighed 6 pounds, 14 ounces. The mother is the former Mary Faulks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Faulks, 1810 Runnels. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Edens, Gail Rt.

Events On Tap At Forum Hall

New members of the G.I. Forum Ladies Auxiliary, elected Monday evening, will be installed Nov. 10 at a dinner in the G.I. Forum Hall, with members' husbands as guests.

Taking office at that time will be Mrs. Raymond Gonzales, chairman; Mrs. Anita Valles, vice chairman; Mrs. Janie Arispe, secretary; Mrs. Josie DeLeon, treasurer; Mrs. Ramona Navarrete, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs.

Donna Reyna, chaplain; and Mrs. Ofelia Flores, historian-reporter.

Family night will be held this evening at the forum hall, with auxiliary members selling burritos, hot dogs and hamburgers. A dance is scheduled at the hall Saturday evening, with music by the "Taste of Latin," and menu to be served.

Mrs. Gonzales read a letter from the national office concerning constitutional changes approved at the national convention. The auxiliary is now referred to in the constitution as the American G.I. Forum Women, and the junior group will be known as the Youth G. I. Forum.

A fund raising event was started to assist needy families in the community. The prize will be a Thanksgiving turkey.

New members introduced were Mrs. Juanita DeAnda and Miss Maria Garza. The door prize was won by Mrs. Janie Arispe.

Three Teachers Join Retirees

Three new members were welcomed Tuesday by the Howard County-Big Spring Retired Teachers Association which met in the Downtown Tea Room.

Joining the group were Mrs. Arthur Rueckart, Mrs. Dora Ruth Carter and Mrs. LaVida J. Hilliard.

Guest speaker was Olsen Sweatt of Colorado City, assistant state director.

Alpha Kappa Chapter Has Model Meeting

A model meeting for rushees of Alpha Kappa Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, was held last week in the home of Mrs. Marilyn Clark, 702 Settles.

Parents Without Partners have set a busy schedule beginning at 8 p.m., today when members will meet at the Barcelona Apartments club room with Mrs. Hazel Trent as hostess for a planning session.

Saturday, there will be a family pot-luck supper at the home of Mrs. Estalene Rice, 1406 E. 14th, and Sunday there will be family skating at 2 p.m. A newsletter folding session will be held at Mrs. Louise Kirkpatrick's home, 2201 Carl, Oct. 24 at 8 p.m., and family bowling will begin at 3 p.m., Oct. 27.

pledges that their pledge test will be given at the next meeting, Oct. 22, in the home of Mrs. Huckaby, 4202 Hamilton.

Future events for chapter members include a "Hobo Party" at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 26 in the LaRochelle home, 600 W. 16th, for members and prospective members, along with their husbands. Mrs. LaRochelle will be assisted by Mrs. Cathy Myers, social committee chairman.

Members were asked to support a bazaar Nov. 2 at Highland Center Mall which is being sponsored by the Beta Omicron Chapter. Also, it was announced that the city-wide preferential tea for rushees will be held Nov. 3 in the First Federal Community Room.

The program on verse, given by Mrs. Jan Sims, was taken from the study book, "Paths to Loveliness." Discussing three styles of verse, she said free-style has no rhyme and illustrated this with Rod McKuen's poem, "Old Houses." Other styles mentioned were cinquain, a five-line poem that gives thoughts about an object or feeling, and haiku, a three-line poem that usually deals with some aspect of nature. Members wrote one poem as a group, then two poems individually, using the three styles.

Secretaries To Convene Oct. 18

Orientation Scheduled Thursday

Delegates from the local chapter of National Secretaries Assn. (Int'l.) will join delegates from chapters in Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Missouri in Columbia, Mo., Oct. 18-20 for the Southwest District Region 1 Conference, "Spread Your Wings". U. S. Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton (D-Mo.) will address the 325 NSA representatives, led by their International President M. Ursula Gallerani, CPS, Arlington, Mass., at a luncheon at noon Friday, opening the conference at Columbia's Ramada Inn.

Connie McCauley, South District director, Burbank, Calif., will preside. Activities will be highlighted by a personal development workshop, conducted by Arlyne McCaugh, Lawrence, Kans., member of the Houston NSA chapter, and a seminar, "Management Skills for Secretaries", by Dave Schmidt, professional consultant, Schmidt, Pryor & Co., Mission, Kans.

The first orientation following the organization of a new auxiliary to Big Spring State Hospital will be held Thursday. The orientation, which will include a demonstration of hypnosis by Dr. Preston E. Harrison, will begin at 9 a.m. in the Tollett All-Faith Chapel.

Following the orientation, a Volunteer Council luncheon will be held in the auditorium of the Allred Building on the hospital grounds. At that time, members of the new auxiliary, along with the advisory board, will be introduced. Jim Baum is the current chairman of the council.

Diabetics May Attend Seminar

A workshop for diabetics has been scheduled at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Howard County Senior Citizens Center on Howard College campus according to an announcement from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. All persons who are diabetics, or who have friends or relatives who are, are invited to attend. Miram Curry of Midland, a dietician, will present the program, preparing and serving tasty foods suitable for a diabetic. She will also stress meal planning using the exchange lists, and recipe books will be available.

Eating the right foods in the correct amount at the right time is a vital part of controlling diabetes. The meal plan for the diabetic guides the selection of foods to maintain adequate nutrition and to help control the disease. Its regular use provides the nutrients from a variety of enjoyable foods and maintains the correct body weight. This information will be emphasized at the meeting. For additional information contact Miss Sherry Mullin, county extension agent, 267-3469.

Assessor-Collector Talks To City Club

Breakfast Is Needed Meal

Breakfast is our most neglected meal. Who are the worst offenders? Surveys have shown that teen-age girls and homemakers are the guilty ones. Other family members, too, tend to skip on this important meal from time to time. Studies have shown that alertness and efficiency during late morning hours are greater with people fortified with a nourishing breakfast.

Meat, because it is such an excellent source of several nutrients, serves as a good foundation for the morning meal.

Mrs. Zirah Bednar, county tax assessor-collector, was speaker for the City Home Demonstration Club Friday at the home of Mrs. J. P. Gordon. Co-hostess was Mrs. T. M. Dunagan. Mrs. Gordon brought the devotion, and Mrs. Anna Mae Orr, Portales, N.M., was a guest.

Mrs. Bednar advised the women to know the candidates for office and to be informed of issues. She related duties of her office and told of the new plastic, billfold-size, voter registration cards, the first to be issued in Texas, that are available here.

She urged all who will be 65 as of May 1 to declare their homes for exemption as of Jan. 1. The next meeting will be Oct. 25 in the Texas Electric Reddy Room with Mrs. Marvin Sewell and Mrs. Joe Cox as hostesses.

Area People At Celebration

Six Big Spring people attended the Hatchel Community birthday celebration at the Community Center in Ballinger Saturday. Approximately 300 ex-residents and descendants of families that founded Hatchel attended the affair.

Costumes To Win Prizes

Mu Zeta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi will have a Halloween costume party at 8 p.m. Saturday in the home of Mrs. Kent Harrington.

Prizes for the best costume for men and women will be given at the party which will have possible pledges and guests of members as guests. The meeting at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 21 will be at the home of Mrs. Billy King, 1108 Mt. Vernon. Formal dress is required for this Ritual of Jewels.

Son Is Born Here Oct. 17

Mr. and Mrs. George Moore, Rt. 1, Box 401, Big Spring, announce the birth of a son, Brian Louis, at 11 a.m., Oct. 11, at Medical Arts Clinic-Hospital, weighing 7 pounds, 11 ounces. The paternal grandfather is L. T. Dent, Ira, and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wymon Russell, Lubbock, formerly of Ackerly. The Moores have an older son, Gregg, 3.

Club Sponsoring Benefit Dance

The Webb Spring Lions Club is sponsoring a dance Saturday evening at the Howard County Fair Barn, and the public is invited. The United Soul band from Abilene will furnish the music for the affair from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. Net proceeds will go to the club's educational projects.

Kappa Alpha Chapter Gets Delegate Award

The program, "Make Big Plans," was led by Beth Church McDonald, Odessa, Area 8 Alpha State director. The luncheon speaker was Jann Buttery, also of Odessa. The two women were co-chairmen for the meeting. Epsilon Eta and Zeta Xi chapters will cohost the 1975 regional meeting in Midland.

Express Thanks For Arthritis Drive Workers

The West Texas Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation thanks all the volunteers who marched their blocks for donations last week. Mrs. Delores Scrimshire, chairman said. Thus far, we have raised $1,450, she said. But some campaign kits are still out and should be turned into the First National Bank as soon as possible. Persons not reached by the fund-raising campaign may send a donation to the Arthritis Foundation, 2101 W. Wall St., Midland 79701.

Tasty Patty

Turn that small amount of leftover vegetable into a delectable patty. Add beaten egg and seasonings. Bake in greased muffin tins or fry in hot fat.

PRINT GOWN — A model shows a gown in yellow with orchid and green from the La Mendola collection in Florence, Italy. The spring and summer fashion showings began there Monday.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter whom I'll call Betty is 26, a college graduate and has never given us a moment's worry until now. Betty wants to marry Ron, a 34-year-old college professor who has used LSD off and on for three years. She said Ron promised to give up drugs three months ago and she is sure he will keep his promise. (Betty has never used drugs.)

Betty's doctor advised her not to risk having children because of her fiancé's history with LSD, so she intends to remain childless or adopt. Naturally, this hurts us deeply. We think Betty should wait and make Ron prove himself before marrying him. So far we have avoided meeting him, which has made Betty very cool and distant to us. We don't want to attend her wedding, let alone foot the bill for it. Are we wrong?

BETTY'S PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Yes, I can understand your concern and heartache over the fact that your daughter has chosen to marry a man who has been into drugs, but at 26, she's an adult and is entitled to make her own decisions — right or wrong. Meet Ron. It will improve your relationship with Betty immediately. Don't foot the bill for a wedding if you don't want to, but do attend. It's entirely possible that Ron will stay clean. I hope so. Think positive.

DEAR ABBY: Every time I buy my husband a gift, his mother says to me in front of company, "You didn't buy him anything. It was bought and paid for with HIS MONEY." You see, I have never worked outside the house, but I am raising four children, and I keep a clean house and cook good meals and I've made the children's clothes and my own since they were tots.

What do you say? Do I earn any of the money I save from the household allowance he gives me, or not?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: You probably "earn" a lot more than you get. DEAR ABBY: Please don't throw this away without answering because it's no joke. I'm a guy whose nipples protrude very, very conspicuously. They show through my shirts, and people are always making remarks like, "Hey, you need a bra." However, the fact is, my chest is not unusually large — just my nipples. Several years ago I read that mothers who wanted to breast-feed their babies were advised to pull on their nipples so they would protrude, and their infants could nurse more easily. I remember now that when I was a kid (in about the sixth grade) I had a habit of doing that unconsciously while I studied. I would appreciate it if you would consult some authority on how to get my nipples back to normal, if it's possible.

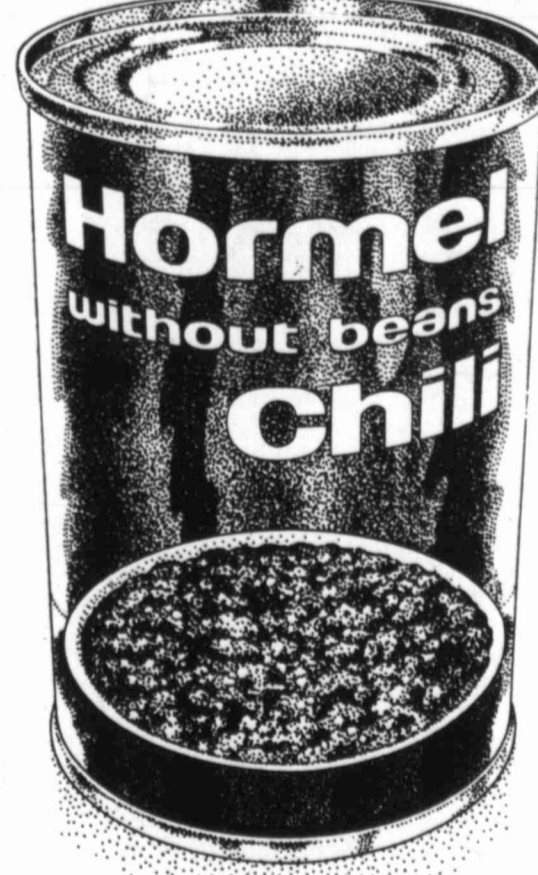

SELF-CONSCIOUS

DEAR SELF: Two suggestions: Cover them with tape to flatten. Or have the protrusions surgically reduced by a plastic surgeon. Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please. Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Royalty Offers Figure In Sale

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A new style of offshore oil lease sale opened here today with 10 of the 297 tracts in the Gulf of Mexico up for royalty bids instead of cash.

In a royalty bid, the tract of sea bottom would go to the bidder that offered the federal government the biggest share of future income from oil or gas found by drillers.

Interior Secretary Rogers

C. P. Morton ordered the experiment to see if royalty bidding would bring new faces into offshore oil drilling — and perhaps more cash to the federal Treasury.

Sealed bids were acceptable until 30 minutes before the 10 a.m. sale. Interior's Bureau of Land Management office here rented a hotel ballroom for the occasion.

Previously, offshore oil drilling leases were sold to the bidder who offered the most "bonus" money.

Bonus sales have brought the government some $12 billion over the past 20 years, but government royalty on oil and gas production was limited to 16.6 per cent.

Congressional critics have argued that the bonus system favors major oil companies because they could raise the most cash and squeeze out independents.

Further, they said, federal income might have been much higher in the long run with big royalty deals, instead of a lease bonus and small royalty.

The experiment aroused objections from many oil company executives with R. W. Bybee of Houston, operations manager of exploration for Exxon Co., U.S.A., among the most outspoken.

Bybee said royalty bidding could bring out irresponsible operators willing to offer unreasonably high royalty to get the lease and gamble on raising drilling cash later on the strength of the lease.

NEVER TOO LATE — S. W. Folsom, 78, of Little Axe, Okla., received the Purple Heart award Tuesday, 55 years after he won it on a battlefield in France in World War I. Gov. David Hall, who made the presentation, noted the Choctaw Indian had been discharged without anyone's noticing he had qualified for the award.

Air Traffic Controllers Are Creating Slowdowns

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sporadic slowdowns by some air traffic controllers have combined with airport construction projects and weather problems to create major delays in flights to several cities in recent weeks, the Federal Aviation Administration says.

The worst delays are occurring at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport, which is undergoing major runway construction work, but delays also have been reported at airports in New York, Washington, Pittsburgh, Miami and other cities.

Most of the delays are caused by the construction work and by weather conditions, the FAA said Tuesday. However, it also acknowledged there had been sporadic slowdowns by air traffic controllers unhappy with labor negotiations.

The FAA previously has stated it had no evidence of slowdowns, even though numerous airplane passengers reported their pilots have told them their flights were being delayed because of an air traffic controller slowdown.

"We have found no concerted slowdown by controllers," FAA spokesman Dennis Feldman said Tuesday. "There have been isolated cases, very isolated cases, but nothing of any dimensions whatsoever."

Several airlines said their flights had been delayed at Chicago, Washington and New York recently and one official said some of the delays appear suspicious. However, all said it was almost impossible to pinpoint the reason behind the delays in most cases.

Mayor's Aide Takes Bride

DETROIT (AP) — Rhythm and blues singer Gladys Knight has married Barry Hankerson, an assistant to Detroit Mayor Coleman Young.

Young was the best man and opened up the mayor's mansion for the wedding and reception Saturday night.

Miss Knight, 29, and her vocal group, The Pips, won Grammy awards last March for best pop vocal group and best rhythm and blues vocal group.

It was the second marriage for both Miss Knight and the 26-year-old Hankerson.

Court Draws Gannon's Ire

NEW YORK (AP) — The Rev. Robert I. Gannon says the Supreme Court has failed the United States by legalizing abortion.

Comparing the high court to a moral rock of Gibraltar, the Jesuit priest said: "We thought it was a Gibraltar that would never fail us. Well, now it has failed us."

Father Gannon, former president of Fordham University here, spoke Sunday at the annual Red Mass of the Guild of Catholic Lawyers.

Sinatra Aides Offend Prince

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Britain's Prince Charles, in a meeting with reporters, says he was charmed by singer Frank Sinatra but not by the "creeps" and "Matia types" who surround him.

Prince Charles, who said he met Sinatra on two occasions, had no inhibitions about his comments in the session on Sunday. Later, an aide said the Prince's remarks were not to be printed.

Knife Slaying Investigated

HOUSTON (AP) — Police investigated today the knife slaying of a Houston housewife.

Patricia Clifford Elbert, 24, was found dead Tuesday on the living room floor of her northwest Houston apartment.

Detectives said it appeared she was surprised by an attacker while she was washing her hair. They said her husband, Charles D. Elbert, was at work.

A maintenance man at the apartment — complex — told police he saw a man climb out of a window in the Elbert apartment. The maintenance man said he notified the property manager who discovered the body and called police.

Mrs. Elbert, who was fully clothed, had been stabbed in the chest, detectives said.

Aramburu's Remains Stolen By Leftists

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Armed men, believed to be leftist Montoneros guerrillas, overpowered cemetery guards and stole the remains of former President Pedro E. Aramburu early today, police sources said.

President Isabel Peron met with her ministers several hours later. The meeting had been set Tuesday, but its agenda was apparently changed after the robbery of Aramburu's casket became known.

The daring robbery appeared to be an act of defiance by the Montoneros who announced last August they were going to wage all-out war against the government of Isabel Peron, whom they accused of "betraying the revolutionary ideals of Peron."

Police sources said Montoneros slogans were sprayed on the tomb in the Recoleta Cemetery from which Gen. Aramburu's body was stolen.

He was buried there with state honors in July 1970 after leftist Peronist guerrillas kidnaped and killed him.

Aramburu was one of the army officers who toppled the late President Juan D. Peron in September 1955. Peron returned to power in July 1973 and after his death last July 1 was succeeded by his widow, Isabel.

Cemetery guards reportedly told police that two young men remained hidden inside the aristocratic Recoleta Cemetery, where many national heroes are buried, after its gates were closed to the public Tuesday. They carried guns and subdued several watchmen.

Early today the two guerrillas opened a side gate to the cemetery and a hearse and several cars carrying about 20 persons, including several women, drove in. Aramburu's casket was placed inside the hearse and the group then fled, the police sources said.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower says the Watergate break-in was a minor incident compared to the cover-up, which left the public "more cynical and skeptical about politicians and politics."

Mrs. Eisenhower, the daughter of former President Richard M. Nixon, is cohosting the Mike Douglas Show being aired this week.

In taping sessions, she said of Watergate: "A tragedy for the nation that something as minor as a political bugging, which has gone on since the beginning of time my parents campaign plane in 1968 was bugged by the (Hubert) Humphrey campaign ... that people in power could make the mistake of trying to cover up something that was really unimportant and let this whole thing mushroom and balloon until it became what it did."

Briscoe On Hand

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe will dedicate a new arthritis clinic Thursday at the Texas Children's Hospital.

The governor also will report on plans for mounting a statewide program to improve care and facilities for more than one million Texans suffering from the disease.

Forsan Shares District Lead

BY TROY BRYANT

Forsan, Bronte, and Jayton retained their monopoly over District 3-B opponents Friday night as they each came up with big wins to remain in a tie for the district lead.

All three teams are 2-0 in district play and Bronte and Forsan hold perfect 5-0 season records. Jayton has been beaten once.

Sterling City and Roby each have 1-1 records in the district while Sands, Loraine and Hawley are 0-2 in district play.

Both Bronte and Forsan have impressive records as Bronte has outscored opponents 184-16 in five games while Forsan has outscored opponents 144-18 in five games.

In two games, Forsan has yet to be scored upon in district.

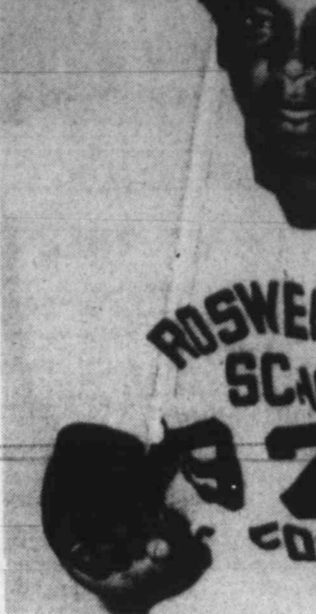

This week, Sands travels to Jayton. Forsan travels to Loraine. Bronte is at Roby, and Sterling City is at Hawley.

Friday night results were Bronte over Sands 49-2, Jayton over Hawley 26-7, Sterling City over Loraine 21-0 and Forsan over Roby 31-0.

Football Fatal To Roswell Boy

GRIDDER DIES — Donnell Hunter, 17, senior at Roswell, N.M. Goddard High School died Tuesday night of spinal injuries received in a football game between Goddard and Lovington High School.

ROSWELL, N.M. (AP) — Donnell Hunter, a Roswell Goddard High School football player, died today of injuries he received in a football game Friday night.

The 17-year-old youth died of neck and spine injuries at the Eastern New Mexico Medical Center in Roswell, hospital spokesman Kenneth Bridge said.

Hunter, the son of Jewelene Hunter of Roswell, was injured while making a tackle in the closing minutes of a game between Roswell Goddard and Lovington High School. He was admitted to the hospital Friday night. Bridge said the youth never regained consciousness.

Doug Ragsdale, an assistant Goddard football coach, said the coaching staff thinks that while Hunter was making the tackle the ball carrier's knee hit his head, forcing it back and causing damage to the youngster's spine. "The accident was totally freakish," Ragsdale said.

SWC DEFENSIVE PLAYER OF WEEK — Pat Thomas, Texas A & M defensive back, left, with Aggies defensive coordinator, Melvin Robertson, pose in film room at AggieLand. Thomas has been selected as Associated Press Defensive Player of Week for his work against Texas Tech this past Saturday. The Aggies beat Tech 28-7, in the Southwest Conference title race.

Hamlin, Ballinger On Top In 6-AA

BY TROY BRYANT

Hamlin and Ballinger remained on top of the District 6-AA district standings after Friday night's action as Hamlin defeated but Hamlin is 2-0 while Ballinger is 1-0.

Coahoma, who shared the district lead last week, dropped slightly in the standings as they suffered a tie at the hands of Anson.

The battle for the lead will develop this Friday as Ballinger hosts Hamlin, with the winner of that game and Coahoma, if Coahoma wins Friday night, expected to shoot it out for the district title.

This Friday night Coahoma is at Winters. Hamlin is at Ballinger, Anson is at Stamford and Colorado City is idle.

Last Friday night, Coahoma and Anson tied 20-20. Hamlin defeated Winters 26-12, and Colorado City edged Stamford 7-6.

Coahoma's Putt Choate took over the lead in scoring in District 6-AA after Friday night's action, as he scored six points in the game and the Bulldog defense held previous scoring leader John Booker of Anson scoreless.

Choate has scored 64 points on ten touchdowns and four extra points to outdistance Hamlin's Jones with 63 points and Anson's Booker who has 60 points.

Coahoma's Jody Bennett appeared in the top six scorers at sixth place as he scored 28 points on four touchdowns and four extra points.

Buckey Selected Top Back Of Week

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) —

North Carolina State quarterback Dave Buckey, with his team trailing 21-0 in the third quarter against Virginia, refused to believe the Wolfpack was doomed to its first defeat in six games.

Buckey calmly engineered touchdown drives of 76, 80, and 74 yards, capping two of them with two-point conversions to give the Wolfpack a 22-21 victory.

Today, he was named The Associated Press' college back of the week.

Buckey's performance included 23 completions in 30 attempts for 306 yards, breaking a school record held by Roman Gabriel of the Philadelphia Eagles.

"It was the most fantastic performance under pressure I've ever seen," said State Coach Lou Holtz.

Buckey, a junior from Akron, Ohio, had to come up with big plays time and again. On his first touchdown drive, State was faced with a fourth and five at Virginia's 12. Buckey passed to his twin brother, Don, at the Cavalier 20.

Later, on a fourth and 12 at the Virginia 36, he hit Roland Hooks on a pass over the middle for a score.

He got the winning two-point conversion play from the bench, looked at the Cavalier defense, and decided it would work.

Buckey rolled left, held the ball until he was hit, and pitched it to Hooks, who went untouched.

Buckey, a slightly built, quiet economics major, couldn't quite believe it when he learned of his selection.

His mouth dropped open, and it took a while for him to say, "It really surprised me. That's quite an honor."

Because of his size — 6-foot and only 155 pounds in high school — Buckey was sought by only a few colleges, including Kent State and Miami of Ohio.

In winning Back of the Week honors, Buckey beat out:

Quarterbacks Cornelius Greene of Ohio State, Bruce Hill of Arizona, Gene Swick of Toledo, Gary Scheide of Brigham Young, Tom Shuman of Penn State, Steve Joachim of Temple, Neal Jeffrey and Mark Jackson of Baylor, Steve Pisarkiewicz of Missouri, Fred Solomon of Furman and Sherman Smith of Miami, Ohio.

Aggie Named SWC Defensive Standout

By The Associated Press

There's this one play in the Texas A&M-Texas Tech game where Red Raider quarterback Tommy Duniven lobs the ball high to 6-foot-4 Calvin Jones.

It's a sure completion — only here comes 5-foot-10 Aggie cornerback Pat Thomas like an acrobat off a trampoline to bat the pass away.

"Pat Thomas is the quickest defensive back I've had in 24 years coaching and can jump right up there with any receiver because of the tremendous spring in his legs," says A&M defensive coordinator Melvin Robertson.

Thomas, who knocked down four passes, made seven unassisted tackles and sacked the quarterback once as the Aggie defense dominated Saturday in a 28-7 victory over Tech. His play earned him The Associated Press Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Week award.

Not far behind was Baylor linebacker Derrel Luce, who made 15 unassisted tackles and recovered a critical fumble in the Bears' 21-17 upset of Arkansas.

The 175-pound Thomas has amazing physical strength. "He can bench press 280-300 pounds and normal for someone his size and height is 185-200 pounds," says Robertson. "He's a real hitter."

Thomas was recruited from Plano High School which usually is a football power under Coach John Clark.

"Pat started three games for us as a freshman and he's a junior now and they've only caught two passes off of him all year," Robertson adds. "With Pat on one side and Tim Gray on the other we've got the two finest cornerbacks in the country."

Thomas says he is content at defensive back although he occasionally gets the itch to carry the ball like he did at Plano where he was an All-State running back.

"Sometimes I wish I could handle the ball, but I think defense is my best position... maybe the pros will take a good, long look at me," Thomas says. "I feel I can cover anybody."

"Sometimes I wish I could handle the ball, but I think defense is my best position... maybe the pros will take a good, long look at me," Thomas says. "I feel I can cover anybody."

Not far behind was Baylor linebacker Derrel Luce, who made 15 unassisted tackles and recovered a critical fumble in the Bears' 21-17 upset of Arkansas.

The 175-pound Thomas has amazing physical strength. "He can bench press 280-300 pounds and normal for someone his size and height is 185-200 pounds," says Robertson. "He's a real hitter."

New Home Wins Pair

NEW HOME — Two girls' cage contests opened season play here Tuesday night with New Home winning a pair over Ackerly of Sands.

The host high school scored 54-47 victory and the junior high emerged victorious, 28-25.

In high school court action, New Home's Johnston's netted 27 and Sands' Connie Hughes sacked 18.

Jill Floyd of Sands and New Home's Burrow shared scoring honors in the junior test, both registering 20.

Scoring: New Home — 14, 16, 11, 13, 14; Sands — 14, 11, 10, 12, 17.

Junior high: New Home — 2, 10, 8, 8-28; Sands — 8, 4, 6, 7-25.

Liddy Wins Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP) - G. Gordon Liddy, the silent man among the original Watergate defendants, was released today on $5,000 bond after serving 21 months in jail.

He had been the only one of the first seven defendants still behind bars, serving a minimum sentence of six years and eight months.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell released Liddy from the District of Columbia jail pending appeal by Liddy on two convictions, one for the June 17, 1972, break-in at the Democratic National Committee's headquarters and the other for conspiracy in the Ellsberg break-in case.

The appeal on convictions for conspiracy burglary and wiretapping in the original burglary has already been heard by the U.S. Court of Appeals. Arguments for the Ellsberg break-in conviction have not yet been scheduled.

FAR OVER GOAL—Members of the Communication Workers of America were told at a breakfast held at the Holiday Inn this morning that they had exceeded their Howard County United Way campaign quota by over $1,000. Dora Roberts (left) chairman of the Employee Division of the drive, was on hand to extend congratulations to Louise Hamilton, Wilma McLain and Sue Broughton (left to right); for the successful surge. Ms. McLain is the CWA steward of Local 12101, Ms. Broughton serves as vice-president.

Herd Culling May Increase Shortly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the rate has tapered off lately, Agriculture Department figures show dairy farmers in the first nine months of this year sold more cows than they did in the first three quarters of 1973. A spokesman for the National Milk Producers Federation said Tuesday another round of herd culling soon may occur because of high feed prices and other production costs, through slaughter prices of dairy cows are down sharply from a year ago.

The USDA figures show producers trimmed about 127,000 cows from their herds from January through September, compared with

NEIL FRYAR

Neil Fryar FB Chief

Neil Fryar was elected president of the Howard County Farm Bureau at the organization meeting of the board of directors Tuesday evening.

Fryar, a Howard county native and active in many things including vice presidency of the Howard County Fair, succeeds Johnnie Walker, president for the past two years.

Larry Shaw was elected vice president, and Darwood Blagrove was named secretary-treasurer.

Board members made plans for attending the Texas Farm Bureau Federation annual meeting in Dallas Nov. 14. The chapter here will be entitled to nine voting delegates. At the annual meeting Saturday, members had adopted resolutions to be submitted for state consideration.

cutbacks of approximately 114,000 head during the same nine-month periods of both 1973 and 1972.

Selling was heaviest a year ago when beef demand helped elevate slaughter prices for culled milk cows. About 30,000 were sold in September last year, compared with 8,000 last month, according to figures published by USDA's Statistical Reporting Service.

The report said total milk production in September, estimated at less than 9.13 billion pounds, was up 3 per cent from the same month last year.

That was because of higher production per cow. Herd inventories—estimated at 11,132,000 head in September—were down 2 per cent from a year earlier.

According to the National Milk Producers Federation spokesman, some dairy farmers apparently slowed down herd culling because cow slaughter prices dropped so much—less than one-half of what they were a year ago—and to see what might happen to feed prices.

But new USDA crop estimates show feed grain production will be smaller than indicated Sept. 1, meaning that high prices for dairy rations will continue.

Appeal Denied

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin today denied a rehearing of the appeal of Orville Davis, who was sentenced to life as a participant in the Stephen Currie robbery-murder. The Glasscock County case was tried in Midland. The appellate court upheld the conviction in September.

Revocation Plea Filed

A 1966 model car, taken by a driver from an acquaintance in Big Spring, was involved in non-payment of gasoline at Fina Truck Stop here Tuesday.

Authorities also questioned the driver about two checks reported stolen in Stephenville, two forged in San Angelo, and another 1974 model car borrowed from a car lot here, said District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore.

The two cars are missing still, Moore said.

Moore has filed a motion to revoke probation Dillard Curtis Johnston is serving for previous car thefts. Johnston Tuesday was transferred from city to county jail, where he is being held without bond.

Law enforcement organizations in the path of the trek have asked the Howard County Sheriff's Office to hold Johnston after the revocation hearing in 118th District Court.

Trustees Take Another Look At Building Idea

Voicing a "get on or off" mood, Howard College trustees took another look Tuesday at the possibility of a community-type building that might seat upwards of 4,000.

John Garv and Darlye Hohertz, architects commissioned for an early study, reviewed previous proposals, then exhibited a draft of another idea. They were told to get with Dr. Charles Hays, college president, to try and come up with a plan which would incorporate the idea of a facility with a permanent seating capacity on the order of 4,000.

In the meantime, Dr. Hays is to run another estimate on funds which might be needed or available from various sources such as private gifts, government aid, and bonds. He hopes to have the package, together with a rough draft of suggested form, to present to the board at its November meeting.

Earlier, it had been pointed out that within about eight years the college will be virtually free of tax

Alaska Pipeline Act Gets Court Blessing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has upheld the constitutionality of the Alaska Pipeline Act and has agreed to decide whether the pipeline's builders must pay for a lawsuit which delayed its construction.

Other cases which the court agreed Tuesday to hear will deny whether states may deny welfare benefits for unborn children and whether widowers may be denied Social Security benefits which widows receive.

The court also agreed to review Pennsylvania laws providing state assistance to private school pupils and a Texas law requiring approval of a majority of property owners for bonds issues.

The pipeline act was challenged by Byron T. Brown, a Phoenix, Ariz., businessman who proposed a rival plan calling for a pipeline suspended from towers. Brown challenged a provision in the act which ruled out most legal challenges to the permit granted to the Alyeska Pipeline Service Corp. for a surface pipeline.

On March 7, U.S. District Court Judge Joseph Waddy of Washington, D.C., ruled that the pipeline act was "a valid, constitutional exercise of the power of Congress to limit the scope of judicial review."

The Supreme Court affirmed Waddy's decision in a brief order in which it did not explain its reasoning.

The court agreed to hear the appeal of Alyeska from a 4-3 decision of the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington that it must pay costs of an environmental lawsuit which held up pipeline construction.

The suit was filed by the Wilderness Society, Friends of the Earth, and the Environmental Defense Fund, and consumed 4,455 hours of lawyer time. The appeals court said the environmental groups were entitled to their expenses because they acted in behalf of an important public policy.

The amount of the costs has not been determined.

Federal regulations give states a choice of whether to count unborn children in computing benefits under the state-federal program of aid to families with dependent children. Iowa, one of 35 states which does not count them, has appealed a decision of the federal circuit court in St. Louis that the state is obliged to do so.

Rehab Center Inks Pact

Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center has signed a contract with Medical Arts Hospital in Lamesa to provide physical therapy services for that hospital, according to Jack Davis, director of the center here.

For the time being, a therapist will be sent to Lamesa on Tuesday and Thursday until the case load can be determined.

The center has also submitted a contract to another major West Texas medical facility in a nearby town which they hope to hear from in the near future, according to Davis.

Adult Scouters' Retreat Scrubbed

Intense rains have washed out the adult retreat and work weekend at the Buffalo Trail Scout Ranch in the Davis Mountains.

Art Hyman, Lonestar district executive, was notified today that six inches of rain fell at the ranch Sunday and Monday, making it almost impossible to get in or out. The road leading to the Alpine Wing was washed out. A new date will be announced later.

Howard and its contiguous counties produced 150,758,354 barrels of oil in 1973.

Indications are that this figure may be exceeded in 1974, not so much through additional discoveries, but in the rehabilitation of marginal wells which now have become profitable to produce.

The largest producer in the area — and for all of West Texas for that matter — is Scurry, which has a common corner with Howard. One of the few Texas counties with a record of a billion barrels of production, Scurry made 91,821,000 barrels in 1973.

Even without this total, Howard and the other counties which have common borders with it produced 58,927,354 barrels of oil. This was 2.3 million barrels better than the previous year.

During 1973, the eight counties in this vicinity produced 413 million barrels of oil a day.

Since production was discovered in each of them they have a combined record of having produced nearly 2 1/2 billion barrels of oil.

Oil prices did not jump until the Arab oil embargo in the latter part of 1973, but if the resultant hike has put a $7 a barrel value on oil (the price rang is from $5.20 to $11 a barrel), then these values would prevail for an equal production this year.

Emphasizing the oil industry in Big Spring and Howard County automatically brings up the oil related industries here such as Cosden Oil & Chemical Company, Cabot Corporation, Sid Richardson Carbon Company, W. R. Grace and Company, Agriculture Chemicals, and Skelly Oil Company.

Cosden managed to chalk up a good year during the past year despite the uncertainties which plague business and industry in general.

Foremost of these during 1973 was, of course, the increasingly intensive energy crunch and the shortage of raw materials resulting in their escalating costs. West Texas was no exception to this.

COSDEN BEING Lessening the impact to some extent was an improvement in product prices.

Long-range planning has long been a strong point of Cosden which is a wholly-owned subsidiary of American Petrofina, Inc., and as such, is a member of the diversified Petrofina, S.A. Group operating in 22 countries.

Cosden's capital budget this year calls for growth, not only at Big Spring complex but also at the Cos-Mar facility at Carville, La., and at Cosden's Calumet City Ill. plant where a substantial expansion in polystyrene facilities is in progress.

The new catalytic reformer and feed desulfurization unit at the Big Spring Refinery came on stream early in 1973. This major facility makes possible reduction or removal of lead alkyls from motor gasoline and also strongly boosts the potential for aromatics extraction.

During the previous year, Cosden processed 21 million barrels of crude oil and 2.1 million barrels of other hydrocarbon feedstocks.

CABOT CORPORATION Cabot Corporation's carbon black producing plant showed about a five per cent increase in the volume of business last year, according to O. F. Gee early in 1974.

The payroll of $1.2 million for 106 persons also climbed during 1973 with personnel added.

is in Pampa. The local plant has expanded in 1970 and 1971 and has operated at capacity ever since.

The company manufactures carbon black, which is distributed for producers of tires, ink, plastics and other products.

Major amounts of their supplies come from Cosden Oil and Chemical Co., Pioneer Natural Gas Co., and Texas Electric Service Co.

SKELLY OIL As part of its continuing program to increase the production of natural gas liquids, Skelly Oil Company made several significant improvements at the East Vealmoor natural gasoline plant last year.

The plant is owned 91 per cent by Skelly and is Skelly operated. The plant has a rated capacity of 55 million cubic feet per day of gas and the gas gathering system extends throughout Howard County and several adjacent counties.

During 1973, East Vealmoor processed approximately 52 million cubic feet of inlet gas per day. Total production of natural gas liquids averaged 500,000 gallons per day.

A total of 53 employees operate the plant and related facilities. Glen D. Welch is plant superintendent, succeeding C. A. Embry, who retired during 1973.

W. R. GRACE and Co. There are three units on opened their plant in Big Spring 12 years ago this week, going into operation on Oct. 17, 1962 with a big parade kicking off their operation here.

H. A. Schaedel is plant manager and they have around 30 employees. They manufacture anhydrous ammonia gas, using natural gas in their product.

The anhydrous ammonia gas is later placed in tanks which are sold to farmers for fertilizing agriculture crops. Their production has showed a steady climb during their twelve years in Big Spring.

SID RICHARDSON Carbon black produced in Big Spring by Sid Richardson Carbon Company are shipped to virtually all major tire and rubber companies for the production of tires of all types and other rubber products.

Carbon black oil (feedstock) is obtained from Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. for producing carbon black. There are three units on which many grades of carbon black are produced. The three units have a total of 13 furnaces or reactors.

Except for periodic maintenance, the reactors are on stream around the clock for each calendar day. The production of these units can exceed 120,000,000 pounds per year.

Richardson Carbon Company has 47 employees locally whose yearly earnings will exceed $525,000.

This is a private corporation whose home office is in Fort Worth. The sales office is in Akron, Ohio. A research pilot plant is located west of Odessa. There is also a plant similar to the Big Spring plant in Addis, La., near Baton Rouge.

The Big Spring plant was put on stream in 1961 with two units and one central storage tank. There were 49 cars in the bulk fleet at that time. The bulk car fleet now numbers 103 at this plant alone.

There Is Still Oil In Places

According to most reliable estimates, an estimated 146 billion barrels of oil have been found in Texas reservoirs.

Twenty-five per cent (36 billion barrels) already has been produced, and about 12 billion barrels can be recovered with existing technology, according to the Governor's Energy Advisory Council.

Of the remaining 98 billion barrels, some 39 billion barrels are potentially recoverable by using enhanced recovery methods. This incidentally, is more oil than Texas has produced since 1866 to through 1973.

There are many problems connected with additional recovery of oil. Oil tends to cling to the small surrounding rock spaces where it is situated. Techniques such as introduction of steam or inert gases into the reservoir to reduce viscosity, or to absorb the oil, or break the rock adhesion are being used. But they generally are

Big Sanctuary Is Authorized

HOUSTON (AP) — The building committee of the First Baptist Church of Houston has voted to award a contract to build a new $6.65 million home on the city's northwest side.

A move-in date was set for July 4, 1976 after Sunday's collections totaled more than $925,000.

The Rev. John Bisagno, pastor of the church, said the figure represented about $50,000 more in cash and pledges than was needed by the weekend to avoid having to abort plans for the new church complex.

The price tag was estimated at $3.5 to $4 million in 1973 but inflation boosted the total price to $7 million, Bisagno said.

Bisagno said the 7,000-member church had about $6 million in cash and pledges before Sunday's collections.

Golden Anniversary Year May Hit Billionth Barrel

Oil was discovered in commercial quantities in Howard County in 1925. Next year when the 50th anniversary of this discovery — Hyer No. 1 Clay — is commemorated, the county will have produced nearly a half billion barrels of oil.

This has contributed much to the stability and prosperity of the county in the intervening years. Besides being a major industry within its own right, oil production has spawned the largest industrial complex, has yielded a spin-off of other industries, and has consistently been the largest single source of tax revenue for nearly a half century.

Exploration continued, with oil being found in the Iatan-East Howard area, then on the Harding lease southwest of town. The Howard Glasscock field pushed westward to the World pool near Lee's.

TEN-CENT OIL

Then came the Depression and 10-cent oil, with more oil wells out of the question. In the meantime, however, the initial discoveries had prompted local investors to build the first pipeline and refinery (Howard County Refining Co.) just west of town, drew fabled Josh Cosden to erect his refinery and a pipeline to a loading rack at Coahoma; drew the Richardson and then the Great West refineries.

In the mid 30's the North Iatan and the Snyder pools were discovered and extended. During World War II, Northern Ordinance began developing what later became the Moore and Varel fields (an extension of the original Harding well).

MOST PROLIFIC

After the super-boom in the Canyon Reef play of Scurry County had mellowed, other wildcaters came this way and tapped the prolific Vealmoor (Canyon Reef) field on the central north county line. This spread to the East Vealmoor, then the Luther Silurian-Devonian and the Fusselman fields, the Oceanic Pennsylvanian, and a host of pools around Vincent, including the Vincent, Vincent South, and Sara-Mag and Shallow Coronet plus a considerable number of Pennsylvanian producers.

Then came further extension of the Howard-Glasscock area, the discovery of Big Spring Fusselman (a fairly prolific yielder), and several smaller ones including the Hutto, Wolfcamp (also Leonard), the Bond Canyon in western Howard, the small Brookfield near Knott, Modesta (Pennsylvanian), the O'Daniel, Coahoma and Moss Lake Fields. Then came some small Sprabery producers south of Knott and at Coahoma, and the deeper Fusselman production on the Morgan Ranch just southeast of Big Spring where what promises to be the best of the field Fowler No. 1-D Morgan, awaits completion.

Siamese Twins Both Perish

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A three-day effort to save Siamese twins born to an East Los Angeles couple has ended with the girls' deaths.

A hospital spokesman said death, which came late Tuesday, was attributed to heart failure, a common cause of mortality among Siamese twins. The pair had trouble breathing almost from birth Sunday. Doctors said lung development was faulty.

The babies, born to Mr. and Mrs. Sevino Morales, were delivered by Caesarian section after a full term pregnancy. Joined at the lower two-thirds of the chest and the upper onethird of the abdomen, they weighed 12 pounds, 12½ ounces together.

Nine hours after birth, doctors operated to close an abdominal opening.

Mrs. Morales, 34, was reported in good condition. She has four other children.

STILL HUNTING

One of the remarkable facts of the long history of oil play here is that operators are still wildcatting for new discoveries. While the "big" easy ones seem behind, scarcely a year goes by but what some additional areas of production are confirmed.

Part of Cosden's inducement was a promise by J. L. Lancaster, T&P railroad president, to take the residual fuel oil if Cosden would locate on the T&P. Lancaster made a mint of money for T&P when he filled the tank farm with cheap oil.

AREAS LEFT

In the boom days of the late 1920's, Howard County suddenly became the oil well supply center of West Texas, but in the late 1930's with the heavier production being developed deeper in the Permian Basin, the focus of supply shifted to Odessa.

The surface map of Howard County shows a big area just south and east of Big Spring still open, and somewhat the same condition in the extreme southwest. But this doesn't necessarily correspond to geological maps, but then petroleum geology in this country sometimes follows the axiom "oil is where you find it." With prices for new oil being quoted up to $11 (and maybe going higher), who is to say that wildcaters won't look for it.

In 1973, the last year that production figures are available, Howard County produced 16,043,642 barrels of oil, an average of 43,955 barrels a day, which means that at the end of this year the cumulative total will be something like 480 million. Given a continued extraordinary demand for crude oil, 1975 just might yield a 20 million barrel year, attaining that half billion mark.

Oil-Water Mix Profitable One

According to the adage, oil and water do not mix, but they make a mighty practical and profitable mix in this area.

Water has become a potent force in the prolongation and productivity of West Texas oil fields. Oil pools that might have been written off two decades ago are still going strong, some making more than in their earliest days of flush production, thanks to water.

The reason is secondary recovery — the use of water, or some other agent, to help drive oil out of stony formations. While there has been some reinjection of natural gas, and some experimentation (not too successful) with carbon dioxide gas, thus far water has done the best and most economical job in this sector of West Texas.

MANY UNITS

Howard County has some dozen to 15 oil pressuring units. Two major ones in the "grandpappy" Howard-Glasscock field are the units operated by Sun Oil, and the Conoco production system, followed by Wood and McShane, plus half a dozen cooperative or individual efforts.

Man In Custody After Murder

HOUSTON (AP) — Mayor Fred Hofbein will head a delegation leaving Houston Wednesday for Nice, France, where sister city resolutions approved last December will be formalized Saturday.

The county's first oil and gas lease was signed back in 1912, but there was no serious exploration until 1920, although some early artesian water well attempts were "spoiled" by oil films. S. E. J. Cox picked Big Spring for his five-ring oil circus, but the only well he hit was just over the line in Glasscock County (General Oil No. McDowell) and even that didn't produce.

"SQUEEZES" OIL

In essence, water is injected through strategically located wells below the oil producing zones. Oil, being lighter than water, tends to be forced out and upwards by this steady pressure. Thus, more oil is literally squeezed out of the formations than could ever be extracted by natural methods relying on gas in place and-or gravity to the well bore.

Theoretically, a barrel of water pumped information displaces a barrel of oil. Of course, it doesn't work quite that well, but still the water does maintain bottomhole pressures as the oil is displaced. It's a big bargain when you consider that 35 cents worth of water may help produce oil valued at more than $100.

HOUSTON (AP) — Mayor Fred Hofbein will head a delegation leaving Houston Wednesday for Nice, France, where sister city resolutions approved last December will be formalized Saturday.

FIRST STRIKE

There were intervening, continuous tries for production, most of them home-supported operations, but in 1925 Fred Hyer, given a lease on the Clay Ranch, drilled a wildcat (which had it been one location further south would have been dry) and made a commercial oil well.

This set the stage for Steve Owens and Sam Sloan of Colorado City to drill on the Otis Chalk ranch where in April 1926 they hit a slightly deeper well which also had considerable gas. This launched a boom which broke wide open with prolific wells on the Dora Roberts ranch.

In eastern Howard County, the Chevron-Atlantic Richfield unit is by far the largest, but Walsh & Watts has a sizeable secondary recovery project. Again, there are a few small water-flood operations.

The bulk of water in the Howard-Glasscock field is that produced coincidentally with the oil, notably from the Clearfork and Gloriaeta, but with some supplemental water. The Wood McShane unit relies on fresh water.

The Chevron-Arco and the Walsh and Watts units look to the Colorado River Municipal Water District for water, most of it brackish.

Times change — and so does Cosden Oil & Chemical Company always just a step ahead.

Forty-five years ago Cosden used the then-latest thermal cracking process to convert West Texas crude oil into gasoline and fuel oils.

Today Cosden is a fully integrated refining/petrochemical complex, taking oil and natural gas fractions all the way from wells to high-octane gasolines, high-impact plastics and a host of petrochemicals by means of exotic catalytic cracking and reforming processes.

It has also grown into a multi-location company with a plant at Calumet City, Ill., and a joint-venture plant near Carville, La.

Cosden was ahead of the ecologists with a new unit capable of producing gasolines without lead alkyl additives. Cosden has installed sulfur extraction units. It has steadily increased its potential for petrochemical output and is one of the top four producers of high impact polystyrene in the nation.

Cosden's research and development, always looking toward tomorrow, has resulted in new products as well as patented processes which have been licensed to concerns in 17 countries around the world.

Meanwhile, Cosden's 881 faithful employees in Howard County go right on turning over 23 million barrels of raw feedstock into the finest fuels, petrochemicals and plastics. It's a matter of pride with them.

Well Total Declines But Production Is Up

Despite the fact that Howard County has fewer producing oil wells, oil production has climbed to an 18-million-barrel per year pace for the past year, assuming full production of the allowable.

The production is up from around 16 million barrels for 1972.

The oil production for the county comes from 40 fields and 3,753 wells, as compared to 3,839 wells in 1972.

Unless Howard County has a drilling boom, the number of producing wells will decrease each year, an engineer noted.

The Howard-Glasscock field, the first oil discovery in the county in 1925, continued to be the top producer for the county with an average of 13,626 barrels per day producing from 1,521 wells. Close behind were the Iatan East field off the Howard formation producing 10,777 barrels per day from 846 wells and the Vealmoor East field producing 6,349 barrels per day from 73 wells.

All told, Howard County wells produced an average of 49,649 barrels per day.

enroute to the 18,212,920 barrels projected for this year.

The figures show a marked increase over 1972, when 44,622 barrels of oil was produced per day for a total of 16,331,575.

The 1972 total brought Howard County's total oil production since discovery in 1925 to a grand total of 466,141,316 barrels.

The average well production-per-day figures out to 13.22 barrels for 1973.

Here are the fields in Howard County, the number of wells and daily production.

Veteran Oil Well Servicer

"I claim to be the oldest oil well servicer in the Permian Basin. C.V. Wash, president of Forsan Oil Well Service Inc., said.

Wash, who opened for business 33 years ago, may be considered typical of the oil well servicers, who maintain wells. The city has been there 48 years, he said, "and I've been there 46 years.

"Snyder was on the boom shortly after the business was established. "Sprabery came in the same time.

Another major field developed in that era was the Jameson North Strawn Field.

The largest business in Forsan is one of eight listed under oil well services in the Big Spring telephone directory.

Charles Wash, one son, is vice president of the corporation, and Bob Wash, another son, is secretary.

A family-owned corporation, Forsan Oil Well Service employs about 50 persons, including three roust-about crews. Assets include 11 oil well maintenance rigs and three hot oil rigs.

In addition to contracting by the hour, the firm owns and operates 25 wells.

Forsan Oil Well Service has hot oil crews, the president explained, to separate stored crude oil when necessary for piping — from basic sediment and water.

C.V. Wash said his firm handles almost everything after drilling crews leave a well.

There's A Stars Of Morning Program Difference Gather To Meet The Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you think there's not a dime's worth of difference between Republicans and Democrats, take a look at this guide published in the Republican Congressional Committee newsletter:

"Democrats buy most of the books that have been banned somewhere. Republicans form censorship committees and read them as a group.

"Republicans consume three-fourths of all the rutabaga produced in this country. The remainder is thrown out.

"Republicans usually wear hats and almost always clean their paint brushes.

"Republicans employ exterminators. Democrats step on the bugs.

"Democrats eat the fish they catch. Republicans hang them on the wall.

"Republican boys date Democratic girls. They plan to marry Republican girls, but feel they're entitled to a little fun first.

"Republicans sleep in twin beds — some even in separate rooms. That is why there are more Democrats."

NEW YORK (AP) — The ABC television network held a meet-the-press powwow the other day to show off the stars of its new "AM America" morning program, which starts Jan. 6. It also emitted an announcement.

The announcement was that Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N.C., who isn't seeking re-election, and former U.S. Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson will appear as "guest contributors" on the show once every other week.

ABC already has said former New York Mayor John Lindsay also will be a guest commentator on the show, but on a once-a-week basis.

The stars of the two-hour show — Bill Beutel of WABC-TV here, Stephanie Edwards of KABC-TV in Los Angeles and Bob Kennedy of WLS-TV in Chicago — spoke, among other things, of their hopes for the show's success.

Miss Edwards, who for several years has co-hosted a local morning program on KABC, sought to quash rumors she might play the trombone — which she played in high school — on the new network show.

She said that would be silly and besides she isn't in shape.

She also said she finds it embarrassing when someone asks if she thinks she'll be better than Barbara Walters of NBC's durable "Today" show. That also is silly, she said.

Sally Quinn was among the gaggle of scriveners taking all this down.

Miss Quinn faced the same will-you-beat-Walters nonsense in August 1973, when she signed to co-host the "CBS Morning News," only to leave in January and return to reporting for the Washington Post.

I guess I should have asked her how things are going now, but (a) ABC had the floor, (b) too many journalists are interviewed these days, and (c) "Weekend," NBC's new latenight magazine program, is airing a story Saturday called, "Whatever Happened to Sally Quinn?"

A whatever-happened-to essay on former Vice President Spiro Agnew is part of tonight's special one-hour version of ABC's "The Reasoner Report," a half-hour show also seen early Saturday evenings.

Alas, the show has no more luck in interviewing Agnew than "CBS News," which dispatched a reporter last week to attempt talking with him on the first anniversary of his resignation as vice president.

President Ford Plays Tennis

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford did some office work and played a game of tennis Sunday.

With Mrs. Ford home from the hospital and recuperating from surgery which removed a cancerous breast, the Fords gathered for Sunday breakfast.

Later, the President played tennis with White House physician William Lukash.

Memory Drug Erases Unpleasant Memories

WASHINGTON (AP) — Doctors are experimenting with a memory erasing drug that can rid a surgical patient of unpleasant recollections about the operating room.

Called lorazepam, the drug still is experimental and available only for medical research.

When administered intravenously before surgery, a patient can remain awake in the operating room under a local anesthetic and not remember the experience.

"Anesthesiologists frequently are faced with a situation where they prefer to have patients awake while anesthetized with a regional block technique. However, the patient desires to have no recall of the operating room or even leaving the hospital room," said Dr. David V. Heisterkamp of the University of Colorado medical center in Denver.

Heisterkamp and Dr. Peter J. Cohen, also of the University of Colorado, reported Tuesday on their research during a meeting of the American Society of Anesthesiologists.

The doctors said the drug is under consideration by the Food and Drug Administration. If it eventually becomes more widely available, Heisterkamp and Cohen said it might find other applications in medicine where blocking recall of the trauma connected with medical treatment would benefit a patient.

The drug has been available abroad under the trade name Atiban for several years, the doctors said. It has been used largely as a sedative.

The Colorado doctors have studied nearly 100 patients. Their report Tuesday was about results with the first 69.

Patients were given the drug 45 minutes before surgery. Thirty minutes later they were shown a double size picture of a dollar bill and asked to describe it.

Then they underwent surgery in which they remained awake under a local anesthetic. During surgery the patients were asked if they recalled the dollar bill and again 24 hours later.

A group of control patients not given lorazepam also were shown the dollar bill and asked to recall it.

Those administered the drug at 5 milligram doses had no recall at all. Most of those receiving 3 milligram doses also had no recall.

Control patients had perfect recall, the doctors said.

Still uncertain is what side effects the drug might have.

Gas Heating

Fresh, warm air gently circulating from floor to ceiling... so nice to take for granted. Comfort is clean gas heat.

And that dependable comfort is such a bargain here in West Texas. Though gas energy costs a little more than it used to, gas furnaces still cost less than one-third as much to operate as similar electric furnaces.

And at the same time you're saving money with gas heating, you can also have a warm feeling knowing that you're helping conserve energy. Gas heating uses only half as much energy as an electric system doing the same job.

Comfort, efficiency, and economy... you get it all with natural energy gas heating.

Strauss: Tax Plan Outrage

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Robert Strauss, Democratic national chairman from Texas, has called President Ford's proposed income tax surcharge "an outrage."

In a speech Saturday to a party fund-raising dinner, Strauss predicted that the Administration's anti-inflation package would be defeated because "the President's proposals do not treat people fairly."

Strauss said Americans were willing to sacrifice, but they want to be treated equitably.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., told a news conference before the dinner that President Ford "associated himself" with Watergate by pardoning former President Richard Nixon.

Energy Utilization Is Said Productivity Key

LUBBOCK — Man must move toward maximum efficiency in diverting solar energy into human food through plant and livestock production, a university president today told an international gathering of scientists.

The scientists were meeting at the opening day sessions of Frontiers of the Semi-Arid World, a symposium at Texas Tech University. The meeting is sponsored by the International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies at Texas Tech and the Consortium of Arid Lands Institutions.

Gerald W. Thomas, president of New Mexico State University (Las Cruces), spoke on 'Environmental Sensitivity and Production Potential of Semi-Arid Range Lands.'

"Researchers report that one per cent of useable solar energy is utilized by plants. In semi-arid regions, less than one per cent of the useable solar energy is utilized," Thomas said. "One-one-thousandth of the available solar energy is utilized by cattle in the form of plant foods, Thomas said, and one-fourty-thousandth of the available solar energy becomes meat for human consumption."

Arid and semi-arid lands cover approximately one-half the exposed surface of the earth. "There is evidence of desert encroachment into every continent on earth," Thomas said. "Some is caused by natural geological changes; some is accelerated or caused by man."

"Vegetation is the key to productivity," he said. "We must move toward the maximization of vegetation. In doing this, we must plan for what is needed and how it may best be used. We must allow solar energy to flow through all systems to determine its effects and how it best may be used."

Thomas called for a change of production practices to eliminate those which are wasteful. He also called for research to learn to make the most use of solar energy in the form of plant and animal foods for man. He called for fuel

Mansfield Says Ford Program Inadequate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, calling President Ford's economic program only a partial answer, has urged a larger government role in the economy.

"To 'Whip Inflation Now' — WIN, as the slogan goes — will require action, action that encompasses something more and different than a 10-point program which begins by imposing greater tax burdens on families with annual incomes of $15,000; more than increased acreage allotments for peanuts, cotton and rice production," Mansfield said Tuesday.

"Words and slogans will no longer satisfy the nation," he said in a nationally broadcast Democratic response to Ford's economic program. He called for fuel help the economy is only a partial answer.

"Sacrifices are needed across the board if the nation's economy is to be restored," the Democratic leader said. "In my judgment, the people of this nation are prepared to make those sacrifices."

Mansfield said the nation cannot come to grips with inflation, recession and unemployment "unless we begin to move in the direction of"

Mandatory controls on wages, prices, rents and profits, as necessary. —Launching a rationing system for energy and other scarce materials, coupled with a tight conservation program.

Fryrear Is Stumping For Good Management

LUBBOCK. — "Unless man learns to properly manage the soils in semiarid areas, he may turn formerly productive grasslands and food producing areas into wastelands and deserts," a U. S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) agricultural engineer said here today.

Speaking before the international symposium on Frontiers of the Semi-Arid World held at Texas Tech University, Donald W. Fryrear, director of USDA's Agricultural Research Service station at Big Spring said that maximum production or even continued production from dryland sandy soils requires very careful management of the soil and water resources.

Generally speaking, dryland farming has three basic problems: 1 water, 2 soils, and 3 wind erosion.

Addressing himself to the problem of water in the Southern Great Plains, Fryrear said that potential evapo-transpiration exceeds rainfall. As a result, annual crops will experience moisture stress conditions sometime during their growing period. The effect on crop yields, he said, depends on the intensity of the water stress condition.

For example, crops such as cotton, he said, can adapt to limited rainfall and will produce good yields even though distressed during the July period, providing they are well established in June, have reserve soil moisture, and receive adequate rainfall during August.

"Sandy soils crust if intense rains occur and the crust is frequently hard enough to inhibit seedling emergence, Fryrear said. "Moreover, sandy soils compact easily and frequently develop compaction layers when cultivated. These compacted zones must be mechanically broken up or they result in retarded root development and reduced yields."

Wind erosion is a major annual problem on millions of acres of sandy soils, according to Fryrear, and the amount of damage varies with the availability of rainfall and the amount of cover on the soil surface.

"During periods of favorable rainfall," Fryrear said, "tillage methods can be used to reduce the erosion problem. During periods of deficient rainfall the soil surface becomes very dry and tillage will have minimal effect upon the wind erodibility of the soil surface, and may even increase the erodibility of the soil surface," he added.

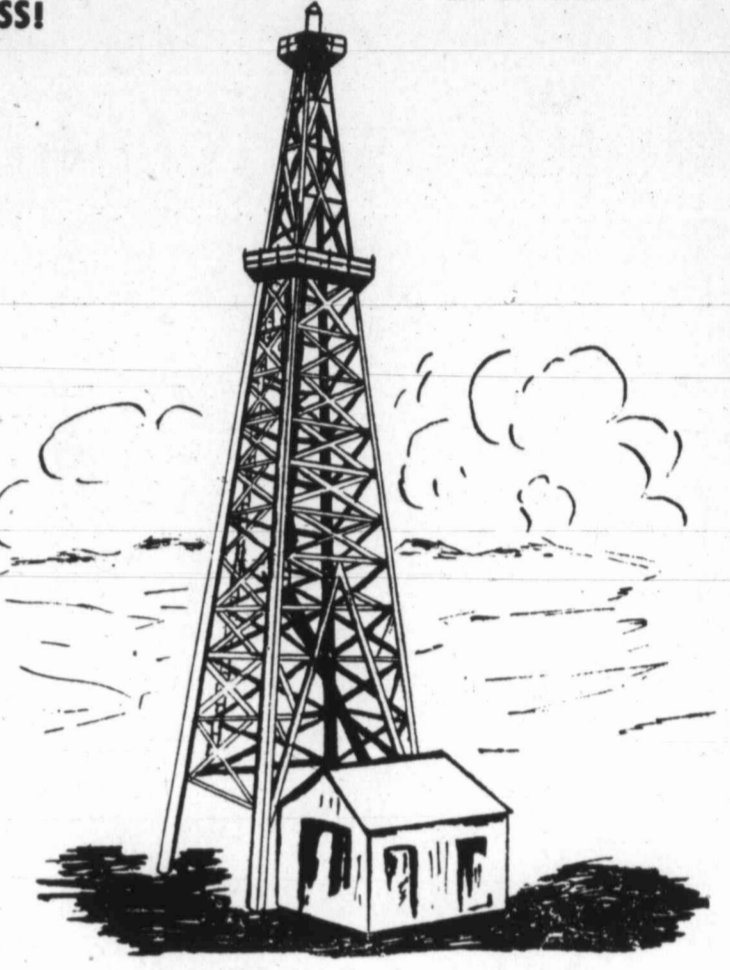

Mulching a sandy soil may reduce surface crusting, wind erosion, and evaporation losses from sandy soils, but mulching may also increase weed, insect, and disease problems, according to Fryrear. He added, however, that if the farmer recognizes that, he may have to adjust his management practices to control weeds and insects, but the benefits from mulching will more than pay for the cost.

CONGRESSMAN CHARLES SANDMAN

SANDMAN CAPITALIZES ON IMPEACHMENT NOTORIETY — Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr. is seeking re-election in New Jersey's second district, and he isn't letting voters forget his highly publicized role as a defender of former President Richard Nixon on the House Judiciary Committee. "When he speaks, the nation listens..." the billboard proclaims.

Gunman Injured In Shootout

DALLAS (AP) — Police said a 21-year-old man was hospitalized in serious condition following a shootout with officers in West Dallas Friday night. A police spokesman identified the man as Sentry DeBase Jr. One of the officers was shot in the knee, he said. The spokesman said Patrolmen Jimmy E. Little and William A. Craven had answered a disturbance call to find a group of men holding a man armed with a pistol. The men released the armed youth as the officers approached, and the man then began firing at the officers, spokesman said.

Watergate Notoriety Helped, Says Solon

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr. of New Jersey figures he is in an unusual position for a Republican this year. He claims to have benefited from the notoriety of Watergate. The 32-year-old conservative congressman is trying to capitalize on the attention he commanded as a staunch defender of former President Richard M. Nixon during the House Judiciary Committee hearings on impeachment. He claims that out of 8,000 letters from his traditionally Republican district in South Jersey, all but 300 praised him for his barbed attacks on other committee members for allegedly accusing Nixon without enough evidence. The figures are termed nonsense by Sandman's opponent, William Hughes, 42, a lawyer who came within 4,000 votes of unseating Sandman in 1970. What's more, if Sandman's claims are accurate, his district must be one of the few around to feel so kindly toward Nixon.

According to a recent survey by a polling organization at Rutgers, the state university, nearly two out of three New Jersey residents opposed President Ford's pardon of his resigned predecessor. In contrast to Sandman, the other New Jersey Republican on the Judiciary Committee, Rep. Joseph J. Maraziti, has been saying as little as possible about impeachment and the pardon, even though his district is heavily Republican. Maraziti also originally sided with Nixon on all impeachment votes. A first-term congressman from a sprawling rural, middle-class district in central and northwestern New Jersey, Maraziti is being seriously challenged by Mrs. Helen Meyner, a liberal Democrat, the wife of former Gov. Robert B. Meyner. She ran a surprisingly strong race in losing to Maraziti by 25,000 votes in the 1972 Nixon landslide.

Both Sandman and Maraziti are in tight races, according to Republican leaders. "Don't quote me. But it's rough all around," said one GOP state official. The advertisements don't mention that the photograph was taken when Sandman and nine other hard-line Nixon supporters reversed their stand to vote for impeachment last summer. Sandman has tried to put some distance between himself and the administration. He recently described the Nixon pardon as untimely. "I'm a lawyer and I know you can't pardon anyone before he's at least indicted," Sandman said.

Maraziti also originally sided with Nixon on all impeachment votes. Texas Woman Crash Victim

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — A Texas woman was killed Monday in a three-vehicle crash two miles south of here on the rain-slick U.S. 67.

Trooper Fred Clark of the State Police identified the victim as Earlene Johnston of near Alvin. Her age was unknown.

'Bad Times' Expected

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Consumers are more pessimistic about the economy and about their own financial situations now than at any time since World War II, according to a University of Michigan survey.

Fifty-seven per cent of 1,438 persons interviewed by the Survey Research Center said they expect economic "bad times" during the next 12 months.

About 54 per cent said they expect bad times to last at least five years.

"To all intents and purposes, we are at the lowest point now since the survey started after World War II," Jay Schmiedeskamp, center director, said Sunday night.

The new car and the housing markets are considered off limits by a wide majority of the consumers surveyed, said Schmiedeskamp.

Fifty-two per cent said it was a bad time to buy a car, and 61 per cent said the same thing about purchasing a home.

The latest survey findings show "consumers have not become habituated to inflation. To the contrary, pressure on the family's financial situation continues to mount. "The survey data suggests that consumers are watching price tags more closely than at any time in the last 25 years," said Schmiedeskamp.

"During the last 18 months, the index of consumer sentiment has declined faster and to a lower level in comparison to the declines which occurred prior to previous recessions," the report said. "Past experience suggests that the present combination of very deep consumer pessimism and decline in real incomes might make for a real recession."

Guard Units On Duty In Troubled Areas

BOSTON (AP) — National Guard units were standing by today in armories around Boston following scattered violence associated with busing for school desegregation. President Ford refused a state request for federal troops.

Gov. Francis W. Sargent mobilized the National Guard on Tuesday and about 500 guardsmen were sent to armories. Other units were put on standby for possible callup.

The governor made the move after citing "stabbing, stonings and disorders" in schools Tuesday, mostly at a high school in the predominantly white Hyde Park section.

Eight persons were injured at racially tense Hyde Park High, including Joseph Crowley, 15. He suffered what a Carney Hospital spokesman described as a deep slash in the abdomen.

Explosion Hurts Five

SAGINAW, Tex. (AP) — An explosion rocked a plastics manufacturing plant today, injuring five persons who were hospitalized with burns. All were listed in satisfactory condition.

The blast occurred at mid-morning at the Styro-Crest Inc. plant in this community just north of Fort Worth when employees said liquid butane ignited.

The place started blowing up at the back. Glass was flying all over the place, said machine operator Randy Stewart, one of 15 other employees who escaped injury.

Plant supervisor Steve Walker said the three small buildings occupied by the firm erupted into flames fed by combustible stores. "Everything in there is flammable. There is no way it will ever stop burning," Walker said.

Walker said the complex was valued at about $3.5 million.

led his fourth best heart, and East's jack was taken by declarer's king.

With only four tricks in top cards, Sharif had to establish his long club suit as a source of tricks, so at trick two, he led a low club. Theron grabbed the ace of clubs and returned the queen of hearts! This brilliant defensive play forced declarer to concede. He was presented with an extra trick in the form of dummy's ten of hearts, but there was no way to run his clubs—the high club in dummy blocked the suit, and Theron held the ace of diamonds over the king, so there was now no way for declarer to get back to his hand.

Note that the play to tricks two and three must go exactly as they did if declarer is to be beaten. If Theron does not win the first club, Sharif continues with a diamond trick, the ace of hearts serves as an entry to cash the good clubs. And if Theron does not return the queen of hearts, Sharif will have time to clear the clubs while still holding the heart entry.

Now this game was not being played for pennies, and at the current price of copper, the number of pennies Sharif lost on this deal would total up. Yet Sharif was the first to congratulate Theron on his fine play, and reported this deal so that Theron's brilliance received the credit it deserved.

Opening lead: Three of ♥.

During the 1974 World Pairs Olympiad, the International Bridge Press Association, at its annual meeting, presented Omar Sharif with its "Sportsman of the Year" award. There could not have been a better choice. Sharif's graciousness and enthusiasm have become a byword wherever he plays. Here is a case in point, from a rubber bridge played in Paris some years ago.

Sharif held the South cards, and became declarer at a contract of three no trump after a straightforward auction, though North's raise to game was slightly aggressive. West, the late French internationalist Georges Theron,

Help Of KKK Is Spurned

HOUSTON (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe has rejected an endorsement by the Texas Fiery Knights of the Ku Klux Klan.

Scott Nelson announced Tuesday the endorsement of both Briscoe and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby "because both are against union agency shop proposals that would require payment of union dues even by those who have no desire to do."

In rejecting the endorsement, Briscoe said he "will not accept endorsement of any arm of the Ku Klux Klan."

"I do not agree with any organization which tried to pit one citizen against the other," Briscoe said.

Limit Solons To Two Terms, Man Proposes

DALLAS (AP) — Tony Hodges—who looks upon himself as sort of a professional citizen—wants Americans to vote out any Congressmen Nov. 5 who have served over two terms.

Then he hopes the new representatives will support an amendment to limit all Congressmen in the future to two terms.

Hodges calls the whole idea "The New American Revolution," and if things go as he hopes, there could be a whole new system of rotating Congressmen by 1976—just in time to celebrate the nation's bicentennial.

"The first American revolution was fought to kick the amendment proposal and also a list of incumbents who exceed the limit of two terms," he said.

Speaking almost non-stop and tapping the table for emphasis, Hodges said, "Incumbents and their seniority system are the ones who set up tax breaks for the rich, so that the richest people in America pay no taxes and the poor and middle-income people support the nation."

Hodges denied that the two-term restriction would keep politicians with valuable experience out of office. Rather, he contended the restriction would remove electioneering from temptations from vested interests and allow more minority members to seek public office.

"Right now 90 per cent of the congressmen are rich men—bankers, lawyers, corporation executives. We need a more adequate reflection of where the people are at," he insisted. "And we can do it. People have lost faith in their government and are ready for change. Just wait and see."

Leon Jaworski Takes In Play

NEW YORK (AP) — Leon Jaworski, who resigned Saturday as the special Watergate prosecutor, attended the Sunday matinee performance of the Broadway musical "Lorelei," starring Carol Channing.

"It's the first chance I've had to relax," Jaworski said.

Cowmen Getting Story Across

By The Associated Press
 After Wisconsin cattlemen carried out their threat of slaughtering calves to protest their economic plight, Oklahoma cattlemen went ahead with their own protest activities.
 At Hugo in southeastern Oklahoma, the president of a national cattlemen's association attacked the U.S. Department of Agriculture and said ranchers must get their story across to Washington.
 In eastern Oklahoma, meanwhile, cattlemen talked about shipping cattle to Betty Ford, the President's wife, as a protest.
 In Hugo R. L. Moore, president of the Clarksville, Tex.-based Independent Beef Producers of America IBPA, told an audience of 250 ranchers that the industry faced bankruptcy in six months unless ranchers band together and tell the story of their plight "in force" in Washington.

were raised when Moore asked, "How many of you have written one or more of your congressmen about your situation?"
 "Let me tell you something," he added. "Washington doesn't give a damn about you. I don't understand why we have allowed ourselves to be led into this mess."
 The Hugo audience showed interest in organizing an Oklahoma branch of the IBPA but by the end of the meeting the consensus was to go with the Texas group since it was in existence and was more advanced in its program.
 Dwain Brown, a Hugo rancher who organized the Tuesday night meeting, said a second meeting will be held next Tuesday to elect a director to the IBPA, which already has expanded into eight states. Moore said the organization is seeking 75,000 ranchers nationally.

Fair Weather Is Lingerin

By The Associated Press
 A high pressure ridge over West Texas promised the state another day of fair weather today.
 Skies were clear at dawn with temperatures mostly in the 40s. Junction had the coolest reading at 37, and Corpus Christi the warmest, 54.
 Fair weather was expected to continue over Texas through Thursday with slightly warmer temperatures accompanying a wind shift to the south.
 Cool dry air moved into the state Tuesday after a front that also brought traces of precipitation to some areas. Maximum temperatures Tuesday were in the 70s.

Moore delivered a scathing denunciation of the USDA, charging it with giving away "our grain and fertilizer and sanctioning excessive beef imports."
 "We want them to rectify their mistakes and then get out of the ranching business and let a few experts do the driving," Moore said that emergency government loans at low interest rates are not the answer to their problems.
 "How can we pay any rate of interest when we are already losing money?" he asked. "I never saw anything as tough as this in my business life."
 Moore said his organization was very hesitant to participate in a "calf-kill."
 "This kind of business has set us back in our efforts to talk personally with the President about our problems," he said.

President's Pals Set For Nov. 28 Reunion

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Late next month 23 men from points as distant as South Africa will leave their families during the Thanksgiving holiday week and fly to Washington just to have brunch.

But the 11 a.m. meal on Thanksgiving Day is a special occasion for each of them.

The brunch will be held at the White House and it will be the 44th annual gathering of the 30-30 Club, representing those who helped old South High in Grand Rapids to an undefeated football season in 1930.

"I'd mortgage my house if that was the only way I could get the money for this trip," is the way Arthur Brown, the squad's starting left tackle and club secretary, assessed the invitation from an old teammate. Brown's old teammate is President Gerald Ford, who was the starting center and only player on the squad to make all-state this season.

Despite his national leadership role, Mr. Ford is only the club's vice president and no change is likely this year, Brown said.

Twenty-four players are living and just two have told Brown they cannot attend. Two others still have not replied.

In addition, the team's coach and assistant coach, a former South High School principal and two team managers are invited.

The Thanksgiving gatherings mark the date of the last game the team played as a unit.

Until this year, the annual get-togethers always were held in Grand Rapids, and Ford used to fly back from Washington for them during his 25 years as a congressman from west Michigan.

The White House brunch is limited to members and their wives because "everybody wants to get in the act," Ford's office here says at least 190 persons have told them they played football at South with him, Brown said.

Asked about other events besides the brunch, Brown said he knows of none although most club members intend to spend at least three days in Washington.

Seven of the President's teammates are retired; three work in auto plants; three in real estate; three are educators; two are business executives; one is in the grocery business; one an industrial supervisor; one a salesman; one a sailor; and one a funeral director.

Edward A. Preston, a reserve quarterback, is making the trip from Johannesburg, South Africa, where he is an executive with Lock Joint Pipe Co.

Memphis People Told To Reduce Power Use

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Memphis residents are being asked to turn thermostats down, wear sweaters and shiver a little now or face the prospect of mandatory power blackouts or brownouts this winter.

The Memphis Light, Gas & Water Division issued the call after its electric supplier, the Tennessee Valley Authority, said the uncertainty of coal supplies will not be able to meet power demands.

In addition, coal prices have been skyrocketing and the higher costs have been passed along to consumers.

"We are encouraging voluntary curtailment everywhere. We haven't asked plants to cut back production yet, but that is a possibility," said Car Crawford, customer relations director for the city-owned utility which serves 600,000 customers.

"We think a lot of electricity and the coal it takes to make it can be saved by cutting back use of electric energy in marginal areas. A 100-watt bulb burning for 10 hours uses a pound of coal. Any pound of coal we save now gives us a better chance of making it through the winter months without brownouts."

TVA has told the utilities to which it supplies power that they must reduce usage by 20 per cent or face the possibility of blackouts. Dozens of cities in the multi-state TVA system have announced plans to reduce street lighting by as much as one-half.

Memphis is considering mandatory electric allocations, with fines and surcharges to enforce compliance.

"Cutting back 20 per cent is going to be difficult for most anybody," said Fred Niell, superintendent of electrical operations in Memphis. "The general public doesn't want to accept this shortage as fact."

New Civic Club

LAMESA — A new civic club, the Lamesa Jaycees was chartered Thursday night with 25 members, under the sponsorship of the Big Spring Jaycees.

Officers elected include George Clark, president; Jimmy Young, internal vice president; Ron Lovell, external vice president; Bob Crawford, secretary; Bruce Woodard, treasurer; Eddie Robinson, state director; and directors, Gabriel Estrada, Gerry Brown and Norman Schoonover.

Reservations For MS Dance Taken

Reservations are being accepted by Mrs. Eddie Cole (7-6927) and Mrs. Neal Roberts (7-5645) for the Friday evening dance benefiting the Multiple Sclerosis fund-raising effort.

The social affair will be held at Cosden Country Club and script is $6 per couple. Dancing will commence at 9 p.m. and continue to 1 a.m. This is one of the major activities supporting the Permian Basin MS chapter, which participates in the national fight against MS.

Clate Risley Shot To Death

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Clate A. Risley, 58, president of the Worldwide Christian Education Ministries, was shot to death a few feet from his Chicago office Friday.

AND THAT'S THE WAY IT IS — Cathy Cronkite, daughter of television newsmen Walter Cronkite, is shown with Richard Thomas in a segment of the "Waltons" series. Cathy, 24, says she is serious about pursuing her acting career.

Newsman's Daughter Serious About Career

LOS ANGELES (AP) — She looks somewhat like a young Katharine Hepburn, with her freckled good looks, boyish figure and long auburn hair.

The resemblance would please her, since her idol is the legendary Kate.

She bears a famous name, this Cathy Cronkite, but she aims to make it on her own as an actress. Her luck so far?

"Well, I've had one part in nine months," she admits. "Sometimes it's discouraging, but then I think of the actors who have been here eight years and never got a single part."

Cathy has the same kind of buoyant optimism that has helped make her father,

Walter Cronkite, the longest-lasting anchor man in television network news. She also has determination. To pay expenses, including drama classes at the Loft Theater, she works six nights a week in the box office of the Roxy Theater, site of the rock musical, "The Rocky Horror Show."

"It's not a bad job, especially since I get a free dinner every night," said Cathy.

She is 24, born in Washington, D. C., and grew up in New York. Her school career was sketchy — "I either got A's or F's depending on how interested I was in the subject." She has attended a few colleges, including Prescott in Arizona, where she met and married Mark Stewart, now a teacher.

They parted after two years — "we still like each other, but not as married people."

Cathy had tried acting in school, liked it enough to try for a career in New York.

All she could find was work in a student film and summer stock. Last fall a friend, Tom Laughlin, offered her a small part in his "The Trial of Billy Jack." She decided at the movie's Tucson, Ariz., location to try for a Hollywood career.

So far her only role has been in a segment of "The Waltons," which will appear in November.

"The trouble has been that whenever I go to interviews, they say, 'Where's some film?' she said. "I didn't have any film to show them, but now I do. I believe I'm good; it's simply a matter of getting a chance to show what I can do."

Lamesa Schools To Undertake Revaluation

LAMESA — Lamesa's school board authorized a revaluation program to be conducted in 1975 after a 3-2 vote during a special session Thursday evening.

Ed Fullbright, Wendell Strahan and Bob Capps were opposed by Johnny Montgomery and Dr. David Smiley in voting for a motion to enter into a revaluation program to be conducted by Southwestern Appraisal Company out of Austin.

Dallas Woods, present at the beginning of the meeting, was absent when the vote was taken although he stated that he would have voted for the revaluation program.

Cost of the project has been set at $42,100. Purpose of the revaluation is to equalize the tax load, especially between city and rural property owners. Indications are that farm land will definitely be increased in value. The last revaluation was in 1962.

Microwave To Boost Rates

West Texas may be in for a cable television rate hike, but it could be months away.

West Texas Microwave, a cable television relay service bringing Dallas-Fort Worth television signals to many West Texas cable outlets, has notified operators that it is increasing monthly rates 19.8 per cent effective Dec. 1, 1974. Jim Lancaster, local operator, said that it will have no immediate effect on rates. He indicated that operators may file a protest with FCC.

At Mercy Of Gadgets

Technology is a wondrous thing which often is viewed as the direct pathway to an idyllic life for mankind. At the same time technology creates some of the greatest frustrations of modern living.

Take the ultramodern, computerized Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) system in the San Francisco area for example. It is a $1.6 billion miracle of intricate transportation designed to carry thousands of riders on their daily rounds. BART is considered an engineering marvel and one of the most advanced systems in the world.

So what happens? Twice in four days the system failed and delayed those thousands of commuters and backed up transit traffic. In the first instance an electrical transformer blew and halted trains during the evening rush hour. In the second, the automatic doors of one train ceased to operate and hand-opening delayed all BART schedules for more than an hour.

That seems to be the biggest failing of modern technology. A billion-dollar system of marvels is put together, then some "two-bit" elements stops the whole thing. Sounds just like government — the minor issues bring a halt to the consideration of the major ones which really need attention.

Tragic Unresponse

In a recent editorial, John J. Hurt of the Baptist Standard takes his brethren to task for slow and inadequate response to the gigantic need following the hurricane and flood disaster in Honduras.

He might have been speaking to most all the American people. Seldom, if ever, has there been a disaster of this scope which has provoked so little general outpouring from our people. This concerns us, for American people traditionally have been among the most compassionate and responsive to human need, wherever it occurred. With thousands killed in one of the worst disasters on record for our hemisphere, there has been no great effort to send aid to our stricken neighbors. This was a tragedy of tremendous proportions, but it is no more so than that of the American people becoming insensitive.

Me And Machines

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

There is something frustrating about a machine talking back or resisting you. I confess I talk back to those telephone recordings which inform me that there is an indication I have dialed a faulty number, will I please do it over. When do they get these voices anyhow? — Old maids on a roller coaster? And even if it's a silky tone exuding feminine charm, it irks me to be told "This is a recording, blah blah..." I find myself talking back sharply to the recording, and then feeling silly.

OH WELL, I didn't start out to write about Ma Bell's phantoms, but rather about slot machines, or automatic vendors, as they are called in the trade. What brought it to mind is a piece quoting James E. Teele, who is program chairman of automatic merchandising at James Connally Campus of the Texas State Technical Institute.

There is something frustrating about a machine talking back or resisting you. I confess I talk back to those telephone recordings which inform me that there is an indication I have dialed a faulty number, will I please do it over. When do they get these voices anyhow? — Old maids on a roller coaster? And even if it's a silky tone exuding feminine charm, it irks me to be told "This is a recording, blah blah..." I find myself talking back sharply to the recording, and then feeling silly.

OH WELL, I didn't start out to write about Ma Bell's phantoms, but rather about slot machines, or automatic vendors, as they are called in the trade. What brought it to mind is a piece quoting James E. Teele, who is program chairman of automatic merchandising at James Connally Campus of the Texas State Technical Institute.

THE OBSERVERS that people take revenge upon the poor, inanimate machine which has gobbled up a quarter and yielded nothing in return. "People have been known to kick or bang on it," he reports. You can say that again Brother Teele, for I myself have planted the broad side of my foot against a pop machine that gulped my money and maintained a dead-pan look of innocence. Seems like I recall having tapped the sides of a contraption a time or two when it refused to keep its end of the bargain, but then I do that if my radio doesn't work. It's the old principle of providing an incentive for a balky mule.

BUT THERE is another side to it, as Teele points out. "Some people don't read the instructions on the machine," he says. (He touched a raw nerve there; I can't understand the instructions half the time when I read them.) "If the light reads 'correct change only,' that a quarter will be returned when dimes and nickles are needed." Ah, yes, I have retreated red-faced, glancing to see if anyone was watching, after having engaged in this exercise.

"Some will even slip a dime and a nickel in for a 20-cent drink and then find that they don't have another nickel," he continued. "Consequently, when they put a quarter in, they lose that 15 cents." Oh boy! There's nothing like a man mad at himself taking it out on a machine.

NOT THAT the machine is always right. You understand, I fight back only when justified. But the relay switches become faulty on more sophisticated models, or dampness or a build-up of dirt from money can give it constipation. This is a distinct possibility when the "coin verification system" gets corroded, rejects the coin or jams the device.

It is amazing what things people will try to slip into a machine, he reports. "Some people slip tops to coins with strings attached (under the delusion the coin can be retrieved), to matches, to all kinds of slugs. And most slugs are a futile gesture anyhow, since anything magnetic will jam the system.

THE SUPPOSITION is that the machine, not being on the payroll and yet merchandising at any interval at any hour, yields a lucrative return. Not necessarily so, for once in a great while one hangs and "jacks up," dumping out change, or double or treble portions of merchandise, or doing it out free. There goes a month's profits. But they're a great thing, notwithstanding.

Meantime, I'm looking for a machine that, when you put in a quarter, short changes you a nickel, starts blinking, quivers, rocks and touches off an audio system of whimpers, climaxed by a pitiful plea: "Don't, please don't. Here is your nickel... please..." Just think of your enormous satisfaction.

My Answer

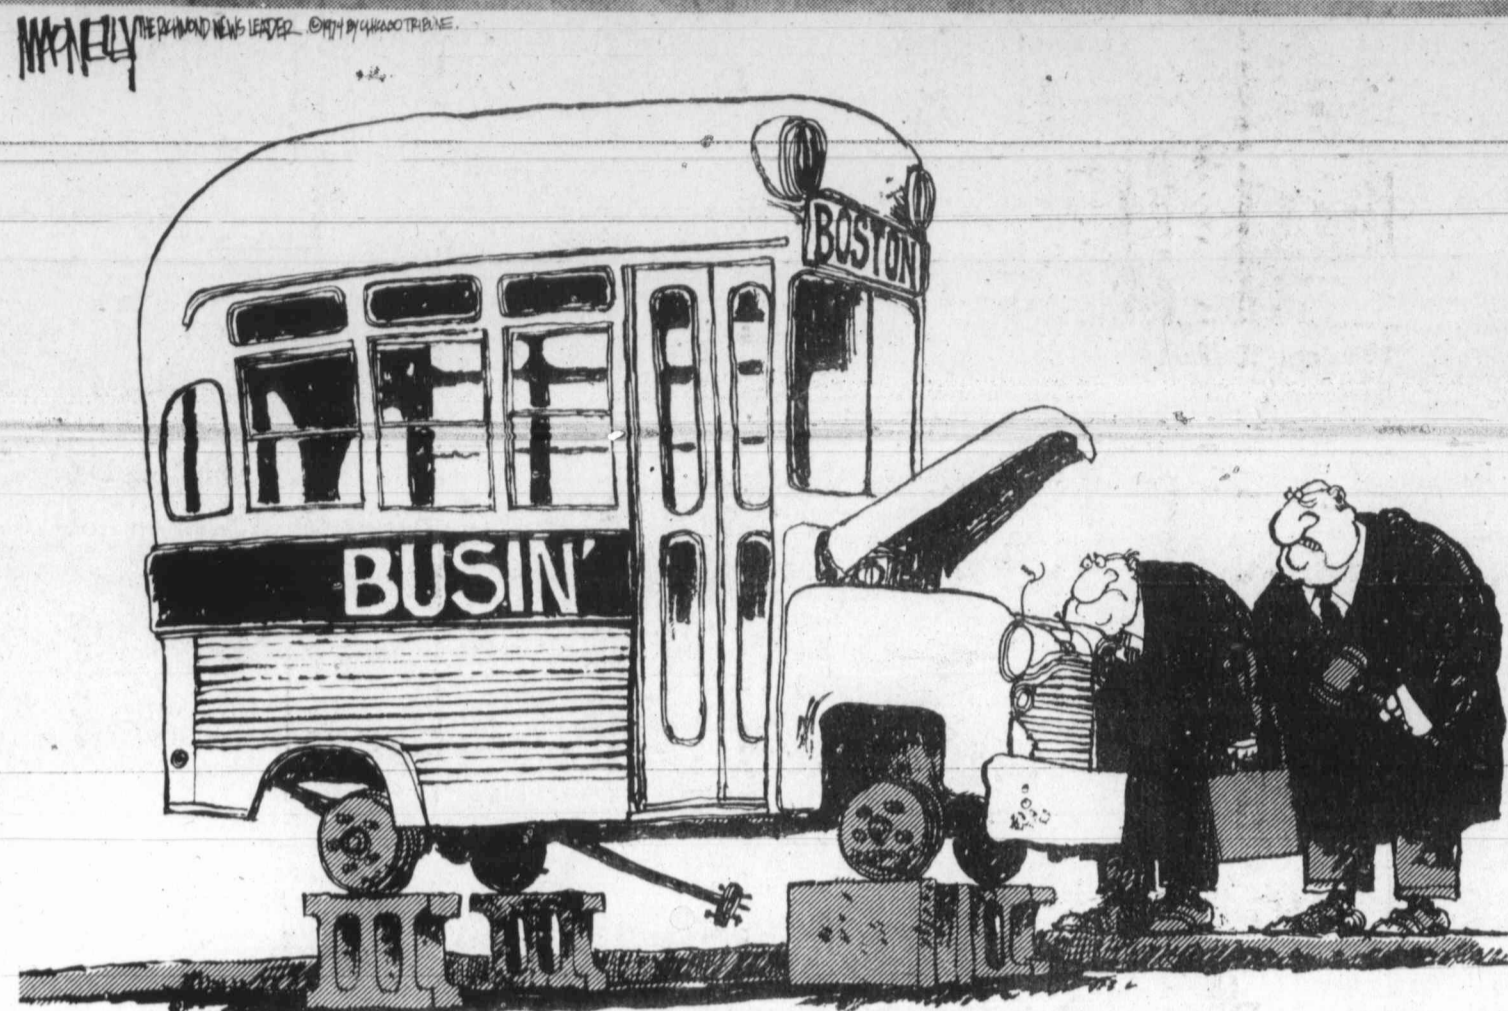

Billy Graham

You keep using the old disciples and apostles as examples for us today. I think, however, it was easier for them to have faith than for us. In our complicated society we have more temptations and greater stress. Isn't it tougher now to be a believer?

I must disagree with you. I believe as Bacon suggested — we are really the ancients, and they who lived before us belonged to the childhood of the race.

The disciples perhaps had less of a reason to believe than we do. What faith they had was a giant step, because paganism or the old order gave them so little springboard for the revolutionary faith of the Gospel. You see, ideas which have stood the test of time — as Bible truth has — win a certain kind of guarantee of their authenticity. We have today the benefit of the experience and criticism of the centuries — with regard to the claims of Christ and the life changing power of the Gospel.

The principle that Peter referred to in his great Pentecost sermon (Acts 2:16) was the accumulative evidence of the years. He said, "This is what was spoken by the prophet Joel." I suggest you consider

"THIS NEVER WOULD HAVE HAPPENED IF WE HAD STAYED DOWN IN THE COUNTRY."

Time Tampering

Robert E. Ford

Congress has done it again! Our senators and representatives have ordered the stars and the moon and sun to move forward one whole hour.

JUST LIKE THAT. NEXT THING you know, congressmen will try to walk across the Potomac River. On top of it, not on the bottom.

You know what they've done now. They've turned us back into a nation of daylight time and standard time.

The only person we know who did the sun, moon, etc., business better was a fellow named Joshua, the man who taught the Israelis the military blitz.

We are indebted to Mr. Wayne Sellers of the Palestine Herald-Press for this information about Joshua for he sent us a free Bible the other day apparently under the impression that it might do us some good. At least it couldn't hurt any.

SAYETH JOSHUA'S 10th chapter: Then spake Joshua to the orb in the day when the Lord delivered up the Amorites before the children of Israel, and he said in the sight of Israel, Sun, stand thou still upon Gibeon, and thou, Moon, in the valley of Ajalon.

"And the sun stood still, and the moon stayed, until the people had avenged themselves upon their enemies. Is not this written in the book of Jasher? So the sun stood still in the midst of heaven, and hast not to go down about a whole day."

IF CONGRESS ever tops that, the credibility gap will disappear.

You will recall that Congress ordered year-around daylight saving time starting last Jan. 6. This was designed to save 150,000 barrels of oil daily during the energy crisis.

Apparently public pressure and some easing of the oil shortage caused Congress to change its mind but not completely.

On Sunday, Oct. 27, everyone will turn their clocks back an hour, meaning everyone can get up an hour later.

Previously, standard time began the last Sunday in October. Daylight saving began the last Sunday in April, sort of a spring gift of extra sun.

The new congressional act will return us to daylight saving earlier on Feb. 23, a date when the sun rises 27 minutes earlier than it did on Jan. 15 when it stayed behind the horizon the latest of the year. It keeps on rising earlier and earlier yourself fortunate, not deprived, in that you have the enormous weight of evidence you have for the truth of the Gospel in our day.

Campaign Counters 'Rip-Off'

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The "Don't Be Fuelish" campaign ran out of energy, and some experts are saying the administration's latest drive for voluntary public action WIN will probably end up a loser.

The WIN or "Whip Inflation Now" campaign, kicked off last week in President Ford's economic message, comes exactly a year after the oil embargo led to an emergency appeal for voluntary oil conservation — an appeal many experts say has been disappointingly ineffective.

"It won't work," Dr. James Murray, a social scientist for the National Opinion Research Corp. says of the upcoming WIN campaign.

Murray, who surveyed citizen attitudes to conservation pleas this past year for the Federal Energy Administration, says: "It's a big government rip-off. The 'Don't Be Fuelish' campaign has had no influence and combining it with inflation won't have any effect either."

"Most people tend to react on how something affects them personally, not on objective information from an ad," says David Freeman, former White House energy adviser who also did studies on the government's conservation program.

The "Don't Be Fuelish" campaign and the new WIN campaign, which will include an energy-saving plea, are coordinated at the government's request by the Advertising Council — the goodwill arm of the advertising industry. The council organizes about 25 of these public service ad campaigns each year.

The production of the ads is paid for by a volunteer agency enlisted by the Advertising Council. The ads are distributed by the council free of charge, and time and space for the ads are donated by television and radio stations, newspapers and magazines.

Predicts Strong Chemical Trade

DETROIT — The chemicals business is going to remain strong in all national economies, but especially in the United States, an executive of a leading American chemicals company said here today.

European producers are not adding capacity fast enough — "even in the face of shortages" — Robert M. Coquillette, executive vice president of W. R. Grace & Co. told the Financial Analysts Federation at their fall conference. Sales and earnings of specialty chemical producers.

The ads also run for free in buses and subways.

The Federal Energy Administration approached the council during the oil embargo in October with an urgent request for a campaign on fuel conservation.

"Last year's 'Don't Be Fuelish' campaign got one of the biggest responses from the media we've ever seen," says council vice president Dean Fritchey.

Fritchey says both Ad Council staff and volunteer agency Cunningham & Walsh worked weekends and during the "Thanksgiving holiday to get the message out on an accelerated basis."

The first "Don't Be Fuelish" ad was shown during the widely-watched Super Bowl Game Jan. 13. During the next six months, media of all sorts donated a total of about $25 million worth of time and space to showing the message, the FEA says.

By early summer, "Don't Be Fuelish" began losing the popularity contest with other issues for public attention, and the campaign was begging for an occasional spot on the air or in print.

Why did it fail? For one thing, the government never put any money into the campaign itself, ad sources who asked not to be named say. Without any dollar commitment, public service campaigns must rely completely on publishers, station managers and producers for its

Anti-GOP Binge

Robert Novak

LOS ANGELES — Lower middle-income white voters of Southern California who once marched in the Nixon silent majority so fear the economic future and so bitterly resent the Republican party that a big Democratic victory here Nov. 5 seems assured.

THAT IS THE only conclusion to be drawn from our interviews in two silent-majority precincts in the San Fernando Valley which have been good barometers of statewide results. Our interviews, conducted with pollster Pat Caddell's Cambridge Survey Research organization, suggest no Republican campaigning can significantly halt the emotional tide.

The principal, largely innocent victim is state controller Houston F. Flounroy, a widely respected moderate who is Republican nominee for governor. Out of 71 registered voters interviewed, these were the results: 42 for the Democratic candidate, secretary of state Edmund G. Brown, Jr., 20 for Flounroy; 9 undecided. The reason most commonly given: Brown is a Democrat, Flounroy a Republican. Though a statewide total along those landslide proportions is improbable, such sentiment in precincts that delivered majorities for Richard Nixon and Ronald Reagan represent a political turnover.

THE OVERWHELMING preference for Brown derives from a grim economic mood. Almost all voters interviewed feel the economy is in dreadful shape and, contrary to traditional American optimism, 57 of the 71 voters guessed it would be worse a year from now. One in three saw danger of 1929-style depression. The bleak mood is heightened by unrelenting anger against Nixon. They disapprove of President Ford's pardon by nearly 4 to 1, and feel, 2 to 1, that Nixon should still stand trial. Many volunteered hope that the Republicans suffer, at least this election, for Nixon's sins.

TYPIFYING the mood is a 30-year-old grocery store assistant manager who is a registered Republican but plans to change it "the first chance I get." He is not sure he will vote Nov. 5, a common attitude that surely presages a light turnout. If he votes, it will be for Brown. He knows little about either candidate but has one overriding objection to Flounroy: "Just being a Republican."

Similarly, a retired auto salesman, a Nixon Democrat and self-described conservative, is worried Brown "may be too much like his old man" — former Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown. Nevertheless, he will vote for Jerry Brown. "I'm so disgusted with the Republicans, I've got to go back to the Democrats."

SUCH ATTITUDES run counter to high Republican strategic thinking. While Republicans stress Brown's youth (36) and inexperience and grumble that his family name is a major, unfair advantage, our voters cited youth and aggressiveness as his greatest virtues and identification with his father's eight-year regime as his greatest vice.

THE VOTER perception of Flounroy is drenched with irony. Although a major California politician for a decade, few voters know enough about him to list personal virtues or vices. While favoring Brown for governor 2 to 1, the San Fernando voters gave Flounroy a respectable 56 per cent favorable rating (compared with Brown's 69 per cent). Although moderate Flounroy has often opposed conservative Gov. Reagan, they are seen as inseparable collaborators by anti-Reagan voters.

Letters To The Editor

To The Editor: On Nov. 10th, 1975 John Paul Jones set up the first Marine Corps Recruiting Station in Tun's Tavern in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. On Sunday Nov. 10, the Marine Corps will celebrate its 199th birthday. The Marine Corps which has fought in every major conflict in which our country has been involved is the oldest and smallest branch of the United States Armed Forces and is eight months older than our country itself.

On Aug. 4, 1937, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, signed an Act which was passed by Congress, incorporating the Marine Corps League. The Marine Corps League like the Marine Corps is the smallest of the Veteran's organizations.

Next year, with the Corps celebrating 200 years of protecting American freedoms, the League is seeking to enlist new members and to contact ALL Marines in this area to help celebrate the bi-centennial program of the Marine Corps in 1975.

Memberships in the Marine Corps League is open to members of the Marine Corps or Marine Corps Reserve (male or female) who are on active duty or honorably discharged who have served 90 days or more on active duty.

All Marines reading this letter and all citizens living in the area having fathers, mothers, brothers, or sisters who are serving or have served in the Marine Corps are asked to send the name of their Marine and their address with local phone number, or if on active duty, their military address to Commandant District V, Department of Texas Marine Corps League P. O. Box 181, Big Spring, Texas 79720.

White Specks On Skin

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have some tiny little specks I noticed about three weeks ago on my legs and thighs. I went to my family doctor and he said to forget about them, but I went to another doctor who said I was turning white (smile). I am black. He said there was nothing he could do, forget about them and they may stop.

What I want to know, is it catching? Is there anything I should eat or can't eat? What causes it? — E.L.L.

There are several causes of depigmentation of the skin — loss of color. Among them are lupus erythematosus, seborrheic dermatitis, lichen planus. And vitiligo, which is the most likely one. If it had been one of the others, your doctors would have detected other signs.

But vitiligo is a curious thing. It isn't painful. It isn't harmful (except for its appearance) For reasons unknown, some folks have spots where the natural coloring pigments of the skin don't gather. You could call them the opposite of freckles — with even less understanding as to why it happens. And it is not catching!

These white spots may just stay there, they may enlarge, they may disappear as unexplainably as they came.

There have been efforts to find medications to correct the condition, but they have not been crowned with success. Diet has nothing to do with vitiligo; heredity may, but that's just maybe. About one person in a hundred experiences this.

In whites, the areas are just whiter places, but in a black, or a dark-skinned person, it can be a cosmetic disaster.

However, and this can be very important to those who don't know it, you can have cosmetics blended so they will match the surrounding skin so closely that the pale spots are very inconspicuous.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: There is a conflict of opinion amongst our circle of friends so we are turning to you for an answer. Do both male and female humans have a spleen, and is the function the same for either sex? — D.J.R.

Would that all questions coming to me could be so readily answered. The only people without spleens are those who have had the spleen removed for some reason. Its function is the same in either sex, essentially storage of reserve blood cells, and destruction of cells that have exhausted their usefulness. The spleen is a useful organ but other parts of the body can take over its duties adequately if necessary.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore."

(Revelation 1:18)

Prayer: Almighty God, help us in these few, quite moments to cease struggling and commit our thoughts to the reality of our risen Lord and Savior. Grant us the vision to see that we can never be self-reliant creatures, but children whose contentment can only be found in Your loving embrace. For Your gift of divine union we are grateful.

Big Balloon May Float Over Area On Saturday

Weather permitting, a manned balloon will be blowing in the wind over the Big Spring-Lamesa area after being launched from Las Cruces, N.M., Saturday morning of Oct. 19.

The flight is expected to end about 4 p.m. Oct. 20 near Lubbock, but wind speed and direction will determine the landing site.

Project da Vinci, which the meteorological research flight is called, is funded by the Atomic Energy Commission. National Geographic Society and Department of the Army's Atmospheric Sciences Laboratory, with the help of 15 other organizations.

The da Vinci balloon inflated with helium, will float free at altitudes between 4,000 and 14,000 feet.

Man has less understanding relative to need of the behavior of the atmosphere at these altitudes than about either the very high or very low altitudes, information from the project center states.

It is the layer which controls how much and how far pollution is carried from its source.

Video tape, film and still cameras will document the da Vinci flight.

Continuous voice contact will be maintained with the crew from chase vehicles on the ground.

Pilot for the flight is James Craig, a civilian employee of the U.S. Navy at China Lake, Calif. Vera Simons, Washington, D.C. co-pilot; Dr. Rudolf J. Englemann of the Atomic Energy Commission, onboard scientist; and Otis Imboden of the National Geographic Society, photographer.

WTCC Sees Big Help Demand

A survey made by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in September reveals that over 55,000 Mexican National "braceros" agricultural workers are needed in the 132-county West Texas area.

Agriculture loan officers of banks and county agents in West Texas, numbering 375, were asked: "If a good, workable, new bracero program could be worked out between Mexico and the United States, how many braceros do you estimate would be needed in your county?"

A tabulation of the replies from 112 of the 132 West Texas counties indicates a need for 55,854 bracero agricultural workers.

In a letter to President Gerald R. Ford dated Oct. 3, J. Fike Godfrey, executive vice president of the WTCC, stated that "over a year ago on Aug. 1, 1973, we formally called for a reinstatement of the bracero program."

"The 132 West Texas counties produce approximately 55 per cent of Texas agriculture income and using this percentage as a projection for the state, it would seem to indicate that Texas agriculture might be able to use as many as 100,000 bracero agriculture workers."

The survey was made as a direct result of a newspaper wire service story on Aug. 7, from Mexico City quoting the American embassy's reply to the Mexican government's request for reinstatement of a bracero-type program.
