STOLEN GOLD — This photo, released by undercover agents from San Angelo, shows part of the gold stolen in San Angelo and confiscated here in an arrest late Friday. The two thieves had even melted down part of the gold. They had precious stones as well as four pounds of gold, which could have been marketed at over $10,000.

Thieves Sought Contacts Here

Billy Wayne Ingram, 40, and Daniel Gene Brown, 29, both of Midland, were still in county jail here today charged with theft over $200 in connection with the Oct. 5 burglary of a jewelry repair shop in San Angelo.

Brown is also charged with burglary. Bonds were set in Big Spring where one was arrested at the Pizza Hut and one at the Pizza Inn late Friday. Justice of the Peace Walter Grice set bonds at $12,000 each here and Ruth Nicholson, justice of the peace in San Angelo, set an additional $10,000 bond.

The four pounds of gold is valued at $170 an ounce which would market for $10,880. There were also precious gems and chips.

Police investigators said the two thought they were going to make contact at the Pizza Hut to make a sale. One of the two left before the first arrest. One man and the gold were nabbed at that location.

Officers then went to the Pizza Inn and arrested the second man who had joined two friends there. Another Midland man, Sammie Busby and Billy Mike Akin, were arrested Oct. 8 in San Angelo and subsequently charged in connection with the burglary.

After the arrests here Friday, there are still several small pieces of jewelry and four weapons missing.

Robbery Motive

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (AP) — "There was no other motive than robbery," says Police Chief Thomas Ormsby of the slaying of six persons in a family bakery.

The bodies of the owner of the Donna Lee Bakery, a clerk and four customers were found in a back room Saturday night. Each had been shot in the head, and the clerk also had been shot in the throat.

The victims' wallets and handbags were missing, and the male victims' trouser pockets were turned inside out. Ormsby said the cash register at the bakery was empty but police did not know how much money was taken.

Detective Capt. George Beresick, heading the investigation, said Sunday night that he thought police would "come up with results in the next day or so."

He said three to five persons who were unknown to the victims probably took part in the slayings in this central Connecticut city.

The robbers were either amateurs or maniacs, said Sgt. Henry Crisafulli. "A pro wouldn't kill that way. He wants to take money with the least amount of trouble," he said.

San Angelo Police Detective Bill Freeman said that the two arrests in Big Spring brought the investigation to a close.

Cooperating in the arrest besides Freeman were Police Detective Richard

Hairless Ones Can Renew Their Hope

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scientists are growing long hair on mice by using a silicone mixture which they say might lead to the development of a human hair restorer, the newspaper Socialist Industry reports.

The report — headlined "Miracle Maker" and "Bordering on the Fantastic" — said some experiments are being conducted with humans, and "for the time being the results are giving hope." It gave no details of these experiments.

The research team also anticipates using the preparation in agriculture and in breeding such fur animals as mink and sable, the report said.

The newspaper said the research is being conducted at an organic chemistry institute in Irkutsk, Siberia, and the preparation, "created on the basis of silicone," has been named Mival, for the two scientists who developed it, Mikhail Voronkov and Valery Dyakov.

The report said when Mival was used on mice, they grew hair "so long it could be braided."

40 Air Force Cadets Given Weekend Trips

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Forty Air Force Academy cadets have won expense paid weekend trips for two from Texas computer magnate H. Ross Perot, an academy spokesman said.

Perot, a 1953 graduate of the Naval Academy, offered the trips to the academy that won the Navy-Air Force football game Saturday.

Air Force edged Navy 19-16, allowing 40 cadets here to take the trips of their choice anywhere in the United States.

The losers will have to shave their heads in the style that was mandatory when Perot was a Navy midshipman.

Commander Robert Lewis, public affairs officer for the Naval Academy, said 1,320 midshipmen took Perot up on his bet in hopes of getting a free trip.

The Air Force Academy spokesman said Perot made the offer to the cadets when he spoke to them recently. The spokesman said a large part of the 4,000 cadets put their names in a bag and the 40 participants were drawn at halftime during the game.

Remember, Daylight Time Will End Sunday Morning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten straight months of Daylight Saving Time will end Sunday when the nation goes on standard time for the four winter months.

The nation will set back its clocks one hour at 2 a. m. Sunday, the result of congressional action that ended the nation's experiment with year-round daylight time.

Under the new legislation, the nation will stay on standard time until 2 a. m. Sunday, Feb. 23, 1975.

The year-round daylight time experiment was designed to save fuel during the country's energy shortage. The Senate Commerce Committee reported the experiment resulted in about 100,000 barrels of oil per day being saved during the first four months of 1974.

However, that committee said such savings "must be balanced against a majority of the public's distaste for the observance of Daylight Saving Time" during the winter.

The Department of Transportation agreed that some fuel was saved during the winter months but said longer daylight hours may have increased gasoline consumption in March and April by up to one percent.

The change will not affect eastern Indiana, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and American Samoa, all of which remained on standard time during the experiment.

Speeders Too Many To Handle

By The Associated Press

Many of the nation's governors and mayors say there's little they can do about President Ford's request to enforce the nationwide 55 m.p.h. speed limit except praise it as a good idea.

The governors and mayors, many of whom got telegrams a week ago from Ford asking for stricter speed limit enforcement, say their states are already doing everything possible given the manpower available.

Many officials, including state and local police, say the basic problems are that the public is not convinced the cooperation will help cut inflation and there are too many speeders for the police to handle, a nationwide Associated Press survey shows.

The survey also showed that:

—With minor exceptions, the nation's governors and mayors plan no special actions on speed limit enforcement because of Ford's telegram.

—Many states have upped manpower to monitor speeding violations since last winter and speeding tickets are up considerably in many states. Nearly all officials say there is no way to further increase patrols, despite Ford's request.

—Some states treat drivers speeding over the national limit but under the old state limit less severely than those exceeding the old limits.

—Many states do not stop drivers traveling above 55 m.p.h. until they approach a set speed — say, 62 m.p.h.

—In scattered areas, judges are dismissing charges against people caught speeding over 55 m.p.h. but under old limits; police in some areas give warnings instead of tickets to such speeders.

—"South Dakota enforces its speed laws, and will continue to do so," said Gov. Richard Kniep, who plans no changes in state procedures on speeding. "The basic problem with enforcement is that once a sizeable percentage of the population begins to ignore the speed limit, or any law, it is hard to control."

—As a practical matter, if everyone on the highway is traveling 60 miles per hour, a patrolman can hardly stop them all and can hardly be expected to selectively choose which ones to pick."

Will Not Interfere

WASHINGTON (AP) — A divided Supreme Court today refused to interfere with the convictions of nine persons and one corporation in nine separate cases involving violations of obscenity laws in New York, Virginia, California and Florida.

In all nine cases, Justice William O. Douglas said he would have reversed the convictions because of his long-standing view that the Constitution prohibits any federal or state ban on obscenity.

Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall also dissented from the majority decision denying the petitions for a full Supreme Court review of the cases.

Brennan, Stewart and Marshall said that seven of the convictions should have been vacated and sent back to the lower courts "for a determination whether petitioners should be afforded a new trial under local community standards."

In a major obscenity decision last June, the Supreme Court turned out its latest attempt to define what kind of material may be prohibited as obscene without violating the First Amendment guarantee of free speech and press.

That decision was that local community standards may govern but that local juries do not have absolute discretion to outlaw movies, books and other material they consider objectionable.

HIS JOB WAS AT STAKE

A 'Prison Of Fat' Sheds 417 Pounds In 31 Months

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP) — "Big Bill" Leverton could never squeeze into anything until he became one-third the man he used to be.

"I couldn't go anywhere. I didn't fit. Doors, chairs — the world around me was too small," said William Leverton, 57, after shedding 417 pounds in 31 months.

"I look in a mirror and it's like looking at a stranger," said the 6-foot-3 Leverton, checking in at 223 pounds last week.

Leverton, a Michigan Highway Department inspector, weighed 640 pounds on April 3, 1972, and was told by his employer to reduce.

"My job was at stake," said Leverton, who has set a final weight goal of 200 pounds.

Leverton said he tried many methods to lose weight — even hypnosis.

"Under hypnosis I drank 12 ounces of grape juice, unsweetened, for several weeks. Today I can't even look at a grape," he said.

"You can't imagine what I went through. When I weighed 640, I had a 74-inch waist. It's now 42 inches. I literally wore the biggest pants and shirt in the world. I had to order them from a fit-all store in Chicago at $40 a set. And those were just grimy looking work clothes. My neck was 22 inches. Now it's 16 inches.

"My son used to have to put on my socks and tie my shoes. I'd walk 40 feet and be out of breath. I was a prison of fat."

In November 1972, Leverton joined a weight control program. He began to eat three carefully selected and measured meals a day, which included one tablespoon of mayonnaise, vegetable oil or margarine; 16 ounces of skim milk; five fruits or fruit juices; four cups of raw or two cups of cooked green vegetables; four ounces of a yellow vegetable and four slices of bread. He lost an average of 3.3 pounds each week.

Leverton's weekly diet now includes liver once, fish five times, beef three times and four eggs.

The weight control organization says Leverton's weight loss is a record, topping Florence Jeffert of New York, who dropped about 335 pounds in the late 1960s.

Deal For Mexican Oil May Be Made

NOGALES, Ariz. (AP) — Promising a "new dialogue" with Latin-American nations, President Ford met Mexican President Luis Echeverria at this border city today to begin nine hours of hop-scotch diplomacy.

Ford, in remarks at the ceremonial exchange of greetings at the border, said the day's summit sessions at locations in Mexico and Arizona "symbolize the relationship between our two countries."

Oil and economic matters

promised to dominate "the talks between the two presidents."

"It is a working partnership of mutual cooperation which exemplifies the spirit behind the new dialogue into which we have entered with the nations of Latin America," Ford said.

It was Ford's first venture onto foreign soil since he became President on Aug. 9, and he said, "it provides a living demonstration of how we are inextricably linked."

There were indications that Echeverria might like to trade oil for Washington's agreement to admit migrant Mexican farm workers — a development that would help ease Mexico's serious unemployment problems.

Ford was expected to stress north-of-the-border concern about the flow of illegal immigrants from Mexico at a time when the United States has a mounting unemployment problem of its own.

The U.S. President told reporters Saturday night that immigration, oil, joint efforts to curb traffic in illicit narcotics and seven or eight other matters of mutual concern would be taken up. There was no formal agenda for the discussions.

Ford's itinerary had him flying from Andrews Air Force Base, Md., to David-Monthan Air Force Base in Tucson, Ariz., then going by helicopter to Nogales to greet Echeverria.

The two presidents were to fly by helicopter to Magdalena de Kino 70 miles south of the border for nearly two hours of talks at the local city hall.

DAs, Judges To Make More

AUSTIN (AP) — Legislative budget writer heeded Sen. Tom Creighton's motion today to beef up prosecution in "rural and middle Texas" by boosting district attorneys salaries to $23,300 in 1976 and $24,800 in 1977.

This would be 75 per cent of what the Legislative Budget Board recommended for district judges—the exact percentage Creighton, a Democrat from Mineral Wells, requested.

The staff had recommended only $18,000 and $19,000.

"Rural and middle Texas is suffering from a lack of prosecution," Creighton told the 10-member board, "and we're not going to get it until we pay for it."

The board recommended salaries for district judges of $31,000 in the 1976 fiscal year and $33,000 in 1977, compared to their current salary of $25,000.

SUSIE PUT TO SLEEP

Hattie Bell Boland's Eyes Are 'Out' Again

The eyes, which Hattie Belle Boland never had, have gone out again.

Susie, her beloved Golden Retriever and constant companion for nine years, had to be put to sleep Saturday.

Heartbroken but hopeful, Mrs. Boland, who lives at 1009 Sycamore, began a vigil to learn when she can go to San Rafael, Calif., to try for her third Guidogod.

Benny Larson, who directs the Guidogod for the Blind, Inc. program, told her by telephone over the weekend it is unlikely she can qualify for the November class unless there is a cancellation, but he assured her she will be in line for January.

ANOTHER HURDLE

There is one other hurdle. Three years ago, Hattie Belle had surgery for a malignancy. Reports have been favorable, but she needs clearance that she will be able to make use of another Guidogod. Meanwhile, Charlie, her husband who has only partial eyesight, will become her guide on long walks.

"Charlie's great," she said, "but he doesn't stop at the curbs the same way as Susie."

Mrs. Boland, who was born blind, had her first experience with a dog when she obtained an animal 35 years ago from the Seeing Eye Dog Foundation at Morristown, Pa.

After she moved to Big Spring, she got a chance to go to California where Guidogods matched her with Topsy, her faithful friend for nine years until someone fed Topsy ground glass.

The trauma of this loss was tempered not long after when she got another chance to go to San Rafael.

On her third day, it was her time to be introduced alone to a dog which had been selected for her, based on her weight and her disposition.

"This is Susie," announced the aide.

Hattie Belle ran her fingers excitedly over the retriever's fur. Susie was a soft dog but strong, eager yet affectionate. Hattie Belle walked around the room with her a few times. Then came the moment of truth. Susie was turned loose.

"Susie," called Hattie Belle, gently, uncertainly. Susie responded instantly. "She jumped into my lap and licked my face," Hattie Belle recalled.

Love at first "sight" blossomed into a tightly bound relationship. Susie gave no trouble, almost never had to be corrected. She did have trouble at first holding her food, but surgery corrected that.

NOT ANOTHER

Charlie was equally attached to the dog, so much so that he announced that "if something ever happens to Susie, I don't want another dog here to take her place." But Susie's gone now, and he

Serious Slump Is Not Foreseen By Experts

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite inflation, rising unemployment and the high cost of money, the nation should get through the coming months without a severe economic slump, say businessmen surveyed by The Associated Press.

The business leaders — nearly a 100 retailers, manufacturers and bankers from around the country — were queried during the month before President Ford's economic address to Congress.

Inflation remains the country's biggest economic problem, the businessmen say, but unemployment is a growing cancer and is expected by the businessmen to become the next major problem.

Half of economists is science, says Maurice Ferre, Miami mayor and president of Maule, Inc., a construction company. "The other half is human nature, which outweighs the so-called economic truths."

"If people believe there will be a recession, there will be." As might be expected, most of those businessmen interviewed say more business and less government is the long run answer to inflation.

"Rather than relief from government I think our real need today is relief of government," says Ken Jantzen, Inc., a Portland, Ore., clothing manufacturer. "The government is the biggest consumer and the consumer still controls inflation," says Robert Duckworth of the First National Bank of Arizona.

A balanced budget is the first step toward easing inflation because it will reduce government demand for funds, thus freeing money for business expansion, said most businessmen questioned. Increased productivity and expansion, will cut inflation, they said.

"There are only two reasons for inflation: too much money or too few goods," says William Dillard Sr., an Arkansas retailer. "We need more producers."

BIGGER SLOWDOWN But, says Gabe Rutherford, president of an Arkansas steel fabricating firm: "The talk about cutting federal spending really means cutting construction. That would mean a bigger slowdown."

DUKE'S SON, THE ACTOR — Patrick Wayne, son of John Wayne, looks for the person who shot a cub bear in a scene from his latest movie "The Bears and I." Pat says television commercials have helped his acting career.

Duke Wayne's Son Is Aided By Commercials

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Last year television commercials provided 53.6 per cent of Screen Actors Guild members' income, compared to 27.2 per cent for television films and 18.4 for features.

Patrick Wayne affords a case study on how commercials can help an actor's career. He is, of course, the handsome, strapping son of John Wayne, and a decade ago young Pat developed his own following among the young crowd in such films as "The Young Land" and "Cheyenne Autumn." But teen-age followings are notoriously fickle, and Pat experienced long stretches of unemployment between roles.

He appeared in television shows like "Have Gun, Will Travel" and "The FBI," and for one season had his own series, "The Rounders."

But in his search for acting jobs he was hampered by the sentiment of producers and casting agents who said, "Well, he's John Wayne's son and he's really not serious about an acting career."

Aliens OKed

BERN, Switzerland (AP) — Swiss voters have decisively rejected a proposal to deport 540,000 foreigners in the next three years.

Nearly 70 per cent of those voting in Sunday's referendum rejected the constitutional amendment. The vote was 1,689,870 to 878,739. A similar proposal four years ago came much closer to success, with a 46 per cent affirmative vote.

The amendment was proposed by a right-wing group called the National Action Against Over-Foreignization of People and Homeland. It would have set a limit of 500,000 foreigners living in Switzerland by Jan. 1, 1978.

This would have meant expulsion of 540,000 non-Swiss, most of them farmhands, unskilled industrial laborers, street cleaners, dishwashers and waiters. About two-thirds of these are Spaniards and Italians attracted by better pay than they can get at home.

Grocery Clerk Is Missing

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Police sought today a woman grocery clerk they said may have been abducted Sunday by a robber.

Officers sought clues in the disappearance of Susan Reynolds, 23, and more than $1,000 from the cash register of a drive-in grocery.

Pat Wayne was born 35 years ago to the actor and his first wife, Josephine Saenz. Married and with two young children, Pat admitted that the long stretches of unemployment were hard on his family.

"That's the trouble with being an actor: you have no control over your employment," he said.

Price Of Oil To Drop By 1985, Time Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Time magazine quotes a still-secret U.S. government study as saying the world's oil exporting nations will try to hold on to their markets by cutting oil prices, probably to $7 per barrel by 1985.

The United States now pays $11 per barrel on oil imports of 6.3 million barrels daily.

Time said the report, "Project Independence Blueprint," runs 980 pages long and is due for release in November. The study was prepared for President Ford by 750 analysts and energy experts directed by the Federal Energy Administration, the magazine said.

According to Time, the study predicted the continuation of present oil prices would result in a reduction of American oil imports to 3.5 million barrels daily as the country developed alternate energy sources.

The study said those energy sources would become "economically attractive" if the prices remain high, and could include expansion of offshore and Alaskan oil production, gasification of coal and construction of nuclear plants.

"More likely, the FEA experts calculate, the price of oil will drop to $7 per barrel by 1985," Time said. Such a price drop could spur U.S. oil imports to 10.2 million barrels a day by 1985, although conservation measures within the next two decades could limit the figure to 8.2 million barrels.

According to the study, Time said, the United States could limit oil imports to 3 million barrels a day by 1985, while paying $7 a barrel.

"Both government and industry should stop thinking what's good for themselves and do what's good for the country. We should live within our budget and cut out a lot of duplicated programs," Paul Pelletier, New Hampshire manufacturer.

SPENDING: "People are getting to the point that they're changing their eating habits," Harvey Jacobsen, Kansas grocer. "Instead of looking at that new car or new ice box, people are making do," Pierce Johnson, Kansas banker.

"People are more hungry than usual for sales," John Seiler, West Virginia retailer. "SHORTAGES: 'If I order something for a year, that same amount will be used by General Motors in an hour. So why should they bother with me?'" Robert Burns, Utah ski manufacturer. "We have nothing in short supply if we pay the price," Jim Miller, Illinois lamp manufacturer.

Jury Selection Opens For Kent State Trial

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Jury selection begins today in the trial of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen charged with civil rights violations in the 1970 Kent State University shootings.

The eight were indicted by a federal grand jury last March 29. They are accused of violating the civil rights of four students who were killed and nine others who were wounded when Guardsmen opened fire on groups of campus demonstrators May 4, 1970.

Ford Standing By Choice For Veep

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is standing by his nomination of Nelson A. Rockefeller, declaring, "I'm still convinced he would make a good vice president."

Rockefeller said. In the interview, Rockefeller described the gifts he gave to former associates and friends as "a great American tradition."

Also held for questioning was Durrell Williams, 45, a hitchhiker who said he was from Pasadena, Calif. Crime Bureau agent Larry Bowles said no motive had been established for the slayings, adding, "We're not sure ourselves what went on."

He said Rockefeller had nothing to do with the book, written by a one-time Rockefeller campaign worker, Edward Paul Mattar III of Buffalo.

Standing in shirtsleeves in the aisle of the plane as it brought him home from a campaign trip to Louisville, Ky., Ford held what amounted to an informal news conference.

U.S.-India Agreement In Grain Likely Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — While cutting back grain sales to Russia, the United States soon may provide grain to India under a new Food for Peace agreement. Andrew J. Mair, coordinator of Food for Peace in the State Department, said he is certain a grain agreement with India is coming up, but doesn't know how much the U.S. will supply. The agreement may be worked out during Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's visit to India later this month. Calling the subject "a very sensitive thing with them," a top Agriculture Department official added: "We're reluctant to say that they have asked for aid because they are reluctant to say so." India could buy grain and other commodities and have as long as 40 years to pay, with no payments for the first 10 years, under a Food for Peace agreement. The Soviet Union tried to buy 3.2 million tons of U.S. grain recently, but the shipment was halted by President Ford Oct. 5 because of smaller U.S. harvests blamed on spring floods, summer droughts and autumn freezes. But Treasury Secretary William E. Simon announced Saturday that the Soviets will be allowed to acquire one million tons of corn and 1.2 million tons of wheat. They agreed to make no further purchases in the U.S. market this crop year, which ends next summer. The Soviet Union has been a major foreign supplier of wheat to India the past year, providing more than 1.8 million metric tons of wheat, according to USDA figures. India's wheat production is down, with the crop last spring estimated at 22.5 million tons compared with 24.9 million in 1973. At the same time, the U.S. wheat reserve may be only 218 million bushels by next summer, the lowest since 1948. India has not received Food for Peace aid since before its war with Pakistan almost three years ago. It got 1.5 million metric tons of wheat worth $98.7 million under the last agreement, which expired June 30, 1971. India imported about 3.6 million metric tons of wheat during the 1973-74 fiscal year, including 1.5 million from the United States.

Printers Of Two Seattle Papers Approve Offers

SEATTLE (AP) — An agreement with the Seattle Newspaper Publishers by a 1 to 1 margin. Journeyman pay was boosted $25 a week retroactive to Aug. 1 the first year, and $23.50 and $20 over the last two years of the contract. Harold Kelsey, director of operations for The Post-Intelligencer, said the paper plans to order automated equipment. Kelsey said he could not speak for The Times but negotiations made it clear the paper is considering new equipment. Previous contracts have had restrictions against the new processes. "It's no wonder," said one publishers' representative.

We've been trying to negotiate them out of jobs. Under the benefit sharing, bonuses of $10 for each month of employment up to $1,200 will be provided.

Program Looks At Alcoholism

NEW YORK (AP) — The Public Broadcasting Service tonight is airing "Drink, Drink, Drink," a one-hour look at the lush life. It's most-see viewing for anyone concerned about the major disease called alcoholism.

Produced by WQED in Pittsburgh and hosted by Carol Burnett, its main emphasis is on helping families and employers of problem drinkers spot the symptoms of alcoholism and suggesting how to best cope with alcoholics.

But the heavy boozier might also do well to watch it. Only for a very funny, yet razor-sharp sketch about an alcoholic and his non-drinking, nagging wife. It was written by the husband-and-wife team of Joe Bologna and Renee Taylor.

They're contestants in a game called "You Waste Your Life," in which the ceaselessly cheery M.C. (Ron Carey) notes the game is played for high stakes: "You can lose your wife, your family, your house, your self-respect and your drapes."

Contestant Bologna, bleary-eyed and in a bar robe, tells about himself this way: "Well, when I started drinking, I was a Supreme Court Justice. Then I funded a fascinating job cleaning rugs, and now I'm semi-retired and living off my mother's savings."

Points in the game are scored by the back-and-forth psychological tactics common in situations of this kind. Lies by the drunk, nagging by the wife, remorse, hate, forgiveness, rape and so on.

Sterling Test Set

Mitchell Energy No. 10.A. Mitchell will be a re-entry in Sterling County to deepen the former Williamson and Southern Mineral No. 1

Atkinson from 8,601 to 8,800. It is 15 miles southwest of Sterling and is a south step-out from the WAM Fusselman gas field. Location is 1,980 from the south and east lines of section 39-7, H&TC. The original test in 1963 showed 37 feet of 47-gravity oil, 180 feet of oil and gas-cut mud and 180 feet of sulphur water on a test from 8,571-601.

Also in Sterling, Dorchester No. 1 Carper drilled past 6,139.

Texaco No. 1 Anderson was reaming at 10,969 in sidetracked hole as a Dawson County wildcat. Also, Mitchell No. 1 Waldrop in Dawson was at 3,002.

Mallard Exploration No. 1 Cox, Glasscock wildcat, bottomed at 8,300 feet in shale, lime and sand and was running logs.

At one point she threatens to leave if he touches the gargle again, adding, "I'm taking all the furniture and your Mantovani records and I'm turning the children against you..."

It's highly effective, as is a serious, albeit occasionally propagandizing minidrama in which Larry Blyden plays the frustrated, uncomprehending husband of a drunk, she is portrayed by Ellen Madison.

Over-all, the program, its production and promotion financed by a grant from the 3M Company, is an hour well spent.

You might ask why Carol Burnett agreed to host the show. She answers the question in unflinching terms in the opening segment: "My parents died when they were 46 years old because they were drunks."

Bar Adopts Tough Code

Ethics in government, a topic which provided fireworks during the Texas Legislature's 1973 session, has quietly been receiving the attention of the state's judges.

Independent of the furor which arose from the stock scandal of 1971, the State Bar of Texas Judiciary Section began considering a revision to the code of judicial ethics. Using the American Bar Association's proposed code, the section last year drafted a new code which Texas Chief Justice Joe Greenhill says "goes well beyond the requirements of the ethics bill passed by the legislature." The Texas Supreme Court adopted the code this summer to take effect last month, marking the first revision in Texas since 1963 and making Texas the 29th state to adopt the ABA code.

Requirements of the new code include the filing of every judge's federal income tax returns with the State Judicial Qualifications Commission, which is a constitutionally created agency assigned to enforce disciplinary rules for the judiciary. The new code also puts restraints on judges' involvement in business enterprises and political affairs outside of their own campaign. Greenhill said he felt this would help maintain the scandal-free record of the Texas Judiciary.

Switch To Religion Turned Life Around

LUFKIN, Tex. (AP) — The life of Lulu, the fat girl on the "Hee Haw" television program, was upside down, as she relates it. Drugs were the cause. But she tells you that it's right side up now.

The reason? Bertha Louise "Lulu" Roman says it wasn't her — professional success as a fat comedienne on the country western show that did it. It was her turn to Christianity, she declares.

During a recent gospel businessmen's rally in this East Texas city, she described herself as being "a year-and-a-half old in the Lord."

Before, her life was filled with narcotics. Police followed her, trying to arrest the 28-year-old for possession of drugs.

And police succeeded. Miss Roman was arrested in Dallas on several charges involving drugs.

She bore an illegitimate child because the baby's father wouldn't marry her. And after her last arrest, the producers of "Hee Haw" were notified they would lose air time if Miss Roman were arrested again. She left the show.

"I used drugs for about 12 years," she said in an interview here. "It all began because of insecurity more than anything else. I was always the fat kid on the block that nobody ever talked to."

Miss Roman graduated from high school in Dallas with honors. Then she went to work for a telephone company but didn't keep the job long. "They fired me because I had such a filthy mouth," she said.

Her next job was as a dancer in a Dallas nightclub. "They paid me a dollar for every pound I weighed. That was about $300 a week and I needed the money to support my drug habit," Miss Roman said.

She was "discovered" for "Hee Haw" at the nightclub. Buck Owens was a regular on the show.

Miss Roman said, "He asked me to be on the show, 'Hee Haw,' that was supposed to be a country and western take-off on 'Laugh-In.' He was interested in getting a fat, dumb chick for the show."

Miss Roman had other problems. "I was living with a man because I didn't believe in marriage. When I found out I was pregnant, he walked out."

She had used every drug from marijuana to methedrine or "speed" and continued to use speed during her pregnancy.

"I used it the whole nine months I was pregnant and six months afterward," Miss Roman said. "It crossed my mind that my baby might be deformed, but I vaguely remembered my doctor telling me that heroin would cause deformity but that speed wouldn't."

After her son, now 22 months old was born, Miss Roman's doctor told "me that my baby had a respiratory disease like President Kennedy's son that died. He told me there was no hope."

That night Miss Roman confronted God—"bargained with him" as she put it.

"I told God that if he saved my baby's life, I would do anything He wanted," she said. "I was shaking from head to toe and that was the first time I ever tried reaching out for God."

The baby's health improved but she reverted back to drugs.

"I had a child to support, couldn't pay my rent and someone stole my car," she said.

That was when police arrested her for the last time and she left "Hee Haw."

Soon after the arrest a friend from Miss Roman's earlier drug days visited her.

"I noticed there was something different about her," Miss Roman said. "She had this kind of glow about her."

The friend asked her to attend a service at Beverly Hills Baptist Church in Dallas.

"I went to talk to the pastor and told him all the reasons I shouldn't be saved," she said. "I cussed him up one side and down the other and told him about my drug habit and my illegitimate baby."

"Every time I gave him a reason that I shouldn't be saved, he would just say, 'Let Jesus take care of it.' She did, she said, and her life has been right-side-up since.

About three months after being converted to Christianity, Miss Roman began telling others how her life had been changed.

Still unemployed, Miss Roman went to California to appear on a religious television program. "I went by the offices of 'Hee Haw' just to share with them what had happened to me," she said. "I didn't expect to be rehired."

She said the producers and staff "couldn't believe I didn't use one cuss word," Miss Roman said.

The producers asked her to come back and she is in this season's shows.

Meanwhile she formed a corporation in Dallas with a board of advisors to help her with the witnessing trips she makes. The board helps her with any business problems that crop up and makes appointments.

"Saved To Serve," the corporation's name, pays for a business and personal secretary. Miss Roman's personal secretary, Virginia Widner, said, "The group that asks her to speak for them pays all the expenses to and from Dallas and expenses during the time we're there. Then a love-offering is taken, which pays the salaries of the secretaries. The rest goes back into the business for buying equipment and stuff like that."

During the gospel rally at Lufkin, she sang two songs. "Before I was saved," Miss Roman said, I never carried a tune. "Hee Haw's" first show of the season starred her singing "How Great Thou Art."

Refreshing Common Sense

It's nice to know that public officials sometimes let common sense prevail over government regulations.

The Bement, Ill., public school system came up with a unique method of helping young children find the right school bus for the ride home. The district had different cartoon characters such as Yogi Bear and Mickey Mouse painted on the hoods of the buses so the tots could identify with a particular character.

It worked, according to school officials, with no more lost kids.

But then the fly landed in the ointment. Painting of the cartoon characters on buses was in violation of federal safety regulations on the painting of vehicles. The violation was reported to the Illinois Department of Transportation.

The head of the department, who received numerous complaints when it looked as if the school district would be told to eradicate Yogi and Mickey and their friends, has held up any action and says the state will go to the federal government for a change in rules to allow such identifying markings.

"It's one thing to have rules, but there's also common sense," the Illinois official said. "We'll be in technical violation of the federal regulations if we can't get them changed, but I can't imagine that the government would do anything about it."

In the meantime, the youngsters still can find their buses without difficulty.

May--For How Long?

Lower gasoline prices lately may appear to be an indicator that the United States does have adequate fuel supplies. According to Federal Energy Administrator John C. Sawhill, it does. But how long that will last is just about anybody's guess. All it would take for Americans to start lining up in long fuel lines would be for the Arabs to impose another oil embargo. Sawhill doesn't expect this to happen.

"If I am mistaken," he said in this week's U.S. News and World Report, "we could have a difficult time this winter." Hopefully the federal energy chief is reading his cards right. Although an oil boycott wouldn't necessarily mean gasoline rationing, it still could seriously affect domestic transportation and economy.

This makes it all the more important that federal, state and local governments in conjunction with private industry make this nation energy independent as soon as possible.

My Answer

Billy Graham

After being married 6 years and having two babies, a guy came along who made me feel like a queen. Well, dumb, naive, trusting me, believed every word he said. Then realized he was only using me, and went into a depression. Two years later, he turned up again. I fell again, and as you might expect, he dropped me again. Now, I hate him. How can I get rid of this feeling of revenge? Y P

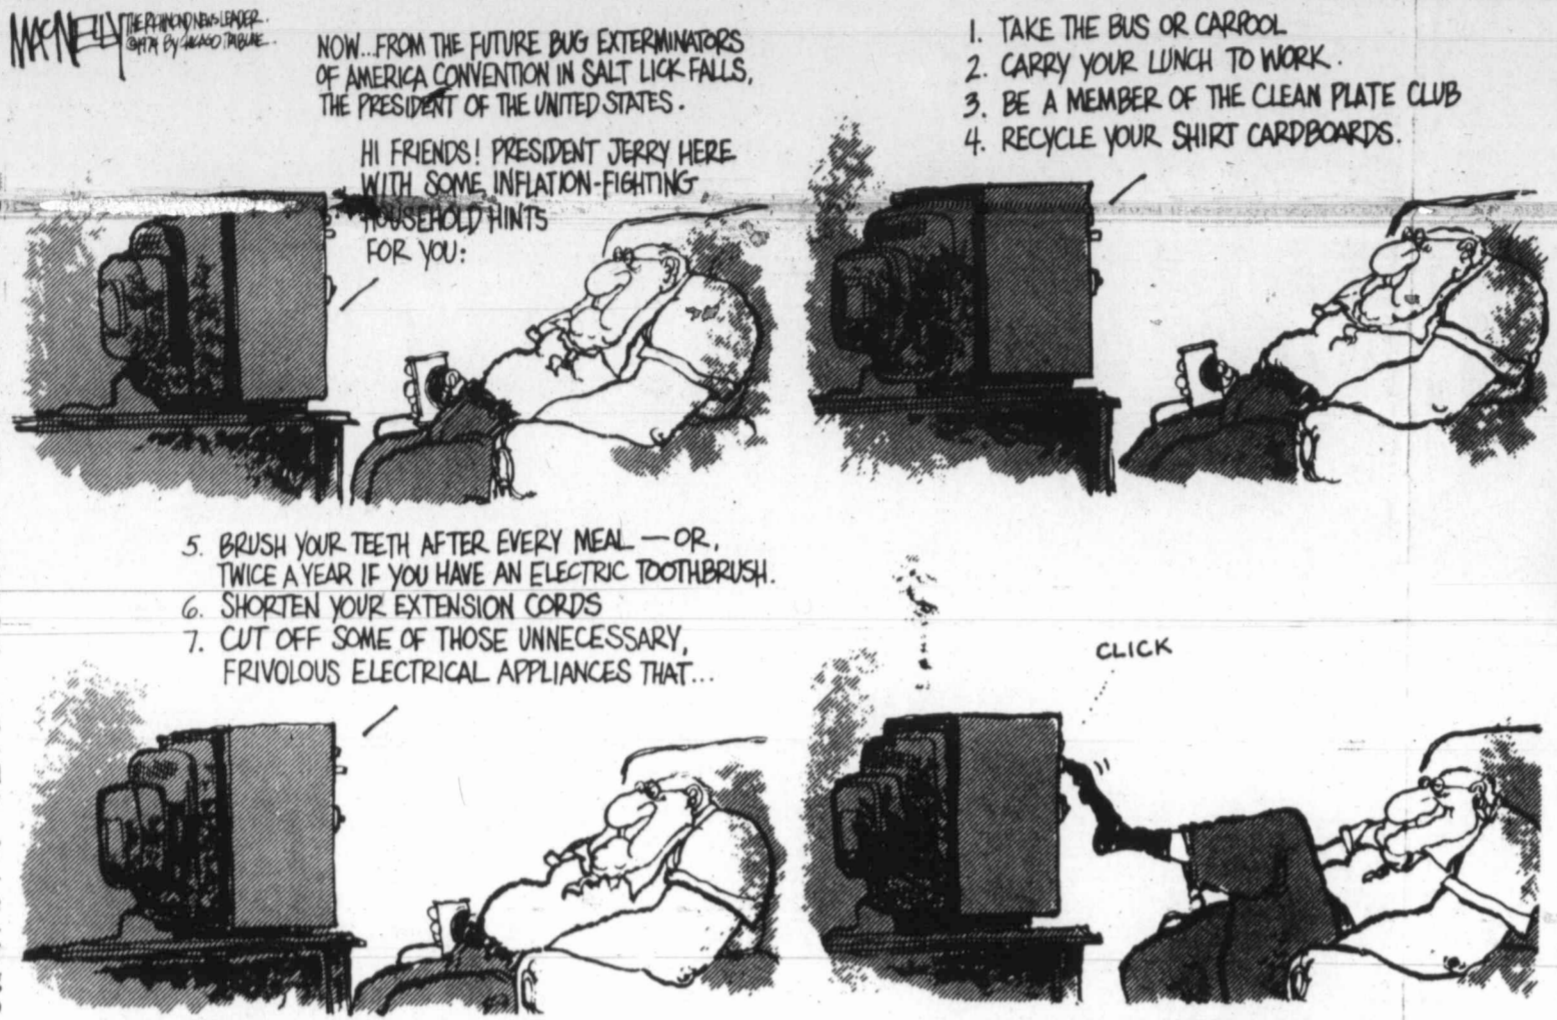

You need to get rid of more things than just a feeling of revenge. That will follow if you make a clean break with selfish living, and turn your life over to Christ. Paul says anyone doing that discovers everything is new. (2 Corinthians 5:17)

First of all, you need to acquire a Biblical view of marriage. It was designed to be a life long contract—certainly not something that could be sidetracked, much less broken by a sweet talking man.

Secondly, you badly need one of the gifts of the Spirit, I mean self-control. (Galatians 5:23). If you are weak in resisting sexual temptations, you'll have no end of trouble yourself, as well as imposing a great handicap for your two children.

Thirdly, learn the secret of being a wife who lives to make a husband and home happy. That was the purpose of Eve's creation—as Genesis 2:18 reports it.

And lastly, never take revenge into your own hands. Learn the secret of turning that over entirely to God. As Paul wrote in Romans 12:19, "Leave that to God... He will repay those who deserve it."

'Energy-Crisis Spasm'

NEW YORK (AP) — Debt repayments on installment loans are taking most of the discretionary income of some consumers. Layoffs are mounting. Factories are slowing the production lines.

What do these characteristics suggest? Well, certainly not a recession, if you use the standards of the administration. President Ford says there's no recession. So does his commerce secretary, Frederick Dent.

Earlier in the year Dent referred to the economic decline as an "energy-crisis spasm." Last week, after the third straight quarterly decline in the Gross National Product, he explained "the spasm continues."

What really is occurring, Dent explained, is "sideways waffling," a term that will be variously interpreted as an effort to hide the truth, a lack of awareness, or a frightening attempt at euphony that recalls the reassuring statements of the early Hoover administration.

Mysteriously, the definition of "recession" disappeared with the onset of what once used to be called recession. The most popular definition was two consecutive quarters of declining Gross National Product.

To date, the GNP has fallen for three straight quarters — 7 per cent in the first three months of 1974, 1.6 per cent in the second three, and 2.9 per cent in the third quarter.

Moreover, a further decline, most likely larger than that in the third quarter, is likely to occur in the final three months of the year. And a large number of responsible economists foresee a continued decline early in 1975.

Yet Another Rabbit?

Robert Novak

Washington—a complex, shaky deal to avoid deadlock in Henry Kissinger's tortuous Arab-Israeli mediation has now been given tentative approval by Arab leaders not usually regarded as among this country's best friends in the Middle East.

IF IT WORKS, the Secretary of State may be able to pull another rabbit out of his hat: a second-stage Israeli withdrawal from the Egyptian Sinai peninsula.

That's what Israeli Prime Minister Itzhak Rabin has been promoting for months. Rabin's political perch as prime minister is too precarious to risk negotiations with withdrawal from the Israeli-occupied Palestinian West Bank of the Jordan River. That issue is mired in quicksand.

IT'S WHAT EGYPTIAN President Anwar Sadat also wants, but not at the cost of losing his political base at home for "selling out" the Palestinians while promoting the special cause of Egypt.

Just such charges of "sellout" would be made against Sadat if he agreed to a second-stage Israeli withdrawal from Sinai without some political gain for the Palestinians on the West Bank. With Israel rigid against any dealings of any kind with the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), headed by Yasser Arafat, other Arab leaders are now saving privately that the political gain needed for the PLO could come at the United Nations in New York, not on the West Bank of the Jordan River.

WHAT GIVES THIS special importance to American policymakers is the fact that both Kuwait and Syria are among the Arab States quietly supporting this complicated formula. That is, if the PLO is given a forum at the UN to present its controversial case for representing the West Bank in Israel peace talks, that could be the essential precondition for Egypt to negotiate another Israeli withdrawal from the Sinai.

Drawing the UN into the torrid Palestinian political issue, however, raises serious problems for Israel, which professes to regard the PLO

Try To Fight City Hall

LONDON (AP) — The bottom has not fallen out of the Big Top in Britain.

The 1974 Circus Directory of the British Isles, issued with the circus magazine "King Polo," lists no fewer than 40 troupes operating in Britain. They range from the mighty traveling circuses to one which is worked by just two people.

The magazine says it hopes that the directory "will help in persuading local authority councillors and officials, and anyone else with an interest, that the circus is very much alive and kicking."

Making Lunches Safe

Dear Dr. Thosteson: As a mother of five children and very much concerned about nutrition of school lunches, I am asking what type of lunches besides cheese will not lose value or spoil when kept in a warm, stuffy school locker for many hours.

As I believe most meat products contain chemicals as nitrate, I try to give my children plain meat sandwiches most of the time. The children ask me to spread mayonnaise on it, too, and green lettuce, but I am reluctant about mayonnaise as I know it easily spoils.

I prepare the lunches at 6:30 a.m. and the minute they are done put them in the fridge to the moment the children leave for the school bus.

Sometimes they keep their lunches for five to seven hours in their lockers, and the schools are very well heated.

Some schools do not have fresh milk dispensers but children can buy soft drinks.

I would like to have the children take milk to school with them, but it gets warm and spoils.

I know some children come to school with old bologna or fish or egg salad sandwiches. Have you any suggestions for children who don't care for cheese? — Mrs. G. G.

You raise some valid points. I think there are good answers.

Yes, AVOID mayonnaise, a very frequent culprit when allowed to stay warm too long. And yes, I'd avoid fish, and most certainly egg salad sandwiches. Or any kind of "Salad" sandwiches, since they all are made with mayonnaise or the equivalent and need to be kept cold.

Plain meat sandwiches are, of course good, and I think you can feel safe with most prepared "lunch" or "sandwich" meats.

I think you are over-concerned about chemicals in meats, but stick to meats you cook at home if you wish.

There's the good old standby, peanut butter and jelly, which most youngsters seem fond of, and it provides a good variety of nutritional elements. Maybe if the kids don't get cheese too often, they'll tolerate that occasionally.

If the bread dries out, cheese sandwiches can make dry eating, but what about wrapping sandwiches in waxed paper to prevent too much drying? How about a dab of mustard to pep up the taste?

As to milk, why not have a small thermos bottle which can be chilled overnight and will keep the coolness until lunch time? Milk certainly outshines soft drinks, nutritionally.

Fill out the lunch menu with vegetables — carrot sticks, cucumber, celery, a wedge of cabbage, green pepper, etc. Plus an apple, banana, orange or other fruit that won't spoil.

'Transferred Intent' Doctrine

One winter's day, Art, a teenager, was amusing himself by hurling snowballs at passing cars. One snowball missed its target and struck a pedestrian across the street, injuring his eye. Could Art be held liable for assault and battery?

IN A COURT HEARING, his lawyer said no.

"Art had no wrongful purpose toward this man," went the lawyer's argument. "Hitting him was purely accidental."

However, the court ordered Art to pay damages. The court invoked the doctrine of "transferred intent," by which an original wrongful intent—in this case, the desire to hit the passing car—was transferred to the accidental consequences.

THIS WIDELY RECOGNIZED doctrine is based on the law's reluctance to let a wrongdoer get off scot-free. It has even been applied in a case of mistaken identity. Thus: A man sneaked up behind another man, thinking he was an old antagonist, and bashed him on the head. Actually, the victim happened to be a total stranger.

But that didn't help the first man when he was haled into court afterward to face a damage claim. Applying the doctrine of transferred intent, the court had no trouble finding him liable.

ON THE OTHER hand, the doctrine will not apply if there was no wrongful purpose in the first place.

Suppose, for instance, that a woman who is being chased by a mugger throws a rock in this direction. And suppose the rock misses the mugger and hits an innocent bystander.

UNDER THESE circumstances, the woman could not be held responsible for injury to the bystander, because she had acted in legitimate self defense. With no wrongful intent to begin with, there would be nothing that could be transferred into legal liability.

A Devotion For Today

(Jesus) asked him, "Can you see anything?" The man looked up and said, "I can see men, but they look like trees walking around." Jesus again placed his hands on the man's eyes. This time the man looked hard, his eyesight came back, and saw everything clearly. (Mark 8:23-25)

Prayer Lord, You know what little faith I have. Take it and use it as You wish that I may be made whole. In faith I pray. Amen.

Ford Attacking As Truman Did

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has been told by close associates that he sounds like a Harry S. Truman on the campaign trail. And if Ford hasn't given Democrats much hell yet, he's trying.

Facing heavy odds in attempting to resist an erosion of Republican strength in Congress, Ford is using more strident, more Truman-like rhetoric as the campaign progresses.

Apparently by design, Ford became increasingly partisan last week as he jetted into seven states on behalf of Republican candidates. The change in approach produced a presidential decision Saturday to abandon prepared texts and, as he put it, "talk heart-to-heart, straight-to-straight."

Ford seemingly wanted to say, "straight from the shoulder," but couldn't remember the cliché soon enough — one of the perils of impromptu speechmaking.

But without a text, Ford tends to toughen up his language as he makes his big pitch: Elect Republicans or a Democratic veto-proof Congress of big-spending budget-busters will produce a legislative dictatorship.

Here's a typical sample from a Saturday-night speech in Louisville, Ky.

"Let me put it just as bluntly as I can. If you get a veto-proof Congress, boy, tighten your seatbelts. You are going right through the roof of the United States Capitol as far as the federal treasury is concerned. The keys to the treasury will be thrown away and the money will pour out unbelievably."

The results of Ford's campaigning to date have been mixed, although he told reporters Saturday, "I've really been encouraged... I loved those crowds."

The President's audiences, even when sizeable, often have seemed more curious than enthusiastic.

SNAKE LAID LOW — William Stanley, a 21-year-old Ft. Lewis soldier, battled an 8½-foot boa constrictor in his Tacoma home for 10 minutes with an axe before succeeding in killing it. Stanley discovered the reptile upon returning from a shopping trip with his wife and 18-month-old daughter. He said a previous GI tenant apparently brought the snake from Vietnam and was unable to locate it when he moved out two months ago.

Dunn was found dead early Saturday afternoon of a gunshot wound in the chest. It was later ruled that the wound was self-inflicted.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Dunn; three brothers, Donald of Colorado City, Earis Lee of Long Beach, Calif., and Robert Palmer of Austin, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. W. A. Searcy of Odessa.

Motion Granted

The Eleventh Supreme Judicial District Court at Eastland has granted a motion submitted by Marion P. Cogdell vs the Fort Worth National Bank et al for a second extension of time to file a statement of facts. The case was appealed from Scurry County.

Meeting Delayed

The meeting of the executive board of the Howard County Fair association, scheduled originally for Tuesday afternoon, has been moved back to 3 p.m. in the Herald conference room, Arnold Marshall, president, said today. He has to be out of town Tuesday afternoon.

Agri-Business Day Scheduled

The annual Agri-Business tour of Scurry County will be held Wednesday, according to Soil Conservation Service district conservationist Erwin A. Pavlik.

Buses will load at 8:00 a.m. at the Agricultural Building located in the Snyder Shopping Center, 3423 Avenue T. The group will tour several farms and ranches showing modern conservation practices, range management, farm and ranch operating loans, broadcast cotton and new methods of crop harvest.

The tour will end with a noon luncheon at the county barn in Towle Memorial Park. Meal tickets for those not making the tour will be available at the luncheon for $2.50 per person. At the luncheon, plaques will be presented by the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District to its outstanding conservation farmer and outstanding conservation rancher for 1974.

County Talks About Ambulance Services

County Commissioners Court this morning tentatively suggested paying half of equipment costs for a city fire or police department operated ambulance service.

Such a city-operated ambulance service, if adopted, would replace Alert Ambulance, a privately owned and locally-subsidized system.

The court was discussing state and federal legislation for emergency medical service systems with Harley Reeves of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission.

If Alert provides a log of delivery times, the city and county and through the Alert Ambulance could obtain federal grants for one-half the cost of ambulances, Reeves said.

Whether the county was considering one-half of local costs of the one-half local organizations must pay was not explained.

"My main concern is 'Is the hospital interested in the communications system?'" W. D. Berry, Civil Defense director, told the court.

Reeves told how a doctor at a hospital could use the communications system to monitor a patient's condition in the ambulance and instruct a technician how to stabilize the patient's condition.

Ector College has obtained a grant to train such technicians, Reeves said. Midland College applied but was not awarded a grant, and Howard College did not apply, Reeves said.

Federal funds are available for three years, Reeves reported. But the first year funds are provided for implementation, and federal money the second year is to go to improvements.

TRAINING PROGRAM
A program for training disadvantaged persons on the job was under advisement by the court.

Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena Jr. was utilizing a woman from the program in his office earlier. The court had not approved her employment.

Nabar Martinez of the planning commission explained the program established through the federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA).

Wages for employees getting actual job training are paid by the federal government.

"If they need any special skills, they can go out to the college and we pay the tuition," Martinez said.

SHORT-TERM

The program is divided into segments for those over 21 years of age, school drop outs from 16 to 20 and summer training, Martinez said.

Trainees are available for 90 days to six months, Martinez said and the county would not be expected to hire them at the end of training.

Martinez said he would be seeking other employment for those training where no vacancies exist.

Librarian Larry Justiss announced $2,875 had been approved for the Howard County Library.

The state library system expects some of this money to go toward purchase of cataloging equipment to be used in working with smaller area libraries, Justiss said.

This equipment would cost $1,400, Justiss said.

County Engineer Neel Barnaby asked the court to discuss hiring a minimum-wage "bull" crew and to consider establishing a vacation policy.

Fence building, ditch clearing and other unskilled labor is performed now by men paid to operate equipment, Barnaby said.

Disconsolate Nixon Is Heard On Tape

WASHINGTON (AP) — A disconsolate President Nixon discussing options for "stonewalling" Watergate investigations was heard by the Watergate cover-up jury on tape today as John Dean was on the stand for the fourth day.

"It's a long road, isn't it, for all of us," Nixon said at one point. "I mean, what the hell are you going to do?"

The discussion occurred on March 21, 1973 — on the afternoon of the day when Dean, the White House counsel, had laid out for the President the names of White House people who were vulnerable to indictment.

They discussed setting up a presidential panel to gather evidence or sending White House people to the grand jury under a grant of immunity so they could not be charged.

Two of the defendants in the trial, John Ehrlichman and H. R. Haldeman, participated in the afternoon discussion. Ehrlichman pressed the President to have Dean put on a report that Nixon then could send to the Senate investigation then under way.

Discussing that idea, Nixon says: "I ask for a written report... which is very general, understand?"

"Understand," the President repeats and laughs, adding: "I don't want to get all that God-damned specific. I'm thinking now in far more general terms..."

"If you make it quite general in terms of... your investigation indicates that this man did not do it... this man did do that."

Ehrlichman suggests that if that idea is adopted, "to give some weight to that, could you attach as an appendix a list of the FBI reports to which you had access... so that the President at some later time is in a position to say 'I relied.'"

Ehrlichman said then that if there were further disclosures, Nixon would be in a stronger position to say that he justifiably relied on Dean's report.

A few days later, Dean went to the presidential retreat at Camp David, Md., but failed to write a report.

Instead, he later hired an attorney and began telling the Watergate story to federal prosecutors.

Nixon then appointed Ehrlichman to write "the report." In a public statement on April 17, Nixon said that in the March 21 conversation new facts were brought to his attention which prompted him to begin a new investigation.

The tape was introduced and played for the jury after Dean told of an unrecorded conversation with Haldeman and Ehrlichman outside of the President's office in which he said there were two alternatives.

"One was to let it go all the way, to let it unravel," Dean told the jury. "One was to draw waters around the White House."

SOUL FOOD — Helen Mayvell, left, 44-year-old owner of the Soul Food Cafe in Chicago, supervises tray of soul food prepared by a cook, Terry Hayes, in kitchen of her restaurant. "Soul food is an individual thing, but its roots are in the earth and the earth is common," she said.

"Helps To Be Black To Cook Soul Food"

CHICAGO (AP) — Soul cook Helen Maybell thinks "almost anyone can cook soul food but it helps to be black."

"We (blacks) claim it because it is part of our slave heritage," said Mrs. Maybell, whose Soul Queen Cafe has become a frequent stop for such notables as singer Aretha Franklin, basketball star Wilt Chamberlin and the Rev. Jesse Jackson, director of Operation PUSH.

"It was necessary for mama to become inventive. To be able to take discards and scraps and give her children something presentable and tasty and give her man something that would stick to his ribs."

Pregnant Daughter Refuses To Marry

DEAR ABBY: My daughter graduated from college with honors, yet, but listen to what this dumbbell did. She moved in with her boyfriend with the understanding that if they both decided they were right for each other they would get married. Now she thinks she's pregnant, but she has not told her boyfriend because she wants him to marry her for HERSELF — not because there is a baby on the way. Have you ever heard of such stupidity from a college graduate? Thank God we don't live in the same city because I keep thinking of things I'd like to say to her and it's getting harder and harder to keep my mouth shut. I wish I could talk some sense into that girl's head. She never misses your column maybe you can.

TEARING MY HAIR
DEAR TEARING: Your daughter hasn't asked me for any advice, so I'm not about to give her any. But I have some for you. Quit tearing your hair over a grown daughter of legal age who is determined to live her life the way she wants to. It's her privilege. Right or wrong.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of two children under five. I was married, but it didn't work out. For a year now I have been going with a very nice and lovable older man. My only bad break is that he is married and living with his wife.

He says he loves me very much and one day will marry me, but right now he feels sorry for his wife and he can't talk divorce to her or she will crack up. (She's not very strong. They have five kids.) He tells his wife he's working late and comes over here for supper nearly every night. My kids call him "Daddy," but they're confused because when they go to bed at night their "Daddy" is here, but he's never here when they wake up in the morning. I have no one to talk to about this. My mother would never understand. Please advise me.

IN LOVE
DEAR IN: I think you're wasting your time. Get smart and say goodbye to this part-time "Daddy." Look for an unattached man your kids can say "Good

Demonology Discussed By Forum

"Satanic Worship" was the topic examined by Mrs. Charles Sweeney when she presented a program at Friday's meeting of the Woman's Forum in the home of Mrs. Joe Pickle, with Mrs. Merrill Creighton as cohostess.

Tracing the background of her topic, Mrs. Sweeney said evil worship has existed in the United States from the early 1600's when some people were called witches and warlocks. She then discussed Anton Levy of Los Angeles, who is currently known as a high priest of satanic worship, and said there was a revival of interest in demonology in 1966.

Describing numerous books on devil worship which are on the market today, Mrs. Sweeney told of one author, Nicky Cruz, now an evangelist, who wrote a book in which he claimed to have been possessed by the devil. Another book mentioned was "Satan Sellers," by Mike Warneke who wrote of his experiences as a member of a coven.

"The earth is the devil's," said Mrs. Sweeney, explaining the statement by quoting Biblical scriptures. "God threw Lucifer out of heaven and he took over the earth."

Speaking briefly of related subjects, Mrs. Sweeney named persons who are earning their living, or have in the past, by being known as modern day prophets. Among those she mentioned were Bishop Pike, Timothy Leary, Jean Dixon and the late Edgar Casey.

In conclusion, she said some people attempt to "go into the field of the unknown" through seances, fortune telling, horoscopes, Ouija boards or astrology.

Return To Old Virtues Advocated

The first meeting of the fall season for the 1948 Hyperion Club was held Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Nancy Meisenheimer, 7 Albrook, with Mrs. Dottie Miller as cohostess. Mrs. Anna Belle Wynn presided.

The program topic, "Spirits of 1776 and 1976" discussed by Ms. Dannie Botros who reviewed the book, "Spirits of '76" by Eric Sloane.

"Sloane feels we should return to some of the values of two hundred years ago," said Ms. Botros. "These include the virtues of respect; an appreciation of our country and attempts to improve it rather than just to accept everything."

Other virtues which Sloane advocates are hard work ("the dignity of sweat"), frugality ("There was no garbage in 1776. We should return to creative usage of all things. All wealth has limits"), reverence ("a retreat from materialism to spiritualism"), taking time to savor life, increased tolerance and numerous others.

Ms. Botros ended her review by saying, "Sloane concludes that our moral spirits are lagging and we should try to recapture the moral spirit of 1776."

more from a waterbed than a good night's sleep, the industry still offers plenty of gimmicks, including a new canopy frame with overhead mirrors that retails for $500. The mirror model, plus a new watercrib and hospital waterbed, all were on display on Wednesday at the Second Annual Waterbed Trade show here.

It was a chance for wholesalers to show off the current state of what they say is a fast-growing, $50 million-a-year business. Prices ranged from $150 to $500 and most models came equipped with a canopy frame.

"The waterbed image is definitely changing — it's no longer a fad," said Robert Miller, vice president and general manager of Safeway Products, a Middletown, Conn., firm that makes electronic equipment, airplane deicers, and — since 1971 — waterbed heaters.

"At first, the typical waterbed ad showed a young couple half-clad under a leopard skin," Miller said. "Now it's something for the whole family."

Miller said one million families bought waterbeds in 1973. Safeway's brochure, entitled "The Waterbed: A Family Affair," featured a cover photo of a mother and father with three children and the family cat all snuggled on a waterbed.

"We're becoming Middle American. We're encroaching on a vast new market," said Bruce MacDonald, marketing director for the wholesale firm of Water and Air Elements of Los Angeles, which claims a 20 per cent share of the national market with sales of just under $10 million last year.

Said Steve Legris, head of Woodstock Furniture Manufacturing Co. in Long Beach, Calif., which makes the mirrored waterbed: "It's the new look, the new concept. These things jack up your sex life — for sure! — but it's not just for newlyweds, it's older people who are getting into them."

you get it all with

NATURAL ENERGY Gas Heating

Fresh, warm air gently circulating from floor to ceiling... so nice to take for granted. Comfort is clean gas heat.

And that dependable comfort is such a bargain here in West Texas. Though gas energy costs a little more than it use to, gas furnaces still cost less than one-third as much to operate as similar electric furnaces.

And at the same time you're saving money with gas heating, you can also have a warm feeling knowing that you're helping conserve energy. Gas heating uses only half as much energy as an electric system doing the same job.

Comfort, efficiency, and economy... you get it all with natural energy gas heating.

COLLEGE ROUNDUP

Only Three In 20 Lose

By The Associated Press
After four agonizingly filled weekends, the college football season against the normal Saturday night may be the biggest upset of all.

Only three members of The Associated Press Top Twenty came out losers and two of them bowed to other ranked teams.

Tenth-ranked North Carolina State suffered a 33-14 licking at the hands of unranked arch-rival North Carolina, but No. 9 Arizona Tech 17-8 and No. 14 Kansas underwent a 56-0 humiliation at the hands of No. 12 Nebraska.

Meanwhile the runaway 1-2 teams in the AP ratings pulled to even victories. Top-ranked Ohio State crushed Indiana 49-9 while runner-up Oklahoma bombed Colorado 35-14.

Elsewhere, third-ranked Michigan slashed Wisconsin 24-0, No. 4 Alabama trounced Tennessee 20-6, No. 5 Auburn outscored Georgia Tech 31-22, No. 8 Southern California struggled past Oregon 16-7, and Notre Dame flattened Army 23-9 and No. 8 Texas A&M eased past Texas Christian 14-0.

In the second AP 100, rated Penn State rallied to beat Syracuse 13-10 in the 14th Florida turned back Florida State 24-14, No. 15 Arizona State whipped Illinois 20-10, No. 16 Tennessee 24-10, and Maryland blanked Wake Forest 47-0.

No. 19 Miami at Ohio belted Bowling Green 27-10 in the 16th. No. 20 Oklahoma State 30-7. It was a weekend of upsets, however, although no team has played against a top five and 19 out of 21 business school games were won by the lower ranked team.

Michigan's Dennis Minkin threw an eight-yard touchdown pass to Greg Gantner to snap a third-straight victory against Wisconsin and the Wolverines also got going runs from Chuck Water and Gordon Bell.

OTIS AND MIKE — Otis Armstrong (24) heads for the end zone and a Bronco touchdown after a 10-yard run. Escorting Armstrong on the run is Mike Current (74) Bronco tackle. Dave Rowe of the San Diego Chargers is blocked out of sweep. This third quarter play made the score 24-7 for the Broncos. Jim Turner added a field goal for a 27-7 Bronco victory Sunday in Denver.

Griffin also passed the century mark in the Rose Bowl last Jan. 1, but that doesn't count in the NCAA record book. Griffin's output boosted his career yardage to 3,321, surpassing the mark of 3,315 set by Purdue's Otis Armstrong a couple of years ago.

Meanwhile, Oklahoma's Joe Washington, a junior like Griffin, rambled for 200 yards and four touchdowns as just 13 carries against Colorado as the Sooners chewed up 394 yards of real estate on the ground.

Griffin's outburst was a better sign of things to come, said Mallory. "They were awesome. If there's a better week in the country than Washington, I haven't seen it. What moves and balance he's got! Their offense is fabulous. If they play like they played against us, I don't see anyone beating them."

Michigan's Dennis Minkin threw an eight-yard touchdown pass to Greg Gantner to snap a third-straight victory against Wisconsin and the Wolverines also got going runs from Chuck Water and Gordon Bell.

Vikings, Patriots Knocked From Unbeaten NFL Ranks

By The Associated Press

And then there was one... barely. The surprising St. Louis Cardinals are now the only undefeated team in the National Football League — the Minnesota Vikings and New England Patriots were knocked from the ranks of the unbeaten Sunday — and Coach Don Coryell is enjoying his team's success to the fullest.

The pressure of being unbeaten doesn't make any difference from a coaching standpoint, but I like it," said Coryell, in his second year at St. Louis since leaving San Diego State. "I wouldn't be in the business if I didn't."

Quarterback Jim Hart sparked the Cards to a 31-13 lead early in the fourth quarter, and they withstood two one-yard touchdown runs by Houston's George Amundson for the victory.

Hart capitalized on a pair of Oiler fumbles and three touchdown passes of six and 40 yards to Earl Thomas in a 1:32 minute span of the second quarter to spark the Cards.

Meanwhile, the Detroit Lions dropped Minnesota from the list of the unbeaten, upsetting the Vikings 20-16, while New

England's balloon finally was burst by Buffalo 30-28. Elsewhere in the NFL, the Baltimore Colts whipped the New York Jets 35-20, the New Orleans Saints upset the Atlanta Falcons 13-3, the Dallas Cowboys beat the Philadelphia Eagles 31-24, the Pittsburgh Steelers edged the Cleveland Browns

20-16, the Washington Redskins defeated the New York Giants 24-3, the Miami Dolphins slipped past the Kansas City Chiefs 9-3, the Denver Broncos defeated the San Diego Chargers 27-7, the Los Angeles Rams topped the San Francisco 49ers 37-14 and the Oakland Raiders beat the Cincinnati Bengals

30-27. The Green Bay Packers will face the Bears at Chicago in tonight's national television game. Lions 20, Vikings 16. Bill Munson was the big man for the Lions, completing 22 of 32 passes for 276 yards.

Bills 30, Patriots 28. New England's Sam Cunningham raced 75 yards for a touchdown on the first play from scrimmage, but after that it was a struggle for the Patriots, who had stunned football experts by winning their first five games.

Rams 37, 49ers 14. James Harris sparked in his first start at quarterback for the Rams, passing for three touchdowns and running for another. He completed 12 of 15 passes for 276 yards.

Dolphins 9, Chiefs 3. "It was a tough yard," said Miami Dolphins fullback Larry Csonka, whose one-yard plunge with 17 seconds remaining beat the Kansas City Chiefs 9-3.

Cards Picked Again

By The Associated Press.
Louisville, the defending Missouri Valley Conference basketball champion, has been picked by Valley coaches to repeat again this year, conference officials said today.

The Cardinals of Denny Crum return four starters from last year's unit which swept to an 11-1 league mark and 21-7 overall record, clinching the title on the last day of the season with an overtime defeat of Bradley.

Bradley, also returning four starters, was the No. 2 choice, edging Tulsa by one vote. Wichita State was the pick for fourth, while West Texas State and Drake were deadlocked for fifth.

Marked for seventh was New Mexico State, followed by North Texas State.

Crum calls this year's Louisville team "potentially the best team we've had in the three years I've been here."

"Actually, we have six starters returning," Crum said. "Bill Buntun (6-8 1/2 center) is eligible again this year and he started for us two years ago. Phillip Bond (6-2 guard) would have been one of our starting guards last year if he hadn't been ill, and he is ready to play this year."

"There is no doubt these two players would have made us a better team last year and they will make us a better team this year, unless the year of did them more harm than I think it did."

The four starters Crum does have back include Junior Bridgeman, last year's player of the year in the Valley; Allen Murphy, the Cardinals' leading scorer the past two seasons; Terry Howard, Louisville's leading assist producer the past two campaigns; and Wesley Cox, conference newcomer of the year last season.

Schoolboy Learning Pro Ropes

By The Associated Press.
Moses Malone jumped straight from high school into the American Basketball Association, but the 19-year-old millionaire is still getting an education. One of his teachers is Professor Caldwell.

Aided by veteran Joe Caldwell's defensive maneuvering against Malone, the Spirits of St. Louis defeated the Utah Stars 116-109 Sunday night. Utah's prize rookie scored only four points.

"He's a great prospect, he's going to be a great player," said Caldwell, 32, one of the ABA's top defensive players, about Malone, who shot two for six from the field in 28 minutes with nine rebounds.

"Mainly it was just keeping the ball away from him," said Caldwell, a 10-year pro. "I wanted to see what he'd do without the ball in his hands. He didn't move well. But I think that's something all rookies have to learn — not just Moses."

Rookie Fly Williams of St. Louis scored 24 points, 16 in the final quarter. And Caldwell chipped in 18 points and seven assists.

Only 3,501 spectators watched the Spirits, who play in the 17,776-seat St. Louis Arena, win their first game since pulling out of Carolina. The travel-weary Stars, 0-3, gladly quit the road.

In the only other games on the ABA schedule Sunday, Kentucky beat Indiana 101-92 and San Diego downed New York 116-110.

In the National Basketball Association Sunday, Seattle beat Cleveland 100-93 and Kansas City-Omaha topped Los Angeles 105-95.

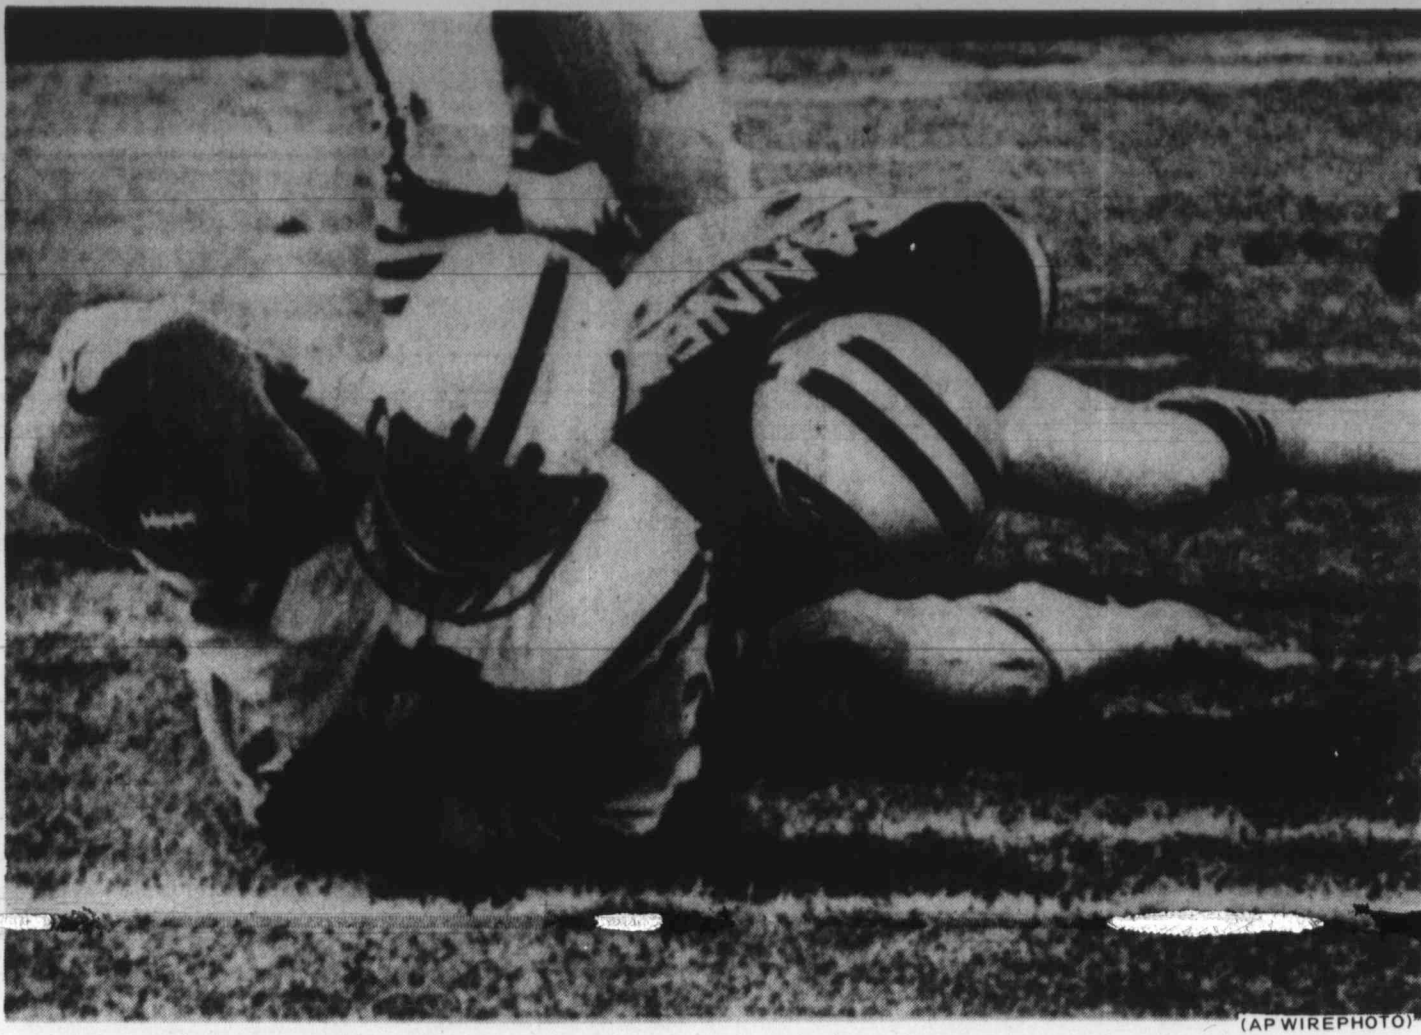

Kentucky led by Dan Issel's 24 points, held off a late surge by Indiana for the triumph.

Charlie Smith of Stanton won a first place shoot off match with Big Spring's Ed Wright in the Western Sportsman's Club monthly trap shoot Sunday.

Larry Barrett scored third place honors and V. W. Kemper garnered fourth. Fifth place spot was awarded to Stanton's Lance Hopper as he won a shoot off match with Big Spring's Jerry King.

The next scheduled match is Nov. 14 at the club's range located on the Andrews highway.

Diehl Stunned By Win

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Terry Diehl was positively stunned.

"I'm in a state of awe," he said, a far-away look in his eyes.

He kept repeating himself. "I can't believe it," he said. And he repeated it time and again. He'd try for a sentence, stumble a little, perhaps not finish the sentence, and repeat: "I can't believe it."

He'd just scored possibly the biggest upset on the pro golf tour this season, a one-stroke victory over veteran Mike Hill in the San Antonio-Texas Open Sunday.

It was the last individual championship on the tour this season. He was in danger of losing his playing rights. He had to win $1,100 — larger than any check he'd made as a professional — to retain his Approved Players' Card as a fulfilled member of the tour.

Goodbye Umpires?

DALLAS (AP) — Even baseball fanatics will tell you the sport is so hogtied by tradition that there's been only one major change in the rules for half a century—allowing use of the designated hitter in the American League.

Even so, a sixth grade inventor will tell you the role of the game's often disputed umpire could become restricted to making merely judgment calls on the base runners.

Tom Perryman, 11, has designed a machine to call strikes — and balls so accurately there just couldn't be any argument.

After a study of the Renaissance in general and scientist-inventor Leonardo da Vinci in particular, teacher Stephen Blanchard directed Tom and his history classmates at the private Greenhill School "to invent something practical."

Tom, rated one of the top science pupils at the school, came up with his idea, he said, because "I just got tired of seeing bad calls" in baseball.

Originally he figured on a machine to move on tracks in a half circle behind the batter and catcher, movable to face both left- and righthanded batters. His cardboard model was complete with a blower at the bottom to dust off home plate.

The device would employ sound waves meeting perpendicularly to outline the strike zone—vertical waves rising from a crystal beneath the plate to determine the width and horizontal waves from the machine to measure a high or a low ball.

Hawkettes Take Second

Howard College placed second in its two-day volleyball tournament which finished Saturday at the Hawk gym.

The Hawkettes lost out to Sul Ross in the finals, 8-15, 15-10 and 11-15.

The host team won all of their matches on Friday, defeating Hardin-Simmons, West Texas State and McMurry.

Howard College travels to Sul Ross tonight then entertains West Texas and University of Texas-El Paso Tuesday night at 6:30 and 8:30 respectively.

The Hawkettes for the season stand at 17-6-1.

"I almost didn't come," he said. "I'd been getting beat up so much on the tour. Week after week of getting beat up and missing the cut and failing to qualify. I was just so depressed. I almost didn't come. I figured I'd lost my card and have to fight the mini-tours next year and then try to qualify in the school again."

And then he won, pulling down $25,000 from the total purse of $125,000.

His final round 71 gave him a 19-under-par total of 269, clinched his playing rights for another year, gave him a full year's exemption from

Cowboy Defense Bounces Eagles

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys didn't pck on any crumple when they made their game plan to stop a four-game losing streak.

Philadelphia middle line-backer Bill Bergey, No. 66 in the program, — was the target in Dallas' 31-24 victory over the team which started the losing streak for the Cowboys on a last-second field goal Sept. 23.

Bergey is considered one of the finest linebackers in the National Football League and Cowboy Coach Tom Landry said "We had to block him... it was somebody different each time, but each time they knocked him out of the play."

Dallas gained 230 yards rushing with Calvin Hill scoring three touchdowns and stepping for 140 yards on 26 carries.

"Our line did one fine job," Hill said. "They were knocking Bergey on his can all afternoon. He's a great competitor and a friend of mind, but we had to knock him out and run away to make yardage. (Offensive tackle) Rayfield Wright and the other guys up front were very physical. We don't up front."

Dallas Quarterback Roger Staubach sneaked a yard for the winning touchdown with 9:22 left and Cliff Harris made a vital interception of a Roman Gabriel pass with two minutes on the clock for a sweet fourth quarter victory. The Cowboys, who have been to the NFL playoffs a record eight consecutive times, had lost three of their last four games of last second field goals.

The Eagles are 4-2. "When you have lost three games like we have on last minute field goals, your emotions start to play games with you," said Cowboy Coach Tom Landry. "It's hard to practice after those type of defeats."

"We are fighting back but you can usually judge the emotion of the team by the specialty units and we really got after them."

The Eagles and Cowboys were involved in numerous flurries of fisticuffs, none serious enough for the referees to ban a player from the game.

Philadelphia Coach Mike McCormack said "Dallas was on the ropes in that if they had lost it would have been their fifth loss and they might be out of it."

"We're certainly not out of the race. We're just two games behind St. Louis with a lot to go."

The first half looked like a replay of earlier Cowboy losses. Gabriel threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Harold Carmichael, Po James plunged a yard for another score and Tom Dempsey, the villain in September, kicked a 39-yard field goal. Touchdown runs of 5 and 17 yards by Hill left Dallas on the short end of a 17-14 score.

Efren Herrera kicked a 29-yard field goal to tie the game 17-all early in the third period but Gabriel, who completed 21 of 36 passes for 285 yards, nailed Don Zimmerman on a 64-yard pass-and-run scoring play.

Dallas charged back as Hill thundered across from twoyards out to set the stage for Staubach's heroics.

Dallas' 16 first downs rushing tied a club record.

Altogether the tragic count went to 23 fatalities, including 16 in traffic, between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

In the San Antonio accident early Saturday, a runaway automobile and another car collided and the first vehicle careened into a tree and exploded.

Josefina Aguirre, 48, a Lamesa housewife, died in the collision.

The collision occurred when a 1971 model car driven by Atanacia Ramirez Meraz, 26, of Lamesa met a 1936 pickup truck head-on. The pickup was being driven by Foster William Martin, 29, of Camilla, Ga.

Martin was listed among those injured. He was taken to a Lamesa hospital, then transferred to a Lubbock hospital for treatment of a fractured leg.
