CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Frank J. Battisti granted today a motion for acquittal of eight former Ohio National Guardsmen indicted in the 1970 Kent State shootings.

Battisti said the evidence at the conclusion of the government's case was not sufficient to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendants had a specific intent to deprive anyone of their civil rights.

CERTAIN RIGHTS

He said, "We're not dealing with grossly negligent discharge of weapons, we're not dealing with the intention to wound or maim, but only with specific intention to deprive one of certain rights."

He told the jury that "at the start of this trial I told you that you would decide certain facts, but at the conclusion of the government's case there are no facts to be decided by you."

"As a matter of law, the defendants must be acquitted of the offenses with which they are charged," Battisti went on. "I found no intention on the part of any defendant to deprive anyone of his civil rights."

The eight were charged with wilfully assaulting and intimidating the victims of the May 4, 1970, flareup in which four students were killed and nine others were wounded. The eight also were charged with depriving the victims and others of the rights to protection against loss of freedom without due legal process.

DEMONSTRATIONS

Five also were charged with aiding and encouraging each other in their actions. The shootings capped a four-day series of demonstrations protesting U.S. military involvement in Cambodia. The guardsmen were ordered to the campus May 2, when a campus building was burned during a nighttime demonstration.

The eight were indicted by a federal grand jury last March. Trial began Oct. 21. The last prosecution witness was heard Thursday.

IT'S ALL OVER

The government's chief attorney, Robert A. Murphy, said: "I'm not particularly surprised" by the decision. Asked whether further action was planned against the exguardsmen, Murphy replied, "As far as I'm concerned, it's all over."

Testimony from photographers, the wounded students and others said a crowd of about 2,000 demonstrators gathered in the Kent State Commons that spring-time noon as the guardsmen moved into position on Blanket Hill, at one end of the Commons. An officer in a jeep ordered the crowd to disperse but was ignored.

CHANTING

The guardsmen moved back down the hill and around its base to a football practice field where they were cornered between fences by the chanting and yelling crowd of students which followed, witnesses said. The demonstrators were throwing rocks and other objects, and some of them made obscene gestures, witnesses said. Some of the guardsmen were hit, testimony showed.

Erwin Will Not Accept Regent Job

AUSTIN (AP) — University of Texas regent Frank Erwin Jr. says he will not accept reappointment when his term ends in January—and he made his decision public, he claims, "to get off the front page and off the air."

A statement was delivered to the news media Thursday in which Erwin said that he told an aide to Gov. Dolph Briscoe four months ago that "I not only did not wish to be reappointed to the board of regents but that I would not accept reappointment even if the governor were kind enough to tender it to me."

Erwin's current six-year term expires Jan. 10, or 15 days before his 55th birthday.

He was first appointed by his close friend, Gov. John Connally, in 1963 after the Texas Senate rejected the appointment of Austin lawyer St. John Garwood. Connally reappointed Erwin just before he left office in January 1969.

As regent chairman from 1966 to 1971, Erwin wielded enormous power in university affairs, spending more time, he claimed on school business than on his law practice. Even after he gave up the chairman's job, Erwin was blamed for what many students and professors consider a purge of such well-known faculty members as Dean John Silber and most recently, Dr. Stephen Spurr, the school president.

STATE OF SIEGE Crushing Revolt In Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Air and ground forces loyal to President Hugo Banzer's military government waged a mopup campaign today after crushing a one-day revolt in southeast Bolivia.

Banzer took personal command of the forces that quelled the rebellion by troops and civilians in the city of Santa Cruz, 330 miles east of La Paz.

The government said the revolt began at 5 a.m. Thursday and was put down by midnight. Many of the rebels reportedly fled into the jungles of the Guabira region north of the city, and Banzer ordered operations to continue against them.

Casualties were believed high, but no figures were available. Officials said many persons were arrested.

The government ordered a state of siege, permitting the detention of persons without formal charges or trial, and prohibiting public meetings. Troops were guarding radio stations. All local news media were put under strict government control, and normal channels for the transmission of news dispatches abroad were closed down.

The fate of three alleged leaders of the revolt — Gen. Julio Prado, Gen. Orlando Alvarez and Carlos Valverde, a former minister of health — was not announced. There were rumors they had been killed or arrested. Prado's son, an army major, led another unsuccessful attempt to overthrow the government last June.

Banzer, who came to power in a bloody coup three years ago, has promised to hold elections next June 6, but some elements in the military feel that the armed forces should remain in power. Rebel broadcasts accused Banzer of "maladministration" and said the rebels wanted to restore a spirit of nationalism.

Landlocked, Andean Bolivia is South America's poorest country with a per capita income of $234 a year. It has had 180 governments in 148 years of independence, and Banzer's regime says it has foiled more than a dozen plots to overthrow it.

$500,000 GIFT Counsel To Nixon Violated Tax Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edward L. Morgan, who helped arrange for Richard M. Nixon to take a more than $500,000 tax deduction for the gift of his pre-presidential papers, pleaded guilty today to conspiring to violate the tax laws.

Morgan, 36, of Los Angeles, pleaded to a charge filed by the special Watergate prosecutor's office.

The criminal information alleged that Morgan and unnamed co-conspirators concealed "the true facts and circumstances regarding the custody, control and dominion of the pre-presidential papers of Richard M. Nixon."

BACKDATED

The prosecutors charged that Morgan backdated a deed to the papers to read March 27, 1969.

The prosecutors noted that tax laws were changed late in 1969 to vastly reduce the amount allowed as a tax deduction for a charitable contribution of personal papers.

The prosecutors said that Morgan, who was a deputy counsel to then-President Nixon, "well knew" during 1969 that the Nixon papers while in government storage remained Nixon's property.

The joint tax return of Nixon and his wife for 1969 was filed April 10, 1970, and stated that he had given the government "personal papers, manuscripts and other materials," valued at $576,000.

HEFTY DEDUCTION

Nixon claimed a deduction of $95,298.45 that year and claimed that the balance of $480,701.55 would be carried over to be used as deductions on future tax returns.

The deductions for the gift were reviewed earlier this year and disallowed by the IRS.

Both the IRS and the Joint Congressional Committee on Taxation examined the Nixon returns and concluded the deduction should be disallowed. Neither the IRS nor the congressional committee made any allegations of tax fraud.

The maximum penalty for the conspiracy charge is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

FILE LETTER

In addition to the criminal information, the prosecutors filed with the judge a letter from special prosecutor Henry S. Ruth to Richard C. Van Dusen, Morgan's attorney, which set out the defendant's agreement to cooperate completely with the government's investigation.

"Acceptance of this plea will dispose of all other potential charges against Mr. Morgan which might otherwise be brought as a result of the investigation of the preparation and filing of former President Richard M. Nixon's 1969 joint federal income tax return and the investigation of the making of false statements or submission of false documents to representatives of other agencies investigating this matter during 1973 and 1974, Ruth wrote.

HUNT WIDENS FOR PAIR OF MISSING MORMONS

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The bizarre background of a man being questioned in the case of two missing Mormon missionaries has been revealed by the Texas secretary of state.

Meanwhile, the parents of one of the missionaries have come to Austin from Milwaukee, Wis., and the father has joined in a search of the hill country west of the city.

James Fischer, father of Mark J. Fischer, 19, and about 75 other persons covered an area of approximately 40 acres without success Wednesday. A helicopter search of a wider area was scheduled Thursday, but a cold rain fell throughout Central Texas.

STOOD UP

The search area is near the mobile home of a man charged with a federal firearms violation, Robert E. Kleasen, 42. Kleasen reportedly ate dinner with the younger Fischer and Gary Smith Darley, 20, of Simi Valley, Calif., every Monday night.

The young men were last seen Oct. 23, a few hours before they were to have eaten with Kleasen.

Police said Kleasen claimed the missionaries failed to keep their dinner date with him Oct. 23.

Officers said they would continue to question Kleasen in Travis County Jail. An attorney has been appointed for Kleasen on the firearms charge.

The missionaries' car was found Nov. 4 in an apartment complex parking lot. It had been stripped of its tires and

Search For Treasure In West Texas Cave

VAN HORN, Tex. (AP) — Mauricio Suarez and four of his friends in this West Texas town may have uncovered a treasure or just a bunch of old leather bags loaded with worthless relics.

Or it could be what, according to some of the old residents of the area, five people took into the hills on 20 mules at the turn of the century. Old folks say that one man returned.

"It could be gold ... and it could be something useless," said Victor Arditti, the attorney who will represent Suarez and his friends when they ask a judge today to let them go into a cave to find out what is in the bags.

The bags were found by Suarez in a cave he discovered by accident while chasing a large rattlesnake on a brush-covered small hill outside of Van Horn about a year ago.

Suarez, a man in his 20s who often went looking for arrowheads, said he set fire to some brush on the hill in an attempt to flush out a large rattler and when the fire died he found an entrance to the cavern.

"He later returned with some of his friends and they began exploring the cave," curiosity seekers began to come to the cave.

On Wednesday Arditti sought and won from State District Court Judge Jerry Woodard a two-day restraining order effective until today when the judge will decide on a permanent injunction against anyone trying to reach the cave except Suarez and his friends.

ONE RETURNED

If anything valuable is found in the cave, Arditti said, his clients probably would seek custody by claiming it was lost property, even though it may be on private land.

Arditti explained that if the land is owned by the state, a settlement would have to be worked out with the proper authorities.

Culberson County deputies were placed in the area to guard the cave entrance. Arditti said private guards also were posted.

Arditti said Suarez and his friends had heard old residents of the area tell stories in Spanish about lost gold in the region.

"He said he remembered one story about five men with a pack of 20 mules who went into the hills. About a month later only one man returned," Arditti said.

METAL NET

Arditti said they saw in one chamber a number of satchels and leather bags covered by what appeared to be a strong metal net.

He said that last Sunday the men sealed an entrance to the chamber and were attempting to lower Suarez into it to reach the bags when he slipped and fell, but managed to hang on to the rope. He was trapped in the cave and rescuers had to be called to help get him out.

The rescuers heard about a possible "treasure" and

MAY RAIN

Probability of rain today is 30 per cent and 60 per cent tonight and 50 per cent Saturday, according to the weather bureau forecast. Continued cloudy with light rain and slightly warmer Saturday. High today in mid 50s, low tonight upper 40s and high on Saturday, near 60.

Liddy Guilty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia has upheld the conviction of G. Gordon Liddy for conspiracy, burglary and wiretapping in the original Watergate break-in.

The Appeals Court decision today marked the first test of the original Watergate convictions.

A unanimous seven-judge appeals court generally praised U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica's handling of the trial which began Jan. 8, 1973.

Projective Found Here Detonated

Only a six-inch fragment was left of a projectile out of a grenade loader after demolition experts from Fort Hood exploded it here Thursday night, leaving a hole in the ground around it "the size of a washtub."

The live shell had apparently rested in the ground near Highway 87 where the Cosden Lake spillway crosses since the days of the old Big Spring Bombardier School, which was located where Webb AFB now stands.

Jackie Tibbets found the missile partly buried. He kicked it with his foot then dug it up. He then called for police officers who went to the scene. Howard Klaus carried it about 50 yards and put it in a cardboard box.

It was left under guard south of town until the munition experts arrived Thursday night and exploded the projectile.

Parents are being urged to warn their children not to pick up a shell of this type. There may be others between Highway 87 and South Mountain, according to Chief Vance Chisum. "If they exploded, they could kill a person," Chisum added.

$4.4 Million Is Spent Locally

The Veterans Administration and the Big Spring Veterans Hospital poured a total of $4.4 million into the Big Spring community during the past fiscal year, according to Jack D. Powell, Director, Big Spring VA Hospital.

The figure includes some $4,325,801 in payrolls for the year and $60,000 spent locally by the hospital for supplies and services.

Almost $2.8 billion was spent by all Veterans' Administration hospitals for the year, almost $300 million more than in fiscal 1963.

Although the bulk of these funds paid into the community was for staffing and operating VA's own medical system, sums also went to private physicians and dentists, local pharmacists, non-VA hospitals and nursing homes, and the state veterans homes.

FOUND BEATEN — Lady Lucan, the estranged wife of a British earl, was beaten in her London townhouse and her children's nanny was found battered to death in the basement, police said today. Officials are seeking Lord Lucan, a former British bobsleigh crewman, but did not say whether he was a suspect in the case.

The World At-A-Glance

CHICAGO (AP) — There's no such thing as a child who is naturally disruptive, says Dr. Fritz Redl, a psychoanalyst and educator. Redl, a consultant to the school of education at Massachusetts State College, said it is wrong to assume "that disruption is always a bad thing, and that what is being disrupted is always good." It also is erroneous in his view to assume that removing the disruptive child is going to improve the classroom. And Redl said it cannot be assumed that good teaching or strict discipline can solve the problem.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Ford administration is taking a second look at its nomination of Andrew E. Gibson to be federal energy administrator after a disclosure that Gibson has a lucrative agreement with an oil transport company. White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Thursday that Gibson's nomination will not be sent to the Senate for confirmation until the FBI completes its background checks on him. Nessen's statement came after The New York Times reported that Gibson received a $1 million separation agreement with Interstate Oil Transport Co. of Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats have less time this year than in the past to decide what they will do with their swollen majority in Congress. The reason is that recently adopted procedures provide that the time-consuming business of electing leaders, setting up committees and choosing chairmen, which formerly delayed serious legislative work for weeks, now is to be done in advance. Leaders are expected to set the machinery of organization in motion Dec. 2 with party caucuses in which the newly elected members will participate.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Contract talks between the United Mine Workers and the coal operators have moved into the critical stage, but for thousands of miners today was likely to be the last day of work before a predicted nationwide strike. Both sides acknowledge that a walkout is unavoidable but are pressing negotiations to keep the strike short. The problem is that even if a tentative agreement is reached before the old contract expires there isn't enough time to ratify it under the union's cumbersome rules, and union officials have ruled out extending the contract.

Spending Reform Must Come

That flurry of spending by individuals, lobbies and labor group at the end of the campaign shows more than ever that reform must come if the nation is to survive.

Common Cause, a self-styled citizens lobby, disclosed that special interests donated more than $8.5 million to candidates for the U.S. Senate and House.

According to the analysis, the state and national committees of the American Medical Association top the list of big givers, with a combined total of more than $1 million.

Other special interest groups, in declining order of giving, are the AFL-CIO with $918,294; the United Auto Workers, $651,426; maritime unions, $479,014; machinist union, $301,405; several banking and financial funds, $246,861; National Education Association, $229,080; United Steel Workers Union, $215,925; the Business-Industry Political Action Committee, $214,800 and the National Association of Realtors, $198,200.

This does not include money given to state and local candidates or to political parties and covers only the period up until Oct. 14, the cutoff for the wave of campaign spending reports filed with the government. The next reporting is expected to push some of the totals even higher.

Highlights of the report show that organized labor continues to give Democrats a lopsided margin; that business and professional groups, including the AMA, favor the Republicans.

With special interest giving, there always will be a question whether the recipients can remain objective in their deliberations on legislation. The same question arose when vice president-designate Nelson Rockefeller announced his gifts to former colleagues and associates.

Reform is mandatory to insure that representatives and senators are as free of outside pressure as is possible.

Not A Man Of Letters

He's said it often enough, and it could well be, that Muhammad Ali should be rated among the all-time great fist-fighters of all time.

It's hard to envision him in the same ring with a Jack Dempsey or a Jack Johnson but he's made quick work of most of the palookas around now. Actually, there's no other way to judge a man's prowess outside of seeing his record against his contemporaries.

Ali must be considered in a class by himself as a pitcher, too. He's better at "selling" a fight than any man who ever entered the ring. In that respect, he revolutionized an industry which was rather long on ham to begin with.

Ali is also to be admired for championing the cause of his race and for sticking to his beliefs. He risked a career and a reputation, not to mention a fortune, when he defied the lords of boxing and the United States government by refusing to accept military duty for what he regarded as a senseless war.

All sprang one of the prime upsets of modern times recently when he broke through George Foreman's armor to put him on Dream Street in eight rounds. Of course, in Muhammad's eyes, it wasn't an upset. He had predicted it all along.

It's the way he predicts his successes that perhaps antagonizes a lot of people. He does it in verse and, though he's a man of his word, he writes lousy poetry — to put it bluntly.

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow and Robert Frost would have thrown up their hands in utter despair at some of Ali's doggeral. Come to think of it, though, did either poet ever make $5 million out of any of their verses? Looking at it in that light, Ali's poetry isn't half bad.

The Waiting Game

Around The Rim

Troy Bryant

IT NEVER FAILS. Why is it that when I approach the drive-in windows at the bank, I always pick the slowest line. Everytime I drive up to windows, I always select the shortest line and then have to wait twice as long as any of the other customers.

I don't mind people using the drive-in windows to make their major transactions, but I would like to know why I always get behind them.

Anybody have a quick answer? WAITING IS NOT my favorite pastime. It's not because I am super busy, but that I just don't like waiting, especially in my car.

I can sit in a waiting room a couple of hours, drowning my impatience in a magazine or two, but when it comes to waiting three minutes for a light to turn green, I turn red.

Maybe all the traffic lights in town are programmed to turn red when a brown Ford approaches. It sure seems so.

THE ELECTIONS ARE OVER! All you TV watchers can tune back in now and watch your favorite commercials without fear of being caught up in an emotional plea for votes or mud slinging or "own-horn tooting."

Now you can settle back and watch your old favorites, the Don Rickles knocking the deodorant executive commercial, the car salesmen trying to convince people that the new cards are worth the extra money, and the koala bear telling everyone why he hates Quantas airlines.

ANOTHER REASON I'm glad that the elections are over, is that now, all the politicians who were never heard or seen until election time approaches will again get lost, at least until the next election.

Not all of them are that way, but some are as obliging as possible as long as the election is coming up, but as soon as the last vote is cast, pent up wrath is released on the public, especially reporters.

Nitpicking is the favorite method of getting back at those reporters who the politicians had to be nice to as long as the elections were at hand.

Almost each of the office seekers feels that they did not get enough publicity, but it's just not the same when a politician is unopposed. So they get less attention than the office seekers who have opponents making the election mean something in the race.

Soon after I broke up with my boy friend, I met my third cousin and we've been dating since. He's the one person I can always talk to, and I feel like God brought us together. The problem is his father. He hasn't said one word to me in four months; and he's a big church worker. What can I do to get him to like me? D.B.

Some other statements in your letter point up the problem of consanguinity, that is, marriage between two people who share common ancestors. Apparently, this is what is bothering your relative's father.

Medically, the chance for undesirable inbreeding effects genetically between third cousins would be relatively slim — but the risk is still there. Why not consult a physician? Maybe you should discontinue seeing him and ask God to lead you in another direction.

But now let me give you the Bible prescription for how to please people. It's found in Proverbs 16:7: "When a man is trying to please God, God makes even his worst enemies to be of peace with him."

The key, you see, is to live, that you please the Lord. That means kind deeds, much prayer, frequent Bible reading and a life full of the

Change Little

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — That the outcome of the election will change anything, other than the political landscape looking to 1976, is an illusion that will not long survive the counting of the votes.

Issues were oversimplified or ignored in a campaign marked by yawning apathy and so when the Congress returns it is highly unlikely that any serious action will be taken on the growing threat to America's stability and well being.

THE UNBRIDLED use of gasoline in the private motor car is proving with time running out that President Ford's voluntarism is simply not working. And that is directly related to the possibility — indeed the probability — of another Middle East war with another oil embargo.

The first move by a returning Congress should be to resolve the mess over foreign aid. That would include the $250 million for Egypt which Secretary of State Henry Kissinger intimated during his earlier shuttle diplomacy would be forthcoming. It would go to rebuild the ruins along the Suez Canal.

Such a move would support Kissinger in his present effort to salvage the basis for negotiation that he achieved during his marathon diplomacy earlier this year. He goes back to the Middle East this time empty-handed.

Next in the order of priority should be stern measures to conserve gasoline. The reduction of a million barrels of oil a day will never be achieved by voluntarism. Gasoline rationing or an across-the-board cut in petroleum imports is essential even without the drastic consequences of a new embargo resulting from still another war.

Anyone who thinks this will happen is living in a dream world. It is the same old Congress with the same old men in control of the key committees and the key decisions under the committee system.

These are not bad men. In fact, they are conscientious and for the most part well meaning. It just happens that they are prisoners of a past that takes no account of a world in the throes of revolutionary change.

THE NEW CONGRESS with even more to-heavy Democratic majorities that meets in January will be very much like the expiring 93rd. Although there may be exceptions, the same leaders and the same committee chairmen will be re-elected to their present posts.

Speaker Carl Albert first came to the House 26 years ago. He was elected majority leader in the 87th Congress and Speaker in the 92nd. A sad commentary on the sticky tangle between the executive and the legislative branches is that the vote on confirmation of Nelson Rockefeller to be vice president is unlikely to come until some time in 1975. During this interval, the amiable Speaker would become President if Gerald Ford should not complete his term.

Mike Mansfield of Montana has been majority leader of the senate since 1961. He is a decent human being who finds it difficult if not impossible to produce any semblance of unity with the satraps ruling over their own committee principalities.

One of the most notorious of these satraps is Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana, elected to the Senate in 1950 and, thanks to seniority, made chairman of the finance committee in 1965. He bottled up the trade reform act which may now, after months and months of delay, reach the Senate floor for an uncertain fate.

ONE CHANGE HAS occurred, Sen. J. William Fulbright, defeated for re-election in the Democratic primary in Arkansas, was for 15 years chairman of the foreign relations committee.

Night Marish Statistics

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — The pocket electronic calculator remains a hot item for retailers despite declining consumer enthusiasm, probably because it makes it possible to determine where you are in relation to inflation.

Think about it: When prices are rising at 1 or 1.5 per cent, as they did in the late 1950s and early 1960s, a simple pencil or an abacus can tell you what your dollar will be worth 10 years hence.

When they're rising at 12.1 per cent, as they did from September, 1973 through September 1974, you really can't determine quickly that a $12,000 income would have to grow to $37,604 by 1984 in order to buy as much.

But with a calculator you just punch out the magic number 3.137. Multiplying any sum by that number will tell you how much money you'd have to have in 1984 to match that sum's buying power in 1974, if inflation continues at the same rate.

This is one of the little exercises that the savings and loan people — some of whom offer calculators as premiums — believe will shock Americans into doing their bit to slow the rise in prices.

Preparing for their annual meeting, to be held next week in San Francisco, members of the U.S. League of Savings Associations have used their calculators to produce some nightmarish statistics.

Using that key number — which means it will take $3.13 by 1984 to buy what a dollar gets you today or, to put it another way, that the 1984 dollar will be worth less than 32 cents in comparison with the 1974 dollar — they find:

—Even if you paid no income tax, to match the buying power of a $7,500 annual income today you would have to earn $23,503 in 1984, if the present rate of inflation continues.

The first phrase of that preceding paragraph is, of course, almost meaningless. Not only will you have to pay a tax, but unless the tax laws are changed you'll be in a higher, more expensive tax bracket.

—By 1984, anyone looking forward to a retirement pension of $1,000 a month would need a monthly income of $3,818 to buy the equivalent in 1974 dollars.

—A $10,000 life insurance policy would, by 1984, provide just $3,191 in terms of 1974 dollars. A $25,000 policy would provide $7,978 of protection.

Bad enough? It can be worse, say league officials. Some consumer items rise faster than others. At present rates of increase it observes these prices 10 years from now:

—A $20 bag of groceries — $80.91.
—A $2.50 plate lunch — $8.79. (And don't forget the tip.)
—A 15-cent newspaper — 62 cents.

Beer drinkers will recognize how hideous the situation could become by calculating the 1984 price of a six-pack — around $3.30 — if present trends continue.

Type Of Arthritis

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been recovering from a severe arthritis attack (gouty arthritis according to an arthritis specialist). Do you have any booklets on this condition, cause and treatment? Is this a condition that will occur again? —Mrs. D.E.B.

"Arthritis" is a general term that covers many types of arthritis — that is, stiff and painful joints.

"Gouty arthritis" is pain in a joint that comes, basically, from gout, and gout is an excess of uric acid in the system.

Control the uric acid (that is, keep the gout under control) and you are taking the basic measures to prevent a recurrence of the gouty arthritis.

So what you want is my booklet on gout rather than the one on arthritis. Send 25 cents and a long, self-addressed and stamped envelope to the Big Spring Herald and ask for the booklet, "Gout, the Modern Way to Stop It."

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a woman 35. My doctor tells me I have gallstones and should have the gallbladder out to prevent further attacks (a bad pain).

I have never had an operation and don't mind saying I am scared to death. My main fear is that I might not wake up again after being put to sleep.

I've also heard that a person can have attacks even after the gallbladder is out. If so, then why bother to have it out?

And what about gaining weight afterward? I've read there is a tendency to gain. If so, how much?

Can I die form having gallstones if I don't have the operation? I haven't had any bad pain for over a month but I can feel slight discomfort at times.

What type of food brings the pain? How do I know I won't be given too much anesthetic and never wake up? Die? —J.L.

You seem to be imagining everything that might go wrong and some that won't, and I guess I'll have to give you the citation for the worry-wart letter of the month.

What Happened?

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — When it became clear his trenchant public advocacy of a new federal gasoline tax had doomed him as Federal Energy administrator, John Sawhill had a plaintive question for a friend: hadn't Bill Simon been an even more president booster of the gas tax?

INDEED HE HAD. As Deputy Secretary of the Treasury, as Sawhill's predecessor at the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) and now as Secretary of the Treasury, William Simon has stubbornly advocated a gas tax to cut consumption. But his advocacy has been confined to private administration councils or in the press as an unidentified "Treasury spokesman" — not in person on NBC's "Today" show as in Sawhill's case.

That failure to come to grips with Washington reality explains Sawhill's demise. Although he is now lionized by liberals as a martyr fired for daring to take unpopular positions, that was not the root cause of his sacking. Future energy officials may survive with positions identical to Sawhill's if they maneuver more skillfully through the Washington jungle. In other words, it was style not substance that destroyed Sawhill.

Sawhill was a sympathetic figure inside the Federal Energy bureaucracy if only for his enemies — particularly big oil's well-paid lobbyists. "The worst elements in this city conspire against him," says one knowing official.

More important, Sawhill's insistence on measures to reduce U.S. fuel consumption to reduce imports is regarded within the administration as essential to any sane energy policy — ignored by President Ford at the nation's peril. Having mastered the energy field, ex-financier Sawhill quickly arrived at the proper policy.

That he flunked his course in the Washington quicksand was clear last April when, shortly after succeeding Simon, Sawhill joined John Gardner's Common Cause. The White House was apoplectic that a evidence of God's Spirit, I'm not saying this will guarantee everyone will like you, but at least there'll be little reason to dislike you.

high official appointed by then President Nixon should join Nixon's arch-enemy.

Sawhill quit Common Cause as quickly as he had joined it, but the damage was done. Not only was suspicion planted deeply in the administration but a flaw in his own tactics was revealed: he was trying to strengthen his position with liberals and congressional Democrats while neglecting his exposed flank in the administration.

THE POINT of no-return between Sawhill and the administration really came a few weeks before the celebrated "Today" show of Oct. 2. Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington as chairman of the Senate Interior Committee submitted written interrogatories to administration officials, beginning with this loaded question: did the administration have a plan to halt or reverse the rise in world oil prices? All other officials ducked, but not Sawhill. He answered, honestly and concisely: no.

Jackson, ever alert for an opening in the administration's energy policy, attacked. Top officials, particularly Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, were outraged at Sawhill. "The feeling was," confides one official sympathetic to Sawhill, "that Sawhill was making Brownie points with Scoop Jackson at the expense of Ford, Kissinger and everybody else." Buttressing that feeling was the fact that Sawhill submitted his answers to Jackson without distributing them in the administration.

Even before he blundered by publicly advocating the gasoline tax after President Ford publicly rejected it, Sawhill's position had become untenable. Irritations between him and Simon ripened into a feud (helped by Sawhill's cutting remarks in private about Simon). Worse yet, Sawhill had no relationship whatever with the new energy czar, Interior Secretary Rogers Morton.

Benefit's Response Called 'Tremendous'

"The response was just tremendous," said Mrs. Kent Morgan, this morning about the Gala Evening held Thursday at Dora Roberts Community Center to benefit the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. "I imagine we took in more than $14,000 and would guess that we will clear in excess of $12,000 for the center. We hope to make this an annual event."

The formal was attended by 250 people who paid $25 each for tickets to the cocktail buffet to help overcome a projected $17,000 operating budget at the center.

Highlighting the evening was a showing of furs and diamonds by John Tauben of Dallas. A 27-inch mink shirtdiac was awarded to one of the guests, Mrs. Rick Chambers. Music was by Bernie Howell and His Triolins of Lubbock. Assisting in the host group were Mr. and Mrs. Wade Choate, Mrs. Doris Chalk Cole, Dr. and Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper, Mr. and Mrs. Will P. Edwards Jr., Mr. and Mrs. George McAlister, Mr. and Mrs. Lorin S. McDowell III, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Meek, Gene Mikeska, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Don Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Worthing.

Colorful decorations added a festive air to the ballroom and other entertaining areas of the club. Dozens of opera parasols were attached to the ceiling beams in the ballroom and 25,000 balloons covered the ceiling and stage. Floral arrangements in varying colors were placed throughout the foyer and ballroom. Companion arrangements were used as accents for the buffet tables, with smaller matching arrangements on other tables.

Dinner Honors Gold Star Group

The World War I Ladies Auxiliary and Barracks 1474 held their November meeting in the Kentwood Center with members of Gold Star Mothers and their husbands as honored guests.

The Gold Star group attending included Mr. and Mrs. Truett Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Moody, Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Peacock, Mr. and Mrs. Huey Rogers, Mrs. Herbert Smith, Mrs. Mildred Lusk and Mrs. S. R. Nobles.

Mrs. Thomas, who is national chaplain and state president of American Gold Star Mothers Inc., was the guest speaker and spoke of her recent trip to the national convention in Washington, D.C. She was introduced by Mrs. Lucille Jacobs, first president of the local unit of Gold Star Mothers.

A Thanksgiving dinner was served at tables decorated with yellow and bronze chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Dorothy Hull presided for the auxiliary, and Marion Irland conducted the barracks meeting.

The auxiliary will assist in decorating the Veterans Administration Hospital and will also serve cakes at the hospital, with the date to be announced.

Republican Women At Meeting

The Republican Women met in the home of Mrs. Winston Winkle for a luncheon meeting Thursday, opening their business session with the Pledge of Allegiance.

A financial report was heard. Regret was expressed that the group had received what they considered unfair news media criticism for working hard to raise funds.

The chairman, Mrs. Harold Bull, expressed appreciation to all who had helped during the campaign. A nominating committee was appointed by the chairman.

It was announced that the December meeting would be held in the home of Mrs. Ted Ferrell.

Fall Festival

The annual Harvest Festival will be held Saturday in the Lakeview School gymnasium under the sponsorship of the school's Parent-Teacher Association.

A coronation program for the new king and queen of the festival will begin at 7 p.m., with booths opening afterward. Chili, pie, hot dogs and coffee will be available, as well as soft drinks and caramel apples.

Booths will include a cake walk, dart throw, Bingo, fishing pond, ring toss and fortune telling.

The public is invited to attend. Proceeds will be used to improve facilities at the school.

Gay Hill Plans Game Night

The Gay Hill 4-H Game Night will begin at 7:30 p.m., Saturday in the Gay Hill School, with all residents of the community invited to attend. There is no charge, and free refreshments and baby-sitting will be provided. There will be entertainment for all ages. Those attending are asked to bring a game and card table.

SEMINAR — Mrs. Ozella Long, vice president of Big Spring Chapter, National Secretaries Association, is shown as she reviewed the program for Saturday's seminar with three guests speakers, Don DeLeeuw, left, G. Kendall Dobbs, R.N. and Chaplain Foy C. Richey. The seminar will begin at 9 a.m. at the Ramada Inn, 1-20 West.

Secretaries' Seminar Scheduled Saturday

The Big Spring Branch, National Secretaries Association is sponsoring a seminar for secretaries and office workers Saturday at the Ramada Inn, 1-20 West. The program theme is "Understanding Human Behavior."

Open to everyone, men or women, the fee is $10 or $3.50 for full-time students. The registration fee includes a buffet luncheon at noon.

Mrs. Ozella Long, CPS is coordinator for the seminar, and her committees include Mrs. Mary Thomas, Mrs. Jane Overman, Mrs. Ruby Nagel and Mrs. Frances Tucker, registration; and Mrs. Camille Patterson, CPS and Mrs. China Long, CPS, publicity. Arrangements for the luncheon, and style show by Miss Royale, were made by Mrs. Shirley Ryals, Mrs. Jan Steward, Mrs. Judy Lowe and Mrs. Jean Jennings. In charge of finances are Mrs. Lou Knapp, Mrs. Lillie Curry and Mrs. Helen Renegar.

Chapter officers are Mrs. Juanita Seitzler, CPS, president; Mrs. Long, vice president; Mrs. Overman, recording secretary; Mrs. Lillie Curry, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Knapp, treasurer.

Following registration at 8:30 a.m., Mrs. Seitzler will extend the welcome and, at 9:15 a.m., the program begins with the first speaker, Chaplain Foy C. Richey, director of Clinical Pastoral Education, Big Spring State Hospital.

After a mid-morning coffee break, the seminar resumes with a presentation, "Body Language," by G. Kendall Dobbs, R. N., assistant chief, Nursing Service, Veterans Administration Hospital.

Entertainment during the buffet luncheon will be a style show, "Time Out for Fashion," presented by "Miss Royale" and narrated by Mrs. Marlene Missman.

Highlighting the afternoon will be an address by Dr. Clarence D. Kron, chairman, Pedagogical Studies, University of Texas at Permian Basin, Odessa. The speaker has chosen as his topic, "Environment in Intellectual Development."

Climaxing the seminar will be a demonstration, "Role Playing," by Don DeLeeuw, management assistant, Veterans Administration Hospital.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Folks:

So many of us have gone farm and acreage nuts that I thought I would pass along this little — big hint which I think is quite a dilly.

Cedar posts and barbed wire fences cost nearly as much nowadays as the little mountain cabin or the horses and cows enclosed inside.

Cedar posts do not last forever. And the cost of labor when it comes to putting them in is prohibitive.

I know because I have a farm and when I saw those posts rotting out I nearly went "bananas."

I asked the caretaker why he didn't plant trees between each post and, by the time a post rotted, he could then use the trees? They would all be uniform by that time and he could then tie onto the trees and we would never have to replace posts again? He didn't know! "Never knew anybody who did that before."

So that's what I am going to do this year. For more than one reason...

It will make a beautiful frame for the farm. Ecology wise, it's going to be wonderful. Think of the oxygen. And tree conservation is served too. No more cutting down a tree somewhere and planting it in concrete for a post, only to have it eventually rot away.

You all might look into this. Sure would be a savings for farmers and ranchers, cause baby trees are NOT expensive.

And, oh, do I love to get letters from you all. It's you whom we all love. Guess we couldn't live without you, could we? So all my readers, I send you special kisses and hugs this very day.

Bless ya!

Dear Abby

Wife Loves Husband, But Not His Son

DEAR ABBY: I married a man who was married once before. Phil has a problem son who is now twelve. I have a daughter and son (9 and 11) by a previous marriage. I'm not saying mine are angels, but they respect me and have never been a discipline problem. Phil adores them, and they love him, too.

Phil and I have this son of his every weekend and every holiday. He is a difficult child. He lies and steals and I'm afraid he will be a bad influence on my children.

Npw Phil wants legal custody of his son so the boy can live here with us. Phil's ex will agree gladly because she can't handle him.

houseguests — his three daughters and their husbands, his mother and dad, and six grandchildren — and could he bring them to the wedding, the reception and dinner as well? We had planned a sitdown dinner after the reception.

I couldn't very tell him he couldn't so I said yes. Abby, have you ever heard of such nerve? I am still upset about it, and wonder if there was any way to have turned him down politely without making an enemy of him for life. I later learned that two of his daughters were not "visiting" as he said they were. They had recently moved to town.

FUMING IN FLORIDA
DEAR FUMING: I can't say whether a negative response would have made an enemy of him for life, but you could have told him you couldn't accommodate 14 extra.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a healthy, handsome, little five-year-old son. When people ask us when we're going to get a brother or sister Joshua, we say: "We don't plan on having any more." (It's true. We happen to think that one is enough.)

Well, you should hear some of the remarks we get. "How can you raise a child all alone? You're selfish, you're lazy! You owe it to yourself to try for a girl. A mother isn't really a mother unless she has a daughter. You'll regret it later on!"

Our relatives and friends keep pressuring us to change our minds, but we're really very happy with one child.

What can we say in our defense?

MOTHER OF ONE
DEAR MOTHER: What makes you think you have to say anything? Tell them you don't care to discuss it — then change the subject.

Midland Club
Slates Sale

The Midland Palette Club will hold its sixth annual Arts and Crafts Sale Saturday in the Dellwood Plaza Shopping Mall in Midland. The time will be from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

There will be handmade gifts of all kinds, decorations, and hand-painted items and china. Included in the sale will be paintings in all media, "on the spot" portrait sketches for anyone wishing them. The prices for all items run from $1 each and up.

DEAR TORN: Don't settle it out with Phil. Get some counseling to resolve all those hostile feelings about an unfortunate, emotionally insecure (and possibly damaged) 12-year-old boy.

The only thing the lad doesn't need is to be placed in a home where another "mother" doesn't want him. He needs a lot of love. Please open your heart to this boy and give him the same break your children have: TWO parents who love him. It could do wonders for him.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was married at one of the loveliest weddings this town has ever seen. We had everything planned down to the last detail, and nothing was left to chance. Needless to say, it cost us a lot of money, but it was worth it.

The morning of the wedding, the minister who was to officiate phoned to say he had

Mt. Bethel Baptists Set Services Honoring Fiftieth Anniversary Here

Mt. Bethel Baptist Church will celebrate its 50th anniversary Sunday, Nov. 10, according to the Rev. Johnny Mitchell, pastor. He has been

PRESENT PASTOR AND FAMILY

Grace Baptist History Told

The first portion of the history of Grace Baptist Church was given on last Friday's church page. The rest of the history is presented here as part of a continuing series on local church histories.

On December 12, 1965, Grace Baptist Church voted to purchase two acres of land located at 2000 FM 700, and soon building was begun. A 15,000 sq. ft., completely modern Sunday School plant and auditorium, cooled by 55 tons ref. air, and central heating, with a present value of one half million dollars, was completed. The dedication services were held June 25, 1967 in the new auditorium.

After the morning services a big barbecue lunch was served to all present in the City Park. The "fatted calf" for this special day was given by a good friend of the pastor, Corlas Ford, and the food was prepared by Br. Buck Boone, with the able assistance of Marlin Ralph Medlin and Leslie Wood. Special singing and dedication services were held in the afternoon.

On August 8, 1968, the pastor — Rev. Roy Honea — suffered a severe heart attack which resulted in his being forced to take a complete leave of absence for several months. The church at this time voted to call Rev. Jack Burkholder as associate pastor to take care of the work during this trying time for the church. Bro. Burkholder served faithfully as associate pastor until the pastor regained his health. Bro. Burkholder felt led to go elsewhere, and in 1973 suffered a serious illness for several months, and died of leukemia.

Other associate pastors who have served Grace Baptist Church as well as Rev. Charles Harper, now pastor of Tabernacle Baptist Church of Universal City, Texas; Rev. C. B. Hedges and Rev. Homer T. Hess, Jr.

Grace Baptist contributes monthly to the support of the Arlington Baptist Schools of Arlington, Texas; to the home mission work of the Baptist Fellowship of Texas and monthly support of some sixteen missionaries and their families around the world. The church also supports the Christian Service Foundation of the Arlington Baptist Schools, and the pastor — Rev. Roy Honea — is president of this foundation. The purpose of it is to give financial aid and assistance to students of the Arlington Baptist Schools who need help in furthering their education for full-time Christian work.

Among charter members of Grace Baptist Church are: Paul and Elsie Allen; Jimmy and Dwayne Allen; T. G. & Lizzie Allen; Mrs. Zula Barber; Janie Barber Stroud; E. R. and Leslie Barnett; Earl, Jimmie & Linda Dean; Mary Dority; David & Letha Duke; Mr. and Mrs. Theo Earnest; Doris Earnest Badgett; Francis Earnest Aberegg; Kay Earnest Raymond; Douglas Earnest; Jimmy Earnest; Raymond Earlev; Mrs. Sarah Fritts; A. with the congregation since Feb. 28, 1972. The public is invited to hear the guest speakers, who are two ex-pastors.

On Friday, Nov. 8 at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m., the church will celebrate its 50th anniversary. Present and former members, ex-pastors and friends will gather for the event. Guests are expected from Midland, Big Spring, Snyder, Odessa and Colorado City. Each Church will render special musical selections.

Mrs. Faye Warner will preside Friday with the Rev. Robert L. Parramore, El Paso, former pastor, as guest speaker. He served as pastor here from Feb. 1969-

June 1971. Mrs. Lois Mitchell will give the welcome and Mrs. Viola Thomas will present a short talk on "Occasion." The alternate member to speak will be Mrs. Christine Green. Mt. Bethel choirs under the direction of the musician, Mrs. Jo Hazel Dawson, will present special music.

The climax of the service Sunday will feature another ex-pastor, the Rev. Melvin Montgomery, who now pastors Antioch Baptist Church in Wichita Falls. He served here from March 1, 1961 to Dec. 1968. Bertram Warner will give the Special recognition will be given to all ex-members returning.

Local delegates of Jehovah's Witnesses have returned home from a two-day assembly held in Snyder this past week end. Twenty-five congregations from West Texas were represented. The convention saw a peak attendance of 1700 on Sunday when the assembly reached a climax with the lecture entitled, "What the Near Future Holds," delivered by District Supervisor P. D. Moske.

Two Local Men Are Honored

AMARILLO — Two Big Spring residents were elected here Wednesday to major positions during the annual meeting of the 2-million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The Rev. Dr. Kenneth G. Patrick, pastor of First Baptist Church, Big Spring, was elected as a trustee of Mary Hardin-Baylor College.

Joseph D. Pickle, editor of the Big Spring Herald, was elected as a trustee of the Baptist Standard.

A CORDIAL WELCOME

DID YOU HEAR THE ONE ABOUT THE HOLY ROLLERS?

Religious fervency was once the butt of unfunny jokes. Time was when it was less than popular or proper to engage oneself in "religious fanaticism." He would become the object of ridicule or scorn. One had to be a part of the religious establishment to be accepted.

That was tragic. Because it made a lot of people feel they had to remain within the confines of a decaying, archaic system.

Not so today. You can be you. You can experience freedom of expression and involvement in Christ without fear.

Liberty in worship, sincerity in service, relevance in creed. That's what it's all about.

Come on in, the water's fine!

OUT-OF-DATE ?

Happiness and contentment . . . the sight of a cheerful baby easily brings these beautiful thoughts to our minds.

Yet in the bustle of life today we often find ourselves wondering how to achieve joy and serenity.

The Church has the answer. Its teachings stress truth, compassion, morality . . . principles that never go out-of-date.

A person nurtured in a Christian atmosphere attains the tranquility so necessary in this world of change and turmoil.

Start this week.

Final Arguments Held In Water Suit Here

By JOHN EDWARDS

The 118th District Court jury started deliberations this morning at 8:30 on sixteen special issues in a suit filed by the Howard County Water Control and Improvement District Number One against the City of Coahoma.

No decisions had been announced by noon today.

The most democratic way to finance water, gasoline or pinto beans "is that, if you use it, you pay for it," an attorney for the water district which sells water to the City of Coahoma told the 118th District Court jury Thursday afternoon.

"This 1955 bond does that," John Burgess said. "This 1962 bond is a tax over all the district."

G. Ben Bancroft, an attorney for the City of Coahoma, objected to disposition of the 1955 bonds as only revenue bonds.

Voters approved these bonds as both tax and revenue bonds, Bancroft said, in the last of a series of objections made by both sides during final arguments.

Burgess agreed to the description Bancroft demanded, and District Judge Ralph W. Caton asked jurors to decide whether to deliberate Thursday night or today. They decided to return early this morning.

"WONDERLAND" QUOTED In his closing arguments, Bancroft contended the Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 board was seeking to "change the very detailed 1955 and '56 contracts with one word in the minutes, excess."

Bancroft compared this to a passage in "Alice in Wonderland" when a character says words mean what he wants them to mean. Opening a checkbook for the jury, Bancroft said that, if the water district's argument was right, "a blank checkbook is what the City of Coahoma agreed to in 1959 through 1985."

Burgess later said that "insofar as regardless of circumstances that may arise, perhaps the contract (1959 agreement) would have been irrevocable."

"I don't think we've ever advocated that action in February, 1959, just took that (1955-56) contract and tore it up," Burgess said.

"We wonder where we are today," Burgess said. "If they'd just pay the bond money, we'd take care of the rest of it."

Burgess, who opened and closed final arguments as attorney for the plaintiff, focused the jurors attention on the now controversial 1959 joint Coahoma City Council and water district meeting.

The Coahoma City Council and water district board agreed the city secretary, Mrs. Mattie Miller, would add to bills from the district to its only customer, the city, enough to pay increased water costs, to pay for '55 bonds and to pay operating expenses, Burgess said.

"From the minutes, they say that's what they're going to do, and they did it," Burgess said. "Look at what they did for 14 years. That gets you the answer."

Now, the city is paying the district 20 cents less per 1,000 gallons than the district is paying the City of Big Spring for processed water, Burgess said.

Lanny Hamby, who assisted Bancroft with defense of the city, spoke next to the jury.

Hamby said he wanted to clear up any question of integrity the presentation in court may have raised.

Hamby praised men both with the council and L. E. board as dedicated public servants.

"CREDIT CARD?" The jury must decide, Hamby said. "Was it intended that she was to have this authority, without being revoked, for the duration of the contract or for a period of more than one year?"

"Whether or not the city intended in this situation a Carte blanche credit card," Hamby explained, "irregardless of other sources of revenue," was the question posed.

No new consideration or benefits were provided to the city because of the 1959 agreement, Hamby said.

Hamby pointed to lack of evidence the city council met separately and voted to amend the written contract, as the contract requires.

Both the 1955 contract and 1956 supplement were specific and precise about obligations, Bancroft told the jury.

He called the 1959 meeting informal. "In fact it was so informal the water district met following the meeting in the back of somebody's car or a cafe."

"That the City of Big Spring was going up on water rates and that somebody forgot to establish a $10,000 reserve required for bonds "are the only two things mentioned in the minutes," Bancroft said.

PAST, FUTURE

Bancroft started talking about the option to tax instead of charge the city for all payment of 1955 bonds. "I hate to interrupt Mr. Bancroft," Burgess told the judge, "but I thought we had an understanding about that."

"Well, Ben, this thing (trial) is what to do about $29,000 and has nothing to do with next year," Caton said. The water district wants $29,000 in claimed unpaid sums from the City of Coahoma.

But later Bancroft told the jury, "We're not concerned about what happened in the past but what happens in the future."

Paper Erred, Cagle Says

A $100,000 in surplus used to prepay 1962 bonds came from taxes assessed for the 1962 bonds, Oscar Cagle, chairman of the board of the Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1, said. Cagle said the Big Spring Herald was wrong in saying the surplus was established with revenue from the City of Coahoma.

Burgess again addressed the jury. Water board directors are not going to buy a "Cadillac or Continental" and put Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 on the side, Burgess said.

The only unusual expense Burgess noted was purchase of a funeral wreath for a deceased board member. Bancroft objected that this evidence had not been introduced into court. Burgess said it had.

COULD CUT OFF To the charge the water board's interpretation of the agreement was unreasonable, Burgess said the board could, under contract, have cut off water when Coahoma failed to pay bills as submitted.

"If we're unreasonable," Burgess later said of the water district directors, "then so is everybody else all these years."

"I don't know what 'new consideration' really means," Burgess said, referring to another issue. Burgess, however, said continuing to receive water was new consideration.

"I'm going to object to that," Bancroft interjected.

"That's not the law, and Mr. Burgess knows it's not the law," Caton sustained the objection.

Burgess supported his point by saying the 1962 tax bonds financed another water line costing $230,000. "Not one penny of that has ever been paid by the City of Coahoma," Burgess said.

Again, Bancroft objected, saying "people in the City of Coahoma pay taxes, too."

"All we ask them (city council members) to do is pay $9,500 to $10,000 a year, Burgess said.

"If they'd just pay the bond money, we'd take care of the rest of it," Burgess said.

TRAIN OFF TRACK Burgess turned to the question of the separate council meeting required to amend the contract. When the water district left to meet alone, the council continued meeting, Burgess said. "That that meeting was still being in session is sufficient," Burgess said. "All we want is let's get this train back on the track, Burgess said. He hoped settling the lawsuit might help resolve the conflict between the two governing bodies.

DEATHS

Carl Wadley

COLORADO CITY — Carl Wadley, 52, of Yuma, Ariz., and formerly of Colorado City, died Saturday at his home in Yuma. Services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in St. James Baptist Church.

The Rev. Robert Bracy, pastor, and the Rev. F. D. Crenshaw, Baptist minister of San Angelo, will officiate. Burial will be in Mitchell County Cemetery.

Mr. Wadley was born May 10, 1922, in Wichita, Kan. He was an independent plumber and a World War II veteran.

Survivors include two sisters, Mrs. Aletha Cavitt of Los Angeles, Calif., and Mrs. Arvilla White of Ozona; and three brothers, William Wadley of Colorado City, and R. E. Wadley and Preston Wadley both of Los Angeles, Calif.

Vernay Cook

Vernay (Mrs. Alton D.) Cook, 65, died at 9:45 a.m. today in a local hospital following an extended illness.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church in Garden City, with the Rev. Herbert McPherson, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Garden City Cemetery under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Cook was born Aug. 18, 1909, in Fluvanna. She married Alton D. Cook Dec. 25, 1941, in Lubbock. She had resided in Garden City since 1941, was a member of the Garden City First Baptist Church and the Texas State Teachers Association.

She attended Hardin-Simmons University before transferring to Mary Hardin Baylor College where she received her BA degree. She earned her Master of Arts degree at Texas Tech.

She taught school in Garden City several years and was with the Big Spring school system from 1951 in the Special Education division until ill health forced her to retire in 1973.

Survivors include her husband, of Garden City; a sister, Mrs. Raymond Hinds, Portland, Ore.; a brother, E. V. Boynton, Midland, several nieces and nephews.

Mintings Ordered

The Congress of the United States has authorized the minting of new reverse designs for the United States dollar, half dollar and quarter coins, in order to commemorate our nation's 200th birthday in 1976.

The designs for these coins were chosen in a national competition as a most appropriate expression of our country's heritage and achievement.

This U.S. mint is now accepting orders for special collector sets of these coins in both proof and un-circulated sets. The price of a proof set of a dollar, half dollar and quarter minted of 40 per cent pure silver is $15 and the cost of an un-circulated set is $9.

The Eisenhower dollar has a new reverse design with the moon and Liberty bell while the half dollar has a new reverse with the Independence Hall picture.

The quarter picture is a Revolutionary War soldier and eternal flame. Each of the coins will be dated on the reverse with the dates "1776-1976".

The sets may be ordered from the San Francisco Mint for delivery after July 5, 1975, through an order blank available at the local post office.

All orders must be post-marked before Jan. 31, 1975.

Four Directors Added By JCs

Big Spring Jaycees are showing such rapid growth this year that they added four new directors in order to have a director for each ten members, according to Eddie Cole, president.

New directors include Dub Clinton, Carl Van Vleet, Johnny Tonn and Dale Ferguson. The club now has 106 members.

The Texas Jaycee president, Frank Ziebell, also commended the club for chartering and starting a club in Lamesa.

In their recent meeting, the club also set plans for a rummage sale Nov. 23-24 with details to be announced at a later date.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are forecast today in parts of Texas and Louisiana, along the southern Atlantic states, and in a band from Iowa into eastern New Mexico, according to the National Weather Service. Rain is expected in the Pacific Northwest.

Port OKed by Council

STANTON — Two developments which could have far-reaching effects on the development of Stanton and Martin County were discussed Tuesday night at the regular monthly meeting of the City Council.

A proposed airport for the city and county was approved by the council after a cheaper airport plan was presented.

Stanton Mayor Cecil Bridges who had conferred with the Federal Aeronautics Administration, said the total cost of the project could be cut from $350,000 to only $240,504. The city and county would have to come up with $7,031.50.

The council also learned from Jimmy Stallings, George Glynn and Paige Eiland that the three plan to move in a special type home from Lubbock. If it sells, they plan to bring in more to relieve the housing situation here.

Youth Charged

A fight which began in the high school hallway at noon Thursday ended with a 15-year-old youth turned over to juvenile authorities.

The fray was between the student and a Mexican American boy at the school. Two assistant principals attempted to break it up and the youth "kept fighting the teachers," according to the report.

Forman Almost Said No

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — A night-long squabble over extra money — by some accounts a half-million dollars to be placed in an empty valise — almost resulted in George Foreman walking out of his world heavyweight title fight against Muhammad Ali just 36 hours before the bell.

Foreman didn't get the money, but he climbed into the ring at 4 a.m. Oct. 30, by his own admission, a confused and unhappy man.

"It was very trying," he said. "I had to sit up all night arguing and I admit it was a strain. You're supposed to take it all in stride if you're a champion, so I don't want this to sound like a cop-out."

"Under other circumstances," Foreman said, "the fight wouldn't have been."

The ex-champion's title disappeared when he carried, his style reverted to that of a flailing amateur, and he was knocked out in the eighth round.

At the same time, and partly in relation to the Foreman money dispute, the government of Zaire, which spent millions trying to erase its old image as the chaotic Congo, went back to methods that its publicists said were long gone.

Foreign nationals' passports were taken away. British promoter John Daly was refused the right to leave the country. A photographer's camera was confiscated and his film exposed. Foreman was delayed at the airport and questioned by security officials. The boxer himself guided the trembling wife of one of the promoters onto a departing plane.

The story of the money and the government's fit of demagoguery comes from four sources, including Daly, who told parallel accounts. Foreman's version differs at some points. Publication was withheld until all the principals left Zaire.

Admits Bowl Fever High

By The Associated Press

While Texas and Baylor collide in Waco to cut the Southwest Conference football madness down to a two-horse race Saturday, the fifth-ranked Texas Aggies will try to rope Southern Methodist's Mustangs in the stadium where the Cadets hope to be singing their alma mater New Year's Day.

Texas A&M Coach Emory Bellard admits Cotton Bowl fever is heavy on the minds of his team which is an eight-point favorite over SMU. "We've been thinking Cotton Bowl all along," says Bellard. "That's what it's all about. There's no reason for us to think beyond the next game, which is SMU, but we still have Cotton Bowl on our minds even though we're still a long way from being there."

A&M will be 7-1 and 4-0 in SWC play when the Aggies and some 30,000 followers invade Dallas Saturday.

A crowd of 45,000 is expected in the Cotton Bowl. SMU has been barely drawing 15,000 or so of its own fans to the games so you can see how many Aggies will be coming.

"Texas A&M has the best defense we have faced and that includes Ohio State and Texas," says SMU Coach Dave Smith. "It will take a fanatical effort on our part to stay with them."

The Aggies, particular the defense, have just been this side of fanatical themselves this season. Perhaps, they've taken a theme from Bellard who says, "Losing just ears my insides to pieces. I couldn't stay in coaching if I were continuously losing. I know it's no fun."

This is the first time since 1957 that A&M has won its first four league games and the 7-1 overall record also is the best since that year.

The Texas-Baylor collision in Waco is simply a matter of survival. Both teams own a conference loss and no team has ever won the SWC title with two defeats.

Coahoma Wins Junior Game

COAHOMA — In a seventh grade grid contest here Thursday night in Bulldog Stadium, Coahoma turned back Rannels, 22-16.

Tony Flores, Tim Davidson and Isidro Mendez moved across the end zone for a touchdown piece-in Coahoma's drive. Mendez gained two PAT's and Davidson, one.

Carlin Accepts Bid

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Vanderbilt, a blossoming Southeastern Conference contender, will make its first postseason appearance in 19 years Dec. 28 when the Commodores meet Texas Tech in the Peach Bowl.

This word came Thursday from George Crumbley, executive director of the Peach Bowl. He said Steve Sloan, Vanderbilt's second-year coach, immediately accepted the bid for his 5-2 Commodores.

Coach Jim Carlin of 5-2-1 Texas Tech accepted the bid if his Raiders defeat Texas Christian battle Saturday, Crumbley said.

"Jim accepted the invitation," said Crumbley, "but only on the condition that his club beats TCU Saturday, which they are heavily favored to do."

Sloan, 29-year-old former Alabama quarterback, who played in three bowl games and coached in five others as an assistant at Alabama, Florida State and Georgia Tech, brought perennial SEC doorman Vanderbilt to respectability last year with a 5-6 record. "I'm so happy that I feel like it's the only bowl I've ever been to," said Sloan, who was the Orange Bowl's most valuable player in Alabama's 39-28 victory over Nebraska in 1966.

"Yes sir, I feel like I've been at Vanderbilt 20 years and this is my first bowl," he added.

"I think our rebuilding program is ahead of schedule," said Vanderbilt athletic director Clay Stapleton, whose Com-modores last made a bowl appearance in the 1955 Gator Bowl.

Vanderbilt still has games left with Kentucky, Tulane, Louisville and Tennessee in the regular season.

Texas Tech still faces Baylor and Arkansas after Saturday's tussle with TCU.

Texas Tech has played in several bowls recently, its latest appearance a victory over Tennessee last year in the Gator Bowl.

The Peach Bowl game will be played in Atlanta Stadium.

Fire Put Out

MEMPHIS (AP) — The Memphis Southmen have wrapped up the Central Division championship of the World Football League, but they're not ready to take it according to running back J.J. Jennings.

Jennings says the Southmen, a 49-24 winner over the Chicago Fire in a nationally televised game Thursday night, have a schedule to meet and it includes a victory next week over the Charlotte Hornets.

"We're on schedule," he said in the dressing room after he and John Harvey scored two touchdowns each in helping hand the Fire its 10th straight loss, dropping Chicago's record to 7-12.

"We want to win next week," Jennings said. "We're the best team in the league."

The loss dimmed Chicago's chances of making the WFL playoffs, but Fire owner Tom Origer has threatened to keep his team away from the postseason action anyway and says Chicago won't even show up for its last regular season game against Philadelphia.

Loop Scores 32-12 Win

GARDEN CITY — Loop concluded season play here Thursday night with a 32-12 district eight-man win over Garden City.

Ron Hand's two six-pointers engineered Loop's victory effort.

In final district standings, Loop shows a 4-1 record, and Garden City, 1-4.

Klondike Runs By BC, 34-16

GAIL — In an eight-man final contest for the season, Klondike defeated Borden County, 34-16 here Thursday night.

Klondike's Jimmy Bradford led his team in scoring with 20 points. Monty Smith and John Anderson collected TD's for Borden County.

Klondike and Borden County finish the campaign with identical 5-4 totals.

OHS Rides To Victory

Odessa High rode past Big Spring, 34-7, in a junior varsity test here Thursday afternoon on Blankenship Field.

Big Spring's lone touchdown was provided by Jerry Marquez's one-yard run in the first quarter. This opening kickoff drive netted 65 yards.

Odessa High scored 19 points in the second, six in the third and seven in the fourth.

Big Spring JV's overall record is 3-5. The next game for the locals is with San Angelo, there, Nov. 14.

More or Lesh

By CLARK LESHER

A state rating system is going along with the Big Spring positive thinking ability as the Steers stand even-up to harness the Broncos.

Floyd Sorley, father of Tom, sent to the sports desk a clipping of interest.

In a recent game, Tom led the Husker yearlings to a 6-0 win over University of Nebraska-Omaha. The 6-1 195-pounder scored his team's lone TD on an eight-yard run around right end in the third quarter.

Tom's arm showed plenty of zing as he completed three out of six passes for 31-yards. Sorley comments he visits Lincoln as often as possible.

The former Big Spring product is making the necessary adjustment to conform to Big Eight's brand of play.

Rumors were flying around that Tom might be elevated to varsity level. But the NU staff figured fresh status better for him. More experience.

Western Texas has been established as the basketball team to beat in a Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Western JC Conference poll. Howard County was picked runner-up.

A comment from Dave Smith, Southern Methodist head football coach, "There has been a lot of things that have hurt football. I guess pro football and their problems has had something to do with it. I can't see a sandlot football game anymore. Every youngster is playing soccer. The 30-scholarship limit is going to give fewer players a chance to play college football and the interest is maybe lagging in a high school level."

"Football is too accessible to people. They just turn on their TV and there's a game. If college football had a blackout it would help."

The SWC is offering a play every 22 seconds this fall. The average game consists of 138 offensive plays, 12 punts, five extra point attempts, seven kickoffs and one half-time show.

History in the making? Texas A&M, Texas and Baylor are currently one-two-three in the SWC standings. There has never been a race finish in that order in 59 previous grid seasons — the nearest being in 1921, when the Aggies won. Texas placed second and Baylor fourth.

Cliff Drysdale of South Africa and Australia's John Alexander will conduct a tennis exhibition match Sunday in the Midland Lee gym.

Following the singles match, Drysdale will team up with Midland Country Club's Keith Diepraam, formerly of South Africa. Alexander teams up with Raquet Club's Jim Hill.

Tickets are $4 and are available at the Midland Community Theatre box office.

Coahoma Downs G-R In Finale

COAHOMA — In a see-saw battle, Coahoma eight graders won out over Rannels-Goliad, 32-26, here Thursday night in Bulldog Stadium.

The loss cracked an eight game winning streak compiled by coach Bob Zellars' crew. Rannels finished the season on a 8-1 note. Coahoma closed out its yearly book report with a 6-2 record.

Eddie Puga, Rannels 5-5 130-pound halfback led his team in the scoring department with three touchdowns. Ysa Rubio aided Rannels with a six-pointer.

The lead changed hands several times. Coahoma scored first on a G-R first quarter fumble. The puppies hit the end zone on two plays from the 28-yard line. Coahoma ran over the PAT.

Puga wearing Number 33 scored twice in the first. He hit Coahoma's end zone on five and 12-yard runs of 66-yard and 53-yard drives respectively. Rickie Gutierrez passed to Danny Crosby for the PAT in Puga's initial TD impact.

Coahoma in the second scored from eight yards out. This involved a 46-yard five-play drive. G-R bounced back with Rubio scoring on a 15-yard 47-yard pursuit pass tip by a Coahoma player thrown by Gutierrez.

In the third, the Puppies drove a hard 65-yards in six plays and 28-yard run TD. G-R moved back into the lead on a fourth 78-yard Puga 27-yard sprint.

Coahoma tucked the win its in pocket on a late fourth quarter 12 yard TD run. The Puppies drove 48-yards in five plays. Coahoma's PAT was run over.

Coahoma's scoring resulted in Travis Frazier and Danny Tucker gaining two TD's each. Frazier picked up three PAT's and Tucker, one.

Puga closed out his eighth grade grid career in stepping off 1,554 yards through nine games. Against Coahoma, Puga totaled 186 yards and averaged 172-yards per carry per game.

Coahoma Nudges Snyder

SNYDER — The Coahoma Junior Varsity team came from behind three times Thursday night as they defeated the Snyder Travis team 24-21.

Snyder scored first in the contest to take an 8-0 lead in the first quarter, but Ken Kelso scored for Coahoma on an eight yard run. Danny Thomas ran over the extra points to give Coahoma an 8-7 edge after one quarter.

Snyder scored again in the second quarter, taking a 15-8 lead before Coahoma came from behind again, scoring on a 16-yard run by Dusty Douglas. Ken Kelso's extra points gave Coahoma the 16-15 halftime lead.

In the third quarter, Snyder scored again, but the extra point failed, giving them a 21-16 lead after the end of the third.

Lae in the game, with only three minutes left in the contest, Coahoma scored again on a nine yard Douglas run, capping an 80 yard drive. Ken Kelso fumbled the extra point try, but Don Luce recovered it in the end zone for the two points.

The win upped Coahoma to a final mark of 7-2.

Cosell Fooled

NEW YORK (AP) — "That's great, champ," said a laughing Howard Cosell.

"I've got to go, but God bless you, champ, and we'll see you when you get back."

Cosell, in the press box at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium for the Oct. 28 National Football League Monday night game, thought he was talking to Muhammad Ali in Zaire, barely 24 hours before Ali knocked out George Foreman and regained heavyweight boxing championship.

Now the American Broadcasting Co. and the Pittsburgh Steelers admit Cosell might have been victimized by a 20-year-old Canadian college student.

Michael Banks, who attends the University of Western Ontario, says he mimicked Ali's voice in a telephone call to Cosell during the telecast of the Falcons-Steelers game.

State Votes 'Yes'

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina State University football players have voted to accept a bid to play in the 16th annual Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston Dec. 23, athletic director Willis Casey said Thursday.

Their opponent is expected to be the University of Houston. State now has a 7-2 record and Houston stands 6-2.

"Any team that gets a bowl bid should be happy because it signifies a successful season," said Casey. "We at State are delighted to be going to the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl."

State will play Cotton Bowlbound Penn State here Saturday. Houston has an open date this weekend before playing Memphis State in Houston Nov. 16.

The last meeting of the Wolfpack and the Cougars was in 1967 when State upset the third-ranked Cougars 16-6.

State started the 1974 season with six consecutive victories and was ranked eighth in the nation before losing to North Carolina and Maryland.

AFTER RIDING HIGH THREE YEARS Bike Sales Slow

NEW YORK (AP) — Inflation and a weak economy have caught up with the runaway bicycle market. After riding high for nearly three years, bike sales are slowing down, leaving retailers with large inventories and forcing manufacturers to lay off workers. Predictions of a slow Christmas season are common in the industry. "We expected sales this year to be 60 per cent above last year but it's only going to be 20 per cent higher," says a spokesman for a major bicycle retailer.

FANTASTIC
A bike buyer for another retailer says, "What's happened is that bicycle sales and inventories have been on a fantastic upswing in the last several years. We anticipated sales of 16 million bikes this year, but they were only about 13.5 million. So this season we're on a moderate upswing and we're caught with fantastic inventories. Our orders are down as much as 40 per cent to our manufacturers."

CUT PRICES
Manufacturers say they have a boom-time labor force but instead of putting it to work filling customary large Christmas orders, they're laying their workers off as much as two months early. "In the last couple of years we've shipped everything we got our hands on but this year orders are behind 25 to 30 per cent. Instead of laying people off at the end of November as usual, we had to do it at the end of September," says a representative of Murray-Ohio in Nashville, Tenn., the nation's largest bike maker. Manufacturers say they plan to hire back most of the workers they laid off by the first of 1975. They say retailers will have sold their inventories by then and will be placing spring and summer orders. "Retailers are going to dump this Christmas. There'll be heavy promotion and price slashing," says a leading retailer. "We can't afford to keep inventories at present prime rate levels and we don't want heavy inventories on high-priced goods with prices starting to come down on raw materials."

Hance, Ezzell Lead Dawson

LAMESA — Top attention in the election in Dawson County was in the Rich Anderson-Mike Ezzell race for the state legislature. Ezzell collected 1,331 to Anderson's, 1,120 in that race.

In the state senate race, Kent Hance swept by Robert Garner with 1,791 to 603 for Garner.

Running unopposed in Dawson County were George Hansard, district judge; Leslie Pratt, county judge; Robert E. L. Smith, district clerk; Louie White, county clerk; Clyde Bostick, treasurer; L. E. Petty, county surveyor; A. B. Furlow, commissioner precinct 2; Dalton Myers, commissioner, precinct 4 and Richard Nelson, Justice of the Peace.

Opening lead: King of ♥.

Here is an opportunity for you to play in a game with some of the world's great experts. In a major team match you are sitting West and the opponents reach four spades—though the auction is somewhat unusual, your opponents have arrived in the only game contract that stands a chance. An international championship hangs in the balance. If South succeeds in his contract, his team will win the title; if he goes down, you are the champions.

You lead the king and queen of hearts, both of which win, and continue with a third heart which declarer ruffs. He leads the king of spades. Plan your defense.

You are at the crucial point of the hand. If you took the ace of spades, you can no longer defeat the contract. Declarer wins any return you make, finesses the ten of spades and draws the outstanding trumps with the queen. Now, he takes the rest of the tricks with his minor suit winners.

But see what happens if you allow declarer's king of spades to win! Declarer must draw trumps, so he continues with another spade. Again, you must refuse to take the ace. You play the jack and dummy's queen wins—but now there is no way for declarer to make his game.

Declarer cannot afford to play a third round of trumps, for that will exhaust all his trumps. Thus, when you win the ace, you will be able to cash another heart trick for a one-trick set.

However, declarer cannot make his contract if he does not play a third round of trumps. When he tries to run diamonds, East ruffs the third round with his remaining trump to complete the defensive book, and West's ace of spades is the setting trick.

Congratulations on winning your first big bridge championship!

ADULT RIDERS

Another reason to clear out 1974 bikes by the first of the new year, say retailers, is to stock up on bikes made to meet new federal safety standards.

Under the new regulations, all bikes sold in the United States by May 1, 1975 must have 16 reflectors—among them are four on the pedals, two-sided reflectors on the spokes of each wheel and reflective tires to give motorists the whole outline of a bike at night. Bike brakes must make prescribed stops at certain speeds and nothing on the bike can extend five inches above the seat.

JAMES HUGHES
Hughes Winner
Of BL Award

James Hughes, senior student at Big Spring High School was named winner of the Bauch and Lamb Science award, based on scholastic ability, achievement in science and in extra-curricular science activity.

Hughes is president of both the Astronomy Club of which Gary Carlson is sponsor and the Science Club of which Joe Reed is sponsor.

Hughes is also preparing an entry for the spring science fair in Alpine. It will be the first Big Spring science fair entry in several years.

As the result of receiving the award, he is eligible to compete for the University of Rochester scholarships at $3,500 per year.

BEER, BOURBON
"But Oklahoma beat them all in hospitality. 'Twas plain to see American was their nationality," goes a verse in their history book, "How It Happened."

"If we'd accepted all requests that were received to stay, no doubt the Ammunition Train would be there to this day," goes the verse in the book Charles Rice, 78, brought to the reunion of "what is left of Co. F, 111th Ammunition Train, 36th Division."

That's the way W. Clay Tichener, 80, of Santa Maria, Calif., described the nine World War I veterans who assembled in an Oklahoma City hotel bar Wednesday night.

"These men are all volunteers of the First World War. When we went to France in late 1917 there were 186 men and 212 horses. Today there are 12 men alive so far as we know, and there are nine of us present," said Tichener, once a newspaperman for the Oklahoman & Times here and the Los Angeles Times.

PLAIN TO SEE

For an hour, the gentlemen sat over beer and bourbon drinks in the bar, swapping again the familiar stories of packing the ammo from the railroad to the front lines against the Germans.

Then they moved to a dining room and Jack Roberts, 76, got a telephone call through to St. Petersburg, Fla., to the widow of Col. Donald R. Bonfoey, who as a major had commanded Company F.

When Roberts handed the telephone to Tichener, who had been captain of Co. 4, Tichener's voice broke, and he admitted he was crying. The telephone was passed along the table, but some of the men couldn't hear well enough to converse with Mrs. Bonfoey. Rice can hear well enough, but has a speech problem so couldn't make himself understood on the telephone.

'THANKS, SWEETHEART'
Finally the conversation ended with Frank McGuigan, 79, saying "Thank you, sweetheart."

It was McGuigan who engineered the first of the annual reunions last year. Oklahoma City was chosen as the site because most of the Co. F men live here—Rice, McGuigan, Roberts, Byron Cook, 81, and Mack Landrum, 77.

John Bradley, 81, of Tulsa, was at the table as was Clay's brother, McHenry Tichener, youngest of the group at 75. McHenry Tichener, Clay's brother of Harlingen, Tex., is one of the few Co. F vets still active, and runs a group of broadcast stations in Texas, Florida and Arizona.

The only men missing from the gathering Wednesday night were F.M. Young of Windsor, Mo., Sam Campbell of Kansas City, Mo., and G.C. Wimbish of Oklahoma City.

CAMP BOWIE
Before it became Co. F, the group was Troop B, First Oklahoma Cavalry in the National Guard. It was mobilized for the war at Camp Bowie at Fort Worth, Tex.

The company historian, author of "How It Happened And Other Poems," is or was Pvt. Edwin Underhill, a Texan whose further identification is unknown to the Co. F veterans beyond the title page of the worn, brown leather bound book Charles Rice brings to the reunion every year.
