

MANY JOBS ARE AT STAKE Army May Shut Down Several Facilities

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is reported nearing a decision to cut back or close nearly a half-dozen major facilities in the United States, a move that probably would eliminate thousands of jobs amid a slumping economy.

Pentagon sources say they expect the politically touchy cutbacks to affect several Army depots and one arsenal.

Secretary of the Army Howard H. Callaway has met this week with congressmen and others who have been seeking to avert closure of the Frankford Arsenal in Philadelphia and significant reductions at the Blue Grass Army Depot in Lexington, Ky.

Several other states also are likely to be affected by impending cutbacks in Army depot operations, but Army spokesmen declined to identify them.

The Ford administration is bound to come under strong attack in the affected areas for adding to already growing unemployment.

On the other hand, the administration finds itself with a defense budget whose purchasing power has shrunk by an estimated $11 billion this year, primarily because of inflation, and the armed services are under pressure to trim wherever they can.

The Army, Navy and Air Force all sent Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger base-closing recommendations about a year ago. But no action was taken then because the national economy had weakened.

Those lists have been reviewed and updated and the congressional elections are over. So a new base-closing package is considered likely. Officials indicate it will affect at least one other service, probably the Air Force.

While an across-the-board reduction in the base structure was deferred, the Army has moved ahead with a series of reductions in the United States and abroad designed to scale down its support and headquarters overhead.

The impending actions involving depots and the Frankford arsenal are said to fit into this continuing Army program.

747 Jet Crew Is Praised

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Survivors of the Lufthansa jumbo jet crash praised the crew today and said without their quick action many more lives would have been lost.

Fifty-nine of the 157 persons aboard were killed when the West German airline's Boeing 747 lost power as it took off from Nairobi airport for South Africa Wednesday, plunged into a muddy field and exploded. It was the first fatal 747 crash.

"Looking at the scene, one would not expect too many survivors," a local civil aviation official said. "I think the crew reacted very fast at the first sign of trouble, and that accounts for the very large number of survivors."

Renate Kahn of Dallas, Tex., said an American steward, Tom Scott of Los Angeles, forced open an emergency door that two stewardesses were unable to wrench free, shouted "Out! Out! Out!" and got dozens of passengers moving toward the exit.

"We all would be dead if it hadn't been for him," said Mrs. Kahn. "Scott took an 89-year-old, deaf German man and dragged him out. He went back inside and checked the body of the plane until he was sure no one else could be rescued. He left only then. That's beyond the call, in my book."

A Lufthansa spokesman said the cause of the crash has not been determined. The plane, which had come from Frankfurt, was about 200 feet off the ground when it lost power and dropped back to the ground.

Consumer Costs Move Up Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher prices for clothing, food and automobiles pushed the Consumer Price Index a per cent higher in October, the Labor Department reported today.

The one-month increase in the Consumer Price Index was smaller than the 1.2 per cent increase in September, but still was considerably higher than normal and showed that Americans still are paying the price of inflation in their purchases.

The over-all increase in consumer prices in the 12 months has been 12.2 per cent, the biggest 12-month increase since a 12.6 per cent price rise in 1947.

The Labor Department said Americans in October were paying higher prices for new and used cars, mortgage interest costs, clothing, sugar, cereal and bakery products.

These were offset partially by declines in prices for meat and gasoline.

GAS IS DOWN

Gasoline prices were down 2.7 per cent during the month and the average cost per gallon was 53 cents for regular and 57 cents for premium, the department said.

Prices of meat, poultry and fish were reported down one per cent during October following two months of large increases. The declines for beef, especially, were larger than usual.

The Consumer Index in October stood at 153.2, meaning that goods that cost $100 in 1967 now cost, on the average, $153.20.

But there were hopeful signs in the October index that the increase in prices of nonfood items—including such things as household goods, furniture and appliances—might finally be easing.

The Labor Department said prices of nonfood items increased six-tenths of one per cent in October, down from a one per cent increase in September and the smallest increase since December a year ago. It was up six-tenths of a per cent then, too.

In a companion report, the Labor Department reported that workers had three-tenths of one per cent less earnings to spend in October than they did in September. It said real spendable earnings for the 12 months were down 4.9 per cent.

Prices of pork, poultry and fresh fruit also declined in October.

RISING COSTS — Norfolk Virginia Leger-Star cartoonist Herb Briggs depicts a moonshine still operator contemplating the woes of inflation and changing drinking habits.

Spiraling Costs Hurt Moonshiners

Merritt Sallinger of the Norfolk, Va., Ledger-Star behind an abandoned farmhouse in the swamp woods of northeastern North Carolina on a recent, frost-chilled night.

In the moonshine business, Sam is known as "a factory man." He is also out of work.

Truth is, the spiraling costs of production — the cost of sugar, largely — and what Sam calls "a dying market" are sending moonshine operations down the drain. "I'm ruined," Sam moaned. "I think this business today would break a banker."

He should know. For 30-odd years, this man has engaged in the moonshine trade. He has made mistakes, paid fines, served time in jail.

Some of his expensive stills have been found by agents and destroyed. He relocated them and started up again.

"But that was when there was money to be had," Sam said. "Like I told you, the market is almost gone and a man just can't afford to build a factory no more."

A couple of years back, the plant that cost him about $700 to set up, "That same rig today would cost a man over $1,200," he said.

With that still, Sam made nearly 600 gallons of moonshine whisky twice a week. He sold it from the site at $4 a gallon.

Supplies for that much whisky cost more than $2,600 on today's wholesale market. But few moonshiners are able to come by wholesale prices, so the cost is well above that figure — and rising.

"A man would have to get more than $7 or $8 a gallon to make a decent profit," Sam said.

And buyers are vanishing. "People are getting rid of the slums, and when you ain't got no slums, you ain't got much of a market for this stuff."

American Dream Now A Nightmare

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Abraham and Jean Bosquez realized the dream of millions of elderly Americans when they retired to Florida and built a home nestled in an orange grove.

But the Bosquez' dream has turned into a nightmare of rapacious thieves who have burglarized the couple's home five times in the past five years.

"We love this place, but we've only got a few more years," says Bosquez, 68. "Why should we be prisoners of our own home?"

The rash of burglaries began in 1969, seven years after Bosquez sold his New Jersey contractor business and built his retirement home on a five-acre tract in a rural area near this Central Florida city.

"I thought we were in heaven," Bosquez says. "We used to leave the doors unlocked and would close them when we were gone only because snakes might come in. We never worried about burglaries."

One day, the Bosquez' returned home to find thieves had made away with a television set, guns, cameras, jewelry, cash and bonds. Eight months later, thieves nearly stripped the home bare.

They kept replacing what was stolen but with cheaper substitutes.

Bosquez estimates his losses at more than $14,000, excluding two dogs which were stolen.

None of the thieves have been caught nor have any of the couple's possessions been recovered. Police say they've increased patrols in the Bosquez' neighborhood, but noted that "we're talking about an area of about 100 square miles and not more than 400 homes."

Bosquez decided to put his dream home up for sale following the last burglary Oct. 13, when thieves smashed much of what they didn't take.

WORKERS LAUDED Successful UW Campaign Ends

The 1974 Howard County United Way Campaign exceeded its objective by 3.4 per cent, and UW chairman W. S. (Dub) Pearson said he was basking in the enthusiasm his team of workers showed for the challenge, adding: "When we started out, we were told by some it would be impossible to meet our goal because of the state of the economy and the fact that we were asking for more than we were a year ago. The success of this campaign just proves what a group of dedicated men and women can do if they set their minds to it."

"The entire community is to be commended for the way it responded to our campaign, by meeting our established goal, to fulfill the needs of our 14 United Way agencies. A community is judged by the manner in which it takes care of its own, and Howard County has stood the test today."

Objective in the campaign this year was $121,777. A total of $126,013.76 was raised and practically all divisions raised more than was expected of them.

Actually, the original goal was passed several days ago but some of the chairman asked for a little time, pointing out that their work was not complete and more pledges had been promised to them within a matter of days.

The Big Gifts Division, headed by Jimmy Taylor, helped insure the success of the drive when $2,023.60 not originally credited to it and to the grand total was added. That division raised a total of $45,569.70, compared to a goal of $43,812.

Team captains who worked with Pearson and UW president J. D. Nelson to send the drive over the top included:

Jimmy Taylor, Big Gifts; Paul Meek, Out of Town; Bob Butler, Employees — City and School; Virginia Black, Employees — County and State; Dearl Pittman, Employees — general; A. J. Staiser, Metropolitan; Clayton Hicks, Special Gifts; M. A. Snell, Area; Jeanette Snodgrass, Women; and Maj. John Grathwol, CFC.

Skinflint Congressman Lured By Free Party

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the most vigilant pennypinchers in Congress in the last quarter-century turned up at a farewell party in his honor because, a colleague says, he knew it was free.

Rep. Harold Royce Gross, a 75-year-old conservative Iowa Republican, is retiring as perhaps Washington's all-time champion whipcracker against waste of taxpayers' dollars, foreign aid and junketing lawmakers.

He was described at a Washington Press Club roast Wednesday night as a legend, "the only man I know of who makes Jack Benny look like the last of the big-time spenders."

Gross once worked at an Iowa radio station with the Ronald Reagan who was to become governor of California. Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., said if "they ever join up again, it will be either to head a very formidable political ticket or, of course, it might be to make low-budget films."

Gross got a chance to sound off again to his colleagues, including Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., who suggested the Iowa congressman showed up at the roast because he didn't have to pay.

"I'm surprised Thompson is here this evening," Gross said. "I usually hear from him ... and his colleague by the name of Ashbrook ... by a postcard from some distant fleepspot."

Thompson said Rep. John Ashbrook, R-Ohio, "is on Pan Am right now."

The Press Club gave him a few gifts, including 50 uncirculated pennies to pinch when he gets back to Iowa and an ax bearing the words: Gross Budget Cutter.

'NOTHING ELSE I CAN CUT OUT' Mother Of 12 Looks Hard For Bargains

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP) — Whatever problems Americans are having paying the food bills these days, Thomas and Irene Tracey have them 14 times over.

"I'm not a worrier. I take it day by day and make do with what we've got," says Mrs. Tracey, who has 12 children living at home.

But, she says, "I don't know what we're going to do if it does get worse. There's really nothing else I can cut out. Right now we're just buying essentials."

As inflation and shortages have driven prices up, Mrs. Tracey has eliminated desserts, cookies and sweet sandwich spreads. Pickles are just for special occasions, like Thanksgiving. And "I haven't bought sugar since the price went up."

Now when the children come home from school, they have a saltine cracker instead of a cookie.

"They share their food now. Instead of having a whole apple, they have half an apple."

Mrs. Tracey studies advertisements to find the sales each week and tries to limit herself to one shopping trip. "Potatoes were on sale

Forecast calls for clear to partly cloudy skies with a warming trend expected through Friday. High today will be in the low 70's, low tonight will be in the mid 40's and the high Friday in the upper 70's. Winds will be southerly to southwesterly, decreasing to 5-15 mph Friday.

Court Plea: 'Innocent'

HOUSTON (AP) — Prison inmate Ignacio Cuevas pleaded innocent today to capital murder charges stemming from an Aug. 3 prison shootout with peace officers which left four persons dead.

District Court Judge Miron Love accepted Cuevas' plea then set a pretrial examination for Jan. 6 and a trial date of Feb. 17.

Waco Hospital Robbed Of $243

WACO, Tex. (AP) — An armed robber took $243 from a cashier at Hillcrest Hospital Wednesday night.

Alton Pearson, hospital administrator, said a man walked up to the first-floor cashier's office about 8:30 p.m. and asked for change for a dollar.

When cashier David Grey opened the window, the man displayed a gun and told him he wanted all his large bills, Pearson said.

Pearson told police the man fled on foot.

Pearson said it was the first time the hospital has ever been robbed and the first time he has ever heard of a hospital robbery by an armed bandit.

Sherman Hunt Sees $2-Gallon Gasoline

DALLAS (AP) — Sherman Hunt, president of the Dallas-based Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, says gasoline prices could rise as high as $1.50 to $2-per-gallon if Congress adopts a committee recommendation to end tax breaks for the oil industry.

Hunt issued a statement Wednesday saying gasoline consumers will bear the major cost, and foreign oil producers will reap the benefit of tax policies outlined Tuesday by the House Ways and Means Committee.

Yule Seal Season On

It's Christmas Seal time again, and envelopes containing these seals are being mailed for the 68th consecutive year.

Each contains a return envelope, but for those who have not received seals, investments in respiratory research and health may be mailed to the 32-county Big County office at 1962 W. Bearegard in San Angelo (76901). Return envelopes are directed to Austin, where all bookkeeping is done, but credited to the county from which it is received. Only 10 cents of every dollar goes to national research and medical education. Of the 90 cents kept in Texas, 72 cents returns to local areas for local programs, and 18 cents is applied to research and pulmonary training.

Object of the American Lung Association of Texas is to bring up-to-date education about lung disease treatment to area medical personnel and persons with chronic lung disease such as asthma and emphysema. Promotion of programs to work with children with asthma to live more normal lives is still another objective.

One long range objective is to reduce the economic loss, as well as pain and death, from pulmonary disorders which last year were estimated to have cost the nation $400 million.

Depletion Ouster Is Viewed With Alarm

Local reaction to the possibility of the eventual abolishment of the oil depletion allowance is similar to that of all West Texas oilmen.

"It would tear up the whole oil industry," Zollie Boykin, independent operator, said here this morning. "There's 101 minerals that have depletion allowances. Are they going to cut all of those out? Frankly, we just don't like it," he added.

"It will really hurt the independent," Dave Duncan said here this morning. "I'd just have to shut it down. There wouldn't be any money to drill wildcats."

"They say they want more oil production. It doesn't even make sense," he added.

Many local authorities on the subject were out of town this morning, and thus unavailable for comment.

But the consensus in interviews in the Permian Basin is:

"It's irresponsible legislation."

"Depletion and drilling cost provisions have been the principal incentives in the past to domestic exploration. The elimination of domestic drilling incentives would be a clear indicator to investors and oil producing governments that all the talk by the United States to move toward energy self-sufficiency is so much nonsense."

"They're playing political football."

Radio Network Offers U. S. Humor Program

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — For the past two months, Tenold R. Sunde has been toiling on 30 separate studies of American humor. And soon, he and the CBS Radio network will let listeners in on the gags.

Sunde is the producer of a project called "A Sense of American Humor" which CBS Radio will air the weekend after this in 30 segments ranging in length from four to nine minutes. The series is hosted by Roger Mudd.

It starts off by asking Steve Allen, Phyllis Diller, Jonathan Winters, Bill Cosby, Jean Shepherd, Carol Burnett and Stan Freberg what they feel makes Americans laugh and how it helps us.

Subsequent segments go into various laughter branches—the humor of cartoonists, of newspapers, of vaudeville and burlesque, of radio, TV and Hollywood, of music, of ethnic and dialect jokes and so on.

There also are segments on great comedienne and comedians, on satire, on American political humor, and even silent humor, the last a possible first for radio.

Producer Sunde, who said he acted as sort of a surrogate for host Mudd in gathering interviews for the series (Mudd being tied up on the Washington newsbeat), said he got the assignment last summer.

He said he spent a month planning it. Then, after CBS approved what he proposed to do, he grabbed a tape recorder and spent most of September on the road, interviewing more than 60 humor experts.

They ranged from such well-known citizens as Sid Caesar and Woody Allen to the not-so-well-known Dr. Walter Blair, a University of Chicago scholar in the field of early American humor.

October was spent culling more material from books and articles and pulling recorded material from the CBS archives.

"Now, it's just a question of weeding this down," said Sunde, who was in the process of weeding and writing when interviewed.

Vietnam Vet Is Near Freedom

FORT WORTH (AP) — A mentally ill Vietnam veteran held in Antigua probably will be home for Christmas, some veteran groups say.

Gary Martin, 24, has been confined on the Caribbean island since 1972. He was convicted in the murder of an Antiguan taxicab driver.

Veteran organizations, working through the Tarrant County Veterans Council, are raising $10,000 to secure Martin's release.

Antiguan officials have demanded remuneration for the slain man's family.

Martin was rated a 100 per cent mentally disabled by the Veterans Administration after receiving head injuries in a grenade explosion in 1969.

A VA hospital in Waco released him over objections of his parents, Ret. Army Col. and Mrs. James Martin of suburban Euless.

Involved in the money raising efforts are the Disabled American Veterans, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Charges Due For Burglary

A local man was arrested in a pool hall a few hours after the contents were robbed from Dr. Clyde Thomas' physicians' bag while his car was parked behind Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital. Bond was expected to be set late this morning on the man who was to be charged with auto burglary.

Lions Hear Of Prime Projects

Prime projects of Texas Lions — the camps for crippled and diabetic children and for the blind — were reviewed for Downtown Lions at their meeting Wednesday at the Settles.

C. E. McCain, Midland, the district director for the Texas Lions League for Crippled Children, explained the triple ministry supported by dues from Texas Lions and supplemented by endowments and special gifts. Since the camp nestled in 500 acres of hill country near Kerrville opened, more than 15,000 crippled children have been given a free camping experience.

This was paralleled last summer at Friendswood where 111 children with diabetes were treated to camp where instructions in coping with their problems went along with recreation.

When the camp at Kerrville is not used for crippled children, it becomes a haven for training blind people to become mobile, to learn occupations, learn to read and otherwise lead a creative, useful life, said McCain.

Individuals who know of families with crippled children or diabetic children are urged to get in touch with M. A. Barber, the club's chairman, or with Jimmy Holmes and Mel Murphree. The club furnishes transportation and Texas Lions the camping experiences, all without one cent expense to the child or parents.

Harold Rains will head the Dec. 14 bell-ringing project for the Salvation Army on behalf of Lions, said President Aubrey Bryans, and Wes Deats and Jimmy Ray Smith head up the state hospital Christmas party.

Vet Telegrapher Cancer Victim

AUSTIN (AP) — Longtime Associated Press telegrapher L. V. Todd will be buried Wednesday.

When Todd retired in 1968 he was one of only four telegraphers remaining who had transmitted via Morse Code for The Associated Press before it switched entirely to teletype machines. At one time there were 1,500 such telegraphers in the service.

He died of cancer Saturday at age 71.

Todd joined The Associated Press in 1923, serving in bureaus in Oklahoma City, Buffalo, Jacksonville, Richmond and Dallas before coming to Austin in 1941.

He was a Morse operator at Jacksonville, Fla., in 1935, just prior to the transition to teletype.

He is survived by his widow, Mary, two brothers and a sister.

Services are set for 1:30 p. m. at Weed Corley Funeral Home.

Care In Nursing Homes Blasted

WASHINGTON (AP) — A lengthy Senate study has concluded that substandard nursing homes outnumber good facilities in the United States and that many elderly patients have been severely mistreated or abused.

"The net impact is that far too many patients have needlessly sustained injury and, in some cases, death," the Senate subcommittee on long-term care reported Tuesday.

The panel said federal Medicare for the elderly and Medicaid for the poor have been a failure and that more than 500,000 elderly patients have been denied nursing home care because of coverage limitations.

"Millions of older Americans who have already received care in nursing homes have not received maximum help. In many cases they have not even received humane treatment," the panel said.

"And in an alarming number of known cases, they have actually encountered abuse and physical danger, including unsanitary conditions, fire hazards, poor or unwholesome food, infections, adverse drug reactions, over-tranquilization and frequent medication errors," it added.

"In addition, they have been exposed to negligence on the part of nursing home personnel," the panel said.

The conclusions were contained in a report titled, "Nursing Home Care in the U.S.: Failure in Public Policy," which encompassed about 5,000 pages of testimony from 36 public hearings.

In response to the report, the American Nursing Home Association said, "We do not deny the existence of some abuses..."

"But the failure to recognize the high quality of care being provided in many licensed facilities is a disservice to thousands of decently motivated people who are caring for our infirm elderly," said Dr. Thomas G. Bell, the association's executive vice president.

The National Retired Teachers Association of Retired Persons said the report "conclusively documents the fact that the nursing home industry is a national disgrace."

The Senate panel recommended that Medicare coverage be expanded to provide more care for the elderly in their own homes, with the new benefits paid out of general revenues rather than higher Social Security payroll taxes.

It also recommended that state agencies be given more enforcement powers, short of license revocation, and that direct federal enforcement be considered.

The subcommittee plans to release a supporting paper for each of the next nine months, dealing with nursing home fires, profits, drug distribution and other abuses.

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, chairman of the panel, said there is "a considerable sense of urgency" to correct problems uncovered in the report.

Parking Given New Scrutiny

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas-Fort Worth Airport parking stubs will now reflect the time and time-out to discourage cheaters, Lyle Matthews, general manager for parking at the airport, said.

Matthews said some drivers were obtaining their single parking validation at the cheaper long term lots before driving to the more costly lots closer to the terminals.

Stop Signal Blinker Changed

The stop light at Fourth and Douglas was to be changed to a flashing light at 1:15 p.m. today, according to Mrs. Susan Thomas, city traffic engineer.

"It is not believed that a traffic light is necessary at this location. We will substitute the flashing light and stop signs for a trial period at this location," Mrs. Thomas stated.

Dear Abby

Can't Excuse Blunt Nosiness

DEAR ABBY: When an interested person asks a question that you consider too personal to answer, what's so smart about making a coarse reply like: "If I thought it was any of your business, I'd tell you," or, "If you'll forgive me for not answering, I'll forgive you for asking?"

Does it boost the replier's ego to imply that the questioner was stupid? How would you like to be dismissed by such a remark?

What's wrong with a simple reply like, "I appreciate your interest but I'd rather not talk about it," and then switching the subject to something less disturbing?

CIVILIZED
DEAR CIV: Why thank the questioner for his "interest" when his interest is clearly nosiness? ("Why did your daughter and her husband get divorced?" Or, "What's your husband's take-home pay?" Or, "Do you dye your hair?") How does one really "appreciate such interest?"

You're 50 per cent right, however, "I'd rather not talk about it" is an adequate reply.

DEAR ABBY: I fully understand the reasons why first cousins should not marry in cases where there may be children, but in my case that is impossible because I am 66 and he (my first cousin) is 70.

We want to marry, but have been told we cannot because it is against the law in the state in which we live. Is there any state where we can marry? We will go anywhere. It is absurd for to be denied marriage under the circumstances and we will take it to the Supreme Court if necessary. Why should the law make lawbreakers of two respectable people who want to spend the rest of their lives together?

OLD LOVERS
DEAR LOVERS: Before you take anything to the Supreme Court, talk to a lawyer. Laws differ in various states, and they sometimes change suddenly, too. I quit "practicing law" a long time ago.

DEAR ABBY: In response to that mother whose child got hysterical when she saw the doctor coming toward her in a white coat, you said the doctor was guilty of unprofessional conduct and deserved a reprimand from his county medical society. Bull!

A doctor's time is far too precious to spend trying to humor a spoiled brat.

You goofed. Ten lashes for Abby with a wet tongue

Confidence

When a child is comfortable and secure in his home and in his surroundings and he knows that others respect him, he develops self-esteem and confidence. Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas A & M Extension Service, said.

Dr. Koshi Speaks On Irrigation

Dr. Paul Koshi, soil scientist at the U.S. Experiment Station, spoke on "Drip Irrigation" for the Rosebud Garden Club Tuesday at the YMCA.

Dr. Koshi said that drip irrigation began in Israel when it was noted that a huge tree sprang up in sandy soil in an arid area, and it was discovered there was a small leak in a water pipeline near the tree. Soon, the whole of Israel converted to drip irrigation.

Now, there are 3,000 acres in Texas where drip irrigation is used. California finds this type of irrigation successful in orchards, and it is widely used in Australia.

"Drip irrigation requires approximately one-fifth the water that other methods use," said Dr. Koshi. "There is less water lost than by other means of watering and there is no run-off. The system is not for lawns but can be used for flower beds, rose bushes, trees and vegetables gardens."

He noted that the almanac predicts a drought for 1975. If this occurs, drip irrigation would be useful.

Mrs. Odell Womack and Mrs. Neil Spencer were hostesses for the meeting, and Mrs. Spencer presided for the business session. Club members will work with patients at Big Spring State Hospital to decorate the hospital's Christmas tree Dec. 9. The following day, at the YMCA, Mrs. Womack, Mrs. J. F. Sanders and Mrs. Ben Sullivan will be hostesses at a luncheon for members and guests.

Mrs. Jessie Crane distributed plants for a growing contest among the club members.

Heart Disease Is Club Topic

Four women were guests of the Fairview Home Demonstration Club Tuesday at Kentwood Center for a Thanksgiving dinner.

Guests of the club were Mrs. J. Hatterton, Mrs. Dorothy Hull, Mrs. Bob Wren and Miss Sherry Mullin.

Miss Mullin brought a program that dealt with nutritional help in the prevention and control of heart disease.

Mrs. J. F. Skalicky, hostess, was assisted by Mrs. R. E. Gregory, Mrs. F. Micallef, Mrs. C. A. Smauley, Mrs. F. Wilson and Mrs. Ethel Van Pelt. The next meeting will be Dec. 3 with Mrs. Van Pelt.

More Nutrients

Fortified foods have one or more nutrients added so that the food contains more of the nutrients than was present originally before processing, according to Frances Reasonover, food and nutrition specialist, Texas A & M Extension Service.

Investment Club Hears Broker

Tom Arnett of Eppler, Guerin and Turner, a brokerage house in Lubbock, was guest speaker for Les Girls Investment Club Monday evening.

He discussed buying stock and selling options through the Chicago Board Option Exchange. He said this is a trial experiment that was approved by the Securities Commission about a year ago and "it is growing so fast they can hardly keep up with the business." Only 30 stocks are handled on the exchange. According to Arnett, the American Exchange has asked the SEC for permission to sell options in the same manner.

Mrs. Louise Hamilton presided as the group discussed statements and studied Sullair, a company which manufactures compressors, etc. It was decided that no further stocks will be purchased until after the first of the year.

Named to a nominating committee were Mrs. Dorothy Neel, Mrs. Dorothy Ragan and Mrs. Marguerite Wooten.

The next business meeting will be Jan. 20, 1975.

Profit Made On Carnival At School

A profit of $1,973.33 was made at this year's Marcy School carnival according to a report given by Mrs. Ann Jones at the PTA meeting Tuesday evening. The funds will be applied to the cost of air conditioning the school. The next fund-raising event will be a valentine king and queen contest.

Mrs. Ronnie Reese presided, and 300 members were in attendance to hear a report by Mrs. Louis Kloor, delegate to last week's state convention in Corpus Christi. At the convention, Marcy School received a certificate for superior achievement.

The program, given by third grade classes, included music and two skits, "If I Ran the School" and "Mr. Turkey." Room count was won by the classes of Mrs. Ola Mae Robertson and Mrs. Rue Ann Cox.

The school's yearbook presented the colors, and the invocation was by Chaplain R. Chumley of Webb AFB.

The next meeting will be Dec. 10 when the second grade will present a Christmas program.

Crustacean Said Untapped Source Of Food For World

TOKYO (AP) — A shrimp-like shellfish that whales eat could supply the world with a new source of food, experts here say.

Two Japanese fishing boats are en route to the antarctic in hopes of catching krill, a two-inch crustacean, which the experts say may be mankind's largest single untapped food source.

For several years Soviet scientists quietly have been catching krill. This year the Japanese have become deeply involved and officials from other major nations also are reported interested as land-based food supplies dwindle.

Krill may not save the starving millions this year, but it could become one of the world's major economical foods, according to various experts in Tokyo.

They say the Russians have made a shrimp-flavored butter and cheese spread using krill as one of its ingredients. The Japanese are planning to process some krill for frozen fish cakes and dumplings.

But its biggest use probably will be as a valuable protein concentrate put into other foods.

"The krill is available in huge quantities and is the biggest source of animal protein left in the world today," said Kyo Yui, executive manager of the Japan Marine Resources Research Center.

"I could provide a huge source of food for people all over the world...We know it is nutritious, but we have to figure out what kind of food to make it into," he said in an interview.

The government-sponsored research center's first krill fishing boat netted 60 tons two years ago during the antarctic summer. It came back with 600 tons last year and expects to return in February with 1,200 tons.

That is far less than the estimated 6,000 tons taken by the Russians last season. But Yui says that despite Japan's slow start, its methods of catching and processing krill have about surpassed the Soviet Union's.

Japan's biggest fishing company, Nippon Suisan, is sending the first commercial boat to catch and process krill. Company officials hope it will return with about 1,600 tons.

Both Japanese boats left early this month for the long voyage south, where it is summer.

A bulletin put out by Nippon Suisan says it is generally agreed that 200 million to a billion tons of krill exist near the antarctic ice pack and it calls this an "unbelievable figure."

Scientists speculate that a catch of 50 million to 100 million tons annually can be expected within a few years.

"This will be equivalent to the present worldwide fish catch," the publication added.

"Once the uses of krill are worked out, the contribution of krill to the world's people should be great," Okio Sakonji, senior managing director of Nippon Suisan, said. "We have to get more krill before we can decide what is best."

There are about 80 different types of krill and they live in seas all over the world. But, attention is focused on the antarctic krill, which is the largest of the species and mostly lives within 100 miles or so of the permanent antarctic ice pack.

The nutrient-rich water melting from the ice during the antarctic summer sets off the biological chain which creates the countless patches of krill floating within 300 feet or so of the ocean's surface.

Tiny plants live on the nutrients from the ice water. The krill then eat this plankton and are eaten in turn by whales. Japanese scientists say there is more than enough krill for man and the whales without upsetting the antarctic's ecology.

Many big Japanese food companies plan to use some of the new krill catch to experiment with different ways of making it into frozen foods, medicines or as a food to grow other fish or livestock.

Krill's greatest promise seems to be in the long-sought economical fish protein concentrate, said Dr. Minoru Okada, the biochemist in charge of the government's Tokai Regional Fisheries Research Laboratory in Tokyo.

The United States and Sweden, in particular, have devoted great effort to developing some kind of protein concentrate from fish. But fish are in short supply and there have not yet been any unflavored and economical fish protein concentrates developed for mass production.

Okada said krill may turn out to be the perfect source for such a concentrate and his laboratory wants to develop it. Basically such a protein concentrate is made by removing the water and fat from the krill's body, leaving behind a residue of amino acids.

"Fish protein concentrate in powdered form is very easy to mix with flour or any other food material," Okada said. It could be put into bread, spaghetti, rice cakes, Indian chapati bread

Mexican tortillas, noodles or virtually any other food used by either rich or poor nations.

This makes krill particularly important to the world's poor countries. They cannot afford to grow many animals, but need the protein which only animal flesh, milk or cheese can provide.

"Technically we can catch krill without great difficulty," Okada said. "But processing it on the boat is a very difficult thing to set up.

Economically we have many problems with developing krill."

Krill keep only for about two hours after being pulled from the frigid antarctic waters. This means they must be cooked or frozen immediately after the nets are hauled aboard. This means special high-volume processing plants must be on each catcher ship.

The weather is so bad during the antarctic winter that fishing for krill can go on only from November until about March. This means expensive ships can be used only for about half a year. Costs also are pushed up by having to send ships so far to get to the fishing grounds.

250 Bird Species In Howard County

L. B. Paul, head of the art department at Gamco Industries, brought a program, "Birds of Howard County," Tuesday for the National Retired Teachers Association, Big Spring and Howard County Unit. The meeting was at noon in the Downtown Tea Room.

Paul told the group that Texas is crossed by more birds in flight than any other state because the flight pattern from east to west crossed over this state. There have been 550 species registered in Texas.

California has registered 450 to be placed second.

Howard County bird watchers have recorded having seen 250 species of birds. Color slides were shown of migrant birds during various months of the year and showing the terrain frequented, such as lakes or meadows. The speaker pointed out birds such as woodpeckers and insect eaters, that are beneficial to the environment. He also noted that many are grain eaters.

Paul said Gamco is beginning an educational series on birds that will give information on their habitat and songs.

Mrs. Claire Conger presided at the business meeting and explained that local dues have been increased to $2 a year. Mrs. Conger and Mrs. Thetus Dungan attended the district meeting in Midland recently.

Mrs. Dorothy Eubanks joined the chapter, and Mrs. Lois Singleton and Mrs. Thetus Dunagan were hostesses.

Add Raw Celery

Add diced raw celery to canned peas and carrots and heat; celery gives good texture contrast. This combination is also excellent served with a cream sauce.

The liquid from the peas and carrots may be substituted for one-third of the milk in the cream sauce.

Initiation Is Performed

Initiation in the Rebekah Degree was held Tuesday for Mrs. L. E. Maddux and Mrs. L. C. Morris by John A. Kee, Rebekah Lodge 284.

The ceremony was given by Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cole, Mrs. Alma Pye, Mrs. A. E. Fiveash and Mrs. Elmo Martin. Using the theme, "Leadership," the seminar concluded that communications is of great importance to life of the organization. There were 79 attending from Snyder, Abilene, San Angelo, Midland, Odessa and Stanton as well as local members.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Fiveash, Mrs. Pye, Mrs. Pauline Petty and Mrs. Lee Thackrey. Members reported 62 visits to the sick.

Fem Out Of Club

ELK GROVE, Ill. (AP) — The form letter, recruiting new members for the Elk Grove Kiwanis Club, began "Dear Sir."

But Mary Clark, Elk Grove village librarian, responded and became the first woman member of the organization last February. She resigned Tuesday, unwilling to accept a second-class membership.

Kiwanis International threatened the local chapter Oct. 12 with loss of charter unless it got rid of Miss Clark. Kiwanis by-laws forbid women as members.

The 20-member local first decided to defy the international's edict. But later, pressured by Kiwanis officials, it voted on a compromise — Miss Clark could remain a member but could not hold office. It also resolved formally to fight at the international convention in Atlanta, Ga., for a change in the discriminatory by-laws.

"I was inducted as a full-fledged member and I'm not going to accept anything less," said Miss Clark, 27. "There are no hurt feelings, but I will not continue to work for a group that puts me in no-man's land."

Richard Harrell, president of the chapter, said the club must remain part of Kiwanis to fight for a change in membership rules.

At least two other local chapters — in New York and Colorado — have tried to fight the men-only regulation.

The president of the Chicago-based international, Roy W. Davis, said there were no women among the 278,966 worldwide members because the international did not recognize them as members. He refused to say if there were any unrecognized women members.

Miss Clark said she never noted any sexism among the chapter's members and said she considered herself an active member.

"I ranked fourth in peanut sales on Peanut Day," she said.

Israel Gets Bit Of Help

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A small but influential group of nations is defending Israel's right to exist as the United Nations General Assembly nears a vote on the Palestinian claim to nationhood.

The United States joins in the assembly's Palestine debate today with a speech by Ambassador John A. Scali upholding the Israeli position.

Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Japan, Canada, Greece, Finland, Belgium and Nigeria are among the countries who have spoken out for Israel's right to continue as a nation.

Most of them also said Israel should withdraw from the Arab territories occupied in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war. Italy and Britain also voiced support for Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's efforts to arrange an Arab-Israeli peace settlement.

The assembly is scheduled to vote Friday on resolutions still under negotiation between Arab and Third World backers of the Palestine Liberation Organization and other nations whose support they want.

The majority of the countries in the week-long debate have backed the PLO demand for self-determination and the creation of a Palestinian nation. PLO chief Yasir Arafat, the first speaker in the debate, made clear that this new nation should include the territory that is now Israel, but many of his supporters have been silent or vague about the future of the Jewish nation.

A PLO spokesman said his organization has "a disposition to accommodate our European friends" if this can be done "without diluting certain basic positions."

Another PLO official said the Palestinians want to "correct" the U.N. Security Council resolution of 1967 which called for guarantees of secure borders for Israel provided it withdrew from occupied Arab territories.

WILL TRY TO SHOW A PROFIT — Arnell Beckman of Coon Rapids, Minnesota, poses with the calf he will feed for the next 18 months in an effort to show a profit and prove National Farmers Organization members wrong in their recent slaughter of more than 600 calves in Wisconsin to protest dwindling profits. Beckman ended up with the calf when he wrote an angry letter to farmer Orville Voeltz of Emerald, Wisconsin after the NPO slaughter with the challenge that he'd take one of the calves and raise it for profit. Voeltz accepted the challenge and delivered the two week old Holstein calf to Beckman, who is now raising it in his back yard.

Rocky Sure Bet To Be Confirmed

WASHINGTON (AP) — His vice presidential confirmation assured in the Senate barring any major new disclosures, Nelson A. Rockefeller told a House panel today that he is eager to help lead America on "a new forward march."

A survey by The Associated Press found only five senators inclined to vote against Rockefeller's confirmation, 79 for it and 16 uncommitted.

The former New York governor launched confirmation hearings before the House Judiciary Committee with a statement that "the dangers of the times" will force America to find new direction.

"Nobility doubts that our country is confronted today with problems that shake its foundations," Rockefeller said. He said those problems include recession, unemployment, energy shortages and world food shortages.

"But there is no doubt in my mind," he said, "that the magnitude and complexity of these problems are going to force us to the kind of reappraisal, reevaluation and fundamental change which can make this a turning point in the history of our country and permit a new forward march in our affairs."

Rockefeller said leaders must provide the right concepts to bring solutions and he said that is a major reason he wants to be vice president. "Nothing delights me so much as facing up to a complex public issue with all its confusion, turmoil and intensity and trying to pull through the human resources to deal with it," he said.

The former governor set out these concepts, among others, for meeting some of the problems: —Unemployment. Through farsighted planning, plants suffering production cutbacks and unemployment can be regeared to produce materials in short supply.

—Energy shortages. Through conservation and development of such fuel sources as shale and coal, "the United States is perfectly capable not only of meeting all its own energy needs within ten years but also of becoming a net exporter of energy as well."

—World food shortages. The United States cannot and need not provide the world food supply "but we do have the science, the technology and the entrepreneurial drive to work effectively with other nations so they can increase their own food production."

—The future. "This is a time to mobilize the best minds to develop challenging new concepts... to get things done."

are nine top tricks), but it is not easy to get there and there was nothing wrong with the final contract. West led the king of clubs, taken by dummy's ace. After discarding a club on a high diamond, declarer led a heart to the ten and queen. West cashed the queen of clubs and continued with the jack. Declarer ruffed, crossed to the spade jack, and repeated the heart finesse. West won the king and return the suit. East's ruff was the setting trick.

East will have one of the missing heart honors 75% of the time, so declarer could count himself unfortunate that he failed to make his contract. However, had he counted his tricks, he might have realized that, once he had taken the ace of clubs and ace-king of diamonds, he could have made certain of his contract by ruffing a heart in dummy. Declarer started out with nine tricks. He could afford to lose two hearts and a club — his problem was to avoid a third heart loser. Since he held all the high trumps, he could ruff the fourth heart with dummy's jack of trumps for the tenth trick.

Correct technique was to cash the ace of hearts at the fourth trick and then concede a heart. Declarer wins a trump return (best) in his hand and leads another heart. Even if the defenders play another trump, declarer can win in his hand and ruff his remaining heart with the jack of trumps.

Opening lead: King of ♠. Declarer's life of play would succeed three times out of four. On this occasion, however, that was not good enough. Unfortunately, South overlooked a line that was proof against almost any distribution except a heart void in one hand. We do not approve of North's jump to two no trump at his first turn. Though his hand is perfectly balanced and has 13 points, in our opinion a jump in no trump should guarantee a stopper in all suits. North would have done better to simply respond two diamonds, to see how the bidding develops. On the actual deal, three no trump is a superior contract (there

Dad, Son Reunited

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 16-year-old boy allowed to fly to the United States from Manila after his father held the Philippine ambassador at gunpoint says, "He did it because he felt much love for me in his heart."

Napoleon Lechoco Jr. arrived here Wednesday and was allowed to spend 30 minutes with his father at a mental institution where the elder Lechoco is being examined to determine his competence to stand trial.

"I am the eldest (of seven children). He did it for me," the youth said after the reunion with his father.

Earlier in the day, the boy apologized to Ambassador Eduardo Z. Romualdez for his father's actions.

His father, a 44-year-old law clerk for the Prince Georges County government in suburban Maryland, faces a federal charge of assault upon an ambassador. Lechoco held Romualdez at gunpoint for 11 hours before surrendering early Tuesday in exchange for a promise his son would be allowed to leave Manila and rejoin the family.

Lechoco and his wife emigrated to the United States two years ago. Six of their children came to the United States two months ago, but Napoleon Jr. stayed behind with his grandparents.

The elder Lechoco charged during his siege that his son was being retained in the Philippines against his will and demanded his immediate release. The Manila government insisted the youth had been free to leave at any time.

READY, SET, GO — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, left, and President Ford start walking on slippers during a tour to Nijo Castle in Kyoto, Japan, Thursday. All visitors are requested to enter the building which formerly housed Tokugawa Shogate in centuries ranging from 16th to 19th.

and to the government of Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka marched in Kyoto's streets into the night. But Ford got only fleeting glimpses of a few of them, and they were grinning despite their raised, clenched fists.

All in all, it was a relaxed, pleasant day for the American chief executive.

The President visited the old imperial palace where Emperor Hirohito was enthroned in 1928, the 371-year-old Nijo Castle and the lakeside Temple of the Golden Pavilion covered in 22-carat gold foil.

The weather was chilly and there were intermittent showers, but he wore neither a hat nor a topcoat.

Ford was serenaded at the Nijo Castle by women playing 16th century instruments which they picked like a zither. He tried his hand at it, but the noise he produced was not exactly musical.

The President told newsmen he thought his visit to Japan was "going wonderfully. It couldn't be better, substantively and otherwise."

The President said he was enjoying learning something about the history and culture of Japan.

"Its simplicity inspires me to make the most of what you have," he commented.

Bell's Industry Grip Challenged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has gone to court to strip the Bell System of its 60-year-old grip on the nation's telephone industry in a move to spur competition and drive phone rates down.

The lawsuit filed Wednesday against the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. signaled the beginning of a years-long government battle to carve up the world's largest privately owned corporation into competing enterprises.

AT&T claimed that, contrary to the department's goal, a government victory would push phone rates up.

The company is the biggest one the government has ever tried to break up. The suit is only the second in recent history in which the government has attempted a major restructuring of an industry dominated by one company or a handful of companies.

Government victory in the Bell System case and another pending suit against International Business Machines would have measurable impact on the American corporate structure.

The effect on consumers will be more difficult to judge.

"I don't believe we can promise this is going to lower rates," said Keith I. Clearwaters, deputy assistant attorney general in the department's antitrust division.

But the result "may be a downward pressure on those rates" if the department succeeds in the effort to introduce competition into the telecommunications industry, Clearwaters said.

However, AT&T Board Chairman John D. DeButts said the government action could fragment the nation's telephone network and "if that happens, telephone service would deteriorate and cost much, much more."

Clearwaters told reporters it will be at least three years before the case comes to trial in U.S. District Court here because of complicated arguments about the data AT&T is required to produce.

The government also wants AT&T to give up some parts of the long-lines department, the network linking all of the country's telephones into a nationwide system.

Elic C. (Jack) Odle, a former resident of Big Spring, will retire as Chief of Federal Aviation Administration in Midland Dec. 7.

Odle moved to Midland in March, 1952, as FSS chief while the air control tower at Midland Air Terminal was under construction.

From September, 1960, to the past October, he supervised air controllers at a temporary tower in Pyote.

Odle also served as acting FAA air traffic representative at Webb AFB from October, 1971, into August, 1972.

During Odle's 20-plus years as air traffic chief, the Midland terminal has had 2,205,929 traffic operations. It includes a low of 37,813 for 1953 and a high of 150,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Odle, who reside in Midland, have a son, Dick, of Houston, and a daughter, Donna, a senior art student at the University of Texas in Austin.

Odle will be honored with a retirement party Dec. 5 at Midland's Ranchland Hills Country Club.

Odle, at the time he resided in Big Spring, helped John Dibrell coach football on a part-time volunteer basis at a time Dibrell was the only full-time mentor on the staff.

Gravit's Suicide Note Is Back In Hands Of Family

DALLAS (AP) — The suicide note of the late T. O. Gravit, who headed Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. operations in Texas, is being returned to the Gravit family after being certified as authentic by the Dallas County medical examiner's office.

The note forms the basis of a $26 million libel and slander suit filed against Southwestern Bell.

"The note was authentic, and we've certified it. This really just confirms our original ruling of suicide," said Dr. Vincent DiMaio, associate medical examiner who handled the Gravit investigation.

DiMaio said the note is the property of the family and is being returned to them.

Meanwhile Wednesday, Southwestern Bell confirmed that two of its employees discovered Gravit's handwritten note at his posh Dallas home. Gravit died Oct. 17 of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The telephone company contended, however, that its employees turned the note immediately over to the Gravit family and felt "any use of it was a decision for the family to make."

The family turned the note over to their attorney, who turned it over to DiMaio for certification.

Gravit's suicide note paints a picture of high-level corporate-political entanglement at Bell. The note is the basis of the suit filed by Gravit's family and former Bell executive James Ashley.

Gravit, 51, headed Bell's Texas operation at the time of his suicide, which came amidst a sweeping internal investigation by the telephone company.

Southwestern Bell has since said that Gravit was implicated in the internal audit, although Gravit's suicide note denies any wrongdoing.

The suit against Bell claims Gravit was hounded by the investigation into alleged improper activities.

The suicide note attacks several high Bell officials and describes how they allegedly sought to influence politicians to obtain rate increases. It also contends the telephone company juggled its books to prove the need for higher rates to city councils.

Bodies Of Two Trucker Flown For Last Rites

COLORADO CITY — Bodies of two truckers killed in a crash at the east edge of Lorraine early Wednesday morning were flown from here Wednesday night, Kiker-Seale Funeral Home reported.

The body of Charles Roach, 37, was shipped to Toledo Ohio, and that of Jimmy Leon Dillar, 48, was sent to Columbus, Ga., for last rites.

The two were both listed from Columbus, Ga. and were pronounced dead at the scene when their truck rig struck an IS 20 guard rail and ran off the overpass at the east edge of Lorraine. Don Stewart, highway patrolman, said that the truck went along the rail for about six feet then lurched 10 feet into the air and fell 25 feet to the ground below the overpass. Dillar, driving at the time, was thought to have fallen asleep. Another trucking mishap happened at the same location a week ago.

Thanksgiving Meals Start With Turkey

Think of Thanksgiving, and the first image that comes to mind is a table laid with platters full of the most luscious things to eat: the traditional turkey, fresh succulent vegetables, sauces, relishes and rich cream pies.

Thanksgiving dinner is usually a big affair. And if it is your turn to invite all the relatives to your home this year there are going to be a lot of different tastes to satisfy. A good idea in this case is to have two different main dishes. In addition to turkey, you can serve a chilled ham with a tantalizing grapefruit glaze.

Here are some suggestions for dressing up the turkey, glazing the ham and recipes to make a festive meal.

CORNUCOPIA GARNISH FOR TURKEY

1 pkg. crescent rolls
1 3/4 oz. can crushed, drained pineapple
2 cups cranberries
1/4 cup honey

To make cornucopias separate pastry dough into triangles and roll each out slightly. Make cones from aluminum foil and place on pastry so that dough can be wrapped around in cone shape. Press together overlapped edges of dough to form bottom of cornucopia. Roll upper edge back slightly. Lay pressed together edges down on cookie sheet and bake according to package directions. Cool and remove foil cones.

Combine pineapple, cranberries and honey in saucepan. Cook until berries begin to pop. Remove from heat. Fill each cornucopia with 1/4 to one-third cup fruit mixture.

GRAPEFRUIT HAM AND GLAZE

1 10-pound ham
3 qts. grapefruit juice
Whole cloves

Place ham in roasting pan, add grapefruit juice and marinate overnight in refrigerator. Reserve 1/2 cup grapefruit juice, drain off the rest. Bake ham in 325 degree oven 3 hours, remove from oven and cut off fat. Score ham and stud with cloves. Brush glaze over ham and bake 1 hour longer basting occasionally with glaze. Serve cold.

GRAPEFRUIT GLAZE

1 cup packed dark brown sugar
1/2 tsp. grated grapefruit rind
1/2 cup reserved grapefruit juice
2 tbsps. prepared mustard
In small saucepan mix together all ingredients. Stir over low heat until sugar dissolves. Bring to boil;

1 1/2 lb. pork sausage meat, cooked, crumbled and drained
1 tsp. sage
1/2 tsp. pepper
2 eggs, beaten
1 3/4 cups water

Sufficient for 16 to 18 lb. turkey and 2-qt. casserole. Sauté celery and onion in butter until tender. Combine corn bread, bread cubes, sausage, sage and pepper in very large bowl. Add celery and onion, mixing lightly. Add eggs and water, tossing lightly. Lightly stuff turkey. Roast according to standard roasting direction. Baste with melted butter. Cook remaining dressing in covered casserole during last 45 minutes of roasting time.

CHEESE-SAUCE ONIONS

1 3/4 lbs. small white onions, peeled
10-oz. pkg. frozen green peas

1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. dry mustard
1/4 tsp. paprika

1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 tsp. orange peel
2 tsp. salt
Miniature marshmallows
Scrub and trim yams. Cook potatoes in salted boiling water to cover until tender, or bake in preheated oven (425 degrees) for 40 minutes. Split lengthwise and scoop pulp from shells into mixing bowl reserving 8 to 10 halves. Add butter, orange juice, sugar, peel and salt. Beat until fluffy. Pile about 1/2 cup mixture lightly into each potato shell half. Garnish with marshmallows. Place in baking pan and cover with foil. Return to oven 20 or 25 minutes or until heated through.

Sesame Seed With Spinach Is Different

Toasted sesame seed tossed with freshly cooked spinach gives an oriental turn to a good, green vegetable.

1 1/2 lbs. fresh spinach
1/2 tsp. salt
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
2 tbsps. toasted white sesame seed

Cut off tough stems from spinach and wash thoroughly. Place spinach in a large saucepot with just the water that clings to the leaves; add salt. Cook over moderate heat, uncovered and turning with a long-handle fork as leaves wilt, just until tender and still green. Turn into a colander to drain; with a kitchen scissors cut into short lengths. Reheat briefly with butter. Turn into serving dish and sprinkle with sesame seed. Makes 4 servings.

Italy Inspires Pasta Hash

Most hash is made with potatoes, unless it's a Texas variety which has rice, of course. But if it's inspired by Italy, the hash will have macaroni.

Since macaroni and cheese are such favorites, they will certainly continue to be when beef joins the team, adding a complete protein to the dish.

Leftover beef to be ground for this dish can come from the last of a roast cooked on the rotisserie or Sunday's roast cooked in the oven. It might be from a pot-roast or just ground beef which has been cooked, says Reba Staggs, meat authority.

ITALISH BEEF HASH

2 cups ground cooked beef
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
2 tbsps. flour
1 cup meat stock or water
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper
1/2 cup macaroni, cooked
3/4 cup grated American cheese

Melt butter or margarine in a saucepan and blend in flour. Gradually add meat stock or water and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add Worcestershire sauce and season with salt and pepper. Combine ground beef, cooked macaroni and white sauce and pour into a greased 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake in a moderate oven (350 degree F.) 30 minutes. 4 servings.

Deviled Beets Good Relish

A tart and tasty addition to a meal is deviled beets that is almost like a hot relish.

DEVILED BEETS

1-lb. can diced beets
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
2 tbsps. prepared mustard
2 tbsps. honey
1 tsp. Worcester sauce

Heat beets in their liquid; drain. Over low heat stir together the remaining ingredients until blended; add drained beets and reheat. Makes four or five servings.

PASTRIES

For cookies, tarts and other pastries, use your favorite pastry recipe or the following basic dough:

1 stick butter (salted)
1 cup flour
3 tbsps. sugar
1/2 cup small curd creamed cottage cheese

Combine sugar and flour. Cut butter into mixture until it resembles coarse meal. Add cottage cheese and mix with a fork until dough is

SECTION B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21, 1974 SECTION B

Dried Fruit, Nuts Make Fruit Fixins'

The first Thanksgiving was a grateful celebration and a hearty feast before the cold, lean days of winter set in. "Fruit Fixin's" are a harvest of dried fruits and nuts that combine a touch of tradition with an exotic blend of ingredients. The apricots, figs and diced dates may not have been available to the Pilgrims, but they did have to prepare basic items that would keep well throughout the winter. "Fruit Fixin's" can be stored in a glass jar with a tight-fitting lid and nibbled as is or made into candy balls. They also make a tasty filling for cookies and tarts to top off your holiday turkey dinner.

FRUIT FIXIN'S

1/2 lb. pitted prunes
1/2 lb. dried apricots
1/2 lb. stemless figs
2 8-oz. packages diced dates (or whole dates, cut up)
1 lb. seedless raisins
1 cup chopped nuts
1 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. cloves

Force all fruits and nuts through the coarse blade of a food chopper. Add spices and mix well. Makes approximately 1 quart of mixture.

FRUIT CANDY BALLS

Roll Fruit Fixin's into balls. Roll 1-3rd in powdered sugar, 1-3rd in cocoa and leave 1-3rd plain. An unusual, delicious tasting, Thanksgiving candy.

formed. Chill at least 1 hour.

NOTE: The above recipe makes enough dough for a two-crust pie. Use half of dough at a time for any of the following. (The other half may be frozen for future use or may be used to make a second item.)

FILLED COOKIES

Roll out dough on a well-floured board. Cut 2-2 1/2-inch rounds. Place a spoonful of Fruit Fixin's (may be thinned with orange juice if looser consistency is desired) on 1/2 of circles. Cover with remaining rounds and crimp around to seal. Prick top. Bake on a greased cookie sheet at 375 degrees until lightly browned. May be cut in half and sprinkled with powdered sugar.

SWIRL COOKIES

Roll out dough to form a rectangle. Spread slightly thinned Fruit Fixin's over dough (thin layer). Roll jelly roll fashion, starting with long end. Cut into 1/2-inch lengths and place a cut side down on a greased baking sheet. Bake at 375 degrees until lightly browned. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

TARTS

Roll out dough and cut to line individual tart pans. Bake at 425 degrees until lightly browned. Cool slightly and remove from pan. Fill with a spoonful of Fruit Fixin's. When cool, top with a dab of sour cream and a sprinkling of nutmeg. Again, a softer mixture can be obtained by mixing with a small amount of orange juice. The use of lemon juice with a small amount of brown sugar is also an interesting, different flavor.

FRUIT TOPPED COOKIES

Roll out dough and cut into 2-inch rounds or squares. Depress center with tip of finger after placing on greased cookie sheet. Fill depression with slightly thinned Fruit Fixin's. Bake at 375 degrees until lightly browned. Sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Calley Received Fair Trail, Attorneys Say

BOSTON (AP) — Is it possible that some crimes may be so heavily publicized that no defendant can get a fair trial?

Two prominent lawyers say yes.

Is the case of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., such a case? They say no.

"I think Calley got a fair trial as anybody gets for committing a crime of that kind and being court-martialed," said Harvard Law Prof. Alan Dershowitz, a noted civil liberties expert.

"The jury reacted against publicity," said criminal attorney F. Lee Bailey of Boston.

Bailey and Dershowitz commented on Calley's case and several others like it after being asked for their views on the question of a fair trial in cases that get extensive, nationwide news coverage. Also asked to comment on the topic was Robert Meserve, a Boston lawyer and former president of the American Bar Association.

NOBODY KNOWS

The three said discussion of prejudicial publicity inevitably comes down to what jurors think, and nobody knows much about that. Are jurors honest about their prejudices when examined before selection? If not confined, do they obey the judge's instructions not to read newspapers or listen to radio and television news about their case?

"The average juror," said Bailey, "is announcing his willingness to be with the government."

Bailey won a new trial, and an eventual acquittal, for Dr. Sam Sheppard, accused of murdering his wife, on the grounds the celebrated 1954 trial in Cleveland had been a circus, poisoned by local press clamor against the defendant. Bailey himself was censured by the Massachusetts Supreme Court in 1972 for, among other things, out-of-court statements in a New Jersey case.

Recalling the Sheppard case, Bailey said: "In the retrial the first jurors, if we'd had them, would have voted to convict again."

"The best juror is the one who says: 'Sure, I read the paper, but I will decide the case on the evidence,'" said Bailey. "I would keep him, unless he knows something specific about an alleged confession, etc., whose admissibility into evidence is going to be argued. Then I would excuse him; he just can't put that knowledge aside."

"In my own experience, if a juror disregards the judge's instructions — in a case where the jury is not locked up — and reads about the trial, the other jurors turn on him and say: 'You're going beyond the rules.'"

Meserve thought the empanelling of the Watergate coverup jury as well as the jury in New York which acquitted former U.S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans on non-Watergate charges required "to some degree an act of faith, a belief that people will do their best to be honest citizens. I think that's justified, speaking generally."

DILEMMA

There is a dilemma here, Meserve said. "It seems to me that generally speaking, you can't find jurors quite frequently who are intelligent people who don't know something about most matters that come before them — or haven't at least formulated a sort of opinion about matters of the type that come before them."

Dershowitz says he is sure that, human nature being what it is, some jurors disregard judges' instructions. "I don't think you can completely count on it being an airtight system. There are many problems with the jury system, and it's such an important system I wouldn't want to tamper with it."

The Watergate coverup jury, Dershowitz said, presents a "mixed picture" for the defense.

"The fact that all these jurors know of the President's pardon (of Richard Nixon) is a tremendous advantage. The judge refused to strike, apparently, the jurors who might allow that fact to influence their decision."

The jury now hearing the Watergate coverup trial is confined where news of the trial cannot reach it and possibly affect its deliberations.

Nonetheless, U.S. District Court Judge John Sirica should have moved the trial from Washington to insure an impartial jury, Bailey and Dershowitz said.

NOT HAPPY

"I'm not happy seeing

Richard Nixon's gang being tried by blacks and liberals in the District of Columbia," said Dershowitz.

He thought it would have been "a lot fairer" to have moved the trial to "a district of Maryland where it (the 1972 election) was very close, and where you had a mixture of whites and blacks."

A majority of the Watergate coverup jury is black.

"I would have moved the trial to another city not so fired up," said Bailey.

Moving a trial is one way to assure a fair trial, as Bailey notes in summing up a judge's options:

delay the trial. Third, try the case — and if you can assign unfairness, reverse the conviction and try it again or dismiss it, as in the Bobby Seale case in Connecticut.

"Let the man go unpunished. This is the price society pays."

Black Panther leader Seale was charged with, among other things, kidnapping resulting in death.

Dreary Future Foreseen By Economist E. Janeway

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — America is approaching a depression that could make the slump of the 1930s "seem like a tea party," says economist Eliot Janeway.

"Before this is over, no American is going to live high on the hog," he told a Georgia State University audience Tuesday.

The United States is in a race against time to forestall a depression, said Janeway, author of numerous books on economics.

"We have no friends," he said. "Europeans and the Japanese are lined up four square with the oil countries. Do not regard Israel as our friend, but respect them for looking out for themselves—and question us for not looking after ourselves."

Janeway also said he did not think President Ford should have left the country during an economic crisis.

He said there is no way to escape a depression if the Middle East countries maintain the high price of oil. The United States should demand a 50 per cent cut in oil prices, he said.

Jury Holds For Defendant

A nine-man, three-woman jury answered seven special issue questions in the favor of the defendant Tuesday in the 118th District Court trial of the civil case of Walter Morgan, individually and on behalf of his minor son Daniel Lee Morgan vs. Floyd Lee McMurray.

The plaintiffs sought $75,000 in damages suffered by Daniel as a result of a motorcycle accident at 218 and Rannels on July 18, 1971.

In other 118th District Court action, jury selection began this morning in the civil case of O. L. Burns vs. Texas Indemnity Corp., Workman's Compensation suit.

Thornton Wins Battle To Remove ABC Chief

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Dallas banker R. L. Thornton Jr. has won his six-months-long fight to remove former state police intelligence chief C. N. Humphreys Jr. as administrator of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Humphreys, 51, retired Wednesday, effective Dec. 1, after commissioner Joe Burckett of Kerrville joined Thornton's request for his resignation.

Commission chairman Tom Gordon of Abilene said Humphreys had been doing a good job but was undermined by bad publicity from Thornton's attacks. He said Humphreys had been offered a lower echelon position in the ABC but turned it down.

NO CRITICISM

Thornton, who contends Humphreys was incompetent, had moved at virtually every commission meeting since May to fire Humphreys but never got a second for his motion.

He made his motion again behind closed doors Tuesday. It never came to a vote. Burckett cashed in a long-standing promise by Humphreys to quit if Burckett ever asked him to.

Kenneth Cook, Humphreys' top assistant, will be acting administrator but earlier had announced plans to retire in about a month.

Humphreys was director of the Texas Department of Public Safety's intelligence section when he was hired in 1968 to clean up the scandal-ridden agency, then called the Texas Liquor Control Board.

The ABC operates with about 600 people, mainly field enforcement officers and liquor tax collectors, and has a $7 million annual budget. Gordon said it collects $3 million a week in taxes.

Burckett told reporters that Humphreys had done only a "fair job" as administrator. "Honest, yes, but as an administrator, he lacked a whole lot of being the administrator for this job," Burckett said.

"In my judgement, our situation as an agency for the last 12 months has been deteriorating—morale, efficiency, the works. I personally concluded that some change had to be made for the good of the agency," he added.

Gordon said the widespread news coverage since May of Thornton's attacks on Humphreys at commission meetings and elsewhere "has been detrimental to this agency and certainly has not been to Mr. Humphreys' benefit. His effectiveness has been nullified because of it."

Humphreys revealed his resignation at the start of his scheduled testimony before the House Liquor Regulation Subcommittee.

NO SECOND

"I was shocked, and the committee was shocked at what transpired because throughout the testimony there has been no criticism of the administration of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission. In fact, we have heard nothing but praises," said Rep. Frank Lombardino, D-San Antonio, the subcommittee chairman.

Humphreys told reporters that Burckett reminded him that "if I ever felt you needed to resign or retire, you said all I have to do is ask you. Now I'm asking."

Earlier, Gordon was asked by a committee member if he thought Humphreys was performing adequately.

"I think Mr. Humphreys is doing a good job," he said.

Gordon told the committee there is nobody coming up within the ABC organization to take over the administrator's job on a permanent basis, and the commission would have to go outside the agency's ranks to find the right man.

Thornton has roasted him at commission meetings for being insufficiently prepared to answer questions about agency operations.

Earlier this year, at the ABC's request, Atty. Gen. John Hill's staff investigated allegations that field inspectors in Dallas had submitted fraudulent travel expense accounts.

But Hill reported there were no provable cases of misconduct.

Thornton also criticized Humphreys for submitting to the governor and the legislature a proposed budget that includes a pay raise for himself. Humphreys said the raise was in line with those sought by other agencies and had the approval of Burckett.

Cook was questioned by the House subcommittee about changes he would make in the ABC.

"Several I'm from the old school, and I believe personally in people working from 8 to 5."

He explained that he had told Humphreys of "flagrant abuse... late to work early to leave" on the part of ABC employees.

Sugar-Free Soda Pop Could Slide In Price

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Relief may be in sight for sugar-free soda drinkers, who have been forced to swallow price hikes caused largely by the sky-high cost of sugar.

Chinks have begun to appear in the beverage industry's tradition of level-pricing—charging the same for regular soft drinks and their sugar-free "cousins," although the cost of saccharine or other substitutes now is nowhere near the cost of sugar.

Thomas F. Baker, executive vice president of the National Soft Drink Association, said after the close of an industry convention Wednesday that diet sodas already were being sold below regular soda prices in Dallas, Chicago and New York.

Baker denied the industry has been profiteering on diet drinks. Other executives and bottlers interviewed at the convention said consumer resistance was spurring the trend to split-level pricing.

The trend got a boost earlier this month when Donald M. Kendall, chairman of the PepsiCo Inc., told the Council on Wage and Price Stability that PepsiCo's company-owned plants no longer would automatically raise the price of Diet Pepsi with Pepsi-Cola.

However, Kendall's statement, which caught his own company by surprise, also underscored the difficulty of discussing prices in the industry. Pepsi owns only 35 of its 506 bottling plants.

Wholesale prices of Pepsi and the other leading brands are set by bottlers who hold franchises but operate independently.

Coca-Cola, the leader in the $6.2 billion industry, has not followed Pepsi's lead. But several Coke bottlers at the convention said they have begun split-pricing.

TRADITIONAL AMERICAN dessert called Topsy Squire or Topsy Parson has a modern version in this goodie made with sherry-soaked pie-sliced apples in a smooth vanilla sauce which is spooned over squares of freshly baked yellow cake. Toasted slivered almonds are sprinkled on top to give crispy texture and added flavor.

Topsy Squires With Custard For Dessert

Out of the big, bustling colonial kitchens came many of the dishes the first American settlers had enjoyed in their old homes in England. Among the more festive desserts, usually served only on special occasions, was the delightful concoction originally called Trifle, but soon known on this continent as Topsy Squire or Topsy Parson. Made with a mixture of plain cake, fruit, custard, sherry, cream and nuts, Topsy Squire graced many an elegant dinner table, in the hospitable plantation houses of the South.

As an unusual yet truly American dessert to top off the traditional feast, Topsy Squire is an especially good choice. It is festive yet light, and has the added advantage of being chilled so it can be served any time — right after the main course, or several hours later with tea or coffee.

In this modern version, called Topsy Squares, the recipe calls for time-saving ingredients that help to keep holiday cooking to a minimum. Canned pie-sliced apples, those same apple slices you use for making pies, cake mix and packaged vanilla pudding all cut down on tedious preparation and cleaning up. Yet the completed dessert is every bit as delicious as those served two centuries ago. Here is the recipe.

TIPSY SQUARES
 1 pkg. yellow cake mix
 1/2 teaspoon almond extract
 1 lb. 4 oz. can pie-sliced apples, well drained
 1/2 cup light brown sugar
 1/4 cup sherry
 1 1/2 oz. pkg. vanilla pudding
 2 1/4 cups milk
 Toasted, slivered almonds
 Prepare cake according to package directions adding almond extract to batter. Bake in a 13" x 9" x 2" cake pan. While cake is cooling, combine apples, brown sugar and sherry in mixing bowl and blend well. Allow apples to stand in sugar mixture about one hour, stirring occasionally. Combine pudding and milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil. Add apples and sugar mixture and blend well. Cool slightly. To serve, cut cake into squares and spoon warm apple mixture over top. If desired, garnish with toasted almonds.

Corned Brisket For Sandwiches

Cook corned beef and you'll have wonderful meat for several meals. Beef brisket, cuts from the round and other cuts may be corned. Corned beef can be served hot as an entree with vegetables or as a sandwich. Chilled, it goes well with potato or macaroni salad, as an accent for cold meat platters or again, as a sandwich.

Some meat processors are making corned brisket so tender it can be roasted, maintains Reba Staggs, meat authority.

However, much of the corned beef is still of the less-tender type which must be covered with water and simmered until tender. Add no salt to corned beef when simmering in water, for "corned" means cured in brine, a salt solution. Simmering temperature is 185 degrees F, which is below boiling.

Corned beef usually comes in sizes of four to six pounds. The time per pound for cooking is 40 to 50 minutes or a total of 3 to 4 hours when cooking in water. Keeping the temperature below boiling will cause less shrinkage and make carving easier. Cooling the corned beef in the cooking liquid makes the meat more juicy.

Use Leftover Meat Loaf In Sandwiches

Leftover meat loaf beefs up these easy foil-wrapped sandwiches.
 Cut 6 French rolls lengthwise in half; scoop out bottoms, reserving crumbs and leaving walls about 1/4-inch thick. Combine reserved crumbs, 2 cups chopped meat loaf, 2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce with mushrooms and 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese. Place each roll bottom on square of foil; fill with meat loaf mixture. Replace tops, bring foil up and seal tightly. Place bundles on baking sheet; bake at 375 F. for 25 minutes. Makes six servings.
