Hunting For Bodies After Plane Crashes

UPPERVILLE, Va. (AP) — Heavy snow hampered searchers resuming their grim hunt today for the bodies of 92 persons killed when a Trans World Airlines 727 slammed into an Appalachian foothill Sunday.

The chief investigator for the National Transportation Safety Board, Rudolf Kapustin, said 26 bodies were recovered from the crash site near here when searchers quit at 10 p.m. Sunday night.

ALL DIE
Reporters on the scene said searchers found parts of 75 bodies early this morning and the cockpit flight recorder.

The instrument will tell investigators the plane's position moments before the crash and help determine the cause of the disaster.

The TWA jetliner crashed into the top of the 1,754-foot-high peak during a wind-driven rain storm Sunday morning, killing all aboard.

The plane, TWA flight 514 bound for Washington from Indianapolis, Ind., and Columbus, Ohio, sheared off tree tops and slammed into a 10-foot-high rocky ledge near a top-secret government installation.

IMPOSSIBLE TO SAY
The three-jet plane disintegrated on impact, strewn bodies and burning wreckage over a wide area on the slope of Mt. Weather, a foothill of the Blue Ridge Mountains. The plane's tail section was found 100 yards below the summit.

John H. Reed, chairman of the National Transportation Safety Board, said it was impossible to say immediately what caused the crash.

TWA officials said relatives of the 85 passengers and seven crew members would be taken by bus today to a temporary morgue near the crash site to identify the remains.

REPORTED DOWN
The Mt. Weather crash was followed Sunday by the crash of a Northwest Orient Airlines 727 charter jet near Stony Point, N.Y. about 20 miles northwest of New York City. The plane carried three crewmen and no passengers and was on its way to Buffalo, N.Y., to pick up the Baltimore Colts football team. State police said there was no evidence of survivors.

MRS. LIZ MARTIN
Crash Victim

Another airplane was reported down in Costa Rica where searchers combed a mountainous area for a Honduran Air Force cargo plane carrying four persons. The craft was reported missing Friday night. The Mt. Weather search was hampered by driving rain, fog and winds gusting up to 40-50 miles an hour, the same weather conditions that prevailed in the area when the jet crashed at 11:10 a.m. EST.

The flight had been scheduled to land at 10:23 a.m. EST at Washington National Airport, directly across the Potomac River from Washington, when air-traffic controllers diverted it to Dulles International, about 25 miles northwest.

The diversion was ordered because Dulles had runways sited in various directions. National only has north-south runways.

The manager of Dulles, Dexter Davis, said weather conditions there were highly unusual. "In the six years I've been here, a crosswind like this hasn't happened," he said.

FIND WRECKAGE
The Federal Aviation Administration said there had been no unusual communications between the plane's crew and airtraffic controllers, "just the routine flight conversation."

When the Dulles tower lost radar contact with the plane about 11:10 a.m. EST local authorities were notified to begin a search. Two state troopers found the wreckage almost immediately.

The plane sheared off tree-tops as it plunged into the west side of the mountain. The plane then struck a rocky outcropping, caught fire, disintegrated and spewed over an area about the size of two football fields. The main wreckage cut a swath 60 to 70 yards wide for about a quarter of a mile.

Loudoun County Medical Examiner George Hoeker, describing the difficulty of finding and identifying the victims, said, "For about half of the bodies, you can recognize that it is a human. But with the rest of them, you're just dealing with pieces."

The flight originated in Indianapolis, and about 46 passengers boarded at Columbus, according to a TWA spokesman.

County Dads Reject Tax Appraisal Pact

County Commissioners Court this morning rejected a contract approved by the city, school district and Howard College for a joint tax appraisal. The city was to be the contracting agency.

The court as a whole, instead of being represented by two commissioner alone as before, will seek to negotiate with other governments for a proposal acceptable to it.

Every member of the court opposed the contract, at least in part. But Commissioner Bill Crooker did not vote for the motion to reject, because he said the court should also propose alternatives.

Commissioner Bill Bennett said he wondered why the county should be turning to city employes for a tax appraisal team when records were maintained for the whole county in the courthouse.

OFFICIALS ON BOARD
Commissioner Jack Buchanan suggested the other governments contract with the county instead of the city, that it be specified the 20 per cent re-appraised yearly be a different 20 per cent and that the tax appraisal committee as a whole hire and fire the head appraiser, leaving subordinates employment up to this appointed official.

Also, Buchanan opposed re-evaluation. "Some of these values may be a little low, but they're as equal as we could get them."

Crooker wanted elected as well as appointed officials on the board managing the tax appraisal office.

"I don't know how you can come any closer to the people than (with) the elected ones," Buchanan said.

"Our forefathers set us up on the grounds we were being over-taxed by the fatherland," County Judge A. G. Mitchell said. "Here, we are voting to take it away from the people" through a board of appointed officials.

RURAL OBJECTIONS
Speaking for rural citizens, Commissioner Simon (Cy) Terrazas said, "I know they wouldn't be in favor of hiring the city to do the appraisal."

"I looked at it from one end to another, and it's faulty as it can be," Terrazas said.

As written, the city would not be "paying one red cent toward this contract," Terrazas said. Crooker argued that this could be corrected, because the city planned to contribute.

LONG OPERATION
"I'll agree that there's some things in this contract that need to be changed,"

ICE PICNIC — In the summer, persons have to carry their own ice on a picnic, but with the arrival of winter, this group of teen-agers found their own at the historic Crooker said.

Crooker, however, wanted to "save a system that's been operating 16 years."

Referring to the joint appraisal operation, Crooker mentioned cost savings and the advantage of using the same value for property by all governments.

"I agree reappraisal and reassessment should not be part of this contract," Crooker added.

"Essentially, the city and the school were not satisfied with current service" by Southwestern Appraisal, Crooker said.

"They felt by them (personnel) being employed by one of the taxing jurisdictions, there would be more authority and control," Crooker said.

OPPOSE REVALUATION
Johnnie Walker and Ralph Proctor spoke next against the proposal. Walker said rural land was revaluated five years ago.

Last year's banner crop precipitated the push for reappraisal, Walker said. This year, farmers and ranchers are making little, he added.

"I do believe the origin of this appraisal idea was the school tax office," Walker said.

He also objected to non-elected officials managing the appraisal agency. "I'd like to see that be somebody besides the administrators of school, county and city government," Walker said.

Proctor called on local governments to "tighten their belts, too."

"I think we need to look at the high taxes we're paying in comparison to other counties and other taxing bodies," Proctor said.

Israel Has 'Nuclear Potential'

JERUSALEM (AP) — President Ephraim Katzir says Israel has "the potential to produce atomic weapons. If we need it, we will do it."

It was the first declaration by a high Israeli official that Israel is capable of moving into the field of nuclear arms.

Katzir made the comments at his residence Sunday night during a reception for international science writers touring Israel.

Asked if he meant that parts already existed for weapons, the president replied, "That is difficult to say. It is mainly the know-how."

If necessary, he said, "Israel will protect herself by all means possible."

Israel is known to have two atomic reactors. American scientists last visited the reactors in 1966 and reported then that the Israelis were not making nuclear arms. But they said one reactor was capable of producing plutonium, the basic component of nuclear explosive.

The newspaper Maariv reported Sunday that the science writers asked Katzir whether the nuclear potential was a cause of concern. He reportedly replied, "Why should I worry you? Let the world worry."

The World At-A-Glance

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli officials say two of Yasser Arafat's Al Fatah guerrillas made the latest terrorist raid on an Israeli frontier village, in which a Moslem factory worker was killed and his wife wounded Saturday night. The terrorists surrendered to the Israeli army. Defense Minister Shimon Peres, speaking Sunday at the funeral of the victim in Rihaniya, a Moslem village near the Lebanese border, said the Israeli government would do everything possible to end such attacks. He said guerrillas attempted three raids that failed in the past month, and the Israeli military command said five Arab invaders were killed on the Lebanese border during the weekend.

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Turkish and Greek Cypriot forces have been put on increased alert in preparation for trouble when Archbishop Makarios returns to Cyprus next Friday. Greek Cypriot military sources said Turkish armored units have moved into positions on their side of the cease-fire line, and Turkish Prime Minister said the return of the deposed Greek Cypriot is making the situation "critical again." Makarios and Acting President Glafcos Clerides conferred in Athens with Prime Minister Constantine Caramanlis, and a joint communique said they had reached a common stand. But it did not indicate whether Makarios has modified his opposition to the division of Cyprus into a federated Greek and Turkish Cypriot states.

MILLS ON STAGE — Stripper Fanne Foxe leads Rep. Wilbur Mills on stage Saturday night at a Boston burlesque theater where she was performing. The Arkansas Democrat visited her and attended shows on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. She gained fame in an incident with Mills in Washington in which she jumped into the Tidal Basin. ## Mills Will Not Write About Talented Fanne

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said today he appeared in public with dancer Annabel Battistella in Boston "to dispel all these innuendoes."

The innuendoes, he said in an interview, were that there was something improper in his relationship with the Argentine entertainer whose plunge into the tidal basin in October after a party with Mills and others created a sensation.

Meredith Clarke, Miss MacLaine's personal secretary, said she reached the actress in New York and asked her about Mills' statement. She said Miss MacLaine denied ever having anything to do with him.

"I called Shirley and she laughed," the secretary said. "She thought it was very funny and what she said—which she said was okay to release—was, 'What Wilbur wanted me to do was flop on him but I'm not a midnight swimmer.'"

Miss Clarke said Miss MacLaine's reply was intended as a joke, and that Mills had never made a suggestive comment to the actress.

'MIDNIGHT SWIMMER'
Miss MacLaine's "midnight swimmer" reference apparently was to an incident Oct. 7 at Washington's Tidal Basin. Mills and Miss Foxe splashed into the headlines after the stripper flopped into the basin's chilly waters. The two were among five persons in a car stopped by park police at 2 a.m. The police said the car was traveling at an "unreasonable" speed with the lights off. The police report on the incident described Mills as intoxicated. Police pulled Miss Foxe from the basin.

Miss Foxe later told The Associated Press that Mills frequently says contradictory things — "Sometimes I think he's 12 different people." She said, "You'll never understand Mr. Mills. There's no person in the world that knows Mr. Mills. I never know when he's joking or when he's serious."

$3,000-A-WEEK
Her $3,000-a-week stand at the Pilgrim Theater was her first since the tidal basin incident. She was scheduled to open today at New York's 42nd Street Playhouse.

She said she had not known in advance that he would visit her in Boston. Mrs. Mills could not be reached for comment on her husband's trip to Boston.

Mills was first spotted Sunday by an Associated Press reporter as he peered from behind a backstage door, wearing large dark glasses.

He told the reporter he was trying to escape unnoticed from the theater following an article in the Boston Sunday Herald Advertiser reporting on his visit.

He confirmed that he had appeared on stage after Miss Foxe told the audience, "I'd like you to meet somebody. Mr. Mills, Mr. Mills, where are you?" Mills was led on stage and left minutes later, arm in arm with the 38-year-old stripper.

"I went up there to be seen," Mills said. "I certainly didn't hide from anybody."

Asked about rumors that he and his wife were contemplating divorce, Mills said: "Certainly not."

He said he talked with Mrs. Mills by telephone "at least five times" during his weekend visit to Boston, where Mrs. Battistella, billed as "The Tidal Basin Bombshell" was concluding an engagement.

Mills said he was joking when he told newsmen in Boston he had written a movie script for Mrs. Battistella.

"But I certainly think she could have a career in the movies," he said. "She is a very talented dancer."

COULD BE WRONG
"I wouldn't know how to write a script," Mills said today, adding, however, that he had some ideas he might pass on to someone who would write one.

He confirmed that he had appeared on stage after Miss Foxe told the audience, "I'd like you to meet somebody. Mr. Mills, Mr. Mills, where are you?" Mills was led on stage and left minutes later, arm in arm with the 38-year-old stripper.

COMBAT READY — Penny Hartley, an Army private, prepares to take the IOI Airborne Division's grueling air assault course. Miss Hartley, 18, became the first woman to ever pass the rugged test. Here her helmet is checked by Sgt. Sam Osborne.

Volunteer Groups Plan To Decorate

Seign deis started to ring early on the campus at Big Spring State Hospital as organizations and individuals made plans for another Christmas that's "merry and bright".

To create a festive air on the campus, area groups will be decorating hospital buildings beginning Dec. 12. Already signed up for making the units look Christmasy are the Southern Belles Home Demonstration Club from Lamesa, Eagles Auxiliary of Big Spring, Office Education Association of Coahoma, the Circuit Riders from Lamesa, Seminole and Colorado City, and Pioneer Telephone of America Far West Club.

Area Girl Scouts are lending many helping hands with their activities for Christmas which includes collecting shoe boxes and baby food jars as well as planning a Girl Scout Cookie Day which will be held in the Highland Mall where Girl Scout troops will bring cookies to be received by members of the Volunteer Services office.

Gift wrapping plays an important part in the BSSH Christmas plans. Groups coming to prepare gifts include Baptist WMU from O'Donnell, the Ackerly Auxiliary to the BSSH, women of the Prairie View Baptist Church, and the Midland Auxiliary to BSSH.

ADOLESCENTS
The Big Spring High School Key Club, Webb AFB CYO, and the Home Economic class from Sweetwater High School are planning special parties for the Adolescent Unit. Area bands are also scheduled to play at special events during the holiday season.

Unit parties will begin Dec. 10 with Center Point Home Demonstration Club entertaining residents of Unit 10 NW, and on Dec. 12 the Southern Belles HD Club of Lamesa has planned festivities for Unit 10 NE. Unit 11 will have its Christmas party the morning of Dec. 17 hosted by 1948 Hyperion Club and Potpourri Club.

The evening of Dec. 17 at 7:30 p.m. will see lots of gaiety and good cheer as such groups as ESA, Alpha Chi, ABWA, Evening Lions, Circuit Riders of Lamesa, Seminole and Colorado City, ABClub, Rotary Club, Baptist Women from Baptist Temple Church, John A. Kee Rebekahs, BPO Does, the Jaycees, Downtown Lions, Underwriter's Association, NCO Wives, Woman's Forum, Rebekahs' Past Noble Grand, Center Point HD Club, LVN's, Beaumonts, B&PW, Elks Club, Noon Optimists, and Morning Optimists Clubs.

BANDS
Adding to the evening's enjoyment will be such musical groups as the Leon White Band, Charles Ezzell Band, Colorado City; The New Light Band, Big Spring; Dr. Gale Kilgore, Don Tolle Group, Paschal Porres Band and James Horton Band.

Santas for the evening will be Harold Pierce, Big Spring, Ray Nichols, Coahoma, and Lee May, Midland.

Climaxing the Christmas season will be a hayride tour of Big Spring for hospital residents to view the holiday decorations and lights, with the caravan returning to the campus for doughnuts and hot chocolate.

Herman Bauer, manager of the Woolworth Store, and his staff stayed late in the evening of Nov. 28 to start the BSSH residents' holiday shopping, as they have done for many years. Dr. Preston Harrison, hospital superintendent, and Mrs. Harrison were on hand, as were volunteers to assist the residents' with their purchases.

FORT CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) — Federal law prohibits women from drawing combat assignments in America's armed forces. But if the law is changed, Penny Hartley will be ready.

This week Miss Hartley, an Army private, became the first woman to complete the 101st Airborne Division's rugged air assault course.

"It takes an unusual woman to desire to do this and then actually accomplish it," said Maj. James Daily, commandant of the assault school. "She made it on her own, without any special treatment except to be allowed to use the WAC latrine."

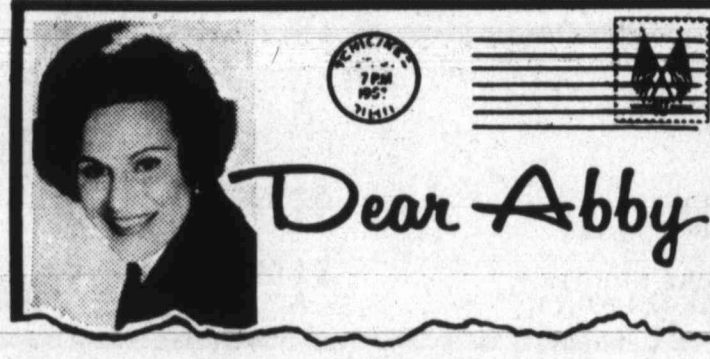

Miss Hartley had to hike five miles on a forced march in two hours; run two miles in 16 1/2 minutes; pass a written examination; do 37 situps and 33 pushups in one minute; climb a troop ladder into an airborne helicopter, and rappell off a 40-foot tower.

"I'm glad I did it," said the petite brunette from Jackson County, W.Va. "It was something to do, and I would do it again."

"Once or twice I almost decided to give it up," she confessed. "But always the next morning, I felt better and wanted to go on."

"The course is really tough, but I had encouragement from everyone in the class, and that helped, believe me," she said. "Not a single person harassed me. They all kept giving me confidence and helping me in little ways that count."

Her regular Army assignment is driving a truck for a supply and service battalion. She wants to be an illustrator in the Army.

Don't Wed Same Man Again Say Ex-Wives

DEAR ABBY: That letter from "Fourth Time Around," who asks what her chances for success are with the same mate has prompted me to write.

I am an authority on the subject, having married the same man FIVE times.

The first time we were married we were just kids — 16 and 17. Over a period of 38 years we were divorced and remarried five times. (We're divorced now.)

We couldn't live without each other. It was like a sickness. We were a couple of neurotics who needed each other to fight with God, how we suffered! And our children suffered, too.

I'm alone now, and I miss him. But I'm better off without him. At least there are no more bloody noses and broken dishes.

HAND IT IN ATLANTA
DEAR ABBY: I married Ed twice. After 19 years I decided that I'd be better off alone. I had my choice of five "grounds." (Marge, Nancy, Lucille, Peggy or Helen.)

Ed had done very well in business, and my lawyer got me a really good settlement. Two years later Ed started to court me. It was like old times — flowers, dinner dates, the whole bit. Like a fool I fell for it and married him again.

It didn't take me long to realize that he was in big trouble at the bank and he only married me for my money. He didn't treat me any better the second time than he did the first, so I divorced him again, but it cost me a bundle.

The only ones who came out ahead on the deal were the lawyers.

Everybody thought we were crazy, and maybe we were, but each time we married somebody else we realized how much we loved each other. (My husband had only two other wives.)

This time it's going to last. He's 77, and I'm 76.

HOLIDAY DEATHS

The four-day Thanksgiving holiday ended at midnight Sunday with 496 persons having lost their lives in traffic accidents.

Organization Panel To Meet

The organizational affairs council, which concerns itself primarily with the internal affairs of the Chamber of Commerce, will meet Tuesday noon at Holiday Inn. Don Reynolds, vice president in charge of this division, announced today. Among topics on the agenda are office equipment, how the division can cooperate in planning of the annual meeting, also accounts, and a general wrapup of the year's work.

TIA Big Spring Flights Are Cancelled By Strike

Texas International Airline flights at Big Spring and Brownwood have been cancelled due to a strike by the Air Line Employees Association.

Only persons notified locally of the closing of the airport here was the sheriff's office. Sheriff A. N. Standard reported that his office had been notified Sunday not to send a guard to the airport until further notice.

The local office of the Texas International does not answer, and the 800 number for reservations has apparently been "busied out" so that the company does not have to answer.

AELA spokesmen contend that the strike will eventually shut down a large portion of the airline's flights. They say the 400 management personnel have been deployed to fill the 1,100

Texas' violent death toll took a tragic upsurge as the extended Thanksgiving weekend neared a close.

The grim toll, recorded from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday, reached a total of 47. It included 19 traffic fatalities, a dozen shootings and six deaths in an oil field accident.

Poisonous methane gas spilling from a break in a crude pipeline killed six workmen repairing it Sunday near Abilene, but a seventh man escaped. The dead were listed as T. P. Rains and Robert Redman of Sweetwater, Don White and Stanley Holderman of Roscoe, Robert Arellano of Colorado City and Cody Cox of Eastland.

Two gunmen disguised by black stocking masks killed Armando Virto, 20, a jobs left vacant. Apparently, local office personnel have been sent elsewhere.

On the first day of the strike Sunday, about 50 percent of TIA's scheduled flights were operating. In San Angelo and Midland, all of the regular flights were still operating.

The operator claimed that Big Spring and Brownwood were closed by TIA due to total observance of the strike by ALEA members in those cities and the lack of personnel by TIA to man those stations. Big Spring is usually a one-man operation.

The International Association of Mechanics, meanwhile, threw its support to the ALEA and most members of that organization, including three in San Angelo (the only ones stationed in West Texas) were honoring picket lines Sunday.

NUCLEAR ARMS AGREEMENT

Ford Getting Ready To Meet The Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today holds his first nationally broadcast news conference since returning from the Soviet Union with a tentative nuclear arms agreement.

The meeting with reporters raises an opportunity for Ford to give the public the first specific details of the agreement he worked out in Vladivostok with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The agreement is understood to set a ceiling of 1,200 to 1,300 on the number of missiles that can carry multiple warheads, but it reportedly sets no restrictions on the "throw weight" or lifting power of missiles.

Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Ford would be willing to discuss details of the arms agreement if a written communication is received from the Russians setting forth specifics on the tentative agreement. The President returned last week with what was described as a verbal understanding with the Soviets.

In preparation for the news conference, Ford was to be briefed by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, who traveled to Peking after the Russian talks and returned to Washington over the weekend. The Peking visit produced an announcement that Ford would visit China sometime next year.

The news conference was set for 7:30 p.m. EST in the auditorium of the old Executive Office Building next door to the White House.

With the administration now conceding that the economy is in a recession, Ford also is expected to face questions on whether he has any new plans to fight inflation and cope with economic slump.

On the eve of the news conference, the President worked in his office for about three hours Sunday and met with staff chief Donald Rumsfeld.

Earlier in the day the President and Mrs. Ford attended morning services at nearby St. John's Episcopal Church, where the minister's sermon painted a gloomy picture of the world's problems in working toward peace and alleviating hunger.

It was the first time Mrs. Ford had gone to church since her cancer operation Sept. 28.

Tragic Upsurge In Road Deaths

Mexican national, during a holdup Sunday at a Dallas rooming house, police were told. The bandits escaped after robbing two other Mexican nationals.

Police acting on a tip surprised four men during a food store robbery Sunday in Tyler, and one of the bandits was slain in the ensuing shootout. He was identified as Theodore Ross. Minor wounds were suffered by a policeman and two of the intruders.

Fellow officers said city policeman Matt Murphy, 33, of George West was shot Sunday after stopping a car for a traffic violation, and he died soon afterward at a hospital in Alice.

WILD HOG?

These were among other victims: Bosque County authorities said W. J. Cox, 71, of Laguna Park, and his daughter Virginia Greene, 37, of Fort Worth, were asphyxiated Saturday when gas heaters apparently used up the oxygen in the house where they were staying near Lake Whitney.

Cox's wife and son-in-law were hospitalized. The four occupants of the house were found by a neighbor.

Clinton Butler, 19, of Houston, was killed Sunday when his 19-year-old hunting companion mistook him for a wild hog and shot him with a rifle. Newton County sheriff's deputies said. Officers said the two youths were hunting in rural Newton County.

David Earl Kotrola, 20, of Weimar was killed Saturday when his pickup truck left a road at Weimar and slammed into a tree.

Larry Martin Aldrich, 18, was killed on his family's farm 15 miles west of Beaumont Sunday when he was pulled into the combine he was operating. Justice of the Peace L. R. Doucette said several other people working in the field were too

In Harlingen, Randy Sparks, 17, was fatally wounded in a gun battle with officers who answered a silent burglar alarm at a discount store. Police said two youths running from the store began firing when officers ordered them to halt.

NO ARRESTS MADE Firemen Discover Undelivered Mail

NEWINGTON, Conn. (AP) — "Possibly hundreds of thousands" of pieces of undelivered mail post-marked as long ago as 1972 have been discovered by firemen who fought a blaze in a house here.

"There was everything from baby food to Christmas cards. Anything that you've ever gotten through the mail was there," said Asst. U.S. Atty. Albert Debrowski.

Dabrowski said a mail carrier lives in one of the two apartments in the two-story house, which was extensively damaged by the blaze that began late Saturday. Firemen discovered the mail Sunday morning.

No arrests had been made by late Sunday night.

Parents Seek To Locate Dog Who Bit Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. William McFarland desperately need to locate a large white dog which bit their daughter, Terry, 15, last Friday.

The dog, described as being about the size of a collie or a white German shepherd, is short haired, probably totally white and wears a collar. It has been seen occasionally along Alabama Street and in the vicinity of Carleton house and FM 700. Efforts to locate the dog or owner so far have been fruitless.

Terry had taken the McFarland's toy Manchester, "Tiny," in the front yard of the McFarland home, 2602 E. 16th, south

Delegates At Confab

Seven persons are representing the Howard County chapter at the Texas Farm Bureau annual meeting in Dallas. The meeting, which started Sunday, continues through Wednesday.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe was to be the principal speaker at the parley, appearing on the program today with TFB President J. T. (Red) Woodson, Gober.

Sallie Echols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Echols, Coahoma, was to be the district talent representative at the 41st annual state parley, accompanying her was Mrs. Jerry Hall, Ackerly.

Heading the local delegation was Neil Fryar, president, and Mrs. Fryar, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Shaw, and Joe Dunn, local service representative of FB.

Dabrowski said the mail will be weighed and sorted starting today.

Some will be delivered but other pieces were too damaged to be identified, he said.

Most of the mail was third class, including magazines and brochures, "everything from regular sporting magazines to Penthouses," Dabrowski said. But he added that first class mail, including letters, bank statements and a U.S. Treasury check, also was found.

Most of the mail was in the attic. It was all addressed to the Hartford area.

"I really couldn't believe the amount of it. There's so much mail there. It's incredible," Dabrowski said.

across the road from Carleton House apartments. The large dog suddenly appeared, and when Terry attempted to defend Tiny, she was bitten on the thumb.

In the haste to get Tiny to a veterinarian, neither Terry nor her mother thought about the larger dog. Tiny had to be put to sleep by the vet, and Terry may have to begin rabies shots unless the large white dog can be located and put under observation.

Anyone who might furnish a lead as to the dog's whereabouts is asked to call the McFarland home at 3-2208 or call him at work at 3-4100.

KLANSMEN RALLY — Klu Klux Klansmen ring a 15-foot cross before setting it afire at a rally near Windham Center, Pa., Saturday night. Only about a dozen robed klansmen were among some 65 persons who turned out for the rally in freezing cold.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Rank-and-file members of the United Mine Workers union are voting for the first time in the union's 84-year history on a coal contract negotiated by their leaders. Early returns favored approval.

Three union locals in Pennsylvania accepted the pact Sunday by a 422-313 margin. Voting by some locals was to continue today and Tuesday, and complete results were not expected until Tuesday or Wednesday.

TRUE PICTURE
Locals that already have voted included Local 1248 at western Pennsylvania's largest mine, U.S. Steel's Maple Creek mine in Washington County, where it passed 238-223. Nick Devine, a former local president, said he was surprised 1248 passed the pact.

"You can't get a true picture by talking to the people," he said. "I sure didn't think this local would go for it."

The vote by rank-and-file members is part of a pledge made by UMW President Arnold Miller when his reform organization wrested control of the 120,000-member union from former President W.A.

"Tony" Boyle two years ago. Miller said he would return control of the union to the membership. He devised a scheme for each of the active union members to receive a copy of the proposed new contract and a secret ballot to vote on it.

INCREASE IN WAGES
The tentative agreement with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association was approved last week by the union's 38-member bargaining council. UMW officials have spent the rest of the week explaining terms of the proposal.

Miller and his aides this weekend stumped troublesome areas of the coalfields to explain the contract. Miller has predicted 60 per cent approval.

The proposal calls for a 64 per cent increase in wages and benefits over a three-year period and includes numerous provisions on mine safety, which Miller said was his first priority in the negotiations.

The three-week-old strike, which has shut off three-fourths of the nation's bituminous coal, has idled at least 23,000 workers in other industries, mostly steel plants and railroads. Government economists have predicted that it could throw as many as 400,000 persons out of work if it lasts four weeks.

Carl Love of Sturgis, Ky., said he thought the majority of his 560-member local would reject the contract. "I don't believe they'll go for it," he said. "The contract's just no good."

Former Bell Exec Wrote Checks To Politicians

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Personal records of the late T. O. Gravit show that he wrote checks to five Texas politicians in compliance with Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. policy, the San Antonio Express-News reports.

Southwestern Bell has denied these and other allegations made after Gravit took his life last Oct. 17 at his Dallas home. He was Texas chief of operations for Bell at the time.

Gravit's family and another former Bell executive, since have filed a $29.2 million slander and libel suit against the company.

PICKLE DITTO
Among other things, top officials of Southwestern Bell have denied that about 140 of its executives were under orders to contribute last spring to Texas politicians favored by the corporation.

The Express-News reported that the personal papers and records of Gravit disclose: —He wrote five checks last April 30 to that number of Texas politicians and the checks subsequently were cashed.

—Gravit had received a handwritten note on the letterhead of Ward K. Wilkinson, Austin lobbyist for Bell, stating "$100 each Dale Milford campaign fund, J.J. Pickle ditto, $50 to Ben Atwell campaign fund and Richard Geiger campaign fund, $20 to Chris Semos campaign fund."

NEED MONEY
(Milford is a congressman from Dallas, Pickle a congressman from Austin, and Geiger and Semos are state representatives from Dallas County, Veteran State Rep. Ben Atwell was defeated for re-election this year.)

—Another note on a Wilkinson letterhead states,

"Need $100 check to Kent Hance of Lubbock, a Democrat. Beat Dock Blanchard the Demo. incumbent in primary. Faces Repub. Bob Garner of Lubbock in Nov. 3 gen. election. Expected to win but, because the Repub. candidate for Gov. is from Lubbock too—it could be tough."

The newspaper said there was no indication in the Gravit papers whether he donated $100 to Hance. It said all five of the cancelled checks were written on the First National Bank of Dallas.

SOME CHOICE
James Ashley, discharged during what Southwestern Bell described as an internal investigation, again said he contributed money to politicians "as a condition of employment with Bell," the Express-News reported Sunday.

It said Bell executives until 1966 gave $50 to $100 a month each in cash, depending on their rank.

"In 1966," the newspaper quoted Ashley as saying, "the top men were given $1,000 raises with the provision most or all of it go back to the company in 'special' political assessments."

"Finally, when the law barring corporations from making political contributions went through, the present method was adopted. Ma Bell suggests, and we write our personal checks accordingly. If challenged, we are simply to say, these are the candidates of my choice."

Grant's Tomb Reopened

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. William Hendrickson, superintendent of the New York Group of the National Park Service sites, has announced the reopening of the General Grant National Memorial.

The memorial had been closed for two months, while the National Park Service initiated a restoration of the interior dome of the site, where Gen. Grant is entombed and memorialized, with his wife by his side.

The work on the dome included a complete cleaning, repairing and painting.

Capture Escapees

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Police said a four-day crime spree for two Nebraska reformatory escapees ended with their capture near here Sunday.

They identified the two as Ray E. Benkusky, 19, of Sidney, Neb., and Roy E. Schell, 34, of Kentucky, who were reported to have fled after clambering over the wall of a reformatory unit Thursday evening at Lincoln, Neb.

Officers said Benkusky failed in an effort to rob a man at a rest stop on Interstate 35 near Round Rock, 12 miles north of Austin, and fled. Alerted by his intended victim, Austin police set up a roadblock near the north edge of town.

Authorities said the fugitives wrecked a stolen pickup truck at the roadblock and fled on foot. They captured Benkusky shortly and Schell surrendered an hour and 20 minutes later in the same vicinity.

Police said they were told the two escapees took food and a gun from a house at Martell, Neb., and stole the pickup in a truck near there before heading south through Kansas and Oklahoma.

They gave a 15-year-old hitchhiker a ride at Waco, Tex., without his being aware the men were fugitives, officers said, until the vehicle was wrecked at the roadblock.

Nebraska said Benkusky was serving a sentence for burglary and awaited trial in an arson case, and Schell was serving terms for robbery and escaping prison.

ALBUQUERQUE, (AP) — Janet McNitt and Dave E. Roberts wanted their marriage to be unusual. It was.

The couple was married in a private aircraft as it flew over the Albuquerque area one recent night. The wedding was performed by Dist. Court Judge William F. Riordan.

"This was most unusual," said Judge Riordan, who was decked out in a blue flight jacket. "I don't specialize in this kind of work."

Overriding A Veto

Congress' override of President Ford's veto of the amendments bill to the Freedom of Information Act is a good thing for the American people.

Simply stated, the act requires the federal government and its agencies to make available to citizens, upon request, all documents and records — except those which fall into exempt categories. These exempt categories include: secret national security or foreign policy information; internal personnel practices; information exempted by law; trade secrets or other confidential commercial or financial information; inter-agency or intra-agency memos; personal information, personnel or medical files; law enforcement investigatory information; information related to reports on financial institutions; and geological or geophysical information.

The amendment was needed to help citizens thread their way through the maze of rules and regulations set up by bureaucratic agencies. Major problems were bureaucratic delay, the cost of bringing suit to force disclosure and excessive charges levied by the agencies for finding and providing the requested information.

And Congress apparently agreed the amendment was necessary in a free society. The Senate voted 65 to 27 to override the veto; the House rejected the veto 371-31 to close loopholes in the original act. The House-Senate conference committee agreed with the President's contention that secrecy-minded employees should be punished by their own agencies, not by the courts; that time limits for agency responses to requests for public records should be extended well beyond the 30 days in the original bill; that attorney's fees and court costs in FOI cases should not be paid for corporations seeking government records; and that investigative files should not be opened if the disclosure would invade personal privacy. The committee refused to weaken one amendment which would permit the courts to determine whether so-called classified information should remain secret.

Only by access to governmental records that affect the people can the people be intelligent enough to run its affairs, and thus keep the nation a strong democracy.

'No Argument For Support

Dr. D. Harvey Powelson is quoted in the current issue of Readers Digest as saying that he has changed his mind about marijuana being "harmless."

"I now believe that marijuana is one of the most dangerous drugs we have to contend with today," said the widely-known psychiatrist. He changed his mind "as the consequence of observing some 200 students whom I counseled." He did a little clinical study of his own, twice using it to personalize effects, also did a lot of research on available medical literature.

The more he looks at it, the more he became convinced "chronic heavy use of marijuana leads to deterioration of bodily functions that is difficult, sometimes impossible to reverse. . . . Heavy pot smokers lose their normal appetite; have trouble sleeping regular hours; become sexually impotent; seem to suffer permanent loss of mental ability."

These are subjective conclusions, but gradually medical research is uncovering straws pointing in this direction. Perhaps his most telling conclusion is this: "Legislators and parents should realize there is no argument for marijuana." When you have something that can't be supported, it's better to shun or outlaw it.

Puff A Miami

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

One thing and another: Miami now has what was once the city of Havana's — and may never be again.

HAND-ROLLING of cigars, a vanishing craft elsewhere in the nation, flourishes in Miami. Production of the cheroots likely will hit 30 million this year.

Havana cigars have been outlawed in this country since the United States placed an embargo on all Cuban goods in 1962. The Embargo may, in time, be lifted, but Miami's cigar may have gained the momentum it needed to stay Uno Numaero Uno.

THERE ARE now more than 400,000 Cuban refugees living in the Miami area and many of them brought with them cigar-making skills they put to good use.

Cigars made in Tampa are rolled by machine. Those in Miami are still rolled by hand. Connoisseurs of good cigars will tell you the difference between hand-made and machine made cigars is like that between vintage wine and vin ordinaire.

TAMPA MANUFACTURERS go in for mass production — a cigar machine turns out more than 1,000 cigars an hour. A skilled worker can roll no more than 200 a day. But, viva la difference.

ARE YOU the kind of person who worries whether things may never get back to normal, or are you in that group which is worried they already have?

Teach your son or daughter to be a peace maker or a mediator. In this troubled world, individuals with those skills are always in demand.

WHAT MAKES you think you're ready for retirement if you get restless on a weekend when the weather is bad?

Never hesitate to give a watch for a special occasion: After all, there's no present like the time.

THOSE PEOPLE who come up with simple solutions to problems invariably are not involved in those problems.

It would be just my luck to move to get away from traffic congestion and get run over by a buffalo.

Maybe someone with deeper insight can answer this question for me:

Why did the news services devote so much attention to the recent passing of oil billionaire H. L. Hunt of Dallas? What contributions he made to the betterment of mankind escapes me. He was an eccentric. Had he been a man of modest means he would have been described as downright weird or ignored altogether. He could have done so very much for his fellow man but he spent most of his waking hours spouting an anti-socialistic philosophy which he had to pay to have printed.

My Answer

Billy Graham

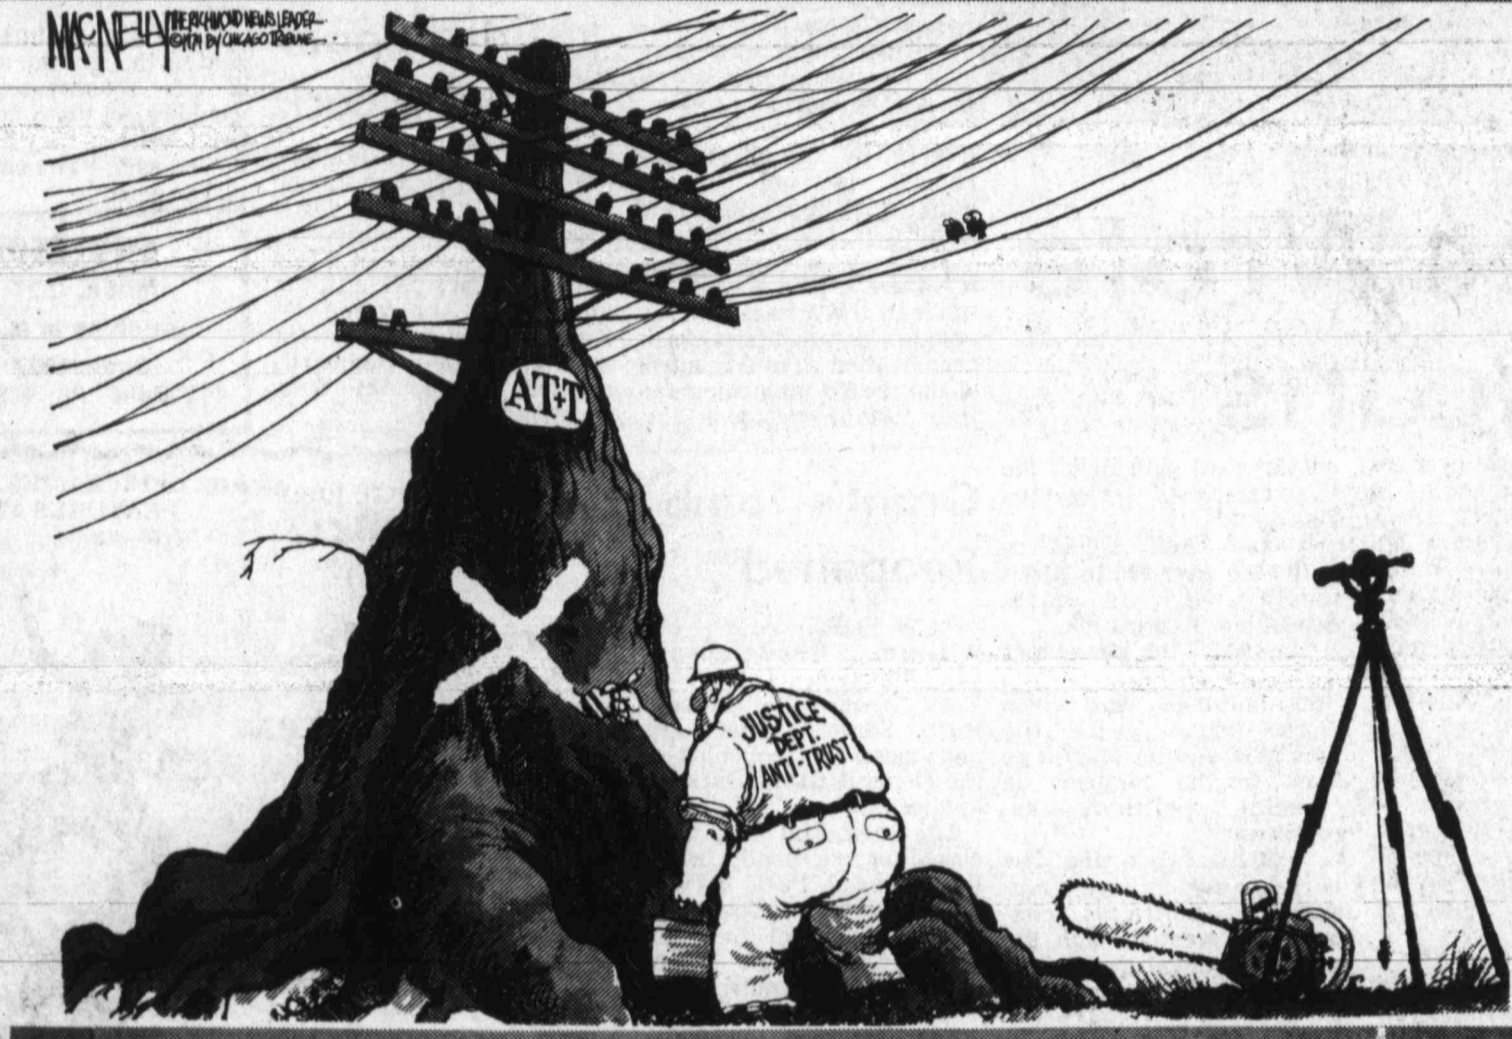

Please refer to Bible references in Matthew 19:12 and 1 Corinthians 7:8, 9. Tell me if these mean that ministers would be more effective if they didn't marry!

For the reader's benefit, let me quote parts of those references. Matthew 19 quotes Christ as saying, "Others have renounced marriage because of the kingdom of heaven." In 1 Corinthians 7, Paul states, "To be unmarried. . . I say it is good for them to stay unmarried."

Neither Christ nor Paul are to be charged with speaking against marriage. They knew that God had ordained the union of man and woman from the inception of the race.

What they were commending was the mortification of natural desires — as the spirit conquered the flesh by the special grace of God. This was self-denial of the highest order — that is a state free from distraction, and the cares and dangers of married life.

These statements comprise more of a permission than an injunction. It's no universal rule by any means. As to whether a minister is better unmarried, that depends on many factors. Sometimes the involvement with a wife and children make a man more pliable, more loving, more understanding, more tolerant than he would be otherwise. In another place in that 1 Corinthians chapter, Paul says, "Each man has his own gift from God." And maybe that's the best comment to be made on this subject.

John Cunniff

Recession Debts

NEW YORK (AP) — Big inventories and debt, obsolete plants and the high level of inflation are among the factors making the current recession seem more ominous than any other since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

The inventory problem has been highly publicized, and with good reason. Until it is reduced production must be curtailed. In September, manufacturing and trade stocks rose 1.8 per cent, but sales fell 0.3 per cent.

As a consequence, the ratio of inventory to sales rose to 1.5, the highest level in more than two years. That's for industry in general; individual companies and industries have far higher rates.

The automotive giants, whose fortunes are felt by thousands of suppliers and hundreds of thousands of workers in glass, rubber, plastics, textiles and dozens of other businesses, have especially large inventories.

Chrysler Corp., for example, has four months' supply of cars based on recent sales experience, and with consumers showing resistance to high prices there is no certainty that the supply is only that much.

As the economy recedes, Americans are further dragged down by the weight of a huge pile of debt, personal and business. About $898 billion has been added since the end of 1970, making the total more than $3 trillion.

Of this, individuals and noncorporate enterprises owed $857.5 billion at midyear, up from $586.3 billion in 1970 and only $263.3 billion in 1960.

Corporate debt has risen more than 48 per cent since 1970 and now is close to $1.5 trillion, matched against only $100 billion at the close of World War II and $543 billion as recently as 1965.

With higher unemployment and declining sales making it tougher to remain current on repayment of that debt, some economists, bankers and federal officials are concerned. Delinquency rates are up throughout the credit market.

Some companies also are operating out of obsolete plants, whose inefficiencies might be condoned in periods of expansion but which are increasingly uncompetitive in a declining economy.

The McGraw-Hill economics department reported that manufacturers now rate 14 per cent of their plant and equipment outmoded. It estimates that an investment of $197 billion would be needed now to replace technologically outmoded facilities with the best available, 32 per cent more than the replacement cost two years ago.

Advances in technology and the increasing demands of ecology are adding to the bills. Also being watched with more than usual interest is the job market, where unemployment already exceeds 6 per cent.

Also of great concern is the declining productivity of the nation's factories, which has declined in five of the past six quarters, in the third quarter by 2.4 per cent.

The stock market also is being watched. The price of many stocks, low as they are, seem to be supported to a large degree by their big dividends. What happens to prices when those dividends are cut, as they likely will be?

What Others Say

While there were persuasive arguments behind the President's proposal for a 5 per cent surtax it obviously is going over like a lead balloon with the public. A National Observer plebiscite comes up with a 71.6 per cent vote against the surtax.

We suspect, however, that this response does not represent an unwillingness by Americans to take some role in fighting inflation. Rather it probably reflects an awareness among a lot of citizens that their tax bills already are rising even without a change in the nominal rate of federal taxation. Taxes appear to be a major concern of many, along with inflation.

The reason this has been happening, of course, is that the progressive income tax yields the government greater revenues as inflation raises incomes. As taxpayers move into higher brackets they simply pay a higher tax rate.

Add to this the fact that state and local taxes have continued to rise, also often as a result of the impact of inflation on property values, sales taxes and progressive income taxes.

The public doesn't want either more inflation or more taxes. The alternative is to cut government budgets. That is the hard way out, but it probably will be the only way if there is to be any relief from economic disorder. — WALL STREET JOURNAL

Putting It Off

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — As blue Monday dawned gray and rainy last week, high level government every officials had one consolation to ease their worries: Donald Rumsfeld, White House chief of staff would be back from the Orient to help make President Ford come to grips with the energy crisis.

THEY WERE WRONG. Mr. Ford returned from Vladivostok, but his chief of staff did not. Without announcement, Rumsfeld accompanied Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to Peking. With the White House policymaking machinery gummed up in a time of national crisis, the man supposed to put it in order did not return until Saturday.

An astonishing fact is that Mr. Ford has not yet received a full-scale briefing on the energy crisis, perhaps explaining the lack of a domestic energy policy at this late date and Mr. Ford's stubborn opposition to a gasoline tax. The realistic, tough-minded Rumsfeld had been counted on to remedy precisely such situations, but he, too, is proving a disappointment.

NOWHERE HAS the Ford administration been more inept than in failing to shape an energy policy based on both increased production and diminished consumption. To accomplish the latter, there is rare unanimity among policymakers and technocrats favoring a 20-cent gasoline tax. "We all agree," confided one top official, "except one man: the President."

Although Mr. Ford's reiterated disagreement has always seemed political in nature, officials believe the underlying reason stems from his failure to understand the need for draconian measures to prevent the collapse of the West. He simply has not received the full briefing, and no wonder. Once the time-consuming economic summits were finished, two months ago, the President jumped into his fruitless political barnstorming.

AFTER THE ELECTION, he was off on his largely ceremonial mission to Japan, Korea and Vladivostok. While privately questioning his wisdom in fleeing Washington with policymaking in a shambles, administration officials were even more upset that Mr. Ford took Rumsfeld with him.

With Rumsfeld at the President's side visiting tourist shrines in Kyoto, the chief of staff's aides back in Washington were too insecure to allocate sufficient time for Frank Zarb, the new Federal Energy administrator, to give Mr. Ford that full briefing this week. Moreover, Thanksgiving, Christmas and Mr. Ford's annual skiing vacation in Vail, Colo., are coming up. Accordingly, energy officials eagerly awaited the simultaneous return of the President and Rumsfeld on Monday.

BUT IN VLADIVOSTOK, a White House aide told us, Kissinger asked Rumsfeld to accompany him to China. Mr. Ford readily agreed it would be a good idea. Consequently, stunned officials here were asking Monday: what in the world is Rummy doing in China? These critics also view him as a Kissinger ally against Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger and, conventionally, an aspirant for Schlesinger's job.

WHETHER OR NOT Rumsfeld truly thirsts for the Pentagon, there is a rising demand in the administration and among congressional Republicans that he and the President get down to business — by staying home, for openers. There seems no excuse for Mr. Ford to avoid a prolonged energy session with Zarb.

Tricky Testing Problems

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Recently I went to a doctor for a thyroid check — I am 55 and have needed thyroid medication in amounts up to 3 grains since I was 19.

After the test the doctor said I didn't need thyroid, but when I reminded him I was taking one grain a day, he said, "You can take it if you want to."

Seven or eight years ago a doctor took me off thyroid, and it was an unpleasant experience. I ended up being put on 2 grains a day.

I'd appreciate your opinion. There's no point in spending money on medicine I don't need, but I'm not anxious to do a repeat of the last try without thyroid. I do have a weight problem and am a tired a lot. — S.A.L.

It's true that if a patient is getting enough thyroid to bring the system up to normal, that's what the test will show — normal. Stop the medication, and after a time a thyroid test will show low thyroid.

But this can be a trickier situation than it sounds like.

Prolonged use of thyroid (and you've been taking it for 36 years) can suppress the normal function of the thyroid gland, and given time the gland may revert to adequate activity without medication.

(Note the word "may," This, as I said, can be tricky.)

The best answer I can give you is that a thyroid test, taken while the patient is on thyroid medication, doesn't necessarily show whether the medication needs to be continued. Sometimes a physician can estimate correctly in such a case; sometimes he can't.

I think you should, for your own satisfaction, learn what a thyroid test shows after you have been off the medication for a time. If it shows normal then, you don't need the medication. There can be a psychological dependence on thyroid medication.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that birthmarks may be cancerous and need to be removed. I have one which has remained the same color and size my whole life. I am 17. Should I see a doctor to have it checked? — R.E.

"Birthmark" is too indefinite since there are different kinds. Rarely do they become cancerous, and the usual reason for removal is for purposes of appearance. Next time you see your doctor, have him see it and decide whether removal is necessary, or whether you should see a dermatologist for further checking.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does watching television in the dark harm your eyes in any way? If so, how? — S.P.

It does not harm the eyes.

To learn of the many factors involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia (which concerns the esophagus), write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

THE CONFERENCE has suddenly become a cause celebre. Not because of any of the speeches given, or insights discussed. But because the intellectuals were, or such is the fancy, dancing to the tune of ITT.

The current issue of "People" magazine, for instance, heaps great scorn on the enterprise, suggesting that the tycoons really put one over on the intellectuals. Prof. Arthur Schlesinger is quoted as having accounted for his presence at the conference by saying, "The more you can rip off ITT, the better." After which, the reporter tells us, "he laughed."

A few observations: The cynics prove nothing more than that their carping is ignorant, and their manners bad. The panelists apart, only ITT has come out of all this with honor: the treatment of their guests was exemplary, there was never a hint of what should be said; there were no tabus. There were just too many cynics and exhibitionists.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"Then he poured water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet." (John 13:5 RSV)
PRAYER: O God, our Father, help us to realize that we are not our own — we have been "bought with a price" — and we serve You our we serve our fellow beings. In Jesus' spirit. Amen.

State Shows Power

By The Associated Press
 Top-ranked North Carolina State picked up exactly where it left off last year behind a typical David Thompson performance and a more surprising one by forward Phil Spence.

Last November, the Wolfpack beat East Carolina to open a 30-1 season that led to the national championship. Saturday night, they dropped the Pirates again, 98-81, to start the 1974 ball bouncing.

"It's no disgrace to lose to the national champions by 17 points," said East Carolina Coach Dave Patton. "There's no way to defend against Thompson, as everyone knows, but Spence surprised me. I didn't think he was that good."

UPSET STEELERS

Oilers Continue To Mystify NFL

By The Associated Press
 Football, like the postman, goes on despite "rain, snow, sleet...but the same doesn't apply to football fans, nor to the winning ways of Pittsburgh and St. Louis.

"I think Atlanta has some smart season ticket holders," said Los Angeles tight end Bob Klein when 40,202 ticket holders failed to show at the stadium where the Rams clobbered the Oilers 30-7.

The 33 degree temperature and Atlanta's football fortunes combined to set a National Football League record for no-shows, a factor Falcons owner Rankin Smith agrees with.

"The weather was bad and the team is bad," Smith said. The St. Louis Cardinals, heading for the playoffs, were ambushed by cross-state rival the Kansas City Chiefs, who are heading nowhere this season, 17-13.

The surprising Houston Oilers continued their up-setting way, spilling the Pittsburgh Steelers 13-10.

In other NFL games Sunday, Buffalo edged Baltimore 6-0, Cleveland blanked San Francisco 7-0, the New York Jets stopped San Diego 27-14, Philadelphia knocked off Green Bay 36-14, Chicago edged the New York Giants 16-13, Minnesota crushed New Orleans 29-9 and Oakland used air power to demolish New England 41-26.

The Cincinnati Bengals travel to Miami to meet the Dolphins in tonight's nationally televised contest.

With blustery winter weather blanketing most of the nation, quite a few "fair weather" football fans decided to stay home.

Mesquite Climbs Into Next Level

Giant killers Mesquite and Dallas Carter get another chance at a highly-rated opponent this week as Class 4A schoolboy play-offs move into the quarterfinal level.

Mesquite shocked Wichita Falls Rider, No. 1 in the final Associated Press schoolboy poll, 14-0 Saturday night to advance to the quarterfinals against 10th-ranked Amarillo Palo Duro, which nipped El Paso Coronado 7-6. Dallas Carter, 34-21 conquerors of No. 2 Fort Worth Arlington Heights, will test third-ranked Plano in the quarterfinals. Another top game pairs No. 4 San Antonio Churchill and No. 6 Brazoswood.

Top-ranked Cuero against No. 8 Jacksonville at College Station Friday and No. 3 Brownwood versus Gainesville at Waco Friday are the Class 3A semifinal pairings. Cuero, the defending champ, nudged No. 9 Gregory-Portland 19-13 last week.

Newton, ranked second, and No. 6 Cameron hook up in the key Class quarterfinal Friday at Huntsville.

Steers, Hawks Face Busy Week

Big Spring High and Howard College will be hard at work this week.

Both cage squads are on the road tonight. The Steers travel to Lamesa and the Hawks to Cisco.

Big Spring opens its home campaign Tuesday against Crane, then hits the Plainview Tournament, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. First round opponent for the Steers will be Lubbock Dunbar at 11:30 a.m. Thursday.

Both Lamesa and Crane games are scheduled for 6:15 and 8 p.m. The Hawks' encounter against Cisco will be aired by two local radio stations.

The Steers are 1-3 for the season, the lone win over Crane, there, Nov. 22, 62-60. Big Spring at home Saturday night lost to Plainview, 62-53.

Howard College enjoying the comforts of home Saturday night, disposed of Lubbock Christian junior varsity, 99-83.

The Hawks for the year stand at 8-2. HC opens defense of its Western Junior Conference Athletic Championship Thursday on the Hawk court. Odessa College comes to town.

HC has dropped Cisco twice already this campaign.

Teaff Happy With Record

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Sometimes Baylor Coach Grant Teaff answers the telephone and there's just sobbing on the other end of the line.

"I've had elderly people—76, 77, and 82-year-olds come by the office and just break into tears," Teaff says. "Our championship was not just for a whole people. Fifty years is a long time to wait."

Teaff was speaking, of course, of Baylor's first Southwest Conference football championship in 50 years and the reaction it triggered among the long-suffering Baptists.

Baylor clinched the crown with a 24-3 victory over Rice Saturday and will make its first trip to the Cotton Bowl New Year's Day against guest team Penn State.

Teaff did the job he was hired for in three years but confessed "After I had been here a month I thought it might take 10 years to get the job done."

He was rewarded with a new five year contract Saturday but the announcement was made after the Rice game before he was personally informed.

"I guess that beats the heck out of getting fired and I take it as a warm gesture," said Teaff, still unaware of the money details.

Teaff said he hopes the Baylor SWC title clears up all talk about a private school not being able to reach such lofty heights. It was the first time in seven years a team had beaten out the Texas Longhorns for the title.

Records Broken

By The Associated Press

All-time attendance records were broken in the Southwest Conference in 1974, with a total draw of 1,757,672 for a 45-game average of 39,059.

Crowds of 77,584 at the A&M-Texas game Friday and 40,505 Saturday at the Rice-Baylor encounter pushed the 1974 figures to 3,668 above the record 1,754,004 and average of 39,040 set in 1972.

Attendance increased 8.7 per cent over 1973 in the conference, paced by a 40.5 per cent increase at Southern Methodist and a 28.7 per cent increase at Baylor.

Texas was the only one of the eight schools which showed an attendance drop, by 4 per cent. This was caused partly by the Oklahoma game crowd of 72,000 not being counted in the Texas figures as it was in 1973. The two schools alternate being the home team for the Dallas game.

However, Texas paced the SWC in total attendance with 304,934 and an average attendance at 60,987.

Cubs Announce Cox Promotion

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Cubs Saturday announced the promotion of John Cox from general manager of their Midland, Tex., farm club to their front office staff in Chicago.

Cox, 31, is a former infielder in Cubs' minor league system. He will handle special assignments on the major league level.

Cox will be replaced at Midland by Charles Feeney Jr., son of the National League president.

Feeney, 24, spent two summers with the Cub organization. This past summer he was a member of the park operations staff for the New York

Southern California, the 1973 national champion, and Notre Dame, the 1973 national champion, provided a fitting wind-up to college football's bizarre regular season Saturday, with the result that neither team is likely to be the 1974 national champion.

Notre Dame's successor undoubtedly will be either Oklahoma, No. 1 in The Associated Press poll, or runner-up Alabama. Both are 11-0—the only teams with perfect records. But Oklahoma, on probation and ineligible for a postseason appearance, has completed its campaign while Alabama must face a frustrated Notre Dame squad in the Orange Bowl.

"There are only two undefeated teams left now," Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer said Saturday after his Sooners packed it in for 1974 by turning back Oklahoma State's strong challenge 44-13 thanks to a 28-point fourth quarter. "I saw the other one (Alabama) play on television Friday and I believe we are the better team. I know we are a more physical team."

In the game Switzer saw, Alabama held off No. 7 Auburn 17-13 and wound up its regular season with a fourth straight Southeastern Conference crown.

The national championship will be decided after the bowl games by the sports writers and sportscasters who vote in The AP poll.

Meanwhile, sixth-ranked Southern California ended Notre Dame's hopes of repeating as national champ Saturday with an incredible rally that erased a 24-0 deficit and lifted the Trojans to an amazing 55-24 rout of fifth-ranked Notre Dame after they trailed 24-0 late in the first half. It was Notre Dame's worst licking since a 59-0 mauling by Army in 1944 and the worst defeat in Ara Parseghian's 11 years as coach.

Even worse, it was the second setback for the defending national champs and, since they're probably out of the championship picture, all it left them with is the possibility of ending Alabama's dream of the No. 1 spot for the second year in a row.

Also on Friday, No. 17 Texas trounced eighth-ranked Texas A&M 32-3, dousing the Aggies' Cotton Bowl hopes and sending Baylor against 10th-ranked Penn State in Dallas on Jan.

Gas Leaking Snuffs Out Lives Of Six Repairmen

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — A rare oil field accident left six men dead, the victims of methane gas and crude oil which spewed from a ruptured pipeline they were repairing in West Central Texas.

A seventh man, R. D. Penny, crawled from the six-foot excavation where the men were working Sunday night and radioed for help. He was not seriously injured.

Penny said one of the men slumped suddenly and someone yelled there was gas in the hole.

"He (Penny) told me that everyone just dropped before anything could be done—it was all over in a few seconds," said George Anderson, local manager of repairs for Gulf Refining Co. which maintains the pipeline.

In seconds, the hole where the men were working in the 35-degree weather filled with gas and crude oil. The six men, overcome by the methane, slumped into the oil.

IDENTIFIED

The dead were taken to Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene, a few miles from the open field where the accident occurred at dusk.

They were identified as T. P. Rains and Robert Redman of Sweetwater and Don White and Stanley Holderman of Roscoe, all employees of Gulf Oil Co.; Robert Arellano of Colorado City, employed by Browne Brothers Construction Co., and Cody Cox of Eastland, employed by Moylan Pump Service.

Redman's body was not fished from the oil-filled hole for several hours while rescuers waited for the bluish-gray methane to clear from the area.

Four firemen, working as rescuers, and one ambulance driver were overcome by the fumes as they recovered the first five bodies. Two of the firemen were taken to a hospital for observation.

A hospital spokesman said the bodies were so saturated with gas that "the entire hospital smells like gas." They had to be removed to the hospital parking lot, he said.

CRUDE OIL

The spokesman, Charles Myers, hospital chaplain, said the bodies were all covered with crude oil. He said doctors believed some of the men may have drowned in oil after falling unconscious from the gas.

The pipeline is owned by West Texas Gulf Pipeline, a consortium of five oil firms, including Gulf Oil Refining, a subsidiary of Gulf Oil.

Anderson said the line carried only crude from the oil fields and was not a gas pipeline.

Anderson said the men were performing maintenance on the pipeline and the oil and gas probably spilled from a rusted out section of the line.

"It (the pipeline) carried unrefined crude oil," he said. "All oil is gassy and this was very gassy. As it left the pipe and hit the air, the gas separated from the petroleum and settled on top of the oil."

NO PHOTOS

The gas formed a foot-thick fog which hung just above the ground. Photographers were not allowed to snap flash pictures for fear of igniting the gas.

"PEACHES" — June Hunt, 29, who was affectionately called "Peaches" by H. L. Hunt, her billionaire father who died Friday, isn't very interested in money. She's considered one of the country's richest women because of her interest in the Hunt fortune, but is trying to break into the recording business and make a name for herself as an entertainer.

Wooden Boats Need Upkeep

AUSTIN — As most boat owners know, wooden boats require more upkeep than modern fiber glass and aluminum boats.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials remind owners of wooden boats that there are several conditions which can render their boats unseaworthy and dangerous.

These include dry rot, worm damage, fatigue or flexing, rusted or corroded fastenings along chine or in transom, split or cracked planking or soft spot or dark color along frames and keel inside hull.
