Hijackers Will Be Tried By Arafat

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Four Palestinians who hijacked a British plane to Tunis last month and executed a hostage were handed over to the Palestine Liberation Organization on Saturday.

They were flown with seven other terrorists to an unknown destination, the government announced.

Yasir Arafat's PLO has pledged to try the hijackers, members of a splinter guerrilla group. If the trial is held it will be the first time the PLO has brought Palestinians before a guerrilla court for hijacking.

The PLO repeatedly condemned the hijacking for tarnishing the Palestinian movement's newly won international recognition and claim to statehood, and it rounded up 26 suspected guerrilla collaborators in Lebanon shortly after the episode.

Tunisian Interior Minister Taher Belkhadja said the guerrillas had voluntarily signed a letter requesting to be turned over to the PLO. He said the agreement came after negotiations between the hijackers and Salah Khalaf, Arafat's No. 2 man.

The hijackers surrendered Nov. 25 after Tunisia promised not to turn them over to the PLO, and observers said the government probably demanded the letter to free itself of that vow — and from possible reprisals by other terrorists.

Belkhadja said the hijackers and the seven other guerrillas released as ransom in the hijack said in the letter they wanted to "express their deep thanks to the Tunisian government for its noble attitude" and "to put themselves voluntarily and of their own free will at the disposal" of the PLO.

The hijackers seized a British jetliner with 48 aboard during a refueling stop in Dubai on Nov. 21 and forced it to land at Tunis, demanding the release of terrorists in Egypt and the Netherlands.

They shot and killed West German banker Werner Kehl and pushed him out of the plane in anger over a Tunis announcement that guerrillas freed by Egypt had arrived when in fact they hadn't.

Seven terrorists were finally flown from Holland and Egypt and led aboard the hijacked plane, but no Arab county was willing to accept the hijackers.

Tunisian Foreign Minister Habib Chatti said at the time that the men gave up after receiving an oral promise they would not be handed over to the PLO.

over to the PLO. President Habib Bourguiba later said they could be given up to the PLO if they first agreed to the move themselves.

Two of the seven men brought to Tunis at the hijackers' request had been in a Dutch prison serving five-year terms for a terrorist attack in Amsterdam in April. The other five were in custody in Cairo, where they were deported after firebombing a Pan American plane in Rome a year ago and killing 30 passengers.

NOT A CRUMB! — A couple of East London housewives peek sadly through the window of a Dagenham bakery Friday, finding nothing but bare shelves. The death of bread is the result of a four-day-old strike by the Baker's Union. Union chiefs tentatively accepted a government arbitration board's offer Friday night and urged the striking bakers to ratify the proposal.

Higher Gasoline Prices Foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP) — The gasoline problem this winter will be high prices rather than low supplies, a top government official said Saturday, while President Ford described the nation's energy-economic problem as "complex as the devil."

Ford held an hour and 45-minute meeting with top advisers who have been asked to come up with a new National Energy Policy that he can recommend in his State of the Union message to the new Congress.

No decisions were even discussed, said Press Secretary Ron Nessen, but aides said Ford wants better ideas about how to tell American consumers in more specific terms what they can do to help on a voluntary basis.

Nessen gave the President's reaction to the "broad look" he got from the experts on energy-economic problems: "It's impressive in the complexity it spotlights. It's complex as the devil."

Afterwards, the chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, Allen Greenspan, said the problem of energy this winter is not one of available supply of gasoline, but one of price.

"Supply, except in the area of natural gas, where we do have a problem ... is not the problem it was during the course of the embargo" last year, he said. "The problem in December and January is going to be one of having to pay a lot of money for the energy that we use."

Reviewing the ... Big Spring Week with Joe Pickle

Although not unexpected in views of the long history of decisions favoring the carriers, the CAB ruling last week to sustain Texas International Airlines' application to halt service here brought disappointment. This was not so much over loss of TIA in January as in a judgment that seemed to ignore what local forces felt was a preponderance of evidence against the application. Instead of dragging the matter out further, it was decided here to accept the ruling and look for another carrier (several had previously manifested active interest). Anyhow, a day before the news came, TIA was hit by an employees strike which — wouldn't you know it — shut down operations here immediately. Friday, pilots honored picket lines and the rest of the TIA system was in the same boat as Big Spring.

That running controversy between the City of Coahoma, which bills and collects for water deliveries there and in Sand Springs, and the Howard County Water Control District No. 1, the supplier, moved again beyond the smoldering stage. Claiming Coahoma has not complied with the contract, the district in effect said "pay up or we will cut off your water" (Dec. 16). What is needed is for someone to pour cool water on the whole deal. Gun Falls, Man Shot

Franklin John McDonald, 57, dropped his pistol while closing his service station at 1910 Gregg Street Saturday night and was wounded in both legs when the gun, a .357 Magnum, discharged. He was taken to Medical Arts Hospital. He lost a lot of blood but managed to phone for help.

Pension Benefits Boosted

KEYSTONE, W. Va. (AP) — When Paul Cabell returns to work at the Keystone No. 1 coal mine Monday he'll be getting $4.70 a day more. But he is particularly pleased at new fringe benefits that will help his family.

The stocky, 54-year-old miner is one of some 120,000 bituminous coal miners covered by the new UMW contract. The pact, ratified by 56 per cent of the union's membership last week following a four week strike, provides a 64 per cent boost in wages and benefits over the next three years.

"I was making $44.23 a day," said Cabell, who has labored in the mines 25 years. "Under the new contract, I'll be getting about $48.93 come Monday."

WORKS IN SHED
A stationary equipment operator, Cabell is employed by Eastern Associated Coal Corp. He works in a small shed at the mine tippie where he operates the machinery that dumps the newly dug coal into the tippie for cleaning.

Although he will earn about $6 a day less than some men who work more hazardous jobs at the mine face, Cabell doesn't seem to mind. He says he will be content with the knowledge that his wife and four children will be provided for if he doesn't make it home.

"Under the old contract," he said, "my wife, Regina, would have gotten $5,000 if I died. The money would have been spread over five years and after that it would stop and they would have taken away her medical card."

Now, he says, Regina would reap an immediate $7,500 plus half his pension benefits. She would keep the hospital card and would get the pension money for as long as she lived.

Also, should Cabell be killed at the mine, the new contract would provide his widow an additional $10,000 plus $100 a month for life or until she remarried.

"That's the first thing a wife worries about," he said, "how much she'll get to take care of the kids."

Should he decide to retire next year at age 55, Cabell would be eligible for a monthly pension of $265 — some miners, those with 40 years service, would get $530 a month. Under the old contract, the most anyone would have gotten was $150 a month.

MILLS' STAR DIMS

Model Solon Who Cracked

WILBUR MILLS

WASHINGTON (AP) — For years Wilbur Daigh Mills disdained the Washington social circuit because he said it interfered with his work shaping the U.S. tax system.

Instead, he moved through the capital scene leaving a trail lacking in flair or anecdotes as he deftly exercised his political power: power that guaranteed his bills would be passed by the House; power that few chose to oppose; power that even presidents respected.

He was the man who never forgot his neighbors back in Kensett, Ark., population 950, despite the heights he scaled in the nation's capital as chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee.

He was, in public, the model of how a congressman should conduct himself.

But, nearly three years ago, the image began to crack.

EYED PRESIDENCY
He toyed with running for president. He was seen in nightclubs. He began to lose his hold on his committee as a spinal disorder impaired his health and led to long absences from the Capitol.

Then, on the night of Oct. 7, the 65-year-old Mills, intoxicated, his face bleeding from cuts and scratches, his glasses and — in the end, his staid image — shattered, was stopped in the company of an Argentine stripper, by police.

Within two months, the most powerful man in Congress was secluded, sedated, in a Navy hospital. His committee — his power base — was swept from under him.

In 1971 and 1972, Mills was a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in a campaign that never quite made it to the Miami Beach convention.

His knowledge of the tax laws was legendary; his power rarely challenged.

The late President John F. Kennedy, suffering through a disagreement with Mills over a tax cut, said:

"Quite obviously, Mr. Mills will have a very decisive voice in the final decision, but we hope to adjust our viewpoints so that we can get some action on this program ..."

One Capitol observer recalled at the time that for a while Kennedy negotiated with Mills as though the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee were a foreign power.

Mills' legislative clout stemmed not only from his position as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, but also from his skill at handling tax laws and the committee's authority to name other congressmen to vacancies on all House committees.

The Ways and Means Committee is responsible for initiating legislation dealing with taxes, Social Security, tariffs and foreign trade, Medicare, and interest rates. In short, the money raised by the U.S. government to conduct its business.

For years colleagues said, only half-jokingly, that Mills' evening entertainment was reading the U.S. tax code to his wife, Polly. There were sections, it was rumored, that he could recite from memory. After all, there's a good chance he wrote them himself.

"After you've been around here for a while, you're tabbed either as knowing your subject or not knowing it," the Arkansas Democrat once said. "I know my subject."

His knowledge — and power over committee assignments — cowed members of Congress into voting his way.

NEVER A CHALLENGE
"I never vote against God, motherhood or Wilbur Mills," said a young congressman with views well to the left of Mills.

Wilbur Mills was considered an enigma for years in Washington. But his on-again, off-again 1972 presidential campaign, spurred by support from underlings on the Ways and Means Committee, raised even more questions.

Before beginning to campaign actively, he stated: "I've said repeatedly I knew too much about the presidency, really, to want it, and some seem to want it."

While one congressman here and another congressman there indicated they would like to see Mills make the race, he backed his way into the fray.

Bumper stickers were issued, a campaign office opened, and Wilbur Mills insisted that, given the nomination, he could defeat Richard M. Nixon.

Despite several large financial contributions funneled into the campaign, Mills eventually abandoned the quest.

Mills had expressed little interest in most national affairs and even less in the political life a national candidate must live.

As each new administration entered the White House, his staff quietly informed the social secretaries to remove the name of the Ways and Means Committee chairman from their invitation lists; he preferred a quiet evening at home to a night of partying.

DID IT QUIETLY
He generally voted with the other Southern Democrats on most social issues, but did so quietly without drawing attention to his position.

Vietnam, to Wilbur Mills, was an issue that affected the nation's economy.

If his aborted presidential campaign was an enigma, so is his personal life — all the more so, perhaps following his relationship with Annabella Battistella, the 38-year-old stripper known as Fanne Foxe.

For years he assiduously avoided any hint of scandal. He kept free of conflict of interest.

Congressmen are required to report holdings or outside activities which might lead to conflict. A Mills report read "none ... none ... none."

At what must be substantial cost, he has reportedly used only the standard income tax deduction without itemizing additional deductions. He told a friend, "I never want anybody to be able to say I took advantage of some provision I put into the code."

He has refused payments for his frequent speaking engagements, many in his district.

But, within the past few years, cracks appeared even in his financial reputation.

It was revealed in 1971 that Mills' travels around the country campaigning against former President Nixon's revenue sharing plan were free rides in airplanes owned by private companies.

His presidential campaign received $100,000 channeled through dummy committees from a Dallas computer firm that is a major processor of health insurance claims. The Ways and Means Committee's responsibilities give it a guiding influence over national health insurance legislation.

The Senate Watergate Committee reported that, aside from legal gifts from dairy interests, the Associated Milk Producers, Inc., illegally gave $75,000 in goods, services, checks and cash to the "Draft Mills" presidential effort and that other dairy groups also contributed illegal funds.

AT HOME WITH FANNE FOX — Stripper Annabella Battistella, better known as "Fanne Fox," is pictured Friday with her daughter, Mary, in their nearby Arlington, Va., apartment. Mrs. Battistella has insisted that she never had a physical relationship with Rep. Wilbur Mills and blamed gossip-hungry reporters and power-hungry politicians for distorting what has left Mills hospitalized and stripped of his power.

THE BILL FOR BILL OF FARE Menu Changes Boost Printing Business

DENVER (AP) — Karlyn Rieman works at a printing plant where menus are made. The frequent price changes for meals are making business brisk.

"In the last couple of years, I'd say the menu printing business has about doubled. As soon as the restaurants get their menus off the press, it's time to raise their prices again, says Mrs. Rieman, supervisor at Core Graphics Inc.

"One of our customers, an Italian restaurant, has been changing its menu twice a month for the last six months."

"We used to order pizza there all the time. Now we can't afford it," she added. "Yeah, I guess you could say business is too good."

Gene Johnson of Peerless Printing Co., says business has increased at least one-fourth in the last year or so.

"But," he adds, "it's not as good as you think. A lot of restaurants are holding back because their prices are changing so often — it's a vicious cycle. They just patch up the old menus until they look pretty cruddy — then they get new ones."

Don Stewart, vice president of field operations for Mr. Steak restaurants, says the company has asked its 250 restaurants in 38 states to order new menus. Stewart says they will have "generally higher prices," and will offer a somewhat different bill of fare.

"We're going to de-emphasize the major cuts — the New York, T-bone and other famous cuts — and offer lesser but equally good cuts of meat."

He says the changes are being made in "an effort to ease the pressure on the customers' pocketbooks." Greg Sedan, assistant manager of the Top of the Rockies restaurant, says management is tired of having new menus printed.

"We changed our lunch menu two weeks ago. And we're going to change the dinner menu again shortly after the first of the year," Sedan said. "Now we've done something a little drastic. We're raising the drink prices to cover the food costs."

AIMING AT BIRDS Steve Seabolt

Feathered Enemies

MIAMI (AP) — Each morning at dawn, Steve Seabolt grabs his shotgun and eight-track recorder and prowls the remote taxiways of Miami International Airport. He's chasing birds that can cause huge jetliners to crash.

His trained eyes look for seagulls, starlings, snowbirds that fled the winter cold to the North to toast their webbed feet on the tarmac.

"Skquaak, Skrwalk!" blares forth from the patrol car's tape system, imitating the shrill, distressed cry of the ring-billed gull, the herring gull, glaucous-winged gull or the starling.

"Those tapes scare the hell out of me," Seabolt observes. "But they don't always move the birds. They can be very stubborn."

Bounty Plan On Guns Dropped By Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Housewives sneaked into the police station during the day bringing guns their husbands had lying around the house.

"They knew their hubbies would be mad when they got home, but at least there wouldn't be a gun around to use on somebody," said Police Sgt. Laurence E. Leeson Jr.

"One guy won a gun on a $20 bet in a crap game and turned it in for $50. But that's the kind of gun we were after, one that was floating around."

Adds Dennis Hill, the police information officer: "All kinds of people took part. Street people turned in guns with very little comment."

"A number of homeowners brought in guns because they were afraid someone would use one in anger or that they would be stolen. They'd been thinking about getting rid of the guns anyways, and the $50 was enough to make them do it."

CUT SHORT

Still, the Baltimore Police Department's experimental payment of a $50 bounty for every gun turned in was cut short in November. The program had lasted 2½ months, and the police had collected 13,500 firearms — mostly handguns — at a cost of over $660,000 in city funds.

Donald D. Pomerleau, city police commissioner, said that Operation PASS People Against Senseless Shootings — ended because the federal government refused to provide funds to keep PASS going.

PASS was supposed to have reduced the number of gun-related crimes. Instead they went up during the life of the program. Pomerleau conceded this, but said, "Over the long run, lives will be saved."

Pomerleau, 59, a retired Marine colonel, has been known as an innovative police commissioner during his eight years as head of the Baltimore force.

He is credited with opening the first storefront police-community relations office in the nation during the 1960s. He established a police academy with fully accredited college courses, and he required on-duty policemen to return for 40 hours of retraining each year.

The Baltimore gun program was the first of its kind in the nation involving money, according to Hill. The Philadelphia Police Department conducted a voluntary gun-turn-in program a few years ago, but no money was involved and few guns were received.

Since the termination of PASS, however, the City Council of Washington, D.C., has voted to authorize a gun bounty program. The council approved a bill authorizing payment of $100 for each tip leading to the confiscation of an illegal firearm. The mayor was empowered to set a bounty for handguns and sawed-off shotguns turned in by residents.

47 KILLED

For the 235 days in 1974 prior to Operation PASS, police figures show 112 homicides involving firearms. In two months of the program, 47 persons were killed by handguns. That is an average of .477 homicides a day involving firearms before the program and .758 a day during the program, a 50 per cent increase.

The same failure seems evident in police data on assaults involving firearms. Before the program there were 2,808 gun assaults in 1974, or 11.1 per day.

During the 39 days from Aug. 22, when the program began, through the end of September — the latest available assault figures — there were 977 assaults with firearms, or 25.1 a day.

Pomerleau, not an advocate of strict gun control, thought of the bounty idea as an alternative. He reportedly decided to begin the bounty while attending a funeral for one of three city patrolmen shot while on duty.

But when Pomerleau tried to get federal funds to continue PASS, the Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration said no and argued that PASS would encourage manufacture of handguns.

"As long as it is possible to buy a gun, any gun, for less than $50 and turn it into the police department for $50, the profit motive is present and the law of economics indicates that if people can buy guns at a low-higher price they will do so," the LEAA statement said.

One Baltimore gun dealer confirmed that.

J. Howard Rosenblatt, owner of a downtown Baltimore sporting goods store, H&H Surplus, said that after the start of Operation PASS there was a run on his cheapest handguns, which retail for $21.95.

Hill said police did turn down some bounty-seekers with new guns, especially if the gun could be traced to recent purchases. He admitted, however, that some profiteering might have occurred.

From the beginning, Pomerleau's most serious problem in promoting his experiment was money and the issue of his authority over that money.

He financed the program by diverting funds within the police department and drew advance funding from the department's budget. Pomerleau did not seek city approval through normal channels.

"I just made it effective," he said.

Worsham Renamed Board Chairman

Jack Worsham was re-installed as president of the advisory board of the Salvation Army unit when the board held their Christmas dinner Friday night at the First United Methodist Church.

Other new officers include G. G. Morehead, vice-chairman, M. A. Snell, secretary and Johnny Justiss, treasurer. Dan Wilkins was welcomed as a new board member and presented a plaque by Worsham and Capt. L. Z. Sullivan.

Worsham gave the service report for the past year which helped transients and homeless with lodgings supplied 1,629 and meals for 7,782. Local family assistance served 3,891 individuals with 23,902 garments given as well as food orders and household items. Last Christmas season, 2,791 individuals were helped with 3,110 toys given and 350 food orders. A treasurer's report was also given.

Morehead challenged the group to help with the coming Christmas season with the board members to start the bell ringing campaign Saturday. Members of civic clubs annually assist with this project.

Major David Jones,

divisional secretary from Dallas, challenged the audience to enjoy the shining beauty of sharing this Christmas and to try to enter the season with a thankful spirit. He reminded workers that the unemployment and inflation will increase the need for the Salvation Army's service.

The Rev. J. B. Sharp of First Methodist gave the invocation and Chaplain Clayton Hicks the closing benediction.

Airport Tragedy

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The bodies of two Americans are among 17 recovered so far from the ruins of the Tehran airport passenger lounge after a snow-covered roof collapsed Thursday, rescue officials said today. A third American was injured.

Officials at first put the possible death toll at 50 to 60 but today revised it downward to 25. Fresh units of soldiers, police and firemen took over the rescue work.

Searchers said it could take another 24 hours to remove the steel beams and heavy chunks of broken concrete from the area.

The second American identified among the recovered bodies was Lawrence Upton, 35, of Jackson, Mich., rescue officials said. Upton, an engineer, had earlier been listed as missing.

The U.S. State Department had earlier identified the other American killed as Michael Nimitz, 31, of Milwaukee, Wis., Edward Alfred Caswell, a 57-year-old engineer from Detroit, suffered a fractured shoulder and was in a hospital.

Mail Sticker Enigma Solved

By TROY BRYANT
Solved: The mystery of the brightly colored stickers which have been appearing on incoming letters.

John Gee, foreman of the mails at the Big Spring Post Office, said that the stickers are part of a new way of labeling bundled mail for distribution to and from area postal centers.

Several people had noticed the colorful round stickers, about a half inch in diameter appearing on their mail, creating the mystery of the stickers.

According to Gee, when mail is bundled to be sent to a certain city or area, a sticker is placed on the top letter of the bundle to designate the destination of the whole bundle.

Thus, a letter with a bright yellow sticker with the letter "C" on it indicates that that letter was the top letter on a bundle, with all the letters in that bundle destined for the city indicated on the top letter, or Big Spring.

A letter with a green sticker with a "3" on it indicates that all the letters in the bundle are destined for the area postal center indicated on the face.

A letter with an orange sticker with an "S" on it indicates that all the letters are destined for the state indicated on the face letter.

A blue sticker with an "F" on it indicates that all the letters in the bundle are for the firm indicated on the face letter.

A magenta sticker with a "D" on it indicates that all the letters are destined for the five Zip code area indicated on the face of the letter.

Mills' Friend Will Earn $30,000 In Orlando Show

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Fanne Foxe, the Argentine stripper and friend of Arkansas Congressman Wilbur D. Mills, will receive $30,000 for a two-week engagement in Orlando, a local night club owner says.

Mike Pinter, owner of the Club Juana, said Friday that Miss Foxe had upped her fee for performing at his 200-seat topless bar from $3,500 to $15,000 a week.

The two-week booking will be Miss Foxe's first since she walked off a New York stage last week after learning that Mills had entered Bethesda Naval Hospital suffering from an undisclosed ailment. Miss Foxe, whose real name is Annabella Battistella, exploded into the headlines two months ago when Park Police in Washington, D.C., stopped a car in which she and Mills were riding. She jumped from the car and plunged into Washington's Tidal Basin.

Jerry Brandt, Miss Foxe's agent, said he wanted to book Miss Foxe, now billed as the Tidal Basin Bombshell, into Las Vegas for $20,000 a week.

Disillusioned Farmer Is Planning To Quit

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis. (AP) — Norman Newell has worked 14 hours a day, usually seven days a week, for the last 22 years. He doesn't smoke, drink or gamble and hasn't had a vacation in seven years. Norman Newell, 58, is considered a successful farmer; his buildings, equipment and 1,700 acres of central Wisconsin farmland are worth hundreds of thousands of dollars. But he's in debt, and he and his wife live off her teacher's salary. Newell hasn't made enough money to pay any income tax in three years. That's why he and members of his local farm association horrified the nation by shooting and burying 22 calves on Newell's farm last Oct. 15. It was the start of calf slaughters by angry cat-men and dairy farmers in Wisconsin. New York, Minnesota and Washington. PLACE FOR SALE "A year from now I hope to be out of farming," Newell says, nodding at the for sale sign near the gate. "If I could get by, just make a little bit or break even, it would be worth it to keep farming." Newell looks away from the tractor he has been repairing, ignoring the bone chilling wind and snow flurries lashing his leathery face. He gazes toward the trench where the calves were buried instead of being sent to market, toward the feed barn where he used to raise 354 prime veal calves at a time, and toward the field where 500 cattle graze on dead autumn grass. "I'm going to try to keep them alive as cheaply as possible and sell them next June or July when prices might be higher," Newell says of the grazing herd. The feed barn is empty because he can't sell a calf for enough to cover the cost of buying it newborn and feeding it for three to four months while it grows to market size. The U.S. Department of Agriculture agrees. It says that in the final quarter of 1974, grain fed beef is averaging $38 to $40 per 100 pounds on the hoof compared with $49 in 1973. But the farmer's cost to produce each 100 pounds is more than $50 because of rising feed grain costs, the USDA says. Both dairy and beef farmers can and do sell newborn calves for dog food, but the price paid doesn't cover shipping costs, they say. So, following the lead of Newell and other Wisconsin farmers, dairy and cattlemen in several states have staged calf kills in protest or have threatened to kill calves. The greatest number, about 700 calves, have been killed in Wisconsin. Under 2,000 have been slaughtered elsewhere in the nation. "The government is to blame," says Newell, who is one of 12,000 Wisconsin beef farmers. "Farmers can put up with inflation and everything else that bothers everybody else. It's all this government interfering and manipulating of farmers. Nobody has to put up with it like we do." DROPOUT Newell, a sixth-grade dropout who bought his first car at 11 and gave up a profitable Alaskan fishing career to become a farmer, believes farmers have been caught in the price-cost squeeze because of U.S. Agriculture Department pressure to produce more food. "Farmers feel a certain responsibility, and when the

by TROY BRYANT "Many people get the impression that patients at the State Hospital are stuck somewhere in the corner and forgotten. That's not true." Instead, said Mrs. Sue Tank, supervisor of the Work Activities Center at the Big Spring State Hospital, "we have occupational therapy, music therapy, recreation therapy, not just as a pastime but as part of their treatment." Some 300 patients per day are taking part in the Work Activities Center, a part of the newly formed Patient Remotivation and Employment Program (PREP). Patients in the PREP program who have a 25 percent or less capability for performing occupational functions are referred to the Work Activity Center, where hopefully they advance to the sheltered workshop part of PREP. The purpose of the WAC is to provide structure and organization sufficient to support the patient and reduce feelings of disorientation and confusion, to explain the process of doing and interacting with others, to help establish self worth and self expression and to develop or re-establish good work habits, according to Mrs. Tank. ADVANCEMENT Patients are motivated to advance through the WAC to the Sheltered Workshop portion of PREP where patients who exceed the 25 percent capability are paid for their work done. In addition to occupational therapy, where the patients participate in making objects, patients also take part in music and recreation therapy. Choirs, rhythm, bands, dance therapy, music listening and appreciation and private music lessons are a part of music therapy.

In recreation therapy, patients take part in volleyball, basketball, table games, evening activities, dances and weekend activities. ON UNITS Even patients who are hospitalized bound get the benefit of therapy, but instead of the patient going to a separate building, music therapy, occupational therapy and recreation therapy is held at the units. Each patient is re-evaluated every three months, by a group of doctors in the PREP program, to see if he or she should be moved up to the Sheltered Workshop. A special voluntary monitoring committee checks to see that the program is being carried out on fair basis for all patients. As an example of the progress that the WAC is enjoying, the patients and staff will present a Christmas program for the patients. This will feature the choir from the music therapy and a skit by the staff. Occupational therapy patients are making Christmas decorations for the presentation. "None of the work in WAC is done for a purpose as a part of the patient's therapy," added Mrs. Tank. "And all patients are encouraged to work toward the Sheltered Workshop situation, where they will be paid for their work."

Vets Getting Pensions Should Complete Forms

Persons in Texas who receive Veterans Administration pension checks should remember to complete their annual income questionnaire by Jan. 1, 1975, Jack Coker, Waco VA Regional Office Director, said Saturday. The Jan. 1 deadline is a change from the customary January 15 date to relieve the bottleneck experienced in the past on preparing January checks for pensioners waiting to mid-January or later in returning questionnaires. Income questionnaires were included with pension checks for November. Under the law VA mails questionnaires to veterans on non-service-connected pension rolls, widows of veterans receiving pension based on the non-service-connected death of a husband, and certain parents who receive monthly checks because of the service-connected death of a veteran or serviceman. Coker noted that most pensioners must file questionnaires each year. There are some exceptions, he noted. Those 72 years old or over who have been on pension rolls during the last two consecutive years are exempt from routine reporting; however, they must report income changes when they occur. Coker also pointed out that some beneficiaries who normally are exempt will receive questionnaires this year because of cost of living increases in their annuities. According to the VA, thousands of beneficiaries missed the former Jan. 15 deadline over the years. Prompt return of questionnaires by the new January 1 deadline will avoid delays in next year's

Martin Farmers Attend Meeting

STANTON — Two Martin County farmers, G. P. Harrell and Roy Koonce, representing the Martin County Cotton Farmers Committee, met with presidential aide Norman E. Ross, Jr., assistant director of the Domestic Council for President Ford in Washington D.C. Friday morning. The two farmers wrote the President and asked him to look into the low price of cotton. They received a letter inviting them to the White House. Koonce said he was told in a telephone conversation that the administration had become disenchanted in talking to heads of farm organizations and would like to talk to some individual farmers.

Water System Is Discussed

COLORADO CITY — The City council met in special session this week to hear a study on the city's water system conducted by Parhill, Smith and Cooper of Lubbock. The report is expected to cost in excess of $2,000. The firm studied four areas of the system — the source, pumping equipment, the treatment plant and water storage facilities. The firm reported that the city is in good shape in relation to the source and transmission. However, it recommended that water storage facilities may need cleaning and redoing at an estimated cost of $28,000.

Record Slaughter

Perhaps because of this there has been a record beef slaughter this year — 36 million head, says the USDA, up 7 per cent from last year. But most of the increase results from the slaughter of young, grass fed animals. The slaughter of grain fattened animals is way down, the USDA reports. "You know, with the land and working outside, a farmer considers himself rich in ways other than money. But I'm getting out. I still want to be able to eat in 10 years."

Water District Has Statement

Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 issued a statement Saturday to the Herald, outlining its position in the controversy with the City of Coahoma about water rates.

The district owns the supply system which acquires treated water from the City of Big Spring, then resells to Coahoma for distribution to its residents and those in Sand Springs. This is the statement signed by two (Pete) Earnest, Owen Johnson; Marshall Day, M. A. Lilly, and Oscar Cagle, directors:

"On Nov. 19, 1974, the City of Coahoma mailed a letter to all of its water customers. The letter apparently was for the purpose of attempting to explain to the customers the reasons for increasing water revenues by raising the monthly minimum from $5.40 to $9.40 for customers inside the water district and to $12.90 minimum for those customers outside the Water District; and in addition increasing the rate from $.85 per 1,000 gallons to $1. per 1,000 gallons for each 1,000 gallons over and above 4,000 gallons used.

ESTIMATE YIELD
There are approximately 870 water customers of the City of Coahoma at the present time. The increase of $4. per customer on the minimum charges will result in additional monthly revenues to the City of Coahoma in the amount of $3,480. The increase of $.15 per 1,000 gallons will, based upon past usage, result in an average increase in monthly revenues to the City of Coahoma of $768.00. The revenue which should be derived from the rate increase is approximately $4,248.00 per month or $50,976.00 per year.

Prior to the $4. minimum increase and the increase to $1. per 1,000 over 4,000 gallons the City of Coahoma had generated approximately $100,000. per year from water revenue and their cost of water (from the District) was approximately $50,000. per year according to Mayor Cagle's testimony. This additional $50,976. from increased rates would boost the total revenue from water sales to approximately $161,000.00 per year.

CITE ARREARS
On Nov. 1, 1973, the Board of Aldermen unanimously voted to suspend payments to the Water District for water charges which were based upon an agreement made by the Water District and the Board of Aldermen on Feb. 12, 1959, which agreement was honored by both the Water District and all subsequent City officials until Nov. 1, 1973. As a result of the suspension of payments to the Water District, the City failed to pay to the Water District $23,949.61, which should have been paid, according to the 1959 agreement.

SUIT RESULTS
After many attempts by the District to negotiate a settlement of the matter failed, the Water District was forced to file suit against the City of Coahoma and as a result of such lawsuit the jury awarded the Water District damages in the amount of $29,414.74. Although the City of Coahoma retained $23,949.61, which should have been paid to the Water District, the City has at this time only paid $13,000.00 to the District towards satisfaction of the judgment.

If the City had placed in escrow all of the money which it failed to pay the Water District ($23,949.61), there would only remain $5,465.13 to be paid as a result of the lawsuit.

CHALLENGES RAISE
Based upon the above and foregoing facts, the District emphatically denies that the verdict in the lawsuit made it necessary to increase water rates substantially. If the City of Coahoma needs to establish a rate that will generate an additional $50,000. in revenue each year, the Directors of the Water District feel that any attempt by the City to justify such an increase on the basis of the lawsuit or actions of the water district is totally without merit and constitutes an attack on the integrity and sincerity of the directors of the district.

LISTS RATE
We have at all times, and at the present time, only requested that the City of Coahoma pay the cost of water charged by the City of Big Spring plus $1,000 per month as agreed upon in 1959 which is only enough to pay the 1955 bond expenses and $180. per month towards the cost of operating the District.

We regret that it has been necessary for us to use the news media to respond to the letter of the City of Coahoma of Nov. 19, 1974; however, we requested a list of all water customers from the City of Coahoma and that requests was denied.

City Council Facing Two Meetings Shortly

In addition to a special meeting Monday afternoon in connection with the tax appraisal contract, city commissioners will meet in regular session at 9 a.m. Tuesday at City Hall.

The docket includes an emergency reading of an ordinance abandoning an alley in Block 6, Coronado Hills Addition, realignment of urban area boundary and establishment of a Federal Aid Urban system for the City of Big Spring, and reading of resolutions authorizing the mayor to sign the appraisal contract and authorizing participation in the multi-agency crime prevention project sponsored by the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission. The council is to approve appointment of Carlisle Robison to replace Paul Saldan on the Detox Steering committee, discuss removal of the signal light at the intersection of 4th and Douglas and replacing with stop signs on Douglas, discuss various traffic problems and review the minutes of the tourism board.

They will also award the bid for tennis court fencing and award a bid for removal or demolishing one house at 11th and Abrams.

They will discuss advertising for bids for 1,400 feet of fire hose and discuss the council meeting Dec. 24.

In Russia, Efforts Being Made To Reduce Smoking

MOSCOW (AP) — Chainsmokers Leonid Brezhnev says he tries to cut down on the nicotine habit from time to time, but it's doubtful many of his countrymen follow their leader's example.

In a bread store, a middle-aged matron lights up a cigarette while standing in line at a counter. A traffic policeman puffs away while directing traffic on a major Moscow street. The Bolshoi Theater lobby is blue with the smoke of several hundred ballet-goers at intermission.

The Soviet Union is a country of heavy smokers and cigarettes are one consumer item whose production has steadily increased over the years.

Unlike Americans, who have been seen antismoking ads for 10 years, the Soviet people are not warned against smoking in newspaper and television ads. Nor do cigarette packages carry medical warnings.

SOME WORRIED

Until now, warnings about smoking had surfaced only occasionally in radio spots, newspaper articles and street posters. Lately, however, there are signs that some authorities are worried about the perils of smoking. A new antismoking drug, which has been given some press publicity, has gone on sale in Soviet drugstores.

And Krokodil, the popular Soviet humor and satire magazine, has dedicated an entire issue to the proposition that smoking is a disgusting and unhealthy habit.

NEW CIRCLE K CLUB — The newly-chartered Circle K Club, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club, was presented its charter recently by Henry Thames, lieutenant governor of the Kiwanis. The officers of the Howard College organization include Carl Smoot, president; Chris Bogard, vice president; Abel Abundez, secretary and Larry Lindsey, treasurer. This is similar to the Key Club only at a junior college level. There are 68 clubs in Texas and Oklahoma and the local club has 16 charter members.

Long Prison Sentence Given Joe Ed Paul

By JOHN EDWARDS

Joe Ed Paul, 27, 809 1/2 Runnels St., pleaded guilty in 118th District Court Friday afternoon to murder of Ronald Brooks.

On the recommendation of District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III, Judge Ralph W. Caton sentenced Paul, also known as Johnny Dancer, to 40 years in prison.

In a signed statement, Paul said he shot Brooks, 17, San Angelo, three times while talking by the Johnson-Second Street intersection the night of last Oct. 30.

The two had ridden a bus together from Odessa, and Paul said, met at the Big Spring Greyhound Bus terminal.

They went to Mutt's Lounge, 303 E. 3rd St., and spent several hours drinking beer and playing pool, Paul said.

'MY BROTHER'

Gilbert, you've heard me talk about my brother, Tommy, this is him," said Paul told him.

Paul and his "brother" started talking about mutual acquaintances in San Angelo. "He apparently was getting pretty drunk," Paul said of Brooks. "He couldn't drink much beer. He said that the two boys were no good, that the sister wasn't any good and the mother was a whore," Paul said.

Brooks and Paul left Mutt's Lounge to eat. But, Brooks continued to criticize the San Angelo family, Paul said. So Paul shot him.

'FUNNY LOOK'

Mancha told this story in his statement:

"When they left, I thought they were still good friends. It was around ten minutes when Johnny (Paul) came back."

"He had a tunny look on his face. Johnny, what in the hell did you do?"

"I shot my brother," Johnny said.

"I don't believe you," Mancha replied.

"Later, I went to the table and I said: 'I don't know whether to believe you or not.'"

"He got me by my arm and held my wrist for some time and told me that he was telling the truth," Mancha continued. Mancha walked away.

"He looked at me, and he looked like he was going to cry and then he would kind of start to laugh. I still thought he was pulling my leg."

At Mancha's request, Raymond went to look for a body but couldn't find one.

"I already went to look," Mancha told Johnny, "and there is nobody there."

THE TRUTH

"It's right around the corner on the parking lot," Johnny said. "I will go over there and drag him here to prove to you that I'm telling the truth."

Paul left the bar, and Mancha told Raymond to go with Paul. "If there's anything," Mancha told Raymond, "call from the nearest place and don't tell me anything."

The defendant returned alone and asked for more beer, but Mancha said he refused.

"He went to the rest room and stayed there a good while," Mancha said.

The phone rang. "Gilbert, that guy is telling the truth," Raymond said.

Also introduced as evidence at the routine trial were psychological and psychiatric observations made of Paul at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Paul was released from prison several months before the incident for carrying a gun on licensed premises, Moore said after the trial.

More Than 2,000,000 See Six Flags' Lure

ARLINGTON — For the third consecutive year, attendance at Six Flags Over Texas has exceeded two million persons.

The Arlington theme park ended its 1974 season Dec. 1, with a total attendance of more than 2,184,000.

General Manager Bob Freeman said, "To say the least, we're very well pleased with 1974's results. The figures are particularly impressive when you consider that the season began in the midst of an unprecedented fuel shortage.

"The final totals are only 3.2 percent under the all-time record for a Six Flags park which was set here in Texas in 1973."

Freeman said plans are already being finalized for the 1975 season which will begin in mid-March.

"We can't go into details just yet," he commented, "but we have made preliminary arrangements for several new attractions which will continue to make Six Flags an exceptional entertainment value in the coming season."

Outcry Over Tax Plan Is Bitter

PRINCEVILLE, Ill. (AP) — Taxes are going up 17 percent here to pay medical expenses for migrant workers, but not without a bitter outcry.

One resident, William German, for example, says the canning company that employs the migrants, Joan of Arc Co., is passing the buck.

"The canning company should be picking up the bills, that's the unanimous feeling," declares German. He describes himself and his neighbors as "bitter."

"I don't think it's fair," said Eugene Christ, a baker. "We are so heavily taxed already."

Township supervisor Hershall Martin says more than $6,000 will have to be borrowed to pay this year's total migrant medical bill of more than $9,000.

Martin says part of the problem was a poor crop that cut migrant incomes. He also says the nonprofit Illinois Migrant Council is teaching more of the harvest workers that medical care is their legal right.

"They'll go to the hospital on the least little thing because they're aware of it," he says. "And I'm in the middle."

Joan of Arc says tough competition in the canning business prevents it from paying for medical in-

Arkansas Plane Crash Proves Fatal To Trio

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Three persons were killed Friday night when their twin-engine Cessna airplane crashed and burned about two miles short of the Pine Bluff airport runway, a Federal Aviation Agency spokesman said at Little Rock.

No names or hometowns were released.

However, an FAA spokesman said the airplane was registered to Ragsdale Aviation Co. of Austin, Tex. He said the pilot, Jerry Allison, flew from Austin to New Orleans, picked up two prospective buyers of the plane for a demonstration flight, and was returning to New Orleans.

Gary Cook of radio station KOTN at Pine Bluff said wreckage was scattered over about 200 yards. Cook, a pilot, said the plane went down in a wooded, swampy area, making it difficult for rescuers to remove the bodies.

The wreckage was found about midnight, Cook said. He said the plane apparently missed its first pass at Pine Bluff's Grider Field airport because of dense fog and was on a second pass when the crash occurred.

Cook said the plane "started dragging the tops of the trees, then just started dragging on down. All three bodies were in the main wreckage of the plane. I had to wade in water up to my knees to get to it."

The wreckage was near the Greenmeadows trailer park near U.S. 65 north of the airport.

Radio and radar contact with the plane was lost about 7:30 p.m. Friday when the plane was about four miles from the runway. An extensive ground search was started immediately.

A spokesman for the sheriff's office said there was extensive ground fog in the area at the time of the crash. "You can't see anything," a sheriff's deputy said.

Six Die In Fire

BEACON, N.Y. (AP) — Six children perished when a fire swept through a home early today, authorities reported.

Juan Claudio and his wife, Alesandro, escaped without serious injuries, police said.

The couple, parents of four of the children, were under sedation at a hospital following the blaze. The two other children, believed to be cousins, were visiting the family, police said.

"We think it started from the gas stove in the kitchen," said Fire Chief Joe Catalano. "Probably gas leaked during the night ... and then the whole place went up."

The fire broke out at about 7:30 a.m.

Earlier this morning, a mother and two of her children perished in a fire in Canisteo, N.Y.

In Nashville, Tenn., a baby girl born after a fire in a mobile home died just nine hours after her birth. Two other small children died in the fire. The mother was in critical condition today with severe burns over 90 percent of her body.

Three hours after Mrs. Alice Faye Hubbard, 20, was pulled from the flaming trailer, she gave birth to the baby girl. The baby was in shock when she was born, a physician at General Hospital said.

Mrs. Hubbard's sons, Michael, 3, and Anthony, 1, were dead when rescue workers reached them Friday.

The mother, nine-months pregnant, went into labor at the scene, physicians said.

The fire broke out shortly before 9 a.m. while Mrs. Hubbard's husband, Eugene, was at work.

Picking Right Pet Important

Choosing a healthy puppy, kitten, hamster or other pet for a Christmas present can be a problem, according to the Humane Society of the Permian Basin.

The society will present a special program featuring an Odessa Veterinarian, Dr. Michael W. Wempe, who will discuss what to look for in choosing a pet and how to care for him properly.

The program will be held at the Texas Electric Reddy Room in Odessa on Thursday, Dec. 12 at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Wempe will hold a question and answer seminar following the program.

Making Good Progress In Cotton Harvesting

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Freezing temperatures over most of the state last week killed many tender fall vegetables and spurred an increase in supplemental feeding of livestock, Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said.

to harvest operations in the Plains and western areas, he said.

Much sorghum remains to be harvested on the Rolling Plains and soybeans and peanuts await harvesting in parts of North Texas, Hutchison said.

Harvesting of sugarbeets is making good progress in the Panhandle, Hutchison said.

Citrus is moving to market in increasing volume as the holiday season approaches, he said.

Some livestock in East Texas are losing weight due to the adverse weather conditions, Hutchison said.

District Agricultural agents gave these reports:

Panhandle: The cotton harvest is in full swing. Wheat and stubble fields are providing grazing for livestock but some dryland wheat needs moisture.

South Plains: Cotton harvesting is making good progress. Harvesting of sorghum, corn and soybeans is nearing completion. Range conditions are good over the area.

Rolling Plains: The cotton harvest is 30 per cent complete in some counties. Pecans and peanuts are being harvested in several counties. Rust and greenbugs are causing light damage in some small North Central: The cotton harvest will be completed soon. Thirty to 40 per cent of the soybeans and peanuts await harvesting. The pecan harvest is at the halfway mark. Some supplemental feeding of livestock has started.

Northeast: Some cotton and soybeans remain to be harvested. Many fall vegetables were damaged by heavy frost. Livestock feeding has started.

Far West: Cotton harvesting is making good progress. Good pecan yields are reported. Livestock are in good condition. Deer hunting has been excellent.

THEFTS

Ronnie Thompson, Coahoma, reported that someone broke into his car while it was parked at Mutt's Lounge sometime between 10 and 11:30 p.m. Friday. A window was broken and a stereo tape player and 15 tapes were taken. Value of the stolen property was $300 and damage to the auto was set at $25.

Mrs. Joe Hamby, 1610 Main, reported that someone stopped in front of her house, got out and took a marble slab from her yard and then drove away. Police traced the license number and contacted a local woman who admitted taking the slab as a joke. She returned the property and no charges were filed.

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

I continue my anatomy of a ripoff in Las Vegas.

MY DEAR readers, I didn't get my $187 in cash back. Yep, I recovered my billfold containing credit cards, addresses and priceless photos, thanks to Mrs. Martha Arriola, 4300 Cory Place, Las Vegas.

The neat package included the following note: "Mr. Finley: My husband and I found your wallet. If you had money in it, please do not think that we took it. We just wanted to return it to you as you might need your cards."

I have tried telephoning Mrs. Arriola to say thank you, thank you, thank you. No Las Vegas connection yet. I'll keep trying.

My priceless cousin, Price Everett, down on the ranch in Bridgeport, refuses to be impressed by the credentials of the blonde stripper with the 67-inch bust. Says he: "You ought to see my Holstein cow."

Blossoming Judette Bloom, Herald word chaser, points out: "Another thing that happens once in a lifetime is you."

BOB CURRAN, columnist for the Buffalo Evening News, says: "I'm amused by Johnny Carson's report that the first thing Howard Cosell does every morning is touch his toes 25 times to his tongue."

But that's only the beginning, Bob. Then Howard pats himself on the back 150 times, does 25 put-downs, and eats Frank Gifford's lunch for breakfast.

That's why they call him "Mr. Nice Guy" in the business.

Good ol' Bill Factor, being checked at the VA hospital in Muskogee by Detroit, has a clinic that recalls its transmissions or transgressions.

According to TV Guide, a one-minute commercial on the tube showing of The Godfather cost an advertiser $22,500!

LEFTY J. O. Sheid, father-in-law of a Texas highway patrolman, says the rookie asked the old pro salesman how he could remember the names of his customers so well, and he replied:

The White Envelope

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — No matter how bad things get, they could be worse. Instead of Gerry Ford, Giscard d'Estaing of France could be our President.

ACCORDING to the latest reports from Paris, President D'Estaing keeps disappearing and no one can get in touch with him. One reputable newspaper says that he leaves a white sealed envelope behind with a duty officer. It is the only clue to where he is. The catch is that the envelope can be opened only in case of a dire emergency. The problem for the duty officer is that he is the sole judge of whether a crisis is serious enough to reveal the French president's whereabouts.

I TAKE you now to the Elysees Palace. It is midnight. The duty officer is sitting at his desk which has on it nothing but a telephone and a white envelope.

"The phone rings." "Oui, Elysees Palace," the duty officer says.

"This is the minister of defense. I must speak to the president."

"He is not here, Monsieur le Ministre."

"It is urgent. I have just received information that the Arabs are going to cut off all our oil."

"I am sorry, Monsieur le Ministre, I cannot bother the president for that. Call him next week?"

THE PHONE rings again.

"This is the president of the Bank of France. We just got word from Geneva that the Swiss gnomes are going to attack the French franc. I must have authorization to use our gold to fight back."

"I can't help you, President D'Estaing is not here."

"Where is he?"

"He is in a white envelope on my desk."

"Don't be funny. This is a matter of life and death."

"That's what everyone says, Goodyby."

PHONE RINGS again.

"Moscow calling. Your party is on the phone."

"Comrade D'Estaing, this is Comrade Brezhnev."

"This is not Comrade D'Estaing. This is the duty officer."

"I don't want to speak to a duty officer. I want to speak to the president of France."

"He's not here now and he'll be left word not to be disturbed unless it was a dire emergency."

"This is an emergency. France has seized one of our destroyers near Tahiti, and unless you give it back to us immediately we will consider it an act of war."

"I'm sorry, Mr. Brezhnev, I can't disturb the president for just one destroyer. Why don't you write us a note?"

The phone rings again.

"Alain?"

"Oui, Madame D'Estaing."

"Where is Giscard?"

"I do not know, Madame D'Estaing."

"Don't lie to me, Alain. I know he left an envelope behind which says where he can be found. What is his name?"

"Please, Madame, I will have your head!"

"All right, I will tell you. He's walking the dog."

The phone rings once more.

"Alain, this is President D'Estaing."

"Ah, bon soir, Monsieur le President, comment ca va?"

"Never mind that. Where am I?"

The Chamber of Commerce, joined by the Industrial Foundation, is starting an advertising campaign after the first of the new year on the theme: "There's a JOB for you in Big Spring." This will cover towns within about a 150-mile radius.

It will be interesting to note the response. However, before it can begin to produce the results anywhere approaching the potential, it must have the support of local businesses, industries and institutions. Just what jobs do you have open now or indicated as possibilities in the next few months ahead? Get this information to the Chamber, please. It's vital. Obtaining adequate manpower for our existing industries is vital to our future.

Spending Still Declining

By STEPHEN H. MILLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Reports from industry and government this past week showed Americans' spending still declining in major areas in recent weeks.

Detroit's automakers said their domestic sales last month were down to only 505,511, a decline of 35 per cent from a year earlier.

It was the lowest monthly figure of the year, the second lowest — November in 15 years — the 14th month of decline and the latest entry in the industry's longest slump since World War II.

While Detroit has cut back production and had some 165,000 workers off their jobs this past week, some in the industry felt the slump could be bottoming out.

"We don't expect to see any improvement next month," said one company spokesman, "but we don't expect things to get any worse either."

Airlines also reported major declines in domestic traffic last month, drops which some experts said were the worst in years.

United Airlines, the biggest in the country, said its traffic was down almost 18 per cent. American Airlines listed a drop of almost 25 per cent and Eastern said it was down 5.7 per cent in its first monthly decline of the year. Braniff Airways posted a drop of 6.5 per cent and National Airlines, which came out of a 3½-month strike Nov. 1, said its traffic was down 49 per cent.

Figures from 1973 were boosted by a strike then under way at Trans World Airlines.

New factory orders for October were down $765 million or 0.9 per cent in October, the Commerce Department reported. It was the second straight month of decline, but better than September's 3.6 per cent drop.

Orders for nondurable goods were up 0.7 per cent, but those for durable goods were down 2.3 per cent compared with 1.9 per cent the month before. The department said the drop was mostly in orders for aerospace equipment, primary metals and fabricated steel products.

Major chain stores listed November sales volume figures below those of last year, which some analysts said was due both to the nation's sluggish economy and Christmas shopping delays caused by this year's later Thanksgiving holiday.

Sears Roebuck & Co., the nation's biggest retail store, said sales for the five weeks ended Nov. 30 came to $1.6 billion, up only 2.4 per cent over 1973. With consumer prices up about 12 per cent over the year, the figure indicated a substantial drop in volume.

Second-ranked J. C. Penney Co. posted a 3.9 per cent dollar gain. F. W. Woolworth & Co. was up 6 per cent and Zayre Corp. 0.8 per cent.

Better performances were turned in by S. S. Kresge Co., whose sales were up 14 per cent, and Montgomery Ward & Co., with an increase of 11.6 per cent.

Burned By Heating Pad

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: In this time of consumer safety, why are heating pads allowed to get so hot as to cause third-degree burns?

I fell asleep with mine and now will have to have several operations to graft skin and tissue, and months later some of the original surgery will have to be done over.

The nerves in the area were deadened from recent surgery and I forgot that I had taken a pain killer earlier.

The heating pad was not defective. The quilted cover was not even scorched, but I was burned through skin, fat and tissue. — B. P.

Maybe that's a good topic for Ralph Nader. Personally, I don't see any sure way of protecting people from heating pads short of getting everybody educated. I've been warning, in this column, for quite some years about heating pads.

I'm not opposed to heating pads. They can be useful gadgets. But they are more dangerous than people seem to realize, and I hope your disastrous experience will at least put a few more people on warning.

If you limited heating pads to a temperature that can't burn flesh, I'm sure there would be a storm of criticism from people complaining that the pads "won't work."

The unrecognized danger lies in the fact that flesh burns not only on the basis of temperature but on the duration of time that the heat is applied. If you spill any quantity of boiling water (212 degrees) on the skin, you'll be burned.

Now for a heating pad. Let's say you reduce the temperature to, oh, say 130 or 140 degrees. That's good and warm but you aren't going to burn your fingers by touching it.

But leave that thing in contact with your skin for several hours, and you can end up with a severe burn.

Well — that's what you did. You got a savage burn, and with your pain killer and your deadened nerve area, you didn't feel it until the damage had been done.

People MUST learn about this danger and learn that, with impaired circulation, medications which depress the sense of touch or other factors which prevent sensitivity, the danger is real. My own view of the safe way to use heat is to use a heating pad only when you are awake and sitting up. In bed, use the old-fashioned hot water bottle.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son, 19, enjoys coffee, usually one or two cups a day. Could this be bad for his health, for instance, inhibit his growth? — Mrs. R. G.

It won't inhibit growth. And if he sticks to no more than a cup or two a day, I can't see that it will hurt him in any way.

"You Can Stop Sinus Trouble!" is the title of Dr. Thosteson's newly revised booklet, explaining what sinus trouble really is and what can be done about it.

For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

My Answer

Billy Graham

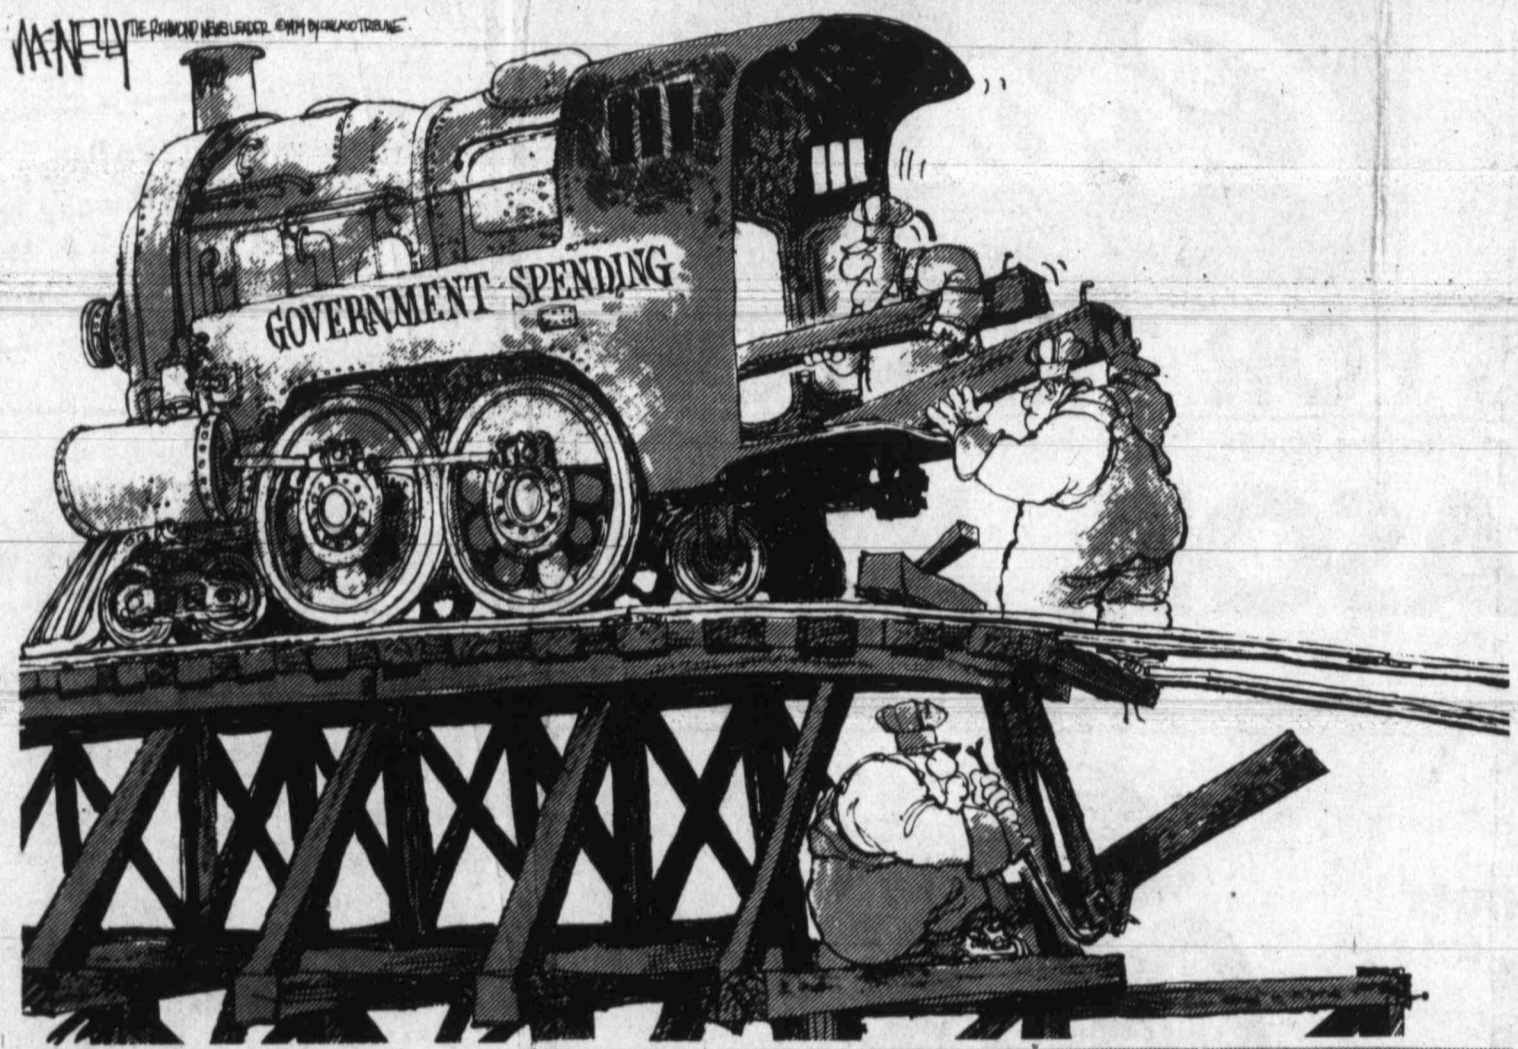

I hear so many different views about how the world will end, and how Christ will return. What specifically does the Bible say?

A. W. I've saved this question to answer on December 7th, the day we remember Pearl Harbor, and the Japanese attack which began our involvement in World War II. There's quite a similarity of circumstance.

As Secretary of State Cordell Hull reported later, at the very moment when representatives of the Japanese government were discussing peace, the armed forces of Japan were assembling to launch new aggressions. Hull called their conduct an infamous fraud.

Now, the Bible says in 1 Thessalonians 5 that "when people are saying 'everything is quiet and peaceful,' then all of a sudden disaster will fall upon them." However, Paul goes on to say, "But dear brothers, you are not in the dark about these things, and you won't be surprised as by a thief when that day of the Lord comes."

Luke 21 says that at Christ's coming there will be signs in the sun and the moon and stars, and there will be distress of nations with men's hearts failing them for fear, but somehow the wicked will not recognize what is happening.

The Christian, however, ought always to be ready, to live as sons of the light and to watch for the Lord's return in a spirit of hope and love.

H. L. Hunt, RIP

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The death of Mr. H. L. Hunt, reputedly the richest man in the world, brings to mind some of the tribulations of the defenders of the free market society.

Life would on the whole have been easier for thoughtful advocates of the free market if Mr. Hunt had been a socialist rather than a conservative. For one thing, assuming his character had not changed, he would have been a very stingy socialist, which helps. For another, if he had backed the kookiest of them. Add to which, if he had written and distributed socialist literature instead of conservative literature, he'd have unerringly distributed the most simplistic literature in the field, driving away, rather than towards the desired goal, the intended convert.

I ONCE alluded to Mr. Hunt in a national magazine — a half dozen years ago. "Winston Churchill," I said, "is reported to have said about a tedious socialist of unconventional sexual disposition that he had managed to give sodomy a bad name. Mr. Hunt has done his share among capitalists he has known to give capitalism a bad name, not goodness knows, by frenzies of extravagance, but by his eccentric understanding of public affairs, his yahoo bigotry and his appallingly bad manners. It is especially ironic that Mr. Hunt, who may be the richest man in the world, has in the course of time employed any number of people professionally devoted to the capitalist ideal, almost all of whom found that their exposure to Mr. Hunt turned out to be the greatest test of their ideological devotion."

Mr. Hunt took great offense, and wrote to many newspapers suggesting that I and my enterprises are surrounded by Communists who claim to have deserted the party. The inference was clear (Mr. Hunt was never subtle): in criticizing Hunt, I was doing the work of the Communist Party.

WE CAN work ourselves up — can we not? — into a considerable lather against the rich. Not only can we, we do. I confess that I myself get more exasperated by rich people than ever I do by poor people, for the obvious reasons (the rich should know better) and the less obvious reasons (the rich should know better how to enjoy themselves). But even so, what most isn't needed nowadays is a stupendous redundant exhortation of the rich, but rather a defense of the rich — and the sooner the better, before they are made to disappear, which would be very bad news indeed.

The most far-out defense of the rich has been made by that most austere economist, Nobel Prize winning F. A. Hayek. In the Constitution of Liberty, he makes an empirical defense of liberty and therefore of capitalism, and reasons the progressive feature of the income tax out of intellectual existence. He even goes so far as to say that if the rich did not exist, they should quite literally be invited.

IN ROLE OF ODYSSEUS

Brynner Returning To New York Stage

NEW YORK (AP) — The King and I," which won him a Broadway Tony and subsequently a Hollywood Oscar, before he received another bid to work on stage. "Then I discovered there was a lack of communication between my agent's East coast and West coast offices. When I got busy in films, somebody was running interference and telling people I wouldn't even read a theater script."

Author Segal visited Brynner's Normandy home last summer, "read me the whole thing. Marre came by a few days later and gave me the whole picture. A short, time afterwards, Stevens arrived and we sat down now seriously to consider possibilities."

Roger L. Stevens is the veteran Broadway producer who heads Washington's Kennedy Center. He planned the project. A 43-week itinerary, starting Dec. 9 in Cleveland and thereafter weaving from coast to coast, precedes New York arrival next fall.

"I wanted an extensive pre-Broadway tour," Brynner declares. He has always felt "The King and I" premiered too soon. "Once you open on Broadway and are a hit, a show tends to congeal."

FIVE SONGS

As Odysseus, he has five songs, more than in any prior excursion, so a coach arrived in France soon after Stevens "to teach me how to place my voice comfortably — for a month we really worked."

Brynner stresses the importance of staying in character while singing. "If you change sound, it's like taking off your hat in a Western movie — suddenly you're not a cowboy anymore."

The role requires a lot of pantomime and the star gives high praise to the show's choreographer, Billy Watson, for activating long dormant skills.

"He gave me the kind of open doors I needed to wake up all kinds of old things that were in my baggage of pantomime," says the actor by Byzantine order.

Although show business hasn't been conspicuously successful recently with such fare, Brynner is sure "audiences are always ready for entertainment with truly romantic, marvelous moments like 'Odyssey.'"

No Contest Plea Entered In Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Henry C. Wynberg, boyfriend of actress Elizabeth Taylor, has pleaded no contest to four counts of grand theft for allegedly turning back odometers on cars.

Wynberg, 40, entered the pleas Friday before Superior Court Judge Julius A. Leatham. Sentencing was set for Jan. 6. He is free on his own recognizance.

Wynberg, a former used car salesman, was charged with selling four cars between July 1972 and May 1973 on which the odometers had been tampered with to indicate the cars had been driven fewer miles, increasing their sale value by more than $200 each.

Wynberg has been Miss Taylor's companion for at least a year.

EX-NIGHTCLUB BOUNCER 'Santa' Compares Strippers, Kids

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The red-haired child was fragile and innocent in appearance—a gripping portrait as he sat on Santa's knee, bending close to the old man's ear to impart his wishes for Christmas.

But, after concluding his recitation, he issued the kindly old gentlemen this ultimatum: "And if you don't bring me what I want this year, I'm gonna kick your (expletive deleted)."

It was a threat department store Santa Dean Reynolds has heard before. He used to be a Bourbon Street nightclub bouncer.

"That kid brags up everyone around," Reynolds said. "I was pretty surprised. I never expected that. Not from him, anyway."

Reynolds, 37, began his Santa Claus career last year because he needed a job. He's continuing this year because "I'm really turned on to kids. The experience does a lot for you. Children are really wonderful."

Reynolds left the Air Force after 12 years and a leg injury and is now a sociology major at Texas Wesleyan College. He's also a once-a-week volunteer at a drug crisis center.

With his own beard and 250 pounds of beef to go with it, Reynolds entered the Western Girl temporary help agency's Santa Claus school last year.

"He's one of the best," said office manager Kathi Cobb. "Santa Claus has to be good with children and Dean fills the bill."

Reynolds, after leaving the Air Force, worked in New Orleans for a while at Pepe's Playgirl Lounge on Bourbon Street.

"Working around strippers and bright lights is no comparison to being around children and watching their faces when they meet Santa Claus. It's an awesome experience for most of them," he said.

Dean "Santa Claus" Reynolds, a native of Kansas City, has these observations about children and Santa Claus:

Children tend to ask for what they can reasonably expect to get.

Most girls still ask for ferris wheels and boys still ask for footballs and the like.

Rich children don't ask for much and neither do poor children. "It's the middle income kids who ask for everything under the sun."

Most children have a sneaking suspicion their visit with Santa is really fantasy but they enjoy the charade. Being a nightclub bouncer had its rewards, says Reynolds. "There the big girls sometimes sat on my lap."

Reynolds, recently divorced, looks forward to a life with children. "My wife walked out last Christmas Eve. She didn't want any children."

Part of the big appeal for Reynolds is the innocence of children. "It's their overwhelming, unsolicited love. They mean it from the bottoms of their hearts. Once I asked this rough-looking little boy what he wanted. He really choked me up. I expected anything, but he looked up and said, dead serious, 'Santa, I want love and peace for the whole world.'"

First U.S. President Recalled Was Grover Cleveland's Term

"Aunt Cora", as most of her Big Spring friends call her, was 101 years old Friday.

Miss Cora Shaffer was honored at a birthday party given by her niece, Mrs. Helen Talley, at the Mountain View Nursing Home.

Many friends dropped by during the afternoon to share birthday cake and conversation with Aunt Cora, and she recognized every one of them, commenting on their current activities.

When asked, to what she attributed passing the century mark, she said, "Well Mother only lived to be 99 and Dad 87, but my great grandmother lived to be over a hundred."

Then, too, I had six brothers and was very active—climbed trees, ran races, played ball. I used to run off and go down the road hunting some girls to play with, but Mother worried when I ran away. One time when I came home, she had my clothes folded in a little pile and told me that if I was going to keep running off, I could go live in the woods. I didn't run away again."

When asked who was the first President of the United States that she recalled, she answered immediately, "Grover Cleveland. He was elected after the Republicans had been in power 23 years and everybody was forecasting disaster. The Democrats thought the Republicans thought the Democrats were all wrong and the Republicans thought the Democrats were all wrong just like they do now. And they didn't know what they were talking about—then or now."

She said that her favorite time of life was from 55-60. During those years, I was head of the coat department of a department store in Clarksburg, West Virginia. I loved my work. I had a lot of friends—single women about my age and we went a lot of places together. We had a good time."

When asked what was her favorite birthday, she quickly answered, "ten."

"It was the first one I remembered. I had a table with a red cloth and a big cake. My teacher and my piano teacher were special guests. One girl friend brought me ten pennies."

Surrounded by flowers from her great nieces and nephews and happily serving cake to her friends, "Aunt Cora" was delighted with the day.

"I always thought I'd make a 100. I didn't know about a 101," she quipped.

Two Assaulted, Robbed Saturday

Sherman Hasty and David Washington were assaulted and robbed early Saturday morning at 505 NW 4th street after they answered a knock on the door and three Latin-American males came in the house brandishing knives and tire tools.

Hasty reported that he was hit two or three times in the head and face with a tire tool after he refused to give the subjects a shotgun that he keeps in the house. They took his billfold containing about $35.

Washington, who was in another part of the house, reported that the subjects said that they were gangsters and were going to kill him. He suffered minor knife wounds in the incident.

Hasty went to Hall-Bennett hospital where he was treated and released.

Also taken from the house were keys to a truck and to the house.

Discrimination Not Tolerated

A policy letter from Col. Robert A. Owens, commander of 78th Flying Training Wing, went to all Webb personnel recently. It concerned equal opportunity and treatment.

In his letter Colonel Owens stated that discrimination by act or inference will not be tolerated. He stressed that all personnel be afforded equal opportunity regardless of race, color, religion, national origin or sex.

The colonel pointed out that care and management of people has become a recent important goal of the Air Force. "Therefore, human relations and equal opportunity are now viewed as integral parts of Air Force life," his letter read.

Colonel Owens' letter further said, "Effective supervisors with a true concern for their people will generate a climate in which each and every individual is afforded the opportunity to reach his or her fullest potential."

WAR SAGA

The project wooing him away from movies is "Odyssey," a musical based on the Homeric saga of the Trojan War hero who, just coincidentally, also spent 20 years getting back to his royal home.

Albert Marre, who directed that sleeper hit about Don Quixote, is directing and his spouse, Joan Diener, enacts steadfast wife Penelope to Brynner's Odysseus.

"I insisted on her," Brynner smoothly squeezes any hint of nepotism. "At first they said it would be totally impossible for her to take part."

Permian Museum Closer to Goal

MIDLAND - A $200,000 grant from the Sid W. Richardson Foundation of Fort Worth has brought the $1.5 million Permian Basin Museum to within $250,000 of its construction cost goal.

The museum's building, under construction on a 41-acre site in south Midland, is behind schedule, but is likely to be completed in late December or January.

Donated and loaned exhibits and other materials will bring the total value to almost $2 million.

After completion of the building, several months will be necessary to install exhibits and prepare for opening.

These include the world's largest marine diorama, Abell-Hanger Foundation's collection of historical paintings; a complete cable-tool drilling rig, moved to the museum from Texas; and several electronically-controlled visual and sound explanations of the earth-sciences, and of petroleum history and technology. The museum, largest of its kind in the U.S., is expected to open in Spring, 1975.

Russell J. Ramsland, museum president, called the Richardson grant "a tremendous piece of assistance."

He added it leaves the museum "within sight of a full payout of its capital cost before we open."

However, museum officers stressed that raising the remainder of funds will be a "tough job."

Cattlemen Shunned By Ford

WASHINGTON (AP)—Texas cattlemen who believed they had an appointment Wednesday with President Ford to discuss their economic difficulties stalked out of the White House when they were met by an aide and not the President.

The group is headed by T.A. Cunningham, president of the recently formed Independent Cattlemen's Association.

Cunningham said Norman Ross, the White House Domestic Council's agriculture expert, met them and said Ford could not talk with them.

At that time, Ford had a scheduled appointment with Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz and Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton.

The cattlemen, organized for 77 days, held a news conference later but would not discuss the program they planned to present to the President.

Also, they would not identify the Texas Republican they said set up the appointment.

As for Ross, Cunningham said, "We didn't have a program for him... At the White House we did not find out anything."

The Texans also did not want to meet with Butz, said Cunningham. He said the secretary "is the worst thing that's happened to agriculture. We want to talk to The Man."

The delegation, said to represent cattlemen in 18 states, said they were heartened by responses during their two-day visit with Texas congressmen and House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., who represents a major beef district.

Cunningham said the most important issue is to end beef imports. He said Agriculture Department figures misrepresent the true amount of foreign meat coming in, which he called "junk beef" glutting the U.S. market.

Cunningham said that unless there is a turnaround in farm prices for cattle, "you're talking about a crash" of the U.S. economy and "food prices you won't believe" because of shortages if farmers go under.

40,000 Prostitutes In NY 'Good Old Days Were Terrible'

NEW YORK (AP)—The good old days were... well, they were terrible, says Otto Bettmann, social historian and founder of the Bettmann Archive.

With illustrations from the archive's collection of old prints and photographs to make his points, Bettmann argues in a new book that nostalgia has warped our view of America's past.

NOT NEAR Among other things, he notes: —There were three million horses in American cities at the turn of the century. The 15,000 horses in Rochester, N.Y., produced enough manure to cover an acre of ground with a layer 175 feet deep.

—In 1890, the police commissioner of New York said there were 40,000 prostitutes in the city. Eight years earlier, 1882, the designer of Central Park recommended its closing after dark because of crime.

—State Assemblyman Teddy Roosevelt branded as "communistic" the demand of streetcar drivers for a 12-hour work day. They were working 16-hour days for $12 a week.

—In the 1880s, close to 40 per cent of American farmers owned neither house nor land. They were tenant farmers. About 50 per cent of the income of city families went for food.

—On Feb. 22, 1898, F.B. Baker, a black man, was lynched at Lake City, S.C. He had accepted the job of postmaster.

—Only 20 per cent of the students in the teacher-training schools of the 1890s had high school diplomas. In 1903, only 18 cities in the United States had public playgrounds of any sort. In 1905, a sanitary engineer in Glasgow coined the word "smog" to describe the condition of the air.

"It is a mechanism of our psyche to forget all the bad things that happened in the old days," said Bettmann. "We look at the little trimmings of the time, but not the essential cruelties and hardships."

Bettmann, 71, was born in Germany and received his doctorate from the University of Leipzig after majoring in art and social history. He came to the United States in 1935 with two steamer trunks full of old pictures. There are now three million items in the archive's picture library, including a substantial collection of old-time Americana.

His book deals with what has been called America's gilded age, the era from the end of the Civil War to the beginning of World War I. It is titled, "The Good Old Days — They Were Terrible!"

It is, said Bettmann, "a personal attempt to redeem our times from the aspersions cast upon them by nostalgic comparisons."

The Gay Nineties were gay, said Bettmann, but only for the privileged few. It was also a time, he said, when a sweatshop seamstress made $7 for an 84-hour week, when locusts obliterated the entire harvest of the Dakotas in a single day, and when thousands of families lived in tarpaper boxes on the Pennsylvania coalfields.

In this gilded age, Bettmann noted, children made up one-third of the labor force in mills, heroin was sold as cough medicine and teaching jobs in Philadelphia were secured by payment of $120 to the local political bosses.

"But we always measure our own times against the higher class which lived very beautifully," said Bettmann. "It is all promoted by the nostalgia industry. As history, nostalgia is pure bunk."

By measuring the present against a glorified image of the past, he added, we deprecate our own times, causing them to appear much worse than they are.

DEPRESSION ART 'FOUND' Public Offered Art Prints

Imagine, if you can, finding several thousand sets of antique prints of the world's greatest paintings that were lost for more than 35 years! It actually happened... and this is the true story of the discovery of that lost treasure.

Eleanor Roosevelt Back in 1937, immediately following the depression years, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a select group of a dozen nationally prominent people formed a voluntary national committee for art appreciation to create an art program that would give the public a well-needed moral lift. It was the committee's decision to select the world's most famous paintings from the 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries — the best paintings of Matisse, Van Gogh, Renoir, Picasso, Gauguin, Titian, etc., and to reproduce them in full color as perfectly as humanly possible and make them available to the public at a price within the reach of nearly everyone.

Abandoned In 1937 For some unknown reason, after a quantity of these beautiful reproductions were made, the entire project was abandoned and this collection of perfect reproductions was stored in a Brooklyn warehouse, where they remained undisturbed since 1937.

Through a series of rare coincidences, the lost collection was "rediscovered" and leading lithographers and art critics agreed that the subject matter and quality of detail and color reproduction was incredibly accurate. Over $500,000.00 was spent to make finely engraved glass printing plates. It would be impossible to reproduce prints such as these under existing methods, and for that reason these prints are literally collector's items. Once they have been sold, there will be no more available. A truly excellent art "investment" that makes a fabulous gift.

Available to Public These authentic original 1937 prints have been appraised by the American Appraisers' Assoc. at $7.00 each print. Now, these full color 11"x14" prints are finally available to the public at $19.95 for a collection of 18 prints. Send cash, check or money order to: U.S. Surplus, Dept. C85, P.O. Box 605, Tazana, Calif., 91356. Fully GUARANTEED. Certificate of authenticity given with each set. Mastercharge and BankAmericard OK (give card number). (ADV.)

Firemen Doing A Good Deed

Several people expressed either concern or curiosity about the fire trucks parked at the First Presbyterian Church Thursday.

Pearl Harbor Attack Recalled By Workers

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — Workers at this sprawling naval base halted their activities Saturday morning to observe one minute of silence, marking the exact moment Japanese planes launched their historic raid 33 years ago.

The only speaker at the tribute was architect Alfred Preis, who described his intention in the design of the 13-year-old gleaming white memorial to the 2,409 persons who died at Pearl Harbor and in other parts of Oahu Island during the air raid.

The flagpole, however, is not a part of the memorial and is mounted on a part of the Arizona's superstructure, portions of which are still above the water at low tide.

Following the ceremonies, Navy boats began their regular daily shuttles to the memorial, which has been visited by nearly half a million persons this year, including thousands of Japanese tourists.

The Week

Howard County Commissioners Court last week balked at the proposed four-agency tax appraisal contract (approved by the other three parties). Instead, the court has shaped a version of its own which will be tried on for size at a Monday meeting. Essentially, it would make the county instead of the city the contracting agency and would make elective officials the policy board (the county having an extra representative).

Incidentally, the commissioners court, having posted no notice of its session on the contract, held a meeting in violation of the Texas open mess meetings law.

Declaring that he wanted to trim down the docket to a manageable size for his successor (Bill Tune), Judge A. G. Mitchell summarily dismissed an estimated 1,700 cases from the cluttered county court criminal docket. The bulk of these are cases a year or more old, and most, Judge Mitchell said, are unprosecutable.

The First Christian Church, which has had a long search for a minister, announced last week that the Rev. William (Bill) Smythe of Enid, Okla. has accepted a call. He and his wife are due this weekend and will be in the pulpit next Sunday.

For the fourth consecutive month, the Colorado River Municipal Water District corresponding deliveries below corresponding months of 1973, thanks to those unusual rain spells in these months this year. However, it appears almost certain the district will for the first time, deliver 20 billion gallons in a single year. And that's a lot of water.

More than 30 members turned out for the initial meeting of an advisory panel on facility utilization for the Big Spring school district. Translated, this means how do you get the most out of buildings and equipment?

As part of the policy of first helping members of its present industrial family, the Industrial Foundation and Chamber of Commerce will launch an area advertising campaign in January keyed to the city's bright outlook and plentiful job opportunities. All employers are asked to list possible openings with the Chamber.

The new district chairman for Scouting is Sam Hunicutt, father of three sons who all have been or are active in Scouting. All he needs to help stimulate the program in reaching more boys is to get men to help as volunteers. Those who want to make a real investment in tomorrow ought to call him at Cosden.

C. T. Domer, who died here last week, had been the east gatekeeper at the high school parking lot since it was first opened, giving words of encouragement and sound advice to hundreds upon hundreds of young people.

Lee Wins 3 Of 4

Midland Lee won three out of four trophies at the first annual Big Spring Invitational Debate Tournament held at the high school all day Saturday. A Tahoka team of two boys kept Lee from making a clean sweep of the tournament.

In the experienced division, Kevin Clark and Kent Sutton of Lee won first and Cole Brecheen and Lindy Thomas of Tahoka were second. In the novice division, Bill Eiland and Jamie Bates of Midland Lee placed first and Jeff Sapya and Gina Robinson placed second.

Craig Fischer, assistant principal, served as tournament chairman assisted by the high school debaters, speech students and speech instructor, R. Sadler.

Serving as judges were Mrs. Harold Davis, John Stiles, Mrs. Ann Lane, Mrs. Marie C. Johnson, Miss Karen Sadler, Ralph Matson, Mrs. Joe Lipscombe, Mrs. Janette Snodgrass, Mrs. Shirley Shroyer and Mrs. Marj Carpenter.

MOD CHIEF — Gary Wall, 33, (right) Chief of Police for Vail, Colo., in conversation with Vail Mayor John Dobson (left). "We don't have traditional uniforms and I don't expect any of my policemen to be robots, we keep things low key." Wall has been police chief at Vail, for nearly two years. A year-round population of 1,000 swells to 15,000 during the skiing season.

Simon Could Quit Over Policy Shift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon may resign if President Ford makes a major policy shift from fighting inflation to fighting the nation's deepening recession, close Simon aides say.

These aides say Simon is convinced that if the government embarks on

Venezuela Taking Over Iron Mines

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — President Carlos Andres Perez announced today the Venezuelan government will nationalize Jan. 1 the iron ore mining industry now operated by subsidiaries of U.S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel.

The takeover of the iron industry, which has been planned for months, is expected to serve as a model for the nationalization later next year of the more important oil industry.

Perez said in a speech to congress that compensation would not exceed the net book value of the iron mining holdings but gave no specific figure. Payment is to be heavy deficit spending to combat the recession, it could push the nation's free enterprise system over the brink toward a controlled economy and socialism.

"I'd give him two more months to wait and see what happens," said one aide who knows Simon's thinking.

President Ford, however, may be unable to resist pressures for new government policies to stimulate the economy, especially after the government reported Friday that the nation's unemployment rate leaped to 6.5 per cent in November.

Such policies could take the form of tax cuts to put more money in the hands of consumers, or heavy new federal spending to try to turn the sagging economy around. Either action would increase the federal budget deficit.

The administration has acknowledged the economy is deteriorating faster than expected, and Simon himself has predicted the nation faces the longest recession — if not the worst — since World War II.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said Friday the November jobless figures — showing nearly six million Americans out of work — are "of great concern" to Ford, and indicated that new anti-recession actions may be in the works.

But if Ford decides the nation must have a big budget deficit next year — after earlier calling for a balanced budget — or if he imposes new wage and price controls, that may be too much for Simon, aides say.

They say the decisive point may be in mid-January when Ford delivers his State of the Union and economic messages to the new Congress.

"If the focus is on the side of anti-recession — a spending budget, deficits, government borrowing in capital markets, those are what Bill Simon is against ... Bill Simon could say the hell with it," one aide said.

Simon, 47, became treasury secretary in May after heading the energy program. He has been hurt in his dealings with other administration officials, as well as some of his own staff members, by a sometimes abrasive manner and a short, explosive temper, aides say.

But aides are not sure he has indicated to the President that he might step down if there is a major shift of policy.

This raised speculation the aides might be discussing a possible resignation with reporters in order to transmit a signal to the President in this fashion.

Cost-Of-Living Bobble Could Affect Millions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bureau of Labor Statistics says it has overestimated the national cost of living slightly for the last seven months because of an employee's error.

The error caused the Consumer Price Index to range from one-tenth to three-tenths of one per cent above its actual level, a Labor Department spokesman said Friday. It was the first mistake the bureau has had to correct since World War II, he said.

Although relatively small, the error will affect millions of workers and retired persons whose salaries, pensions and fringe benefits are linked to changes in the cost of living index.

The spokesman said the error came about when the unidentified employe misread the "blue book" on used car prices compiled by the National Automobile Dealers Association.

Until last April, he said, the association did not include air conditioning in the prices of the cars. That month, the prices were changed to reflect the value of air conditioning, but the employe failed to notice an explanatory footnote.

The spokesman said the statistician discovered his error earlier this week and recalculations began.

The October index of 153.2 was in error by three-tenths of one per cent, which an AFL-CIO economist said translates roughly into one cent an hour in wages.

The November index, computed with the new information, is to be released Dec. 20.

COURTHOUSE COFFEE — Over 150 persons extended best wishes to Mrs. Homer (Pauline) Petty, retiring county clerk, when she was honored at a coffee Friday in the courthouse. Shown with Mrs. Petty, who has served the county for 28 years, are fellow workers who were hostesses. Pictured, from left, are Virginia Black, Ruelene Porter, Elizabeth Carpenter, Mrs. Petty, Margaret Ray and Frances Glenn. Among the guests were Mrs. Petty's brother and wife, the James E. Schuberts, Fort Worth; and her niece and husband, the Jerry Earlys, and son James Holly Early.

Night Stick Not Needed

VAIL, Colo. (AP) — "People here were skeptical at first," concedes Vail's long-haired police chief, Gary Wall. "But you don't have to carry a stick and look mean to enforce the law."

Wall's cops wear brown slacks, yellow shirts with button-down collars and brown suede vests. And, says the chief, "We treat people with respect and dignity even if they do break the law."

Wall, 33, was a policeman at Aspen, like Vail a Colorado ski resort, before taking charge of the 10-man force here.

President Ford is expected to spend two weeks here later this month, and Wall's men probably will handle traffic control. The Secret Service will be responsible for protecting the President and his family.

"Many policemen take a firm, heavy Gestapo-type approach," Vail's chief said. "I think you can do it differently and people will respect you more."

Broker Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard Whitney, 86, who served four terms as president of the New York Stock Exchange, died Thursday.

They say the decisive point may be in mid-January when Ford delivers his State of the Union and economic messages to the new Congress.

But aides are not sure he has indicated to the President that he might step down if there is a major shift of policy.

This raised speculation the aides might be discussing a possible resignation with reporters in order to transmit a signal to the President in this fashion.

Appeal From Balcony Impresses Cypriots

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Archbishop Makarios returned home in triumph Saturday from five months' exile, made a dramatic balcony appeal for peace on the war-ravaged island to 200,000 chanting followers, and promised amnesty to those who plotted his overthrow as president. "I was counted among the dead, but here I am among the living," Makarios said with tears streaming down his bearded face.

An unprecedented crowd of Greek Cypriots, packed in front and around the archbishop's palace, on rooftops and every available vantage point, chanted deliciously, "Mak-Ar-Ios! Mak-Ar-Ios! Worthy Leader!" as the archbishop spoke.

"I am overwhelmed by many conflicting feelings at this moment ... I am glad to be back in Cyprus but I grieve it is no longer the beautiful and prosperous island it was until the criminal coup of July 15," Makarios said, his voice choking with emotion.

Despite the bloodshed of the coup and the Turkish invasion that followed, Makarios announced he would grant an amnesty to all those involved in his overthrow.

A large section of the crowd roared its disapproval, chanting "EOKA-B murderers, try them, try them." The EOKA-B underground, pledged to union with Greece, tried to assassinate Makarios before the July coup.

But Makarios held out his hands from his black cross appealing for quiet. "Please, please," he said repeatedly. "I absolve them of all sin and grant them an amnesty in the hope that this will bring about the desired concord and unity of our people."

"I know that the people who are welcoming me today with such a vivid demonstration on my return expect a settlement of the many difficult problems caused by the catastrophic Turkish aggression.

"Go ahead, the people are with you," the crowd chanted in answer.

Staubach Keeps Cowboys In NFL Playoff Picture

Congratulations to Ricky McCormick for his well deserved West Texas fifth place finish in the state schoolboy two-mile event held Saturday in Austin. Christy Price, Big Spring High cross country coach was all excited as she phoned in the results. I asked Christy if Ricky issued a statement following completion of the race. "He had a wide grin on his face, but was too tired to talk."

Christy asked me to phone the results to Larry Horton, Steer coach. He was referring to a basketball game.

I thumbed through the telephone pages and on the second try reached Ricky's mother. Her voice radiated happiness from Ricky's finish.

Willie Williams, an Austin College sophomore from Big Spring, has been named to the NAIA District 8 All-Star Football Squad.

Last year, Williams was named the outstanding freshman athlete at Austin College, Sherman.

Williams, a safety, was part of the Kangaroo defense that set two school records by intercepting five passes against Southwestern at Memphis and by holding Millsaps College to minus nine yards passing in the final game of the year.

"Willie had another good season in spite of the many injuries he had this campaign. He is deserving of the honor," said Larry Kramer, head coach.

Williams missed four games defensively but still led the team in interceptions with three for 63 yards and a 21-yard average. He also had 28 tackles. One of the two players to go both ways for the Kangaroos this season, he averaged 3.4 yards on 26 carries as a tailback and caught four passes for 58 yards.

Williams also led the team in kickoff returns, (10 for 176 yards) and punt returns, (10 for 93).

In addition to the gridiron sport, Williams competes in varsity basketball and baseball.

Williams performed for the Bold Gold colors of Big Spring High, three years ago. He was spotted as a safety and split receiver.

Williams was a baseball standout for coach Horton's Steers. He batted .380 for 25 games and collected all-district honorable mention honors.

He is the son of Mrs. Clarence Williams, 1002 North Main.

Charley Johnson, Denver Bronco quarterback and Big Spring product ranks third best among AFC passers.

Based on a minimum 120 tries, Charley's statistics: Attempted 220, completed 120, percentage completed 54.4 yards; gained 1,721; TD passes 12; TD 5.5; LP 73; interceptions seven, average yards gained 7.98 and an 85.1 rating.

Cincinnati's Ken Anderson is first with a 86.2 rating, followed by Ken Stabler of Oakland, showing a 93.1.

Anderson has thrown the ball 312 times, completed 201 for a 64.4 average and 2,589 yards, gained. He completed 18 TD passes and averaged 7.98 per carry.

The following is a statement by Bill Brown, Klondike High School girls' basketball coach: "Many times in close games of 10 points or less, free throw percentage determines the winner. In game won by a wide point our philosophy at Klondike on free throws is, that by hitting a good percentage (70 per cent or more) year after year our opponents have a tendency not to foul as much. By reducing our opponents fouls, we feel we can run our offense smoother and have less resistance from the defense."

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach shook off the boo birds and rifled three touchdown passes Saturday to keep Cowboy National Football League playoff hopes flickering with a 41-17 victory over Cleveland.

Dallas is now 8-5 with long shot hopes at a National Conference wild card berth. The Cowboys' only chance is to defeat Oakland next Saturday while the Washington Redskins drop their final two games.

The loss dropped Cleveland's record to 4-9, the worst in the club's storied football history and only the second time they have ever finished below .500.

Staubach, booed after he failed to move Dallas on its second possession in the nationally televised game, silenced his critics with back to back bombs to Golden Richards in a 68-second span of the first quarter. It gave Dallas a 14-0 lead and the Cowboys never trailed.

Knocked out of the Washington game last Thanksgiving and replaced by rookie Clint Longley who led Dallas to a story-book victory, Staubach finished his work with a 42-yard scoring pass to tight end Billy Joe DuPree in a 21-point Cowboy third period. The touchdown passes to Richards covered 35 and 43 yards.

Both times Richards worked his way into the clear behind Cleveland's defensive back Van Green.

Mike Phipps, making his first start as the Cleveland quarterback in six games narrowed the deficit to 14-7 with a four-yard touchdown pass to Steve Holden.

Dallas led 20-10 at halftime after field goals of 39 and 19 yards by Efen Herrera.

Ken Brown bolted 12 yards for a touchdown before the Dallas landslide in the third quarter which also saw Walt Garrison score on runs of three and one yards.

It was the most points scored by the Cowboys' offensive machine this year and it was their seventh victory in their last eight games. Dallas has been to a record eight consecutive NFL playoffs.

Staubach, who has had a tarnished campaign with numerous interceptions and sacks, was on target 14 of 24 times for 230 yards. He suffered but one interception and rushed three times for 18 yards.

The Dallas offense was awesome rolling up more than 400 yards both in the air and over land.

A small turnout of 48,754 fans watched the renewal of what used to be one of pro football's most bitter rivalries. It was the first time the two teams had met since 1970 and the first time ever for the Browns to play in Texas Stadium.

AUSTIN — Ricky McCormick, Big Spring High cross country runner, blazed to a fifth place feat in the University Interscholastic League's third annual Texas schoolboy cross country championships here Saturday afternoon.

Ricky carried his 5-10 140-pound frame around the windy Town Lake Park course in the time of 9:48. He was among 140 entries competing for honors.

Juan Trivico of El Paso Bel-Air and South Oak Cliff's Kenneth Tolbert tied for first. Both received a dead heating clocking of 9:39 three seconds off the record. Ricky broke loose from the starting line pack early in the race and maintained a first place lead until the final 100 yards approached.

Top 10 regional runners qualified for state.

IN the 5-4A meet, Ricky was runner-up to Dugan. He crossed the district finish line in the time of 9:38 among the field of 47 entries.

Ricky competed in last year's state event, but failed to place.

He was accompanied to Austin by Christy Price, Steer cross country coach. McAllen and Clear Creek finished in a tie for the Class A team title, both gaining 96 points from their five runners.

Under NCAA rules, the tie was broken when officials found Clear Creek's sixth man finished far ahead of McAllen's.

Bernave Martinez of Falurrias won the Class B race in 9:57, defending his state title. A&M Consolidated of College Station took the Class B team championship with 59 points.

It was the second team title in three years for Clear Creek.

Pheasant Hunting Forecast

LUBBOCK — Texas hunters will be in the grain fields early Saturday as the 1974 pheasant season gets underway on the High Plains.

Reports coming in from wardens, biologists and landowners indicate a good upcoming season.

"We have a good population of ringnecks," Chuck Cosper, warden at Hereford said today, "but the hunter will have to contend with an abundance of cover that developed after the September rains."

"There is an increase in the acreage of corn and grain and the counties of Deaf Smith, Parmer and Castro show an increased range of the sporty ringneck," Cosper continued.

Upland hunters are reminded that 33 counties in the Panhandle regulatory district open to pheasant hunting have a stable population of birds but, grain and cover are the key requirements.

"The Northeastern Texas Panhandle grainfields always hold a good supply of pheasant," Gary Merrell, warden at Perryton commented, "and it looks as though the 1974 season will be an average year."

Pheasants are continuing to spread south across the Panhandle and the south Plains.

"Even though Hale, Lamb and Floyd counties are in the southern section of the open area," Ronnie Ainsworth, Plainview game warden said, "we have a good supply of birds."

"Most of the Playa Lakes are full and the birds will be in the grain fields or weed patches this year," Ainsworth stated.

The regulations for pheasant hunting dictates a daily bag limit of two (2) cocks and a possession limit of four (4) cocks after the first day.

The head and feet must remain attached to the pheasant carcass until the birds are delivered to the residence or a commercial processor.

Danny Crosby for Runnels flipped in 13 points and Goliad's Billy Ray Johnson scored 12. Runnels' Ysa Rubio pumped in 19 points against Lamesa.

DIVISION 1 A&I Scrambles To NAIA Finals

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&I Coach Gil Steinke said Saturday that Cameron State University was the best team the Javelinas ever played in an NAIA semifinal playoff.

Steinke commented after Texas A&I scored a narrow 21-19 victory over the Cameron Aggies of Lawton, Okla., to advance to the NAIA Division I championship game. The Javelinas will face Henderson, Ark. State next here Saturday.

The Javelina coach can be considered an authority on playoff teams since Texas A&I has now won nine of the 10 NAIA post season games they have been in. The South Texas team won national championships in 1959, 1969 and 1970. Their only playoff loss came in the 1968 title game.

Steinke praised Cameron's defense, saying, "They really shut us down in the second half." The Javelinas jumped to 21-10 halftime.

NFL REPORT Wild Loop Race Holds

By the Associated Press

While the Miami Dolphins and Buffalo Bills will be trying to at least keep pace with each other on Sunday, the Pittsburgh Steelers and St. Louis Cardinals will be trying to kyo all National Football League competition in their divisions and lock up championships.

The Steelers, 8-3-1, are 1 1/2 games ahead of Cincinnati in the American Conference Central Division. They can nail down the title with a victory over the Patriots in New England. That also would slam the door on the Patriots' playoff hopes.

Even if Pittsburgh loses, it still may become division champion if the Bengals are beaten at home by the Detroit Lions. But if the Steelers lose and Cincinnati wins, the title would be decided in a showdown between the teams next Saturday at Pittsburgh.

St. Louis, already assured of a playoff berth, is bidding for its first division title since 1948. The Cards can clinch the National Conference East crown by whipping the Saints in New Orleans.

And even if they lose, they can take the title if the Washington Redskins lose their Monday night game to the Rams in Los Angeles.

Meanwhile, in the wildest race remaining, Miami and Buffalo are still hoping to shake loose from each other. They share 9-3 records atop the AFC East. Buffalo is in New York to face the Jets and Miami visits Baltimore.

Oddly enough, the Bills are assured of a playoff berth already while the Dolphins must win another game—or hope the Patriots lose one—to be assured of one. And, at the same time, if the Bills and Dolphins wind up tied at the end of the season, the title goes to Miami, having beating Buffalo twice.

In Sunday's other games, it's Philadelphia at the New York Giants, Houston at Denver, Oakland at Kansas City, Chicago at San Diego and Green Bay at San Francisco.

The Steelers own the top defensive unit in the AFC, allowing just 2,697 yards and 169 points. However, they're still trying to get their offense rolling. Despite sore ribs, Terry Bradshaw is expected to start at quarterback against the Patriots, with Terry Hanratty and Joe Gilliam in reserve.

The Pats, who started out like gangbusters, then faded midway in the season, have been riddled with injuries while playing one of the toughest schedules in the entire league. They have lost nearly half of a normal squad.

Hoosiers Breeze By 'Cats

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Center Kent Benson, dominating the middle, scored 11 straight points in the second half and finished with a game-high 26 Saturday, leading third-ranked Indiana to a 98-74 college basketball victory over No. 15 Kentucky.

Indiana never trailed, breezing to its third straight victory this season. Kentucky, led by Kevin Grevey with 22 points, dropped 2-1.

Scott May scored 25 points for the Hoosiers, 15 of those in the first half when Indiana raced to a 54-38 lead at halftime. Steve Green added 15.

Indiana led by 17 midway in the second half when Benson, a 6-foot-10 sophomore, broke loose for 11 points in just over two minutes.

The Hoosiers then built a 31-point lead, 88-57, before Coach Bob Knight removed all the starters with 8:36 remaining.

The third string came in several minutes later and mopped up.

Indiana's biggest lead was at 32 points before Kentucky's final surge.

Double winners for the Kangaroos included Bill Davis, 400 medley relay and 200 backstroke; Ross Taylor, 400 medley relay, and 200 freestyle; and Bob Jackson, 200 Butterfly and 400 freestyle relay; and Lee Riley who won both the 1-and 3-meter diving events.

Enjoys Rodeo Riding

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — The good life came early to Don Gay, a Mesquite, Tex., high school graduate who is breaking into the big rodeo money this year and is a cinch to win a national championship.

Posing for photographers at a cocktail party with beauty queens, Gay, a bachelor, said, "The money is good and I feel it'll become greater in the years to come."

He figured the only reason he would go to college would be for a course in business management. He's earned more than $100,000 since he took up bull riding, and he's just 21.

Last year alone he earned $26,889 riding bulls, second only to Bob Steiner of Austin, Tex., in that category. This year he's topped $30,000 taking the gold and silver bull riding champion's buckle out of reach, for all practical purposes, going into the National Finals Rodeo here Saturday.

It will be the first title for Gay, whose mother is a rodeo barrel racer and whose father is a rodeo producer.

Another NFR entry with a lock on a title is bareback bronc rider Joe Alexander of Cora, Wyo., who won $37,021 last year and has already passed the $35,000 mark this year.

He stands to make another $3,000 or so in the coming week in the NFR. For Alexander, 31, the 1974 title is nothing new—he's had it the past three years running and has career earnings thus far of more than $150,000.

Vikings Handle Falcons, 23-10

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Running back Dave Osborn scored on runs of 10 and three yards to lead the playoff-bound Minnesota Vikings to a 23-10 National Football League victory over Atlanta Saturday.

Osborn, a 10-year veteran who says he thrives on cold weather, pounded out 93 yards in 23 carries and caught six passes for 39 yards in the nationally televised contest played in near-freezing weather.

Minnesota, 9-4 and the Central Division champion in the National Conference, moved to a 7-0 lead late in the first period when Osborn burst through four Atlanta tacklers to score from the 10.

On the following kickoff, Atlanta, 2-11, drove 64 yards in eight plays, tying the score when Art Malone went over left tackle from the one.

Minnesota grabbed the lead for good in the second quarter on Fred Cox's 21-yard field goal.

The Vikings moved to a 16-7 lead in the third period when Osborn went over right tackle for three yards and a touchdown, capping a 60-yard drive in 13 plays. Cox's attempted extra point was blocked.

Atlanta's Nick Mike-Mayer kicked a 37-yard field goal and Viking tight end Stu Voight caught a 10-yard pass from quarterback Bob Berry to complete the scoring in the fourth quarter.

WFL's Future Appears Dim

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — If the quality of the game was all that mattered, the World Football League could probably count on a strong future.

But since dollars and credibility and strong owners mean just as much, if not more, this latest professional venture may have played its last game.

On the surface, the WFL's initial season stacks up favorably against the first year of the old American Football League, and many aficionados of the game believe this league is well ahead of the AFL in terms of quality players.

That may well be, and it also true the WFL's championship game here Thursday outdrew the AFL's first similar game by 183 persons.

But a closer check shows the AFL did not have anywhere near the incredible problems the WFL experienced.

And the biggest reason for the failures appear to be at the ownership level. The AFL survived its rough times because it had men like Lamar Hunt, Clint Murchison, Bud Adams and Sonny Werblin who were willing and capable of taking large losses for several years.

That is what the WFL has not had, and exactly what it must find in the next several months if it expects to play in 1975.

Another major difference between the AFL and WFL is that in the 1960s only CBS carried professional football. So, when the AFL signed the Joe Namath and became competitive, there was a multimillion dollar offer from NBC.

Suddenly the National Football League was forced into a merger.

It won't be that easy for the WFL even if a network showed interest. Because then, it would have to contend with what many believe is becoming too much football on the tube.

Things weren't always so bleak for the WFL. In July and August there was great hope. Crowds were large, the league's credibility was unquestioned, its games more exciting than many people expected.

Then the bottom fell completely out as the league endured a series of failures that a fatal script writer could not have imagined.

First, credibility disappeared as it was discovered some teams had lied, or been misleading, about paid attendance.

With incredible speed, nearly every team suddenly found itself without enough money to operate.

Chris Hemmeter, president of the WFL's Hawaii franchise and the man picked by his fellow owners to solve the league's problems, says the bottom fell out when most teams squandered all their season ticket money and within weeks found themselves without a major revenue source.

Berry, who spent five years as Atlanta's regular quarterback before coming to Minnesota last year, completed 14 of 22 passes for 114 yards and one touchdown in his first start this year.

Atlanta, plagued by mistakes all afternoon, was penalized three times in the first half for having linemen downfield too early on punts. In all, the Falcons were penalized nine times for 65 yards.

Kim McQuikien, a rookie quarterback out of Lehigh, was sacked four times for 50 yards in his first regular-season start. He also had two passes intercepted while completing 11 of 25 attempts for 125 yards. Minnesota's All-Pro tackle, Alan Page, caught the young quarterback twice.

Bowl Bound Bears Place 10 On Team

DALLAS (AP) — Baylor's "I Believe" Bears landed 10 players on the first two Associated Press All-Southwest Conference football teams Sunday as nominated by the conference coaches.

The Bears placed six players on the first team and four on the second unit. Grant Teaff, who guided the Bears to their storied comeback and first title in 50 years, was selected Coach of the Year by his peers.

Baylor also hogged the Offensive Player of the Year award with toy tornado tailback Steve Beaird and quarterback Neal Jeffrey, splitting the vote to share the award. Beaird established a school record in rushing and Jeffrey did the same in passing.

The Newcomer of the Year was the "Tyler Rose," rugged freshman fullback Earl Campbell of the Texas Longhorns, who put the stiff-arm back into the game this autumn and led them to the Gator Bowl.

The Defensive Player of the Year was SMU noseguard Louis Kelcher who just edged Texas' raging tackle Doug English for the honor.

Montreal Most Active Trader

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Baseball's winter meetings have ended without the usual last-minute scramble to beat the trading deadline because the cutoff for inter-league swaps that came at midnight Friday was only a temporary end to trades between the leagues.

When the owners approved for next March an additional inter-league trading period that their general managers had requested, the urgency for delaying was no longer here and official dispersed to their home towns Friday.

The spring training inter-league trading dates of March 16-31 will be permanent, Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced at the windup of the convention Friday.

Two trades were completed Friday. Veteran first baseman-outfielder Ron Fairly moved from the Montreal Expos to the St. Louis Cardinals for a pair of youngsters—first baseman Ed Kurpiel and infielder Rudy Kinard. And second baseman Tito Fuentebas and pitcher Butch Metzger were sent from the San Francisco Giants to the San Diego Padres for second baseman Derrel Thomas.

It made the Expos the most active team in the trade mart with four deals at the meetings. All told, major league teams swapped 39 players in 15 deals compared to 58 players in 26 transactions at last year's meetings.

UNEASY FEELING Packers' Devine Tried To Resign

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Dan Devine, the Green Bay Packers' much-criticized coach said Friday night he had tried to resign after his teams' division title-winning season in 1972, but emphasized he has no intentions of quitting now.

Devine told WBAY-TV here he had submitted a letter of resignation to club president Dominic Olejniczak after the Packers had won the National Football Conference's Central Division crown with a 10-4 record two years ago.

However, Devine said Olejniczak rejected the request and declined to refer it to the club's executive committee.

"I can't deny that," Devine said in an interview taped earlier. "I had an uneasy feeling after the '72 season even though we had a good year. I had reason to know that there were other clubs that would take my services as a head coach."

"I felt at that time it might be best for me to bow out and go," he said. "But to the best of my knowledge, it was never considered, because I was under contract. It was the president's absolute right to take that letter and

State finalists, including two 1973 defenders, were determined for Class 3A and Class B schoolboy football Friday night in games that ranged from a 51-point runaway to a tie in which the winner had to be determined by first downs.

Defending 3A state champ Cuero beat Jacksonville 31-21 to advance to next weekend's finals against Gainesville, which tied third-ranked Brownwood 20-20.

Gainesville then earned the right to face Cuero because it led Brownwood 18-15 in first downs.

In Class B, defending titlist Big Sandy squeezed by Moody 12-7 and will play fourth-ranked Celina for the state championship. Celina crushed Lefors 57-6 as quarterback Frank Andrews threw for four touchdown passes and ran for a fifth to take individual honors for the night.

The only Class 4A quarter-final Friday night saw Port Neches Groves earn a semifinal berth with a 27-9 victory over Baytown Sterling.

Class 4A playoffs to be played tonight match No. 6-ranked Brazoswood and No. 4 San Antonio Churchill in Houston's Astrodome, No. 3 Plano and Dallas Carter in the Cotton Bowl and No. 10 Amarillo Palo Duro and Mesquite in Mesquite.

CAPITOL INTEREST Kuhn Rules Out Baltimore Move

BALTIMORE (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn has ruled out the possibility that the Baltimore Orioles will be shifted to another city next season, even if efforts to sell the club to Maryland interests fall through.

In an interview with the Baltimore Sun, Kuhn said, "I don't see a remote chance of a franchise shift next season."

Orioles board chairman Jerold C. Hoffberger has announced he intends to sell the American League Club for $12 million dollars.

Kuhn's comment Friday indicated that should one group of potential buyers headed by developer Ralph DeChiaro or another involving former baseball owner Bill Veeck fail to acquire the Orioles this winter, the Hoffberger interests would control the club for another year.

But after next year, Kuhn told the Sun the franchise could well be switched to another city.

There have been reports that should the Orioles not be purchased by interests committed to keeping the team in Baltimore, the club might end up in nearby Washington.

Two unspecified Washington groups reportedly have told American League President Lee MacPhail of their desire to buy the club.

MacPhail has suggested that one baseball team share the Baltimore-Washington baseball market.

Abby Lists Survival Rules For Bachelors

DEAR ABBY: A bunch of us in the office were talking about what it takes for a man to survive, and our office know-it-all said he had heard about a nifty set of "survival rules," but he couldn't remember any.

We all agreed that if anyone could help us, it was you. Can you?

THE LUNCH BUNCH DEAR BUNCH: I've never seen any "survival rules," but I'll submit mine: Don't order seafood in a restaurant that has dirty menus. Never romance a woman who has more problems than you have. Don't tell a redhead you love her unless you intend to marry her. And don't open unless you have Jacks or better.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl with a good reputation. I have never been in any kind of trouble, and never gave my mother any reason to mistrust me. My problem is that my mother will not allow me to date any boys who drive a van-type vehicle.

I think it's ridiculous and unfair to assume that a girl is safer with a guy who drives an ordinary-type car than with one who drives a van.

I know several guys who would date me, but I can't go out with them. How can I convince my mother that she is wrong? She reads your column and thinks you give good advice.

NOT ALLOWED

DEAR NOT: You probably can't. But since she thinks I give good advice, tell her that I said if she raised you right — and apparently she has because you've never been in any trouble and have a good reputation — she has nothing to worry about.

DEAR ABBY: Whenever my husband and I entertain company for dinner and I excuse myself to go into the kitchen to do some last minute things, invariably one of the female guests will get up and follow me into the kitchen saying she wants to "Keep me company."

Abby, I haven't mastered adding spices to the entree, cooking vegetables, taking rolls out of the oven and keeping an intelligent conversation going all at the same time.

Last month we had two dinner parties, and both times my entree was ruined because I couldn't give my full attention to my dinner. I do not want company in the kitchen, but I don't want to hurt anyone's feelings. Can you help me?

LONER

DEAR LONER: Use a little body language. When someone follows you into the kitchen, take her by the arm (gently, but firmly) and lead her back into the living room, telling her all the while how much you appreciate her offer of company but you prefer that she remain with the rest of the guest.

DEAR ABBY: A bunch of rowdy boys play football in a field next to my house. Every day, it seems the ball flies over my high fence. One or two of the boys come after it, and they always leave my gate open. I worry that my children will get out.

I've asked the boys a dozen times to please close the gate behind them when they get their ball. They never do. Monday the ball flew over the fence again.

I beat them to the ball, stuck an icpick in it, and threw it over the fence. Then I warned the boys that I would stab every ball that fell into my yard.

They called me some terrible names, but they have quit playing in that lot. Was I within my rights? JANE THE STABBER

DEAR JANE: Yes. But it would have been kinder to have put a lock on your gate.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Program Based On Childhood Christmas

Memories of Christmas during the childhood of Mrs. R. V. Middleton were highlighted in a program brought Wednesday by Mrs. Middleton for 1953 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. James Duncan.

Using as a title, "Childhood Memories of An Earlier Big Spring," Mrs. Middleton told of the preparation for a day of getting the Christmas trees for residents of Big Spring.

The group would take lunches and a wagon and go to "Blue Mountain" (Scenic Drive) and select Christmas trees. It was an all-day outing and included all the children in town. The trees were brought home and set up in pairs of dirt. Christmas Eve was spent going from home to home decorating the trees.

Decorations were made from cranberries, popcorn, colored paper cutouts and ornaments covered with tin foil which had been saved for a year.

The speaker also read Dorothy Canfield Fisher's "The Night the Stars Sang," and "The Legend of the Christmas Tree." She also read St. Luke's "Greatest Story Ever Told."

During the business meeting, Mrs. Harold Davis, cochairman of the Bicentennial Committee, told of projected plans for observing the anniversary locally and asked the club to take a part.

Mrs. Donald Young, cohostess for the meeting, prepared Christmas desserts of her native Australia for refreshments.

The next meeting will be Jan. 8, which is a change in meeting dates. Mrs. T. L. Griffin will be hostess.

FOCUS ON FAMILY LIVING

Twice Blessed Gift: Treats From Kitchen

By SHERRY MULLIN

A gift from the kitchen is twice blessed; it gives pleasure to the giver as well as to the receiver. Whether you are an experienced cook, or an enthusiastic novice there is great satisfaction in reviving a treasured family recipe or trying a new treat to share with an old friend or new neighbor.

The custom of presenting food to both friend and stranger has ancient roots. Although the actual food itself has varied in different societies, gifts of bread and salt are traditional the world over. Whatever the particular offering, the gift itself indicated acceptance of a stranger and affection for a friend.

USEFUL GIFTS

In keeping with the tradition of presenting gifts of food, we are adding a new dimension by making the containers themselves an integral part of the gift.

Chosen with care and imagination, containers may be bottles, crocks, baskets, miniature chests, sea shells or pencil holders. They may be as simple as a tray or as unexpected as a watering can, as modest as a bannana or as special as a Spode cup. In every case they offer an extra bonus to be kept and enjoyed long after your gift of food is gone.

Once you have adopted the joyful habit of presenting both foods and their containers, you'll notice all sorts of objects that can bear your gifts from the kitchen. Walk through a department store and your mind's eye will put cookies in a soup tureen, pralines in a ginger jar, spiced nuts in an antique tea caddy. You'll want to fill a hanging pot with muffins, a wicker garden tote with summer's preserves, and a pewter tankard with cheese sticks.

Charming and inexpensive containers can also be created by recycling cans, jars, decanters, and bottles. You can dress them up with bright colored plastic tape, pinecones, leaves, ribbons, decals, and decoupage. You can wrap them in colored cellophane, wallpaper, fabric samples, ticking, or gaily patterned self-adhesive paper. Or you can leave them unadorned except for an attractive label.

GAY PACKAGE

Using more imagination than cash, you can creatively package a kitchen product in a checked napkin, brightly printed dish towel or apron, a burlap bag, or even a bright colored paper tote, or string bag. Add your personal touch by tying on a wisk, slotted wooden spoon, cookie cutter, or other utensil.

Don't forget to label the contents of all containers, and add "a note" whenever necessary, with information on cooking, storing, shelf life, reheating, freezing, and just generally enjoying the food. Seal the lids of containers whose lids may not fit tightly. Cover and seal open-topped containers with plastic wrap. Keep a supply of plastic bags in all sizes, on hand. You will need them to store items that are best kept air tight. They are also useful in protecting the interior of containers.

Adopt the joyous concept of making some special, treasured, or original recipe, coupling it with an imaginative container, and presenting a gift from the kitchen uniquely your own.

The refreshment table was laid with a red cloth with white flower design, overlaid with white net. The centerpiece was a bride doll. Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Freeze Milk

If you freeze homogenized milk, stir it a few times when you take it out of the freezer and it begins to thaw; the stirring will help keep it smooth. The milk should be frozen in a paper carton; you can count on it staying in good condition for a couple of months.

Candy Tests

On rainy days cook frostings to a degree or more higher on a candy thermometer, and to a firmer stage when tested in cold water. Normally, fudge frostings are cooked to 234-238 degrees, soft-ball stage; boiled frostings to 242-244. For best results use both 244 degrees, firm-ball stage, tests and always remove frostings from heat while checking.

'Quotable Women'

Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week:

"What is the meaning of 'one man, one vote,' when some legislative leaders are more equal than others." Lt. Gov.-elect Mary Anne Krupsak of New York, calling for reform in the state legislature.

"I guess I'm cheating a little. I'm not really such a good dancer. I'm in business strictly for the money." Fanne Foxe, the Tidal Basin Bombshell, in a preview of her strip act in New York.

"We've sort of lost our faith and our trust in our Democratic system." Karen Margaret Petersen, 17, Miss Teenage America, who says she hopes to reflect the views of America's young people during her reign.

"I'm used to it now. No one believes it at first, and I take a lot of teasing, but in a way it's a lot of fun, too." Merry Christmas, a secretary at Mather Air Force Base in California.

a cascade of white camellias centered with a yellow roses. Miss Patricia Mills, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Miki Reed was bridesmaid.

They were identically gowned in formal dresses fashioned with V-neckline on empire bodice and ruffled at the hemline. They were green with white floral pattern. Their white garden hats were trimmed with green velvet and orange and yellow flowers. Their bouquets were nosegays of yellow, green and apricot camellias.

Bill Jackson, PSNA, U.S. Navy, Corpus Christi, was best man, and Airman I.C. Russell McCormick, Webb AFB, was groomsmen. Ushers were Steven Pryor, Dallas, Woody Burchfield and John Rihard.

Choraliers Perform At Webb Luncheon

Red poinsettias, with red and gold garlands, accented every table in the Officers Open Mess, Webb Air Force Base, when the Officers Wives Club held its December brunch Wednesday. Garlands of holly and candy cane ribbons added a festive touch to the columns in the dining area.

Seated at the head table, which was decorated with evergreens and red velvet, were Mrs. Robert Owens, wife of the wing commander; Mrs. John Nicholson, OWC president; and other OWC officers including Mrs. Tracy Rhodes, Mrs. George Garrison, Mrs. John Wilson and Mrs. Daniel Zoerb. Joining the women were Kenneth Sprinkle, director of the Howard College Choraliers, and Harlen Thornton, accompanist. The program of seasonal music was presented by the Choraliers.

The 78th Student Squadron Wives were hostesses for the luncheon, with Mrs. John Williams serving as general chairman. Other chairmen were Mrs. Warren Hodges, menu; Mrs. Kenneth Bowen and Mrs. David Klatt, decorations; and Mrs. Bill Poindexter, Mrs. William Zint and Mrs. Dennis Vander Ven, publicity.

Guests were Mrs. Kathel Wilson, Minoo Khosrari, Sharon Hooper and Barbara Temple. Also, a welcome was extended to Class 76-03.

It was announced that the OWC will provide Christmas baskets for five local families. The children's party, hosted by the OWC, is slated Dec. 21 at the John H. Lees Service Center.

Dinner Honors Pastor, Wife

The Rev. and Mrs. Claude Pearce were honored by members of the First Christian Church with a dinner Saturday evening at the Downtown Tea Room.

The Peaces were given a gift from the congregation in appreciation of his services as interim minister since March 3. Today will be the last Sunday of Rev. Pearce's filling the pulpit, as the new minister, the Rev. William Smythe, will be here.

Rev. and Mrs. Smythe are coming from Enid, Okla. They will be honored with a fellowship supper at 6 p.m., Dec. 15, in the church fellowship hall.

The monthly board meeting will be held at 10 a.m., Jan. 7, and the next regular luncheon is scheduled Jan. 9.

Value Child

Show each child that you value him for himself as a unique individual for the special qualities that make him "him," and not for what he does that may give the family status in the community — like winning a contest, making the honor roll, or being a football hero, Dr. Jennie Kitching, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, advises.

'Giving' Getting Out Of Control

Jake Glickman, Social Services director at Big Spring State Hospital, explored "The Art and Spirit of Giving," when he was guest speaker at the December meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association City Council.

Glickman said there are many gifts one can give other than material things; a smile, compliment or even a touch. According to the speaker, "giving" has gotten to the point where it is more like a contract whereby a person gives a gift and expects a gift in return. "The real gift is the one given with love with no thought of receiving or strings attached," said Glickman.

Ms. Vonda Townsend presided, announcing that a registered parliamentarian from Midland will give instruction in parliamentary procedure at 7:30 p.m., Monday at the Texas Electric Reddy Room and at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 12 at the Veterans Administration Hospital. More information may be obtained by calling Ms. Townsend at 267-7324.

Ms. Sherry Wegner served as temporary secretary following the resignation of Ms. Marta Marsh who is leaving the city. Named to a committee to select a new secretary were J. B. Cushing, Ms. Carol Reeves, Ms. Lajuana Walters, M.A. Barber, Ms. Annette Hodnett, Ms. Thelma Ditto and Ms. Glenda Barthee.

After a report from Ms. Nell Burgess, the group tabled a project to distribute good, used clothing to needy families. Further study will be made on the proposed project.

Due to the holiday season, the date of the January meeting will be announced later.

The Rev. Lester Utz, Trinity Lutheran Church presented the devotional.

Mr. Kenneth B. Curry and Mrs. Patsy Curry announce the engagement of their daughter Connie Ann Curry to Forrest Ray Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Ward. The date set is Feb. 21st.

The Planters Garden Club met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. A. G. Eitzen, 2801 Carol, for brunch, a gift exchange and a program.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Marshall Brown and Mrs. C. A. Smauley.

Religious symbolism of flower arranging was explained by Mrs. Brown who cautioned those who made arrangements for church altars to avoid frivolity in the arrangement and in the containers.

The speaker said it is important to use arrangement technique that will convey love, faith and strength, bringing to the viewer a spiritual feeling.

The next meeting will be on Jan. 8 at the home of Mrs. J. O. Murphy, 700 E. 12th.

Food Tips

A four-pound roasting chicken will cost more than a four-pound broiler-fryer but the former will give more meat than the latter and so the roasting chicken may be a good buy.

Cheddar cheese labeled "mild" is less expensive than the varieties of cheddar labeled "sharp" or "extra-sharp."

If your family enjoys coffee cake and you have more time than money, learn to bake it at home. There are some excellent ready-baked coffee cakes, but the home-prepared kinds cost less.

Equal quantities of fluid whole milk and reconstituted nonfat dry milk make an excellent mix for youngsters to drink.

Heritage Museum had a shower of correspondence last week from former residents. One was from Mrs. Allen Early, Dallas, daughter of Ethel Porter Brown, saying her mother had undergone surgery but was enjoying the newsletter and new historical souvenir calendar. Incidentally, these are available for those who want to make Christmas gifts. Word came that Mamie Cunningham, former early-day teacher here, was in a rest home at Grand Prairie. Dr. Elinor Pancoast, former president of Goucher College and now retired at Silver Springs, Md., wrote to tell of happiness over the calendar and to renew her membership. Miss Maydell Alderman, McConnellsville, Ohio, whose father established the first water works and telephone company here, got her calendar, too, and said "everything from home looks good to me." Maydell Birdwell Roley, San Antonio, daughter of pioneer John Birdwell, wrote too, as did Brent Melton, San Jose, Calif. Memberships for the week include Pot Pourri Club, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Lancaster, Mrs. Bertie Marchbanks, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Porter, Mrs. Bob Whipkey, Mrs. Elizabeth Wasson Olfusen of Denton, Dr. Pancoast, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Creighton and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson.

'Love Is Way Of Life' Says Club Speaker

Mrs. O. T. Brewster was guest speaker for Big Spring Garden Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. D. S. Riley. The program centered around "Christmas, Our Heritage." Mrs. Brewster said that man must listen for the 'small voice' under the roar of planes and guns and the clash of words and arms. She pointed out that "love is a way of life beyond the trials of earth; the hope of all ages yet to come."

"Song, hope and love in the heart of man is strong and enduring and makes for a better life," said the speaker. "Although man has conquered space amid much proaching. Included in this region are Texas and New Mexico, and the finals will be Feb. 15 in McAllister Auditorium at San Antonio College. Preliminary auditions for the West Texas-New Mexico area will be in El Paso, Feb. 1. Application blanks must be in hand no later than Jan. 20 to the Junior League of El Paso, 520 Thunderbird, 79912.

Pate Museum of Transportation at Fort Worth has received the Mercury 10 space capsule for display. Dubbed "Freedom-7" it is a complete unflown specimen of the first U.S. Manned space flight program in which Alan B. Shepard was put in a ballistic trajectory flight May 5, 1961.

glory, it is imperative that he be quiet long enough to let the small voice be heard amid the tumult." Mrs. Robert Stripling was cohostess for the meeting. Mrs. John Knox, president, presided at the coffee service. The refreshment table was laid with a red Christmas cloth, and the center arrangement was red and white. Silver appointments were used. Following the meeting the group went to the Veterans Administration Hospital where they decorated Ward 4 for the holidays. Mrs. Vernon Swafford, Fort Worth, was a guest.

Library Provides Music, Cookbooks

An unusual and probably little known feature of the Howard County Library is its collection, which is available on a circulating basis to area residents.

The collection features western, classical, popular and seasonal albums. These recordings will provide the perfect background for the seasonal festivities at no charge.

The library also has a complete selection of cookbooks to help the harried housewife with that chore of baking.

Dolores Clem's "Cookie Cookbook" is especially good. It contains many new cookie recipes as well as tips on making cookies and storing them.

Candy making and cake decorating books will round off the holiday season kitchen work with just that special caring touch.

For a change of pace, Christmas may be accented this year with a foreign touch. Books are available with recipes from nearly every land. Bring Christmas traditions from far away to your own home in minutes.

Or if there is a person in the house who is ill, why not make his Christmas a little brighter with special recipes?

There are special books for special diets for diabetics and heart patients.

Swan Is Praised By Song Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Kris Kristoferson introduced guitarist Billy Swan, who was an original member of Kristoferson's band and now has a record album of his own, to the press here.

Kristoferson said, "Billy got me my first job at Columbia Records when he quit emptying ash trays and gave me the job."

"I think you've got a genius here. He'll be the sound of the '70s. He may be the next Beatles and I ain't lying."

SANTA HAS LEGS TO BOOT — Mrs. Billy (Susan) King, an employee of Security State Bank, shows the advantage of an abbreviated Santa suit. It helps correct the male chauvinist view of Santa as a fat man with a beard.

Revivals-Set By Company

NEW YORK (AP) — The modern dance works of the late choreographer Doris Humphrey, who is considered one of the seminal forces of the American modern dance movement, are to be revived by the Jose Limon Dance Company over the next several years.

The first revival will be "Night Spell," seen here during a season at the Y.M.Y.W.H.A. Limon was a student of Miss Humphrey's and began his career as a dancer in her company. It is considered that the Limon style, with its emphasis on shifting weight and flow, is a continuation of the Humphrey technique, which is based on the force of gravity and the resistance to that force.

Hadyn's Works Discovered

VIENNA (AP) — Two early works of Josef Haydn have been discovered in the City Library of Vienna, H.C. Robbins Landon, musicologist and Haydn scholar, came across the scores in the only surviving copy of Count Erdedy's Theater Almanac of 1788, which the library acquired in 1936. Neither piece is listed in the Hoboken Catalog of Haydn's music.

Both compositions are arias from Haydn operas that were introduced in Count Erdedy's theater in Bratislava in 1786.

ASCAP Honors Many Songs

NASHVILLE (AP) — On Nov. 27, 1914, the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers celebrated its first banquet at Luchow's in New York and the New York Times of the next day reported that the members were bickering passionately about whose music should be played.

$1,500 Prizes Up For Grabs

NEW YORK (AP) — The Walter W. Naumburg Foundation, in celebration of its 50th anniversary, will hold competitions in strings, voice and piano in the fall of 1975. The competitions are open to musicians between 17 and 30. Each first prize will be $1,500 and two subsidized recitals in Alice Tully Hall in Lincoln Center.
