Worst is Yet To Come For Jobless In U.S.?

By The Associated Press

The nation's economy Monday experienced a potpourri of price increases and decreases, labor agreements and disagreements, additional layoffs and a prediction that the worst is yet to come for the unemployed rolls.

Meanwhile, efforts to put the energy problem in some order developed on the international and national scene.

On the energy front:—President Ford returned from his weekend summit meeting with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing on the Caribbean island of Martinique with a compromise agreement over ways for the two nations to combat the energy crisis.

IMPORTED OIL—A blueprint for a national energy policy worked out by administration staffers is expected to go to Ford later this week.

—The Senate passed a bill that requires 30 per cent of imported oil coming into the United States be carried on U.S. tankers.

On the economic front:—Supermarket sugar prices fell as much as 70 cents per five-pound bag in some stores in the Northeast and U.S. Steel announced price increases averaging 8 per cent over two-thirds of its product line.

—Federal mediators entered the stalled contract talks for United Mine Workers construction employees and United Airlines pilots agreed to a new contract.

PRICE CONTROLS—American Motors Corp. announced temporary layoffs for 15,000 workers.

On the prediction front:—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy said there is a real prospect of a national unemployment rate of 8 or 9 per cent and he called on President Ford to provide mandatory wage and price controls.

The agreement signed by President Ford and French President Giscard d'Estaing calls for both nations to participate in an international consumer-producer oil conference next year and make efforts toward preparing a solid consumer position on oil.

The document outlined a series of steps intended to bring importing and exporting nations to the international conference table, probably next summer.

The Senate also acted on the energy problem with a 44-40 approval of a compromise measure that requires 30 per cent of the imported oil coming into the United States be carried on U.S. tankers.

SUGAR DOWN—The bill is aimed at protecting the U.S. merchant marine from foreign vessels that are able to operate more cheaply by using inexpensive labor. Opponents claimed it would raise the price of gasoline and heating oil.

Consumers in the Northeast received some good news Monday on the spiraling price of sugar—it was down.

The price dropped to $2.79 for a five-pound bag at many stores, compared with $3.49 a bag charged last Friday. Supermarket spokesmen said the decrease was prompted by competition for the holiday food budget and consumer resistance to prices that reached nearly $4 for a five-pound bag in some stores.

U.S. Steel's announcement of price hikes, most of which go into effect Wednesday, will primarily affect the construction, rail and oil industries. Steel used in the auto industry was not affected.

But the crippled auto industry continued its downward movement with an announced temporary layoff of 15,000 workers by American Motors Corp. beginning Jan. 6. AMC said it will halt production of its three automobile models for one week following low sales that had given it a four-month supply of unsold cars.

About half the nation's 120,000 coal miners stayed home as picketing United Mine Workers construction workers kept them from the mines. Federal mediators entered the contract talks for the 4,400 UMW construction employees. Monday's total workforce was the smallest since the full UMW miner strike, which lasted from Nov. 12 to Dec. 6.

LABOR FRONT—Elsewhere on the labor front, a new contract was reached between United Airlines and the Air Line

Pilots Association. The agreement, which still must be approved by the union's Master Executive Council, covers 5,400 United pilots and provides for a 22 per cent wage hike over the next 31 months.

While AMC was adding to numbers on the unemployment rolls, Sen. Kenedy warned that the worst was yet to come in unemployment.

The Massachusetts Democrat said at a special state legislative commission hearing on employment in Boston that there is a real prospect for a national unemployment rate of 8 or 9 per cent, perhaps higher in his state. The national figure now stands at 6.5 per cent and 8.4 per cent in the Bay State.

Kennedy said wage and price controls "will almost certainly be needed early next year as the recession worsens" and called on President Ford to set them in motion.

THE HARD WAY—Jo Pearson, a 44-year-old quadriplegic, has been paralyzed from the neck down since an auto accident 17 years ago. She wants to get off welfare so she has taken up painting, having her pictures printed on Christmas cards she sells for $5 per 20-card box. She paints by holding brush in teeth.

She Hopes To Paint Her Way Off Welfare

FOREST GROVE, Ore. (AP)—"Welfare is a wonderful thing to be on," said Jo Pearson, a 44-year-old quadriplegic. "But, believe me, it's a wonderful thing to be off."

She began painting five years ago, holding a brush between her teeth. That was 12 years after an automobile accident left her paralyzed from the neck down.

"My accident made me more understanding of people, and I think I can put it into my painting."

Halloween Death O'Bryan To Go On Trial May 5

HOUSTON (AP)—Ronald Clark O'Bryan, a Deer Park, Tex., optician being held without bond in the poisoning death of his 8-year-old son, will go on trial May 5, District Court Judge Frank Price ruled Tuesday.

Lawyers for O'Bryan were told at a pre-trial hearing Monday to be ready to present witnesses Jan. 14 on their contention that evidence taken from O'Bryan's home and auto should be thrown out of court.

A verse written by the artist is on the inside of each card. On the back, the prospective buyer is told that Jo Pearson, a quadriplegic, created each card.

CYANIDE CANDY—O'Bryan, 30, is accused of putting cyanide inside a cardboard packet of powdered Halloween candy and giving it to his son. He is also accused of giving similar poisoned candy to his daughter, Elizabeth, 5, and three other children.

Defense lawyers Richard Harrison of Dallas and Marvin Teague of Houston, also asked the help of Judge Price in interviewing potential witnesses in the case. They said the witnesses in the Pasadena suburb where young O'Bryan was allegedly handed the poisoned candy have refused to talk with them.

FUND PAST $800 MARK—Several friends threw some logs on the fire and sent a glow today from the Christmas Cheer fund.

Authorities say O'Bryan took out large life insurance policies on his two children shortly before the death of his son. They said he gave the poisoned candy to the other children who went trick-or-treating with his offspring as a cover-up device.

Price said he would sign an order telling potential witnesses they were free to talk with defense investigators. Harrison and Teague said if necessary they will ask Judge Price to order witnesses to answer questions under oath in depositions prior to the trial.

By far the best day of the current appeal pushed the total past the $800 mark. The appeal will end a week from today, so there's not much time to respond, so please do it now if you can.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Ford reports to congressional leaders today about the U.S.-French agreement on arrangements for a meeting of oil producing and consuming nations. American officials view the results of Ford's talks at Martinique with French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing as opening up a new "spirit of cooperation" between the two nations.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has passed an oil import bill the Ford administration considers contrary to the national interest, but the President is expected to sign it in exchange for congressional approval of a foreign-trade measure. The bill, approved by the Senate 44 to 40 on Monday and sent to the White House, would require that 30 per cent of imported oil be carried on American ships.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Backers of a strong strip-mining control bill that has passed Congress are now urging President Ford to veto it quickly so that Congress can have a chance to override the veto.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Determined to speed up the slogging pace of the Watergate cover-up trial, U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica sought to put a quick end today to the cross examination of defendant Robert C. Mardian. Sirica warned assistant prosecutor Jill Wine Volner on Monday she would have only an hour today to conclude her questioning of Mardian, a witness who coupled his answers with challenges, lectures and occasional disdain.

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP)—The dollar and the West German mark dropped to new lows on Swiss money markets today while the price of gold soared. In early trading, the dollar was quoted at 2.5888 Swiss francs, a fraction below the previous low of 2.59 francs on Nov. 18, while the Deutschmark opened at 1.0593 francs. Gold jumped overnight from $184.25 to $187 an ounce, still below the high of $191, also registered Nov. 18.

Golf Course, Duck Pond Quiz

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The use of state taxpayers money to build a golf course and duck pond at University of Texas of the Permian Basin will be the subject of a special hearing Wednesday, UT System Chancellor Charles LeMaistre announced.

The Texas House Appropriations Committee in March 1973. Use of state funds for recreational and landscaping facilities at UT-Permian Basin. LeMaistre was instructed by the UT regents to investigate the matter after Rep. John Hoestenbach, D-Odessa, called for the suspension of Amstead.

The investigative hearing, closed to the public, will be held at UT-Permian Basin by LeMaistre and UT System deputy chancellor E.D. Walker, comptroller Robert L. Anderson and attorney W. O. Shultz.

Amstead allegedly indicated to the House Appropriations Committee that no state funds would be used to build a golf course and duck pond on the UT-Permian Basin campus. Amstead said in a recent news release that $50,029 in state funds had been used in building the golf course and $3,480 for the duck pond.

LeMaistre said he had received several telephone calls and letters from persons outside the university "regarding matters at UT-Permian Basin not within the scope of the present investigation."

Feared For His Life

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The pilot of the first American plane hijacked to Cuba since 1972 said he feared for his life after the gunman threatened to shoot him in the leg if he tried anything.

"I was scared," Tampa charter pilot Frank Haigney said after his safe return to Miami Monday night. "I asked him nine or 10 times not to shoot me."

Auto Insurance Rates Going Up For Drivers

Automobile insurance rates for Howard County drivers, as well as those in Mitchell, Sterling, Martin, Glasscock and other West Texas counties, are going up.

Figures released Monday by the State Board of Insurance show the following changes:

those with medium-priced cars used in business or driven to and from work, with no male operator under 25. That category makes up 23.5 per cent of all Texas drivers.

Bodily injury liability, down 0.1 per cent; property damage liability, up 11 per cent; full coverage comprehensive, up 25 per cent; and $100 deductible collision, up 15 per cent.

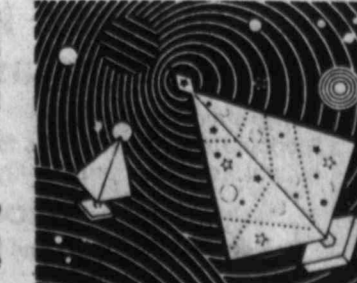

The increase for the typical policy on a medium-priced Ford, Chevrolet or Plymouth, including full comprehensive, $100 deductible collision, $5,000 property damage liability and $10,000 bodily injury liability up to $20,000 for any one accident, is $19 for the West Texas Oil Field, of which Howard County is a part.

Statewide, rates have been raised an average of 8.8 per cent, effective Jan. 16.

Just what the individual driver will pay is determined by which of the 18 rating classifications he or she falls under, the kind of car driven and the individual's driving record and age.

Chairman Joe Christie of State Insurance Board said that this was far below what the insurance industry asked for and what board actuaries recommended at an Oct. 17 hearing.

The new rates follow two straight years of decreases and restores insurance premiums back to their 1971 levels. The rates will serve to transfer about $50 million from the pockets of Texas

STOOD OFF 75 OFFICERS Mom Says Her Son 'Just Went Berserk'

SILSBEE, Tex. (AP) — The mother of a man accused of wounding a policeman and standing off 75 other peace officers in this Southeast Texas town Monday night says her son "just went berserk."

Authorities said Larry LaFose, 26, was wounded three times by gunfire, twice in the leg and once in the abdomen. He was reported in fair condition at a Beaumont hospital early today.

Silsbee policeman William Gilley, also 26, was struck in the shoulder by a shotgun blast. Attendants said his condition also was fair.

Mattie LaFose, 58, mother of the accused man, was dismissed after treatment for a flesh wound in her knee. Her daughter Linda Hall suffered face cuts from a knife.

Officers said this is what happened:

Officers Gilley and Dennis Jones responded to a disturbance call at Mrs. LaFose's house and found her in the yard with her daughter.

LaFose emerged from the house with a shotgun and the officers retreated toward their car. A moment later Gilley was dropped by a shotgun blast in the back.

LaFose reentered the house as the policemen radioed for assistance.

As officers converged on the scene, LaFose again came out and fired at least twice. Officers returned the fire.

About 75 officers from the Silsbee police department, the Hardin County sheriff's office, the Department of Public Safety and Texas Rangers surrounded the house.

Officers fired eight tear gas projectiles and six tear gas grenades into the house and adjoining garage.

The grenades started a small fire and, as Silsbee firemen tried to put out the blaze, LaFose came out on his hands and knees, shouting "Don't shoot! I give up!"

He surrendered about two hours after police had been summoned.

"Larry just went berserk," Mrs. LaFose told newsmen.

'Allelujah' Is To Be Delayed

The presentation of "Allelujah," the Bill Gaither composition, scheduled originally for Friday at First Baptist Church, has been postponed until late January.

There had been some complications concerning orchestral accompaniment, and then also word came that the church's new electronic computer organ will arrive in January, much sooner than anticipated. If installation proceeds as anticipated, the extraordinary instrument given by Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Dorland, will be ready for accompaniment of "Allelujah," said Joe Whitten, music director.

MISERY LOVING COMPANY Small-Time Hustlers Forced Onto Welfare

DETROIT (AP) — Many recently laidoff workers are turning in friends who have been receiving welfare benefits under false pretenses, officials here say.

"We're getting more and more fraud calls from people out of work, and I expect we'll get many more in the coming months. It usually takes a few months before people react," said Robert Keating, Detroit's chief welfare fraud inspector.

CHEATING

Officials say 80 per cent of the complaint calls to the state Department of Social Services in the Detroit area are from persons who have fallen on hard times recently.

Often the complainants are persons turned down for welfare because they are receiving some form of unemployment benefits.

"It's the old story of misery loving company," one welfare investigator said. "Since the layoffs in the automobile industry began, I've gotten several calls from irate individuals who are suddenly indignant because someone they know has been cheating for a long time."

Keating says most complaints are from friends of the welfare cheaters.

Some 170,000 or 3.1 per cent of the total work force were jobless in the Detroit metropolitan area in November, with the total climbing this month as new auto layoffs were announced. The unemployment rate is believed to be about 40 per cent in the inner city.

HUSTLE IS DEAD

Even in the welfare office itself, cheaters have been uncovered.

The Employment Security Commission had to hire more workers recently as the jobless roles grew, and the office almost immediately started getting calls about new workers who were on welfare, Keating said.

Another Detroit-area investigator, William Edwards, says even small-time hustlers who used to make a living off auto workers are being forced onto welfare.

"After one of the layoffs, a 59-year-old man came in and applied for assistance. He said his last job had been with Ford in 1957. What was he doing since then? When the hustle is dead, even the hustler has to go on welfare," Edwards said.

Grade 42 Is Predominant

Another week of peak classing totals was reached at the USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service classing office in Pecos. Samples from 10,490 bales of cotton were classed for the week ended Dec. 13, bringing the season's total to 35,116, according to Shirley A. Sewell, in charge. This compares with 46,307 for the same period a year ago.

Grade 42 was predominant with 41 per cent of classing, while grade 41 made up 24 per cent. The leading lengths were staple 34 with 40 per cent of classings, and staple 30 with 22 per cent. Mike readings in the 3.5 to 4.9 premium range accounted for 82 per cent.

Growers in Pecos and Reeves Counties received $150 per ton for cottonseed.

Ellsberg Papers Say Americans 'Misled'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Documents stolen from Daniel Ellsberg and subpoenaed by a congressional committee will reveal a program that helped prolong the Vietnam war and cost American lives, Ellsberg says.

The documents, recovered by police after being stolen Oct. 1 from Ellsberg's home in Mill Valley, Calif., were turned over to the House foreign operations subcommittee Monday.

Rep. William Moorhead, D-Pa., chairman of the panel, says a photocopy of one cable marked "secret" will contradict what the public was told about the progress of the war during the administration of former President Lyndon Johnson.

He said the assessment was written three months before the Tet offensive and it was "not only misleading to try to convince the public we were making progress, but it was misleading in a way that prolonged the war" and cost lives.

Ellsberg quoted William Florence, whom he identified as a consultant on security classifications to the Senate and House, as having said the document "should never have been

Cheap Energy Thing Of Past, Says Locke

"Cheap energy is a thing of the past," Tom Locke, local manager of Texas Electric Service Co. (TESCO), told a group attending the monthly agricultural breakfast.

"We're not going to flare natural gas in West Texas any more," Locke said.

TESCO uses natural gas to create electricity, Locke said, because it's convenient and "it's been horribly cheap."

"Usually, they'd give us the gas if we'd build the pipelines," Locke said.

Anticipates shortages in natural gas are forcing electrical utility companies to turn to alternate fuels. Oil can be utilized in the same plants as natural gas, but Locke told about coal from East Texas and nuclear fuel becoming major fuels of the future.

The cost of producing current with coal is about two to two and one-half times that of natural gas. Nuclear means will cost about three to four times as much as it is costing with natural gas, Locke said.

"Rates have to go up," Locke said.

Chuck Elmore of Caprock Electric Co-Op reminded

Locke that, with recent increases, electricity still costs only two-thirds of what it did in the 1940s.

"Solar energy is right around the corner," Locke said. He told about how solar and wind energy might be used as supplemental energy sources for homes.

Tex Watson talks about
The Cost of Natural Gas

It's logical that Pioneer customers should ask why they are paying more for the energy they use in their homes. We are eager to have them understand why.

There is a lot of natural gas in West Texas, but we still must buy the gas in competition with other gas users across the country. To assure the people of West Texas that they will have the gas they need, now and in the future, we must pay the going price for new gas. Not only gas for our homes is involved, but most people's jobs depend on gas to run business and industry.

The gas is available, but we must pay the going price to get it. That price is reflected on your gas bill as a "cost of gas adjustment." I'm sure you don't like it. Neither do I. But I'm sure you agree that we must have the gas to run the homes and businesses of West Texas.

All energy will cost more in the future, but be assured that the Natural Energy Home will still be the way to go.

FORGED LETTERS Cancer Research Findings Retracted

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Two Harvard researchers have tentatively retracted published findings of cancer experiments after a student member of their team admitted forging letters of recommendation.

The two researchers said in letters to two prestigious journals that they had not been able to duplicate work that had led them to announce the existence of transfer factors — substances that allow immunity to be switched from one animal to another.

UNCERTAINTY
The researchers' work had been considered fundamental in cancer research. When it was announced earlier this year, Prof. James D. Watson, a Nobel laureate, called it "one of the biggest things ever to come out of the Harvard labs."

Prof. David H. Dressler, the leader of the research project, issued his statement of uncertainty and possible retraction in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences and the Annals of Internal Medicine.

Dressler added, however, there is no evidence that the experiments had been tampered with by the student, who was forced to leave college after it was discovered he forged letters recommending him for medical school, a scholarship and admission to Phi Beta Kappa.

Plenty of activities will be provided to help the children learn the real meaning of Christmas. It is requested that children be brought promptly at 9:00 a.m. and not picked up until 12:00 noon, to allow them complete participation in the planned activities.

Prof. David H. Dressler, the leader of the research project, issued his statement of uncertainty and possible retraction in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences and the Annals of Internal Medicine.

Rosenfeld admitted forging the letters and was forced by the school's administrative board to withdraw from the college.

AMA Accuses Congress Of Subsidizing 'Death'

WASHINGTON (AP) — An article in the Journal of the American Medical Association today accused Congress of subsidizing "increased death and disability" by paying subsidies to tobacco growers, and an accompanying editorial urged an end to such payments.

A spokesman for the AMA said it was the journal's first call for congressional action against smoking after its decades-long campaign of educating physicians and patients about the hazards of smoking.

and state excise taxes on tobacco products will yield $5.5 billion in revenues this year. In addition, he said, tobacco held by the government will yield a 50 to 100 per cent profit when sold, "a pretty fantastic business deal."

"Congress is using our tax money, in many ways, to subsidize increased death and disability among our citizens, as well as those of the rest of the world," wrote Dr. Waldon J. Walker of White Memorial Medical Center's cardiopulmonary unit in Los Angeles and a member of the JAMA editorial board.

Walker said the death rate from heart disease, although still the nation's No. 1 killer, has been dropping steadily since the first U.S. surgeon general's report on smoking and health in 1964.

After a 19 per cent increase on an age-adjusted basis between 1950 and 1963, the death rate from coronary heart disease fell 10.5 per cent and "coincided precisely" with the surgeon general's report, he said.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare calls cigarette smoking the leading cause for the 600,000 deaths a year from coronary heart disease, 72,000 deaths from lung cancer and 25,000 deaths from chronic bronchitis and emphysema.

The cardiologist said the United States spends $11.5 billion annually for health care costs resulting from cigarette smoking. He said "Congress seems to be the major problem" by

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Rep. Allard K. Lowenstein says that after a personal year-long study, "I don't believe the evidence sustains the theory that Sirhan Sirhan is the murderer of Robert F. Kennedy."

Sirhan is serving a life sentence in California for the assassination of Sen. Kennedy on June 5, 1968, in a Los Angeles hotel following Kennedy's victory in the California presidential primary.

The incident began when Harvard officials went through student files to remove confidential material after passage of a new federal law allowing students to look at their personal files.

Schrade said Lowenstein had convinced him that there were many unanswered questions in the case.

In the search of the university returned to the writers letters in the files of Steven S. Rosenfeld of Lancaster, Pa., an honors senior and one of three students who worked on the cancer research. It was then discovered that at least four of the letters were forged or doctored.

Lowenstein said he made his investigation because of the "recalcitrance of the authorities" to make all the technical evidence public and because in the wake of Watergate "the country now understands what it didn't before — that things that never could have occurred have occurred."

RAVES OVER RUSSIAN TOUR — Country music singer Sandi Burnett describes as "fantastic" her recent Russian tour with an "Opryland" troupe. The tour was as much a voyage into the unknown for Miss Burnett, a 23-year-old native of Gulfport, Miss., as it was for Russians hearing country music for the first time.

Voyage Into The Unknown

NEW YORK (AP) — Yerevan in Armenia is sort of off the beaten path of a country music singer. So are Tbilisi, Baku, Leningrad and Moscow.

But singer Sandi Burnett, who this fall performed in those cities with an "Opryland" troupe headed by Tennessee Ernie Ford, sums up the whole Russian tour with a broad smile and a "Fan-tastic."

For Miss Burnett, a 23-year-old native of Gulfport, Miss., the tour, taped for broadcast on NBC-TV on Jan. 8, was just as much a voyage into the unknown as it was for Russians hearing country music for the first time.

For one thing, she says, the way Russians applaud in unison instead of free-form — took some getting used to. So did the post-show exchanges of musical ideas with university students.

"They were very fascinated with the dobro and the fiddle," she laughed. "They'd never seen a violin played like that before."

"And the people over there, they really want to get to know you. They'd line up outside the stage door for autographs and pictures, but they also wanted us to come to their homes for dinner.

"The students kept inviting us to come over and listen to my American records," she said, noting that their musical favorites were Bob Dylan and the Beatles. But none had country music records.

"They'd never heard country music before," she said. "The only song in the show they recognized was '16 Tons' because it's a work song."

The tour was jointly sponsored by the State Department, the state of Tennessee and Nashville's "Opryland" works.

Rural Roads Aid Voted Southwest Airlines Wins Love Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House-passed highway aid bill would authorize new money for rural roads and more funds to cities that want to strengthen mass transit systems rather than build highways.

The $763 million authorization bill passed the House by voice vote Monday and now goes to the Senate. It contains $500 million for rural highway aid, including $200 million for a new program for roads not in the federal highway system.

The bill also would maintain the 55 mile-an-hour speed limit and would stiffen measures for enforcing the limit.

Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., said the bill was significant not only for its help to rural areas but also because of a cost-of-living escalator clause affecting funds diverted from highway construction to mass transit needs.

In 1973 Congress opened by a crack the long-sacrosanct highway trust fund, permitting cities to use the money for mass transit if they wished.

But the fund transfers were limited to the 1972 cost of the highway project being scrubbed and construction costs have increased 61 per cent since then.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southwest Airlines, a small commuter venture which has been fighting Dallas, Fort Worth and several much larger airlines over use of Dallas' Love Field, won a victory in the U.S. Supreme Court Monday.

The high court refused to hear an appeal which sought to have Southwest evicted from Love Field.

IT'S GREAT
 The 5th U.S. Court of Appeals at New Orleans had upheld lower court rulings that Southwest must be allowed to use Love Field so long as Dallas operates Love Field as an airport. The Texas Aeronautics Commission had also directed Dallas and Fort Worth, partners in the new Dallas-Fort Worth Airport, to permit Southwest to use Love Field.

The Supreme Court's decision not to intervene in the case was hailed as a victory for TAC authority and Southwest Airlines.

"It's just great. We really expected this to be the decision made," said Southwest President Lamar Muse. "To hold that a city could deny the use of public facilities to an airline certified to it by the Texas Aeronautics Commission would cripple, if not destroy, the commission's power to control intrastate routes," the appeals court said.

Dallas City Atty. Alex Bickley said the Supreme Court decision places the issue back in the hands of the TAC which already has upheld Southwest's position.

AIRPORT SETBACKS
 The court decision Monday was the latest in a series of airport setbacks for Dallas and Fort Worth. The two cities had tried to force Southwest to move to the DFW Airport, along with other air carriers, when the new airport opened. Dallas planned to use Love Field solely for charter and private aircraft.

Dallas and Fort Worth claimed Southwest was violating the spirit of an agreement other airlines signed before the new airport was built. The agreement called for all airlines to leave Love Field and move to the DFW Airport upon the new airport's completion.

But Southwest Airlines, formed after the agreement was signed, was not bound by the agreement and said that a move to the new airport would force the company out of business because of competition with larger airlines.

Love Field is near downtown Dallas and the new airport is some 15 miles from the downtown area.

Take a two-minute tour of our important lignite coal operation.

We start our tour on this land near Fairfield, Texas. Beneath it lie large deposits of lignite, a soft, low sulphur content coal.

First, the overburden, which is from 40 to 130 feet deep, is removed by this giant dragline.

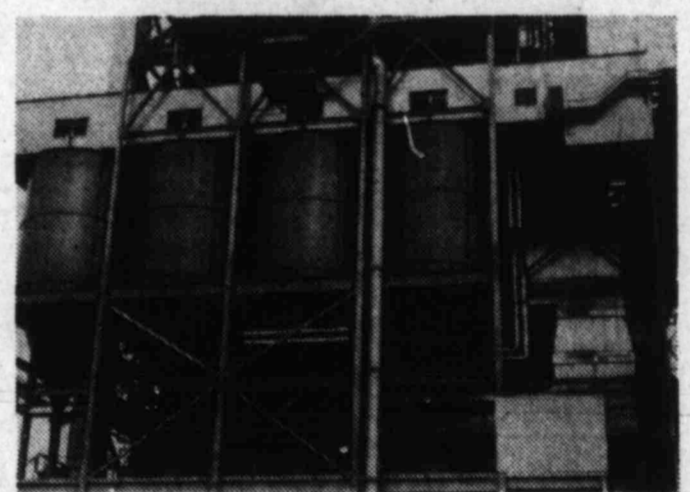

This exposes thick seams of lignite coal over 100 feet wide and a mile or more in length. The lignite is removed, loaded . . .

. . . and trucked a few miles to our lignite-fueled Big Brown electric generating plant.

At the plant the lignite is placed on a conveyor belt which takes it through a series of crushers . . .

to these storage silos. It is then pulverized to a fine powder which will burn much like natural gas . . .

to make the steam that runs the turbine-generators. We need this lignite to help reduce our dependence on natural gas and oil, because both are increasingly expensive and hard to obtain.

After removing the coal we need, an extensive reclamation program begins. Within months this same land is used for raising crops . . .

or as pastureland. At Texas Electric, we're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

The bidding:
 South West North East
 1 ♦ Pass 3 ♦ Pass
 4 ♦ Pass Pass Pass
 Opening lead: King of ♦.

There is nothing magical about the way an expert declarer goes about making a seemingly impossible contract. All he does is carefully weigh all the evidence he has available, and then draw the logical inferences therefrom. Consider this hand.

North was perhaps a point short for his jump raise of his partner's opening bid, especially since his hand did not contain the vestige of a ruffing value. However, no other bid appealed to him, and there is no denying the quality of his trump support.

West made his natural lead of the king of diamonds, and East made the technically correct play of over-taking with the ace and returning the ten. West overtook with the jack and East followed with a low spade. South hopped up with the ace and brought the king tumbling down, thus making with his fourth diamond and wait for declarer to take a losing trump finesse. However, West looked deeper into the situation. If he led his fourth diamond, declarer would ruff in dummy. When East could not overruff, West would become marked with the king of trumps. Therefore, it would be pointless for declarer to take the trump finesse—it would be bound to lose. South's only hope would be to play the trump ace and hope that West had a singleton king.

To prevent that, West elected to shift. Since he did not relish the prospect of breaking the club suit, he selected a heart despite the fact that his partner had shown no interest in that suit. Declarer won in dummy, and now it was his turn to don his thinking cap.

He reasoned that since West knew declarer held the remaining diamond, and since a glance at dummy was sufficient to convince any defender that, if East held the king of spades, he could be finessed out of it, the obvious play for West was to lead a fourth round of diamonds and allow East to score his king by overruffing dummy. The fact that West had shifted meant that he knew that East could not hold the king of trumps, and the only way he could be sure of that was if he held the king himself!

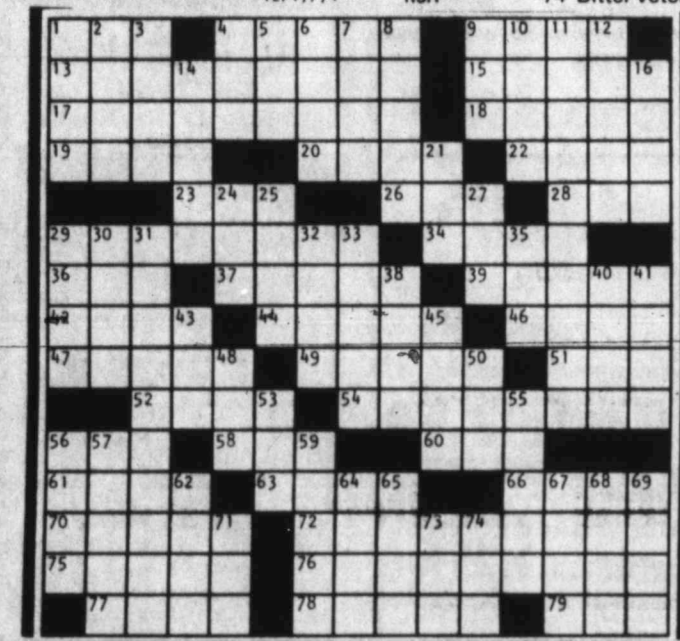

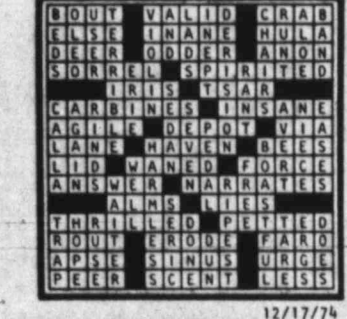

Logically, therefore, declarer had only one play. He led the queen of spades, just in case East did have the king and covered, and West had misdefended. But when East followed with a low spade, South hopped up with the ace and brought the king tumbling down, thus making this game.

Bill Was Paid To Keep Coahoma Water Flowing

Chief consideration for paying in full the amount demanded by Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 was to keep water going to users in Sand Springs and Midway communities, the Coahoma board of aldermen said today. It made the following statement concerning the disagreement with the district: 1. The water system serving Sand Springs and Coahoma requires a certain amount of money to operate. The amount is going to be paid either out of taxes or water revenues, and with the exception of the small number of people who do not use water supplied by the Water District, the same people pay both taxes to the Water District and water bills to the City of Coahoma. 2. Taxes assessed and collected by the Water District are excessive because of the limited use of the taxes. The Water District recently spent $100,000.00 of your tax money, which should earn you 10 per cent, to pay 5 per cent bonds which were not due until approximately 1987. We feel that a larger share of the cost of operating the water system should be borne by taxes, because taxes are deductible for income tax purposes, whereas water payments to the City of Coahoma are not. However, we don't think excessive taxes should be collected simply to build a surplus far in excess of legal requirements. 3. This is not and should not be a Sand Springs vs. Coahoma dispute. All people in the District suffer when we cannot agree on the amounts to be paid to the Water District. We all share in the legal and other expenses incurred in resolving our differences. 4. Some people think that the 1955 bond issue is being paid by the residents of the City of Coahoma only and that the 1962 bond issue is being paid by residents of Sand Springs only. This is not true. The 1955 bond issues, although it is a tax and revenue bond, has been paid from water revenues only and the 1962 bond issue has been paid out of tax revenues only, but once again basically the same people in Sand Springs and Coahoma pay both Water District taxes and water bills to the City of Coahoma, so basically the same people are paying both bond issues. 5. The City of Coahoma has an adequate water supply, independent of the water received from the Water District. Two of our three wells are capable of pumping in excess of 150,000 gallons per day, and our present usage is 60,000 gallons. However, we cannot pump this water back up the line to the people in Sand Springs. When we paid the Water District's demand to have water service renewed, it was for the benefit primarily of the residents of Sand Springs. We were not directed to pay the amount demanded by the Water District Board by anyone except the Water District Board. Many untrue rumors have been circulated. We want all the people to know the facts. In spite of all the controversy over this matter, only one person has attended any of our meetings to inquire about this dispute. We encourage your attendance, and we need your advice in making decisions. We will continue to make sincere efforts to reach an agreement with the Water District Board which will be beneficial to all people in the District. Jack Cauble, Mayor Board of Aldermen The City of Coahoma.

MOST NOT INCONVENIENCED Some Users Can't Believe Water Service Cut Off

By JOHN EDWARDS "Our water completely went off," Mrs. D. L. Owens, Sand Springs, said. "The people around me didn't have any water, either." Her husband was laying concrete and bricks and had to discontinue the project. NOTHING NEW Kenneth Scott, who lives on a hill in Sand Springs, said water was "barely trickling." "Most of the time, we don't have any advance warning," Scott said. Every time the line breaks, Scott said his home loses water pressure and the family uses its well. Check valves by the Coahoma overhead tank keep water from flowing back to Sand Springs and keep the system from completely draining when a line ruptures, Scott said. Installing bypass valves could solve this problem, Scott said. In case of fire, Scott, chief of the Sand Springs Volunteer Fire Department, said arrangements were made to obtain water from a man who sells water to oil field customers. When water is flowing, firemen here tie in to two fire plugs, Scott said. Several interviewed offered political opinions about the controversy between the City of Coahoma and water district. "What can the people over here do about it," Elzan Schafer, a Sand Springs beauty shop manager, asked? "I really blame (Coahoma Mayor) Jack Cauble for all this," she said. If water is shut off periodically when the water district bills the city, she said, "That's really going to hurt us over there" at the shop, which was closed Monday. HANKY-PANKY, ARMS "Whether it's Big Spring or the water district, I'm not sure, but there's some hanky-panky some place," Mrs. J. A. Westmoreland, Coahoma, said. "I'm afraid Big Spring is getting a lot of blame for it," Mrs. Westmoreland said. She criticized District Judge Ralph W. Caton for not giving the City of Coahoma a "fair shake" during a jury trial over the amount of past water district bills sent the city. "If they cut the water off, look, they'll land themselves a lot of lawsuits," Mrs. Westmoreland said. "We had water here due to this overhead tank," Mrs. M. L. Hazen, Coahoma, said. "If we had gotten without water, I think the people here would rise up in arms, because there's no need of it." The city secretary, Mrs.

Ina Stout, called for an end to all the comments flying around and suggested the public "get behind their City Council and help them and we'd be a lot better off." "I really think two boards can handle it without all these statements and gossip from the people," Mrs. Stout said. Some phone numbers in Sand Springs would not ring. So this reporter asked an operator to dial one for him. She said not to talk longer than three minutes. The next time, the reporter called himself and got an answer, but the call was disconnected before he could ask the woman's name. TUB, BUCKETS She said they were notified by the newspaper of the possible water cut off. "So we just ran out some water and saved it." For containers, the family used "the bathtub and buckets, whatever we could find," the woman explained.

Mrs. Clois Snell, Coahoma High School secretary, said her husband "had caught up some drinking water" in advance. At the high school, no loss of water pressure was observed, Mrs. Snell said. But her husband said water "just barely trickled at the house" between Coahoma and Sand Springs. "It wasn't cut all down," Mrs. Rosa Lopez, Sand Springs, said. And the temporary loss of full pressure did not interfere with anything she was doing. "Well, I was at work (in Big Spring)," Mrs. Bill Logsdon, Coahoma, said. "So I don't really know whether it went off here at Coahoma or not." "Well, mine never was completely off," Mrs. Glen Long, Coahoma, said. Her husband told her that some places in Coahoma water came in a "slow drip. Wasn't enough to fill a washing machine or anything."

Nod Is Given For Schools

Regents of The University of Texas System have approved and recommended to the Coordinating Board the academic division of the present College of Arts and Education at UT Permian Basin into two separate colleges. The approval is for the creation of a College of Arts and Humanities and a College of Social and Behavioral Sciences, to be effective September 1975. The existing College of Arts and Education, accounting for approximately 60 per cent of the total faculty and students at the upper-level university.

Pontiac Firm Adds Program

Don Crawford Pontiac in Big Spring, has added Pontiac Motor Division's Dealer Leasing and Rental Program to its list of customer services. Crawford president, will handle the program enabling the dealership to provide retail customers with total transportation service, and makes available lease-financing and rental vehicles for the customer's convenience.

The program was given by Mrs. Bert Affleck who prefaced her story of "The Little Lost Star," with Henry Van Dyke's explanation of the real meaning of Christmas: "There is a better way than the observance of Christmas. It's the keeping of Christmas. If you can keep it for a day, why not always? But you can never keep it alone."

Mrs. Affleck then told the story of the lost star and read two poems of the season.

Lumpy Batter

Lumpy (that's what we said) is what your muffin batter should look like if you want a perfect finished product. Over-beaten batter will cause peaks, tunnels and toughness in the muffins because the gluten in the flour is overdeveloped.
