Weather forecast is clear to partly cloudy with a warming trend. High today expected to be in lower 50s, low tonight in upper 20s and high on Tuesday, about 60. Wind from the west at 10-20 miles per hour today, dropping to 5 miles per hour tonight.

And it would emphasize that the Soviet space program is going strong, actually accelerating, at a time when the United States' program is diminishing.

Behind the speculation of U.S. observers is the fact that shortly after Salvut 4 launched, ground was control guided it into an orbit 220 miles high, 60 miles higher than earlier Saluyts. At that altitude it could stay aloft for a year or more before falling back into the atmosphere.

U.S. experts say the Russians would have no trouble tracking two manned spaceships simultaneously. They note there were three Russian manned vehicles in orbit at one time in 1969.

HOUSE DEMOCRATS UNVEIL ECONOMIC PROGRAM

Tax Relief, Jobs, Lower Interest Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) -House Democrats unveiled today an economic program putting top priority on a tax cut for the poor and moderate-income persons. Speaker Carl Albert said he hoped it would be pushed through the House within 60 days

He said the tax cut should range between $10 billion and $20 billion, but he. declined to settle on any specific figure.

'We mean business," Albert told a news conference. "We intend to act." "I have talked to the President and I have told him we will cooperate wherever we could. I hope we see eye-to-eye because we are all in the same boat together," Albert said.

LEADERSHIP "Our country is suffering from ills it hasn't suffered from in a long time and, in some cases, not since the beginning of the country. We don't want to count anyone out but we intend to move," have been completed.

Albert said. Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., chairman of the leaderhip task force which drew up the policy platform, said the committee had differing ideas about the size of a tax cut but said they would endorse "whatever is enough to release money into the economy.

Albert said the task force hadn't considered a tax rebate as apparently will be proposed by President Ford, but said "that question is still open ... if it can be done and should be done, of course we will do it." Other features of the lower interest rates and standby authority for limited wage and price controls.

Democratic policy to revive the economy include public jobs for the unemployed,

These and other recommendations by a party leadership task force were addressed specifically to the appropriate legislative committees "for presentation to the House ... as soon as possible and in no case later than 90 days after our convening." Congress convenes Tuesday.

The emphasis on tax reduction - already advocated by President Ford appeared to make it certain that the Republican administration and Democratic Congress will reach early agreement on relief for low and middle taxpayers, at least. The Democratic recommendations were general enough to cover the kinds of reductions Ford is reported about to propose.

Sources reported meanwhile that Ford would make a nationwide television-radio address tonight in order to give the public a preview of his economic plans. He will appear before Congress Wednesday to present the State of the Union message.

TAX SLASH

The recommendations labeled urgent by the Democrats included: -Tax Relief. The task force suggested increasing the personal exemption, the standard deduction and the special minimum allowance that helps poorer people, easing the payroll tax on low incomes and establishing tax credits. But it left the way open for other proposals as well. Ford is reported considering a 10 per cent rebate on 1974 income taxes. The Democrats said the revenue loss should be recouped as much as possible "by closing the loopholes that now enable large corporations and wealthy individuals to pay little or no taxes at all." But it recommended no specific tax reforms.

FOOD WOES

-Lower Interest Rates. The task force called on the Federal Reserve to step up the growth of the money supply, saying it had been held to 2 per cent during much of 1974, when 4 to 5 per cent was needed.

The task force also called for allocation of credit toward such areas as housing, small business, food power production, generation, state and local government and productive capital investment.

If these actions had not produced results by July 1, the statement continued, Congress should consider steeply rising taxes on excessive rates of interest, such as 9 per cent and more. -Jobs. The task force said the need for public service jobs now exceeds the 750,000 estimated last month. More such jobs should be provided, it said, and the flow of federal funds for approved public works such pollution water as abatement, flood control, highway, mass transit and others should be speeded.

-Housing. A range of possibilities for stimulating housing were offered, such as allowing savings institutions to pay higher in-terest, subsidizing interest on low and medium price housing, incentives for rehabilitation of existing buildings and short-term help for homeowners falling behind in payments because of unemployment or falling income.

-Needy. The task force urged Congress to block "the apparent intention of the administration to increase the price of food stamps to low income Americans" and to step up help to needy aged, blind and disabled.

Grocery Costs Rise Faster Than Food Stamp Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) -Retail grocery costs continue to rise faster than benefits allowed poor families under the government's food stamp pro-gram, new figures by the Agriculture Department indicated today.

Latest figures show a typical family could pur-chase a monthly maximum of $150 worth of food stamps but it cost $157.20 a month to feed that family. Meanwhile, the department still has under consideration a proposal by President Ford which would boost food stamp costs to needy families beginning March 1.

The plan calls for charging a family a flat rate of 30 per cent of its net monthly income, regardless of how many persons are in the family. Currently, food stamp charges average 23 per cent of net income and also depend on household sizes.

Officials say the higher rates will cut federal food stamp costs at least $215 million in the last four months of the fiscal year which ends June 30. A final decision on the proposal has been delayed. This has raised speculation that some changes might be made to help calm protests in Congress.

The figures disclosed today by the Agriculture Department showed the cost of a so-called economy diet for a family of four was $157.20 last November, up $1.20 from October.

Total food stamps a family of four could get in November were worth $150 a month, a rate which took effect last July 1. The Agriculture Department is required by law to make semi-annual adjustments in stamp allowances to reflect changes in food prices. The department's economy diet plan is used as the standard. The four-member family's stamp allowance was increased to $154 a month on Jan. 1, which reflected the cost of the economy food plan last August. Another revision will be made as of July 1 to reflect food price increases through February.

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) - South Vietnamese bombers flying 100 missions today wrecked a 400-truck North Vietnamese convoy carrying troops and supplies for an offensive against Kontum in the central Corps highlands, 2nd headquarters said.

It was one of the biggest South Vietnamese air campaigns of the war.

The 2nd Corps command said more than 200 Sovietbuilt Molotova trucks were destroyed and 170 North Vietnamese troops were killed.

The command said South Vietnamese bombers hammered the convoy for more than six hours and set afire scores of trucks carrying fuel, antiaircraft guns and troops of a North Vietnamese division that planned "to open big attacks against military region 2 (the central highlands) with the main target Kontum,' 260 miles north of Saigon.

A pilot must obtain a new medical certificate very two years, and this includes answering a medical history questionnaire that asks whether he has ever had heart trouble.

Accessibility, Convenience

Big Bend National Park is West Texas' oldest and foremost attraction appealing to tourists across the nation

A National Park Service move to alter its character and accessibility is causing concern and may well succeed unless turned around by public opinion.

The NPS held a hearing in Alpine Dec. 13 to secure public opinion on a development plan for the Chisos Basin located in the park which would essentially limit visitation to the basin.

The West Texas Chamber of Commercé, long a supporter of the Big Bend park, said it did not learn of the Alpine hearing until Dec. 5, and understands no one knew of it until Dec. 2. Neither did the Texas Tourist Development Agency at Austin have long lead notice of the hearing. The NPS allowed 30 days for interested parties to register their views in written statements which will become part of the record of the Alpine hearing.

West Texans in large numbers should respond to this.

The WTCC restates its previous position that the park was created for high public "use and enjoyment of the people" and this concept was agreed to by all parties concerned in its creation including the original land owners, donors, the State of Texas and the

The WTCC supports only that portion of alternative D which would upgrade and increase the number of overnight facilites in the basin. The WTCC recommends that (1) the saddle-horse Subsistence of the coastline due to withdrawals of ground water in the Pasadena-Baytown-Galveston area has become a serious problem. Property that was once well above mean tide, such as the area around the San Jacinto Monument, is now subject to tidal flooding.

It is an insidious encroachment. Years of gradual, imperceptible subsidence go unnoticed. Then, during the neap tides of spring, the disconcerting discovery is made that the land elevation has dropped.

There is only one remedy. It is to reduce ground water withdrawals, as recommended by the National Well Water Association. Its land subsidence committee mittment to develop a public transportation system to replace autos in the basin be deferred for evaluation until such time that the traffic count is high enough to justify such a consideration.

Letters from those insisting the Chisos Basin be kept open for maximum access for tourists, and supporting the WTCC position, may be addressed to the National Park Service, Big Bend National Park, Tex., 79834. They must be received by the Park Service before Jan. 12 to become part of the hearing record.

recommended that a local underground water district be created for parts of Harris, Chambers and Galveston counties to manage a subsidence control program.

In theory at least, if ground water withdrawals were halted, the land would return to approximately its former elevation through recharging of the aquifer. Whether this theory would work in practice or not, there is a reasonable certainty that if the withdrawals are not halted, the land elevation will continue to drop, as it has in Mexico City for the same reason.

Case Of The Nibblin' Horse

Pupils in a suburban school often walked to a nearby pasture, where they would stand beside the fence and commune with the horses. One day, one of the horses reached over the fence and nipped a little boy on the ear.

IN SHORT order, the boy's parents aimed a damage suit at the owner of the pasture.

"Our son was outside the fence doing nothing wrong," they pointed out in a court hearing. "The defendant should have warned the children that the animal was dangerous."

BUT THEY offered no evidence to prove that the horse had ever misbehaved before. Denying their claim, the court said the owner was entitled to assume - until there was reason to think otherwise - that the horse would not hurt anybody.

Horses, because of their traditionally peaceable disposition, generally do get this "benefit of the doubt." But, of course, there are

Smothers Brothers Back

By JAY SHARBUTT

ociated Press Writer NEW YORK (AP) - The Smothers Brothers, fearless censorbaiters during their three turbulent years on CBS, are back with us again in a weekly variety series, starting tonight on NBC-TV. It's good to have them back, even though I've always felt their reputations as controversial performers were bogus. They are campus humorists largely and no more.

But in their CBS years (they were axed in April 1969 in a flap over censorship) their shows always had laughs, quality music arrangements, good writing, fine new performers and a spirit of deviltry.

THEIR OPENING show on NBC tonight isn't quite up to their old standards, but it still is way ahead of most network variety shows, which these days seem only to feature the sound of music and snoring.

Tom Smothers, now an elderly 38, starts the show by noting the brothers' departure from CBS almost six years ago - and omitting mention of their 1970 summer show on ABC, which flopped.

"We went off the air at about the same time that (Richard) Nixon Dear Sir: came in," he says and, with a gentle jibe at the NBC censor, hastily adds, 'This is not a political statement or a social comment.

He observes that during the late 1960s, the nation was divided, with hawks against doves and conservatives against liberals, a time when people were "a them or a those.

"AND DICKIE and I happened to be one of those and we didn't know them were going to do that good Anyway, them are getting their

He concedes that some may feel he and his 36-year-old brother "got the (NBC) show by copping out, by making concessions.... Nothing could be closer to the truth."

And subsequently the show goes into a series of skits, one of which was heard to remark, "Hell, I'd go familiar makeup, "Unfinished Sweet."

features rock star Alice Cooper, out and shoot them before I'd see appearing in civvies and without his them starve to death" singing

Cooper winds up in a dream sequence, in makeup, coming out of a big mouth, surrounded by dancing molars and waving a giant tooth-brush. Even with all this, the number seems to lack bite.

GEORGE BURNS, Johnny Carson and Redd Foxx show up for a lame skit devoted to honoring only gag punchlines. Foxx reappears for a dull, tasteless bit about the 25th anniversary of a mixed marriage.

The bright moments come only when the brothers clown their way through a song — a "Dueling Banjos" caper at the finale is nifty — or when the other "name" stars are absent from the other skits.

The show is very uneven, but it has a potential which may live up to the glory of the old days, provided the Smothers:

-Resume their custom of introducing young new performers. -Are allowed reasonable freedom in booking guests and material.

-Don't scream at the censor too often. Once a week should suffice.

PHOENIX (AP) - The economic pinch that has been strangling the nation for about the past year appears to be taking its grip on the National Basketball Association. The Associated Press learned Sunday night that Toronto, expected to become the league's 19th franchise, would bypass the op portunity because of the tight money situation. There just aren't any investors willing to pay more than $6 million for a franchise. New Orleans, which joined the league this season at a cost of $6.15 million - the price for a new franchise for next season probably would be higher — has been floundering both on and off the court, and investors are not willing to take the risk. particularly financially. "The economic crunch may delay expansion," one of the league's top executives told The AP. "There have been no applications for the franchise that I know of, and the Toronto situation hasn't moved forward - mostly due to the economic situation." While the issue of the Toronto franchise was expected to be put in abeyance by league owners at their annual meeting prior to the NBA All-Star game, so was the matter of a successor to Commissioner Walter

Uniforms Mixed For Off-Duty Officers

A recent regulation in connection with extra jobs for firemen and policemen poses another problem for city officials here. Hence, off-duty officers must wear street clothing. The new ruling states: "If an off-duty police officer or fireman is permitted to wear his official attire (uniform, badge, etc. while employed by a second employer (e.g. directing traffic at a sports event or serving as guard), a ioint employment relationship exists and all hours worked for the second employer must be included in the city's calculations of the number of hours worked by the individual fireman or policeman.'

Police Chief Vance Chist. said he will instruct policemen serving as guar at the hospital site to wear street clothing starting today.

PARIS (AP) - Two men fired two bazooka rounds' into Orly Airport today. The shells missed a taxiing New Yorkbound El Al jetliner with 136 passengers aboard and struck an airport building and a parked Yugoslav jetliner, police said

A Yugoslav steward and a French policeman were wounded. The unknown assailants escaped.

Paul Roux, head of the airport police, said the attack was probably aimed at the Israeli plane. But he did not "totally exclude" the possibility that the Yugoslav etliner was in fact the target of opponents of the Yugoslav government.

Police said a shell pierced the left wing of the Yugoslav Airlines - JAT - DC9 and exploded. The jet was waiting to load 31 Zagrebbound passengers. The two injured men were hospitalized, police said. Airport officials said the attackers fired two bazooka rounds before fleeing from the scene. The first struck the airport's basement catering department, but caused no casualties and virtually no damage.

The El Al Boeing 707 was taxiing toward the runway to take off for New York. The plane was not hit, but Orly air control officials asked the pilot to delay his departure. Officials said the El Al pilot remained unaware of the attack.

NO FOOD, WATER FOR SIX DAYS 'He Didn't Want To Get Involved'

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) -Barbara S. Wilson lay injured at the bottom of Wheeler Gorge for six days. Temperatures dipped to freezing and there was no food or water. She says that at one point a passerby re-fused to call for help.

"I have a strong desire to live and I guess I did by the grace of God," the 46-year-old divorcee told highway patrolmen Sunday after she had been lifted 500 feet to safety. The gorge is in a wilderness beside Los Padres National Forest.

A teen-ager had heard her screams and summoned rescuers.

RESCUED

She told officers that two days earlier she thought she was going to be rescued when a passerby worked his way partly down the gorge after hearing her calls for

"But the man said, in effect, that anyone who drove that road deserved anything he got and that he didn't want to get involved," highway patrolman Al Goldberg said the woman told him.

She said that hope began to fade after the man left, because she lived alone and no one knew her travel plans. The woman told California Highway Patrol officers she was driving along twisting California 33 about 120 miles north of Los Angeles when she pulled to the side of the road for a rest. SCREAM

She was heading north from Ventura, her home, toward Bakersfield. She said her foot accidentally struck the ac-celerator pedal and the car bolted off the road and came to rest on its roof 150 feet down the steep face of the gorge. She said she crawled outside the car, not realizing how steep or deep the gorge was, and slipped down another 350 feet to the bot-

She said the injury to her knee made it impossible to work her way back up the rugged gorge. The only comfort she had was a rubber floor mat from the car to sleep on. Temperatures fell as low as 32 degrees during the period, officials said.

The teen-ager, Dean Herman, 15, said he was out with a group of friends hunting for targets to shoot at when he heard the woman's screams. One went for help while the others lowered themselves into the gorge.

Rescue workers took the woman to Ventura Community Memorial Hospital, where she was reported doing well after knee surgery. Doctors said there were no broken bones.
