

Suicides Of Teens Spiral

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Amy, 15, had always gotten straight As in school, and her parents were extremely upset when she got a B on her report card.

"If I fail in what I do," Amy told her parents, "I fail in what I am."

The message was part of Amy's suicide note. Dr. Darold Treffert, director of the Winnebago Mental Health Institute at Oshkosh, Wis., places part of the blame for a sharp increase in teen-age suicides on what he calls "The American Fairy Tale."

He says the number of teenage suicides in the United States has tripled in the last decade, to an estimated 30 a day, and that more than half the patients in the nation's psychiatric hospitals are under age 21.

He says the "fairy tale" has five themes: that more possessions mean more happiness, that a person who does or produces more is more important, that everyone must belong and identify with some larger group, that perfect mental health means no problems and that a person is abnormal unless constantly happy.

"For some, the American Fairy Tale ends in suicide or psychiatric hospitals, but for countless others, it never ends at all," Treffert said during an interview Tuesday.

He said millions of Americans are plagued throughout their lives by a gnawing emptiness or meaninglessness expressed not as a fear of what may happen to them, but rather as a fear that nothing will happen to them.

He said Americans must stop evaluating themselves according to what they own or what they have done and learn to accept and cope with various mental and emotional problems.

"A whole generation has come to feel that it is un-American to experience any of these emotions," he said. He says parents should avoid trying to make their children live up to the standards of the "fairy tale," and treat them as individuals, as people rather than possessions.

Treffert, who says he has been involved in suicide cases with children as young as 11, said parents should not try to push their children into doing certain accepted things.

Youth Draws Two Sentences Here

The 59-year-old widow said she woke up about 12:30 a.m. Oct. 13, saw the silhouette of a man standing over her and began screaming.

"Shut up, you . . . or I'll kill you," the intruder admitted saying in a signed statement entered in court records Tuesday afternoon.

Torre Montgomery, 17, pleaded guilty in 11th District Court to the knife-point rape of the woman and burglary of her home. On the recommendation of District Attorney Robert H. Moore III, Judge Ralph W. Caton set punishment with two concurrent, 25-year prison sentences. Credit was allowed for 50 days of jail time.

The victim's hands were tied to the bed, she was raped and then she was ordered to direct the man to valuables in the house, the statement related. Before leaving, Montgomery tied her to a chair in the living room.

In the defendant's home, police recovered two gold wedding bands, one gold necklace, one gold locket, one silver dollar necklace, one radio and a fruit jar containing $2.50 in pennies. The victim identified these as hers.

COULD SET PATTERN Railroads, Unions Settlement Shapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's railroads have reached tentative agreements on new contracts with three unions, paving the way for a possible breakthrough on an industry-wide settlement, sources said today.

Negotiations are continuing with the sheet metal workers union in an effort to avert a strike scheduled to begin Friday against the Union Pacific railroad and four other major carriers.

Union sources said the initial contract settlement with the three unions, among

11,000 Oil Workers On Strike

DENVER (AP) — Some 11,000 members of the oil workers union are out on strike as contract negotiations enter their third week.

Negotiators for the union, however, say the talks have entered what they call the "routine" stage.

Major refineries with contracts still pending include Continental, Marathon, Shell, Union, Standard of Ohio (Sohio), as well as Phillips and Husky.

Roughly 35,000 of the Oil Chemical and Atomic Workers International Union's oil workers are now covered by new contracts.

Three Of Four Hostages Free

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Three of four persons taken hostage by two gunmen gained their freedom early today and showed up at police headquarters, police said. The fourth was missing and believed still with the two fugitives.

Mrs. Ruth Rosenbaum and police Capt. Paul Harvey apparently were unharmed, officers said. Police Sgt. Larry Hostetler was beaten about the face, officers said. They said he was left bound in a car but managed to start it and steer it with his knees to the headquarters.

MISSING
Lucinda Sherman, the fourth hostage, was missing. It was not clear if Harvey and Mrs. Rosenbaum had been released or escaped. The two policemen had volunteered as hostages after the gunmen robbed the Rosenbaum department store and took the women hostage. Miss Sherman was an employee and Mrs. Rosenbaum the wife of the owner. Police said the gunmen and their captives crisscrossed northern Indiana, first in a van provided by police and then in a car. At first they were tracked by a State Police helicopter, but officers said Harvey called in asking that surveillance units be called off and a car be brought to a specified location.

Police said the robbers had held four other persons hostage before authorities agreed to their demands for a van and safe passage.

BIG FAKER
The pair, described as in their early 20s and armed with a sawed-off shotgun and a revolver, entered the downtown store shortly before 9 p.m. Tuesday and ordered store owner Irving Rosenbaum, his wife, two other employees and a customer to lie on the floor.

As they cleaned out a cash register, a passerby spotted the robbery and notified police, officials said. Officers from police headquarters, about five blocks away, surrounded the store.

Police marksmen positioned themselves on nearby roofs. After negotiating for two hours with Chief John H. Walsh, the robbers fled with the hostages.

Just before the pair fled, the unidentified customer faked a heart attack and the gunmen permitted Rosenbaum and Dwight Haskins, 17, to carry him to a waiting ambulance. Haskins fled. Freed with the store owner was Linda A. Jackson, 17.

RICHARD FLEENER

Senior Tax Appraiser Is Named

Richard Fleener, a loan officer and appraiser for Big Spring Savings Association, was named senior tax appraiser for the tax appraisal office Tuesday afternoon.

The graduate of Levelland High School has attended Howard College and a junior college in California. Born in Hobbs, N.M., he started school in Big Spring. He has been employed by Big Spring Savings since 1970.

Effective Feb. 1, he will be paid $13,000 yearly plus $150 monthly as a car allowance. As senior appraiser, he is authorized to hire two assistants in addition to Mrs. Kay Holmes, who was with Southwestern Appraisal here.

He and his wife have two sons. They live at 415 Westover Road.

The tax appraisal board, which is composed of representatives of participating taxing agencies, is next scheduled to meet at 5:15 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 13, in the tax appraisal office in the courthouse.

Fleener will assume his new duties Feb. 1.

Construction Program Started By Bank Here

Plans for the immediate expansion of drive-in facilities and the flow area leading to the drive-in windows were approved at a meeting Tuesday of stockholders of the First National Bank.

In addition, the stockholders okayed plans to refurnish the entire building and expand office space by putting basement areas to use. The installment loans department will be moved to the basement.

Local architects will be asked to draw up plans for the expansion before bids are taken.

Two drive-in windows will be added to the bank, bringing to six the total in use.

In other business, a 20 per cent stock dividend was voted to stockholders of record Jan. 10, 1975. Over a period of the past two years, 45 per cent in stock dividends has been voted to stockholders.

All officers were re-elected within the bank. In addition, Hubert Harris and Willie Lane were promoted from positions of assistant cashiers to assistant vice presidents and, as such, will be in charge of the installment loan department of the bank.

Ford Vows Veto Of Ration Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is responding to President Ford's renewed drive for his economic program with quick action on tax relief while entangling his energy program in dispute.

In a no-retreat statement opening his news conference Tuesday, Ford said he will put into effect without congressional help his tariff on imported oil and would veto any mandatory gasoline rationing legislation.

House leaders went ahead with plans to open hearings today on tax abatement — both Ford's version and Democratic counterproposals.

But they moved to block the imposition of the $3-a-barrel tax on imported crude oil long enough for other options to be brought up.

House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-

Mass., said hearings will begin Monday or Tuesday on his resolution to hold up the tariff at least 90 days.

Ford said he would put it in effect by proclamation this week, clearing the way for the tax beginning at $1 on Feb. 1 and reaching $3 April 1.

In the nationally broadcast news conference, Ford also said "the United States does feel that the danger of war in the Middle East is very serious" and that diplomatic efforts to avoid an outbreak are being intensified with both Israel and the Arab states.

"We are supplying some arms to various states in that region," he said, adding it is important to maintain "a certain degree of military capability on all sides" while negotiations go on.

STRANGLER
Ford again backed Secretary of State Henry A.

Kissinger in refusing to rule out military takeover of oil fields in the hypothetical situation that the West might be strangled by a petroleum cutoff. But he said this would be an extreme situation, not something like last year's short-lived embargo.

On other matters, Ford — Said he cannot foresee any circumstances in which the United States might re-enter the Vietnam war, but said he will ask for another $300 million in military aid for South Vietnam.

—Said that "unfortunately" he must refrain from recommending a national health program because of his decision to start no new costly programs. Democrats have promised to press ahead on health insurance.

FOOD STAMPS
—Predicted detente with the Soviet Union, including improvement of trade relations, will continue despite his disappointment over Soviet rejection of the 1972 trade agreement.

—Defended again his recommendations that increases in benefit programs, including Social Security, be limited to 5 per cent and that food stamps be priced higher for some recipients.

—Repeated that he is analyzing whether his amnesty program for Vietnam-era deserters and draft dodgers, due to expire Jan. 31, should be extended.

Much of the questioning centered on Ford's disputes with congressional Democrats on energy measures. In an apparent thrust at the congressional majority, Ford said, "I will not sit by and watch the nation continue to talk about an energy crisis and do nothing about it."

Briscoe Wants To Reduce Number Of State Employees

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe called today for a billion dollar restructuring of public schools as one of his long list of recommendations to the Texas Legislature.

"This is not only an obligation but an unparalleled opportunity to bequeath to future generations of Texans the legacy of equal access to quality educational opportunities," Briscoe said in his first formal address to the 181 senators and representatives.

10-POINT PROGRAM
Briscoe gave details of the broad 10-point program he advocated in his Tuesday inaugural address. A number of the recommendations had drawn the governor's support previously, but there were several surprises.

—There was no mention of state regulation of public utilities, as Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby recommended Tuesday.

—There was no mention of any continued effort for constitutional revision. Hobby recommended a citizens convention on Tuesday.

—Briscoe called for strict anti-eavesdropping and privacy laws to protect individual rights.

TAX ISSUE
—He served notice of an effort to reduce the number of state employees by 5 per cent, through attrition.

Briscoe repeated previous promises to veto any appropriations bill that contained any new or increased taxes for the next two years.

He called again for elimination of the 4 per cent state sales tax on natural gas and electric utility bills.

Briscoe told the legislators he realized some of his proposals would not be met with wild enthusiasm. "But I do believe we are far more united than divided on the major issues of our time and I believe we will put aside our differences to face up to those issues as responsible concerned public servants. The people of Texas expect no less of us."

Briscoe stressed economy and efficiency in government above all.

"To put it in plain terms, we must waste absolutely nothing," he said.

'FREEZE'
He noted that he had already put a "freeze" on employment within the governor's office and had reduced the number of employees about 7 per cent. He asked every state agency to do the same.

"Our goal will be an overall 5 per cent reduction in the number of state employees. This is a realistic goal and can be accomplished through normal attrition," he said. "I would much rather have our present employees receiving increased salaries..."

Briscoe recommended an immediate 10 per cent salary increase for present employees and during the next two years a 6.8 per cent annual increase. He said he would soon recommend legislation to improve retirement benefits for state employees.

Briscoe said in an effort to bring "open and honest government" closer to Texans he has established a special toll-free telephone service within his office, called TEXHELP, to give anyone assistance or information on state governmental matters.

STATE'S SHARE
The number is 1-800-292-9600.

Briscoe said he would start off his public finance program with an emergency request for $480 million for maintenance and operations in public schools this year.

Details of his long-range education program will be presented later but Briscoe said it generally calls for:

—The state's share of the Foundation School Program to be increased the next two years by about $1 billion over the current level.

—Use of the "weighted pupil approach" in determining how much each school district will get.

—Elimination of the present "inequitable economic index" and substitution of "a single factor index based on taxable value of property in each local school district."

—Increased teachers salaries.

Wright Patman Defeated In Chairmanship Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., upset incumbent Wright Patman to win the chairmanship of the House Banking Committee today by a 152-117 vote.

THREAT VOICED
Reuss had led in the first round of voting in the Democratic caucus, getting 130 votes to 90 for Patman with a third candidate, Robert G. Stephens Jr., D-Ga., receiving 58 votes.

Caucus rules require a majority of the votes cast for election.

On the eve of today's voting, the No. 2 Democrat on the Administration Committee, Frank Thompson of New Jersey, announced his candidacy for chairman and accused incumbent Wayne Hays of Ohio of abusing his chairmanship.

Thompson reported he had been threatened with loss of his subcommittee unless he dropped his challenge.

IN TROUBLE
The 291-member

Democratic caucus also was to consider the fate of Appropriations subcommittee chairmen.

At least four are considered in trouble: Jamie L. Whitten of Mississippi, who gave up his subcommittee's jurisdiction on consumer and environmental protection in an effort to save his chairmanship; Robert L.F. Sikes of Florida, who oversees spending for military construction; Joe L. Evins of Tennessee of the public works-atomic energy subcommittee; and Otto E. Passman of Louisiana of the foreign operations subcommittee.

At a news conference Tuesday, Thompson said a Hays supporter had threatened him with loss of his chairmanship on accounts if he ran and lost against Hays.

DANGER
Thompson said the Hays supporter was a member of the housekeeping House Administration Committee but refused to name him. Thompson quoted him as saying, "You are in danger of losing your subcommittee on our committee if you run against Mr. Hays."

Hays denied he had initiated any such threat and said, "Nobody was authorized to say such a thing. Somebody might have gotten impetuous." He also denied that he would seek to remove Thompson as subcommittee chairman.

Thompson accused Hays of using the powers of his committee "as a personal vehicle—a power base—for himself."

In another development, F. Edward Hebert said he has given up his fight to keep the chairmanship of the House Armed Services Committee.

Hebert, a Louisiana Democrat rejected by the caucus last week, had threatened to carry his fight to remain chairman to the full house. However, Speaker Carl Albert said this would violate House rules.

Hanson Manager

Ken Perry, president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, has announced that Terry Hanson, former executive assistant to Ron Mercer, has been named manager of the Chamber, effective today.

Mercer previously had been designated Chief Executive Officer, Big Spring Industrial Growth and Development. In that capacity, Mercer will spend most of his time working in this area.

Mercer, however, remains as executive vice president of the Chamber and will be responsible to the board of directors for continued operation of the Chamber.

Hanson, who grew up in Howard County, joined the Chamber last July 15, after receiving his degree in General Business from Angelo State University. He is single.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hanson, who reside on a farm north of Big Spring, Terry attended Howard College before enrolling at Angelo State University.

GIVEN UP FIGHT — Former House Armed Services Committee Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., looks over a stack of letters of support in this Washington office Tuesday after announcing that he was giving up his fight to retain the chairmanship. Hebert said he would not carry the fight to the full House as he previously announced.

Call To Strong Leadership

Texas enters a new era this week as the state inaugurates its first four-year governor, lieutenant governor and other top officials.

In what was billed as a "simple" ceremony, Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby will assume their new four-year terms. Instead of the elaborate parades and inauguration balls, there was a prayer breakfast, the noon swearing-in ceremony and a hand-shaking reception in the rotunda.

Perhaps this simple entrance into their new terms is the best move both Briscoe and Hobby could make. Both officials are facing terms of office in which this state needs intelligent, solemn leadership.

Although Texas is in good financial shape, despite this nation's economic troubles, the future promises some tough going in financing state services and in energy production. Texas is in need of a new method of public school financing, more adequate rate making procedures for utilities, prison reform, water procurement and conservation, nuclear energy production and improvement of our agricultural economy. That's not an easy order to fill. If Texas is going to maintain its sound economic base and improve social and educational conditions in the state, Gov. Briscoe, the legislature and all elected state officials will have to exhibit innovative leadership. This state cannot afford to backslide with a do-nothing state leadership. Vigor, inaugurative and initiative — with boldness — are needed.

Job Well Done

Ralph McLaughlin completed his term of office as Chamber of Commerce president Monday evening at the annual banquet, turning over the responsibility to Ken Perry.

He left behind a record of achievement and hard, unselfish work in behalf of his community. If for no other reason, his tenure will be remembered for the battle against the Texas International Airways bid to temporarily suspend service here (this would have left it with a permit which would effectively prevent any other carrier from coming in). TIA won the right to pull out, but without its dog-in-the-manger block to other airline service here. Immediately, El Paso Air Transport came in to provide temporary service in hopes of permanent Texas certification.

With financial aid from the city, the Chamber setup was revamped to put maximum strength in two directions — a new, full-time industrial arm, and the regular community promotions of the chamber.

Also, the city and county made strong representation in defense of an Interstate 27 designation on the US 87 route. His has been an exceptional year, a challenge for the future.

'Happy New Year!'

Around The Rim

Joe Pickle

I am sure Adolph Swartz, who was named man of the year, joins me in a little salute to the woman of the year, Dorothy Dublin Garrett, so honored at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Monday.

SHE MISSED HER moment of glory, and it's just as well for it would have put her ill at ease and would have provoked her to some incisive bit of wit. But her story is one that ought to encourage others who face overwhelming problems and handicaps to master them, instead of the other way around.

Dorothy Garrett, who came from a pioneer ranching family, started to school at old Central Ward and graduated from high school here with honors, having been a cheer leader, best all-around girl, and a pretty sharp columnist. In fact many of her friends here still call her Katie — Katy Keyhole, who kept her colleagues informed on what was going on — and with whom.

HER SCHOLASTICS earned her a scholarship to TCU, but after one year of that, the Depression made it impractical to continue so she got a job as secretary to the late T. S. Currie at State National. This upheaval of fortune was short lived, however, for she was stricken with polio in 1939. Had it not been for a newfangled iron lung, she couldn't have made it, but somehow she held on.

WHEN IT WAS decided she must be sent to an El Paso hospital with experience in this sort of thing, half the town turned out to follow the truck taking her to a T&P baggage car which carried her and her mother to the Border City. Even then it was touch and go, and as word of her plight made the wires, letters poured in from all over the country — so many the hospital had to tie her mail out in a separate bundle each day. Finally, when her doctors agreed she was over the immediate hump and told her she should begin to practice breathing and try to work her limbs, she responded: "I already am."

Back home, it was a long, tedious convalescence, but the boy next door who had grown up with her (and who used to gulp down his food at lunch so he could manage to be handy to take her back to school) was at her side. She and Horace Garrett were married, and to them were born two daughters, Ann and Sue.

WITH THE AID of a cane, Dorothy learned to get around, keep house, and even take part in door-to-door appeals such as March of Dimes, etc. with the aid of the girls. She and Horace were for years active in the Wednesday Night Dance Club. Although she couldn't participate on the floor, she took her turn as hostess and brightened every session. There were numerous other activities, such as 1930 Hyperion, Garden Club, the WSCS at First United Methodist (she's a life member).

THEN AGAIN, her course moved under a cloud with the illness and then the death of Horace in 1965. Characteristically, she stepped right into the middle of overseeing the banking, ranching, and widespread business affairs. She also took his place on the Howard College board, was on the Rehabilitation Center board, the official board of First Methodist Church, the YMCA, worked with the Salvation Army, the West Side Center and became a director of the Howard County Fair Association.

Her health, however, was playing her tricks, and she felt obliged to resign from the college board. Yet after a long period of hospitalization, and a too-short convalescence, she went back to the board in time to help choose a new president and talk about a community center.

THEN, SUDDENLY last December, she became ill — far more so than she realized at the moment. Once more, it was touch and go, but once more, she rallied and soon was making quips about it. When she got out of intensive care, she conned the doctors into letting her come home three days later. So one evening last week, the family gathered around and had the Christmas tree. It was indeed a Merry Christmas, to which all the town adds from the heart: "Happy New Year, Dorothy."

'Dumb' Animals

Robert E. Ford

Some animals are pets, some are enemies and often they are blessed or cursed with human traits.

A LOOK backward over the year just passed shows that animals found themselves in some strange circumstances.

Our favorite story is about a cheetah, the beautiful cat which can outstrip any other animal.

This particular cheetah is named Popeye and he resides at Lion Country Safari at Grand Prairie, creaking about on arthritic old joints.

He got a bad reputation from the time he was captured in Africa. His captors reported he wouldn't have anything to do with the other cats and they didn't like him, either.

He still was surly and disliked when he reached Texas. After a while, he had an unexplained change of personality.

Suddenly he became the glamor boy of Lion Country. In short order he fathered three litters of little cheetahs.

And he became something of a hero. Younger cheetahs gathered around him, and he became the leader of a colony.

SO THERE IS hope for all the people who go about muttering, "Nobody likes me."

Coyotes remain the abomination of the Southwest.

A good many people want to wipe them from the face of the earth or at least radically reduce their number. It isn't easy because the coyote is pretty smart. Others don't want ranchers to use the most effective method, and will wager these people don't own any sheep.

At Baylor University, Susan Scott near year's end was looking for 1,000 to 2,000 coyotes, apparently without thought as to what strewing many beasts about the Baylor campus would do.

MRS. SCOTT, a graduate student, wants to know whether coyotes are larger as some ranchers believe. Up on the Red River around Paris, they have an animal called a wolf. Yet some contend they are not wolves but hybrids of coyotes and wolves.

Professor Carl R. Gustavson of the University of Utah is approaching the coyote problem another way.

He feeds sheep to the coyotes with each carcass laced with lithium chloride.

The lithium chloride makes Mr. Coyote sick to his little tummy, and never again will he touch a sheep.

Proving Mr. Coyote is smarter than Man who after imbibing too heavily awakens the next morning swearing never to touch liquor again yet who never has a little snifter or two before dark that same day.

WE EXPECT coyotes get a little cranky after a meal of lithium chloride. Hogs just get cranky without chemical help.

So the federal government is spending $19,600 on a research project at Auburn University to find out why pigs get that way. Sometimes they become so cranky they expire.

"Hey! They're giving me a neat tax rebate!"

"So I've heard, Paul," said Peter.

What Others Say

There was a lot of jeering back in 1953 when Charles E. Wilson, Eisenhower's nominee for Secretary of Defense, remarked that what was good for the country was good for General Motors, and vice versa.

The jeering was made worse because his remark itself got turned vice versa. He was widely quoted as having only said what was good for General Motors was good for the country, which sounded quite different. Altogether, the poor chap got pilloried as the very caricature of the Wicked Big Businessman who would put corporate welfare ahead of the national welfare.

Right now hardly anyone can fail to see that the bad things that have been happening to the country — inflation and the oil shortage, for example — have been disastrous for Detroit. And just about everybody is beginning to notice that the bad things that are happening to Detroit — the sagging sales, the cut-back production — are in turn having very unhappy effects on the rest of the country.

The reason is that the auto industry interlocks with so much of our whole economy. Not only is the direct manufacture of automobiles itself a major enterprise in terms of capital and jobs, the industry also supports the thousands of dealers and gas stations scattered all over the country. It provides a market for hundreds of suppliers, from batteries to spark plugs, and is a major customer of many other large industries, notably steel, rubber and glass. It's been estimated that one out of every five industrial jobs in the country is related in some way to the auto industry.

That's why President Ford the other day had all those auto industry people at the White House. They came with tears in their eyes from the auto companies and the unions and the ranks of politicians, including the governor of Michigan.

Clearly it was a belated acknowledgement that Engine Charlie had a point. What isn't so clear is that everybody really understand the point.

For of course the real point of Mr. Wilson's remark was that there is a direct relationship between the welfare of the nation's business enterprises, of which the auto industry is one among many, and the welfare of the country. That, in fact, the two are inseparable.

We have a habit of dividing the economy into a public sector and a private sector. The private sector is bad because it is greedy profit-grubbing. The public sector is good because it provides for the welfare of the people.

Right now even the most obtuse politician can see how the plight of the auto business translates into long lines of the unemployed. But a Senator Jackson can still talk about the "obscene profits" of oil companies at a time when the real welfare of the people calls for untold billions of capital investment to find and deliver new oil resources. Just so at a time when the nation cries for new gas supplies the regulators choke them off because that would just help greedy business.

It never seems to occur to the railers against business that if new oil supplies aren't found, that if new natural gas supplies aren't piped to industry, the lines of the unemployed will grow even longer.

It ought to be clear to anybody that there is no such thing as a job in any industry unless there is first the capital to build the plant and provide the tools for the laborer to do his job. Yet for years our taxing policy has been designed to discourage capital formation.

Worse, by recognizing interest payments, as an expense but not dividends, our tax laws encourage the piling up of debt while discouraging entrepreneurial capital investment. And to add to that problem the government is the biggest borrower of all, borrowing billions for non-productive purposes and so driving up all interest rates.

Now, of course, with business in sad estate, with company after company in financial distress, with unemployment lines lengthening everywhere, business is threatened with more controls while the government, understandably enough, talks of enlarging the public sector to provide relief for those thrown out of work by the maltreatment of the private sector. And who, pray, is to pay for it? — Vermont Royster in WALL STREET JOURNAL

U.S. Bonds Popular

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks, corporate bonds, mutual funds and even savings institutions had a hard time attracting savers and investors in 1974, but so is the U.S. Savings Bonds program.

More than twice as much money now is invested in Savings Bonds than at the end of World War II, when the program began. The total at the beginning of 1975 was $63.8 billion, $3 billion more than a year earlier.

Treasury officials aren't certain why the bonds have retained their appeal while the public lost confidence in many other investments. Some people credit the 6 per cent interest rate, some the effectiveness of payroll deduction plans.

The troubled economic situation also is cited, and so is the power of the U.S. government. Many people appear to feel that government obligations, such as bonds are the most secure investment of all, more so even than gold.

At the very time gold was about to go on sale for the first time in 41 years, sales of bonds spurted. In the fourth quarter alone some $6.86 billion were sold, the greatest for any fourth quarter since 1945.

The bond program hasn't always fared so well. In the late 1960s, redemptions exceeded sales month after month until federal officials got unstuck and realized the 4.5 per cent rate had to be raised.

Both Series E bonds, which are sold at a discount and redeemed at face value, and Series H, which are sold at full face value and pay interest every six months, now offer a 6 per cent rate.

Even at that, bondholders literally lose money so long as the inflation rate remains higher. But the security, and the fact that on the more popular Series E bonds the tax on interest can be deferred, seems to offset the disadvantage.

BUT REACTION by many key Democratic Congressmen forbodes the worst: refuse to move at all but instead stare down the President, forcing him to drop the import tax. Thus, instead of forceful action vital to the national interest, the first comprehensive energy program ever to come from the White House could result in dangerous stalemate. That Mr. Ford is playing high stakes poker with Congress shows how far he has travelled the last two months. When Mr. Ford returned from Vladivostok Nov. 24, he seemed oblivious to reality — including the untended energy crisis.

HOWEVER, BRIEFINGS soon educated Mr. Ford to the need for mandatory conservation. Long before he realized what was at stake, Mr. Ford had promised no new gasoline tax. Since he was philosophically opposed to rationing, only one option remained: taxing all oil to force up prices and reduce consumption.

That left Mr. Ford with this choice: should he use existing law to tax imported oil or should he ask Congress for new statutory authority as part of the energy legislative package? The decision, essentially political, was in Mr. Ford's own hands.

THE PRESIDENT made his decision about two weeks ago, without much agonizing and without consulting Republican congressional leaders — two characteristics of his presidency.

'Gun At The Head'

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Once President Ford finally perceived the reality of the energy crisis, he made a strategic decision that could have fateful consequences: to impose an import tax on oil without asking specific congressional authority.

"THAT'S A GUN at our head," one outraged Senate Democrat complained. The gun is the gradually rising oil import tax, which would create agonizing maladjustments throughout the economy unless other crucial aspects of Mr. Ford's program are passed by Congress. This is privately confirmed within the administration. "Sure, it's a gun at our head," one senior official told us. "How else can you get Congress to move?"

BUT REACTION by many key Democratic Congressmen forbodes the worst: refuse to move at all but instead stare down the President, forcing him to drop the import tax. Thus, instead of forceful action vital to the national interest, the first comprehensive energy program ever to come from the White House could result in dangerous stalemate. That Mr. Ford is playing high stakes poker with Congress shows how far he has travelled the last two months. When Mr. Ford returned from Vladivostok Nov. 24, he seemed oblivious to reality — including the untended energy crisis.

HOWEVER, BRIEFINGS soon educated Mr. Ford to the need for mandatory conservation. Long before he realized what was at stake, Mr. Ford had promised no new gasoline tax. Since he was philosophically opposed to rationing, only one option remained: taxing all oil to force up prices and reduce consumption.

That left Mr. Ford with this choice: should he use existing law to tax imported oil or should he ask Congress for new statutory authority as part of the energy legislative package? The decision, essentially political, was in Mr. Ford's own hands.

THE PRESIDENT made his decision about two weeks ago, without much agonizing and without consulting Republican congressional leaders — two characteristics of his presidency.

When Does Growing Stop

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My daughter is 13 years old and is 5 feet, 8 inches tall. I am 5-foot-5, and my husband is 6 feet.

My daughter has had about six periods. I'm told that growth usually stops after menstruation begins.

Years ago, my neighbor's family doctor told her that her daughter still had a little way to go before her growth would stop — something about putting her arm under a machine and being able to see the bone structure.

Is there any way we could find out about our daughter and whether she will continue to grow? We don't want to do anything that might harm her, but we would like to know because she is quite conscious of her height and we would like to help. — Mrs. D.D.

Endocrinologists (doctors who specialize in glandular disorders, some of which can be related to abnormal growth) can tell with some accuracy by X-ray what is called the "bone age" of the child. If the epiphyses (bone endings) of the limb are closed off (fused), then they can say that further growth will not occur.

They can tell a great deal from the degree of this fusing, including how much further growth can be expected. Human growth is determined mainly by the secretion (or lack of it) of one of the several hormones manufactured in the pituitary gland. This particular hormone is called human growth hormone (HGH). Heredity is, of course, another important factor in just how tall an individual will become.

Growth in girls follows a different pattern than in boys. In the case of boys, puberty is usually accompanied by an additional surge in growth with production of testosterone, the male sex hormone.

With girls, puberty is related to the production of estrogen, the female sex hormone, which means a slowing down of vertical growth, with more emphasis on development of sexual characteristics such as the breasts.

Since you are concerned, you should visit an endocrinologist who will be able to examine her and tell you what you can expect in the way of future growth for your daughter.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the newest development in diabetes and its treatments? — J.K.G.

Most of the exciting new developments in diabetes have been in the laboratory — experimental but promising. These include a system of automatic monitoring of the blood sugar keyed to release insulin when needed. Another involves the actual transplant of insulin-producing islet cells in the pancreas with a resulting decrease in blood glucose. Such studies have been done with laboratory animals, and in the case of monitoring are only beginning to involve humans.

As far as the standard treatment of diabetes is concerned there is little new. As a founding member of the American Diabetes Association back in the '60s, I have quite naturally watched this particular field with interest.

Weight reduction is essential if the patient is obese, as is an appropriate diet, with or without insulin supplement, depending on the seriousness of the diabetes.

Medication to lower blood sugar continues to be an effective treatment. Exercise should not be neglected. ***

To learn of the many factors involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia (which concerns the esophagus), write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Due to Social Security being effective at age 62 many companies have made retirement mandatory at that age. I believe this is unfair, as many employees are skilled in their work and could go on for at least three more years on a livable salary. What is your opinion? H.B.

Early retirement is good for some people, and bad for others. One good aspect is that retired people, if they are financially able, can do many of the things they have wished they had time for before. Retirement allows time for travel, for reading, for hobbies and even the launching of a new career.

Few people are actually capable of total retirement, nor is it advisable. The human mind and body requires activity, and to bring the mental and physical system to a grinding halt can be psychologically damaging.

If your letter implies sudden enforced retirement, with no advance notice, this is indeed poor personnel policy, and subjects the employe to unnecessary hardship. The other factor is that as the need for certain skills change, management gets caught in an economic squeeze, and payroll reduction may be the only solution. Negotiation, it seems to me, between both parties, is imperative.

I challenge my business friends to live up to Paul's guidelines in Colossians 3 and 4. He tells employes to "work hard and cheerfully as though you were working for the Lord," and then warns employes, "be just and fair." Always remember that you too have a Master in Heaven.

Wouldn't punching a clock be ecstasy if labor and management behaved that way?

A Devotion For Today . . .

"God saw everything that he had made, and, behold, it was very good." (Genesis 1:31)
 PRAYER: Dear God, teach us to be still and open our minds and spirits to Thy great creative power to help us achieve Thy will for our lives. We ask in the name of Thy beloved Son, who taught us to pray, "Our Father who art in heaven . . . Amen."

HUNT'S SEALED ENVELOPES, PACKAGES Burglar Passed Data To CIA

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former White House aide Charles W. Colson says that convicted Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt passed information to the CIA for nine months after the agency claims it cut off relations with Hunt, two sources report.

The sources said Tuesday night that, according to Colson, Hunt delivered sealed envelopes and packages to Richard Ober, Ober has been identified by other sources as the CIA counterintelligence officer who headed a unit designed to monitor any connections between domestic radicals and foreigners during the Nixon administration.

PLEASE EXPLAIN In a probe spurred by allegations in The New York Times that Ober's unit conducted illegal domestic surveillance, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee will ask former CIA Director Richard M. Helms today to explain apparent discrepancies in his sworn statements on the CIA's domestic activities. Meanwhile, Senate leaders continue to discuss the membership of a proposed select committee to investigate the CIA, FBI and other U.S. intelligence agencies.

Speaking to Sens. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., and Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn., Colson said that he suspected Hunt's envelopes contained tapes and other material relating to operations of the White House plumbers unit, the sources said.

Colson also said Ober passed the information to Helms and that he continued until late May 1972. The CIA has said it stopped providing Hunt aid for Colson's projects on the plumbers unit on Aug. 27, 1971.

The sources stressed that the two senators, both of whom served on the Senate Watergate Committee, had obtained no independent confirmation of Colson's assertions.

GUILTY Spokesmen for the two senators confirmed Tuesday night that they had requested the meeting Monday with Colson and that he was brought from Ft. Holabird, Md., to the federal courthouse in Alexandria, Va., for the session.

Colson is serving one to three years in prison after pleading guilty to obstruction of justice.

Bank Robbed Of $3,000

O'DONNELL — A man believed to be 55 to 60 years of age exhibited no weapon but showed a threatening note to senior cashier Dean Davis Tuesday before robbing the First National Bank here of about $3,000 in cash.

The holdup was the first of its kind on the South Plains since the 1960s.

The car bearing the suspect sped westward out of town about 1 p.m., then disappeared. Details given by witnesses were sketchy.

Davis is the only person who saw the man face to face. He said the act took less than half a minute. No customers were in the bank at the time. Mrs. Roddy Doss, another employee of the bank, said she was not even aware a robbery was taking place.

Davis said the man had red hair and wore a suit coat. He was described as a man of medium build, about six feet tall and weighing 150 to 160 pounds.

The bank cashier said the get-away car looked like a late-model Chrysler. The victim was unable to get a license plate number. A 1971 Chrysler Newport had been stolen from a Lubbock automobile firm earlier.

Mayors Will Urge Ford, Demos To Act Swiftly

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The legislative action arm of the U.S. Conference of Mayors says it will urge President Ford and the Democrat-dominated Congress to act swiftly to reverse a depression in the nation's housing industry, especially in the inner cities.

Specifically, Mayor Richard Hatcher of Gary, Ind., said the mayors will urge reduced interest rates, an increased supply of mortgage money and efforts to stimulate production of multi-family housing in urban areas for low and middle-income groups.

The attack program emerged following a meeting between the mayors and the 1,000-member board of directors of the National Association of Home Builders (NAHB) at the NAHB convention here.

"We intend to go to Congress. We intend to appeal to the congressional leadership and to meet with the appropriate congressional committees and ask them to immediately take up proposals aimed at relieving the present crisis," said Hatcher, a cochairman of the mayors' legislative committee.

Mayor Lee Alexander of Syracuse, N.Y., the other cochairman, said the NAHB and the mayors agreed to "a marriage" to work together with "political clout" to get government action.

A prime area of concern — and one where the builders and mayors share different views — is the rehabilitation and preservation of inner city homes.

"A major concern of the U.S. Conference of Mayors is to secure a high national priority for efforts to preserve and rehabilitate our existing housing stock," said Alexander. "While the NAHB has in the past supported rehabilitation programs, the production of new houses has clearly been their major concern."

making a profit there. Kenneth Gibson, mayor of Newark, N.J., called for "immediate federal action to spur construction and rehabilitation of housing in the nation's cities."

"Even in good times there has been a shortage of decent housing in our cities," Gibson said. "But the nationwide recession has brought most construction to a standstill, and has made the shortage of housing so acute that it is insufferable for many of our most helpless citizens."

RENT SUBSIDIES Gibson called for an immediate resumption of federal subsidies to reduce the rent for families of low and moderate incomes, and to reduce interest rates on home mortgages.

Gibson also urged a new federal priority for rehabilitation because it "is cheaper, faster than new construction and causes less upheaval and displacement of families than new construction and demolition."

Trucking Firm Enters Suit

Sanders Trucking Co. and its owner have filed a 118th District Court suit for $17,689 against Co-Op Gins of Big Spring in connection with a cotton bale fire.

The suit brought by Garland Sanders alleges his employe, Ronnie Gaskit, had left an area near the gin to refuel a front-end loader, Jan. 10.

While Gaskit was absent, a bale on fire was removed from the gin, the petition contends, and placed near bales Gaskit was loading.

The truck driver noticed cotton he was hauling on fire 10 miles east of the loading point, the suit says. Damaged or destroyed by fire were 56 bales, it reads.

SPECIALIST — Gene Ermenio (above) is the new personnel staffing specialist in the Webb Air Force Base Civilian Personnel office. In his staffing duties, he will deal with filling vacancies on base and recruit from off base. Also, he seeks those people available through Civil Service from other military installations, or possibly former employes who may be reinstated. Before moving last October, to Webb, Ermenio worked as a supervisory personnel assistant at the 21st Air Division, Syracuse, N.Y. He called that city his hometown and was graduated from Syracuse University with a degree in personnel management.

Son Requests Failing Grade

AUSTIN (AP) — The son of University of Texas Chancellor Charles LeMaistre has been given a failing grade in a biology course at the boy's request, assistant dean Jerry Moseley said.

An instructor accused the chancellor last week of pressuring her to give William LeMaistre a make-up final examination after she had turned in an "F" for the student.

William got a "C" after taking the make-up at his convenience.

University regents are investigating the matter.

Medals Awarded Three At Local Air Facility

Medals and recognition went to six men at Webb AFB recently. Those receiving the Air Force Commendation Medal were: MSgt. James W. Carter, Tsgt. Jerome R. Larson and Tsgt. James H. Richards.

All received their awards during their retirement ceremony at the base. Sgt. Carter was the T-38 line chief, aircraft maintenance superintendent and aircraft quality control inspector in the Organization Maintenance Squadron. His citation stated that through his "demonstrated expertise, the quality of aircraft maintenance was vastly improved, exceeding acceptable standard."

Sgt. Larson received his award for meritorious service while assigned to the 78th Field Maintenance Squadron as a jet engine technician.

Sgt. Richards served as the noncommissioned officer in charge of the precision measurement equipment laboratory of the Field Maintenance Squadron. His citation read, "his high standards of work performance contributed immeasurably to the success of the mission to meet monthly scheduled calibration."

The three men receiving recognition for doing outstanding work were Amn. Mark W. Harris, crew chief; Capt. Keith A. Stoeber and Capt. John M. McNabb Jr., instructors pilots. Airman Harris works on "B" row and the flying crews of the 3389th and 82nd Flying Training Squadrons picked him as the T-37 Crew Chief of the Month for December. He is assigned to the Organizational Maintenance Squadron.

Capt. Stoeber, in addition to his instructor pilot duties, is flight grade book officer in the 3389th Flying Training Squadron. He developed an efficient system which was especially suited to the Security Assistance Training Program. He also gave the foreign students additional briefings and training missions in instrument procedures which gave them better understanding and improved their performance. Capt. McNabb is assistant flight commander of "G" Flight in the 83rd Flying Training Squadron which flies the T-38s. He recently completed upgrade training in minimum time to become a senior RSU controller. During a recent disabling injury, he declined convalescent leave in order to carry out many non-flying duties associated with training pilots.

Lone Star Gas Seeks $30 Million Increase

DALLAS (AP) — Lone Star Gas Co. has made what it calls an "urgent" request to the Texas Railroad Commission for a statewide increase which would provide an additional $30 million in revenue.

The company blames spiraling natural gas prices and inflation in operating costs.

The only good news for the residential gas user was a request to restructure rates so that the largest increase would be on the largest users of gas.

Star rate officer and assistant controller, said the 24 per cent increase in the wholesale rate was the company's largest request in recent years.

If approved by the Railroad Commission, the average residential bill in Texas would rise $2 a month, or from about $100 to $124 annually.

Lone Star asked the commission to approve $19 million of the total as an emergency interim hike.

"We must have relief granted promptly to buy natural gas," said Harry Merritt, assistant general counsel. "If the request is not granted within a reasonable time, Lone Star won't be able to acquire additional reserves to serve our customers."

Lone Star paid an average of 20 cents per thousand cubic feet in April 1973. Reading said that by last November, the price had soared to 45 cents.

Some new supplies of natural gas now cost up to $1.75 per thousand cubic feet and will continue to push the average costs up for the company, Reading said.

An excise tax proposed by President Ford also would have to be passed on to the customer, Reading said.

RPC Meeting Attracts City, County Group

A delegation of county and city officials headed by Judge Bill Tune and City Councilmen Harold Hall and Charles Tompkins will attend the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission semi-annual membership meeting Thursday in Seminole.

A number of city and county officials are also expected to attend. Judge Tune and Hall are board members for the commission and Tompkins serves on one of the committees.

The board meeting will follow the membership dinner and includes considering resolutions on grant applications for the city of Big Spring for Texas Highway Department funds for the 11th Place project and Scurry Street up to 15th street.

City Officials Plan Conclave

City administrators have appointments with Mike Ezell, state legislator and State Senator Ray Farabee when they go to Austin Thursday in connection with the proposed softball complex.

City Manager Harry Nagel, Bob Butler, assistant manager and Jim Gregg, city attorney, will attend the meetings of the parks and recreation board, in the hope of obtaining allotted funds for the project and then will discuss with the legislator and senator the possible acquisition of state land in the area of the park. This would be with the consent of the Big Spring State Hospital.

Miller, Nicklaus To Meet

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — "The pressure is on him now," said Johnny Miller, looking forward to his head-to-head confrontation with Jack Nicklaus in this week's Bing Crosby National Pro-Am Golf Tournament. "People are beginning to wonder now," Miller said. "They're beginning to ask, 'Hey, look at this Johnny Miller and what he's doing. Is Jack really that good?'" "He hasn't played in quite a while. The pressure is on him."

And Nicklaus, for a decade the dominant player in the game but a sideline spectator during Miller's amazing Arizona exploits, had but one reply: "I've risen to the occasion before."

Miller, who set some astonishing records in his second consecutive sweep of the two Arizona tournaments that opened the tour this year, and Nicklaus will have their first meeting of the season in this event that begins a 72-hole run Thursday over three courses on the spectacularly beautiful Monterey Peninsula.

"I've had a good rest," Nicklaus said. "And I've worked harder on my game than I have in a long time. I'm really anxious to start playing now."

Nicklaus was at his home in Florida, while Miller was splashing his gaudy arithmetic across the scoreboards of the Southwest.

He won the Phoenix Open with a 260 total, the lowest 72-hole score in 20 years of tournament competition. He shot an 11-under-par 61, within one stroke of the all-time tour record, in his victory at Tucson. He was 49-under-par for the two tournaments and won them by 14 and 9 stroke margins. His rounds this year have been 67, 61, 68, 64, 66, 69, 67 and 61.

Included are such $1 million winners as Tom Weiskopf, Billy Casper, Bruce Crampton and Gene Littler, along with such multiple winners from 1974 as Hubert Green, Bobby Nichols and Dave Stockton.

Each two-man squad, one pro and one amateur, play one round each over Pebble Beach, Spyglass Hill and Cypress Point before Sunday's final round at Pebble Beach.

Portions of the final two rounds will be telecast nationally by ABC-TV.

SEAVER: ALL SET TO GO! — New York Mets' pitcher Tom Seaver straightens out his equipment at New York's Shea Stadium Tuesday after signing a new contract with the team. The contract calls for a salary cut of about $13,000. But that still leaves him with $160,000 a year.

Seaver's Pay Receives Cut

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Seaver thinks he now knows what caused all of his problems last season. "It was a simple thing... mechanical," he said. "I was jamming my heel instead of landing on the ball of my foot," he explained.

That, according to Seaver, caused a constant jarring of his spine and eventually led to the sciatic nerve condition in his left hip that bothered him all season long.

Seaver struggled to an 11-11 season with a bloated 3.20 earned run average and paid the price when he signed for 1975. He confirmed a good-sized cut from last year's $170,000, probably down to $150,000.

"I expected it," said the Mets' ace right-hander. "The club has always been good and honest with me, as I feel I've been with them. They paid a good amount last year and I certainly don't feel I pitched to that amount. I felt a cut was in order."

Seaver feels that his 1974 problems started in spring training. "I had finished 1973 with a tender shoulder and I was overprotective of my arm in camp. I was lazy with my mechanics," he said.

"A lot of pitching is habitual," he said. "It's like riding a bicycle. Once you get rolling, it takes care of itself."

Unfortunately for Seaver and the Mets, he never got rolling in 1974. "When you're pitching well, you have a sense of timing. I never had that last year."

Rockets Rocked, 113-102

HOUSTON (AP) — Dave Cowens says the fast break is the Boston Celtics' style of play.

"If we run it, we'll win a lot of games," Cowens said Tuesday night after the Celtics had smashed the Houston Rockets 113-102 in a National Basketball Association game.

John Havlicek scored 22 points as the Celtics had six players in double figures en route to their fourth straight victory.

Houston lost its seventh straight contest despite a 34-point production by Calvin Murphy.

The Celtics won the game in the first half and zoomed to a 62-46 edge after two periods.

Havlicek had 16 points in the first half while Paul Westphal had 10. A 14-8 first quarter Rocket lead vanished as the Celtics honed their fast break

Coahoma Waxes Warm In 3 With Stamford

COAHOMA — Coahoma waxed warm in all three games with Stamford here Tuesday night.

The girls' JV unit started things off on the right foot for the Big Red, winning, 65-4. Melissa Brown counted 23 points in that one for Coahoma, while Hafer and Connolly each had two for Stamford.

In the girls' varsity contest, Coach Sonny Barnes got excellent play out of his guards and Coahoma won, 44-28. The back court people were Fairey Ross, Tanya Sterling, Donna James, Trena Bayes, Lusara Phinney and Tina Swan. That combination held the visitors to four points in the opening period and 14 in the first half.

Becky Snell and Patty Hulme each scored 16 points for the Bulldogs.

Coahoma's boys went over the 100-point mark for the fourth time this season, winning, 112-36. In sewing up their fifth 6-AA victory in six starts, the Bulldogs hit a new high for the year.

Keith Stone banged in 21 points and Brad Milliken 19 for Coahoma. Over-all, Coahoma is 20-5. The home team had six players in double figures.

The Coahoma varsity girls are 16-7 on the year and 8-0 within the league.

The Coahoma teams play next to Ballinger in another conference doubleheader Friday night.

Apps' Wife To Sport New Car

MONTREAL (AP) — Anne Apps will have a new car soon, courtesy of her husband Syl, who wrote himself into the history books with two goals Tuesday night in the 28th National Hockey League All-Star game.

Apps won the car as his Prince of Wales Conference teammates cruised to a 7-1 victory over the Clarence Campbell Conference in the historically classic but ritually wide-open event.

And among the record crowd of 16,997 at the Montreal Forum were two beaming parents who watched their favorite center overcome pregame nervousness to rise to the top of the league's playing cream.

"I'm awed just to be in the dressing room with these guys," the Pittsburgh Penguins' parent said. "I was more worried about making too many mistakes than to even think about scoring two goals."

But score he did, with his former star father looking on proudly.

Apps was a little more than 2½ months old when Syl Apps Sr. scored a goal and an assist in the first official All-Star game played. Tuesday night, the two stood together in the steamy Prince of Wales dressing room.

"I've had a lot of thrills in hockey," said the elder Apps, who scored 201 goals for the Toronto Maple Leafs in a 10-year career, "but this is one of the greatest thrills I've ever had, watching my boy tonight."

"The only advice I ever gave him was to skate hard, hit hard and don't get hurt."

And the 27-year-old prodigy followed those rules perfectly at the Forum, although the hitting — along with the Campbell Conference defense — clearly was missing.

"When they got ahead 3-0, the game was over," said Philadelphia center Bobby Clarke, one of five Flyers on the Campbell roster. "Then we started taking chances, which opened it up even

Robinson's Shots Find MVC Mark

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Richard Robinson thinks of himself usually as a good defensive player for New Mexico State.

Currently, however, he has turned into an offensive star, leading the Aggies in scoring after hitting for 24 points last week against Bradley and 18 against North Texas State.

For his hot shooting, the 6-foot-3 sophomore guard was named today as Missouri Valley Conference player of the week.

For the season Robinson is shooting .588 and has led the Aggies in scoring in each Valley game of the season.

"The big thing about Richard really isn't his scoring," his coach, Lou Henson, said. "He is playing great defense and his ball handling has helped the team tremendously. He is playing better all-around basketball this season."

After winning the Bradley and North Texas State games last week, New Mexico State has a 3-1 record in the conference and 11-3 over-all.

Good basketball is a tradition for Robinson. His older brother Larry was an outstanding player at the University of Texas and a cousin, Eugene Smith, plays for West Texas State.

Others nominated for player honors by the conference this week were Neil

Hull, Howe Carry West

EDMONTON (AP) — All-time greats Bobby Hull and Gordie Howe tallied during a four-goal second-period outburst that carried the West to a 6-4 triumph over the East in the World Hockey Association All-Star Game Tuesday night.

Howe and his Houston Aero teammates dominated the West scoring. Andre Hinse scored two goals while the 46-year-old Howe's son, Mark, and Ted Taylor netted one apiece.

Hull, playing coach of the Winnipeg Jets, accounted for the other West goal. It came at 4:23 of the second period, snapped a 2-2 tie and triggered the West to its first victory in the WHA's three-year existence. The East captured the first two All-Star Games 6-2 and 6-4.

Rejean Houle of the Quebec Nordiques got two of the East goals while Marc Tardif of the Michigan Stags and Quebec's Serge Bernier tallied the others.

After Hull gave the West a 3-2 lead, Hinse's second goal made it 4-2 at 6:35.

Denies Gesture Charge Texas Finds Rough Road In Loop Play

HONOLULU (AP) — An angry former University of Hawaii player, John Penebaker, denied Tuesday that he made an obscene gesture toward the American flag during a basketball game with Texas Christian University in 1973. "It's not true. I flatly deny it," said the 27-year-old four-year veteran of the U.S. Air Force. "I think it's fascinating that they should come along with something like this," Penebaker said. "What the hell would I do that for?"

Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton couldn't have asked for a sweeter Southwest Conference basketball debut. Sutton, who coached independent Creighton for the last five years, unleashed his defensive wizardry on preseason favorite Texas Tech Tuesday night and the Red Raiders tumbled 65-62 before an enthusiastic home audience. "I felt our defense was the key," Sutton said. "Texas Tech is still the best team we've played this year. We had tremendous crowd support. They picked us up two or three times when we started to let down. "If Tech had left here with a win, it would have put them way ahead in the conference race." Defending champion Texas also found the going rough on the road, falling 74-59 to fired-up Southern Methodist in Dallas. Texas Christian bounced Baylor 73-65 in Fort Worth and the Texas Aggies came from behind to defeat Rice 64-61 in Houston. Arkansas was successful in boxing big Tech center Rick Bullock off the boards, allowing him just eight rebounds although Bullock was high point man with 21-14 of the points in the first half. "I was disappointed in the defense at times, but that was caused by Bullock," Sutton said. "The defense did, however, end up winning the game for us." Guard Ricky Medlock scored 16 points and forward Kent Allison plucked off 10 big rebounds before the crowd of 5,100 fans. Texas showed the effects of a two-week layoff with cold shooting and poor rebounding against the smaller Mustangs. "The layoff hurt Texas," said SMU Coach Bob Prewitt.

Wanda Harrill Wed To Former Resident

Miss Wanda Sue Harrill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Harrill of Andrews, was married Saturday afternoon to Alvin James Watson of Midland, formerly of Big Spring.

Watson, the son of Mrs. Etta Oneata Melton of Comanche, graduated from Big Spring High School in 1972 and is now employed by Tretolite in Midland. The bride, who graduated from Andrews High School, attends Columbia Secretarial College, Odessa. After a trip to Dallas and Tyler, the couple will reside in the Lexington Apartments, Midland.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Carl Grissom in the First Baptist Church, Andrews, where the altar setting was enhanced with candelabra and a table arrangement of daisies and gypsophila.

The vocalist, Charles Goza, was accompanied by Mrs. Charles H. Burroughs, organist.

Carrying a nosegay of daisies, carnations and lily of the valley, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white knit; the fitted, empire bodice featuring a center gathering which created a shirred line. Venise lace and seed pearls formed trim on the bodice, at the high neckline and wrists of the bishop sleeves. The A-line skirt flowed into a chapel-length train. Her mantilla veil, extending over the train, was edged in Venise lace and held by a matching Camelot cap.

The maid of honor was Miss Sue Ann Owens of Midland, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Barry Stephens,

MRS. ALVIN JAMES WATSON

Tyler, and Mrs. Larry D. Patterson, Midland. They were identically attired in yellow, flocked gowns in floral print. Best man was Daniel R. Holden, Midland; with groomsmen being Troy Melton, U.S. Army, brother of the bridegroom; Larry D. Patterson, Midland; and Barry Stephens, groomsmen. Ushers were Travis Melton, Comanche, brother of the bridegroom; and Michael Harrill, Andrews, brother of the bride; Tori Duckworth was the flower girl. Brothers of the couple, Tommy Harrill and Irviss Melton, lighted the candles.

The reception was held in the fellowship hall where refreshments were served by Mrs. Allen Atkins, Mrs. Bob Dailey, Miss Kim Yancy, Mrs. Daniel Holden and Mrs. Etta Melton. Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Vickie Porter and Miss Tina Porter, both of Big Spring.

This Photographer Took More Than Her Picture

DEAR ABBY: I met a man who said he was a top photographer for a famous magazine. He asked me to pose for him, saying I would get $100 for every picture. I agreed, and he came over on Sunday with his camera.

I posed with nothing on but a Santa Claus hat and beard. He also took a lot of pictures of me naked in the shower with the water running. We went outside, and he shot pictures of me picking oranges off a tree. Then we drove to the beach and he got some more shots of me on the beach and in the water. It took the whole day.

About halfway through, he ran out of film and didn't have his wallet, so I advanced him $20 for more film. Later we got hungry, so he borrowed $10 from me to pay for eats.

He promised he'd call me after the pictures were developed, but I don't know how to get in touch with him. I want my $30 back but I'm afraid to go to the police because I said I was 21 and I'm only 17, and I don't want to get into trouble for being under age and posing like that. Thanks for any help you can give me.

G. IN LONG BEACH
DEAR G: My guess is that the photographer is a phony. You could write to the magazine he claimed to work for, but don't be surprised if they've never heard of him. I can't help you get your $30 back, but I have some valuable advice for you: DON'T pose for any more strangers or you could lose a lot more than $30!

DEAR ABBY: I am a very attractive widower, having lost my wife two years ago.

My problem? I have a small fortune stuck in the stock market, and I don't have to tell you what's happened to the market.

How do I go about finding a charming middle-aged widow who could perhaps offset my losses with her gains?

TOOK A BEATING
DEAR TOOK: You appear to be looking for a "trade-off," not a wife. Too bad you didn't give me your address so I could tip off the charming, middle-aged, well-to-do widows in your area.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I go dancing quite often with several other couples. We all exchange dances except this one man, who dances only the first dance with his wife —then he sits. He never asks any of the other ladies to dance.

Meanwhile, the wife of this non-dancing man (I'll call her Vera) is asked to dance by all the other husbands as she is very pretty and a good dancer. So while Vera is dancing, one of the other wives has to sit it out.

I think that since all the husbands know that Vera's husband never asks any other woman to dance, they should not ask Vera to dance. After all, if one woman has to be sitting out, shouldn't it be Vera, since it's her husband who is sitting out?

What would you offer as a solution to this problem?

PART-TIME SIT-OUT
DEAR PART: It appears that the men are happy, but their wives aren't. Why not chuck the old tradition that says the woman must wait for the gentleman to ask her to dance? YOU do the asking — and every woman for herself!

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Nerve Problems Are Aired At Conference

Recovery Inc. held a leader's meeting here recently at the First Presbyterian Church. Featured in the discussions were Irv Finkler of Dallas, West Texas leader, along with Mrs. Charlene Lieske and Mrs. Peggy Dogget of Midland, as well as Mrs. Otillie Van Vleet, supervisor of nursing service at Big Spring State Hospital; Mrs. Betty Condray of staff development at the hospital; and local members of Recovery Inc.

The purpose of the meeting was to enable members to keep abreast of new recovery methods in a program which serves an association of nervous people and former mental patients. The aim is to prevent relapses in former patients and chronicity in persons who are overly nervous.

Regular meetings of the group are held weekly, and they are open to the public.

Recovery Inc. was founded in 1937 by Dr. Abraham Low, a psychiatrist and director of a Psychiatric Institute of Illinois. It has some 15,000 groups in the United States as well as units in Canada, Israel, Ireland and Puerto Rico. The purpose is to teach the individual how to deal with "everyday trivia" that threatens to overcome him, to build self confidence and to convince the person of his own worth and individuality.

The Recovery motto stresses that "temper is your worst enemy and humor is your best friend." In Recovery, one is taught the method that enables him to understand and control temper as well as other nervous symptoms.

The Recovery group in Big Spring was started over two years ago and has about 20 members. The membership fee is $7.50 per year, but one need not be a member to attend the meetings. Recovery is self-supporting, and its leaders are all volunteers. Complete anonymity is possible, if a person from all walks of life attend these groups regularly to maintain mental health. The organization does not attempt to take the place of the physician but works with him and, often, at his request. Full emphasis is placed on its being a self help program.

The weekly meetings are held at 6:30 p.m., Thursdays, at First Presbyterian Church, Seventh and Runnels. Entry is made at the north door, and the meeting room is on the second floor. Persons interested in further information are invited to call 263-6048 before 2:30 p.m.

CHILDREN BAFLED Snow Blankets Areas Close To Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Snow covered cactus plants and baffled children in the Valley of Mexico Tuesday as the first snowfall in the region in eight years damaged crops and caused at least eight deaths and 49 injuries in traffic collisions. The snow did not fall on Mexico City but blanketed outlying areas on the foothills of the mountains surrounding the Valley of Mexico. Mexico City, "the city of eternal spring," last had snow in 1967 when about three inches fell on the capital. As much as 11 inches of snow were reported in some northern states today but only about two inches fell around Mexico City. Residents pulled overcoats out of mothballs as the thermometer fell to 35 degrees. Traffic jammed highways leading out of the city as parents took their children for their first glimpse of snow. Some cars returned with small snowmen on their roofs.

but West not unnaturally led from the top of his sequence. Declarer won dummy's king of spades, drew trumps in two rounds, then cashed ace of spades and ruffed a spade. Next came the ace and king of diamonds, and a low club off the table. East followed low, as did declarer, and West was in with the jack of clubs. With only spades and diamonds left in his hand, he was forced to concede a ruff-and-sluff. Declarer ruffed in dummy, discarding a club from his hand, and took the club finesse to make his slam.

Declarer's line of play made his hand an open book. Since he could have ruffed a diamond in dummy if he held a third diamond, South was marked with an original distribution of five hearts and four clubs. If declarer's clubs were headed by A-Q-J, there was no way the slam could be defeated—declarer would simply take two club finesses and concede a club. Therefore, East should have based his defense on his partner's holding a singleton jack or queen of clubs and so taken reach six hearts. After South jumped in hearts over his no trump with good up with the king, "swallowing" his partner's jack—a followed with cue-bids, and when North made a further play called the Crocodile Coup. No matter what he again, South elected to spades declarer did thereafter, East would have to come to two club tricks for a one-trick given declarer no chance, set.

It's as important for the defenders to count the hand as it is for declarer. Had East stopped to work out South's distribution, he might have come up with the winning defense to beat a slam. North-South bid well to reach six hearts. After South jumped in hearts over his no trump opening, North cue-bid spades to show a maximum, East should have gone up with the king, "swallowing" his partner's jack—a followed with cue-bids, and when North made a further play called the Crocodile Coup. No matter what he again, South elected to spades declarer did thereafter, East would have to come to two club tricks for a one-trick given declarer no chance, set.

Oak Samplings To Be Offered

MIDLAND — Twelve hundred two-year-old live oak saplings will be distributed free among all third grade students in Midland's public, private, and parochial schools on Friday, as part of a nationwide observance of Arbor Day.

Sponsored and financed by the Visual Improvement Project Committee (VIP) of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, the program is designed to improve Midland's tree population. The trees are in containers.

PROBE NIGHT CLUB MURDER OF 13 Police Intensify Hunt

MONTREAL (AP) — Police investigating the mass murder of 13 people in a Montreal night club think an escaped convict named Richard Blass may have been involved. But apparently they have no concrete evidence pointing to him.

KILL WITNESSES
The police are trying to determine if there is any connection between the wholesale killing in the Gargantua Club Monday night and the mob-style killing of two men in the same club last October. They think the killer or killers Monday night might have been eliminating witnesses to the October slaying.

Two men entered the second-floor club over a cleaning shop last Oct. 30, fired 10 shots into Raymond Laurin, 30, and Roger Levesque, 28, and escaped.

The police said they suspected Blass and Roger Roussel, who escaped a week earlier from a Montreal penitentiary and who the police said had been confederates of the two murdered men in 1969.

Roussel was recaptured about six weeks ago and is accused of another killing in another Montreal bar a week before. Blass is still at large.

The police made this reconstruction of the murders Monday night: The killer or killers shot the manager, Rejean Fortin, 43, in the head, and one of the customers, Pierre Lamarmarche, 29, in the stomach shortly before midnight. Then they herded the other 11 people in the club into a 6-by-8-foot beer storage closet along with Fortin's body and Lamarmarche, padlocked the door, barricaded it with a juke box and set fire to the building.

GO-GO DANCER
It took the fire department about three hours to put out the fire. Firemen said it appeared the fire was started near the door of the closet.

"We think they wanted to get rid of any witnesses," said Asst. Police Director Claude Desautels.

He said Fortin died of his wounds, but Lamarmarche and the others were asphyxiated by the fire.

The other victims included Fortin's wife, Claire; a go-go dancer at the club, 21-year-old Denise Lauze; another woman; and eight men. Most of them were believed to be innocent bystanders who happened to be in the bar at the time.

ALLEGED CIA AGENT Prisoner Exchange Proposed By Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba has proposed to the United States a prisoner exchange involving the release of an alleged CIA agent for a Puerto Rican nationalist convicted in the 1954 House of Representatives shooting incident, informed sources say.

Under the proposal, Cuba would release Lawrence K. Lunt, a Massachusetts native arrested in June 1965 on charges of espionage and harboring counter-revolutionaries, the sources said. Lunt, now about 50, was sentenced to a 30-year jail term in 1966.

In exchange for Lunt, Cuba has asked for the release of Lolita Lebron, one of four Puerto Rican nationalists who fired several volleys of bullets in the House chamber on March 1, 1954, wounding five House members.

It was understood that the reported Cuban proposal has been referred to the Justice Department. State and Justice department officials declined comment on the subject.

Mrs. Lebron, now about 55, was sentenced to 16 to 50 years in prison on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. She is an inmate at the federal prison in Alderson, W.Va. Her three male companions were given stiffer sentences on their convictions of assault with intent to kill.

Lunt is one of about eight American prisoners in Cuban jails. He left Massachusetts as a young man and became a ranchhand in the West.
