Ford: Next Year Will Be Better

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans face further erosion of their standard of living, higher unemployment and perpetually higher energy costs, President Ford's economic report to Congress said today.

ROAD TO RECOVERY

"The American economy was built on the basis of low-cost energy... this era has now come to an end," Ford said in a message accompanying the report.

The report also said the decline in the nation's economy was so steep in the fourth quarter of last year that the administration cannot promise a quick rebound in the nation's economy this year.

But the President's Council of Economic Advisers, which prepared the report, still expects the economy will "move on to the road to recovery" in the second half of 1975, following another steep decline with high unemployment and high inflation in the first half.

"The most pressing concern of policy is to halt the decline in production and employment so that growth of output can resume and unemployment can be reduced," they said.

But the report left no doubt that the Ford administration has given up hope of bringing world oil prices anywhere near the lower prices of just 18 months ago. In fact, Ford said most domestic oil is at "artificially low prices" that must be raised.

PRICES HIGH

His advisers said some protection must be established to keep domestic prices high enough to protect new investment in other costly energy sources.

The consequences of the higher energy prices will mean further hardship for Americans, the report said. "A reduction in standards of living and potential output compared to what we would otherwise enjoy is inevitable," the report said, although it added that the economic and energy program is designed to hold such effects to a minimum.

Like Ford's $349 billion fiscal 1976 budget that was submitted to Congress Monday, the 384-page economic report painted a gloomy outlook for the economy.

'Police Story' Inspired Los Angeles Slasher?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Are killers inspired to murder because of television shows and movies?

The long-debated question arose again when the Los Angeles slasher murders began after a "Police Story" drama about a killer of skid row derelicts.

The Los Angeles Police Department says there is no connection between the TV show and the actual murders.

So does the show's producer, Joseph Wambaugh, the ex-cop and novelist who is consultant on "Police Story," agrees, but he says he has seen criminals imitate TV and movies "dozens of times."

'LOVE, MABEL'
Last Nov. 26, ABC-TV broadcast a "Police Story" drama entitled "Love, Mabel."

It was the story of policeman's wife, played by Michael Learned, who turned to drink. Her husband, William Shatner, was investigating murders of three skid row winos.

On Nov. 30, a skid row inhabitant was beaten almost to death. On Dec. 1, another was discovered with his throat slashed. It was the first of nine similar murders — seven in skid row and the last two in Hollywood.

"We cooperated completely with the police department, setting up a screening for them to review," said Stanley Kallis, executive producer of "Police Story."

"We were completely exonerated of any connection with the Slasher murders; in fact, we received a commendation for the excellent handling of the subject."

Kallis said the TV killer was a wino who was killing others as punishment to himself — "murders leading to suicide."

The script, written by Jerry Ludwig, was based on an actual case, but details were altered.

"The show was really about the problem of a neglected wife of a policeman," said Kallis.

TIA Is Protesting Local Air Service

Officials of Texas International Airlines, who used figures on boardings and landings of passengers here as a basis for their petition to withdraw air service to Howard County Airport, have now taken the stand that they would prefer not to have any other air carrier serve the local facility, either.

El Paso Air Transport's president, Joe Bailey, notified Ron Mercer, chief executive officer of Big Spring Industrial Growth and Development, Monday night that he had just received word that Texas International had filed an objection to the El Paso firm serving Big Spring.

The scheduled hearing for the El Paso Transport's application was to be heard in district court here Feb. 12. Mercer said that the hearing will now be moved to Austin and that it will delay El Paso's setting up of a permanent flight schedule.

The local transportation committee will meet at 2 p.m. at the Chamber office today to discuss its presentation at the hearing.

Bailey said his firm had made efforts to contact Texas International Airlines' officials to discuss the matter but TIA would not return the calls.

Specifically, TIA has announced it will contest the flights to and from Big Spring to the Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport, any flights to and from the Midland Regional Airport and any stops the El Paso firm might make in Abilene.

"It would appear they don't want Big Spring to have air service of any kind," Bailey said of TIA's latest action.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The former head of the Social Security Administration recommends higher payroll taxes on upper income earners as the best remedy for multi-billion-dollar Social Security deficits. Robert M. Ball, Social Security commissioner for 11 years, warned that an alternative suggestion to channel an unprecedented $7 billion in general revenues into the Social Security system might transform Medicare hospital insurance into another welfare program.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia has delivered military cargoes to Egypt for the first time since last summer, U.S. intelligence sources report. Two Soviet ships unloaded more than 7,000 tons of ammunition and spare parts in Egypt in recent weeks, sources said. The new shipments included no new equipment, although there have been reports the Russians have agreed to send some MIG21s and other warplanes promised to the Egyptians before the flow of Soviet weapons was halted in April.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. says he is exploring the possibility of seeking the Republican presidential nomination in 1976 even though President Ford has said he intends to run himself. Baker said he has based a series of "casual" political conversations with about 30 fellow Republican senators and GOP politicians on the assumption that Ford may change his mind and drop out of the race.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indonesia has been sounding out North and South Vietnam on dividing the south along a demarcation line between Viet Cong and Saigon government forces, diplomatic sources say. Asked if such a division would be feasible, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said, "the United States has always been prepared together with the government of Vietnam to see peace maintained along demarcation lines."

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Americans stationed in Asmara began leaving the beleaguered capital of Eritrea today and taking refuge in Addis Ababa.

U.S. officials in the Ethiopian capital refused to confirm that an evacuation had been ordered or was under way. But local hotels reported the arrival of some of the 300 Americans that had been trapped by the fighting between government forces and Eritrean insurgents.

Ethiopia's military regime today asked the rebels to lay down their arms after five days of fighting. But it vowed that it would never permit the northern province to secede.

DETROIT (AP) — Reporting its second worst profit performance in 13 years, General Motors Corp. has lowered its common stock dividend for the first time since 1946. The auto giant said Monday that its earnings plunged 60 per cent in 1974, a year that began with the Arab oil embargo, ended in recession and was marked throughout by double-digit inflation. GM said its profits for the year fell to $950 million on sales of $31.5 billion, compared with record earnings in 1973 of $2.4 billion on sales of $35.8 billion. The performance, although poor overall, reflected a major surge in the fourth quarter after the auto makers raised prices an average $400 per car in September.

Soldiers Under Death Sentence

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Two Ft. Sill, Okla., soldiers were under a death sentence today, imposed Monday by a jury which took only 23 minutes to recommend that penalty for the slaying of a highway patrolman.

The pair, Larry Ross, 21, and Selwyn Gholson, 20, was found guilty Friday of capital murder in the death last September of Hollie D. Tull, a state trooper gunned down near Temple.

Tull was killed when he stopped Gholson and Ross to question them about a bank robbery at Walburg, Tex., testimony showed.

The trial was moved from Belton to Odessa on a change of venue.

RAIN

Foggy morning breaking down into partly cloudy skies Wednesday. Chance of rain today, 20 per cent. High today and Wednesday, near 60. Low tonight, near 40. Southwesterly wind 10-20 miles per hour today diminishing to 5-15 m.p.h. tonight.

Amendment To Raise Legislators' Pay Squeaks Through House Panel

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A constitutional amendment to raise legislators' pay barely squeezed through a House committee late Monday and is sure to draw heavy fire on the House floor.

IT FIGURES

Actually, the amendment sets no new figure for legislative salaries — because the committee members couldn't agree on one — but it changes the per diem, meaning it can now go to the House floor as a vehicle whose $4,800-a-year salary can be changed to whatever the House wants Texans to vote on.

The amendment passed the Constitutional Revision Committee 9-4, with the nine votes making up exactly the majority of the entire 17-member committee needed

Crime Spree Trial

ASPERMONT, Tex. (AP) — Jury selection continued today in the capital murder trial here of one of two Colorado prison escapees charged with killing two persons in a crime spree last August.

Eight prospective jurors were questioned on the first day of the trial Monday, with one woman, Mrs. Calvin Johnson, 46, selected for the jury panel.

The jury will hear the case of Dalton Williams, a former Snyder resident who is charged in Stonewall County with the slaying of Rotan rancher T.L. Baker. Williams and another Colorado prison escapee, Jerry Ulmer of Garland, also are charged with capital murder in Erath County in connection with the slaying of a woman there.

Baker's name, ironically, was called out in the courtroom as a prospective juror. Officials said his name inadvertently remained on the jury wheel, from which veniremen are selected, after he was killed.

Baker was slain during the spree of killing, rape, burglary and assault which ended Aug. 27 near Stephenville when officers captured Williams and Ulmer and killed Richard Mangum of Denver, Colo.

All three had escaped earlier from the Colorado prison at Canon city and were the subjects of an intense manhunt for more than a week.

The trial here is the first of many facing Williams and Ulmer, who have been charged with 16 felonies.

Rains Continue To Fall Here

Additional rain during the last 24 hours brought the year's total to 1.54 after 17 inches of moisture fell during the night and in an early morning shower.

The wet spell has stretched a week in Big Spring, much to the delight of area farmers and ranchers.

Colorado River Municipal Water District had these rainfall reports for the past 24 hours:

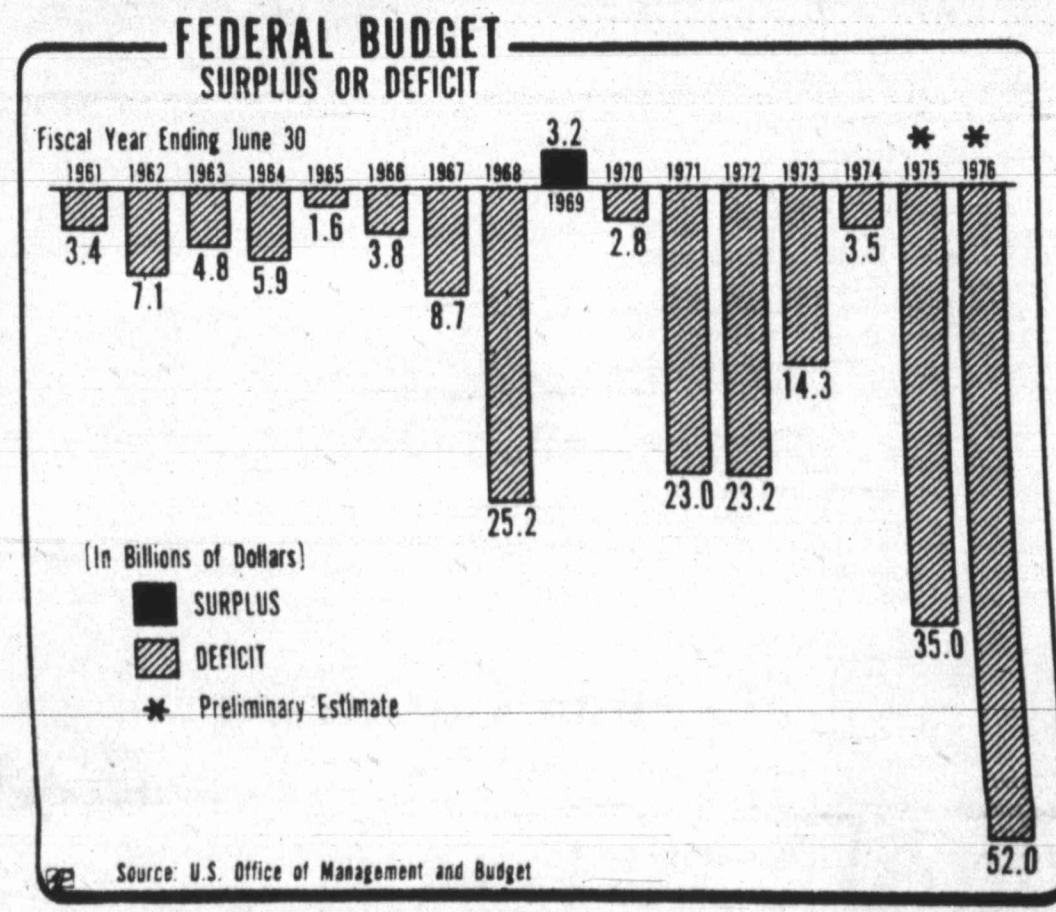

Big Spring pump station (north of town) .20, Colorado City diversion .20, Lake Thomas (Big Spring intake) .30, Lake Spence .30, Lake Thomas (dam) .40, Martin County pump station .40.

They Will Seek Emergency Supplemental Funds For JCs Approved

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Prosecutors here say they will seek the death penalty for a woman arrested in Tucson, Ariz., who is accused of murdering a San Diego coin collector.

Mattie Young, 42, was arrested Jan. 16, six days after 70-year-old John H. Stillman was found shot to death in his office apartment.

Another woman wanted in the case, Kimberly Carol Conner of Dallas, Tex., remains at large.

Municipal Court Judge T. Bruce Iredale named lawyer Edward Applebaum Monday to represent Miss Young.

Emergency supplemental funds for junior colleges were approved by the Texas Senate Finance Committee Monday afternoon in Austin by a unanimous vote.

Voting in favor of the measure was 30th District Senator Ray Farabee, who explains that the action was to provide for programs that had only been partially funded by the last session of the legislature.

Farabee noted that "junior colleges are providing an educational opportunity at the lowest possible cost. Furthermore, in a district such as ours, where a potential student may not live within reasonable commuting distance of the senior college, these schools provide a sole means of higher education for many students."

Sen. Farabee said the increased enrollment in junior colleges is indicative of the fact that these institutions are meeting virtually every identifiable need of the student.

Farabee related that

"Howard College in Big Spring is a good example of this growth. Its enrollment has jumped to over 1,400 this semester, which is a new record for spring enrollment."

Junior colleges statewide had over 50 per cent of all freshmen and sophomore students in 1973 and enrollments have continued to increase since then.

The great interest in this legislation was indicated by the number of officials and dignitaries on hand at the committee hearing. One of those attending was Dr. Charles Hays, president of Howard College.

Sen. Farabee expressed appreciation for the information furnished by Dr. Hays concerning Howard College and the need for emergency allocations. The emergency allocations will alleviate the tax burden which would otherwise be carried by local tax payers and will prevent the reduction of courses offered to the students.

Vandals Busy In Coahoma

COAHOMA — A large window in the front of the junior high school was damaged, apparently by a pellet gun, along with some private property during a basketball game here, Supt. of Schools W. A. Wilson said.

Wilson revealed that tires on three cars and screens on a pickup camper were cut.

Farabee related that originally called for a salary commission to set legislative pay, but he said the state of the economy convinced him this was not the time to ask voters to approve that idea. What is needed now is whatever immediate relief the lawmakers think the voters are willing to give them, he said.

Head said of his $12,000-a-year proposal, "I think the people will see we're being responsible. I think we've started it on a good note."

And by April, he said, the voters will see even more evidence of how responsible this legislature is.

The committee wrangled until nearly midnight before it accepted a compromise proposal by Rep. Tom Scheffer, D-Fort Worth, to change only the $12 per diem set in the constitution to $30. That put the measure on the floor of the House, where the salary figure can be taken care of through amendment to whatever the majority wants to propose to the voters.

Rep. Dave Finney, D-Fort Worth, tried to persuade the committee to set the salary at a fixed percentage of something beyond the control of the legislature, such as one-fourth of the salary of a congressman. That would amount to $10,625 now, and it would go up each time Congress votes itself another increase.

IMPROVEMENTS

Finney noted that he came into the legislature in 1962, the year after legislators received their last raise. "That's when they started getting good people up here," he said, bringing a laugh. "You think this is bad — you should have seen what it was like when I got here."

In other action Monday night, the State Affairs Committee sent to subcommittee a proposed non-binding referendum on daylight saving time to be placed on the November general election ballot in 1976.

The referendum is sponsored by Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, who also testified on his bill that would exempt Texas from DST. But Kubiak said several members of the committee told him that while they could vote for letting the people express themselves, they couldn't vote to change the law.

Entitlements Under Test

Gulf Oil Co. objects to handing its competitors, on orders of the federal government, almost $3.9 million because of its good fortune to have large supplies of low-cost, price-controlled domestic crude oil.

It's a bit difficult to explain. After the Arab oil countries hiked the price of their crude above $10 per barrel last year, the Federal Energy Administration adopted what it called an oil equalization program designed to keep the steep foreign oil prices from imposing a severe competitive disadvantage on refining companies who depended on foreign or uncontrolled domestic oil, which now costs twice as much as domestic "old oil" which is still under federal price controls.

The FEA plan requires refiners like Gulf, and others, with relatively large supplies of the low-cost crude such as that produced in West Texas before the Arab boycott, to make payments to companies lacking such crude through the purchase of "entitlements."

FEA ordered Gulf to buy 775,693 such entitlements at $5 each by Jan. 31, which would amount to nearly $3.9 million.

Each refiner is "entitled" to a proportional share of price-controlled oil under the FEA program. Instead of trading physical shipments of controlled or uncontrolled oil, the refiners are required to buy or sell their "entitlements" to equalize their costs.

Other companies besides Gulf required to buy entitlements from other companies, include Amoco, required to pay competitors some $6.8 million, and Exxon, required to pay almost $7 million.

Z. D. Bonner, president of Gulf Oil Co.-U.S., wrote FEA administrator Frank G. Zarb that the equalization is unfair and unlawful, and Gulf wants the regulation tested in court. It is no wonder that Gulf would like this governmental edict to be tested in court for equity.

It is no wonder that Gulf would like this weird governmental edict to be tested in court for equity.

Plow-ups Ill Advised

Some farmers up Kansas way are threatening to plow up their winter wheat because of plummeting grain prices.

"We are no different from the auto industry," Don Crane, vice president of the National Association of Wheat Growers and a wheat and cattle said. "If we over-produce we would regret it."

Crane said the association feels manipulative practices by the federal government and four or five major grain concerns are responsible for the sharp drop in wheat prices — from $4.21 a bushel just after the first of the year to $3.37 in some western Kansas points at the close of the market last week.

We cannot afford to cut production when the world needs the grain," said Leon Torline, president of the Ford County Wheat Growers Association. "From all indications the demand should still be there, so for humanitarian purposes we would regret plowing up any of the planted grain."

Both men said wheat growers understandably are nervous about the specter of $2 wheat at a time when it takes that much or more to produce the grain.

If our information is straight, the Russian wheat crop may be lost this season. Seems not enough wet snow has fallen this season to keep it from freezing. So hold on American wheat farmers. There could well be a demand for your product.

Custom And Change

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

The Apache bands of the Indian war fare era produced as many famous chiefs as any other Indian groups. Among the more widely known were Geronimo, Cochise, Cadete, Victoria, Natzalie, San Juan and Magoosh.

DESCENDANTS OF these and other chiefs still live on the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation in New Mexico, only a few hours' drive from Big Spring.

Yet, the visitor who goes to the reservation today expecting to see braves in buckskin and women in blankets is likely to be disappointed. "Centuries of struggle to protect our beautiful homeland left the Mescalero Apache tired and withdrawn during the first half of the century," said Wendall Chino, tribal president, "but now our people are on the move again."

CHANGES HAVE occurred in the Mescaleros' life over the last hundred years. While striving to adjust to a dominant culture so different from their own, they have survived many stresses, and their adjustment to the complex ways of the white man's society is not yet complete.

The Mescaleros have come far along the new road, however, and the trail should be smoother from now on.

THE TEEPEE and "Indian" garments are gone from the reservation now except for an annual tribal ceremony. Gone, too, are the raids against enemy forces. Almost gone is the mescal gathering when the cactus is ripe for harvest. The deer hunt still takes place, but with rifles rather than bows.

The Mescalero tribal members of today live in houses, shop in stores — and drive to the stores in automobiles. They dress much as their neighbors do. The native Apache language is largely spoken, although the majority of the Apaches speak English fluently, and many speak Spanish.

TYPICAL INDIAN names have gradually vanished except for a few of the older generation. The Mescaleros are free to enter into marriage with whom they wish, thus the varied surnames now common on the reservation. Modern first names (common to the general public) are given.

Tribal members work for their living, just as anyone else. Contrary to popular belief, the Mescalero Apaches are not receiving an annuity from the U.S. Government. Not for many years have the Mescaleros — or any other Indians — received food, clothing or gratuity payments from the federal government.

THE Mescalero Apache Tribe owns the Sierra Blanca Ski Area, a fine winter resort, and about a third of the tribe owns shares in a cattle enterprise, (approximately 6,000 good grade Hereford which is operated as a stock corporation. Some work for the tribal government; others for the U.S. Public Health Service or the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The principal source of income now is from timber sales.

Ironically, one thing has not changed. Young Mescalero braves can still grow up to be warriors.

There are over 100 World War I, II, Korean and Vietnam veterans on the reservation.

And, somewhere in my mind, the ghost of Geronimo screams.

About The CIA

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The CIA investigation unfolds, mostly in the press, and there is no doubt that the Agency has become the major bogobin of the day. The height of the hysteria was voiced at Yale University, by John Lindsay, who, briefly in residence there to be briefed on his experiences in municipal affairs, attacked the composition of the Rockefeller panel ("not one of them (the members) has a record of civil liberties"), and added that he himself always knew that the "CIA would become a monster and smite us all."

THERE WAS seldom a situation in which journalistic semantics played so great a role. Thus, the newspaper sentence, "Mr. Angleton believes that anti-war efforts were backed by foreign agencies" is read by one and all to mean, "Mr. Angleton entertains the obviously absurd notion that anti-war efforts were backed by foreign agencies."

The spokesmen for CIA have not rushed forward to give detailed accounts of the Agency's activities, and that's wrong. Or, as it is usually put, the CIA has "refused to specify the basis of its allegations." But it is okay for Seymour Hersh of the New York Times to make unqualified statements on the basis of unspecified "well-placed sources." You will perhaps have observed the technique. One day Mr. Hersh alleges that the CIA has done thus-and-so. The next day he quotes his own report of the day before beginning with the phrase, "Yesterday the New York Times revealed..."

THEN THERE is the subtle use of quotation marks. "Richard Helms told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that he could not 'recall' whether the White House had urged the CIA to engage in domestic spying. The New York Times, quoting well-placed sources," said that the CIA had violated "... Why the quotes around Helms' "recall", where they do not belong? Why not quotes around "well-placed sources" — where, according to the rules of punctuation, they do belong? Consider, for a moment, how differently these two sentences would read if the placing of the quotation marks had been reversed.

THE TOPSY-TURVINESS progresses. Miles Copeland, the author who has had considerable experience with and within the CIA, wrote recently a letter to the London Times skewering a typical report on the williwaw. The Times' reporter had quoted President Ford aboard U.S. One, flying to Vail. "The President said he had been assured in a mid-flight telephone call from Mr. William Colby, the CIA Director, that such activities 'did not exist' now." Commented Mr. Copeland: "What Mr. Colby said was that such activities 'do not exist.' The 'now' in the Times' story was added by your reporter. I do not beat my wife now' conveys as a meaning rather different from 'I do not beat my wife.'"

THE ONLY fresh air recently was the story in the Washington Post, quoting the former liaison man between the CIA and the FBI who said that there are "grey areas" in the law, resulting in the CIA's crossing into domestic operations for legitimate reasons. Sam Papich blamed these murky areas on a statute that "goes from the vague to the ridiculous."

"For example, he said" — I quote the Post story — "a CIA training program for local police departments was widely thought to have been aimed at anti-war activists and therefore represented an incursion into the domestic field. In fact, its purpose, its purpose was to share with local police several devices and methods the CIA had developed in its own work. One device, he said, is engaged in the apprehension of murders by detecting whether a suspect has held a piece of metal in the last 24 hours."

THE CHARTER says that the CIA shall have "no police, subpoena, law enforcement powers, or internal security functions." But, Mr. Papich reminds us, it also says that the CIA Director is "responsible for protecting intelligence sources and methods from unauthorized disclosure."

"A Soviet spy in France out of the blue travels to the U.S.," he said. "You don't just pick up the telephone and tell Hoover..."

One wonders whether the critics of the CIA would really demand that it reveal its files on connections between U.S. protests, and foreign money? Or — conceivably — will a thorough investigation reveal that the CIA has not done enough? Does it make sense, in any case, to repeal the law of hot pursuit when the enemy is detected flying into your own territory?

What Others Say

The gift of $10 million from King Faisal of Saudi Arabia to the Pakistani earthquake victims was generous. It dwarfed the aid from other countries. It should help comfort and sustain the 50,000 to 60,000 Pakistanis left homeless.

But the gift is interesting for other reasons. It suggests that the oil-producing countries may move somewhat toward matching the enormous increase in their wealth with a larger sense of the responsibility that should accompany such wealth.

Progress in giving natural-disaster aid hopefully will be followed by more cooperation from the wealthy Arabs, Iranians and others in offsetting the financial disasters posed by high oil prices — CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

A Devotion For Today . .

"We do not lose heart. Through our outer nature is wasting away, our inner nature is being renewed every day." (2 Corinthians 4:16 RSV)
PRAYER: Most Holy Father, save us from worshipping the riches and pleasures of this present time. Help us value rightly our unseen nature, eternal in Jesus Christ. Amen.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Please tell me what evidence there is about a coming day of judgment. I've heard you speak of this many times.

In an age of constant and far reaching change, few things remain sure. But this is certain, that a time of judgment and retribution awaits our race in the future.

Several things suggest it. First, that the administration of moral government in this world requires it. The way good and evil is presently distributed, the incidence of prosperity and adversity among men is seldom in harmony with their respective characters. For example, St. Paul is in prison while the mad Nero is on the throne.

Secondly, I think conscience anticipates the coming of such a day. The voice within testifies to the solemn truth that after death comes judgment.

Thirdly and most importantly, the Bible declares the arrival of such an event. See statements like Matthew 12:36, Acts 17:31, Romans 2:16 and Jude 14 and 15.

But now, the whole thrust of the Gospel is that we don't need to fear such a day. Wrote John in 1 John 4:17: "Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment." Thank God that what Christ has done will make us acceptable to the Father, and we need not fear condemnation at the divine bar.

Ho Hum Gathering

Robert Novak

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — The vagueness and lethargy among California Democrats in contemplating the party's presidential nomination 18 months hence was pointed up at the state Democratic convention here last weekend by these political oddities:

ODDITY NO. 1 — The only visiting presidential hopeful who generated enthusiasm or even briefly held the attention of delegates was former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, self-described "guerrilla-style candidate for President." But while cheering Harris's high-decibel polemics, the Democrats did not take him seriously. "We all hear Fred is running just to beef up his lecture fees," one national committeeman told us.

ODDITY NO. 2 — The possible candidate most frequently mentioned by delegates as California's favorite was not here and is not even running so far: Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana. Although Bayh has been out of national politics since he aborted his presidential campaign in 1971, California Democrats who rejected him last time volunteer interest this time.

ODDITY NO. 3 — The only Democrat with the financing, organization and national recognition in hand for a full-fledged campaign, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, was the only candidate passionately opposed here (though, like Bayh, he was absent. When one party activist informed fellow delegates she was attending Jackson's fund-raiser in Los Angeles last Sunday night, she was reviled as "a sell-out artist."

The oddities can be explained. California Democrats, while liking no particular candidate, are always susceptible to anti-business diatribes delivered by so loud a voice as Fred Harris's. They scan the horizon for some acceptable liberal and find non-candidate Bayh. Meanwhile, ideological rigidity turns them against Jackson, his past advocacy of national defense obliterating all other questions.

THUS, THERE IS no significant support for anybody in the nation's most populous state — a vacuum repeated throughout the country. State leaders here do not even attempt to guide followers. Nor can it be claimed that January 1975 is too early; at the state convention four years ago, supporters were lining up for Edmund Muskie and George McGovern.

Inattention to presidential politics reflects overall weariness. After years of internal bloodletting, delegates here seemed reluctant to get passionate about anything. No energy was left for the visiting presidential hopefuls. One prominent San Francisco Democrat told us he was interested in Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona because he's the most liberal" and was eager to hear his speech the next day. After that speech, we asked this leader his impression of Udall. "Dunno," he replied. "Never heard it."

THOSE WHO DID get to the convention floor spent more time gossiping than listening. Lackluster denunciations of President Ford's economic program by Udall, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, former Gov. Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Gov. Milton Shapp of Pennsylvania were nearly drowned out by chattering delegates.

Udall was perhaps the biggest loser here. Wholly acceptable ideologically, Udall has a good chance to fill the vacuum on the left. Anxious to impress solemn California liberals, Udall repressed his famed sense of humor. The result was blandness without effectiveness. He made no converts.

BENTSEN, starting a second year of national barnstorming with little to show for it, seemed tired by the same old questions and the same old answers.

Proposal Grim Document

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite its highly publicized tax cut feature, the administration budget proposal is a grim document that warns Americans of a tough economic haul ahead. They will have to bite the bullet, as has been said so often, and they will be asked to buy bullets too. They are called upon to make sacrifices, and they are called upon to finance a $94-billion Defense Department budget.

The jobless rate is foreseen averaging 8.1 per cent for the year, which means it will top that figure — it is close to it now — before reaching a lower level.

The cost of living, which Americans were beginning to believe had ceased rising so sharply, is expected to jump 11.3 per cent over the previous year's inflated prices. Remember, oil prices will be higher.

The Gross National Product, or the total output of goods and services, is expected to decline 3.3 per cent, a contracting through which this generation has never lived.

The budget is controversial as well as harsh. Within it are packaged the ammunition for enough arguments to keep Congress busy and the public excited for an entire year. The fuses are there for disputes about peace-war, rich-poor, liberal-conservative.

While those who collect Social Security or use food stamps are asked to sacrifice, the Defense Department is offered $8.7 billion to replace old hardware and develop the new, and simply to keep pace with wage price increases.

The red flag has been sent aloft over the federal establishment, and conservative spenders, as President Ford himself alleges to be, are worried sick. A $52-billion deficit is foreseen for fiscal 1976, which begins July 1.

A debt of this magnitude, which combined with the anticipated 1975 debt totals $86.5 billion, is unheard of, especially in the context of conservatism. Almost certainly it will cause headaches in the future.

The defense of deficits is that they spur a lagging economy. The adverse criticism of them is that they spur inflation too, if not kept within limits. And judging from past experience, nobody really knows what those limits are or how to keep within them.

The government hopes to take in $49.4 billion in the year beginning July 1. It hopes to obtain $297.5 billion in receipts. If you did that with your personal finances you'd have to borrow — if you could get it.

With the federal government there's little chance of it being refused the money. The Federal Reserve Board, while technically free to make such borrowing difficult, isn't likely to do so, and for good reasons.

If it keeps too tight a grip on the formation of money it will inevitably force interest rates higher again. If it doesn't respond to the big demand for borrowed money it could effectively destroy the economy.

Purpura — Blood Disease

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you explain to me a condition called "purpura"? Is there a cure for it, or anything to help it? — Mrs. W.M.

This is a blood coagulation problem in which easy bruising occurs. The usual cause is a deficiency of blood platelets, one of the essential blood clotting constituents of blood.

Other causes of the purplish-red spots on the skin can be a deficiency of vitamin C (scurvy), infections, certain allergies or anemias. Purpura can also be caused by an overactive spleen, the organ which regulates production of key blood constituents.

However, in many cases, purpura can appear without any apparent cause, a condition known as idiopathic thrombocytopenia.

Treatment of purpura ranges from use of steroid drugs to actual removal of the spleen in cases where the cause can be linked to overactivity of that organ.

In other cases where factors such as allergy, sensitivity to certain medicines, or infection, are causes, then treatment of the cause is necessary.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please send me your booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." Enclosed please find 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope which I'm sending you in care of the Big Spring Herald.

I am bothered with diverticulosis. Constipation seems to cause it to recur. I have been taking a bulk provider to relieve the constipation but am wondering if it is wise to take it once a day in the presence of the two problems. — E.S.

You can safely take the medication daily. It is important to have adequate bulk in the diet for both constipation and diverticulosis.

If your medication is not helping enough, you might try one of the several stool softener preparations on the market.

More roughage in the diet might be helpful. You will get further understanding of your problem from my booklet.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is there anything that can be done for arterial hardening inside the eye? Is it like arterial hardening in other parts of the body, something for which nothing can be done?

Incidentally, are there any blood thinners which are beneficial in general arterial hardening? My family has a solid history of this type of thing, and I would like very much to prevent or delay any such occurrence. — Mrs. E.L.M.

Arterial hardening (arteriosclerosis) is generalized usually, but may be more evident in certain areas, such as the extremities, the heart, kidneys and eyes.

If there is evidence of impaired blood flow, then thinners (anticoagulants) may be helpful in preventing more clotting, but they will not reverse the basic process of arterial hardening. There is something you can do to keep the condition from getting worse — control your cholesterol intake, take off weight, watch your blood pressure.

Civic Ballet Will Start Registration

The spring term for the Permian Civic Ballet Association will begin Feb. 10 when Bill Martin-Viscount, artist-in-residence will arrive in Midland to conduct Master Dance classes and teach the choreography for the "Spring Gala" performance scheduled April 26. Students of participating dance schools from Midland and Odessa, and throughout the Permian Basin, are invited to join the Permian Civic Ballet. Those who are 8 to 12 years of age are considered as juniors, while those 13 years and up are generally in the senior company. Separate classes are arranged for each age group.

Dancers can join the Civic Ballet by registering with their participating dance teacher; by calling workshop supervisor, Mrs. Mary Lipscomb, at 694-1260; or writing Box 7115, Midland.

The Civic Ballet workshop and rehearsals have been relocated to the Midland High School Annex at 606 W. Ohio St., formerly the North Elementary School Activities were previously held at Rodenheiser Hall at Terminal, the building is being removed.

Director Martin-Viscount is now in his third full year as artist-in-residence for the Permian Civic on a part-time basis, coming here for a week each month. He has had wide experience as a dancer and teacher, having studied with the Russian Bolshoi for over a year as well as performing professionally on a world-wide basis.

Planned Parenthood Will Expand Clinic Service

Beginning Thursday, Planned Parenthood Clinics are being planned for all day on Thursday rather than from 4 to 6 p.m. according to Bessie Stoker, Outreach worker for the Big Spring office of the Permian Basin Planned Parenthood.

The response to the weekly two-hour clinics has been such that more time is being scheduled by the clinic director, Mildred Ford. Services available at the Planned Parenthood Offices, Room 202, Permian Building, include all aspects of family planning from contraceptives to fertility improvement. Since the first clinic in May of 1974, 190 patients have been seen in the Big Spring office. Statistics show that ages seen include six persons below 16, 86 between 16 and 21, and 98 between 22 and 44. The breakdown on racial-ethnic groups 90 patients as Mexican-American, 65 as other Caucasians and 35 as Black. Also, 79 of these patients are listed as heads of households.

The Big Spring office is included in the region covered by the Permian Basin Planned Parenthood Inc. This operation includes clinic offices in Odessa, Midland, Pecos, Fort Stockton, McCarney, Big Spring and Monahans. Plans are being made to open clinics in Andrews and Stanton.

Local support of this program is being encouraged. Anyone interested in finding out more about the clinics or its operation is invited to visit the local office, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily or call 263-6011.

There is also a need for volunteers to assist with the program.

Entertains At Tea Sunday Afternoon

The home of Mrs. Marvin Miller, 700 Capri Court, was the scene Sunday afternoon of a friendship tea for Women of the Church, Church of St. Mary the Virgin.

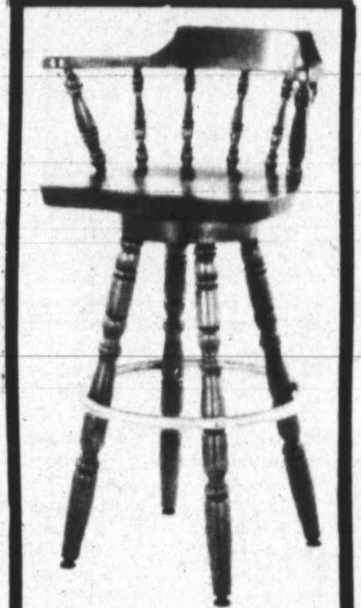

Receiving guests with Mrs. Miller was Mrs. Dana Macklin, and cohostesses were Mrs. William Eysen, Mrs. Paul Kionka, Mrs. James Lancaster, Mrs. William Jackson, Mrs. David Walker and Mrs. Joseph Smoot.

Refreshments were served from a table laid with a white embroidered linen cloth and centered with a crystal bowl arranged with crystal fruit, fresh flowers and greenery. Presiding at the tea service were Mrs. Lee Hanson, Miss Elizabeth Phelan, Mrs. Billy Mac Sheppard, Mrs. Ed Bowman and Mrs. Lancaster.

During the afternoon, new yearbooks were distributed to members. The books include a 90-year church history compiled by Mrs. Hanson.

Calling hours were from 3 to 5 p.m.

Extended Coverage

By Jerry E. Mancill, CLU, CPCU

Do you have a big umbrella covering you? You'll feel better if you do!

An "umbrella" policy (more accurately, personal catastrophe liability coverage) gives broader coverage than an ordinary policy can. First offered by British insurance companies, it's become very popular here.

Umbrella policies were originally designed for the very rich, who might have oversized liability claims thrown at them. But court awards have been inching up, and even individuals earning $15,000 need this extra coverage.

Personal umbrella policies provide extra coverage over your regular insurance. That insurance, in turn, is the "deductible" figured in planning the umbrella, and the "basic" insurance has to be fairly extensive.

Most policies are written to limits of $1 million to $10 million, with most set at a $5 million maximum.

Let us open an umbrella over you — it's like putting away money for a rainy day. See Stripling-Mancill Insurance Agency, 102 Caylor Office Building, 600 Main.

Dear Abby

They Came To Dinner But The Hosts Didn't

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a construction worker. George rarely meets a man on his job with whom he cares to socialize, so I was quite surprised when he told me he had become friendly with a co-worker who wanted us to come to his home for dinner on Saturday night.

I told George that I thought a dinner invitation ought to come from the man's wife, so he mentioned it to the man, and his wife called me and made it official for 7 o'clock.

George and I arrived promptly. They live in a lovely new home, nicely furnished. She served a cocktail, then ushered us into the dining room where the table was beautifully set — for TWO!

I couldn't believe my eyes, so I asked: "Aren't you people eating, too?" She said: "Oh, no, we always eat at 6 and are in bed by 10."

She served my husband and me while her husband sat in the other room. I've never felt so uncomfortable in all my life.

After dinner, we all had an after-dinner drink and talked. I kept my eye on my watch, remembering their 10 o'clock curfew.

My question: Should I return the dinner invitation, and, knowing they eat at 6, should I specify that time? And if so, should I serve them separately and have a late lunch ourselves? Or should we all eat together?

DUMB ME

DEAR DUMB: Reciprocate with a 6 o'clock dinner. Eat together, and be sure you don't forget their 10 o'clock curfew. After you reciprocate, you should know whether your husband has enough in common with this couple to want to see them again.

DEAR ABBY: Can anyone possibly have too many friends? We are both near 80, and have a big house because we raised a big family. We dearly love to have our children and grandchildren come back to visit, and we'd be lonesome if they didn't, but our

Son Is Born

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Phares, San Angelo, announce the birth of a son, Jeromi James, Jan. 22 in Shannon Memorial Hospital, San Angelo, weighing 8 pounds, 12 ounces. The mother is the former Debbie Campbell, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Ewing, Coleman. The paternal grandmother is Mrs. Barbara Leugoud, Barcelona Apts., and the paternal great-grandmother is Mrs. Margaret White, also of Barcelona Apts.

Past Matrons Hear Speaker

The religious symbolism attributed to the "sand dollar" was described by Mrs. Norman Read in a program given Saturday for the Past Matrons Club, Chapter 499, Order of Eastern Star.

The monthly breakfast meeting was held in First Methodist Church, Coahoma, with Mrs. Melvin Tindol, Mrs. Elmo Daniel and Mrs. K. G. Birkhead as hostesses. They decorated the table in a valentine theme. The invocation was by Mrs. Leroy Headrick.

Mrs. C. J. Engle, president, introduced the guests, Mrs. Bertha Cole, Clear Lake, S.D., and Mrs. Lowell Brown.

A memorial honored the late Rev. H. L. Morris, past patron of the chapter, and a donation was made to the endowment fund for the Eastern Star home at Arlington.

The next meeting will be March 1 at the church at 9 a.m., when hostesses will be Mrs. O. A. Madison and Mrs. John A. Westmoreland.

NCO Wives Club Installs New Slate

Members of the Webb AFB NCO Wives Club installed new officers recently, using a Hawaiian theme to decorate the setting for the event at the NCO Club.

Mrs. James (Shari) Fuhrer was installed for her second term as president. Others officers installed were Mrs. Deloyd (Darlene) Cork, first vice president; Mrs. Tom (Sheila) Knight, secretary; Mrs. John R. (Doris) Hayes, treasurer; and Mrs. Don (Jean) Murphy, parliamentarian.

Attending as honored guests were Col. and Mrs. Robert A. Meisenheimer, with Mrs. Meisenheimer acting as installing officer. Col. Meisenheimer is base commander.

Mrs. Fuhrer announced new meeting days and times as the first and fourth Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the NCO Club. Further information is available by calling Mrs. Russell (Nan) Buske at 267-2273 or Mrs. Fuhrer at 263-0649.

Tex Watson talks about The Cost of Natural Gas

It's logical that Pioneer customers should ask why they are paying more for the energy they use in their homes. We are eager to have them understand why.

There is a lot of natural gas in West Texas, but we still must buy the gas in competition with other gas users across the country. To assure the people of West Texas that they will have the gas they need, now and in the future, we must pay the going price for new gas. Not only gas for our homes is involved, but most people's jobs depend on gas to run business and industry.

The gas is available, but we must pay the going price to get it. That price is reflected on your gas bill as a "cost of gas adjustment." I'm sure you don't like it. Neither do I. But I'm sure you agree that we must have the gas to run the homes and businesses of West Texas.

All energy will cost more in the future, but be assured that the Natural Energy Home will still be the way to go.

For the woman who's at the heart of her family's finances.

You can't afford to be wrong. Because if you're in charge of the family budget, you're making decisions about the future, too. And that's where U.S. Savings Bonds come in. Buy them through your bank. Or encourage your husband to sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where he works. That way, while you're meeting the day-to-day expenses, you'll still be building a more secure future for your family. U.S. Savings Bonds. For the woman who really knows a good bargain.

Now U.S. Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4 1/2% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen or destroyed. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Home Improvements Now Available In Gibson's

Gibson's has moved their home improvement center into their main building. For several years, it has been located across the street out it is now on the right hand side inside the main store.

A lot of customers were surprised to see such things as paneling, trim, molding and shutters which are items that Gibson's has handled for years.

But they are adding to their years of experience a real complete stock of home improvement needs. These also include section shelves, ceiling tile, plywood and presswood, coverings for the tops of cabinets and linoleum floor coverings.

Chuck James is building center department head and will help you find your needs. If you haven't yet seen this latest addition to the Gibson's store, locally, drive out Scurry today and visit Gibson's.

They didn't give up any floor space because they utilized space from a former warehouse section. As always, Gibson's is making the claim, "If you didn't get it at Gibson's, you paid too much." They offer topnotch merchandise at affordable prices. It is with this thought continually in mind that they have shown continued growth and progress in their Big Spring operation.

COAXED FROM LEDGE — Honolulu Family Court Judge John T. West Jr., talks a 15-year-old girl back inside her courtroom, Monday, after the girl, who had appeared before West for a hearing, left her seat, climbed out a second-story window onto the ledge and threatened to jump. The girl's name and the reason for her being in court was not disclosed by authorities.

Investment Decision Is Delayed By Commission

By JOHN EDWARDS

County commissioners court Monday discussed but postponed until next Monday deciding how to invest county funds and how to accommodate the new airline at Howard County Airport. Depository bids will be opened Monday, and Commissioner Ikie Rupard suggested the court "see what we're offered and then see what we can do."

Several alternatives to the present investment program were considered. "We do have to look at their (banks) bids," County Judge Bill Tune said. "We don't have to accept their bids."

Under its two-year depository contract with State National Bank, which expires April 1, the county draws a maximum of 5 per cent interest on certificates of deposit (CDs). At month's end in 1974, the county had an average of $1 million drawing interest as CDs pledged for periods of time. Also on these 12 days, the county maintained an average of $320,000 in checking accounts.

Reserving the right to invest elsewhere under a future depository contract could deprive the bank of the most profitable part of county business, Commissioner William B. Crooker said. Ector County negotiates with banks when it periodically invests in CDs, county auditor Virginia Black said. And Ector county is paid the rate for comparable treasury bills and notes at that time.

County interest and sinking funds may be invested in savings and loan institutions or government securities, Mrs. Black said, referring to a state law. In Midland County, "they're getting around 7 per cent on theirs" (CDs), she said, although banks do not compete for the depository contract.

"When this (depository contract) comes up, the other banks just don't bid," Mrs. Black said of Midland. Crooker liked the idea of letting different local banks handle funds of different local government agencies, like the county, schools and city.

By sticking with one bank instead of changing periodically, this financial institution could better plan for the future, Crooker said. AIRLINE CONTRACT? The court considered contracting with Trans Regional Airlines for services at Howard County Airport but was not sure what could be contracted for.

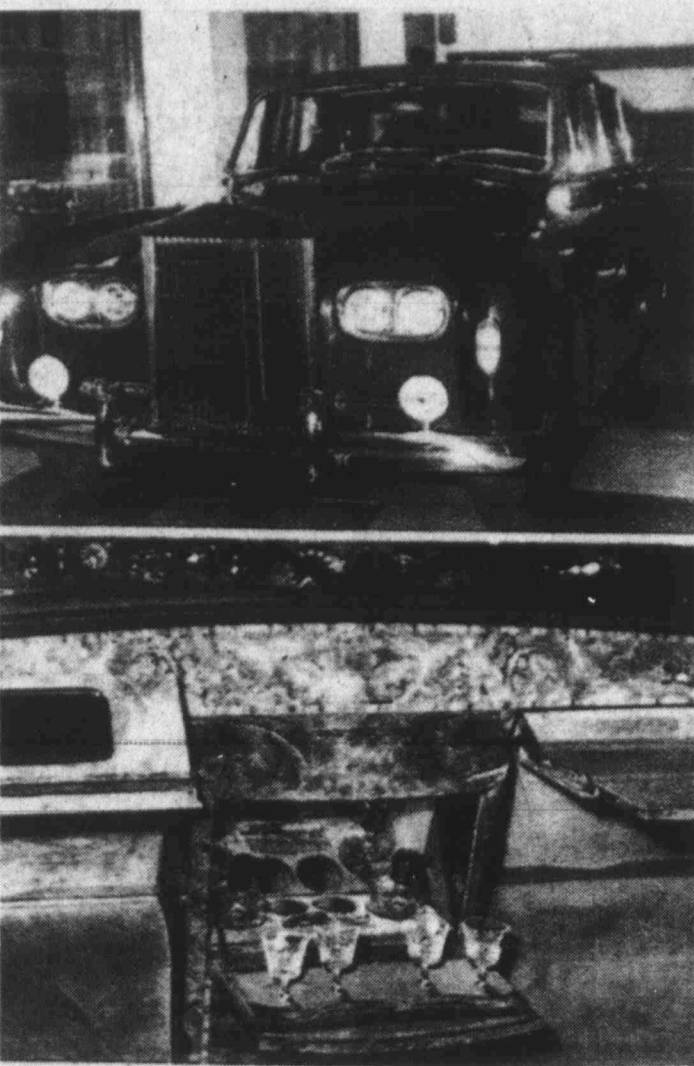

If the court follows the recommendation of the Chamber of Commerce, it will, for one year, waive landing fees for the newly attracted commuter airline. Chamber representatives also suggested leasing hangar space to Big Spring Aircraft Inc. instead of directly to Trans Regional. Big Spring Aircraft operates Howard County Airport for the county.

Texas International had been compensating the county for time deputy sheriffs spent as security guards for flights, Mrs. Black said. Pay pro-rata portions of deputy sheriff's wages was running around $500 monthly, she said. In six months, Trans Regional plans to provide its own federally-required security guard, the court was told.

Purchasing 10,000 gallons of fuel monthly at the county airport would bring the county $300, offsetting loss the $222 monthly landing fee paid for heavier Texas International planes, the court was told.

Trans Regional officials want the county to remove some partitions from a hangar so the building may be shared with antique plane owner and Federal Aviation Administration electronic equipment. Dr. Donald Coleman has been keeping two antique aircraft in the building for $105 monthly. And the county has allowed installation of FAA aircraft communication and guidance equipment free of charge.

Commissioner Simon (Cy) Terrazas wanted both the FAA and Dr. Coleman contacted before action is taken. Terrazas repeated his earlier request that J. W. McClendon, president of Big Spring Aircraft, help getting more planes at the airport on the local tax roll. McClendon said he would cooperate but would not appraise aircraft.

ONLY SEVEN MADE — A Rolls Royce Landauette sits in a London showroom, top, Monday. Hand built, the gleaming convertible is one of a total of seven made and offers a 6759cc engine, automatic transmission, and power steering. Inside, there is a full range of luxuries from quadrophonic stereo to a cocktail cabinet with cut glass decanters to offset its $90,000 price tag.

Psychiatric Exams Are Defended By Official

A long list of miscellaneous items were handed by county commissioners court Monday. The administrative body:

Amended check signing procedure to allow two instead of three signatures. The county clerk will no longer be expected to sign checks in addition to the county auditor and county treasurer.

Authorized hiring Mrs. Susan Conley as children's librarian for $6,450 yearly effective Feb. 1. Mrs. Conley, who has a master's degree from the University of Texas Library School, will fill the vacancy left by Jane Lusk.

Heard county engineer Neel Barnaby suggest covering ramps to the 10 new airport hangars with fine aggregate, rolling extensively and sweeping — instead of contracting for a "hot-mix" pavement.

"Hot mix" was going to cost about $14,000, Commissioner Jack Buchanan said. And Barnaby thought the other approach would minimize the problem of gravel damaging aircraft.

Talking with District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III about $50 each the Big Spring State Hospital charged the county for examining two defendants and determining their competency to stand trial.

"This is the first time I've heard they billed the county for these examinations," Moore said. But Moore defended the psychiatric examinations for Dillard Johnston Jr. and Torre Montgomery as economical ways to avoid an effective appeal. The two pleaded guilty without jury trials.

"Trying Torre Montgomery could have cost Howard County potentially $15,000," or at least $10,000, Moore said. "As it is, it probably cost in the neighborhood of $500."

Moore said he feels it necessary for examination of about 10 defendants yearly. Learned surplus federal mowers might be obtained at little or no cost.

Contracted with Chemical Weed Control, Midland, for killing weeds around runway lights and a cyclone fence at the airport.

The one-year sterilization of soil in these spots will cost $191, but the court was concerned about the cost of repairing lights damaged by mowers.

Approved advanced law enforcement certificate bonuses for two deputy sheriffs.

Authorized payment of $1,889 in 1975 dues to the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission.

Approved a $1,000 bond for G. Ben Bancroft, the attorney handling delinquent tax collections for the county.

Okayed Pioneer Natural Gas digging seven holes in pavement on north Moss Creek Road. The holes will be dug so that protective devices may be placed on a gas line, as now required by the federal government.

Pioneer will pay the county for re-paving these spots. And giving its approval of the City of Coahoma, Coahoma school district, City of Forsan, Forsan school district and Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 joining in tax appraisal.

Alene Witte Is Course Enrollee

Alene Witte, representing Mountain View Lodge of Big Spring, attended the first session of a 36 hour study course for nursing home activity personnel held in Abilene this past weekend.

The course of classroom study is sponsored jointly by the Texas Nursing Home Social and Rehabilitation directors council and the Texas Nursing Home Association.

Classes are conducted by the Division of Extension, Distributive Education Department, University of Texas at Austin, under direction of Francis A. Flynn, coordinator. A total of six classes will complete the three-session course on March 15, 1975. The course is being instructed by Ed Cole and Mrs. Juanita Cole of Abilene.

Clayton Speaks To Water Group

AMARILLO — Rep. Bill Clayton, speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, will address the luncheon session of the eighth annual Water Inc. membership meeting in Amarillo Feb. 15. The annual get-together gets underway at 9 a.m. in the Sunburst Room, Quality Inn, I-40 East.

Other speakers at the area water promotion organization's annual meeting include U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower; State Sens. Max Sherman, Amarillo and Kent Hance, Lubbock; Gen. James Rose, director of planning coordination, office of the governor; and Harry Burleigh, executive director, Texas Water Development Board.

Escapes Held In Taylor Jail

ABILENE — The two Colorado State prison escapes charged with murder, one of whom is now undergoing trial in Aspermont, are being housed in the Taylor County jail here for security reasons.

The two are Dalton Williams, 29, formerly of Snyder, and Jerry Ulmer, 22, Garland. They are being kept on separate floors at the jail.

Williams is currently on trial for the Aug. 24 shooting death of Stonewall County rancher T. L. Baker. Ulmer faces trial in Aspermont later.

Record Is Set ODESSA — A total of 3,302 students are now enrolled in Odessa College here, which constitutes an all-time record.

Stewart Merrick Post 355

Hise, Watkins Attend Meeting In Andrews

Lynn Hise, assistant superintendent of instruction, and Roy Watkins, Big Spring School board president were among those who attended the area school board and administrator dinner at Andrews Monday night.

During the business session the group was reminded to write their legislators concerning school finance bills. The majority of the area schools that are fighting any type of financial distribution which would take away from their schools.

Budget balanced schools such as Andrews, Kermit, Monahans, and schools like Forsan are in a different position in the proposed legislation than schools such as Big Spring, which is a foundation school.

The group was taken on a tour of the new Middle School at Andrews with Forrest Scott, principal, outlining details of their new middle school curriculum. It was decided that the next meeting will be in

Feed Cattle Number Drops

AUSTIN — Texas cattle and calves on feed for slaughter marketing totaled 1,327,000 head in January, representing a 40 per cent drop below the 2,205,000 head on feed at the same time last year, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White announced recently.

Total marketings in the state for the period from January through March, 1975, are expected to be 850,000 head, down some 13 per cent from the 992,000 head marked in the same period a year ago.

Nationally, cattle and calves on feed for slaughter marketing in the 23 major states, including Texas, totaled 9,619,000 head, the lowest number on feed for January 1 since 1965. During January through March, 1975, cattle feeders in the 23 major states expect to market 5,538,000 head. This would be 8 per cent below a year earlier and 16 per cent below the first quarter of 1973.

Kermit on April 7 which will be the last for Tommy Thompson, longtime Kermit superintendent, who is retiring.

Andrews supt., Dr. Norman Hall and the area board president, Henry Mohr of Andrews, welcomed the group.

Those attending included Supt. Dean Skils and four board members from Seminole, four administrators and five board members from Andrews, Supt. A. C. Copeland and three board members from Rankin; Supt. Kermit Sorrells and two board members from Iraan; three board members from Kermit; Supt. George Cullender and two board members from Monahans; Supt. Otto W. Longlis and two administrators from Fort Stockton, Supt. James Brown; Buena Vista; and Bob Clark, Odessa board member.

Dr. Emmett McKenzie was unable to attend due to the illness of his mother in Nederland.

FBI CALLS OFF INVESTIGATION Accosted By Missing Newspaper Heiress?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The FBI says it has called off its investigation into a Hollywood man's contention that Patricia Hearst and two other women kidnaped him at gunpoint and forced him to drive in circles for 40 minutes before releasing him unharmed.

In a police kidnap report made shortly after the incident last Friday, Edward Carr, a 32-year-old artist and singer, said he was accosted by the missing newspaper heiress and two black women in a shopping center parking lot and ordered to drive around the Hollywood area. The man said he was then released with a warning not to mention the incident.

But William Sullivan, chief of the FBI's Los Angeles office, said Monday that based on information Carr had furnished, "We are unable to confirm the information and are conducting no additional investigation regarding the incident. There is nothing to lead us to believe that she (Miss Hearst) is in Los Angeles."

Carr aired his story on two television stations in San Francisco and Los Angeles on Monday night.

A Los Angeles police spokesman said results of a lie detector test administered to Carr after the incident were "inconclusive."

It was one year ago today that Miss Hearst was abducted from the apartment she shared with her fiancé in Berkeley, Calif. Several weeks after the kidnaping, she renounced her family in a tape-recorded communique and said she had joined her captors, the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army.

Six members of the SLA died in a fiery shootout with authorities in Los Angeles last May, but Miss Hearst and SLA members Emily and Bill Harris are still at large.

Randolph A. Hearst, president and publisher of the San Francisco Examiner, said last week that he believed his daughter was still alive.

Vintage Autos To Be Show

The Early Cars Association is planning its fourth annual display March 22-23. Prospects are excellent for some 80 early to ancient automobiles.

This year, the show will be held in the Dora Roberts Fair Building, which provides vastly more space than has been available before. Hence, officials are expecting a lot more cars than the 52 of last year. Models are expected from Abilene to Odessa, San Angelo to Lubbock.

Juveniles Are Nabbed Here

Three Lamesa juveniles were arrested at the Big Spring Bowl-A-Rama Monday night going through a car.

The three boys, who were 15 and 16, were turned over to the local juvenile authorities.

Elmo Henry

Funeral services were to be held at 3:30 p.m. today in the River-Welch Chapel for Elmo Henry II, who died Sunday.

Palbearers were to be Clem McElreath, S. T. Johnson, Morris Wayne Griffice, Billy Wayne Carlisle, J. D. Hyden and Sam Robertson.

Webb Personnel Seven Webb Civilians Complete Study Get Service Emblems

Three men from Webb AFB, have completed training at two schools. Tsgt. Patrick Kelley of supply earned his bachelor of science degree in business administration and economics from Culver-Stockton College in Canton, Mo. He had a 3.2 grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

Graduating from the Air Force Institute of Technology's Civil Engineering School at Wright-Patterson AFB, Ohio were Capt. Rastus O. Massey and Michael J. Bissonette. Massey is currently the chief of operations and maintenance for the base Civil Engineering Squadron, while Bissonette is the base architectural engineer.

Disaster Counties

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe said today he was notified by the U.S. Department of Agriculture that 10 more Texas counties have been declared disaster areas because of adverse weather. The counties are Andrews, Crosby, Dickens, Gaines, Glasscock, Hall, Hockley, Lubbock, Midland and Yoakum.

Service emblems and certificates have been presented to seven civil service employees at Webb AFB by Col. Robert A. Owens, wing commander.

Wilbur Dunbar of the housing supply office in Air Base Group received a 30-year award. Hershel V. Harris of Field Maintenance Squadron is also eligible for the 30-year award, but he was unable to attend the ceremony.

Those receiving 20-year awards were: William A. Bryans, personnel; John B. Holder and Henry Mexia Jr. of operations and maintenance in the Civil Engineering Squadron; Florence G. Ballard and Frank W. Burkett of supply.

James R. Christmas, Field Maintenance, is eligible for the 20-year award, but he, too, was unable to be present. A 10-year award went to Richard J. Butterfield, Field Maintenance. Harris has spent his federal career in sheet metal shops, even the time he served in the Navy during World War II. He began building aircraft at about the age of 10 when he worked with models.

While in high school, Harris completed the government sponsored sheet metal school. He entered the Navy in 1942 and spent most of the time until 1945 in the Southwest Pacific when he did aircraft maintenance. Harris had a break in service after the war, then reenlisted in the Navy for four years. Following that he went to work at Webb in 1952. He was among the first employees hired after the base reopened.

A Big Spring resident since the age of 8, Harris and his wife, Lizzi Belle, reside at 1808 Donley. Their son, Preston Lee, attends Big Spring High School. Dunbar's military service during WW II was with the Army in Europe. He crossed Italy as a member of the 92nd "Buffalo" Division as a heavy machine gunner in the infantry. He reenlisted in the quartermaster corps in 1946 and spent two hitchhikes. When the Korean conflict broke out, he was assigned to the 365th Regiment in the First Division, and he spent 14 months over there. After serving just over nine years in the Army, he went to work at the Ft. Worth Quartermaster Depot. He came to Webb 11 years ago. His wife, Irene, also works on the base in the dining hall. The Dunbars reside in Big Spring with their children, Wilma Jean, 18, Lynette, 17, James, 16 and Paul, 14. He plans to retire within the next two years.

BIG SPRING HERALD SECTION B BIG SPRING, TEXAS, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1975 SECTION B FINAL SCORE: 100-95 HC Jumps Back Onto Win Track

ODESSA — Odessa College threw a scare into Howard College here Monday night...

A must win in order to keep pace with Western Texas and Amarillo, HC advances to 6-3 in the WJCAC and 16-7 overall.

HC had lost to NMMI, 86-85 last time out, Jan. 27.

Odessa College fired off quick late first half shots to rack up a 45-42 half-time lead.

Odessa College kept HC's game plans crossed up somewhat early in the second half...

HC finally buckled down and played the slick-fast break style brand of ball its capable of.

OC hit a poor 38 of 101 field goal tries. HC was more accurate, firing through 38 or 85.

Johnny Harris took Hawk scoring honors with 28 and Odessa's Randell Hunt picked up 38.

Members of the student council, plus other colleagues, are going to square off against a combined faculty-school board team in a benefit donkey basketball game Monday 8 p.m.

Players are all mounted on burros, who wear special shoes to maintain sound footing on the gym floor.

Net proceeds go to finance humanitarian projects of the council, plus council participation in the state meeting.

Tickets, which may be had at the high school (or by calling the office) are 50 cents children, 75 students and $1.25 adults.

Forsan Buffs To Greenwood

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffalos go to Greenwood for district competition this evening.

Bobby Evans' boys are tied for first place in second half standings with Water Valley and need a win to insure their hold on that position.

The Greenwood girls are in first place in their division.

SULLIVAN AWARD WINNER — Rich Wohlhuber, 26, smiles past the James E. Sullivan Award presented to him at ceremonies Monday in Chicago.

Steers Go To Midland

MIDLAND — Big Spring couldn't pick a better time here tonight to wash away a seven game losing streak with first round 5-A, co-champion, Midland High.

Game time is 8. Midland had a four game winning streak going for itself, until last Friday's date popped up.

In Abilene, last Friday, the Eagles nipped Big Spring, 59-50. Both Midland and Big Spring stand at 0-1 in second round action.

Midland's 1-2 scoring punch dwells around Michael Cobb and Donnie Roberts with Michael Chinn trailing a close third.

Rozelle Rule Challenged

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — John Mackey, a former pro football player trying to overthrow some of the sport's cherished rules, was pictured Monday as the beneficiary of lavish salary and other benefits.

Mackey, 33-year-old one-time tight end with the Baltimore Colts and an Diego Chargers, said that National Football League regulations hurt his chances for going to another team when he got disenchanted with the Colts.

He is one of 16 plaintiffs joined by the NFL Players Association in challenging the Rozelle rule, named after NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

It gives Rozelle the right to name players or draft choices to be yielded by a team when two clubs can't agree on a trade to compensate for signing of player who plays out his option.

The suit opened Monday before U.S. District Court Judge Earl Larson with the expectation it may take several weeks.

GROH'S BIRDIE CLINCHES WIN

HONOLULU (AP) — Arnie's down. But he ain't out. Not by a long shot.

The disappointment of still another victory that escaped — and this one was so tantalizingly close — is forgotten.

His head is up, his game is in gear, his confidence is building and growing and Arnold Palmer is seeking his next title just as eagerly, just as anxiously, just as confidently as ever.

But while Arnold is looking ahead to the next event, the 30-year-old Groh, a career struggler whose previous big check was for $4,000, is happily, almost unbelievably, stealing glances at the $44,000 prize he picked up with the victory.

Groh has been a non-exempt player all his career. He's always faced the problems of attempting to win his way into the tournaments through the Monday qualifying rounds.

Now he's exempt for two years. No more Mondays.

He eliminated that problem with a final-round 68, four under par on the water-logged, 7,154-yard Waiialae Country Club course, a lush layout that had been turned into a quagmire by torrential rains which washed out one day's play.

He clinched it with an 18-foot birdie putt on the final hole that gave him a 274 total, 14 under par. Al Geiberger also birdied the 18th — after the national television cameras had cut away — to claim second with a 69 and a 275 total.

Palmer, who seemed ready to unleash one of those fabled charges of old, could do no better than third after he'd moved into a tie with only two holes to play. He had a closing-round 71 for 276. Australian veteran Bruce Crampton and Lou Graham followed at 277.

Crampton followed at 277, Crampton with a closing 68 and Graham with a 72.

Forrest Fezler, who led the tournament starting the final round, faded to a 74 and a 278.

Vol's Coach Angry

"We should have won," declared angry Tennessee Coach Ray Mears, who had already had enough aggravation for one day.

"Auburn just has to be lucky. Kentucky came in here with one of the finest teams in the U.S. and didn't win... but we should have won."

Mears was fuming after his 15th-ranked Volunteers, playing without freshman star Bernard King, dropped a 62-59 decision at Auburn.

The former New York schoolboy star was averaging almost 28 points a game — tops in the Southeastern Conference.

"We should have won without King," Mears insisted. "We played a superior ballgame. When you're outweighed by 20 pounds and out-heighted by three inches... we just couldn't play any better."

Asked about the situation with King, Mears snapped, "We were told at one o'clock this afternoon not to use him. That's all. We were just told not to use him."

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 1 Indiana romped past Michigan 74-48, No. 5 Kentucky slipped by Louisiana State 77-76.

Alabama defeated Vanderbilt 86-72, No. 12 North Carolina beat South Florida and No. 19 Rutgers trimmed Gettysburg 97-67.

Tennessee held a five-point lead, 55-50, with 6½ minutes left against Auburn. The Vols went into a stall but reserve Danny Cox scored six straight points in the waning minutes to pull it out for the Tigers.

Forrest Fezler, who led the tournament starting the final round, faded to a 74 and a 278.

Sims Rates Prewitt Dreads Contest

Houston and Oklahoma were expected to rake in the biggest collection of Texas schoolboy football bluechip players today but Southwest Conference champion Baylor and Texas were also expected to get more than their share of talent.

"There probably is more talent in the state than there has been in years," said Baylor Coach Grant Teaff.

Houston's Bill Yeoman agreed, saying "It's a very good year."

The top prize from the defensive line of scrimmage—Brazzwood All-State linebacker—David Hodge—was expected to opt for Houston.

Top running back Billy Sims of Hooks was not expected to sign today as he tries to decide whether to attend Baylor, Texas, TCU or Oklahoma.

Top defensive back Don Sebastian of Houston North Shore and bluechip center Roger Drake of Brazzwood were believed bound for Yeoman's Cougars, who begin SWC play in 1976.

Oklahoma was in the running for a number of top Texas players, including Hooks, quarterback Thomas Lot of San Antonio Jay, tackle Robert Oglesby of Fort Worth Arlington Heights, and Spring Branch tackle Phil Tabor.

Texas and Baylor were in a last ditch fight for the services of bluechip quarterback Ted Constanzo of San Antonio Churchill.

Eddie Hardin, a strong running back from Houston Madison, was the object of an intense struggle between Houston and Texas A&M.

Texas has already received a verbal commitment from bluechip defensive back Stan Singleton of Mesquite. The Longhorns were expected to nail tight end Ron Lee of Tyler because Lee has a brother at Texas, Baylor.

The guard Scott Hunington and Terrence Tschatschula of Austin Anderson were expected to join Texas.

DALLAS (AP) — Here are the schoolboy football players signed by Southwest Conference letters of intent today.

SMU — David Parsons, tackle, 6.1, 245, San Antonio Churchill, All City, RICE — Dwight and Dwayne Moyer, both 6.2, 215, Inmen, San Antonio Holmes; Floyd Zacharie, guard, line backer, 6.2, 215, San Antonio Jefferson.

HOUSTON — David Hodge, linebacker, 6.2, 225, Brazzwood, All State, TCU — Lynn Wesley, tackle, 6.2, 218, Fort Worth Arlington Heights; Mark Renfro, defensive back, 6.1, 175, Arlington Heights; Darryl Lowe, back, 6.0, 200, Aledo; Steve Bayuk, quarterback, 6.1, 195, Fort Worth Trinity; Eugene Toole, tackle, 6.4, 250, Troup Doug Edd, tackle, 6.7, 260, Richardson Berkner.

NEW YORK (AP) — Waite Hoyt remembers — Billy Herman... and Bucky Harris... and Earl Averill, too.

And on Monday, he remembered them in the most complimentary way he could — by voting along with other members of the veteran's committee for their induction into baseball's Hall of Fame.

Southwest Conference basketball coaches are normally a pessimistic lot, moaning either about graduation or the upcoming schedule.

So, forecasters should have been forewarned back in October when Texas A&M Coach Shelby Metcalf said "I think we'll be improved."

Coming from the folksy Metcalf, who tries not to let his emotions get out of hand, that was tantamount to saying "You had better look out for us this year."

Metcalf was even moved to comment this week "I thought we would start like this, but, of course, I'm paid to think this way."

"Like this is a 4-0 start for the Texas Aggies, including victories over Rice, Texas Tech and Texas on the road—the graveyard of many a would-be SWC champion.

Now, the experts are wondering how the Aggies are going to play around the friendly confines of G. Rollie White Coliseum which houses perhaps the loudest crowd in the conference.

Southern Methodist will find out tonight and Mustang Coach Bob Prewitt dreads it like he would tearing open an envelope to peek at the light bill.

"Texas A&M has more capable performers than anyone," Prewitt said. "We've got to learn to play the same way on the road that we've been playing at home."

SMU is 2-2 and tied with Texas Tech and Texas Christian for third place. Arkansas and Baylor own clear title to second place going into tonight's action.

Defending champion and wireless Texas was at Arkansas, Baylor was at Texas Tech and TCU was at Rice in the other games.

HALL OF FAME Trio Join Ralph Kiner

"Bucky was my roommate," said Hoyt. "And then in 1930, when he was managing Detroit, he traded for me. He was also an aggressive second baseman in his playing days. I wonder what the great stealers of today would think about the way he used to walk all over guys sliding in on him."

Harris managed Washington, Detroit and the New York Yankees, winning three American League pennants and two World Series.

Hev didn't have as many first-hand memories of Averill. "He played in the American League while I was in the National," the old pitcher said. Averill, an outfielder, compiled a .318 batting average in 12 full seasons with Cleveland, Detroit and Boston. "I heard he was a good one."

That testimony came from the other members of the veteran's committee which judges figures out of the jurisdiction of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Herman played from 1931 until 1947 with the Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn Dodgers, Boston Braves and Pittsburgh Pirates and batted .304. He later managed the Pirates and Boston Red Sox but lacked the managerial longevity of Harris, who was a major league pilot for 29 years.

"He was an intuitive hitter who could always seem to advance the man on the hit and run play. He had a quick pivot and was a good operator around second base. He was an aggressive ballplayer... in a nice way."

Herman played from 1931 until 1947 with the Chicago Cubs, Brooklyn Dodgers, Boston Braves and Pittsburgh Pirates and batted .304. He later managed the Pirates and Boston Red Sox but lacked the managerial longevity of Harris, who was a major league pilot for 29 years.

Juniors Split Two Games

FORSAN — The two Forsan Junior High basketball teams wound up play for the year here Monday night, at which time they hosted Garden City.

The Forsan boys ran their season's record to 12-1 by winning, 28-16. The Junior Buffs held the visitors scoreless in the third period.

Garden City came on strong in the last half to win the girls' game, 16-14, handing the home team its fifth defeat in 15 assignments.

The Forsan boys' only loss this year was to Stanton by five points in Stanton. The Buffs came back to avenge that reversal by toppling Stanton in tournament play by 20 points.

Girls' game: FORSAN (14) — Stella Holguin 12, 4; Valerie Stevens 12; Beverly Peugh 10; Totals 54. GARDEN CITY (16) — Patsy Blizard 17; Batta 10; Sawyers 2; Bednar 0.11. Totals 48.16.

HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The day is excellent for going directly to influential persons and to let them know what you have in mind for getting ahead in the future. Be more understanding when listening to the views of others.
ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A good day to study all details of a new plan you have. Take no chances whatsoever in the afternoon. A friend can be helpful.
TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your intuition is working well, so pay attention to it during the day. The evening is not a good time to make any decisions.
GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be more cooperative with associates and cement better relations. Do whatever will improve your image. Strive for harmony.
MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make out a better schedule early in the day for your activities in a businesslike way. Take it easy tonight.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Day is best time for recreation with good friends but the evening is not good for the social side of life. Dress in good taste.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Home and family should be given first priority.

The bidding:
North East South West
2NT Pass 3 Pass
4 Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: King of ♣.

Good defense does not necessarily involve brilliant or unusual plays. Logical inferences from the play of the cards and putting those deductions into practice can produce spectacular results. Consider this hand from a recent team tournament in Amsterdam, Netherlands.

South might have passed his partner's two no trump opening bid. However, he thought his hand would be near trickless in no trump, while at a spade contract it could produce two or three tricks. So he bid his five-card suit, and North raised to game.

West led the king of diamonds, and declarer took his best shot when he captured the monarch and turned a diamond to West's queen. West continued with a diamond to the jack. Declarer then led a low heart from dummy.

East paused to take stock. The fact that declarer had played on diamonds before touching trumps, risking a ruff, was significant. Apparently he was having some difficulty drawing trumps, for obviously entries to his hand were at a premium.

East, therefore, concluded that declarer was trying to reach his hand in hearts. So despite the saying that aces were made to capture kings, East rose with the ace of hearts and locked declarer in dummy by returning a heart.

Declarer did the best he could by leading ace and another spade. However, West played his remaining diamond after winning the king of spades, and East scored his jack of spades en passant. Down one.

Had East unthinkingly followed low to the first round of hearts, declarer could have made his contract. After winning the queen of hearts, he finessees the queen of spades and concedes a heart. When he next gains the lead, declarer draws a second round of trumps and maneuvers a heart ruff in dummy, and the only other trick for the defense is the high trump.

SHOW DOG FOUND — Doa, shown above with his mistress, Freda Burks, Grapevine, was found early Saturday morning after spending two weeks lost in the eastern part of the city.

Old Clothes Helpful In Finding Show Dog

A female high-bred Basset, who won her first championship by the time she was 15 months old, ended a two week ordeal early Saturday morning, when she was found after being lost in the eastern part of Big Spring since Jan. 18.

The dog, Doa, was found when her owners, Bubba and Freda Burks, Grapevine, returned to Big Spring Friday night and placed old articles of clothing in the area where she was seen several times, just east of the College Park Addition.

Early Saturday morning, when the Burks drove around checking the sites where the clothing was placed, found the dog curled up on an old pair of her master's trousers.

Walton Morrison, a friend of the Burks' said, "Doa's tail hasn't stopped wagging since she was found."

The Burks had Doa checked by her veterinarian in Grapevine, and she had only lost a little weight, apparently eating what she could find at the city sanitary land fill.

Doa escaped from her pen on the night of Jan. 18 at the Holiday Inn, just prior to the Big Spring Kennel Club dog show the following day.

She had been seen several times, but she was frightened of strangers and no one could get close to her. The area was combed on horseback and on foot, and the reward for her recapture climbed to $200.

The fact that the dog ever lived is a miracle, according to Morrison, because when she was born, she was not breathing and had to be forced to take her first breath. That's the reason that she is named Doa, for "dead on arrival".

Paper To Get Offset Press

MIDLAND — A $2 million addition is being made to the building housing the Midland Reporter-Telegram.

The owners are planning to build a new pressroom and camera to house an 80-page offset press.

Publisher James N. Allison Jr., said the press would be the largest of its kind in the Southwest. Other improvements will be the addition of new photo-composition equipment.

Gun Wounds Fatal To Silva

SNYDER — Luis Perez Silva, 41, of Snyder, died at 2:45 a.m. Monday in a Snyder hospital of gunshot wounds suffered in the hip and hand.

Silva apparently bled to death.

A charge of first-degree murder has been lodged against Rosalio Gutierrez, 30, of Snyder, who was a passenger in a car being driven by Silva when the shooting occurred.

Enrollment Is 'Encouraging'

A "highly encouraging" enrollment picture now exists at The University of Texas of the Permian Basin with a count of 1,344 students for the spring semester.

"Traditionally, the second semester enrollment is approximately 10 per cent below fall enrollment at most universities. The 1,344 figure is only eight students below UT Permian's fall enrollment, an insignificant drop," A. W. Keith, registrar, said.

The upper-level university opened its doors in the fall of 1973 with 1,112 students and enrolled 1,352 students in the fall of 1974, an increase of 21.5 per cent.

Bogard Returns

Stanley Bogard, assistant chief of police, returned to duty Monday after undergoing knee surgery.

Bogard was hospitalized at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Albuquerque, N.M. for several weeks.
