Dip In Howard County Syphilis Cases Noted

The Venereal Disease Division of the Texas State Department of Health has reported a 50 per cent decrease in cases of infectious, or contagious, syphilis in the past four years. In 1970, there were 2,800 reported cases, but only 1,400 cases were reported in 1974.

Similarly in Big Spring, the City-County Health Unit counted 11 reported cases of syphilis in 1974, an 80 per cent decrease since 1972 and 1973.

Cases of reported gonorrhea here increased to about 81 for 1974, an increase of about 50 per cent over the 1972-73 periods.

Much of the progress that has been made in recent years against other communicable diseases, such as polio, smallpox, and Rubella, can be attributed to the widespread use of vaccines.

There is no vaccine against syphilis.

State health authorities say that the dramatic decrease in the incidence of syphilis can be attributed to three principal causes.

First, the victims themselves. More people who are infected with syphilis have become willing to present themselves for diagnosis and treatment.

In the past there has been such a stigma attached to the disease, and so much shame associated with it, that people stayed away from medical care even when they suspected they needed it.

VD IN OPEN

But in recent years, venereal disease has come out in the open. Syphilis is discussed frankly and factually in the schools, in newspaper articles, and on radio and television programs. As a result, people are more willing to admit the possibility that they are infected — and thus are more willing to come to a public health clinic or to their own physician to be treated and cured before the disease is passed along to someone else.

Another contributing factor in the decline of syphilis is the cooperation of private physicians. Private physicians today are ready and able to provide quick, positive diagnosis and effective treatment for both the initial victim and the victim's contacts. Physician work closely with their local public health agencies and with the State Health Department to find and treat all exposed contacts as early as possible. Physicians also are better informed about syphilis, and thus are more capable of counselling their patients.

Credit also must be given to the public health agencies at the local and state levels. In every large city and in many smaller towns, public health levels. In every large city and in many smaller towns, public health clinics are fully equipped to handle syphilis patients. Treatment is free, convenient and entirely confidential. Each clinic provides laboratory services for positive diagnosis, drugs for prompt and effective treatment, and counselling services to enable the syphilis victim to prevent the further spread of the disease. Every patient has the opportunity to discuss the disease with a professional interviewer-counselor. Most patients respond by either bringing their contacts in for treatment, or assisting public health authorities in identifying and locating the contacts. At every stage, the patient is reassured that all of the services available to him are completely confidential.

MINORS, TOO
Public health services to control venereal disease are available to everyone, including minors. The Texas

Legislature has passed laws which permit the diagnosis and treatment of any communicable disease, including venereal disease, in persons of any age on the basis of complete confidentiality. Parental consent is not required for minors to be treated for venereal disease.

According to state health officials, it is not necessary for any baby to be born with congenital syphilis. Nor is it necessary for anyone to be blinded or paralyzed by syphilis, and syphilis need not be the fatal disease that it once was. Treatment for syphilis is effective, fast, and readily available. As even more people are treated and cured quickly, the number of cases will continue to decline.

Medical scientists are continuing to search for a vaccine to prevent syphilis, and treatment methods are constantly being improved. State health authorities say that cutting the syphilis rate by 50 per cent is only a beginning; the rate can be cut even more drastically, as the general public — and especially the potential victim — become more aware of the disease and the availability of treatment.

If you'd like to know more about syphilis and other venereal diseases, write to "Accent on Health," Texas State Department of Health, 1100 West 49th Street, Austin, Texas, 78756.

Priebe Admitted To Honor Group

Billy Marvin Priebe, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Priebe, and Earl D. Jansa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Jansa, Garden City, have been elected to Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honor society at Texas A&M University. This is the highest honor that can be obtained by students in engineering. They are 1972 graduates of Big Spring and Garden City High Schools.

It's Vacation, Not Deep Tan

CHICAGO (AP) — Suntans are status symbols in some places.

A winter suntan in the U.S. means that you can afford a vacation in Florida or Jamaica. In Japan, a suntan is the sign of a peasant who must work in the field.

Dr. Allan L. Lorincz says that the supposed benefits of suntan are largely psychological. It may be the exercise and rest of the vacation that makes you feel better, not the suntan.

One of the simplest remedies for sunburn, Dr. Lorincz said, is baby powder, which allows clothing to slip over the surface and cools a bit. Dr. Lorincz is chief of the Section of Dermatology in the Department of Medicine at the University of Chicago.

Workshop To Reduce Retail Thefts Booked

A retail loss prevention workshop to help Big Spring area merchants curb losses due to theft and error has been scheduled for Feb. 24, 25 and 27 in the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce conference room, according to Chamber Manager Terry Hanson.

Workshop sessions are slated for 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. and 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. on Monday for management personnel and for 7:00 to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday nights for sales personnel.

"The workshop is unique in method and gives participants a clear in-depth understanding of how inventory loss due to theft and error affects both the retailer and the employee," Hanson said. The Workshop will be co-sponsored by the Chamber and the Texas

Retail Federation.

The workshop is a tool designed to aid the small businessman who suffers by far the greatest loss due to theft and error — between 3 and 10 per cent of total sales. It allows the participant to emerge with actual experience in dealing with and solving shrinkage problems. Reservations for the workshop may be made at the chamber of Commerce on a first come basis, because of the fact that each session is limited to 30 participants. Deadline for making reservations is Friday, Feb. 21, according to Hanson.

Shocking Tools

TOLEDO (AP) — Designers are using a nonmetallic nonconductive material for tool housings — fiber-glass reinforced plastic — which insulates against heat as well as shock. The fiber-glass reinforced plastic housing, itself, forms a second or "double" layer of insulation, virtually eliminating the hazard of shock.

Fire Truck Bids On Agenda

Opening bids on a two-year bank depository and entertaining bids on a fire truck and truck housing at Howard County Airport are on the agenda for county commissioners court Monday.

Also the court will: Hear a report on the grievance committee's closed hearing of Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena's request for a pay raise. Open bids on renovating offices in the courthouse and painting the outside of the library building and pruning trees on the courthouse lawn. Set the time for area school trustee elections on April 5.

Discuss participating in the Multi-Agency Crime Prevention Program. The Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission plans to fund the program through a Criminal Justice Council grant. Hiring a crime prevention specialist, establishing a display and preparing information booklets would be done through this program.

Discuss new road and right-of-way policies at 1:30 p.m.

Discuss the courthouse parking area, which the court was considering enlarging.

Consider a request from Pioneer Natural Gas Co. for installation of two-inch pipe in county right-of-way between Farm Road 33 and Martin Street.

Inspect county properties, talk about pipe in storage, consider repairing fire extinguishers, approve bills and confer with County Engineer Neel Barnaby.

Gimpy Marlene Is Sensitive

LONDON (AP) — Marlene Dietrich, known the world over for her shapely legs, became irate at photographers trying to take her picture as she limped into London.

"Go away. You are annoying me," she said to photographers who surrounded her Friday at London's Heathrow Airport. "You are all morons. Why can't you do a proper job? Go away!"

Miss Dietrich walked with a noticeable limp and refused to comment on it.

First Lady Wears Size 6

NEW YORK (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford showed up on Seventh Avenue for some fittings and won plaudits from a fashion expert.

"She's really quite attractive," said Jerry Guttenberg of Jerry Guttenberg Ltd. "She's a size 6 and actually smaller than some of our models."

The First Lady made the quick trip from Washington on Tuesday with her daughter, Susan; her press secretary, Nancy Howe, and Mrs. Howe's daughter, Lisa.

Guttenberg said Mrs. Ford had fittings on 12 costumes she had ordered about a month ago, including a suede suit with silk shirt, several jersey dresses and chiffon print evening dresses.

HOW TO STAY YOUNG — Fred Waring Sr., who established the famous Pennsylvanians, has a recipe for keeping young. His Young Pennsylvanians, and it helps when they are lovely and talented. Waring will be here on the Civic Concert Association series Saturday evening.

ADV. DEPRESSION ART "FOUND" Public Offered 1937 U.S. Gov't Art Prints

A series of rare coincidences has led to the historic discovery of several thousand sets of full color antique art prints that were "lost since 1937." They are now being offered to the public.

Eleanor Roosevelt

Back in 1937, immediately following the depression years, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and a select group of a dozen nationally prominent people formed a voluntary national committee for art appreciation to create an art program that would give the public a well-needed moral lift. It was the committee's decision to select the world's most famous paintings from the 16th, 17th, 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries — the best paintings of Matisse, Van Gogh, Gainsborough, Picasso, Gauguin, Titian, etc., and to reproduce them in full color as perfectly as humanly possible and make them available to the public at a price within the reach of everyone.

Abandoned in 1937

For some unknown reason, after a quantity of these beautiful reproductions were made, the entire project was abandoned and this collection of perfect reproductions was stored in a Brooklyn warehouse, where they remained undisturbed since 1937.

The lost collection was "rediscovered" and leading lithographers and art critics agree that the subject matter and quality of detail and color reproduction is incredibly accurate. Over $500,000.00 had been spent to make engraved glass printing plates.

These authentic original 1937 prints are literally collector's items and have been appraised by the American Appraisers Assoc. at $7.00 each print. Once they have been sold, there will be no more available. A truly excellent art "investment" that makes a fabulous gift.

Available to Public

Now, after 38 years these full color 11" x 14" (ave. size) prints are finally available to the public at $19.95 for a collection of 18 prints. Send cash, check or money order to: U.S. Surplus, Dept. C85, P. O. Box 605, Tazanna, Calif. 91356. Fully GUARANTEED. Certificate of authenticity given with each set. Master Charge and BankAmericard OK (give card number).

FOR YOUR PLEASURE Waring And Musicians In Reappearance Here

Fred Waring and his Young Pennsylvanians come to town Saturday evening, another repeat performance for this seasoned trouper who now relies increasingly on Fred Waring Jr.

Included in the entourage are 10 lovely young women and 17 men, among them the indestructible Poley McClintock, who actually has been in the orchestra longer than Fred Sr. Poley started as a duet with the late Tom Waring and Fred joined them later in their hometown of Tyrone, Pa.

Waring has been dubbed as the master choral director of this century and he created the fast-moving blend of chorus and orchestra, interspersed with vocal and instrumental solos. He's also a mater showman.

Waring, who has appeared with his Pennsylvanians here on several occasions, will be on the Big Spring Civic Center Series. This is a membership affair and there will be no single admissions at the door. The old maestro will never quit, says Fred Jr., who figures "he's good for another 11 1/2 years, and then we'll get five more out of him from a wheel chair."

Despite bad weather, which included one period with six inches of snow, the Fort Davis National Historic Site (restoration of old Fort Davis) drew 1,599 in January or 73 per cent more than a year ago.

Eddie Bracken has replaced ailing Robert Alda in the touring "Sunshine Boys" company which will be in Lubbock, Wednesday, Feb. 19, at 8 p.m. in Lubbock Coliseum. Alda had to pull out on doctor's orders.

After three quarters of a century of operation as a luxury resort-hotel, the Lodge in Cloudford, N.M. has closed to the public and will operate as a private club available for use only by members who are Cloud Country property owners.

The original lodge was constructed in 1890 on the summit of the Alamogordo and Sacramento Mountain Railway, a branch out of El Paso. Destroyed by fire in 1909, it was moved to a more scenic location and rebuilt in 1911. It's golf club was the first established in New Mexico.

Jeff Campbell, Dallas, sophomore piano student at the University of Texas in Austin, won first prize in the collegiate piano auditions of the Texas Music Teachers Association recently.

Deadline is March 15 for visual artists to apply for a fellowship to live and work at Piasano, the late J. Frank Dobie Ranch near Austin. Applicants (Texans) must submit a record of their artistic achievements.

"Anything Goes," the Broadway musical with a tub full of hit tunes, is running currently at Midland Community Theatre, today, Wednesday through next Sunday, the Feb. 19-22. Next up will be "Drink to Me

Midland Jaycee-Ettes will sponsor a Staving Artists sale Feb. 27-March 1 at Dellwood Mall. Hours will be 10-9 p.m. Thursday, 10-6 Friday and Saturday. All media will be accepted as well as etchings, sculptures, crafts, handiwork. Mrs. Joe Campbell, 1006 Stanolind, Midland, 79701 is in charge.

DALLAS (AP) — Texas Instruments reported Thursday net income of $89,621,000 for 1974 up eight per cent from the 1973 total of $83,235,000.

Earnings were $3.92 per share compared with $3.67 for 1973, its report to stockholders said.

Sales were $1,572,487,000, a 22 per cent jump from the 1973 figure of $1,287,276,000.

The report cited poor economic conditions throughout the world and said "after a strong incoming order rate in the first half, TI experienced a decline in new orders as customers reduced inventories and lowered manufacturing schedules. This trend accelerated sharply in the fourth quarter."

"However, the overall strength of backlog through the third quarter resulted in record sales billed for the fourth quarter and the year, but profits did not keep pace with gains in sales billed."

"The number of employees declined to 65,524 by year end 1974 compared with 74,422," Texas Instruments said.

The backlog and outlook for new orders "made a worldwide reduction of about 9,000 employees necessary in early 1975. Most of this action was completed in January."

"We are entering 1975 at the lowest level of activity in more than a year. Furthermore, uncertainty persists regarding the severity and duration of the current worldwide recession."

Will Submit 15 Cases To Grand Jury Monday

District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III plans to submit 15 cases to the grand jury convening Monday.

Defendants include: Kenneth Wayne Miears, 17, 1301 Elm Drive, charged with rape of a 12-year-old girl on Jan. 25, 1975; Rogelio Duran, who celebrated his 17th birthday in Howard County Jail, Feb. 3, aggravated rape on Sept. 21, 1974; and Doyle Denton, 44, General Delivery, theft of an auto belonging to Raymond Pederson on Oct. 27.

Also, Billy Ray Day, burglary of Clawson Lumber Co., Coahoma, Nov. 28; Raymond Bill Lopez, 17, 606 N. San Antonio St., aggravated assault with deadly weapon on Oscar Trevino on Sept. 14; and Guy Talamantez, 19, 212 NE 10th St., and Johnny Talamantez, 20, 607 NW 7th St., aggravated assaults on Esquivel Flores and a peace officer, John Burson, both on Jan. 12, 1975.

Paul Talamantez, 40, 212 NE 10th, aggravated assault on a peace officer, Alvis Jeffcoat, on Jan. 12; David Lee Ayers, 20, Webb Air Force Base, delivery of LSD on July 24; and James Earl Johnson, 29, 110 Lockhart St., aggravated assault on a peace officer, Joe Mollinary, on Jan. 25.

And Floyd Edwin McBride, aggravated assault on a peace officer, Jimmy W. Parks, on Jan. 10; Renaldo Hernandez, 18, 215 NE 10th St., possession of more than four ounces of marijuana on Oct. 7; and Manuel G. Garrientez, 38, Snyder, second-offense driving while intoxicated.

Not listed on the sheet are three "closed cases" in which defendants have not been charged with an offense, said Guy Talbot special investigator for the district attorney. One involves alleged embezzlement, one possible felony theft and one a claimed aggravated assault.

Property Tax Axed

AUGUSTA, Mo. (AP) — A bumper soybean crop grown on town-owned farmland has allowed this tiny Missouri River community to suspend its 1974 property tax.

Nature has an apparent fondness for the old German settlement of 259 residents.

Shifts in the river have given the town 200 acres of rich soil in the past century and last year a handsome crop of soybeans grown on the riverbottom land helped return more than $18,500 to town coffers.

Soybeans were planted on 150 acres and commanded an average price of $7.20 a bushel, twice the average price of the previous summer.

Because of the excellent profit, the board of trustees decided recently to suspend the 1974 real estate and personal property tax of 65 cents per $100 assessed valuation.

"Actually the town tax is only $2,500," Mayor Don Flynn said.

Late For Chess Addis Ababa Street Fights

NOVA, SAD, Yugoslavia (AP) — The oldest active classified chess player is Dr. Radusko Ilijc, 82, of this North Yugoslav city, who still plays at major tournaments in the country.

The lawyer often came late to court, or missed an appointment with his client, when he lost himself in an interesting game. But he has never showed up late for tournament games.

Recently, he traveled to Sarajevo for a tourney, where he played up to three games daily, with a vigor that stirred up the envy of partners who were only one fourth his age.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Ethiopian soldiers exchanged gunfire with civilians early today in street fighting on the southern edge of Addis Ababa, witnesses said.

A diplomatic source estimated, meanwhile, that the number of dead was "over 1,000" in the week-long fighting between sessionist guerrillas and government troops in northern Eritrea province.

The reason for the fighting and the number of persons involved was not immediately known.

COMPANY HEARS ABOUT IT, TOO Cold Month, Gas-Cost Clause Boost Bills

A cold month plus the gas-cost adjustment clause which has been on the gas bills since last May, brought higher fuel bills and with them a blizzard of protests from local customers when they received their January bills from Pioneer Natural Gas Co.

The firm, along with the Big Spring Herald and the City of Big Spring, have received a multitude of calls and complaints during the month. Pioneer Gas officials requested that inquiries be referred to them.

The cost adjustment clause is a figure granted to Pioneer Gas last spring by cities in their service area in order that they might compete in purchasing a limited gas supply.

CITIES STUDY
The cities conducted a special study of the request and agreed to it in order to keep enough gas coming into the area, according to a decision made at a municipal meeting of the cities in the early fall.

On the local bills, in the left hand corner is the cost adjustment clause each month. This month it is .2893, in December it was .2704, and in November it was .2944. That figure times the mcf figure on your bill, which shows the amount of gas you used, will give you what the adjustment clause cost you on the bill.

For instance, if you have 31 mcf figure, you have used about $30.07 worth of gas plus the adjustment clause which this month would figure $7.68 on that particular bill.

ALSO COLD DAYS
Since some people's bills have been up a lot more than this figure, gas company personnel point out that the jump in the recent bills was much more than the cost adjustment clause.

The month was cold every day during that month with the high on many days in the 40s.

Dearl Pittman of Pioneer Gas pointed out, "Because there was not a lot of snow and ice, people simply cannot believe how cold the month was and how much heat it took. We have checked a lot of homes this month for possible leaks because people thought they might have one due to their bills."

Like the gasoline increase in prices during the past year, utility companies face many of the same energy problems.

VERY SMALL
Tom Locke of Texas Electric, said that "Due to longrange planning through the years, TESCO has escaped thus far any sudden increases in costs."

"A fuel adjustment clause has been applied to the bill each month for more than 20 years, but we only recently starting printing the amount on the face of the bill. In our case at this time, it is very small," Locke added.

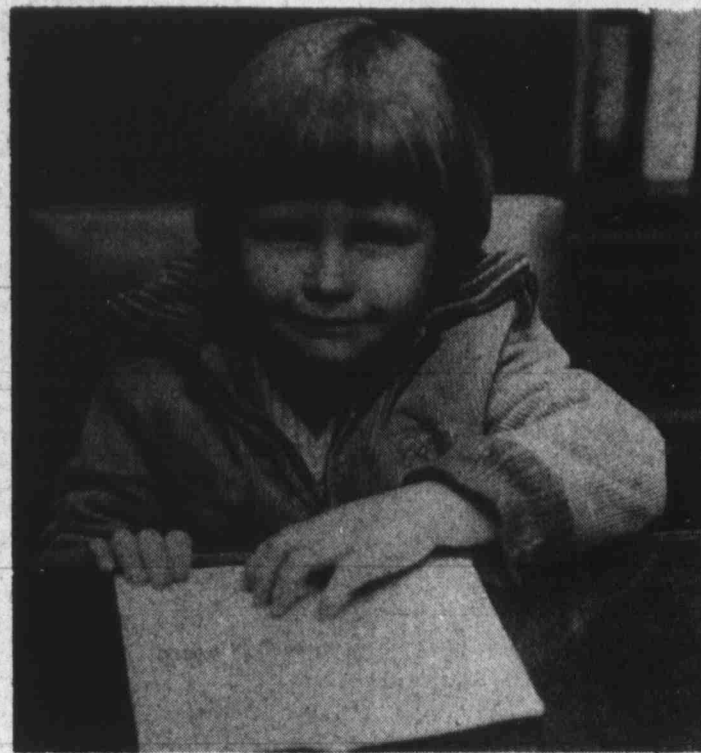

Texas Electric's heavier billings are in the summer months since many people cool with electricity. However, there have been no changes in rates since last summer, according to Locke.

"We credit the fact that our bills have shown very little change to the company's ability to plan ahead for problems which have now arrived," Locke added.

THEFTS

Billie Carr, 1000 E. 16th reported that someone stole two hubcaps from her 1966 Buick while it was parked in her driveway at 3:40 p.m. Saturday. They were valued at $30.

Orville Ward, 4218 Calvin, reported that someone stole a brown suit worth $125 from his car while it was parked in the V.A. Hospital parking lot at 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

TRUE BELIEVER — Little Jeffrey Johnston, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Johnston, looks at a book featuring dogs and children, which will be distributed through the elementary schools in an effort to cut down on local dog bites. Jeffrey was bitten by a dog at Cherry Creek Lake last year. When the dog was determined to be sick, the head was sent in for examination. Jeffrey was lucky. It was not rabies, but several other local children took anti-rabies shots last year.

Danger Of Rabid Dogs Stressed

Close to 200 children were treated for dog bite in Big Spring last year throughout the city.

Some were for minor bites and some few were rather severe and in the area of the head.

All of these children and all of their parents were put through weeks of anxiety about the possibility of rabies. A few of the children had to undergo the shots in the abdomen due to the fact that the animal could not be located.

A group of concerned citizens last week got together to study the problem.

Although a large group of citizens appeared at a city council meeting last year very distraught because they knew of eight or ten dogs that had been killed by tranquilizers, very little was said about the 200 children treated for dog bite.

The problem is two-fold, Capt. Larry D. Brown, Webb Air Force base veterinarian, said at last week's meeting. "None of us want children to suffer unnecessarily nor do we want persons to have to give up their pets. We would like to see citizens with pets bringing their vaccinations up to date and we would like to see a crackdown on stray dogs."

It was also mentioned that individual families should attempt to teach small children not to play with dogs they do not know and not to bother dogs while they are eating.

It was also brought out that children should be told not to ever handle bats or to get close to wild animals.

The fact was also stressed that puppies are not always immune. Most vets hesitate to vaccinate puppies because it has to be done over in a few months.

A lot of dog owners let the year elapse without renewing their dog's tags.

All citizens are urged by the base community animal control council to please help in any way possible to cut down on the problem in Big Spring.

Record High Enrollment Confirmed

The final figures are in and confirm what previously was known — Howard College has an all-time record enrollment for the Spring semester.

L. L. Lewis, director of admissions, reported a total at deadline Thursday evening of 1,449. This is an 8.6 per cent gain over the 1,334 for the Autumn semester, the previous high, and it is 20.5 per cent above the 1,202 for the Spring of 1974.

The breakdown shows 1,283 of the students on campus, a new record in this field, eclipsing the 1,194 in the spring of 1971. There are 93 enrolled in the Lamesa Center and 73 in the San Angelo Center.

Afro-American History Observances At Webb

Beginning Monday, Webb Air Force Base will join the nation in a week long observance of Afro-American History.

Highlighting the observances will be a special program at the John H. Lees Recreational Center on Feb. 15 and 16, the final two days of the national observance.

The Recreation Center program will begin with an Afro-American art display at 1 p.m. on Feb. 15. The exhibit will include paintings, sculptures, traditional costumes, music and other items of interest. At 7:30, a special guest speaker will talk on Afro-American History. At 8 p.m., a skit portraying the progress of the black people against prejudice will be presented in the Recreational Center ballroom. Refreshments will follow the skit.

On Feb. 16, a Gospel Chorus will present a collection of Afro-American songs of faith. Afterwards, a special presentation, Religion: Our National Heritage, will finish the week's activities.

Besides the program slated for the Recreation Center, there will be a display at the base library featuring books on Afro-American History. The books will be on display throughout the week.

In addition, an exhibit of posters, pamphlets and a schedule of events pertaining to Afro-American History Week will be on display at strategic points on the base throughout the week. On Monday, the exhibit will be in the NCO Open Mess; on Tuesday it will be in Building 300; on Wednesday it will be in the Recreation Center; on Thursday it will be in the Base Exchange and on Friday it will be in the Officer's Open Mess.

Four Survive Plane Crash At Ruidoso

RUIDOSO, N.M. (AP) — Four Houston, Tex., residents survived the crash of a single engine airplane today at the Ruidoso Municipal Airport, authorities reported.

The names of the two men and two women aboard the plane were not immediately released. The four were admitted to Hondo Valle Hospital at Ruidoso, where a spokesman said all were "doing just fine — none of them are in serious condition."

The hospital spokesman said they were being treated for shock and broken limbs.

Ruidoso police said the Cessna 180 was attempting to land at the airport when it apparently overshot the runway and crashed into some trees about 7:30 a.m. in this mountain resort town.

One wing was sheared off and remained suspended in a tree while the plane crashed into a ravine.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the two couples had been en route from Houston to Ruidoso for a skiing holiday.

Child Shot By Brother

GAINESVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Kay Hudson, 11, was fatally shot Saturday afternoon by a gun held by her brother, Randy, 9, a sheriff's office spokesman said.

The two children were playing with a .45-caliber automatic pistol while in their home. Officers said the boy believed he had removed the bullets but one was left in the chamber.

Kay was struck in the head. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hudson.

The death was ruled accidental by a justice of the peace.

Westmoreland Out Of Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. William C. Westmoreland, retired Army chief of staff, has left Walter Reed Army Medical Center for his Charleston, S.C., home to continue recovery from a heart attack he suffered Jan. 3.

The Army said on Tuesday that Westmoreland's recovery had been satisfactory, but that he will be returning to Walter Reed for periodic examination.

FORMER PRESIDENT ASKS: DO YOU THINK I COULD?

Nixon May Retrace His Steps To Peking, Moscow

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Six pain-filled months after resigning the presidency, Richard M. Nixon is talking wistfully to friends about traveling to Peking and Moscow again someday to relieve his greatest diplomatic triumphs.

The friends say he sets no timetable and talks only vaguely about ending his lonely self-exile, couching his hopes in such terms as "someday" and "do you think I could?"

POLITICAL EXILE

One aide who sees Nixon frequently insists the President is not sitting here contemplating a return to the political arena... his only plans are to write a book.

Nonetheless, evidence of Nixon's desire to resume a more public life has seeped increasingly from behind the walls of his San Clemente compound.

Nixon retreated behind those walls precisely six months ago, on Aug. 9 when he resigned rather than face certain impeachment for the Watergate cover-up.

He remains, says one aide, "the first American political exile — self-imposed, certainly self-imposed, but certainly exile..."

According to those who have seen him recently, Nixon walks with a pronounced limp caused by the attack of plebitis which almost claimed his life. He spends much of his time alone in his small study overlooking the ocean, but recently has started going to his office 300 yards away on Coast Guard property for a few hours each day.

UNLISTED NUMBER

He frets frequently about his financial problems — problems that are certain to worsen now that his federally subsidized six-month transition period is ending.

His estate is but an echo of the Western White House. The Coast Guard detail at the main gate is being replaced by an intercom. The Secret Service detail which answers it has been slimmed down. The switch-

Mrs. Gerald R. Ford as Nixon prepared to leave the White House last August 9 following his resignation. Nixon flew to nearby Andrews Air Force Base where he boarded Air Force One for a flight to California.

Republican party.

One friend said Nixon read to him portions of letters and messages he has received from such foreign leaders as Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai of China and Leonid I. Brezhnev of the Soviet Union.

This friend wouldn't divulge contents of the documents, but another source confirmed that the Communist leaders had at least vaguely invited Nixon to return to their capitals when he regains his health.

Nixon, in his responses, did not formally accept the invitations, the source said, but thanked the Communist leaders and left open the possibility he might someday retrace his steps to their capitals.

One aide to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said he knew of no discussion for such trips by the former president.

"It's just not a viable board, once attended by a half-dozen full-time operators, has been replaced by three telephone lines to a single, unlisted number.

The comfortable office once occupied by H. R. Haldeman in his heyday as White House staff chief is barren but for a single filing cabinet. A pool table has been moved in to the nerve center where secret messages once were decoded.

MONEY PINCH

Because of the money pinch, only one gardener remains on the payroll. The once-trim grounds are overgrown with weeds, flower beds have gone to seed. Mrs. Nixon has given away hundreds of rose bushes because they are too much trouble to tend.

But Nixon is seeing old friends more often, and they say he has mentioned the possibility of traveling abroad again — and perhaps becoming active again in the option, in my view," the source said. He added, however, that Kissinger may have talked to Nixon about foreign travel during their conversations two weeks ago.

One former White House aide dismissed the possibility of Nixon's making such a journey as a government emissary. He said that if the former president travels abroad, it probably would be under the auspices of a foundation or a magazine with Nixon later publishing a report on his talks with the foreign leaders.

But one Nixon associate, asked whether the former president might return to China or the Soviet Union, said: "I don't see it happening. I really don't. It may come up in conversations, but I know he has no plans to do anything like that. Right now, all he wants to do is write his book."

Another Nixon hope — to has that kind of following," Goldwater said.

Goldwater's disclosure of Nixon's desires brought a chilly response from party leaders. That, in turn, heightened the bitterness of past and present Nixon aides who contend, with ample use of epithets, that "they've turned their backs on him."

BITTERNESS

The bitterness is directed, too, at some in the "Ford White House," a phrase hissed by those around Nixon when they talk of the problems in gaining access to Nixon's memorabilia and documents.

There are, one friend said, "about 100,000 of the yellow legal sheets he's very famous for writing on — they contain his notes, doodles, observations — listed in the papers he's not supposed to have."

"He can't even start on his book," said an aide who complained about the lack of access. "He hasn't even been able to do an outline."

According to one source, Nixon is receiving an advance of about $200,000 in a contemplated $2 million deal for his memoirs.

There's little question he needs the money. "For all practical purposes, he's broke," said a friend who reported that Nixon's account was virtually wiped out when he wrote an $11,000 check last month as partial payment on his medical and hospital bills.

In addition to the bills resulting from his bout with plebitis — he didn't have hospitalization insurance — Nixon is bearing the large expense of his San Clemente and Key Biscayne, Fla., compounds.

JUSTICE FUND

So far, he's been unable to sell the Key Biscayne property. He did have one offer that would have given him a $150,000 profit, a friend said, but the buyer backed out when local officials opened a road alongside the house to public traffic.

Nixon also is burdened with legal bills. A "justice fund" operated by Rabbi Baruch Korff has paid $100,000 in the lawyer's fees, but more than $120,000 still is owed.

Nixon receives a $60,000 annual pension. With the end of the transition period the pension is paid from his $200,000 annual government allowance for operating his office. Much of the rest will go for staff salaries — among them, reportedly, $42,000 a year for his long-time personal assistant Rose Mary Woods and $34,000 for Frank Gannon, former White House speechwriter who is helping Nixon with his memoirs.

Ford Vows He'll Ask Voters For New Lease On White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Gerald R. Ford ever wanted to be President, he kept quiet about it. After six months in the White House, however, Ford likes the place and vows he'll ask the landlords for a new lease.

The first president never elected to nationwide office, Ford is fighting an uphill battle for approval from the landlords — the voters. He encourages recollections of another uphill warrior, Democrat Harry S. Truman.

Once bored with office-holding, Ford promised his wife Betty he would retire at the end of 1976, but the presidency intervened.

'I LOVE IT'

Discussing his new job in an interview last fall, Ford said, "I love it... it's sort of got my adrenaline going again."

More recently, in a television-radio interview, the President said:

"I feel very secure in the capability that I have to do the job. And I can assure you that my feeling of security, my feeling of certainty that I can handle it, grows every day."

Ford is not without potential challengers, however, even within the Republican party. Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee has declared his availability for the 1976 Republican nomination and former California governor Ronald Reagan is acting like a would-be candidate.

The President hardly seems to notice. Baker's surprise move came as Ford was marching through Georgia in defense of his economic-energy blueprint and ignoring the Tennesseean. Apart from acknowledging at a news conference that it's anyone's privilege to try for the job, Ford said simply, "I have indicated it is my intention to be a candidate...."

Feeling intellectually fit for the job, Ford also has been pronounced physically fit, although he misses the exercise he used to get when he lived in a house with a swimming pool. Presidential physician William Lukash has recommended tennis and golf. Ford enjoys both but plays neither regularly, partly because of job pressures and partly because he seeks a repu-ration as a doer, not a player.

Until he unveiled his economic-energy plan last month, Ford was hearing complaints even from GOP partisans that he was displaying scant leadership. The new plan changed that.

"The time for action is now," Ford told reporters last month. "We have diddled and dawdled long enough."

"The President is acting like a president," declared Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the Senate Republican leader. Then, as if to suggest this was not always the case, Scott, sighed and added, "Thank heaven for that."

Whereas Lyndon Johnson used to remind voters, "I'm the only President you've got," Ford is touring the country to declare, in effect, "Mine is the only energy program you've got."

Implicit in Ford's grab for the levers of energy leadership is recognition of another, more personal crisis. In the past five months, Ford's performance rating as measured by the Harris Survey has shifted from 67 per cent positive to 60 per cent negative. Never before, since national opinion polling began, has a fledgling president suffered such an abrupt erosion of public approval.

As Ford strives to reverse the course of his downhill presidency, his behavior becomes somewhat reminiscent of Truman, who was a hard man to budge once he had set a course he deemed right.

ENERGY ISSUE

On the energy issue, Ford is Truman-like in his unwillingness to give ground to his critics. Although he talks compromise, his opposition to each suggested alternative seems total.

Higher gasoline taxes are out of the question, he says. Fuel allocation would be adverse to the economy. Resort to rationing would be like washing a car instead of giving it a needed tune-up.

Without question, Ford has seized the initiative on energy. With a simple pen stroke, he proclaimed a series of oil tariff increases that mark a start on his strategy of discouraging consumption by raising prices.

Meeting in Atlanta last Monday with eight Southeastern governors, six of them Democrats, Ford sounded very much like Truman as he asserted, "The tariff is on and it's going to stay on until Congress acts."

Before another Atlanta audience, Ford defended the tariff hikes.

GUILTY OF BAD JUDGMENT Amstead Assigned 'Special Duties'

AUSTIN (AP) — University of Texas Chancellor Charles Lemaistre announced Friday that Dr. B.H. Amstead will be assigned "special duties" for the UT system beginning March 1 and extending through Aug. 31.

Amstead resigned in December as president of the University of Texas of the Permian Basin, amid accusations that he misled the House Appropriations Committee about funding for a duck pond and three-hole golf course at the school.

Lemaistre said Amstead, an engineer, will be assigned to several projects, including:

—A study of energy use by UT system schools, with recommendations on how to reduce energy consumption.

—A report on the feasibility of expanding UT system activities related to solar and wind energy.

—A study of methods for increasing incentives for development of patentable products.

—A review of research grants and contracts in special areas.

All of the assignments require that Amstead be based in Austin.

Lemaistre said Amstead will begin a special faculty assignment in the fall semester designed to prepare him for a return to full-time teaching and research.

The chancellor last month reported that his investigation showed that Amstead had not deliberately misled the appropriations committee. UT regents said the UTPB administration had been guilty of bad judgment in the duck pond and golf course projects.

Deliveries By CRMWD Ease Off

The new year has started with a lesser water demand for the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

Deliveries amounted to 1,216,770,840 gallons in January, down 2.76 per cent from the 1,251,353,722 gallons a year ago. Half of the 36-million-gallon decline, however, is accounted for by San Angelo's situation. Last year that city drew 18 million gallons; this year with good supplies, it took none.

Total municipal demand was 671,927,000 gallons, down 7.48 per cent from January 1974.

Mining and industrial deliveries were up slightly in reaching 544,843,840, of up 7.03 per cent from a year ago. SACTOC took an additional 13,000,000 gallons of brackish water and Sharon Ridge increased its deliveries by nine million to counterbalance lesser demands by other companies.

These were the deliveries to cities:

Odessa 259,841,000, down 2.57 per cent; Big Spring 197,021,000, down 1.67; Snyder 53,651,000, down 11.63; Stanton 1,852,000, down 69.14; Midland 159,562,000, down 16.5; San Angelo, none; Robert Lee, none.

HERITAGE OF OLD WEST — Police Chief Vance Chisum shows a part of his arrowhead collection he discussed recently at the Heritage Museum. His ancestry includes Comanche Indians as well as an early Texas Ranger, so he has an interest in history from both the cowboy and the Indian sides.

Arrows Point Way To Chief's Fun

By MARJ CARPENTER

Years ago, an Indian chief shot an arrow into the air. Years later, a police chief may be the one who found the arrowhead.

With a heritage that includes an early Texas Ranger and also some Indian ancestry, it has been a natural for Police Chief Vance Chisum to be interested in law enforcement as a vocation and arrowhead collections as a hobby.

Chief Chisum has an arrowhead collection that includes several thousand arrowheads. "I've hunted arrowheads over 40 years. You think I'm kidding but I actually started when I was three or four years old," Chisum recalled. "I'm part Comanche Indian and I'm just interested in them."

The collection includes such things as four fist axes, which are rare; Indian jewelry pieces, bone tools, decorative pieces and lance tips.

"Most of them were found in the area I was raised, around Uvalde," Chief Chisum stated. "There are three rivers around there — the Nueces, Frio and Leona and it was at one time a gathering place for many tribes as they crossed over into Mexico."

Chief Chisum has also hunted arrowheads along the Rio Grande and over in Mexico. "There are a lot of them over there because those people are superstitious about picking them up, and they leave them on the ground."

WATCH FOR SNAKES
He has hunted the Indian relics in many caves. "You have to watch for rattlesnakes and centipedes," the chief warned. "We used to take a screen and sift through the ashes for relics. I have also searched Indian mounds. We discovered several skeletons but we always left them alone," he added.

"I first kept my collection in cigar boxes. Then after I came back from serving in the navy during World War II, I mounted and framed a lot of them," Chisum said.

When the Korean conflict came along, Chisum joined the army instead of the navy and served in Europe. He was in the army until 1955. All four of the Chisum brothers served in the armed forces, with one of the, Gene, awarded a Silver Star for bravery in Korean action.

Chisum said that the recent picture show, "Chisum" with John Wayne as the star, was about his great uncle. "A lot of the Chisums went to New Mexico from around the Uvalde area. My family were among the early settlers around Uvalde. It was settled in the 1840s. Actually Fort Inge was located south of there for Indian fighting as far back as the 1830s."

"Billy the Kid lived and worked on my great uncle's ranch in New Mexico. My great uncle had come from the Uvalde area and ironically, Pat Garrett, who killed Billy the Kid, also came from the Uvalde area," Chief Chisum recalled.

MILITARY POLICEMAN
When Chisum was in the army in Europe, he served with the military police and became even more interested in law enforcement. He was already interested

Must Remap In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — A federal judge ordered the Dallas City Council Saturday to put into effect a system whereby eight of its members must run in single-member districts and three will run at large.

U.S. District Court Judge Eldon B. Mahon issued the order after a hearing and said the system of electing all councilmen at large unconstitutionally dilutes the votes of blacks.

The 8-3 plan adopted by Mahon was proposed by the present city council.

The judge had indicated earlier that he believed electing all the council at large was unconstitutional, and the hearing lasting the last two and a half days was to determine how many districts should be created.

Lawyers for black citizens who filed the suit proposed that all council members be elected from specific geographical areas with the mayor chosen from among the councilmen. An alternate proposal was that all councilmen be elected from districts while the mayor would be elected by all residents of Dallas.

Mexican-Americans intervened in the case, asking that any ruling also give opportunities to the Mexican-American residents.

Councilman Pedro Aguirre said earlier he believed city officials must give serious consideration to increasing the councilmen's numbers from 11 to 22.

Light Snow Expected

By The Associated Press

A cold front, already severe where it had struck, bore down on Texas Saturday.

In early afternoon, it dropped the temperature at Dalhart to 29 degrees and at Amarillo to 23.

The temperature at about that time Friday was 55 degrees at both Amarillo and Dalhart.

By early afternoon, the front stretched from Childress to near Plainview to near Tucumcari, N.M.

Strong northerly winds behind the system made the weather still more miserable, and the cold was accompanied by fog.

The fog at Amarillo reduced visibility to one-eighth mile shortly before noon.

Light snow fell in the upper Panhandle. The cold was expected to push southward through Sunday although the light snow was expected to be confined to Northwest Texas.

As so often occurs with cold fronts, this one seemed to intensify the warmth ahead of it. Temperatures in early afternoon ahead of the cold generally were 10 or more degrees higher than the same time Friday.

ROMANTIC decisions aren't easy at any age. Laura Mauldin, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Maulden, can't decide whose name to put on her heart.

CERTAIN of her heart's desire, Niki Davis, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Davis, firmly traces a valentine pattern for one of her favorite friends.

IT'S YOU AND ME, BABE, says Scott Stone, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Stone, as he gives his heart away. The lucky girl (who knew it all the time) is Stephanie Lain, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al Lain.

"Have A Heart"

By JO BRIGHT

"The association of the lovers' festival with St. Valentine seems to arise from the fact that the festival of the saint falls in early spring, and is purely accidental." The Encyclopedia Britannica speaks authoritatively but legends still live in the hearts of children and lovers and poets.

Listen, as the poets speak:

"Set me as a seal upon thine heart, as a seal upon thine arm: for love is strong as death; jealousy is cruel as the grave: the coals thereof are coals of fire, which hath a most vehement flame."

KIND SOLOMON

"Love one another, but make not a bond of love: let it rather be a moving sea between the shore of your souls. Fill each other's cup but drink not from one cup."

KAHLIL GIBRAN

"Names and numbers scribbled on the backs of business cards or finely printed on old matchbook covers. I never have the guts to throw them out. Do you?"

ROD MCKUEN

"Go from me. Yet I feel that I shall stand henceforward in thy shadow. Nevermore alone upon the threshold of my door of individual life, I shall command the uses of my soul, not lift my hand serenely in the sunshine as before, without the sense of that which I forebore — thy touch upon the palm."

ELIZABETH B. BROWNING

"Love me, love me, but love me lightly. Weave no silken gauze to bind me."

DON BLANDING

"I told my love, I told my love, I told her all my heart. Trembling, cold, in ghastly fears. Ah, she did depart!"

WILLIAM BLAKE

"By heaven I do love: and it hath taught me to rhyme and to be melancholy."

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

PERCY B. SHELLEY

Wedding Ceremony Performed Saturday

The Church of St. Mary, the Virgin, was the setting Saturday evening for the wedding of Miss Carol LaNell Knowles and Paul Edward Webb.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Harland Birdwell before an altar decorated with baskets of yellow spider mums, Wornburn-Abby roses, gypsophila and English Ivy.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Milton Knowles, 1309 Johnson, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Webb, 1106 State.

Nuptial music was by Miss Linda Lassiter, Midland, organist.

MRS. PAUL EDWARD WEBB

The bride chose a gown of 18th century styling made of ivory silk-faced organza, combined with heirloom lace. The moulded bodice featured a pinafore yoke of lace with scalloped edging extending over the shoulders. Long, tapered sleeves repeated the lace motif with ruffles extending over the wrists. The full belled skirt was sashed in satin ribbon with an overlay of lace, and the hemline and train were encircled with a ruffled flounce of lace.

A Camelot lace headpiece held her tiered veil, which was edged in lace. She carried a nosegay of yellow spider mums, Wornburn-Abby and yellow roses with gypsophila and ivy.

Miss Cindy Wade was maid of honor, and Miss Christi Miller and Miss Barbara Pierce were bridesmaids. Their dresses were of an old-fashioned design with lace bib yoke and mandarin neckline. Lace ruffling trimmed the bib, cummerbund and wrists of the long, tapered sleeves.

Miss Wade's dress was of peach and she carried two yellow roses tied with matching yellow ribbons. The bridesmaids, dressed in yellow, carried Wornburn-Abby roses tied with matching ribbons.

The attendants wore matching lace prayer caps. Donald Click, Lubbock was best man, and groomsmen were David Knouse, Lubbock, and Jerry Knous, Odessa.

The couple will reside at 1101 W. 23rd, Odessa, where the bridegroom is chef for Farmers Market.

The bride, a graduate of Big Spring High School, attended Howard College.

The bridegroom also completed high school in Big Spring and is a graduate of Culinary Institute of America, Hyde Park, N.Y.

A reception was held in the parish hall.

The bride's table was covered with a ecrú linen and lace cloth with a centerpiece of yellow spider and white pompon mums held in a silver cooler. Silver candelabra flanked the cake, and crystal appointments were used.

The bridegroom's table was covered with green and white checked gingham. In the center was a cake circled with marzipan and centered with a green candle. Appointments were of white ironstone.

Serving were Miss Becky Strain, Miss Janice Gregg, Miss Susan Blessingame, Mrs. Shelton Ashley, San Angelo; Mrs. Billy D. Fishback, Lubbock; and Miss Susan Thomas. Mrs. Rick Johnson was at the register.

Out-of-town relatives attending included Mrs. Lennie Ashley Gross, Riverside, Calif., grandmother of the bridegroom; David Webb, Austin, brother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Tony Carpenter, Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Dudley McKaskey, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Reagan, Plainview.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Webb entertained with a rehearsal dinner at 8 p.m., Friday, at their home.

Prof Talks Of Human Liberation

Mrs. Mary Dudley, psychology professor at Howard College, was guest speaker for the 1946 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. Jerry Grimes. Mrs. Jack Cook was cohostess.

Mrs. Tom Ross introduced the speaker who said rather than use the term, "women's liberation," in her talk, she prefers the term, "human liberation," as in psychology, where one develops his or her full potential. She quoted Jonathan Swift as saying "I am ignorant of any quality that is amiable in a man which is not equally so in woman; I do not except modesty or gentleness of nature, nor do I know one vice or folly which is not equally detestible in both."

A discussion period followed the talk.

The March meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. M. A. Porter, 1608 Indian Hills.

Take Time Selecting An Upholstery Fabric

By SHERRY MULLIN
 (County HD Agent)

There's more to selecting an appropriate upholstery fabric than meets the eye; some of the prettiest fabrics can be the poorest performers. So before you select the material for a new sofa or chair (or to re-cover upholstered furniture), it's a good idea to know some basic fabric facts to help you recognize quality and durability.

Select a sturdy fabric — one that is tightly woven. Tug on the fabric to be sure the yarns don't slip easily and distort. Look closely at the weave. If it involves fine yarns running in one direction, heavy yarns running in the other, the heavy yarns could abrade the fine ones in the course of wear, and the fabric could eventually develop splits.

Don't confuse sturdiness with heaviness. A heavy fabric can be loosely woven and, if so, won't wear well. Also, beware of fabrics that are heavily reinforced with latex or acrylic backing; backing is often used to stabilize slippery yarns, but a thin coating is necessary.

Look for labels describing fiber content. With blends, the greater the percentage of man-made fibers, the stronger the fabric is likely to be, though firmness is still the most important factor in durability — a tightly woven cotton and rayon will wear better, for example, than a sleazy, loosely woven nylon, though nylon is the stronger fiber. Look, too, for the new standard code letters for the type of care the fabric will require. If the furniture is sold with a guarantee, ask about it and be sure you understand what it includes and whether it involves replacement, refund or just repair.

Don't use "grade" labeling as a guide to quality. Every manufacturer grades his fabrics in some way — many do it alphabetically (A, B, C, etc.) — but these letters are determined by price, which is based on styling, and not necessarily by quality. Higher, more expensive grades may not wear as well as less expensive grades.

TOUGH FIBERS

Consider fabrics made of, or containing a high percentage of, nylon or olefin. These strong fibers add durability to fabrics and they're highly stain resistant. Also, keep in mind stain-repellent finishes, (some can now be applied to velvet). If the fabric you select doesn't have a protective finish, you can usually have one applied for an additional $35 or so for an average sofa, about $20 for an armchair.

Don't expect miracles. Even if you select easy-care fibers or fabrics with stain-repellent finishes, light-colored fabrics — whites, beiges, pastels — are bound to need more upkeep; solid colors will show soil faster than tweeds, plaids, stripes or other patterns; plain velvets will show more shading than crushed, embossed or patterned velvets.

They're easy to care for and long-wearing. Many of the newer plastics "breathe," so they are cooler and more comfortable to sit on.

Don't buy plastic that is not fabric-backed; it's won't wear well. Also, don't think of plastics as indestructible. Though very tough, they will tear or split if pierced with a sharp object, and can be damaged by solvents found in many products — some household cleaners, nail-polish and polish remover, shoe polish, etc.

WORKMANSHIP

Check for good workmanship before you order furniture to be upholstered. Details to look for: welded seams with matched stitching; patterns matched and centered on cushions and backs; seat cushions that rest squarely on the chair platform with no gapping; zipper closures on cushions, to give neat fit (not to remove for cleaning, as often thought); reversible cushions; hems and pleats that hang straight. When upholstered furniture arrives in your home, whether it is new or has just been re-covered, check that the work has been done well.

Don't accept delivery of a sofa or chair if the upholstery workmanship does not meet with your approval. Send it back to the store then and there, even if it means delay or having to start your shopping all over again. Once you have signed for the furniture and have used it, it's difficult to get most stores to accept a return or adjust a complaint.

Show Types Of Area Birds

Birds in Big Spring was the subject of a program for planters Garden Club given by Mrs. Hubert Stipp Wednesday at First Federal Community Room.

Mrs. Stipp projected slides showing birds that frequent the Big Spring area and discussed each species, telling of their customs and specific markings.

Other guests were Mrs. Herk Agee and Mrs. Irene Orenbaum.

Hostesses were Mrs. C. A. Smauley, Mrs. C. Y. Clinkscales and Mrs. Frank B. Wilson.

Mrs. Smauley exhibited a bird feeder which she had made from a three-pound coffee can and two pie tins. She distributed instructions on how to assemble it.

The club agreed to provide 12 dozen cookies for the Big Spring State Hospital.

The fall flower show will be in conjunction with the Howard County Fair and the District One, Texas Garden Clubs Inc., meeting will be at the Hilton Inn, Lubbock, March 4-5, according to announcements.

Mrs. J. O. Murphy will host the March 5 meeting at her home, 700 E. 12th.

Club Advised On Spring Gardening

"Trees and Early Spring Gardening" was the program topic for Big Spring Garden Club Wednesday in the home of Mrs. L. B. Edwards, 2707 Crestline.

Mr. Hurt of Hurt Inc., Odessa, was the speaker. He said now is the time to prune, shape, feed and spray with lime-oil emulsion. Fruit trees should be fed with three pounds of complete plant food for each one inch of diameter of trunk. Shade trees should have two pounds for each inch, put at the drop line of the branches.

The speaker noted that trees that have been watered sufficiently during the winter will not freeze as readily as dry ones. However, he cautioned against spraying trees and shrubbery before a freeze as the ice which forms will cause limb breakage.

Grass needs four inches of water every 11 days, the year around, but San Augustine needs to be watered no more than 30 minutes because of the shallow roots.

Hurt said that labels on complete plant food should be read to assure it contains iron, sulphur and zinc. He also suggested that tomatoes be planted in a different place each year.

In order to neutralize the minerals in the water there should be 50 pounds of soil sulphur to every 100 square feet of soil.

Announcement was made of the spring meeting of District 1, Texas Garden Clubs Inc., in Lubbock, March 4-5 at Hilton Inn.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Edwards and her cohostess, Mrs. John Balch, from a table laid with a green linen cloth centered with a show specimen purple African violet.

Missions Is Talk Topic

WESTBROOK (SC) — Lay volunteers for home missions was the subject for a program for First Baptist women at the Tuesday meeting in the home of Mrs. Dale Byrd.

The women discussed some of the ministries involved — Vacation Bible School, visitation and survey, revival preparation, medical ministries, and camp leadership. First hand experiences with missions can enrich the spiritual growth of an entire family, according to the leader, Mrs. Byrd. Many lay people are interested in doing mission service.

Mrs. Altis Clemmer led prayer, and it was announced that the Home Mission goal for the church was $250. Week of Prayer has been set for March 2-9, with a theme of "Herein Is Hope."

Mrs. Gene Farley read a letter of thanks from the Rev. Gene Horton of Rio Hondo, for several boxes of clothing sent for missions there from the local WMU.

Local History Program Topic

"Shades of History" was the topic of Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper Tuesday as she brought the program for the Green Thumb Garden Club — which met in the home of Mrs. Harvy Williamson.

History of Big Spring and Howard County was traced from the showing of some fossils which Mrs. Cowper said was the first written history of the area. She talked of the Spanish surveyors who came this way, and the trip of Capt. R. B. Marcy who came to the 'big spring' in 1849.

The speaker showed slides of some early day Big Spring homes, as well as other scenes, and traced the Signal Mountain loop which provides an interesting scenic loop of the area.

Mrs. G. R. Robinson and Mrs. C. M. Adams were cohostesses.

The next meeting will be March 4 in the home of Mrs. Merle Stewart with a program to be given by Mrs. Marj Carpenter.

Miss Simms Weds Rev. James English

Miss Ruby Lee Simms of Big Spring and the Rev. James Charles English of Lawton, Okla., were married Saturday evening in the sanctuary of Mt. Bethel Baptist Church with the Rev. Johnny Mitchell, pastor, officiating for the nuptial rites.

The altar setting was enhanced with candelabra and greenery and centered with a basket arrangement of pink and white carnations. The vocalist, Mrs. Deidra McDade, was accompanied by Mrs. Erastus Dawson, pianist.

The bride, who has been a teacher for the Big Spring Independent School District for 21 years, is the daughter of Mrs. Darnetta Jones of Wimsboro and the late Tommie Bolden Jones. She received her BA and MA degrees from Texas College in Tyler. She has been an Adult Education teacher for five years and previously, taught at Lakeview School.

Rev. English attended Butler College and Texas College, receiving his BD degree from Howard University in Washington. He is pastor of Hosea Chapel, Tulsa, Okla. For the time being, Mrs. English will remain in Big Spring while her husband continues his pastorate in Tulsa.

The bride's white bridal gown of peau de soie, with chapel-length train, was designed with lace-trimmed V neckline on a bodice applied with pearl-sprinkled lace. The empire-style gown had long sleeves ending in deep lace ruffles. Her beaded head-piece held a finger-tip-length veil of illusion, and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations tied with satin steamers.

ATTENDANTS
The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. William Starling of Wimsboro, who wore a blue, floor-length gown with empire waistline, long sleeves and V neckline. Her garden hat matched her gown, and she held a nosegay of blue carnations. The maid of honor, Miss Jil Alexander, was attired in a full-length gown of sheer lilac top, flowered skirt and deep, buttoned cuffs on the long sleeves. Her garden hat matched her gown, and her bouquet was of lilac carnations.

Dear Abby

No One has To Be A Door Mat For A Mate

DEAR ABBY: Is it too late to leave a husband after 36 years of marriage? Through the years, I have put up with plenty of abuse, both verbal and physical, but I always forgave him.

Last night was the last straw. At supper, my husband had taken second helpings of everything on the table. We were just about finished when I noticed a little more stew in the bowl, so I put it on his plate. He flew into a rage, saying he wasn't a garbage can, then he picked up his plate and shoved it into my face, all over my glasses and in my hair! This happened last night and I am still so infuriated I can hardly control myself.

He didn't apologize. (He never does.) He just said: "Well, you asked for it when you tried to force the left-overs on me!"

I suppose it's too late to leave him, but if you were in my place, what would you have done? Or better yet, what would YOU do now?

HAD IT: DEAR HAD IT: What I would do and what YOU should do are probably two different things. If you have put up with his abuse for 36 years, you either must have liked it, or felt that you had no choice. Now, you should ask yourself the question, "Would I be better off without him — or with him?" There's your answer.

DEAR ABBY: I'm the mother of a 15-year-old daughter and a 15-year-old son. They're good kids as far as behavior goes, but they are a pair of lazy slob when it comes to keeping their rooms picked up.

I have pleaded with them, yelled at them, and threatened them with the worst kind of punishment, but nothing works.

We live in a lovely new home, and each has a beautiful room, but you would never know it.

Abby, I am not a fanatic, nor am I unreasonable. I just want them to hang up their clothes and keep their rooms presentable. I don't even ask them to make their own beds.

When guests come over and want to see the house, I have to keep these two rooms closed off because I'm ashamed of the way they look most of the time.

Can you help me?

GIVING UP: DEAR GIVING: You are fighting a losing battle, Mother. Say no more to them, keep their doors closed, and enter their rooms only to change the beds, and rake it once a week. When they get tired of living in that mess, they'll clean it up. Until then, don't let it aggravate you. It's not worth it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl whose best features are my legs. Believe me, I don't have much else, but I've been told I could make a fortune modeling hosiery.

60th Anniversary Is Marked By Fallons

There was a cake cooling Thursday in the J. Claude Fallon home in anticipation of the arrival of a son and daughter-in-law from Lubbock, but that was the only concession to the 60th wedding anniversary Friday.

The Fallons were married Feb. 7, 1915 at the home of Peace Justice Dalton in Goldthwaite. With them were her brother, George Bohanon, and a friend, Mrs. Jim Ada Roberts. Recalling the day, Mrs. Fallon said there was no music or other fancy things at the ceremony.

Newly-marrieds didn't have the showers and gifts in the manner of today. But the gifts they got were greatly appreciated. The Fallons recalled one gift was a large bag of dry beans. Other friends invited the young couple to visit their hen houses after roosting time and get a chicken. In this manner they accumulated a flock.

Their first home was in Mills County, a three-room frame for which they had furniture. They also owned horses and farming equipment, so they made it fairly well. When they moved from MillstoShacklefordCounty in 1919 they had two children, and "the War" was over.

Later they moved to Fort Worth, but they missed their old home county, so they moved back to Goldthwaite. All their children were born in Mill County. They had three sons serving in the armed services during World War II.

The family moved to Big Spring 44 years ago just when the oil boom was dying down, and it appeared Big Spring was going with it. Mr. Fallon worked at Cosden Refinery as a yardman, a gauger, assistant stillman and stillman. He retired from Cosden 15 years ago.

Their children are Kenneth, who lives in Idaho Falls, Ida.; Mrs. George (Charlene) Lamb, Floresville; Berlie, Lubbock; James, New Orleans, La.; and Robert, St. Louis, Mo.

Only Dr. Berlie Fallon and his wife, Winona, were able

Trends In Changing Weather Examined

Trends in global weather were discussed by the American Association of University Women's day study group Monday in the home of Mrs. Joey Grathwol.

Mrs. Sue Simoncic presented current theories under study by climatologists and environmentalists around the world. Freakish droughts, floods and storms, coupled with less perceptible long-term changes in temperature and rainfall, strongly suggest a major shift in the earth's weather.

A prime example of changing patterns is in the semi-arid region that lies just below Africa's Sahara Desert. Millions of people in this area have been threatened with starvation in one of the worst droughts on record. The edge of the parched desert is creeping south at the rate of up to 30 miles per year burning out grazing lands, farms and towns. In 1973, the United States experienced abnormal weather phenomena — a deadly blizzard in Colorado, nearly 400 tornadoes across the nation, flooding in the Mississippi Valley and heavy snow throughout the south.

Recently, deadly flash floods have occurred in Pakistan, Mexico, Korea and Nacogdoches, Texas.

The speaker told of the four ways of measuring and recording weather phenomena, and pointed out none is perfectly reliable because weather is determined through the interaction of many variables.

One explanation of today's dilemma is that the earth's temperature is gradually rising, and ultimately will cause the Polar Ice cap to melt, resulting in the flooding of the continents.

A second explanation of man's long-term effect on the weather might be a "cooling effect" which has brought a shorter growing period in Iceland. Both explanations need more study and more accurate data before either will be accepted as probability.

Mrs. Simoncic related effects of air pollutants such as aerosols on the ozone shield.

In conclusion, the speaker dealt with ways the mere presence of cities, as well as their ongoing activities, affect the weather and climate around them. The concrete and asphalt create giant heat islands which help create weather. City dwellers get more heat, rain, fog, cloud cover and flash floods than rural inhabitants. The implications of this heat island effect are only beginning to be felt. At present there is a race between ability to control these effects and the merging of thousands of heat islands as metropolitan areas unite geographically.

The AAUW general meeting will be Feb. 17, 7:30 p.m., at First Federal Community Room.

GIA Program On Orientals

WESTBROOK (SC) — The Girls In Action met at First Baptist Church Wednesday for a program on "Orientals in California."

Theresa Bacon and Debbie King gave the call to prayer in which each girl participated. The group went to the Carl Bacon home for games and refreshments with their leaders, Mrs. Bacon and Mrs. Floyd Rice.

The Rev. Gene Farley, First Baptist pastor, returned Wednesday from Dallas where he attended a church conference. He accompanied a group of ministers and leaders from Mitchell-Scurry Association.

State Bank Exec Discussed Credit

Jere Sink, vice president of Security State Bank, was guest speaker for the Big Spring Credit Women at the Settles Hotel Thursday.

"Loans, Direct and Indirect" was the topic. The speaker said that direct loans are those in which the contact is directly with individuals and can be either term note or installments. Indirect loans deals with buying paper from a dealer. He said all finance charges are covered under the Uniform Consumer Credit Code and that each state can regulate the method of payments. Laws vary in different states.

The speaker stressed that when a loan is extended, one uses the guideline of the three C's, credit, character and capability.

Mrs. C. W. Mahoney was asked to check with the state hospital volunteer coordinator concerning the need for cookies.

The next meeting will be Feb. 20.

A MAN WHO IS NOT ALONE

Prayer has always been a mystery. But through the centuries millions have turned to it, believed in it, and been strengthened by it. Prayer doesn't solve our problems . . . it helps us find right solutions. It doesn't make trouble go away . . . it gives us courage to face our trials. Prayer is never a "safe conduct" through the lines of danger . . . it simply gives a man the bold assurance that he is not alone in his crucial hour. You don't have to go to church in order to pray. You do have to want to be with God. Worship and Christian education have long been the mainstays of continuous communication with God. Families who build their home and happiness on a spiritual foundation find Sundays in church the natural expression of their faith and fervor. A man who cherishes the bold assurance that he is not alone makes being with God a way of life—not a last resort.

For those readers who need to brush up on riddle telling or want to learn new riddles, there are several new riddle books: "The Star-Spangled Banana and Other Revolutionary Riddles" compiled by Charles Keller and Richard Baker, "What? A Riddle Book" by Jane Sarnoff, and "Goofy's Gags" from Walt Disney.

For Dr. Seuss readers, there are two new books, "There's a Wocket in My Pocket" and "Great Day for Up."

Also new is "Dorrie and the Magic Elixir" by Patricia Combs. Dorrie is a little witch who lives with her mother and black cat, Gink. When her mother goes out, Dorrie is left to guard the magic brew. Lurking around the window and door is the bad Green Wizard who wants to steal the portion. The book promises to keep its reader spellbound.

"The Snow of Ohreaganu" by Russell Erickson is the story of jungle villagers who decide they want snow. Their chief, a lion, promises to get it for them and then worries about how to do it. Meanwhile, the people prepare for the snowy holiday. A mouse helps the lion solve his problem.

Mystery, suspense, ghost stories, all these and more are contained in "Witchcraft in America" by Clifford Alderman, "The Mystery of the Dead Man's Riddle" by William Arden and "Oseola's Head and Other American Ghost Stories" by Walter Harter.

Susan Conley, 23, who began work as children's librarian at the Howard County Library last week, plans to initiate a number of new programs there.

Among her ideas are a pajama story hour Thursday nights, working with public school libraries through book talks and other projects and highlighting a theme weekly through a library display.

The Big Spring Herald will be publishing her column weekly.

Mrs. Conley was graduated with a master's degree in library science from the University of Texas at Austin in December. She completed her undergraduate studies at the University of Akron (Ohio) with a major in history. The librarian was born in Canton, Ohio.

USE POSTMARK TO TELL HER

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Love still conquers all, even the progress of the U.S. mail system.

For many years post offices in places like Loveland, Colo., Love, Miss., and Kissimmee, Fla., received sackloads of Valentines before Feb. 14, to be post-marked and forwarded. But though mail nowadays is usually postmarked only with a zip-numbered stamp, mechanization hasn't completely killed the custom of sending romantically marked envelopes.

It is still possible, say Hallmark experts, to have envelopes containing Valentines franked in such places as Loveland, Tex., Eros, La., Valentines, Va. or Sweet, Idaho.

Movies Loaned

By SUSIE RITZ

The Howard County Library is a member of the West Texas Library Film Circuit. There are nine member libraries in the circuit, and they work in cooperation with each other to present over 200 films to library patrons.

Films are divided into eight packets, which rotate through the circuit system. Member libraries have each packet available for two months at a time. In addition, eight films are available upon special request.

A new packet was recently received by the Howard County Library. These films may be checked out at no cost through March 27, 1975.

A projector is available for screening the 16 mm films.

Of particular interest are three old time movie specials. W. C. Fields appears in "If I Had A Million" and Joe E. Brown and ZaZu Pitts in "The Silent Partner." "A Western Movie Mosaic" stars John Wayne, Richard Dix, Joel McCrea and many other famous cowboys.

The current selection includes travel films and popular children's films.

U.S. CIVIL SERVICE TESTS

Men-women age 18 and over. Prepare now for U. S. Civil Service exams for job openings during the next 12 months.

Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide greater security than private employment and opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs, you frequently must pass a test. The competition is keen.

Lincoln Service has helped many people prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

For FREE information on Government jobs, including list of positions and salaries, fill out coupon and mail at once — TODAY.

You will also get full details on how you can prepare yourself for these tests.

QUARTERBACKS HOSPITAL PROJECT — Carl Grubbs, on his fourth job for Hospital Corporation of America as project superintendent, is finishing the new Malone & Hogan 150-bed hospital here two months ahead of time. He is shown here at one of the nursing stations on the top three floors. Completion target is Feb. 19.

Job Pilot Finishing New Hospital Ahead Of Time

Within less than two weeks, HCA's new Malone & Hogan Hospital will be ready for final inspection, two months ahead of the original completion date.

This would be unusual even in normal times, but in a period fraught with shortages, back orders and stoppages, it is unheard of, particularly on a multi-million dollar job such as this 150-bed facility with all the ancillary services and equipment to accommodate 300 beds.

"Teamwork," explains Carl Grubbs, project superintendent. More of those connected with the job are inclined to say Carl Grubbs is the reason.

FOURTH PLANT

This is his fourth Hospital Corporation of America plant for Joe M. Rodgers and Associates, the Nashville, Tenn., firm which builds virtually all of HCA's facilities. Running a project, however, is nothing new for him because "I've been in construction practically all my life."

Grubbs and his team are heading for the inspection by architects and owners on Feb. 19.

"We all punched out (all incomplete work corrected) except for the first floor. We're pushing on the punch list there. On a hospital you have to have everything running smoothly before a patient is moved in."

Even while workers hurry with the finishing touches, the administrative staff is moving in with the housekeeping and engineering staff to get equipment and furnishings in place for a March 16 open house. Norman Knox, administrator, moved his office from Medical Center Memorial Hospital last week to the new building between Scenic Mountain and West Eleventh Place.

Grubbs has no special formula for starting a job.

"Each one is different," he said. "I just play it by ear for the first month. We plot for the foundations, steel frame, floors, exterior and interior walls to get out of the weather as soon as possible — we lost only about eight days on this job. By the end of the first month, we set up schedules for the entire duration."

Building follows a critical path, and when any stage of the work begins to indicate a lag, remedial steps are taken, or the path is updated. On this one "we've only had to update once," Grubbs said.

SAME TEAM

One reason for smooth progress on the huge building is that HCA uses the same contractor, architect and engineers, so that all are familiar with the building. But that doesn't mean rigidity, for from each job Grubbs and other project superintendents suggest refinements or better ways of doing things which engineers and architects generally incorporate in the next job. This is especially helpful because hospitals are one of the most exacting structures.

Another key reason for speedy completion is that from the moment HCA is committed to a job, it begins purchasing and warehousing. Materials and equipment are earmarked at the warehouse for a specific project because "although buildings may be alike, each is different and requires its specified items." However, this practice has cut out delays and uncertainty in deliveries to the site.

Grubbs works through subcontractors, for what Rodgers Construction does, in effect, is organize the job as a general contractor. Each trade has its own subcontractor supervisor who is responsible to Grubbs. When he goes Feb. 28 to Beckley, W. Va., where he built an HCA hospital a few years ago, he will take with him his close-knit core — William Best, assistant superintendent, and Luther Ratliff and Randolph Duncan, master carpenters.

CELEBRATION FEB. 19

With the inspection by owner, architects and licensing agencies due Feb. 19, time for the opening of the new Malone & Hogan Hospital for public visitation has been set.

Norman Knox, administrator, said that this will be 2 p.m. March 16, and top state as well as Hospital Corporation of America officials are expected for the opening ceremony.

Sheldon Named To Task Force

Dr. Robert B. Sheldon, formerly Chief of Clinical Services at the Big Spring State Hospital and presently Superintendent of the Rusk State Hospital, has been appointed to a task force assigned to draft and propose legislation to revise the state Criminal Code to conform with a recent court ruling forcing equal treatment of criminally committed and civilly committed patients in State Hospitals.

As a result of the ruling, Dr. Sheldon was compelled to re-examine some 197 persons ruled insane in criminal trials that were committed to the Rusk State Hospital. Of those examined, 64 were discharged, 43 were kept on the maximum security unit and 90 were transferred to the open wards of Rusk or other hospitals. Those transferred were found mentally ill, but no longer are considered dangerous.

MELON PLANTING UNDER WAY
Small Grains Doing Well In West Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Despite light to heavy rains over much of the state last week, moisture is still short in parts of the Panhandle, West and South Texas, Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says.

Floods in portions of East, Central, and Hill Country, counties damaged ranges and dry grasses, he said.

Livestock conditions declined in many areas during the rains, he added.

Stocker cattle marketing from Panhandle wheat pastures is continuing with heavy runs reported at local auctions, Hutchison said. Calving and lambing are under way in many areas.

A few cases of bitterweed poisoning in sheep are being reported in Sutton County, he said.

Melon planting has started in Brooks and Jim Wells counties in South Texas, he said.

District Agricultural agents gave these reports:

Panhandle: Moisture is short in most counties. Small grains are responding to warmer weather. Supplemental livestock feeding is under way.

South Plains: Moisture generally is adequate. Land preparation and application of fertilizer and herbicides is under way. Small grains are making little growth. Ranges and cattle are in fair to good condition.

Rolling Plains: Wheat and other small grains are making increased growth. Some greenbug activity is reported. Supplemental livestock feeding continues. Pastures are mostly short.

North Central: Light insect damage is reported. Some vegetables are being planted. Livestock feeding is heavy.

Northeast: Vegetable land is being prepared. Some planting is under way. Pastures are providing little grazing. The general condition of livestock is declining. Lice infestation is increasing in herds.

Far West: Small grains are doing well. Most wheat, oats, barley and vegetable crops are planted in El Paso County. Ranges are in fair condition. Calving is in progress.

West Central: Warmer weather and light rains are stimulating growth of small grain crops. Land is being prepared for spring gardens. Light supplemental feeding is in progress. Lambing and calving is increasing.

Central: The Blacklands will require several weeks of open weather before farmers can resume field work. Small grains are looking good. Livestock conditions are declining. Ranges are below average.

East: Land preparation is under way. Vegetables are being planted. Pastures are average to below average. Some livestock are showing weight loss because of light feeding and short pastures.

Southeast and Upper Gulf Coast: Flax planting is complete. Some land preparations is underway for vegetables. Some blackleg losses are reported in young Hart is in his 11th season as Baylor's head coach.

Carroll Summers, Border Olympics president, said the field is virtually set in all four divisions.

Heading the nine-team university invitational division is defending champion Texas. The Longhorns will be joined by all the rest of the Southwest Conference teams except Arkansas. The ninth team is Lamar.

High school early entries are defending champion Houston Worthington, Pasadena Rayburn, Houston Milby, Houston Washington, Monahans, Klein, San Antonio Alamo Heights, Donna, Houston Jones, Houston Washington, Houston Yates, Baytown Sterling, Vidor, Houston Sharpstown, Houston Memorial, Corpus Christi Miller, Corpus Christi King, Gregory-Portland and Laredo's Martin and Nixon.

Hunter Error Ends In Fine

ABILENE — Approaching a pickup truck with a deer rifle hanging out of the window is all part of a day's work for game wardens, both in and out of the season.

The potential for tragedy is great but there are a few bright spots every now and then.

Take for instance the time back in December when Texas Parks and Wildlife Department warden Curtis Jones was parked on top of a hill overlooking a pasture which had a road running through the middle of it.

"The road is often used for road hunting," said Jones, "and sure enough, a pickup came by and before too long the occupants took a shot at some deer feeding in the pasture."

The road hunters missed the deer and took off with Jones following behind.

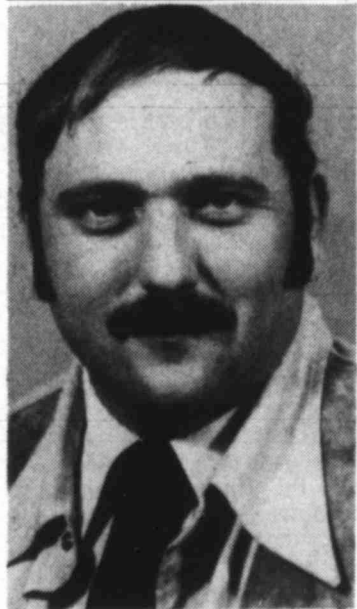

After overtaking them, Jones flipped on the red light and they pulled up.

"I hopped out of the patrol car," said Jones, "and approached on the driver's side where a deer rifle was sticking out of the window."

After reaching almost to the driver's shoulder, to Jones' amazement went the rifle and off went a shot at a nearby doe.

"Nice shot son, but you missed," said Jones pulling the rifle from an equally amazed hunter.

The truck's two occupants were taken before a local judge where he assessed them $100 fines each. Out of money, the pair spent a couple of days in jail before someone came to pay the fines.

TCU ATHLETE

Kent Out To Lick Odds

HOUSTON (AP) — Last October, Texas Christian's Kent Waldrep walked onto a football field with nothing more serious on his mind than fighting Alabama's Crimson Tide for a victory.

But by the second quarter, Waldrep was battling for his life.

The gutsy little running back started a sweep to the right, was hit by two Tide defenders, tripped over a third, and flipped over.

Waldrep came down with the full weight on his body on his spine and for tense moments it was a question if he would live, much less walk again.

Today Waldrep's opponents are a wheelchair and fear.

Fear never has been a match for Waldrep. He's defeated fear regularly since that Oct. 26 accident at Birmingham's Legion Field.

Waldrep is still battling the wheelchair from third and long, but he has no doubts that he'll eventually whip that foe too.

"Being in a hospital you see different kinds of people," Waldrep said in an interview. "You see people that feel the same way I do and then for some reason, some people are satisfied with being in a wheelchair. I'm never going to have that attitude."

"I'm not going to be satisfied until I get out of this wheelchair. I was teasing my mother when they were getting me out of the car. They have to transfer me from a sliding board onto this wheelchair. I told her 'I hope by the time you learn how to do this I'll be out of this wheelchair.'"

No one is betting against Waldrep, who has been undergoing rehabilitation here, especially his father, who waited those tense moments while his son was in surgery shortly after the accident.

"How can I be weak when my son is so strong?" he said to a reporter. "I mean, he makes me feel almost inadequate. Kent has always been above the standard. He was the first player ever to kick an extra point in junior high. He was the first Little League pitcher in our area to pitch a no-hit game..."

Waldrep may not be the first player to walk again after such an accident, but he's trying to do it in record time.

Waldrep said the injury to his spine included bruises to the fourth, fifth and sixth cervical vertebrae. The fifth vertebra was pushed into the spinal cord, cutting the outer layer around the spinal cord but not the spinal cord itself.

"So being an incomplete injury, you've always got a chance," Waldrep said. "That's all we ask for."

Waldrep opened last season as a junior starting running back against Texas-Arlington in TCU's first game. He suffered a separated sternum in that game and did not see action again until the Alabama game.

Then came the second quarter, and Waldrep's goals suddenly changed.

"I thank the Lord for being able to move my hands, and being able to see and being able to talk to people," the spirited Waldrep said. "There's a lot of people that are in a lot worse shape than I am, that can't even talk. At least I can communicate with people.

Waldrep has made a fast recovery in regaining the use of his hands and being able to sit, although strapped, in a wheelchair.

"It's a matter of learning how to do everything again," he said. "I've got to where I can get a good grip on a glass and bring it up to my mouth. I can hold a playing card and take it off the table."

Waldrep said he spends about three hours daily in physical therapy, learning how to get in and out of a wheelchair, doing exercises, including pushups, and lifting weights.

"Doing those pushups, I feel like I'm trying to push up the building," he laughed. "I can get my head about six inches off the floor."

Waldrep said in recent weeks he's regaining the feeling in his legs down to his feet.

Area Boll Weevils Monitored

LUBBOCK — Each year, millions of boll weevils wander waywardly through cotton fields, lookin' for a home. They feed on cotton squares and cotton bolls, causing untold losses in yields of the fluffy white gold.

Heavily sprayed with chemical insecticides for the last 11 years, these snouted, gray beetles are kept below economically damaging numbers just off the edge of the Caprock where they hibernate among mesquite and shinnery oak. It is from this juncture of the High and Rolling Plains that weevil populations begin their most vicious onslaught onto the 25-county cotton producing area of the South Plains. And here an area-wide boll weevil suppression program, begun in 1964, continues in a systematic effort to prevent the westward movement of the cotton pest.

Since the weevil population along the Caprock's edge has been exposed to heavy insecticidal pressure for several years, entomologists are concerned that the insects might develop resistance to currently used chemicals.

Dr. Don Rummel, research scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, heads a boll weevil monitoring program that annually measures resistance levels of weevils gathered from across the state.

In the suppression program, insecticides are applied near the end of the growing season to destroy potential overwintering weevils before they leave cotton for hibernation sites.

Rummel says that tests have not shown evidence of resistance in the weevil population in the High Plains area.

"We suspect," he explains, "that the inflow of fresh weevils each fall from outside the central control zone is replenishing the susceptible gene pool. This tends to dilute resistance factors."

Rummel believes that with the monitoring program at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, significant resistance buildup can be detected in time to change to alternate control methods and test new insecticides before heavy losses are incurred.

Three Big Spring men will leave tonight to attend a legislative breakfast in Austin and hearings in connection with a Texas utility commission.

The Big Spring City Council took a unanimous stand recently against a state utility commission which is being sought by some of the larger cities and others in Texas. Big Spring and many other cities wish to keep control of utility rates at a local level.

Tom Locke, manager of Texas Electric; Eddie Acricity, city councilman and member of a state committee on utilities and Harry Nagel, city manager, are representing Big Spring in Austin Monday.

Trio To Attend State Utility Panel Meeting

Dr. B. A. Bartholomew, M.D., specializing in internal medicine and rheumatology at the Texas Tech University School of Medicine in Lubbock, will present a lecture Tuesday, at 1:30 p.m. in Room 219 of the Big Spring VA Hospital. His topic will be "Hyperuricemia and Gout."

$2,899 -400*

It's simple arithmetic. Marina is the best car buy in America.

No forms! No delay! The $400 comes right off the list price! And look at what the Marina has going for you. The gas-saving MG engine that's good for over 20 miles per gallon. Plus there's four speed stick. Rack and pinion steering. Radio-resistant disc brakes. Radial-ply tires. Reclining bucket seats up front. A full rear seat with a fold-down padded armrest. 13 cubic feet of usable trunk space. And tinted glass. All standard. So test drive the Marina. Then compare its value, roominess and performance with any car in its price range. That's the best way to find out why the 1974 Marina is the best buy in America today.

*Manufacturer's suggested retail price P.O.E. (1974 4-door sedan). Inland transportation, local taxes, preparation charges and options extra.

40-Hour Work Week?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal employees may soon have the choice of working a four-day, 40-hour work week. U.S. Civil Service Commission staff members are drafting proposed legislation that would allow employees within a government agency to vary the length of work days and number of days in a work week as long as the basic 40-hour work week is kept. Current law requires a five-day work week with no more than eight hours in a work day. Several federal agencies are already experimenting with flexible scheduling within these limits by allowing employees to choose their own starting times during a particular day or five-day work week.
