Timanus said the Wallaceites who came to the Capitol were to visit with House members in support of the Mattox amendments. He said they were from Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Corpus Christi, Austin, Hillsboro and other cities.

"People are really tired of political chicanery, and I think that is what this Schieffer bill is as presently structured," Timanus said.

It was his strongest statement yet on the possibility of an agreement with Israel.

"This is not propaganda. We mean it — seriously and explicitly," President Hafez Playday Set Assad told Newsweek magazine.

Israel, however, has repeatedly rejected those two demands.

The Egyptian magazine Rose al Youssef reported that Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told Foreign Minister Andrei A. HOUSTON (AP) - A nationwide survey indicates San Antonio and Corpus Christi have some of the cleanest air in the country.

The report said Dallas also is high among the clean air cities and even Houston is far from having the nation's dirtiest air.

The Houston Post said it was told Sunday by the Council on Municipal Per-formances (COMP) in New York that Houston's air may be some of the dirtiest in Texas but it still is up there with the cleanest city air breathed in America.

Million Dollar Baby Out For The Season

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "There are people who play contact sports who have to face the risk of injury," Bill Walton said softly. "I gambled on that risk and lost this time."

For Walton, the Portland Trail Blazers' controversial rookie, the season appears to be over. He'll have a walking cast for at least the next three weeks and has been ordered to take a complete rest.

It has been a frustrating season for the 6-foot-11 former UCLA All-America, who was the No. 1 choice in last year's National Basketball Association collegiate draft. A bone spur, or whatever is causing the pain in his ankle, has forced him to miss 24 games so far this season.

A dislocated finger sidelined him for two games and he recently had a bout with laryngitis.

Walton was with the Blazers on a four-game road trip when it was decided he should return to Portland to see the team physician, Dr. Frank Smith. He arrived late Friday afternoon. The next day the doctor prescribed rest and the cast.

Walton, now at home in his new $100,000 A-frame along the Willamette River in the Portland suburbs, talked about his frustrating rookie season in a telephone interview Sunday.

'No athlete likes to be forced out of competition," he said. "It just happened ... to me this year, but there are other years.' Walton, who last played at Houston on Tuesday night, also talked about the highly publicized bone spur above his left ankle and whether something else might be causing the pain.

"... a definite diagnosis has not been made," he said, "because I do have different symptoms in the ankle as far as where it hurts and when it hurts and things like that. "But I just know that it needs rest and that the body is a real fine organism that is going to heal itself with proper rest.'

Portland, rated a contender for the Pacific Division title in the preseason forecasts, has lost five consecutive games and 11 of its last 13. The Blazers now are 24-37 and rapidly falling out of contention for a playoff berth.

"Personally, I'm disappointed I can't be out there with the guys," said Walton who, in 35 games, has averaged 12.8 points and 12.6 rebounds a game. He also ranks among the NBA leaders in blocked shots despite missing so many

Dr. Smith said no surgery would be necessary for the former UCLA All-America. Walton, who signed a five-year contract for an estimated $2 million, will wear the cast about three weeks, during which time Portland will play about half of its remaining games.

The doctor said it was doubtful Walton would be back for the rest of

Women's Basketball Has Day

basketball has had its day in Madison Square Garden, and it brought to that indoor sports palace a spirit, a feeling of genuine emotion, that was positively

"Yeah, I guess that's the way we are," said Immaculata freshman Helen Canuso with a bright smile shortly after the three-time national champions defeated Queens 65-61 Saturday.

"We're emotional," said Miss Canuso after the first women's intercollegiate basketball game ever played in the Garden. "We all felt really great, and I guess we showed

At the final buzzer, Immaculata players and fans poured onto the Garden floor in a wild celebration of the victory.

That celebration continued in the Mighty Macs' lockerroom, where reporters - male and female were treated to a spirited rendition of the school fight song, "When the Macs Go Marching In," amidst jumps, stomps, screams, cheers and general carrying on. That second half was one of the best halves anyone who likes basketball could hope to see," said Immaculata Coach Cathy Rush, who has achieved an 88-6 record, including 14-2 this year, at the tiny school of 525 women which is located in Frazer, Pa. "It was a super game, really exciting basketball," she added. "We proved that people will pay to see women play basketball. There were two of the best women's teams out there, and when you're good people will come to see you play.

The game was tight all the way, with neither team ever leading by more than eight points. Immaculata erased a 51-46 second-half deficit with an 11-2 spurt, then two jumpers by Miss Canuso snapped a 57-57 tie in the final four minutes and put the played, looked like a scaled-down version of the men's game - 6-foot centers, 5-5 guards. The shooting was not up to top men's standards, with field goal percentages of .390 for Immaculata and .342 for Queens. The rebounding was not especially sharp and turnovers were frequent, but the game never got too sloppy and each team had a number of guards who could handle the ball as well as their male counterparts.

And then there was the spirit, which was something special. "It was great, fantastic, I loved it - the crowd, the noise, everything," said Macs ahead to stay.

Bentsen Takes The Plunge

Last week Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., made official what has been apparent for several months — he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president. As a result of sound ground work, he raised mostly in December and January around a million dollars, which will give him a stable stepping stone for testing the waters.

Observers have pointed that one of his most difficult tasks is to obtain national name recognition. As the junior senator from Texas, just closing in on the end of his first term, he has not had the exposure to gain automatic national prominence. Indeed, his middle-ofthe-road stance as a political moderate has not given itself to flambouyant and some times wild but colorful statements which capture the public attention and Still, he has been moving about the United States and gaining audience if not commitment from many of the political pros who wield considerable influence when it come to the nitty gritty. Also, in the electronic age, individuals with limited exposure can be adroitly projected to acquire easy recognition and association.

Sen. Bentsen is a new type of Texas Politician. He'is unassuming, quiet, speaking fluently, correctly without notes and without the traditional homilies. He has a year and a half to go until convention time. is neat, well-groomed and clearly in command of

Mountainous Paper Work

Rep. Bill Archer, Houston Republican, has introduced a bill in Congress aimed at reducing the cost of federal paperwork.

"The combined federal and public costs for record collection and management hit a staggering level of some $50 billion in 1973 along and those costs were borne by the American consumer through taxes and increased costs for goods and services," Archer said.

He said if all federal records of 1973 were put in one fil drawer the drawer would be more than 1,300 miles

'It's high time that we put an end to the wanton proliferation of costly, unnecessary federal forms and concentrate instead on the efficient use of only the forms that are absolutely necessary." he said.

You could try reducing the dosage, or perhaps have a light snack at bedtime as part of the treatment. You should ask you physician

One thing and another:

IN SMOKE-FILLED rooms, politicians are forever devising ways to qualify for lavish pension plans after short tenures. In truth, there are many lawmakers who deserve to be retired at an early age.

IT'S NOT SURPRISING to learn that the Eiffel Tower in Paris is now failing to meet the expense of keeping it open. Neither is it shocking to learn that the private firm which operates it is petitioning the French government to provide a subsidy to keep it operating.

The famed tower pulls in 18 million visitors a year and about $3.6 million annually in admission fees, which means it outdraws every other tourist attraction in Paris even the Folies Bergere.

THE STRUCTURE has to be painted every seven years and that isn't done with a watercolor brush.

When the tower was first planned and discussed, many castigated the idea as a "factory chimney" and an "odious pile of bolted metal." A Paris without an Eiffel Tower today would be about as unthinkable as a London without Big Ben, a Gibraltar without the rock. Weighing 7,000 tons, the Eiffel Tower is considered a masterpiece of balance. It exerts a mere 56 pounds of pressure per square inch

Mrs. Thatcher

William F. Buckley, Jr.

There are a number of rather mean interpretations floating about Great Britain to account for the astonishing victory of Mrs. That-cher, the most pointed of which is that the Tories have no prospects whatever of taking power so they may as well have a spell of tokenism under a woman leader, after which, when the next election contest looms, she can be dumped and replaced by someone serious. Another is that the Conservative Party has really become a vermiform appendix of British politics and, under the circustances, it makes no particular difference who is the Opposition Leader, and Mrs. Thatcher is superbly qualified to serve as a Nobody.

MR. MALCOLM MUGGERIDGE who is terrifyingly skilled in the art of disparagement, was asked on television a few days before Mrs. Thatcher's victory to account for it. "Her victory is the direct result of a medium," he said, remarking yet again the frequently remarked absence, in Edward Health, of telegenic charm. "Does Mrs. Thatcher come through on television?" he was asked. "Well," he said with his dangerous, angelsmile, "She has a certain imbecile charm. The English approach to politics is these days entirely hedonistic. Inasmuch as the country is headed toward the cliff and nobody has the combination of will and power to keep it from going over, everybody is enjoying the parade. The Daily Telegraph, whose political reporters are a joy to read, gave an account of the debate in the House of Commons on the afternoon just before the vote that deposed Edward Heath. Everyone's mind was on the forthcoming vote. "What was needed," writer John O'Sullivan solemnly noted in his dispatch, "above all this tense atmosphere was a good joke and that was provided by Mr. Robert Adley (C., Christchurch and Lymington) and fate working in

"MR. ADLEY HAD PUT down a question on the order paper. Would Mr. Wilson place in the Commons Library a copy of his speech on the current economic situation by definition you risc delivered on Monday 20th of January to the TUC Labour Praty Liaison Committee? "'No,' replied Mr. Wilson. 'I made no such speech.

"Then that,' responded Mr. Adley, neatly avoiding a bad fall, 'would account for its absence from the Library.' Relieved by the opportunity to break the tension, MPs on all sides laughed uproariously.'

Another reporter, Mr. Adrian Berry, during the blissfully short (one week) campaign involving Mr. Whitelaw and Mrs. Thatcher, led off his story two days before the elction as follows: "Mrs. Margaret Thatcher appeared to increase her chances of election victory as Party leader yesterday when she received a standing ovation of one minute and ten seconds after speaking to some 700 people at the Young Conservatives National Conference at

"MR. WILLIAM WHITELAW, by contrast, seemed to lose ground by his failure to produce a speech.

"Instead, restricting himself to questions and answers, he replied to dull questions in a somewhat dull manner - mainly on the fairly dull subject of the future devolution of politicla power.

That is good straightforward stuff, and should be emulated by all American reporters.

BUT NOTE THE standing ovation for Mrs. Thatcher — by young Conservatives. They like her because she is wonderfully straightforward and, mirabile dictu, unapologetically conservative concerning things like inflation, labor union make-work, the tyranny of the Trade Union Congress. Her background is impressive in a party that has tended, when looking for a leader, to thumb through lists of unemployed Etonians. She worked her way through school and became a research chemist. In her twenties, she became interested in the law and took a law degree and practiced. That is the kind of upward mobility the Socialists are always talking about, and always resenting because, after all, if you rise, almost by definition you rise with reference

My Answer

Billy Graham

Why is it I've never heard you speak of baptism as one of the necessary steps to salvation? I hope you'll start to do this more.

I certainly believe in Christian baptism. As an evangelist, however, my task is to announce the evangel or the "good news." Paul defined it this way in 1 Corinthians 15:1-3: "that Christ died for our sins . . that He was buried, and that three days afterward He arose from the

In the Bible, baptism always follows the act of repentance and faith. On the day of Pentecost, Peter said, "Repent and be baptized every one of you" (Acts 2:38), and then the record concludes, "They that gladly received the word were baptized."

Another significant statement of Paul's would be 1 Corinthians 1:17, "Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospel." Paul was the world's greatest evangelist and we must accept his listing of priority.

You may know that we urge immediate and extensive Bible study for each convert. As the Scripture is reviewed, the place of baptism will surely be discovered.

If baptism were a requirement for salvation, we would certainly say that. But you couldn't support that knowing, for example, that the thief on the cross had no opportunity for baptism or church membership. Yet on his confession, paradise was secured. Jesus said to him, "This day shalt thou be with me in bound Texas International Airlines reported Saturday earnings of $401,000 or eight cents per share for 1974, compared with earnings of $319,000 or five cents per share in 1973.

The strike against the airline began in early December.

The company statement said fourth quarter net loss was $921,000 as compared with a loss of $193,000 for the same period the year before. Included in the fourth quarter 1974 figures was depreciation of $542,000.

The airline said the results reflect the impact by the strike and increasing costs. It said losses from the coming strike were experienced in November when news of the walkout resulted in a drop in traffic.

Operating revenues for the year were $91.9 million, up from 1973's $77.2 million.

President Frank Lorenzo said that while operating revenue rose 19 per cent, primarily because of good business during the first of the year, "those increases were fully offset by substantial and accelerating cost increases for fuel, labor and materials, as well as for equipment-related leases and depreciation charges."

Lorenzo said that as a result of the continuing strike and expected dificulties in recovering losses of traffic, the airline anticipates it will have substantial losses during the first half of this year.

Now more than ever, it pays to compare car insurance rates.

Your State Farm Agent offers the lowest rates among the leading car insurers in Texas.

For most Texas drivers, State Farm has the lowest rates among all leading car insurance companies—15% less than the new rates set by the State.

And in addition to that rate advantage, your State Farm agent offers broad protection and outstanding service. The kind of service that made State Farm the largest car insurer in Texas, and the largest in America. With 12,000 agents across the country, State Farm is always nearby. Giving you the prompt, efficient service you need, and the personal attention you expect from a neighbor.

So don't pay more than you need to for your car insurance. Check the Yellow Pages and see how much your nearby State Farm agent may save you.

LOW, LOW PRICES EVERY DAY

Sure, food prices have gone up . . . and in some cases, drastically. But the average American family still spends less of its dollar on food today than it did in 1952 (23¢ compared to 17¢ today).

For over 50 years Safeway has been fighting to give your grocery dollar its maximum value - by doing things that benefit our customers, like dropping stamps in 1967 and establishing consistent pricing and labeling policies.

Because in the long run, nobody profits from inflation.

Cold-Weather Paving Study

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) -Glasphalt may make it possible to repair those winter potholes in the street without waiting for warm weather.

A research study reveals that glasphalt, a street paving material made with crushed waste glass and asphalt, may be successfully laid in colder weather than conventional asphalt made with crushed stone.

The study, made by the Colorado School of Mines Research Institute for the turers Institute, found two reasons that glasphalt can be used in colder weather: it contains more heat than conventional asphalt and it cools more slowly.

This is important, the study points out, because asphalt or glasphalt must remain warm until it has been completely compacted by rolling.

Boiler Forecast

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The American Boiler Manufacturers Assn. forecasts a decline in the domestic market for boilers to the utility, industrial and commercial industries for

"It appears that a substantial number of boilers, scheduled to be ordered in 1975, were in fact purchased last year for a variety of reas ins. When electric power demands did not come up to expectation, this buying volume dropped off sharply and a number of units purchased earlier were canceled or deferred. This has had a significant negative impact on our 1975 forecast," said William H. Jackson, ABMA president.

The forecasts, announced at ABMA's mid-winter meeting here, indicate electric utilities this year will order fewer steam generating systems, down 48 per cent from 1974.

for persons in the Big Spring area when the University Chorale from University of Texas El Paso presents a free public con-cert Wednesday at Howard College auditorium.

The concert, which is set for 8:15 p.m., is part of the chorale's spring tour through West Texas, the Panhandle and New Mexico. The 32 voices are regarded in some circles as the finest performing group in the El Paso area. It plays numerous engagements, including those with the El Paso Symphony.

Directing is Mrs. Danice Kress, who has her bachelors degree in music education from UTEP and her masters from New Mexico State University. She is a frequent clinician in West Texas and New Mexico and has studied under choral masters such as Robert Shaw. James Lafontaine, a graduate student, is assistant. The program here will include Victoria's "Bere Languores," Bruckner's "Avla Maria" and Brahm's "Der Abend" in the opening section. Following will be Britten's moving invocation, "Hymn to St. Cecilia" and Hovland's avante-garde rendition of the conversion of Saul. In honor of the America Bicentennial the chorale will perform Randal Thompson's "Frostinana" with texts from the poems of Robert Frost, Sven Lekberg and Walt Whitman. A group of traditional spirituals will close the concert.
