House Ties Depletion 'Death' With Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to cut taxes by $21.3 billion, mostly for those with income under $20,000. It also approved repeal of the oil depletion allowance, which might slow the tax bill's progress in the Senate.

The tax cut bill, approved 317 to 97, provides rebates on 1974 taxes and lower 1975 taxes through decreased withholding rates. The Democratic-sponsored measure is designed to put more spending money in the pockets of consumers and thus stimulate the slumping economy.

PROMPT ACTION
Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which will hold hearings on the bill, promised prompt action by his panel. He predicted the Senate will approve a bill that would result in tax cuts at least as high as those approved by the House.

However, some senators have warned that supporters of the depletion allowance may filibuster against a tax cut bill containing a repealer of the allowance. The petroleum industry saves an estimated $2.5 billion in taxes annually from the allowance.

The bill provides $16.21 billion in relief to individual taxpayers and $5.07 billion in benefits for businesses. About 89 per cent of the individual tax benefits would go to persons earning $20,000 a year or less. Just before approving the measure, the House rejected 251 to 160 a Republican-backed proposal that would have provided $12.2 billion in 1974 tax rebates.

TAX REBATES
The successful bill provides 1974 tax rebates of around $8 billion. The rebates generally amount to 10 per cent and would be refunded starting in May. The top rebate would be $200 and the minimum would be $100, but anyone who paid less than $100 in taxes would get all of the tax back.

The successful bill also provided for about $8 billion in lower 1975 taxes through lower withholding rates beginning May 1. The lower rates would reflect these changes:

—The minimum standard deduction, also known as the low-income allowance, would increase from $1,300 to $1,900 for singles and $2,500 for couples filing a joint return.

—The standard deduction, which is used by taxpayers who do not itemize their deductions, would increase from 15 per cent to 16 per cent of gross income.

—The maximum standard deduction would increase from $2,000 to $2,500 for singles and $3,000 for couples filing a joint return.

SPECIAL CREDIT
The bill also grants a special new 5 per cent tax credit on earned income, meaning wages and any self-employment income, with a maximum $200 credit. This credit would go only to low-income persons and would start being reduced at the $4,000 income level. It would fully phase out at $6,000 of income.

The special credit also would make cash payments to persons who are too poor to be required to file income tax returns. This cash payment feature is believed to be the first time the federal government would go through the tax system this way in making payments to poor persons.

For businesses, the package includes 1975 and 1976 investment tax credit changes as an incentive for machinery and equipment purchases.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats in Congress are headed into talks with President Ford to see if their new, comprehensive energy program can be reconciled with his. The Democratic program proposed as a means of reviving the economy and conserving energy marked the first time in memory that a congressional party had devised its own long-range legislative blueprint to compete with one from the White House.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense officials say neither South Vietnam nor Thailand would be seriously threatened if Cambodia fell to Communist insurgents. "I don't see anybody gravely threatened," said a senior official in assessing the possible results of a Cambodian collapse.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Ken Meade wants to pull something over on the California Legislature: his sweater. Meade's preference for pullover sweaters came up when he was called before the Rules Committee to discuss his clothes. He not only angrily refused, but moved the issue beyond the Assembly floor, where members traditionally wear coats and ties. The Democratic assemblyman from Berkeley asked in an open letter in the Oakland Tribune if voters felt he should wear sweaters in the Assembly.

MIAMI (AP) — People willing to carry a lunch soon may be able to fly cross-country for less than train or bus fare. National Airlines proposed a plan Thursday that, once approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board, would allow passengers not getting meals or alcoholic beverages to save 35 per cent of day-coach fare. National said the new service would be offered Monday through Thursday starting April 14 for East Coast runs and flights between Florida and New Orleans, Houston, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Las Vegas.

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Heavy fighting broke out on the east bank of the Mekong river across from Phnom Penh during the night and continued today, military sources reported. Government paratroopers were reported trying to push the Khmer Rouge insurgents eastward away from Prek Luong, five miles northeast of the capital. It was the closest fighting to Phnom Penh since the early days of the insurgents' dry season offensive that began Jan. 1.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — The deadline set by leftist kidnappers on the life of the honorary American consul in Cordoba ticked away today with Argentine officials giving no sign of responding to the guerrillas' demands. The kidnappers, members of the radical Peronist gang called the Montoneros, threatened to kill 62-year-old John Patrick Egan by 6 p.m. EDT unless the government furnished proof that four of their missing comrades are alive and well.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has dismantled a computerized intelligence-gathering unit and locked up the files the unit collected on thousands of individuals in response to civil disorders in the late 1960s. Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi has promised to give Congress advance notice if he ever considers it necessary to revive the operation, a prospect he called unlikely.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American marriage rate dropped in 1974 for the first time in 16 years while the divorce rate rose for the 12th consecutive year, the government reported today. At the same time, the decline in the U.S. fertility rate slowed and began leveling off last year, the national Center for Health Statistics said.

Depletion Bill Draws Fire From Operators

Big Spring area oil producers reached Friday morning were unanimous in their denunciation of House action in erasing the depletion allowance.

Reactions ranged from "disaster" to killing incentive for exploration and stepped up production. "It'll just about stop exploration if they get away with it," said Ray A. Albaugh, oil producer and veteran producer who has found seven oil pools.

But Albaugh thought President Ford would veto the bill, if the proposed legislation which passed in the U.S. House, wins Senate approval. The depletion allowance provision was added to the emergency tax cut bill.

Pressure for killing the 22 per cent oil depletion allowance comes from complaining people in "states that don't have any oil," Albaugh observed. "I think it's a disaster," Mrs. Myra Robinson, owner and president of Robinson Drilling Of Texas Inc. said.

"All of West Texas is active right now," Mrs. Robinson said, because of oil prices and fuel shortages. Killing the depletion allowance will slow operations.

She called tying oil depletion allowance elimination to the tax cut bill "unfortunate." "It'll be hard to peel one off without the other," Mrs. Robinson said. Zollie Boykin, who with his brother, Ross, operates the independent producing firm of Boykin Bros., said that the effect of doing away with the depletion allowance would be to "kill incentive and initiative in trying to find and produce more oil. There are more than a hundred other metals with depletion

Masons To Host ISD Officials

Public school officials will be guests of the Masonic Lodge at a breakfast at Coker's Restaurant at 7 a.m., Monday. The breakfast will serve to kick off local observance of Texas Public School Week.

Webb Contract Given To Wells

The Department of the Army awarded a $2,641,000 contract for construction of two airmen's dorms, U.S. Rep. Omar Burleson, D-Anson, announced Thursday afternoon.

Building the dorms will be the R. M. Wells Co. Inc., Quanah.

The firm submitted the apparent low bid of five for the structures planned at the corner of Douglas Avenue and Fourth Street on base. Each building is capable of housing 252 persons.

The Wells firm wanted $280,000 less than the government estimate.

allowances — why pick on oil?"

R. F. Dorsey was convinced that the House action will have an adverse effect. "The people, and Congress, too, just don't seem to understand the problem. Here we are paying out millions upon millions of dollars a day to foreign countries for oil, and yet we reduce the incentive and even the economic justification for independent producers to do something about discovering and producing an amount of oil more nearly equal to our demands. Also, few people can appreciate the tremendous jump in costs of producing oil. For example, recently two small gears stripped on a pumping unit on a small well, and it cost $1,345 to replace them. You can't go on producing stripper wells with costs like that unless there is relief somewhere else — and 13 per cent of the oil we now produce is from stripper or marginal wells."

Chester Miller, another veteran of the oil drilling and producing business, said the results of wiping out the depletion allowance will be "chaotic." The proposal will produce results opposite of what some of its proponents promise, he predicted. "We are geared in this country to a certain level of consumption — we produce it domestically or import it. Cut out the depletion allowance, and you cut out supplies and increase imports. I predict that it will reduce exploration 50 per cent and development of existing fields a minimum of 25 per cent. What will this do? We'll abandon those wells which will lose money. Where we drill several high risk wells or wildcats a year, we simply can't hazard the expense of drilling with little hope of return. That means that drilling crews will be out of jobs. I think it might cut some oil employment eventually by half."

Price reductions are in the 10 to 15 per cent range. He said that if the wholesale prices decrease again, the retail prices will also be reduced.

Youth Is Sought After Stabbing

Phillip Don Barber, a sixteen year old Sophomore athlete at Big Spring High School, remains in critical condition today in the intensive care unit of Medical Center Hospital, following surgery after he was stabbed in the abdomen at 3:40 p.m. Thursday at the high school.

The stabbing took place just outside the gymnasium of the high school and several athletes leaving the building witnessed the stabbing. He was rushed to the hospital by a coach, David Verner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Barber, 811 Aylford.

Shortly after the stabbing, Big Spring police issued a felony aggravated assault warrant for the arrest of another high school student, Don Henry Stewart, 17, a Senior, who apparently fled Big Spring in a white 1972 Vega. Another youth, not yet identified, was reported to have departed the scene with the Stewart youth.

Reports were received by the Big Spring police that the youths may have fled eastward last night. They

Draft Evaders, Deserters Gain Final Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford announced "a final extension" today on his clemency program for Vietnam era draft evaders and deserters until March 31.

The President told clemency board chairman Charles Goodell that "there will be no further extensions" of the program, which was put into effect last September to provide clemency for thousands of young men who were involved in draft-dodging or desertion.

In a White House statement, Ford said that "based on a further review of the progress of this program, I believe that many of those who have already been punished are only now learning they are eligible."

Price Slash Due Locally

Sam P. Schulze, manager of the local J. C. Penney store, said that his company is reducing the prices on just about all items in the store "to make it where people can afford to buy so we can get out of this recession."

The J. C. Penney Company recently announced nationwide price cuts on some of their clothing items to stimulate the economy.

According to Schulze, prices were increased last year because the wholesale prices were higher, but that wholesale prices have gone down this year, making the retail decrease in prices possible.

He also said that the store is absorbing the loss on some items that have not decreased in wholesale price so that the prices could be reduced.

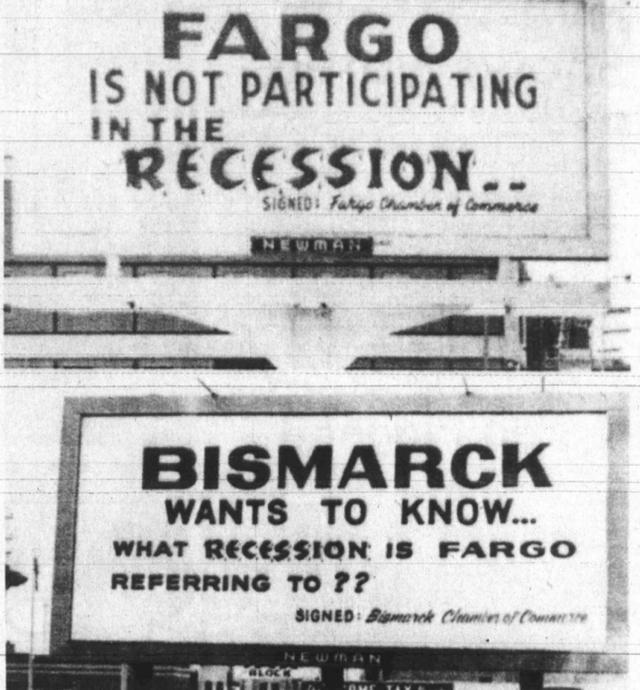

Price reductions are in the 10 to 15 per cent range. He said that if the wholesale prices decrease again, the retail prices will also be reduced.

Sales Tax Check Shows Big Gain

The City of Big Spring was surprised this week with the receipt of their city sales tax payment from the state a full month earlier than usual.

The payment for the quarter ending Dec. 31, 1974 was $172,828.38 after the state fees were deducted, a full 12.4 per cent increase over the $153,771.96 collected for the same period the year before.

Payments received by other cities in the area include Colorado City, $21,975.33; Lamesa, $56,578.46; Midland, $464,617.99; Odessa, $837,173.89; Snyder, $78,984.54 and Sterling City, $2,264.00.

'WE DON'T BELIEVE IT' — The chambers of commerce of the North Dakota cities of Fargo and Bismarck seem to differ on the state of the economy and they voice their opinions in these messages on billboards in their respective cities.

Evidence Decision Made In Mass Murders Trial

HOUSTON (AP) — District Court Judge William Hatten ruled today the state can present evidence on other slayings in the mass murders trial of David Owen Brooks.

Hatten made the ruling after conferring in chambers Thursday and hearing arguments from state and defense lawyers today.

OBLIGATED
"The court is obligated to allow the state to present evidence of other offenses even as they show intent, motive and identity," Hatten ruled.

He told Asst. Dist. Atty. Don Lambright to warn the court ahead of time when a witness would be testifying in areas that might create a defense objection.

Defense lawyer Jim Skelton in arguments before Hatten said shoddy police work had caused the judge to be placed in an "untenable position."

"Everybody in the Houston Police Department was embarrassed" by the mass murders, Skelton said. "They practically wiped out a neighborhood. Part of the anguish was an effort to cover the embarrassment of a police department."

"Judge, they put you in an untenable position" of having to make a ruling that would help the state's case which was poorly developed, Skelton said.

"My client cannot receive a fair trial if we have to defend him against 27 murders," Skelton said. Lambright, however, argued that the law allows the prosecution to present evidence of "extraneous offenses" if they are necessary to prove basic elements.

TORTURE GANG
Lambright said voluntarily given statements by Brooks prove the 20-year-old Houstonian performed various acts for money in connection with the homosexual torture gang operating in a Houston neighborhood.

"Everything he did was for money," Lambright said. The prosecutor said Brooks lived with the alleged ring leader of the sex-murder group, got money for homosexual acts and aided in burial of the victims.

WILLO BID GETS MARTIN APPROVAL

STANTON — Martin County Commissioners voted to accept the $49,505 bid of Willo Products Company of Decatur, Ala. for the new jail equipment for the new county jail, in the basement of the Martin County Court House, which is under construction.

Willo Company representatives assured the commissioners that the jail equipment would be installed by June 15.

Brooks is charged in four of the 27 slayings but is on trial only in the death of William Lawrence, 15, whose body was found buried near Lake Sam Rayburn.

In brief court proceedings Thursday without the jury present, Lambright said he plans to present only parts of three statements attributed to Brooks.

Hatten had copies of the statements made and then recessed the proceedings to permit determination of which portions might be acceptable.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Mike Hinton earlier had told Love he was present when Brooks gave the third written statement and that the statement was "completely voluntary."

TIED TO BED
Hinton said earlier statements by Brooks made no mention of Lawrence.

"We needed a statement relating to one specific offense," Hinton said. Lambright read from the statement Wednesday, quoting Brooks as saying he saw Lawrence after the youth had been tied to a bed at the home of Dean Arnold Corli, 33.

Corli's death on Aug. 8, 1973, led to the discovery of the 27 bodies.

Brooks and Elmer Wayne Henley, 18, the second defendant in the case, have identified Corli as the mastermind in the homosexual-murder case.

WILL HELP TEXAS FIGHT LIBERALS Break Lone Star State Into 5 Separate States?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A conservative Texas congressman has a plan he believes will help him fight liberals: break the Lone Star state into five separate states and thus increase the number of conservative governors and senators.

10 U.S. SENATORS

Republican Rep. James M. Collins proposed Thursday that such a division would give the former state of Texas a total of 10 U.S. senators, rather than one; and enough clout to deal with liberals from the East, North and West.

"Instead of having one state of Texas, we should have five Texas states including North, South, Central, East and West Texas," he said in a House speech.

He would keep the name "Texas" in each state because "everyone would want to be a Texan," he said in an interview.

Collins would take advantage of the resolution under which Texas was admitted to the United States in 1845. It said that four states, in addition to the state of Texas, could be formed with Texas' consent out of the former Republic of Texas.

The congressman said this meant that the plan could be executed by the Texas state legislature.

WORK OVER TEXAS

At the heart of Collins' proposal is a complaint that his fellow congressmen are "doing everything they can to overrun the minority" of conservatives and his belief that most of the additional politicians from the region would support his conservative views. "The Eastern liberals are asking for no tax on fuel oil and all the tax on gasoline. The Western liberals suggest nationalizing the oil industry. The Northern liberals want price ceilings on beef," he said. "Everyone wants to work over Texas because we have a small voice. The time has come for Texas to be five states," he declared.

The state is four times the size of New England "yet Texas is only one state and New England represents six states," he said.

"Our county of Dallas has three times the population of the state of Vermont. Houston is twice as large as the state of New Hampshire. Add one county to San Antonio and you would have a state larger than Maine."

Approximately 12 million persons live in the 267,338 square miles of Texas. The six New England states had a total population of around 12 million in the 1970 census.

He noted that Dallas and Fort Worth share economic interests, and recommended that Houston be the hub of one of the states. San Antonio would be the center of South Texas, while West Texas is tied together by a common interest in ranching.

The present state capital, Austin, would be the capital of Central Texas.

He said the current state of Texas, second in size only to Alaska, does not have a heavy debt and it has a balanced budget each year.

"This fiscal strength would let all five states start with no debt," he said.

Five 4-H Food Shows Slated

Five 4-H Food Shows have been scheduled March 15 in West Texas counties; the Howard County show being held in the Fair Barn at 4 p.m.

The Dawson County show begins at 2 p.m. in the Forrest Park Community Center, Lamesa, and the Borden County show starts at 1:30 p.m. in the show barn at Gail.

Mitchell County's show is slated at 1:30 p.m. in the Medallion Room, Lone Wolf

Electric Cooperative, Colorado City, with a tasting bee to follow the judging of exhibits.

The Scurry County show, to be in the Central Elementary School, Snyder, begins at 1:30 p.m.

The county extension agents are Miss Sherry Mullin, Howard; Ms. Mildred Crump, Dawson; Mrs. Janis Choate, Mitchell; Ernest C. Kiker, Borden; and Ms. Ruby Butts, Scurry.

Antique Show, Tea Planned

Events for the celebration of the Bicentennial were planned by Center Point Home Demonstration Club at the Kentwood Center Tuesday.

Mrs. C. K. Orr and Mrs. Nannie Garrett were hostesses for the club meeting.

Mrs. D. H. Griffith and Mrs. Jen Davidson are representatives from the club to the Howard County Bicentennial Commission.

They are heading plans for a Dutch oven breakfast, a Colonial tea and a Show and Tell Antique Show.

Some of the club members will attend the Area 2 district meeting of home demonstration clubs in Lubbock April 8.

Miss Sherry Mullin, extension agent, spoke on "Think Metric" and explained the system which will soon be used in the United States. She said dress patterns will be in metric by the end of this decade.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth with a centerpiece of white candles in gold holders accented by driftwood and alabaster ornaments.

Dr. Lee Butler will speak at the March 11 meeting in Kentwood Center, with Mrs. J. R. Petty and Mrs. Maudie Jones as hostesses.

Mrs. D. F. Bigony was a guest, and Mrs. Homer Haygood won the door prize.

Son Born To Idaho Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence M. Miller, Rexburg, Idaho, announce the birth of a son, Laurence Jr., Feb. 24, weighing 7 pounds, 7 ounces. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cox, 1700 Main. The paternal grandfather is Wilton A. Miller, Lancaster, Calif.

Years Bring Changes From Puppy Love Days

DEAR ABBY: I am still in love with the man I was in love with 42 years ago, when I was 16.

We both married different people. I had a very unhappy life being married to the wrong man for 41 years. Two months ago, my husband died. That's when I started to think about Benny again. I finally located him through his relatives, and I called him up. (He lives 600 miles from here.) When I told him who I was he nearly dropped dead. He couldn't talk much because his wife was there, so we made arrangements for him to call me from work. Now he calls me almost every day. We talked about old times and all the fun we used to have, and he said he never stopped loving me.

fooling around with young girls unless he wanted to die in bed.)

Now Al tells me he's nervous and restless. He says he has to lead a more "normal" life and can't give up everything he enjoys. He's asked me if I would rather have him go back to smoking again, or fooling around with young girls. Isn't that a choice for you?

How should I answer him? With all his faults, I love him and don't want to be a widow. But which is worse, lung cancer or a heart attack?

AL'S WIFE

His problem is his wife. They have been married for 40 years, and he doesn't know how to tell her that he doesn't love her, and he wants to be free to marry me. He said she is a sickly woman, she can't work, and he hates to hurt her.

Can you help us?

DEAR STILL: I know of no way for a man to tell his wife of 40 years that he wants to be free to marry his childhood sweetheart.

I think that you and Benny are trying to relive the past. It can't be done. Besides, Benny is very much married, and therefore unavailable. So do Benny, his family, and yourself a big favor, and get out of his life. You can't build happiness on the broken hearts of others.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 22-year-old daughter who is living with her boyfriend in a nearby town.

My friends and relatives don't know this and they are constantly asking me where she is. I get upset and start to cry and don't know what to say.

I raised this girl the best I could and I can't accept the fact that she turned out this way. How can I learn to live with this?

A MOTHER: You can tell yourself that a 22-year-old daughter is responsible for her own lifestyle. If you raised her "the best you could," you needn't be ashamed. It's not necessary to say that she is living with her boyfriend. You can say that she is no longer living at home. It's true.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has always been a heavy smoker. (Four packs a day for the last 30 years.) Al had a heart attack last year, and the doctor gave him some orders. Quit smoking (which he did, believe it or not) and avoid all excitement. (He was more specific; absolutely no

DEAR WIFE: It's a draw. But with a choice like that you'd probably worry less if you saw Al smoking. (P.S. Your Al certainly is a shrewd trader.)

Trees Planted In Cottonwood Park

When the Big Spring Garden Club Council met Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Paul Guy, president, 1305 Tucson, plans were completed to plant 25 non-bearing mulberry trees in Cottonwood Park Thursday afternoon. The club accepted the park as a project in its continuing efforts to beautify the city. Johnny Johansen assisted with the planting.

Delegates to the district spring meeting at the Hilton Inn, Lubbock March 4-5 were asked to encourage other gardeners to attend the meeting. Members were reminded that Big Spring will host the zone meeting Nov. 5.

The program was given by Mrs. Edna Womack who discussed "The Truth About Trash." She defined trash, told ways to get rid of it and explained methods of disposal or recycling.

Mrs. Lucy Knox presented gardening information from state and national gardening magazines. The host group was the Rosebud How to Grow Club.

Gift Shower For Bride

Miss Christi Miller, bride-elect of Bobby Carlile, was the honoree at a kitchen shower Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Jay Cunningham, 2324 Brent. Mrs. H. B. Perry was cohostess.

White carnation corsages were presented to Miss Miller, her mother, Mrs. Don Miller, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Bob Carlile. Miss Miller was attired in a green pantsuit.

Miss Lana Perry and Miss Sally Jones served refreshments from a table covered with a white cloth and appointed with crystal and silver. The centerpiece was a multi-colored arrangement of spring flowers.

The couple plans to be married March 8 in College Baptist Church.

Couple To Be Feted Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. George E. Conner, Brooks Road, Sand Springs, will be honored on their 60th wedding anniversary Sunday with an open house from 3 to 5 p.m. Hosts will be the couple's children, along with their husbands and wives. A family dinner will precede the open house.

Mr. and Mrs. Conner were married Feb. 28, 1915 at Midlothian, Okla. She is the former Rebecca Wayland, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Wayland. Conner is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Conner. Both were reared in Oklahoma and moved to the Big Spring area in 1947. He was a pumper with the Sun Oil Company at that time and remained with them until his retirement in 1962.

The Conners reared four children, Mrs. Oma Lewis, Odessa; Auden Conner, Colorado City; Mrs. Wanda McComb, Big Spring; and Ivan Conner, Robert Lee. There are seven grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

A brother and sister of Mr. Conner, who attended the Conner wedding, will be with them to celebrate the anniversary. They are Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Conner, Broken Arrow, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. William Bauer, Wichita, Kans.

Mr. and Mrs. Conner, who are members of the Coahoma Methodist Church, enjoy fishing, traveling and gardening.

Stanton Lodge Slates Buffet

H. B. Burgess, who was initiated recently as a member of Big Spring Rebekah Lodge 284, reported to the group Tuesday evening that he visited the Stanton lodge Monday. The Stanton lodge will have a salad buffet March 29 (when someone attending will win a quilt) and local lodge members have been invited to attend.

Mrs. R. X. McNew presided, and Mrs. Robert Wilson, chairman of a committee to revise the by-laws, announced that the committee will meet at 7 p.m., Monday in her home, 4046 Vicky.

The 33 attending reported 19 visits to the sick. The next regular meeting will be at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday in the IOOF Hall.

LGA Duplicate Game Scores

Five and a half tables were in play for a duplicate bridge game held Wednesday afternoon at Big Spring Country Club under the sponsorship of the Ladies Golf Association.

Scoring high were Mrs. Travis Reed and Mrs. Ward Hall, first; Mrs. Truman Jones and Mrs. R. H. Weaver tied for second and third with Mrs. Henry Bell and Mrs. Morris Rhodes; Mrs. Joe Hayden and Mrs. R. E. Dobbins, fourth; and Mrs. E. O. Ellington and Mrs. Ova Mae Edwards, fifth.

Local Couple Wed Feb. 24

Miss Patricia Ann Lyons and Terry Glenn McIntire were married Feb. 24 in a ceremony performed by Justice of the Peace Gus Ochotorena Jr.

The bride is the daughter of CM Sgt. Edward Lyons, 2311 Roberts Drive, and the late Mrs. Lyons. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Sally McIntire, 2507 Carleton.

The newlyweds are residing in Sand Springs.

Pruning Makes For Good Yield

BELTSVILLE, MD., — "Pruning fruit trees is like raising kids; start caring early or you're in trouble later," says pomologist Dr. Miklos Faust of the Agricultural Research Center at Beltsville, Maryland.

Dr. Faust, who heads up the Department of Agriculture's research program on fruit at the Beltsville Center, knows whereof he speaks. Several thousand trees under his supervision — peaches, pears, apples, cherries, plums, persimmons — are used in studies in plant genetics, physiology and disease resistance.

Last year, Dr. Faust astonished visitors to the Center with apple trees a mere two feet tall bearing large, full-size Golden Delicious fruit. (They are still in experimental stage.)

According to Dr. Faust, each kind of fruit tree demands a distinct pruning technique, but the key, for all trees, is to begin early — at planting or in the first spring.

Here are Dr. Faust's suggestions for the two most popular fruit trees grown by home gardeners: apples and peaches.

APPLE TREES

For apple trees (starting with a 4-foot sapling):

1. Select lower scaffold branches. These should be located 1 1/2 to 2 feet from the ground. Prune out all but about five of these branches, spaced evenly around the trunk. This will form the first scaffold level.
2. Leave three more branches about 1 1/2 feet above the lower scaffold. Clip all other branches back to the trunk.
3. Prune the center branch (leader) to form a cone with the two levels of scaffolds. This cut releases growth hormones for the scaffold branches.
4. Second year pruning: Prune each scaffold branch as a separate tree, that is, into a cone with each original branch as the leader.

CORRECTIVE

All pruning up to this point outlines the scaffold framework for the rest of the tree's life. All subsequent pruning is corrective in nature. "These cuts are the most difficult to decide," cautions Dr. Faust.

5. Prune all branches which oppose your scheme of scaffolding; those which grow too low, grow straight up, or cross over scaffold branches.

6. Thin branches that may block light from fruiting limbs because apples form on the inside of the trees. (Peach trees, fruit more toward the outside.)

7. The 4 to 6-year-old tree: Place braces between the trunk and any branches that form at angles less than 45 degrees with the trunk. The braces will help form an open framework, saving injury to, and providing light for, developing fruit. (Make braces from 1 x 1's. Drive a nail halfway into each cut end. Cut off the nail head. These points can then be sunk into the tree to hold the braces firmly in place.)

8. Place braces before spring pruning but not when wood is frozen. Longer braces can replace outgrown ones as your tree responds to spreading. Two years is usually sufficient for proper training.

Spurs, short interior shoots, bear large, gray fruiting buds (unlike smaller, brown leaf buds on longer shoots). Pruning the wrong buds will set fruiting back a year since buds begin to form in the June or July prior to spring blossoming.

PEACH TREES

For peach trees:

Booklets Aid To Gardeners

One of the biggest helps of all in successful home horticulture is to take advantage of the services of County Extension Agent Bruce Griffith and his staff. Their offices are in the basement of the courthouse building.

Many times Griffith will have ready answers for your problems. If more information is needed, he has a large supply of pamphlets, booklets and flyers written by Extension Service specialists which go into cogent detail.

Here are a couple of timely pieces, one entitled "How to Transplant Woody Plants," the other "Planting and Training Pecan Trees." Both of these deal with bare root stock which should be in the ground soon, and with bailed, burlapped or canned nursery stock.

These and others are available for the asking.

Landscape Is A Sound Investment

Present-day investments deserve careful consideration, and you can't go wrong by investing in your home landscape.

That's the word from Everett Janne, a landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Trees and shrubs around your home may be worth five or six times what you paid for them," says Janne.

Trees and shrubs that are adapted to their environment and properly placed in the landscape rapidly increase in value, notes the horticulturist with the Texas A&M University System.

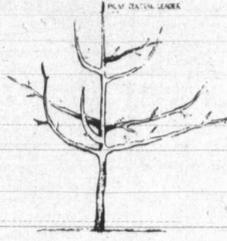

"Before building a home, develop a good landscape plan or design," suggests Janne. "This means allowing money for landscaping in the total budget. At least 10 per cent of the cost of the home and lot would be allocated for landscaping. A landscape plan should feature simplicity, with plenty of space for trees and shrubs to grow and develop."

If a house is several years old, it is not too late to develop a landscape plan or to redesign an old plan. Janne points out. The first step is deciding whether areas of the yard are being used to their fullest potential.

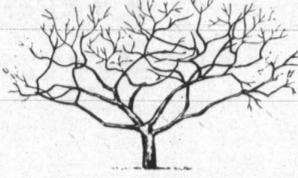

"Design the outdoor living area to keep maintenance at a minimum. The area should be convenient to the living room or family room. Keep in mind the needs and interests of all family members when planning this area," advises the horticulturist.

Plan the outdoor work area so that it is easily accessible to the kitchen, utility room and garage. Consider space for clothes drying, a garbage rack, tool storage and a compost area.

For best results, Janne advises consulting a professional landscape architect to help with your landscaping. A library or bookstore also offers excellent references on home landscaping.

CONE-SHAPE PRUNING

BASKET-SHAPE PRUNING

SHADE TREES GET HAIRCUT — Not only do fruit trees need occasional pruning, but shade trees, to develop maximum strength and vigor, also must have periodic cutting to strengthen main branches, but also to shape the tree. Within the next two weeks, the best time for pruning will have been passed, so it's time to get this job done.

Little Extra Dare Pays Big Dividends In Roses

A little extra care of those rose bushes in your home landscape can bring a season of beautiful blooms.

"Prune roses now and also plant new varieties," according to Everett Janne with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Plant bare-root rose bushes about four weeks before the average last frost date (around April 10) in your area. However, potted bushes can be set out at any time."

Prune roses in early spring before active growth starts, suggests the landscape horticulturist. Cut off any insect damaged or diseased canes.

When pruning, leave about five vigorous canes 18-24 inches tall. For an abundance of small blooms on Hybrid Tea varieties, cut back and one-fourth of the plant. For medium-sized flowers, prune back about one-half of the growth and for exhibition-size roses, prune about three-fourths of the plant.

Janne suggests pruning rambling and climbing roses after they bloom. However, some long stems must be left to produce flowers.

"After pruning, cover the cut end of the cane with asphalt wound dressing or caulking compound. This will prevent larvae of carpenter bees from burrowing into the canes," notes the horticulturist.

To keep roses healthy, weed and fertilize the garden area regularly. Apply one-half cup of 8-8-8 or a similar fertilizer at least a foot from the trunk of the rose bush and reapply every three or four weeks if the soil is sandy or infertile. Apply a two-inch mulch of sawdust, wood chips or peat moss to the soil to retain moisture and retard weed growth.

Spray roses with a fungicide — Benlate or Manzate — every week during the summer to control blackspot.

"Try growing a few miniature roses this spring," suggests Janne. "They are hardy and are good for low border plantings, rock gardens, window boxes and as house plants."

Plan Now For Starting Lawn

It's early yet to think about getting your lawn grass to flourish, but it's not a minute too early to plan.

This is particularly true if you are planning on putting a new lawn. Preparation of the seed bed is just about the most important thing you will ever do about your lawn.

Thought should be given as to whether the soil is deep enough to support a good cover; if the subsoil will help hold the water during irrigation periods. Moreover, the slope of the land should be considered, for too steep slopes may present watering and erosion problems.

When possible, the grade ought to be established, and the ground rolled, raked and rolled until it is as you envision it at seeding time. If possible, keep your lawn a few inches below your walk areas, for grass builds up its base even as it grows. In a few years, the grass will be level with walks, etc., but if started level, they will be exceeding and uncomfortable above.

Some thought should be given now as to the type of grass you will plant. Several will do well here, such as fescue, bent, San Augustine, etc., but there is none which is quite as rugged and has the staying power of Bermuda.

Pacer is here!

See it at your AMC Dealer today!

Ten good reasons to buy Pacer, the first wide small car:

1. Pacer is the first wide small car. (Wider than Chevelle, Duster, Nova—even Granada!) You'll notice a big difference in room, ride and handling compared with conventional small cars.
2. Pacer's got an economical 6-cylinder engine and a 22-gallon gas tank. That's larger than any small car—so you can go a long way between fill ups.
3. Pacer is wider than any other small car so you get an unusual amount of room. In fact, Pacer gives you more leg room, front and rear, than the two-door Torino or Fury.
4. Pacer's passenger door is 3.6 inches wider than the driver's. So you can get in and out of the back seat that much easier.
5. Pacer's sloping hood, wide windshield and wrap-around rear windows give you room with a view. More visibility, in fact, than any other American-built sedan—large or small!
6. Pacer's wide stance and isolated suspension give you an incredibly smooth and stable ride.
7. Pacer's hatch opens wide and the rear seat folds down. This gives you lots of wide-open cargo space.
8. Pacer's quick, precise rack-and-pinion steering, and wide stance makes it steer and handle like a sports car.
9. Wide, wide coverage. Pacer is backed by all the benefits of the exclusive AMC BUYER PROTECTION PLAN.™

Steers Open At Andrews

SNYDER — Strictly experimenting and not using any front-line throwers, Big Spring lost its second practice game in a row to Snyder, 15-4 here Thursday afternoon.

The Tigers had tagged the Steers, 8-4, in Big Spring, Tuesday. Big Spring's varsity unit saw duty only through four frames.

"I was displeased in the number of runs scored against us," said Larry Horton, Steer head coach, "but that was expected due to our lineup."

The game was delayed for some 45 minutes as Big Spring's bus broke down enroute.

Snyder put together 13 runs in the first four frames against Big Spring's untested pitchers. The Tigers added one each in the fifth and sixth.

Big Spring crossed the plate with three runs in the seventh followed by one in the eighth. Bubba Stripling got the only extra base hit for the Steers, a double in the seventh. Barry Canning was 0-2 at the plate.

The Steers' Kyle Pfeiffer,

Ken McMurtrey, Mike Harris and Charles Vernon pitched innings of 1-3, 2-2, 3-2 and 2 respectively.

Pfeiffer gave up eight runs, McMurtrey, five, and Harris, three, and Vernon, three and two.

Vernon fanned two Snyder batters and Pfeiffer and Harris, one each.

The Steers open the season with a doubleheader at Andrews, Saturday, at 1 p.m. Pat Carroll and Dick Battle will be Big Spring's starting twirlers.

Following the Andrews game, the Steers entertain Snyder in a regular test, Monday at 4:30 p.m.

Horton plans to suit up at the present 15 players. The roster is made up of four seniors, seven juniors and four sophomores.

REGION V NEXT Broncos Fail To Buck HC

ROSWELL — Harold Wilder has plenty to cheer about here Thursday night.

Howard College made an remarkable recovery to beat New Mexico Military Institute, 75-73, and Wilder kept his 20 game victory intact spanned over five years as head coach. HC has lost 10.

The timely win for the Hawks served as a springboard to the Region V Tournament. HC had been selected to participate in the Amrillo post-season meet Wednesday. The Hawks got against Grayson at 2 p.m., March 6.

HC concluded regular play by nailing down undisputed third place in the Western Conference, at 10-6. NMMI is 8-8 in the WJAC and 11-15 over-all.

This achievement also helped to make up for the 86-85 HC loss to NMMI in Big Spring, Jan. 27.

NMMI missed a shot at the game ending buzzer, awarding the decision to HC. The Broncos had fouled with 13 seconds left, but HC was unable to cash-in on the try.

Tied 69-69, character was shown as well-placed shots by Johnny Harris, Ernest Lawrence and Alford Gladden saved the night for HC with 41 seconds to go.

Three costly turnovers by NMMI against HC's press helped decide the Broncos' fate.

HC had a long hilly road to climb after being flat the first half. The Hawks left little to be desired as they fell behind 21-20, and stayed there until 1:20 of the final half. HC was guilty of 14 turnovers in the first half.

Play was so tense that HC's bench received a technical foul early in the game. The Hawks fell behind as much as 16 points, 47-31 in the early stages of the second half.

Johnson, hitting 16 points in the second half, paced HC scorers with a 22 total. He had outside help from Harris, who tossed in 18.

Johnson moved all the way

HAROLD WILDER

up from 12 to eighth among the HC all-time individual scorers, recording 732. HC led in the rebound department, 37 to 24.

"Since we won on the road, this will enable us to get off to a good start in the regional," said Wilder.

Dave Otero was NMMI's high point man with 22.

HOWARD COLLEGE (75) — Harris, 9-0-18; Gladden, 2-0-4; Erves, 3-1-7; Johnson, 10-22-22; D. Davis, 0-2-2; Lawrence, 3-3-9; Giles, 2-0-4; May, 4-1-9. Totals 36-9-25.

NMMI (73) — Otero, 8-6-22; Blueford, 7-2-16; Romero, 1-1-3; Blue, 2-0-4; McLeiland, 9-0-18; Perkins, 1-2-4; Vasquez, 3-0-6. Totals 31-11-73.

Half time: NMMI, 39, HC, 29.

DISTRICT HOME OPENER — The Big Spring High girls varsity volleyball team will play its first district game at home tonight in the Steer gym. JV's play at 6:30 and the varsity performing at 7:30. COLLEGE FOOTBALL
TAMPA, Fla. — The University of Tampa's board of directors voted 16-9 Thursday to drop football immediately, cancelling the 1975 season.

MIAMI — Pete Elliott resigned as head coach at the University of Miami to devote full time to his job as athletic director. He named Carl Selmer, offensive coordinator at the school the last three years, to replace him as head coach.

COMMERCE, Tex. — Jim Walker, offensive football coach at East Texas State University, resigned to become head football coach at Western New Mexico University.

HAYWARD, Calif. — Tim Tierney, defensive coordinator on the Hayward State coaching staff the last four years, was named head coach.

Westerners Rated Sixth

HUTCHINSON — Western Texas, Western Conference champs, moved up from seventh to sixth position in the final NJCAA weekly basketball poll.

Even with a loss, Hutchinson moved into first place. The Blue Dragons had their 24-game win streak snapped by Dodge City, 81-80, last Saturday night.

San Jacinto of Pasadena, who was tied for first last week with Hutchinson, finished second.

Anderson College, (Anderson, S.C.), moved into third followed by Westchester, (Valhalla, N.Y.), Robert Morris, (Pittsburgh, Pa.), rounds out the Top Five.

'Fun Game' Next

EDINBURG, Tex. AP — Coach Abe Lemons' Pan American University basketball team finished the season with a 22-2 record, best ever for the South Texas school, and prepared to leave this week for a "fun game" in Mexico City.

Pan American has been ranked in The Associated Press top 20 poll for major college teams the past three weeks and are now 18th.

The two losses came on the road, but surprisingly the Broncos played only 10 home games. The last seven of them were played before standing room only crowds of 5,200.

The Broncos officially ended the season Tuesday night by trouncing Trinity University, 111-61.

The Trinity game may be the last basketball game ever for the Broncos under their current name. There is talk of possibly merging Pan American into the University of Texas system.

Pressure Won't Bother Stanton

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP) — The pressure won't bother barefoot Bob Stanton, now the leader but never a winner in nine long years on the American pro golf tour.

"I've never won in this country," said Stanton, an Australian native now living in Biloxi, Miss.

"But I've won big tournaments in Europe and Australia. In this country, I've been beaten by one stroke five times. It just as well could have been five wins."

"I've been in this position before. It won't bother me. I'll just play the best I can. If I can win, fine. If my best isn't good enough, someone else will win."

Stanton took a three-stroke lead in Thursday's first round of the $260,000 Jackie Gleason Golf Classic, shooting a brilliant, eight-under-par 64 while tramping the fairways of the 7,128-yard Inverrary Country Club course with one shoe off and one shoe on.

"I've got a calcium deposit in my right foot," said the slender, 29-year-old Stanton.

"When my foot started hurting, I'd take my shoe off and walk to the next shot. I'd put the shoe on to hit the shot, then take it off again when I had to start walking."

Jack Nacklaus birdied his first three holes and his last two — the final one with a 40-foot putt — to join a group of seven others tied for second at 67.

Bears Rate Border Chance Of Dethroning Longhorns

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Texas Coach Cleburne Price believes Baylor should be considered co-favorites with his Longhorns Saturday in the University Division of the 43rd annual Border Olympics but Bear Coach Clyde Hart disagrees.

"Our kids have a chance — sure they have a chance, but realistically we haven't caught up with them," says Hart of the defending champion Longhorns who nicked Baylor by two points Jan. 31 in the Southwest Conference Indoor Meet.

Price says, "Baylor should be the favorite along with us ... they ran with us neck-and-neck in the indoor meet."

Hart counters, "We're a lot more vulnerable than Texas. We've got to get our points on the track. We can't afford one foul up. We have to get our points where they are."

"Now, Texas scores heavily in the field events ... they're very formidable. And a headache or sore throat or whatever doesn't bother a discus thrower like it does say a sprinter."

Hart has alluded to the fact that Texas could be bothered by the red clay and crushed shell surface of the Shirley Field track at Laredo Nixon High School.

"Texas has been working out on an all-weather tartan track," Hart says. "They've been running with longer spikes. Now out there on that 'red dog' track your spikes don't stay nice and clean. It certainly doesn't blow our kids' minds. That's the kind of track we have at home."

The college and university division preliminaries are scheduled for Saturday morning with the finals that night. The high schools and junior colleges shared the spotlight today.

Houston Worthing was seeking its third consecutive schoolboy title while New Mexico Junior College was the favorite in the Thunderbirds' division.

Eight Southwest Conference schools and Lamar University will comprise the nine-team University field.

Ranger Thumps Cisco, 85-76

RANGER — Ranger College with Larry Gibson banging the nets for 27 points bounced Cisco College, 85-76, here Thursday night in Northern Conference play.

Ranger now advances to the Region V Tournament in Amarillo, March 6-8. The Rangers and Grayson ended the regular season with identical 8-6 conference marks.

For some unknown reason, last week's TCU basketball fact sheet failed to appear though the current one is on hand.

Thomas Bledsoe, ex-Howard College ace, continues to wait along as the Frogs' leading scorer.

The 6-6 junior is hitting the net at a 13.2 clip, based on 109 field goals and 72 free throws. He has 159 rebounds to his credit.

Nearest mate rival to Bledsoe is Bill Zoizat. The 6-11 senior holds forth a 11.5 per game effort.

TCU has two home games lined up next. The Frogs will exchange baskets with Texas A&M, Saturday followed by Rice, March 4.

Rice beat TCU in Houston earlier this year, 88-67, as Charles Daniels pitched in 25 points. Bledsoe was the Frogs top gun with 20 points and 16 rebounds. That's Bledsoe's best rebound total of the season.

Like most everyone else, Howard College is experiencing the economy crunch. The Hawks, via bus, left for Thursday's NMMI game in Roswell close to 11 a.m. of the day of the game to be played. Distance involved is some 240 miles.

The Snyder Chamber of Commerce was well on its way of scheduling a Class AAA regional tournament, but had to table the idea when conflicting dates emerged.

Class AAA teams in the northwest region went the Snyder bi-district route instead.

The ageless Trotters are well into their 49th year, racking up a won-loss record of 11, 572 to 323.

Texas University's Jimmy Braddock is a new Globetrotter recruit.

Since the midway point in this basketball season, Texas-El Paso, defending national defensive titlist, has vaulted to the lead.

MONTHS-LONG VIGIL OVER Phone Always Busy

HOOKS, Tex. (AP) — One of Northeast Texas' biggest tourist attractions in recent months was not a historic building or battlefield, flower garden or hot spring.

Instead the center of attention was in Hooks, about 17 miles from Texarkana, and is six feet tall, weighs 190 pounds and runs 40 yards in 4.5 seconds.

His name is Billy Sims, second leading ground gainer in Texas schoolboy football with 7,738 yards in three years. In 38 games, he never gained less than 123 yards, and averaged more than 200 yards per game and 29 carries per game.

His signing with Oklahoma Feb. 20 climaxed a months-long vigil by an army of college coaches and recruiters.

Assistant Coach Bill Shimek of Oklahoma had one recruiting assignment from Head Coach Barry Switzer — to induce Sims to play for the Sooners.

Sims after football season narrowed his list of contenders to five schools — Oklahoma, Texas, Baylor, Arkansas and TCU — "because I didn't want 30 or 40 on my hands."

He said his most exasperating moments came when "recruiters woke me up in the morning with phone calls."

Unusual methods were used by schools around the country to interest Sims in their football programs.

An assistant coach from Arizona State wrote: "Hi Bill! 'Drink lots of milk — think of ASU.' 'Because both of them are good for you."

COACH DON BAKER. "P.S. Remember my name — Coach Baker, Baker, Baker."

Sims' greatest high school game came in a quarterfinal state playoff contest against Rockwall when he scored six touchdowns and rushed for 381 yards.

"He has the best balance of any kid I've ever seen. He goes over, around, inside, outside. He's a pretty good passer and can kick off into the end zone," said Hooks Coach Jack Coleman.

Neills Buy News Stock

STANTON — Terry Neill, publisher and co-owner of the Stanton Reporter for the past year, became sole owner of the newspaper this week. This is the first time in more than 20 years that the Stanton publication has been home owned.

He purchased the remaining portion of the Permian Basin Publishing Company, Reporter publishers, from Lonnie Browning, his partner since they purchased the paper from the Midland Reporter-Telegram in March, 1974.

The Reporter was owned by the Midland Reporter-Telegram until March 1, 1974, when Neill and Browning purchased it. The Midland paper has purchased the paper in 1953 and had hired management to publish the news organ.

Mrs. Neill, whose given name is Nancy, will become assistant publisher and will retain her present job as office manager.

Since the paper changed hands last year, it has converted to offset production. Two new Compu-graphic typesetting computers have been added to the firm's equipment.

Browning operates a business in Canton, Tex., and has ranching interests in East Texas.

Neill is a graduate of Fort Stockton High School and received much of his early newspaper training there under Frank and George Baker.

He had also worked for newspapers in Hereford, Longview and Canton.

Side Shaft For Israel

Israel got the treatment again from a United Nations agency last week — this time from the Human Rights Commission over Israel's arrest, trial and imprisonment of a Greek-Catholic prelate, Archbishop Hilarion Capucci. Capucci is serving a 12-year sentence on charges of smuggling arms and working with the Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO).

The commission, demanding the "immediate release" of Capucci, passed by a 21-6 vote a resolution deploring the "desecration of Moslem and Christian shrines, disrespect and ill-treatment of religious leaders and violations of rights of worship" in Israeli-occupied territories. Only the U.S., Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, and the Netherlands dissented.

In another blast at Israel, the commission adopted by 22-1 a resolution condemning Israel for "deliberate destruction and devastation of the Golan Heights town of Quneitra." In that instance, only the U.S. voted against the resolution.

Israeli Ambassador Eytan Ronn attended the Geneva meeting as an observer. He said the Capucci case had "nothing to do with this commission" and rejected the "fantastic allegations... so steadily voiced against Israel."

Ronn walked out of the meeting after his speech in protest against the attendance of PLO representatives in the status of observers.

Israel could hardly be blamed if it walked out of the United Nations permanently considering the heavy-handed treatment it now is receiving from all components of the international body. There's something that has an oily smell about this train of events.

Cities Need Right, Too

Since Texas first established the sales tax, abuses to the system have been apparent. Some of the biggest offenders have been businesses which collect the tax from the consumer and escape meeting all of their tax obligations.

As presently written, the state's sales tax law prohibits cities from collecting the portion due them (1 per cent) unless the state attorney general's office joins them in the action. This creates a couple of enforcement problems.

Often, the state is not ready to proceed promptly, given the press of other legal business. Thus some delinquent businesses are closed and gone by the time a suit becomes possible. Another problem is that some unscrupulous businessmen carefully pay that portion of the sales tax which goes to the state treasury, knowing that cities can't sue alone to get their share.

This situation needs to be changed and Rep. Kay Bailey, R-Houston, has introduced a bill which would allow cities to sue alone for their portion of the taxes.

Since the consumer pays the tax at the point of purchase he should get all his share back for public municipal use. Instead, he often finds he has paid the tax and it has become a windfall profit for the delinquent business.

Spell Is Broken

Around The Rim

Troy Bryant

QUANAH PARKER MUST BE mad at you. Why else would he allow his favorite town to suffer damage from a tornado.

Back in the early 1900's Quanah Parker, a half white-half Indian chief of the Quahadi Comanche Tribe, visited Quanah. He was getting old and no longer led his warriors on raids against white folks, and was being forced to live on an Oklahoma reservation.

He and his band of warriors camped outside of the town of Quanah, Texas in order to "inspect" the town that was named after him.

After the "inspection," he pronounced the town as a good town and then blessed the town, saying that never would the town suffer destruction from winds.

His spell remained intact until last weekend, when a series of small tornadoes, inflicted a little mischief on a few of the buildings there, breaking a few windows, destroying a couple of airplanes, and damaging some roofs.

Quanah, maybe old Chief Parker is trying to tell you something. Perhaps he's a little angry that you ignored your favorite Indian Chief when it came time to name the lake at the state park.

What kind of name is Lake Copper Breaks when you could have had Lake Quanah or Quanah Parker Lake?

Maybe he's a little mad because his old stomping grounds, the Medicine Mounds, are now part of a pasture for a cattle rancher and the only way anyone can see them is from a distance. Old Chief Parker knows that the medicine to be found there should be preserved and shared.

SURE, YOU HAVE a portrait of Quanah Parker hanging in the hospital lobby, but is that all you can do?

He could be a little disappointed because the site of the Pease River Battle, where his mother, Cynthia Ann Parker, was recaptured and his father, Noconi, was killed by the Texas Rangers commanded by Capt. Sul Ross, is a mile walk through the wilderness and is marked only by a broken-down wooden sign that no one has ever seen.

Quanah Parker's mother was a white girl, captured when she was a child from a white settlement in central Texas. Indian life was the only life she knew, but the Texas Rangers killed to recapture her. When she was forced to live a white man's life, she died.

The creeks and streams he and his warriors once drank from are now so littered with beer cans, bottles, and industrial wastes that fish can hardly survive. That may be another reason for this breach of promise.

THE HERDS OF WILD HORSES, the abundance of game, the undisturbed land as big as the sky are all gone. Never more will the sun set on a Comanche chief leading his warriors in search for food nor will that special medicine found only on the mounds ever be used by the medicine man to heal the sick.

Chief Quanah Parker can never become a part of his hunting grounds. He can never feel the earth in his bones or ride the West Texas wind, because he was buried on a reservation at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma. That can be another reason for the overdue "revenge."

People of Quanah, whatever you do, don't take down that portrait from the hospital lobby wall.

'We'll Get By'

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — On March 14, CBS starts showing "We'll Get By," a half-hour situation comedy series about a New Jersey family. But the show's creator won't be able to see its national premiere.

He says he'll be busy that night, supervising the taping of the pilot of another series he wrote and hopes to sell to NBC.

But in June, writer Alan Alda resumes his better-known acting career as Hawkeye when "M-A-S-H" cranks up for its fourth season.

Right now, Alda is drumbeating for "We'll Get By," originally scheduled to start on CBS last September. It was dropped from the 1974-75 lineup when a federal court delayed the start of revised prime time access rules for network programming at night.

The show was hastily put back in the CBS lineup last week when the network decided "Khan," a detective series installed as a midseason replacement, was a flop and ordered it axed after four shows.

Alda said CBS programming chief Fred Silverman notified him of CBS' Friday night program change only last week "and we've been in high gear ever since, trying to snap into action."

"I guess he (Silverman) felt a pressing need to do something about Friday night. He made a very fast series of decisions, so we had to go right to work to let the audience know we're opening up then."

Fortunately for Alda, 13 "We'll Get By" shows already are in the can. All he has to do is publicize the series and hope it survives in its time slot against NBC's hit "Chico and the Man" series.

He also has to worry later about whether NBC will buy his proposed new series, the pilot of which he said he began writing just last December after "M-A-S-H" finished production for the season.

The new project, as yet untitled, is a situation comedy starring Jack

Weston as a lawyer "who just borders on shadiness, while trying to earn a living as best he can," Alda said.

The 39-year-old actor, interviewed by phone from the New Jersey home he shares with his wife, three daughters and typewriter, said he's not writing additional scripts for his ambulance-chaser just yet.

"No, all we're concentrating on right now is the pilot," he said. "If NBC is interested in seeing more material after that, then of course we can do it."

"But my order of business is really to get the pilot done and then concentrate on letting people around the country know about 'We'll Get By.'"

Does all this series-creating (he wrote a third series that ABC rejected) mean he eventually plans to give up the acting game and become a fulltime scrivener and producer?

"I don't think so," Alda said. "I love acting. Every time I perform I get a wave of feeling about how much fun it is. I don't think I'd ever not want to act."

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

A small and precious life was lost in the 1700 Block of Main at about 6 p.m. Friday. His name was Moppet, and he was the pride and joy of our family... never harmed anyone. To some it probably doesn't matter, but to our daughter, who cried her self to sleep tonight, it does. To the person who ran down our dog without even trying to stop, or after hitting him couldn't walk a few steps to open my front door to see if we could have been able to keep him from dying... sleep well good citizen. It could easily have been a child. I hear on the radio each day that Big Spring is a fine place to live. Well I wonder!

My Answer

Billy Graham

Jesus said, "I am with you always," but so many terrible things happen to Christians. Please explain.

M.B.

Wait a minute! When you start talking about implications of certain Scripture, you need other Bible statements for guidance, lest erroneous ideas creep in. Nowhere in the Old or New Testaments is there any promise of immunity from trouble or violence. In fact, many of God's choice servants have been abused in life beyond what normally a person might expect.

None of this lessens the truth about the presence and power of Christ. He promised to be with us, and He keeps that promise (Hebrews 13:5). I have discovered that usually God's purpose is to sustain us in the midst of difficulty rather than to avoid it entirely (Psalm 41:1).

How a Christian handles himself in the face of trial, temptation and even torture can be a powerful witness to a watching world. Sir Thomas More, for example, triumphantly summed up his whole career with his famous words on the scaffold, that he "died the king's good servant but God's first." Would anyone suggest God wasn't with him?

A Devotion For Today

"God loved the world so much that he gave his only Son, that everyone who has faith in him may not die but have eternal life." (John 3:16 NEB)
PRAYER: Dear God, in giving thanks for Thy many blessings, help us never to lose sight of the great gift of Thy Son and to be ever mindful of His love. Amen.

Deadly Weapon

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — The sorcerers conjuring up their witchcraft in the Middle Ages have a faint resemblance to the physicists of today who conjure up weapons so arcane as to be beyond the comprehension of most of us.

THERE IS one great difference. The sorcerers dealt with magic that had no visible form, while out of the laboratories of the physicists come weapons of incredible destructiveness.

The latest weapon — that word is pitifully inadequate, as though it were bows and arrows — to come from the magic-makers is currently the subject of a hassle with the defense chiefs.

It is known as the Terminal MARV. When it is developed, tested and deployed, it will put a warhead on target in the range of the infield of a baseball diamond.

IT IS THIS phenomenal accuracy that is the center of a dispute with the Pentagon. With the Terminal MARV, the United States could destroy all the Soviet Union's land-based missiles. After such a first strike, their potential for reprisal would be limited.

Merely the news that the Pentagon is going for a weapon with such phenomenal accuracy will unsettle the present balance of nuclear forces. Moscow will see this as confirmation of the intention of Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger to go for a knockout first strike. As with the Multiple Independently Targetable Re-entry Vehicle MIRV, that old fashioned device, it will set the adversary off on a similar path.

HERE IS how the Terminal MARV works. On the downward course of its trajectory, the targeting process begins, whether by television and — or radar, the magic-makers will determine. In those last seconds of its fall, the brain inside puts it on a hardened silo which is thereby destroyed.

A year ago Schlesinger began to project a new strategy. The theory was that the city and population-destroying targeting of the past was immoral. Instead, military targets would be hit with relatively minor loss of civilian life. In this way, so the theory went, a nuclear war could be limited and the mass destructor of much of the civilized world averted.

THE FALLACY in this last is that a nuclear war can be limited. Those qualified to know out of long experience with arms control and Pentagon planning are convinced that once the first nuclear weapons are discharged, an all-out exchange will follow with the catastrophic consequences so long predicted.

Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., and other members of the House Armed Services Committee are convinced that the Terminal MARV must be stopped, although it has only a $101 million tag this year, before it sets off still another round of the nuclear arms race. Testing of the Terminal MARV is 10 years away.

BUT WITH Schlesinger and Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, as witnesses, Leggett contended that even a decision at this stage would be the trigger for a new lap in the race that would eventually cost many billions of dollars.

...too bad we don't have anybody...

Well, Yes And No

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Money is flowing back to the savings and loan associations, mutual fund sales are up, so is the stock market. Interest rates, meanwhile, are falling and, almost unbelievably, so are some prices.

Does it mean the economic picture is brightening? Well, yes and no. There's little question that some of the most dismal aspects of the picture aren't as dark as a year ago. But other parts are darker.

Retail sales still haven't shown a tendency to recover. Unemployment is still growing worse. Action to stimulate the economy lags. The dollar continues to fall in value, relative to the currencies of many nations.

If you tune in to the findings of the surveyors of consumer confidence you will hear reports of spirits being at their lowest ebb in decades, of growing cynicism about the ability of leadership, suspicion that in institutions designed to serve the people are failing to do so.

When money reflows to the S&Ls — it almost certainly means a recovery in housing is only months away. Those signs are mixed at the

The Federal Reserve Board, especially, is under attack because, despite its avowed intentions, it seems to have been unable to increase the money supply at a rate adequate for the pace of the economy.

But there are, it cannot be denied, some improvements beginning to show in the economy.

The rate of inflation is lessening, and for many people that's 50 per cent of the economic problem, the other 50 per cent being joblessness.

The housing picture has turned decidedly brighter — still tinged with gray, but healthier than just a few months ago, mainly because interest rates are falling.

When that happens, money reflows to savings and loan associations, which had been almost forced out of business because they couldn't offer interest on savings comparable with other institutions.

When money reflows to the S&Ls — it almost certainly means a recovery in housing is only months away. Those signs are mixed at the moment, but by summer the pace of activity is bound to pick up, simply because lenders once again will be able to make loans.

Perhaps the most exuberant response to the slight changes has come from the securities markets. Almost overnight mutual funds have regained their sales momentum; sales have greatly exceeded redemptions.

Many stock market investors are convinced that now is the time to obtain buys of a lifetime. Blue-chip stocks still sell at low price-earnings ratios, despite the surge of the past few weeks.

Some of this enthusiasm is spread from Europe, where the economic decline seems to have hit sooner than in the United States and already to have reached bottom.

But there still is no energy program or final tax-rebate program, and while almost anyone you might stop on the street would agree that a sound recovery can't proceed without them, the agreement doesn't seem to lead to decision.

Tense Muscles

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What happens when one's scarioliac goes out? This happened to me four times in the past dozen years when bending to pick up something weighing 20 or 25 pounds, once when just pulling up a bedspread.

I use simple exercise to strengthen it, but it happened again. I am a woman of 60. I have been doing non-strenuous bending and stretching exercises and I take walks and ride a bicycle. I have a hunch this problem is a weakness triggered by tension. — Mrs. J.R.

Your hunch could be correct. Tense individuals are more apt to have taut muscles. With such people, putting muscles under extra strain, as in bending or stretching, can produce pain, especially in the back.

It is usually a muscular problem. Eight per cent of low back pain is muscular in origin. So can you be sure it is your scarioliac giving you the trouble?

A scarioliac ailment specifically refers to a disturbance in the disc of the vertebrae which lies between the sacrum and the ilium sections of the spine. This would be a different matter. When it happens, there can be the sensation of, as you say, something "going out."

If a disc is involved it may press against nerve roots. Small exertions such as coughing would produce sharp pain. Often this situation will correct itself, but the underlying problem will remain and the symptoms will recur. If your pain persists or recurs frequently, and conservative treatments such as heat application, massage and bedrest have no effect, you might be a (rare) candidate for surgical correction.

An orthopedist can tell you if you need such surgery. But I suggest your problem may be muscular and in that case a back brace may be all you need. I would advise you to curtail your vigorous exercise, avoid lifting, and learn to keep your back straightened when picking up objects, then raise yourself by flexing the knees.

State Register Law Is Proposed By Farabee

AUSTIN — State Senator Ray Farabee Thursday introduced legislation authorizing creation of an official Texas State Register, to keep the public informed about various state agencies and activities.

As to its purpose, Farabee explained, "Government is too important to be left to a few. We need to get information to as many people as possible because today the average citizen has too little say about the day to day decisions of the government."

"I agree with Governor Briscoe that a Texas Register might effect communication through public information about the operation of state government."

Farabee, in introducing the legislation, worked closely with Secretary of State Mark White. White will be in charge of the publication. Indications are that it will be bi-weekly.

One category of information is to be included will be notices of meetings. Farabee was particularly pleased with that portion of the bill indicating that "People have a right to know what is going on before it happens. Otherwise, there is no way to offer an opinion."

Also included will be executive orders of the Governor, summations of Attorney General opinions, requests for Attorney General opinions and various state agency rules.

There will also be a category on general information of state interest such as federal legislation or regulations affecting the state and state agency organizations and personnel changes.

Senator Farabee said that a preliminary study showed increased interest in governmental affairs and a tremendous growth of Texas government.

"Since there is currently no means of official communication for the state government, a register will provide a vital service," the senator added.

Most of the cost of the publishing of the register would ultimately be recovered through subscription revenue.

Knott Well In Spraberry Pay

NRM Oil No. 1 Fryar, five miles southeast of Knott, pumped 14 barrels of oil and 16 of water in 20 hours in the Spraberry zone. It is half a mile east of Spraberry production and one north and east of the lone producer in the Bond (Canyon) field.

Gulf Oil No. 1-A J. G. Wilkinson, 660 from the north and west lines of section 33-A, Bauer and Cockrell, plugged at 8,274 feet. It was 13 miles northwest of Big Spring.

J & R Oil No. 1 Billy Mack West will be an 8,500-ft. Ellenburger wildcat nine miles southeast of Gail. This puts it two miles south of the depleted Pennsylvanian pay of the Lucy (Clearfork) field and 2½ miles north of an 8,374 foot failure. That was the Hunt No. 1 Gray, abandoned in April 1951 after picking top of the Strawn at 7,650, Mississippian 8,165 and Ellenburger 8,315 on an elevation of 2,376.

In Glasscock County Amarillo No. 1 Nunn drilled at 6,830, and Amoco No. 1-C Cope was below 5,738.

'WE'RE LIVING ON CREDIT' Port Arthur Feeling Effects Of Oil Strike

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP) — Homer Smith, 47, is a pipefitter by trade and typical of this Gulf Coast city's rugged refinery workers.

He's big and tough looking and his hands and face wear the almost dutiful mask of a man who knows hard labor like most know their mothers.

He's a father of nine and the immediate head of a family of 18, including 13 who currently are feeling the fangs of the worst union oil workers' strike in 14 years.

Port Arthur Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union Local 4-23 has been out more than 50 days now, and that makes things mean.

"You know it was bad enough with inflation and all that," said Smith. "But now this strike is really starting to put things in a squeeze. Hell, we've never had anything elaborate; nowadays it takes a lot just to keep a large family's head above water."

Port Arthur, too, is feeling the effects of the strike.

Utility bills go unpaid 30 days or more. Bank notes and grocery charges are past due, and credit is still available.

School lunches are free for children. Theaters have $1 nights. Restaurants and cafes promote specials. Bars offer half-price beer.

It's a way of life here that's revisited every two or three years when union-refinery company negotiations fail, contracts expire and strike pickets go up at two of the nation's largest oil refineries.

This smoke-draped Southeast Texas city of 57,000 or so is home for Texaco's No. 1 plant in the nation and Gulf's No. 2 refinery.

The worst situation in 14 years, many on both sides say. About 7,450 union refinery workers are out of work.

Negotiations with Gulf have broken down completely. Texaco workers have approved a new contract, but plant operations can't be resumed until agreements are reached with two smaller unions.

"We're living on credit," said a utility company manager, who noted that delinquent accounts of 30 days or more are up 40 per cent in the past month.

More than 235 merchants and politicians have donated about $3,000 in cash plus food and services to the union's health and welfare committee.

A random check of grocers, for the most part independents, showed sales are down 10 to 17 per cent and credit purchases are up 30 per cent.

Some banks are allowing strikers to pay only the interest on automobile and home loans.

"This is nothing new to them," said a banker. "Their granddaddy did it, their daddy did it; it's nothing new."

Homer Smith's family watches more television and goes out less. His sons work at odd jobs to help meet ends.

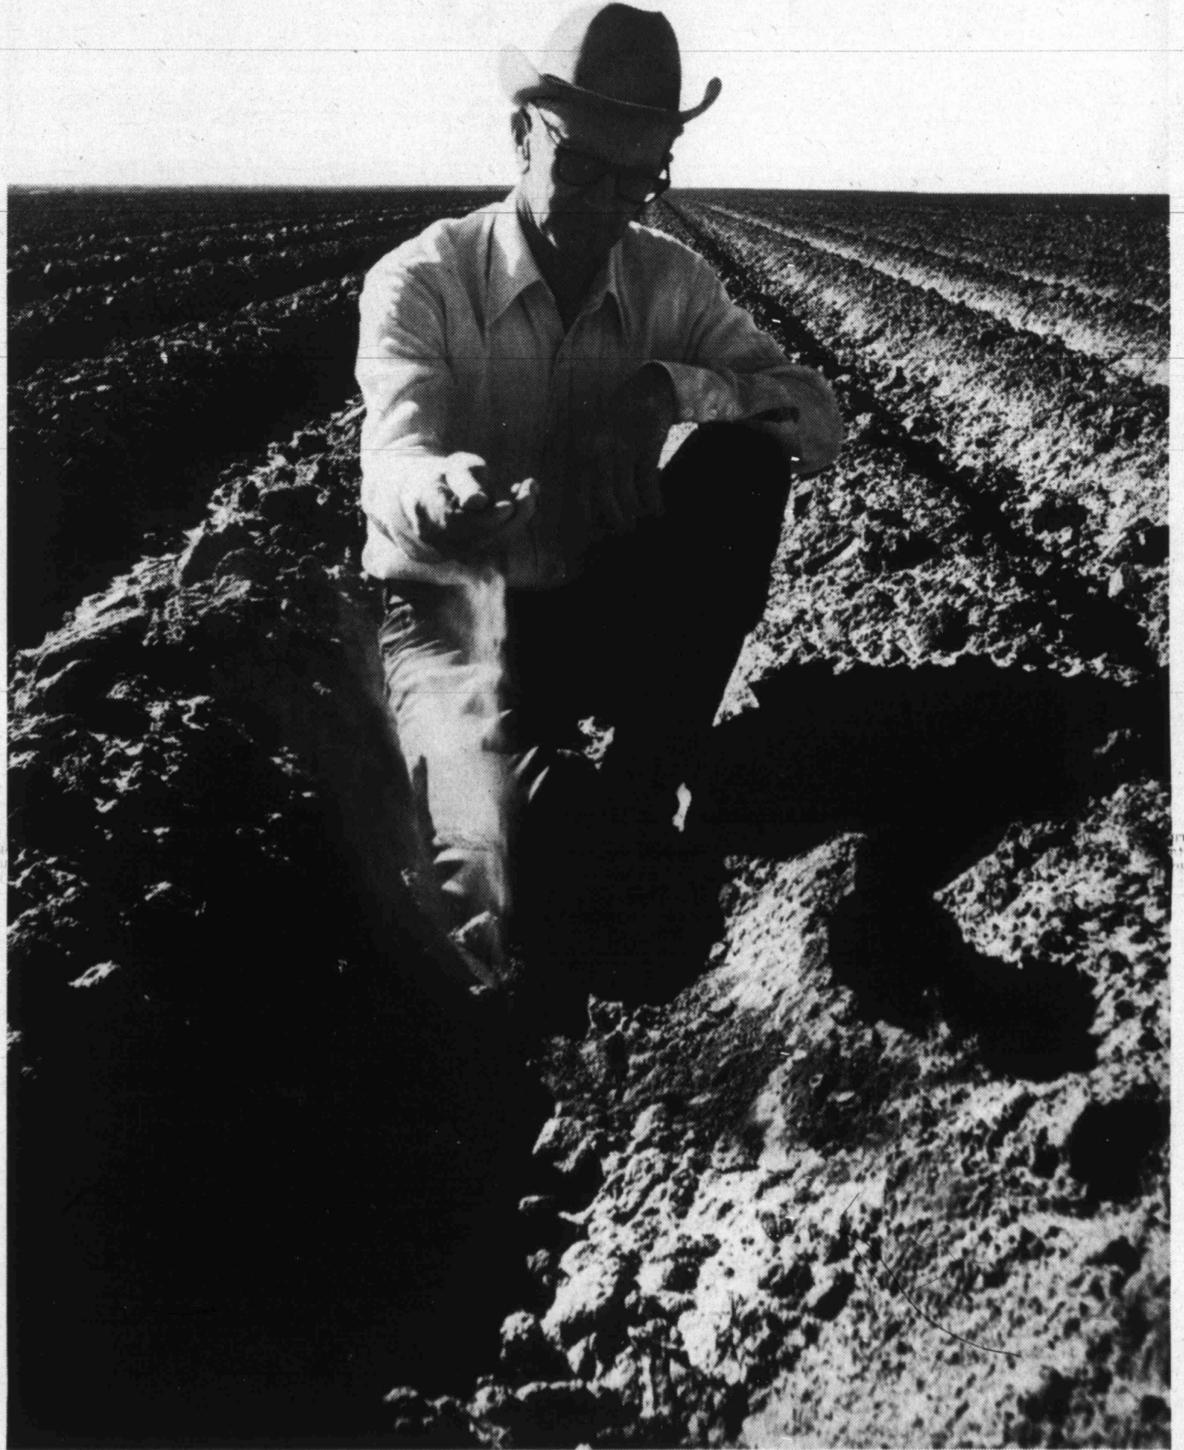

And although the strike has been marked by a few violent incidents, Smith said, "I've invested my life in Gulf. I would never consider leaving it. Gulf belongs to me as much as anyone else."

Color TV, Stereo Stolen

A color television and stereo equipment were stolen from the Antonio Olivares residence six miles south of Big Spring, the sheriff's office reports.

The burglary was reported Wednesday night.

Why gamble on a herbicide that's not made for sandy soils?

Now you can get one that is.

SANCAP.® It's made specially for your sandy soils. It's made for cotton on your land.

You can forget about experimenting with rates to adjust for sandy soils. Just follow the recommendations, and you'll get weed control you can depend on—without injuring your cotton.

You'll get control of the most troublesome weeds in this area—carelessweed and Russian thistle.

And you can forget about moisture loss due to incorporation. Just apply Sancap at planting, or within two days after.

Then watch your cotton come through, clean and healthy. No more experiments. No more mistakes.

Because now you've got a herbicide for sandy soils.

BATTLE SCENE — "Everybody's up in arms about it," Mrs. Paul Guy, president of the Council of Big Spring Garden Clubs, said of severe pruning done to some trees on the courthouse lawn. "They went out and cut them all to pieces. They didn't do any pruning," Mrs. Guy said. But Thursday County Judge Bill Tune, Mrs. Dale Smith and Mrs. Edna Womack talked with the school teacher who contracted to prune courthouse trees. "He's not going to prune the live oaks or the evergreen, Mrs. Womack said. And other trees are due a "lot less severe pruning." Mrs. Womack praised members of County Commissioners Court for being cooperative in this and other matters.

DEATHS

Mr. Callaway

A. B. Callaway, 62, died Thursday afternoon while in his car at 3600 West Highway 80. Death was attributed to natural causes.

Carl Dorton said he found the man slumped over in the pickup seat. Police discovered $1,220 in cash in the man's wallet.

Service is pending in El Centro, Calif. Mr. Callaway was in the salvage business here. He formerly was with United States Gymnasium for 30 years in El Centro, retiring in 1974, at which time he moved to Big Spring.

He was born Nov. 16, 1912, in Munger, Tex. He was a Baptist.

Senate Leaders Ignore Vote To Cut F111 Funds

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., is reported to have arranged with the Senate leadership to ignore a vote in the House to cut off production funds for the F111 airplane, thereby saving the program.

A Bentsen aide said the junior Texas senator spoke Thursday with Senate leaders who subsequently decided not to bring the matter up for a vote by the full Senate Thursday or Friday.

200 Hurt By Blaze

NEW YORK (AP) — Firemen searched a New York Telephone Co. switching center today for hidden pockets of fire in the debris of a blaze that felled some 200 persons and caused upward of $10 million in property damage.

The five-alarm fire that raged for about 17 hours Thursday knocked out 170,000 telephones, including police, hospital and Consolidated Edison emergency lines.

As toxic fumes, caused by the burning polyvinyl chloride material used as cable insulation, poured out of the 11-story facility at Second Avenue and 13th Street, 147 patients were evacuated from the New York Ear and Eye Infirmary across the street and hundreds of residents were forced to leave their homes.

"This is the worst disaster in terms of service in the history of the New York Telephone Company," declared George Kennelly, an assistant vice president. The switching facility was virtually gutted.

At least four near-by hospitals and several police stations lost telephone service, as did the police department's emergency number, 911.

Service on a dozen exchanges was disrupted in the 450-square-block area served by the center — between Fifth Avenue and the East River and from 26th Street on the north to the Brooklyn Bridge on the south.

Meanwhile, time will run out for President Ford's requested budget cutback. House members Tuesday unexpectedly, but overwhelmingly, approved the budget cut, which would have discontinued production of the General Dynamics aircraft by November 1976.

"As a major element of our national defense, it is more important than ever to maintain the F111 production line in view of the growing uncertainty surrounding the manned bomber (B1) program," Bentsen said.

Aides of Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., said he had sent memoranda to all members of his party after the House vote reminding them that Senate committees already had determined the importance of the F111 despite President Ford's cut.

Man Is Killed By Gun Shots

MIDLAND — Bert Louis Sabvino, 25, felony theft suspect, was fatally wounded in a shootout with police here Wednesday night.

Officer Larry Bledsoe was injured in the exchange of gunfire and taken to the intensive care unit of Odessa Medical Center Hospital.

Bledsoe was shot twice in the right chest with a .22-caliber pistol.

Police were summoned to a residence in Midland after a woman said she thought the man was in her house. Sabvino reportedly had hidden in the attic of the house.

Bledsoe fell through the attic after he was hit.

Scrooge Lives, Solons Informed

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Scrooge lives, a black legislative has told the Texas House, in the form of employers who fire workers for serving on juries.

The House responded Thursday by tentatively approving 88-41, her bill outlawing the practice and permitting fired employees to sue for damages.

A final vote still is needed to send the bill to the Senate. "There have been some complaints and recent situations of firings, where the district attorney found there was no legal protection. This is an attempt to do that," said Rep. Eddie Bernice Johnson, D-Dallas.

Her original bill included a fine of up to $100 for employers who fire workers for doing their duty and serving on juries. But she accepted a substitute by Rep. Matt Garcia, D-San Antonio, a trial lawyer, that eliminated criminal penalties and gave suits for "all damages resulting from" the dismissal full standing in court.

"There are many situations where a person serves on a jury and is discharged from his employment. This is not right, and we should protect these persons who serve on jury duty," Garcia said possible damages would include money lost in wages while seeking a new job.

The House passed the Senate, 85-48, a bill prohibiting judges in divorce cases from giving one spouse's separately owned real estate to the other. There was no debate, but earlier Rep. Sarah Weddington, D-Austin, had objected that there are times when fairness dictates such taking. She cited the case of a farm couple whose only livelihood came from land inherited by the husband.

Senators passed a bill establishing State Insurance Board regulation over warranties against defects in home construction. A 30-0 vote sent the bill to the House.

Legislators were out of session today, taking their customary three-day weekend.

Caldwell Files Paving Suit

W. D. Caldwell Inc. Thursday file a class-action suit in 118th District Court over paving liens involving 50 tracts of property and 64 property owners.

The petition for payment and foreclosure of the liens claims "no payments have been made on the respective indebtedness in the original principal sum."

Principal amounts claimed due range from $245 to $737 in connection with certificates of assessment dated from 1965 to 1970.

City Council passed ordinances calling for the paving, but the contractor assumed responsibility for collecting on assessments.

The land is located in scattered areas of Big Spring, including the Bauer Addition and Government Heights to Bauer Addition, Boydston Addition, William B. Currie Subdivision, Cedar Crest Addition and Original Township.

Sex Ring
Uncovered
By Police

HOUSTON (AP) — Juvenile officers say 11 boys who were victims in the Houston mass murders case are pictured in sex material seized in what police called a homosexual ring.

Police said Thursday they have identified 32 of the thousands of youths in the pictures and films.

Juvenile Officer Johnny Freeman said most of the youngsters are from the Heights area of Houston and a few questioned from the Bomball area moved there within the past year.

The case became public last week when four men were charged with sexual abuse of a child. They are Bryant A. Burch, 31, Leonard E. Cunningham, 29, John Jennings, 40, and Alfred Van Dyke, 35.

Officers Ed Greenstein, Audrey Davies and Freeman said they were told by youngsters involved in the case they were paid $15 to $20 for "being in a movie" and they did not know that was against the law.

Reels of films show youngsters, some as young as 8 and 9, engaging in sex acts, Greenstein said.

Distribution of the film ranged as far as Sweden and Austria, authorities claimed. The officers said postal inspectors and the Internal Revenue Service have been working on the case.

Police estimated they have more than 10,000 color photos of unclad children in various poses, more than 1,000 reels of film, 200 magazines and a number of paperback books.

Some of the youngsters in the pictures now are legal adults, leading officers to believe the business has been going on locally for some years.

Local TSTA
Delegates To Meet

The state meeting of the TSTA will be held this year in Houston on March 20-22 at the Astrodome Convention Center.

Representing the local unit will be Mrs. Janet Box, president; Mrs. Janice Rosson, president elect; Mrs. Nedlene Speegle, second vice president and Mrs. Lynn Calvert, secretary.

The proposed unification of the TSTA with the National Education Association is again expected to be the top item of business at the 96th annual convention.

Last year, it was brought up and the delegates sent a resolution to the membership in a mail referendum where it was rejected.

District 18 of the TSTA came out against unification earlier this year.

The 1975 house of delegates again will consider the issue when it meets March 21 in the first of four scheduled business sessions. If the delegates approve, another statewide referendum will be held.

Carl Rowan, syndicated newspaper columnist and author, will speak at the first general session Thursday night, March 20.

Lesley Stahl, Washington-based news reporter for the Columbia Broadcasting System, will speak at the second general session Friday morning, along with Jim Harris, NEA president.

Theme of the convention, expected to attract some 10,000 members and guests, is "TSTA... Changing to Meet The Future."

The association president, Jewel Howard of Dallas, will preside at the convention, an executive committee meeting March 20, and the four sessions of the house of delegates.

Registration will begin at 1:30 p.m. March 20. The convention will be adjourned at the end of the final business session March 22.

Vocal Groups To Highlight Service

By MARJ CARPENTER
Two local vocal groups, the Complete Seven and the Relative Four, are gaining renown as they begin to make themselves known as ministers of the word of God through singing and preaching.

Composed of eleven of Crestview Baptist Church's young members, these two groups are touring this area, singing and preaching in churches other than their own home church. They make most of their trips on weekends.

Texas Conference Sets Church Meet March 3-5

AUSTIN — A former Texas pastor who is now president of Saint Paul School of Theology in Kansas City, a well-known associate justice of the Supreme Court of Texas and an outstanding Southern Baptist layman, and the moderator of a Protestant church in Italy which antedates the Reformation will present major addresses during the three-day sixth annual Assembly of Representatives of the Texas Conference of Churches meeting March 3-5 here.

The Rev. Dr. William K. McElvaney, former pastor of Northaven United Methodist Church in Dallas, and the Hon. Zollie Steakley, a Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas since 1961, will address official delegates, observers and guests of the Assembly.

Program plans were announced today by the Rev. Mr. Darnell Thomas, Sr., of Texarkana, vice president and assembly program committee chairman.

The Texas Conference of Churches is an ecumenical organization with membership comprised of 42 ecclesiastical units of 16 Christian denominations in Texas, including the Roman Catholic and Greek Orthodox dioceses and most Protestant denominations. It was the first and remains the largest geographical religious organization of its kind in the world.

Real Hunger Can Teach About Pangs Of Poverty

By GEORGE CORNELL

A man, approaching the checkout counter in a grocery store, discovered he had more items than he could pay for, and handed some of them to his young son to return to the shelves. A sympathetic stranger, overhearing their conversation, insisted the pair keep the food, and proceeded to pay for it.

That incident, along with the embarrassment of becoming an object of charity, is the sort of experience some seminary students are going through to give them a direct sense of what it's like to be poor and do without.

"It's a simple exercise to bring home at the first-person emotional level a small part of what it means to be, if not starving, at least deprived," says the Rev. Dr. Richard A. Hoehn, a professor at Brite Divinity School, Texas Christian University, in Fort Worth, Tex.

now undertaking various symbolic Lenten gestures, such as skipping a meal on a day or two each week, to turn attention and savings to needs of the world's under-derfed, he suggests a genuine sense of identification with their life can be gained through the method used for his students.

It involves living for two weeks on a weekly budget of $8 for a single person, $10 for a couple, $12.50 for a family of three, and $2.50 for each additional family member. The amount, which must cover all food and beverage for the family, was set to reflect the budgets of many poor people, and to trigger feelings matching theirs.

"It's quite possible to get by on that kind of budget and no one starves, but the food you can get is very dull, and it's a trying experience for many students," he said in a telephone interview. "They gain some new insights, though."

In the process, surviving on the pinched resources, some persons become hostile, he noted. Occasionally one will relate later that he stole small items, such as a doughnut, but with pangs of conscience, went back and paid for it. Some couples, during the period, say they spanked their child in anger, because of tensions caused by lack of usual cookies or treats.

He says the contemporary phenomenon of starvation, although a widely recognized fact, seems especially remote to middle-class Americans who have never personally faced it, but the exercise immediately sensitizes them to the reality. He says the exercise can also be used in local parishes.

Writing about it in the ecumenical weekly, the Christian Century, he says: "The leader should point out to the group that the hunger exercise covers only one area of the poverty experience — the food budget — while actual poverty applies to every aspect of life: housing, transportation, clothing, medical care."

Meeting Plans

Anderson, Ind. — Leaders of the Church of God, completing plans for the 86th International Convention of the movement June 16-22, have named nine key leaders to address evening mass meetings.

Master Organist Slates First Baptist Concert

Those who hear master organist Harold De Cou on the Allen 1500 Computer Electronic organ, Sunday, largest of the company's models, will be hearing a unique musical instrument.

De Cou, composer and keyboard artist from Grand Rapids, Mich., will be presented in public concert at 3 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist church sanctuary.

The organ is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Dorland and daughters, Kim and Patricia, in memory of another daughter, the late Mrs. Frankie Cherry Wagoner. Actual dedication is at the 10:45 a.m. worship when De Cou will play a short program.

Some experts go so far as to describe the organ as one of "the most extensive musical engineering feats" in years. Reduced to simple terms, this means that the best sounds of the world's best pipe organs have been converted through space-age technology to electronic recall.

Similar instruments, none more complete or larger, are in some of the nation's leading cathedrals, churches and synagogues.

REPRODUCING SOUND
The genius of the organ is that it goes a step beyond the highest fidelity recordings of outstanding pipe sounds.

Replaying tapes for just one 5-octave rank of principle tone would require 61 tape recorders, but through electronic magic the pipe tone is transferred into the specific memory of the computer and is "read out" repetitively at any note frequency. This is done through micro-minitization which puts 48,000 transistors into tiny panels.

Among the advantages of this is that the organ, once tuned, never gets out of tune. There is practically no maintenance, for if difficulty in the circuitry should develop, a substitute panel is inserted while the regular one goes back to the factory for analysis and replacement. Still another is that the organist never has to transpose. He or she simply dials the key in which the singer or choir is to perform, then plays the original score.

FAST EQUIPMENT
The organ has three manuals, drawknobs, 44 speaker cabinets with 160 speakers. There are 12 cabinets of speakers with 100 watt amplifiers for the choir organ, which projects sounds diagonally across the choir; the same for the auditorium organ which projects sounds directly to the congregation, and the same for the antiphonal organ flanking the stained glass window in the balcony.

These may be played separately or altogether. Adding to the special effects is the en chamade speakers (two each for the auditorium and choir organs) for trumpet sounds, special solos, etc. and the "inspirational" speakers which have four vibrato speakers for each the choir and auditorium organs.

The possible tonal combinations involve a string of 39 zeroes. These may be utilized through "cards" for special effects which can authentically reproduce such sounds as the flute, harp, clarinet, strings, glockenspiel, horn, five drums, etc. In short, it can provide exact presentations of almost any harmonic spectrum or timbre.

Crestview Eyes Fiftieth Year

A Baptist birthday celebration will take place at Crestview Baptist Church, Big Spring, March 6.

Church leaders from across Big Spring Association will gather to observe the 50th anniversary of the Baptist way of giving, the Cooperative Program.

The rally offers daytime and evening sessions on the historical past as well as future plans of Baptist ministries.

The united effort of Southern Baptists through the Cooperative Program during the past 50 years have afforded the erection of a quality network of missionaries to 83 foreign nations, homes for children and senior citizens, colleges, seminaries, hospitals and various assistance to its 35,000 churches across the nation.

In observance of the 50th anniversary, the 4,200 Southern Baptist-affiliated churches and missions in Texas are striving to raise a record $20.6 million during 1975 to meet physical and spiritual needs in Texas and around the world.

Program personalities for the Big Spring rally include Doug Brown, Texas Baptist Stewardship Division, Dallas; H. B. Ramsour, president of the Mexican Baptist Bible Institute, San Antonio; Roger Duck, regional representative for the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board and Victor Nichols, director of missions for Guadalupe Baptist Association, Victoria.

Bob Buess To Speak

Bob Buess, graduate of Baylor University and Southern Baptist minister for 20 years, will speak at Christ's Fellowship Center at the corner of FM 700 and E. 11th Pl at 3 p.m. March 2, 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. March 3 and 9:30 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. March 4.

Tommy Williams, minister, invites the public to "come expecting a miracle. This event could change your life."

While serving as a minister in New Mexico and Arizona, he spent two years reading, searching and praying for new power in his life, according to Williams.

Buess claims that "After many trips to the mountains and desert, seeking the fullness of the Spirit, I received the Baptism in the Holy Spirit while alone in my own living room."

OPENING DOORS

A jigsaw puzzle of a church was Billy's project for the afternoon. He worked diligently as the church took form. But one section was missing—the door. "A church has to have a door," he said. At last he found it.

As Billy grows older, he may discover that the Church has many doors which can open to him:

*Gratitude for his home, his family, his friends
Knowledge of God, his Creator
Sensitivity to spiritual life
Inspiration from Bible accounts of dedicated lives
Experiences in sharing his beliefs with others
Development of his character
Foundations of a sustaining faith*

Open these doors to your child so that he may grow spiritually. Take him to church each Sunday.

HOROSCOPE

SATURDAY, MARCH 1, 1975 GENERAL TENDENCIES: Judgment is not likely to be good, and some unusual conditions may test your power of control, so avoid unwise decisions. Be highly objective, studying whatever arises and avoiding commitments.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You are assured responsibility and are not certain about now, so avoid outbursts that are not practical. Avoid a good time, and then all looks fine again.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Take it easy with a partner or a big argument could ensue, which is best avoided right now. Spend money with wisdom.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handle work efficiently and don't fall down on promises made. Rebuild your vitality, which may be waning now.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Put those creative activities aside for awhile so that you can work them out more intelligently later. Be friendly with all.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Avoid arguments at home which could bring about a pretty bad state of affairs. Get rid of situations that have long been troublesome.

CENTRAL TEXAS RANCHES 650 Acres Easy Terms

Rolling country with plenty of creeks, and tanks, also plenty of deer, duck, and quail. Near Brady. Same owner for years, and he will finance with easy down and extra low interest for 10 or 20 years. Rancher-own will lease back as he owns adjoining property. Asking $200,000.

1300 Acres Menard Will split

Three producing gas wells, 3 houses, 100,000 sq. ft. turkey barns. 1 mile Texas Highway 29 frontage. Beautiful trees and plenty of game. A steal at a little over $200 acre for all or will split property and price according to which tract is chosen. This place is a steal, but financing will have to be arranged, as there is no permanent loan at present. This is the reason it is priced so

Across the country, a new kind of "new" school is beginning to appear: the old school.

Begin two years ago in California, basics schools or fundamental schools now are offered as alternatives by a small but increasing number of public school districts. They exist because parents have asked for them.

HOMEWORK

The basics schools are just what they say they are: the three Rs, report cards and discipline. The emphasis is on teaching educational skills; homework is required and checked. They list achievement, manners and moral training among their goals: honor rolls, dress codes and lining up quietly for class.

There are no more than a dozen basics schools, opened or planned, but they incorporate trends that may have broad implications for American schools: what is taught and who makes that decision. Similar programs already are being offered as alternatives within new, multi-approach schools in some other districts.

Most of the basics schools are in suburban school districts, often ones that went furthest with the "open" education of recent years. In spirit and practice, they stand in opposition.

"When we teach children about the westward movement in American history, we don't have them spend two weeks building a covered wagon," Wallace Clark, principal of the Hoover Elementary School in Palo Alto, Calif., said recently.

SIGNED: PAUL DEAN AUSMUS, Independent Executor of the Estate of P. D. Ausmus, Deceased, FEBRUARY 28, 1975

THE STATE OF TEXAS TO: LONNIE JOE STOCKTON, Defendant

Greetings: You are hereby commanded to appear by filing a written answer to the Plaintiff (s) Petition at or before ten o'clock A.M. of the first Monday after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being Monday the 31st day of March, 1975, at or before ten o'clock A.M. before the Honorable District Court of Howard County, Texas, at the Court House of said County in Big Spring, Texas. Said Plaintiff (s) Petition was filed in said court, on the 2nd day of January A. D. 1974, in this cause numbered 17,103 on the docket of said court, and styled, MRS. G. E. (RUBY FAYE) MCCLATCHY Plaintiff (s), vs. LONNIE JOE STOCKTON Defendant (s).

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows: to-wit: LONNIE JOE STOCKTON, Defendant, misappropriated the personal funds of the Plaintiff, Mrs. G. E. (Ruby Faye) McClatchy for his own personal benefit, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff (s) Petition on file in this suit. If this citation is not served within ninety days after the date of its issuance, it shall be returned unserved.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs. Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Big Spring, Texas, this 10th day of February A.D. 1975.

BACK TO BASICS — II

Three Rs, Report Cards, Discipline

The Hoover school is Palo Alto's "more structured" school (Parents had asked for a three Rs School.) Its priorities are stated succinctly: "The majority of the school day will be devoted to the teaching of reading, writing, spelling, language and arithmetic." Specific learning goals are spelled out for each grade at the beginning of the school year. There are regular tests, weekly reports to parents and quarterly report cards, graded A to F.

Rules for Hoover School pupils are laid down in two pages of standards. They are to line up quickly and quietly before class, eat at assigned tables in the lunch room and say good morning to the principal and other adults. There is no corporal punishment, but children do stay after school if assignments are missed or rules broken.

STARTING PLANTING - Byron Hedges (left) of the Howard College agriculture department and Chesley Wilson, Soil Conservation Service range conservationist, begin planting grass at the rangeland research and demonstration center east of Stanton.

Basics schools now have been established or planned by school districts in California, Colorado, Maryland and North Carolina. No one is saying they are the wave of the future, but there will probably be more.

"I think any child could function well in our setup, but I don't think every child necessarily has to be here," said Paul Rold. He is principal of two fundamental schools opened last fall in the suburbs west of Denver by the Jefferson County public school system.

There are highly motivated children who do well in an open classroom setting, said Rold. "But every child can't go out and discover everything on his own," he said. "They need a more structured presentation of the facts and a teacher that is going to point out a few things he should be looking for."

Seeding Is Underway On College Acreage

Seeding of 40 acres of the 137-acre rangeland research and demonstration center in Martin County has begun, Jackie Elrod, Soil Conservation Service district conservationist in Big Spring said.

The center, established on excess Webb Air Force and will be used by Howard College students learning about the soil, range plants, animal science and wildlife. Vocational agriculture students, 4-H Clubs and county extension agents also will utilize the center.

LITTLE CHOICE

Ironically, the basics schools exist largely because of one of education's recent innovations. Most are in school districts that already had established "open" alternative schools. These districts now are being asked by some parents to provide an alternative at the other end of the spectrum. They don't have much choice.

"When you begin to offer alternatives, you open the door to whatever alternatives people think they would like," said Harold Santee, superintendent of schools in Palo Alto. "If they have educational soundness, then you must treat people equally."

Many educators have greeted the basics schools with less than outright glee. The concern they express is that the basics schools, and the back-to-basics movement itself, might signal a return to a type of education that they feel stifled enthusiasm and limited learning.

HOUSTON (AP) - Attorneys were in their fifth day of jury selection today for the Ignacio Cuevas capital murder trial.

Cisco Wildcat

An 8,500-ft. wildcat projected to the Cisco has been staked nine miles northwest of Sterling City and 1 1/2 miles east-northeast of the upper gas opener of Crede (East-Cisco and Wolfcamp) field.

Seeding Is Underway On College Acreage

The center, established on excess Webb Air Force and will be used by Howard College students learning about the soil, range plants, animal science and wildlife. Vocational agriculture students, 4-H Clubs and county extension agents also will utilize the center.

Grasses being introduced in a cleared area this year include two species of Side Oats Gramma, two species of Blue Gramma, Old World Bluestem, Lehman's Lovegrass and Kleingrass "75."

Among wildlife plants to be tried this year are Western Indigo, Maximillion sunflower and Bush sunflower.

It is HNG Oil No. 1-Wilkinson, 1,320 from the south and west lines of section 10-23, H&TC.

Meanwhile, 10 1/2 miles southwest of Sterling City, Stolz, Wagner & Brown No. 4-9 Hildebrand completed as the 10th Canyon gas producer 1 1/2 miles west and south of pay in the Conger multi-pay field. The venture made a calculated open flow of nine million cubic feet of gas per day with a gas-liquid ratio of 25,414-1 with 66-degree condensate. Production was through perforations 7,455-515, fractured with 30,000 gallons. Total depth was 7,901 with 5 1/2-in. string on bottom plugged back to 8,882. Location was 1,320 from the south and west line section 9-21, H&TC.

Carl Albert's Secretary Placed On Leave

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert said Monday Mrs. Pauline B. Girvin, a secretary on his staff indicted last week on charges of false influence peddling, has been placed on administrative leave.

He told reporters Mrs. Girvin would remain in that capacity to the end of her accrued leave, some time in March, "and we'll take it from there."

An indictment returned by a federal grand jury in Dallas, Tex., alleged that Mrs. Girvin and Joe Ben Champion of Lewisville, Tex., falsely claimed to have influence with Albert and told clients that, for fees, they could have him help defendants in criminal cases. The indictment specified that they never actually approached Albert and that he never did or agreed to do anything for their clients.

Fire Kills Four In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH (AP) — Four persons died as flames roared through a south side residence before dawn today, and three others suffered injuries.

Firemen listed the dead as Carolyn Holloman, 28, her children Ronda, 5, and Carolyn, 3, and Mike Cantu, 22. They were among occupants of two apartments in the building.

Attendants said Willie Swain, 56, was transferred to Parkland Hospital in Dallas with severe burns.

ILLUSION OF ROOM — Concessions made by County Commissioners Court to keep Peace Justice Walter Grice from retiring have cramped Peace Justice Gus Ochotorena Jr. and his secretary, Mrs. Colleen Henry. To satisfy Grice, the court agreed to hire an additional secretary so each peace justice would have a separate one and to move Ochotorena's office to the third floor. Here, a wide-angle camera lens gives Ochotorena and his secretary the illusion of room. Ochotorena's records and office furniture are being stored in two rooms and in the hall.

SUNDAY 3 P.M.

We proudly present
Harold De Cou
Grand Rapids, Mich.

At the console of the new Allen 1500 Computer Electronic Organ, one of the most unusual musical instruments in the world.

As a means of expressing our gratitude to the D. L. Dorland Family for the gift memorializing Frankie Cherry Wagoner, we have commissioned Mr. De Cou, an outstanding composer and organist, for a free public concert at 3 p.m. Sunday in our church sanctuary. From the concert-demonstration of this outstanding artist, we feel you will grasp some idea of the instrument's unlimited capabilities to add to our music ministry to the glory of God.

Please come and bring your friends with you.

FORGET IT, IT'S ALL MYTH Young Radicals Sparked American Revolution?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Remember all those young, radical firebrands who were said to have sparked the American Revolution?

Well, Dr. John Schutz, chairman of the History Department at the University of Southern California, says to forget it, it's all myth.

OLDER, WISER

Completing a detailed computer study of the Massachusetts leaders of the Revolution, Schutz said, "It was the older, wiser, more sophisticated people who brought on the Revolution."

If anything, they viewed the English government as radical.

He said the average leader was in his mid-50s, a family man and usually a doctor, minister, businessman or Harvard professor.

"The Massachusetts people wanted to conserve their heritage," he said. "The Revolution was a preserving process, not radical revolt against the English nation."

Dr. Schutz said he chose Massachusetts because it was a center of the revolutionary movement. He fed millions of facts about the leaders and legislators from 1725-1776 into the computer for a statistical picture of the average revolutionary. In all, more than 2,200 leaders were studied.

One of the first things he discovered was that as the Revolution drew near, the ages of the legislators became older. They were established, conservative community leaders.

NEW IDEAS

"Basically, these were people who wished to preserve American liberty from English radicalism," he said. "They feared English radicalism would destroy the colonies. They wanted the right to govern themselves."

"They saw the English government as a force that would destroy home rule and introduce foreign elements," Schutz, 50, a native of Los Angeles and a graduate of UCLA, said he will publish his findings when he completes the research. He said he had been studying the people and leaders of Massachusetts for a number of years.

Schutz said it was not until the Revolution began that new ideas for a republican government, an expanded voting franchise and freedom of religion began to emerge.

New Date Is Set For CC Playday

COLORADO CITY — The Western Riding Club of Mitchell County have rescheduled their playday benefiting the West Texas Boys Ranch after snow canceled the competition last week. The playday will begin Sunday at 1 p.m. with registration. Action will get underway at 2 p.m.

Competition will be held in Pee Wee, 9 and under, 10-12, 13-15, and 16-over age groups. Entry fee $1, except for the Pee Wee group which is $5. Ribbons will be presented for the first six places in each event and prizes will be awarded to high point winners in each age group.

Following the competition, an open $5 jackpot barrel race will be held.

City Taxes Due To Increase

COLORADO CITY — City taxes are expected to go up this year, after a series of three decreases the past ten years took from $60,000 to $70,000 in income away from the city.

The increase became evident after City Manager James Campbell presented an outline for a proposed 1975-76 city budget. No recommendations were included in the proposal for the taxes, but for the past year, city councilmen have stressed that the city needs more money to provide services needed.

At Least 20 Exhibits Firmed For Exposition

Some 20 exhibits are assured for the Scout Exposition March 8 at the Howard County Fair Barns, and the number may be increased.

Bill Priebe, chairman, urged unit leaders who have not yet signed for a booth space to contact him promptly and reserve a display area. He urged every unit to be represented.

The building will be opened the evening before, but most of the exhibits will go up during the morning of March 8. Activities will be suspended around 11 a.m. when a Scout parade is scheduled to move from 8th and Main northward to the downtown area, west to Scurry and south to 8th. Scouts, Cubs, Explorers in the parade will carry small American flags.

The displays open formally at 1 p.m. and will continue to 5 p.m. Before closing time, judges will announce winners.

Tickets ($1) can be had from almost any Cub or Scout in the district, or unit leaders can get additional supplies from Clem Jones or Reeves Moren.

Members of the Order of Arrow will operate a concessions stand.

Scout units and their exhibits include: Troop 16, camping skills; Troop 1776, merit badge show; Troop 1, working campsite; Troop 238, ropemaking and knot display; Troop 401, pioneering; Troop 249, first aid; Troop 33, cooking and rope bridge; Troop 146, to be announced; Troop 136, camping; Troop 5, camping.

Cub packs included Pack 63, BB gun safety shoot; Pack 100, talent show; Pack 238, rock exhibit, art and craft show; Pack 179, pinewood derby; Pack 401, craft display; Pack 136, Indian theme.

Explorer Post 49, Indian lore; Post 236, medical; Order of Arrow, camp promotion.

Maj. Myron (Mick) Willett is co-chairman of the exposition with W. J. Priebe.

Other committee chairmen are: Guy Griffith, physical arrangements; Clem Jones and Reeves Moren (Western Auto), tickets; Rev. Lester Utz, participation; Joe Pickle, publicity; Dr. Larry Key, parade; Bill McRee, judging.

Historian Dies In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Dr. Muriel Hazel Wright, an Oklahoma historian and author, died Thursday at a hospital. She was 85.

Dr. Wright was the retired editor of "The Chronicles of Oklahoma."

Her grandfather, Allen Wright, was chief of the Choctaw nation and the man credited with naming Oklahoma.

She was honored by the North American Indian Women's Association as the most outstanding Indian woman of the 20th century.

Her name appears on the final Choctaw tribal rolls and she traced her ancestry directly to Elder William Brewster, fourth signer of the Mayflower Compact.
