

Big Surprise In Oil Plan Vowed By Ford

FRESHMEN BREAKFAST WITH FORD — Reps. Paul Simon, D-Ill., and Gladys Spellman, D-Md., meet with reporters outside the White House today following a breakfast meeting with President Ford. Ford, poised to veto legislation suspending his oil tariff increases, told the group of freshmen congressmen that he would "have a surprise later in the day" in moves to reach a compromise energy program.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford, poised to veto legislation suspending his oil tariff increases, told a group of freshmen congressmen today he would "have a surprise" in moves toward a compromise energy program.

Ford gave the group of 70 new Democratic congressmen no clear hint of his planned action, but White House sources indicated he would defer for 60 days the second and third dollars of the controversial tariff increases.

GOOD GUESS
"If I had to guess and had only one guess, it would be that he would announce a postponement," said Rep. Carroll Hubbard Jr. of New York, chairman of the freshman group, after the congressmen emerged from a two-hour breakfast meeting with Ford. They arrived for the breakfast by car pool to demonstrate energy conservation.

"Compromise was not mentioned, but it was obvious this was their desire," Hubbard said of members of the administration who attended. He said the breakfast session was devoted to economy-energy issues, with talks by Ford, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Secretary of the Interior

Rogers C.B. Morton, as well as a slide presentation of the administration's proposals.

MIDDLE EAST
Kissinger did not mention Vietnam or Cambodia, Hubbard said, but spoke entirely about the Middle East, generally in terms of energy problems.

Rep. Timothy Wirth of Colorado told reporters the President "said he would have a surprise later in the day."

White House sources indicated Ford would announce a postponement in his tariff increases perhaps at the same time he vetoes a bill the Democrats pushed through Congress to delay the entire tariff program.

It was thought that by offering to postpone part of the tariff program, Ford might gain enough votes in the Senate to sustain his veto.

These sources indicate the President would delay for 60 days the March and April increments of $1 a barrel each in his tariff hikes and his plan to remove price controls on domestic crude oil April 1. The March increment has been in effect for four days.

Efforts To Patch Texas Voter Registration Laws

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas House members traded verbal blows today over a bill minimizing financial penalties for driving more than 55 miles per hour.

Senators prepared to debate Sen. W.E. Snelson of Midland's voter registration bill.

Murder Trial Arguments Due

HOUSTON (AP) — Jurors hear final arguments today in the murder trial of David Owen Brooks, charged with helping a homosexual-torture-mass murder gang kill a 15-year-old Houston boy.

Defense lawyer Jim Skelton rested his case Monday afternoon without presenting a single witness or any evidence.

NO FACTS
Skelton contended that the state had failed to prove his client had directly participated in the death of William R. Lawrence, 15, one of 27 youths killed by the sex-torture gang.

"There are absolutely no facts one can point to that tell of this defendant's acts in the death of Bill Lawrence," Skelton said in arguing his motions.

The lawyer said Brooks admitted in statements being in the house where Lawrence was killed and later helping to bury the youth's body, but "the state has failed to prove who killed Billy Lawrence."

Lambright said the state proved Brooks' intent by presenting three statements Brooks gave after his Aug. 9, 1973 arrest.

In the statements, Brooks told of seeing nude boys tied to beds and of later helping to bury bodies. He also admitted that he had received money and gifts from Dean Corll, 33, leader of the gang, for permitting Corll homosexual liberties.

WENT WRONG
As evidence of Brooks part in the multiple killings, by implication, his participation in the Lawrence death, Lambright read again this sentence from Brooks' statement: "I was present when most of the killings happened ... and was supposed to help if something went wrong."

POOR PEOPLE
"Apparently they are doing it anyway, and it is just causing their insurance rates to go up and is hurting their driving records," Laney said.

Rep. Matt Garcia, D-San Antonio, said the bill probably violated the U.S. Constitution by "discriminating against poor people who can't pay a $25 fine."

WENT WRONG
Skelton said the state had proven that Brooks was an accessory to some of the murders, but that it had offered no direct proof of participation in the actual killings.

The mass murders came to light in August, 1973 after Corll was shot to death by Elmer Wayne Henley, 18 during a paint-sniffing-sex party. The death was later ruled justifiable homicide.

Henley, tried in San Antonio under a change of venue last year, was convicted of six murders and sentenced to a total 594 years in prison.

Brooks is charged with three other slayings besides that of Lawrence. He was arrested after appearing at the Houston police station to volunteer information about Corll and Henley.

The state subsequently took three statements which formed the key elements of the prosecution's case.

"No, sir," Laney replied. "I know that this is like talking against God, mother and country as far as the people out there are concerned, but don't you feel like this will make people think, 'To heck with it, I'll just drive 70 anyway?'" Salem pursued.

POOR PEOPLE
"Apparently they are doing it anyway, and it is just causing their insurance rates to go up and is hurting their driving records," Laney said.

Rep. Matt Garcia, D-San Antonio, said the bill probably violated the U.S. Constitution by "discriminating against poor people who can't pay a $25 fine."

"Well, maybe you can lend them the money, Mr. Garcia," Laney replied.

Snelson said his bill will correct the present situation "where maybe as many as 30 per cent of the names on our voting lists are no longer eligible to vote in the precinct where they are registered."

Under Snelson's bill as approved by committee each county tax assessor-collector would mail new certificates to all persons on the list of voters once every two years, in the fall just before the even-year primary and general elections.

The World At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a push for action this year, Congress appears unlikely to enact a national health insurance plan before 1976. "This Congress will be the national health insurance Congress," says Chairman Al Ullman of the House Ways and Means Committee. But he adds that it may be November before a bill can be placed before the full House because of pressing energy and tax legislation.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some members of the congressional fact-finding delegation to Indochina are prepared to recommend additional U.S. military aid to Cambodia. Members of the delegation of seven House members and one senator were expected to present their advice today to the House Appropriations subcommittee that is considering President Ford's request for $222 million more in military aid to Cambodia.

BERLIN (AP) — Kidnaped political leader Peter Lorenz was still missing today. But the plane that took five anarchist convicts out of the country in compliance with the demands of his kidnapers left them in Aden and started back to West Germany, the Interior Ministry announced. Lufthansa, the West German airline, said the jetliner would pick up a relief crew in Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital. Aboard the Lufthansa Boeing 707 was Lutheran Pastor Heinrich Albertz, a former mayor of West Berlin who accompanied the anarchists on their flight from Frankfurt Monday. The Movement of the 2nd of June, the anarchist organization that said it abducted Lorenz last Thursday, said it would not release him until Albertz returned with word that the anarchists had found refuge.

ALGIERS (AP) — The non-Communist world's major oil exporters open their first summit conference today with five of the 13 chiefs of state missing and their oil ministers declaring that a major threat to their unity doesn't exist.

VOLUNTARY PAY CUT

Plan To Keep Rock Island 'Rolling'

CHICAGO (AP) — Officials of the Rock Island Line are awaiting the reaction of 10,000 hourly workers to a plan to keep the railroad's rolling stock on the move, while facing another financial crisis Wednesday.

President John W. Ingram has asked hourly workers of the nation's 13th largest railroad to forego 10 per cent of their pay until the line is back on a sound financial footing, when withheld funds would be paid.

LOAN PROGRAM
Ingram said the leaders of 17 rail unions, in a meeting with company executives Monday, had agreed to push the plan, which Ingram described as a voluntary employee loan program.

But there was no indication as of Monday night how many of Rock Island's hourly workers would agree to the voluntary pay cut, which is mandatory for the railroad's 700 management employees, including Ingram.

Wages and salaries for employees of the railroad — the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co. — range from $8,000 a year to Ingram's $80,000. His salary will drop to $72,000.

In Washington, attorneys for the railroad told the Interstate Commerce Commission that a serious cash flow problem could cause the line to run out of money by Wednesday.

ROUTE OF THE ROCK ISLAND — Map outlines the Rock Island railway system. Rock Island officials who have agreed to take a 10 per cent pay cut suggested Monday that union rank-and-file workers on the troubled line voluntarily do the same. The railway system covers 7,500 miles.

Harrison Opposed To Legislation

Citing his belief that "you get more out of your staff if you are equal to them," Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital, said Monday he had firmly lined up with those in the Texas Legislature who are against pending legislation which would eliminate the physician-only requirement for his job.

Rep. Dave Allred of Wichita Falls has introduced a bill to change the qualification that the head of a state-operated hospital be a physician.

Harrison, who has served the local facility more than a score of years, said he believed the medical staff would have more respect and more understanding of a man who owned a medical degree than a layman.

"I've seen this happen too much," Harrison said here Monday. "I don't think that over the long haul that I would produce as well if I were serving under a lay administrator."

In addition, Harrison said he was called upon to make many medical decisions which a layman would not be qualified to make.

Dr. Harrison, for instance, is responsible for the final release of all patients at the hospital.

"I feel very strongly about medical supervision on all programs at the hospital," Harrison stated, pointing out that even the most minor duties of the administrators would, indirectly, bear on the health of the patients.

Backers of Allred's legislation have termed the physician-only requirement an "ill-founded and inappropriate restriction and a waste of manpower and talent."

Harrison and some members of his staff were featured in a television documentary which was screened by KMDI-TV Channel 2 Sunday night.

KNIGHT KISS — Sir Charles Chaplin, the 85-year-old clown prince of the movies, kisses his wife, Oona, outside Buckingham Palace in London today after being knighted by Queen Elizabeth II in private ceremony. The monarch tapped the London-born star on both shoulders as he sat in a wheelchair and made the traditional proclamation: Arise, Sir Charles Chaplin. But he remained seated.

Bobo Out Gypsies Mourn As Chief

Chief James Bobo resigned as chief of police in Lamesa effective March 31 when he submitted a letter of resignation to the city council Monday night.

The letter simply stated that he submitted his resignation effective on the date given. It was accepted by the council.

The man who would have been second in command in the department, Det. William R. Shankles, resigned two weeks ago effective March 31 to accept a position in Oklahoma.

About two months ago three policemen were fired when it was reported that they were either involved in taking sandwiches at night from the Middle School Cafeteria, or knew about the incident.

Bobo has been Lamesa police chief for nine years, having served in the department ten years in all. Prior to that, he was chief at Ruidoso, N.M., for seven years.

Bobo said he would rather not comment about why he resigned. He has no immediate plans for the future.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Beer sloshed on the granite tomb, coins were tossed inside and a five-piece band pumped out "God Bless America" and "Onward Christian Soldiers."

Clothes, a favorite Stetson hat and personal items were piled on the coffin and the tomb was sealed.

Thus, Steve Marks, king of America's estimated 250,000 Gypsies, was buried Monday. His successor will be chosen from among Gypsy state kings within a few weeks.

Marks, 64, died Wednesday in Wichita, Kan. His body was shipped to Portland for entombment in Rose City Cemetery, one of two large Gypsy burial places on the West Coast. The other is in Los Angeles.

BUY IT
Thousands of Gypsies had been expected for the three-day wake and funeral, but a dispute broke out among the Gypsy families when a complaint charging four Portland funeral homes with racial discrimination was filed with the Oregon Bureau of Labor.

Family members said the funeral homes refused to accept the body.

"We offered them money you wouldn't believe," said James Marks II of Spokane, Wash., a great-nephew of the late king and a senator in the Gypsy nation. "One of them told me the only way we would get a funeral home in this city was to buy it."

Explaining the controversy among Gypsy families, Marks said Gypsies aren't supposed to look beyond their own people to solve their problems. He said some families felt the complaint represented a break with tradition and they boycotted the funeral.

EATING DRINKING
A three day wake, with round-the-clock eating and drinking, would have taken place in the funeral home that took the body.

But it was moved to a private meeting hall where about 400 stood or sat by the open coffin eating and drinking until final services in Portland's tiny Orthodox Church.

In spite of the rift, most Gypsy funeral traditions were followed. Women poured water behind the hearse to cleanse the path, but otherwise they stayed in the background and never touched the casket.

Marks described the wake as a bribe to Gypsies already in heaven.

"We assume our king did something wrong, because he died," Marks explained.

"But at the wake, the Gypsies in heaven will look down and say, 'He must have been a good man, a rich man, look at the party he is giving us.' We eat and drink ourselves, but it really is for them."

"What we really are doing is bribing them. They will say, 'Come on in, let him in, he is a good man, a rich man.'"

Plane Down

DALLAS (AP) — An executive jet plane carrying LTV Aerospace President Saul Love and four other persons ran off a runway into Mountain Creek Lake today. Only injury of consequence, said company spokesmen, was a broken arm suffered by one of the two pilots.

The company said the pilots aborted a takeoff when speed was not great enough and the plane fell into the lake at the end of the runway. The runway is shared by LTV Aerospace and the Dallas Naval Air Station.

Grice Says He Wasn't Aware Of All Facts

Peace Justice Walter Grice today said he was not aware of facts surrounding the stabbing of Phillip Barber when he set a $1,000 bond for the defendant.

Barber, who lost a kidney following the stabbing, today had been moved from the intensive care unit at Medical Center Memorial Hospital. He was listed in good condition in a private room.

Don Stewart, 17, is charged with the Thursday afternoon school parking lot stabbing. Stewart has been released. Friday, Police Detective Avery Falkner arrested Stewart in the courthouse and brought him

Tractor Pullers Prep For Fort Worth Meet

Tractor pullers from this area "warmed up" in trial pulls Saturday at Lamesa and are preparing to zero in on the Southwestern pull at Fort Worth's convention center Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Among those at Lamesa with their tractors Saturday were Ronnie Culp, a Dawson county puller with his 856; Charlie Anderson, also Dawson County, with his 1130, and Stan Blagrove, Ackerly with his 1200.

Out-of-area pullers on the tune-up runs included Gary Lindley, Hydro, Okla, with his new modified rig; Junior Looney, Petersberg, with his twin-engine modified tractor; Chris Klepper, Troy, with a modified rig, and Pat Hale, Haskell (and formerly of Martin County, with 4230-4430 units.

Elbert Long, Lomax, didn't get to take part in the tune-up but he is scheduled to pull at Fort Worth.

Stan, who is only 16, is out to repeat his record of last year when he was named Texas puller of the year in his class. He took 22 first places in the 27 pulls in which he participated in during the 1974 season. His rig had been used in the fields until Friday when it was pulled out and made ready for the Lamesa warm-up.

Chuck Yeager Is In Retirement

Brig. Gen. Charles E. (Chuck) Yeager, director of Aerospace Safety for the Air Force Inspection and Safety Center, retired from the Air Force on February 28 following 34 years of service.

General Yeager has flown more than 10,000 hours in 155 different types of military aircraft. He was guest speaker for the graduation of the 78th Flying Training Wing's Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 75-05 at Webb AFB Jan. 30.

General Yeager's exploits have made him one of America's most honored fliers. He made world history Oct. 14, 1947, when he became the first man to fly faster than the speed of sound. During his nine-year assignment as the nation's leading test pilot, he also became the first man to fly more than twice the speed of sound on Dec. 12, 1953 in the Bell X-1A.

On Dec. 14, 1973, at the age of 60, he became the first military person on active duty — as well as the youngest person every — to be enshrined in the Aviation Hall of Fame at Dayton, Ohio.

Health 'Risk Factors' Should Be Reduced

This is National Nutrition Week, and the West Texas Dietetic Association urges consumers to buy food wisely, not only this week but throughout the year.

A simple rule to follow when shopping at your favorite store is to choose foods from the four food groups (meat or meat substitutes, milk and milk products, fruits and vegetables, cereals and breads) so as to have a variety of foods in each day's meals.

The registered dietitians at the VA Hospital, Mrs. Lisetta Brickman, chief of dietetics, and Mrs. Sibyl Spielman, nutrition therapy, education and research dietitian, advise that meals should be planned carefully so as to provide all the nutrients necessary for optimal health. Adopt a life style of eating that provides that proper number of calories and variety of nutrients. There are certain "risk factors" that should be modified whenever possible to increase chances of living longer. Certain risk factors can not be avoided such as heredity, age, race and sex.

The American Heart Association points out that there are certain risk factors which can be avoided: The three major ones are a high cholesterol level, which can be lowered through proper diet; cigarette smoking, which can be totally eliminated; and high blood pressure, which can be kept at a safe level through effective drug usage and diet therapy.

Another risk factor is obesity. This, too, can be avoided or modified.

"America is, generally speaking, a nation of overeaters. If we would spend less time at the dinner table and in viewing television, and more time at walking and engaging in other moderate daily exercise, we would have a chance to live longer, more healthful lives," said a spokesman.

To choose food wisely, select foods low in saturated fats and cholesterol such as fish (except shellfish), poultry and whole grain products, skim milk and its byproducts. Limit egg yolks to no more than three per week. Avoid excessive amounts of whole milk and milk products, beef and pork which are high in saturated fat and cholesterol.

Many Americans eat far too much sugar, which now cost 40 to 50 cents per pound, and would reap huge health dividends if the high prices induced them to cut back sharply on sugar consumption. Specifically, nutritionists and dietitians believe eliminating or reducing sugar in American diets would cut dental cavities as much as 80 per cent, pare poundage from

Mrs. Armstrong received gifts from the party guests, a group of women from her church, the Primitive Baptist. She was presented a corsage of white carnations, as was a guest, Mrs. M. B. Mullett, who was also celebrating a birthday.

The birthday cake served as the centerpiece on a table covered with a gold lace cloth and appointments were of crystal and silver.

Mrs. Ada Armstrong was honored on her 85th birthday with a party Friday in the home of a daughter, Mrs. Leo Parker. Cohostesses were another daughter, Mrs. Ann Fairchild, Forsan, and Mrs. Parker's daughter, Mrs. T. J. Howard, Garden City Rt. Mrs. Armstrong's other children are a daughter, Mrs. B. L. The honoree, who was born Feb. 28, 1890 in Hill County, later moved with her family to Mitchell County where her those overweight, reduce the number of diabetes victims and, possibly, reduce the number of heart attacks.

The need for good nutrition is always important, regardless of age and other factors. Many aches and pains of senior citizens can be attributed to poor nutrition and not necessary to the aging process. The body can not be expected to function properly without good nourishing food.

Some symptoms of poor nutrition are night blindness, poor digestion, poor appetite; dim vision, sensitivity to light, sores at corners of the mouth, poor memory, tooth decay, bleeding and sore gums, slow healing of wounds, nutritional anemia and scaly skin.

Local dietitians say, "Take a hard look at your life style and determine how you can improve your eating habits and quality of food eaten in order to have a more healthful, happy and satisfying life."

Dear Abby

Nosy People Need Curt Answers To Questions

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago, my husband was in an auto accident and suffered an injury to his spine that left him paralyzed from the waist down. He has made a remarkable recovery, but physically and psychologically, and gets around very well in a wheelchair.

We are thankful that he is alive and we have both accepted the fact that he will never walk again, but you would not believe some of the questions people ask me. I mean personal questions about my husband's "condition." (What he is — and isn't — capable of doing.) They want to know if our sex life is over. It isn't. But I resent their prying.

How do other people in this situation handle this problem? I feel like telling them it's none of their business, but I'm just not the type to say anything like that.

Is there some other way to politely tell them I would rather not answer such personal questions? STUCK FOR WORDS

DEAR STUCK: Answer their rude questions with another question: In a very pleasant tone, ask, "Why do you want to know?" And then change the subject. (This really works!)

DEAR ABBY: My problem is most unusual. My in-laws love me too much! They are constantly telling me how much they prefer me to Kate, my husband's first wife.

My husband rarely mentions Kate, but from what little he has said about her, I know that she was very difficult to get along with. I suspect she had some serious emotional problems that she couldn't deal with. I am not defending her, but I don't like the way my in-laws preface every story with: "I know you don't like to hear about Kate, but . . ." and then go ahead and talk about her until I want to scream.

I've spoken to my husband about this and he says it's just their way of telling me how much they appreciate having me in the family. Have you any ideas on how to solve this?

TOO MUCH LOVE
DEAR TOO MUCH: Yes. The next time someone says: "I know you don't like to hear about Kate . . .", jump in with: "You do? Then, please don't tell me about her, and by the way, do you think the rain will hurt the rhubarb?" (Repeat this every time they mention Kate, and soon your problem will be solved.)

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20c) envelope.

Despite Woes, 'U.S. Is Great'

Despite its recent political woes and current economic problems, the United States is the best country in the world according to a program given by Mrs. C. R. Moad at Friday's meeting of the Modern Woman's Forum.

"Why do we honor America?" asked Mrs. Moad, who answered the question by noting that it is a republic rather than a monarchy and then citing three of its greatest men.

"We honor George Washington, who led the revolution that gave us our freedom," said the speaker, "and we honor Thomas Jefferson as the architect for the Declaration of Independence and President Abraham Lincoln who gave the black man hope and helped preserve the unity of the country. These men represent thousands who worked, prayed, suffered and died to give us this nation.

"We not only want to honor America but, as citizens, to renew our dedication and allegiance to the principles that we believe in these institutions and we believe in America. In spite of her faults and failures, let's let the world know that the vast majority of us still proudly sing 'My Country, tis of Thee', and we will have the biggest celebration yet on her 200th birthday."

The program was introduced by Mrs. W. E. Singleton who quoted the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, "America is great because it is good, but if it ceases to be good, it will cease to be great."

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. C. A. Holcolm, 500 E. 16th, where a patriotic theme was used in decorations. The women agree to participate in local bicentennial activities.

The 575,000 kilowatt Unit #1 at the new lignite coal-fired Monticello generating station is now in operation. Right behind it and still under construction is Unit #2, which will have the same capacity.

Introducing Monticello: The newest in a whole new generation of power plants.

The first 575,000 kilowatt generating unit at the new Monticello power plant near Mount Pleasant, Texas, is now in service.

Monticello is the second lignite plant Texas Electric has built in cooperation with two other electric companies. The first, Big Brown, is near Fairfield and has been in operation for three years now.

These lignite plants are an important part of Texas Electric's system. We're building them because new supplies of natural gas and oil, our traditional fuels, are hard to get and extremely expensive.

In 1975, about 20% of our total generation will be fueled by lignite coal. By 1980, we'll add two other units at Monticello and four at a new site near Martin Lake. Lignite will then account for almost one-half of our total generation. Power plants that use lignite fuel are much more costly. But lignite itself is less expensive than other fuels. Its use will help us keep the price of electricity from increasing as much as it would if we tried to depend on expensive new supplies of natural gas and oil.

At Texas Electric we're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

New lignite plants like Monticello are helping do the job.

IRS Attaches Part Of Horton Estate

Ray K. Horton, prominent Midland businessman formerly of Big Spring, has had some of his Midland property seized by the federal government to secure payment of more than $127,000 in personal income taxes for 1972.

Horton, who formerly had oil interests here and at one time a director of Security State Bank, said Thursday that he was not alarmed at what he called "routine business" between himself and the IRS.

"If the facts are presented properly there won't be any information that creditors will be alarmed about," he added. "The IRS owed me more than I owed them at the time this started."

He explained that he had not paid the additional income tax in 1972 because he was awaiting a refund or carry-back from a prior year.

"They said I owed them approximately $230,000 in income tax. They owed me a refund of $130,000. I've paid them $84,000 in cash. Now they've refunded to me the $130,000 and this tax lien will be taken care of in the regular course of business."

Horton indicated that the steps he is taking to effect a settlement with the IRS will mean the government will not have to go through with its plans to sell the property it seizes.

Horton owns extensive property in Abilene as well as in Midland. Records in the Midland County tax office show seven pieces of property on the 1974 tax rolls including his homestead, his main office building at 305 N. Marienfeld, an 18-acre tract of land with an office-shop building on the Garden City highway, a small duplex renthouse, another renthouse, a 320 acre tract of undeveloped land and until Dec. 27, the Desert Inn Motel which was sold to Growth Canadian Inc.

At one time, he also had extensive interests in Andrews County and was once named Andrew's outstanding citizen.

Bribery Trial Cross-Exam Due

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)— Atty. Gen. Larry Derryberry was due back on the stand today for cross-examination in the federal court bribery trial of former Gov. David Hall and Dallas financier W. W. "Doc" Taylor.

Derryberry testified Monday that Secretary of State John Rogers told him Dec. 4 that Hall, then governor, had offered him a $25,000 bribe the previous day if he would use his influence as chairman of the board that administers state employees' retirement funds to swing investment of $10 million with a firm Taylor owns.

He said they went to the FBI Dec. 9 to report the alleged offer and get federal agents to help Rogers record his future conversations with Hall and Taylor.

Rogers, the chief witness against Hall and Taylor, testified four days of testimony Monday by denying he worked under cover for the FBI because he feared he might be prosecuted.

Rogers testified he and his father, State Examiner and Inspector John M. Rogers, and "about 40" of his father's employees were granted immunity from prosecution by U. S. Atty. William R. Burkett last November.

He said they had done nothing wrong and that had nothing to do with his decision to report an alleged Dec. 3 bribe offer from Hall.

Hall and Taylor are accused of attempting to bribe Rogers to use his influence as chairman of the board that administers the state employees' retirement funds to swing investment of $10 million with Guaranteed Investors Corp., owned by Taylor owns.

Hall also is accused of attempting to extort $50,000 from Taylor.

Rogers denied defense claims that he solicited a bribe from Taylor. He said Hall agreed to split a $50,000 payoff from Taylor with him if Taylor's firm got the state funds and he said that was the first mention of a bribe.

Under cross-examination by D. C. Thomas, Hall's chief counsel, and James P. Linn, Taylor's lawyer, Rogers said he had not asked for Burkett's pledge not to prosecute him or his father.

Rogers said he decided to turn on Hall, a fellow

Each of the four children of E. E. (Gene) Reinkemeyer, 44, a former Big Spring resident who was killed in the crash of a single-engine aircraft last year, has been awarded $35,312.50 in an uncontested law suit in 142nd District Court in Midland.

The judgment was against Ruthco Inc., an Odessa oil company, owner of the Cessna 182 which crashed and burned after striking a power-line on take-off near Imperial May 29, 1974.

Lee Frederick Hanson, the company pilot, also died in the crash.

Pilot negligence was alleged in the petition filed by Reinkemeyer's brother, Leo.

The $101,000 was awarded to Mrs. Susie Burchett, Sally Reinkemeyer, Alice Reinkemeyer and Stephen Reinkemeyer. The last two are minors.

An additional $5,000 was awarded to Leo Reinkemeyer, executor in the estate.

Signs Will Be Placed At Historical Sites

Ghost towns, the grave of an outlaw and early oil well sites are among the historical scenes to be designated with county-made signs to be placed around Signal Mountain Loop (Farm Road 821).

County Commissioners Court Monday afternoon instructed County Engineer Neel Barnaby to have the signs prepared.

One will explain that the name Forsan comes from four oil-bearing sands although actually there are more than four oil sands.

The abandoned towns of Ross City and Chalk will be marked. Another sign will be placed at Coahoma Cemetery where a member of the Dalton and Cole Younger Gangs is buried.

Early oil wells to be remembered are the Owen-Sloan No. 1, Magnolia No. 1 and Fred Hyer No. 1. The home of the first Howard County settler, the late W. I. (Bud) Roberts, will be designated. Another marker will note Cosden Oil & Chemical Co. was once the largest inland refinery in the world.

The place some prehistoric animal bones were discovered will be pointed out.

Lead-directing doubles are useful weapons in every experienced bridge player's arsenal. However, they do out the auction in three no alert declarer to the situation, and on occasion allow him to switch to a new course. That was the case on this hand from the match between Italy and France in the 1975 World Team Championship for the Bermuda Bowl, which event returned to Bermuda in January to commemorate the first modern world championship played on the island 25 years ago.

Benito Garozzo and Giorgio Belladonna were North and South, respectively.

tively, for Italy. They play a weak no trump of 13-15 points, and Belladonna's hand was perfect for that bid in both strength and shape. Garozzo's two diamonds was a transfer bid, announcing a heart suit, and his partner dutifully accepted the transfer. North's rebid showed a balanced hand and invited South to go on to game if he was maximum. Since he held prime controls and three-card support for North's announced five-card suit, South elected to push on to game, and the Italians seemed ahead for a four heart contract.

When Garozzo cue-bid the ace of spades, France's Michel Lebel elected to double. He was correct in his assessment that a spade lead would defeat four hearts. The defenders would score a spade trick and a spade ruff in addition to their two red aces. Unfortunately for the defenders, Belladonna also read the situation accurately, and he chose to close the auction in three no trump rather than four hearts.

Had East been silent over three spades, West would certainly have led a diamond at the full hand shows that lead would defeat the no trump game. However, respecting his partner's second stopper in the suit after winning the ace. This gave him time to drive out the ace of hearts, so assuring his contract.
