Congress Due To OK Tax Cut In Few Days

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is virtually certain to approve a tax cut of at least $21 billion within two or three weeks, but the final version could differ sharply from the bill passed by the House.

Several senators are pointing to the high unemployment rate and urging a tax cut in the range of $26 billion to $35 billion, compared with the $21.3 billion approved by the House. The Senate Finance Committee resumes hearings on the tax cut today.

completed on the tax cut by the start of the scheduled Easter recess on March 21. If action hasn't been completed by then, there should be no recess, Humphrey said.

Some conservatives are using the Ford administration's argument that the House tax cut plan aims comparatively too much tax relief for families making under $10,000 a year. They say any tax cut designed to fight recession must provide more relief to families in the $10,000-to-$40,000 range — the families that would spend their rebate checks on cars and appliances to stimulate the economy.

The House-passed bill provides a $200 maximum on 1974 tax rebates, which gradually diminish in higher tax brackets. In addition, the bill would reduce 1975 taxes through lower withholding rates.

Ford's proposed rebate would be a flat 12 per cent with a ceiling of $1,000, which would be reached by taxpayers in the $40,000-plus bracket of adjusted gross income.

money where it would do the most good, Long argues.

The Louisiana Democrat suggests that instead of spending $0.1 billion for rebates, the government should provide a tax credit of 5 or 10 per cent to families that buy homes or new cars.

Such a move would provide dramatic aid to two of the nation's most depressed industries, and the effect could be a quick shot-in-the-arm for the entire economy, Long says.

Ford has proposed a $16-billion tax cut and has not stated whether he would accept a bigger one. Presidential Assistant Donald H. Rumsfeld, appearing Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press," also declined to speculate on whether Ford would approve a larger tax cut. Ford would have to weigh the size of the cut against any actions taken by Congress toward controlling federal spending, Rumsfeld said.

How quickly the bill is passed and the effects felt by American businesses and families likely will depend on how persistent congressional liberals will be in their effort to take away a tax break enjoyed by the oil companies.

When the House passed the tax cut, it attached an amendment repealing the oil depletion allowance retroactive to Jan. 1.

CIA Plotted With Mafia Hoods To Murder Castro?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford wants a Senate committee rather than the Rockefeller Commission to investigate allegations of CIA involvement in plots to assassinate foreign leaders, his chief spokesman said today.

KENNEDY LINK

Press Secretary Ron Nessen acknowledged that such an inquiry would be outside the mandate of the Ford-empowered commission headed by Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, which is investigating allegations of domestic spying by the CIA.

Nessen's comments to newsmen came in the face of published reports that two former aides to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy say Kennedy told them he blocked a CIA plan to use the Mafia to assassinate Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Meanwhile, in the Senate, Foreign Relations Committee members recommended confirmation of Nathaniel Davis to be assistant secretary of state for African affairs and Harry W. Shlaudeman to be ambassador to Venezuela, despite opposition based on their involvement in covert CIA activities in Chile.

Referring to the Senate committee headed by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, Nessen said "It certainly would be appropriate for the Church investigation" to look into alleged CIA involvement in foreign assassination plots.

REFUSES

Later, responding to another question, Nessen said Ford "anticipates the Church investigation will get into some of these areas."

Nessen refused to discuss a report in the New York Times about the alleged plot against Castro.

Nessen also refused to discuss other allegations of CIA links to assassination plots. "I'm not going to say anything about that," he responded repeatedly.

When asked Ford's position on assassination plots, Nessen first responded "I'm just not going to talk about it." Later, though, he cited a statement by White House aide Donald Rumsfeld in a Sunday interview that Ford's intention "is that it not happen during his presidency."

Committee approval of Davis and Shlaudeman for diplomatic appointments came despite opposition from the Council of Foreign Ministers of the Organization of African Unity and from Congress' black caucus.

Davis was ambassador to Chile in 1971 to 1973 and Shlaudeman deputy chief of mission from 1969 to 1973 during events leading up to the overthrow of President Salvador Allende.

President Ford acknowledged last September that the CIA had granted assistance to opposition groups and news media in Chile to preserve political opposition to the Marxist Allende regime.

The two former Kennedy aides, Adam Walinsky and Peter Edelman, told the Times about the Castro plot in an off-the-record interview in 1973, the newspaper said in today's editions. Last week the two gave the Times permission to attribute the story to them, the newspaper said.

In another report Sunday, Time magazine said the CIA plotted with Mafia hoods to kill Castro, the late Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic, and the late Francois Duvalier of Haiti.

Previous reports have linked the CIA to plots against Castro and Trujillo. Trujillo ruled his Caribbean island nation for 31 years until he was slain in 1961.

Time said reliable sources reported the CIA enlisted the Mafia in vain attempts to poison, shoot or blow up Castro with explosives before and after the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion. The gangsters cooperated because Castro had seized their lucrative gambling casinos in Havana, Time said.

Former Costa Rican president Jose Figueres, in a taped interview televised Sunday in Mexico City, said he had aided the CIA in the plot to overthrow Trujillo.

The World At-A-Glance

CHICAGO (AP) — Two Chicago scientists say there is little convincing evidence that daily doses of Vitamin C have any effect on the frequency or severity of the common cold. But Dr. Linus Pauling, a Nobel laureate in chemistry and leading advocate of high doses of Vitamin C for treating colds, says the pair has not looked at all the evidence. The Chicago scientists, Dr. Michael H.M. Dykes and Dr. Paul Meier, reviewed studies of Vitamin C in the March 10 issue of the American Medical Association's journal and reported that until Vitamin C is proved to have real value in cold prevention "we cannot advocate its unrestricted use for such purposes." However, Pauling said the pair failed to interpret some data properly and failed to consider some studies that presented Vitamin C favorably.

SALTSHAKER DEATHS

CHICAGO (AP) — A woman cleaning out her late mother's apartment inadvertently passed along to neighbors the apparent cause of her mother's death: a saltshaker full of poison.

Three persons — including the mother — died from sodium nitrite poisoning, Chicago health officials say. Initially all were thought to have suffered heart attacks because the symptoms are similar.

It was not until seven other persons became ill that sodium nitrite poisoning was suspected, hospital authorities said Sunday.

Two men in their 70s remain in critical condition. The chemical, which blocks oxygen from the blood, can kill within 30 minutes when consumed in sufficient quantities. Health officials said the saltshaker came from the apartment of Mae Edwards, 48, who died Feb. 7 from what was first diagnosed as a heart attack.

After her death her daughter, Bobbie Denson, 29, was cleaning out the four-room apartment with two friends when they discovered a mysterious white substance in a glass jar.

"I tasted it and couldn't figure out what it was. It tasted like salt but looked like sugar," Mrs. Denson said Sunday. "I was more interested in the glass because I thought it would be good for cocktails. So I threw the other stuff out."

The jar apparently contained sodium nitrite. So did a plastic yellow-and-white saltshaker one of Mrs. Denson's friends, Gregory Smith, took to the rooming house of Jeanette Hoy across the street.

On March 2, Mrs. Hoy, 40, fixed chicken and potatoes for herself. She died a short time later, said Smith, a frequent visitor to the rooming house.

Last Wednesday, three elderly men who lived in the rooming house suffered from symptoms of sodium nitrite poisoning after eating oatmeal, Smith said.

One, Joseph Klein, 70, was dead on arrival at St. Bernard's Hospital. The others — Frank Budnick, 79, and George Yokavich, 72 — are under intensive care.

The saltshaker still was not suspect. Hospital officials said all the victims had difficulty breathing, weakness, poor circulation and low blood pressure — symptoms of heart attack as well as sodium nitrite poisoning.

Finally, last Friday, Smith fixed a breakfast of bacon and eggs, sprinkled with the substance from the saltshaker.

A short time later, five more persons including Smith were taken to the hospital with similar ailments. It was then that poisoning was suspected.

"It doesn't seem right. It just doesn't seem real," Smith said from his hospital bed. "You don't worry about what comes from a saltshaker."

DRIFTED SHUT — Blowing snow just barely obeyed the stern warning of this stop sign at what is usually the intersection of Sugar River and Valley Roads southwest of Verona, Wis.

WINGS TO TURKEY Kissinger Believes Agreement Possible

JERUSALEM (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said today that after his first round of talks with President Anwar Sadat of Egypt, President Hafez Assad of Syria and Israeli leaders, he still believes a new Israeli-Egyptian agreement is possible.

'HOT ISSUE'

Kissinger then took a break from the Arab-Israeli crisis and flew off to Turkey for talks on another political flashpoint: Cyprus. In Nicosia, Cyprus President Archbishop Makarios declared he wants "the full involvement" of the United Nations in efforts to settle the Cyprus crisis.

In Jerusalem, Kissinger told newsmen after a two-hour session Sunday night and four hours today with Premier Yitzhak Rabin and his negotiating team, "I came here because I believed an agreement was possible. I have no reason to change my view."

Asked whether he still rated chances of an agreement at 50-50, his assessment after his exploratory talks last month, he replied: "I don't want to be in a position in which every day I have to give an assessment and percentage figure, because we will be in a hopeless trap after a while."

"We are at the beginning of a process of negotiation which is complicated and which will take some time. We are engaged here in elements that might bring a possible agreement."

"We're doing so with great care. We've done so in a very friendly, comradely and very positive atmosphere."

Kissinger said he had not committed himself to any target date for an agreement or abandoning his effort, adding: "It is an agreement of some importance if it is achieved, and it has to be done with great care."

American and Israeli officials said a marathon shuttle appeared in prospect for the secretary of state.

Kissinger's already difficult mediation was being hampered by the Syrian demand that any agreement between Israel and Egypt include the promise of Israeli withdrawals on the Golan Heights and along the Jordan River. An official of the Israeli foreign ministry said his government simply was not interested in linking the negotiations for a withdrawal on the Egyptian front with the Syrian demands.

U.S. officials seemed more concerned with the chilly reception given Kissinger during his stopover in Syria Sunday than with Sadat's sober assessment that "we shall be having a very tough round."

'Snitch' Beaten

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas County jail inmate who testified against a fellow inmate in a Little Rock, Ark., trial was hospitalized Sunday for a beating he received from fellow inmates.

Prisoner Gene Hackett said he was called a "snitch" and at least 12 inmates started beating, pounding and kicking him when he was returned to the jail here. An investigation is underway.

Hackett, 50, testified that fellow inmate Paul Edward Johnson had told him he smothered former LTV executive Dan Burney. Johnson is on trial for car theft related to Burney's disappearance.

Several months after his disappearance, Burney's body was found. But authorities could not determine the cause of death, which is necessary for a homicide ruling.

More Taxpayers Filing Early

DALLAS (AP) — North Texans are speeding up their income tax returns this year in hopes of getting some money back faster.

Emilio Biondi, Dallas district Internal Revenue Service information officer, said $30,585 of the expected 1,900,000 for North Texas have been filed at weekend, an eight per cent increase so far.

Director Of 'Giant' Dies

LANCASTER, Calif. (AP) — George Stevens, 70, director of "A Place in the Sun," "Shane," "Giant" and other films, died Saturday, apparently of a heart attack. He made movies over a 30-year period in varying styles from the slapstick comedy of Laurel and Hardy to epics such as "Shane."

WINDY

Prediction of increasing winds again Tuesday. A little warmer on Tuesday and continued clear to partly cloudy. High today in the mid 60s, low tonight in the upper 30s and high on Tuesday, near 70.

Bill Making It Crime To Sell Or Buy Babies

AUSTIN (AP) — Senators passed 29-0 and sent to the House today a bill making it a crime to sell or purchase babies.

Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, the sponsor, said the new Penal Code passed in 1973 omitted such sales in its list of crimes.

He told of a case in Wichita Falls in which a woman offered her baby for sale for $5,000.

Also passing the Senate, 28-1, was a bill that would include Texas in the Interstate Mining Compact with 15 other states. Sen. Roy Harrington, D-Port Arthur, said the commission exchanges information and ideas on strip mining.

Senators quit abruptly for the weekend Thursday in the midst of a protest by Sen. Walter Mengden against a proposed rule to allow House-Senate committees considering constitutional changes to do more than merely adjust the differences in the two houses' separate versions.

"I favor a people's convention to rewrite the constitution and by defeating this amendment to the joint rules we could bring about a people's convention," said Mengden, R-Houston.

The House needed to vote for the second and final time on a bill to let voters say at the November 1976 election whether they favor Daylight Savings Time.

The vote presumably would influence the 1977 legislature.

In another report Sunday, Time magazine said the CIA plotted with Mafia hoods to kill Castro, the late Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic, and the late Francois Duvalier of Haiti.

Previous reports have linked the CIA to plots against Castro and Trujillo. Trujillo ruled his Caribbean island nation for 31 years until he was slain in 1961.

Time said reliable sources reported the CIA enlisted the Mafia in vain attempts to poison, shoot or blow up Castro with explosives before and after the abortive Bay of Pigs invasion. The gangsters cooperated because Castro had seized their lucrative gambling casinos in Havana, Time said.

Former Costa Rican president Jose Figueres, in a taped interview televised Sunday in Mexico City, said he had aided the CIA in the plot to overthrow Trujillo.

WOODROW BEAN URGES SPEEDY RELEASE OF TEA INTERNAL AUDIT

$8 Million Scandal May Exist

DALLAS (AP) — State Board of Education member Woodrow Bean said today an $8 million scandal may exist in the Texas Education Agency.

CLOSED DOORS

Bean called for immediate public disclosure of an internal audit of the agency's operations regarding a federal government guaranteed student loan program.

"I heard about it (scandal) at the state school board meeting Saturday but I didn't have enough to go on," Bean said from his El Paso home. "I got it from an excellent source. An excellent source. This ultimately will be the responsibility of the board. I want this audit turned over to the attorney general and then made public at once. This business of operating behind closed doors has got to come to a stop."

Bean said "There may be more than $8 million involved. We don't want another Sharpstown stock fraud scandal on our hands, particularly if we can avoid it by acting now."

Bean said he made his request for disclosure of the audit to Marlin Brockette, state commissioner of education; and State School Board Chairman Joe K. Butler of Houston.

HOLDING UP

The TEA said last week it was holding up the report until Atty. Gen. John Hill decides if the report is subject to disclosure under the Texas Open Records Act.

The Dallas Morning News said the audit reportedly deals with the guaranteed student loan program in private schools in Texas which, at least in theory, are regulated by the state.

Bean said some proprietary schools in Texas already are under investigation by the FBI and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

Although he said he knows nothing about the investigation, Bean said that as a member of the State Board of Education, he is demanding that the audit report be published publicly.

Bean is a lawyer and former El Paso County judge.

The TEA report, which was sent to Brockette on Feb. 18, reportedly details a laxity in TEA's enforcement of the state's Proprietary School Act, particularly in South Texas, The News said.

On the federal level, the investigation centers on the extent to which HEW officials in the Dallas regional office were lax in enforcement of federal regulations in connection with tuition refunds at the private, mostly business-oriented schools.

A number of federal employees in the Dallas regional office of the Guaranteed Student Loan Program have been fired since the HEW probe began more than a month ago.

Big Spring Walkathon Date Set

March of Dimes' annual Walkathon has been set for April 26, according to Cap Rock Chapter chairman Vaughn Martin.

Walkathon participants will solicit pledges from friends who donate a given amount of money for each mile the walker completes. Walkers last year followed a 20-mile route around Big Spring.

"Walkathon forms will be distributed soon, so that walkers can begin collecting pledges. We're hoping for a big turn-out to boost the March of Dimes fight against birth defects. We'd like to see 500 walkers this year," said Martin.

Prizes last year included a 10-speed bike, a transistor radio and a cassette tape recorder awarded in such categories as most donations collected, fastest walker, oldest walker and youngest walker.

Martin announced that Big Spring's March of Dimes Mothers' March collected $2,500, with receipts still coming in. That is more than $1,000 above what was collected last year.

Snyder, also part of the Cap Rock Chapter, raised $3,000 in its first Mothers' March in several years.

Martin also reported that the recent KHEM March of Dimes marathon, masterminded by the station's program director Art Moreno, raised more than $200.

During last week's board meeting, Carol Martin was named new executive secretary of the Cap Rock chapter. Her husband Freddie Martin is pastor at Berea Baptist Church. They came to Big Spring 9 months ago from Quitaque, Tex.

With children five, seven, and nine years old, Mrs. Martin is an enthusiastic worker in the campaign to decrease the numbers of children affected by birth defects. The March of Dimes board expects her to be quite active in birth defects public education work in the chapter area.

money can't buy," says Wayne Smith, U.S. Customs director in this Rio Grande community in deep South Texas.

NO BAGS
 Smith pointed to the most recent 15 seizures at the four-lane international bridge which links Hidalgo with Reynosa, Mexico, a city of 175,000.

He said one seizure resulted from new equipment, one from the alert sniffing of a trained dog and the other 13 from intuition of inspectors.

Consider this case: A station wagon rolls to a stop at the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service checkpoint at the bridge. There are four persons in the vehicle when Inspector Joe Garza steps forward to ask a few routine questions.

"I noticed they had Houston-area license plates. When I asked them where they had been, they said Monterey," Garza recalled. But there was no luggage in the vehicle, he noted. The points are 500 miles apart.

FOUND IT
 Garza ordered the driver to take the station wagon to a secondary checkpoint where U.S. Customs Inspector Robert Trujillo waited. Trujillo found a special steel cover at the rear welded over the luggage compartment. A check beneath the rear seat revealed a small door attached with screws.

The driver said he had no idea how the compartment got there. He said the car disappeared for a time the night before and he said he found it on the street in a Mexican city two hours later.

The other three persons said they knew nothing about the compartment and said they had no idea what it contained. "I bought this car from a dude in California and I think I saw him over there (in Mexico) last night with a duplicate set of keys," the officer quoted the driver.

Federal agents cut open the compartment. They found about 350 bottles of codeine cough syrup sold in the United States by prescription only. It can be purchased without prescription at any Mexican drug store.

One federal agent said the cough syrup, which contains two grains of codeine per bottle, sells for about $10 on the illegal U.S. market.

All four in the vehicle were charged with smuggling a controlled substance.

U.S. Customs Port Director Wayne Smith said the cough syrup seizure is an example of how intuition of inspectors pays off.

"It's something we can't buy," Smith said of intuition.

"An inspector has got to have a lot of talent when he starts to work. He's also got to be curious, have a lot of stamina and not give up easily," Smith said.

"It's got to be a game with him. He knows they're going to beat him at times, but he's got to enjoy catching them," he continued.

SMUGGLERS
 Customs inspectors recall odd incidents involved in seizures.

Most vehicles seized because of narcotics smuggling are sold at auction, sometimes unknowingly to aspiring smugglers.

An officer told of a recent purchase of an automobile at Hidalgo from Customs. The car contained secret compartments. "They got the man and the same vehicle the next week at Laredo hauling grass again," he said with a laugh, adding, "All they did was paint it."

In another instance, the car appeared to be an ordinary 1965 sedan. But to the sensitive intuition of the federal agent something was very, very wrong.

He instructed the seemingly calm driver to pull over beside the customs shack at Hidalgo. Then the agent began a careful search, guided largely only by instinct and experience.

Within minutes, he discovered two carefully fitted pieces of metal covering part of the tire well in the car's trunk. When the metal was peeled away, the agent found 122 pounds of marijuana.

FANTASTIC

Charles Conroy, a U.S. customs officer at the regional headquarters in Houston, also says the "fantastic intuition" of the border guards remains the most valuable weapon against smuggling.

"Constant inspections develop this intuitive sense," Conroy said. "It's something that they find difficult to explain, but some of the agents are fantastic."

To Aid Aged, Handicapped

AUSTIN — Capital assistance grants for equipment to improve the mobility of the handicapped and elderly can be made to private, non-profit organizations, the Texas Highway Department has announced. Dolph Briscoe designated the Highway Department to administer the program with the aid of the Governor's Committee on Aging. Phillip L. Wilson, engineer-director of the Department's Planning Research Division, said Texas' tentative federal allocation is $932,000, to be matched with 20 per cent of the project costs provided by applicant organizations. Funds made available in the grants may be used to purchase capital equipment such as vans, buses, special lifts, radio dispatching equipment and other items needed to improve the mobility of elderly and handicapped persons. Regional councils of government will be responsible for A-95 review of the applications.

The Highway Department has scheduled a pre-application conference March 12 at 1:30 p.m. in the Odessa council chambers.

Governors Or Legislators In 19 States Ask Tax Hikes

While congress is talking about a tax cut to stimulate the economy, governors or legislators in 19 states already have proposed tax increases to help balance budgets for the coming fiscal year.

Some sort of change in the tax structure — either an increase or decrease — is a possibility in 30 of the 50 states.

Increases only are proposed in 16 states. Increases and decreases are proposed in three states. Decreases only are proposed in eight states.

more a year if Milliken's plan is approved. Milliken, faced with an anticipated deficit of $180 million for fiscal 1975, also has taken a 10 per cent cut in his $47,500 annual salary, has withdrawn his recommendations for pay hikes for top state officials and has ordered a 2 per cent spending cutback for state departments.

The 16 states in addition to Connecticut, Michigan and Vermont where tax increases have been proposed are: Alaska, Delaware, Georgia, Hawaii, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Tennessee, Utah, Washington and West Virginia.

Court Asked To Fund Child Welfare Unit

State Department of Public Welfare (DPW) representative this morning presented a proposal that County Commissioners Court authorize county contributions toward local child abuse and foster care work.

county could not appropriate less to the program in a year than the previous year. But Sweatt said any surplus from a previous year could be applied to the next year. The contract could be terminated by the state or county.

LCRA Suit Arguments

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — A pretrial hearing on the suit brought against Coastal States Gas Producing Co. was scheduled to resume here today.

The trial is set for March 24 in the $11 million suit brought by the Lower Colorado River Authority.

A motion for postponement by Coastal States was denied by Judge W. C. Davis Friday. The natural gas producing company contended it could not go to trial without testimony from its vice president, Clinton Fawcett, who suffered a heart attack Jan. 13.

LCRA's suit says that a Coastal States subsidiary, Lo-Vaca Gathering Co., broke its contract when it increased the rates for natural gas used to fuel LCRA's electric generating plants.

COOKIE WAR

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — There is a price war on Girl Scout cookies between Mecklenburg County Girl Scouts in the Charlotte area and those across the Catawba River in Gaston County.

The cookies, which are bought at the same price from the same supplier, are being sold for $1.25 a box by the Mecklenburg girls and $1 by the Gaston County girls.

Some Gaston County parents who work in Charlotte are taking orders from their coworkers for cookies at the lower price. This has led the parents of some Mecklenburg Girl Scouts to complain.

There have been no reports of Gaston girls going into Mecklenburg and selling cookies.

Algeria Clips Price Of Oil

KUWAIT (AP) — Algeria has made another slight break in the oil cartel's price front by lowering the price of its low-sulfur clean-burning crude oil by 21 cents a barrel, oil sources in Dubai report.

Countries should start a system of rationing production because of the excess of crude oil in the world. He said the excess is two million barrels a day.

Airlift 78 From Icebreaker

Seventy-eight men have been airlifted from the largest U.S. icebreaker trapped in 25-foot-thick arctic ice. The Coast Guard says the ship, the Glacier, may be freed in the next two to three days.

More than 130 persons remained aboard the ship, which is in no immediate danger and which has adequate food supplies aboard, the Coast Guard said.

The Glacier, based in Long Beach, Calif., is icebound in the Weddell Sea just off the tip of the antarctic peninsula. A crack in the ice was spotted about two miles from the ship, and a Coast Guard spokesman said, "If she can get to the crack and the weather holds, they're hoping to work her way into open water within a couple of days."

On Sunday, 78 scientists and crewmen were airlifted from the Glacier and flown to Buenos Aires, Argentina. Another 43 men were scheduled to be transferred to another U.S. icebreaker, the Burton Island. But officials said if the Glacier continues to make good progress toward freedom, those men would remain with 91 others who have volunteered to stay aboard the 309-foot, 8,449-ton Glacier.

"We don't want to commit her (the Burton Island) to the ice unless we definitely have to," a Coast Guard spokesman said. "She's much smaller than the Glacier, so you figure if the Glacier gets stuck, for sure the Burton Island will."

One of the Glacier's two propellers was broken while it was en route to help the Argentine icebreaker Gen. San Martin, which had developed engine trouble. A storm pushed ice around the Glacier and the Gen. San Martin, which was also reported making its way clear late Sunday.

The London observers said that even if substantial price-cutting developed, the oil companies might not pass on the savings to their American customers because many of them are selling refined products at prices lower than the maximum allowed by U.S. government regulations.

ALLEGATIONS OF POLITICAL-CORPORATE IMPROPRIETIES

'Tarnished Image' Worrying Bell Executives

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Bell Telephone controversy, lingering almost five months after the filing of a $29 million libel suit, is in the halls of the Texas legislature, the meeting rooms of a Missouri public utility commission and the hands of civil lawyers mulling over depositions.

Portions of the controversy are also pending before trial court and appeals judges and continuing—in the most part, secretly—within law enforcement agencies.

Southwestern Bell, the largest phone company in the American Telephone & Telegraph system, operates in Texas, Missouri and four other states. The controversy centers around Southwestern Bell but allegations of political-corporate improprieties have involved Southern Bell. AT&T officials also have been mentioned.

Financial impact on Southwestern Bell during the controversy is impossible to compute at this time, Bell says. But Bell spokesmen, who concede there could be financial repercussions later from the controversy, say a tarnished public image is what worries them now.

WE'VE SUFFERED tremendously — our image — because of these allegations that the news media have published without any proof, just on the word of the plaintiffs alone," Marco Gilliam, a Bell spokesman in San Antonio, said.

Beyond the allegations, there has been testimony in depositions in the $29 million lawsuit but Bell lawyers are fighting to exclude much of the testimony from the public record for the time being.

There has been secret testimony, confirmed to The Associated Press, about a

NO CONFLICT So far, an Austin, Tex., city councilman and a Missouri Public Service Commission member have resigned—the latter to avoid the appearance of conflict of interest after he joined an expense-paid hunting trip by Southwestern Bell. Several other present or former public officials have confirmed private business relationships with Bell, but say there was no conflict of interest.

Southwestern Bell, the largest phone company in the American Telephone & Telegraph system, operates in Texas, Missouri and four other states. The controversy centers around Southwestern Bell but allegations of political-corporate improprieties have involved Southern Bell. AT&T officials also have been mentioned.

While the lawsuit is pending before a trial judge here, a state appeals court in Austin will hold a hearing April 2 on the Texas attorney general's efforts to force Bell to justify proposed intrastate long distance rate hikes.

Unlike any other state, Texas has no statewide phone regulation and the attorney general's move on long distance rates is unprecedented. There are a half dozen bills for utility regulation pending before the current session of the Texas Legislature.

Exchange Commission (SEC), two federal grand juries, a Texas Senate subcommittee, and the Missouri Public Service Commission are among those launching studies.

Reporters were rebuffed in the Ashley-Gravitt suit last week when State Dist. Court Judge Peter Michael Curry said that lawyers on both sides of the case must approve unsealing of the depositions.

NORTH VIETNAMESE BATTLING DEFENDERS HOUSE TO HOUSE

Trap Nine Americans In Highlands Capital

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Tank-led North Vietnamese forces blasted into the central highlands capital of Ban Me Thuot today, battling defenders house to house and trapping nine Americans in the city, field reports said.

Phnom Penh airport, damaging two domestic commercial airliners and killing five persons and wounding 22, authorities said. It was the heaviest shelling of the airport in a week, but the U.S.-financed emergency airlift continued and none of its aircraft was hit, initial reports said. The campaign to oust President Lon Nol also picked up steam.

said the Americans trapped in Ban Me Thuot, including an embassy official and eight missionaries, were unharmed. "We are in touch with them," one source said. "They are in good spirits. They have food and water and they are all right. We are keeping in constant touch with them and watching the situation very carefully."

Americans on Monday but decided not to because of the heavy fighting and anti-aircraft guns reportedly ringing the city. They said they would reassess the situation on Tuesday. The U.S. official was identified as Paul Struharik of the Agency for International Development who has been in charge of the refugee and resettlement program in Ban Me Thuot. He was believed to be from Ohio, but there was no firm address available. The eight missionaries run the Summer Linguistics Institute for the Christian Missionary Alliance in the city. They were engaged in translating parts of the Bible in the language of the Montagnard tribesmen who make up about half of Ban Me Thuot's 160,000 population.

night fell, military officials also reported that North Vietnamese forces overran the district town of Duc Lap, along the Cambodian border 30 miles southwest of Ban Me Thuot, after blasting the town and three outposts around it with 10,000 artillery rounds. It was the 13th South Vietnamese district town to fall to the North Vietnamese since the cease-fire was signed more than two years ago, and the second to be overrun in the central highlands in the last three days. In Cambodia, the campaign to oust President Lon Nol gathered headway and the U.S. supply airlift continued despite the heaviest shelling of the Phnom Penh airport to date. Airline sources said a Cambodian airliner was set afire and two airport workers were killed, but no American planes were hit.

Ban Me Thuot, 155 miles northeast of Saigon, is the chief center for the mountain tribesmen known as Montagnards, many of whom fought for the U.S. Special Forces during America's war in Vietnam. All roads into the city were cut. One report said the North Vietnamese had taken one of the city's two airstrips and were attacking the main airfield, threatening the government's only route for supplies and reinforcements.

There still were reports, however, of 17 fatalities, including 11 in traffic accidents, five homicides and one in a four-story fall.

These were among the victims: Charles Workman, 84, of Stamford died near there Sunday when his car and one carrying four other Stamford men collided just south of town.

A head-on collision on Interstate 10 east of Houston killed Morrell Lee Taylor, 80, of Slaton. Another person was hurt.
