

He Sexually Abused Seven?

FORT WORTH (AP) — Police have arrested a 39-year-old man they said fit the description of a gunman who sexually abused seven employees of a nursing home. The man was jailed Tuesday night for unlawfully carrying a pistol. Security guards reported he acted suspiciously near another nursing home in the area where seven nurses—six women and a man—were terrorized before dawn Tuesday. Police said the gunman forced the nurses to commit sex acts with each other and with the gunman.

Transit Study

DALLAS (AP) — The Regional Transportation Steering Committee has voted to study what additional transit will be needed here should there be another oil embargo. The steering committee's study of transportation needs for the Dallas-Fort Worth area assumes gasoline will increase in price, but continue to be available. The committee voted unanimously Tuesday to ask the North Central Texas Council of Governments' staff to study transit needs in case of an energy emergency.

AUSTIN (AP) — The effects of the "reform" laws of the last legislature are being threatened by proposed legislation, says a spokesman for Common Cause. John Hannah, chief counsel for the self-styled people's lobby, said Friday two bills would "impair the integrity of the legislature."

Hannah said at a news conference that measures by Rep. Dewitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi, would return the legislature to the "business as usual" days that existed before the "reform" acts of the 1973 legislature. Hale's bills would allow legislators to accept up to $100 without reporting it and also would permit lobbyists to talk to legislators when not in session without registering with the secretary of state's office.

"For an example of how much money a legislator could receive, under Hale's bill all 68 lobbyists registered against utility commission legislation could give $100 to each legislator," Hannah said. "Each legislator could receive $6,800 without having to report it." At a House committee meeting earlier this week, Hale defended his gifts bill by saying it was impossible for a legislator to accept even a lunch without possibly violating the law. Hannah said Friday the so-called "trivia" gift section of the current law might better be defined without attaching a dollar amount to it.

"The only thing elected officials should receive is campaign contributions and that money should be spent on campaigns," Hannah said.

The last session of the legislature was marked by new laws restricting activities of lobbyists and requiring disclosure of the finances of elected officials.

THE WEEK

(Continued from Page 1) Another mutilated cow was turned up last week west of Fairview. Whether this is some sadistic creature or kooky spiritualist doesn't matter — the fact is that someone is cruelly destroying livestock that belongs to someone else. You can help more than you know if you will report any suspicious movements to the sheriff's office.

We have a doubly tragic slaying on our hands — because of the shooting death of Cathy King Caldwell, 22, and because two children are left behind. Authorities charged her husband, Ron Jason Caldwell in the case.

Given good weather, most everyone expected a good turnout for the opening HCA's new Malone-Hogan Hospital last Sunday. The weather was almost perfect, and so was the response with an estimated 8,000 thronging the new plant. No telling how many hundreds of others took one look at the crush of traffic and decided not to brave it.

The Texas Water Development Board granted the Colorado River Municipal Water District a permit for its weather modification project, which is as much a scientific study as it is a rain-mudging attempt. A High Plains group unsuccessfully protested a permit around Plainview. Perhaps serious study rather than mere protest would be a better way to find out.

This being Social Workers' Month, those in Big Spring held an open house at the Social Service office of Big Spring State Hospital last week. The event drew more than 200. We're probably the center of such work in West Texas, having more than three score such professional workers.

Noah Leyva and Ben Dieanda were named by the GI Forum regional meeting here last week to serve on its constitution and by-laws committee. Eddie DeLeon was named regional chaplain.

The American Legion post at its 57th annual meeting (remember the Legion was born in World War I) last week honored Police Chief Vance Chisum as Citizen of the Year for outstanding law enforcement.

That Area II Future Homemakers meeting here last weekend drew several hundred delegates. Our Cynthia Standard was the retiring president.

Lowell Jones will retire a week hence as manager of the Texas Coca-Cola plant here, being succeeded by Weldon (Woody) Wood. Put the two men's experience in the bottling industry together and you come close to that three score and 10. Retirement won't be a drag on Jones, who says he has "more hobbies than I can afford."

Oscar Whatlington, Midland, found out what Darius Green found out about his wonderful flying machine. Whatlington took off from Scenic Mountain in a pair of wings glider, soared momentarily and crashed landed near the National Guard armory. Alas, had he tried to take off in Monday's wind, he might have made it to Dallas.

From the notebook: When John C. Neff, HCA president, came here last Sunday for dedication of the new hospital, he was well prepared — he proudly wore the Western hat given him here several months ago. A wildcat oil well was staked in southern Mitchell County last week with a target depth of 150 feet (actually about 130) in the freakish Sunflower field.

Navy Will Not Split Newlyweds

MEMPHIS (AP) — Jim and Dianna Farmer have been assured by Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., that the Navy will change their orders so the newlyweds will be stationed at a base together.

"The personnel department at Memphis Naval Air Station said I had not applied for a change of orders, but we had done all the paperwork," said Mrs. Farmer, 19, a bride of one month who was ordered to leave her husband and report to the base at Kingsville, Tex., for a three-year assignment in the WAVES, the Women Accepted for Voluntary Emergency Service.

Mrs. Farmer said the change in orders will not be official until a month or six weeks. She said she will leave Memphis Tuesday for Kingsville to await her new orders. She has been ordered to report to the Texas base by March 26.

"If it hadn't been for Howard Baker, I don't think we would have gotten it cleared up," she said. "He really went out of his way to find out what was going on. He's wonderful."

Farmer, a parachute rigger in the Naval Air Reserve, had appealed to Baker after the personnel department at Memphis Naval Air Station in Millington refused to assign the couple to a base together. They were married Feb. 14 after she had just completed basic training as a specialist in the operation, maintenance and care of training devices.

A recommendation to promote her two grades as the top graduate in her training class has been withdrawn.

The two said they were married after receiving assurances they would be able to stay together.

"We need to get a duty station where there is a U.S. Navy billet for my wife and a U.S. Naval Reserve billet for me," Farmer said. "The Naval Air Reserve has been trying to work it out with us, but the U.S. Navy is not trying. They could have given her a choice of 25 other billets that I could apply to instead of sending her to Kingsville."

The Farmers had planned to make a Navy career, but they say they are disillusioned now.

"The only way we would stay in is for the Navy to admit they have made a gross error in this case and promise to do something to alleviate any problems like this that come up for other couples," Farmer said.

Hunting Abductor Of Girl

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas authorities were searching Saturday for a man who allegedly abducted a teen-aged Illinois girl at gunpoint near Arkadelphia and later returned her to Jacksonville, Tex.

Sgt. Jack Usury of the State Police said Christine Tina Taylor, about 15, of Kankakee, Ill., was in Arkadelphia Saturday and was being questioned by authorities. Her parents were en route from Illinois to take her home.

Usury said the man would be charged with kidnaping if he was apprehended.

Usury said the girl was not sexually assaulted during the incident.

He said he was working with Texas Department of Public Safety officials on the case and had been offered assistance by the FBI.

Sheriff Billy R. Hasley of Clark County, Ark., said Miss Taylor and Andre Solis, about 25, of Jacksonville, Tex., were hitchhiking from Jacksonville to Illinois Thursday night when they were picked up near Texarkana by a man in a pickup truck, who offered them a ride to Little Rock.

The man turned off Interstate 30 and drove the two to an open field near Okolona (Clark County), where he took a gun from the rear of the truck and told Miss Taylor to tie up Solis, the sheriff said.

"He then drove off with the girl, evidently at gunpoint," Hasley said.

No Way To Wipe Egg Off Face

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — The commanding officer of Ft. Hood says the 60,000 acres of land the Army wants to add to the large military installation are needed to maintain a "quality Army."

Lt. Gen. Robert M. Shoemaker Jr. met with a group of civic leaders from towns in the Ft. Hood area to explain to them the reasons the Army plans to purchase the additional land.

He said the announcement of the purchase plans were leaked to the public before it came up in Congress as part of the military construction bill.

"We were caught in the position of having egg over our face and no way to wipe it off," Shoemaker said.

He added that with the arrival of the military construction bill in Congress, the Army is now ready to respond to the reaction to the land purchase and explain its purpose.

He said the original suggestion for the enlargement of the Ft. Hood area came from the General Services Administration which monitors all military expenditures.

The whole purpose he said was the acquisition of a "quality army."

Three Strikes For County Dads

In the last of three agendas posted for the Monday meeting of County Commissioners Court, County Judge Bill Tune listed a conference with Max Green over the 1974 audit.

Last week, members of commissioners court considered whether minor items presented too late to be included on the agenda legally could or should be discussed in a meeting. The alternatives are to wait until the following week or apparently post supplemental agendas.

An agenda for the weekly Monday meeting usually is prepared and posted Thursday afternoon. It was 4:15 p.m. Friday when the last commissioners court agenda was stuck to the courthouse bulletin board.

Among the items due consideration Monday are these:

An emergency medical services system, a request for permission to let Pioneer Natural Gas Co. install a line in the Tubb addition, changing Tubb road, placing TOUR LOCAL STORE — Herbert R. Gibson, founder of the Gibson's Discount Stores, tours the local Gibson's Store. Touring with him are his wife, his sister, Betty Rogers, Big Spring and Al Stephens, local store manager.

Gibson: Economy Helps Discount Business

Herbert R. Gibson, founder of the nation's second largest discount store chain, said that the nation's economy has caused people to become more conservative with their money, boosting sales of discount stores by some 10 to 20 percent nationwide.

Robber Shoots Schools Attorney

HOUSTON (AP) — Harry Patterson, Houston schools attorney, remained in critical condition today from a gunshot wound he suffered when he walked into a cafe while a robbery was in progress.

Police in Stafford, in Fort Bend County, said two men were robbing the cafe Wednesday night and herding customers toward the back of the establishment when Patterson entered. Patterson's entrance apparently startled the robbers, police said, and one shot him in the abdomen.

Patterson underwent extensive abdominal surgery at a Houston hospital.

He made the comment as he visited the Big Spring Gibson's store with local members of his family. He and his wife, along with his sister, Betty Rogers, Big Spring, and a nephew, Al Stephens, store manager, toured the local facility. Gibson said, "When things get tough, people start shopping around, looking for ways to stretch their dollars. That's why they are turning more and more to discount stores." He said his chain of 530 stores enjoyed about a 15 to 20 percent increase in sales last year over the year before.

He started the first Gibson's store in Abilene in 1958 and in 1961, added the Big Spring store to his growing number of outlets. The local store will soon be celebrating its 15th anniversary. Gibson also denied the Federal Trade Commission allegations that the Gibson's Dallas-based stores have received illegal brokerage payments and have boycotted suppliers who refused to give the chain special price allowances. "That's just a bunch of lies and we intend to fight it until the cows come home," he said.

Elect Martin APME President

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Bill Martin of the San Angelo Standard-Times was elected president Saturday of the Texas Associated Press Managing Editors.

The election of Martin and other officers came during the closing session of the editors' 1975 annual meeting. Other officers elected were Ken Smart of the Dallas Times Herald, first vice president; Everett Taylor, Tyler Courier-Times-Telegraph, second vice president; John Anderson of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, secretary.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — There's nothing to give a bill a flying start like having a House majority, and then some, as cosponsors. Or so one might think.

When it comes to reforming Texas' confusing, inefficient, archaic system for placing taxable values on real estate, there is no such thing as legislative speed. Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Bloomington, chairman of the House Revenue and Tax Committee, says that's as it should be, discounting a view that property tax reform should precede school finance reform on the legislative agenda.

HOLY WRIT "When you get into questions of property tax administration in Texas, you've got problems, even if it is Holy Writ," Wyatt says. Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, says the biggest problem is Wyatt himself.

Peveto, chairman of the subcommittee on property taxation, and 84 other representatives are sponsoring a bill that would concentrate all property tax assessment in county tax assessor-collectors' offices. There would be statewide standards for appraisal, and the state comptroller would oversee the whole system to assure fair evaluations. Cities, school districts and other taxing units would remain in control of their tax rates and collections.

All plans for school finance reform would use market value of real estate as the sole measurement of a district's wealth and, hence, its need for state aid.

REAL TROUBLE "I will not vote for a school finance bill unless this problem is attacked. If we continue this course we will not get a school finance bill and it could cause a special session," Peveto declared in an interview.

He said Wyatt had "very bluntly" told him he had cancelled next Wednesday's tentative scheduling of the bill for its required committee hearing. Wyatt said he now was setting down the bill "tentatively" for an April 2 hearing.

MIND CHANGE "Joe's been talking to somebody," Peveto said. "I know somebody changed his mind." Peveto said that if Wyatt doesn't come around, he would have some stronger things to say at a news conference.

Wyatt said Peveto was expecting too much speed, since the bill was formally introduced and referred to his committee only Monday.

WHINING "He's been going around whining and crying because I won't set his bill next week. I don't set anybody's bill that quick. He wants preferential treatment. He held the bill for two months before he introduced it. If it's that important, why the hell didn't he introduce it sooner?" Wyatt said.

He said it was not necessary to revise the property tax laws before taking up school finance because most school finance bills include a property tax equalization provision.

"I wish we could divide out the questions of education and taxes," Wyatt said. Wyatt said he delayed a hearing on Peveto's bill because he believed there was a need to disseminate the bill among interested parties throughout the state. But Peveto said more than 200 copies had been sent out and virtually every group with an interest in property taxation had seen the bill.

Once the bill is heard, it likely will receive a committee vote quickly, since six out of the seven subcommittee members who will review it and mark it up are co-sponsors.

Wyatt said he favored Peveto's concept of having all taxable property assessed by a single county-level office.

"But if we are concerned with schools, we should address ourselves to schools and not get in a major battle with the tax assessors for hospital districts and water districts across the state. To say we have got to write a bill covering every tax jurisdiction in the state before we can pass a school finance bill is not a fair statement," he said.

Toastmasters Plan Contest

The public is invited to come and hear the members compete with five minute free style speeches, according to Tom Crumley, president.

SMALL GRAINS GROWING Cantaloupes Are Being Planted In Pecos Area

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Much of the corn, sorghum and cotton acreage has been planted in South Texas, and planting is widespread throughout Central, South Central and Southeast Texas, says Dr. John Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Early plantings are generally up to good stands although cool soil, high winds and lack of moisture are affecting some young crops, especially in southern counties, he said.

The state's wheat crop is making good progress although rain is needed in parts of the Panhandle, Hutchison said. Most cattle have now been moved off wheat fields where a grain crop is expected.

WHEAT PROGRESS Local auction markets had heavy runs of both cows and calves last week because of the movement of cattle off wheat pastures and lack of range on pastures and forages, he said. Vegetables are making good growth in the Rio Grande Valley, San Antonio-Winter Garden area and in the Coastal Bend and cucumbers and watermelons are beginning to vine.

Hutchison said. Cantaloupe planting has started in the Pecos area and onions and potatoes are being planted in the High Plains.

District agricultural agents gave these reports: Panhandle: Wheat is making good progress but irrigation is active over much of the area. Sugarbeets, onions and potatoes are being planted. Most cattle have been removed from wheat fields.

SOUTH PLAINS South Plains: Preplant irrigation is under way in some locations. Subsoil moisture is good throughout the area. Some onions and potatoes are being planted. The wheat crop is making good progress.

Rolling plains: Small grains are making excellent growth. Some farmers are applying a topdressing of nitrogen fertilizer. Greenbugs continue to be a problem in some wheat fields: Armyworms also have been reported.

OPEN ALL DAY MONDAY THRU SATURDAY

A Statement to Water Users and Taxpayers Within Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 from the Board of Aldermen of the City of Coahoma:

In November of last year, a disagreement between the Board of Aldermen of the City of Coahoma and the Board of Directors of Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 concerning the terms of an agreement between the parties resulted in a lawsuit. We will of course abide by the ultimate decision of the courts in that lawsuit. A petition has also been filed with the Texas Water Rights Commission to determine whether or not the charges currently made by the Water District for water are reasonable, and we will also abide by the decision which will result from those proceedings. After the trial of the suit in the District Court, it was necessary for us to raise our rates to our customers substantially. This increase was in effect from November 15, 1974, to March 15, 1975. At our Board meeting on March 3rd, we felt that we had collected most of the necessary additional revenues, and we therefore voted at that meeting to reduce our rates effective with the March billings.

The day following the meeting at which we reduced our water rates to our customers, we received the letter which appears on this page of this newspaper from the Board of Directors of the Water District.

Unless new lines are built and new meters installed, the Water District cannot provide water service to all customers residing within the District, as proposed in its most recent letter to us, without pumping water owned by the City of Coahoma through lines and meters owned by the City of Coahoma. The City does not desire to sell its water distribution system, and we have so advised the Water District Board. The letter from the Water District implies that whether or not we agree to sell, the District will take control of the system and begin providing water to persons and firms who are now customers of the City. We feel that such action would clearly be an unlawful appropriation of property owned by the City and an interference with the contract rights of the City with its customers. At the present time, to the best of our knowledge, the Water District owns no equipment and employs no personnel to operate and maintain a water distribution system. At a time when most citizens are interested in consolidating government services to keep government expenses to a minimum, the proposed action of the Water District would result in two sets of expensive equipment and two groups of employees to operate two separate water distribution systems serving the same general area. And of course the City of Coahoma cannot stand idle and permit a takeover of its water distribution system. It will therefore be necessary for us to file a suit to enjoin the action proposed by the Water District, and of course if a trial of this case is necessary, the water users and taxpayers in the District will ultimately again have to pay the cost to both sides of the proceedings, which in the last suit exceeded $10,000.00. We have previously urged and now again urge the Water District Board of Directors to reconsider its proposed action. The appeal of the previous lawsuit and the proceedings currently pending before the Texas Water Rights Commission should settle all disputed matters between the two parties, without the cost of an additional suit brought on by an attempted takeover of the water distribution system.

Honorable Mayor and Board of Aldermen
City Hall
City of Coahoma
Coahoma, Texas 79511

Gentlemen:
The Directors of Howard County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 at its last regular meeting, approved a resolution authorizing the District to offer water service to all customers residing within the District and under certain terms and conditions to those customers residing outside the Water District. This action was prompted by the many requests of individuals who are now receiving water service from the City of Coahoma but apparently are dissatisfied with the service or cost of service. Research by the District reveals that it is a common practice throughout the State for water control and improvement districts to supply water to the individual customer, and therefore the guidelines for supplying the same have been well established.

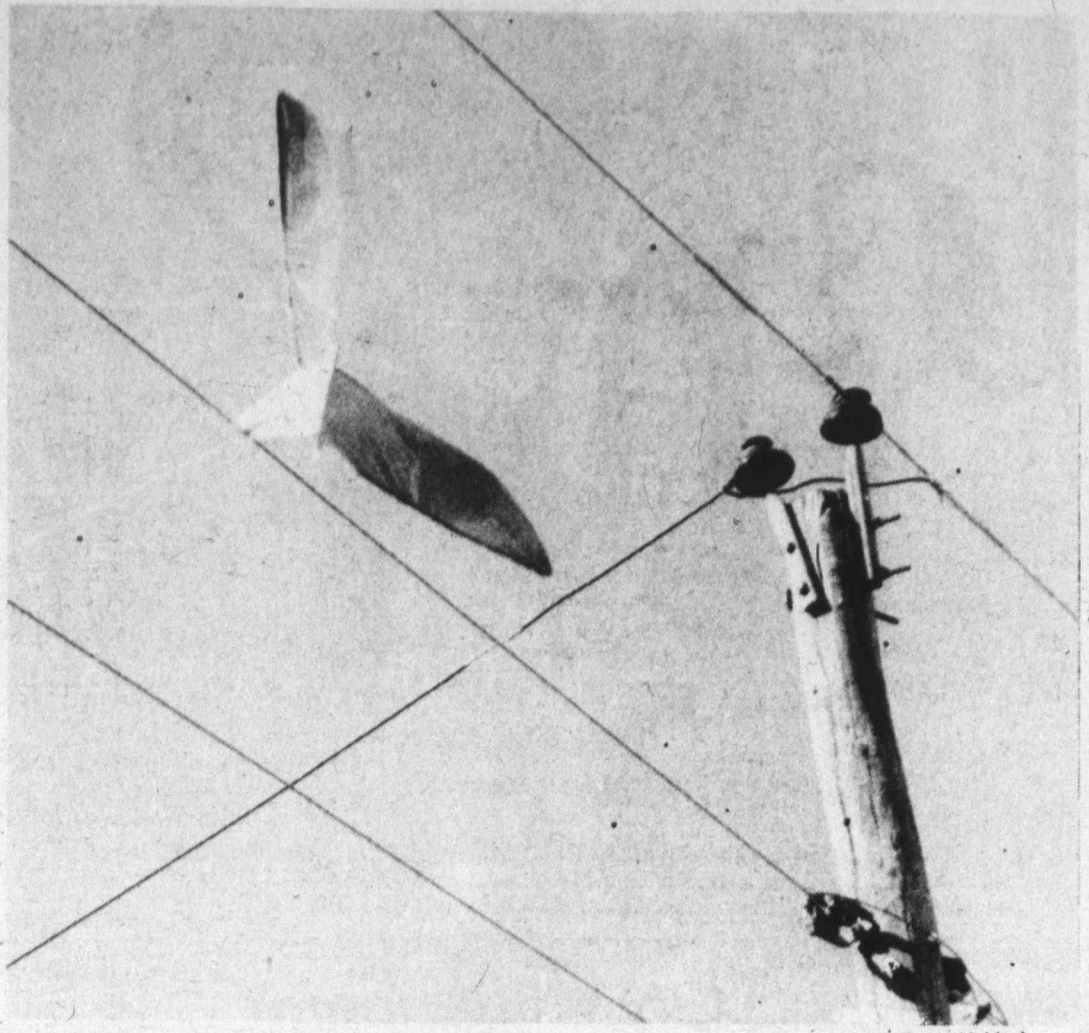

The Directors further authorized me, as President, to notify the City of Coahoma of its decision and advise the City that the District would be willing to discuss purchasing from the City that portion of the distribution system lawfully owned by the City, if any, which would no longer be needed by the City to supply water customers.

As stated, the Directors of the Water District would be willing to meet with the Board of Aldermen for the purpose of discussing this matter.

In the event we have not received any response to this letter prior to our regular meeting on Thursday, March 20, 1975, the District will assume that the City is not interested in discussing this proposal and therefore will proceed accordingly with its plans to commence water service immediately.

Sincerely,
HOWARD COUNTY WATER CONTROL
AND IMPROVEMENT DISTRICT NO. 1

FORMER POW SPEAKS OUT Vietnam Apathy 'Sickens Me'

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Rear Adm. Jeremiah A. Denton Jr., who led the return of American prisoners of war from North Vietnam two years ago, said Saturday that renewed warfare in Southeast Asia and the American people's apathy toward it "sickens me."

Denton, who set the tone for the return of the POWs with his "God Bless America" speech as he stepped off the first plane from Hanoi on Feb. 12, 1973, also predicted serious morale problems in the military and a loss of American credibility overseas if the United States does not take urgent action.

"I trust and respect the right of Congress to reflect the opinions of the American people," Denton said. "With respect to Southeast Asia, I think that opinion is wrong." Denton spent 7½ years in a North Vietnamese prisoner of war camp and was awarded the Navy Cross for resisting extreme torture.

He now is commandant of the Armed Forces Staff College here.

"The present requests and policies of the President and secretaries of defense and state require urgent action," Denton said, adding that the current North Vietnamese advance into South Vietnam and resulting apathy on the part of the American people "sickens me and it's causing me a great deal of loss of sleep." While expressing concern over the potential loss of freedom by Southeast Asians, Denton voiced worries over a loss of American credibility around the world and of plunging morale in the military.

"The problem is, I've had (men) come into my office weeping like babies and saying, 'My God, admiral, I did three tours over there, I lost 27 friends, three of them my best buddies. I was wounded four times. We would have kept Khe Sahn. I would have gladly given my life to hold it at any cost, and now those guys have it up there.' And he started to cry like a baby. I was already fairly shaken up by it."

American reluctance to save South Vietnam could cause "a problem of military morale," he said.

"It could affect the best military men we have and could have a terribly traumatic effect."

But he said the key question in a case where the United States sits idly by would be the effect on U.S. commitments around the world.

MOAR FOUNDED Men Shocked When Told Of Rape

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — When a woman is raped, the worst shock may fall on a third person: the victim's husband, boyfriend or brother, according to a newly formed male group that hopes to soften that impact.

Men Organized Against Rape (MOAR) was founded here recently on the theory that men's traditional attitudes about rape add tragedy to an already tragic situation.

Bill Metzger, who founded MOAR, says the male stereotype about rape is that the woman must have, in some way, been responsible for what happened to her, that she wanted to be raped.

The result, he believes, is that the aftermath of rape creates a male alienation that could have a permanently destructive effect.

MOAR, with only a $300 starting budget, has trained 28 volunteers to handle a crisis telephone center on the University of Pennsylvania campus primarily to listen, to support, to counsel. Metzger says some of the men who call are still in the initial shock of learning that a loved one has been raped.

A freelance photographer in suburban Southampton, Metzger got his group going after visiting an already established female counterpart — Women Organized Against Rape.

"I was shocked because I had no idea that rape was so widespread, that its victims received inadequate treatment and that I knew so little about the character of the rape victims and rapists."

Metzger says there is a unifying factor behind men joining MOAR.

"All seem to be very surprised and horrified with injustices and inadequacies of the medical and legal systems involved," he said. Not all of them are directly associated with rape victims.

"Some are therapists and doctors who are horrified at the insensitiveness of the treatment the rape victims receive. Others may join because of a direct experience of a girlfriend, wife, or sister."

INTERNS, RESIDENTS

To Demand Shorter Work Hours, Higher Salaries

Interns and residents in a growing number of hospitals are organizing to demand shorter working hours and higher salaries. Some doctors say there could be more strikes like the ones now under way in British Columbia and just ended in New York City.

"We think there is nothing unprofessional about organizing to stand up for the rights of our colleagues and our patients," said Dr. Robert Harmon, president of the Physicians National Housestaff Association which claims more than 100 affiliates at hospitals in 27 states. "Housestaffs are organized and do intend to negotiate and work aggressively for better hours and working conditions."

Harmon said three hospitals in New York, Los Angeles and Ann Arbor, Mich., have interns and residents groups recognized as collective bargaining units by the National Labor Relations Board. He said organizing moves have begun at hospitals in several other cities.

The housestaff of the Cook County Hospital in Chicago has scheduled a meeting Monday to discuss the possibility of a strike or other job action to win recognition as a bargaining unit.

Interns in Los Angeles County, who formed a collective bargaining unit known as the Joint Council in 1973, begin negotiations on a new contract next week. The current contract provides a work week ranging from 80 to 110 hours and a $13,000 annual salary.

Working conditions are the major issue for most of the interns and residents who claim they often are on duty for more than 24 hours at a stretch and warn that patients may suffer if doctors are overworked.

Because of the long hours, hospital doctors sometimes have the opportunity to sleep during their duty hours.

The American Medical Association said over 300 of the 700 teaching hospitals in the country have house staff groups. An AMA spokesman said he did not know what per cent of the doctors these groups represent or how many act as bargaining agents for their members.

The 3,000-member Committee of Interns and Residents in New York City struck 22 private and city-operated hospitals on Monday in the first official doctors' strike in the nation's history.

Interns at Freeman Hospital in Washington, D.C., walked off the job briefly last year, but the strike wasn't sanctioned by the housestaff association since the interns' group is not recognized by the NLRB.

The doctors had demanded that they be required to work no more than 80 hours a week and no more than 15 hours at a time.

Easter Address Held By Fellowship Group

"Love and Life" was the topic of the Easter season address by Mrs. Roy Blizard (Gloria) Blizard at a luncheon meeting Friday sponsored by the Christ's Fellowship Center and attended by 65 persons.

Wife of Dr. Roy Blizard, Biblical archaeologist and Hebrew scholar, Mrs. Blizard opened by singing a Hebrew blessing. They have been guests on both the "700 Club" and "It's a New Day" programs on the Christian Broadcasting Network.

Using old testament scriptures to point out God's plan of Love and Life, she selected a scripture from the Creation, another from the story of Noah and the flood, and Moses and the giving of the law to exemplify the plan of love with life.

She then discussed Jesus as the embodiment of the law and the redemption of Himself which made it possible "for us to have the hope of eternal life."

She used texts from the new testament, including John 3:16 and also the scriptures concerning Jesus saying, "If you love me, keep my commandments." She concluded by pointing out that "when Jesus ascended into Heaven, he sent, in love, His holy spirit."

Next meeting for the group will be April 25, at the La Posada, with Peggy Habern, wife of a movie and television producer who is responsible for such religious films as "Santee" starring Glen Ford, "Christmas in Bethlehem" starring Pat Boone and "Jesus Country." The public is invited to attend and may make reservations by calling the fellowship center.

RELIGIOUS EMPHASIS — Dr. Roy Blizard, Biblical archaeologist and Hebrew scholar; his wife, Gloria and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Williams of Christ's Fellowship Center are shown Friday at a luncheon and lecture held at LaPosada.

Traffic Fatalities

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — A Department of Public Safety spokesman has cited more speeding motorists and increased availability of gasoline as two reasons why Texas traffic deaths are 26 per cent ahead of 1974. To date 560 persons have died on Texas streets and highway compared with 443 for the same period last year, the DPS said. The spokesman said there have been 489 fatal accidents this year compared with 395 in the same period last year—a 24 per cent increase. According to the spokesman, the number of deaths so far this year has increased on every type of highway and road except the interstate highway system, where the deaths decreased.

What Is NOW?

When the Texas state convention of National Organization for Women ended last weekend in Austin, a Big Spring woman, Ms. Sue Drake, had been named to the state council from District IV.

As members-at-large, Mrs. Drake and Ms. Mary Thomas, also of Big Spring, participated in a variety of workshops during the three-day event at Sheraton-Crest Inn.

Of particular interest to local delegates was the session on Consciousness-Raising, since such a group is in the process of being organized here.

"Consciousness raising is a means of increasing people's awareness of the ways in which sex roles influence their lives," said Ms. Drake. "It can be for either women or men." The process grew out of early rap groups in the Women's Movement, and was formally recognized as a form of therapy by the American Psychological Association in 1972. Nevertheless, "it is not group therapy, it is not counseling, it is not only for women with special problems, but for all members of the group to learn that they have a large common problem which is rooted outside themselves, in culture and society. This problem is sexism, prejudice against women."

Usually a C-R group is formed by women who are "already a little aware of sexism". Ms. Drake and Ms. Thomas would like for persons who are interested in participating in such "awareness sessions" to contact them at 267-5509. After 5 p.m., Ms. Drake may be reached at 263-4119.

The Texas NOW organization (which has about 2,000 members) climaxed its convention by reelecting Martha Dickey as state coordinator and Sue Rickett as treasurer.

Workshops covered a variety of subjects, ranging from rape to women in sports. The sessions focused on sex discrimination suits, child care, criminal justice, financial opportunities for women, grants and fund raising, reproduction and its control, education, minority women and women's rights, and sexuality and Lesbianism.

According to its brochure, NOW was formed to fight injustice, assist women victims of injustice, recognize women's accomplishments and help further their progress.

Among its goals are:
Ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment. The ERA was passed by both houses of Congress but adoption requires ratification by 3/4 of the states.

Equal Employment Opportunities. Vigorous enforcement of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the Office of Federal Contract Compliance and other governmental agencies of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act prohibiting sex discrimination in employment, and extension of its coverage to all levels and fields of endeavor.

Revision of State 'Protective' Laws for Women. Repeal of laws which restrict women's participation in the labor market and extension of needed protections and benefits for male workers.

Educational Opportunities. Secured by federal and state legislation eliminating sex discrimination at all levels of education, and providing loans, scholarship, fellowship, grants and training programs under government auspices on an equal basis with males, including on-the-job training program. Also:

Reorientation of the Educational System.
Developmental Child Care
Paid Maternity Leave
Revision of Income Tax and Social Security Laws
Right to Control Our Own Reproductive Lives

A Chance For Women In Poverty
Revisions of Marriage, Divorce and Family Laws

Full Participation in Political Activities
Public Accommodation
Image of Women in the Mass Media

Ecumenism: Women and Religion
Corporate Responsibility
Masculine Mystique
Volunteerism

In the area of Social Justice, NOW says, "Recognizing women's problems are linked to broader questions of social justice and convinced that human rights are indivisible, NOW actively supports efforts to eradicate racism; provide freedom from want; achieve a universal end to war; protect the right to define and express individual sexuality and choose one's own lifestyle; and promote the common cause of equal rights for all who suffer discrimination, deprivation and exclusion. We welcome coalition with other organizations committed to such goals and elicit their cooperative efforts to fight sexism and attain equality for women."

Miss Cindy Lu Sheppard

Miss Cindy Lu Sheppard, who will vie for the title of Miss Diamondback, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Mac Sheppard, 1411 E. 18th. She is a senior at Big Spring High School, president of the Drama Club and member of OEA Club and Communications Committee. A 'biker' and amateur artist, she also plays the piano, guitar and autoharp. She's looking forward to attending the University of Texas.

Bad News: No Cure For Wrinkles

Hardly a likely source to debunk antiwrinkle creams — he formulated a product that some dermatologists have said must have those properties — Dr. Frank P. Panzarella insists "there is no such thing as an antiwrinkle cream and it is about time women realized it."

Panzarella achieved a Ph.D. in biochemistry and has taught biochemistry at Forham University. He is speaking out because "so much malarkey has been disseminated about skin creams.

"The skin is divided into three parts," he explained. "The lowest is subcutaneous fatty tissue, the next part is dermis and the next is epidermis.

"It is the dermis, often referred to as the true skin, that has the collagen, that is responsible for young people having firm and elastic skin. With age, and some people say with ultraviolet of the sun, deterioration of collagen takes place and the skin becomes less firm."

It is the dermis that would need to respond to outer treatment, but it isn't possible. Even though there is a lot of emphasis on creams containing collagen in Europe and the United States "it cannot get through the skin to the dermis."

The surface of the skin, the stratum corneum, is a tough barrier that keeps materials from entering the body and it prevents essential materials from leaving the body, he contends. About one-thousandth of an inch, it consists of 15 or 20 layers of dead cells that were formed at the junction of the dermis and epidermis. Nearing the surface, they break down and become lifeless.

"It is these lifeless cells you see when you describe a woman as having beautiful skin," he remarked. "Actually you see only lifeless cells of hair, nails and skin when you look at her.

The stratum corneum gets thinner as we age, he says, and the aging process cannot be changed by stuffing oneself with any particular mineral, vitamin or anything else "no matter how much we hear about miracles.

"In our laboratories we have prepared highly purified diets providing every amino acid, fatty acid, polyunsaturated fats and so on, maintaining animals on it and we have discovered that all of these things are essential — the body is balanced. The lack of any one thing can bring about changes to the skin. There is no single factor for aging," says Panzarella, who is president of the 50-year-old Doak Pharmaceutical Co., that makes more than 30 products for dermatologists. It entered the consumer field about 10 years ago.

"No matter what is put on the skin, taken by mouth or injected, the aging process in the dermis will not change. Certain dermatologists are equipped to perform dermabrasion to get new young tissue to form in the derma, but it is a risky procedure in hands that are not expert," he cautions.

The only thing that can be done for the skin is to provide moisture to the stratum corneum and retain it. Moisture creams should perform this function, but none do, in his opinion.

Sun contributes to the wrinkling of aging skin if one doesn't use sun screens and air conditioning has drying effects, he warns. An ideal climate would be moist and sunless, but "no one would want to live there."

DR. FRANK PANZARELLA

The cream he formulated was originally intended for minor irritants and is known by the number of the experiment which was successful after more than 400 tries. Its smoothing qualities appealed to dermatologists who concluded it must have antiwrinkle properties.

"It looked as if wrinkles disappeared, but actually the cream binds moisture to the stratum corneum, plumping the surface to give the appearance of smooth and unlined skin," Panzarella explained.

When cosmetics companies are forced to list ingredients in their products by a government ruling which will take effect next year, Panzarella's secret will not be revealed — he was able to patent the use of two moisture-binding agents.

Miss Sharon Chrane

Miss Sharon Chrane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chrane, 2102 Allendale, is an entrant in this year's Miss Diamondback Pageant slated March 25 at Webb AFB. A senior at Forsan, she plays volleyball, is a member of FHA, the Pep Squad and the Stampede staff. Her future plans include a career as an airline stewardess.

Miss Carla Walker

Miss Carla Walker has joined the competition for the title of Miss Diamondback. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Walker, Rt. 2, Box 70, she is secretary of the National Honor Society at Big Spring High School and, as a National Merit Commended Student, ranks in the top 5 percent in the nation. A senior, she is also in the Early Admissions Program at Howard College and, later, plans to major in math at Angelo State University. Her leisure activities include horseback riding and tennis.

Midwife Revival

BRIDEPORT, Conn. (AP) — "Boil some water! Rip up some sheets!"

These cries, supposedly shouted by a midwife about to deliver a baby, are all most people know about midwifery. And, as in most legends, myth rather than truth dominates the picture.

Julia Marcoux of Putnam, Conn., who says she's the only registered midwife in the state, can testify to that.

While she has not practiced in this country Mrs. Marcoux trained and worked for several years in her native England before coming to the United States in 1955.

"In England, we practiced in the hospitals and were more common baby deliverers than doctors were," she said.

"Very seldom did we deliver in the home, but many movies portray the dramatic portion of work such as ours, and I guess that's how that impression of midwives was started."

She said, "The first month of study usually weeds out would-be actresses. After that we have three years of training similar to that of a nurse and one year of intense study and practice in obstetrics, nutrition and total care for mother and baby." Yale-New Haven Hospital has begun a midwifery course. Mrs. Marcoux predicts that the demand for them will increase.

"The trend toward 'getting back to the natural life' may contribute to the increasing popularity of midwives," she said.

Mrs. Marcoux is the mother of eight children ranging in age from 7 to 18 and is a part-time nurse at a local hospital. She says she's too busy to be a midwife at present.

"It's not an easy profession, because you have to reassure the woman, calm her and concentrate on the delivery all at once," Mrs. Marcoux said.

But she says that "looking at a new life you helped to bring into the world" makes it worthwhile.

MRS. AND MRS. MARSHALL E. BROWN

Browns Will Be Honored

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall E. Brown will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary today when their children host a reception in their honor in the First Federal Community Room. Friends are invited to call between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m.

Brown and the former Flora Lee Lindley were married March 21, 1925 in the Presbyterian Manse at Graham in Young County. They are the parents of five children, John Edward Brown, Charles Milton Brown and Mrs. Emma Lee Ward, all of Big Spring; Mrs. Ruth Marie Wren, El Paso; and William Norman Brown, Odessa. There are 13 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

The Browns moved to Big Spring in 1948 and, shortly thereafter, he was employed in the petroleum division at Webb Air Force Base, remaining at that job until his retirement in 1972. He currently works part-time at Big Spring State Park.

Having attended "music school" in Fort Worth (taught by the original Stamps Brothers) Brown taught gospel singing and theory as a young man. It remains a favorite pastime for both of them, and they share this pleasure with others at Kentwood Older Adult Activity Center where he is program chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown are members of First United Methodist Church where she is a member of Philathea Class and he holds membership in the Mens Bible Class. Also, they assist in the visitation program of the church.

ENGAGED — The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Lithia Parras to Robert Ayala is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Juan C. Parras, 409 S. Benton. The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Dominguez, 505 S. Bell. The wedding will be held July 19.

Club Choses New Officers

New officers were elected Wednesday for Texas TOPS 249 with Mrs. Mozelle Free heading the slate as leader. Mrs. Faye Irons will be co-leader.

Others chosen were Mrs. Francis Key, secretary; Mrs. Nellie Washburn, treasurer; Mrs. Nelene Wright, weigh recorder; Mrs. Martha Markle, assistant weigh recorder and program chairman.

Mrs. Wash was crowned queen for losing the most weight during the year, and Mrs. Markle was runner-up. Mrs. Irons and Mrs. Wright were presented charms for maintaining their weight loss.

The meeting, which was held in the Keyshome, 1109 E. 6th, was followed by a salad luncheon.

Bowdlerizing

Bowdlerize is derived from Thomas Bowdler, an English editor of strict morals, who attempted to improve Shakespeare by removing all "improper" references.

Boys Will Perform In Recital Today

These Rules Might Eliminated Teachers

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old school teacher. (Female.) I teach tenth grade students in a public school. I love my work and wouldn't want to do anything else.

I also feel that I am entitled to live the kind of lifestyle I feel is right for me.

Now, my problem: I have fallen in love with a man, and we want to live together. Neither one of us wants to get married right now — or maybe ever.

I dislike lying but I doubt that I could continue my teaching job in this city while living with a man who is not my husband.

Do you know of any community that is sufficiently sophisticated to permit their school teachers the freedom to live as they wish?

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: No. But that doesn't mean there isn't one. We have come a long way in the last 60 years. As proof, I submit a piece from Quote magazine. I hope you are able to read it without cracking up. I couldn't.

"Truly, the lifestyle of a school teacher has changed radically in the last fifty or sixty years. For example, a 1915 teachers' magazine listed the following rules of conduct for teachers of that day:

1. You will not marry during the term of your contract.

2. You are not to keep company with men.

3. You must be home between the hours of 8 p.m. and 6 a.m. unless attending a school function.

4. You may not loiter downtown in ice cream stores.

5. You may not travel beyond the city limits unless you have the permission of the chairman of the board.

6. You may not ride in a carriage or automobile with any man unless he is your father or brother.

7. You may not smoke cigarettes.

8. You may not dress in bright colors.

9. You may under no circumstances dye your hair.

10. You must wear at least two petticoats.

11. Your dresses must not be any shorter than two inches above the ankle.

12. To keep the school room neat and clean, you must: sweep the floor at least once daily; scrub the floor at least once a week with hot, soapy water; clean the blackboards at least once a day; and start the fire at 7 a.m. so the room will be warm by 8 a.m."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "P": I would certainly not be in any hurry to marry a man who positively refused to take a blood test. Instead of trying to find out where a couple can be married without a blood test, find out why he is so opposed to taking one.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212, for Abby's booklet "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20c) envelope.

Nuptial Vows Recited In Midland Church

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Michael Williams are on a trip to Dallas following their wedding Saturday in the Christian Church, Midland. They plan to reside in Dallas at 9726 Forest Lane, Apt. 2128.

The bride is the former Deborah Lynne Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen E. Turner, Stanton, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Williams, Richardson.

The ceremony was conducted by George Calvert, minister of the Main Street Church of Christ, Midland, with music by Miss Paula Bruton, pianist and organist, and Miss Beverly Carter, vocalist. The altar setting included basket arrangements of spring flowers in pastel colors and a sunburst arrangement of emerald fern.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Wesley W. Williams of Midland, and bridesmaids were Miss Tracy Leath and Miss Anne Freitag, both of Lubbock. The attendants were identically attired in floor-length crepe gowns in individual colors of blue, yellow and pink. The v-necked, empire gowns featured floral silk organza overlaid on the bodice and sleeves. They carried nosegays of daisies in pastel colors.

The bride, carrying a bouquet of white daisies and gypsophila centered with yellow sweetheart roses, was attired in a formal gown fashioned of ivory sata peau and Venise lace. The empire gown featured a high neckline above a sheer yoke and long bishop sleeves; tiny self buttons adorning the front. She wore a matching, lace-trimmed picture hat.

MRS. ROBERT M. WILLIAMS

The bridegroom's father served as best man, and groomsmen were Mike Taylor, Dallas, the bridegroom's brother-in-law; and Wesley W. Williams, brother-in-law of the bride.

MRS. ROY LEE METCALF

Midway Church Site Of Nuptials Saturday

Miss Connie Roylyn Welch became the bride of Roy Lee Metcalf in a 7 p.m. ceremony Saturday at Midway Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Lee Metcalf and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Roy Welch, all of Coahoma.

The Rev. Rufus Wilson officiated before an archway which centered the altar. Palm trees flanked the arch, and baskets of white mums and gladioli with salal foliage completed the decor.

Mrs. Bill Fryrear, organist, accompanied Dewayne Clawson, Coahoma, vocalist.

The bride's empire gown was of white sheer organza over peau de soie accented with a small bow at the waistline. The standup collar and cuffs of the sheer sleeves were lace, and the train, topped with a satin bow, was adorned with a center panel of lace. She carried a cascade of red roses and white camellia buds with greenery.

Mrs. Kenneth Furlong, Santa Ana, Calif., was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Cherri Welch, sister of the bride, and Miss Connie Ward.

The attendants wore red and white dotted Swiss empire dresses sashed with red ribbon, and their hats were white. They carried long-stemmed red roses tied with white satin streamers.

John Wayne Metcalf, Coahoma, was best man, and Gary Hipp, Midway; and Roger Coates, Coahoma; were groomsmen. Ushers were Byron Pope and Marty Brooks, both of Coahoma.

Kimberly Pope, sister of the bridegroom, was the flower girl, and Jesse Lee Metcalf, the bridegroom's brother, was ring bearer. Byron Pope and Marty Brooks were taper lighters.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to San Angelo, the couple will live in Coahoma.

The bride and bridegroom are 1974 graduates of Coahoma High School. She is employed by Newsom's in Big Spring, and he farms with his father in the Coahoma area.

The reception was held in the church where the refreshment table was covered with a white cloth with white net overlay. The centerpiece was an arrangement of red roses with white carnations and gypsophila held in a white milk glass compote.

Serving were Mrs. Robbie O'Daniel, Mrs. Ronnie Gaskin, Miss Darla Hipp and Miss Patty Smith.

Relatives attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Walkie Howe, Wichita Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Metcalf and family, Temple; Kenneth Furlong, Santa Ana, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Randy Welch, St. Lawrence; Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Smith, Lubbock; and Mrs. Annie and Mrs. Ann Smith, both of Paducah.

A rehearsal dinner was held Friday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lee Metcalf, Coahoma.

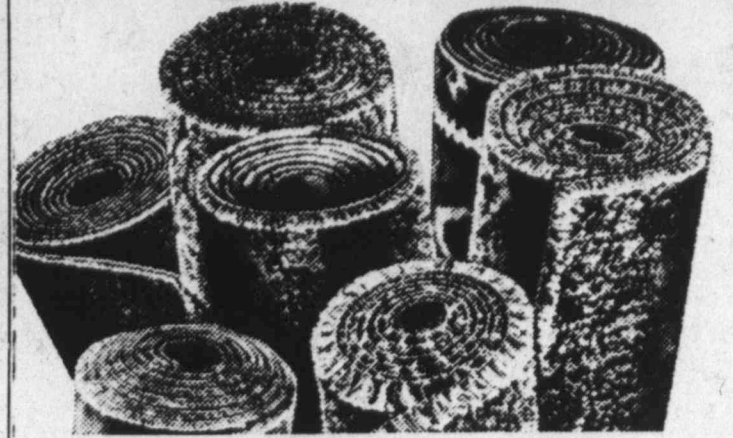

NUPTIALS — Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Dean, 1518 Vines, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Susan, to Mark Mercer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal W. Mercer of Seminole. The couple will be married June 28 in the First Baptist Church.

Farming Area

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says the farms within a 600-mile radius of Kansas City account for 78 per cent of its hogs, 80 per cent of the cattle, 90 per cent of the corn, 93 per cent of the sorghum and 89 per cent of the soybeans.

A LOVELIER YOU Obesity Problem Can Be Solved

By MARY SUE MILLER
Authorities constantly report overweight as a menace to our national health. Reams of advice on the subject of weight control have been distributed.

Yet overweight has in no way diminished in spite of the millions of girls and women who try to reduce.

What possible explanation can there be? It is not as though we do not know the main cause of overweight. As always, it's overeating. And underexercising.

The instances of obesity from other causes are rare. Some of them have not been proven out. The belief, for instance, that you inherit weight has not been fully substantiated. More likely, what's passed down are your family's fattening recipes and eating habits.

Most of us take half measures. We diet in a hit-or-miss fashion. If we exercise at all, our program is haphazard. We are motivated by appearance reasons. Health is very seldom the incentive. For success we must follow a healthful diet and exercise program. The word "healthful" is the key. Without health, beauty is a sometime thing.

Note: Watch this column for diet and exercise routines of proven merit. They start soon.

'Quotable Women

By The Associated Press
Here are some quotable quotes from women during the week.

"I think James Whitmore and Sam Gallu have caught the essentials — integrity, honesty, toughness, intelligence." Margaret Truman Daniel, who attended Whitmore's performance as President Harry Truman in Gallu's play "Give 'Em Hell, Harry," in Hershey, Pa.

"The Ovir passport office just called and invited me to come down to pick up my visa." Victoria Fyodorova, child of a World War II romance between an American naval attaché and a Russian actress, who said in Moscow she has received official permission to visit her ailing father in Florida.

"I'll have to think about that one. I suppose it's tradition." Queen Elizabeth II, in response to actress Barbra Streisand, who wanted to know why women had to wear gloves to a royal reception, after the premiere of "Funny Lady" in London.

"Skilled women can now compete for good jobs, but women without saleable skills are as lost as ever." Dr. Joann M. Steiger, president of an educational research company, testifying before a House subcommittee investigating pay status of working women.

"She was amazing. You'd think she was doing pretty good, but she had been ill for so long." Hallie Ward, a close friend of onetime famed Washington party-giving hostess Perle Mesta, who died in Oklahoma City, of what Mrs. Ward said was heart failure.

Are You What You Eat? New Diet Might Make Difference

By SHERRY MULLIN
 (Community Extension Agent)

Proteins, carbohydrates, fats, vitamins and minerals all are important in a well balanced diet to obtain optimum health and well being. Good nutrition practices can also help you save money.

Scientists have helped by developing a guide, the Four Food Groups, to help consumers choose wisely. When foods are chosen from these four food groups it is possible to get all the nutrients necessary for good health without knowing about amino acids, or polysaccharides or any of the complicated chemical reactions that go on in the body.

The foods within a food group are similar in the nutrients they supply, so you can choose many different foods each day and still follow the four food groups. Since there are many foods in each group, consumers can follow the guide and save money by choosing lower cost items in each group.

The meat group includes pork, lamb, veal, poultry, fish, and meat substitutes such as eggs, peanut butter or dried beans. Less popular cuts of meat, variety meats, fish, poultry and dry beans can be nutritious money savers.

The milk group is a favorite with time and money conscious consumers. The milks, cheeses, ice creams, and custards found in this group are usually quick to prepare, moderate in cost and always nutritious. Everyone needs at least two servings from this group each day but children, teenagers, pregnant and nursing mothers need more than two servings each day. Instant non-fat dry milk and processed cheese are two economical choices in this group.

The fruit and vegetables group also gives the consumer many choices. Wise consumers will choose canned or frozen forms of fruits and vegetables that are "out-of-season" in the early spring. For example, canned tomatoes or frozen strawberries might be better choices than the fresh produce. Cabbage, carrots, sweet potatoes and grapefruit should be "in-season" in the early spring and make good choices for consumers who want fresh produce. Everyone needs four servings of fruits and vegetables each day.

The bread and cereal group also offers many choices for the penny-wise consumer. All kinds of enriched or whole grain breads, cereals, spaghetti, macaroni, rice and tortillas are in this group. Enriched white bread and cooked cereals are good choices when you consider cost and nutrients.

Other foods like candy, soft drinks, and snack foods may be used to round out meals and fatten food bills. Wise consumers will let nutrition help them save by choosing foods from the four food groups.

If you would like to find out more about foods from the four food groups call 267-8469 or write Sherry Mullin, Box 790, Big Spring, 79720. Ask for copies of "Are You A Good Eater?" and the "Food For Fitness Guide."

Ceremony Performed Saturday At Forsan

Miss Brenda Margaret Clinkscales and Raymond Edward Walter, Las Cruces, N.M., were married Saturday afternoon in the Forsan Baptist Church.

The Rev. and Mrs. Jack Clinkscales, Forsan, are parents of the bride, and parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Cleta Walter, Las Cruces, N.M., and Edward Walter, Salem, Utah.

The ceremony was performed by the bride's father before an archway of greenery flanked by baskets of white gladioli and pink daisies.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, David Clinkscales, Big Spring.

Mrs. George White, vocalist, was accompanied by Mrs. Bill Cregar, organist.

The bride wore a wedding gown of ivory bridal satin with lace overlay on the bodice and wide cuffs of the sleeves. The full skirt was floor-length, and a train of lace was attached at the waistline. A fingertip-length veil of bridal tulle was held by a headpiece of lace and seed pearls.

The bride's flowers were a cascade of white feathered carnations with pink roses, daisies and gypsophila tied with satin streamers.

Mrs. Richard Gorham, Las Cruces, was the matron of honor and wore a floor-length gown of pink polyester crepe with ivory lace overlay on the bodice and cuffs. Her headpiece was of pink ribbon and ivory lace, and she carried a bouquet of pink daisies and white carnations.

Richard Gorham, Las Cruces, attended the bridegroom, and ushers were Robert Bickel, Big Spring, and Steven Walter, Las Cruces, the bridegroom's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter will be at home at 2507 Chaparral, Las Cruces, after a wedding trip to Guaymas, Mexico.

The bride is a graduate of Alamogordo High School and an honor graduate of New Mexico State University where she received a BS degree in education.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Las Cruces High School, is employed by the Bug Shop, an independent Volkswagen repair shop.

The couple was honored with a reception in the fellowship hall following the ceremony.

The refreshment table was covered with a white satin cloth and centered with the bride's bouquet. Pink candles and silver appointments completed the setting. Serving were Mrs. Robert Bickel, the bride's sister; Mrs. Oscar Boeker, Mrs. Derrell Baggett and Mrs. David Clinkscales, Big Spring.

Miss Rita Kay Walter, Las Cruces, the bridegroom's sister, registered guests. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walter, Salem, Utah, and Mrs. Cleta Walter, Las Cruces, were among the wedding guests.

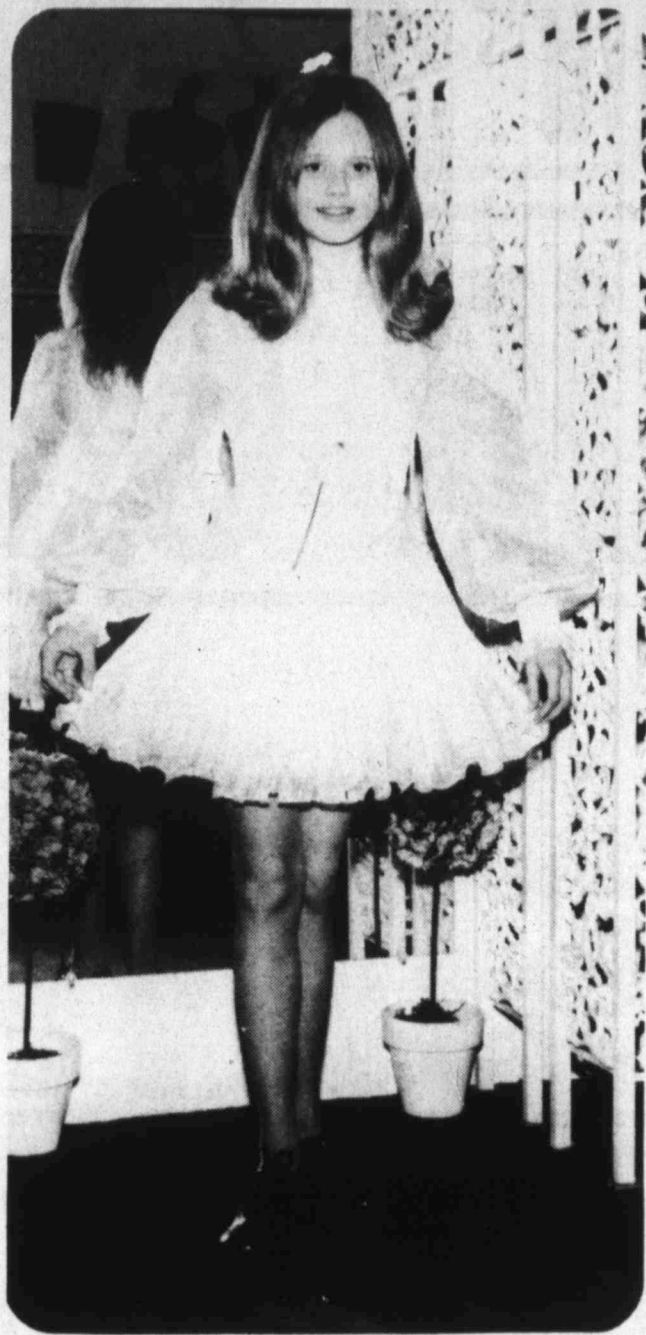

Mrs. Johnson Is Cited By Legion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The honor, presented two years late, was the Legion's award of 1973. The press of business after the death of her husband, former President Lyndon B. Johnson, kept her from getting the award earlier.

The Legion's national public relations commander, James M. Wagoner, in presenting the award said of Mrs. Johnson, "She was one of the very earliest people in high places to put a high priority on restoration and preservation of the natural beauty of America. It has been said, and we believe rightly so, that she put our environment on the national political agenda."

Wagoner said that during her late husband's time in the White House, Mrs. Johnson "saw him sign into law more than 100 major conservation laws. He always was the first to say that it was Lady Bird Johnson who sparked his interest..."

Girls Can Excel

By SUSAN CONLEY
CHILDREN'S LIBRARIAN

Girls can do anything, and at the Howard County Library there are books that tell how they have done it. A long time ago when women and girls were expected to marry, stay and home, and keep the house, some wanted to do something else. One of these was Caroline Herschel. As a girl living in Germany, she was kept home to sew, bake, and clean for her brothers and sick mother. She was not even allowed to attend sewing classes. Finally, her older brother, William, took her to live with him in England. Together they pursued William's hobby of astronomy.

"The Courage of Sarah Noble" by Alice Dalgliesh is based on a true account of an eight-year-old girl who travels through the wilderness of Connecticut with her father. As her father clears the land and builds a log cabin, Sarah cooks and plays with the Indian children nearby. When her father returns for the rest of the family, Sarah is left with an Indian family. "Heroines of the Early West" and "In Calico and Crinoline" are collections of true stories about brave pioneer women.

One story is about Sue Dickerson, 18, one of the female survivors of the Alamo. She married Lt. Dickerson who was fighting at the Alamo when it was besieged by Santa Anna. She and her baby were in the Alamo for protection.

Another brave girl in her teens was Belle Boyd, a true Southern belle. During the Civil War, she became a spy for the Confederacy. She was arrested once but released. Undaunted, Belle continued to send valuable messages to General Stonewall Jackson, proving that girls can do anything.

'SWEEPER'
William was the discoverer of the seventh planet Uranus, and Caroline was the first woman to discover a comet. This book, called "Sweeper of the Skies" gives much information for amateur astronomers, male and female.

Novel Tells Of Gunman

THE SHOOTIST. By Glendon Swartout. Doubleday. 186 Pages. $6.95.

Shootist is a euphemism for gunfighter, and in this sparkling novel the man of the title is John Bernard Books, the last of the great gunfighters.

But the year is 1901, the Wild West has been almost tamed, and the 51-year-old Books rapidly is becoming an anachronism. Now he is in El Paso to see a doctor. There is a terrible pain in his body, and Books has ridden steadily for nine days to find the doctor and see what is wrong with him. The doctor tells the gunfighter that he has an inoperable cancer and that he will soon die in great pain and completely helpless.

But Books is a highly disciplined man. His code: "I will not be laid a hand on. I will not stand for an insult. I don't do these things to others. I require the same from them." He determines to die the way he has lived — on his feet and with his guns in his hands.

He rents a room, drinks laudanum steadily to dull the pain that tears him, and carefully details a plan that determines just how and when he will die. The result is a climactic gun fight that will tear at the readers' nerves.

But before this, Glendon Swartout, who has novels such as "They Came to Cordura" and "Bless the Beasts and Children" to his credit, carefully fills in Books's character in excellent prose that takes Books from stereotype to a living, breathing human. As his days quickly pass, the harsh gunman becomes highly sympathetic and the dignity with which he deals with those scavengers who try to profit from his reputation is elegantly handled.

ACCUSED OF TAKING $10,000 BRIBE

Connally Not Openly Worried

DALLAS (AP) — Former Treasury Secretary John Connally is approaching his bribery trial in Washington April 1 neither overconfident nor depressed, friends say, just eager to "get it behind him."

"He's always been philosophical," one associate said. "He's had his ups and downs, and this certainly is a down. A weaker man would have cratered a long time ago."

"But obviously he thinks he's going to be acquitted and he simply wants to meet this thing and get it behind him."

LOW PROFILE

Connally meanwhile is maintaining a low profile, quietly practicing law with a top Houston firm, venturing out into public more frequently and, as one friend said, "spending perhaps more time with his family."

The three-term Texas governor and Treasury Secretary under President Nixon is accused of bribery, perjury and conspiracy under indictments handed down by a Watergate grand jury.

He will be tried first only on the bribery indictment. Seldom has a figure of such stature, reputation and power appeared before the bar of justice in such a manner.

INFLUENCE

The charges stem from an alleged $10,000 payment which the government contends he received in 1973 from a milk lawyer attempting to buy Connally's influence in gaining milk price supports.

Friends, acquaintances and fellow law partners dismiss the charges as "ludicrous," which Fort Worth Lawyer Dee J. Kelly did, adding:

"People in this part of the country simply cannot conceive of John Connally accepting a bribe."

In Houston, Harris County Republican leader Nancy Palm declared:

"Ninety-nine percent of the people here, even those not politically inclined, know that John Connally would not have done this for $10,000."

"A man of this stature and wealth and position simply does not sell out for $10,000, and it will be a severe shock to this community if he is found guilty."

POWER, PRESTIGE

For Connally, 58, a suave national figure of power and prestige, the trial represents the greatest crisis of a career nearly cut short by an assassin's bullet in 1963 in Dallas.

The silver-haired Texas lawyer-rancher was critically wounded at the time of the assassination of President Kennedy, who Connally had served earlier as Secretary of the Navy.

Although a close friend of the late President Lyndon Johnson, it was as Nixon's treasury secretary that he commanded the greatest national attention.

It is said that Connally was Nixon's first choice as vice president when Spiro Agnew resigned in disgrace. But his chance at the vice presidency was clouded by the controversy surrounding his switch from the Democratic Party to the GOP.

In the heady days prior to the Watergate upheaval, Connally appeared a formidable challenger for the Republican presidential nomination in 1976.

Indeed, he had just completed a 36-state speaking tour, viewed as a tuneup for the campaign, when the Watergate grand jury indictments surfaced.

BLOW

"It was a helluva blow," said a former associate. "John's a proud man and it's been a shock, but he's a stronger person than the normal individual. He's got an unusual amount of reserve strength, and he's having to use it now."

"He's not openly down in the dumps... And it has not just crushed him, which it might very well have done. Yet everybody around him knows what an ordeal down inside this has been for him."

Although Connally no longer chats freely with newsmen, he did recently see Karen Elliott of the Wall Street Journal.

She said she found him reading from the self-defense of attorney Clarence Darrow, who was tried in 1912 on juror-bribing charges.

Darrow, she observed, told a Los Angeles jury: "I'm a stranger in a strange land, 2,000 miles away from home and friends. But here there have gathered around me as good, loyal and faithful friends as any man could have on earth. If you convict me, there will be people to applaud the act. But if in your judgment and your wisdom you believe me innocent... I know that from thousands... will come thanks to this jury for saving my liberty and my name."

STRONGER

Connally looked up from his reading, smiled and said,

"You know, Darrow got off. I console myself with the thought that character is born of adversity."

In Connally's hometown of Foresville, his brother Merrill touched on that topic this week:

"If anything, adversity in John's case makes him even stronger."

While Connally, since denying the charges against him, has said little, his main accuser has said nothing.

This is Jake Jacobsen, an Austin lawyer and former friend of Connally, who was the alleged bagman for Associated Milk Producers Inc. (AMPI) in the bribery indictment.

In a controversial plea bargaining arrangement still under challenge, Jacobsen pleaded guilty to bribery in exchange for immunity from prosecution in an unrelated $850,000 loan fraud case in Texas.

Connally's friends and associates contend openly that if any bribery was committed, it was linked to the Justice Department deal with Jacobsen.

"The government bought Jacobsen's testimony — it's an outrage," one of Connally's law partners was recently quoted as saying.

Another of Connally's partners, Leroy Jeffers, stopped short of such a declaration this week but said:

"He knows that he has been falsely accused and therefore expects acquittal."

Jeffers also mentioned obliquely an issue which has distressed many Connally supporters, the refusal by U.S. District Court Judge George Hart Jr. to move the trial from Washington to Texas.

Another sore point with Connally people is the role former Watergate special prosecutor Leon Jaworski, a member of a rival Houston law firm, played in the indictments.
