

Space Flight Aborted

MOSCOW (AP) — Two cosmonauts who brought their Soyuz spacecraft back to earth after it failed to go into orbit are "feeling well," the Soviet news agency Tass reported today.

Tass blamed the failure of the space flight Saturday on the third-stage rocket which the announcement said went off course. An American expert on the Soviet space program said it was the first case of a booster failure in the history of manned space flight.

The latest failure in the trouble-plagued Soyuz series came a little more than three months before the joint mission July 15 by a U.S. Apollo crew and a Soyuz team. There was no indication, however, that the joint mission might be altered. Soviet authorities have said that plans for that flight have been completed.

Tass said the two cosmonauts were Col. Vasily Lazarev and Oleg Makarev, who were making their second trip into space. They rode Soyuz 12 on a two-day flight in September 1973.

The Soviet news agency gave this account of the aborted mission:

The spaceship was launched Saturday "for continuing experiments jointly with the Salyut 4," the space laboratory launched last Dec. 26.

"On the third-stage stretch the parameters of the carrier rocket's movement deviated from the preset values, and an automatic device produced the command to discontinue the flight under the program and detach the spaceship for return to earth.

"The descent module soft-landed southwest of the town of Gorno-Altai in western Siberia.

Classroom Shooting

HOUSTON (AP) — A faculty member and two students were wounded in a shooting in a University of Houston biology classroom today.

Alfred Shen, 25, a graduate student was hospitalized with a chest wound. He was reported in critical condition at Hermann Hospital.

Guy Cameron, 32, a teacher, and Bruce H. Johnson, 27, a psychology major, were admitted to Ben Taub General Hospital. They were listed in fair condition.

Cameron had a wound to the right thigh, Johnson to the right shoulder. University officials said Shen had been unhappy with Cameron over receiving a failing grade.

Police investigators said Shen fired two shots in the classroom, fled, and turned the gun on himself when confronted by university security officers outside the building.

Water Bonds Plan Okayed

AUSTIN (AP) — A Senate committee including three East Texas senators approved a water bond proposal today despite testimony that the money from the bonds could be used to move water across the state — to West Texas.

The vote was 5-0. Several small town residents offered testimonials for the Texas Water Development Board, which wants to increase the maximum amount of development bonds from $400 million to $800 million.

The Lone Star chapter of the Sierra Club and the Texas League of Women Voters opposed the proposed constitutional amendment. "I'm very, very reluctant going to vote to send this to the floor," said Sen. Don Adams, D-Jasper.

He reminded his colleagues that East Texas "inundated the Texas water plan" when a bond issue to partly finance it was submitted to a statewide vote in the late 1960s.

The water plan proposes transporting Mississippi River water to West Texas and the Lower Rio Grande Valley through a series of canals.

East Texans feared the ultimate effect would be to drain their reservoirs to grow crops in West Texas.

Meg Titus of the League of Women Voters said Amarillo Sen. Max Sherman's bond proposal was "the first step toward implementing" the water plan.

She said it would obligate

2.8 million acres of East Texas lakes to hold temporarily the muddy Mississippi water to irrigate 3 million acres of West Texas land.

The silt, she said, "will make marshes of East Texas reservoirs in a short time."

Sherman's proposal sets up a "revolving fund" in which the total of $800 million could never be exceeded. But, as bonds were issued up to that limitation, and Mrs. Titus said this "would bypass further public participation" in the water plan.

Stuart Henry, representing the Sierra Club, said the water development board currently is attempting to finance projects that could be used in the water plan so it can say, "We've spent so much money it would be foolish to back out now."

Sherman, D-Amarillo, noted that John McCoy, chairman of the water development board, had stressed that the extra $400 million in bonds "is geared directly to the necessity of development of in-state water supply projects."

James Rose of the governor's planning and coordination division said Gov. Dolph Briscoe supported the bond increase because "he is determined that Texas will not suffer the same hardship (with a water crisis)" as it suffered during the energy shortage.

Briscoe's task force on water unanimously recommended the bond increase, he said.

COMMUNIST-LED FORCES SHELL 10 CAPITALS IN DELTA

Ax Viet 'Baby Lift'

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Communist-led forces shelled at least 10 district capitals in the rich Mekong Delta today and also hit the area near South Vietnam's largest fuel depot six miles southeast of Saigon.

Operation Baby Lift, a massive international evacuation of children, ended on a large-scale basis with the last of about 1,700 Vietnamese orphans flying to new homes abroad. Two U.S. Air Force planes headed toward the United States carrying more than 200 children.

STEALING, KILLING

Officials said the airlift had reached the scheduled quota approved earlier by the Saigon government. "The large operation has ended," one South Vietnamese official said. "From now on the orphans will leave in smaller groups."

The Viet Cong assailed the airlift, accusing the U.S. and Saigon governments of "stealing and killing thousands of our children."

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong government troops in five provinces of the delta, and launched rocket and mortar attacks that wounded about 50 civilians, field reports said.

Sources said 95 Communist troops and 14 government soldiers were killed in the fighting. Most of the shelling in the delta, where one-third of South Vietnam's 20 million people live — was centered in Dinh Tuong province about 35 miles south of Saigon.

OPPORTUNITY

The delta has been relatively quiet during the five-week-old Communist-led offensive during which the Saigon government gave up the northern three-quarters of the country, most of it without a fight. The Viet Cong said their conquest "opens a new opportunity...to march forward for more brilliant victories."

Field reports said the Communist-led forces also shelled a big South Vietnamese air base near Can Tho, 80 miles south of Saigon, and made repeated attacks on Minh Duc, a district capital 29 miles north of Can Tho.

Forty-five miles northwest of Saigon, government troops recaptured a vital outpost on the southern flanks of Tay Ninh City, the Saigon command said. The outpost had fallen March 17.

FRENCH PEACE

Closer to Saigon, Viet Cong gunners poured 60 mortar and recoilless rifle rounds into the vicinity of the Nha

Be fuel depot, the military command said. It said six persons were wounded and damage to the fuel depot was minor.

Nha Be has been shelled repeatedly for the past two years, but this was the first time it had been a target during the current offensive.

In other Indochina developments: Hanoi's ambassador in Paris, Vo Van Sung, went to the Elysee Palace for a conversation that could be part of a promised French peace initiative in South Vietnam. No details were given.

Thailand's foreign minister, Chantichai Choonhavan, said he has contacted Cambodian rebel leaders and asked them to come to Bangkok for peace talks to end the Cambodian war. He said he made his peace bid with the consent of Cambodian Premier Long Boret.

Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff told Indonesian President Suharto in Jakarta that South Vietnam's future will depend on continued American support and the will of the South Vietnamese to resist the Communists.

The Kremlin said the United States is reappraising its foreign policy partly because of "a radical change in the situation in Indochina, where the puppet regimes are crumbling under pressure from the patriots".

Meanwhile, the Pentagon denied that evacuation of Americans from Saigon was imminent despite a growing U.S. naval armada off South Vietnam.

ENJOYING HER DOLL — One of the Vietnamese orphans that arrived in Kellers Church, Pa. Sunday night was not too tired after her long trip to play with a doll. The little girl was one of sixteen orphans that arrived in the small town, 45 miles north of Philadelphia, to spend the night in a church nursery before meeting their new American parents.

Hijackers Executed

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Two Iraqis who hijacked an Iraqi airliner last month were executed by an Iranian firing squad today, the government announced.

It was believed to be the first time in the history of air piracy that the death penalty had been carried out.

The announcement said the two were Fuad Alghaitan and Taha Namiei. They hijacked an Iraqi Airways Boeing on March 3 and forced it to land in Iran. Following the landing, Iraqi security men on board the plane opened fire, and several passengers were killed in the ensuing duel.

The brief official statement said the two hijackers were convicted in an Iranian military court, were sentenced to death and were executed this morning.

Four Armed Aliens Escape

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Four armed aliens broke out of an Immigration and Naturalization Service detention camp near here today and escaped with credit cards, money and weapons.

A spokesman for the detention center said the four men, all considered dangerous, obtained keys to escape by holding a butcher knife at the throat of a guard. The aliens locked up three guards, taking about $3,000 in cash and credit cards, the spokesman said.

Officers said the four fled in a car owned by one of the guards.

'Depression' Forecasts Rejected By President

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — President Ford, rejecting forecasts of "depression at home and disintegration abroad" said today he sees cooperative growth and development throughout the world.

"My vision is one of peace," Ford said in the text of an address to the National Association of Broadcasters' meeting in Las Vegas. The text was made public before the President wound up a nine-day Easter holiday in Palm Springs and headed East.

While acknowledging "it is true that we have suffered setbacks at home and abroad," Ford declared:

"America will not give in to self-doubt nor paralysis of will power. Americans will not dismantle the defense of the United States. And we certainly will not adopt such a naive vision of the world that we dismantle our essential intelligence-gathering agencies. I can assure you that other superpowers are increasing — not decreasing — their military and intelligence capacities."

Ford made no direct reference to current inquiries into activities of the Central Intelligence Agency but, by implication, he has increasingly defended the CIA and other intelligence units in recent public speeches.

The President, who canvassed the economic scene and threw a few brickbats at Congress as well as discussing the nation's role in the world, said in his text:

"There are some who see nothing but a grim future of depression at home and disintegration abroad. I reject that scenario. My vision is one of growth and of development worldwide through increasing interdependence of nations of the world."

"My vision is one of peace. And my vision of Americans is of a people who will retain their self-respect and self-dependence so that this vision can emerge."

The President referred directly to setbacks in South Vietnam only in discussing federally promoted efforts to fly orphans here from that country.

Ford bore down on Congress for giving him a tax-cut bill that went beyond his request and for threatening to increase the federal deficit through new spending programs.

Saying that Congress is threatening to vote actions that would produce a deficit of $100 billion, Ford declared, "Every time your congressmen and senators add a new spending program or otherwise increase the deficit by a few billion more, the inflationary odds go against us."

The President also complained that Congress added what he sees as ill-considered amendments to the $24.8-billion tax-cut law and weighted tax relief heavily in favor of the lowest income levels.

The World At-A-Glance

MIAMI (AP) — As Americans rush to adopt Vietnamese orphans, a Miami adoption specialist warns that some people are reacting to stories of young casualties of the Vietnam war and may not make suitable parents. "This is a panic thing — I've seen it too often," said March Dickens, director of the Miami office of the Children's Home Society of Florida. "I'd say that 70 per cent of the people who have applied for these children are not equipped to bring them up. There's a romance in this business of taking an overseas child." Miami psychologist Dr. Edith Lord said the Vietnam stories have triggered a "come into my home and let me mother you" instinct among Americans.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress comes back into session after its 10-day Easter recess with the majority Democrats pushing a variety of proposals to combat the recession. Most of these proposals involve increased federal spending and will put the legislators in direct conflict with President Ford. In signing the $24.8 billion tax-cut bill passed just before the recess began, the President declared he had drawn the line against any additional spending plans that would send the budget deficit beyond the $60 billion already estimated for the next fiscal year.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The debate over further aid to South Vietnam is expected to intensify this week as Congress faces renewed pressures to vote more money for a country whose military position deteriorated dramatically during the 10-day congressional recess. Before the recess, the Democratic majorities in the House and Senate went on record against further U.S. funds for South Vietnam and Cambodia. Both South Vietnam President Thieu and Tran Kim Phuong, the South Vietnamese ambassador to the United States, have said Congress will be responsible for the country's fall if more funds are not approved.

PARIS (AP) — The oil-exporting nations and some of their leading customer countries open a preparatory conference today in the wake of an American declaration that Washington's ultimate goal is the destruction of the powerful exporters' cartel. The American challenge was not likely to make the atmosphere around the conference table any more pleasant. But since the task of the 10-delegation meeting is only to make preparations for a world energy conference during the summer, there was a possibility that agreement to go ahead might be reached.

Says Fuel Standards Won't Work

HOUSTON (AP) — The president of General Motors Corp. says proposed mandatory fuel economy standards are unnecessary at best.

At their worst, said Elliott M. Estes, they could have the opposite effect of what their supporters want.

"Most fundamental of all," Estes said, "the imposition of mandatory fuel economy minimums would be another chip out of all Americans' freedom of choice."

Estes urged Texas automobile dealers Sunday to use their influence to prevent Congress from adopting such proposals.

"Our customers will see to it that fuel economy continues to improve," Estes told delegates to the Texas Automobile Dealers Association convention.

He said mandatory fuel economy regulations would take away from each individual the right to make decisions for himself.

If persons can't buy the kinds of new cars they want, he said, they probably will keep on driving the ones they have.

"At their worst, mandatory fuel economy regulations could have exactly the opposite effect that their supporters want," he said. "If people keep driving their present old cars, no fuel savings will occur."

He cited one proposal in Congress that would require new cars to average 28 miles per hour gallon of gasoline.

There are only three cars, all imports, on the American market that could meet that requirement, he said.

"The question is not whether the U.S. automobile industry can build cars like that," he said. "The real question is whether Americans would buy those cars in sufficient numbers."

"If they do not, workers would lose jobs, dealers would lose sales, stockholders would lose dividends and the nation as a whole would lose out on a much better way to save energy."

Driver Held Here In Toyah Fatality

By MARJ CARPENTER
Herbert Eugene Turpin, 38, of Bellflower, Calif., apparently was struck dead on Interstate 20 as he walked for help early Sunday morning.

A truck driver incoherent in a call to officers from a Sand Springs grocery, was picked up by highway patrol officers here and released under $10,000 bond for allegedly failing to stop and render aid and leaving the scene of a mishap.

Officers here said that Turpin had left his sleeping son, Robert, 17, when the alternator of their car, which was pulling a trailer load of household belongings, went out shortly before sunrise.

While officers, summoned to the roadside .7 miles west of Toyah where a truck driver had reported finding a body, the son, who had awakened, hailed another truck driver.

"WORRIED ABOUT DAD" he said. "I'm worried about Dad," he said.

The driver picked him up and soon drove upon the scene of the fatality.

A highway patrolman took the lad to Pecos to call his mother, Mrs. Florence Turpin, 134 Kansas, in Abilene. The family was moving from Bellflower, and had been in Abilene earlier in the week. Turpin and the boy returned to California for another load of household goods.

After discovery of Turpin's body, a massive search was launched by highway patrolmen. Bill Priest was checking trucks pulling into a truck stop here. One driver told him that a truck had a cross-over fuel line repaired at a truck stop in Penwell.

While patrol and trucker CB radios were busy, Ronald Lee Nuckolls 21, Athens, stopped at Lake Way Grocery near Sand Springs, said officers. Ikie Rupard, operator, said the man wanted to make an emergency call, so Rupard asked his wife to yield the phone. According to him, the trucker made two long distance calls, then called local law enforcement officers.

"SHOOK UP" Rupard said. "He was plenty shook up. The law couldn't understand the suspect so I got on the phone and told them that the suspect said he had run over someone."

Highway Patrolmen Priest and Benny Lockhart went to the store. In the meantime, Justice of the Peace Lynn Gibson of Toyah issued a warrant for failure to stop and render aid and leaving the scene, felony.

Justice of the Peace Walter Grice of Big Spring set bond at $10,000 and Nuckolls was out of Howard County jail this morning on bond.

The highway patrol took pictures of the truck which they said had a damaged fuel line. They said part of Turpin's pants, coat and some of his shirt were under the truck, along with blood stains. The truck is equipped with a CB radio.

Funeral services for Turpin will be in Harriman, Tenn. according to Pecos Funeral Home where arrangements are being handled at a local level.

Union Ballot Slated Today

Cosden and Local 826, International Union of Operating Engineers, resumed contract negotiations today in the presence of a federal mediator.

The mediator is from the Fort Worth of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Services.

Paul Meek, company president, said he felt there were some signs of progress in talks this morning, and that the company's basic position was for what was best for all concerned, now and for continued operations.

Meanwhile, workers were scheduled to ballot this evening, hopefully on a contract package. Union officials Monday said no such package has been agreed upon, hence the balloting at 7:30 p.m. in IUOE Hall and at 11:30 p.m. for the evening shift workers, may be on whether to strike 7 a.m. Thursday.

Union members at the refinery currently are working under an extension of the present contract for a 10-day period in which to company and union were to continue efforts toward a contract proposal. The extension expires 7 a.m. Thursday.

The major issue according to local 826 spokesmen still unresolved are:

Combining of six operating units into three units which the company wants to staff with 15 less employees.

Moving of laboratory testing from the laboratory departments to operating units and reducing the laboratory department by 10 employees without adding additional employees to the operating units.

Changing of all shift employees' weekly working schedules due to the company proposing to relieve vacant shift jobs from the lower classifications.

Other cost-cutting proposals, which reduce benefits to employees are still being sought by Cosden, according to the union.

Kenneth Howell, business manager for Local 826, said figures furnished by the union by Cosden management reflected twice the profits in the second quarter of 1974 than for all of 1972-73.

was awarded the contract for gravel. Price submitted the lowest of two bidders.

If the county delivers the rocks to construction sites, 4,317 cubic yards of number five aggregate will cost $19,876. That's at $4.50 per cubic yard.

Price wants $5.75 per cubic yard or $25,097 total, if its employees deliver the rocks.

Last year, Big Spring Gravel sold the material to the county for $3.50 per delivered cubic yard, County Auditor Virginia Black, reported.

This firm is no longer in business here. R. E. James Gravel Co. offered the material for $5 per cubic yard but desired $0.99 to $1.76 per cubic yard for delivery to various sites. James operates at a location five miles north of Vealmoor.

SUMMER RATE For summer employees of the road department, $2.10 per hour was suggested as the starting wage, with the county paying 10 cents of the amount for manpower workers.

The federal government pays Manpower workers $2 per hour, and the court wanted the temporary workers paid equitable wages whether or not they are Manpower trainees.

Students with prior county road department experience are to be making $2.40 per hour.

Barnaby told the court of a Big Spring coach who was interested in supervising the temporary workers, some of whom will be football players.

Dismiss Bill Of Indictment, Plea Entered

Hobart Gay Stevens, 34, has pleaded guilty to carrying a pistol in a tavern. An indictment against him for failure to stop and render aid has been dismissed.

Stevens was given five years of probation to serve for the May 1971, incident at the Rendezvous Lounge one-half mile northeast of Big Spring.

District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III stated in the motion for dismissal that the prosecution witness in the other case was in state prison and unable to testify. Stevens was accused of failing to help William Martin after a January 1972, traffic accident.

THEFTS

Antibusing Demonstrators Jostle, Harass Kennedy

QUINCY, Mass. (AP) — More than 200 antibusing demonstrators poked, grabbed at and jostled Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, forcing police to form a protective flying wedge around him.

One woman poked at him repeatedly Sunday with the point of a stick bearing a small American flag. A man grabbed him by the leg but was pulled away by police.

Although he was not injured in the Sunday incident, his aides canceled a speech set for later in the day in Sharon when the demonstrators showed up there too. The cancellation came after demonstrators refused an offer of a meeting with

Kennedy if they would agree to allow him to make the speech without disruption. Kennedy has refused to

Routine Check On Bomb Call

A telephone call to the Big Spring Herald this morning reported that a bomb would go off in both the high school and college at noon. The voice sounded like that of a man.

Police officials checked out the possibility and also notified officials at both schools.

It was handled as a routine matter by school officials. The high school receives numerous calls of this nature, most of them with the hope that "school will be let out," school officials reported. Lamesa schools received such a threat last week.

Glasscock 4-H Teams Place High In Judging

GARDEN CITY — Crystal Overton and Kevin Hirt was fifth. In sheep judging, Gary Batla was second, Don Addy of Big Spring FFA was third, Bill Cunningham of Coahoma FFA fifth and Candy Overton ninth.

The team comprised of Gary Batla, Crystal Overton and Kevin Hirt placed first overall. Alpine FFA took second and the Glasscock team of Mark Werst, Wayne Hirt and Larry Batla was third.

In individual averages, Gary Batla was fifth. Beef cattle judging saw Larry Batla rank second along with Kevin Hirt. Tenth place went to Guy James, Coahoma. The team of Sally Hillger, Alex Medrano and Candy Overton was third; the team of Mark Werst, Larry Batla was fourth, and the team of Gary Batla,

The same teams in beef judging finished in the same order for second, third and fourth places in sheep judging. Although scores were high in swine judging, none made the cutoff for places.

The Glasscock teams will participate in beef judging and range and grass judging at Howard College this weekend. Others making the trip to Alpine were Travis Pate Jr., Mark Hallmann and Gfeger Kingston, along with Mrs. J. L. Overton, Delmer Batla and County Agent Oliver Werst.

condemn busing for racial balance in schools as busing opponents have demanded. The Massachusetts Democrat made a four-block trip on foot to a subway station when he was unable to enter any of his aide's cars at a junior high school in this Boston suburb. His own car's tires had been deflated, and some of the demonstrators placed their children in its path.

It was the most violent demonstration against Kennedy, a frequent target of antibusing protestors, since a September incident when he was jeered off a stage and hit by a tomato.

Boston schools have been disrupted by sporadic violence since the integration program began last fall and National Guardsmen were called in to maintain order for a time. A school boycott continues in South Boston, a working-class Irish neighborhood that has been the center of the protest.

Reports Sighting Funnel Clouds

Mrs. J. S. Phillips, of Sand Springs, awoke shortly after midnight this morning and went out on the porch. She said she saw a tornado dark out of the clouds twice and then head east.

Mrs. Phillips lives at the end of Roberts Road halfway between IS 20 and Midway. She heard winds and went out on the porch in time to see the two funnels.

"I was in the tornado in Sweetwater about 10 years ago and I know one when I see one," she stated.

Law officers kept a watch out after the report but did not see any funnels in the area. Wind was blowing hard at that hour. No rainfall was reported.

Court Delays Decision On Roof Replacement

It was too windy for the County Commissioners Court to look at a leaky roof this morning. County Judge Bill Thine said.

A water cooling tower and 2,000 square feet of roofing must be replaced, County Engineer Neel Barnaby told the court.

Copper is the only metal Big Spring water would not corrode, Barnaby said, and he recommended an air cooling tower.

The court accepted Barnaby's suggestion that the county pave the "one course route" instead of making two courses when paving. And then the court said it was glad this method would save gravel, as well as asphalt, because gravel bids had gone up, too.

MORE PAVING This may double the number of miles which can be paved with the same amount of asphalt and gravel, Barnaby said.

Suggestions For Finding Refuge During Tornadoes

WASHINGTON (AP) — New suggestions for finding safe refuge during tornadoes have been developed by a team of researchers which examined the rubble of schools devastated by the storms.

The findings, which run counter to some popular folklore about tornadoes, are being distributed by the National Weather Service to help school officials prepare for the impending peak tornado season.

The researchers said their key finding was that the winds swirling about the fringes of the storm push walls inward. At the same time, they challenged the notion that the vacuum created by the center of a tornado causes walls to explode outward.

STAY OUT Combining their findings with the observation that 90 per cent of tornadoes move from the southwesterly direction, the team of engineers and architects offered these recommendations for safety in school buildings:

—Stay out of large rooms such as gymnasiums, cafeterias and auditoriums with free-span roofs. These roofs are subject to lifting forces and are more prone to failure than more well-supported roofs.

—Avoid the southwest corners of schools. Since the tornado is likely approaching from that direction and since the winds are 100 miles an hour or so higher on one side, the result is even greater pressure on southerly and westerly walls. Weather Service officials noted that the advice runs counter to the folklore of huddling in the southwest corner of a structure.

—Seek out spaces protected by interior walls. They are more shielded from the direct impact of the winds and they usually don't bear the load of holding up the roof.

"WIND TUNNELS" —Corridors are usually good havens, but avoid if at all possible corridors facing west or south. They tend to become "wind tunnels." Corridors facing north are best, and those facing east are next best.

—Avoid areas with large spaces or glass.

—Basements are safest. First floors rank next.

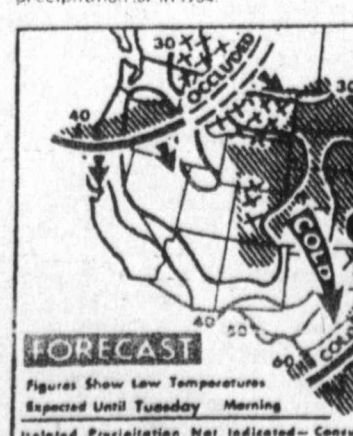

The Weather Service is providing the results to schools as a guide to determine the safest refuges before any tornado hits. The researchers indicated their findings also could be applied to other public institutions, such as hospitals, which are built to meet similar architectural and engineering standards.

Weather Service officials said the findings would not be applicable to most homes. For persons caught at home during a tornado, the Weather Service recommended they go to a basement if possible, get under the stairwell and stay away from chimneys, which are liable to fall. In homes with no basement, officials recommended a small first-floor room such as a closet or a bathroom.

PROFESSOR, WIFE
Welcome Orphan
To Houston Home

HOUSTON (AP) — The first Vietnamese orphan to arrive in the Houston area was with his proud adopted parents today.

Dr. and Mrs. Donald Olson of Houston arrived from Chicago Sunday with Do The Phiet, 7.

Meanwhile, Texas International Airlines has offered to provide transportation and escorts for the orphans from the West Coast to southwestern states.

A crowd of family friends and newsmen greeted the Olsons at Houston International Airport as they arrived with their new son.

"We need to take him home," Mrs. Olson smiled. She was trailed by Olson who carried the boy in his arms.

"I feel wonderful," said Olson, an assistant professor of speech at the University of Houston. "He feels good."

Another Houston couple had planned to pick up their 3-month old adopted daughter in Chicago Sunday. However, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Woodall were informed the infant had developed a fever enroute and had to be taken off the plane at Guam. Woodall said the baby, Nguyen Thi Anh Thu, would remain in Guam until she has recovered. He said that could be two days or more.

Frank Lorenzo, Texas

International president, made the airlines offer in a telegram to Friends of all Children, a Boulder, Colo., agency coordinating the adoption of the children.

He said the airlines would provide a twin-engine, 24 passenger jet with airline employees for escorts to bring orphans to "some central point in Texas."

Home Realty Offers Top Tax Break Selections

Dial 3-H-O-M-E. Home Real Estate has good news for you if you are in the market for a house right now.

A Washington announcement last week that persons buying new homes will get help in obtaining the best price possible as well as a tax break was signed by President Ford. The law provides a 5 per cent tax credit on the purchase price of new homes, with a maximum credit of $2,000.

To prevent sellers from increasing the price because of the credit, the law requires that the sale be made at the lowest price at which the new house ever was offered for sale.

A homebuyer claiming the tax credit will have to attach to his tax return a certificate from the seller that the home was sold at the lowest price. If the certification is false, the seller may be prosecuted and the homebuyer is entitled to recover an amount equal to three times the difference between the purchase price and the previous lower price that was offered.

The tax credit was designed to spur the home building industry by helping clear out a backlog of an estimated 600,000 unsold, new homes.

The tax credit is different from a tax deduction in that the credit can be subtracted from the taxes that otherwise would be payable.

Congress has estimated that the total credits — under the bill amount to $600 million. Home Realty has four homes that qualify under the program that a resident can move into within 30-45 days.

These include a brick home at 2804 Coronado, $40,800; a brick home at 2712 Larry, $32,120; another at 2514 Larry for $32,640 and one at 2408 Alamesa for $22,950.

Jeff Brown states, "Let Uncle Sam rebate all or part of your cash down payment under this new law."

GOREN BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF © 1973, The Chicago Tribune

Q.1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠83 ♥Q872 ♦AK53 ♣1063

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. Not only do you have a maximum no trump response, but in support of hearts, your hand is worth 11 points. There is no question about playing in game. However, by cue-bidding on the way to four hearts, you show your maximum and diamond control, which is all partner might need to bid a slam.

Q.2—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♥J1097532 ♦KQ52 ♣93

The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
Pass Pass 4 ♦ Dble. Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—Bid five hearts. Partner's double of four spades is not for takeout—it is a two-way bid that shows a good hand, and you may pass for penalties. However, your hand is likely to detract from partner's defensive potential, and should take a lot of tricks on offense.

Q.3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠QJ87543 ♥95 ♦A843

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♦ 2 ♦
Dble. Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 NT 3 ♣ Pass Pass
Dble. Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. When you removed partner's double of two diamonds to two spades, you told him you had a weak hand with long spades. Armed with this information, he has, nevertheless, elected to double three diamonds. Trust him, secure in the knowledge that you have an ace more than he might expect.

Q.4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AK1073 ♥9863 ♦8 ♣AKJ

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ 2 ♦ Dble. 2 ♥ ?

What action do you take?

A.—Double. It is obvious that the opponents are in trouble. You have more than your quota of defensive tricks and even though you have only four hearts, East will have difficulty in managing the hand. Partner's double is a warning that he might be short in spades, so you should not rebid your suit, which risks running into a bad break and a minus score instead of a substantial profit.

Q.5—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠9 ♥85 ♦KQ1085432 ♣J6

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
3 ♦ 3 ♥ Pass 3 ♣
Pass 4 ♦ Dble. Pass ?

What action do you take?

A.—Pass. Don't tell your story twice. Your first bid describes a hand with little or no defensive potential. Nevertheless, partner elected to double four spades. He must be able to beat that contract in his own hand, and won't be at all grateful if you let the opponents off the hook by bidding five diamonds and going down.

Q.6—Neither vulnerable, as South with 60 on score, you hold:
♠AK982 ♥J76 ♦A105 ♣Q9

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Four clubs. Despite the fact that you have 60 on score, partner has forced you to bid again. A bid of three no trump now would tell him that you have substantial values in the diamond suit, which is not the case. Your hand is better for suit play than for no trump, so we suggest a waiting bid of four clubs to allow partner to show his intentions.

Q.7—Neither vulnerable, as South with 60 on score you hold:
♠J1073 ♥AK10 ♦J7 ♣AKJ8

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 3 ♥ Pass
4 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five spades. Slam depends on whether partner has a diamond control. By bidding two suits, then jumping over game in a third, you announce no control of the fourth suit, and partner cannot bid on unless he has either first- or second-round control of that suit.

Q.8—Neither vulnerable, as South with 60 on score you hold:
♠AK982 ♥J76 ♦A105 ♣Q9

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 3 ♥ Pass
4 ♣ Pass 5 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Six diamonds. You are committed to six spades at least, but partner might have the right hand to bid a grand slam if you show first-round diamond control. Partner actually held the hand shown in Question 7, and had done his all. He would simply bid six spades over your cue-bid, and you see that slam is an excellent contract even if you have to lose a trump trick

Question Must Be Settled

Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller, returning from a visit to the Middle East, reports that President Anwar Sadat of Egypt and other Arab leaders still look to the United States to mediate the Arab-Israeli dispute. He said Arab leaders feel that "this is an auspicious time" to make progress for peace "if only the United States preserves the position of leadership" in acting as a mediator.

This is a hopeful assessment, but it may be over-optimistic. The attempt by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger to concentrate on a piecemeal settlement has been viewed with suspicion by many Arab countries. An Egyptian-Israeli interim agreement for an Israeli pullback in the Sinai was viewed with great suspicion by Syria, for instance. Other Arabs suspect that Israel is attempting to divide and thus conquer Arab countries.

The prospect of a Geneva conference, with representatives of the Soviet Union, the United States, Israel, Arab states and the Palestinian Liberation Organization is not a happy one. Unless Israel will meet with PLO representatives, something it has refused to do in the past, the Geneva meeting will almost certainly end in failure and the deadly drift toward another war will be resumed.

It is no longer possible to consider a Middle East settlement without agreement on the future of Palestine. That would be one of the first items on the agenda at Geneva. The Arab states and the Soviet Union are in apparent agreement on this point. Yet Israel has resisted a move toward settlement of the Palestinian question, partly on the grounds that it does not recognize a Palestinian leader — it doesn't want to have anything to do with Yasser Arafat, the PLO leader recognized by the Arabs and the Soviet Union.

If the Israelis do not want to talk about Palestine at Geneva and the Arabs and Russians don't want to talk about much else, a deadlock is certain. But it is no longer safe to assume that time is on the side of the Israelis. If another war comes, Israel will probably be able to take care of itself. But what of the war after that, or the one after that? The logic of 45 million Arabs and 3.5 million Jews suggests that Israel will eventually lose one of those wars.

In this perspective there is no real alternative to a peaceful settlement of Arab-Israeli differences. It cannot be successful without a settlement of the Palestinian question.

Foresight Pays Off

One painful term consumers are learning about these days is "fuel adjustment" or the "pass-through fuel charge." In simple terms, it means that utilities, facing sharp rises in the fuel costs, are passing these directly through to the consumer.

Our area has been much more fortunate than most, particularly for electric power. In this respect, management of Texas Electric Service should be commended for its long-range foresight in obtaining gas reserves and pipeline capacity long before the crisis. True, litigation is being pressed by "grass-hopper" systems, but that doesn't lessen the "ant"-wisdom of TESCO planners.

Phenomena

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

Facts, phenomena and foolishness:

In a sense, you can consider yourself lucky if you're not in jail at this moment. An estimated 650,000 Americans are behind bars at this moment.

I ASK YOU now: Why is it the fellow in the third car back always sees the light turn green before you do?

Most cocktail parties are a crashing bore. If everyone told all they really knew, there'd be a conversational void develop after the first five minutes.

AUTHORS OF most novels make the same blunder. The covers of the books they write are too far apart.

Most wives prefer that their husbands forget how long they've been here. The same doesn't apply to the ages of their fur coats.

If you still think the price of sugar is too high, don't take it lying down — raise Cain.

If you think there's an abundance of rodeos held in this country, you're right. Last year, there were 15,000 such shows in the United States, including those held for high school and college students. If my mathematics are correct, that's slightly more than 41 a day.

THOSE IN management are considered a sorry lot, until a person crosses the Rubicon. It is then the anointed one realizes he should have taken some graduate courses as a referee.

I received a package through the mail the other day which had this message printed on the outside: "Fragile. Throw underhanded."

THE YOUNG back clerk hadn't been working long before he approached the firm's president to say: "Sir, I'd like to marry your daughter; that is, if you have one."

A well-known oral surgeon said recently that the practice of wiring teeth together is a poor way to lose weight. It not only doesn't insure a lower calorie intake, he points out, but might even increase it because patients can still put together a pretty hefty diet from foods that are sipped. At today's prices, who among us are going to get too big for his britches?

ON THE SUBJECT of food, a fellow we know calls his wife "Sugar." To set the record straight, she's grouchy most of the time but, on the other hand, she sure is expensive.

My idea of a born loser is one who didn't make either Nixon's list of enemies or Nelson Rockefeller's gift list.

My Answer

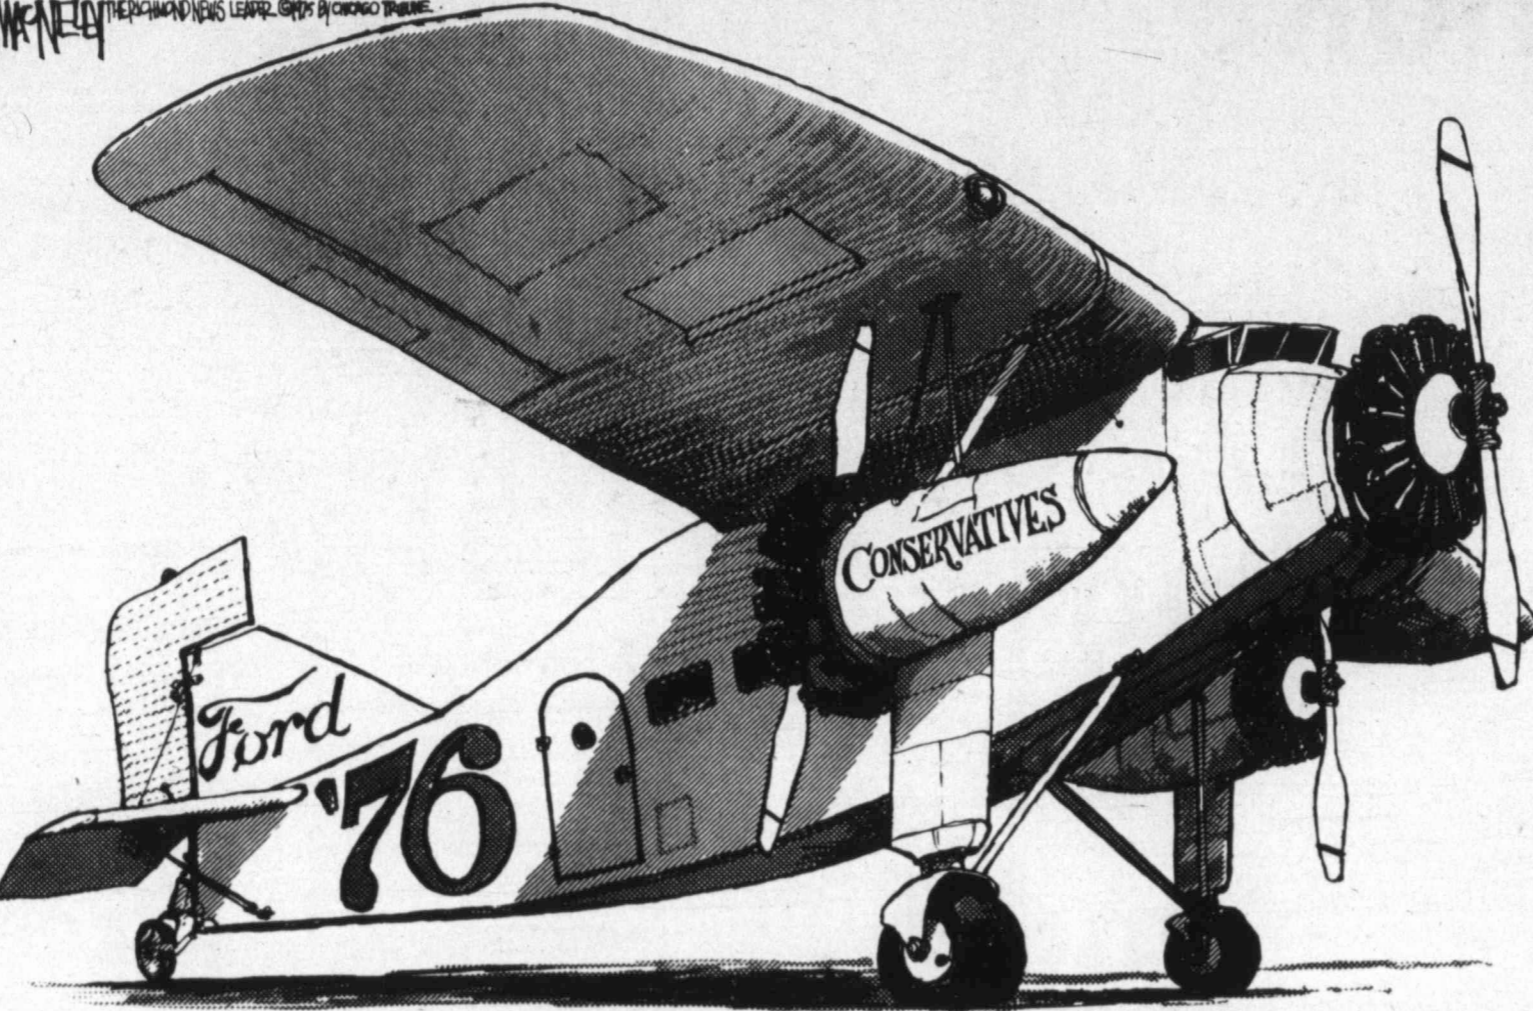

Billy Graham

I'm a Dominican, and saw your column in the paper at a friends house. What problems I have! For seven years I didn't see my husband. He was in Brooklyn; then he went to book return passage to Santo Domingo the first of July last year; he got sick on the 4th and passed away on the 7th. Tell me, was it God's will? And how will I answer the landlady when my children and I have nobody to support us?

There's a great statement in Psalm 35:27. "Let the Lord be magnified, which hath pleasure in the prosperity of his servant." God wants the best for you, not the worst.

Now, tragedy is never God's will. He doesn't order our misfortune, and His heart is grieved over our problems. The Elijah story in 1 Kings 17 tells how the prophet was cared for once by ravens, and then by a kindly widow, so poor herself that she anticipated dying.

Let me apply that to you. You will survive even as she did, and your children will be reared somehow. What means God will use, I don't know. But share your desperate condition with fellow Christians, and be ready to do what work you can to supplement income. Have you also checked on whether there was any insurance from his previous employment? The Lord will lead you, as through constant prayer you bolster your spirits.

I know the economy of your country is very bad now. But remember, miracles are not past.

Reassessment

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — President Ford's "reassessment" of Mideast policy, coinciding with the most recent U.S.-Israel relationship ever, has produced one hard result: a holdup of final approval for arming Israel with two advanced U.S. weapons systems.

NEGOTIATIONS for delivery of the 170-mile-range Lance missile with conventional warhead and the F-15 fighter aircraft, both avidly sought by Israel, have been suspended. That is by no means proof that Mr. Ford has decided to use the weapons lever to force concessions from Israel. To the contrary, reassessment at the highest levels here will reach no final conclusions prior to completion around April 10.

Item: U.S. anger over release by Israel of two maps purporting to show the difference between Israeli and Egyptian offers for a Sinai withdrawal. U.S. officials told us Kissinger and his negotiating team never did receive "a map or a line" of any kind from Israel. The maps released by the Israelis, they say, could not reflect precise lines because the Israelis refused to draw precise lines.

ITEM: The Israeli charge, reported by us last week, that Mr. Ford's letter to Prime Minister Mitzhak Rabin "boomeranged" and hardened the Israeli position. One official who has worked closely for years with Israel called it "a lie." The letter could not have affected the talks, he said, because it wasn't sent until after Rabin turned down the last Egyptian plan (even though the formal Israeli cabinet approval of the turn-down came a few hours later).

ITEM: Israel's insistence on formal Egyptian "non-belligerence" as the price for yielding strategic Sinai passes and oil fields, despite highly persuasive Israeli statements to the U.S. before the latest round of talks that this would not be a sticking point.

While such distrust and anger were being sown between the Israeli and U.S. governments, a special Israeli military training team was under instruction at a U.S. Army base in the use of the Lance missile. The weapon had been cleared months ago for Israel. But now approval for actual delivery to Israel of the highly accurate and sophisticated weapons system is being held up.

Negotiations for the brand new F-15, wanted by Israel as the follow-on of the F-4 Phantom (still being delivered to Israel), have come to a standstill. The President, privately angered that Israel failed to move as far as he thinks it should have to break the Sinai deadlock, wants his reassessment to examine the whole question of American arms deliveries. So pervasive is the President's reappraisal that Kissinger summoned a blue-ribbon panel of elder statesmen and former high officials for a private review Monday at the State Department.

Misleading Stats

NEW YORK (AP) — Of all the misleading statistics that emerge from the numbers gatherers in Washington, none is sadder than that of "discouraged workers." There are 1.1 million of them. They don't count.

They don't count as unemployed, that is, and so the jobless rate in March was 8.7 per cent of the labor force instead of a full percentage point more than that. The reason: Discouraged workers who give up looking for jobs are not counted as part of the labor force. They don't contribute to the jobless rate, even though they are clearly among the worst off of the jobless.

This is just the latest example of how government statistics often mislead the public. The purpose isn't to mislead; the effect is to do so.

The figures for gross national product are, of course, among the most misleading. We hear countless references to this being a trillion dollar economy. By whose standard and what measure? By any sane measure it still hasn't been reached.

The trillion dollar economy does exist if you include inflation, instead of excluding it, as you logically should. Just because prices go up doesn't mean the economy is bigger. Goods and services, not prices, make an economy.

In fact, the gross national product is almost always defined as the total production of goods and services. Inflation is not production; it is merely a higher price tag. If you use inflated dollars to measure the GNP you will come up with a figure of more than $1.4 trillion. But if you use the dollar as it was valued in 1958 you'll have a total of $900 billion or less.

It looks good if the purpose is to impress. But it's illogical and deceitful. The calibrations on the measuring stick are different.

Misleading also are the personal income figures. Misleading, at least, for personal consumption. In February, for example, payrolls fell for the fourth month in a row, but personal income rose.

Many people interpret this to mean that somehow people were better off despite the recession. The real explanation is that unemployment benefits are included in the category called personal income.

Are you proud that this is the nation in which free enterprise rules supreme? It's still taught that way in books, but by several measures the United States is far down the list. If, for example, you measure the amount of social versus free enterprise by figuring out the total tax revenue as a percentage of GNP, you might find the United States somewhere around the middle.

Among other countries, France, Italy, Switzerland, Greece, Portugal, Japan, Turkey and Spain have lower taxes as a percentage of total output.

But none of these deceptions equals the moral or statistical illogic of calling discouraged job seekers no longer members of the work force.

Handling Angina

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 67 years old. Seven years ago I suffered a slight heart attack. Shortly afterward, I began suffering angina attacks. I am a potato farmer and still do what work I can, driving a tractor or truck.

However, walking bothers me as much as anything, especially upgrade. I am taking medication for my angina. Can you tell me if I am better off keeping active or should I retire completely? —F.R.C.

Many angina patients continue active lives and learn the art of using nitroglycerine tablets — when precisely to take one, when not to. They don't have to wait for an attack, but learn to anticipate a potential attack situation, such as before heavy activity or a heavy meal, or, in your case, when there is a need to walk considerable distances.

They learn, too, that exertion is not the only factor in bringing on an attack. Breathing cold air will induce anginal pain. But, as to your question: I would not advise you to retire, but instead I advice you to learn all the tricks you need, including the ones I've listed, so you can remain active, safely.

Take cold air, for example. There is a plastic mask that can be worn over the nose and mouth in cold, windy weather.

As to your walking, you know that tractors and trucks, especially as they get on in years, become unpredictable in behavior. Since walking gives you problems, you should be armed with a whistle or a horn, so that if you are ever stranded 40 or 80 acres away from the dinner bell, you can give a signal to let someone know to come and get you. If you are overweight, reduce — admittedly a tough assignment with a farm kitchen around.

Studies have shown that anginal discomfort can be reduced, along with the need for nitroglycerine, if one engages in regular but mild forms of exercise. Driving a tractor or truck within reasonable limits seems to qualify for this.

So, no, there's no need for retirement, even though you are 67, beyond the generally accepted retirement age. Having been as active as you probably have been all your life, you might deteriorate more quickly as a retiree.

I would suggest a modification of your chores, especially those involving extensive walking. And there is medication besides nitroglycerine which can be used in regular, non-emergency dosage to avoid angina pain. ***

If afflicted with problem fingernails or toenails, learn the practical, medically correct form of treatment. Write to Dr. Thosteson, P. O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill. 60120 for a copy of his booklet, "Solving Your Nail Problems," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is also vital to human life. For this reason Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." For a copy write to Dr. Thosteson, P. O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

'Queen' May Pave Way

By JAY SHARBUTT
(AP Television Writer)

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Goldenberg, who wrote the music for a critically-cheered CBS musical drama called "Queen of the Stardust Ballroom," thinks there may be more shows like it on TV in the future.

But the Brooklyn-born composer doesn't expect there'll ever be 24-inch versions of the old, lavish MGM musicals simply because the cost would be prohibitive. And he wouldn't want to write one, anyway. "I'm really antinostalgia," says Goldenberg, a short, softspoken man of 39 who says he'd prefer working on musical dramas with contemporary themes and ideas "that are very pertinent to our time."

"Queen," about a love affair between a freshly widowed, middle-aged woman and married mailman, wasn't a musical in the accepted sense. It was a drama in which the songs became an extension of the dialogue. Goldenberg says since the show's appearance on CBS last February, various producers have urged him to collaborate with them on new TV musicals, "but they have no conception of what to go for."

"What we should be talking about are pertinent subjects, about contemporary ideas. I'm not looking for a musical playwright as much as I'm looking for a good playwright, period.

"If Edward Albee came over and said, 'I have an idea, let's see if it has a musical future,' or if Gore Vidal said, 'Hey, what about this,' I would be elated. I think that's where we have to go now."

In short, musical escapism isn't the composer's full-time bag. Ironically, he got his big break in television by writing incidental music for what you'd call "escapist" TV series.

That was back in the late 1960s, when he was learning the complex process of writing music for film under the tutelage of the late Stan Wilson, a Universal Television music supervisor famed in Hollywood for giving many of today's "name" TV composers their start.

Goldenberg, who said his first full TV assignment for Wilson was a "To Catch a Thief" segment, currently lists the themes of the "Kojak" and "Rhoda" series among his credits. His most recent mafeor-TV film score was for ABC's "The Legend of Lizzie Borden."

He said "Queen" was an experiment of sorts, costing about $750,000, but it may pave the way for more TV musical dramas if only because the cost favorably compares with that of many made-for-TV movies.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"You will be a witness for Him to all men of what you have seen and heard." (Acts 22:15 NASB)

PRAYER: Thank You, Father, for the impact of Your Son has had in our lives. Give us courage and wisdom in sharing with others the difference He makes in us. Amen.

16 Persons Killed In Texas Traffic Mishaps

By the Associated Press
Traffic accidents as usual drew the blame for the greater part of the violent deaths in Texas during the weekend.
The toll of death between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Sunday reached 23 with 16 persons killed in traffic mishaps.
These were among the victims:
Eric Hillary, 22, of Dallas was killed Sunday when his car hit a slick spot on the city's South Thornton Freeway and banged against a bridge pillar. A companion, Joyce Mitchell, 20, of Marshall, suffered critical injuries.

A shotgun charge killed Melvin T. Arnold, 34, while he was unloading a trailer at his home in Houston. Police reported the weapon fired as he started to remove it.
Charles Clark, 17, of San Augustine drowned Sunday while trying to recover a fishing rod which fell into Toledo Bend Reservoir near Hemphill.

Richard J. Wenske, 18, of Port Lavaca was killed early Sunday when the car he was driving hit a bridge on U. S. 77 about 19 miles south of Hallettsville, crashed into a creek bed and burned.
Officers said a knife-wielding intruder broke into a home at Lakeview near Port Arthur, early Sunday and beat and stabbed Martha Heath, 57, to death. Her 85-year-old father was wounded seriously.

An Amarillo woman, Elinora Pickens, 61, was found beaten to death at her home shortly after 10 a.m. Sunday. Police said an arrest was made. It was the fourth slaying in a week in the Panhandle city.
A Houston bank executive was killed and his wife seriously injured early Sunday when their car went out of control on a city street and struck a road maintenance vehicle. Police identified the dead man as Artie Allen, 46, vice president of the Jacinto City Bank. Officers said his wife Nina was hospitalized with a broken back. Jose M. Torres, 20, of Dallas died Saturday night in a car which leaped a guard rail on Thornton Freeway in East Dallas. Two passengers — Janie Moreno, 17, and Hector De-Leon, 22 — were injured seriously.

Two men were killed in Fort Worth Friday night when their van truck rammed a bridge abutment. Police identified them as Jerry McCloskey, 24, and Roger Burns, 25, both of Durant, Okla.

Brother Of Abducted, Raped Girl Discovered

SECAUCUS, N.J. (AP) — The search for 6-year-old Robert Hall has ended with the discovery of the abducted youngster's body about 1,000 feet from where his sister's body was found two days earlier.
His body was spotted Sunday in the Hackensack River by a police helicopter. Hall and his 11-year-old sister, Esli, were abducted last month while they were walking to school in nearby Union City where they lived.
A man forced the Hall children into a car while they were walking to the Edison School on March 20, according to schoolmates who witnessed the abduction. Police said no ransom demand was made.

Union City Police Chief Herman Bolte said the Hall boy's body showed no evidence of physical violence. He said the boy was fully clothed and did not appear to have been beaten. Bolte said an autopsy on the boy's body would be completed today.
An autopsy showed that Esli Hall had been raped and strangled, authorities said. Her body was nude except for socks and a sweater around her neck.

Bolte made no comment on the progress of their search for the abductor of the Hall children, whose father, Robert Hall, is a 54-year-old maintenance worker in Newark. The Hall family has three other children.

STEIGER SOARS — Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., strapped himself to the wing of a Stearman biplane Saturday to promote Sunday's Desert Sportsman Pilots Association benefit airshow at Mesa, Ariz. Home Of Police Chief Burned, Wife Threatened KLEBERG, Tex. (AP) — Bill Brown has been police chief of this Dallas County town for two weeks. In that time his home has been burned and his wife and child threatened. Now there is a move to fire him.

Brown, 30, says, "It all boils down to someone who is trying to scare us so we'll get out of here. But we're not going anywhere."

But Kleberg's newly elected mayor, Don Coker, says he may ask for Brown's resignation because he does not "follow orders of his superiors." Coker would not elaborate.

The police chief vowed to clean up this town of 5,000 when he took office. He claimed the area, about 10 miles southeast of Dallas, had a serious drug problem, but no arrests were being made. He said, "The woods around Kleberg are teeming with ex-convicts. Since I've been here, five dead bodies have been found. It's a mess."

Brown says he believes the attacks on himself and his family are related to drug arrests he has made, but he said he does not know who is responsible.

Bobbie Brown and their 3-year-old daughter Kristi returned from a shopping trip Wednesday night to find their home a blackened shell.

Earlier that evening, Kristi told her mother she saw someone in the back yard. Mrs. Brown said she heard gravel splattering against the windows of the house that night shortly after her husband left to begin an eight-hour night shift.

Brown said threatening phone calls began almost immediately after he became police chief. Male callers threatened to kill his wife and daughter, he said. He said two other Kleberg police officers also received threatening phone calls during the week.

The Browns now are living with his mother in Fort Worth, but the harassment has not stopped. Brown said his wife received a threatening phone call there this weekend.

Late Tuesday afternoon, the day before Brown's house was destroyed, a Kleberg police dispatcher received a call from the Dallas County sheriff's station at Seagoville informing the office that the sheriff would no longer answer calls in Kleberg.

Sheriff Clarence Jones said that last week Kleberg city councilman Charles Wright, a reserve policeman and part owner of a private night club, told Jones not to send his men into Kleberg after an incident at the club.

Kleberg councilman William McColm, who supports Brown, said the newly elected city council "may be hostile toward Brown." He said Coker has "been against Brown all along."

Registration No Longer Required Of 18-Year-Olds

Young men no longer are required to register with their local draft board upon reaching their 18th birthday for the first time since Aug. 31, 1948.

The State Selective Service director, Col. Melvin Glantz, issued the instructions to local boards and registrars effective April 1 to comply with President Gerald Ford's presidential proclamation.

Glantz said that although registration is being terminated at this time, new procedures providing for periodic registration are being developed and will be tested at a later date.

Billie Barron, at the county judge's office, and Douglas Hedges, National Guard Armory, are the local Selective Service registrars, and have been notified that the 18-year-olds no longer must register.

Local Board No. 71 is still located in Big Spring, but the business office is now located in the Federal Building in Midland.

The Selective Service will continue to carry out its mission on a "stand-by" basis and will continue to classify men in accordance with current regulations, and maintain a pool of available manpower for the military as a part of the over-all Emergency Preparedness Program of the Nation. Glantz pointed out that Selective Service has sufficient men registered and classified to continue the first priority selection groups through the end of 1976. The first priority selection group for 1976 will be those men who were born in 1956. These are the men who would be called first should Congress renew induction authority in event of a national emergency.

Non-Com Unit Carries Torch

Ten members of the Permian Basin Non-Commissioned Officers Association took part in the recent torch bearing project to help raise fund for retarded people.

TSgt. Harvey J. Schirmer Jr., local chapter chairman, said the runners picked up a torch — lighted on the West Coast and being shuttled in a marathon to Houston was picked up in Sierra Blanca and delivered at Van Horn to a contingent from the San Angelo chapter. He added that persons wanting to make donations may send them to the Joseph P. Kennedy Foundation in Washington, D.C. or to Howard County Association of Retired Personnel.

Webb runners participating in the marathon were Sgt. Schirmer, S.Sgt. David Horn, M.Sgt. John Moore, T.Sgt. Jim Fuhrer, Iva Schirmer, and Shirley Fuhrer. Others from the Permian NCOA chapter helping out in the 36-mile trek were M.Sgt. (ret.) Ed Moore, MSgt. (ret.) John Alford, Kyle Neighbors and Jimmie Pope.

State Hospitals Suit Delayed

DALLAS (AP) — U. S. Dist. Court Judge William M. Taylor Jr. delayed today a class action suit against several state hospitals which had been scheduled here Monday.

Taylor, who said a current court case conflicts with the planned today suit hearing, scheduled a conference for Tuesday to discuss with litigants a new trial date. At that time, he said, he will rule on a motion by Dallas Legal Services, plaintiffs in the suit, for continuance of the case.

Dallas Legal Services filed the suit on behalf of patients at state hospitals in Terrell, Rusk, Wichita Falls, Austin, San Antonio, Big Spring and Kerrville.

The suit alleges faulty operation of the state hospitals.

Lawyer Vows He'll Prove Jake Jacobsen Is A Liar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense lawyer Edward Bennett Williams vows he'll prove that Jake Jacobsen, John B. Connally's accuser, is a liar. The courtroom confrontation could provide the highlight of the former treasury secretary's bribery trial.

Today was Williams' first chance to cross-examine Jacobsen, the prosecution's star witness against Connally.

Jacobsen, one-time lawyer for the Associated Milk Producers Inc., says Connally asked for money for his efforts to convince the Nixon administration to raise milk prices. Connally took two $5,000 gifts and then conspired in a vain attempt to cover up the payment when investigators closed in, according to Jacobsen.

But Williams, defending Connally, says Jacobsen is only lying to save his neck. Williams says Jacobsen actually embezzled the $10,000 from the milk producers' group.

The first three days of the trial last week were taken up in jury selection, low-key opening statements by both sides and the first presentation of evidence by the prosecution, including direct examination of Jacobsen.

Jacobsen was indicted twice last year by two separate federal grand juries in two unrelated cases for the crime of perjury, or lying under oath. Also cited by the defense is the fact that Jacobsen swore under oath on four different occasions in 1973 and 1974 that Connally took no money, and only later reversed his story.

Finally there is the deal Jacobsen struck with prosecutors. In return for his testimony against Connally, the government allowed him to plead guilty to a single felony count carrying a maximum jail term of two years, and they dropped charges carrying a maximum possible jail term of 40 years.

The prosecutors have presented documentary evidence that was offered to support parts of Jacobsen's story.

Bank records show Jacobsen opened safe deposit boxes before the two visits to Connally during which he says he made the illegal gifts.

Telephone records indicate calls were made between Jacobsen and Connally after a Watergate grand jury began to investigate the alleged bribe, and when Jacobsen says the two began to plot a cover-up.

And there are Connally's official logs, putting Jacobsen in Connally's office on a number of occasions, including the two crucial meetings when Jacobsen allegedly delivered the two $5,000 installments.

More Red Meat Is Produced

Production of red meat in Texas shot up 33 percent over the same period a year ago, with the state's commercial slaughtering plants producing 214.3 million pounds in the second month of 1975, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

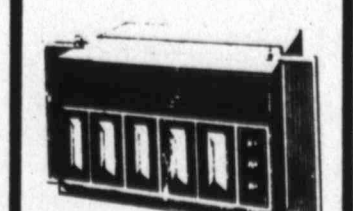

Total red meat production during the first two months of 1975 was 458.1 million pounds, compared with 361.9 million a year ago.

"While hog, sheep and lamb slaughter was down, stepped up slaughter of the overabundant supplies of Texas cattle accounted for the increase in red meat production in February," White explained. A total of 370,000 head of cattle were slaughtered in February, 51,000 below a month earlier but 118,000 above a year ago.

CLOSE Huddle — Cambodian women and children huddle close together in fear of incoming fire from Khmer Rouge forces off Highway 5, just northwest of Phnom Penh Sunday.

Premier Insists Capital Will Never Be Captured

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Khmer Rouge made new attacks on Phnom Penh's northern defense lines today as Premier Long Boret prepared to return to the capital, vowing it would never fall.

Field reports said another isolated government enclave was in danger of falling. Insurgents moved into Kompong Speu, 30 miles southwest of the capital, after a shelling attack that wounded 30 persons.

Field reports said rebels on the east bank of the Tonle Sap River north of Phnom Penh were harassing the road along the west bank between Phnom Penh and Prek Phnou with mortar and machine gun fire. The sources indicated the daily toll on the battlefield was in the low dozens as weary government troops avoided close-quarters combat.

Continued pressure also was reported northwest of the capital in the "rocket belt" area menacing the city's airport lifeline. Eighteen rounds in three hours killed two persons and wounded one, but the U.S. airlift of rice, fuel and ammunition went on. Informed sources said the daily tonnage of ammunition has dropped in recent days as appropriate supplies dwindled.

Field reports said a shell landed in a military hospital Sunday at Prek Phnou, seven miles away, killing two persons and wounding 10.

The Phnom Penh command continued drawing troops from provincial garrisons to bolster the defense of the capital in hopes that the U.S. Congress will vote more military aid in the next two weeks and improve the government's bargaining position.

The U.S. Embassy continued airlifting members of its staff to Bangkok. About three-quarters of the staff is being flown out.

Long Boret, who accompanied President Lon Nol to Indonesia last week, returned to Bangkok and said Sunday night that Phnom Penh "will never be captured — there will be no military victory for the other side."

He urged Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the exiled chief of state deposed by Lon Nol five years ago, to begin negotiating a peace settlement. The premier suggested that peace talks be supervised by international organizations or the Association of Southeast Asian Nations, whose members are Indonesia, Thailand, Singapore, Malaysia, and the Philippines.

Sihanouk has warned other Asian nations not to meddle in Cambodian affairs and said the Khmer Rouge would never negotiate with Lon Nol or other members of his regime.

HC's Men Place Third

Howard College men's rodeo team placed third in the over-all standings of the Eastern New Mexico University intercollegiate rodeo competition.

The women's team fared well in barrel racing but did not place in the over-all standings. This was the first competition for the HC team in many weeks. Members go to San Angelo this weekend to participate in competition staged by Angelo State University.

Jack Himes won the bareback title at Las Cruces, N.M., posting a 65 and 75 on his rides. He placed fourth in Bull riding.

Rawleigh McCullough was third in the first round of bull riding. Engate Hawk placed second in the first go round of bareback bronc riding, and Olen Rust was third in the first go round of steer wrestling.

In barrel racing, Cindy Bird tied for first in the initial go round with Carolyn Roan and Terry Himes next with 16.1 and Kay Proctor with 16.2. Carolyn finished third in the final barrels standings and Cindy fourth. Byron Hedges, coach, said he hoped that most of the HC team members can be scheduled for Friday evening at Angelo State so local fans can follow them.

Aaron Fails To Unlimber In Two Tries in Midland

By CLARK LESHER
Home run king Hank Aaron was cast in the leading role Sunday afternoon at the Cub Stadium in Midland.

Shutters from the photographers' cameras clicked and TV cameras rolled.

Aaron, traded from the Atlanta Braves to the Milwaukee Brewers during the off-season, had a quick reaction and answer period.

Here was the man talking to the media who had become a national symbol by knocking Babe Ruth's home run record last season.

Question presented to Aaron: Can you at the age of 37 make the adjustment to a new designated hitter role? "It's a whole new ball game," Aaron said.

Not accustomed to the new assignment, Aaron feels it will take time to readjust. It has confidence of filling such mission. "I hope to have a good year," he added.

Aaron granted only a limited number of photographs. The Brewers in their quest of the AL flag take a big plus with the addition of Aaron's big bat.

Aaron, standing in the batting cage, unlimbered for the game by firing off several balls over the left field fence. It brought cheers on the crowd.

Shirt-sleeve weather prevailed, hardly a breeze as ruffled, though the sky was overcast.

OLD FRIENDS — Bobby Bragan, former major league player and manager, and now Texas League president shakes hands with home run king Hank Aaron prior to the Milwaukee-Chicago exhibition Sunday afternoon in Midland. Bragan has held his current post for six years.

During the Milwaukee-Chicago exhibition, won by the Brewers, 12-6, Aaron failed to unlimber for a single hit in two tries. He walked his first time at the plate and hit two long fly balls to the outfield that were caught.

Aaron, on one occasion, poked one over the left field fence, but was ruled foul.

Home runs were at a premium. Milwaukee's Mike Hegan blasted away for a pair. Rick Monday and Bill Madlock each hit a four-bagger. Bill Chapman was credited with the win. The loss fell Bill Bonham's direction.

Attendance of 4,650 was voiced by the Cub public address announcer.

Jim Marshall, Chicago manager, said, "We are a young club, but getting better." The Cubs' infield looked somewhat ragged in spots.

Among notables present were: Bobby Bragan, Texas League president; Ernie Banks, former Cub infielder; and Lou Boudreau and Vince Lloyd, radio voices for the Major League Cubs.

Both lineups were juggled quite recently during the game.

A large delegation from Big Spring was present.

Larry Horton, Big Spring baseball coach, renewed acquaintances with a former Texas University baseball teammate, Bert Hooten of Chicago.

Hooten has been with the Cubs four years, making his major debut appearance the last year Leo Durocher was manager.

Both clubs passed approval of the playing surface, being smoother than some major parks. Midland is a Texas League AA farm team of the parent Chicago organization.

A home run hitting contest between Aaron and Banks failed to materialize.

This was the first time major league ball has been played in the West Texas area for some 24 years.

With the opener moved from Tuesday to Wednesday because of a snowstorm in Chicago, the club scheduled a 1 p.m. intra-squad workout today on Midland Cubs' home grounds.

owned," said Trevino, who shot a late round 68 for 281.

But Weiskopf, a leader since his opening round of 64, was the happiest of them all. He pushed his bulging lead to six shots with a 15-foot sidehill put for an eagle on the ninth hole, then cruised home with a 68 and a 275 total, nine under par on the 6,643-yard Sedgfield Country Club course.

Veteran Al Geiberger quietly slipped in to take second with a 68-278 after Jerry McGee, Weiskopf's only real challenger in the final round, hit in the water and made a double bogey on the 17th hole. He was third at 68-280.

Liberals Gaining In Austin

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Liberal city councilman Jeff Friedman, a 30-year-old lawyer, will be the youngest mayor in Austin's history.

He won election Saturday in voting that may give liberals control of city government in Texas' capital.

Two other liberals were elected to council posts, and two more are in runoff against conservatives. Conservative candidates won two seats.

Friedman often crossed swords with conservatives on the council, including Mayor Roy Butler, who did not seek re-election.

The young lawyer defeated conservative councilman Dr. Bud Dryden by a 55-44 per cent margin. Friedman collected 39,319 votes to Dryden's 31,921 ballots. Three other candidates split the remaining one per cent of the vote.

Newly-elected council liberals are St. Edwards University psychology professor Emma Lou Linn, a leader in historical preservation in Austin, and Jimmy Snell, a black who was picked in a special election to replace a black who was appointed to a state post.

Conservatives winning election were Betty Himmelman, a former city planning commission member, and wealthy investor Lowell Lebermann, the only incumbent who sought re-election.

Runoffs are scheduled between conservative former councilman Jay Johnson and liberal John Trevino, and between liberal Margaret Hoffman and conservative contractor Bob Gray.

Pharmacy Hit, Drugs Missing

Bennett's Pharmacy was broken into during the early morning hours today, and an undetermined amount of narcotics were missing.

An inventory was being taken today by Bennett Brooke for law officials of the type of narcotics missing.

Entry was gained by a vehicle ramming the back door. Last month, entry was gained into Leonard's Pharmacy when a vehicle backed into the door.

Police expressed the belief that the door was rammed with the front portion of the vehicle.

Dear Abby

What Needs Covering Makes The Difference

DEAR ABBY: What's with Mel in Belleville? Is he crazy? He says pants on women should be declared valid grounds for an uncontested divorce.

Doesn't Mel know that lots of women wear pants because they're warm in the winter? (My mother has arthritis, and pants have been a Godsend for her.)

I find them very practical on my job because I do a lot of stretching and bending and stooping. I'm not exactly petite, and while I never could get a dress in my size that was along enough to cover my knees, I can always find pants that cover me modestly.

Also with pants, I can wear different blouses, shirts and jackets. How many different ways can you wear a dress?

NUTS TO MEL

DEAR ABBY: I'm with Mel. I'm a woman who is tired of pants, but I can't find a decent looking dress anywhere. All the stores are loaded with pants suits.

My husband says I've got the best-looking legs in town, and I'm not about to hide them if I can help it.

Where are the designers who will make women look like women again?

LOVES DRESSES

DEAR ABBY: My advice to Mel is: Please, don't criticize my wearing apparel until you've walked a mile in my skirt — preferably on Michigan Avenue in February.

Scouts Honor Patty Hollis

Traditionally, Girl Scout Service Unit 36, Webb AFB, bestows the title of "Little Miss Girl Scout" on the first baby girl born during Girl Scout Week.

This year the honor goes to Patty Jean Hollis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hollis, 1600 Mesquite, who was born at 12:50 p.m., March 14 at Medical Center Memorial Hospital. The infant weighed 5 pounds, 15 1/2 ounces.

A silver cup, and a certificate making her an honorary Girl Scout was presented to the baby Friday afternoon by a representative group of Scouts from the service unit.

The following weekend young pianists from Dallas to El Paso will be at the college for Spring auditions with Big Spring's own Mrs. Anne Gibson Houser as the judge. Wide Lapels Hold Grip On Fashion

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Men who want to be with it won't be able to haul their narrow-lapel suits out of mothballs for at least two more years, say top executives of the menswear industry.

Norman Karr, executive director of the Men's Fashion Association, said the wide-lapel, long-coat version of men's suits has "stabilized."

However, Karr said that other tailoring variations such as deeper side vents, or no vents, or belted jackets will be the thing in the coming season.

Subdued colors and coordinated outfits dominated showings Sunday at the concluding session of five days of male style previews conducted here.

Such top designers as Pierre Cardin and Bill Kaiserman offered dress-up and leisure suits in solid colors such as off-white and beige.

The new looks reflected some cost-consciousness and were designed to permit coordination with a wide variety of accessories such as patterned dress shirts, creative tie ideas and turtle neck sweaters, Karr said.

This rocker holds 1 1/2 people

It's nice to study side by side with your child. So we've brought you a Tell City rocker-and-a-half that's big enough for both of you. Also big enough for an oversized man, a little woman who likes to sit on her feet, even two lovebirds (human variety). Tell City has built it extra pretty as well as extra big. Authentic Early American styling in solid hard rock maple. Deep, foam-filled cushions in your choice of solid colors or beautiful prints. Easy action you have to rock to believe. Come sit in one. And bring your pupil along, if you like.
