LUBBOCK BANK ROBBER
'Bitter Because He Was Poor'

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Police held a New Mexico man today following the kidnaping of an investor's family, the robbery of the Lubbock National Bank and a wild police chase to Plainview where the man was captured.

None of the three hostages was harmed.

Police said some 30 law enforcement vehicles, including a state police helicopter, participated in the chase and capture at a roadblock outside Plainview Thursday.

The arrested man, Ruben Escobedo, 23, of Hobbs N.M., was held under $200,000 in bonds, charged with aggravated robbery and aggravated kidnaping.

Lubbock police gave these details:

Twelve-year-old Todd Wilson was feeding his horse around 6 p.m. Wednesday near the Wilson home when Escobedo approached him and marched the youth into the home at gunpoint. Todd's mother, Bobbie, and older brother, Mark, 18, were held hostage through the night.

His father, A.L. Wilson, a Lubbock investor, was in Europe on business.

The Wilson family was forced to drive Escobedo to the bank Thursday morning. Police said he entered the bank with the hostages and ordered $3,500 from a bank officer.

Escobedo and his hostages fled north on U.S. 87, chased by about 20 cars driven by police, sheriff's deputies, highway patrolmen and Texas Rangers.

A police helicopter hovered over the caravan on its way to Plainview at speeds up to 100 miles an hour.

Mark Wilson jerked the gunman's weapon from him at the roadblock and Escobedo surrendered without incident.

Officers said about 10 patrol units formed the roadblock some two miles south of Plainview.

Mrs. Wilson described Escobedo as a man "bitter because he was poor."

Police said he had only eight cents of his own money in his pocket when arrested.

Missing
Boaters

MANY, La. (AP) — A search for two Fort Worth, Tex. men missing since early Thursday after their boat swamped at Toledo Bend Lake was to resume at dawn today, Sabine Parish Sheriff George Cook said.

Four other persons were rescued several hours after a small bass boat and a barge were swamped by high waves at the lake located near the Texas-Louisiana border.

The swamping occurred when the boaters tried to moor the bass boat onto the barge.

The missing men were identified as Ed Robinson, 30, and Dave Wiggins, 34, both of Fort Worth. Search operations continued until dark Thursday.

Senators Okay
'Bentsen' Bill

AUSTIN (AP) — Senators finally approved the "Bentsen" presidential primary bill today while House members had a heated floor fight over taxes.

The Senate voted 19-7 to approve a conference committee report on the presidential primary bill. Rep. Tom Schieffer, D-Fort Worth, said he would seek a final decision in the House "if I have the votes."

House action stalled for close to an hour when Rep. Joe Pentony, D-Houston, suddenly moved to instruct the House Revenue and Taxation Committee to report out a bill increasing oil and gas production taxes.

Estimates of revenue from the bill varied but Pentony said it would produce enough money to beef up spending on public schools while enabling school districts to reduce property taxes.

Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Bloomington, committee chairman, and Rep. Ron Waters, D-Houston, sponsor of the bill, appeared close to blows after Waters walked away from the microphone and declined to discuss a conversation the two apparently had held earlier about the bill.

With Gov. Dolph Briscoe declaring he would veto any new taxes, Wyatt said his policy was against holding any hearing on a tax bill unless requested by an eight-member majority of his committee.

"If the bill is enacted, there are going to be several thousand gas wells in this state shut down because that would be the effect of raising the severance tax by 10 per cent (from 7.5 per cent)," said Fred Agnich, R-Dallas.

There were groans, boos and shouts of "No!"

"Listen to me, I know the oil business," Agnich declared.

Pentony said existing state revenue was some $150 million short of "doing what is right for the teachers and what is right for the school districts."

"If we raise $530 million for education, we can correspondingly reduce the amount of money put into education by local entities, and all that money is property tax," he said.

The motion failed, 50-85.

The presidential primary bill has been a major issue since early in the session.

The bill would "self-destruct" after the 1976 primary in which Sen. Lloyd Bentsen will seek to control the Texas delegation to the Democratic presidential nominating convention. Bentsen is an announced candidate for the White House.

It contains a "winner-take-all" provision for allocating a senatorial or congressional district's delegates to the candidate with the most votes, with no apportionment to several candidates on the basis of their relative strength.

In Thursday's action, the House voted 71-69 to defeat a bill raising maximum unemployment benefits from $63 a week to two-thirds of the state's average weekly wage. That would have pegged the maximum benefit at $105 a week.

Still pending is a Senate-passed bill raising the ceiling on jobless benefits to $70; but Thursday's vote might have killed it as well. The Texas Constitution prohibits consideration of a bill that is substantially the same as one that has been killed.

Rep. Anthony Hall, D-Houston, the sponsor, said a raise is in order because of the small purchasing power of $63 a week. Only Mississippi has a lower top benefit than Texas, he said.

Rep. W. C. Sherman, D-Fort Worth, said if Hall's bill passed, "the businessmen of Texas would be socked to the tune of $404.2 million" in additional unemployment insurance costs over the next five years.

"I submit that unemployment is a very expensive and devastating proposition," Hall replied.

He said businesses for many years have paid only one-tenth of 1 per cent of their payrolls, on the average, into the unemployment fund.

The House passed, 134-6, and sent to the Senate a bill setting up a "certificate of need" program that could prevent construction of unneeded hospital facilities. The program, required for Texas to continue receiving $350 million a year in federal health care funds, would be run by a three-member commission that could not include doctors or other providers of medical services.

The bill also would rename the State Health Department the "Texas Department of Health Resources" and give it the responsibility for statewide health planning.

Senators passed and sent to the House bills that would: —Appropriate $498,000 to print and mail to each household a tabloid containing the new Texas Constitution on which the voters will make a decision Nov. 4.

—Put the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in charge of a project to build artificial reefs in Texas bays, estuaries and inland waters with old tires.

—Make it a crime for anyone not entitled to food stamps to possess them. If the stamps were worth less than $100, one could go to jail for a year and pay a fine of up to $2,000. For greater amounts, the punishment would be up to a $5,000 fine and two to 10 years in prison.

House sponsors withdrew a bill to give the Texas Education Agency $2.8 million to cover over-spending on textbooks.

At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is demonstrating solid support for emergency aid to Indochina refugees, but not for the full $507 million requested by President Ford. There were some indications that aid might not be approved as quickly as Ford wants, despite these actions in Congress on Thursday: The House Judiciary Committee voted 30 to 4 to approve an unlimited authorization bill for the refugees; the House foreign operations appropriations subcommittee, which sets the dollar amounts to be spent, approved $405 million in aid, a cut from Ford's $507 million request; the Senate voted 91 to 1 to welcome the refugees, and the Senate, by voice vote, approved use of leftover Vietnam military aid money for the refugees.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The California Legislature has approved a sexual "bill of rights" for adults but refused to relax penalties for marijuana possession. The Assembly passed and sent to Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. on Thursday a measure repealing the state's 100-year-old sex laws and legalizing all heterosexual and homosexual acts in private between consenting adults. But the Assembly rejected by a narrow margin legislation that would have made an individual found in possession of an ounce or less of marijuana subject to a maximum $100 fine. Backers of the marijuana measure said they would seek reconsideration of the bill later. If Gov. Brown signs the sex bill it would go into effect Jan. 1.

Probably Will Not Vote On Bill To Rescind ERA

AUSTIN (AP) — House Speaker Bill Clayton said today the House probably will not vote on a resolution to rescind Texas' ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

But House members probably will take a vote on a bill setting up a non-binding referendum on the subject, he indicated.

"It's getting late in the session. It would probably have no possible chance, whatsoever, if it passed the House, of getting a vote in the Senate. The question simply recurs: 'Do you want to cut up a bunch of people on a vote that is not going to pass?'" Clayton told a news conference.

The present legislative session ends June 2.

Clayton said he favored letting the House vote on the referendum because he has always advocated that private citizens involve themselves in government affairs.

"Here we have a lot of involvement. It would be a sad fact to have all these people concerned about the issue and not see the legislature act on the issue," he said.

Clayton also said he still is putting together "pieces and parts" of a school finance bill to help equalize rich and poor districts within the framework of Gov. Dolph Briscoe's no new taxes policy.

He said about $75 million to $600 million will be available for this, not including another $100 million that Comptroller Bob Bullock said he could raise if given additional manpower to seek out delinquent taxes. Clayton said the extra auditors are included in the general appropriation bill on which the House will vote in about 10 days.

Clayton said he and Briscoe agree that the major thrust of a school finance bill should be equalization, and "I hope we can come out with a bill where over half goes toward equalization." Minimum teacher pay would rise from $6,600 to $7,600 this year and $8,000 in 1976-77, he said.

The latest plan under consideration would not require local school districts, taken all together on a statewide basis, to pay any more than they would have to under present law for the Foundation School Program. Present law, however, would add between $300 million and $350 million in built-in increases to those local fund assignments, he said.

"I'm saying that local impact will be no greater statewide than under present law. But, locally, the richer districts might have to pick up more than they are presently paying," Clayton said.

School finance reform will be on Monday's debate calendar, but so much other material will be ahead of it that the bill probably won't be taken up until Tuesday morning, he said.

Hinshaw was elected to Congress in 1972. The charges apparently cover only the three when he was assessor.

Five Laotian Cabinet Ministers Call It Quits

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Five Laotian cabinet ministers closely identified with U.S. policies have resigned under mounting pressure from student groups and labor leaders, highly placed sources said today.

The reported resignations mean Prime Minister Prince Souvanna Phouma will have to reshuffle his cabinet and seem certain to mean the Communist-line Pathet Lao, who hold six cabinet portfolios under the terms of the 1973 cease-fire agreement, will emerge in a vastly strengthened position.

Word of the resignations came as Laotian students angered over rising prices threw rocks at the U.S. Embassy and tried to haul down the American flag. A U.S. Marine grabbed the flag from two students before it hit the ground and police drove the students from the compound.

The reported resignations include Defense Minister Sisouk Na Champassak and Finance Minister Ngon Sananikone, the sources said. There was no official confirmation. Ngon was reported to have left for Thailand on his way to Paris. Sisouk was believed to be in the southern Mekong river town of Pakse.

Others who reportedly resigned were Khamphay Abphay, minister of public health, Thanehone Chantharasay, deputy minister for foreign affairs and Houmphanh Sayasith, deputy minister for public works.

The resignation of these most powerful figures virtually eliminates the rightist faction in Laos. It follows the reported but unconfirmed resignations of Gen. Vang Pao, commander of military Region 2, and Gen. Thonglith Chokabeng-boung, commander of military Region 5 which includes Vientiane and the Vientiane plain.

Vang Pao, who commanded the CIA-financed Meo guerrilla army in the mountains north of Vientiane, is particularly detested by the Pathet Lao.

Observers said the resignations, coupled with an order by Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma to the rightist forces not to fight Pathet Lao forces, appear to be the beginning of the final act leading to a peaceful Pathet Lao takeover.

Meanwhile, the exodus of wealthy Lao, Chinese and Vietnamese continued. Scores of cars lined up at the ferry waiting to cross the Mekong River to Thailand.

Overtime, Hour Changes Noted For Some Hands

The pay level at which managerial and professional employees will be exempt from federal overtime wage requirements has been raised. The Department of Labor also has reduced the number of hours required before overtime can be paid in several occupations, according to Jack Camden, wage and hour administrator at Midland.

The coverage of minimum wage and overtime provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act was increased by raising the salary minimum required for exemption in certain managerial and professional jobs.

As of April 1, executive and administrative employees who earn at least $15 a week will remain exempt from pay provisions of the Act. The old minimum is $125. Professional employees must earn at least $170, up from $140 per week and executive or administrative employees must earn $250 a week, up from the old minimum of $200 per week.

Nearly 2,000,000 workers will be effected by the reduction of working hours required before overtime pay is required. The new rates apply to employees who are now receiving overtime pay after working 48 hours in a workweek. Most workers will continue to receive the overtime rate after 40 hours. Hotel and motel employees will benefit from the reduction from 48 hours to 46 hours and restaurant employees, local transit drivers, bowling establishment employees, and telegraph employees will have the hourly requirement, reduced from 48 to 44 hours.

Workers and employers needing more detailed information should contact the nearest Employment Standards Administration Wage and Hour Office, listed in most phone directories under U.S. Government, Department of Labor.

File Counts For Burglary

Stephen Anthony Morris, 18, of 10 Chaparral Trailer Park and Gary Lee Willingham, 39, of 136 Jonesboro Road were arrested this morning and charged with burglary of a pharmacy in Lampasas on warrants from that city.

A large amount of narcotics was recovered, police said. Officials also had a warrant to search a residence in the eastern part of the Howard County and found syringes and other narcotics paraphernalia. They said they destroyed 30 or 40 growing marijuana plants.

Bond was set on Morris at $10,000 and bond on Willingham was set at $7,500 by Judge Walter Grice.

Investigations of other matters continue. Cooperating in the arrests were the Big Spring police, sheriff's officers, a Texas ranger and the special investigator of the district attorney's office.

PARADISE COMPANY
Hey Boss — Read This

DALLAS (AP) — Businessman Ed Crump encourages employe fist fights during lunch hours.

FREE T-BONES — Crump, owner of Crump Business Forms, also encourages employes to pitch horseshoes, ride bicycles, eat free T-bone steaks, or take special out-of-town bus trips at no cost.

Or have a haircut, on him. It's no wonder the sign outside his company says "No Hiring."

Most of Crump's 60 employes figure they have a job in paradise.

There are lunch hour boxing matches, bicycle rides — on company bicycles — and other activities.

An employe's new baby gets a $50 savings bond from the company.

Occasionally, there are free T-bone steaks for lunch and those called in for Saturday work have breakfast waiting for them at the office.

"We all come to work everyday so why not make it as pleasurable as possible?" asks Bernice Crump, co-owner of the company.

Crump is the private corporation's board chairman and founder and while he takes part in the benefit program, he says his wife is the catalyst behind most of the extras. She bubbles happily as she talks about company employes like a grandmother showing pictures of a new grandchild.

Crump has an impressive-looking executive office but he works mainly from an ordinary desk in the midst of his employes. One worker said he had only seen him in his executive office a few times in two years.

"We're not afraid to ask Mr. Crump anything," another employe said.

Employe benefits go beyond even the long list of extras.

One worker said when his father died last year the Crump not only sent flowers with other employes but sent a special arrangement by themselves.

Teresa Murillo said she learned how to sew her own clothes from Mrs. Crump.

Employes are encouraged to have initiative and work hard. One man was seen cleaning some marking devices, a job not associated with his regular job, and the same day he received a $50 check for going the extra mile.

"There are not the same pressures here," Stephen Hunsaker, a veteran in the printing industry, said. "You're more than a number to these people."

Kelly AFB Officials Deny Fraud Allegations

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Kelly Air Force Base officials said Thursday that "facts do not support allegations" by a U.S. senator that its top procurement officials lied or falsified records in contract awards.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., asserted Wednesday that "lying and falsifying records" marked the award of millions of dollars in Air Force contracts for aircraft repair manuals.

Proxmire said four Kelly contracts involving technical manuals for the F106 fighter-interceptor were awarded without competitive or negotiated bidding.

Kelly released a response which said in part: "Kelly AFB officials categorically deny fraud or falsification of records in the contract awards and further state the facts do not support such allegations."

"The contracts, our requisitions and complete justification for sole source procurement are a matter of public record.

School Fund Programs Due Panel Okay Today

AUSTIN (AP) — The chairman of a Senate subcommittee that has worked every day this week on school finance programs says his panel may approve a bill today.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, made his prediction Thursday after giving the members of his subcommittee copies of a compromise measure that he called "an alternative proposal" halfway between two other bills before the panel.

Earlier Thursday Gov. Dolph Briscoe met behind closed doors with representatives of five major school districts to discuss rising education costs and how much money may be available from any new school finance program.

After the meeting Mrs. Sarah Haskins, vice president of the Dallas County School Board, said she thought Briscoe indicated any new tax burden will fall on the local districts.

"When I told Briscoe we would have to raise taxes unless we got what we needed in a new state school finance program, he shrugged his shoulders and said 'that's your problem,'" Mrs. Haskins said.

Mauzy said some of the representatives of the school districts had seen the compromise and their reaction was "not unfavorable."

Before receiving copies of the compromise bill, the subcommittee took a look at a recalculation of the costs of a Briscoe-backed measure and another supported by the Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA). The new figures, prepared by the Texas Education Agency, indicated the TSTA bill would cost $707 million and the Briscoe program $544 million.

The subcommittee decided Monday to work toward a bill that would fall within the $500 million the Legislative Budget Board says will be left after setting the next biennium's budget. Briscoe has said he will not raise taxes this session.

Mauzy asked the education agency to prepare a cost estimate on the compromise bill and return it to the subcommittee as soon as possible Friday.

"It became obvious that we had two programs on a collision course with each other so we worked on a compromise," Mauzy said. He estimated the cost at closer to $500 million on the compromise, which also incorporates an $8,000 beginning teacher's salary.

"When we get the cost figures on the compromise bill, we may be able to reach a consensus on one of the three bills tomorrow (Friday)," Mauzy said.

In the House, Speaker Bill Clayton has said he expects debate to begin Monday on the House school finance bill, which he said he hoped to keep under $600 million or less.

Last week the House Public Education Committee approved a finance bill that carried a price tag of $1.8 billion over the next two years.

The House Appropriations Committee finished work Thursday on the budget for the next two years and announced there was a surplus of $592 million, which could be used for public school financing.

A federal suit filed in Abilene by a Howard County man who claimed a Union Carbide Corp. insecticide ruined his cotton crop was settled for an undisclosed amount.

Elbert Long who owns a Howard County cotton farm had sought $13,342.27 from Union Carbide for damages and breach of warranty. He alleged the insecticide was represented as safe to apply to cotton under the given instructions, but claimed it destroyed his 1972 crop.

LUBBOCK — Ray Herring, Fluvanna, was named as the Outstanding Conservation Farmer of Region 1 here Thursday night at an awards banquet.

Herring has about 2,000 acres in production in Scurry County.

For consistent control under a wide variety of moisture conditions. Band Lasso on cotton, corn or soybeans.

Last year, many farmers around here watched dry weather blow their preplant herbicides right off their cotton fields. If they had applied Lasso in a band behind their planter, their herbicide would have been there when needed. And if cotton is hailed out, farmers can go right back in their fields with corn or soybeans. Because Lasso is a three-crop herbicide. And it leaves no carryover.

What's more, you don't have to incorporate Lasso to get effective control of many annual grasses and broadleaves that trouble Texas farmers. Lasso controls pigweed, crabgrass, and barnyardgrass (watergrass). Lasso even reduces competition from teaweed. Lasso controls or reduces competition from more than twenty grasses and broadleaves.

But don't take our word for it. Find out for yourself. Ask some of your neighbors who use Lasso if it's everything we say it is, and more. Lasso. The herbicide to start with — on cotton, corn or soybeans. In a wide variety of moisture conditions.

My Mother
Mrs. Lee Cole
(In memory now, written 34 years ago!)

First, I want to tell you true,
What my mother has gone thru
With her half dozen sons
And four daughters, one by one.

My mother is so sweet and kind,
For she never seems to mind
If a dozen friends drop by
For a bite of cake and pie.

My mother she is very smart
With a true and loving heart,
Always thinking of her man
And tries to please him all she can.

My mother loves her country free
She's as saving as can be
With every thing, which helps to win
The victory and feed our men.

My father, he is very grand,
But then, you know he's just a man,
Upon this earth, he lets her stay
With every thing, which helps to care
For us as much as Mother dear.

What would we do, I do not know,
Without Mother, who loves us so,
She's the best friend here on earth
She's the one who gave us birth.

Who will tell us right from wrong,
When our darling Mother's gone,
No one ever seems to care
Just as much as Mother dear.

I thank the Lord, for every day,
Upon this earth, he lets her stay
With every thing, which helps to care
For us as much as Mother dear.

Someday the Blessed Lord she loves
Will call her home to heaven above,
To be with all those saved by grace
And see her Saviour face to face.

So until that day when Jesus calls
To me her love will e'er enthral,
And I will hold her high esteem
By loving her & living clean

Large Crowd Hears ERA Assailed By Speaker

A large crowd mostly allied against the Equal Rights Amendment for women and a small group of firm "fors" practically filled the Howard College auditorium Thursday evening. They heard Mrs. Lottie Beth Hobbs, Fort Worth, assail ERA, but nobody appeared to have changed his or her mind.

"There are some who will tell you, there is only a little bit wrong with the ERA, so Mrs. Hobbs stated. She held a cup of water high and said, 'Here's a good cup of water. If I put just a little bit of poison in it, I could tell you 'Drink it, there's only a little poison in there.'"

"Women can join the army now if they want to. And I would suggest that all the women wanting in the service run right on down and join," brought spontaneous applause from the audience, as did her statement about the water.

Several times, two rows of persons who disagreed with the speaker, interjected applause at points where she was attacking their stand. Mrs. Susan Finley, who was to debate Mrs. Hobbs this morning on the radio, was also in the audience.

Mrs. Hobbs used books and newspaper clippings which claimed that the homosexual problem would be part of the rights under the ERA.

"The states would no longer be able to set their own laws in this regard," Mrs. Hobbs stated. "The homos will be able to marry persons of the same sex, try to gain local acceptance, gain a tax advantage and be able to adopt children."

Mrs. Hobbs also claimed that if you "destroy the family and ethical standards, the nation will fall." She quoted Harry Reasoner, the Washington Post, the Dallas Morning News and the St. Louis Globe Dispatch as being against women's rights and quoted a Communist newspaper as being for them.

Mrs. Hobbs claimed "This is in answer to the accusations that we are communist." She also quoted a number of passages from books written by advocates of Equal Rights as examples proving her points, she said.

134 Instruments Are Recorded

Tax Appraisal Board office manager Richard Fleener reported that he has recorded 134 instruments and mailed copies to each of the taxing agencies and has also recorded 42 building permits at the regular meeting of the Tax Appraisal Board Thursday afternoon.

He also reported that he has finished evaluating business and personal properties and has begun working on property changes.

He and Perry Daniels attended the Texas Association of Assesive Officers School in Tyler where Fleener made a grade of 89 in Course II and Daniels made the grade of 86 in Course I.

Mrs. Zirah Bednar, County Tax Assessor-Collector, reported on the bill before the state legislature to create county-wide appraisal boards similar to the board in existence in Howard County.

She said that State Senator Ray Farabee, Wichita Falls, had asked about the operation of the local board, and concluded that the local board is "the way it ought to be."

Proponents of five-card major opening bids give much weight to the security responder has in knowing that partner has at least a five-card suit when he opens one heart or one spade. They tend to overlook the power of the 4-3 major fit. In the recent Vanderbilt Team championship, played at the American Contract Bridge League's Spring Nationals in Hawaii and won by a team captained by Dr. George Rosenkranz of Mexico City, a hand came along that demonstrated the effectiveness of a 4-2 major fit!

The bidding shown was that of U.S. internationalists and former world champions, Mike Lawrence and Bobby Goldman, sitting North and South, respectively. Lawrence's bid of four spades was a cue-bid en route to some diamond contract, possibly a slam, for he suspected on the auction that Goldman might have a singleton club. The last thing that he expected was that his partner would pass! As it is, Goldman made the winning decision, for a study of the full layout reveals that four spades is the only makable game contract. In hearts, declarer must lose two trumps and two clubs, while at a diamond contract the defenders can prevail by playing three rounds of clubs, promoting a trump trick for West.

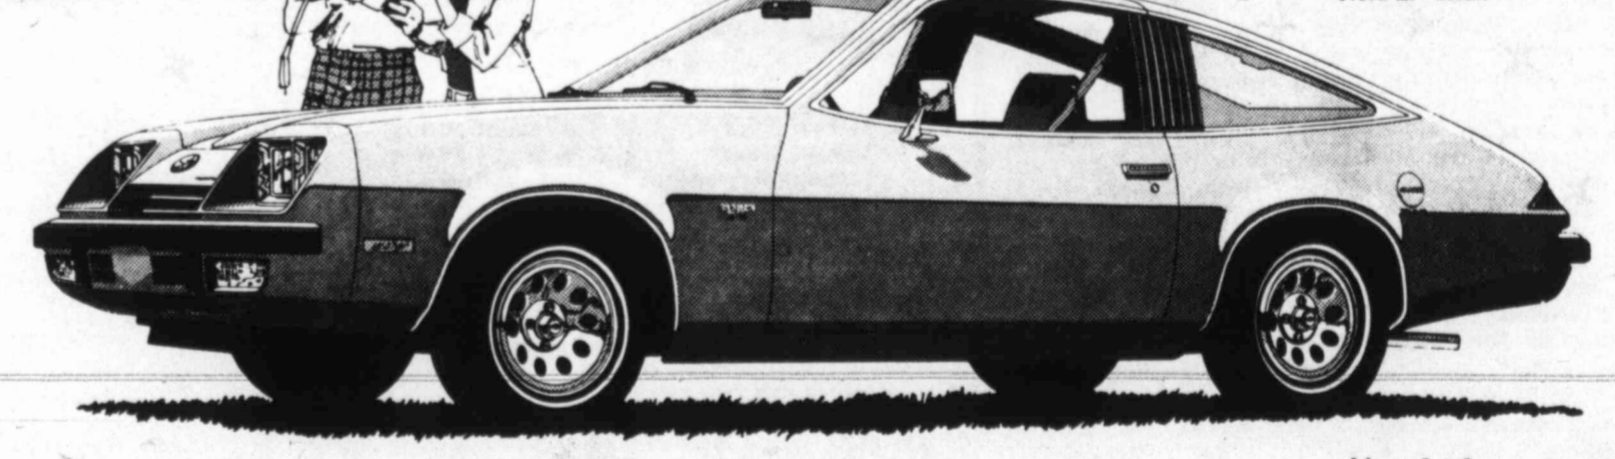

Against four spades, the defenders started with three rounds of clubs. Goldman ruffed the third club with a low trump, and West had a Hobson's choice. If he over-ruffed, declarer would win any return, draw all the outstanding trumps and reel off five diamond tricks and two hearts for his contract. But it would be no better for West to discard.

Declarer would draw three rounds of trumps, leaving West with the only remaining trump, and start running diamonds and then hearts. West could ruff at any point that he wished, but would be the defenders' third and last trick.

MONTE CARLO Its special ability: making you feel good. About the way it looks and drives. About your own taste and judgment.

CHEVROLET'S NEW EFFICIENCY SYSTEM FOR 1975 It's the key part of a program aimed at helping our new cars run leaner (more economically), run cleaner—and save you money every mile.

The Efficiency System is standard on all 1975 Chevrolets with V8 or 6-cylinder engines. It's a series of significant engineering improvements working together for the very first time. Components include High Energy Ignition, catalytic converter, Early Fuel Evaporation (except some 6-cylinder Novas without air conditioning) and steel-belted radial ply tires. In sum, the System is designed to lighten the pleasure and lower the cost of driving a 1975 Chevrolet—to bring you a better running car in many ways, along with improved fuel economy, more miles between recommended maintenance and an engine that stays cleaner internally because of no-lead fuel.

Your Chevrolet dealer will gladly give you the details and answer your questions. See him and the sensible 1975 Chevrolets soon.

St. Mary's Episcopal Dates Back To 1885

As parishes go, St. Mary's history is not long or venerable, but ninety years is enough to acquire lore and tradition of its own. The church dates back before the Diocese of Northwest Texas, and even before the Missionary District was formed.

The original church was built under the Rt. Rev. Alexander C. Garrett when Big Spring was still a part of the Missionary District of Northern Texas, later the Diocese of Dallas.

Bishop Garrett's address to the Eleventh Annual Convocation of the Missionary District of Northern Texas, held in St. Matthew's Cathedral on May 21, 1885, had the following statement — "Big Springs is forty miles west of Colorado City, and is the last town in this jurisdiction in that direction at present. C. M. Welstead, Esq., already so well known to this jurisdiction as a generous benefactor, is negotiating for a site. I hope to build a church and form a mission at this point without delay — if, indeed, the funds can be raised for the purpose."

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Welstead, an English family, gave the lot for the erection of an Episcopal Church in Big Spring, in memory of their deceased child. It was from that beginning that the present Episcopal Church of St. Mary the Virgin sprang.

In March 1885 Bishop Garrett held the first Episcopal Church service in the Big Spring public school building.

On November 16, 1885, Bishop Garrett gave consent for the organization of the Mission of St. Mary the Virgin. On his next visit, February 25, 1886, he laid the corner-stone.

The Rev. Geo. Higgins, also a doctor of medicine, was the first priest in charge of the mission.

CYCLONE STRIKES
The proverbial winds of West Texas were known to be unkind to this first building and it was destroyed by a "cyclone" in July 1897. Bishop Garrett's journal reports — "St. Mary the Virgin, Big Spring — This pretty church was wrecked by cyclone last summer. The people are trying to raise a fund for rebuilding. About four hundred dollars have been subscribed for this purpose. It will, I fear, be a long time before a sum sufficient for the purpose, can be raised among these people, who are faithful and very much in earnest, but unhappily for the most part, persons of small means. They are, at present, in charge of the general missionary, who is trying to guide them with wisdom and love."

It is interesting to note the history of the church's colorful past: During World War I, the Rector was the Rev. Frederick Karl von Wisenback — fine, powerful young man. There was a craze of suspecting every German American of disloyalty. He, too, was suspect of passing information down to El Paso and out of the country. He was arrested here in Big Spring and incarcerated in a detention camp for the duration of the War. Bishop Temple always firmly believe in him. Following the end of the War, he returned to Big Spring and married a school teacher, continued in the ministry and went to a church in the northwest. It was later found that the arrest was made, not on account of disloyalty to the government, but because he was a German Reservist.

On January 18, 1925, the Rev. E. Cecil Seaman was consecrated in Amarillo as the second Missionary Bishop of Northwest Texas.

PARISH HOUSE
In 1926 the Parish House was erected with the help of a gift of $800 from the American Church Building Fund in New York.

In 1935, St. Mary's made a big step from being a Mission to becoming a Parish.

In 1945, when the Rev. Abele was Rector, a twenty-nine foot addition was made to the church; and complete remodelling of the Chancel, Sanctuary, and Nave was made. Beautiful church growth of the church by the vast difference in assessments (diocesan apportionment) of that day and now — at first, the annual assessment to the Missionary District of Northern Texas was $10.00 — some years in Bishop Garrett's journal marked "paid" — some years not. In May 1901 the assessment was $15.00. In 1903 the assessment was $20.00. It is not marked paid. The present assessment is $10.00.

Bishop Fenner of Kansas served as provisional Bishop between the death of Bishop Seaman and consecration of Bishop Quarterman.

Bishop Fenner objected to the name of the church — St. Mary the Virgin. He probably considered it to smack of the Roman Church. In 1945 the Rev. Mr. Abele put it to vote by the congregation, and once again we were the Church of St. Mary the Virgin. The history since 1945 will be published at a later date.

Lay members will lead the preliminary portion of each service.

This history of St. Mary the Virgin would be incomplete if the work of the women was left out. The first record says that a Woman's Guild was organized in 1894. Love and Security

You don't need to know much about polar bears to get the message here. This cub hasn't worry in the world. But one day he'll grow up to know all the frustrations of life in captivity.

Motherhood is security... but only for awhile. And the human mother is no more able to perpetuate the bond of total protection than is her wild counterpart.

Some parents today have abdicated their responsibility to guide their children. They have broken the family bonds too soon. Their children pay for this negligence: They age—but they don't mature.

Whims are fickle... and momentary. The Church strives to replace such elusive goals with something more substantial, something more stable. The inner values of character and faith remain as vital today as ever.

In our turbulent society, tranquility can only be found inside a person. Such stability and serenity could be your greatest gift to your child.

VIOLENT STORMS HIT SOUTH TEXAS Two Drown At Alamo City

By the Associated Press
Savage storms maintained a weeklong assault on wide areas of Texas during the night and two persons drowned in a San Antonio torrent set off by an estimated 2 to 5 inches of rain within an hour.

Tornadoes writhed out of the raging thunderstorms in half a dozen areas and destructive winds inflicted property damage at some points Thursday evening as the violent weather concentrated its fury on South Texas, finally sweeping on across parts of East Texas. Official forecasters warned that the same kind of turbulence would develop again today across the eastern half of the state.

City fire Lt. Willie Ojeda, 43, and a man he was trying to rescue drowned as they lost their footing atop a car and were swept away in Salado Creek on San Antonio's north side. The body of Ojeda was recovered several blocks downstream. Efforts to find and identify the second victim continued today.

Fire Capt. Noel Horan, linked to a co-worker by a rope, rescued fellow fireman Mike Trial and a woman and three children clinging to trees on the Olmos Basin Golf Course. Before Horan came to his aid, Trial was caught in a rushing torrent as he tried in vain to swim to the mother and children.

Other firemen and helicopter crews spent a busy several hours removing persons stranded atop roofs, trees and cars by high water. Some of the worst storms marched in an awesome line from around San Antonio and Cotulla eastward. Flooding occurred in parts of Bexar, Karnes and Wilson counties.

Victoria police reported two tornado sightings in that area. They said one touched down 15 miles northwest of town and levelled trees before pulling back into the clouds overhead. The Karnes County sheriff's office at Falls City said two twisters spun harmlessly across the sky as fierce winds damaged a building and overturned several mobile homes in Karnes City.

Winds in addition unroofed a mobile home and inflicted other property damage at Floresville. At least one other tornado was spotted south of San Antonio's Kelly Air Force Base, state police said.

For a second straight night baseball-sized hail battered some areas in the Central Texas Hill Country and also hit the town of Dewees, 40 miles south of San Antonio.

As the thunderstorms surged on toward the southeast into the Gulf of Mexico, winds gusting to 60 miles per hour lashed the Upper Texas Coast. They caused a special marine warning until sunrise for the Galveston Bay area and coastal waters from Galveston to Sabine Pass.

Moisture-laden air pouring inland from the Gulf kept clouds over areas from the coastal plains westward to the Hill Country and the mouth of the Pecos River this morning. Skies were clear to only partly cloudy elsewhere across the northern two-thirds of the state.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 45 degrees at Dalhart in the Texas Panhandle up to 79 at Brownsville on the south tip of the state. Thursday afternoon's top marks went as high as 93 at McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Trick Or Treat Trial Drags

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys sought the fifth juror today in the capital murder trial of Ronald Clark O'Bryan, 30, charged with killing his son by giving the boy poisoned Halloween candy.

The fourth juror was selected Thursday after four days of selecting. Thus far all jurors selected are males. O'Bryan is accused of giving his son, Timothy, 8 a cyanide-laced candy. The boy died Halloween night only a short time after eating the poisoned sweet.

The state, which is seeking the death penalty, alleges O'Bryan took out a $20,000 life insurance policy on his son only a few days before the boy died.

Nursing Home Week Nearing

Residents of local nursing homes will be honored during Nursing Home Week, May 11-17. The observance is sponsored by Texas Nursing Home Association which is affiliated with American Health Care Association.

In joining the program Billy Hendrix, Administrator of Mountain View Lodge invites the public to visit at any time, as there are special programs planned for this week. This year's theme is "Visitors Welcome!"

"This is an all-out effort by our profession to get the community to take time for a personal visit and a close look into the operation of today's nursing homes," said Hendrix. "We can and do provide for every need of our residents except one — we can't show them that the community cares about them. Their feelings of remoteness from the mainstream of community life can be relieved only by new, outside visitors and this special week gives everyone a chance to show that the people in the community care about their neighbors in nursing homes."

"America is experiencing a dramatic rise in need for more and better health care facilities, and nursing homes are meeting that need with continuing expansion of services and facilities," he continued. "We want everyone to learn what our nursing home is really like, and the total care which is administered to our residents."

Ex-HHH Aide Guilty Of Contributions Rap

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack L. Chestnut, former campaign manager for Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, was found guilty Thursday of arranging and receiving illegal contributions from the dairy industry to the 1970 Humphrey campaign.

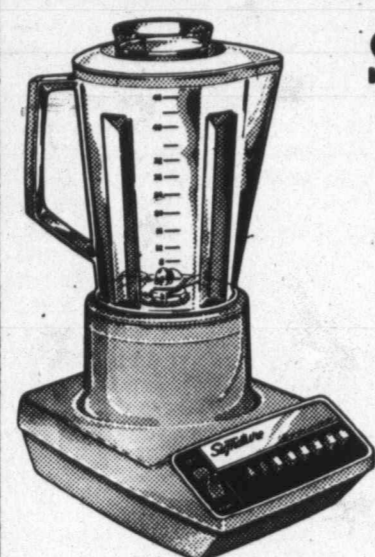

The Minneapolis lawyer-politician, 42, had been on trial four days before U.S. District Court Judge Edward Weinfeld and a jury of nine women and three men. He was charged on a one-count indictment obtained by the Watergate special prosecutor last Dec. 23.

2½ hours, starting at 11 a.m. Testimony and documents — including two $6,000 checks of Texas-based Associated Milk Producers Inc. to Lennen & Newell, a now-defunct advertising agency — detailed total direct donations by AMPI of $35,950, all purportedly sought or arranged by Chestnut with former AMPI Lobbyist Bob A. Lilly.
Lilly, under immunity granted in Senate hearings on milk farmers' political activity, told of the deals for payment of campaign funds, and said the direct corporate aid was illegal.

Clashing Of Issues

A Houston Post reporter, Jon Standerfer, has been ordered to a hearing May 15 to "show cause" why he should not be cited for contempt of court for failing to reveal the source of information for a news story.

Standerfer had written a series of investigative stories which reflected that wiretapping by Houston police was an almost casual procedure in criminal investigation. A defendant in a drug case raised the wire tap issue. Thus was raised the issue of the freedom of speech and press under the First Amendment, and the defendant's claim to due process under the Sixth Amendment.

Judge Andrew Jefferson directed Standerfer to answer questions about his sources, and each time Standerfer, with advice of counsel, respectfully declined. Hence the "show cause" hearing.

This puts in focus on national and state levels to pass what is known as the shield or total shield bill which would protect reporters from revealing sources of information given in confidence. We are not so sure this is the answer. While it is hard doctrine, it may be in the long run that the answer is for reporters to be more willing to go to jail than courts are to send them for honorable respect for a confidence.

'Guys' In White Hats

Hats off to the guys in white hats. From a select group of finalists, who represented the leadership and the prime examples of responsible citizenship in their schools, the annual Herald-Zale's Youth Achievement awards were conferred here Tuesday evening.

Those receiving the awards were Doug Robison, Big Spring; Patty Peugh, Knott; Sylvia Holguin, Forsan; and Valrie Best, Coahoma. Note we didn't say winners, for all the finalists were winners — and indeed in the largest sense, all the schools are winners for having such fine people as the nominees setting good examples in service and school. A lot of people go around saying that the good guys never get into the paper, which is a bunch of nonsense. This is a prime example of how the young men and young women in the white hats get some deserved recognition. No one can survey a field like this and be down in the dumps about America tomorrow. Like a certain insurance company, we're going to be in good hands, because these are the type who will be the leaders.

Help Solicited

Around The Rim

Troy Bryant

THE WORLD IS GETTING smaller, they always say. But just how much smaller it is became apparent to me the other day when four tall young men approached me in the Chamber of Commerce parking lot.

The tallest one asked me if I knew where a certain movie theater was located. I told him, but he was so disappointed that it was so far away (they were walking) that I offered them a ride out there.

Then I found out that the four were Iranian student pilots in the SATP program and this was their first trip to town. They had only been at the base for three days.

Upon arriving at the theater, I noticed that the show didn't start for about six hours. They apparently thought that the show would begin in the afternoon. They were so disappointed again about the long walk back that I just took them back.

On the way, we began talking with the four of them asking most of the questions. They found out where I work, how old I am and about my family so I asked them a few questions.

They were surprised that I was married and had a small daughter and that I was just 22. They said that they were 25 and 26 and were not married. They did admit, however, that they would get married "as soon as possible" on returning to Iran.

Nearing downtown again, they decided that they would like to purchase a used TV set so I took them to a television store.

Before they would let me leave, they had to buy me a cola so we went to a store where we each got a cola.

As I let them out, all four of them, with the broadest smiles I had seen in a long time, held out their hands for me to shake. I don't believe I have ever seen a happier four guys, promising to stop by and see me some time.

Since that time, I learned that security has been tightened and that I won't get to talk to them again, unless I have permission from the Iranian Ambassador.

I'VE BEEN SEARCHING for the past couple of weeks for a Vietnamese wife of a GI stationed in the area whom I can interview. Fortunately, the Department of Defense says that's alright, provided that I have permission from the ones being interviewed.

But, I haven't been able to find such a couple, willing or unwilling. Everyone keeps saying that there are several such couples stationed at Webb, but nobody knows who they are.

If you know anyone who lives here who is from Vietnam, please call.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I had a dear friend whom I loved and who trusted me completely. But I let her down — I lied to her. Now she's broken our relationship permanently, saying that while she's forgiven me, she's afraid to take the "risk" of a reconciliation. Isn't reconciliation always God's Will?

A.S.J.

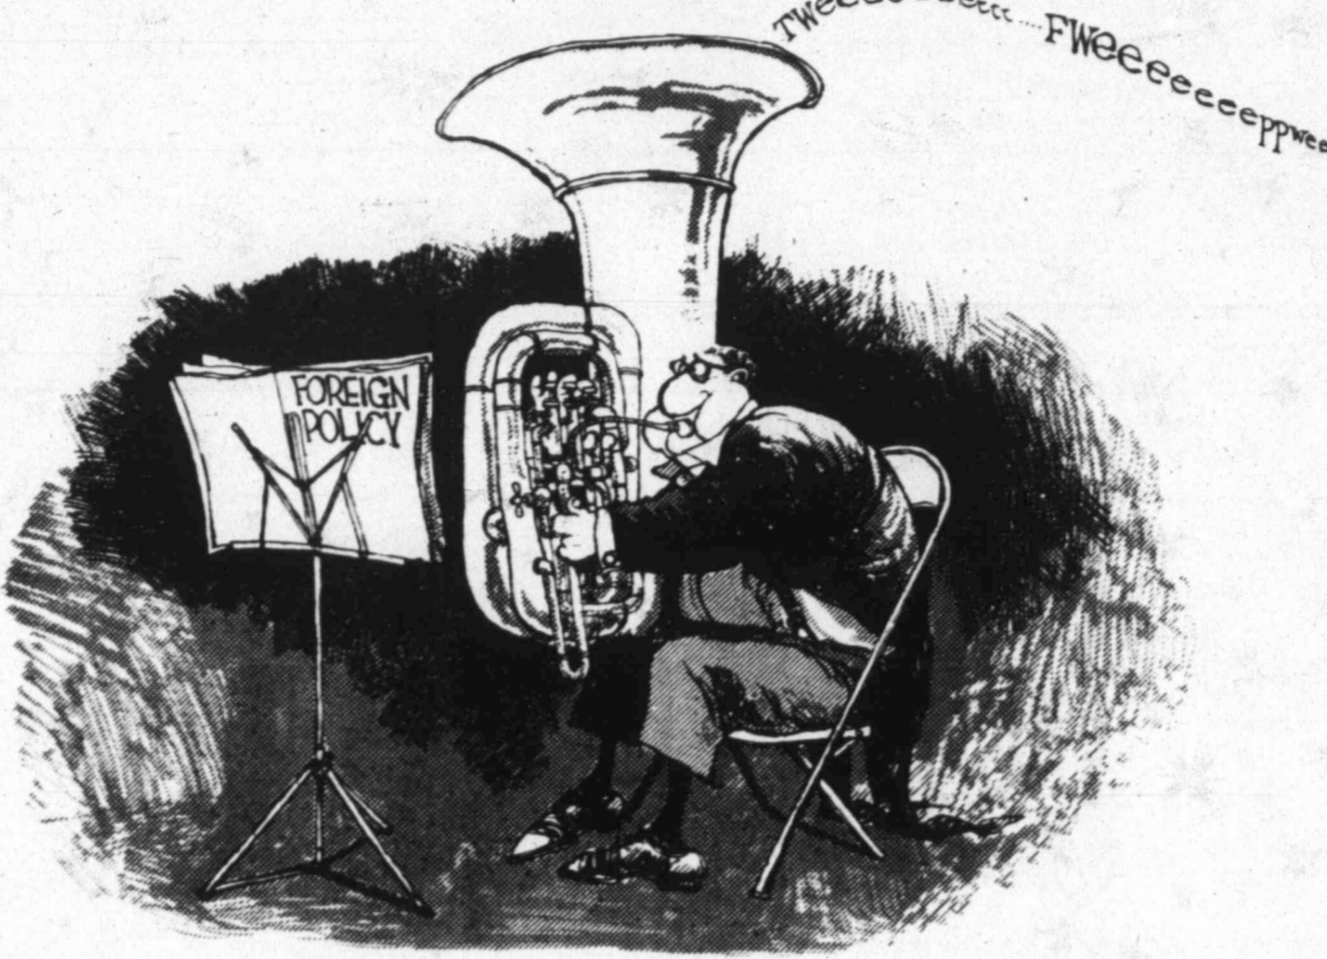

Of course reconciliation is God's Will. Hebrews 2:17 says it is the very nature of Christ, and Paul in 2 Corinthians 5 says this ministry has been given to us also.

Now Jesus was the epitome of the spirit of reconciliation. Do you recall when a penitent woman wept one day at his feet? Simon saw it only as another example of her shameless life, but Jesus sensed her grateful devotion and discerned the beginning of more holy living. He was always bringing man and God and man and man together.

But reconciliation at the human level often breaks down. We run the limit of human patience and human understanding, and then the relationship grinds to a halt — regrettable, but true.

But let this friend go if that's her wish. Just be sure you give no further cause for disillusionment. You can move ahead in the new integrity you say God has given you. There are plenty of good people to befriend, and as someone has put it, "He alone has lost the art to live, who cannot win new friends."

Paying Off Debts

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans are paying off their debts by the hundreds of millions of dollars and, to the chagrin of merchants and some government economists, they don't seem to be developing a buyer's mood at all.

It will come, we are told by the high-finance forecasters. The First National City Bank said this week that "as inflation moderates and monetary policy continues to be stimulative, tightened purse strings should begin to loosen."

True, but the loosening foreseen by the bank isn't coming until "later" this year. And a publication of Chase Manhattan Bank headlines, "Housing industry poised for an upturn," but adds the tail, "late this year."

Meanwhile, people are paying off those bills and avoiding new ones, hurting car dealers in particular.

Barely was the rebate program on car sales over when the manufacturers realized they must begin again.

For the fourth month in five, consumers lowered their debt in March and indications are that the trend continued through April. The March reduction totaled $462 million, the third highest figure on record.

In the full January-March quarter the consumer debt declined $816 million, and this followed a reduction of $909 million in the final three months of 1974. But that left $184.25 billion in borrowings on the books.

While that figure appears to be enormous it represents an increase of only $6.68 billion from a year earlier. Wring out inflation from those swollen figures and you have a real decline of at least that much.

All this suggests that American consumers, disheveled by inflation, are getting their houses in order, both reacting to and, by their reluctance to spend, reinforcing the recession.

If you're a pessimist you would be inclined to say they have every reason to remain conservative, cautious, without confidence. But if you're an optimist you'll view this as the stage setting for economic expansion.

A good many financial men see the brighter view, although they tend to look through binoculars rather than reading glasses. Over the next couple of months nobody seems to foresee any sudden turn for the better, but by year end they insist, the change will be apparent.

The consumer isn't dead, despite the claims made by automobile dealers who say he hasn't been seen in his usual haunts for months. He's alive and alert, but suspicious. He's timing his move.

Give Japan Attention

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — Whatever reassessment may mean for the Middle East, and to date it seems to have meant mostly delay, the debacle in Vietnam cries out for reassessing American policy in Asia. Belatedly first things must come first and spinning out the guilt of Vietnam in an endless wrangle can only multiply the damage of American failure and defeat.

REASSESSMENT MUST begin with Japan, which is infinitely more important to American security than all of Indochina. Concentration on Southeast Asia and the hapless lot of the Vietnamese who could never be "saved" by a foreign power has meant neglect of Northeast Asia.

Indifference and neglect have eroded the relationship with the Japanese, for 20 years a fruitful partnership. The "Nixon shock" which came when, without prior notice to Tokyo, the United States opened the way to Peking and a presidential visit was only one instance of indifference to the sensitivity of a partner sheltering under the U.S. nuclear umbrella.

BY THE mid-1970s Japan will be capable of producing enough plutonium for 200 atomic bombs a year and their skill in rocketry is increasing. But there is still a strong and pervasive antiwar sentiment among the Japanese, who are proud of their remarkable success in promoting their interests without possessing large armed forces.

This is the conclusion of Ralph N. Clough, a foreign-service officer who spent 13 years in and around mainland China and now a senior fellow at the Brookings Institution, in a timely book, "East Asia and U.S. Security."

"If Japan again became militarily powerful," Clough writes, "its domestic politics and its attitudes toward other countries could not fail to be profoundly altered. The military and military-related industry would gain influence in national affairs; the martial spirit would be stimulated and the heightened influence of military views and concepts also could lead to restrictions on Japanese democracy, as many Japanese fear it would...."

AS THE third largest economic power in the world, Japan 18 months ago was threatened by the oil crisis with rumorous inflation and at the same time serious unemployment and recession. Obligated to import all its oil, at the peak of inflation, wholesale prices rose at the dizzy rate of 7 per cent in a single month.

But by the end of 1974 with a tight money policy Japan was well on the way to recovery. Unemployment was only 2 per cent, owing something to the fact that Japanese employers rarely fire their workers and, instead, cut work hours. The rise in wholesale prices had dropped to virtually zero. While the gross national product dropped 1.8 per cent, in contrast to the dramatic 9 and 10 per cent jumps in previous years, this was absorbed without serious political or social dislocations.

NEWS OF an import fully as great as the collapse of South Vietnam, it has scarcely been reported in the American press. On the basis of a restored and healthy economy, Japan, America's largest trading partner with the exception of Canada, will be able to continue to extend its trade relations not only with the West but in Asia. Those, among them American policy-makers, concerned that Japan continue to be a lightly armed nonnuclear power have long urged on the Japanese a more expansive foreign aid program. This would help overcome the hostility still felt in many areas overrun by the Japanese in World War II. In contrast it would be hard to think of a better way to prolong the Vietnam horror than to follow Sen. Henry M. Jackson's call for a congressional investigation into secret agreements President Nixon entered into with Nguyen Van Thieu.

Energy Stalemate

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — A partisan cat-and-mouse game played within the House Ways and Means Committee points to permanent stalemate on energy and no major action against a serious menace to this country.

WHAT WAYS and Means is doing in its languorous handling of energy tax legislation is drenched in politics. Dominant Democrats are maneuvering for Republican endorsement of a bill unlikely to clear the House itself. The embattled Republican minority, in turn, resists such an embrace, preferring a wholly Democratic stamp on a bill condemned to oblivion and perhaps carrying political obloquy for its sponsors.

Thus, despite periodic bleats from the White House about an energy compromise in sight, there is little likelihood of legislation to force reduced oil consumption. Confronting a rambunctious Democratic majority recognizing no structured leadership, President Ford cannot even control his Republican minority. Beyond doubt, the energy stalemate documents the crisis in government here today.

Events last week underlined relationships between the three actors in the politics of energy — the President, congressional Democrats and congressional Republicans.

The philosophical differences are clear. Republicans want to reduce oil consumption through the price mechanism, that is, by raising prices; Democrats want the reduction through some means of government control.

A COMPROMISE has been sought in weeks of negotiations by two sincere, industrious newcomers to their jobs: Federal Energy administrator Frank Zarb and Rep. Al Ullman, Ways and Means chairman.

They agreed to combine an oil import quota (controls) with a gasoline tax (price mechanism), the relative emphasis on each remaining a big, unanswered question.

Ullman had trouble selling this to democratic committee members who oppose the gasoline tax as regressive, but Zarb had even more trouble with committee Republicans. Rep. Barber Conable of New York, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee and a senior Ways and Means member, had been instrumental in Mr. Ford's anti-gas tax statements during the 1974 campaign. Conable and other Republican Congressmen promised constituents last fall to oppose any gas tax and have informed Zarb they are not about to renege.

THAT LED to last week's decision, forced on the President simultaneously with the fall of Saigon. Should he impose by executive order the second dollar of his proposed $3-a-barrel oil import tax — popularly called "playing hardball"? Or should he wait another month to see whether the Ullman-Zarb negotiations succeeded?

Advice from Conable and other committee Republicans was firm: play hardball. The committee's Democrats, they told the President, were only trying to entangle him and the Republicans in a bill that could never pass the House. To protect his own eroded authority, they urged, stand firm. Some White advisers agreed.

BUT ZARB urged Mr. Ford to give the Democrats one more month. Even more persuasive perhaps was Rep. Joe Waggoner of Louisiana, a conservative Democrat with close ties to the White House.

Baby Can't Take Milk

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My baby is 10 months old and has been on a soy protein formula since she was three weeks old. I have tried her on regular milk several times to see if she has outgrown the problem. My doctor told me to do this.

The last time I tried to change I mixed only two ounces of cow's milk with six ounces of the soy formula. The reaction was just as violent, vomiting, etc.

Can you tell me what it is in cow's milk my baby can't tolerate? Is it fat, cream or what? Do you think skim milk or non-fat dry milk is the answer? I hesitate to try either of these.

I have also noticed that she becomes fussy any time I give her baby food containing milk. Other than this my baby is in perfect health. Will she outgrow this sensitivity? — Mrs. L. H. D.

Some infants do not possess the specific enzyme necessary to digest the milk lactose (milk sugar). This condition tends to remain throughout a person's life, and the only answer is a milk substitute. The soybean formula is one.

Other infants' systems simply do not adjust readily to the milk proteins, their as yet undeveloped digestive capacities are just not up to the task. It is the protein in the milk that is most often the offender. Thus, use of a non-fat or skim milk would not alleviate the protein problem since in those two products only the fat content is reduced. You are wise not trying to experiment beyond what your doctor has suggested with regard to whole milk.

In such cases, this should not be done without the doctor's knowledge. He knows your baby's history of milk intolerance and would be the best judge of what to do and when to do it. The little one seems to be doing well on the soybean formula. She is only 10 months old, and there is still time for her to kick her milk aversion if she's ever going to do it.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My gynecologist has diagnosed my problem as being a fibroid tumor about the size of a ping-pong ball. He said that if I planned on having any more children (I have one) that I should have it right away. He said the chances are a hysterectomy will be necessary.

Is a hysterectomy generally the procedure for fibroid tumors? Can just the tumor be removed? I am 31, and in generally good health. — V. C.

Hysterectomy is the usual procedure for larger or multiple fibroid tumors. A fibroid the size of a "ping-pong ball" would fall into the large category.

Single ones can occur under the outer lining of the uterus, which is, as you know, a sort of pear-shaped, hollow muscle. A single one can also occur within the muscle itself or under the inner lining of it. If in the muscle or in the inner lining, then pregnancy would be doubtful anyway.

An easily accessible fibroid, such as one under the outer layer, may be removed (a myomectomy) without removing the whole uterine structure. Whether this is possible in your case, I cannot say. Your own doctor would be able to tell you.

At 31, it would be wise to plan on another pregnancy now if you desire one. It is usually better than waiting a few years.

Troubled with gout? To learn of new treatment for this painful disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Illinois 60120, for a copy of his booklet, "Gout — The Modern Way to Stop It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Clyde Should Get Over Handshaking Obsession

DEAR ABBY: I met a very nice young man at a church fellowship affair for singles. Clyde had good manners and dressed well, and although he was on the quiet side, I managed to make enough conversation with him so that he asked to see me again.

We saw each other a few times and seemed to hit it off well. But there is one problem: Clyde doesn't like to shake hands with anybody. In fact, he even asked me not to take him any place where he would have to shake hands.

I noticed that when Clyde was introduced to another man, he kept his hands in his pockets and said, "Pleased to meet you." The other fellow looked a little embarrassed because he was all set to shake hands with Clyde.

Does Clyde have a problem? Or am I making too much out of this?

DEAR WONDERING: Clyde has a problem. It's probably an obsession with "germs" — imagined or real. In a society where handshaking is customary, refusing to shake hands could be considered unfriendly or even insulting.

Clyde would be well advised to talk to a professional about it. And I hope he does.

DEAR ABBY: A while back, a lady wrote and told you that she didn't like the way her daughter-in-law kept her. You told the mother not to say anything since it was not her house.

Does this hold true for the marriage problems of one's married children? I say, the parents should stay out of their kids' domestic squabbles even though they want to help.

Am I right or wrong?

WORRIED: DEAR WORRIED: You're right! The last person to mediate a family fight is a member of that family.

DEAR ABBY: We desperately need your help and advice on a very serious matter.

Our daughter who is only 14 I will call her "Mary" is pregnant. What we are going through right now is unbelievably trying. Our gynecologist has been a tremendous help. He has suggested terminating the pregnancy. My husband and I agree that this is the best solution. So does Mary. (Thank God she told us in time!)

Our problem is that the doctor has suggested that when this is all over, we should put our Mary on birth-control pills.

My husband feels that if we do, Mary will feel free to have sex whenever the opportunity arises. We certainly do not want this.

Speaking as her mother, I never want to have to go through this again. Mary says that she has learned her lesson and that she will never get in a spot like this again. But how can we be sure?

What are your views on the subject, Abby? And what have other parents done when they have had to make such a decision?

NO NAME, PLEASE: DEAR NO NAME: I agree with the doctor. I would also provide Mary with counseling. (Your Planned Parenthood offers excellent help in this area.) Good luck.

Bride-Elect Has Shower

Miss Margaret Williams, who will be married to Reed Whitley June 7 was honored at a bridal shower recently in the home of Mrs. Neal Abernathy, 2508 Rebecca. Mrs. Joy Burnsed was cohostess.

The honoree, who was presented a corsage of yellow and pink rosebuds, received guests with her mother, Mrs. David Williams of Abilene, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. M. D. Whitley.

The refreshment table featured a runner in colors of hot pink, orange and yellow with a centerpiece of gingham flowers in the same colors. Appointments were of orange crystal and yellow china.

Among the guests was the honoree's sister, Miss Julie Williams of Abilene.

The couple plan to be married June 7 in a garden ceremony at the home of the future bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Preach Martin.

The 38mpg rabbit.

Good news at last! Volkswagen happily introduces the Rabbit. The incredible new car that gets 38 highway miles per gallon and 24 in the city (according to the 75 model Federal EPA tests).

Good news travels fast, too. The Rabbit'll do 93 miles per hour (we strongly suggest you obey all speed limits) and has the power to scoot from 0 to 50 in just 8.2 seconds.

And, since the engine's mounted sideways, the sub-compact Rabbit has all the head and leg room of some mid-sized cars. It also has a hatchback, front-wheel drive, and VW's unique rear stabilizer axle.

All backed by the Volkswagen Owner's Security Blanket with Computer Analysis.SM See the new Volkswagen Rabbit. And drive happily ever after.

EVERYONE IN THE ACT
Bicentennial Fever
Said To Be 'Catching'

Everyone is trying to horn in on the act — and that's wonderful.

Such is the summation of progress of plans for the celebration of the nation's 200th birthday in Big Spring and Howard County. Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery and Mrs. Janell Davis, co-chairmen of the Bicentennial commission reported great response by Big Spring residents.

For example, when school children started painting fire plugs as red, white and blue personalities, adults began calling in saying "May I paint a plug?" Also, most organizations have had or have booked Bicentennial or historical programs. Everywhere, said Mrs. Davis, it seems that people are catching the spirit.

PICTORIAL RECORD

She and Mrs. Avery reported at the steering committee meeting Thursday at the Chamber of Commerce. L. B. Paul, who has volunteered to be the chief photographer and coordinator of the photographic division, projected a short picture review of Bicentennial functions to date. Mrs. Paul is keeping a master file of prints and negatives as a pictorial record of this year. A large scrap book, being organized by Mrs. Nancy Little, is bulging already.

Most activities are now pointing toward the big July 4th "Let Freedom Ring" program in Comanche Trail Park amphitheatre. Jaycees are planning a "Day in the Park" with picnics and all sorts of recreation, and after the amphitheatre program, a fireworks display is due. Everyone will be asked to wear something red, white and blue.

Other highlights from reports include:

DIVISION REPORTS

HERITAGE (George Zachariah) — All organizations, institutions and groups are being asked to have some part of every program devoted to historic incidents in the nation's or area's history; the American Legion has contributed $100 to the national Liberty Bell Fund (for a recast of the famous Philadelphia bell); Heritage Museum has commissioned mounting bronze and silver coins with the local Bicentennial seal impressed.

HORIZONS (Mrs. Mary Joy Cowper) — Substantial progress has been made toward a goal of at least 200 new trees; also toward preservation of historic sites for future development.

FESTIVAL (Mrs. Margaret Lloyd) — Following the highly successful kickoff in March, this division is pointing toward a History Fair in the autumn.

OTHER PARTS

Schools have worked up, and will continue through next year, all sorts of historic and patriotic programs, said Lynn Hise.

WTCC Supports
2 Water Bills

WTCC has also endorsed H.C.R. 98 by Rep. Jim Nugent which will give the governor of Texas the power to negotiate with other states for acquisition of surplus water for importation into Texas.
