

DEBATES SCHOOL FINANCE BILL — Rep. E. McAlister, D-Lubbock, left, tells Texas House members today, as they debated Speaker Bill Clayton's $600 million answer to the school finance equalization problem is an effort to "do what we can with $609 million over the next two years." At right is Rep. Tom Massey, San Angelo, chairman of the House Public Education Committee.

U.S. Will Fly 1,000 Marines To Thailand

By the Associated Press
Pentagon sources said today the United States would fly about 1,000 Marines to Thailand, raising the prospect of military action if diplomacy fails to win the release of a U.S. merchant ship seized by Cambodia. Warships of the 7th Fleet were also reported moving toward the Gulf of Thailand.

A few hours before the Pentagon report, Thai Prime Minister Kukrit Pramoj said his government will not permit the United States to use Thai air bases for military action against Cambodia.

ENOUGH TROUBLE
"We will not allow the American troops to use our soil for any war. We have enough trouble with Asian neighbors now," Kukrit told a news conference in response to a question on the ship.

Later, however, a Thai Foreign Ministry spokesman said, "We will have to wait for complete details before we can make any comments."

There was no immediate word about what use would be made of the Marines, who were being sent from Okinawa. The move apparently was designed to back up President Ford's warning of possible "serious consequences" if the new Cambodian government does not release the 10,485-ton freighter Mayaguez and its crew of 39 men, most of them Americans.

Official sources in Washington said Ford hopes to recover the ship through diplomatic channels, reportedly using China and other countries as intermediaries. But White House counsel Philip W. Buchen said neither of two laws restricting presidential use of military force would prevent Ford from taking military action.

SOON AS POSSIBLE
Meanwhile, the British Foreign Office announced formal diplomatic recognition of the new Communist government in South Vietnam in line with a policy of recognizing the government in control of a country without regard to its politics. The Foreign Office said it hoped to reopen the embassy in Saigon as soon as possible.

The Mayaguez radioed Monday that she was fired on by a Cambodian gunboat and boarded about 55 miles off the Cambodian coast, near Poulo Wai, a rocky island which White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said both Cambodia and South Vietnam apparently claim.

It was first reported that the ship was taken to Kompong Som, Cambodia's only deep-water port, but U.S. officials said today that air reconnaissance had found the ship at the island of Koh Tang, some 30 miles from the Cambodian coast, under escort of two gunboats.

The Mayaguez was en route from Hong Kong to Thailand when it was captured. Nessen said none of the crew was injured.

Marines could be flown by helicopter or carried by amphibious ship to the location if Ford should decide to commit them to retake the ship.

Phnom Penh radio, the new regime's public mouthpiece, was silent on the ship seizure, which both Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger called "an act of piracy."

Schaffer's Statement: 'I Think She's Dead'

By JOHN EDWARDS
"I shot her. I think she's dead," James Schaffer, 39, said, former deputy sheriff testified in 118th District Court today.

Richard Doane, now a bank collection agent, said he did not prepare a typewritten report.

He gave his handwritten notes, which were later properly destroyed Doane said, to Talbot to prepare a report on the shooting.

Talbot's report did not include mention of the statement Doane heard.

BACK TO WALL

Several days after the incident, Doane was not sure how many, he told Talbot about the statement and also told District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III.

He and Talbot were in his patrol car when a police dispatcher notified them of a shooting at 4 a.m. May 4, 1974, Doane said.

With his back to the mobile home wall, Doane said he knocked three times, and Schaffer came to the door.

BLOODY

Bloody from his knees down and on his hands, Schaffer said, "Come on in, she's back there," according to Doane.

At this point, District Judge Ralph W. Caton spoke with attorneys and told the jury to leave the courtroom for 30 minutes. Judge Caton and the others met in his chambers.

When the trial resumed before the jury, Doane told about the statement.

"I asked him what happened," Doane said.

Schaffer replied, "I shot her. I think she's dead."

Talbot was at the trailer door, Doane said, and Doane had stopped near Schaffer. "I don't know whether he heard it or not," the deputy said of Talbot.

Defense attorney Richard (Dick) Milstead read the report and concluded there was "nothing about Doane stopping in the kitchen and then to the rear of the trailer. Is there?"

"No, sir," Doane answered.

Doane said he ran to the rear of the trailer.

PARTIALLY CLAD

In the bathroom, Doane told about finding Mrs. Sandra Schaffer with her slacks down and toilet paper between her knees and near her panties.

Her blouse was unbuttoned, and her bra hung loosely, Doane said.

She had a hole in the right side of her chest, the former law enforcement officer said, and blood had been smeared on her body.

The "western type pistol" was on the floor about four feet away, Doane said.

Doane recalled seeing blood nowhere but in the bathroom and on Schaffer.

Towels, wash clothes and clothes were scattered around the bathroom, Doane said.

After checking for pulse, Doane said he hollered to Talbot: "She's gone."

In one bra cup, they found what appeared to be a bullet fragment, Doane said. He described an indentation where a mirror had been broken but said he found no bullet hole in the bathroom area.

Schaffer's speech was slurred, his eyes bloodshot and he smelled of alcohol, Doane said. No chemical test was offered Schaffer to determine whether he was intoxicated. About two six-packs of beer were in the house.

Mrs. Georgia Shores, the Schaffer's next door neighbor, told about Schaffer telling her his wife had been shot and to help him get an ambulance in a hurry.

That was at 3:45 a.m., Mrs. Shores said.

THREAT

"If she's not out in five minutes," a neighbor quoted James Schaffer, 39, saying the night before a shooting, "I'm going to start shooting at the trailers."

Schaffer named two families living in the Mt. View Trailer Park as the "roots" of his problems, Richard Moncus, now of Montgomery, Ala., said.

COCKED GUN

Schaffer grabbed a .44 magnum revolver on the pickup seat and cocked it, Moncus said. And Moncus held Schaffer's hand and the revolver pointed up.

Richard Milstead, defense attorney, asked Moncus why he didn't take the gun away from Schaffer.

"I was afraid it'd go off," Moncus said.

"That happens sometimes, too," Milstead continued, "accidental discharge."

Moncus, told 118th District Court about seeing Schaffer three times the day before the shooting in Schaffer's mobile home at Mt. View Trailer Park.

About 9 p.m. that Friday, Schaffer came to the Moncus residence where his wife and two children were. "I heard him say in a very loud voice that she caused him to be arrested that day and fined $100 for disorderly conduct," Moncus said.

Moncus later admitted to the defense that he went to the courthouse, because his wife was arrested for disorderly conduct.

The pistol confrontation happened at a second meeting, but Schaffer drove away without any shooting then, Moncus indicated.

Moncus said he then asked Mrs. Schaffer to leave.

Moncus, who had a loaded shotgun, watched for Schaffer. After a while, his wife and Mrs. Schaffer left the "double-walled" bathroom where they had crouched for safety, Moncus said.

The phone rang, Mrs. Schaffer answered and Schaffer arrived 15 minutes later sometime after midnight, Moncus said.

PISTOL UNLOADED

At his wife's invitation, the defendant came inside the Moncus residence to talk.

Moncus said he saw the pistol stick out from under Schaffer's shirt, took it and got Schaffer to unload it. For a couple of hours, Mr. and Mrs. Moncus and Mr. and Mrs. Schaffer talked.

Moncus said he and Schaffer talked about "hunting, fishing, guns" and other general topics as the group continued drinking beer.

The Schaffer and Moncus children were asleep, and Mr. and Mrs. Schaffer left between 3:30 a.m. and 4 a.m., Moncus said. Schaffer took his revolver and the bullets.

One or two days later, with the approval of investigating law enforcement officers, Moncus said he cleaned up blood in Schaffer's home, because the grandparents were coming for the Schaffer children.

Moncus said he found what appeared to be lead from a bullet in the crook of the sink drain.

SAME GUN?

The witness identified a small lump from an envelope as appearing to be what he found. Moncus remembered both the caliber and make of the revolver but did not recall a chip and letters on the handle.

When Milstead questioned Moncus about discrepancies in times and the number of beers consumed he specified in a statement and on the stand, Moncus responded: "If I knew Sandra was gonna die, maybe I would have taken all this down."

Although both were in the Air Force and lived in the same mobile home park, Moncus remembered only two conversations with Schaffer before Friday, May 3, 1974. They discussed Schaffer's children.

"He never caused me any problems," Moncus said. "When he goes to bothering his children, that's another matter."

When Milstead asked if Moncus thought Schaffer loved Sandra Schaffer, Moncus paused and said: "Yes."

There had been some discussion about Mrs. Schaffer wanting to return to St. Louis, Mo., Moncus said.

Milstead indicated the Schaffers planned to return for their children the morning of May 4 and go to St. Louis.

PROBATION?

The panel of prospective jurors was told punishment for murder in this case could range from five to 10 years of probation to life imprisonment. Should he be found guilty, Schaffer wants the jury to assess punishment.

One prospective juror, R. D. Sharp, Coahoma, said his wife, who worked next to Mrs. Schaffer at Walls Industries told him a rumor about the Schaffers.

JURORS

Members of the panel not chosen were told to return at 10 a.m. Thursday for a sanity hearing.

Jurors are Mrs. L. Franklin, C. Bogart, W. W. Grimes, L. E. Thomas, Mrs. C. C. Nichols, Mrs. P. Smith, M. D. Johnson, Mrs. E. Vise, E. E. Lawson, Mrs. E. Y. Miller, D. W. (Bill) Fryre and Mrs. Z. M. Wood.

One unrelated woman and the press were the only persons in the courtroom on the other side of the bar Monday afternoon.

About 150 high school students watched the trial this morning.

SHIP SEIZURE STATEMENTS — White House Press Secretary Ron Nesson, left, briefs newsmen in Washington Monday following the seizure of a U.S. merchant ship by a Cambodian naval vessel. Chairman John Sparkman, D-Ala., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee presides over a meeting of the panel Monday on Capitol Hill. Sparkman said of the vessel, "We ought to go after it, we should get that ship back any way that we can."

$50,000 Robbery

CIUDAD OBREGON, Mexico (AP) — Three to eight men armed with machineguns and presumed to be guerrillas robbed the largest shopping center here and made off with $50,000 without firing a shot, police said today.

"The robbery was so perfect that we believe those who carried it out are guerrillas," an authoritative police source in Ciudad Obregon said.

"They did not fire a single shot and left no guerrilla propaganda behind and also did not say they were guerrillas," another police official said.

Federal Employee Has Little To Do

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jubal Hale admits he's a bureaucrat with little to do. So he spends his working hours reading and listening to Beethoven records at his office.

Hale says it's not that he doesn't try to earn his $19,693-a-year salary as executive secretary of the Federal Metal and Non-Metallic Safety Board of Review. It's just that the board has not had anything to review in its four years, Hale said in an interview.

"We have been expecting to be abolished for over two years," Hale said. "Bills have been introduced in Congress to abolish us. But nothing happened."

The administration is asking for $60,000 in annual upkeep for the office in the President's budget for fiscal year 1976.

Hale was contacted after Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., charged in a House Appropriations subcommittee meeting Monday that the board was "a totally useless, toothless and do-less government agency which has never earned its pay."

Hechler called for the board to be abolished. Hale said he doubted any objections would come from his office if Congress did just that.

"We have been extremely candid with Congress," Hale said. "Our annual reports are clear and concise. We have had no cases."

The five-member board was set up to hear appeals from non-coal mine operators ordered to shut down by the Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration as unsafe.

MESA spokesman expressed surprise that the board was still in operation. "I thought it had been abolished some time ago," he said.

There were 1,998 closure orders last year but not one was appealed to Hale's board. Hechler said that mine operators have another avenue of appeal through the Interior secretary.

He described a trip to the board's offices last week.

"The door was open, the telephone was off the hook, and nobody was around," said the congressman. "The coffee-making equipment was elaborate. A large stereo set was in the office of the executive secretary with Beethoven records stacked high."

Hale said he was visiting the Interior Department and his secretary was home sick when Hechler visited, so no one was manning the office. He did not dispute Hechler's description.

Trip To Woo Prospects Planned By City's IT

The Industrial Team will visit the Texas Electric Service Company's Area Development Program in Dallas Thursday and Friday, it was announced by new team chairman Roger Brown at the regular monthly Chamber of Commerce Board meeting Monday.

Brown reported that the team members will also visit an industrial park and will call on five or six industrial prospects while in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Brown also said that the team is working on a plot of a proposed industrial site for Big Spring located west of town.

He also reported that the team is looking at possible housing, school, and other facilities that would need to be upgraded if industry does locate in Big Spring.

The Chamber of Commerce added 57 new members during their Membership Drive last week, the most new members signed up in about four years.

The hard work of Drive Chairman John Arrick and the team captains contributed to the success of this year's drive.

The added membership brings the total Chamber membership to 567.

Dr. Clarence Peters said that a Drug Abuse meeting will be held later this month and that Art Linkletter's Anti-Drug films will be shown, as he made his report on the Public Affairs Council.

Daryl Hohertz, in his report on the Community Development Council, said that the Beautification Committee is busy handing out certifications for business and yard improvements.

He reported that the Tourism Committee has had a calendar of events printed and distributed this month and will have an updated version each month.

The Sports and Recreation Committee is still looking for motorcycle and bowling sporting events that can be held in Big Spring. He reported that the Optimists have expanded their motocross and will draw more people to the area.

Clyde McMahon Sr., reported that Trans Regional Airlines is now flying two flights daily to Dallas and to Midland, although they are still having problems obtaining a security guard. Sheriff's deputies are serving as guards at the present.

W. S. Pearson reported that the status on the Interstate 27 project may change at any time if the President releases more highway funds.

Pearson also made his last report as president of the Century Club. He revealed plans for another Mini Rodeo for non-commissioned officers and their wives slated for May 30 at 6:30 p.m. He also reported that a golf tournament with Webb and civilian personnel are also slated for the summer months.

He reported that Tom Locke was elected president, along with a slate of new officers and directors.

Col. Robert Owens, Webb Wing Commander, reported that as much as $1.2 million in construction may begin this year, well above the $400,000 originally slated for the base.

Dog Which Bit Man Rabid; Victim Found In Odessa

L. E. Simms, who worked at part time jobs for several weeks in Big Spring, was bitten by a rabid dog while here and was the object of a statewide search since Monday afternoon.

He was located this morning in Odessa working in the oilfields and taken immediately to the doctor to begin the series of rabies shots.

The search was begun Monday after the head of a dog owned by J. W. Gibson was sent off by Dr. Hank Thompson. Tests proved the dog to be rabid. It was known that Simms had been bitten by the dog.

Simms was first believed to have gone to Eagle Pass to work on a catfish farm, but could not be located in that area.

This was the 13th case of a confirmed rabid animal in Howard County since the first of the year.

City manager Harry Nagel stated at today's city council meeting, "We are going to crack down even more on stray animals. If we can't catch loose cats, I am going to order them killed if necessary. We may have to gain start using the tranquilizer gun to catch dogs."

"We have to do this, but rabies is getting out of hand and the only way it can be controlled is for people to keep their animals up night and day. Anti-rabies shots are dangerous and, in the county, there are now seven persons having to take them."

"Pets are fine, but they are secondary to the health and safety of people."

RAIN
Thunderstorms considered a 30 per cent possibility tonight. High today and Wednesday in the 80s. Westerly wind 15-25 miles per hour this afternoon. Decreasing tonight.

KEY TO CITY — Mike Paul, Gamco employe, was honored this morning by the City of Big Spring, at which time he was presented with a symbolic key to the city for his service in designing the municipality's seal, for art work accomplished for the city and for painting the signs for the Big Spring Trail. On hand to take part in the ritual, from the left, were Mayor Wade Choate, Mayor Pro-Tem Polly Mays, Paul and Mrs. Harold (Janel) Davis, who represented the Big Spring Bi-Centennial Commission.

GOREN BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF
 © 1975, The Chicago Tribune
Q.1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠AK82 ♥AQ762 ♦A1054
 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1♥ Pass 1NT Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—It is a close choice between a reverse bid of two spades and a jump to three clubs, but we prefer the former. Partner's inability to bid one spade normally denies four cards in the suit, but there is the possibility that he elected not to respond in spades on a weak four-card suit. Also, we still retain the option of bidding clubs later in the auction.
Q.2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠93 ♥K872 ♦KQJ9 ♣K74
 The bidding has proceeded: North East South 1♦ 1♦ ?
What action do you take?
A.—Double. You cannot be sure that your side has a game, but the prospects of collecting a substantial penalty appear bright. Even if the opponents escape to spades, partner might be able to double them there. If he can't, you still have the time to make a bid.
Q.3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠J107 ♥AQ10 ♦K1032 ♣Q106
 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 2♣ Pass 1♦ Pass 2♦ Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Two spades. You have a borderline pass, but you do have good three-card spade support and a ruffing value in clubs. Also, the preemptive effect of a two spade raise should not be lightly disregarded. The opponents could have a part score or game in hearts, but they might find it difficult to enter the auction.

Q.5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠AJ73 ♥Q ♦AK109 ♣J652
 The bidding has proceeded: East South West North 1♥ Dble. 1♦ Dble. Pass Pass 2♥ Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Bid two spades. Don't fall for West's attempt to bluff you out of your suit. North's double of one spade was for penalties, and showed a reasonable holding in that suit. You could very easily be a cinch for four spades, but you will never get there if you don't confirm a "real" spade suit.
Q.6—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠J82 ♥A105 ♦KQ762 ♣82
 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West 1♣ 1♦ 2♦ Pass 3♦ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Three hearts. Three no trump is your most likely game contract—if partner has the black suits protected. By showing your heart stopper, you invite partner to place the final contract. He won't play you for more strength than you have, because you limited your hand with your first bid.
Q.7—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠764 ♥Q62 ♦KQ10 ♣J762
 The bidding has proceeded: North East South West Pass Pass Pass 1♣ Pass 1♦ Pass Pass Dble. 1♣ ?
What action do you take?
A.—Obviously, partner is unwilling to let the opponents buy the contract—the one-level, and wants you to bid one of the red suits. We don't care much which three-card suit you elect to bid, but it is our style to opt for the major suit.
Q.8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠A73 ♥A98 ♦AK84 ♣A105
 The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1♦ 2♣ 2♦ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Your wealth of ace increases the power of your hand considerably. Since partner could make a free bid, slam chances are alive, and a leap to three no trump would not do justice to your holding. We recommend a cue-bid of three clubs, deferring further action until you hear partner's next statement.

Welfare Errors
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mistakes by state and local officials who administer the government's largest welfare program caused an estimated $500 million in erroneous payments last year, a new study says.
 Another $500 million was spent erroneously because of incorrect information from welfare recipients about factors that determine eligibility for payments, according to the study by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.
 Analyzing payments under the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program between January and June 1974, the study found 9.3 per cent of AFDC families ineligible, 20.6 per cent overpaid and 8 per cent underpaid.
 Seven of 10 errors by state officials resulted from failure to take action on information they possessed about AFDC families' circumstances, the report said. For example, welfare officials might not reduce payments to a family even though they have copies of birth certificates and can determine when children turn 18 and no longer are eligible.

U.S. Will Fly 1,000 Marines To Thailand

By the Associated Press
Pentagon sources said today the United States would fly about 1,000 Marines to Thailand, raising the prospect of military action if diplomacy fails to win the release of a U.S. merchant ship seized by Cambodia. Warships of the 7th Fleet were also reported moving toward the Gulf of Thailand.

A few hours before the Pentagon report, Thai Prime Minister Kukrit Pramroj said his government will not permit the United States to use Thai air bases for military action against Cambodia.

ENOUGH TROUBLE
"We will not allow the American troops to use our soil for any war. We have enough trouble with Asian neighbors now," Kukrit told a news conference in response to a question on the ship.
Later, however, a Thai Foreign Ministry spokesman said, "We will have to wait for complete details before we can make any comments."

There was no immediate word about what use would be made of the Marines, who were being sent from Okinawa. The move apparently was designed to back up President Ford's warning of possible "serious consequences" if the new Cambodian government does not release the 10,485-ton freighter Mayaguez and its crew of 39 men, most of them Americans.

Official sources in Washington said Ford hopes to recover the ship through diplomatic channels, reportedly using China and other countries as intermediaries. But White House counsel Philip W. Buchen said neither of two laws restricting presidential use of military force would prevent Ford from taking military action.

SOON AS POSSIBLE
Meanwhile, the British Foreign Office announced formal diplomatic recognition of the new Communist government in South Vietnam in line with a policy of recognizing the government in control of a country without regard to its politics. The Foreign Office said it hoped to reopen the embassy in Saigon as soon as possible.

The Mayaguez was en route from Hong Kong to Thailand when it was captured. Nessen said none of the crew was injured.
Marines could be flown by helicopter or carried by amphibious ship to the location if Ford should decide to commit them to retake the ship.

Phnom Penh radio, the new regime's public mouthpiece, was silent on the ship seizure, which both Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger called "an act of piracy."

Schaffer's Statement: 'I Think She's Dead'

By JOHN EDWARDS
"I shot her. I think she's dead," James Schaffer, 39, said, former deputy sheriff testified in 118th District Court today.

Richard Doane, now a bank collection agent, said he did not prepare a typewritten report.
He gave his handwritten notes, which were later properly destroyed Doane said, to Talbot to prepare a report on the shooting.
Talbot's report did not include mention of the statement Doane heard.

BACK TO WALL
Several days after the incident, Doane was not sure how many, he told Talbot about the statement and also told District Attorney Robert H. (Bob) Moore III.

He and Talbot were in his patrol car when a police dispatcher notified them of a shooting at 4 a.m. May 4, 1974, Doane said.
With his back to the mobile home wall, Doane said he knocked three times, and Schaffer came to the door.

BLOODY
Bloody from his knees down and on his hands, Schaffer said: "Come in on, she's back there," according to Doane.

At this point, District Judge Ralph W. Caton spoke with attorneys and told the jury to leave the courtroom for 30 minutes. Judge Caton and the others met in his chambers.

When the trial resumed before the jury, Doane told about the statement.
"I asked him what happened," Doane said.
Schaffer replied, "I shot her. I think she's dead."

Talbot was at the trailer door, Doane said, and Doane had stopped near Schaffer. "I don't know whether he heard it or not," the deputy said of Talbot.

Defense attorney Richard (Dick) Milstead read the report and concluded there was "nothing about Doane stopping in the kitchen and then to the rear of the trailer. Is there?"
"No, sir," Doane answered.

Doane said he ran to the rear of the trailer.
'PARTIALLY CLAD'
In the bathroom, Doane told about finding Mrs. Sandra Schaffer with her slacks down and toilet paper between her knees and near her panties.

Her blouse was unbuttoned, and her bra hung loosely, Doane said.
She had a hole in the right side of her chest, the former law enforcement officer said, and blood had been smeared on her body.

The "western type pistol" was on the floor about four feet away, Doane said.
Doane recalled seeing blood nowhere but in the bathroom and on Schaffer.

Towels, wash clothes and clothes were scattered around the bathroom, Doane said.
After checking for pulse, Doane said he hollered to Talbot: "She's gone."

In one bra cup, they found what appeared to be a bullet fragment, Doane said. He described an indentation where a mirror had been broken but said he found no bullet hole in the bathroom area.

Schaffer's speech was slurred, his eyes bloodshot and he smelled of alcohol, Doane said. No chemical test was offered Schaffer to determine whether he was intoxicated. About two six-packs of beer were in the house.

Mrs. Georgia Shores, the Schaffer's next door neighbor, told about Schaffer telling her his wife had been shot and to help him get an ambulance in a hurry.
That was at 3:45 a.m., Mrs. Shores said.

THREAT
"If she's not out in five minutes," a neighbor quoted James Schaffer, 39, saying the night before a shooting. "I'm going to start shooting at the trailers."

Schaffer named two families living in the Mt. View Trailer Park as the "roots" of his problems, Richard Moncus, now of Montgomery, Ala., said.

'COCKED GUN'
Schaffer grabbed a 44 magnum revolver on the pickup seat and cocked it, Moncus said. And Moncus held Schaffer's hand and the revolver pointed up.

Richard Milstead, defense attorney, asked Moncus why he didn't take the gun away from Schaffer.
"I was afraid it'd go off," Moncus said.

"That happens sometimes, too," Milstead continued, "accidental discharge."
Moncus, told 118th District Court about seeing Schaffer three times the day before the shooting in Schaffer's mobile home at Mt. View Trailer Park.

About 9 p.m. that Friday, Schaffer came to the Moncus residence where his wife and two children were. "I heard him say in a very loud voice that she caused him to be arrested that day and fined $100 for disorderly conduct," Moncus said.

Moncus later admitted to the defense that he went to the courthouse, because his wife was arrested for disorderly conduct.

The pistol confrontation happened at a second meeting, but Schaffer drove away without any shooting then, Moncus indicated.

Moncus said he then asked Mrs. Schaffer to leave.
Moncus, who had a loaded shotgun, watched for Schaffer. After a while, his wife and Mrs. Schaffer left the "double-walled" bathroom where they had crouched for safety, Moncus said.

The phone rang, Mrs. Schaffer answered and Schaffer arrived 15 minutes later sometime after midnight, Moncus said.
PISTOL UNLOADED
At his wife's invitation, the defendant came inside the Moncus residence to talk.

Moncus said he saw the pistol stick out from under Schaffer's shirt, took it and got Schaffer to unload it. For a couple of hours, Mr. and Mrs. Moncus and Mr. and Mrs. Schaffer talked.
Moncus said he and Schaffer talked about "hunting, fishing, guns" and other general topics as the group continued drinking beer.

The Schaffer and Moncus children were asleep, and Mr. and Mrs. Schaffer left between 3:30 a.m. and 4 a.m., Moncus said. Schaffer took his revolver and the bullets.

One or two days later, with the approval of investigating law enforcement officers, Moncus said he cleaned up blood in Schaffer's home, because the grandparents were coming for the Schaffer children.

Moncus said he found what appeared to be lead from a bullet in the crook of the sink drain.
SAME GUN?
The witness identified a small lump from an envelope as appearing to be what he found. Moncus remembered both the caliber and make of the revolver but did not recall a chip and letters on the handle.

When Milstead questioned Moncus about discrepancies in times and the number of beers consumed he specified in a statement and on the stand, Moncus responded: "If I knew Sandra was gonna die, maybe I would have taken all this down."

Although both were in the Air Force and lived in the same mobile home park, Moncus remembered only two conversations with Schaffer before Friday, May 3, 1974. They discussed Schaffer's children.

LOVED HER
"He never caused me any problems," Moncus said. "When he goes to bothering his children, that's another matter."
When Milstead asked if Moncus thought Schaffer loved Sandra Schaffer, Moncus paused and said: "Yes."

There had been some discussion about Mrs. Schaffer wanting to return to St. Louis, Mo., Moncus said.
Milstead indicated the Schaffers planned to return for their children the morning of May 4 and go to St. Louis.

PROBATION?
The panel of prospective jurors was told punishment for murder in this case could range from five to 10 years of probation to life imprisonment. Should he be found guilty, Schaffer wants the jury to assess punishment.

One prospective juror, R. D. Sharp, Coahoma, said his wife, who worked next to Mrs. Schaffer at Walls Industries told him a rumor about the Schaffers.

JURORS
Members of the panel not chosen were told to return at 10 a.m. Thursday for a sanity hearing.
Jurors are Mrs. L. Franklin, C. Bogart, W. W. Grimes, L. E. Thomas, Mrs. C. C. Nichols, Mrs. P. Smith, M. D. Johnson, Mrs. E. Vise, E. E. Lawson, Mrs. E. Y. Miller, D. W. (Bill) Fryrear and Mrs. Z. M. Wood.

Trip To Woo Prospects Planned By City's IT
The Industrial Team will visit the Texas Electric Service Company's Area Development Program in Dallas Thursday and Friday, it was announced by new team chairman Roger Brown at the regular monthly Chamber of Commerce Board meeting Monday.

Brown reported that the team members will also visit an industrial park and will call on five or six industrial prospects while in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.
Brown also said that the team is working on a plot of a proposed industrial site for Big Spring located west of town.

He also reported that the team is looking at possible housing, school, and other facilities that would need to be upgraded if industry does locate in Big Spring.
The Chamber of Commerce added 57 new members during their Membership Drive last week, the most new members signed up in about four years.

The hard work of Drive Chairman John Arrick and the team captains contributed to the success of this year's drive.
The added membership brings the total Chamber membership to 567.
Dr. Clarence Peters said that a Drug Abuse meeting will be held later this month and that Art Linkletter's Anti-Drug films will be shown, as he made his report on the Public Affairs Council.

Daryl Hohertz, in his report on the Community Development Council, said that the Beautification Committee is busy handing out certifications for 3, 1974. They discussed Schaffer's children.

$50,000 Robbery

CIUDAD OBREGON, Mexico (AP) — Three to eight men armed with machineguns and presumed to be guerrillas robbed the largest shopping center here and made off with $50,000 without firing a shot, police said today.

"The robbery was so perfect that we believe those who carried it out are guerrillas," an authoritative police source in Ciudad Obregon said.

"They did not fire a single shot and left no guerrilla propaganda behind and also did not say they were guerrillas," another police official said.

Private Sex Bill Signed

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. has signed without comment a bill legalizing any private sex acts between consenting adults, homosexual or heterosexual.

The Democratic governor signed the measure into law after regular working hours Monday evening. It becomes effective Jan. 1.

Brown's office had reported that letters and telephone calls were running more than 100-1 against the legislation, which repeals sex laws dating back 100 years and more.

Dog Which Bit Man Rabid; Victim Found In Odessa

L. E. Simms, who worked at part time jobs for several weeks in Big Spring, was bitten by a rabid dog while here and was the object of a statewide search since Monday afternoon.

He was located this morning in Odessa working in the oilfields and taken immediately to the doctor to begin the series of rabies shots.

The search was begun Monday after the head of a dog owned by J. W. Gibson was sent off by Dr. Hank Thompson. Tests proved the dog to be rabid. It was known that Simms had been bitten by the dog.

Simms was first believed to have gone to Eagle Pass to work on a catfish farm, but could not be located in that area.
This was the 13th case of a confirmed rabid animal in Howard County since the first of the year.

City manager Harry Nagel stated at today's city council meeting, "We are going to crack down even more on stray animals. If we can't catch loose cats, I am going to order them killed if necessary. We may have to again start using the tranquilizer gun to catch dogs."

"We have to do this, but rabies is getting out of hand and the only way it can be controlled is for people to keep their animals up night and day. Anti-rabies shots are dangerous and, in the county, there are now seven persons having to take them.
"Pets are fine, but they are secondary to the health and safety of people."

Federal Employee Has Little To Do

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jubal Hale admits he's a bureaucrat with little to do. So he spends his working hours reading and listening to Beethoven records at his office.

Hale says it's not that he doesn't try to earn his $19,693-a-year salary as executive secretary of the Federal Metal and Non-Metallic Safety Board of Review. It's just that the board has not had anything to review in its four years, Hale said in an interview.

"We have been expecting to be abolished for over two years," Hale said. "Bills have been introduced in Congress to abolish us. But nothing happened."

The administration is asking for $60,000 in annual upkeep for the office in the President's budget for fiscal year 1976.

Hale was contacted after Rep. Ken Hechler, D-W. Va., charged in a House Appropriations subcommittee meeting Monday that the board was "a totally useless, toothless and do-less government agency which has never earned its pay."

Hechler called for the board to be abolished. Hale said he doubted any objections would come from his office if Congress did just that.

There were 1,998 closure orders last year but not one was appealed to Hale's board. Hechler said that mine operators have another avenue of appeal through the Interior secretary.

He described a trip to the board's offices last week. "The door was open, the telephone was off the hook, and nobody was around," said the congressman. "The coffee-making equipment was elaborate. A large stereo set was in the office of the executive secretary with Beethoven records stacked high."

Hale said he was visiting the Interior Department and his secretary was home sick when Hechler visited, so no one was manning the office. He did not dispute Hechler's description.

Time Is Running Out

Just short of a month from now the Syrian mandate expires for the United Nations troops patrolling the neutral zone along the Golan Heights. Will Syria renew that mandate and give life to additional negotiations toward a peaceful settlement in the Middle East?

The answer probably is yes. But there is no reason to suppose that the mandate will be extended beyond two more months. The Egyptian government extended the U. N. troop patrol for three months, ending July 31. The Syrian extension is expected to be timed to end on the same day.

The end of neutral troops in a buffer zone between potential belligerents might not signal an immediate resumption of the war between Arabs and Jews. But it would bring that date closer.

The Russians, apparently anxious to avoid the resumption of war, recently offered to join in guaranteeing Israel's borders. The offer was made by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko during a visit to Syria. The guarantee would be dependent on Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories and acquiescence in the establishment of a Palestinian state.

Understandably the Israelis are reluctant to rely on Soviet guarantees of its borders, or a joint U. S.-Soviet guarantee of its borders. They would rather be self-reliant and independent, trusting to their military might to deter attack.

But if the Soviet Union and the United States were prepared to join in a guarantee of the borders of the Israelis, would be foolish indeed to reject the offer. For there is little reason to suppose that they can hope for anything better than that.

Even with the fullest backing of the United States,

Israel has no secure future without peace. Russia would never permit Israel to take over Cairo or Damascus to complete the victory over Egypt and Syria. Furthermore, if a succession of wars continues Israel will almost certainly lose one of those wars.

Unfortunately, the Israeli government at the present time is divided and weak. The people would respond in an instant to a new crisis. But the government is ill-prepared to initiate a settlement with its Arab neighbors because of public mistrust of Arabs and of guarantees.

But the time grows short. Another war could begin after July 31. No one doubts the Israeli ability to win another war. But to win it might further cement Arab solidarity, stoking the fires of nationalism. There may never be as good an opportunity as now to reach a Middle East settlement.

'... He's Consistent'

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

The National Secretaries Association, a group of gracious ladies, always lets me share in the recognition of their Boss of the Year. It's a good time, a pleasure, and fun to anticipate who's going to be the Good Guy.

This year, during the luncheon, as I gazed at familiar faces (and a few that weren't) my thoughts went back to 1967 and the column Bob Whipkey wrote after that year's NSA banquet:

"SEVERAL ESTEEMED contemporaries of late have won the distinction of 'Boss of the Year.' This is a fine honor and one which, secretly, I have aspired to for many years.

"However, my chances are about like those of the New York Mets winning the National League pennant this year. It seems that a top Boss gets there by a winning nomination letter by employees.

"None of the people around The Herald would dare attempt a letter, burdened with honesty as they are, but I felt that I could propose one which they could offer the next time a nomination rolls around. The letter might go like this:

"Our boss has several distinctive qualities. One of them is consistency. He is consistent in that we never know what time he will come to work, what time he will quit, how long, or when, his lunch hour will be, or where he has gone when he disappears from the office. This all is most helpful to us in trying to answer intelligently any phone calls that come in for him.

"He is also consistent in his reaction when there is a request for a raise. If one of us suggests that our children are starving and that two bucks a week would be of major relief, he invariably goes into a state of shock. Upon emerging from same he delivers a lecture to this effect:

"Aren't you aware that people are starving all over the world? Haven't you heard about kids in India and China and Central America and Mesopotamia? Do you think your kids are as bad off as these poor urchins? Don't you think you are being too selfish about this matter?"

"You can see from this that our boss has a heart as big as the world. Our boss also is a careful man with words. If one of us wishes him a bright and cheery 'Good Morning!' he always replies with 'Humph!' This lack of waste is something to be considered.

"IF ONE US goes to him with a problem, he doesn't waste words there, either. He just says 'Don't bother me with that now!' The fact that he shouts it is simply because there is a good deal of noise in the office.

"Speaking of consistency, our boss is even-tempered. He is surly and choleric at all times. This is a help to employees in knowing what to expect.

"He is also consistent in his reaction when a minor mistake is made. He falls face down on the floor, beats it with his fists and flails his legs, all the while crying 'Can't anybody ever do anything right around here?' It is good to know what is going to occur when a mistake is made.

"The same when something very good has been done. He then asserts, 'That's not bad, but it seems to me we could have done a lot better.' This is what encourages employees to exert themselves to the utmost.

"Such things keep us advised as to what to expect, so that our morale is high. There is nothing like having a boss who keeps morale high. There is also nothing like a boss whom you cannot understand. This makes each day a challenge within itself. Sincerely, the nominating employee.

"Oh well, I can keep hoping."

Legislative

William F. Buckley, Jr.

The shift of power from the executive to the legislative branch of government has come with a terrible swiftness, reeling to the mind. It is yet another historical irony because, although it has been American conservatives who have railed against executive supremacy, it is American liberals who are benefitting from the ascendancy of the legislative branch.

WE ALL know how it happened. It was not the result of an orderly rethinking of government arrangements. It didn't come after three years' study by a huge Hoover Commission, or even from the deliberations of Mr. Hutchins' zoo out in Santa Barbara. It happened because of Watergate and the peculiar leverages one event had upon another. It is yet to be established that the domino principle will change the politics of Asia. But it is certainly established that the domino principle has changed the politics of America.

It began with the fear of the omnipotent president in foreign affairs. The revolt in Congress was in reaction to the uses made by Lyndon Johnson of the Gulf of Tonkin Resolution passed in 1965. Before that, Republicans in particular had criticized executive arrogance in foreign affairs. Indeed, if the standards brought against Mr. Nixon's conduct of foreign affairs had been used against Franklin Delano Roosevelt, I do believe the gentleman would have been not only impeached, but hanged.

THEN, WITH the general disgust that followed Mr. Nixon's resignation, the voters stayed home in droves, and those who went to the polls voted substantially for a young set of legislators who went to Washington quite determined to dominate not only foreign policy, but to run the domestic plant as well. It happened that this set of legislators were of a progressive inclination: opposed to any of the ideas loosely associated with the memory of Mr. Nixon. Accordingly, they came to Washington and began doing what everybody likes most to do: spend other people's money.

Early on, in a show of power against the Democratic leadership, which has always believed in deficit financing but stops this side of the Weimar Republic level, they established rule by caucus. This is now called King Caucus, and it tends to work as follows: The majority party caucuses, and reaches a conclusion concerning a particular issue. The minority is considered bound by the wishes of the majority, even as in a parliamentary democracy in Europe. So that when they appear on the floor of, say, the House of Representatives, the Democrats vote like the Rockettes, and huge majorities sanction the populist policies voted by the majority of the caucus.

IT IS ALWAYS a little risky to play this game, but it is fair to play it just the same. Applied to the present situation, it is possible to say that Congress is being run by a set of legislators who received the vote of about 20 per cent of the American people. That's how many, in the election of 1974, rolled up the Democratic landslide.

Now, conservative complaints against executive arrogance were not overstated. The best single treatment of the subject is in James Burnham's book, "Congress and the American Tradition," published nearly 20 years ago.

BUT LEGISLATIVE supremacy suggests legislative responsibility. Otherwise, what you have is legislative tyranny. In the situation as it is developing, Congressmen appear to be voting without any regard for any fixed principle whatever. This is not, to be sure, a good season for collegiate principles. The idea that everybody's individual conscience ought to be the only guide is enshrined in the intellectual successes of Daniel Ellsberg and the Berrigan Brothers.

Congress proceeds on twin assumptions. The first is that every Congressman is entitled not only to know all the nation's secrets but, in fact, to use his own judgment on whether to share them with the Associated Press. The other assumption is that it is an act of bourgeois restraint to spend less money than is required to achieve whatever philanthropic purpose any legislator has in mind.

The natural answer to an irresponsible Congress is — a responsible Congress. We need at this moment, above all, expressions from responsible Democrats in the House and in the Senate deploring the jacobinical excesses of some of their colleagues.

"But did the gringo say, 'Come in, Fidel!' ... or is he still calling me 'Infidel' ... ?"

Might Upset Your Biases

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Food prices, the pervasiveness of the recession and the matter of hospital beds. Here are some commentaries on these subjects that might change your views or upset some of your favorite biases.

—James T. Schmuck, president, U.S. Grocery Products, a division of Del Monte Corp., in a talk before a meeting of the Conference Board, Los Angeles, a few days ago:

"Even with anticipated levels of consumption, better weather and improved economic conditions, I can't foresee a general decline in food prices. There's no way we can have cheaper food when most production costs are on the rise. "Labor costs, which account for about 49 per cent of the cost of producing and marketing food, will be up this year on the order of last year's rise — approaching 10 per cent.

"The food industry also will be paying more for energy, transportation, packaging, and other materials. Complying with government regulations on environment and occupational health and safety will further drive up food production costs without increasing productivity.

"All these added costs will have to be passed on to the consumer. "Retail food prices — along with consumer prices as a whole — will continue to rise through next year. But with the easing of inflation, the rise won't be so sharp as during the past couple of years.

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — The way the Vietnam debacle has inhibited congressional liberals who were plotting drastic reductions in U. S. troops overseas was stunningly revealed in a private conversation between the House majority leader, Rep. Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill of Massachusetts, and the author of a 100,000-man troop cutback, leftist Rep. Ronald Dellums of California.

O'NEILL ONE year ago was pushing a plan of his own for major troop reductions abroad. But this week he privately informed Dellums that his amendment was "the wrong motion at the wrong time."

That assures beyond doubt that the troop-cut amendment to the pending military authorization bill by Dellums, the ex-Marine and super-dove who represents the radical Berkeley-Oakland constituency, will be defeated in the House. It also probably signals defeat of a separate Dellums move to put the newly powerful House Democratic Caucus on record in favor of reducing "land-based forces" around the world by September 1976.

THUS, THE tragedy of Vietnam has produced its first positive political reaction: grave second thoughts by liberal Democrats about declining U. S. prestige in the world. However temporary, these second thoughts are boosting morale within the Ford administration for the first time in months.

In his caucus resolution, Dellums does not specify how many troops should be brought home, or from where. But the implication is clear: Dellums wants to put his party on record in favor of a worldwide troop pull-back, a move that would further shock American allies and might encourage new Communist military probes.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Repeatedly we hear and read the medical explanation for our backache complaints as "when man assumed the vertical posture." Didn't God create man in His likeness, or does the Darwinian theory still stick?

M.S. There are many people who patronizingly suggest that while the literal creation account once served a useful purpose in our human history, it no longer does. These are they who, under the guise of science, label creationists as anti-intellectuals if not reactionary. I deny both these charges.

For my part, it seems that since Christ recognized the validity of the Genesis account, we should also (Matthew 19:4).

You must keep in mind, too, that the idea of man's evolutionary development is a theory, a sort of speculation, no more. It has to be based on whatever phenomena of biology and geology can be marshalled together.

Those scientists who support a mechanistic view of the origin of our universe naturally scour around for evidence to support their contentions. They know one of the ways to make anything sound like truth is to repeat it often enough. Hence this idea you referred to.

A good article in the June 1974 issue of CHRISTIAN LIFE Magazine said, "There is no evidence in the fossil record of a single case of a life form undergoing change into another life form."

'Water On The Knee'

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 32 years old. Two years ago an orthopedic surgeon told me I had synovitis in both knees. I got an injection in the knees, but I didn't notice any difference.

I've been told that outside of wearing good shoes there is not much I can do about it, that it could go away as quickly as it appeared. I am limited when it comes to bending or kneeling.

Is it really a condition that cannot be treated?

Mrs. S.N. Two years is a rather long time for such a condition to remain, and you should be reexamined to determine why healing has not occurred.

Synovitis (which has nothing to do with the sinuses) is an inflammation of what is called the "synovial membrane," a viscous material that lines joint cavities. The inflammation can result from either an infection or an injury. In either case there is a secretion of fluid into the joint cavity and resulting pain, especially when the limb is moved.

"Water on the knee" is a common term for what you apparently had. As in any joint disorder the symptoms may remain for a long time until the infection disappears or the fluid is removed and things get back to normal.

The goal of treatment is to promote absorption of the fluid out into the neighboring area. Conservative measures include resting of the joint. A gentle-pressure bandage can also help.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that women of childbearing age do not have to worry about their intake of cholesterol. Is this true? Can I have all the eggs and cheese I want?

C.C. Yes, but that is what I like to call a "dangerous truth." Thanks to the female hormones being produced during these years women do enjoy some immunity from the cholesterol problem. You will notice I say "some" immunity. It is rather small and not sufficient to allow a woman to ignore the matter entirely.

A sensible approach to cholesterol is in order at any age for either sex. That's because hardening of the arteries (in which cholesterol plays some role) begins at an early age and continues to do so throughout our lives. It is, by and large, no great respecter of sex.

Cholesterol is a complex subject about which much has been written, some true but much of it of doubtful validity and medical soundness. As my readers know, I am a "middle of the road" in this matter. My booklet on the subject is called "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." It attempts to put the matter of cholesterol into perspective. If you are interested in learning more about it, I suggest you send for the booklet to me in care of The Herald, enclosing a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Some recipes for making soup suggest boiling either chicken, turkey, or beef bones for two or three hours, using the remaining liquid as a basic soup stock in which to cook vegetables, beans, etc. Does such a liquid contain things injurious to gout sufferers?

A.W. This would not fall into the gravy or meat extract categories, usually a no-no in a gout diet. I see no objection to it.

I must add, however, that the beans you mention using for a soup are considered purine food, and, strictly speaking, should also be avoided.

Troubled with gout? To learn of new treatment for this painful disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill., 60120, for a copy of his booklet, "Gout — The Modern Way to Stop It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

The Secret Dove

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — If Nelson Rockefeller keeps it up, he could become our greatest Vice President since Spiro Agnew. Just the other day he explained to the National Urban Coalition that the reason he did not criticize American involvement in Vietnam in the 1960s was because he feared he would harm New York state's chances of obtaining federal aid.

"I WAS ELECTED GOVERNOR of New York and my responsibility was to the people of New York," he was quoted as saying. "You don't kick people in Washington in the shins if you expect them to do something for you." He added, "I think I did a pretty good job if I do say so myself." Rockefeller claimed that during his administration the state increased its aid from the federal government from 5 cents on each dollar of taxes paid by the state to 18 cents.

WHEN THE questioner told the Vice President he was disappointed that Rockefeller failed to speak out while the government was spending $150 billion and 50,000 lives on the war in Vietnam, the Vice President shot back, "I can see you never ran for political office, young man."

One's sympathies can go out to Rockefeller who as governor of New York had to keep quiet on the war to get his state as much money as he could. There must have been some terrible soul-searching during those difficult years of the '60s.

"GOVERNOR, the students are up about it, but you don't know how sensitive the White House is. One word from me about the war and we'll lose the Brooklyn Navy Yard. I've got a good relationship with President Johnson and he just gave me five more veterans' hospitals. I'm not about to blow it with some stupid statement that could only get him sore at me. That war means a lot to Johnson and he's been pretty good to anyone who supports him. But one peep out of me and we could lose $100 million in urban renewal."

"YOU'RE A good governor, sir. The easy thing would be to speak out against the war. The tough thing is to remain quiet and get all the federal money you can."

"Someday those same students who are demonstrating in the streets are going to say, 'Thank the Lord Rocky kept his mouth shut about the war. Otherwise we never would have had a new post office in Albany!'"

"They'd cut you off without a dime, Governor. If the world only knew you were a secret Dove."

in arms about the war; there are demonstrations in every city, and we just keep pouring in more men to no avail. Don't you think you ought to come out with a statement against U. S. involvement in Vietnam?"

"I wish I could. But I have to think of the state first. We need some more money for our highways and I'm not going to kick those guys in Washington in the shins right now."

"Couldn't you say it in such a way that they wouldn't get angry?"

"I'VE THOUGHT and thought about it, but you don't know how sensitive the White House is. One word from me about the war and we'll lose the Brooklyn Navy Yard. I've got a good relationship with President Johnson and he just gave me five more veterans' hospitals. I'm not about to blow it with some stupid statement that could only get him sore at me. Air Conditioning OKed For Marcy Elementary

By MARJ CARPENTER
The Big Spring school board went into executive session again Monday night, something that is happening with increasing frequency. In calling the session, board president Roy Watkins cited the need for discussion of personnel.

Local Requests To Be Studied

Four possible grants important to Big Spring will be among those considered at the meeting of the board of directors of the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission Wednesday afternoon at Terminal. They include the $300,000 in housing and community development funds, the behavior modification with chronic patients grant for the Big Spring State Hospital, the next year's funds for the city's Detox Center and the refunding of the use of a Chicano counselor and community follow-up as an aid to treatment of alcoholism at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Other funds to be discussed include grants sought at Texas Tech for head start regional training program, at Midland, Ector County, Winkler County, Fort Stockton, Grand Falls and several region-wide grants.

Irvin Hiler Is Honored

ABILENE — Irvin D. Hiler, printer and director of graphics at Abilene Christian College since 1942, has been named the outstanding staff member of ACC for the 1974-75 school year.

The announcement was made during the college's recent 17th annual Recognition Dinner in Moody Coliseum on the ACC campus.

Following his graduation from Diley (Tex.) High School in 1942, Hiler enrolled in ACC and was a student worker in the print shop until his graduation in 1945. He holds the BA degree in mathematics.

Hiler was named manager of the print shop, now known as Communication Services, in 1946, and, except for a short leave during the 1948-49 school year, has 28 years of full-time service with Abilene Christian College.

Hiler is well-known for his civic activities, especially involving the Abilene Downtown Lions Club. He was elected district governor of Lions District 2E-1 for the 1974-75 year and currently serves as chairman of the Texas Lions Council of Governors of Texas.

Alleges Hotel Violates Laws

HOUSTON (AP) — The City of Houston has asked for an order from state district court requiring the downtown Montagu Hotel to vacate its premises "of human occupancy."

The city alleges the hotel has violated building ordinances. A man died in a fire at the hotel April 11.

The suit filed Monday said Montagu officials have failed to act in response to a city public works order requiring residents to vacate.

Frank L. Dunlap, hotel owner, is the defendant in the suit. He was not available for comment Monday.

A hearing on the suit is scheduled next Monday before District Court Judge Jack Smith.

This is the fourth time such a session has been called in recent months, as against one in the previous 18 months. The board eyed contracts of teachers hired after Nov. 1 or referred to the end of the year by the appropriate principal.

In previous years, late contracts were approved in open meeting, but it is possible that there was to be some discussion about individuals granted some of the contracts.

Those approved included Thomas Ament, high school; Ralph Anderson, Goliad; Dianne Cardiel, Washington; Bernice Coates, high school; Ron Freeman, high school; Ann Jones, Runnels; Dana Lampton, high school; Joan Leistikow, high school; Sarah L. Magnusson, Bauer; James McClain, high school; Linda McDowell, Washington; Betty Reilly, Airport; Jane Upton, Runnels; Steve Waggoner, Runnels; Lillian Wheat, Lakeview; and Cynthia Zertuche, Runnels.

The agenda also listed that the executive session would include a discussion of anticipated vacancies to be made by retirement of personnel. No announcement was made concerning this portion of the executive session at the conclusion.

If the board were discussing the two who retire, Noel Reed, assistant superintendent, or Ray Pope, assistant principal or persons who might replace them, it could fall under the executive portion of the law. However, if they were discussing possible abolishment of the positions themselves, it likely falls in the open meeting class.

MARCY APPROVED
Air conditioning for the Marcy Elementary School was approved after lengthy discussion by the board. A second bid showed the low bidder to be Hester and Robertson at $24,015. The PTA had raised $5,015 for the project.

An original motion by Al Valdes to approve the project died for lack of a second and some dozen supporters of the project visiting the meeting gave a big sigh.

Further discussion by the board members revealed that they were hesitant to cover such a large percentage of the project when other participating P-TAs had only asked for 50 per cent. However, further study revealed that in many cases it was 50 per cent plus school labor which came closer to 70 per cent in some cases. It was also pointed out that Marcy has a larger enrollment. In the end, Jerry Jenkins moved that it be approved and Valdes seconded and it passed.

The board also approved a contract with the West Texas Education Center for data processing services for the general financial accounting for $6,098.24 and payroll for $3,900.50.

This was an increase of $4,465.75 over the current budgeted amounts for payroll service. This approach would be used instead of buying a machine to replace an outdated E-400 Burroughs which would cost the school district at least $40,000, according to figures presented by Don Crockett, school business manager.

NEW WASHER
The board approved a $1,950 expenditure for a new washer at the school laundry. They also approved a budget change for adult basic education in the state hospital phase of the program and approved a budget amendment for the work study summer program.

This program is limited to students who are pre-registered in vocational programs, other than the cooperative training programs and qualify for financial assistance not met by their parents or any other source for school lunch, clothing and other expenses necessary to school activities and attendance.

The board scheduled its second meeting of the month as a work and study session for May 26.

All board members were present including Jim Bill Little, Don Reynolds, Thomas Fetters, Delnor Poss, Jenkins, Valdes and Watkins as well as Dr. Emmett McKenzie, superintendent, Lynn Hise, Reed, Crockett, Don Green and Keith Swim, administrators.

Enrollment Is Down By 20

Enrollment in the Big Spring schools suffered a net loss of 20 during the week ending May 9.

The decrease came throughout the system, with elementary losses totaling seven, secondary schools eight and state hospital and homebound students five. Bauer Elementary, Washington Elementary and Runnels Junior High reversed the trend, each with a gain of one. Total head count in the system amounted to 6,290. Of that number, 1,722 were in high school.

Since higher fuel costs are pushing the price of electricity up, it's important to use it wisely.

These two simple tools can help.

Proper insulation and weatherstripping will help you use electricity more efficiently for air conditioning. You can check the insulation and weatherstripping in your home with just a ruler and a flashlight.

Inadequate insulation is the single biggest cause of energy loss in most homes—in both summer and winter. Experts recommend about six inches of insulation in your attic.

If your attic insulation doesn't measure up, you can add more of either loose, blown-in insulation or "batts" (long strips). The loose kind of insulation settles, so it may be necessary to add more after several years.

To check the weatherstripping around exterior doors, have someone shine a flashlight around the edges of each closed door. If you can see light, it means you may have to add or replace worn weatherstripping.

Saving electric energy takes very little energy on your part, and, since electricity is costing more, it's worth the effort.

STEER SPRING TRAINING White And Gold Squads Scrimmage

The Big Spring Steers will divide into White and Gold squads Wednesday for a controlled scrimmage to take place at the Webb AFB soccer field at 4:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend the scrimmage.

Bob Burris, Steer head coach, pointed out that several players have parents affiliated with Webb. "This will allow a parent an opportunity to see his son perform," he added.

The two teams will be designated gold and white. Mark Moore, varsity quarterback, will direct one group, while Mike Venezuela heads the second unit. Venezuela has moved into the Steer varsity picture as a backup to Moore. He has displayed good form and an unusually good arm since drills started May 5.

Promoted from the junior varsity, Venezuela missed half of 1974 play because of a broken collar bone. He's the same height as Moore, 6-3, but somewhat lighter, weighing 165, compared to Moore's 200-pound rugged frame.

Burris feels progress is definitely on the upswing. The first offensive unit looked sharp in Saturday's scrimmage. "We're making a lot of minor mistakes we need to correct, and that's the purpose of spring practice," he added.

This is the next to last week of UIL sanctioned spring workouts. Practice concludes with the annual Black & Gold game at 8 p.m., May 23 at Memorial Stadium.

PRACTICES FORM — Steer Gridder Mark Moore practices his throwing form prior to leading a group of Steers in a controlled scrimmage Wednesday at 4 p.m. at Webb Air Force Base's Soccer field. He will quarterback one unit, opposed by backup quarterback Mike Venezuela.

The Harris Lumber Tigers blanked the Blue Blazer Pirates 10-0 in Texas League action Monday night, to up their record for the season to a 7-0 mark.

In other Little League action, the Cabots downed the Jets 5-2 in the American League, the Sabres clipped the Talons 8-3 in the International League and the Pollard Chevrolet Cardinals topped the Rebels 9-4 in National League action.

In the American Minor League, the Drillers beat the Pals 7-4.

Lupe Ontiveros hurled a no-hitter and also led three other Tiger batters with two or more hits. Dickie Wrightsill, Brocky Jones and Jessie Ybarra joined him with two or more hits.

Ontiveros struck out 14 Pirates.

Despite Shane Mayhall's double and a triple and David Matlock's unassisted double play, the Jets lost to the Cabots. Jon Horton tripled for the Cabots.

The Pollard Cardinals held off a four-run fifth inning rally by the Rebels to hold on to their win of the season, with pitchers Scott Moore and Kim McLaughlin limiting the Rebels to only five hits.

Ronnie Ramirez hit his fifth home run in six games to lead the Sabres past the Talons, despite Todd Underwood's two run homer for the losers.

The tournament, a three-day affair, started Thursday.

Seven Sign For Coaches All-America Grid Tilt

LUBBOCK — A wide receiver, running back, and five linemen announced Thursday that they will play for Coach Steve Sloan's East team in the 15th annual Coaches All-America Football Games scheduled June 21 in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium.

The receiver is West Virginia's talented Marshall Mills, a 6-2, 180-pounder who caught 36 passes for the Mountaineers in 1974 and wound up as West Virginia's career pass reception leader. He was named West Virginia's outstanding footballer last season and went to the Atlanta Falcons in the professional draft.

Woody (Hurricane) Thompson, the University of Miami's premier running back, will join Sloan's backfield. A devastating runner with bull-like power and 4.6 speed, the 6-2, 219-pounder averaged more than five yards per carry during his three-year Miami career. Thompson was drafted in the third round by Atlanta.

Heading the list of linemen is Alabama's All-America center, 6-1, 222, Sylvester Croom and Ohio State's man mountain, Doug France. Named to the 1974 Coaches All-America first team, Croom served as captain of the 1974 Crimson Tide eleven. He played four positions at Alabama — linebacker as a freshman, tight end and offensive tackle as a sophomore and started at center the last two seasons. He was drafted by New Orleans.

France, 6-6, 260, started 11 games for Ohio State at tight end in 1974 and was a first-team All-Big Ten selection for Associated Press. He is rated an excellent blocker and has amazing speed for his size. Was a member of the Ohio State wrestling team.

Also signing with Sloan's eleven were Jimmy Webb, Mississippi State's 6-5, 245-pound defensive tackle, Elio Grooms, Tennessee Tech's 6-4, 240-pound defensive lineman, and Virgil Livers, Western Kentucky's 5-9, 176-pound defensive back.

Forsan Athletes Miss State Championships

Forsan athletes competing in state events over the weekend lost out in quest of honors.

The Buffalo tennis doubles team composed of Kary Richardson and Eddie Decker was defeated in the semifinals by Leslie Kramer and Randy Ward, Barksdale Nueces-Canyon, 6-1, 6-0.

Kramer and Ward advanced to cop the doubles crown.

In earlier round play, Richardson and Decker won over Gary Cowart and Ronnie Benton, Colmesneil, 7-5, 1-6, 6-1.

Richardson and Decker had worked their way into the state meet by taking second in the Class B regional.

Brad Stevens, Forsan golfer, finished out of state contention. He carded a 85-93 — 178 total.

Stevens moved into state play by virtue of being medalist in the Class B regional.

Richardson and Decker had become the first two Forsan tennis players ever to go to state.

Howes Lead Houston To Second Championship

QUEBEC (AP) — Gordie Howe, the legendary 47-year-old right winger with the Houston Aeros, says there was friendly persuasion from certain quarters for him to retire after the club won the World Hockey Association title last year.

But today the Aeros are glad he decided not to listen.

Howe was the dominant figure Monday night — as he has been in many games over more than a quarter of a century — as the Aeros trimmed the Quebec Nordiques 7-2. The victory enabled Houston to win its best-of-seven final series 4-0 and skate off with the championship for the second straight year.

With his two sons, left wing Mark and defenseman Marty, now firmly established with the Aeros,

Buffalo Takes 8th In State

Stanton's Joe Hernandez unfortunately failed to place in the 880 of the Class A Track Meet Saturday in Austin.

The Senior athlete landed eighth. Hernandez had assumed the lead at the start of the state race but then fell behind.

This was Hernandez's third trip to state.

Timpson's Donald Bogue posted the winning time of 1:57.7. In the state qualifying meet in Lubbock recently, Hernandez had run the 880 in 1:56.

Hernandez's time of 1:58.8 in the regional ranked him second best overall in the Class A state times.

Watson Garners Nelson Tourney By Two Strokes

DALLAS (AP) — Golf immortal Byron Nelson helped young Tom Watson in the 25-year-old Stanford graduates darkest hour after blowing the U.S. Open last year and Watson used the advice to capture Nelson's own tournament Monday.

"I was crying in my beer after shooting a 79 in the final round," Watson said. "I was leading by a shot going into the final day and just blew it. My game just came apart."

Watson said the only sympathy he got was from his wife, Linda, and Nelson.

"He took me aside and said 'I like your golf swing but the tempo can be improved and you don't use your legs as well as you should,'" said Watson of Nelson's pep talk.

"I appreciated it very much because he was right and he also moved my hands ahead on my irons so I have better control with them," said Watson, who earned a $35,000 first place prize with a record-tying 15-under par 269 over the Par 71 Preston Trail Course.

Watson shot a final round six-under par 65 to catch and pass third round leaders Rod Funch, Bob Easterwood and Bruce Crampton, who faded in the sauna-like heat.

Bob E. Smith, who fired a final round 67, earned the biggest check of his career, $19,950 for a second place finish two shots back. Jack Ewing was third, also shooting 67, for $12,425 third place money.

Watson and his wife were overjoyed with his second tournament victory. In 1974, Watson won the Western Open.

They turned $1,000 of their winnings over to the Salesmanship Club, a charity for underprivileged boys, who sponsor the $175,000 Byron Nelson Classic.

"That's one of the nicest gestures I've ever seen," said Nelson, who turned to Linda and said "I couldn't be happier if I had won the tournament myself."

"Nelson had predicted before the tournament that Watson would win it although the 5-foot-9, 160-pound red-haired shotmaker choked here last year. Watson dumped a ball in the water on the 67th hole while dueling in a head-to-head

RANGERS, ASTROS IDLE Detroit's Homer Paces Win Over KC Royals

DETROIT (AP) — Dennis Leonard may have the book on Leon Roberts, but he apparently didn't read up on him Monday night.

Instead, Roberts may have forced a rewrite job.

The husky right fielder extended his hitting streak to 14 games — that's every game in which he's played this season — and unloaded a three-run homer off Leonard in the sixth inning to help the Detroit Tigers beat the Kansas City Royals 5-0.

Roberts' fellow rookie Vern Rühle, with relief help in the eighth inning from John Hiller, got the victory, although the Royals left 15 runners on, two short of the team record.

Oakland beat Boston 5-3 in the only other American League game.

Roberts seemed almost as surprised as anyone that he got the homer, his third of the season, off Leonard.

In the only other National League game, Los Angeles beat St. Louis 6-4 in 10 innings and New York edged San Francisco 3-2, and Montreal buried Atlanta, 11-1. Cincinnati's game at Philadelphia was rained out.

Expos 11, Braves 1

Pat Scanlon drove in four runs, three with his first major league homer to lead the Expos' 11-1 rout of the Braves Monday night.

Scanlon's homer highlighted a five-run third inning against Atlanta's Carl Morton. And he sent a man home with a bases-loaded grounder in a two-run first inning.

Youngblood, Flyers Win

The Sand Dusters vs Freedom Flyers game was called after six frames as a result of the 15-run rule.

Carolyn Sandifer and Latrice Maleuday each collected a double.

Shreveport Widens Texas League

Shreveport padded its West Division lead and Lafayette edged farther ahead of East Division rivals with a single victory in Texas League games Monday night.

The Shreveport Captains swept a twin bill with the second-place San Antonio Brewers 2-0 and 4-1 and pulled four games ahead, thanks to four-hit pitching by Tom Jones with relief help from Randy Hopkins on the last out in the opener and a three-hit job by Mike Kavanagh in the nightcap.

Alexandria bested Lafayette 4-1, Midland outlasted El Paso 13-10 and Arkansas beat Jackson 11-7 in the other games.

In the first game at San Antonio, Shreveport cracked the scoring ice in the fourth inning when losing hurler Jerry Bell walked two batters and Harry Safewright cracked a ground rule double. Steve Nicosia singled home a pair of insurance runs later.

Ron Mitchell's bases-loaded smash went for a fielder's choice which produced a run in the first frame of the second game and Nicosia doubled and scored on Jimmy Sexton's single in the next inning.

The Lafayette Drillers rapped 11 hits and played errorless baseball in downing the Alexandria Aces, for whom Mark Rhea belted a bases-empty home run in the seventh. Mike Allen, now 2-2, was the mound winner, yielding four hits, and Frank Ricelli, 4-2, was the loser. Lafayette stayed five games ahead of runnerup Arkansas.

SITTING ON TOP OF THE WORLD — Whit Armstrong, five and one half month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat L. Armstrong, 538 Westover, thinks the world looks like a wonderful place. He's not worried about recession, inflation, or Vietnamese refugees.

Nagel Plans To Enter Beef At Board Meeting

"The Water Quality board requirements for the City of Big Spring's surface water treatment plant are ridiculous and I intend to go to the public hearing in Lubbock at 10 a.m. Thursday and say so," City Manager Harry Nagel told council members here today.

"The board is made up of dedicated people, but they have no conception of the cost of some of the things that they require and really don't care. They make rules on a statewide basis and fail to eye each problem separately," Nagel continued.

The council backed the manager in his concern and agreed to send a signed statement with him to the hearing.

This announcement came in the manager's report at the end of a lengthy council agenda here today. The council approved on first reading an application for a zone change from P parking district to R Retail district for the purpose of establishing a store to sell books and monuments.

Councilman Aciri oppose the change as spot zoning. The City attorney said it was an extension of a retail zone, and was adjoining to one. All persons in the audience who attended the hearing were for the change.

The council also accepted the minutes of the Planning and Zoning board which clarified procedures for its hearings. The council approved the minutes with Aciri abstaining.

NO TAX RAISE

During the approval of the minutes of the last two meetings, including the regular meeting and the special session to approve budget changes, Aciri also made a speech objecting to the continued high expenses of the city and emphasized, "We want no tax raises."

The items on the budget change list had been earlier approved item by item at a council meeting with discussion and very few objections from any council member at that time. All council members attended the earlier meeting.

Following special presentations to Mike Paul for service to the city in designing the city seal, city brochures and other items, the council skipped to the zoning minutes and forgot to ever go back and consider one item in connection with the rising costs of maintenance and utilities at the Dora Roberts Rehab Center.

It did approve a free water tap at the National Little League Ball Park. The request was made by Dearl Pittman, president of the league.

Since Pittman is also connected with Pioneer Natural Gas, Councilman Charles Tompkins quipped, "If we build a pavilion, can we get free gas?"

On the cab and chassis for a garbage truck to be delivered on next year's budget, the award went to Brock on a bid of $14,973.42. Broughton bid $412,350. Bob Butler, assistant manager, told the council that the city had not been able to obtain repair parts for International Trucks in a "reasonable length of time."

There were no bids for boat concession on Cosden Lake. The city expressed the hope that some individual or civic group would later express an interest in placing sailboats or padleboats on the lake.

The council was granted permission to advertise for bids for hydrated lime and liquid chlorine and aluminum sulphate for the water treatment plant.

It was also given permission to advertise for bids for a three-wheeled vehicle for the city park and to purchase a used car for the Parks and Recreation director.

Ordinances approved at the last meeting were given final reading, including approval of setting up a fee for appeals to the zoning board; changing building permit fees, setting up fees for curb cuts and increasing animal redemption rates.

The old board was reappointed to the Detox Center with Ed Bowman named chairman.

The council approved the city's setting up a 12-month pay finance plan for financing sewer taps in cases of financial need.

City Dads approved an emergency reading an ordinance accepting the completion of paving of a portion of 11th Place and setting up the assessments.

Harold Hall, councilman, made the regular audit report. Tom Ferguson, city finance director, said that several requested invoices were in the audit and were apparently missed by a new employee in the quarterly audit. Hall was instructed to talk to the auditors concerning the matter.

The parks and recreation board minutes were approved which includes closing the city pro shop on Mondays. The course will be open. The minutes from the tourism development council were approved which included a $5,000 donation toward purchase of the Hayden House as a tourist attraction and historical site. Other portions of the price will come from the Dora Roberts Foundation.

All tabled items were covered with the city authorized to make the balance of payment for Ford Motor Co. of $1,326.48 on a truck purchased last year. The resolution to enter into contract with Tom Barber to assist the city in applying for block grant funds was rejected. Consideration of increase in life insurance benefits was rejected at this time. Consideration of rules and regulations for the golf course was handled through the parks and recreation committee.

The entire council was present for the meeting including Mayor Wade Choate, mayor Pro-Tem Polly Mays, and Councilmen Tompkins, Aciri and Hall.

High Court Knocks Down Texas Bond Election Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas law requiring the majority approval of property owners for general obligation bond issues was struck down Monday in a 5-3 decision by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The high court, in upholding lower court decisions, affirmed that the state may not limit the franchise on general bond issues to property owners unless there is some compelling state need.

Justice Thurgood Marshall wrote the majority opinion, saying the Texas system "creates a classification that impermissibly disenfranchises persons qualified to vote, solely because they have rendered some property for taxation."

Texas "dual box" system was challenged when a bond issue to finance construction of a Fort Worth library failed to get the approval of a majority of property owners although it had received the approval of a majority of all voters. Under the "dual box" system, persons who listed real or personal property for taxation dropped their ballots in one box and other voters put their ballots in a second box.

Bond issues could not win without the majority approval of property owners and all other voters.

"As long as the election in question is not one of special interest, any classification restricting the franchise on grounds other than residence, age, and citizenship cannot stand unless the district or state can demonstrate that the classification serves a compelling state interest,"

Marshall noted.

The court ruled that construction of a library could not be shown to be an expenditure for which only property owners are indebted, or which has interest only to a select group of the electorate.

The judges also agreed that their ruling should not be retroactive.

Phillis Johnson, a graduating senior at Garden City High School, has been chosen to participate in this year's state competition at the 4-H Round-Up. She placed second with a clothing method demonstration in district competition at Alpine recently. "Fashions of the Twentieth Century" was the topic of Miss Johnson's demonstration, which was presented at Sul Ross University. The illustrated talk was also given at Martin County's Dress Revue Saturday in the Stanton Junior High School.

Miss Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson of Garden City.

1880 Nurses Didn't Have Much Freedom

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I enjoyed your column in which you reprinted "Rules for Female Teachers in 1915."

Perhaps you would enjoy reading the rules for female nurses published in 1880. Nurses were told they must:

First: Bring in a scuttle of coal each day.

Second: Report every day at 7 a.m., and leave at 8 p.m., except on the Sabbath "on which day you will be off from 12 noon until 2 p.m."

Third: Graduate nurses in good standing will be given an evening off each week for church services.

Fourth: Any nurse who smokes, uses liquor, goes to the beauty shop or frequents dance halls will give the director a good reason to suspect her worth, her intentions and integrity.

Fifth: The nurse who performs faithfully and without fault for five years will be given an increase of $.05 a day, providing there are no hospital debts outstanding.

A footnote, Abby: To illustrate how much progress has been made in achieving political and economic justice, in 1845 three young women who were employed as copyists in the U.S. Patent Office were threatened with loss of their jobs.

A member of Congress wrote to the secretary of the Interior, Robert McClelland, on behalf of one of the copyists and received the following response:

"There is every disposition on my part to do anything for the lady in question except to retain her or any of the other females who work in the rooms of the Patent Office. I have no objection to the employment of females in the performance of such duties as they are competent to discharge, but there is such obvious impropriety in the mixing of sexes within the walls of a public office that I have determined to arrest the practice."

The lady in question lost her job, anyway. But she later distinguished herself in a job considered exclusively male. The lady's name was Clara Barton. Her work on the Civil War battlefields and as founder of the American Red Cross make her one of the most illustrious women in our nation's history.

Very truly yours,
JENNINGS RANDOLPH,
U.S. SENATOR

Sorority Sends Mothers Cards

Mother's Day cards from Alpha Beta Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi were prepared during a meeting last week in the home of Mrs. Emily Philips, 121-B Barksdale.

Mrs. Jo Ogle, president, presided and presented one part of a two-part program. Speaking on "Love and Marriage," Mrs. Ogle said "Love is a form of friendship, and it deals with body, mind, heart and soul. She quoted Karin Toon who has said that most troubles in marriage grow out of lack of consideration for one another. In conclusion, Mrs. Ogle asked members to express opinions on the various forms of love. The consensus was that everyone is an individual, so everyone's love is different, thus, every marriage is different.

The other speaker was Mrs. Linda Harp whose topic was "The Printed Word." Mrs. Harp read poetry, discussing the figures of speech and imagination that is a part of creative writing. She distributed lyrics to modern songs to illustrate buys Flag For School

The Airport Parent-Teacher Association has purchased a bicentennial flag which it presented to the school principal, C. L. Carlile, during a meeting Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Nell Burgess presided, and Mrs. J. M. Wilson installed the new officers, Mrs. O. W. Decker, president; Mrs. Burgess, vice president; Mrs. Blaine Larson, secretary; and Mrs. James Norman, treasurer.

It was announced that the school received a "road runner" award for having the highest points at the spring conference. Also, it earned an extra Life Membership pin which was given to Miss Mary Eckert.

The program was given by Mrs. Ruby Bruns of D&M Garden Center, who discussed terrariums and gardening in general.

At this last meeting of the school year, Mrs. Robert Bradshaw's fifth grade won the room count, and the door prize went to Mrs. Decker.

High Scores At La Gallinas

The La Gallinas duplicate bridge game, held Friday afternoon at Big Spring Country Club, had as winners Mrs. Ollie Anderson and Mrs. L. B. Edwards, first; Mrs. Denise Macklin and Mrs. Mary Tokar, second; Mrs. Ralph Wyatt and Mrs. R. E. Henderson, third; and Mrs. Julie Shirey and Mrs. Cookie Hanslik, fourth.

PTA Protests With Petition

Herman Smith, principal of Boydston Elementary School, urged parents in the Boydston community to be interested in the progress of their school when he spoke Thursday evening to the Parent-Teacher Association. Smith informed the parents of the status of school board action on the possible consolidation of some local schools.

A group of parents in the Boydston district is circulating a petition protesting the proposed closing of the school, and those at the meeting signed the petition. Other interested parents are asked to contact Mrs. Jan Whitehead, 263-0428.

Mrs. Joe Blessingame presided for the session, which was the last meeting of the school year. During the business session, the group agreed to assist with the PTA booth at the Howard County Fair and to participate in a PTA workshop in October.

Mrs. Vonda Townsend, PTA City Council president, installed the 1975-76 officers. They are Mrs. Blessingame, president; Mrs. Jim Grizzard, vice president; Mrs. Ray Whitehead, secretary; and Mrs. Emmett Bartee, treasurer.

Gifts of appreciation were presented by the PTA. The room count was won by the first grade class of Mrs. Thel Watts. The devotional was by Mrs. Jerry Sink.

Mrs. Nel Burgess, district vice president, was a guest.
