

Bus, Sports Car Collide; 42 Hurt

LIBERTY CITY, Tex. (AP) — A Continental Trailways bus enroute from Shreveport to Dallas crashed head on with a sports car and overturned Sunday, sending 42 persons to hospitals, police said.

SNIPER DAMAGE — This is part of the damage a sniper in Sherman, Tex., did to three MKO Bus Lines buses late Saturday. Seven persons were injured in the attack, including three junior high school students from Tulsa.

Sherman Sniper Wounds Seven

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — A hidden sniper, firing in pitch darkness, left few clues but seven wounded during a bizarre weekend shooting spree along a busy North Texas highway.

None of the injured, including some junior high pupils in a caravan of chartered buses, was seriously hurt, authorities said.

"There's no new developments," Sherman Police Capt. J.L. Foster announced this morning. "He said authorities have 'no idea' if more than one sniper was involved.

The sniper or snipers fired on at least seven vehicles, including four buses loaded with junior high school children, in two separate incidents late Saturday and early Sunday.

HURT BY GLASS
Police said the injured, including two truck drivers, were treated at a hospital and released. Most of the injured were hurt by flying glass.

Gunfire raked the northbound vehicles rolling along U.S. 75 as they approached the southern edge of this North Texas city.

The first incident, at about 11:30 p.m., left five persons injured.

The buses carried 177 Foster Junior High School pupils and their adult sponsors from Tulsa, Okla. They were on a weekend excursion to an amusement park in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

"I heard some glass shatter and thought it was just a balloon in the bus," said Mrs. Linda Barlow, a sponsor. "When her husband told her to 'get down,'" she said, "I thought he was just dreaming. He's been in Vietnam."

Bus driver Lawrence Maynard said, "At first I thought it was a firecracker. I turned on the lights as soon as it happened and the girls started screaming."

One investigator, speculating that the shots came from a high powered weapon with a scope equipped for nighttime firing, said:

"Everyone was extremely lucky. Those holes in the bus windows were really large."

Following the assault on the buses, three large tractor-trailer truck rigs reported receiving gunfire 17 miles south on U.S. 75.

Police said all took hits in the glass.

The second incident unfolded 40 minutes after the first, police said, and authorities speculated that the same sniper was involved.

Six of the victims were hit by flying glass, a spokesman at Sherman's Wilson and Jones Memorial Hospital said. The spokesman said the seventh, Ruth Wilson, one of the pupils, was hit in the ear by a bullet.

Mrs. Barlow, the sponsor, quoted Miss Wilson saying she felt like her ear "had been blown off."

Hospital personnel listed the other bus passengers injured as Sherry Blair, Joyce Farris, sponsor Correll Tallent and sponsor Jack Darrough.

The truck drivers treated at the hospital were identified as Billy Wilson of Trinidad, Tex., and Thomas McClaren of Amarillo, Tex.

Investigators this morning could only echo a statement made earlier by a police spokesman:

"We have very little to go on. We don't know where the shots came from, whether from a vehicle or from a stationary point. We can't really find anything."

infants, hit the car which had swerved across the median on Interstate 20 near Liberty City shortly after 10:30 p.m., officers said. The car was cut in half and the bus rolled down an embankment and tipped over.

State police said the driver of the car apparently thought she saw a parked car in front of her and swerved across the center of the highway.

A bus passenger, Bobby Lee Sherba, 23, of Dallas, said most of the passengers were asleep when he saw the sports car apparently trying to pass the bus, "and the next thing I knew we were going over on the side of the road."

Two passengers were listed in critical condition and two others were in serious condition at hospitals in Kilgore and Longview, Tex. Eleven were in fair condition, said Capt. Pat Patterson of the Gregg County Sheriff's Dept. The rest were treated and released.

"It was pretty rough out there," Patterson said today. "There were many broken bones and one woman had her arm pinned in the wreckage for about one hour. Many of the ambulances had to make two or three trips."

The driver of the car, identified as Patricia Mason, 27, of Kilgore had critical injuries. Her 4-year-old daughter Melaine was in good condition.

Also in critical condition was Carrie Abston, 57, of Natchez, Miss.

In serious condition were Pauline Sheperd, 27, Dallas; William McKeever, 56, Chatham, La.

The Texas Highway Patrol identified those in fair condition as Bruce Worthy, 18, Rayville, La.; Lola Lewis, 40, Sacramento, Calif.; Estella Sellers, 59, Dallas; Hebert Sellers, 40, Dallas; Danny Ray Odum, 39, Monroe, La.; Marcella Williams, 25, Dallas; Agnes Whitson, 59, Barnardsville, N.C.; Matt Conrow, 33, Dallas; Harley Pritchard, 20, Fort Hood, Tex.; and Hazle Wunch, 62, Tulsa, Okla.

Someone relieved the city pound of two dogs during the weekend and riled the City of Big Spring in the process.

Taking the dogs might not have been so bad, but the burglar damaged the pound, and took along a gallon of disinfectant as flea insurance, no doubt.

But the city wants to put the bite on the burglar for breaking and entering and willful destruction of city property. There's $200 in it for anyone who can furnish information leading to the arrest and conviction of the culprit. City officials said information received would be confidential.

Brassy Guest Bilks Motel
A local motel operator gave police a description and license number of a North Carolina family which left without paying a $14.75 room bill.

To add insult to injury, the tenant had borrowed $5 earlier and was to include it in the payment "all out of one traveler's check."

The motel also reported that a television set was missing from the room occupied by the family.

Oceanside and he and Alvin split the rental cost, $250 a month.

Gilbert and his wife, Marcella, added a king-size bed, their television set and a washing machine to the already furnished home.

"They want to do anything they can to work and contribute to the economy," he said. "I got one of them a job Saturday as a busboy. He's a chemist, but he's willing to do anything."

This week, he said, he will inquire about a seamstress job for the chemist's wife.

Gilbert said he and Alvin set up the halfway house "to give the refugees some place to come until they get themselves squared around."

Most of them plan to settle with friends and relatives in other parts of the United States. Some are contemplating making the Oceanside home their permanent residence, and if that happens, Gilbert says he may organize another halfway house.

State Is Lashed

By the Associated Press
Bristling thunderstorms hammered at much of West Texas during the night, kicking up several tornadoes before they died down, and more turbulence broke out in that section early today.

Skies were clear to partly cloudy in other parts of the state this morning, with the overcast thickest in Central Texas and along the coast as south winds shoved damp air ashore from the Gulf of Mexico.

Funnel clouds whirled across the sky Sunday evening as menacing thunderstorms swept eastward along a line from the Panhandle-Plains sector into areas farther south.

Twister sightings were reported near Lubbock, Levelland, Meadow and Odessa but there was no word of injuries or damage.

A severe thunderstorm remained in force well past midnight around Wichita Falls and Abilene before the unruly weather swept eastward into Oklahoma.

Stormy weather broke out anew near daylight in Southeast New Mexico and surged across the Texas line, prompting further severe thunderstorm alerts for a time in Gaines, Cochran, Hockley, Yoakum and Terry counties.

Forecasters looked for the revived storms to spread into Central Texas and continue tonight, and to take over on East Texas tonight and Tuesday.

Temperatures in early morning ranged from 52 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle up to 77 at Brownsville and McAllen at the south tip of the state.

Ford To Veto Mining Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will veto a principal sponsor of the bill and chairman of the House bill, a spokesman for Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., said today.

The spokesman for Udall, principal sponsor of the bill and chairman of the House bill, a spokesman for Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., said today.

Ford had already vetoed the measure.

Udall accused the President of supporting coal industry avarice and called it "a discredit to the presidency."

Ford isn't interested in the will of the people and instead prefers to bow to his special constituency, the energy establishment," Udall said in a statement.

The bill imposes national environmental curbs on coal strip mining, which accounts for half of all coal produced in the United States.

The measure also requires coal operators to restore land to productive use after mining is completed and would levy a tax of up to 35 cents a ton of coal to clean up thousands of acres of abandoned strip-mining excavations, most of them in Appalachia.

The House earlier this month approved the bill 293 to 115, or 21 votes more than the two-thirds that would be needed to override another veto if the same number of congressmen were voting. The Senate passed it by voice vote.

Ford's veto of the 1974 stripmining measure did not come up for a congressional test because the President used a pocket veto, returning the bill to Congress after the lawmakers had recessed in December.

The President said he vetoed that bill because it would increase coal and electricity prices and threaten his administration's goal of less reliance on foreign energy sources.

Administration officials had pressed Congress for speedy approval of the refugee aid funds because the resettlement program was quickly running out of money.

The President's approval permits immediate contracts with nine volunteer private relief agencies to begin moving refugees from three military bases in California, Arkansas and Florida to new homes throughout the United States.

The President was expected to sign a $405-million refugee-aid bill to help resettle more than 100,000 Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees and to appoint a committee to direct that effort.

Carl E. Bagge, president of the National Coal Association, said the President was showing the courage of his convictions by vetoing a harsh and punitive surface mining bill which would have harmed the national interest.

"The coal industry continues to do effective reclamation of mined land under strict state laws, but this ill advised venture into extremism should be forgotten," Bagge said.

"I hope the Congress sustains his veto resoundingly."

Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., who led House opposition to the bill, said "there is no doubt we can sustain the veto."

One Killed, 17 Injured In Riot
CANON CITY, Colo. (AP) — One inmate has been killed and 17 injured in a disturbance at the Colorado State Penitentiary that was put down by guards who fired warning shots from submachine guns, Warden Alex Wilson said.

Wilson said the casualties Sunday night were the result of fights among inmates of one of the prison's cellhouses.

He said five of the wounded men were flown by helicopter to a hospital in nearby Pueblo for treatment of cuts.

One prison official said the disturbance was a "small riot" that grew out of a fight involving Mexican-American and black inmates earlier in the day.

Wilson estimated 150 inmates were involved. The identity of the dead inmate, whose body was found inside his cell, was not released.

Joe Paolino, a guard who at one point in the disturbance trained a water hose on the rebellious prisoners, said the cellblock was "a bloody mess."

Wilson said a shakedown of the cellblock after the disturbance turned up knives and other swordlike weapons. Guards said they had been threatened during the trouble with sharpened pieces of steel, hammers, screwdrivers and jars containing lead.

Some guards reported minor injuries from broken glass, but none was hurt seriously, Wilson said.

5 Perish In Asian Rescue

WASHINGTON (AP) — American casualties in the Mayaguez rescue were substantially higher than originally reported and now stand at five dead, 16 missing and between 70 and 80 wounded.

The new casualty figures from the air, ground and sea operation in the Gulf of Thailand were disclosed Sunday by Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger. On Friday, the Pentagon put preliminary casualty figures at one Marine killed, 22 wounded and 13 Marines and airmen missing.

Schlesinger said the five servicemen killed were three Marines and two airmen. The higher estimate of the wounded includes "all sorts of minor wounds," Schlesinger said on ABC-TV's "Issues and Answers."

Asked about the delay in determining the casualty toll, Schlesinger said:

"Well, we indicated at the time that we were withdrawing from the island that initially there had been a number of choppers that had been downed, that we were running a muster on board the ships in order to assess what had been the damage.

"We attempted to get out the results as they became clear, after notification of next of kin."

The casualties were suffered Wednesday night (Eastern time) when Marines landed on the island of Koh Tang off the Cambodian coast in the mistaken belief that the ship's 39-man crew was being held there.

En Route To China
SINGAPORE (AP) The freighter Mayaguez left for Hong Kong today still carrying cargo consigned to U.S. forces in Thailand. The ship's owner denied a Cambodian charge that the cargo included plastic bombs and radio-electronic equipment.

Lee Carroll of the Sea-Land Company said the 77 containers that were to have been unloaded at the Sattahip base in Thailand mostly contained post exchange goods. He said they would be unloaded in Hong Kong and anyone who wanted to inspect them could do so there.

"We had a crew waiting to unload it when it landed here Saturday," said Carroll. "Nobody asked."

He said 107 containers unloaded in Singapore showed signs of having been broken into while the ship was held by the Cambodians, and about $5,000 dollars was missing from the ship's safe. But he said he had no idea who took the money.

Carroll said 20 of the ship's 39 crewmen were returning from Singapore to the United States, but "they are all making more or less separate arrangements." Replacements for them were flown out from the United States.

The President was expected to sign a $405-million refugee-aid bill to help resettle more than 100,000 Vietnamese and Cambodian refugees and to appoint a committee to direct that effort.

Carl E. Bagge, president of the National Coal Association, said the President was showing the courage of his convictions by vetoing a harsh and punitive surface mining bill which would have harmed the national interest.

Dentist Wins Malpractice Suit Against Physician
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A paralyzed dentist and his wife have been awarded $1.6 million in damages from a Lake Worth neurosurgeon who operated on him.

The verdict Saturday by a six-member jury was against Dr. John E. Schwab.

Schwab's mouth dropped open in apparent amazement as the award was announced.

"How could they blame that on me?" he asked his attorney.

The jury awarded $1,325,000 to Dr. Leonard Tolley and $360,000 to his wife, Elsa, after a two-week trial, 23 witnesses and eight hours of deliberation.

Tolley was injured in an automobile accident, Dec. 24, 1972, which left him partially paralyzed, according to testimony. Dr. Schwab performed spinal surgery on the injured dentist on Jan. 12, 1973.

After the surgery, Tolley was a quadriplegic, unable to use his arms or legs and unable to control bladder and bowel movements, testimony showed.

The case apparently hinged on whether Tolley could have improved without the surgery. There was conflicting medical testimony.

Fugitive Abbie Hoffman Says He Likes New Life
NEW YORK (AP) — Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, surfacing briefly for a paid interview after jumping bail on drug dealing charges a year ago, says that with his new face and new wife, he is enjoying his life as a fugitive.

"My fantasy is even if the charges, these charges, are dropped, I'm not going back. Really," said Hoffman, 38, in a television interview taped March 15 and due for airing Monday night on WNET-TV.

Indistinguishable from his old self, Hoffman insisted that plastic surgery had radically changed his appearance and that he had used a wig and face putty to remake his former appearance.

He said that after seeing how the underground works, "I think I could find Patty (Hearst), given a month. But I'm not going to say how I would do it, frankly, I wouldn't say because that would be too valuable."

Ron Rosenbaum and Michael Shamberg, who conducted the interview, said Hoffman had suggested the meeting in a telephone call to Shamberg in Los Angeles March 1. They paid Hoffman $3,000 for it, although he originally demanded $5,000.

Hoffman said that since going underground, he has held a job, gone to school and was arrested once but got away "because I bribed a cop."

LED ASSAULT — Marine Lt. Col. Randall W. Austin of Glenside, Pa., led the assault last week on Koh Tang Island in the Mayaguez recapture. "If one of my boys had been on that crew, I'd have wanted the Marines to come in and save him," says Lt. Col. Randall's mother, Margaret Austin. Randall graduated from Dartmouth College in 1958.

Recession Vs Inflation

President Ford finally conceded that recession was a greater problem than inflation. But his views apparently are not shared by Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board.

The approach of Burns and the FRB has been exceptionally cautious.

"Recession is the No. 1 problem in the short run," he recently told a questioner, "but inflation is the No. 1 problem in the longer run. It is because of the past inflation that we now have a recession. If we are to have prosperity in the long run, we must guard very carefully against inflation in the future."

But economic and congressional critics accuse Burns of failing to take the necessary monetary steps to relieve recession and diminish unemployment. They demand an easier money supply which will hold down or reduce interest rates and promote economic recovery, beginning especially in the housing industry.

As with so many issues of substance, it cannot be said that Burns or his critics are on the side of the angels. Economic policy, as well as monetary policy, deals with issues which cannot be separated conveniently into packets. For economics is one of the more inexact sciences. If it were otherwise we could manage our economic affairs as well as a tree does.

Some inflation is acceptable, if not inevitable — one estimate suggests that for the first 200 years of our existence as a nation inflation has averaged about 2 percent a year. We know that double-digit inflation is unacceptable. What balance can be struck between some or none? Something on the low side may be acceptable, but no one should pretend that economic "fine-tuning" is possible. Attempts to do so have failed, as Burns can readily testify.

Yet the continuing argument over inflation versus recession cannot paralyze action. The economy desperately needs stimulation. Some increase in the rate of inflation must be risked if unemployment is to be relieved and the economy revived. At some point countervailing pressures against inflation will be needed. But not at the moment.

Lawyers' Code For Boards

Lawyers who aspire to positions on city councils have been forewarned by the Committee on Professional Ethics of the State Bar of Texas they must be prepared to strictly limit their practice — and the practices of their partners — in order to do so. The opinion, similar to an advisory opinion issued by the attorney general, could discourage some lawyers from seeking city offices.

The committee says a lawyer-councilman or lawyer-mayor would be violation of the bar's ethics if he practices in municipal court, files appeals in municipal court, represents a defendant in a criminal case initiated by city police, represents a client in a civil case adverse to the city, or represents a defendant in a criminal case where a police officer would be a witness. Further, the committee says "that where the official should not perform such acts, then his partner or associate should not."

That is a sweeping limitation. It would bar a lawyer-councilman or his firm or partners from almost any practice of criminal law, for example, since police officers might be witnesses in virtually any criminal case arising in a particular city. And it would bar any practice of law in municipal court, including appeals action.

In addition to putting a barrier in the path of any lawyer seeking municipal office, the committee's opinion raises another question. Should not similar restrictions be placed upon attorneys who are also legislators, prohibiting them or their partners or firms from practicing law before any state commissions or boards, or in any state courts?

If so, that would certainly thin out the concentration of lawyers in the Legislature in a hurry. The bars code thus might accomplish what lawyer-salons have been unwilling or reluctant to do.

My Answer

Billy Graham

In the newspaper column, you made reference to the Bible book of Hosea. You said to read it for insight into symbolic adultery. I'm unable to find it in my Catholic Bible. Please explain.

A.L. I checked the Douay version of the Bible in my library. The book of Hosea is there all right. But perhaps you missed it since it is spelled OSEE. A note indicates that is a term synonymous with Hosea.

You're right in saying I advised reading it. It's a love story of a husband whose devotion was never crushed by even the most blatant of his wife's adulterous experiences. A footnote says, "This was to represent the Lord's proceedings with His people of Israel."

Chapter 11 is especially poignant. The note related to verse one there says it is "a figure of the calling of Christ." The analogy is of a father loving his son, but being rebuffed by a child who totally rejected him.

Hosea is the record of the prophet's warnings, rebukes and prophecies. It rings loud and clear in its portrayal of the wonderful long-suffering of God. My hope is many will get its message of hope and salvation while there's yet time.

Officials Still Worried

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the seeming recovery of the stock market, securities officials remain seriously worried over the long-term tendency of individuals to be net sellers of stock.

Yes, the little guy has steadily been withdrawing from the market. Since 1970 his net sales have averaged $5 billion a year.

"It is a fact that, in good markets and bad, individuals have been net sellers of stock in every year from 1958 through 1973," says James Needham, chairman of the New York Stock Exchange.

It is disturbing, among other reasons, because the stock markets have promoted and publicized themselves as a haven for the small investor's money. They proclaimed the people's capitalism but the people didn't respond.

Some of the reasons lie with the exchanges, of course, and with the brokers and with the institutions who sold individual investors on the notion that they could, for a fee, produce better results.

That promise proved to be false. Numerous studies of comparative results show relatively uninformed investors sometimes out-perform "experts."

The brokers have nobody to blame but themselves. They sought the business of the individual investor when times were dull, but when business picked up many of them dropped him. His business was unprofitable, they said.

And the exchanges, which now forecast an impending capital disaster if the individual investor cannot be brought back, spent years and millions trying to preserve a self-serving status quo rather than improving the lot of the individual investor.

But now they are concerned, and they have an argument: The individual is essential if the capital-raising function of the stock market is to be preserved. If the stock markets fail to raise enough capital to sustain private enterprise, then the entire economic structure of the nation is imperiled.

Many Americans don't understand the significance of capital until it is stated in terms of jobs. Anywhere from $25,000 to $50,000 of capital investment may be needed to produce just one job.

An analysis by the N.Y. Stock Exchange puts at $4.7 trillion the net capital requirements through 1985. Four trillion dollars at that amount, it figures, will be attainable through personal savings, retained corporate earnings and the like. But that leaves $650 billion.

Big institutions like insurance companies and pension funds might be relied upon to provide a bigger amount than in the past.

But all the calculations show a shortfall of about $7 billion a year between now and 1985. What then is the answer?

Clearly, then the key is to bring the individual investor back into the market — to reverse his traditional role as a net seller of stocks and encourage him to become a net purchaser.

That, they say, will require better tax treatment of dividends and capital gains.

The individual investor, it is now apparent, has come a long way. He is the key, the catalyst, the necessary ingredient. How time changes.

What Is Thorough

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My annual check up includes the following: blood count, urinalysis, serology, sedimentation rate, ECG, chemistry profile, lung X-rays, triglyceride count, and a proctosigmoidoscopy test.

Do you consider this complete? Too much? Will you advise briefly? — H.D.M.

That's a lengthy list to be brief about.

However, it is a comprehensive and not excessive set of laboratory procedures. The chemistry profile covers a dozen or more items — sugar, nitrogen, uric acid, cholesterol, and certain enzymes. The blood sedimentation rate test can be important in detecting infections, and the proctosigmoidoscopy test evaluates the condition of the rectum and the lower colon.

All of this, plus listening to your heart and lungs, checking your blood pressure, and examination of the pelvis (and breasts for women) rounds out a very effective examination.

It is too bad that all this cannot be included in every physical. However, most physicians may not have facilities to store all of the equipment that would be needed. And the cost of such equipment is often prohibitive. Thus, a history of the patient and a general physical must suffice.

Despite all of the advances in laboratory techniques and equipment, the problem becomes one of evaluation of the results. This can be quite time-consuming, and most physicians cannot easily find the time to devote to it.

In some areas of the country, busy physicians are taking on highly trained young men and women as assistants to help ease such time pressures. Called "physician assistants," their duties are distinct from those of nurses. They are trained to interpret such sophisticated test readings, recording them for the doctor's perusal. If such programs as this one are successful, examinations as extensive as yours might become available to millions of others in the years ahead.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Does swelling and some tenderness in the lymph glands (in this case under the arms) always mean cancer, or can it be caused by something else? — D.A.R.

Not, it doesn't have to mean cancer at all. It can result from a local infection or from a blood disorder or one involving the lymphatic system — Hodgkin's disease, for example.

You should be examined to see if there is evidence of glandular swelling elsewhere. That could indicate a generalized disorder. For the sake of precaution, a biopsy should be made.

So, in answer to your question, no, each lymph gland swelling is not presumed to be cancerous. In fact, statistically, the odds are it isn't.

Willie's Funeral

Around The Rim

Tommy Hart

Once told tales: Willie always harbored an enormous dislike for funerals. He understood all about dying but he refused to show up for the obsequies that occur after a person departs this mortal coil, even when the arrangements involved some of his favorite people.

ONE OF HIS biggest fights with his mother occurred when his grandfather died. Willie absolutely refused to appear for the last rites.

He looked on funerals as barbaric and allowed as how there should be a better method for putting people away without having some holy guy popping up on a dais and saying nice things about someone he hardly knew — things which all too often stretched the truth a lot. Such ceremonies did nothing but reopen old wounds, he insisted.

FURTHERMORE, Willie told his family that when he did go he wanted no sad songs sung over him. "Just take me out and let me down," he told his shocked mother. "If it's inconvenient, you don't even have to go."

Well, Willie went off to war and got into a terrible battle and he got it good. His body suffered such terrible wounds that by the time a rescue squad got to him no one could recognize him.

By that time, Willie wasn't in a position to care but the government did. The generals and the polis decided this mangled form, who ever it might be, should occupy the Grave of the Unknown Soldier.

So Willie was buried with great pomp and ceremony and every year the chief executive of the federated states comes to put flowers on his grave, salute his memory and listen to the hymns being played by the military band.

PEOPLE WEREN'T putting little Toby down when they said he looked more like a monkey than a monkey's uncle.

Toby had that turned-up nose and his hair came to a point in the middle of his forehead. When he eyed you quizzically, you got the idea he belonged in a zoo.

Toby didn't mind the comparison, or the nickname "Monk." He liked bananas and he delighted in roosting in trees, but his mother and his dad used to look at each other and silently wonder which branch of the family had taken the short cut from the jungle.

WHEN TOBY was about 10, he ragged his parents until they bought him a monkey suit. Toby donned it with delight and ran to shinnny up his favorite tree. His mother dismissed all thoughts of her son from her mind and went to the den to watch her favorite show, Dialing for Bucks, on TV.

It likely shocked one of the neighbors when he happened by and chanced to look past the house into Toby's backyard. There was Toby fast asleep, hanging from a limb with only his tail for support.

BARTON DISPATCHED the snake with a single shot after it bit him but he knew he had to have help soon or he'd die, and his hike into the woods left him he knew not where.

Barton tried shooting his rifle a few times, hoping someone would hear, but the gunfire did nothing but panic a few birds in the trees.

Abandoning the gun, he laboriously started walking. Each step was an ordeal because the copperhead had sunk its fangs into his ankle and the entire leg was swelling horribly.

In time, his feet gave way. Doggedly, he began to crawl, alternately cursing and appealing to heaven for help.

HIS STRENGTH was ebbing and he was almost delirious when he spotted a clearing and beyond it a slightly elevated road. His determination renewed, his heart raced when he saw what looked like a man dozing under a tree near the road.

With a final surge, Barton reached the man and grasped the upper part of one arm. It was then he spotted a battered automobile turned upside down and realized the luckless soul, who had been his sole occupant, had been thrown clear.

The man stirred ever so slightly, then through battered lips, whispered "Thank God you've come. I think I'm dying."

Dominoes Fall?

Robert Novak

WASHINGTON — Laos became the first post-Vietnam domino to fall, some three months earlier than even pessimists in the U.S. government thought possible, with a shove from the now imperial North Vietnamese politburo in Hanoi.

THIS POINTS to wishful thinking, presently being modified, in high-level Washington. The hope that Laos might drift on in a neutralist never-never land while Communists tightened their hold on the rest of Indochina reflected an underestimation of how deeply the U.S. humiliation has affected Asian governments (and buttressed popular anti-Western jingoism). This misjudgment was compounded by another: a belief Hanoi would pause to digest South Vietnam before consolidating its hegemony over Indochina.

THUS, THE WIDELY derided domino theory is fully revived thanks both to the shock effect of the Vietnam debacle and the militancy of Asian Communists. The lightning collapse of Laos speeds and heightens the danger for Thailand. Future dominoes may be Malaysia and Singapore, with the Philippines and Indonesia menaced in the future.

Laos was the inevitable domino, its fate always determined by events elsewhere. Militant revolutionary Communism was exported to dreamy, superstitious Laos by the armies of North Vietnam. All that prevented their quick triumph was intervention by Washington in the form of CIA military advisers, military aid and air support.

No Laotian better understood his country's future dependence on external events than its philosophic prime minister, Prince Souvanna Phouma. Recognizing that Hanoi sought the old French imperial role of ruling all Indochina, Souvanna believed that only "the great powers" — that is, the United States — could prevent it by guaranteeing Laotian independence. Thus, in the late 1960s, he changed from neutralist to staunch anti-Communist, defending U.S. bombing of the Ho Chi Minh Trail in the panhandle of Laos. As recently as April 1973, when we last interviewed the Prince, he stoutly opposed unilateral withdrawal of CIA advisers and royal Thai army units.

What returned Souvanna to neutralism was the U.S. congressional surge for disengagement from Indochina. If the Americans were going to abandon South Vietnam and Cambodia, he knew Laos was doomed to conquest unless it accommodated to the Communists. The result was the one-sided 1973 peace treaty establishing a coalition government.

THERE WAS STRONG feeling in the State Department and U.S. embassy in Vientiane that the Lao coalition would muddle along indefinitely even after the Communist conquest of Cambodia and South Vietnam. If the non-violent Laotians had been left to their own devices, perhaps it would have.

Letter To The Editor

DEAR EDITOR: Around 9:15 p.m. May 10, I was driving home on Birdwell Lane following the heavy downpour when my car dived out from going through the high water at the corner of Alabama and Birdwell Lane. I had not been stopped more than five minutes when a nice man in a green pickup passed by, backed up, got out, came to my car and got it started again for me. In all the confusion, I failed to get his name even though I did thank him personally at the time for the assistance rendered. However, I would like for other people in the City of Big Spring to know what fine, courteous people live in our city. I have always been proud to call Big Spring home and acts of kindness such as this just confirms my faith in human nature and the fine citizens of Big Spring. Thanks again go out to that fine, courteous gentleman and his family who came to my rescue last Saturday evening.

Sincerely,
TOMMIE BRYANS

A Devotion For Today . . .

"The spirit of the Lord shall rest upon him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding . . . of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of the Lord." (Isaiah 11:2)

We Hold These Truths... A Chronicle of America

May, 1775:

The month sees a transformation in the attitude of New York. On March 10, James Madison could write from Orange, Virginia, that "in New York, they insult the whole Colony and Continent with impunity!" Indeed, on February 17 the New York Assembly voted 15-9 against even thanking New York's delegates to the First Continental Congress; on February 23, the Assembly voted 17-9 against naming delegates to the Second Continental Congress. But Lexington and Concord did much to dilute New York's strong loyalist sentiment. On May 1, a Committee of 100 is established to preserve "American liberty"; the Committee urges every man to acquire a musket and to train himself in its use. On May 10 Myles Cooper, the Tory president of King's College in New York City, narrowly avoids being tarred and feathered by a mob; his escape is assisted by a student, committed to the colonial cause, by the name of Alexander Hamilton. On May 17, the Provincial Congress assumes the functions of government, substituting itself for the inactive New York Assembly. And on May 29, the Provincial Congress orders all citizens to sign the Continental Association.

Jury Selection Begins For Archer Parr Trial

RIO GRANDE CITY, Tex. (AP) — Jury selection was scheduled to get under way here today for the removal trial of suspended Duval County Judge Archer Parr.

Parr, a nephew of the late "Duke of Duval," George B. Parr, was temporarily removed from office March 24 on an order signed by District Court Judge O.P. Carrillo. The order was sought by Dist. Atty. Arnulfo Guerra in a suit he filed against Parr in behalf of Duval County grand jury foreman Jose Nichols of Freer.

Guerra sought Parr's removal on grounds that Parr had been convicted in federal court at San Antonio on a felony perjury charge and that testimony during Parr's divorce case indicated he had received large, illegal payments from Duval County.

Judge Carrillo is to preside at the trial despite efforts by defense lawyer Marvin Foster to have Carrillo disqualified. When Judge Carrillo suspended Parr, he replaced him with county commissioner Dan Tobin Jr. A political faction headed by Parr and a faction including Judge Carrillo have been involved for some time in a power struggle for political control of Duval County. Parr's supporters contend the removal action was just another phase of the power struggle.

Another figure in the Carrillo faction is south Texas rancher-banker Clinton Manges of Freer. Manges was once allied with the Parr faction, but Parr says Manges is now involved with the Carrillo family. Grand jury foreman Nichols works as foreman at Manges' Duval County

No Indorsement Given By ACS

American Cancer Society officials announced today that it in no way endorses any commercial product. The chairman of the board of the Texas Division of the ACS, Stanley Cole, said, "We want to make it clear that this applies to any type of insurance, especially cancer insurance."

Cole, a San Antonio insurance executive, said the Society feels the statement is necessary because an increasing number of insurance companies have been using ACS statistics in sales promotion literature. "The American Cancer Society has never authorized the use of its statistics or any educational film or printed literature for any commercial purpose. This is an absolutely unauthorized activity and we are asking people to report this sort of activity to the State Board of Insurance and the American Cancer Society if it continues," he said.

Thailand Receives U.S. Note

Thailand today accepted a note from the U.S. government expressing regret for the unauthorized use of Thai bases to attack Cambodia and recover the freighter Mayaguez.

The U.S. government revised the American toll in the Mayaguez operation sharply upward, announcing that five men were killed, 16 were wounded and 70 to 80 were missing. But the captain of the Mayaguez, Charles T. Miller, said in Singapore that seven dead Marines were already "on ice" when he was brought aboard the destroyer Wilson.

A senior American official reported that the Ford administration seriously considered using B52 bombers against Cambodia. The official said no one in the administration wanted to use the big bombers, but such action was a real possibility.

The Mayaguez left Singapore today for Hong Kong. The ship's owner denied a charge by Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian chief of state, that her cargo included a large number of plastic bombs and radio-electronic equipment. A spokesman said most of the cargo consigned to U.S. military bases in Thailand was post exchange goods.

Capt. Miller and members of his crew said the U.S. Marines who were landed on an island off the Cambodian coast to rescue them were put ashore on the wrong island. Miller said he and the crew were on Rong Sam Lem while the Marines landed on Koh Tang, about 25 miles away.

A Pentagon spokesman confirmed the wrong-island landing.

Restrained Bombings Criticized

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Hanoi interpreted bombing pauses by the United States "as evidence that our leaders were not sure of their strategy," Gen. George Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff says.

He told the Order of Daedalian including nearly 100 other general officers Saturday that North Vietnam decided that the United States would likely not resume bombing because of domestic and international pressures.

"Consequently, not only did our restrained use of airpower in North Vietnam work against the political objective ... but violated basic military principles of surprise and mass as ways to achieve prompt success at minimum cost," he said.

Gen. Brown, an Air Force officer, warned that "the aura of detente" must be kept from undermining the United States' military posture.

"From a position of military inferiority, the United States can neither successfully negotiate nor successfully deter," he said.

He said also that there is no one but the United States to guarantee the security and survival of the Free World.

However, Brown said that requests from President Ford to Congress for defense funding are the smallest since before Korea in terms of "a percentage of the federal budget, percentage of gross national product or percentage of public spending."

He urged that the United States keep abreast of the Soviet Union as the only other major military power in the world.

"I don't mean that we must try to develop a mirror image of Soviet capabilities," he said. "I do mean that we must continue to develop and maintain a military posture adequate to deter an attack on the United States and our allies ..."

Road Stabilization Experiment Tabled

County Judge Bill Tune this morning broke a tie vote, resulting in the county tabling consideration of a road stabilization experiment.

County Commissioners Court opened a bid from Callahan Chemical Co., San Antonio, for $2,700.

And Amalgamated Enterprises Co. Inc., Amarillo, again offered the county a quantity of chemical for $7,380.

The two firms market chemical substances which mix with soil and harden to form a surface which may be left or used as a base for paving.

"Howard County has an abundance of material (caliche) used all over the United States in road construction where it's available," County Engineer Neel Barnaby said.

Midland County does not, Barnaby said. The neighboring county plans to experiment with the products of both firms.

"Let's wait and see how Midland comes out," Commissioner Ikie Rupard said, making his successful motion to table the matter.

Rupard saw no advantage of the material, which would become rutted when traffic passed over it after a rain. If the county paved over the chemical-dirt mixture, the county could have used caliche then also, Rupard reasoned.

Commissioner William B. Crocker Jr. suggested using the chemical at sites far from caliche pits.

Agreeing with Rupard, Commissioner Simon (Cy) Terrazas advised against "going into competition with our home enterprises."

Commissioner Jack Buchanan voted with Crocker against tabling and noted he had about 100 miles of unpaved roads in his precinct.

AIRPORT
The court voted to lease hangar space directly to Trans Regional Airlines rather than leasing to Big Spring Aircraft Inc.

Big Spring Aircraft would have subleased to the airline firm.

Commissioners Rupard and Crocker agreed the county at this time should retain control over the facility so the space could be kept open for other airlines in case Trans Regional stopped serving Big Spring.

The county is considering charging Trans Regional $60 per aircraft, and Trans Regional is keeping two twin-engine planes here now.

When buying locally, Trans Regional would purchase fuel from Big Spring Aircraft in lieu of paying landing fees, Judge Tune said. This will bring the county limited revenue through a commission received from fuel sales.

"It's resolved that they're not going to put in (their own fuel) tanks," Rupard said of Trans Regional.

PAVING
In other business, the court:

Learned eight former summer road department workers would be re-employed in June and supervised by a coach. Through the federal Manpower program, 15 additional summer workers will be retained at no cost to the county.

Approved, without deletion, a road paving schedule proposed by Barnaby. Other roads may be added to the list later. Barnaby plans to start paving June 2.

Hearst Barnaby explain Web Air Force Base is seeking to borrow a scraper from Randolph Air Force Base for county use at the city-county landfill. Through the Texas Surplus Property Agency, the county also might obtain a scraper at no cost.

Accepted the apparent low bid for a ripper attachment. Treanor Equipment Co., Odessa, will be paid $6,710 for the attachment, installation included. A second bidder, West Texas Equipment Co., Lubbock, did not offer a price including installation and wanted more than Treanor for the equipment without installation.

Authorized entertaining bids a second time for an automatic truck tire changer. No one bid today.

And approved County Auditor Virginia Black hiring a Vocational Office Education (V.O.E.) student next school year at an estimated cost of $1,400. The V.O.E. student will work four hours daily for $2.08 per hour.

Museum Party To Draw Big Crowd

More than 200 persons are scheduled to attend the Heritage Museum Chuck Wagon Party at 7 p.m. today at the Dora Roberts Community Center. Several out-of-town people are here for the affair, which will include a Western menu, colorful decorations, and music and other entertainment with a nostalgic flavor.

THE LAST HURRAH — A tiny miss, who likes her anonymity, takes time to smell the wild flowers. With the summer heat coming on, the countryside around Big Spring likely will lose most of its gorgeous colors but the young girls like the one here can only help to improve the view.

Mrs. Ford Ready To Help Hubby

LOS ANGELES (AP) — First Lady Betty Ford, in California to receive a distinguished woman of the year award tonight, reports she is feeling "marvelous" and is ready to do anything she can in her husband's 1976 election campaign.

She brushed aside as "merely hearsay" recent rumors that Ford might not run in 1976 because of her health, saying "people make those stories up."

Mrs. Ford, who underwent breast cancer surgery last September and has been plagued by recurring neck and back pains from osteoarthritis, said that over the past few months her health has improved and "I have much more strength." "I feel marvelous," she said in an interview with five reporters aboard a DC-9 military plane flying to California Sunday afternoon. She acknowledged that she will undergo chemotherapy "for some time," but she added, "that's an automatic thing."

The First Lady held her first major interview since her cancer surgery and spent 26 minutes taking on questions.

She told how President Ford was "upset over the casualties" suffered by American servicemen in the rescue of the crew of the U.S. freighter Mayaguez, seized by Cambodians last week.

"He had hoped they could pull it off without casualties," the President's wife said.

She said she wasn't surprised that Ford displayed his coolness in the Mayaguez crisis because "he has developed a great deal of self-control."

Pay Toilet Is Linked to Fem Lib

By the Associated Press

In between worrying about weighty matters like budget crises, state lawmakers are wrestling with a less momentous but irritating issue: the pay toilet.

The argument against pay toilets is linked to the drive for equal rights for women. Opponents of pay toilets argue that women are unfairly handicapped by the locks on booths in public restrooms.

The publication State Government News, issued by the Council of State Governments in Lexington, Ky., reported that legislatures in 20 states were considering measures to abolish, or at least restrict, the pay toilet.

Maryland, Minnesota and Wyoming have passed laws against pay toilets. California, Alaska and Florida approved similar legislation last year.

The Wyoming law, which becomes effective May 30, reads: "No person, firm or corporation maintaining toilet facilities generally available to the public shall impose a charge." Violators face a fine of not more than $100.

Other laws and proposals require that a certain percentage of toilets in public restrooms be free.

A bill to bar pay toilets from state or local government buildings has passed the Nevada assembly and is pending in the senate.

Assemblywoman Eileen Brookman, a Las Vegas Democrat, argued for the bill with a rhyme: "When you have to go, you have to go. And when you have to pay a dime, it's a crime."

Among the other states where pay toilet measures are pending or have been under consideration in the current legislative session are Michigan, Texas, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Washington, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Arizona and Connecticut.

Mrs. Finke was named president of the VFW Ladies' Auxiliary.

Campout Is Held Here

The Y-Indian Guides named Julian Patterson (Tall Cedar) as their new Longhouse Chief and Dr. Jim Cowan (Bald Eagle) their new medicine man when they held their annual campout Saturday night at the Boy Scout Camp Grounds.

They also honored the outgoing leaders and their sons, presenting feathers at campfire ceremonies to outgoing chief, Bob Butler (Sturdy Bow) and his son, Chris (Swift Arrow) and to Charles Dunham (Strong Bow), who was outgoing medicine man and his son, Clark (Straight Arrow).

They set up camp Friday and were judged on their campsites with the Apaches winning first place for both the campsite and properties with the Choctaws second. The Sioux won third in campsite and fourth in properties and the Cherokees placed third in properties and fourth in campsites.

Athletic contests followed with feathers presented to the winning first, second and third graders at the campfire.

Tribal chiefs were elected for the coming year including Dr. Charles Hays (Swift Eagle) and Ed Miller (Thundercloud) for the Apaches; Jerry Kilgore (Big Eagle) for the Cherokees; Dan Wise (Big Wolf) for the Sioux and Bob Grimm (Grey Wolf) for the Choctaws.

John Hamilton closed the camp Sunday morning with a devotional.

Routine reports and information concerning prospective state appropriations will be made by Dr. Charles Hays, president.

Gymnasium At Forsan Dedicated To Smith

FORSAN — The gymnasium at Forsan was officially named the H. D. Smith Gymnasium during a reception honoring the retiring superintendent Sunday afternoon.

"Basketball was my life and I am really thrilled to have the gymnasium named in my honor," Smith said here today, and added, "I hope they see many victories in that building."

The reception honored Mr. and Mrs. Smith who are retiring at the end of this school year. He has served as superintendent for the past seven years and she has been high school English teacher and librarian.

A large plaque inside the lobby of the building now holds bronzed pictures of the Smiths and a tribute to them. They were also given a small bronzed plaque with their pictures to commemorate the event.

Taking part in the ceremonies were Tom Yeats, outgoing school board president; J. F. Poyner, principal and Hamlin Elrod, new board president.

Terrorist Dies By Own Hand

Israeli port of Eilat, Rabin said the construction plans did not mean Israel was annexing the area.

President Anwar Sadat of Egypt said he will be speaking for an Arab world united against Israel when he meets President Ford in Salzburg, Austria, on June 1. He told a news conference in Damascus, "I am sure that when I speak to President Ford, I am representing the views of the bigger majority of my colleagues, the Arab leaders."

Sadat made the statement at the end of a tour of Kuwait, Iraq, Jordan and Syria during which he forged a common stand for his talks with Ford. Yasir Arafat, head of the Palestine Liberation Organization, met Sadat in Damascus and was at his side during the news conference.

Egyptian sources said Arab leaders were agreed that (1) it is no longer realistic to talk of destroying the state of Israel; (2) they should get back what Israeli-occupied territory they can by force but explore other avenues; and (3) Sadat should ask Ford to pressure Israel for territorial concessions and agreement to a Palestinian state.

Kissinger is scheduled to discuss the Middle East situation on Tuesday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in Vienna.

Lebanese officials said the shell was fired during a recent Israeli bombardment, but the Israelis denied this. The village was raided by Israeli troops twice last week.

Israeli Premier Yitzhak Rabin told a cabinet meeting that despite opposition from within his own Labor party, his government will build 500 apartments in the next two years at Sharm el-Sheikh, at the southern tip of the occupied Sinai Peninsula.

Q.1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ75 ♠AK843 ♠92 ♠A5
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass Pass 1 ♠
Pass Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Pass. Partner did not have enough to respond to your opening bid. Now, he is simply competing for the part score with almost nothing in high cards but with a diamond suit that is at least six or seven cards long.

Q.2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K72 ♠62 ♠82 ♠J109865
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Pass 1 NT Pass
Pass Dble. Pass 2 ♠
Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—Pass. Obviously partner has a powerful hand, but he couldn't act over one heart on the first round of the auction because his suit is hearts. He has shown no interest in your clubs, and there is no reason to think that you have a better spot or that you can bid any higher.

Q.3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ1076 ♠108742 ♠105 ♠7
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South
1 ♠ 1 ♠ ?
What action do you take?
A.—Bid two hearts. We would not violently object if you jumped straight to four hearts, but we can't see the hurry. Your hand might be unsuitable for a game contract. The one action we fault is a penalty double—as a general principle, it is unsound to make a low-level penalty double when you have length in partner's suit.

Q.4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠Q103 ♠AQ9542 ♠QJ3 ♠K
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Pass. This hand has all the appearances of a misfit, and it's unlikely that you will have enough tricks for a no trump game. Another reason for passing is that partner might have made an under-strength two-over-one response with a long club suit.

Q.5—Both vulnerable, your right-hand opponent opens the bidding with one diamond and you hold:
♠AQ10762 ♠832 ♠8 ♠AK5
What action do you take?
A.—Bid one spade. This hand seems slightly strong for a simple overall, but a double could leave you badly placed if the auction becomes competitive or partner responds in clubs. Unless partner can take some action over one spade, we doubt that your side will miss game.

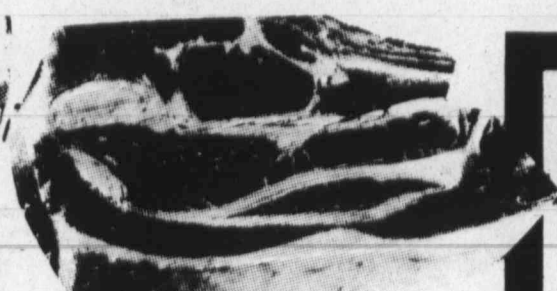

Q.6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q76 ♠A9542 ♠KQ10 ♠J4
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—There should be a clam somewhere—the question is where. For the moment, we suggest a waiting bid of three diamonds to see what partner's next move is. The only alternative we would consider is a jump to three no trump—a bid of two no trump grossly understates your values.

Q.7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠KJ7 ♠AKJ93 ♠K105 ♠A8
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♠ Dble. Pass 3 NT
Pass ?
What action do you take?
A.—There is a distinct possibility that East has taken advantage of the vulnerability to try to pull a fast one. Partner's jump to three no trump shows a pretty good hand. However, just in case everyone is bidding honestly, we suggest you start probing for a slam mildly with a cue-bid of four clubs.

Q.8—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A108 ♠QJ9 ♠J54 ♠QJ92
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Dble. INT ?
What action do you take?
A.—Double. Simple arithmetic leads us to the conclusion that East is unlikely to make his contract. Even if partner's double is light on high cards, your side must have more than half the deck. In addition, you have an attractive club lead, so you can expect a handsome dividend.

The dinner was held in the Student Union Building of Howard College. Mrs. Phyllis Cox, chapter president, extended the welcome, and Mrs. Nancy Jean of Radio Station KBYG was mistress of ceremonies. Music was performed by Mrs. Shirley Tyals, pianist.

Mrs. Melba Dement, the chapter's latest recipient of a scholarship, was also honored at the banquet and was introduced by Miss Ollene McShan, scholarship chairman. Mrs. Dement will graduate from Howard College this spring.

Nelson was nominated for the honor by his secretary, Mrs. Sadie Wallace, and the presentation of the trophy was by S. Tom Cain, last year's recipient of the award.

Born in Erath County, Nelson graduated from Dublin High School and began his banking career with the First State Bank, Abilene. Later, he served as an assistant cashier, City National Bank, Austin; assistant examiner, State

J. D. NELSON

Banking Department; and vice president and cashier at Mercantile Bank and Trust, San Antonio. During these years, he completed numerous courses offered by the American Institute of Banking.

Nelson helped organize the Stonewall National Bank, Corpus Christi, and subsequently served as executive vice president and then president of that bank for four years. Prior to accepting his present position, he was president of the Tarrant State Bank, Fort Worth.

Presently, Nelson is involved in many community activities, including the Chamber of Commerce, Industrial Foundation, Howard College, United Way, YMCA and Boy Scouts of America. He has served as president of the congregation of the church which he and his family attend, and the family holds membership in Big Spring Country Club.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Marj Carpenter, a reporter for the Big Spring Herald, who described numerous experiences she has had during 20 years of working for various newspapers.

Mrs. Carpenter said that she has always seemed to be where things were happening and "covered her first story" when she was four years old, learning then that a reporter does not always get to "tell it like it is" because people do not always want what actually took place to be told.

Through other experiences, she said she had learned that people do not always want to hear a good story, it is hard to get their attention, and reporters are not always welcome. Despite the drawbacks, Mrs. Carpenter said she is looking forward to a continuing career in journalism.

Other program participants were Miss Ruth Harper, presenting the history of ABWA; Mrs. Judy Lowe, ABWA Green; and Mrs. Jean Jennings and Mrs. Debbie Wegman, prayers. Mrs. Sadie Wallace, chapter Woman of the Year, presented the vocational talk.

Mrs. Charles Maghon of Keller, formerly a teacher in the Westbrook school, was a recent guest of the Altis Clemmers. The Clemmers spent last Sunday in Putnam Jack Ramsey and the Glover Johnsons. The R. L. Clemmers were recent guests of her mother and stepfather, the Carl Bakers, in Christoval.

The Troy Lankfords returned Thursday from Temple where they spent the past several weeks while Mrs. Lankford received medical treatment.

C.M. Alvis has been dismissed from Root Memorial Hospital.

Weekend guests of the C. E. Raines were the Eddie Rannes, Lewisville; Mrs. G. Ranne, Mrs. Leeman Jones and Marvin Jones, all of Midland; and the Kenneth Goldens, Colorado City.

In Odessa last week were Mrs. D. R. Lamb and Mrs. D. G. Rollins who visited Mrs. Rollins' mother, Mrs. C. C. Buchanan.

Teen Wins Free Trip To Capitol

Deanne Maynard, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Maynard, San Antonio, is one of six national winners in a "Discovery" contest sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and Co., Teen Magazine and Monsanto.

Miss Maynard, a green-eyed brunette, is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Wasson and Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Maynard, all of Big Spring. Her father is minister of MacArthur Church of Christ, San Antonio.

"Discovery" is a self-improvement course held in Sears stores. Winners completed the course and were selected by Teen editors on the basis of improvement.

Sunday, Miss Maynard left on the trip she won to Washington, D. C., accompanied by her instructor, Peggy Vincent. There, she will meet her senators and congressmen and will participate in five days of on-location photography for Teen Magazine. The September issue will feature the winners.

NUPTIALS — Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Conley, 614 Colgate, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Kathleen, to John Chavez, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. CHAVEZ OF Guadalupe, Mex. The couple plans to be married June 14 in the home of the bride-elect's parents.

Dear Abby

Mama's Boy Missed Boat To Manhood

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a Mama's boy. Mama lives 1,500 miles away, but she writes to Sonny regularly three times a week. And Sonny calls her every Sunday. (He even asks her how he should vote.)

He is 64 and Mama is 79. I know she can't last forever, but what happens to a Mama's boy when Mama is no longer around to tell him what to do?

SICK OF BOTH OF THEM
DEAR SICK: If he's still a Mama's boy at 64, he missed the last boat to manhood, so he'll probably look for another "Mama." And think you're her.

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column about people who were always mooching rides, and these moochers were called "schnorrers."

I would like to know where that term came from. We are one of the 200 families in the United States with the name of "Schnorr," and we object to the use of our name with such a meaning.

We hope that the Schnorr families in Oregon, New Mexico, Illinois and all the other states feel as we do and that you get 199 more letters of protest. Thank you.

THE SCHNORRS OF ARIZONA
DEAR SCHNORRS: The verb "to beg" is "schnorren" in German. From it comes the noun, "schnorrer" — which means "a beggar, a handout, a moocher, a cheapskate, a chiseler, a bum, a drifter, or a borrower. It can also mean a compulsive bargain hunter, bargainer or an impudent indigent."

The above information was "schnorred" (borrowed without permission) from "The Joys of Yiddish" — a delightful and authoritative book written by Leo Rosten.

DEAR ABBY: I have also had it with schnorrers who mooch rides. But when an acquaintance calls and asks if I'm going to a certain affair and I say I am, she immediately asks, "May I ride with you?" Then what do I say?

My greatest objection to these freeloaders is the loss of my personal freedom of movement. I can neither arrive nor leave an event at my own convenience. And I can't choose the route I will take. Even though I may be downtown shopping, I must leave my home because one habitual rider lives near me.

I must also wait until the end of the affair, or until my riders have finished visiting with their friends — not a chance of leaving a few minutes early to stop at the market or do a few errands because I must deliver my riders to their homes promptly.

My car is a two-door. One hefty freeloader who had trouble getting into my back seat said, "When you get a new car, will you please get a four-door?"

I wish I had had the nerve to say, "Like fun I will. My next car will be a two-seater!"

WHAT DO TO
DEAR WHAT: Some people actually enjoy providing others with rides, but since you so obviously consider it an imposition, when you're asked, simply say, "I may not be leaving from home." (True, you may not.) Or, "I may not be going directly home afterward" (Also true.)

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed stamped (20 cents) envelope.

Why not weave those foods into your menus as they become plentiful throughout the spring and summer?

LOVELIER YOU Reducers Allowed 'Free Food' Items

By MARY SUE MILLER
The items supermarkets never carry are the "free foods." Are they really costless? Yes, in calories — or almost. Only water and coffee or tea, without milk or sugar, are absolutely free of calorie cost.

To a greater or lesser degree, those pesky calories lurk in everything that passes your lips, both the natural and the processed. Calories decrease in ratio to the amount of fat and carbohydrates (sugar and starch) contained in a food.

The squash family makes a good example. A cup of summer squash at 34 calories has only a trace of fat and 8 grams of carbohydrates. A cup of winter squash, with only a trace of fat, contains 22.6 grams of carbohydrate and 97 calories. Neither one is free, but summer squash uses up a great deal less of the reducer's calorie budget. And the eating is just as good.

Salad greens, celery, radishes, green peppers, cucumbers, asparagus, zucchini, and raw mushrooms contain so low a count that a dieter is urged to eat all she wants, freely. If, that is, she does not douse them with high-calorie dressing. Besides their low calories, all such foods provide vitamins, minerals

Legislature Opens Last Two Weeks Of Sessions

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The 64th Legislature began its crucial final two weeks today with the House trying to decide how much the state should spend the next two years.

The Senate voted unanimously last week for a general appropriations bill totaling $12.6 billion from all funds, including $4.1 billion from the general revenue fund, an increase of $1.7 billion over 1974-75.

work Saturday, when it adopted, 96-27, and sent to the Senate a bill that would create a statewide utilities regulatory commission.

An amendment to put all telephone rate-making in Texas under the commission was approved, 109-10. Other utilities, including electricity and gas, could be regulated by cities that choose to set their own rates.

The final bill is likely to be written by a House-Senate conference committee and be a compromise between the tough House bill and a weaker Senate bill.

Friday, the House sent to the Senate, on an 85-57 vote, a revision of public school financing laws that some members called a "half step" in the right direction. Even the sponsors admitted the $721 total cost would have to be trimmed by the Senate and, probably, by a conference committee, to fit the state's income the next two years.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has said he will veto any bill that calls for new taxes, outside the present revenue sources.

The financing bill includes a $1,400-a-month raise for Texas school teachers.

The bill also provides $75 million in "equalization aid" and $37.50 per child for "compensatory education" for the educationally disadvantaged.

Rise In Oil Price Hinted This Year

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—The Iranian government newspaper reported today that the United States and other major industrial countries have agreed that the price of crude oil should be pegged to an index of the major products the oil countries buy from the industrial nations.

Rastakhiz said following Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi's "successful" discussions with U.S. officials over the weekend, special envoys of the United States, France, the European Economic Community, Saudi Arabia and Iran met secretly in Tehran and agreed to hold an energy conference.

The report did not say when the conference would be held.

The shah some months ago proposed that the price of crude oil rise or fall in accordance with the worldwide rate of inflation, as indicated by the world market prices of some 30 other major commodities. Up to now, the United States and other major industrial nations have resisted the proposal.

The shah said in Washington Sunday that the members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries probably will raise prices in September to keep up with the rising prices of what they buy.

The shah said the oil countries have lost 35 per cent of their purchasing power because of world inflation, the shaky world monetary situation and the dollar's loss of purchasing power.

Speaking on NBC-TV's "Meet the Press," he said it was decided at the last OPEC meeting "to give the world a chance to curb their inflation, to check it, to put their house in order. That period will be terminated in September, so in September we are going to meet, again and decide what to do."

Inden Is Winner

CHICAGO (AP) — A weary panel of five judges selected seven winners in the Chefs Olympic trials after a long night of inspecting tables of culinary artwork.

An eighth winner is still to be determined.

The competition was fierce as 130 of the top North American kitchen kings displayed their ornate creations Sunday at the McCormick Place convention center.

Christian Inden, 36, executive chef of the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago, won the grand prize for the third straight year.

The settings of Inden's display featured an oriental theme based on the Year of the Snail, Goldfish, Rooster, Pheasant and Peacock — all extravagantly glazed productions.

His works were climaxed by a 600-pound block of chocolate intricately carved in Roman relief. Inden began planning, testing and designing his entries nine months ago.

The other nominees chosen for the U.S. team for next year's International Culinary Olympics in Frankfurt, Germany, are:

Steve Olof, Pinehurst Hotel, Pinehurst, N.C.; Richard Blaisell, Maxwell's Plum Restaurant, New York City; Rene Schiegg, Holiday Inn, Hartford, Conn.; Franz Eichenauer, Fairmont Hotel, Dallas; Klaus Reulbach, Sous Chef, Conrad Hilton, Chicago; and Helmut Lobl of St. Louis.
