Tornado Funnels Pop Out

Winds topping hurricane force and intense thunderstorms belabored broad areas of Texas today with flooding rains, occasionally mixing in a tornado for good measure.

Menacing turbulence blustered deeper into the state from the Panhandle-Plains section late Monday and kept spreading while the weather calmed in its wake.

The National Weather Service reported clocking wind gusts up to 80 miles per hour — 5 above minimum hurricane velocity — at both San Angelo in West Central Texas and San Marcos in South Central Texas.

Tornado funnels popped out about dusk around Sabinal, Bandera and Seguin, and a twister spun northwest of Austin in Angus Valley shortly after 5 a.m. today, official observers reported.

Although a tornado watch remained up as late as 3 a.m. for areas from around San Angelo northward into Oklahoma and repeated severe thunderstorm warnings went up, there was no word of injuries or major damage from the vicious winds and tornadoes.

A roof was torn off a house near Fort Stockton in West Texas and hail as big as baseballs pounded the countryside 30 miles east of there.

By early morning gusty winds still lingered in parts of the Texas Panhandle with a few thunderstorms around Childress and Wichita Falls although skies had cleared farther north, and often severe thunderstorms raged downstate in a section embracing San Angelo, Del Rio, San Antonio and Fredericksburg.

Weather Talk All Bluster

Big Spring and Howard County were under a tornado watch for several hours last night but nothing came of it, not even rain drops.

High winds ripped through areas west of Big Spring, especially in the Andrews vicinity and the wind did blow briskly here at times but the menace soon faded as the squall lines moved eastward.

Numerous thunderstorms were spawned in the Robert Lee and Sterling City areas but those were isolated and didn't last long.

Red-Led Troops Grab Southern Laos City

By the Associated Press
Pathet Lao troops took over the southern Laos city of Savannakhet today, and a dozen Americans held in loose arrest there by left-wing students were reported "just fine." Thousands of townspeople cheered the Communist-led troops, and rightist troops joined the victory parade.

The takeover of Savannakhet, which previously had been under control of Laotian rightists, came after two weeks of political upheaval in which the right-wing faction of the coalition government surrendered political power to the Communist-led Pathet Lao and neutralists.

Observers believe the entire country will fall to the Pathet Lao, which was reported moving into Pakse, another Mekong River town in southern Laos.

Sanford Stone, 58, U.S. aid coordinator for the area, told a newsman all the Westerners in Savannakhet were safe despite radio reports received earlier in the day by the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane that two Americans had been led from their homes by a crowd.

"We are confined to our houses, but we have food which came on a courier flight Monday," said Stone. "We have never been asked to leave and we have never been threatened."

Meanwhile, officials in Bangkok and Washington reported that Cambodian navy men who sailed a 175-foot subchaser to Thailand seeking asylum claim theirs was the vessel that captured the American freighter Mayaguez last week.

The Thai navy, in a one-sentence statement, said it had impounded a gunboat flying the flag of the old Cambodian government and disarmed and detained 10 crew members.

CONFLICTING STORIES The fleeing Cambodians reportedly arrived at Sattahip, on the Gulf of Thailand, last Thursday, the day U.S. Marines and planes rescued the Mayaguez and her crew of 39. However, there were conflicting reports as to whether this was the boat involved with the Mayaguez.

Mayaguez Capt. Charles T. Miller said Saturday the Cambodian boat involved was a "motor torpedo boat," but U.S. government sources said the Mayaguez was captured by two small gunboats. The captain's log identified the vessel as bearing the number P128, but the boat reaching Thailand was reported to be numbered E311. It was not known whether this could have been a second vessel mentioned by the crew.

NO STRINGS The Americans and six other foreigners in Savannakhet were placed under loose arrest when students sacked the compound of the Agency for International Development last Wednesday. They demanded an end to U.S. influence in the area and of rightist control of the town.

The U.S. Embassy said it was trying to get a statement from the troubled coalition government on its policy toward the aid program, which totals $32.5 million this year. The embassy said it was willing to "modify, reduce or eliminate" the aid. Pathet Lao officials say privately they would like U.S. aid continued, without strings.

The Thai government, not wanting to anger the Communist government in Cambodia, was keeping the crew of the Cambodian vessel under wraps. Various reports circulated about what had happened aboard.

The World At-A-Glance

TERRA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — A brother and sister say it took 22 years and an international incident to locate the seafaring father they claim is Charles T. Miller, captain of the U.S. merchant ship Mayaguez. James T. Miller, 34, said in an interview Monday he and his mother recognized the captain's voice and face in a television broadcast Saturday after Cambodia released the Mayaguez crew. His 28-year-old sister, Cheryl Miller Pedersen, said, "I didn't even know if he was living. When I was born, he and my mother were divorced." Mrs. Pedersen said she was sending a letter to the captain in Hong Kong asking him to get in touch with them.

SUDBURY, Mass. (AP) — About 300 youngsters are learning their Bicentennial history by attending the historic Little Red Schoolhouse, complete with quill pens, dunce caps and colonial costumes. Only about a dozen children can attend at any one time in the tiny, 177-year-old school. The school doesn't have electricity, heat or blackboards. Daily lessons are written on slates and narrow wooden boards called hornbooks.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts to open the military academies to women and bring home 70,000 U.S. troops stationed abroad face votes in the House after it rejected all efforts to cut a $32 billion weapons bill. Other amendments being taken up today would chop the bill by $1.9 billion across the board and halt development of missiles that can carry several nuclear bombs and can attack different targets.

WASHINGTON (AP) — His children were off doing other things, his wife was out of town, so President Ford went to a movie and saw a fictionalized account of how another president sent Marines to the rescue of Americans in trouble. It was escapist entertainment Monday night, but the situation bore some resemblance to Ford's action cargo ship Mayaguez and its crew. It was a tale of kidnapping and derring-do, based on an incident in 1904 when President Theodore Roosevelt sent Marines to Morocco to retrieve an American woman and her two children from the clutches of a Berber chieftain.

TOKYO (AP) — Eisaku Sato, whose eight years as Japan's prime minister set a postwar record and won him a Nobel Peace Prize, was near death today following a stroke in a restaurant. Doctors said the condition of the 74-year-old statesman was so critical they dared not move him from the Shinkiraku restaurant where he collapsed Monday night shortly after he took his seat for a meeting with business leaders. "He seems to be getting worse by the hour," said a doctor.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Thousands of Socialists braved a steady rain and kept vigil through the night outside the offices of their party newspaper after it was seized by Communist printers. Paratroopers rushed to the building by the leftist military government prevented the Socialists from entering to drive the printers out. Socialist chief Mario Soares, a minister without portfolio in the cabinet, threatened to pull his party out of the government unless control of the newspaper was handed back.

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Talks between Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko continue today after a warning by Kissinger against Russian attempts to exploit American failures in Indochina. The talks today were to focus on the pace of the SALT negotiations in Geneva for another strategic arms limitation treaty.

Stronger Pet Controls Due

"The city is planning to strengthen its dog ordinances," Bob Butler, assistant city manager said here today.

"We are going to ask for a leash law and higher fines for dogs or cats not vaccinated by the time they are three months old," he continued.

"Due to the large number of rabies cases, we also plan to speed up picking up stray dogs. There is no charge for bringing a dog to the pound. We only charge when the owner gets them out," he added.

Translations To Be Added

Howard and other counties with more than 5 per cent of their populations Spanish-speaking must issue ballots and voting materials with Spanish translations, County Clerk Margaret Ray said Monday.

She received the information from the Texas Secretary of State's office, which interpreted a new state law for county officials.

Mrs. Ray guessed that the next election here will be over a proposed bond issue for a Howard College community center.

Strip Mining Measure Vetoed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford vetoed a bill to protect the environment against coal strip mining today, saying it would boost unemployment and consumer energy bills.

"I am unable to sign this bill because as many as 36,000 people would lose jobs when unemployment already is too high," Ford said in his veto message to Congress.

"Consumers would pay higher costs — particularly for electric bills — when consumer costs are already too high," Ford said.

"The nation would be more dependent on foreign oil — when we are already overly dependent and dangerously vulnerable," the President said. "Coal production would be unnecessarily reduced — when this vital domestic energy resource is needed more than ever."

The President included a job at Congress for not coming up with an acceptable energy program, saying: "America is approaching a more serious do-

TRICK OR TREAT TESTIMONY Neighborhood Horror

HOUSTON (AP) — It was a wet, dark Halloween night, yet the children were happy and excited, running from house to house, gathering brightly wrapped candy and shouting "trick or treat" at every door.

But within only hours, one child was dead, four others missed "death" by just a whisker, and a peaceful suburban neighborhood realized with brutal suddenness that a killer was in its midst.

This was the word picture drawn by a man and his daughter Monday as the first two witnesses in the capital murder trial of Ronald Clark O'Bryan, a 30-year-old Houston-area man charged with poisoning his own son to collect insurance.

O'Bryan, former Big Spring resident, is charged with willfully causing the death of his son Timothy, eight, by giving the boy cyanide-laced candy. He is also charged with attempted murder for allegedly handing out four other poisoned candies, including one to his daughter, Elizabeth, 6, and to the children of Jim Bates, a close family friend.

Bates, the first witness for the prosecution, told of the rainy night and how he and O'Bryan escorted their children to dozens of homes on a soggy trick or treat outing.

He also told of the horror and shock he felt a few hours later when Timothy was dead, the victim of cyanide.

"I came within just a whisker of losing both of my children," he said. "There had been a horrendous crime committed against me, against society and against every kid at Halloween .... I was angry and I wanted the individual who tried to kill my children caught and punished."

Bates testified that O'Bryan suggested the trick or treat outing. He said O'Bryan asked if he could bring his son and daughter to Bates' house and tour the Bowling Green area where the Bates family lived.

It was a happy occasion. The two families were good friends and the wives planned a meal at the Bates home.

"We had pork roast and lima beans," said Bates. Afterward, Bates got a flashlight and an umbrella. He loaned O'Bryan a rain coat. Together with the children — Timothy, Elizabeth, Mark Bates, 9, and Kimberly Bates, 11, they set out.

The rain increased and Kimberly, who had already been out earlier, returned home. The rest of the group continued.

"The children were excited," said Bates. "They were running from door to door ... They would shout 'trick or treat.' There really wasn't any tricking."

Down one block, around the corner and up another block they went.

"They were enjoying it so much," said Bates. Not even the bursting of rain-soaked candy bags slowed them down. The men put the candy into their pockets and a neighbor gave them more sacks.

As they neared their starting point on the horse-shoe-shaped street, Bates said the children went up to a brown house and O'Bryan followed.

Bates said he saw no one answer the door and the children quickly, excitedly, happily ran on to try another door.

Moments later, O'Bryan also came from the house. In each hand he held purple and white tubes. They were powdered confection called Giant Pixy Stix. O'Bryan swished them in the air like small riding crops.

"He walked down the drive and said, 'you must have rich neighbors. Look what they gave out,'" said Bates.

O'Bryan went to the children and said, "I've got 'em. Who wants 'em.'" and handed them to the three youngsters. But he took them back and the children raced on.

As they approached the Bates house, O'Bryan excused himself to get some "suckers" out of his car, said Bates, who went on in the house, followed by the children and a few minutes later by O'Bryan. The Pixy Stix were on the coffee table later, said Bates, and then O'Bryan handed them out, along with large lollipops.

There were five Pixy Stix, one each for Timothy, Elizabeth, Mark and Kimberly, plus one left over. Moments later, the doorbell rang and a group of trick or treaters were on the Bates doorstep. When they left, the last Pixy Stix was also gone, said Bates.

The O'Bryans left, Bates went to work—the night shift for a power company—and Mrs. Bates started cleaning up the mess tracked in by the Halloween group.

Mark, said Bates, bathed and then announced to his mother, "I'm going to eat this" and picked up the Pixy Stix.

"She took it from him and said 'no you're not. I don't want it all over the house. That's an outside candy.'"

And Mark Bates went to bed that night without eating the candy.

Kimberly Bates, an 11-year-old with pretty brown eyes and the promise of great beauty, was the second

'Wild Man' Hangs Self

BUSHNELL, Fla. (AP) — After surviving eight months in a dense Florida swamp, a bewildered Chinese seaman who feared his captors hanged himself in his jail cell, deputies say.

"He didn't understand," an interpreter said after "The Wild Man of Green Swamp" was found hanging by his belt Monday. "He didn't believe police would let him go free."

The man, believed to be Tu-Mei Hu, 39, of Taiwan, had been chased down by a posse which followed a trail of half-eaten wild animal carcasses and captured him Saturday in the sawgrass jungle.

Don Clark, chief deputy sheriff of Sumter County, said Hu, father of seven, wrapped one end of his belt around his neck and fastened the other end to a cell bar.

Earlier, Hu had told Border Patrol officers he wanted to go home but then refused to sign the necessary papers, Clark said.

David Chen, a Chinese engineer from St. Petersburg, spent six hours Sunday talking to Hu in his native Mandarin dialect.

prosecution witness. She answered the questions in a steady quiet voice, but dropped her eyes, except once, whenever she glanced at the good family friend she knew as "Mr. O'Bryan." The one exception was when she was asked to identify the man who gave her the Pixy Stix. Then, she pointed at O'Bryan without a word.

"He handed one to me, one to my brother and one to each of his children and there was one left," she said. "The door bell rang and it was some trick or treaters."

She knew one of them, a boy called Micky Parker, she said. But she walked from the door before O'Bryan handed out the last Pixy Stix.

As with her brother, Kimberly never ate the candy. Timothy O'Bryan died a few hours later, and, said Kimberly, the day after Halloween "the police got my Pixy Stix."

Bates also testified that O'Bryan twice talked, before Halloween, of his plans to buy a home in the comfortable Bowling Green subdivision.

"He did something wrong. He stole food," Chen said. "He thought they would execute him soon. I tried to convince him this wasn't so. But he was so scared."

In jail, Hu was given fruit and nuts, chicken and rice and outfitted with new clothes. Deputies offered to buy him a ticket home.

"He couldn't understand how police could be nice. If they had asked him to pay for the ticket maybe he would have believed," Chen said.

Hu was jailed on a breaking and entering charge. Police said the charges were a protective measure and probably would be dropped when his identity was firmly established.

According to information pieced together by the police, Hu was flown to the United States in May 1974 to work on the freighter Harold J. Jaquet, which had an all-Chinese crew. He had never been to sea before and became sick on board.

Hu wound up in Tampa General Hospital where, apparently scared by a blood test, he escaped and ran to sanctuary in the swamp.

President Gets High Mark

President Ford's handling of the Mayaguez seizure, resulting in the recovery of the ship and its crew, should dispel doubts about his leadership abilities. The operation conducted in the Gulf of Thailand showed both restraint and resoluteness; it was a skillful performance.

The United States had to act swiftly when the Khmer Rouge government challenged it. To have done otherwise, to have vacillated, would have given fresh impetus to doubts about this country's will and determination. Coming after the Southeast Asian debacle, a show of weakness could have had repercussions around the world.

But the United States had to act carefully, too. An over-reaction, such as an attack on the Cambodian mainland as some in Congress urged, would have been just as dangerous and damaging.

Thankfully, the President rejected all false counsel and elected instead the proper course. We pursued through all diplomatic channels available to us the swift release of the ship and crew. When those efforts proved fruitless, we acted with precision, employing just the amount of military force necessary, to free the ship and save the lives of those Americans who were her crew.

Americans should unite in applauding the President. It demonstrated that this country is neither willing to let its interests go unattended, nor to act as an unprincipled bully. There may yet be more to the incident. Communist states and some neutral nations may voice loud criticism. Some in American political life may seize the opportunity to find fault with the President. But it is difficult to see how the matter could have been better handled, and still keep faith with the national interest and the cause of peace.

May Be Just As Well

On a split vote, the commissioners court has tabled the proposition of experiment with a new material to stabilize roads, or road base.

It was pointed out that neighboring Midland County is going to conduct an experiment with the same material. And while we do not advocate letting someone else carry our load, this is not exactly the case, for the Midland enterprise has been arranged independently. The main reason, however, is a cost factor. Even on the low bid, the county would have had an outlay of some $2,500. If this is indeed experimental, then this seems an inordinate tag on the part of the county, when more properly this might well be included as part of the development costs. It may be just as well to stick with our abundant conventional materials until the picture is a little clearer.

'What About It?'

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

Considering how many schools there are in Texas, it is unusual that Central High School in San Angelo this year produced the two top winners in the Edith Fox King High School Editorial Contest sponsored by Texas Press Women.

THE ASPIRING journalists, Judy Couch and Coleen Berger, were able to be present and received their plaques at the recent TPW state convention at the Rodeway Inn, Midland. They were both sharp young girls, eager and enthusiastic, yet modestly grateful for the recognition.

Here is Judy's first place entry: "In the American democratic system, the majority rules. At least, theoretically, the majority rules."

"Last week, Americans went to the polls to elect some of our governmental leaders. Of the approximately 34,000 registered voters in Tom Green County, only 10,595—less than one-third—cast ballots in Tuesday's election. Nationwide, about 38 per cent of the electorate bothered to vote.

"One-third is not a majority. Two-thirds of qualified voters in Tom Green County let someone else decide who will represent them.

"Granted, this election occurred in what is called an off-year, named so because a president was not being elected. But in the 21st Congressional District, which includes Tom Green County, voters were choosing a Congressman to replace retiring O. C. Fisher. And many did not even realize that Gov. Dolph Briscoe was running for reelection.

"CENTRALITES WHO have turned 18 were eligible to vote, if properly registered. It is not known how many of those actually voted Tuesday but previous elections have indicated that the 18 to 21-year-old voter turnout has been light.

"Eighteen-year-olds have several newly-acquired rights, including the right to vote. YET THE ONLY ONE THEY SEEM TO BE INTERESTED IN TAKING ADVANTAGE OF IS THE RIGHT TO DRINK.

"Those of us, who are already 18, and those of us who will be 18 within the next couple of years, have a chance to set an entirely new precedent—turning out in full force to vote in future elections.

"So unite, and show the world that we care."

Well, Judy answered something I've been wondering about—what are the 18-year-olds doing with their vote? Obviously, not as much as they can. Just like their elders.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I am very much in love with a 72-year-old lady, and she says she loves me too. Now I am 75 and have been alone the last 20 years. My daughters advise against my marrying, but I don't really know why. What do you think?

E.B. The decision to marry is ultimately one that you must make alone. If you're a person of faith, you have many resources to help shape that decision.

There's prayer, and I advise you to seek God's will fervently that way. There's the reading of the Scripture, and often a statement will leap out of its context in special meaning. There's the counsel of trusted friends. All of these things God uses to implement His promise of Psalm 32:8, "I will guide you along the best pathway for your life."

It occurs to me that possibly your daughters may have ulterior motives. I don't know, but it can happen. Something as materialistic as your estate may be seen by them as threatened by your acquiring another spouse.

Whatever you feel is right to do—and whatever God seems to indicate is His will—is what you should do. You're certainly entitled to happiness for the years ahead.

The Delicate Way

WASHINGTON — The recent revelation that multinational corporations have had to pay bribes to stay in business abroad comes as no surprise to anybody except the Securities Exchange Commission (SEC).

ANYONE WHO has been outside the country for more than a month knows that bribery is a way of life in the "free world," and if we're going to stop our companies from doing it, we might as well forget about ever balancing our payments abroad.

The problem is that ministers in most parts of Europe, South America and the Far East have brothers-in-law who barely earn enough money to pay their rent. The only way the ministers can afford to support them is to put a price on every piece of paper they sign.

TO A multinational company, kickbacks are a way of life. When a company wants an import license, it has to pay for it. Tax systems throughout the world are a mess, and the only way of understanding them is to pay the local tax-inspector to explain them.

Most politicians in the "free world" feel they should share in the benefits of a multinational company's success, and the Swiss banks are loaded with numbered accounts representing "commissions" paid to the heads of state for their pensions when they get bounced out of office.

EVERYONE understands this but the SEC, which seems to be angry that American companies would stoop to bribery to stay in business.

By SEC standards, bribing someone to participate in world commerce is considered bad form. And it is, except friendly governments insist that every multinational company should budget for bribery just as it does for advertising. For one thing it keeps their civil servants happy and, for another, it attracts many people to government who would otherwise not be interested in serving their country.

HAVING SAID this we must satisfy the SEC regulations and at the same time stay in business abroad.

Apparently the problem seems to be that SEC demands full disclosure of what an American firm spends overseas, and its investigators get very upset when they see a $10 million item on the books for "wooing a prime minister" or "buying a minister of petroleum."

The multinational companies must be more creative in listing overseas expenses. For example, if the Gulf Oil Co. would list a $100,000 bribe as "Lunch for two at Maxim's with nephew of Arab sheik," no one in the SEC would question it.

OR IF NORTHROP Corp. would itemize a $1 million payment under the table as "Tips for Italian air force bartenders," it would have to be accepted.

The United Fruit Co. could list a $3 million item as "Flowers for president of Honduras' wife," and ITT could claim a $5 million payoff in Chile as a "Donation for uniforms to the Santiago Little League Soccer Team."

The United States officially takes a dim view of bribing officials in other countries, but it is very loose about tax deductions for entertainment and charity.

No one in the SEC would blink an eye if he saw on a balance sheet "Taking President Marcos and his wife to the theater—$2 million."

Rule Of Law

Rowland Evans

WASHINGTON — The gamble taken by President Ford in using armed force against Cambodia, starting with air strikes against Cambodian gunboats Tuesday evening, was based above all on this hard conclusion: the U.S. had to seize the occasion of Cambodian piracy to prove it both could and would react with decision and power to international lawlessness.

THERE WAS no split of any kind in the National Security Council (NSC). Indeed, every top official in the administration agreed that whatever the risk, a show of American will and power was absolutely essential following the humiliation of South Vietnam.

In ordering American attacks on the Cambodian gunboats to block an obvious Cambodian effort to remove the American crew of the Mayaguez to the Cambodian mainland, neither the President nor the NSC even attempted to figure out an answer to this potentially explosive question: what if the Cambodians should use the gunboat attack as the pretext for murdering some 40 American crewmen?

THE U.S. went the full and necessary distance to prove what Mr. Ford and his Secretaries of State and Defense, Henry Kissinger and James Schlesinger, had been preaching non-stop ever since the catastrophic end of the Vietnam war: despite that national humiliation, no foreign country should make the mistake that the United States was discarding its role as world leader, or was reluctant to take strong action where demanded.

Indeed, the private remarks of top officials here make it abundantly apparent that the Mayaguez seizure became the ideal case to prove the point.

IN THE background was the utter failure of all efforts to open some kind of circuitous diplomatic channel to the revolutionary Cambodian government of the Khmer Rouge. The Soviet Union has been kicked out of Phnom Penh for failure to break with the old regime. The People's Republic of China, according to one high official, informed the U.S. it would try to help, and did so, but proved the point that the jingoistic Cambodian regime was simply beyond reach.

ON TUESDAY evening, Mr. Ford ordered word passed to congressional leaders that "appropriate action" would soon be taken. Perhaps in retrospect the President should have summoned these leaders to the White House for a face-to-face conversation. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader, for example, said later that he had not been "consulted," on the theory he was told, not asked.

Other criticism in a Congress now showing dangerous symptoms of taking over American foreign policy from its feuding committee rooms was also heard, raising ominous questions about a vicious partisan debate erupting from the President's bold action.

BUT ON THAT point Mr. Ford and his top aides, often indecisive and vacillating on lesser matters, showed no concern this time. They assumed that whatever partisan outcry might ensue, the American people as a whole would react with overwhelming approval to the President's powerful response to an unprovoked act of piracy on the high seas.

Thus, in this first, clear show of American power since the Indochinese fiasco, Mr. Ford demonstrated what he is often criticized for lacking: a talent for leadership and command.

Identity Is Involved

John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP) — American industry is face to face with one of those painful confrontations with self that individuals also go through from time to time.

Its identity is involved. It wonders about its role in society. Its ethics are questioned. The polls show it far down the list of institutions deserving of our trust and confidence.

The doubts and questions assail businessmen from every direction, and from within as well. Sometimes such painful re-evaluations lead to understanding and growth; sometimes they bring stagnation.

People just don't understand the role of profit, laments Thomas Murphy, the chairman of General Motors Corp. "Profit has made General Motors, just as profit has made the United States of America," he declares.

Profits lead to jobs, GM and others strain to point out. Without profits business can't grow and produce jobs.

"If we were making even a reasonable amount of profit at General Motors today, there wouldn't be the slightest worry about SUB payments — for the very simple reason that all our plants and our GM employees would not be working," Murphy told the Flint Chamber of Commerce this month.

But the AFL-CIO and a lot of unemployed workers tend to view the problem from a different direction. To them, jobs come first — and then profits. Get America working and the economy will tend to correct itself, they say.

While the profits-job question is muddled, other considerations refuse to await their turn.

An ancient question is being resurrected: What kind of economic society is best for the United States, centrally planned or free enterprise?

Any businessman worthy of membership in the Chamber of Commerce openly declares himself for free enterprise, but then he doesn't always follow through.

Many businessmen today are calling for some sort of economic central planning, if only to avoid the shortages and price eruptions that have brought misery to their lives and those of their customers.

And, while declaring themselves foursquare for independence from government, many business executives regularly shuttle to Washington in search of special treatment and aid, sometimes in the form of loan guarantees.

Hot Tub No Preventive

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told that a reliable method of birth control is a hot bath directly after intercourse, the idea being to raise the body temperature the couple of degrees needed to kill the sperm.

Would you please comment? — Mrs. H.H.S.

It will not work. Within a few seconds after the semen has been deposited, the sperm has found a safe haven from such attempts.

I advise you not to join other disappointed women who have succumbed to this bit of folklore. The same applies, incidentally, to the post-intercourse douche as a "contraceptive" procedure.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My thyroid glands have been giving me trouble for the past six months. I have to clear my throat so often. I do not smoke or drink.

Outside of this I am very healthy. I weigh 225 pounds and 5 feet, 11 inches in height. I am 73. — K.E.S.

Except that the thyroid gland is in the throat area, I cannot see why you suspect it as the cause of your throat clearing. An enlarged gland might cause some difficulty in breathing or swallowing, but this would be obvious from the most cursory examination.

It is more reasonable to suspect a mild lung congestion. An X-ray would reveal this as well as a thyroid enlargement.

An even more likely possibility is a sinus problem. A postnasal drip (catarrh) can be caused by excessive smoking, the smoke irritating the membranes, causing them to secrete more than the normal amount of mucus. Although you are a non-smoker, this could be a factor if there are any heavy smokers in your home.

I discuss this and several other sinus and sinus-related problems in my booklet, "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble." For a copy, send 25 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald, and enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Another thing, if your coughing seems to increase at about this time of the year, you can suspect an allergy as a factor.

And since you are not exceptionally tall, I wouldn't call you extra healthy with that 225 pounds of weight. Obesity can be another cause of that throat-clearing, too.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My son has a condition of the eyes called "keratoconus." The doctor called it a disease of the front surface of the eye, which may require surgery to correct.

My son is now 20, and has had this for about five years.

With a contact lens he can see. Would glasses be as effective? — Mrs. E. P.

The surgery that has been suggested is very likely a corneal transplant, which has been successful in some instances.

The cornea is a tough, membranous covering of the iris, the colored portion in the front of the eyeball. If it is too thin or becomes weakened where it attaches to the white of the eyeball, it can bulge outward, sometimes conically, giving the condition its name.

If your son is a candidate for corneal transplant surgery (not everyone is), he might benefit from the national eyebank program in which persons bequeath their eyes at death for the purpose. A healthy cornea is transplanted to replace the defective one.

Low blood sugar is often the cause of faintness, headaches, visual and emotional disturbances. To learn how it can be identified and brought under control, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Big Spring Herald, P. O. Box 3999, Elgin, Illinois 60120, for a copy of "Help for Hypoglycemia," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Energy Tips

When building or remodeling, consider adding a vestibule to outside doorways. A vestibule with an inner door reduces the flow of cold outside air into living areas — and saves energy!

Use glass or ceramic dishes in the oven — you'll find you can cook at temperature settings 25 degrees lower than those required for cooking similar meals in metal pans.

If your house has a crawl-space under the foundation, close off vents or other openings to the crawl-space. This will reduce heat loss through the floor — and save energy!

If you have a forced air heating system, check the duct work for air leaks — especially at connection points. Leaks can be simply repaired by covering holes or cracks with a cloth adhesive tape.

Purchase slightly less than a full tank of gasoline to prevent overflow — and waste of fuel!

A ceramic tile placed in the oven while baking can be used to keep rolls hot instead of keeping the oven on for warming during the meal. Wrap the tile with the rolls in a napkin, and serve from a basket or serving dish.

Iron low temperature fabrics first. This will save energy by reducing the warm-up time needed to iron linens and other fabrics requiring higher ironing temperatures.

If you have a trash compactor, operate it less frequently by saving up garbage until you have a full bag. This will save small amounts of electricity — but it will add up over a year's time.

Use light-colored interior decor whenever possible. You'll find you need fewer lights, or lower wattage bulbs — and save energy!

Many portable appliances such as electric skillets, can be used as serving dishes at the table. This will cut down on the number of dishes to be washed — and can reduce hot water consumption.

Never use an open pan for boiling water. Water heated in a covered pan or tea kettle comes to a boil more rapidly — and requires less energy!

If you have a steam or hot water heating system with free-standing radiator, place a sheet of aluminum foil on the wall behind the radiator. This will reflect heat into the room that would otherwise be lost through the wall.

A Devotion For Today . .

"The Lord upholds all who are falling, and raises up all who are bowed down." (Psalm 145:14 RSV)

PRAYER: Help us, Father, to see life as one opportunity after another to meet challenges, to solve problems. Give us sense enough to know which ones we can tackle alone and with which ones we will need outside help. Amen.

Labels Primary Proposal 'Special Privilege Bill'

HOUSTON (AP) — Former U.S. Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma, an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, says the 1976 Texas presidential primary proposal is "special privilege bill."

He said Monday the bill was "specially tailored" to the presidential candidacy of U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., and predicted if it becomes law "it surely will be challenged all the way to the Democratic National Convention."

He said he hopes Bentsen will join him in asking Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe to veto the bill.

"I believe the people of Texas want to have their votes counted for the candidates of their choice," Harris said.

At a news conference, Harris said he does not know if he will enter the Texas primary if it is held.

"I will have an effort in every state," he said.

He said 1,000 people a week are signing commitments for him and he expects to have 50,000 contributors by Jan. 1, 1976.

"We've already organized in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Wisconsin and California," he said.

Orders Contempt Hearing For Ex-Narcotics Agent

HOUSTON (AP) — A contempt hearing has been set for May 30 for a former Houston police narcotics officer who refused to answer questions on whether the Houston Police Department used wiretaps in early 1970.

State District Court Judge Andrew Jefferson ordered the hearing Monday during a contempt hearing for two Houston newsmen.

Jan Standerfer of the Houston Post and Larry Connors of KTRK-TV refused two weeks ago to disclose sources of stories about police wiretaps.

The two newsmen had been called to testify in pretrial proceedings in the trial of Andrew Bloom, 42, a liquor store owner who is charged with possession and sale of LSD.

Richard Haynes, Bloom's lawyer, contends police obtained information in the Bloom case through use of illegal telephone wiretaps.

Smith was called as a witness as lawyers for the two newsmen sought to show that information on alleged wiretaps can be found from other sources without a need for questioning the newsmen.

Smith, under indictment by a federal grand jury on charges of illegal wiretapping, said he had no knowledge of wiretapping on Bloom while he assisted in the Bloom investigation.

The hearing was expanded to questions of whether Smith knew if Houston police generally used wiretapping between December 1971 and September 1973, when Bloom was under investigation.

Smith replied that, on the advice of his lawyer, he could not answer the question.

Eddy's Scenic Wonders Something To Behold

By TOMMY HART

The state of New Mexico may have been slow to start selling its natural attributes to non-residents intent on "getting away from it all" but it is making up for lost time.

Publicists in the Land of Enchantment do a much better job of mesmerizing tourists than, say, those who beat the tubs for Texas attractions and the people who may do the best job of riveting the attention of the travelers to their area may reside in and around Carlsbad.

For many years, outsiders sensitive to the Carlsbad sales pitch were blissfully unaware that the community had anything to offer but that cavernous depression in the ground to the southwest of the city.

However, there are people who absolutely refuse to enter a cavern more than once, no matter how consistently its wonders have been trumpeted about.

NEED AROSE

Long ago, the Carlsbad people began to look about for allied attractions to promote. The need became more acute, too, when some of the potash mines in Eddy County began to close down, seriously threatening the economic muscle of the area.

Carlsbad's situation improved mightily when the Guadalupe Mountains which start just across the Texas border and snake back deep into New Mexico, became a part of the National Park System.

The area is becoming increasingly popular with campers who like to retreat into a true wilderness area and the Carlsbad boosters delight in pointing out that the nearest place to replenish the campers' larder is Carlsbad itself.

Fact is, if the tourists dislike the thought of sleeping on the ground, they can bunk in one of Carlsbad's many fine motels and get to and from the Guadalupe in one day, with plenty of daylight to spare.

The New Mexico people are in the process, too, of developing a "back door" approach to the Guadalupe. A round-trip drive to the area will require a drive of about 120 miles from the heart of Carlsbad but for those who love scenic wonder it is well worth it.

TOPS DENVER

It's possible, with the aid of four-wheeled vehicles, to get close enough to peer down into awesome McKittrick Canyon, one of the truly breathless sights in the great Southwest. When you reach the apex in the drive, you're somewhere between 7,200 and 7,300 feet above sea level — or more than 1,400 feet higher than Denver.

Much work remains to be done to develop the area — better roads are needed for one thing — but the potential is there for creating a real attraction. I would recommend it for those who tire of seeing a mass of neon lights, hamburger stands and gas stations day after day, week after week and month after month.

New Cave is another hole in the ground near Carlsbad which has great potential, but is a long way from being developed. And, of course, Carlsbad has shaped its own attractions — things like the unique Presidents' Park where a miniature steam boat plies the waters of Lake Carlsbad and the Living Desert State Park, where over 1,000 varieties of cacti are grown and where native animals living in their native habitat can be found.

The biggest plus the area has, however, is the enthusiasm and the zest for living exhibited by the people themselves. They seem to delight in playing hosts to the world and making strangers feel at home. Whatever it is that make them act so graciously should be bottled and exported. A lot of communities, including our own, should be so genuinely gregarious.

Have the satisfaction of knowing that the original style of your clothes is protected when dry cleaned.

After lying around Texas for 55 million years this lump of coal has finally gone to work.

This is a piece of lignite, a form of soft coal. Even though it's 55 million years old, it's relatively young compared to 300-million-year-old hard coal.

Texas is fortunate to have fairly large deposits of lignite; it's generally low in sulfur content, so pollution problems are minimized.

We're turning to lignite to fuel new electric generating plants, because natural gas and oil, the fuels we've traditionally used, are harder to get and more costly.

Lignite plants cost more to build, which along with inflation, means electricity will have to cost you more. But the increase won't be as much, because lignite fuel is available and more economical than new supplies of natural gas and oil.

Electricity today is still a good value. Especially when you consider that during the past ten years the cost of living has gone up more than three times as much as the price of electricity.

We're continuing the orderly development of our power system so that you'll continue having the electricity you need.

This year over 20% of your electricity will be produced using this 55-million-year-old fuel.

Alice M. Bell Named Director

The West Texas Girl Scout Council announces that Alice Marie Bell of Killen will act as the seasonal director for Camp Boothe Oaks, June 15-July 12.

Miss Bell teaches physical education for girls in the Killen Independent School District. She is a graduate of Mary Hardin Baylor College at Belton where she majored in Education, Mathematics, and Physical Education.

Miss Bell has been involved in Girl Scouting and camping much of her life. As a girl she experienced day camp, troop and established camping. She has served as counselor, unit leader, waterfront staff and assistant camp director. She was a camp unit leader at Camp Val Verde, Waco, in 1969 and at Girl Scout Camp Kachina, Belton in 1971. Miss Bell was assistant camp director at Camp Kachina for the 1972-73-74 seasons and has worked in all areas of camping including band arts and campcraft.

Miss Bell has had a Junior Girl Scout troop in Killen for the past four years. She is a Red Cross First Aid Instructor, a Water Safety Instructor and a Certified Lifesaver. She is also a member of the American Association for University Women.

Pending Cases Totaled 204

There were 183 county court criminal cases pending on April 1 and 204 on May 1, a county spokesman said today.

The numbers previously reported to the Big Spring Herald concerning pending cases were incorrect.

Schools In Area Given Sheet Music By Firm

As the Bicentennial Era gains momentum, the key role played by music is becoming dominant.

Monday in Big Spring, Sam Schultz, local manager of the J. C. Penney Company, made a presentation to four area band directors, presenting them with a 100-minute program of old and new compositions in sheet music form.

Recipient of the boxes of music, four of some 30,000 being presented by the company across the nation, were Bill Bradley, Big Spring high school band director; Santos Lujan, Reagan County band director from Big Lake; Ralph Sides, Coahoma High band director and Mike D. Neel, Forsan band director.

Just about every type of American music is represented — hymns, marches, folk songs, spirituals, orchestral suites, jazz and rock.

The 200-year cycle of musical selection include numbers by composers such as colonist William Billings to Louis Gottschalk, with his pulsating Latin-American rhythms.

Others include Alexander Reinagle who composed marches and patriotic numbers; James Hewitt, who wrote battle pieces; Patrick Gilmore, who formed one of the country's first brass bands; John Phillip Sousa, the March King; Edward MacDowell, who was America's first classical composer; Ernest Bloch who composed an epic rhapsody "America" and such contemporary composers as Mitch Leigh, Charles Burr Norman, Dello Joio, David Baker, Roger Nixon and Adolphus C. Hailstork.

ELAINE MARTIN

ESSIE CANTU

Elaine Martin Named Sands Valedictorial

ACKERLY — Elaine Martin and Essie Cantu have been named valedictorian and salutatorian of Sands High School senior class.

Elaine is the ranking student with an average of 97.3 for her four years in Sands High. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Martin Jr., Ackerly. She took part in many UIL activities, including debate, prose reading, one-act play, and was named best actress in the district for the past three years. She also was named to the all-star cast in area and regional competition.

Elaine has been in Who's Who in American High Schools at SHS for the past two years, president of the senior class, of the Beta Club (of which she has been a four-year member). She also is president of the pep squad and vice president of the Volleyball Club, and a member of the basketball and volleyball teams.

During her tenure in school, she served as Area II president of Future Homemakers of America and state first vice president. She was voted senior class favorite, as the best personality, most conscientious and most likely to succeed. Her plans are to attend Texas Tech University.

During her four years in SHS, Essie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cantu, averaged 93.34. She was a member of the Beta Club for four years, also an FHA member for the same period. Additionally she was class officer her junior year. During the past year she participated in track. She also took part in UIL competition in shorthand and number sense. She won second place in district and qualified for regional. For the past two years she was in Who's Who, and took part in the Senior play. She plans to attend Howard College and then complete her education at Tech University.

Meetings Recessed

After compromising with a livestock scales firm over a $176 supplemental bill, County Commissioners Court adjourned an unusually efficient session Monday afternoon.

The court will not meet again, barring an emergency, until June 2, because next Monday is Memorial Day.

Bill Combs of the Hobart Corporation told the court he bid $3,361 installation included for livestock scales. But Combs said ground level installation was not specified, and this cost more.

Combs said he did not charge Howard County for about $80 worth of mileage and travel expenses and considered the $176 supplemental bill fair. He agreed to a compromise price of $91, though, because Combs felt both firm and county representatives should share blame for the misunderstanding. In earlier action, the court:

Discussed fair barn policy. Those leasing the county facilities should remove all their property within 24 hours after the event, it was thought. Commissioner Simon (Cy) Terrazas questioned the use of the county fair barns for commercial sales and fairs and thought the Chamber of Commerce should be consulted. Commissioner Ikie Rupard saw nothing wrong with commercial uses.

Granted a request that the Jaycees be allowed to lease the fair barns Saturday for a dance. Proceeds will go to the Jaycee baseball team, Ben Faulkner said. Faulkner appeared instead of Danny Kirkpatrick.

And discussed a replacement for Doris Lewis, secretary to Peace Justice Walter Grice. Mrs. Lewis will be starting a new job at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Pickup Burned; Damage Heavy

A 1970 model pickup was covered with diesel and burned Monday night, according to the sheriff's office.

Windows and the windshield were broken also. The vehicle which was parked on a farm northwest of Fairview sustained $2,000 in damages, deputy sheriffs estimated.

Scouts Return From Mountains

Members of Boy Scout Troop One spent the past weekend at the Davis Mountains scout ranch, backpacking to landmarks like Needle Rock and the Notch.

Those making the trip included Joe Gilliland, Jessie P. Curry, Dale Pittman, Joe Leyva and David L. Reynolds. Troop One meets at 7 p.m., each Monday in the scout hut in Comanche Trail Park. The meetings are open to the public.

Horse Is Shot, Owner Reports

Lawrence Davis, who lives southeast of Coahoma, this morning found his horse suffering from a massive head wound, Bill Whitton, chief deputy sheriff, said. The three-year-old horse was shot last night in a pasture near the Davis home, Whitton said.

Wind Tunnels Here Awe South Africa Visitor

By JOHN EDWARDS — "I don't know if there's anything like it anywhere in the world," a South African visiting the U.S. Big Spring Experiment Station Monday said.

Dr. John B. Mallett, Pietermaritzburg, South Africa, was referring to wind tunnel equipment here used in connection with minimum tillage and other research.

"Anyone that's interested has got to come here," Dr. Mallett said. "I don't see how he could miss it."

GOLD, DIAMONDS — What struck him as most different about farming here compared to that in South Africa?

"Oil wells on guys' property," Dr. Mallett quipped. "This seems to be quite an advantage."

In the triangular area of South Africa he studies, called the High Veldt, large gold mine operations and dry-land corn farming are conducted side by side.

Pointing to the western seaboard, Dr. Mallett said: "Along this coast, you can find diamonds virtually lying on the beach." The area is fenced and closely patrolled. The diamonds were carried to the sea coast by the Orange River, which runs through an area where different problems are

Membership Party Lures Big Crowd

More than 200 members and guests turned out for an evening of old-time fun at the second annual Heritage Museum membership party Monday evening at Dora Roberts Community Center.

They gave a standing ovation to the Nuts and Bolts singing group from First United Methodist Church, and to the Tom Castle string band which furnished dinner music.

Against a setting of checkered table cloths, plus decorations of bales of hay, mesquite, cactus, etc., arranged by Mrs. Toots Mansfield, Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr. and their committee, members greeted other old friends and several out-of-town guests. They also feasted on a sumptuous barbecue meal, with conventional trimmings, plus a "passel" of sourdough biscuits cooked by a committee headed by Mrs. Wade Choate.

The program included a showing of slides from the Heritage Museum's extensive collection of early-day Big Spring pictures. This was narrated by Joe Pickle, Chuck Wagon chairman, who also introduced George Zachariah, president, and thanked the city and county for their support of the museum, and the Dora Roberts Foundation for its permanent exhibit support.

EQUIPMENT STUDIED — Dr. John B. Mallett (left), Pietermaritzburg, South Africa, and D.W. (Bill) Fryrear, location leader of the U.S. Big Spring Experiment Station look over a wind tunnel. Wind tunnels and other equipment used to study minimum tillage here are unique, the South African said.

The Vervoerd Dam is silting up so fast it may become a plain before long, Dr. Mallett said.

SIMILAR AREA — "The big thing is that we have a very, very serious erosion problem," Dr. Mallett said. Minimum tillage is seen as a way of alleviating erosion.

"We do have dust storms," Dr. Mallett said. And water carves great gullies in the land. The High Veldt is a plateau region and is "perhaps a little more rolling" than West Texas.

Like West Texas cotton farmers, corn farmers in the High Veldt must contend with a shortage of rain.

If the farmer wants to establish an improved pasture, the committee might approve it. The committee might reject a request to open more corn fields because of erosion problems.

The senior government agronomist for the eastern (Natal) region of South Africa is spending a month in the United States, visiting various agriculture research centers for a few days each.

Dr. Mallett flew to Big Spring from New Orleans and next visits the Bushland U.S. Department of Agriculture Great Plains Research Center in Texas.

Angels Unveil Booming Bats

The flying feet of the California Angels were slowed to a trot Monday night ... by the booming bats of the California Angels.

After hitting only nine home runs but stealing 69 bases in their first 37 games, the Angels rewrote the script in a 12-5 rout of the Cleveland Indians. They slugged a double, a triple and three homers among 12 hits — Lee Stanton, Jerry Remy and Tommy Harper were the homer-hitters who jogged around the bases — while Remy was the only base-stealer.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Boston Red Sox trounced the Oakland A's 10-5, the New York Yankees downed the Kansas City Royals 5-1, the Chicago White Sox edged the Baltimore Orioles 2-1 and the Detroit Tigers whipped the Minnesota Twins 6-3. Milwaukee and Texas were not scheduled.

Remy's first major league homer, a three-run shot off reliever Jim Perry, highlighted a five-run fourth inning that broke a 3-3 tie. Stanton hit a two-run homer in the first inning off Don Hood and Harper connected off Perry in the seventh.

RED SOX 10, A'S 5

Speedy Juan Beniquez scored the tie-breaking run all the way from first base on Rick Burleson's hit-and-run single in the seventh inning. A walk to Carl Yastrzemski and doubles by Jim Rice and Dwight Evans added three more runs.

Oakland's Gene Tenace drove in four runs against Boston ace Luis Tiant with his fourth and fifth homers of the season but Rico Petrocelli's homer touched off a five-run fifth inning for the Red Sox and they capitalized on a porous Oakland defense for four more runs in the inning and a 5-2 lead.

YANKEES 5, ROYALS 1

Chris Chambliss belted the first two home runs of the season off Kansas City's Steve Busby and Roy White ripped a two-run double. The fourth-inning homer was the first of the year for Chambliss, who delivered again in the eighth and also drove in New York's fourth run with a fifth-inning single.

Meanwhile, New York starter Rudy May allowed three hits and struck out eight in 5 2/3 innings before giving way to Dick Tidrow, who yielded one more hit the rest of the way, the first 1975 save by a Yankee relief pitcher.

WHITE SOX 2, ORIOLES 1

Jorge Orta's two-run single in the third inning helped Stan Bahnsen gain his first victory of the season, with clutch seventh-inning relief from Rich Gossage.

TIGERS 6, TWINS 3

Two-run homers by Willie Horton and rookie Leon Roberts and a pair of solo shots by Gary Sutherland powered Detroit to victory. Joe Coleman got the victory with help from John Hillen in the eighth.

Roberts' fifth home run of the season gave Detroit a 2-0 lead in the first inning against rookie Mike Pazik. After Roberts walked with two out in the third, Horton hit his ninth home run, tops in the league.

Pacers Stay Alive In ABA Playoffs

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The roar of the crowd barely had died off Monday night and Indiana's George McGinnis already was looking forward to Game 5 of the American Basketball Association championship playoff with Kentucky.

"Now we're going down there Thursday to knock heads," he said with a smile after the Pacers stayed alive with a 94-86 victory over the Colonels.

Indiana, pumped up when McGinnis and little Billy Keller broke out of three-game slumps, cut Kentucky's series lead to 3-1.

Indiana earlier in the day lost a protest of a 95-93 loss in the second game of the series last Thursday night. New ABA Commissioner Dave DeBusschere traveled to Indianapolis, met with team officials and reviewed evidence supplied by both teams before deciding that a disputed three-point goal by Keller as the game ended would remain disallowed.

But both teams put the protest furor behind them as quickly as it was decided.

McGinnis, a bullish, 6-foot-8 forward, was excited after Indiana's triumph.

Tigers Nip Sox, Remain Unbeaten

The Harris Lumber Tigers extended their win streak in the Texas Little League action Monday night with a 3-1 win over the TESCO Red Sox. In other Monday night action, the Rangers topped the Rebels 4-3, and the Hawks topped the Cabots 8-0.

Lupe Ontiveros pitched another no-hitter for the Tigers, with help from Dickie Wrightsil in the sixth inning, to up his personal record to a 3-0 mark. The Tigers are now 9-0 for the season.

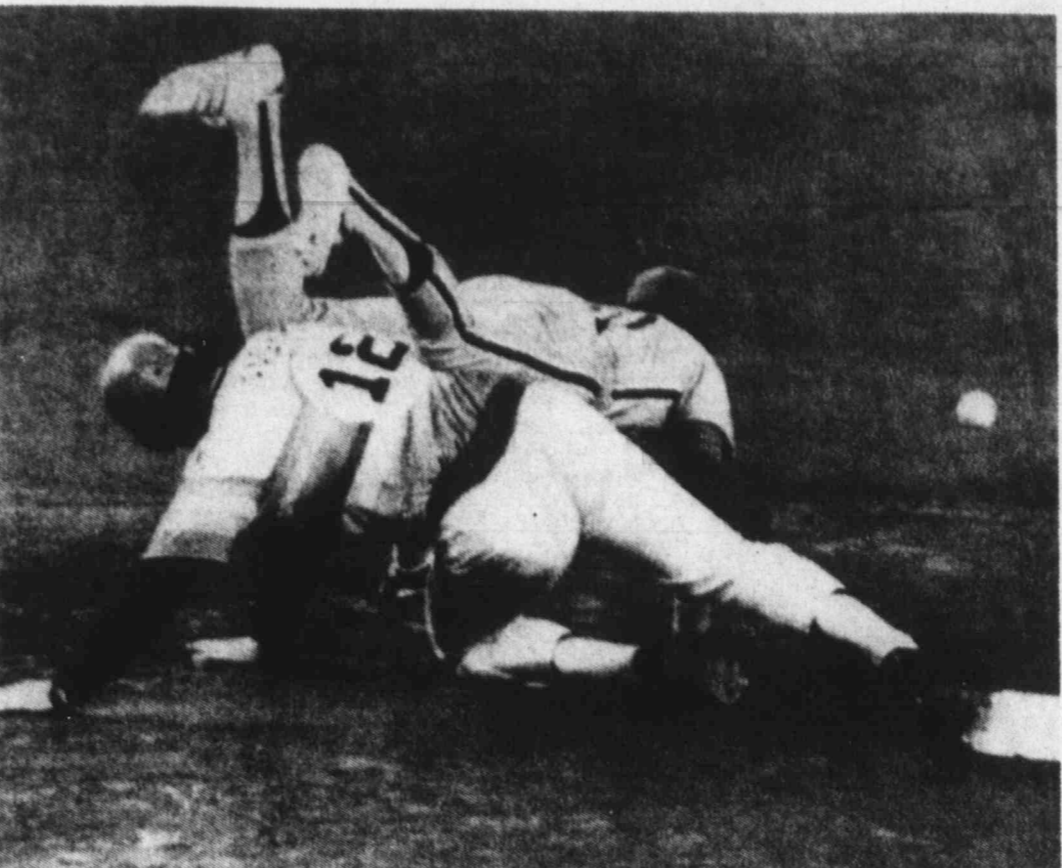

Tom Cudd, Hawks, struck out 10 en route to his first victory of the season over the American League Cabots 8-0. Scott, Shortes and Blake Rosson slammed hits to lead the Hawks to the win.

Kemper Takes First In Shoot

V.W. Kemper took top honor at the Western Sportsman Club Trap Shoot Sunday at the club's shooting range nine miles from Big Spring on the Andrews Highway.

Ed Wright placed second and Larry Barrett won third place in the shoot. The next match will be at 2 p.m. June 15.

SCRAMBLE AT SECOND — Houston Astros' third baseman Doug Rader gets back into second as Philadelphia Phillies second baseman Dave Cash goes over him for the ball that got away. The play started with the run down of Astros' Bob Watson between home and third in the fourth inning of the Monday night game at Houston. Phillies catcher Bob Boone made the tag on Watson and fired to second in a try for a double play as Rader rounded the base. The throw was a little wide for Cash to handle. Houston took the game 4-2.

Jones Leads Padres Past Cardinals, 1-0

You have to be a pretty good pitcher to lose 22 games in one season in the major leagues, and Randy Jones of the San Diego Padres is proving he's a very good pitcher indeed.

Jones dazzled the St. Louis Cardinals Monday night, stopping the Redbirds on just one single as the Padres eked out a 1-0 victory on John Grubb's 10th inning home run, his first of the year. The only hit for St. Louis was a leadoff single by Luis Melendez in the seventh inning.

"It was the best game of my career because of all the ground balls the Cardinals hit," said Jones, a 25-year-old lefthander who one year ago led the major leagues with 22 defeats but is now 5-2 with a sparkling 1.80 earned run average for 1975.

Against the Cardinals, Jones recorded 22 of his 30 outs on ground balls. He also struck out three.

He retired 12 of the 13 batters remaining after Melendez' single before Grubb sent the crowd of 10,111 at San Diego Stadium home happy.

Elsewhere in the National League, the San Francisco Giants beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-4, the Houston Astros defeated the Philadelphia Phils 4-2 and the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Chicago Cubs 3-2.

GIANTS 6, PIRATES 4
Mike Caldwell, given a vote of confidence by San Francisco Manager Wes Westrum, posted his first victory after five defeats with a complete-game effort against the Pirates, and helped himself with a three-run double in the fourth inning.

"I was going to leave him in there come hell or high water," said Westrum, figuring Caldwell, 7-1 at this point last season en route to a 14-5 mark, was more than due. "It's good to see him get that first one."

ASTROS 4, PHILS 2
Bob Watson's eighth home run of the season, tying him with Philadelphia's Greg Luzinski for the National League lead, plus a trio of unearned runs helped Houston snap the Phils' seven-game win streak.

Watson has driven in seven of the Astros' last 12 runs, five on Sunday and two Monday night.

DODGERS 3, CUBS 2
A sacrifice fly by pinch-hitter Bill Buckner with the bases loaded in the eighth inning provided the Dodgers with the winning run. The Cubs had tied it in the top of the eighth on Jose Carrenal's two-run double.

Sabres Hope To Snap Streak Against Flyers In NHL Series

BUFFALO (AP) — When he is being interviewed, Philadelphia Flyers' goalie Bernie Parent wrings his hands as would a mother whose child is late getting home from school. He speaks softly, at times nervously about himself — almost as if there's someplace else he'd rather be at the time.

He seems far more at home when hidden by the bulky equipment and the mask that shields his expressions from the fans who adore him. When he is on the ice, surrounded yet alone, his inhibitions flee.

It is Parent's often extraordinary ability that has helped the Flyers carry a 2-0 lead into tonight's third game of the National Hockey League's championship series. He has allowed his Buffalo Sabres' challengers only one goal in each of the first two triumphs while stopping the other 45 shots he has faced.

"We expect Bernie to play well," says Buffalo Coach Floyd Smith. "He's part of the Flyers' machine, where each part complements the other."

This fact was most evident in the opening game, when for more than a minute Parent faced the Sabres while two of his teammates were in the penalty box. Shots zoomed toward his net, the Flyers could not clear the puck. But at all times, Parent kept his uncanny cool and sent Buffalo away without a goal.

Thus he was the key in the opening 4-1 Philadelphia triumph, and in Sunday's 2-1 victory. Can Game 3 be any different?

As far as the Sabres are concerned, it better be. They feel the first two games were close enough to prove they can beat Parent — although they haven't done it in their history.

"We don't have any excuses," says Smith. "We've played two good hockey games but we couldn't put the puck in the net. It's up to us now to do something that will make us score goals."

The Sabres haven't beaten the Flyers in their last 15 meetings, going back to March 28, 1973, but they believe tonight's game will put that streak to an end.

"We're going to make up for one of those losses tonight," says Buffalo goalie Gerry Desjardins, who has played well despite the two defeats. "We're getting used to their style now, and that should help. If we can stop their power play, and do better on our power play, we'll win."

The Flyers have scored three of their six goals this series while a Buffalo player was in the penalty box, including the game-winning tally in each contest. The Sabres, meanwhile, haven't converted any of their power play opportunities.

Appeal was turned down by Superior Court Judge A. Lerner, the same judge who had handed down the original sentence. Refusing to set aside the guilty verdict, Judge Lerner ruled that the witnesses, whose testimony was instrumental in the 1967 trial, were unreliable and that their recanted testimony lacked the "ring of truth."

It also was brought out that one of the survivors of the barroom shooting failed to identify Carter or Artis as his assailants several hours after the incident, and that police withheld other vital evidence that may have proved Carter and Artis were innocent.

"If all of this is true, why is he still in jail?" Ali asked. "You see this only in the movies or on television."

"What it is is the pride of the judicial system," the heavyweight champion said. "These people are too proud to admit they put a wrong man in jail for nine years."

"I say the man is innocent. But I can't be the judge. He needs a retrial."

Friedkin said Carter's lawyers will attempt Thursday to get the former boxer released on bail pending his appeal for a new trial. But the movie director said chances for that happening appeared slim since Judge Lerner would hear the application for bail and the appeal.

But Friedkin said if Lerner turns down the applications, Carter's attorneys will go to the New Jersey Appellate Division.

"If that appeal fails, then we'll go to the New Jersey Supreme Court, then to the federal appeals court," he said.

WFL Learns Namath's Pact Decision Today

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — The yearling World Football League learns today whether free-agent quarterback Joe Namath will make the jump from the National Football League New York Jets to the WFL's Chicago Winds.

Panthers Lose First Game

The Patriots handed the Pink Panthers their first Webb Women's Softball League loss Sunday, 19-13.

Three homers were clouted by the Patriots. Carrie Hodges hit two round-trippers in the first and fourth respectively. Debbie Nikolai made her nonstop circuit of the bases in the second.

Youngblood was awarded a 10-0 forfeit over the Sand Dusters.

Warriors Still Underdogs Tonight

The Golden State Warriors and their "no-name" offense, still underdogs in the National Basketball Association's championship series even though they upset the Washington Bullets in the opening game, go for their second victory tonight on an unfamiliar "home" court.

The setting for the nationally televised second game — and Friday night's third game — is the Cow Palace, an arena in which the Warriors have not played a home game since 1971. The Warriors were forced out of their normal home court, the Oakland Coliseum, by an ice show.

"I'm a little concerned about not being able to play in our regular place," said Golden State Coach Al Attles. "We haven't played in the Cow Palace in so long that it's really like playing on a neutral court. But one thing in our favor is that we will still have our fans behind us."

"The court is not familiar to either team, so we'll both be in the same bag in that respect," said K.C. Jones, the Bullets coach, still noticeably upset over Washington's 101-95 loss Sunday at Landover, Md., and the fact that his team was forced onto the road for tonight's game. "But naturally the fans will be for them."

Normally in a coast-to-coast NBA series, one team is home for two games before the scene shifts for Games 3 and 4. Arena availability, or lack of it, prompted the switch in this series.

Thus, the unexpected opening game loss puts the Bullets in a precarious position.

"We'll be happy with a split out here," conceded Jones.

Rick Barry, Golden State's captain and high scorer, and one of the few players on either team to have played in the Cow Palace, doesn't mind the switch in sites at all.

"I love those hoops there," said Barry. "They're like big sewers."

Ali Says Courts Too Proud To Admit Goof

NEW YORK (AP) — The New Jersey judicial system is "too proud to admit they put a wrong man in jail for nine years," Muhammad Ali believes.

"The people that convicted Rubin 'Hurricane' Carter probably were doing what they thought was right at the time," the world heavyweight champion told an overflowing audience at a New York night club Monday night.

The affair was to raise money to aid Carter's legal fight to overturn a 1967 conviction in a triple murder.

Besides Ali, who is co-chairman along with movie director William Friedkin of The Hurricane Trust Fund, others who addressed the plush gathering included Friedkin; fight promoter Don King; Mayor Lee Alexander of Syracuse, N.Y.; Dave Anderson, sports columnist for the New York Times, and Richard Solomon, board chairman of the Fund.

Ali, in a somber mood and sitting on a stool in a mock boxing ring, hushed the wildly applauding crowd.

"I didn't come here to be praised and honored," he said. "I came here to help Rubin."

Carter, then one of the world's leading contenders in the middleweight division, was sentenced along with John Artis to life imprisonment for a triple murder in a Paterson, N.J., bar. Last December, the two key prosecution witnesses admitted they lied at the trial.

Other discrepancies were also uncovered by New York Times reporter Selwyn Raab and others, and Carter and Artis asked for a new trial. But the appeal was turned down by Superior Court Judge A. Lerner, the same judge who had handed down the original sentence. Refusing to set aside the guilty verdict, Judge Lerner ruled that the witnesses, whose testimony was instrumental in the 1967 trial, were unreliable and that their recanted testimony lacked the "ring of truth."

It also was brought out that one of the survivors of the barroom shooting failed to identify Carter or Artis as his assailants several hours after the incident, and that police withheld other vital evidence that may have proved Carter and Artis were innocent.

"If all of this is true, why is he still in jail?" Ali asked. "You see this only in the movies or on television."

"What it is is the pride of the judicial system," the heavyweight champion said. "These people are too proud to admit they put a wrong man in jail for nine years."

"I say the man is innocent. But I can't be the judge. He needs a retrial."

Friedkin said Carter's lawyers will attempt Thursday to get the former boxer released on bail pending his appeal for a new trial. But the movie director said chances for that happening appeared slim since Judge Lerner would hear the application for bail and the appeal.

Husband, Wife Working Toward College Degrees

Vonda and Benny Munoz are serious about getting a college education. They both reached the halfway mark last week on the same day.

Mrs. Vonda Munoz completed her nurses degree at Odessa College and is now a graduate nurse, planning to take her state exams for an RN. She attended OC on a 40 and 8 American Legion scholarship from the local post.

Her husband, Benny, finished his Associate degree in applied arts on the same day at Howard College. He works for the Veterans Administration Hospital. She works for Hall-Bennett Hospital.

They have three children, Tony, 16, Sonya, 14 and Paula, 11. Mrs. Munoz said, "This thing kind of snowballed on us. We started out taking an isolated course or two at night school and suddenly we decided we wanted to do more than that."

"Now we both want to obtain a BS degree. We are eyeing the challenge program at Texas Tech, night courses at Howard College and courses at UTPB as possibilities in trying to reach this goal. But we're going to get there."

'Monkey' Wrench In His Plans

Alert police officers caught a juvenile at McMahon Concrete at 11:26 p.m. apparently in the process of stealing five gallons of gasoline. The youth also had a Stilson wrench in his possession. The 15-year-old lad was turned over to city juvenile authorities late Sunday, said Patrolmen Tony Chavez and James Van Ness who made the arrest.

Cost Of Power Plant Rockets

DALLAS (AP) — The cost of the nuclear power plant near Glen Rose has exceeded its original estimate by more than $200 million dollars because of design changes and inflation, says Texas Utilities board chairman T.L. Austin.

The new figures represent a 27 per cent increase since the plant was designed, bringing the cost of the Comanche Peak nuclear power station to $987 million.

'Love Among The Ruins' And 'QB VII' Win Dozen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two old movie pros, Katharine Hepburn and Laurence Olivier, and their "Love Among the Ruins" shared top honors with "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" at the 27th Emmy Awards.

"QB VII," which had scored the highest in nominations with 13, also won six awards Monday night. But none was in a major category.

Oscar-winners Hepburn and Olivier won Television Academy Awards Monday night as outstanding stars in a special program for "Love Among the Ruins," which scored a total of six Emmys including those for director George Cukor and writer James Costigan.

"The Mary Tyler Moore Show" was hailed by the Television Academy as the outstanding comedy series of 1974-75, winning a total of six Emmys including those for supporting performers Betty White, Ed Asner and Cloris Leachman. But Miss Moore lost out as lead actress in a comedy series to Valerie Harper, whose "Rhoda" was an offshoot of the Moore series. "I am full of love for everybody, especially Mary, who made it all possible," Miss Harper exulted to the television audience.

"Upstairs, Downstairs," the British-made story of servant life in Edwardian England, won for the second year in a row as best dramatic series. Its victory and that of the British-made "Love Among the Ruins" gave the Emmy awards a decidedly British accent.

Britisher Jean Marsh, chosen best dramatic actress for her role as a maid in "Upstairs, Downstairs," commented, "It's very generous, unchauvinistic and typically American."

Some of the winners were also losers at the Hollywood Palladium festivities. Tony Randall was best lead actor in a comedy series for "The Odd Couple" and Jessica Walter best lead actress in a limited series for "Amy Prentiss." Both shows have been cancelled. Lamented Randall: "I sure am glad I won. Now if I only had a job."

"The Carol Burnett Show" won as best comedy-variety or music series for the third time and "An Evening With John Denver" was named best special in that category. The five-part "Benjamin Franklin" with its revolving cast portraying the COMEDY TRIO — Emmy winners Tony Randall and Valerie Harper pose with Flip Wilson, dressed as Geraldine, after they received their Emmy awards Monday night in Los Angeles.

Sumter Cabinet Company Presents Marquesa

Sumter Cabinet once again creates a masterwork in this highly distinguished and pace-setting new group.

Marquesa . . . a Mediterranean bedroom collection of classic beauty. Rich, romantic design. Exquisite attention to detail. Strong and sturdy as the Appalachian oaks that furnished the solids used throughout this elegant group along with the 3/4" 5-ply solid core end panels covered with oak veneers. You'll find this superior construction feature on all of Marquesa's stately pieces. All finished in a hand-rubbed deep brown with the aura of exquisite aging.

And, as always, the Sumter pride in craftsmanship assures lasting beauty and enjoyment.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"AWWW, MOM... IT'S SPRING! I DON'T NEED WALKIN' SHOES... I NEED RUNNIN' SHOES!"

NANCY

JUMBLE

Unscramble these four Jumbles, one letter to each square, to form four ordinary words.

ROFEY

YORPOL

Now arrange the circled letters to form the surprise answer, as suggested by the above cartoon.
